

THE NEW SEWAGE PLANT

RED BANK'S NEW DISPOSAL

It Will be Put in Operation Within a Few Days—It Was Started in September of Last Year and It

The new sewerage sewage disposal plant at the Bank is virtually completed and it will probably be put into use late this week or early next week. It is on the river bank on Bridge Avenue, a short distance east of Cooper's bridge. Part of the plant consists of a huge glass-enclosed building, resembling a greenhouse, and many persons familiar with the facts have mistaken the building for one put up by a florist.

The plant is reputed to be the most up-to-date and sanitary in the United States. There is said to be no other plant exactly like it anywhere. The plant is thick like it is at Andong, Wisconsin. The new sewerage system has many features not embraced in the plant at Andong. Experts on sewage disposal say that the new plant will provide for the

The new plant is in three buildings, the largest of which is the one resembling a greenhouse. This building is 76x154 feet. It is in this place-that the sewage receives its final treatment. It loses a large part of its liquid qualities before it enters the building. In this condition it is spread out on a gravel floor or sludged in the glass building. Within two or three days the sewage contracts and hardens. It becomes odorless but it retains its soil fertilizing qualities.

The other two buildings enclose tanks where the sewage receives its first treatment. In one building is a circular tank 45 feet in diameter and 24 feet deep. In the other building are two tanks, 35 feet square and 22 feet deep. The circular tank is known as the digestion tank. In all three buildings of the plant the sewage will receive treatment which will make it virtually odorless. It is in the digestion tank where the greatest

For many years large quantities of untreated sewage have been dumped into the river. The old plant will be torn down as soon as the new one is put in use and the space occupied by the old plant will be converted into a park.

OLD AND NEW IN BICYCLES

GROVER PARKER MAKES INTERESTING EXHIBIT.

He is Showing the Latest in Bicycles and an Old-Time Bicycle Once Owned by the Late Isaac H. Adlem—Old Machine in Good Condition.

The old and the new in bicycle construction is being displayed by Grover Parker of Mechanic street in one of his store windows. The exhibit shows two Columbia bicycles that are operated by pedalling. One is the latest in bicycles, being a 1929 model with all the modern improvements. The other is a Columbia tricycle, the last word in pedalling machines in 1870.

The old tricycle at one time was owned by the late Isaac H. Adlem, for many years the local agent of the Columbia bicycle. The machine is in a good state of preservation and is in perfect mechanical condition.

The machine has two large wheels set about three feet apart. Upon the main axle there is arranged the rider's seat and his pedalling arrangement, which consists of a series of sprockets and a wide roller chain. The "wheel" is steered by a small wheel arranged directly in line and ahead of the left main driving wheel, the handle bar or control being stationary at the left of the driver's seat.

Mr. Parker had the wheel out a few weeks ago and a number of "bike" owners of a half a century ago were reminded of the "good old days" when they saw the tricycle being operated on the main streets of the town. The "wheel" will probably go into some museum as Mr. Parker says he has received several offers for the machine from those who want to make it a part of a permanent exhibition showing the progress of the manufacture of bicycles.

TOWN TALK.

The New Sewage Plant and River Purity.

The new sewage disposal plant at Red Bank will probably be put in use within the next week and its effect on the river will soon be observable. If the claims made for this plant are borne out the North Shrewsbury river will soon cease to be a polluted stream and will win back its former standing of purity.

Nothing that Mayor William H. R. White and his colleagues on the governing board have done will have a larger effect on the future of the town than this new plant. In the years to come their administration will be remembered as a success or a failure by the efficiency of the new sewage disposal system in cleansing the river.

Experts who have inspected the new plant say it is a marvel of sanitary efficiency. Everyone will hope that this proves true and if it does prove true everyone will give credit where credit is due. The town paid $142,000 for the new plant. This is a lot of money, but the price would not have been too high if it had been spent for the purpose of purifying the river alone.

It is the new plant does this, in addition to performing the regular functions of a sewage depository, no fair-minded taxpayer will kick about the expense. The river is the town's greatest natural asset, but it has been neglected and it has lost some of its finest old-time features. Removing the pollution will go a long way toward restoring the river to its original condition and it might pave the way for doing other worthwhile things.

Needless Officials and Needy Politicians.

Here's the mayor of Paterson bewailing that the last legislature put a district court over on the people of Paterson which will cost that city $20,000 a year to maintain, and that this court is absolutely unnecessary. What if it is absolutely unnecessary? Haven't politicians got to live? And to live, mustn't they have jobs? And what's the good of being in politics if there are no rewards?

There is some criticism of the assemblyman who introduced the Paterson court bill. Governor Larson approved the bill and his signature made it a law. Why isn't Governor Larson just as much to blame as the assemblyman who introduced the bill and the other legislators who passed it. All the assemblyman's work in getting the bill passed would have been of no avail if Governor Larson had disapproved of the measure and had vetoed it.

The measure has been passed and it has been made into a law. The law is not likely to be unmade or repealed. What if it is unnecessary? What if it does cost the people of Paterson $20,000 a year? The people of Paterson did their share of electing that assemblyman to his job. They gave him more votes than was given to any other assemblyman who was running in their county.

That expense of $20,000 a year is probably fastened on the necks of the people of Paterson forever. This shows the folly of electing men to office when you don't know what they will do. The time to make a fight against an official is before he gets to be an official. After he gets in office he can do just as he pleases, and usually he does do exactly as he pleases.

If this assemblyman is a candidate for office again this year the people of Paterson will probably give him a good big vote. Ninety per cent of the members of his party can be expected to vote for him again if he is a candidate. Ninety per cent of the voters of either party will always vote for the candidate of their party, no matter what he has done, unless he happens to tread on their religious or financial corns.

And as for this new court which has been created in Paterson, courts and positions on courts have long been recognized as being the highest prizes of politics. We like to think that our courts are totally and securely non-partisan. But the judiciary never has been taken out of politics by either political party and never will be. So why should we fool ourselves or attempt to fool others by making them think we believe that courts have been taken out of politics?

The people of Paterson have made their political bed in the election to office of the man who put the extra court over on them. It may be said, but it is past help now. The time to cure these things is at the ballot box, before these men get in office. That's the only real and perfect safety. And that isn't going to happen in any community much oftener than once or twice in a century.

Old-Time Sleigh Riding May Again Be Popular.

One curious thing about farm auctions of late is the keen competition that takes place among bidders when sleighs are struck off. Not many of these conveyances are left, but when vendues are held they are brought out into the light of day from remote storage places in barns where they have accumulated many years of dust.

These old-time sleighs have brought something like their old-time values at recent sales. That there is again a demand for them is probably due to the fact that horse raising is becoming an important industry in Monmouth county. Most of the bidding for sleighs at the vendues has been by rich owners of stock farms or their representatives.

On stock farms where it is necessary to move large quantities of feed a big bob sled or wood sled would be a handy thing in snowy weather. In addition to this, memories of old-time sleigh riding days probably animate the stock farm owners when they go to the vendues. During the past few years sleighs have been oddities on the road, but judging by the brisk demand for sleighs at recent auctions there may be a change from this condition if there is much snow the coming winter.

Folks who are old enough to remember conditions before the advent of the automobile can't forget the old sleigh-riding days. Racing took place on Broad street at Red Bank every afternoon when snow was on the ground and scores of spectators were on hand, many of them stamping their feet and swinging their arms and hands against their bodies to keep warm. The occupants of houses along the race course watched the sport from front window positions.

Those old times have gone, never to return, but in view of the keen competition for sleighs at auctions it would not be surprising if some resemblance to old times came back in snowy weather, especially with regard to the old-time sleigh straddles. This method of traveling was not the fastest nor the most comfortable, but the parties were always jolly affairs and many people cherish memories of such occasions.

Lakewood, which is a winter resort, is about the only place in New Jersey where sleighing takes place as in the old days. Sleighing is so popular there that instead of the snow being removed from the streets it is shovelled on the streets to make sleighing last as long as possible. There is no likelihood of this being done at other places, but there are many country roads where snow is not removed and in such localities a revival of sleighing may take place. People are pretty much the same everywhere. The fact that sleighing is popular at Lakewood is an indication that it will gain favor elsewhere, especially in a county like Monmouth where horses are still numerous.

REAL ESTATE CLEARED.

FOUR HAVE HEARING BEFORE STATE BOARD.

They Were Charged With Irregularities in the Transfer of Lands and Money—They Made Satisfactory Explanations.

Four Monmouth county real estate men were given a hearing before the New Jersey real estate commission at Asbury Park Thursday. They were charged with irregularities connected with transfers of land and money. All were discharged after the deals had been explained.

B. Seymour Compton of Keansburg, charged with withholding an initial payment on property owned by William Tanner, had been refused a license since July 1st because a judgment given against him in relation to the amount had not been paid. Compton declared that arrangements had been made for paying the judgment and he will be granted a license. Harry E. Stevens of Portaupeck was charged by Dr. George L. Orton of Rahway with withholding $20 from rental of property. It was brought out that Stevens failed to pay the $20 because he did not have the money. He was ordered to pay the amount within 24 hours or lose his license. Complaint was made against C. H. Samson, manager for Morrissey & Walker at Shark River Hills by Mrs. Ada K. Leow, who bought a lot and failed to live up to her contract. As a consequence her contract was terminated and she was given a less valuable lot for the money she had paid. Morrissey & Walker agreed to reinstate the original contract if the terms were carried out. Harold VanNess was charged with an irregularity in payment of a $85 fee to a salesman, which he later had trouble in collecting, and he was discharged by the board.

