EXPANDING HORIZONS

WEST=O=RANGER

Published by the Students of West Orange High School

WEST ORANGE, NEW JERSEY

Preface

The horizon of an American has expanded from the initial local community, across a continent, over the oceans to include both hemispheres and now to the brink of the space age—the Universe—the unknown horizon of unlimited potential and hope for mankind.

A direct analogy can be drawn between the expanding horizon of an American and the expanding horizon of a student progressing through West Orange High School. This is the theme of the 1961 West-O-Ranger.

The faculty might be compared to the community of an individual. The immediate surroundings of the individual are always the most familiar and have infinite bearing on his future.

Just as the horizon of the American gradually extended beyond the immediate community, activities expand the horizon of the student beyond the requirements of the curriculum.

As a sophomore enters high school he is on the frontier of learning. The three years of high school life of the individual are formative years, and do for him what the frontier did for the American in years gone past.

Nothing expands our horizons as much as participation in competitive athletics. Interscholastic competition develops initiative, determination and sportsmanship. Athletic competition has a universal appeal that overcomes language, custom and race barriers, and together with ease of communication and transportation has tended to make our world a small one.

Our horizon as graduating seniors in this day and age is virtually the world, and might shortly include the universe. At no other time in our history have young people had at their disposal the instruments of communication and transportation that we take for granted.

The story of an American's expanding horizon is portrayed by the art work throughout this book. As his horizon expands the story of the past year at West Orange High School unfolds to the reader.

The class of 1961 has arrived at a new frontier. As the last class to graduate as a unit in West Orange, we are proud to present the largest year-book ever published at West Orange High School, the 1961 West-O-Ranger.

MR. JOSEPH TYLUS

His sparkling wit and pleasant disposition make Mr. Tylus extremely popular with the student body, as well as with the faculty. As Director of Guidance, Mr. Joseph Tylus is all-important in opening new frontiers for the students of West Orange High. His antics and lectures on the Leadership Training Conference will not be soon forgotten by those students who attended.

A graduate of Trenton State College, Mr. Tylus earned his master's degree at Seton Hall University. He has spent his entire teaching career at West Orange High.

As a senior English teacher and advisor to the West-O-Ranger before becoming Director of Guidance, Mr. Tylus did much to enrich the senior year in school. In his present capacity he advises senior boys as to selecting an occupation or a college and heads the administration of the guidance department.

The Class of 1961 is proud to dedicate the West-O-Ranger to Mr. Joseph Tylus in grateful appreciation of his untiring efforts for the student body of West Orange High.

RAYMOND E. HEARN

The untimely passing of Mr. Raymond E. Hearn was of deep concern to both the student body and the faculty of West Orange High School. Before his retirement less than two years ago, Mr. Hearn had served as our principal for 15 years. Those of us who were fortunate enough to know Mr. Hearn remember him as an able administrator, and as a warm, understanding person with an exceptionally fine sense of humor.

Scores of West Orange graduates personally knew of Mr. Hearn's genial nature and his ability to handle all of the multitudinous problems of young people with the wisdom of his years of experience, tempered with a young man's viewpoint.

MEMORIUM

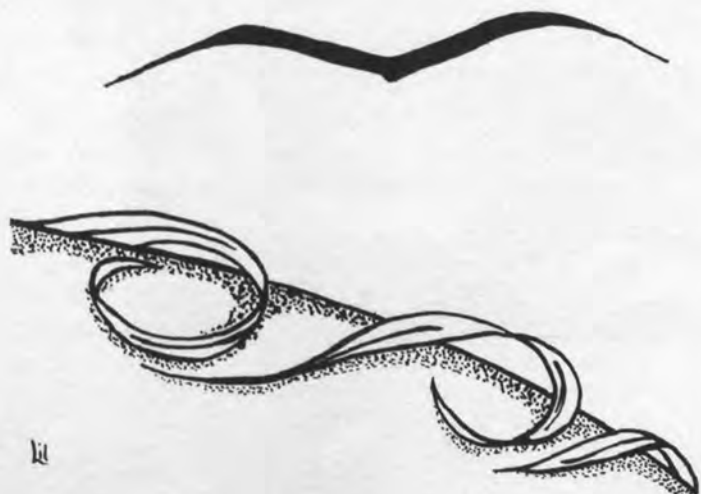

LEIGH BLUMER

"Pop," as he was affectionately called by hundreds of West Orange High students, was an extraordinary teacher and person. U.S. History came alive daily in his informal but informative class.

No one was more consistently cheerful and fair than he. We looked forward to his humorous comments in the classroom and in the hall.

A nature and outdoor enthusiast, Mr. Blumer looked forward to Sunday excursions to the country with his family. While at home he enjoyed collecting antiques to improve his noted collection.

We will miss "Pop" and his ready smile. The reading of this book which is woven around our history will bring pleasant memories of "Pop" to all our minds.

JESSE I. TAYLOR

Superintendent

Mr. Taylor, a graduate of Wesleyan University, received his master's degree from the Teachers' College of Columbia University. After teaching in Islip, Long Island, he came to West Orange High School to teach chemistry and to coach the football team. Mr. Taylor was soon raised to the position of Vice-principal of the high school, then to the position of Principal of Edison Jr. High, and to his present post of Acting Superintendent. He is planning to obtain necessary additions to the elementary schools and to plan programs that will give a major consideration to the students' personality and attitudes toward their studies and their lives.

FRANK S. ALBRIGHT

Director of Secondary Education

Dr. Albright holds the important position of Director of Secondary School Education. He came to West Orange from the Midwest in 1956 and has since been an asset to the school system in developing curriculum and inter-class co-ordination. Dr. Albright graduated from Bradley University, received a master's degree from the University of Illinois, and holds a PhD. from the University of Chicago.

CHESTER H. WINE

Principal

Mr. Wine graduated from Lebanon Valley College and has since become an honored and respected personality in the West Orange School System. Among his many duties in the past Mr. Wine has taught history, has been principal of Hazel Avenue School, and is currently principal of the high school. He takes an active interest in the happiness and well-being of the students and has earned the respect of all.

The outset of the '60's introduced a broader scope in . . .

EDWARD E. JOHNSON

Vice-Principal

Mr. Johnson, a graduate of Dickinson College received his master's degree from New York University. He was recently elevated to the position of Vice-Principal of West Orange High School. During his past thirteen years at the high school Mr. Johnson has taught English and history, coached the football team, and been a member of the guidance department. This year, aside from his regular administrative duties, he has made possible our excellent assembly programs and promoted leadership and citizenship among the students.

HAYDN EVANS

Administrative Assistant

Mr. Evans received his bachelor's degree from Grove City College and his master's degree from Montclair State College. After teaching classes in Business Education, he became an administrative assistant. Mr. Evans is concerned with the attendance and discipline of WOHS students and aids the placement department. He finds it pleasing to assist students who need help.

"activities"

Lillian Stausland.

Although man's frontiers on earth once seemed to be closing, it soon became apparent that "terra firma" held many realms of exploration other than geographic. As more discoveries are made and man's knowledge is broadened, citizens must be prepared to adopt themselves to a different and a more complex society.

It is a recognized fact that if a student is to be able to meet the responsibilities of a future adult life, he must be afforded beneficial experiences during his education. These experiences are not to be found solely within the confines of an academic schedule. One must look farther and realize that life consists of more than math, science, or English. The student of today must be allowed the opportunity to mold himself into a responsible adult in tomorrow's society.

Keeping this idea in mind, West Orange High School has successfully built a strong extra-curricular program over the years. These school sponsored activities give students a chance to broaden old interests and discover new ones. They offer the student the necessary time and instruction to practice a skill, to explore a future career, or to study the culture of a people.

