

Trinity Fellowship Hears Naval Epic

Harry Layton Tells How Halsey's Fleet Was Supplied To Hit Japan

Harry Layton, Red Bank automobile dealer and sportsman, who served as gunnery officer aboard the U. S. aircraft carrier Yorktown with Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey's third fleet during the closing phase of the Pacific war, credits the excellence of naval supply for the terrific pounding the fleet gave Japan's home islands in July and August, 1945.

Speaking at the reorganization meeting of the Men's Fellowship club of Trinity Episcopal church last Thursday night, Layton told of his wartime experiences with the air arm of the Navy.

The meeting was also marked by the election of officers for the year. Louis VanBrunt was chosen president; Jack Zoldek, vice president; William Barrett, treasurer, and James Wolcott, secretary. Future meetings, at which special programs will be featured, will be held the third Thursday night of each month at 8 o'clock.

The story Layton told of how the Navy supplied Halsey's fast task force was one that did not get the big newspaper headlines it so emphatically deserved during those days when hot action was news and peace was so near. But it involved planning that had been perfected a year before those American blows were struck, according to Layton, who occupied a "front seat" observation post on the flag carrier Yorktown during the operations.

History records that it was on July 14 that ships of the U. S. Pacific fleet started the first heavy surface-ship bombardment of the main islands of Japan, centering the main weight of gunfire on Honshu, on which is Tokyo, the capital city.

Layton described that fleet as comprising 140 ships, including 25 British vessels equipped to fire American munitions and also including 17 U. S. carriers and eight battleships.

The job, he said, had been outlined in detail a year in advance and comprised the major plan to strike at separate points of Japan's island chain from Honshu in the center, north to Hokkaido and south to Kyushu, in four-day periods of crushing devastation. The fifth day was supply day.

Always in the pre-dawn hours of the fifth day the ships would meet

14 Rumson Men Tendered Dinner

The 14 members of Oceanic Hook and Ladder company of Rumson who served with the armed forces were guests of the company at a dinner last Thursday night at Cedar Inn, Highlands. The event was attended by 125 persons and dancing was enjoyed after the dinner.

The guests of honor were Millard Aumack, Frank Balgent, Stephen Cook, Hyatt Cunningham, Joseph Desmond, Charles Hill, Jr., George Hallahan, Jr., Arthur Mellich, Ray McCue, Vincent Sexton, Edward Schultz, John Sammon and Frank Wyckoff.

All 14 took a bow at the dinner as Charles F. Briggs, company president and master of ceremonies, announced their names. Councilman J. Edward Wilson, who represented the borough council, gave a short talk, and remarks were also made by Arthur B. Sickles, president of the Fair Haven fire company. The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. James MacKenzie, fire department chaplain.

Charles Muegge was chairman of the dinner committee, assisted by Harry Collins and Andrew F. Zerr. The dinner marked the climax of a series of "welcome home" parties for the members of the company. These parties were given at the fire house every three months as the men returned home.

RUMMAGE SALE SATURDAY

Annual Angus Sale To Be Held Saturday

The 1947 eastern regional sale of purebred Aberdeen Angus cattle will be held at the state fair grounds, Trenton, Saturday. Six bulls and 72 cows consigned from the leading herds of Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey comprise the offering that will be shown and sold.

The judging, which will be done by Professor Don Kays of Ohio State university, will start promptly at 9 a. m. As soon as the judging has been completed, the sale of the cattle will take place. Animals of outstanding quality and type have been accepted and it is felt that this is the finest consignment ever offered in an eastern regional sale.

Monmouth county farms which have consigned cattle to the sale are Sunnyside farm, Everett; Stone Hill farm, Freehold, and the H. and L. farm, Marlboro.

Fair Haven Issues Building Permits Totalling $49,600

Building Boom Continues At Steady Pace

Within the past month building permits totalling $49,600 have been issued in Fair Haven, Frank Leslie, building inspector, reported to the mayor and council of that borough Monday night.

The permits are as follows: Knollwood Homes, Forrest avenue, building, $15,000; K. Ayra, Forrest avenue, building, $10,000; G. Brown, Harrison avenue, building, $10,000; Robert Van Brunt, 52 Chestnut street, building, $6,500; James LaBau, 771 River road, alterations, $2,500; M. Kreyns, 448 River road, alterations, $2,000; Mack's grocery store, alterations, $2,000; M. Muller, 661 River road, alterations, $900; and P. Caruso, 661 River road, alterations, $900.