Special Pension Bills.

Congressman Harold G. Hoffman has introduced special pension bills for widows of civil war veterans increasing their pensions to $50 a month. The Monmouth county people affected by the bills are Isabella Soden of Neptune, Mary E. VanBrunt of Asbury Park and Sarah J. Warn of Keansburg.

Double Wedding.

YEARS AGO IN RED BANK

A horse owned by Henry Conover of Tinton Falls dropped dead on the road near Pine Brook.
 A lot of clothes were stolen from the clothes line of Mrs. Mary Kelly of Borden street.

Twenty Years Ago.

Frank McMahon, mayor of Rumson, was appointed foreman of the October term of the county grand jury. Others on the grand jury from this part of the county were Mortimer V. Pach of Red Bank, George M. Hendrickson and John J. Leonard of Middletown township, Jonathan H. Jones of Atlantic township, John P. Gaul of Eatontown and Edward Perrine of Holmdel.

Charles A. Willis sold his property on Hubbard avenue in Middletown township to Isabella V. Lyndon of Plainfield for $10,700. The lot had a frontage of 160 feet on the Nutswamp road and the same frontage on the river. It was about 500 feet deep. Mr. Willis had owned the property about three years and he built the house on the lot.

The three-year-old daughter of Philip Margue of Locust avenue was cut on the arm by the explosion of a bottle. K. T. Beckman of Shrewsbury avenue cut his arm very badly while scraping a floor with a knife. Twelve stitches were required to close the cuts on Mr. Beckman's arm.

The James Bray farm at the Phalanx was bought by Theodore Ralph Boyd Sickles of East Front street and Miss Elizabeth I. Fairbrother, granddaughter of George Loversidge of Eatontown, were married by Robert MacKellar at the Red Bank Episcopal rectory. Mr. Sickles was assistant engineer at the Red Bank water works.

A sneak thief entered the house of Mrs. Adeline Chambers on Worthley street and stole a pocketbook containing a considerable sum of money, which had been left on the dining room table for a few minutes while Mrs. Chambers and her daughter were out of the room.

Miss Beatrice Laura Warwick, daughter of Samuel Warwick of Shrewsbury avenue, and Morris Ellison Brown, son of Morris V. Brown were married at the Baptist parsonage by Rev. W. B. Matteson. Mr. Brown was bookkeeper for the Public Service company at Red Bank.

George F. Wise bought a house and lot on the east side of North Shrewsbury avenue from Wiers & Osborn for $3,200. Mr. Wise was one of the larger property owners in West Red Bank, where he owned half a dozen houses and a large number of vacant lots.

Mrs. Louisa R. Hesse, wife of Oscar Hesse, Sr., died at the home of her son, Joseph Hesse of West Front street, after a sickness of two years. Besides her husband she left three children, Oscar, Joseph and Miss Louisa A. Hesse, all of Red Bank. Burial was at Leonardville for $3,500. This farm was part of the original Phalanx property and was bought by that organization when the North American Phalanx was formed.

Miss Rebecca Patterson of Shrewsbury avenue died of pneumonia after a week's sickness. She was 57 years old and had lived at Red Bank twenty years. She had been a member of the Baptist church since childhood.

George B. Sandt of Red Bank died of apoplexy at Glen Ridge. He was 75 years old. He had built and for many years conducted the Octagon hotel at Seabright, which was afterward swept away by a storm.

Samuel E. Smith of Locust Point died suddenly while sitting in a chair at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mary Gordon. He was 65 years old and had been suffering from Bright's disease several years.

The young men of the Holmdel Reformed church presented a Rev. Garrett Wyckoff, the pastor of that church, with a silver-headed cane. Mr. Wyckoff had recently moved to Red Bank.

John M. Corlies of Oceanic began the erection of a large barn on his farm on the Red Bank road at Lincolnton to replace a large barn which had been burned down the previous spring.

The house of Charles M. Gerlach, near Stone church at Navesink, was totally destroyed by fire. The house had been built about a year and a half and had cost $6,000. John Flanagan, who was employed at John Hintelmann's grocery store, at Rumson, injured the forefinger of his right hand and a bad case of blood poisoning resulted.

Charles Stillwagon, son of John B. Stillwagon, was injured on the face and shoulder by being struck with a stone when some boys were playing duck-on-a-rock.

Frank Sherwood, assistant postmaster of Little Silver, had a surprise visit from a large group of friends in celebration of his thirtieth birthday.

Frank Despreux of Navesink sent $25 to the Atlantic Highlands bank to be deposited and on the way the messenger lost the bills, which were not recovered.

Daniel Bailey, who was employed at John J. Leonard's coal and wood yard at Atlantic Highlands, sawed off one of his fingers while working a wood saw.

Miss Madeline Finegan, daughter of Daniel Finegan of Belford, was burned very severely on her hand by the upsetting of a bottle of carbolic acid.

William Mears of Rumson put up two large greenhouses in order to provide room for storing plants over the winter for Rumson road residents.

Bray's market on East Front street, opposite Wharf avenue, had a big sale to celebrate the beginning of its second year in business on that site.

Arthur A. Hulse, son of James W. Hulse of Spring street, was married to Miss Lottie Davidson, daughter of Zacharias Davidson of Long Branch.

Lambert M. Livingston, son of John Livingston of South Eatontown, died of consumption after a sickness of a year. He was twenty years old.

A new hot air furnace was installed in Christ church at Shrewsbury and a new slate roof was put on the Presbyterian church at that place.

Sidney Chasey of Leighton avenue began the erection of a house at the corner of Westside and Clinton avenues for his own occupancy.

Miss Sarah Sullivan of Shrewsbury and James Creighton of Long Branch were married at St. James's church by Rev. James A. Reynolds.

John Henry of Belford was successfully operated on by Drs. Harry Hendrickson and George D. Fay for a clot of blood on the brain.

The Mrs. Mary Allen farm at Vandenberg was bought by John McDonough of that place. The farm contained twenty acres.

Lester Lovett built a large hangar on Markham place for his own occupancy. The hangar was 39x37 feet and cost $3,500.

Chicken thieves visited the hen-henry of Matthew Brown of Leonardville and stole a dozen chickens.

A cow owned by Randolph H. Stryker of Shrewsbury was found dead in its pasture field.

John R. Scott of Fair Haven won six prizes at the Trenton fair on Wyandotte chickens.

Colonel West, who lived with his daughter, Mrs. William H. Reid of Shrewsbury, was stricken with paralysis.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Boys in River in Gale When Oarlock Broke.

Oscar Yale, fifteen years old, and P. Warren Conklin, twelve years old, Monmouth Beach school boys, had a narrow escape from drowning while rowing across the river from Shore Lands to Galilee last Wednesday. The northeasterly gale which was blowing had whipped the river into high waves. The boys were enjoying the thrilling ride until one of the oarlocks broke. After drifting into the channel they repaired the damage and reached shore after a hard battle.

It belongs to Police Captain P. C. Horne, Sr., of Washington, D. C. It has gone 96,000 miles without replacement of rings or wrist pins or tightening of bearings, and the motor still runs like new. From the very beginning it has been lubricated with "Standard" Motor Oil.

THIS is one of the outstanding performance records which are being made every year by this remarkable motor oil.

"Standard" Motor Oil is an oil-lubricant, made from carefully selected crudes and specially processed. It clings to metal surfaces, resists friction and penetrates more quickly to all moving parts.

This means less wear, less carbon and better power. Ask for "Standard" Motor Oil at your dealer's. Fill your crankcase with this rich-bodied, oilier oil. Get added miles of service from your car without extra cost.

"STANDARD" MOTOR OIL
The Oilier Oil

THERE isn't much that Captain P. C. Horne, Sr., of Washington, D. C., doesn't know about automobiles and motors. When he bought his Columbia-6 back in September, 1923, he decided to give it the best of treatment. He chose "Standard" Motor Oil. Today, after 96,000 miles, he says, "The good service I have obtained from my car is largely due to the quality of "Standard" Motor Oil."

JUST ALIKIE!

One is May, the other Marge—but who can tell which is the "original" and which the "copy"? As Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stars, the famous Angus Twins have left millions perplexed. Watch for them on their present coast to coast tour over the Keith-Orpheum Circuit.

Many prominent men and women have tried in vain to answer this puzzling question. Your family, too, are certain to fail.

WHICH IS WHICH?

Has Same Flavor AS EXPENSIVE SPREAD FOR BREAD

"As much alike as we are ourselves," say these celebrated twins, puzzling over the Jelke Challenge Flavor Test. "We can't taste any difference."

For, although GOOD LUCK costs only about half as much, two spreads for bread could not resemble each other more closely. The 60-cent taste—fresh, delicious, wholesome—of GOOD LUCK defies detection. Are you profiting by this truth? If not, prove GOOD LUCK today.

*If you should lift the body of every car*in Buick's field—and compare the chassis—
then you too would choose*The New* BUICK

If you were to lift the body from the chassis of any one of a hundred cars—and compare the vitally important details of chassis design and construction—you would find Buick so outstandingly superior in all phases of fine car engineering that you would almost inevitably make Buick your choice. Here is what you would see in this famous chassis:

Buick's great new Valve-in-Head engine—developing 99 horsepower in the 124- and 132-inch models, and 80½ horsepower in the 118-inch models. Unapproached in sturdiness, all-round performance—ability, reliability and economy as well.