In the Language Clubs, students of French, Latin, and Spanish meet exchange students and see films pertaining to their particular way of life. These are activities which could not be carried out in the classroom because of the time element. Boys and girls who do not have the time to go out for a school sport may participate in gym activities of the several Physical Education Clubs. Future scientists may increase their knowledge by attending one of the various Science and Technology Clubs.

Each year as new activities are added to the extra-curricular program, the student is given an opportunity to partake in new experiences. It is the hope of West Orange High School that these experiences will enable the student to one day leave the world of a student and become a responsible adult.

Students and alumni can point with pride to the outstanding work accomplished throughout the years by our Student Council. This year's organization continued to uphold the council's fine tradition and high reputation throughout the state.

Comprised of one representative from each homeroom plus the executive committee and under the guidance of Mr. Thomas Guest and Mr. Franklin Mull, the council's activities include supervision of class elections, control of the parking lot, selection of the Football Queen, and sponsorship of the Big Switch and "Co-ed Nights." The popular "Co-ed Nights" provide recreation for West Orange High teen-agers as well as raise money for various worthy causes.

This year the Student Council members once again demonstrated their benevolence by their work at the Janet Memorial Home. Volunteer students donated many of their free hours to entertain the youngsters residing there.

Our high school was well represented at the New Jersey Association of High School Councils. Fourteen council members including President Herb Jacobsen, Vice-President Betsy Morris, Treasurer Bobby Saiber, Recording Secretary Ginger Blair and Corresponding Secretary Karen Fogle attended the conference at Rutgers University. Our Student Council also played a key role in the Inter-Orange Council.

Initiated this year by West Orange High School was the Student Council Leadership Training Conference at Camp Kiamesha. Thirty-seven representatives from the three classes enjoyed social gatherings and an opportunity to acquire principles of good leadership. They were taught group organization philosophy in an attempt to better our school organizations. The formation of this leadership conference will assure West Orange students of continued fine leadership in their Student Council.

Jeff Keil and Loretta Kizer take part in the National Honor Society induction ceremony.

West Orange has been fortunate to have had within its school for the past several years a chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools. This past October saw twenty-eight additional West Orange students honored by their induction into this organization. It was truly an honor, for one cannot be admitted without possessing the attributes of outstanding scholarship, fine character, strong leadership, and a willingness to serve. Annually numerous juniors are nominated for membership, but only after careful consideration of their qualifications are a select number approved.

Led by President Ken Graham, Vice-President Eleanor Landaas, Treasurer Thor Skoland, and Secretary Carol Christian and guided by faculty advisor John Huber, the group continued the beneficial programs which have distinguished it in past years. In addition to organizing a spirited motorcade for the Thanksgiving Day gridiron encounter with Columbia High School and posting the Honor Roll, the Society once again offered its services to any students desiring free tutoring. The club members voluntarily gave of their own free time to help fellow classmates with their studies.

Instituted last year and continued this year was a "work day." Individuals of the club spent one day performing a service for someone from whom they received just compensation. This money was presented as a scholarship to a worthy candidate.

The fine work accomplished by the National Honor Society has resulted in its classification as one of the most respected clubs in our school.

THE ROUNDUP

reporting the advancements of today . . .

Celebrating its fifteenth anniversary this year, The Roundup again received first place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. This award honors the high standards of writing and coverage represented by each of the nine issues of the Roundup published during the 1960-1961 school year.

Editors-in-Chief Eleanor Landaas and Stephanie Rosenbaum and faculty advisor Mr. Richard Evers have ably guided the Roundup staff, which has provided the student body with interesting and informative reports of school news. They are aided by business managers Sidney Bloom and Mark Goldin, and picture editor Michael Herman.

In addition to publishing one of the finest papers of its type in the nation, the staff contributes to the welfare of the school by managing the refreshment stand at football games and selling candy after school. The profits from these enterprises help to pay the expenses of the paper.

Mr. Evers proudly reports another first place from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

THE WEST-O-RANGER

revealing the potentials of tomorrow . . .

Sue Jay and Joe Kleinchester give helpful advice to Gerry concerning the layout of the West-O-Ranger.

Publishing the best yearbook ever presented at WOHS is the task of the West-O-Ranger staff. Due to the newly built Mountain High School, 1961 was the last year that there was only one senior class in West Orange. The large size of the class increased the difficulty of meeting deadlines; however, the book was completed to the satisfaction of both the staff and student body.

As an aid to the editors and staff of the West-O-Ranger, the Yearbook Club was initiated this year. Meeting every Tuesday morning this club fulfilled its purpose by accomplishing the necessary tasks associated with yearbook production.

Cindy and Al, Advertising Editors of the 'West-O-Ranger, survey the book's financial situation.

Tom Cruthers, Ken Graham, and John Schupper relive the decisive moments of the 1961 athletic seasons while choosing pictures for the sports section.

Mrs. Casey and Dave Weinstein discuss an article for "The Cauldron."

The Cauldron

The Cauldron, literary magazine of West Orange High School, enables students to reveal their creative writing talents. The collection of diversified poems, stories, and essays published annually brings enjoyment to all readers.

Teachers and students submit material they think worthy of publication. Original art work is used to illustrate the articles. A special feature this year was the cover contest in which students submitted designs from which the attractive new cover was chosen.

The publication of The Cauldron is the result of the activities of the Creative Writing Club, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Casey. Headed by editors, Karen Lando and Victor Miller, the club members select manuscripts, plan the lay-out, publicize the magazine, and type copy as well as carry on sales. Working on The Cauldron staff provides experience for students preparing for careers in journalism, advertising, and illustrating.

Each week, the do's and don'ts of journalism for a high school paper are discussed. The club has been making use of the newest study guide to school newspaper processes, a text entitled, Springboard to Journalism.

The club took part in the Scholastic Press Conference at Columbia and Upsala. At these meetings members participated in round table discussions, heard various speeches, and picked up some valuable 'tips' from the top newsmen and advisers in the country. These trips were enjoyed by all.

The purpose of the Press Club is to acquaint students with journalism and to prepare them to serve on the Roundup staff.

Jane Jacobs shows Press Club members a cartoon she wishes to use in the Roundup.

The experiment appears a success to all but Bill Wharton in Chemistry Club.

SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY

Supplementing the regular classes are the Tuesday morning "Science and Technology Clubs."

Under the competent direction of Mr. Donald Struyk, Physics Club members are given a glimpse of subjects that are not usually included in a high school physics curriculum. Ranging from such topics as the wave particle duality to the special and general theories of relativity, interested students see what lies in store for them if they follow a career in the field of physics. Mr.

Struyk analyzes the future scientists' grasp of certain subjects as an aid in planning next year's curriculum.

Organic and inorganic compound testing is this year's Chemistry Club project. Under the chemical supervision of Mr. Leslie Bauerle, the Tuesday morning club performs experiments which further the information received during the week's chemistry class. The club also aids the chemistry department in preparing labs and lab supplies.

Future Einsteins Thor Skoland, Dave Harlow, Larry Nelson, and Teddy Hess observe and analyze a problem in Physics Club.

Feeling that only a minimum amount of time is afforded the math student during an average class period, Miss Lillian Kunz and Mrs. Ruth Schwartz spend extra hours helping interested students in the Math Club. The club members investigate such fields as cryptology, rapid mental calculations, the binary system, and the history of math. Along the mechanical and electrical lines, the Math Club has studied the operation of computers.

Under the direction of Mr. Fred Beisler, the Electronics Club explored the basic principles behind the electronics equipment developed during the twentieth century. Constructing basic circuits provided a means of integrating theory and application.