On recommendation of Councilman Tony Hunting, the council authorized the installation of two fire hydrants, one at the corner of Hendrickson place and Church street, and the other in that vicinity. This will assure the installation of water mains to serve homes in that area. Referred to Mr. Hunting's committee for investigation was the request of John C. Carter for water mains and a street light on Maple avenue, between Third and Fifth streets. Mr. Carter said the situation was at its worst when there was "no moon, bad dogs and no light."

Mr. Carter also wanted the council to do something about the existence of a strip of land and one-half feet wide along the southern side of Jackson street owned by the Land & Loan company which blocks owners of property on Third street, one block to the south, from entering or leaving their premises in the rear by way of Jackson street. He said the cost of buying the narrow strip is $1 a foot. Theodore D. Parsons, attorney, advised the council that this was a matter concerning private property and that the borough is helpless to do anything about it.

Juvenile delinquency is giving the police department a lot of trouble, reported Councilman Arthur H. Riegan, chairman of the police committee. Of 13 complaints received by the police, 11 was in that category, he said. Many windows have been broken and walls of houses damaged, Mr. Riegan reported. The police arrested three hoodlums, he said, and they were held for the juvenile court.

An offer by James R. Walters of $100 for a lot on the northwest corner of Locust avenue and Elk street was rejected by the council as being too low. Councilman Peter Fitcher, chairman of the finance committee, said he is preparing a list of properties to be offered for sale by the borough.

Eatontown Aroused Over Army Proposal

Borough Fighting Move To Build On Country Club Site

Council Opposes Bridge Closing

Freeholders' Plan Hit By J. E. Carroll

Joseph E. Carroll of Silverdale avenue Tuesday night asked Little Silver mayor and council to oppose the county's proposed closing of the Gosseneck drawbridge to marine traffic. Claiming the freeholders' action caused a devaluation of property, Mr. Carroll urged the governing body to go on record in opposition to removing the bridge tenders on a 12-month basis.

Councilman Chester Apy volunteered to attend a public hearing on the matter, which was scheduled last night at Long Branch city hall. He was authorized to inform the board of Freeholders and the Army Engineers that tenders were desired between March and October.

Mr. Carroll and his son also asked council to take action to relieve the rough-riding condition of Silverdale avenue. Councilman Joseph Davidson stated, the matter would be cared for.

Jacob Schworer of Willow drive wrote the board complaining that rats were destroying his garage. He claimed the rats came from a chicken farm owned by Mrs. R. E. Herring and that objections he had made to her had not alleviated the condition. Borough Clerk Fred L. Ayers was instructed to inform Mr. Schworer that the council was powerless to act unless it could be shown that the rats were causing a health menace or a community nuisance.

Councilman E. Allaire Cornwell reported he was still attempting to secure lights in Sunnyside from Jersey Power and Light.

Councilman Davidson was directed by Mayor Frank Gregory to have his committee make a study of the drainage situation in Silverwhite Gardens.

Boy Scout Troop Is Reorganized

Middletown Group To Enlarge Membership

A membership drive was started at a recent father and son rally in charge of the troop committee, which includes Thomas M. Morford, chairman, R. C. Baird, George Claus and George T. Deane. The troop has been reorganized with the assistance of Thomas A. Elle, neighborhood commissioner, and Bobby Horster and James Reiley, Eagle and Life Scouts.

Troop members include Wally Miller, Morris Stemple, Irwin Bonick, Lewis Locker, Billy Danek, Thomas Birmingham, Joseph Baxter, James Blackman and John Robinson.

Students Visit Eisner Plant

Students of Red Bank Junior high school made three trips through the main buildings of the Sigmund Eisner company on Bridge avenue Tuesday, Thursday and Friday of last week. The tour was under the supervision of John Nierenberg and John Garruto of the personnel department, who were assigned the job by Robert Ebnor.

The boys and girls were first conducted through the cutting division, where the cloth is laid out and the patterns drawn. A trip was made through the quartermaster department, where the students saw the entire series of operations from the time the garment is in the rough stage until it is completed and ready for shipping. The students reported that the trip was a success and that the plant employees were helpful in explaining the methods of production.

Children Enjoy The Weekly Story Hour

Miss Esther Bower will be the story teller at the children's story hour Saturday morning, March 29, at the Red Bank free public library on West Front street. She will tell the following stories: "The Little Red Wagon," "George," "Henry's Lane Wagon," "Pig" and "The Elephant's Child."

The story hour, which is held each Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, is sponsored by the Red Bank group of the American Association of University Women in co-operation with the trustees of the Red Bank free public library. All children between the ages of four and eight are invited to come and listen to the stories.