Buick's new Controlled Servo Enclosed Mechanical Brakes—providing smooth, positive, silent braking, with minimum pedal pressure. And—because fully protected against dust, dirt and water—operating at maximum efficiency in any weather.

Buick's new frictionless steering gear and new Road Shock Eliminator—two advancements introduced by Buick. The Buick wheel offering effortless control throughout its entire turning range—and the new Road Shock Eliminator assuring complete freedom from annoying jolts and jars.

Buick's new, longer rear springs, and new Lovejoy Duodraulic Shock Absorbers—front and rear. Combining to check both bound and rebound, and providing a degree of riding ease without parallel anywhere.

And, finally, such established Buick superiorities as the famous double-drop frame of toughest steel; the massive side and cross members reinforced at points of stress to insure greatest long life; the celebrated torque tube drive, Buick's multiple-disc clutch, self-lubricating differential, and numerous other features.

When the list of Buick's chassis features—entirely aside from the irresistible appeal of Buick's new Fisher Bodies—reads like a roll-call of all that is soundest and best in fine car engineering; and when, in addition, you can buy a Buick for as little as $1225, f. o. b. factory; what wonder that all comparisons lead to Buick! What wonder that more than 2,000,000 people have invested their money in Buicks—and that from two to five times as many are purchasing this new Buick as any other automobile priced above $1200!

Light's Golden Jubilee

• 1879-1929 •

ON the twenty-first of October, 1879, Thomas A. Edison achieved a triumph which is being celebrated this year by millions of people in many countries.

In a small laboratory at Menlo Park, N. J., on that eventful day, Edison announced the success of his incandescent electric lamp.

Forty-nine years later, in a speech addressed to Edison, President Coolidge said: "In his invention of the incandescent lamp and in the perfection of means for developing and distributing electrical energy he literally brought light to the dark places of the earth. Through these and other products of his genius, old industrial processes have been revolutionized, new ones developed, and our daily lives have been made easier, our homes pleasanter and more comfortable."

In this year of Light's Golden Jubilee the world is gratefully acknowledging its debt to Edison for many of its most important comforts and conveniences. He invented the phonograph, the motion picture camera, the duplex and multiplex telegraph, and the essential parts by which the telephone and radio were made practical.

In addition to the success of his incandescent lamp, it is through the application of principles discovered by Edison that light, power and heat are distributed from central stations.

It is to be wondered at that he is regarded as America's greatest national asset?

Good light costs little

Electric light is less expensive today and better than it has ever been in the past. The charges for electricity have steadily been reduced; the best lamps cost only half as much as they did five years ago.

Your electric service is the only one for which you pay less today than before the war. If you burned candles to get as much light as is supplied by a 60-watt Mazda lamp, the cost would be a hundred times greater.

This service free to you

Many people are paying for light that is not used to the best advantage.

Unsuitable fixtures are often to blame for poor lighting, eyestrain, and accidents.

Without obligation, one of our home lighting specialists will be glad to tell you how to get the full benefit of the light you pay for. A phone call will bring you this free service promptly.

This advertisement is published in the interest of a more beneficial use of electricity, and to inform you how to obtain the best lighting service for the current consumed.

What Steam is IN THE FACTORY
Hot Water is IN THE HOME

Women know this. Men don't. That's the trouble. Factories get all the steam they want. But most homes for some reason or another, just struggle along from year to year with a hopelessly inadequate hot water supply.

Why is this when it is possible to secure perfect hot water service through a

HUMPHREY

Automatic Gas Water Heater

Think too that this Humphrey hot water service will actually cost you less than you are paying right now for a here-one-minute-gone-the-next supply that doesn't begin to satisfy the normal needs of yourself and your family.

A home deserves as good treatment as a factory. You live there. Just put yourself in place of the "General Manager"—what about Her? You'd better drop in today and see a demonstration.

Brighten the Corners

THERE is no just reason for even one dark, gloomy corner in your home. Electric service is too cheap to permit such a thing. A lamp here and there about the house lends charm and makes your home more inviting and comfortable.

A penny will pay the cost of burning a 25 watt lamp for five hours.

Fire Board Advocates Installation of an Alarm System.

(The Red Bank Register can be bought each week in Keansburg at the store of Louis Vulliamy, N. State, Lucia, Philip Heller and Charles Vogel.)

The Keansburg fire board is advocating a fire alarm system for the borough. In a communication to the borough council last week, William A. Haag, secretary of the board, stated that the present siren is unsatisfactory, and while it could be heard several miles away it could not be heard distinctly in the borough limits. The secretary said that he was of the opinion that the time had come to install a fire alarm system and suggested that at least ten boxes be installed. The letter stated that the cost would be about $5,000 for such a system. The manager was instructed to take the matter up and learn the approximate cost of such an equipment.

At the same meeting all petitions for several sewer extensions were received and included the following: through Van Camp place, Crescent street, Forest avenue, Twilight avenue, Woodland avenue, Birchwood street, Beaconlight avenue, Port Monmouth road to Park avenue, Atlantic avenue and Willis avenue. The total number of feet is 8,500. The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids after the necessary specifications had been drawn up by the borough engineer.

Andrew Pelusio of Pine View avenue, a hit and run driver, was fined $100 by Justice E. J. Currie of Keyport on three charges. He was apprehended by the Keansburg police several hours after he had left the scene of an accident at Keyport.

Making today's Oakland the SMOOTHEST car in its field

In the entire field of medium-priced automobiles there is no car so superbly smooth, so completely free from vibration as today's Oakland All-American Six. This is due in part to its basic design. But there are two Oakland developments which, more than any other features, contribute to the superlative smoothness of the All-American Six. These are the Harmonic Balancer and Oakland's patented rubber "biscuit" engine mountings. The Harmonic Balancer neutralizes torsional vibration in the crankshaft. The rubber "biscuit" engine mountings completely insulate the engine from frame and body. And these mountings, together with Oakland's practice of transmitting the power from the engine to the rear axle through rubber, have the effect of preventing even the slightest tremor being relayed to the body.

If you expect to buy a new car soon, smoothness is one of the first qualities you will want. Let us show you by a demonstration how wonderfully smooth the Oakland is under all conditions—and how on every basis of comparison it is America's finest medium-priced automobile!

Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1375, f.o.b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Spring covers, Loveloy Shock Absorbers included in list price. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate. Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f.o.b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Proof that Oakland is America's finest medium-priced automobile

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 878 individual comparisons were made. Of these, Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars combined were at best equal to Oakland on 382 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland.

RUBBER ENGINE MOUNTINGS

Only Oakland in the entire field employs rubber "biscuit" insulators. While others claim rubber mountings, none offers such resilience and permanent freedom from vibration as Oakland.

HARMONIC BALANCER

Only Oakland and one other car in the field have the Harmonic Balancer. Of 13 cars using some other device, 11 are higher-priced than Oakland. Oakland's crankshaft is fully counterweighted. The crankshafts in nine higher-priced cars are not counterweighted at all.

PISTON DISPLACEMENT

Oakland's 228 cubic inch piston displacement is greater than 12 of the 20 cars in its price field. Of the 8 remaining cars, 7 are much higher priced.

CRANKCASE VENTILATION

While most cars in the field have crankcase ventilation, only Oakland and one other, according to available information, have any method for cleaning the air. Six have not; although three of the six are higher-priced.

BRAKES

Only Oakland and one other car in its field use the fine type of brakes which Oakland employs. And no car in the field equals Oakland's 290 square inches of brake band area. Oakland's separate emergency brake operates on the transmission. Seven cars in the field have no separate emergency brakes, although three of them exceed Oakland in price.

AN ATHLETIC PROBLEM.

LOUIS JACOBUS'S CASE BEFORE THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Louis Has Been Barred from Taking Part in Athletics and a Lot of His Friends Want the Ban Lifted—The Board Defers Action.

The Red Bank board of education had a lively meeting last night and it all centered around Louis Jacobus, a member of this year's graduating class. Louis is perhaps the best football player in the school. He is also good at basketball, baseball and other athletics, but he can't take part in any school games. This was what all the fuss was about at the meeting last night. There was a delegation of citizens and high school pupils at the meeting and they wanted things fixed so that Louis could play again.

The reason Louis can't play was well threshed out at the meeting. During a game at Lakewood a year or so ago Louis got in a scrap. Harry C. Sieber, the principal of the Red Bank high school, was at the game and he saw part of the trouble. He told Louis that he would have to apologize before the whole Lakewood high school or he would be barred from taking any part in school athletics. Louis made the apology and he continued to play on the various Red Bank school teams.

However, a short time later Louis got in another fight at Woodbridge. Mr. Sieber held the boy at fault and so did Edwin C. Gilland, the supervising principal of the public schools of Red Bank. They gave to Louis the alternative of being expelled from school or of signing an agreement not to take part in any Red Bank athletics and not to serve as an officer of any school society.

Thomas MacKenzie, quite a scene took place in the schoolhouse. Louis told Mr. Sieber to take off his eyeglasses and he would give Mr. Sieber a thrashing. Mr. Sieber took off his eyeglasses, but Louis was restrained from hitting Mr. Sieber by Mr. Gilland. Later on in the schoolyard Louis again invited Mr. Sieber to take off his glasses, but Mr. Sieber did not do so and that was the end of the matter.