LANGUAGE CLUBS

"The Romans conquered this too," says Miss Loughren to Laurel Warnick.

Cultivation of a deeper interest in the French people is the goal of the French Club, advised by Mrs. Marilyn Zirl. During this year, club members have increased their knowledge of French customs, particularly as they relate to life in France during the four seasons. With the proceeds of the presentation of a full length French movie, the French Club plans to aid a French war orphan.

"Habla Ud. espanol?" is the greeting extended to "los chicos" and "las chicas" of the Spanish Club. Aided by Mr.

Gino Parisi, the club's advisor, the club attempts to give its members more of an insight into the lives of the many Spanish speaking peoples of the world.

"Ave Caesar" sung to the tune of "Clementine" is one of the many methods Miss Mary Loughren's Latin Club uses to revive the ancient Roman language. An annual attraction for the club members is a mock slave auction which attracted many buyers this year. Highlighting the club's activities was a trip to New York where the "Young Caesars" attended a showing of "Spartacus."

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Belgian AFS student, Jean-Paul DeBaets, offers a suggestion in Student Council.

Our school has been fortunate this year to have had three students who have come to West Orange from their European homes. These individuals, Jean-Paul de Baets, Haakon Bryhn, and Annette Vock, have joined West Orange students in a reciprocal opportunity to expand our understanding of our "friends across the sea."

Jean-Paul is an American Field Service exchange student from Brussels, Belgium. He has already graduated from high school and has visited several European countries prior to his trip to America. Although finding it difficult at first to adjust to our way of life, Jean-Paul has grown familiar with our customs and feels, "It will be difficult to do without cars and hot dogs." Our student body and faculty alike will certainly be sorry to say farewell to Jean-Paul. This June he will tour the United States before returning to his homeland.

Haakon, who hails from Oslo, Norway, has lived with a West Orange family for the duration of this school year. An outstanding athlete, he was a valuable member of our championship hockey squad. "Brian," as he is known to many of his classmates, has found our American school system to differ greatly from the system common to Europe. Haakon plans to return to Oslo in July.

Annette is a native of Germany but has spent most of her life in Spain and France. She has found that people in various lands "do not differ greatly." We are most fortunate in that Annette does not have to return to Europe, as do Jean-Paul and Haakon, but will remain in West Orange.

Benefiting greatly from our foreign visitors, the members of our two International Relations clubs have enjoyed an informative year which was climaxed by a trip to the United Nations. Mr. Clifton Carlson and Mr. Robert McRoberts have ably guided these organizations.

SERVICE CLUBS

Assisting the administration and the student body, the Service Clubs act in various capacities at WOHS.

Miss Withrow's Art Service Club added an artistic touch to many school activities throughout the year. Posters and program covers dealing with all phases of school life were constructed by the young artists. One of the club's outstanding services this year was the posting of an athletic scoreboard to keep the student body aware of our team standings.

Administrative burdens are greatly lessened by our student secretaries, ambitious girls aspiring to a commercial career. Guided by Mrs. Joan Hasbrouck, the girls become private secretaries to the teachers and assist the office staff in its work.

The Library Council is an organization dedicated to the improvement of our school. By assisting Mrs. Mary Mauro and Mrs. Elsie Meyer in the mending, cataloguing, and care of our books, these young librarians keep our library in "tip-top" condition throughout the school year. They are rewarded for their efforts by a spring convention of librarians from schools in the surrounding area.

Directed by Mr. Thomas MacEwen, camera enthusiasts learn the basic rules of photography each Tuesday morning in the Photography Club. The club members offer indispensable aid to the Roundup and West-O-Ranger staffs by furnishing pictures for these publications.

The Junior Red Cross Club, advised by Miss Hulda Luthman and Miss Lynn Flynn, performs invaluable services for many nonprofit organizations. The members, under Chairman Joan De Rocco and Secretary Barbara Klein, make decorations for the VA Hospital and other institutions receiving aid from the Red Cross.

"Ready, willing, and able" to assist any teacher who requires visual aids to instruct his course, members of the Visual Aids Club offer an important service to the academic program of West Orange High School. The club's advisor, Mr. John Brown, teaches the club members how to show motion pictures and how to repair visual aids equipment.

Under the supervision of Mr. Alex Maccia, the Future Teachers of America Club offers its members a "taste" of the teaching career. Employing films, speakers, and visits to other schools, the FTA attempts to give its club members enough insight into the field of education so as to allow them to decide whether that is where their ability lies. Highlighting this year's agenda was a visit to the State University.

Interested aspirants to the nursing profession become acquainted with the full meaning of nursing through the Future Nurses of America Club. The club members hear many interesting guest speakers and familiarize themselves with the profession by visiting several hospitals and coming in direct contact with the patients. Miss Margaret Lumely, our school nurse, guides the "nurses-to-be" by giving them many helpful pointers in their future career.

Marking its first year at WOHS, the Future Physicians Club is one branch of a nation wide organization which gives medical candidates a greater understanding of the work and life of a doctor. This year's program, supervised by Dr. Stanley S. Fieber, offered club members medical projects, guest speakers, films, group discussions, and field trips. Topics covered by the physicians to be were pre-medical and medical schools, internships, and residency.

Feeling that the ability to type is a practical aid in any profession, a typing club is almost a necessity. CRAFTS

Lapardy, the art of working with semi-precious gems, is only part of the training received by the Jewelry Club members from Mr. George Bizlewick. Among other things, decorative jewelry such as bracelets, pins, and earrings have been made by these talented students. Although all the club members have shown a great interest, this year two boys, Gary de Zao and Bill Rice, have done outstanding work.

"Stitchers" in the Needlecraft Club spent their leisure club periods indulging in various types of needlework such as knitting, crocheting, and sewing. One of the more practical school groups, the Needlecraft Club gives its members an opportunity to add to their wardrobe and at the same time learn new and different sewing techniques from Miss Madeline Quinn.

As one of several afternoon clubs, the Leathercraft Club, directed by Mr. Donald Bush, concentrated on the manufacture of leather goods. The members carved, tooled, and also designed leather from their own original patterns. They made such items as golf gloves, briefcases, belts, and leather holsters.

"COW-CON"

"Cow-Con" has always successfully achieved its single purpose: the encouragement of school spirit in WOHS. Credit for the fine support given to our football team by the WOHS student body can be directly attributed to the outstanding job done by this spirited organization.

Among other things, Cowboys Consolidated is responsible for the annual football pep rally and bonfire as well as booster tags worn by most WOHS students during the football season. Weekly poster parties at the homes of several WOHS students result in the many colorful posters that annually decorate our halls during the fall sports season.

Guided by faculty advisor, John Pettit, and President, Carol Wenny, Cowboy Consolidated this year hopes to enlarge its activities to include the support of winter and spring athletics. Although this organization is not run on a club basis, plans are being formulated to make "Cow-Con" a part of next year's club program.

"Bottoms Up," "cheers" the Phys. Ed. Club.

Physical fitness and the development of muscular control are the main objectives of the Physical Education Club. Students are instructed weekly by Miss Nancy Trainer, Mr. John Prach, and Mr. Joseph Hince in the intricacies of tumbling and calisthenics. They displayed their skills before the entire student body in the annual sports assembly. An innovation in this year's program was the addition of tennis and golf instruction in the spring.

Instituted for the first year at West Orange High School, the Wrestling Club, under the supervision of Mr. Philip Congilose and Mr. Jerome Sorenson, has proved to be one of the most popular clubs in this year's program. The "grapplers" are instructed weekly in the fundamentals of wrestling, a sport in which all around physical fitness and sharp reflexes are vital assets. Several members of the Wrestling Club demonstrated their achievements during the sports assembly this year.

