DEDICATION

As we, the twentieth graduating class, prepare to pass through the portals of Mountain High School for the final time, our thoughts must surely focus upon our futures. Our yearbook, the 1981 Aries has been dedicated to the flight on which we are about to embark, a flight to the fulfillment of our hopes, dreams, and destinies.

FLIGHT INSTRUCTORS

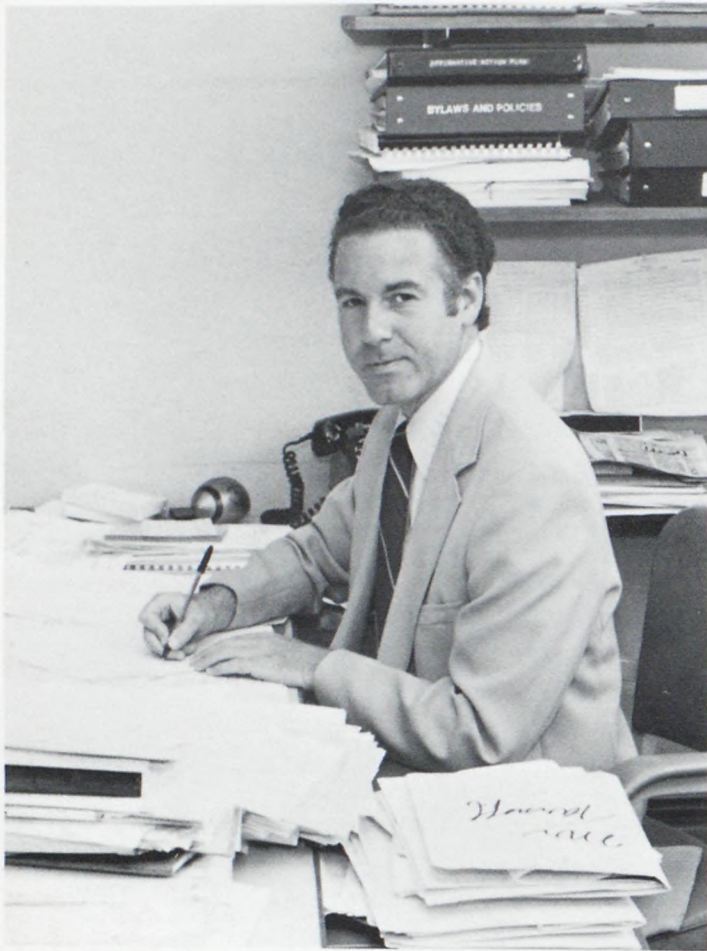

As we take our flight into the future, we must remember those who made it all possible, our teachers, the flight instructors. They taught us the exact amount of moles per liter of H_2O , the true reason why "Pepe went to the Mercado" in the Spanish movie with the same title, and how "to be or not to be". At times it seemed pointless, but whether we realize it or not, they helped us grow and mature. Thanks.

FRANK J. VOGT - Assistant Principal

To the Class of 1981,

I am personally pleased to have been some part of your high school experiences. This class continues to prove that the young people still value hard work, creativity, dedication to their growth, and loyalty to their friends.

During these past three years, your efforts have continued to assist this school in meeting its educational and social goals. I am appreciative of your willingness to accept the responsibility of leadership toward a school that does meet its students' needs, interests and talents.

May your futures, in whatever endeavors you choose, be as successful and productive as your years at Mountain.

If we human beings deserve at all the epithet "successful", it is because we are the earth-dwellers who have fought a better fight than other species on our planet against the destructive forces of time and distance. Our victories have been won (and our defeats assuaged) largely through our powers of communication. The most conclusive evidence of our triumphs over time and space: civilization itself - with its Tokyos and New Yorks, its Voyager I's and II's, its Picassos and its Shakespeares is a testimony to the power of our communication to transcend the centuries and the miles that separate one human from another. The study of English is the study of the power of words to draw people together and multiply their force. The precision and logic of expository prose enable us to share technical knowledge and to organize our social endeavors so that roads, cities, and laws may come into being. Through fiction, poetry, and drama, we experience the language of emotion and learn appropriate responses to that great range of aesthetic, religious, and intimate experience that high civilization requires. At its best, the study of English attunes us to that quiet chorus of civilized voices that speak from the vanished past, from the nooks and crannies of the present, and from the best part of our own minds. At its best, the study of English attunes us to those voices and enables us to add our own to that quiet chorus, which now resounds through the millenia and between the stars, and which will continue to sound only so long as we retain the ability to listen, understand and speak, read, comprehend, and write.

