True education makes for inequality;
the inequality of individuality,
the inequality of success;
the glorious inequality of talent, of genius;
for inequality, not mediocrity,
individual superiority, not standardization is the measure of the progress of the world.

Society is composed of individuals living within its framework, all separate and unique. It is a flexible structure, contracting to restrain and to cramp its inhabitants or to expand and to reach glory. The development of the society depends upon the maturity and contributions of those who dwell within her walls. For man may be mortal, but he can create an immortal society to exist as a living monument to the greatness of individuality.

JACK MILLER

A teacher is a potent force in the world of an impressionable student. His manner, his technique, his personality, his humor, and his temperament make a deep and lasting impression on a searching and groping mind. However, the influence which a teacher can exert is limited by the individual ambition and ability of the student. The teacher may provide him with an educational skeleton, but the end result depends upon the student's personality and needs. An educator cannot determine where his influence begins or ends in affecting a student. He can only know that he is helping to shape an individual mind and helping to develop a personality; thus the application of knowledge becomes personalized.

Mountain High School's foster child
Yoo Jae Chon.

About two years ago Mountain's Student Congress became interested in lending its services to some international project. As a result, Mountain High became an active participant in the Foster Parents Plan Inc. The PLAN, founded in 1937, is a non-profit, non-sectarian, independent government-approved organization. Just $15 a month provides a child with spending money, new clothing, household equipment, medical care, and education. Ultimately, the PLAN endeavors to build a nucleus of productive citizens to help their fellow countrymen.

Mountain's eight year old foster child, Yoo Jae Chon, lives in Korea with his two younger brothers and his mother, who is suffering from tuberculosis. In exchange for our money grants, Mountain High receives monthly letters and regular progress reports. From these letters, it is evident that our support is very beneficial and appreciated.

Yoo Jae proudly displays gifts from his American "parents."

ACUMEN

The Acumen this year concentrates mostly on the problems of modern society. The literary articles submitted to Mrs. Carol Welsch, advisor to the magazine, deal with youth's awareness of these problems. The art work has been coordinated by Sandy Lackowitz, art editor, and the financial aspect of the magazine is under the direction of Karen Marsh, business editor.

ARIES

This year Aries depicts the individuality of the student and of the class of 1966 in relation to the activities which dominated the school year 1965-66. I sincerely want to thank Mrs. Shirley Lipton, faculty advisor of the Aries, for all her time and effort and the Editors and Staff without whose diligent work it would have been impossible to publish this book.

Dale Seiden, Editor-in-Chief

Mrs. Lipton, yearbook advisor, studies last year's ARIES to broaden her views on layouts.

Susan Lingel, Andrea Kaplan, business editor, and Madelyn Zidel count profits from the Talent Show which was sponsored by the yearbook.

Dale Seiden, editor-in-chief, checks through past yearbooks to find ways in which the ARIES may be improved.

Ronne Freedman and Leah Faigen, two members of the ARIES Art Staff, look over materials to be used for their next project.

The ARIES layout staff, with editors Henry Beder and Norrie Goldberg, discuss their plans.

Literary Editors Michele Goldstein, Jennifer Davis, and Susan Springer compare the copy with a past yearbook to be certain that it is correct.

Editor-in-Chief Dale Seiden contemplates a caption for a picture which will appear in the yearbook.

Ira Marcus goes high to bank a short jump shot in.