Last Saturday a large number of children were present to listen to the stories told by Mrs. William L. Russell, Jr., Mrs. Warren A. Tyrrell, Mrs. C. Donald English and Mrs. J. T. Trimble assisted with the children.

Firemen's Fair At Tinton Falls May 31 To June 7

Will Be First Event Of Kind To Be Held By Fire Company

Tinton Falls fire company has decided to hold a fair Saturday, May 31, to Saturday, June 7, inclusive, on Lippman's field at the corner of Sycamore and Shrewsbury avenues in Shrewsbury township.

Thomas Calandriello has been named chairman of the fair committee which includes Leon Buckalew and Robert Scott. All the other members, together with the junior firemen and ladies' auxiliary, will assist at this first event of its kind ever held by this company.

The fair will be similar to those held by other fire departments, with various booths, ground prizes, a grand award and other attractions.

Receipts from the fair will be used to purchase fire hose and other needed equipment. The company bought a truck last year which is proving a valuable asset not only to the Tinton Falls community but also to neighboring places, where the firemen are ready at all times for emergency calls.

School Board Gives Teachers $500 Raise

All Teachers O. K.'d On Merit Rating—Increases For 1947-48 School Year

Reception Given Mrs. A. V. Holmes On 88th Birthday

Celebrant Greeted At Her Home By Many Friends, Relatives

Mrs. Amanda V. Holmes of 26 Broad street, Red Bank, celebrated her 88th birthday Saturday at a reception given in her honor by her two daughters, Mrs. H. Norman Hoyt of 41 Throckmorton avenue, and Mrs. O. Edwin Davis of 6 Garden road, Silverwhite Gardens.

The Red Bank board of education at a special session Tuesday night granted $500 raises to all teaching employees in the school system to be applied to the 1947-48 contracts. The contracts will be drawn up April 1.

The salary motion was based on a merit report compiled by Edwin C. Gilland, supervising principal. Under this system, Mr. Gilland found that all 96 teaching employees rated high enough for the raise.

The salary motion made by Jackson Murphy was worded, "That Mr. Gilland's report be accepted and that the increments be applied to teachers' contracts as of April 1." The raise is to be on top of the teachers' present contracts, but not on top of a $300 bonus recently issued. Originally the board announced the plan called for a bonus for 1946-47 to be made into a raise for 1947-48 plus an additional $200.

Under the motion, non-teaching employees were not included, so the board decided to discuss the matter at the next meeting after school officials have studied the matter and reported back to the board. There are 21 non-teaching employees.

Fred Brown and Edmund Canzona felt that a motion to grant the salaries was not necessary since at its last meeting the board had moved to grant salaries based on the report of Mr. Gilland. Mr. Brown said he was convinced that all the teachers in the system were all right and wanted to avoid any more "hashing over the matter."

Concerning salaries, Leo K. McKee, board president, reported that the special salary committee would present at the next meeting a comprehensive salary guide and make their report. The salary guide is expected to furnish the basis for future raises and set the maximum and minimum wages of school employees.

Paul Young reported that surveys by the State Highway department and the Red Bank police are under way at the corner of Shrewsbury avenue and River street to determine whether a gas station of the children attending the River street school. An application to operate a gas station there had been received from Dennis Arnone. After the surveys have been completed, the matter will be up for public hearing before the zoning board of adjustment.

Letters were received from Senators Albert W. Hawkes and H. Alexander Smith concerning federal tuition aid for pupils living on military reservations attending local schools. Mr. Young explained that the matter has been referred to Fort Monmouth and that the board could expect some action.

The board will meet tonight at the Willowbrook Inn at Fair Haven with members of the school boards of outlying districts to discuss problems of a regional school for this area. Several county and state educational experts are expected to attend.

Leroy Baker resigned as a teacher to take an army commission.

George V. Brown Will Not Run

Highlands Councilman Has Served 9 Years

George V. Brown, a member of Highlands borough council for the past nine years, announced this week that he would positively not run for re-election on the council. His term expires in December.

The councilman stated that if business this summer kept him in Highlands he would finish his term. However, there is a strong possibility he will have to resign. Mr. Brown, who is connected with the Willys agency at Freehold, has maintained a legal residence in Highlands and is eligible legally to serve on the council, though some claimed this was not the case.

Mr. Brown said he felt he has served on the council long enough and would like to give someone else a chance. He is chairman of the finance committee and headed borough action in the fight to obtain a new water plant.

State House Letter

One of the measures approved by the senate last week would permit paying of bounties of $10 by counties and $5 by municipalities for the killing of foxes. Senator John M. Sumner, Jr., (R-Salem), introduced the bill.