Greetings, sirs.

Just as the cosmos is a coherent whole and finds a firm foundation, thanks to the one and the same Nature in which all its parts fit together, so also the universality of men, joined to each other by Nature, fall to quarrelling because of wickedness. For they fail to see that they are blood brothers and under the protection of one and the same guiding spirit. If this were grasped, then indeed would man live the life of the gods.

Why don't you type it in and try it!

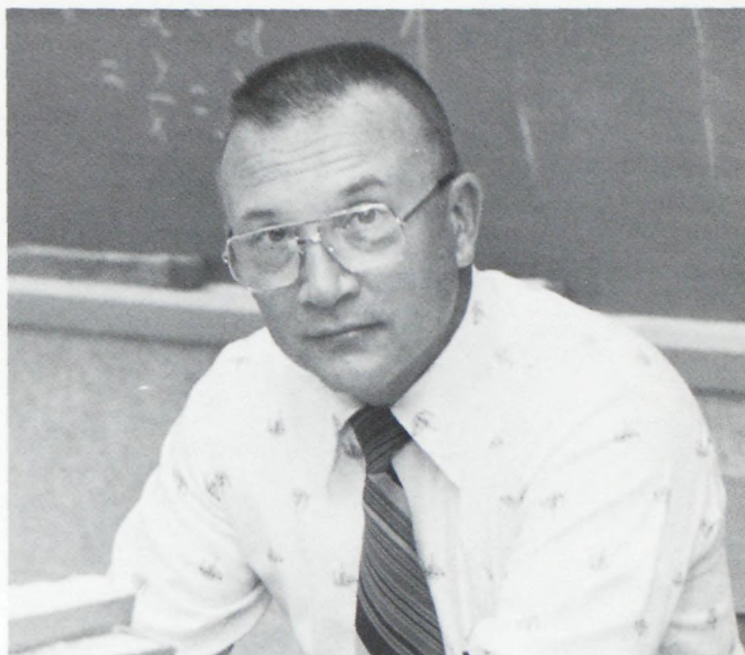

The mathematics teacher is to the beginning mathematics student as the seasoned guide is to the tenderfoot in the woods. Neither the beginning mathematics student nor the tenderfoot can interpret the signs that are readily available until the teacher or guide points them out. An important part of mathematical training is to make one aware of the clues that are present, their significance, and finally, their interpretation as applied to that particular situation.

The ability to apply one's knowledge requires that all necessary information has been carefully filed in one's mind, in an orderly fashion, so that it can be carefully called upon. It also implies that information must be arranged so that one knows what tasks the various mathematical tools are designed to perform. Finally, the procedures must have been practiced until they become mastered and hence can be done reasonably free of careless errors.

In conclusion, as part of a student's study habits, he ought to ask himself, "What was it that I didn't see, but that was really there to be seen, or what was it that I didn't know, but that I ought to have known?" Thoreau stated we must keep in mind "the discipline of looking always at what is to be seen."

In una frase completa!

Will you ever use the language you studied for two, three, four, or even five years? No one can really say, but for some of you it may become a distinct adjunct to your career. Others of you may know the special thrill of traveling in a country where the language is spoken and communicating with the people. Still others may be limited to ordering a meal in a New York restaurant and impressing your dinner guests with a few chosen words in the "lingo".

No matter how limited or extensive your future use of the language may be - can you ever forget those "cultural enrichment experiences", those special holiday foods and the experiments in foreign cooking, sometimes felicitous and other times disastrous? You can certainly remember the field trips, the club meetings, induction ceremonies, and Foreign Language Weeks. Someday you may realize that a lot more was going on in those language classes than you'd thought: history, geography, music, art - some will say they first learned English grammar there!