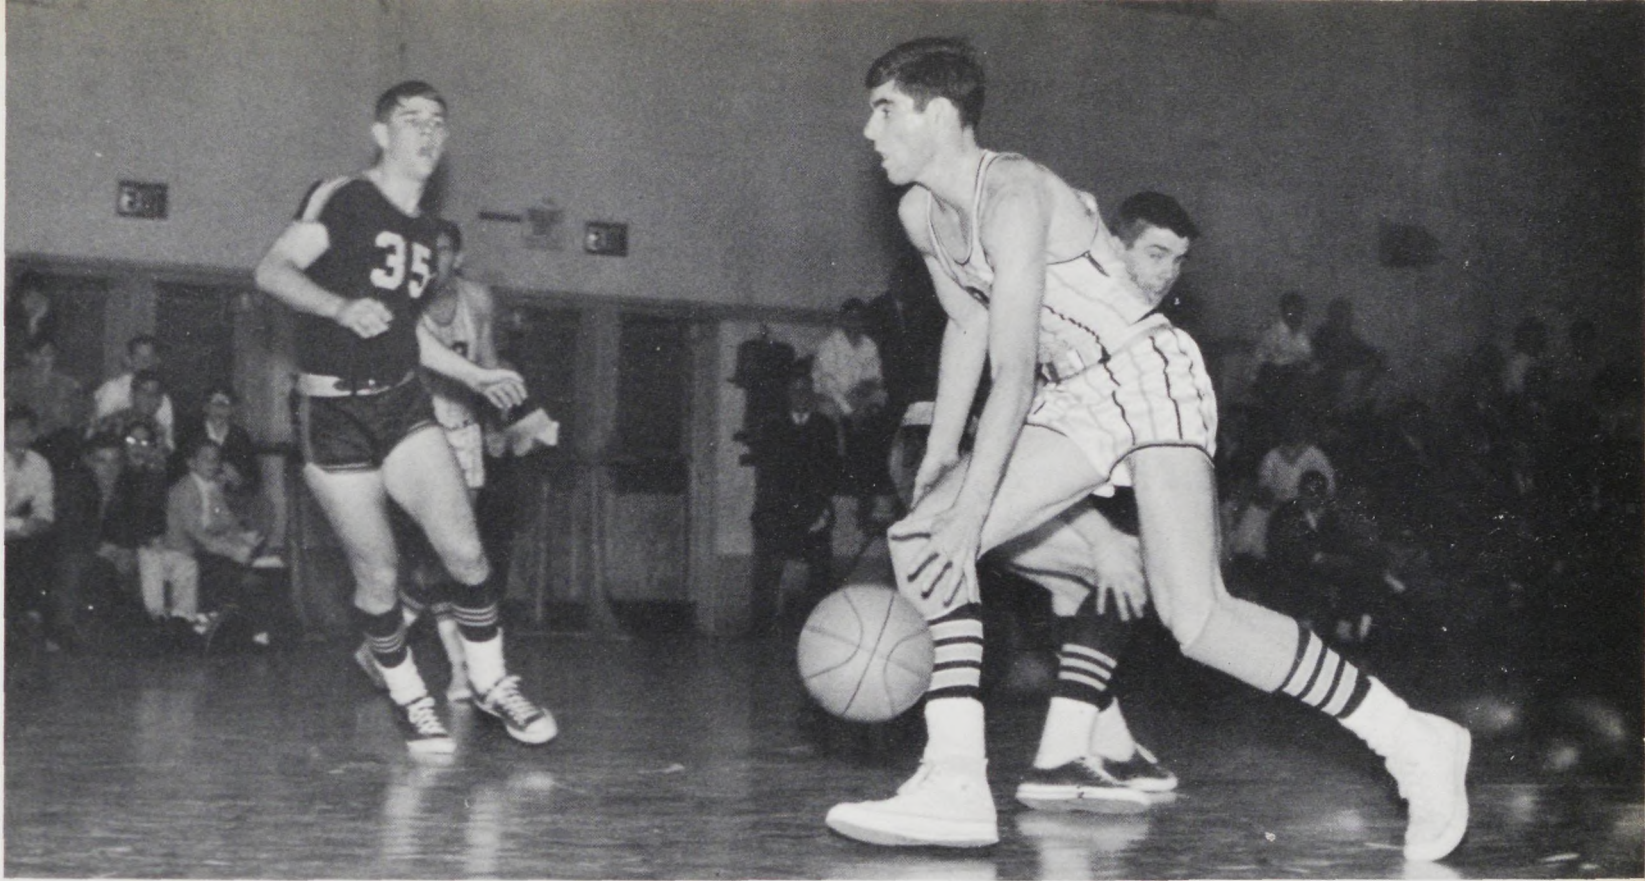

The team goes over last minute instructions with Coach Murray.

Billy Hait underhands an attempted layup.

The cheerleaders in a familiar role.

Billy Hait on a drive seems to see an opening.

Each leaping upward toward victory . . .

Who says Mountain players are not ambidexterous? Billy Hait goes high up for a lefty layup and looks like he is going to be attacked by number twenty-three, as Don Poe and Karl Dorling are set to move up the court.

