WEST ORANGE MOUNTAIN HIGH SCHOOL

I would like to acknowledge the influence of Walt Whitman, a nineteenth century American poet, whose writings, notably Leaves of Grass, inspired the theme and literary content of the 1972 yearbook.

There was a child went forth every day,

And the first object he look'd upon, that object he became,

And that object became part of him for the day or a certain part of the day,

Or for many years or stretching cycles of years.

I celebrate myself, and sing myself,
And what I assume you shall assume,
For every atom belonging to me as good belongs to you.

I loafe and invite my soul,

I lean and loafe at my ease observing a spear of summer grass.

My tongue, every atom of my blood, form'd from this soil, this air,

Born here of parents born here from parents the same, and their parents the same,

I... in perfect health begin, Hoping to cease not till death.

Creeds and schools in abeyance,
Retiring back a while sufficed at what they are,
but never forgotten,

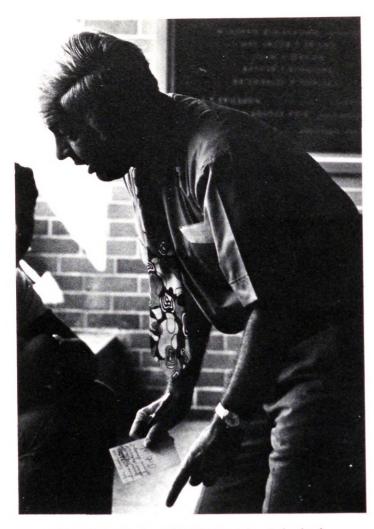

I harbor for good or bad, I permit to speak at every hazard, Nature without check with original energy.

We are alike . . . yet we are different. We, en masse, compose a minute, independent part of the whole, yet each alone composes a smaller, still more independent part. It is this independence that we must celebrate, for we know that each person and thing we encounter becomes a part of us, making and shaping us into individuals. Although we are individuals we are members of the family of man and of a much smaller community here at Mountain where we contribute and share: our joy, our sorrow, our continual thoughts and our overpowering emotions . . .

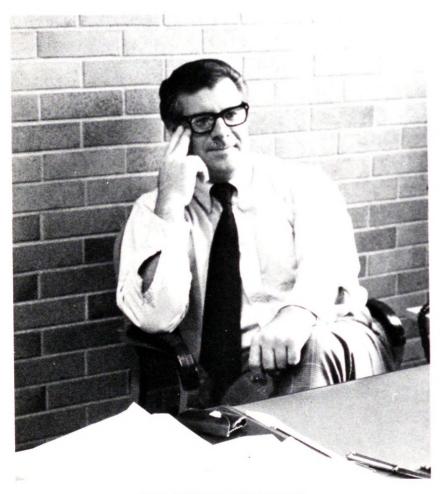

PACULTY:

You are also asking me questions and I hear you. I answer that I cannot answer, you must find out for yourself.

No, girls! You're supposed to shoot at their goal!

Contrary to the belief of many, girls have the ability to participate in athletics. Mountain's field hockey team, though relatively unsuccessful in the scoring column, has shown an abundance of determination, ability, and team effort.

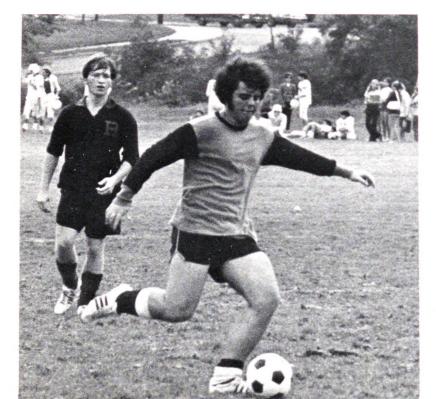

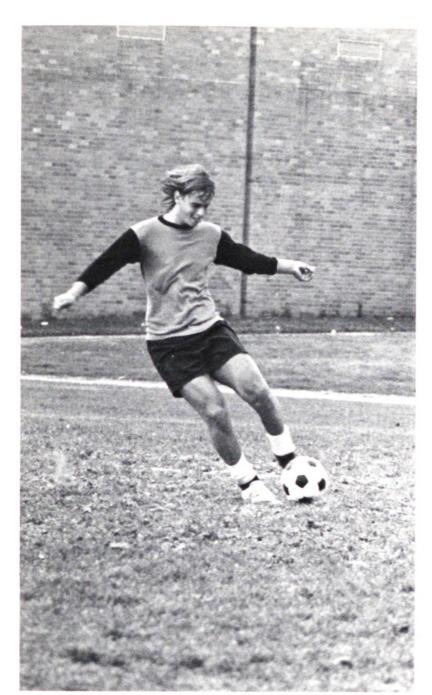

JOHN SKARBNIK

Despite injuries early in the season, our boys in black and gold pushed onward. Coaches Hausler and Eason worked diligently to drive the team to its fullest. If sincerity and spirit were the judge, Mountain's soccer team would be in the winner's corner.

This year, Mountain's Student Congress has enacted a new term of office. Terms are now from February to February. This year's first president, Peter Daniel, has made some accomplishments even though he had to deal with an apathetic and uncooperative group of representatives. Student Congress has checked into the feasibility of modular scheduling in Mountain, purchased a new bicycle rack, started a senior lounge, and revised the Constitution.

FREDERICK HOOEY

"Good men must die, but death cannot kill their names."