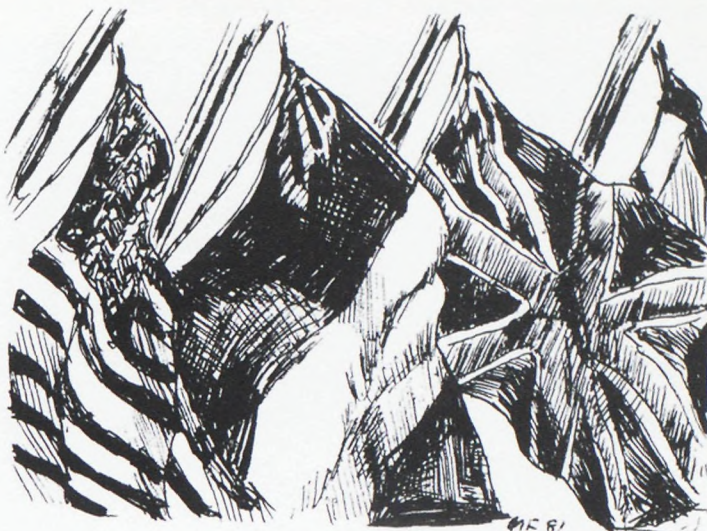

No matter what the future holds for you, each of your language teachers wish you: Bonne chance, Buone fortuna, and Buena suerte!

Science is "a branch of study concerned with the observation and classification of facts and especially with the establishment of verifiable general laws." We at Mountain explore beyond just observation and classification, past subjects like Biology, Chemistry and Physics; we attempt to aid the students in expanding their minds so they'll grow inquisitive and seek to ask questions, not only to answer them. We hope to provide the motivation needed for the students to grow enthused about learning the secrets of the universe.