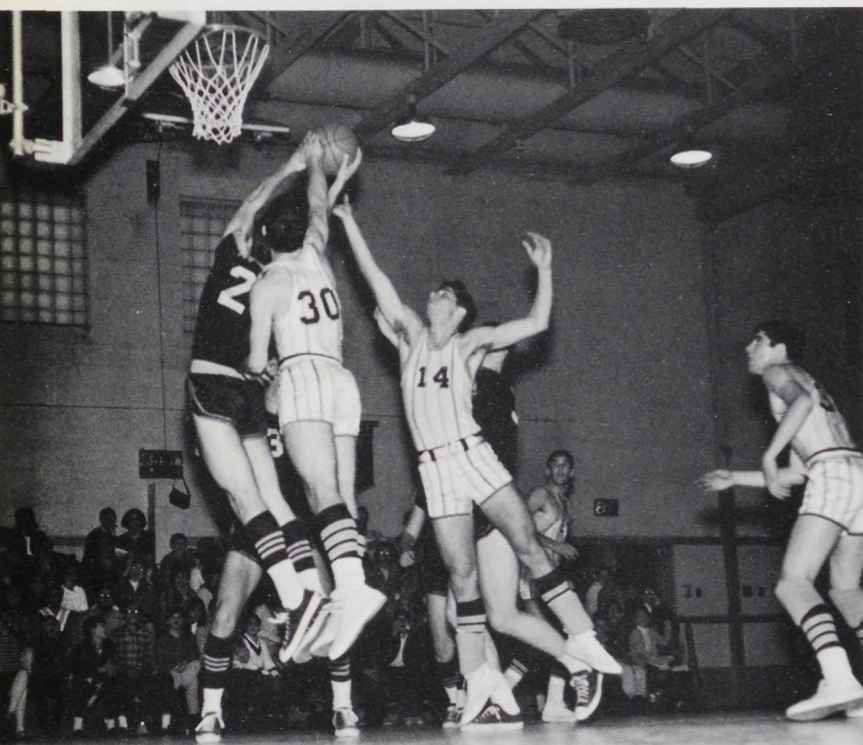

Here are the Mountain cheerleaders at the Hanover Park away game—they really have something to cheer about!

Steve Springer drives through the whole Hanover Park team, with Ira Marcus looking on, ready to return to defense.

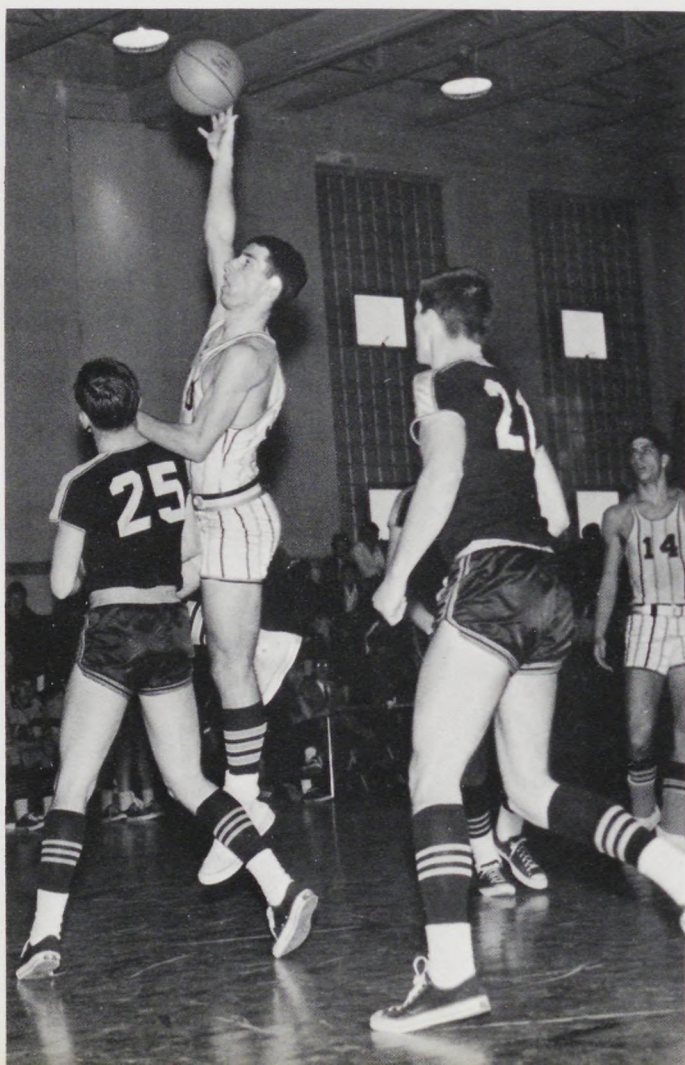

The jump for the basket—an instant of isolation . . .