Another of the approved bills, this one introduced by Senator Mathis, fixes penalties of $20 for each violation for illegal taking of bass, trout, landlocked salmon, pike perch, pike and pickerel.

Senator C. Wesley Armstrong (R-Mercer) sponsored the third approved measure, which provides that gunners, in addition to fines to $200, forfeit licenses for wilfully destroying farmers' crops, stock, or other property on conviction of second offense.

Two dredging bills calling for $150,000, passed in the assembly last week despite the opposition led by Republican Essex county and Democratic Middlesex county. The bill provides for the following projects, if and when the legislature appropriates the needed funds: dredging of Metedeconk river at $30,000; and construction of a yacht basin in Raritan bay at a cost of $100,000.

Gov. Driscoll's $5,675,238 program to double state road aid to municipalities as passed by the assembly would yield minimum amounts of $200,000 to Hunterdon and Salem counties, and $253,352 to Monmouth, for redistribution to its cities.

Following affirmative action by the New Jersey and Delaware legislatures extending back two years, the War and Navy departments have approved the proposed construction of a toll bridge across the Delaware river.

The 1945 Delaware legislature authorized the construction by a bond issue of $25,000,000 to be financed through private interests and without any obligation to the state.

The New Jersey legislature, in a law signed March 14, 1946, authorized the acceptance of title to land in Salem county in the name of New Jersey for the construction, operation and maintenance by the State Highway Department of Delaware of a crossing "over or under" the Delaware river.

The crossing would be dedicated to the men and women of New Jersey and Delaware who gave their lives in the last war.

The eastern terminus, according to the New Jersey law, would be at or near the southern bank of the Salem canal, south of Penn's Grove, Wilmington, Delaware, is to be the western terminus.

An indication that the new Saturday bank holiday law in New Jersey was not satisfactory was given in reports by sources close to Gov. Driscoll. These reports were to the effect that a bill permitting banks in the state to resume full operation on Saturdays was being prepared to replace the existing law, which allows banks to open their doors but does not permit them to accept or protest notes, checks and bills.

Many of the banks are said to have informed their clients that they could not stay open Saturdays because of the limited operations authorized by law.

The sources close to the governor said that Saturday bank closing laws in other states were being studied, and that Driscoll feels that the New York statute, which permits full banking functions by institutions staying open, was preferable to the present New Jersey law.

Discussing the Saturday banking holiday law, Driscoll said, "It is too early to form a valid judgment on the operation of this experiment, but it is still an experiment and the whole subject is being carefully studied."

The current law prohibits the presenting for payment or acceptance, and of the protesting and giving notice of dishonor, of bills of exchange, bank checks, and promissory notes on Saturdays.

The word "acrobat" derives from Greek words meaning to go on tip-toe.

MRS. WILLIAM H. CONOVER

Miss Dorothy Hickey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hickey of McLaren street, and William H. Conover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Conover of South street, were married Saturday afternoon at the Red Bank Methodist church. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Roger J. Squire, pastor.

The church was decorated with pink tulips, pink snapdragons and other spring flowers and palms. Harold Switzer was organist, and Ronald Clark, soloist. A reception followed at the Molly Pitcher hotel.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her white satin gown was designed with a yoke of heirloom rose point lace, and her full length illusion veil fell from a cap of rose point lace. She carried calla lilies.

Miss Florence C. Hickey was maid of honor for her sister. Her gown of pink cameo marquisette was styled with a bustle back. Miss Helen T. Salak of Eatontown, a bridesmaid, wore a similar gown in aqua. Both had maline hats, matching the shade of their gowns, and their bouquets were of American beauty roses.

Raymond D. Garside, Jr., of Little Silver, was best man. The ushers were Joseph C. Valleau of Red Bank, Richard F. Dougherty, Fair Haven, a cousin of the bride, and

Review Given Of State Meeting

DAR Activities Praised By Governor

Reports of the annual state conference of the Daughters of American Revolution, held last week in Trenton, were given at a meeting of Monmouth chapter, D. A. R., Thursday at the home of Mrs. Kenneth F. Dietz, Shady lane, Shrewsbury. The report was given by Mrs. William Thompson, chapter delegate.

Mrs. Thompson pointed out that Gov. Driscoll, one of the prominent speakers, congratulated the society on "their fine Americanization work with new citizens in this state," and asked that they keep up this project. Gov. Driscoll also said "Such organizations as the D. A. R., rich in heritage of our country's background, play a great part in upholding our traditions. In finding one world of tomorrow we must secure a means of unity here, and I call upon you to help this nation take its place among the family of nations."