PASSENGERS: COACH

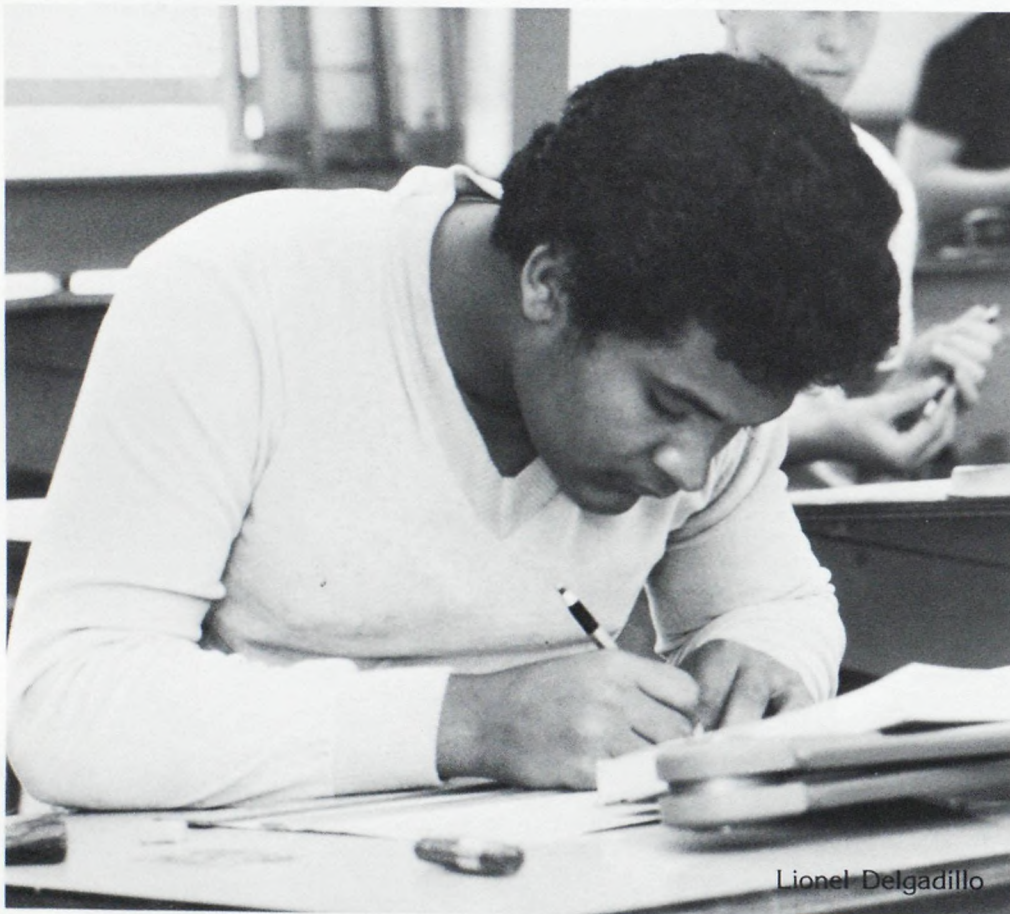

For underclassmen, Mountain is full of new experiences and perhaps some "cultural shock". Adjusting to different halls, classes and new faces can be a traumatic experience for incoming sophomores. As a junior, these things are more familiar, but there are additional items with which the junior must cope. SAT's, Achievements . . . coupled with an extracurricular activity, are challenges which help the underclassmen find themselves. When time allows, they must surely think of the day when at last, they too, will be seniors.

AERIAL DIVERSIONS

Life at Mountain wasn't all work. We can all recall our own experiences with the many activities Mountain has offered to us. Diversions like Sports, Drama, the publications - they were all pastimes in which we've had a part. The victories, the losses, the hard work and the close friendships we created - these are all memories of Mountain that will live with us as we take flight into our futures.

Coach DeLingo

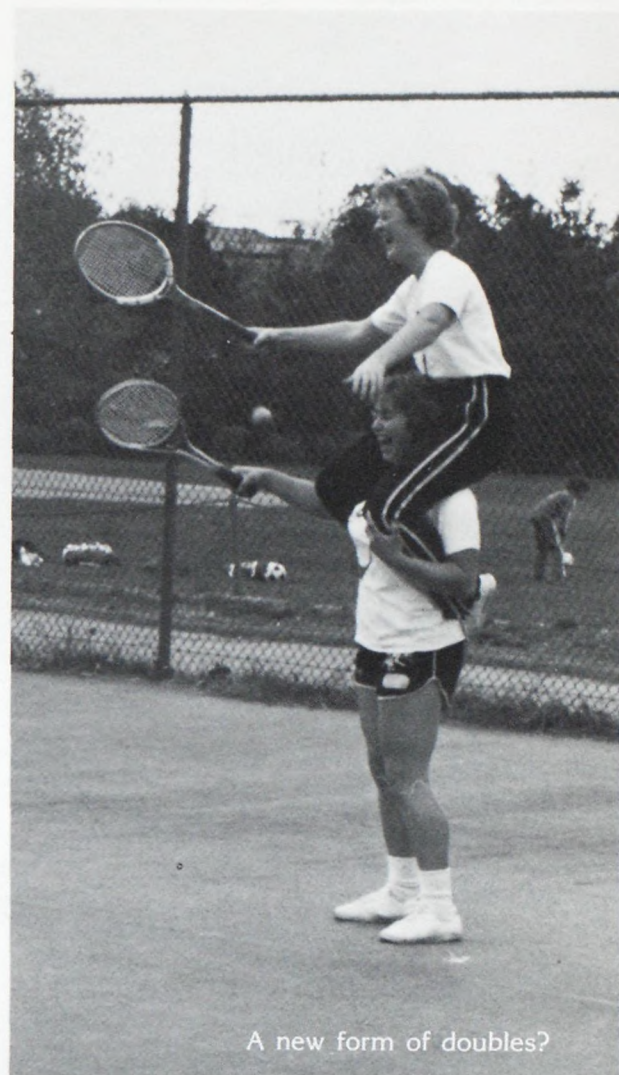

Football, soccer, field hockey, and cross country are just a few of the activities Mountain students enjoyed this fall. October brought Halloween and Mountain had its share of witches, vampires, and even Mr. Avedian look-alikes. In November, seniors enjoyed their traditional eggs and toast at the Holiday Inn on Thanksgiving Morning. Seniors participated in Homecoming activities and then came the big game. Though the Rams were defeated, Mountain pride transformed everyone into winners. Other winners included the Marching Rams who brought home a second place trophy after a heated competition in Montville. The Girls' Tennis team had a memorable year. After completing the season without a defeat, this outstanding team earned the coveted title of Conference co-champions. The comedy-drama of The Prisoner of Second Avenue brought laughter to many audiences. Success is the word to use for more activities such as the supportive pep rally, Rampage, and the Great American Smokeout. The activities mentioned and others combined to produce fun and excitement in the Fall of 1980.