For fifteen days or so Louis refused to sign the statement and he stayed out of school. At length he did sign the statement and returned to school. During the summer he attended a summer school and took a course of studies which enabled him to make up all the time which he had lost. Because of this he did not fail to be promoted.

It was stated at the meeting last night that the school board association and A. C. Fary, principal of the Woodbridge high school, were interested in the fracas at Woodbridge; that they were prepared to take action to have Jacobus barred from taking part in school athletics but that they refrained from doing so when they were assured by Mr. Gilland and Mr. Sieber that action would be taken at Red Bank to prevent the boy from playing in athletic games.

Louis was at the meeting of the board of education last night and he was the first speaker. He started his remarks by stating that he had had a talk with the secretary of the interscholastic association and that the association was not interested in having him barred from athletics. He said the provocation for the trouble he got into at Lakewood was great; that he was called a villain name which he resented, not so much because of the implication against him but because of the reflection it cast against his parents.

With regard to the trouble at Woodbridge, Louis said the provocation was equally great. He said that some Woodbridge pupils were pushing and otherwise mistreating a Red Banker and that he protested against this. One word led to another and a scrap ensued. He said Mr. Sieber had threatened that he would punish him if he had done but that he refused to do so, stating that he did not see anything to apologize for.

Louis declared that when he signed the statement last spring renouncing his right to take part in athletic games he was assured by Mr. Gilland and Mr. Sieber that if he gave no further trouble, attended summer school and made up the marks which he had lost by his absence from school he would be re-instated athletically and re-instated in his right to hold office in school societies.

Louis said the promise had not been kept. He showed emotion during this recital. His voice broke and tears rolled from his eyes. He said he had been elected to several offices but had not been allowed to hold them. Louis admitted that he was hot-headed and that he sometimes lost his temper.

Mr. Gilland was at the meeting, but Mr. Sieber was not present. Mr. Gilland denied that any promise of reinstatement had been made to Louis. He said the wording of the statement which Louis had signed precluded the possibility of any such promise being made. He stated further that it would be impossible to make such a promise because of the interest which the state interscholastic association and Mr. Fary were taking in the case.

Edwin Ewing was the principal spokesman for the delegation at the meeting. He said he was not interested in getting Louis' athletic privileges renewed because Louis was a good player but because he thought the boy had been treated unjustly. He said in his opinion Louis had not received a square deal. He said that Louis had been unwilling to sign the statement renouncing his athletic rights and that his parents had been unwilling to have him sign it. He said that he (Mr. Ewing) had finally prevailed upon the boy to sign the statement and had prevailed upon the boy's parents to let him sign it. Mr. Ewing said that Louis was no more hot-headed than Mr. Sieber; that he knew no one

COMMUNITY CHEST PLAN.

BAPTIST MEN'S LEAGUE SUGGESTS IT BE ADOPTED.

About Fifty Persons Attended the First Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Last Night—Two Addresses Were Made.

John Edmund Aubrey, a well known community expert who has delivered addresses in 5,000 towns and cities in the United States, was the principal speaker last night at the first meeting of the Red Bank chamber of commerce at the borough hall. H. Emmerson Quinn, manager of the community department of the New York Times, also spoke. The men's league of the Red Bank Baptist church submitted to the participating plan a proposition for forming a community chest.

George H. Murdoch, secretary of the chamber, read a detailed report on what the chamber had done since the last board of directors' meeting. About fifty persons were present.

Mr. Aubrey stressed the advantage of satisfying the present population of a town before an organized method is made to get new inhabitants. He said the chamber of commerce with a few strong leaders could accomplish more than a larger chamber with no leaders. He said co-operation was essential to the rapid growth of a community.

Mr. Quinn praised Red Bank and said it had an inviting personality. The principal thought of his talk was the ways a town could be sold.

The Baptist men's league appointed Paul Rovers as their representative on the community chest committee. William A. Sweeney, president of the chamber of commerce, was authorized to appoint a member of the chamber to serve on the committee.

Millard J. Tetley and F. X. Schatzle were recently appointed to meet with the public welfare committee of the Red Bank Woman's club for the purpose of devising a plan to improve the present system of collecting garbage and waste. The Lucille hat shop with Mortimer Klein as a voting member and Thomas M. Gopell have joined the chamber.

It is planned to prepare a booklet fully describing Red Bank and its advantages. The state and municipal governments have been invited to hold its 1930 convention at Red Bank.

POLITICS ARE LUKEWARM.

BUT THEY ARE GOING TO BE SNAPPY NEXT WEEK.

Fight for Senator Overshadows the Rest of the Campaign—Joseph McDermott Apparently Fears Being Toppled From His Throne.

Politics this fall have been very quiet in Monmouth county so far. Both parties are said to be hard at work, but this work has been done very quietly. The Republicans have been very busy closing up their ranks and holding on to their seats. The Republican candidates and Republican club members have been in attendance. They are said to have developed a stronger organization than the Republican machine in the county has had in many years.

The Democrats have held no big meetings so far; but like the Republicans they have been holding district meetings of Democratic candidates and of prominent men of their party. They expect to begin the fireworks next week. Their first big meeting of the campaign will be held next Wednesday night at Segrist inn.

The principal political fights thus far in the campaign have been between E. Donald Sterner and Prosecutor John J. Quinn for senator, and between Joseph McDermott and Harry C. Quinn for county clerk. Two candidates for senator are united on one plank. That plank demands the construction of a bridge across Raritan bay from Monmouth county to Staten Island. Such a bridge would be of incalculable value to the whole of Monmouth county.

Mr. Sterner strongly advocated the construction of this bridge when he was in the assembly last winter, and Mr. Quinn has been very active in support of this measure. This Raritan bay bridge is probably the most important matter which will come before the senate and assembly the coming winter. It is very unusual for candidates on opposite sides of the political fence to be so hotly in favor of the same thing. This is a good omen for Monmouth county, regardless of who may be successful in the race for senator.

Mr. Quinn has one other platform plank which he is bringing to the fore in this campaign. He has been in the prosecutor's office twelve years. In those twelve years he has become very familiar with the criminal laws of the state and he states that if elected he will do his best to have a revision of the state's criminal laws. He especially believes that the laws against disorderly houses, where young girls are lured to be lured to destruction, should be strengthened and the penalties made stronger. The keepers of these disorderly houses know full well that they are violating the laws of the state and the laws of morality, and they take up this lawful occupation purely for making money illegally. The law should not only should not merely be shown to these criminals, but that the laws should be so strengthened as to drive these miscreants from the state.

As for the rest of the platforms for senator, they are about alike, so far as the candidates have been heard from. They both believe in economy, and in honesty in office and in the usual things that politicians and candidates in their platforms in their effort to get votes.

Joseph McDermott has been county clerk for upwards of thirty years. He apparently thinks that the county clerkship of Monmouth county has become an heirloom in the McDermott family and that it is his duty to keep the heirloom far from the grasp of any candidate who is not a McDermott. He is desirous for the public welfare. Mr. McDermott has in various campaigns stated that he would never again be a candidate if he were elected that time; but these promises never went further than political promises usually do. So Mr. McDermott is anxious for another term as county clerk. Harry N. Johnson of Highlands, the present sheriff of the county, is the present candidate for county clerk against Mr. McDermott.

Mr. Johnson ran for sheriff of Monmouth county three years ago and he got a majority of about 12,000 over his Republican opponent, which would indicate that Mr. Johnson was no slouch of a candidate himself. Anyway, these are the two candidates for county clerk. Mr. McDermott, because of his long possession of the county clerk's office, may regard these "new" candidates as anyone to even think of throwing him out of his long-looked job—this is the real stuff being the idea in the heart of a long-term office holder that the whole world would go to wrack and ruin if he should lose his political job. Mr. Johnson, however, is going right ahead with his efforts to be elected county clerk, just as if there were no such thing as a long-term office holder. And he says he is getting a lot of unexpected help in his effort to rout the McDermott dynasty.

The other candidates of both parties are making quiet campaigns, visiting their political and personal friends, and getting promises of help. Every man jack of them fervently and sincerely believes that he is sure to be elected, no matter what may happen to any other candidates anywhere in these United States.

TOWN TALK.

Gas Company Letters
As a Dismal Joke.

Last week a number of Red Bank residents who live on streets not provided with gas were surprised to receive letters from the gas company to the effect that by signing certain contracts with regard to using gas for heating purposes they would get lower gas rates than they had been receiving. Some of these people had applied for gas on their streets and these applications had been turned down. As these folks have no earthly way of getting gas and no immediate prospect of gas service, it was a sheer waste of Uncle Sam's stamps and of the mail men's time to send letters promising these folks gas rates lower than they had received in the past.

To the people living on streets not provided with gas the letters must seem a good deal like a ghastly joke. In its letter the company says its gas service for heating purposes is not a luxury but a necessity. This sounds good, but the statement does not like the well-to-do refusal of the company to put down gas on streets where the residents have made application for this service.

Public service corporations are backed up in such action by the law and by the public utilities commission of New Jersey. The excuse which these corporations give for not extending their service is that it would not be profitable for them to do so because the streets or roads in question are not thickly populated. Not only does the law give to corporations the right to refuse to make extensions, but it also bars all competition and it further provides that the rates shall be high enough to guarantee a good round profit to the companies.