Initiated this year was the Modern Dance Club, instructed by Miss Paula Catalano. The purpose of this club is to educate girls in the arts of rhythm and movement so that they may express themselves creatively. Barbara Alford and Sue Sager are the officers of the thirty-two talented girls in this group, which also performed for the school in assembly.

Bridge fans had to be divided into two groups this year because of the large number of students who displayed an interest in the game. Taught by Miss Avis Clarke and Mrs. Salowe, beginners were instructed in basic rules of bridge while the more advanced students were given the opportunity to work on some of the game's finer points.

"Checkmate" is the ultimate goal of all chess enthusiasts and our Chess Club members are no exception. Every Tuesday morning, under the guidance of Mr. Pasqual Pacillo, the players practice techniques of chess and learn new strategies. COMMUNICATION CLUBS

Exceptionally talented members of the Afternoon Debate Club compete in various debates throughout the metropolitan area. During this year's competition our orators won an award at the Dwight Morrow Debating Contest and also accumulated a substantial number of points for extemporaneous speaking in the debate at Springfield Regional High School.

Club President Myra Cohen and club advisor Miss Mary Loughren have planned a two day field trip to the speech festival at Temple University to take place in the latter part of the year.

The Morning Debate Club assembles each Tuesday during club period. Under the guidance of Miss Norma Harrison, the club members practice their public speaking, debating, and reading in the same method as the afternoon club.

Oratory, the art of public speaking, is encouraged in the Panel Discussion Club. Miss Violet Cotter attempts to help individuals with their various speech problems by stimulating conversation. The method used to aid the members with public speaking is to have them listen to tape recordings of their own speeches.

Besides working with the stage crew in assembly programs and school productions, the Audio Crew assembles the sound equipment used at football and basketball games.

ASSEMBLIES

Assemblies every Thursday commence with the reading of the Bible.

At WOHS it has always been felt that assembly programs serve a vital function of school life. Not only are they educational and entertaining, but also they aid in developing a sense of unity throughout the entire school. The return to one single assembly program this year instead of the two used in previous years advanced this aim still further.

Supervising the presentation of these diversified programs were Mr. Edward Johnson and Mr. John Huber. Along with other faculty members they have tried to stimulate greater student participation integrated with professional presentations. The results of these plans have been manifested in such forms as the class talent shows and the Project Mercury program; the Christmas assembly program and the Fisher Body Company presentation. Other highlights of the year's assembly programs were the campaign orations by the eighteen student commissioners, the Band, Orchestra, and Dance Band assemblies, the Debate Club's discussion of beards, and the three sports awards assemblies.

The sacrifice of much time and effort by all concerned has led to the fine variety and quality of the programs presented this year. This trend will continue to develop with supervisory assistance by the faculty and enthusiastic support from the students.

Student Commissioner Elections

Mayor James Sheeran, Student Mayor Mike Herman, and his secretary, Carol Cuozzi, pause in a hectic day of "politikin'."

Commissioner Young and his barrage of assistants take time out for an informal shot.

Organized and supervised through the cooperation of Mr. Thomas Guest, Mr. John Huber, and Mr. Robert McRoberts, the Student Commissioner Program is an annual affair which provides an opportunity for students to learn more about West Orange government by actual participation.

The student elections are conducted in the same manner as the town elections. All candidates for office are required to obtain a petition of at least one hundred signatures. Those who have the proper number of signatures may then campaign for one week. A special election assembly climaxes the campaign. Any student who has properly registered may vote for the five candidates of his choice. The five winners are declared student commissioners for a day and each may make approximately ten student appointments.

This year, a record number of eighteen students vied for the commission posts. Those chosen to represent WOHS at Town Hall were Michael Herman, Mayor and Commissioner of Public Safety; Carol Christian, Commissioner of Public Affairs; Eileen Malanga, Commissioner of Public Works; Charles Young, Commissioner of Revenue and Finance, and Howard Olson, Commissioner of Public Safety.

On March 21, the student commissioners, their fifty appointees, and student town attorney, Frank Volpe, descended upon Town Hall to observe and practice the intricacies of town government. During the day the newly elected department heads executed the duties connected with their respective departments and in the evening presented the results of their work at a "mock" town meeting.

Community Service Hours

Debbie Mowle aids a youngster at the Valley Settlement House.

Eric Moss demonstrates a set shot to a group of boys at the Orange YMCA.

The Community Service Program, under the auspices of the senior history department, requires each senior to complete at least fifteen hours of community service in order to graduate.

As in the past, the Cowboys have served at the Janet Memorial Home, Kessler Institute, the Valley Settlement House, and the local Y's. They also spread good will at various hospitals, recreational centers, and public buildings.

Each year, the students spend more and more time in their work, an indication that the satisfaction they receive from helping less fortunate human beings inspires them to work more than the required fifteen hours. Statistics have shown that this year each student spent an average of fifty hours at seventy different agencies for an approximate total of 22,000 hours.

This program has received nationwide attention. Both the New York Times and World Week have written articles dealing with the program. In May of 1958, the United States Information Service in Washington contacted the school in order to obtain a pictorial story concerning the service project for overseas publication.

WOTAC

Instituted in 1941 to provide suitable social gatherings on Saturday evenings, the West Orange Teen Age Canteen has increased rapidly in popularity until today an average dance draws about four hundred patrons. WOTAC, as it is referred to by West Orange students, sets the weekly social pattern for town teenagers.

Since 1954, Mr. Robert McRoberts has served as advisor to the canteen, and a great part of WOTAC's success can be attributed to him.

The organization is directed through the joint efforts of two committees, one composed of adults, the other of students from WOHS. This year's student officers were: President, Bob Rothenberg; Vice-President, Terry Jones; Treasurer, Bob Mitchell; and Secretary, Terry Sarossy. Also, immeasurable were the services offered by Wayne Sterling, John Dockery, Eddie Wilson, and Lillian Stausland.

This year in addition to the regular weekly dances, WOTAC sponsored the Kick-Off Dance, the Queen's Ball, the Bill Brown Benefit, the Polio Benefit, and several other outdoor dances. Included on the list of recording stars and bands presented this season were Jimmy Jones, the Shells, the Sentimentals, the V-Eights, the Velvetones, and the Monarchs.

This has been a year which saw a further growth of WOTAC. This increased support by West Orange teenagers has been most gratifying to the canteen's directors.

VOCAL MUSIC

Under the training of Mr. Earle Barnes and Mr. Dale Smyth, the choir and the chorus gave several wonderful presentations this year. The Christmas Concert, with its magnificent performance of Handel's "Messiah," was especially impressive.

In the fall of each year, the 24 most talented voices in our high school are organized into a special choir. This "Top 24" represents the best of the vocal department in WOHS and appears along with the regular choir and chorus in the music concerts.

As an example of the vocal talent found in WOHS, several members of our music department journeyed to Washington, D.C., where they had been invited to sing in the All Eastern States Conference. The students, Loretta Kizer, Sheryl Corbin, Eleanor Landaas, Joanne Bruno, George Irwin, Leslie Alexander, Bob Welden, and Robert Jauch, brought back wonderful memories of an exhilarating experience. This year, several music students also represented WOHS in the All-State Choir at Atlantic City.

WOHS has always enjoyed the reputation of having a superior musical department. The quality of vocal music produced this year has been in keeping with the high level of previous years.