THE 1980 - 81 SEASON

Under the very capable leadership of Captains Tom Popple and Adam Mayo, the Rams Wrestling Team provided Coach Phil Capodilupo and the loyal wrestling supporters with many outstanding performances during the 1980 - 1981 campaign.

Overall inexperience prevented our team from having a winning season as a 3 - 15 dual meet record indicates, but several veteran wrestlers earned a great deal of respect and recognition for Mountain High School.

REGION II CHAMPIONSHIPS

Adam Mayo 108 5th

The Mountain Rams will surely miss Seniors Tom Popple with his fine record of 18 - 6 - 1, Chris Grassano with his team record of 57 points in tournaments over three years, the fish stories by Tom Hartigan, the unforgettable side roll pins by Joe Trento, and the Magic and Humor of Lenny Rivers and Mike Wernick.

Next year's Tri - Captains Adam Mayo, Tim Groves and Whitney Tantleff must provide the catalyst for our returning grapplers if they are to wrestle as well in tournaments as is customary of Mountain teams of late. Coach Capodilupo envisions outstanding seasons for returning veterans Mayo, Groves, Keith and Eric Silverstein, Tantleff, Brilliant, Riker, and Sivoella.

The Health Careers Club supported the American Cancer Society Feb. 28 with a fifteen-hour dance marathon. Spectators encouraged the dancers all through the long night, and as the hours ticked away, sponsors contributed more and more money to this worthy cause. The duties of the Master of Ceremonies were shared by teachers and students, and a disc jockey and live band provided the entertainment and music to keep everyone moving. Three couples remained at 6:45 AM, and by seven o'clock the winners were announced and awarded $100. The event was enjoyable by all and the American Cancer Society benefitted tremendously.

Daphne Blutinger

March 12 and 13 were the two days the traditional Senior Trip took place at the Tamiment Resorts Country Club. One hundred seniors, along with chaperones began their fun-filled trip at 7:00 a.m. Volleyball, basketball, tennis, and horseback riding were some activities in which students participated. After an enjoyable dinner, a disco dance was held. Movies, including Rocky II played through the night. At 2:00 p.m. on March 13, the seniors arrived back at Mountain, exhausted, but certain that a terrific time was had by all.

PROM NIGHT

Once again, the Birchwood Manor was the site for the Class of 1981's Junior Prom. On May 23, 1980, elegantly attired couples danced and dined and enjoyed the marvelous evening. The Queen and her attendants were chosen at midnight, and the coronation left JoAnne, Laurie, and Michele with a treasury of magical moments to remember. Although "We may never pass this way again", the brilliant memories of prom night will continue to shine in the future.

Michele Schwartz & Jimmy Elder, Joanne Juliano & Ken Farrelly, Laurie Havard & Rich Galgano.

WE MAY NEVER PASS THIS WAY AGAIN

*Life - so they say
Is but a game and they let it slip away
Love - like the Autumn sun
Should be dying but it's only just begun
Like the twilight in the road up ahead
They don't see just where we're going
And all the secrets in the universe
Whisper in our ears and all the years will come and go
And take us up - always up*

*Dreams - so they say
Are for the fools and they let them drift away*

*Peace - like the silent dove
Should be flyin' but it's only just begun
Like Columbus in the olden days
We must gather all our courage
Sail our ships out on the open sea
Cast away our fears and all the years
Will come and go and take us up always up*

*We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again*

On January 12th, forty - six Mountain scholars were inducted into the Honarien Chapter of the National Honor Society. Accompanying the traditional lighting of the symbolic candles were speeches by former Honor Society faculty members Mr. David Glatzer, Mrs. Marcia Bossart, Mr. Vincent Freeman, Mrs. Elaine Lubiner, Mrs. Marcia Lasky, and Ms. Nan Barcan. Following the solemn inductions, entertainment was provided by the chorus and instrumentalist of the Society. A beautiful reception was a fitting finale to this prestigious occasion.