Is Karl Dorling batting the ball to Ira Marcus, who is going to hit it to Billy Hait, who sees Don Poe waiting hopefully for it?

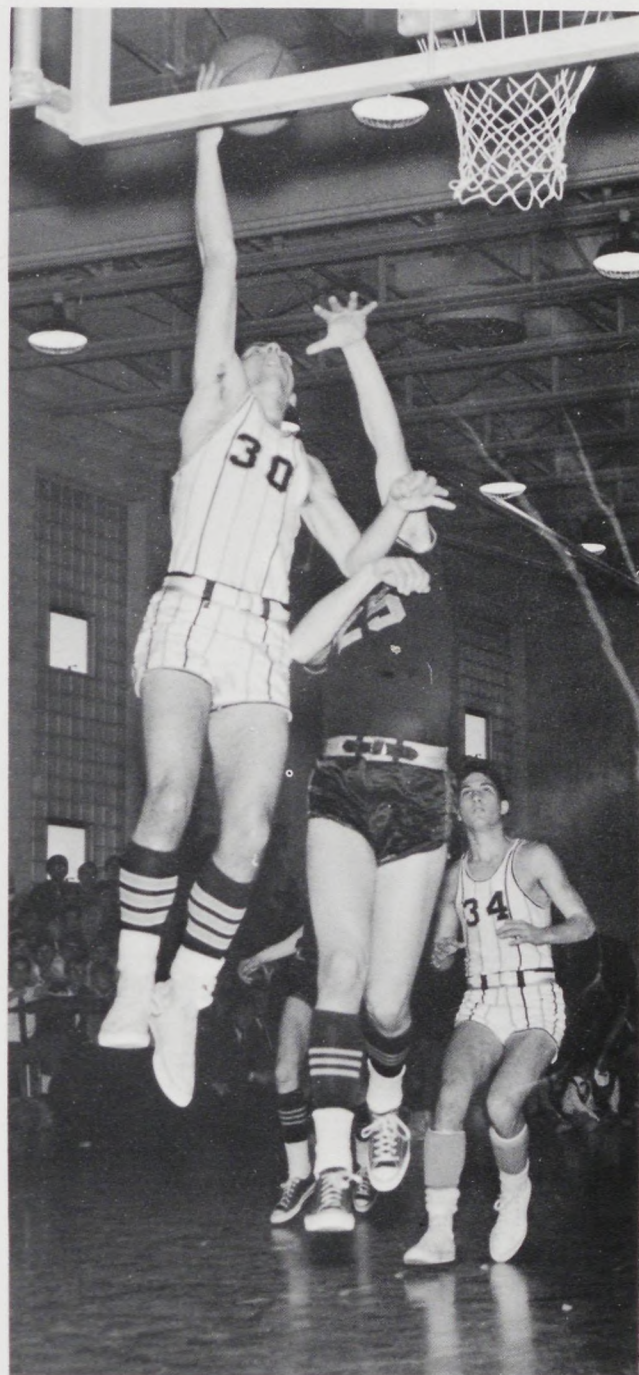

On that Mountain fast break, Don Poe goes up for the two-pointer, while number eleven of Hanover Park looks stunned.

Karl Dorling puts up the ball nonchalantly, resting on number twenty-five of Hanover Park. Looks comfortable!

Ira Marcus appears to be fouled on an attempted layup as Don Poe awaits the result anxiously.