Three good citizenship pilgrims who were chapter guests at the conference were Misses Helen Gare, Carolyn Wilson and Elizabeth Randall. These girls will be guests at the chapter meeting in April.

The chapter endorsed the resolutions made at the state conference, including one calling upon federal and state civil services not only to refuse to employ Communists but to separate from the public payrolls any Communist who may now be in governmental employ.

Plans were also discussed for a bus trip to historic places in the New Castle, Dela., areas in June. Attending were Mrs. William A. Wirth, Mrs. Edwin Roche, Mrs. L. W. Cohen, Miss Jeanette Wirth and Robert Schanck, guests, and Mrs. Bruce W. Campbell, Mrs. H. Gertrude Capen, Mrs. Frank Dibben, Mrs. George Hess, Mrs. Charles Hough, Mrs. J. E. Howland, Mrs. J. Spann Jeffers, Mrs. Guy L. Quinn, Mrs. Vernon W. Rose, Mrs. Jacob B. Rue, Sr., Mrs. Jacob B. Rue, Jr., Mrs. Paul T. Ryder, Mrs. William H. Ryder, Mrs. William E. Schanck, Mrs. H. B. Sherman, Mrs. Ernest M. Swingle, Mrs. Minor B. Tilton, Miss M. L. Terhune and Miss Ruth Dibben, chapter members.

Lincroft

Mrs. Charles Monford of Springfield visited Mrs. Charles Lum Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chew of Clayton spent Sunday with St. George and Mrs. William Norwick. Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. John Lawler and son John of Easton.

Repairs are being made on the Leslie Stewart residence, which was damaged by fire several weeks ago.

The Ladies' Aid society of Lincroft chapel will meet next Thursday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Stanley Stillwell in Everett.

New members of Mrs. Charles Conover's class in Sunday-school are Patricia Walling and Betty and Sandra Hamernick of Phalanx.

Miss Fairlie Frazer of Brooklyn spent the week-end with Miss June Johnson.

Mrs. J. Frederick Johnson is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Frank Toop, St., and Mrs. George Cotton of Fair Haven attended the flower show at New York city Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horgel, Jr., of Short Hills were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner C. Klein.

Mr. and Mrs. Dante Davello gave a birthday party Monday afternoon at Lincroft inn for their daughter Betty, who was six years old. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served. Those attending were Rose Marie Braun, Deanna Mauser, Marilyn Corson, Susan Toop, Janet Cresswick, Ver-supply vessels at a rendezvous point, message its requirements and take on supplies while the ships were in motion, moving at speeds up to 17 knots. When replacement aircraft were needed, it was necessary that a plane fly over the command supply ship and drop written orders in a tube on that ship's deck. Although pilots handling such orders carried five message tubes, there was one pilot who was so accurate he always managed to drop his tube on deck on the first try, said Layton.

Trinity Fellowship Hears Naval Epic

What this master job of supply meant was illustrated by the speaker in showing what the Yorktown itself normally took aboard. Among other things were 3,000,000 gallons of fuel oil and 375,000 gallons of motor gasoline for the aircraft, through extension tubes passed between the moving ships.

From start to finish, and the end was Japan's August 14 surrender, Layton said, the attack cruise lasted 85 days. That the men always were well fed was told by Layton's August 14 breakfast of tenderloin steak and eggs. In 50 days, he said, the more than 3,000 men on the Yorktown ate 380,000 fresh eggs.

During this time, with the 140-ship armada split into four groups, a combination of blows was struck. Ships moved in to shell Japan's home islands. Some 1,500 carrier planes lashed the Tokyo area July 17. Only two days earlier battleships had bombarded Muroran, Hokaido. On July 18, Kure, Honshu, with its great war plants, and the hidden Japanese Navy at Yokosuka were the targets. On July 24 carrier planes wrecked 25 enemy warships at Kure on the inland sea.

On the next day, ships moved in to shell the Kuremoto, Honshu, sea-plane and land plane base. The Kure-Kobe area was smashed July 28 and ships on July 30 shelled Hamamatsu, while 60 different target areas were heavily assaulted from Tokyo to Kyushu by carrier planes.

And so it went, until atomic blasts soon after ended the war.

During the entire series of assaults, the fleet under Halsey became the mythical fifth under Admiral Marc Mitscher. This was done "on paper" to puzzle the terrified enemy. From these operations, Layton said, can be imagined the overwhelming job of naval supply.

The Yorktown's heaviest day of loss, he said, occurred after the war was over, August 15, when the Japanese shot down four American planes of the ship's group.