This is a great age for corporations, as is shown by the foregoing facts. The refusal to grant needed service is in direct contrast with the action recently taken by the mayor and council of Red Bank in extending water service. Every street in the town is now supplied with public-owned water. No doubt some of these streets are so thinly populated that there will be no immediate profit from the extension of the water mains, but extending the water mains makes for better and higher citizenship.

Under government ownership, service and not profits is the goalstrived for. Putting down water mains on streets with few houses will help to build up these streets and will eventually make more water customers for the town. Under government ownership such a condition is a valid reason for extending service, but under private ownership it is an argument which has no standing at all. Corporations are operated to make profits and service is a consideration only in so far as it contributes to this end.

Sunday Laws and Their Enforcement.

Every little while in New Jersey persons are arrested for violating the old Sunday blue laws. These laws are called "blue laws" because of their gloomy, impracticable and severe character. They have been in force in New Jersey for very many years. They are seldom enforced except in cases where they are used to satisfy personal grudges or by persons in "getting square" with others who had "put the law" on them.

The village of New Market, in Middlesex county, is the latest locality to have a violation of the Sunday blue laws. In that town the chief of police was arrested for working in his garden on Sunday. Others were arrested for going pleasure riding on Sunday, for selling gasoline to persons who were automobile riding, and for operating automobiles buses and taxicabs.

All of these things are against the Sunday laws of New Jersey, as are also a lot of other things which are common on Sundays throughout the state. Very little attention is paid generally to these provisions of the Sunday laws. There is probably not one person in a thousand in New Jersey who does not break a number of these Sunday laws every Sunday.

But these laws are on the statute book of New Jersey. They can be enforced against any person who violates them. The offender can be hauled into court and fined. That these laws are not continuously enforced is only because most people have enough common sense to realize that a wholesale enforcement of these laws would not only be impossible, but would be against public welfare. If these laws were generally enforced, nine-tenths of the people of New Jersey would find themselves in the police courts every Monday morning, liable to fine or imprisonment.

Every few years an effort is made to modify or repeal these blue laws, or some of them. Whenever that is undertaken, organizations of church people go down to Trenton and demand that these blue laws must not be changed. Of course, nobody thinks of obeying all these blue laws. Probably the people who go to Trenton to try to stop the repeal of these laws, break half a dozen of these same laws every Sunday of their lives. That makes no difference to them, however. They apparently believe that to repeal these blue laws would be to let loose all the demons of evil upon the people of the state. So they tell the legislators of the vengeance which will overtake them when they run for office again if they should repeal these blue laws. The legislators like their jobs probably above everything else in the world except maybe their wives and children, and so the blue laws go un repealed.

Efforts to enforce the Sunday blue laws in New Jersey are far less common now than they were a generation or two ago. Thirty to fifty years ago persons who felt they had not been treated fairly by some one else, used the Sunday blue laws to get square. One man in Red Bank was arrested and fined for sweeping out his cigar store on Sunday morning and a butcher was fined $2 for sweeping out his market on Sunday. The butcher pleaded that he always swept out his store on Saturday night, after business was over, but that he had been half sick Saturday night and had not felt able to do it. He said he didn't like to have his store in an untidy condition when people were going past his place on Sunday morning to go to church, and so he went down early on Sunday morning and swept it out. That plea, however, did not save him from conviction of violating the law and he was fined $2.

People are getting more tolerant these days. The ancient blue laws are rarely invoked nowadays, except when persons believe themselves to have been unjustly and unfairly treated under these laws by someone else. These laws, of course, do no good. No one obeys them. They are made a handle for personal and private vengeance. They should be repealed, if for no other reason than that they are not used for the public welfare, but to gratify private grudges. They are not likely to be repealed, however; but they are being ignored more and more every year, which is the next best thing to repealing them.

Leon's
Column

TIMELY

COMMUNITY TOPICS.

By W. A. Sweeney.

Last week I inserted in this column a letter from Mr. George H. Murdoch, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, taking issue with me on a statement which appeared in a previous issue. Here is what I said:

"I believe there is a clear line of demarcation between the duties, rights and prerogatives of the Chamber of Commerce and the Mayor and Council. They operate, naturally, in separate fields and one must not invade the territory of the other. At least the Chamber of Commerce, which is a sort of self-constituted body, must always be dead sure that it is not attempting something which is clearly the province of the Mayor and Council, an elective body."

I promised last week that the letter of Mr. Murdoch would be answered in this issue, so here goes. Let me say the outset that there is no break in the personal relations between the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and myself. My only reason for threatening our differences in this column is the possibility that the same divergence of viewpoint may exist within the Chamber of Commerce itself and that a public airing of the matter might be interesting, whether it clarifies the situation or not.

Mr. Murdoch draws from my statement an inference that "in some way the Chamber of Commerce loses, or maybe never acquires, the rights and interests inherent in the individuals who compose it." My only objection to that is that in joining the Chamber of Commerce a person loses none of his rights as a citizen, neither does he acquire any of the rights of a mayor or a councilman.

The name itself indicates pretty clearly the functions of the Chamber of Commerce. Until a few years ago they were known mostly as Boards of Trade or Boards of Merchants. They were organized primarily in the development of trade and commerce. I realize that this second of these organizations has been widened within the past few years, but I know of no instance where they have presumed to legislate for a municipality, or where they encourage complaints which should properly be made to the Mayor and Council. At times the line of demarcation between the duties of a Chamber of Commerce and a Mayor and Council may be blurry, but usually it is clear and unmistakable. Let me illustrate. If a group of citizens want a street graded or paved, why should they go to the Chamber of Commerce and ask that body to pass the request on to the Mayor and Council. Why not go direct? Or, why, for instance, should a Chamber of Commerce sit down and adopt a budget for the town, when it is neither elected nor charged with any such responsibility?

Mr. Murdoch asks how I reconcile my warm advocacy of better parking facilities with the position which I take, and adds that "provision for better parking facilities is certainly a government function." In my humble judgment provision for better parking facilities is not a government function, except as it may be connected with street widening or the development of needed new streets. Practically all the benefits of increased parking space would accrue to the merchants in increased trade. It would be as unfair to tax all the people to provide parking space for the benefit of the merchant as it would be to levy a general tax for a dollar day or an autumn sale. The people have some interest of course, in providing parking space for themselves, but not the same interest the merchant has.

Increased parking space is so important, however, that I think the Mayor and Council and the Chamber of Commerce might well co-operate and pool all their resources to that end. It is chiefly, nevertheless, a Chamber of Commerce function.

BUILDING UP A CHURCH.

A GREAT QUICKENING OF INTEREST AMONG BAPTISTS.

Roll Call Campaign Under Way With the Slogan of "Every Member Accounted For"—An Enthusiastic Service Sunday.

A roll call campaign is under way at the Red Bank Baptist church to wipe out an indebtedness of $5,000 and to increase interest in church work. The financial part of the campaign is directed by a committee consisting of Albert M. VanNostrand, Franklin Gray, Joseph Harrison, Dr. Herbert E. Williams and George W. Bray.

With the slogan of "Every Member Accounted For," the campaign will be continued throughout October. Each Sunday the names of people of different districts are called. Last Sunday was devoted to the country roundabout Red Bank, including Lincolnton, River Plaza, Riverside Heights and Fair View. The roll call for this day was in charge of a committee consisting of Deacons Joseph Hagerman and Joseph W. Thompson and Leaders Harold White, Mrs. Cuttrell, Miss Ella Davis, Mrs. Everett Brower, Miss Dorothy Brown, Mrs. Frank House, Mrs. Charles Hammell and Mrs. Paul Revere.

The result at the Sunday morning service exceeded the expectations of the most sanguine supporters of the roll call campaign. The attendance was larger than at any service since Rev. Edward W. Miller became pastor of the church last May. Ninety names were called and seventy persons responded. The envelope system is used in contributing money to help pay the indebtedness of $5,000. Individual gifts are not reported, but announcement is made of the amount given by each geographical district. The enlistments for church service are also announced. On Sunday morning ninety names were called and seventy persons responded. The amount collected was $350.

On the three remaining Sundays of October the districts to be heard from are all within Red Bank. Next Sunday's roll call will be under the direction of Deacon George Manson, assisted by Miss Mary Mount, Mrs. Grace Schenck, Mrs. Eugene M. Magee, Mrs. Wellington Wilkins, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Bray, Mrs. Warren Minton, Mrs. Harriet Butcher, Mrs. Augustus Layton, Mrs. Walter Mason and Mrs. Alden Mason. The roll call on Sunday, October 20th, will be in charge of Benjamin H. Ford and T. Harrison Stiles, who will be assisted by Mrs. Edith Worth, Mrs. Eleanor Kenyon, Mrs. William Truax, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. T. Harrison Stiles, Mr. and Mrs. John Green, Elmer E. Vanschoick, Charles Hammell and Arthur Davis. At the roll call on Sunday, October 27th, Deacons Paul Rovere and Edward H. Morford will be in charge. They will be assisted by Miss Johnson, Mrs. A. H. Sutphin, Mrs. Martha Papa, Mrs. Edna Williams, Mrs. Frank Conklin, Mrs. Harry Clayton, Mrs. C. J. DeGave and Mrs. Howard Lily.