INSTRUMENTAL

In the halls and on the field our music organizations can be heard. They serve our school admirably by adding pep and enthusiasm during football games and assemblies. The orchestra, directed by Mr. Jennings Butterfield, prepared throughout the year for their spring concert and an exchange assembly. They also performed weekly before each assembly. Mr. Butterfield deserves credit for 34 years of capable and distinguished service.

ball season the Marching Band became the regular Concert Band, which also performed in the spring concert.

The Dance Band also under Mr. Sost's direction, provided a change of pace in the type of music played. During their assembly the Dance Band gave renditions of old favorites, contemporary jazz, and dixieland jazz. In addition to this, the Dance Band was given the honor of playing at the Military Ball. Through these organizations many students have succeeded to coveted positions in the All-State and Junior Symphony Orchestra.

DANCERS AND MAJORETTES

Half time football shows were enhanced by the dancing squad, an enthusiastic group of girls desiring to display their school spirit. Aided by the excellent instruction of Miss Nancy Trainer and Miss Paula Catalano, the girls provided pleasing entertainment for the spectators during half times. The dancers spent many strenuous practice sessions perfecting their routines; however the enjoyable result was worth the effort.

Under the direction of Mr. Jack Sost, the majorettes worked side by side with the twirlers and band at our football games. Theirs is the important task of leading the band and directing all the activities which take place during the football half time show. This year's talented majorettes were Gail Furgess, Elizabeth Graves, and Cheryl Corbin.

Together the majorettes and the dancers have added to the enthusiasm of the football games. WOHS can certainly be proud of these hard working girls, for they truly represent the Cowboy spirit.

American Revolutionaries of '76 had to be strong of mind and body to undertake a revolt against the tyranny of a distant motherland. Had they not been willing to work together as a team, their modest attempt to out-manuever and out-fight their English opponents might have ended in catastrophe.