Layton also gave other interesting information concerning naval arms during the latter part of the war, involving among other things difficulties that were met in the use of the "influence" or "proximity" fuses, designed to cause a bomb's explosion before the missile contacted its target, and the folding wings of the carrier planes.

Blades in the proximity fuses rotors were prevented from turning by an arming wire that passed through them, he said. On occasion this wire would become disengaged and at least once air shot up into a plane's bomb and started the rotor to turn, setting off the bomb and destroying the plane.

Once a folding wing of a carrier fighter failed to retract properly and set off 50 calibre machine gun fire that moved the wing back and forth as it sprayed a ship's deck, killing personnel and damaging the vessel.

Layton, who had been trained at various stations in the eastern and mid-western United States, said it cost $40,000 to instruct each naval aviator, and that only the best men were accepted under the rigid training program. He finished his war service as a lieutenant commander.

Eatontown Aroused Over Army Plans

property. They immediately filed a protest with the commanding officer at the fort, and also at Washington. Interviews were held and many conferences followed. Later Attorney Roberts filed a brief with the authorities at Washington. The borough based its claim on several grounds.

The local authorities felt that enough territory had been taken out of the borough for the extension of the fort grounds. When defense preparations started early in 1940, the first thing done was the taking of a large part of the old Monmouth Park race track property, which the borough had taken over for taxes, and which the borough proposed to sell for housing locations. Later another large section of the same tract was taken by the fort authorities, this time several people having to vacate their homes. The borough claimed that in view of the fact that the government had taken one of the key development tracts in the borough, the municipality had been penalized enough without taking the Country club property.

The officials claimed it was not only taking property that furnished a goodly percentage of the tax revenues of the borough but also cut down the possibility of future development of building in the borough.

Another strong argument was that it was very bad to add more territory to the fort grounds which were entirely separate from the main reservation. They claimed that travel between the two portions added to the traffic problem of the borough, especially at the corner of state highway 35 and Tinton avenue, on which the Country club property is situated. They even showed the traffic count of the State Highway department for 14 days from September 16 to September 20, 1940, after the close of the summer season, which recorded 171,802 cars, with an average daily volume of 12,250 cars per day, and on one day, during the time between 4 p. m. and 5 p. m., the one hour volume was 1,316. This is one car every three seconds.

Their brief contained ten reasons why the property should not be taken. Later a hearing was scheduled before Gen. Somerville at Washington, which was attended by former Mayor Robert H. Higginson and Councilmen Green and Malda and Attorney Roberts, but from the time of fixing of the date for the hearing and the trip to Washington, Harbor had happened and, of course, little attention was given to the arguments of the borough. The army immediately took the Country club property, which has only been used as a golf course by the army officers.

Learning from officers that the golf club was little used, Mayor Harry S. Rowland and the council, in February of this year, directed Attorney Roberts to open negotiations with Congressman Auchincloss, asking that the property be declared as "surplus property," and sold to private ownership and put back on the tax duplicate. The old arguments originally presented in 1941 were revived, with many new ones.

Congressman Auchincloss received a letter as follows: viz: Hon. James C. Auchincloss, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Auchincloss: The Secretary of War has asked this division to acknowledge your letter of February 20, 1947, and inclosures, concerning property formerly owned by the Monmouth County Country club, which was acquired by the army at Fort Monmouth, and is now being used as a golf club for officers of the post.

This matter is now under investigation, and just as soon as a report has been received, you will be advised.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) John C. Pitchford, Colonel, GSC.

What makes the people of the borough more indignant is the fact that although as early as February, Col. Pitchford of the army promised that an investigation of the request would be made, almost a month later they were opening bids for the buildings, without giving any intimation to the borough authorities of their plans.

People seem astounded to think that with the great expansion during the war years no building was done, and now that the personnel of the fort is being constantly reduced, the army comes out with such an elaborate building program.

Veterans' organizations also can not understand that with the great housing shortage and scarcity of building material and labor, why the army should enter into the project of constructing some 30 to 40 officers' mansions at a cost of over a million dollars, when they cannot get a modest two or three-room apartment or house.

People of the borough are urging everyone to send a telegram of protest to Hon. Robert C. Patterson, Secretary of War, and to Congressman James C. Auchincloss.

ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Mrs. Josephine C. Buys of Union Beach announced the engagement of her daughter, Miriam Dollee, to Cornell Ellison, son of Edward Ellison of Middletown, and the late Mrs. Ellison. Miss Buys is a graduate of Keyport high school, and the Barblizon school of modelling in New York city. She is at present employed by the telephone company at Keyport. ## MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Letter Describes Work In Germany

The work being done by the American Red Cross in Germany has been described by Mrs. John MacMillan of Fair Haven, who is now living in Germany with her husband, an officer with the Army of Occupation. Her letter was sent to Mrs. William Heatley of California, who is visiting relatives at Little Silver.