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

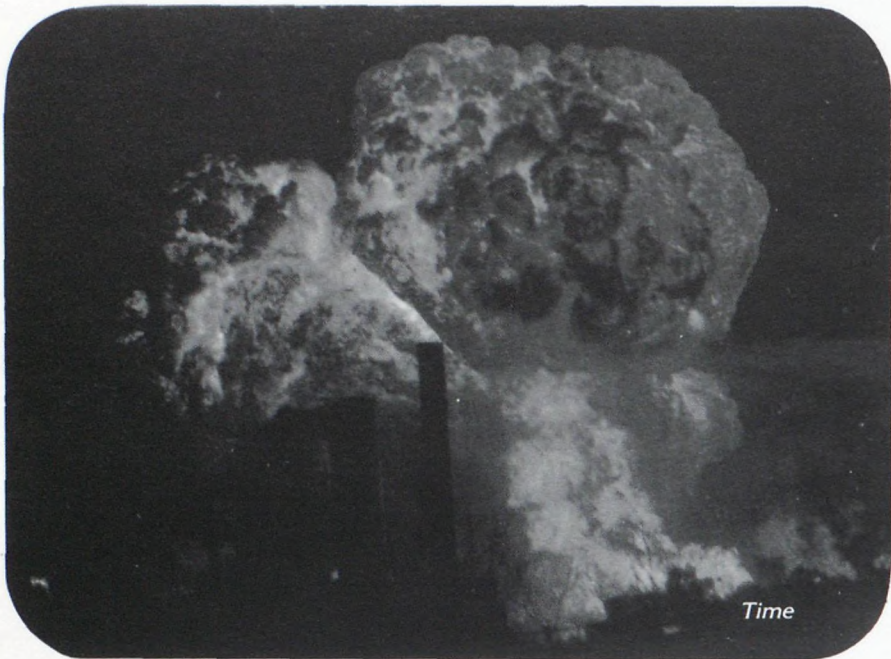

Mr. William Collinson, a graduate of the West Orange Police Academy, is the newest addition to our Mountain staff. After his employment in the West Orange Police Department for 32 years, he comes to serve as Mountain's security guard. Our warmest welcome to Mr. Collinson.

We would like to wish a fond farewell to staff member Mrs. Shirley Lipton, who is departing from Mountain's faculty ranks. Mrs. Lipton, sixteen years a teacher on the Business Education staff, also served as Cooperative Education coordinator. Our best wishes to her on the occasion of her retirement.

1981 RETROSPECT

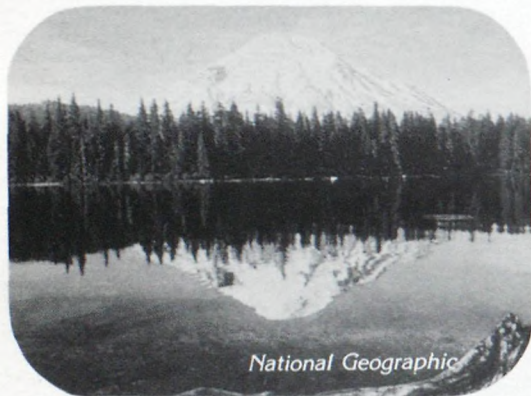

America's waste disposal problem came to the nation's attention through such incidents as the Love Canal and more locally, the explosion of an Elizabeth, New Jersey warehouse. Chemical companies have long disposed of their chemical wastes by burying them in sealed drums. While this may have been a very economical method, its long range effects have proved lethal. Leaking containers have been blamed for the increase of cancer and infant mortality rates in several states, as well as the destruction inflicted upon various communities like Elizabeth as an aftermath of the storage area explosions. Until a foolproof method of disposal is found, chemical spectres may continue to haunt us.

TERROR IN ATLANTA

Young blacks grew up in fear in Atlanta - in the shadow of a wave of murders which claimed the lives of more than twenty youngsters. When the Atlanta police force found it couldn't handle the chore alone, government agencies were called in to help, and hundreds of volunteers from surrounding communities also joined. After 18 months, the murders still remain unsolved, and Atlantans still search.

CHEMICAL DUMPS - TOXIC TIMEBOMBS

Mt. St. Helens, once the serene empress of the Northwest, let fly her explosive wrath, burying much of Washington and adjacent states beneath tons of ash. The blast itself obliterated nearly 300 acres of prime forestland and lowered the mountain's height by some 1500 feet. As the black cloud of ejecta rolled eastward, inches of dust smothered all in its path, choking rivers and traffic, and dispatching any life in its path. The spirits of the northwestern residents were not crushed, and through their resiliency, the lengthy rebuilding process has begun.