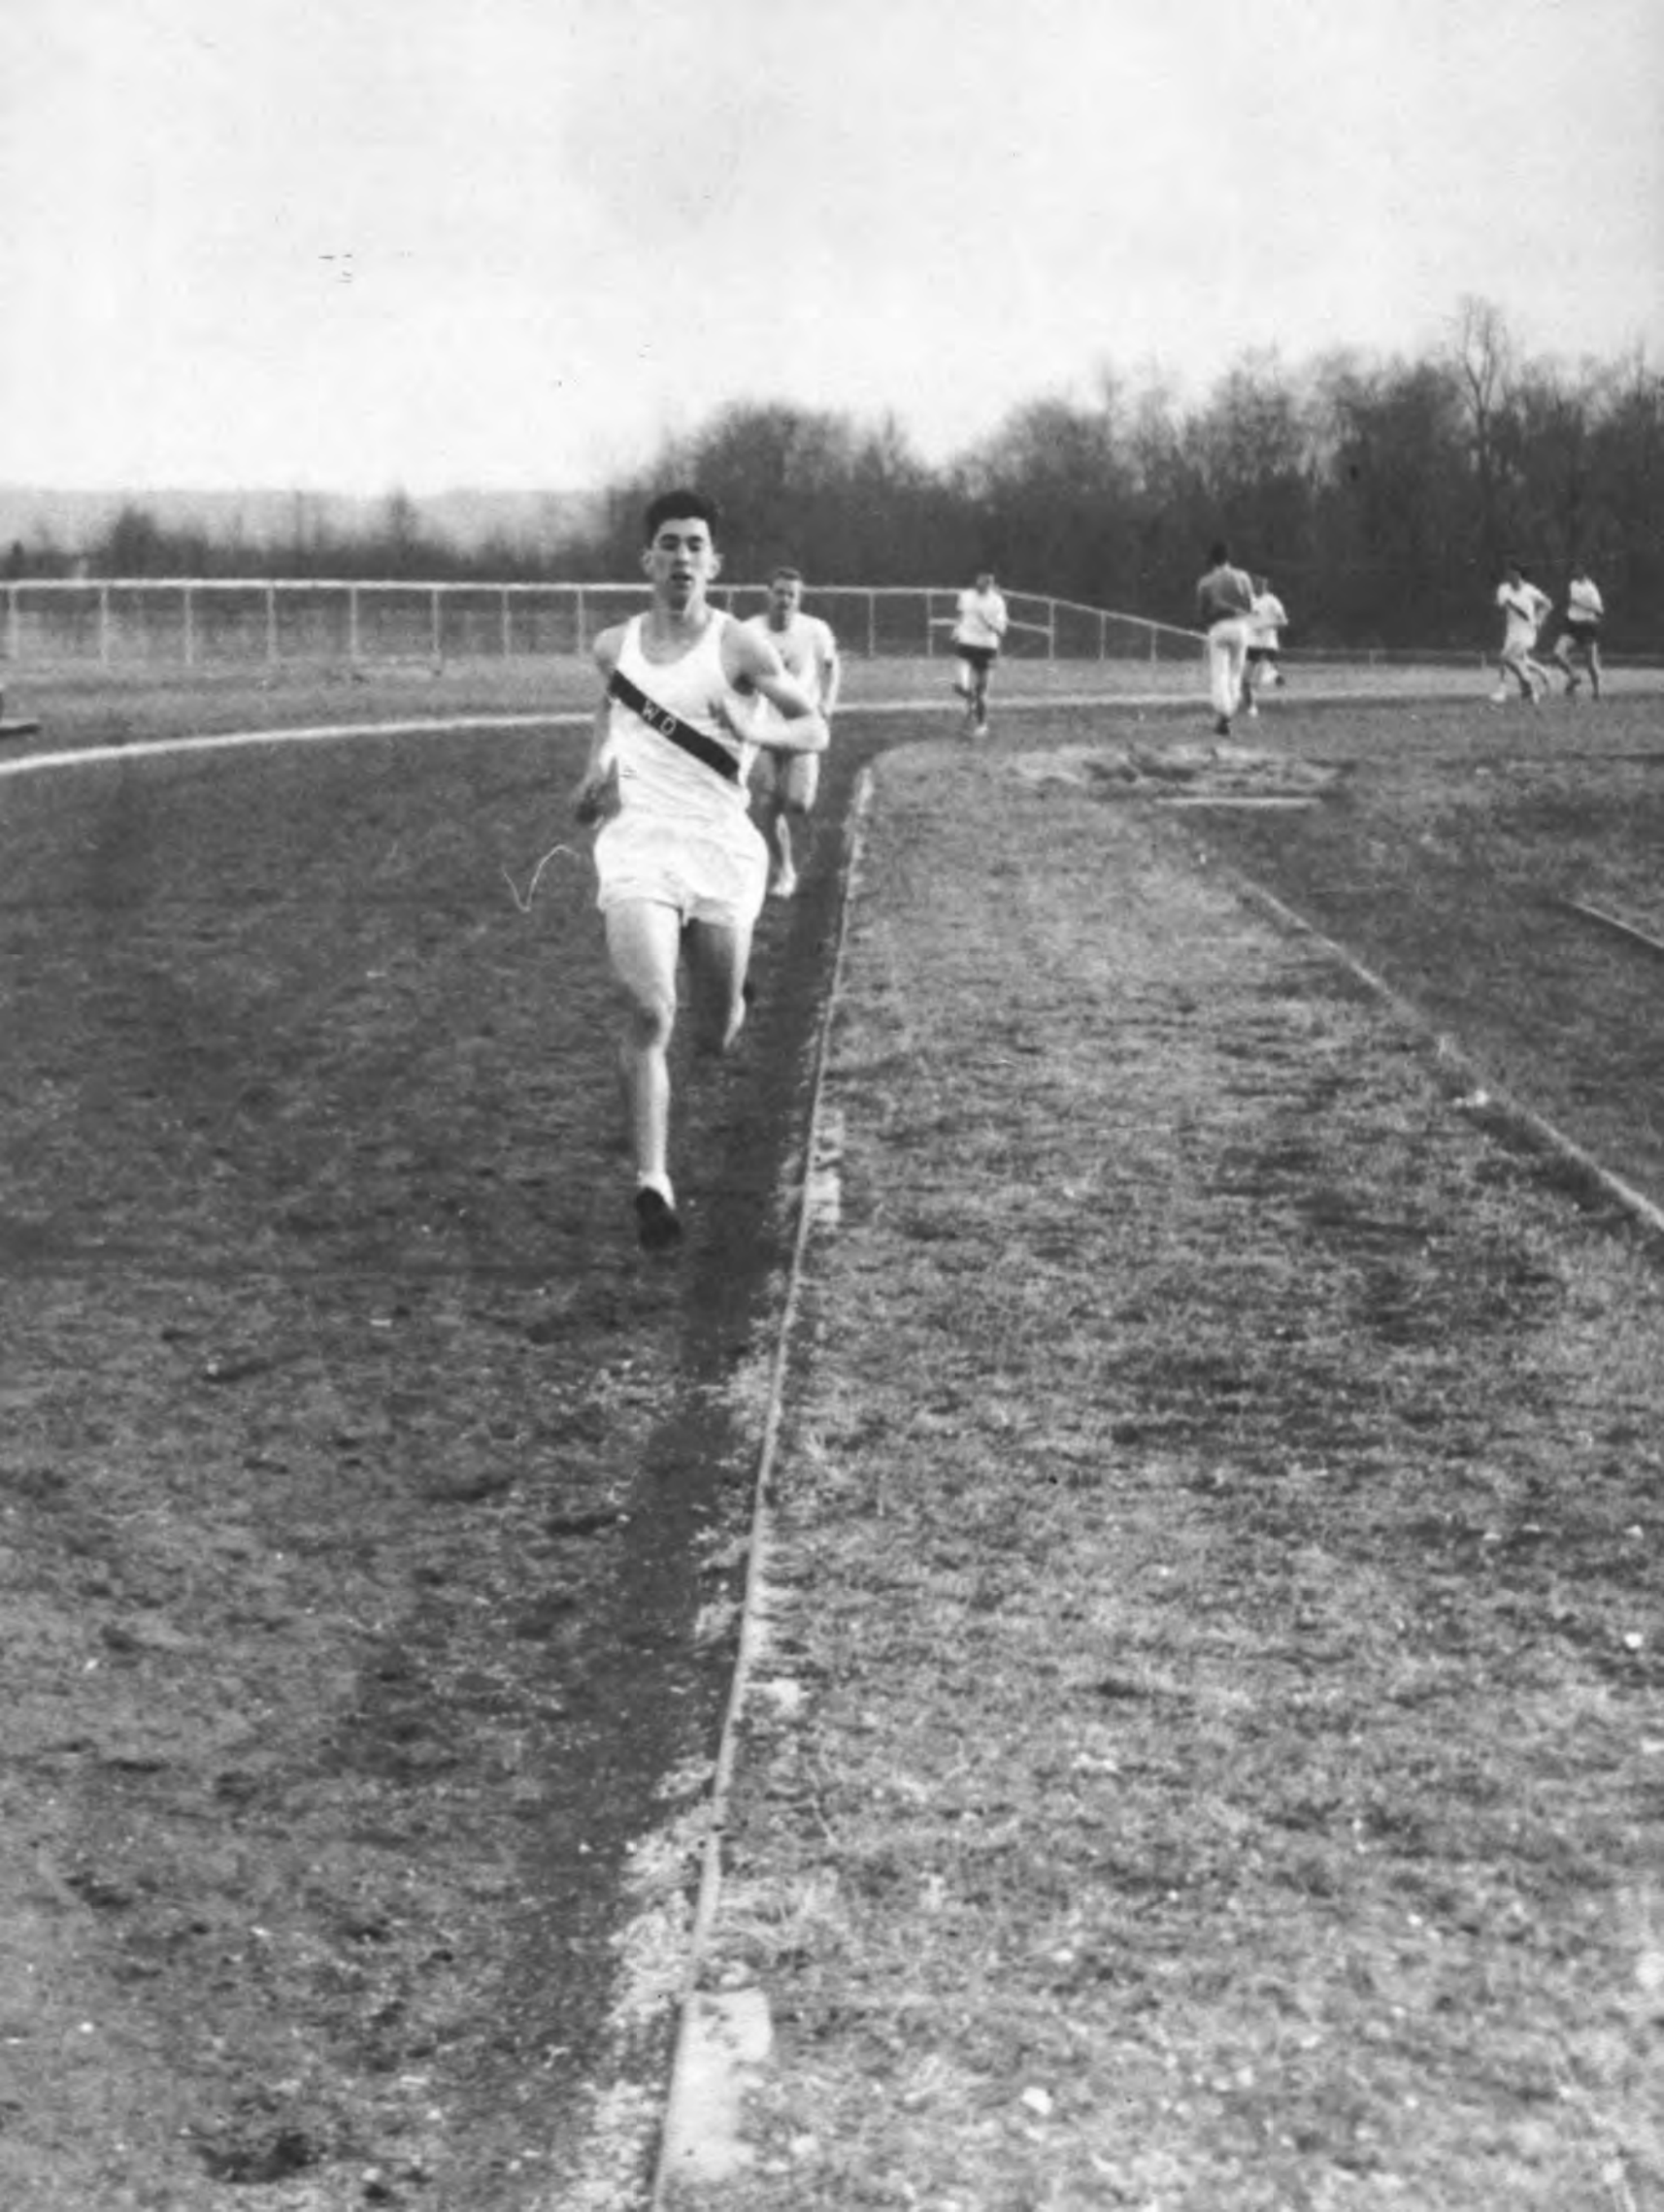

Students in 1961, in much the same way, must have their minds and bodies in prime condition, not to revolt against authority, but rather to be aware of the significance of global problems so as to be prepared to protect democratic authority. At home and in school the student finds his greatest success in working with his team-mates in amicable competitions with teams from neighboring communities. Now, the out-manuevering is done on the football field, not on the battlefield; therefore, though there is a victor and a loser, they both live to compete again for the championship.

Times and horizons vacillate and change, but basic principles of teamwork remain. The Revolutionaries, though actually separate groups of "colonial states," chose, with little dissention, to unite in a union of states. War against a common tyrannical enemy had been the uniting factor. This union, with only one serious "quarrel" one hundred years ago, has lasted these many years.

Today, students exist under one school banner, united in school spirit. This is heightened in athletic contests. Whether victories or losses come, all students hope to always display spirit toward the school and possess lifetime friendships gained through association with athletic teams and competition.

FOOTBALL

"We are not proud of our record but we are proud of our team." With this statement first year coach John Hooper summed up the 1960 West Orange football team. Hampered by numerous injuries and by the return of only four starters from the 1959 squad, our boys completed an unsuccessful season with a final slate of no victories and nine defeats.

Game after game the West Orange stands were packed with enthusiastic rooters. The student support was truly remarkable considering that this was our third consecutive lean year in interscholastic football.

Optimism for a successful season was prevalent as West Orange kicked off to Irvington to start the 1960 gridiron action. Soon however a gloom settled over the West Orange stands as the Campers stormed on to a victory. The following games brought more Cowboy disappointments, but there were several bright moments including the sharp passing of Artie Granito in the East Orange contest, the brilliant defensive play of Art Cordes and Greg Adams and the "ironman" work of Bill Spagnoli.