Mrs. MacMillan is the former Miss Grace Getty of Little Silver, daughter of Mrs. W. J. T. Getty of Red Bank. Before leaving for Germany she was a volunteer in the public relations set-up of the Red Cross chapter.

Mrs. MacMillan's letter, was given to The Register by Mrs. Hazel N. Ford, chairman of the Red Bank branch of the Red Cross, which is now conducting its annual fund campaign. The following paragraph in the letter is printed below:

"We're only ten miles northwest of Nuremberg, where our commissary is, and about 60 miles from Czechoslovakia. The Red Cross wants volunteer chaperones for trips, so I've put my name down. There is a staff of three here, recreation workers, and the club is super and clean. The first floor has a snack bar and many tables with tablecloths and flowers. The second floor has the game room, writing room and lounge with a fireplace. The third floor is being made into reading rooms, music rooms and a library. Take great pride in what a good job Red Cross is doing here and the workers are swell. Two of them have had three years' overseas service and know their stuff."

Democratic Mayor Backs Republican

Mayor Sidney J. Beers, a Democrat of Oceanport, whose fourth successive term expires next January 1, announced Friday he would not run again but will support the nomination of Councilman C. Kenneth Riddle, Republican, for the mayoralty.

The mayor has been an official of his home borough since 1924 when he was appointed to the board of health and as overseer of the poor. Mr. Riddle has served on the council since 1937 and his present term expires in 1948. He has been chairman of the police committee and a member of the board of education for eight years.

Poetry

THE TREE

In the summer she's tall and beautiful,
Her arms spread out with pride,
And her perfume's the smell of heaven
Because her heart is warm inside.

In the fall she's just as beautiful,
For she's turned a golden-red,
But she feels a little lonely
While her leaves begin to shed.

In the winter she starts to glow again,
When she wears her icicle dress,
She looks like a priceless jewel,
With such beauty and finesse.

The spring she's more than lovely,
For she buds with pride and joy,
And soon her mate beside her
Another season they will enjoy.

IMAGINATION

I think that I would like to be
The towering "Statue of Liberty,"
Who watches all the countryside,
And lights the heavens far and wide.

DREAMING

All day long I sit and watch
The trees nod to and fro;
I listen to the leaves they sing,
The songs I long to know.

But now the sun is setting,
And the creatures silent, now to sleep,
I hear the flowing water still,
As the night and clouds begin to creep.

Examine Southern Cabbage Plants
Early cabbage plants grown in the South and shipped into New Jersey should be carefully examined for cabbage aphids, warns County Agent Clark. Examine the undersides of the leaves, and if aphids are noticed, these plants should be treated before they are set into the field.

The treatment recommended by the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment station is to dip the leaves only in a mixture of one tablespoonful of nicotine sulphate and two tablespoons of a good laundry soap, stirred into one gallon of water. A thorough dipping of the leaves only in this material will kill the aphids. Dusting the plants with a 4% nicotine dust at a temperature of 70 degrees or above is also effective. If the temperature is under 70 degrees, then resort to the liquid dip. Control measures practiced before the plants are set into the field are cheaper than trying to kill the aphids after the plants have been field planted.

Often Better to Grow Alfalfa in Mixtures

Many farmers have found it pays to grow alfalfa and grass mixtures, rather than alfalfa in a straight seeding, according to Carlton S. Garrison, extension specialist in farm crops, college of agriculture, Rutgers university.

Some reasons why it is better to seed alfalfa in a mixture, according to Garrison, are:

The productive period of the field is prolonged. As the alfalfa thins out the grass often takes over.

Grass helps prevent winter heaving of alfalfa by providing a protective mulch.

Good mixtures yield about the same as alfalfa alone.

Alfalfa grown with a grass has an effect similar to that of fertilizing the grass with nitrogen.

Growth, vigor and protein content of the grass are increased by this favorable association.

The chance of getting a full stand of hay is increased, as thin spots will be occupied by the grass.

Erosion dangers are lessened by the denser soil coverage provided by the grass.

The weed problem is less.

The grass hastens curing in making hay.

More information on growing alfalfa in New Jersey is given in New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station Bulletin 718, which is available free through the county agricultural agent's office.

Sow Clover On Resting Land

Vegetable growers who have land they don't intend to farm in 1947 might consider sowing clover in late winter to let the crop occupy the land for a year. A clover sod plowed down for a 1948 cash crop should help the land a lot, says County Agent Clark.