MT. ST. HELENS

THE REAGAN LANDSLIDE

Ronald Reagan, septegenarian, politician and former actor, made good a bid for the presidency, sweeping into the White House with a whopping 51% of the popular vote. Despite predictions that the 1980 elections would be too close to call, Reagan garnered 440 more electoral votes than the Democratic incumbent Jimmy Carter. The voters' apparent enthusiasm for the Californian was manifested in the numbers who turned out to cast their ballots. Voting was so one-sided that NBC television declared Reagan the victor even before the western polls had closed. America was ready for a change.

EX-BEATLE LENNON SLAIN

John Lennon, the self-styled leader of the Beatles, was gunned down in front of his posh Dakota Apartment residence on Monday, Dec. 8, 1980. The tragic loss of this oft-times enigmatic musician was felt worldwide. Lennon's compositions, the anthems of the peace movement of the early seventies, were sung by followers as a tribute to this great man.

AFTER 444 DAYS OUR HOSTAGES COME HOME

Time

Time

Yellow ribbons lined streets all over the country in commemoration of the hostages. Finally, after 444 days of question and anxiety, the hostages came home. Their return was celebrated from the smallest towns of the Midwest to the Big Apple. Mayor Koch planned a mammoth parade, complete with marching bands and ticker tape, and the hostages were given a hero's welcome. In addition to the return of the hostages, Americans saw the return of patriotism which boosted our sagging morale and helped the country unite in the same manner as when the U.S. Hockey team won the gold medal in the 1980 Winter Olympics.

Star Ledger

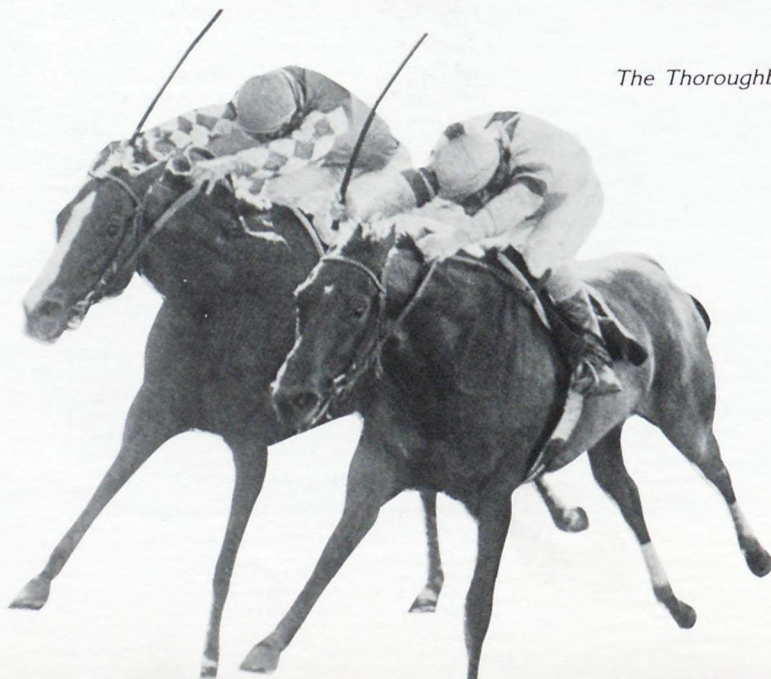

M*A*S*H continued to air every Monday night and became one of the most popular television shows since I Love Lucy. Alan Alda's acting and directing talents earned him the People's Choice Award for the third time.

The Thoroughbred Record

Since 1915, no filly had won the Kentucky Derby, America's most famous horse race. The 1980 edition of the spring classic proved to be a showcase for a lithe chestnut filly named Genuine Risk. Risk bested a field of the nation's best three-year-old colts en route to a one length victory.

SENIORS

June 1981

Dear Mountain,

Just a little note of thanks to let you know we appreciate all you have done. With your help, these last three years were outrageous! We do recall sophomore year fears and a junior year that seemed like a tunnel with no light at the end, but everything has worked out beautifully — thanks to you. Sorry that we have to go now, but to tell the truth, the future is our next destination, and we're anxious to see what it's like. Wish us luck!

Take good care of yourself.

FALL

Just when you were enjoying the last week of summer with all your friends, you find yourself back at good ol' Mountain High School. The grunts and groans of the football players on the practice field can be heard through the cooling air. Pre-game days see a cast of supporting characters in black and gold filling the halls with electric anticipation.