Our Yearbook introduces us to one of Walt Whitman's poems, Song of Myself, and from this and his other writings we can place ourselves in a frame of mind of what we have concerned ourselves with in the past and present, and what we will concern ourselves with in the future. Whitman was a spokesman for the gods, the common man, democracy, our America, the beauty of things themselves—from nature, our industry, and our labors. He was saying to us that out of the common, something beautiful might rise; out of materialism, something beyond the material. Should our hopes for now and the future be any less than what this poet of 19th century America wanted?

Soon the day will arrive when you have completed your work at Mountain High and the question is asked, "Did you make the grade?" During the past few years you have been presented with a series of challenges, and there was a lesson to be learned in every experince. The important thing is what happens to you in the process of meeting them. You can go through an experience or grow through it:

Great is the quality of truth in man,

The quality of truth in man supports itself through all changes, It is inevitably in the man . . . He and it are in love, and never leave each other.

You have lived in a time of turmoil. The institutions and values of yesterday have been challenged and changed—sometimes by evolution and sometimes by revolution. You have experienced perplexing situations as the war in Vietnam, American racism, urban blight and poverty, and the revolt of the young. These situations are still with us and it is our hope that your education will help you and us find better insights on positive projects to bring about meaningful solutions:

Is humanity forming en-masse? for lo, tyrants tremble, crowns grow dim,

The earth, restive, confronts a new era, perhaps a general divine war, No one knows what will happen next, such portents fill the days and nights;

Years prophetical! the space ahead as I walk, as I vainly try to pierce

it, is full of phantoms,

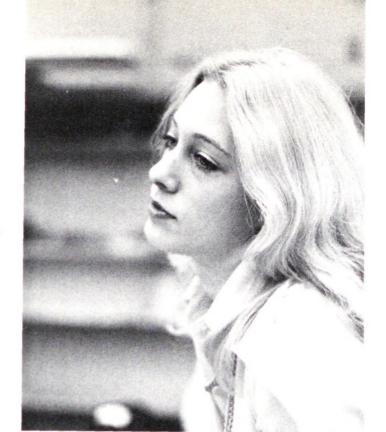

Unborn deeds, things soon to be, project their shapes around me, This incredible rush and heat, this strong ecstatic fever of dreams O years!

Class of 1972, my best wishes go with you. I hope your expectations come to fruition—that your dreams for better things are realized. You are called upon to make the world's problems your own personal projects and to make the grade by working for solutions.

I am a man, who, sauntering along without fully stopping, turns a casual look upon you and then averts his face,

Leaving it to you to prove and define it, Expecting the main things from you.

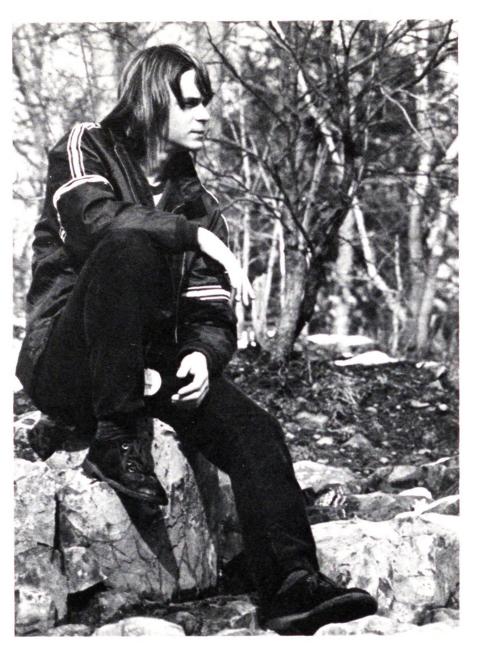

One's-self I sing . . .

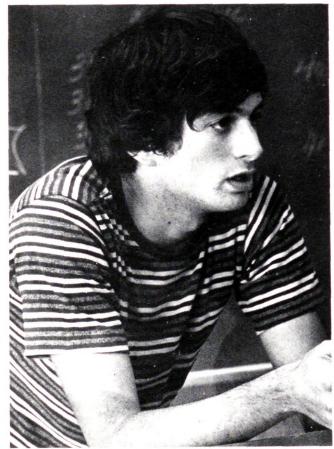

... a simple separate person ...

... I exist as I am, that is enough . .

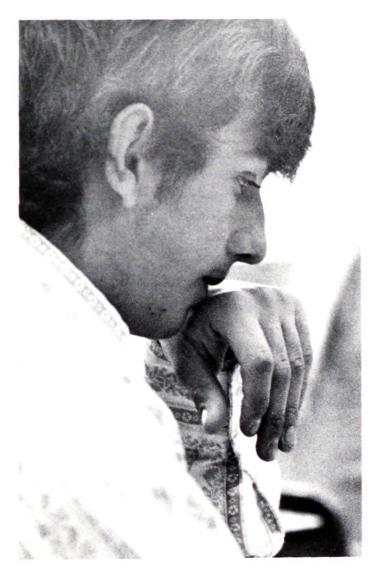

... I project the history of the future ...

. . . I am an acme of things accomplish'd . . .

... and I an encloser of things to be ...

... A world to be born under your footsteps . . .

And now we leave . . . each his separate way, wondering where his path will lead him. And what is left but a school with two more worlds of individuals who too will leave. We accept what has passed and look to our futures . . .

Farewell to you and the youth I have spent with you.

It was but yesterday we met in a dream.

You have sung to me in my aloneness, and I of your longings have built a tower in the sky.

But now our sleep has fled and our dream is over, and it is no longer dawn.

The noontide is upon us and our half waking has turned to fuller day, and we must part.

If in the twilight of memory we should meet once more, we shall sing to me a deeper song.

And if our hands should meet in another dream we shall build another tower in the sky.