In connection with the roll calls a series of special sermons will be preached. The morning and evening sermon subjects last Sunday were "The Power of God" and "The Power of Myself." The topics next Sunday will be "The Vision of God" and "The Vision of Myself." On Sunday October 20th the subjects will be "The Riches of God" and "The Riches of Myself." On Sunday, October 27th, the subjects will be "The Measure of God" and "The Measure of Myself." Of late there has been a steady increase of attendance and of interest in church work. The pastor and the church workers are much encouraged over the improved conditions. They have received many compliments on the effectiveness of their work.

Pin your faith to the Oboy grocer

The health of your family and the success of your meals depend a great deal on your grocer. Discriminating women are learning to patronize the grocers who sell Oboy Bread. That's because stores that are so very careful about their most important product can be expected to be responsible in all their other departments.

Consider the reasons why you'll find Oboy in the finest stores everywhere. It's baked, molded and packed under super-sanitary conditions. Its flavor cries "more" with every bite. It toasts to a crackly-brown crispness that turns breakfast into a banquet. And children love it. "Flightly" appetites clamor for its strength building goodness.

Put it on the table tonight —and watch results!

The Romance of American Progress

One of the Peek-Holes in the Third Oldest Safe Deposit Vaults in America.

Before the days of electric protection, it was the custom for watchmen to hourly look through the peek-holes in the granite walls of the old vaults to make sure no one was inside. This view shows such a peek-hole in one of the safe deposit vaults of Boston, opened on Jan. 1, 1868.

Customers of the Broad Street National Bank may feel confident that when they place their valuables in our vaults they will receive every modern pro-above scene was common, but the protection is infinitely greater.

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

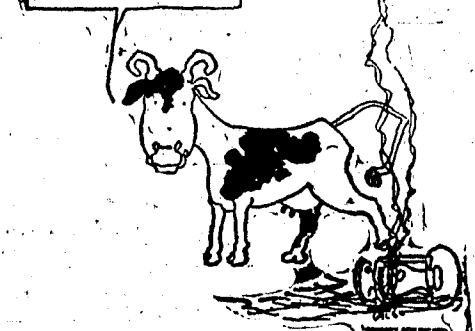

Fairhaven, Mass.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life. When I feel nervous and run-down, my husband gets me a bottle right away. It is a great help to me and I think that if other people would only take it when they feel all run-down and take it as the directions say, they would find it a great benefit. My worst symptoms were nervousness and tired feelings. I could not sleep nights and I was so nervous I would cry if anyone looked at me."—Mrs. Ada Besse, 100 Washington Street, Fairhaven, Mass.

VISIT FROM MUSICIANS.

Members of Old Band Visit a Fair Haven Friend.

Alvin Smith of Battin road, Fair Haven, belonged to a Long Island band several years ago and for a time he was the bandmaster. When he moved to Fair Haven he gave up his connection with the band and took up other pursuits of labor. However, during these many years he had kept up his friendliness with the boys of the band by correspondence.

Last Sunday shortly after nine o'clock about twenty of the old corps of musicians paid Mr. Smith a surprise visit and a most enjoyable day was spent by the boys in old time harmony with their instruments. The surprises were led by Captain Kenyon, chief of police of Cedarhurst, Long Island.

Mr. Smith had a most enjoyable day with his former associates, especially during the refreshment hour when anecdotes of the early days of the band were the principal topic of conversation.

NEW AUXILIARY MEMBERS.

Red Bank Lady Elks Plan Theater Party Next Wednesday.

At the meeting of the ladies' auxiliary of the Red Bank lodge of Elks last Wednesday Mrs. Harry Southworth of Highlands, Mrs. Lon Hasall of Fair Haven, Mrs. Edward Frost of Kenilworth and Mrs. Carmichael of Red Bank were received as members. The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held at the Elks' home tonight instead of next Wednesday. The hostesses will be Mrs. John P. Mulvihill, Mrs. William Mason and Mrs. Elsie Prothero. At this meeting plans will be made for the annual theater party at New York next Wednesday.

INJURIES FATAL.

Spring Lake Woman Dead as Result of Auto Accident.

Mrs. Henrietta Combs of Spring Lake Heights died at the Long Branch hospital Thursday from injuries she received in an automobile accident on the Neptune highway Sunday of last week. The automobile in which she was riding with her son Cecil was in collision with two other cars. One of these was driven by Harry J. Terwilliger of Red Bank and the other by Louis Cohen of Point Pleasant. Mrs. Combs was 51 years old and leaves a husband and six children.

Boxing Arena Sold.

The Long Branch boxing arena was sold last week by Daniel Maher and Andrew Luebsch to Hiles & Casale, who have taken a long term lease on the premises. They will put a roof on the arena and enlarge the seating capacity. Hiles & Casale were in charge of the arena the past season, which was a very successful one.

Won't You Come to See Us In Our New Two-Story Home?

WE'VE moved into our new home! You knew, didn't you, that we were building? A two-story Colonial house... and now that it's furnished, naturally we're excited. You really must come to see it soon.

Any time. You won't upset us in the least. Everything is in apple-pie order, and we're holding open house for our friends. You'll love the Colonial doorway and the winding stairs... and we've found a treasure of a Grandfather Clock for the hall.

The furniture is 18th Century style... Early American maple replicas and Colonial type mahogany. There's a living room and dining room downstairs, of course... and a breakfast room and a kitchen with built-in cupboards. (Remind us to show you our new china and glassware.)

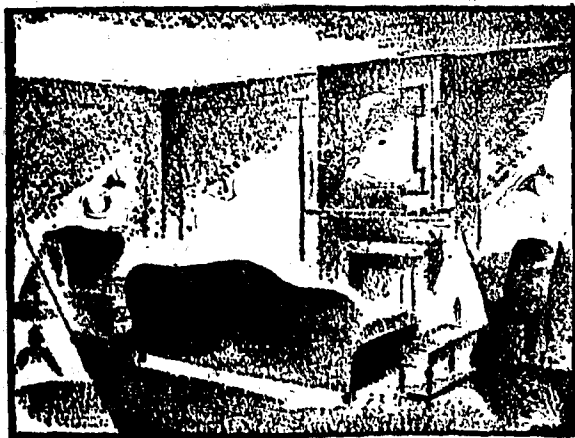

We're terribly pleased with the bedrooms.

When you see the persimmon chintz hangings in the gray room... and the Toile de Jouy room that we modeled after one we discovered in the French Provinces... you simply won't sleep until you've copied them! We've used Sheraton furniture in the yellow room, and the lavender room looks actually edible... like a Sherry ice.

Are we boasting too much?

Well, come to see us anyhow. It's really just as much your house as it is ours. We were thinking about you all the time we planned it. We thought you would like to see the furniture groupings that are possible in a house like ours... then you can tell so much better how they will look in your own home... and how much you can accomplish for so little.

And we are going to change the furniture every once in a while, and show you other periods... and maybe the work of some contemporary craftsmen.

Oh yes... we're on the Fifth and Sixth Floors.

Won't you come to see us?

*The new Two-Story House marks another significant unit in the Greater Bamberger Store. Its gracious white structure and the charm and authenticity of its furnishings are in the fine tradition of our New Jersey homes....

RED BANK WINS AGAIN.

GRIDIRON TEAM DEFEATED SOUTH ORANGE ELEVEN.

Red Bank High School Football Warriors Triumphed Over Up-state Team Saturday Afternoon by a Score of 7 to 6.

The Red Bank high school football team chalked up its second victory of the season by defeating Columbia high school at South Orange Saturday afternoon by a score of 7 to 6. It is the first time Red Bank has defeated South Orange in five years and it is also the first time the upstate team has lost its opening game in many seasons.

Red Bank was the first to score. Following an exchange of punts South Orange was forced to kick from its one-yard line. Jacobsa received the ball on the South Orange 31-yard line. On the next play Hartman advanced eleven yards. McClees made ten more yards and on the following play Mulligan took the pigskin over the last white line for a touchdown. Hartman's try for the point was made good when three South Orange men were called off-side.

South Orange scored in the second period when Allen carried the ball over the goal line from Red Bank's twenty-yard line after the Columbians had carried the ball from mid-field. Wolcott, Red Bank's husky center, blocked the kick and the score was 7 to 6 in favor of Red Bank.

The third period was the scene of hard playing, the Red Bank eleven being within scoring distance twice, only to be called back for penalties. In the final quarter Red Bank continued its attack only to lose ground again on penalties. The game ended with the ball in South Orange's possession on its own twelve-yard line.

The Red Bank backfield combination seems to be in good working order while the line has shown remarkable power and team work. With two of the stiffest games of the season a matter of history the prospects for another championship season seems very bright.

The line-up was as follows:

RED BANK	SOUTH ORANGE
Brune	L.E. Fraser
Rosanti	L.T. Finley
Ewing	J.G. Stark
Wolcott	C. Beh
Marasco	R.G. Graham
Schwenker	R.T. Skokna
Cook	R.E. Blackwell
Hartman	Q.B. Wiley
Jacobsa	L.H. Allen
Mulligan	R.H. Barton
McClees	F.B. Sandbach

Substitutions—Red Bank—Strode for Jacobsa, Columbia—Day for Wiley, Condit for Blackwell, Kreibler for Beh, Wiley for Day, Beh for Kreibler, Soville for Condit, O'Donnell for Fraser, Referee—Broadhead.

Umpire—Crane. Head linesman—Banta. Red Bank's first game at home will be played Saturday afternoon against Westfield. The contest will mark the dedication of the new athletic field. There will be a flag raising ceremony by the American Mechanics' lodge. The lodge has donated the flag for the field and the flagpole is a gift of the class of 1928. The football score board was given by the class of 1929. The field will be accepted by Herbert Ewing, president of the student council.