In autumn also, the walls are covered with posters exclaiming the virtues of each candidate for class office. In the gym, equipment is busily being assembled for sports such as soccer, field hockey, and Girls' tennis. The thundering beat and flashing colors of the marching band delight and enliven our teams' supporters. The air is crisp, down jackets and vests appear—Homecoming is on the way.

WINTER

Life at Mountain during the winter is quite different than at any other time. Athletes participate in girls' or boys' basketball and wrestling. The band is transformed from a marching band to a concert band and plays Bach instead of "Superman". Many seniors will spend a good deal of time in the Guidance office making last minute preparations for college admissions. Of course, one can't forget the pressures of midterms or the enthusiasm for this year's two week December holiday. To complete the picture of life at Mountain in winter, one need only imagine snow outside and the bundled-up students chattering inside.

SPRING

The excitement doesn't end with the coming of spring. Faculty and students peel off their down jackets and snow boots and jump into baseball, softball, track and boys' tennis. Besides preparing for finals, couples begin to form for the Junior Prom. Many seniors are stationed in front of their mailboxes praying for the acceptance letter that might decide their future. When graduation gown measurements commence, everyone realizes his high school days are numbered. Friends sign yearbooks and one wonders where the time went. The answer is in the form of treasured memories which will not be forgotten.

IN-FLIGHT ACTIVITIES

As we prepare to take flight, other interests fill many hours during lunch and after 2:15 PM. Mountain offers such a wide choice of extra-curricular activities that many students are involved in more than one. This occasionally causes some friction, especially when one enthusiast has a yearbook, drama club, French club, and Student Congress meeting scheduled in one day. Hysteria may be induced when the morning announcement says they all start, "immediately at the beginning of lunch", but somehow, some way, everything is eventually accomplished. Activities range from the various publications, to performing groups, to student government, to academic clubs and honor societies. All of these activities create an exciting atmosphere which makes one forget all the tests, exams, essays . . . which are probably due the following day.

The Gallants

To Mom, with thanks.

Into each life some rain must fall,
But through the rain you had a ball
You did the best with what you had
And you did it all without your dad.
You learned to love, to help, and share,
For one another you did care.
I had to work a job all day,
For I had bills I had to pay.
My hours were from 8 to 4,
When I came home you'd be by the door.
"Hi, Mom", you would say,
And it made it worth that long hard day.
I loved you then, and I sure do now,
I'm glad we made it, but I don't know how.
Look back now kids, to the life we shared,
Didn't you always know I cared?
You are my children, you are my life,
But now you must realize I'm Pete's wife.
Now we love you as mom and dad,
And I know that makes you very glad.
A family is a precious thing,
For love and happiness it will bring.
United we stand, divided we fall,
So lets join in, one and all.
We'll all be happier; and you can bet
That life that passed you won't regret,
It taught you all responsibility,
And you learned it well by helping me.
A mother should never be ashamed,
For a child she reared to bear her name.
For me there were always some heartaches and joys,
Raising God's creatures, my girls and my boys.

2 To My Wonderful Colorguard Squad:

This year in band has been a bust! We've gone through a lot together from doin' our terrific "knee bends" and Lisa Chases" to freezin' our "rifles" off at games. Why???? Because we're a CRAZY bunch of people! And I loved every minute of it!! Don't ever forget the silly drum solo routine Roberts had us doin' Laura's "farmer" steps and Candy's "Robot Routine." Oh yeah! And our Sergeant Pepper Hearts!! (How embarrassing!) Face it, we looked silly, but the people enjoyed! Don't ever forget our wonderful "Jill Trains" and "Pooh" "Bah" hats! Take care Laura, Jill, Wendy, Lisa, Layne, Cindy & "Arpy!" Good luck next year Lisa, Layne, Cindy, and Ronne. I luv ya all. It's been GREAT!!!!

Luv 'n Crazyness Always,
Yvette

2 To Jun:

What can I say!! You're stuck with me!! Aren't you lucky! I guess we'll have to suffer through our "attacks" together forever but we'll survive, right! You're everything. Thanks for all the wild, wonderful, OUTRAGEOUS times. I value my life so much 'cos you've been with me through it all.

Love you always,
Yvette