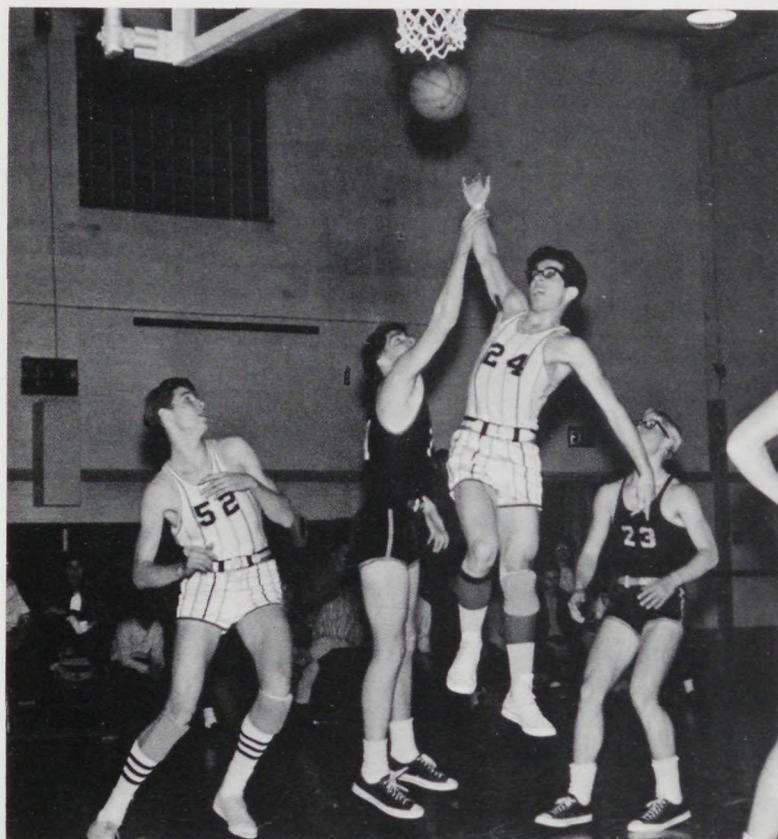

Karl Dorling goes high up for two points as Stu Bronfman looks on.

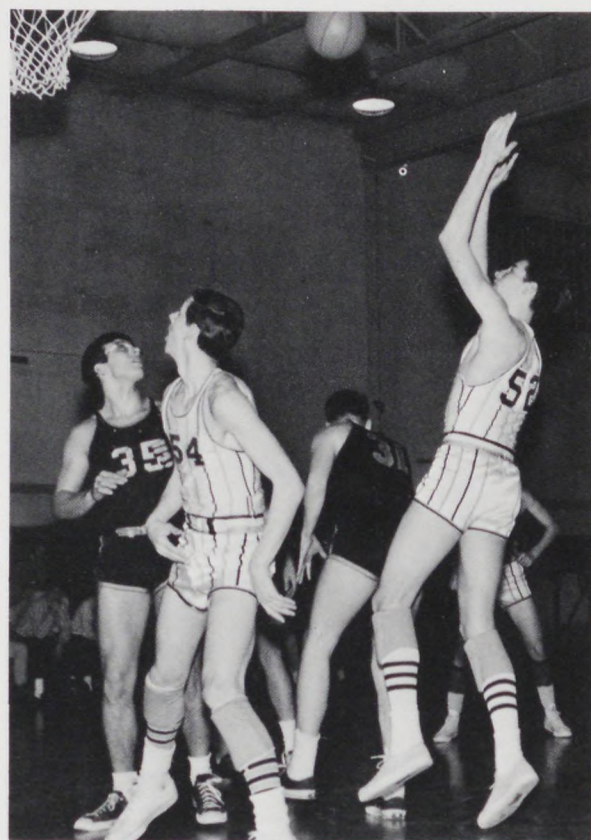

Steve Springer seemingly flies through the air for a two-pointer as Karl Dorling, Ira Marcus, and Billy Hait lend encouragement.

The junior varsity—individuals packed with potential . . .

Mike Feiger drives in for a layup as Jim Stuber looks on.

Towering Jim Stuber puts up a shot while Peter Sharpe braces for the rebound.

Who's got the tap? From left to right: Peter Sharpe, Jim Stuber jumping, Mike Feiger, and Paul Konove.

Peter Sharpe drives through the defense to put up a one-handed shot.

Frank Longo shoots a one-hander from the outside.

Jim Stuber attempts a layup as Paul Konove looks on.

a sound body, and a sound mind.