1961 fall practice will find the West Orange squad without the services of Co-captains Cordes and Spagnoli and the other graduating seniors. Despite these losses, next year's squad has adequate talent to produce a successful season.

CROSS COUNTRY

Harriers leap forward with sound of gun at annual "East-West" meet.

Five wins and three defeats, was the dual meet record of a successful season completed by the cross country team under the guidance of first year mentor Joe Hince. Our harriers also placed high in the Big Ten Conference Meet, the Essex County Meet, and the New Jersey State Meet.

Captain Bob Rothenberg, team leader, placed first in every dual meet, won the Big Ten Conference Meet and the Essex County Meet, and placed a close second in the State Meet. John Davis and Rick Johnson were the only other returning varsity lettermen. Coach Hince augmented his forces with returning Tom Cruthers and first year runners Herb Jacobsen, Lee Iden, Nino Franchino, and Paul Avignone. All these boys earned varsity letters this season. Returning next year to form the nucleus of a promising squad are Lee Iden, Dave Weinstein, Richie Cohen, and Otto Dreskin.

"This was the most highly spirited group of boys with whom I have ever had the pleasure to work," Coach Hince remarked of this year's team. "They had their fun, but the boys were always ready, willing, and able to work hard on the practice field," he added.

West Orange students can certainly point with pride to the spirit and talent exhibited by our cross country team this fall.

Herb Jacobsen, Rick Johnson, Lee Iden, Bob Rothenberg, John Davis, and Nino Franchino await start of State Meet.

BASKETBALL

Cowboy cagers coached by John Imgrund compiled a 12-7 overall record including four two point losses to Valley, Scott, Montclair, and West Side.

The high point of the season was the 69-39 mauling the Cowboys handed arch-rival Columbia. The slaughter was led by 6-4 Tom Cruthers and 6-3 Jim Liccardo, who scored 22 and 17 points respectively. In the middle of the season the West Orange cagers put together a seven game winning streak running through Bloomfield, Orange, Nutley, East Orange, East Side, Bloomfield, and East Orange again. This winning streak boosted the Cowboys into the Essex County Tournament.

However in the Essex County Tournament the Cowboys unfortunately drew top-seeded Seton Hall as a first round opponent. The Pony Pirates, eventual state champions, defeated the Cowboys in a hard fought game, 54-40.

Two reasons for the Cowboys success was their ability to control the backboards and their accurate shooting from long range. The big rebounders for the Cowboys were Tom Cruthers, Jim Liccardo, and Rick Johnson while Paul Jones, Ed Peterson, Wayne Love, and Jim Liccardo were outstanding outside shooters.

The West Orange team was well represented on the All-Orange team as Captain Paul Jones and Jim Liccardo were selected.

This June Coach Imgrund will lose through graduation Captain Paul Jones, Tom Cruthers, Rick Johnson, Wayne Love, Bob Rothenberg, Ed Peterson, Ed Wilson, and Jack McCarthy; however the return of Jim Liccardo, Gary Smith, Harold Bury, Tony Coccozza, Gordon Swanson, and Frank Spendlove plus a winning Junior Varsity team assures another fruitful season for the Cowboys.

Traveling to 7:00 A.M. practices twice a week separated the fish from the boys early in the year. A .500 season and tenth place in the state meet constitutes a record that our swimmers can be proud of. This first year team under the capable coaching of John Prach surprised teams in the state with its power and depth.

The loss of co-captains John Hoffman and Rich Weiderhorn and seniors Ken Gutbrod, Harvey Augarten, Mike Anderson, and Jeff Keil will cost the Cowboys some depth but the incoming freshmen have great potential.

Sophomore Bob Duenkel led the Cowboys to most of their victories with his customary two first places. Second and third high scorers were sophomore Rick Sedgley and junior Cliff Blaze respectively. The performances of these underclassmen lead one to believe that there is a great future in store for this team.

HOCKEY

Enthusiasm, aggressiveness, and desire, combined with the fine coaching of John Hooper, led our hockey team to a season record of six wins, four losses, and two ties and culminated in a tie for the North Jersey Scholastic Hockey League Championship with Montclair. This was accomplished in only our second year of varsity hockey competition.

The "big game" with the Mounties will long be remembered by those who attended for the excitement it created throughout the six periods of play, three regular periods and three sudden death overtime stanzas. A co-championship resulted, giving West Orange ownership of the Gordon Cup, symbolic of the championship, for the coming year.

Enthusiasm added considerably to the molding of our championship squad. Early morning practice sessions at South Mountain Arena showed every man eager to prove himself worthy of a starting position. The aggressiveness of the team is exhibited in the final league statistics. West Orange placed third in goals scored this season and was the second best group defensively. The desire of our squad can certainly be attested to by our fans who witnessed the close seasonal battles with Montclair and Morris Hills, who tied for first place in the final league standings.

Able and Baker, the two main "lines," were skillfully manipulated by Coach Hooper. Able consisted up front of Bill Clark, perhaps the most valuable player in the league, Mickey Friedberg, a strong asset for the past two seasons, and Tom Meravi, whose hustle more than compensated for his lack of skating finesse. On defense, Jeff Volker and Richie Schwab combined to form a stone wall. Baker was composed up front of Haakon Bryhn, a skillful skater from Norway, Lee Iden, a junior whose sterling play over the latter part of the season showed much promise of things to come, and either Jay Saunders or Lee Stettner, vastly improved players. Behind them were Jack Shiek, one of the top defenders in the league, and George Galante, a rugged defenseman. Veteran goalie Al Giordano did an outstanding job guarding the nets, especially in the play-off games with Morris Hills and Montclair. Backing up the main lines, Dave Harlow, Dave Sanford, and Ken Schroll also added to the Cowboy cause immeasurably throughout the season.

Our hockey squad certainly did West Orange High School proud this year. As Coach Hooper commented at the winter sports assembly, "This team would not accept defeat."

GOLF

On the links West Orange has put forth a team better than those of many past years. In the opening match the team easily beat Columbia, a school that hadn't been beaten by West Orange for many seasons.

The squad was formed around three returning lettermen; Ken Graham, Chuck Spina, and Tom Meravi. Tom Marks, Al Flusser, and Al Duskin have shown their ability to win matches. Filling out the eight man squad were Eric Greenbaum and Ken Robbins. Together, the boys formed a winning combination.

TENNIS

A solid nucleus of returning lettermen provided a foundation upon which Coach Merlin Finch could rely and build. Taking advantage of our new courts behind the school, the boys worked diligently to improve their skill and better last year's record.

The racketmen were long on experience this season and stalwarts Sid Bloom, John Davis, Steve Mittler, and Lee Landesberg provided the punch, which, backed up by Tom Ehrenkrantz and promising Tom Alpren and Jay Saunders, led to a successful season.

BASEBALL

Five returning lettermen have made the job of Coach Joe Hince a great deal easier as he led the Cowboys on to a successful season.

Jim Liccardo, Ed Peterson, and Bill Hamilton made up an outstanding array of hurlers while Art Cordes handled the catching chores. Backing them up was a fine infield headed by shortstop Kerry O'Conner and second baseman Bill Spagnoli, with first and third base being held down by two outstanding sophomores, Dick Bauer and Ted Force. In the outfield Coach Hince had to platoon among Ed Wilson, Ed Peterson, Jim Liccardo, Bill Hamilton, and John Minelli in order to produce a winning combination.

Prominent stickmen for the Cowboys were Kerry O'Conner, Ed Peterson, Bill Spagnoli, Dick Bauer, Bill Hamilton, and Art Cordes.