A HOLE IN ONE.

Victor Ghezzi of Rumson Made the Shot in a Tournament.

Victor Ghezzi, assistant professional at the Rumson country club, made a hole in one in the New Jersey professional golfers' association tournament Monday at Madison. The feat was made on the eighteenth hole, which is 171 yards long. Ghezzi finished ninth in the tournament with a score of 158, but won second prize for instant professionals. The tournament was won by Jack Forrester, formerly professional at the Hollywood golf club.

BASEBALL CHAMPIONS.

KEYPORT TROUNCED RED BANK BADLY IN SERIES.

Herb Hunter's Men Were Shut Out Sunday, 7 to 0, by Petroski—The Red Bank Team Was Weakened by Change in Lineup.

The Keyport baseball team won the county baseball championship Sunday afternoon by defeating the Red Bank ball club decidedly for the fourth time in a seven-game series at Hunter's field. The Keyport aggregation proved itself a better baseball machine than Red Bank by trouncing Herb Hunter's nine by decisive margins. They truly deserve the championship and all the honor and glory that goes with it. The sportsmanship displayed by both teams during the five games of the series was of high calibre and the contests were exceptional exhibitions of clean baseball. The first game of a series for the unofficial state championship will be played next Sunday at Hunter's field by Keyport and Trenton.

Petroski, Keyport's hurler, breezed through Sunday's game in fine form, allowing no runs and only two hits, while his colleagues collected fourteen hits and seven runs. Joe Stryker, whose delivery had proved a puzzle to the Keyport batsmen on previous occasions, was driven from the mound in the fifth inning. Keyport scored all of their runs while he was in the box and nipped him for twelve of their hits. Newman replaced Stryker and checked Keyport, giving only two hits and no runs.

Hunter was the only Red Bank player to reach second. He managed to get to this base twice, put both times he was aided by errors. Keyport tallied twice in the first inning, and they increased their lead in every inning until the fifth.

More than 1,000 persons attended the game and there were about 800 paid admissions. Sunday's exhibition was one of the poorest of the season at Hunter's field and those who bought grandstand seats at 75 cents could have seen far better games for two-thirds the price.

Hunter in an attempt to bolster his squad acquired a catcher, who was formerly a chauffeur for Babe Ruth, and a centerfielder with a reputation as a runner and hurler. The Red Bank manager must have hired these players over the telephone for he sure did get lemons. Egbert, one of Red Bank's most versatile players and hitters in centerfield, was taken out of this position to give place to the new fielder, who did not hit and who fielded like a grammar school boy. The new catcher was replaced by Brookholt, Red Bank's regular backstop, in the fourth inning. Ruth's former chauffeur was a fair receiver, but he gave a poor account of himself at bat. Egbert did not play Sunday and he told Hunter he would not work for him again.

KEYPORT VS. TRENTON.

The First Game of a Series to be Played Sunday at Hunter's Field.

The Keyport baseball club, which easily defeated Red Bank in a series for the county championship, will meet a baseball aggregation from the Trenton athletic association in the first of a three-game series Sunday afternoon at Hunter's field. The two teams are classed with the best professional baseball clubs in the state. Keyport defeated Trenton last year in a game at that place by a score of 2 to 1.

The pitching assignments will go to Johnny Petroski, the Keyport ace, and Johnny Coffee, who has had a creditable season with Trenton. The Keyport lineup will include Walter and Arthur Manuel, Herbert Hunter, Carl Newman, "Chubby" Perrine and Henry Dane. On the Trenton nine will be Tommy Barlow, "Red" Kearns, Eddie Debosky and George Glasco, most of whom played on the old Freshhold ball club.

HUNTING DOG TRIALS.

FIELD TRIALS AT TINTON FALLS
DRAW BIG CROWDS.

About 600 persons attended the second annual field trials of the Monmouth county kennel club held last Friday and Saturday—Affair Was Held Under Direction of Monmouth County Kennel Club.

About 600 persons attended the second annual field trials of the Monmouth county kennel club held last Friday and Saturday on the Dr. Benjamin Cook and J. F. LaVigne farms at Tinton Falls. The entries in the three stakes were unusually large and the trials were superior to last year's events in many ways. The weather and location were ideal for the trials. Seventy-two pheasants were released during the trials by the club.

Twenty-five entries were made in the puppy stake, which was run Friday morning. The work of the four best entries was so uniform that it was necessary for them to run twice before the places could be decided. Farrows Aizes, Jr., owned by S. F. Howell of Boonton, and handled by J. H. McDowell of Keyport, was awarded first prize. Rumson Farm Cynos, owned by the Rumson farm kennels and handled by Raymond Hoagland, Jr., was second, and Rip Along, owned and handled by Thomas H. Long of Seabrookville was third. The judges were Dr. Wallace F. Vail of Greenwich, Conn., and F. Dwight Foster of Red Bank.

A derby for dogs bred after January 1st, 1928, was held Friday afternoon. First place was won by Rumson Farm Ginger, owned and handled by Raymond Hoagland, Jr. Comanche Ziggs Peg, owned and handled by S. P. Brown of Landsdowne, Pa., was second, and Roxanna of Noblesstone, owned by F. J. Berkart of Toms River and handled by Thomas Long was third. The dogs in this event ranged wide, hunted well, and handled the birds in good form. Sixteen entries were made in the derby, and Thomas H. Carmody of Medford assisted Dr. Vail in the judging.

The biggest event of the trial was the shooting dog stake on Saturday, in which 24 dogs took part. Hiker's Jersey Joe, owned and handled by Mr. Carmody was first, Jazzberry Joe, owned and handled by Mr. Foster was second, Dykestone Dan, owned and handled by Victor Hengstler of Red Bank was third, and Gid, owned by Charles C. Schock of Matawan and handled by L. Arrowsmith of that place, was fourth. The entries in this stake displayed exceptionally good bird work. The dogs were run in pairs or braces, and every brace found and handled birds. The first brace released Saturday morning handled a covey of quail and seven other finds. The dogs owned by Mr. Foster and Mr. Hengstler also showed up well. R. M. Moose of Rumson helped judge this stake.

The hunting periods were thirty minutes in length. The dogs were released on the LaVigne farm and they hunted around the edges of both estates. Lunch was served to the exhibitors and their guests on both days free of charge. The drawing for the shooting dog stake was held Friday night at the Colts Neck hotel. About 25 persons attended the drawing, and a dinner was served for them by the club.

He Was Host to Over 200 Guests on His Estate Yesterday.

Thomas B. Hasler of Little Silver held his annual clambake for his friends on the lawn of his estate yesterday. Over 200 guests enjoyed a fine feast, which consisted of four courses, and included steamed clams, chicken and other good things to eat. The guests were from Little Silver and vicinity and from New York, a large number of whom were business associates of Mr. Hasler. The first group of guests arrived about noon. YACHT CLUB ACTIVITIES.

OCTOBER MEETING OF CLUB HELD LAST THURSDAY.

Owners Have Their Boats Practically Ready for Sailing and With Good Ice This Winter They Expect to Regain Championship Pennant.

The October meeting of the North Shrewsbury iceboat and yacht club was held Thursday night at the clubhouse and although the meeting was sparsely attended due to many other affairs in Red Bank that same night those who did attend had a most enjoyable evening.

A short business session was followed by two hours of general sociability during which time many incidents of summer activities and talks of what the boys propose to do the coming winter were the principal topics.

Two club members, Lester G. Rasmussen and Charles F. Gilbert of Chicago, attended the meeting. They have been summering here on their cabin yacht Whim for the seventeenth consecutive season. The boys were loud in their praises of the hospitality shown them by Red Bankers and they say there is no place like Red Bank for a real vacation.

The club will fill in part of their property along the bulkhead line before freezing weather sets in so that there will be a solid fill for the winter's use of the property, especially during the iceboating season.

The iceyacht owners have their boats practically ready for the coming season. The boys feel that all that is necessary to win back the championship pennant from the Long Branch club is to have enough ice to permit sailing the races.

PLAYED SCORELESS TIE.

ST. JAMES HIGH SCHOOL VISITS
SOUTH AMBOY.

Costly Fumbles Prevented Red Bank Team From Scoring—Saturday the Red Bankers Will Play Newman School at Lakewood.

St. James's high school football team played a scoreless tie Friday afternoon with the South Amboy public high school team at the latter place. The game was the opening contest of the season for both squads. Fumbles caused by lack of experience were the principal reason the Red Bank team did not score. The defensive work of the South Amboy squad was their principal asset. The South Amboy eleven outweighed the St. James team fifteen pounds to a man, but the Red Bank team made up for the handicap by their speediness and effective aerial attack. James Tanner, St. James's star halfback, made long gains by end runs and runs off tackle, and much ground was gained by passes from Edwin Kennedy and George Gill. Invariably, when the Red Bank squad was within striking distance of their opponent's goal, they would lose the ball on fumbles. John Moran, a new member of the Red Bank team, showed up well as an end.

Vincent Abbatelli of South Amboy, coach of St. James's squad, was pleased with the team's showing. He is confident they will have a good season. The second game will be on Saturday at Lakewood, with the Newman preparatory school. The Lakewood players are much heavier than the Red Bank squad.