Following through on a powerful drive, Jon Klein practices for an important game.

Bill Torlucci, a promising Mountain golf player, shows his form.

Senior Doug Menkes remembers to keep his eye on the ball.

TENNIS

Look, Ma, no racket!

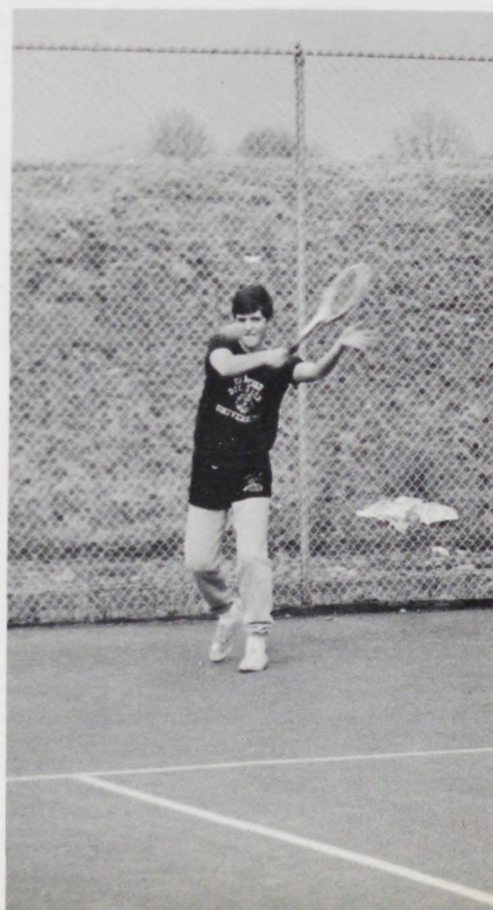

Tennis matches the skills of two individuals.

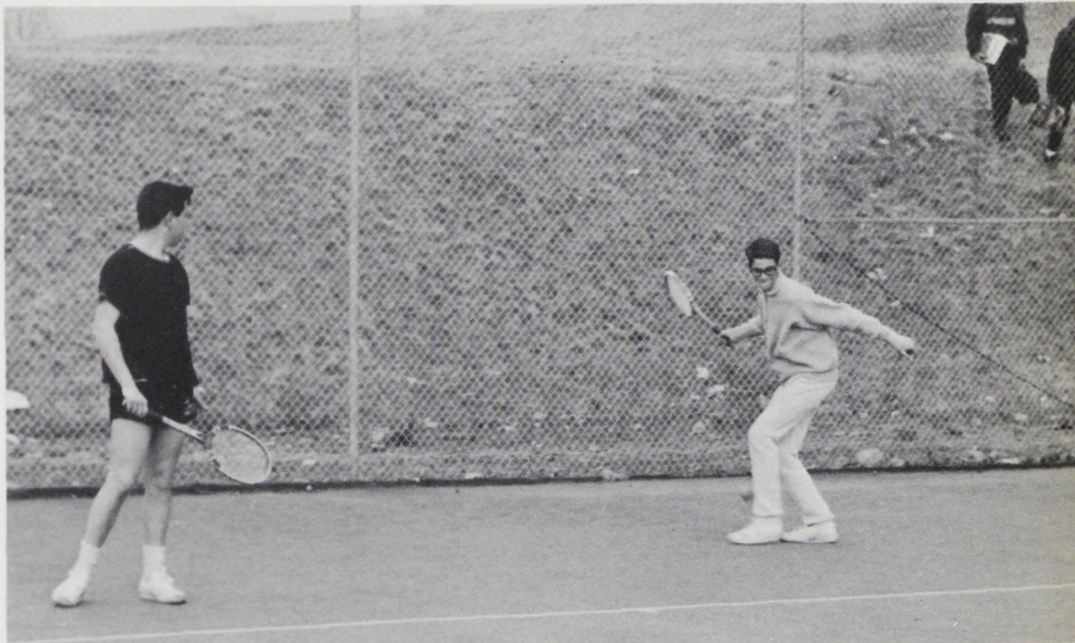

Jeff Kass returns the ball with a powerful forehand smash.

Robby Pinsky warms up in early season practice.

David Reisberg rears back to return a difficult shot as Marc Horey looks on.