Victory was tasted in the opening Big Ten Conference game against arch-rival Columbia. The Cowboys combined good fielding and hitting with the fine pitching of Jim Liccardo to bury the Cougars 9-5.

Coach John Pettit's JV team lost its first two games, but then they started to get some base hits and gained many victories.

The outstanding performance of our cheerleaders, who organized pep rallies and supported the football, basketball, and hockey teams, was a true credit to our school. Capably directed by Miss Nancy Trainer, the squad of ten girls and an alternate was led by Jackie Oufiero, its captain.

During the half times throughout the football season, co-captains Barbara Bioren and Evelyn Shaw led the twelve twirlers and two alternates in graceful and intricate routines. Ably guided by Miss Catalano, the twirling squad has displayed agility and skill which will long be remembered.

What goes up . . .

Tournaments were the feature of this year's girls' sports program. The girls elected teams and competed in their respective classes; then finalists competed for the school championship.

Basketball competition became county-wide as a team of West Orange girls challenged a team from Nutley High School. The girls were picked from the competing teams of the school league.

Miss Nancy Trainer's and Miss Paula Catalano's Physical Education and Modern Dance Clubs have added to the girls' athletic skills, along with a complete spring program consisting of dancing and tennis. The girls had a chance to "Play Ball" at Jenkin's Field.

VARSITY CLUB

The bright red and white jackets of the Varsity Club are always very much in evidence at all sports events. This club, composed of varsity lettermen, was organized in 1958 by Mr. Joseph Hince to promote athletics and sportsmanship in West Orange High School.

The requirements for membership in the Varsity Club call for more than just a varsity letter. Members must maintain good scholastic averages and keep training rules. A member who breaks training rules or allows his grades to fall below a C average forfeits his membership in the club.

The varsity-faculty basketball game is sponsored annually by the Varsity Club. This hilarious exhibition is thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators and participants alike.

Under the capable leadership of officers John Hoffman, Terry Jones, Bob Saiber and Bob Duenkel, the Varsity Club hopes to initiate this year several programs that will better sports in West Orange. One especially worthy project is the sponsorship of a baseball league for younger boys. Projects such as this make the Varsity Club a respected organization in our school.

Miss Clark, Miss Trainer, Mrs. Psichos, Miss Withrow, and Miss Catalano cheer their team on to victory in the varsity-faculty basketball game.

It's "up'n in" for Coach Imgrund in Varsity-Faculty game.

"school life"

The expansion of the West was a significant factor in the history of the development of the United States. It represents the hardiness and perseverance of the early Americans. Not just the land area of the country, but the ideals of the pioneers were expanding. These people met staggering obstacles which necessitated their developing their characters to overcome prevalent personal and physical obstacles.

Underclassmen, as the early American pioneers, are confronted with new frontiers upon entrance into high school. They must condition themselves to new surroundings and new subjects as they learn to accept many new people.

The reason for westward expansion contains many factors. One was the pioneer's desire to improve his living conditions. The student must constantly be seeking betterment and achievement in everything he attempts. To strive for a goal and to attempt to approach perfection gives meaning to existence.

The high school years are a very meaningful portion of the individual's life. Forming ideals, developing personality, and expanding knowledge occupy these years. As did the early Americans, the individual must develop in himself a facility with which to meet and experience new frontiers and new challenges.

JUNIOR PROM

A typical day in Typing begins, "Limber up your fingers, then we'll have a one-minute writing."

Benny Jullianno doesn't seem to mind his unique position in Bookkeeping, surrounded by girls.

Steno Class prepares students for future jobs as secretaries.

Students in Mrs. Betz's junior history class concentrate on the causes of the Civil War.

"I'm not going to say whom I'm voting for, but . . ." Mr. Guest expresses opinions to his History II class.

Vivian Lewin illustrates the principal parts of verbs for her classmates in English II.

An English III class listens attentively as Noel recites a correction in the homework.

In English IV Marilyn Sherman helps to revive "Opening Night" at the Globe Theater.

"Ist das nicht eine Deutsch Klasse?" (Yes, that is a German class.)

"Veni, vidi, vici Latin language lab," says Miss Loughren.

"Viva la French class," exclaim the Frenchmen of French II.

John Gaynor spurts a salvo of words in speech class.

George Silver and Steve Mittler seem relieved; one Chem Lab that did work.

This Sophomore Biology Lab is strictly for the birds.

"Merely insert Tab A into Slot B, quips Bob Mitchell in Physics Lab

One of our Physiography classes is caught at a moment of extreme concentration.

Miss Kunz teaches some squares (to her students, that is!) in Algebra II.

Sid Bloom solves a problem for his senior math class.

Ken Smith finishes another marking period in good spirits with his work for Mechanical Drawing in on time.

The Political Geography class with the help of John Cogan hunts for Saskatchewan.

Dave Marsh and Jack Shiek work hard at those projects in General Shop.

Joel Lucas, Bill Clark, and Richie Schwab appear to be hindering Peter Linton's escape from a machine in Power Mechanics.

Time out in 7th and 8th gym period to hunt for a missing contact lense.

A familiar glimpse into the Boys' Gym at any time of the day.

Mary Lou pours for Judy, as Joanne arranges the flowers before the buffet in their Foods class.

Myra Cohen, Sue Stickel, Harold Hel-derman, Regina Alvino, and Bob Har-ris discover the art of self-expression in Dramatics.

Bev Cook gets advice from the other members of her Art Class concerning her sketch.

Stitch, stitch, stitch. In a quiet corner of the school . . . Jolanda Aranyossy and Lucille Angelone work in Sewing Class.

"seniors"

KAREN FEUER
SUE WEINER

As our theme of expanding horizons has developed, so has the Senior Class of 1961, through its education, activities, and challenging problems. The growth of the United States can be compared to our growth. The states as infants were concerned only with themselves. We as seniors have begun to look beyond ourselves to the rest of the world. Do we as people compare favorably? Inward reflection reveals that we do, though to compare favorably is not enough.

Our education and its opportunities have been one of the major factors in this comparison. In addition to knowledge, which is one of the primary purposes of school, growth of the individual and his maturity, and the formation of a creative and inquiring mind were begun at school. One only says "begun" because the rest of our lives is devoted to these purposes. As America in past centuries began to recognize the importance of surrounding nations, so will our class begin to realize the importance of other peoples. Not only must we concern ourselves with the thousands of other American graduating classes but also with the graduates of other nations and their problems.

The art work in this section represents the extent of our problems and development. The world has progressed in numerous fields. With advanced communications, travel, and science we have the world at our fingertips. Our fingertips may either destroy or create. However, what has been the purpose of our study and development if we have learned only to destroy? The preface has stated that our horizon is now virtually the universe. The future of this horizon is ours to behold. Let us remember for what our forefathers gave their lives and strive toward the goal of peace in whatever we do.

Industry Has Many Masters, Yet Is Master Of None

Always first and always foremost is the Customer. Without customers, no business or industry can exist.

Without capital, no company has the wherewithal to begin, to survive, or to grow; ergo, stockholders are essential.

Without employees, no company survives; ergo, a company must strive to be an attractive place in which to work.

Without vendors, a company is uneconomic and fails. No company worthy of its name can supply all its own needs; ergo, vendors help to keep the wheels of industry turning.

Without integrity, a company fails of public approval and respect; ergo, integrity is an essential of management and ownership.

Without incentive, business and industry stultify; ergo, incentive and its handmaiden, competition, are necessities.

Without government, anarchy reigns and chaos results; ergo, government responsive to reasonable regulation, but alert to the dangers of regimentation, is prerequisite to a sound economy.

A good company, therefore, must serve all its masters. We do our best to achieve this goal.