Alex. McPhee, Edwin Kennedy, James Tanner and Arthur Leavy played in the St. James backfield. The linesmen who started the game were Daniel Calandriello, William Maloney, George Gill, John Sheehan, John Fitzgerald and John Patterson. Paul Hemschoot, Edward Porchieles and Joseph Tyliutki were substitutes.

THEIR SECOND VICTORY.

Middletown Township High School Football Team Wins Again.

The football team of the Middletown township high school defeated Metuchen at Leonardo last Friday by a score of 13 to 9. Phillip Matthews of the winning team distinguished himself by making several long runs. John O'Neill, captain of the Middletown township team, also starred. This was the first game to be played at the Leonardo field this season. A week previous the township team defeated Manassquan by a score of 34 to 0. The Middletown players are lacking in experience, but in the opinion of experts they are fast developing into a strong team.

HIS CIGARS.

His Wife Thought There Ought to be a Few Good Ones Among Them.

Thomas Mott Osbourne, one of the leaders of the State Democratic League of New York, was talking about political organization. "Good men," he said, "are rare. They come high. There is a tendency to accept workers all and sundry who volunteer, but this tendency is as foolish as the logic of the smoker's wife. Hereafter," said a smoker, "I prefer to buy my own cigars, dating. You are very good to volunteer to do my cigar buying, but really this bag at twelve for a quarter is a little too cheap." "I know twelve for a quarter is cheap," his wife answered, "but I thought there'd be one or two good ones in the twelve."

OCTOBER ON THE SHREWSBURY.

A Former Red Banker Spends a Week-End on a Boat.

Haddon Ivins, a former Red Bank boy who is now editor of the Hudson Dispatch of Hudson county, New Jersey, spent a week-end the first week of this month as the guest of Henry Jagels of Fair Haven. He evidently had a good time and in his paper last week he told the story of his trip interspersed with recollections of the time when he was a boy in Red Bank. This is his story:

"Three Men in a Boat." I never read that book, but I know a lot about it, for I've just had a glorious October week-end on board Henry Jagels's yacht, Spindrift, now moored at Fair Haven on the Shrewsbury river. Twenty of us had a day out around Sandy Hook, five miles or so out in the ocean in a motorized sculliff.

Many a time, when I was a boy, I've seen the fishermen at Seabright hauling in their big loads of fish with our-propelled skiffs, but oars are almost out of use now, since the motor relieved man of many of his burdens.

Let's get started right on this little travel story. Spindrift, the name of the yacht, means "spray blown from waves during a gale at sea." The Spindrift is a 60-footer, beautifully equipped with sleeping cabins, galley, sun deck; almost all the comforts of home, and a lot of delights that cannot be had in land-built living quarters.

Henry Jagels's biggest hobby is the water; all his adult life he's had boats; all his life he's been on a man-hunt for various specimens of the finny tribe, a fisherman plenipotentiary; deep-sea fishing a specialty; fishing stories extraordinary; a man who has travelled Europe and Africa, and who carries his travel stories with a memory like writ, a man who tells them with the fascinating charm of unstudied but prolific fitness of harmonizing many of its chapters with the run of conversation.

Imagine, then, three men in a boat, Friday night, weather clear, river calm, a delicious dinner on board, and then—three men in a cabin, easy chairs, feet cocked up on a convenient resting place, and conversation—conversation that ran away with time—literally ran away with it, until the lateness of the hour came as a shock; if men, off for a week-end, can be shocked by time in its flight.

Mr. Jagels spends all his week-ends during summer, and most of them in autumn, on his yacht, sometimes cruising, sometimes moored, with the sea-skiff for an auxiliary.

Down around the Shrewsbury I was very much at home. There I spent my boyhood, a boyhood in an open country, where farm lands and river scenery and wooded lands contribute a setting that not every boy is privileged to enjoy.

We had a few drives around the country, too, on this lovely week-end; our host showed us where Tom McCarter has his home on the Rumson road; yes, but I knew something he didn't know; the house that Mr. McCarter now owns was built years ago by a wealthy man named Kemp, the man who made a fortune with a patent medicine, Kemp's Balsam. Maybe some of you remember it, in those pre-Munyon days of patent medicines.

We saw Uzal McCarter's home at Tower Hill, just outside Red Bank, overlooking the ocean, five miles distant. Yes, I knew the history of that place, too; built by Kinney, the cigarette king of 35 or 40 years ago; when he died, Andy Freedman, owner of the Giants, bought it; when he died—Uzal McCarter.

Yes, and I pointed out the mansion built by Adams, who made a fortune out of chewing gum, forty years or so ago. Another mansion built by Hoagland; he made his fortune with Royal baking powder.

Harry Miner, theater man, had a place on the Shrewsbury in those yesteryear times; and Inspector Byrnes, of the New York police department, another of the show places. I was much at home, in and around the Shrewsbury.

A familiar face approached as we sat on deck. Mayor Graust of Weehawken, then his son, Bob Graust; they were down there for the week-end, too; Bob has a house on the north shore, the prettiest part of Monmouth county.

The mayor had had a birthday party; 75 years old; what a man! he knows a lot about that section; we had a great talk; he told me about a book, written years ago, "Alice of Monmouth," a romance laid in that lovely country; he's going to dig it out of his library for me.

What a man!—off on a week-end holiday, but he had been to Red Bank to inspect a new sewage disposal plant. When that man goes to heaven, and that's where he'll go sometime, maybe about 25 or 30 years; when he goes up there, he'll probably be looking over something for the benefit of the people of his much-beloved Weehawken.

I learned a lot about fish on this trip; and when you hear about fish from a man who has been spending thirty years of his life fishing, it is interesting. We saw some fish nets down near the Hook, Sandy Hook; thousands of sea gulls perched on the nets and poles, and flying around. Why were they there? Listen—read. They were waiting for the fishermen to arrive to empty their nets; when that happens, lots of unwanted fish are thrown back into the water, and the gulls hungrily get 'em. And there they were, waiting; they "knew their onions."

However—that was an alternative. If blue fish had been running well, the gulls would not have been at those nets in such large numbers. It's against the law to kill gulls. They are too good to eat, so the laws protect them that they may carry on their work as scavengers of the sea. If it were not for their useful work, the seas would wash disease up on the shores.

We boys used to go to watch the international yacht races; five miles to the sea; we had good eyes in those youthful days.

The Sandy Hook boats then landed at Sandy Hook, but when the United States government took the lands at the Hook for proving grounds, the boat docks were moved to Atlantic Highlands.

In those times Sandy Hook had a delicious fruit, beach plums; not eatable in raw state, but beach plum jam has no superior that I ever tasted. But to—get beach plums meant a terrible battle with mosquitoes. If anything can justify a battle with mosquitoes, it is beach plum jam.

The Red Bank steamboats ran the Shrewsbury for half a century and more. They furnished cheap freight rates for farmers sending their products to New York, cheap rates for the merchants getting their stocks from New York; cheap fares for people going to New York; fifty cents for a return trip. The motor truck was faster and cheaper for the farmer; also for hauling merchandise. The trip to New York by boat, and return, consumed six hours—too much time, people want to go faster. No more steamboats on the Shrewsbury; they gave up the trips a year or two ago.

A lovely week-end—weather, scenery, company, everything.

BETTER FISHING.

Federal Government Stocks Several Waters in State.

Washington, (AP)—Although New Jersey has benefited less than the majority of states from the activities of the United States bureau of fisheries, improvement has been reported by anglers in 21 streams and lakes in that state since they were stocked by the federal agency.

Small fry and larger fish are donated for stocking waters in all the streams of the state under the supervision of the union under the sole requirement that the recipient report fishing conditions there from time to time.

Bass, trout, sunfish, catfish, perch have been shipped to New Jersey from Federal hatcheries.

Among the waters stocked were: Appahaw lake, Butler; Belmar Spring pond; Cedar Crest lake, Cedar Creek; Cold creek, Clementon; Culver lake, Frankville; Delaware river, Burlington; East Northvale brook, Englewood; Englewood cemetery brook, Englewood; Guard Lock pond, Hackensack; Hackensack river, Hackensack; Lake of the Woods, Branchville; Layton lake, Penns Grove; Newton lake, Collingswood.

PASTURE LAND.

By Proper Care of Them Additional Feed Supply Would Result.

New Brunswick, N. J., (AP)—Dr. H. B. Sprague, agronomist for the state agricultural experiment station here, is of the opinion farmers of New Jersey could obtain an additional $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 worth of feed annually from their pastures if they would take better care of the land.

Pasture land of the state occupies an area one third as large as that devoted to all harvested crops, he explained, and the total value of the feed produced on pastures probably exceeds $10,000,000 annually. This is equal to the average value of all hay grown in the state or of all grains, or while potatoes. Furthermore, the agronomist added, the labor cost of producing feed on pasture is less than one-tenth that for harvested crops.

Dr. Sprague believes that by proper treatment new Jersey's pasture land—more than 300,000 acres—can be made to produce from 50 to 100 per cent more feed than it is now yielding.

"A program of pasture improvement," said Dr. Sprague, "should include clearing the land of all shrubs and bushes, and nearly all of the trees. This may be done in the fall and winter when other work is not pressing. Mowing of woods and coarse vegetation in early fall will greatly improve the fall and early spring grazing. In many pastures, nearly 50 per cent of the area is occupied by coarse growth and is therefore unavailable for grazing."