H. R. Cox of Rutgers offers these further recommendations:

"If the field is now in a rye or wheat cover crop, the clover seed could be broadcast in March. Later freezing and thawing will generally cover the seed. But if the soil is very sandy, better scratch in the seed lightly with a weeder or spike tooth harrow right after sowing. When the rye or wheat gets about a foot high, clip the cover crop and let the mowings lie.

"Alaske clover, at the rate of about five pounds per acre, is a suitable seeding for this purpose. Seed can be sown a little more evenly if it is first mixed with several times its volume, with fine cracked corn."

Feed Chicks Both Mash and Grain

Feed some scratch grain and some mash to start baby chicks, is the advice of Richard O. Rice, associate agricultural agent.

Rice comments on the interest shown in recent years in starting chicks on scratch grain alone. This method, it is claimed, eliminates much of the "pasting up" or fouling of feathers around the vent of the chick that often appears when chicks are started on mash.

"It is quite possible that a combination of the two feeding systems will give best results," says L. M. Black, Rutgers poultry expert. Most vitamins and other essentials the chick needs for a good start are contained in the starter mash, and it is a mistake to keep chicks from a mash diet too long.

Miss Bennett was graduated from Middletown township high school and Trenton State Teachers' college. At college she was kindergarten teacher in the Chatham school system.

Mr. Stromenger attended Summit high school, Admiral Farragut academy at Toms River and Pace Institute, New York city. He was recently discharged from the army after two and one-half years' service. He is employed by the Woolworth company in New York city.

Armstrong Company Gives Awards

Presentation of service awards to employees of the Keyport plant of Armstrong Cork company were made last week in the Keyport grammar school auditorium. Thomas M. Anderson, local manager, was master of ceremonies and the presentations were made by J. H. Loudon, production manager of the gas and closure division of the Lancaster office.

Awards were presented to Oscar Berges, 45 years; Joseph Corcione, 25 years; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brinser, Robert Rothwell, retired, and Peter Titus, 20 years; Mrs. Anna Lehman, Thomas M. Anderson and Clarence Haupt, 15 years, and Mrs. Hilda McLeod, ten years. A 25-year certificate was also presented to Mrs. Corcione.

Following the presentations a musical program was given by the Corkers quartet of the Armstrong male chorus, and refreshments were served.

The Hawaiian islands cover 6,434 square miles.

State House Letter

Trenton (AP) Youth has been in the limelight in the Legislature. The state Senate took what was described as a "tremendous step forward" in the battle against juvenile delinquency, and the state Assembly was thrown into an uproar over the adoption of a resolution welcoming an alleged "Communist front" youth group to the legislative floors.

The "tremendous step" was the passage of a bill providing for the formation of municipal youth guidance councils. Senator David S. VanAlstyne (R-Bergen), sponsor of the measure, termed it "a pioneer effort to get at the problem of juvenile delinquency at the local level."

The bill, which has to have the Senate's approval before it becomes a law, would allow mayors and councils of municipalities to create a seven-man guidance council to coordinate efforts of groups in communities to combat the problem.

Assemblyman T. James Tumulty (D-Hudson) fired the volley that caused the Assembly to reconsider its resolution welcoming members of the American Youth for Democracy.

Tumulty, after the welcoming resolution was passed, made a hurried trip to the Trenton YMCA, where the AYD was sponsoring a "Youth Legislature." Tumulty returned waving a copy of the "Youth Legislature" agenda, which contained songs like "Wave Scarlet Banner."

"This is the way," Tumulty declared, "Communists have made headway all over the world. They refused to identify themselves clearly and fooled Mr. Griffiths into sponsoring them in the halls of the Assembly. We have been tricked and fooled, all of us, into endorsing these Communists by the effect of our resolution of welcome, which did not contain the name of their organization."

A bill introduced by Senator Hayden Proctor (R-Monmouth), would allow a county prosecutor to apply to a common pleas judge for a life sentence for any person judged to have committed three previous offenses in this or other states. Further, if a person convicted denies he is the person previously convicted, a jury may be impaneled to decide on his identity. Proctor said the measure was an aftermath of the conviction of Lawrence Janiec, shore "cat burglar," as a habitual criminal after his Monmouth county jailbreak and subsequent recapture at Brookline, Mass. Janiec refused to talk on previous convictions.

RECEIVES $1,600

A suit for personal injuries, brought by John Cevasco of Matawan against Emilio Ricci, also of Matawan, was settled for $1,600 Tuesday of last week before trial at Freehold.

Mr. Cevasco suffered a fractured leg when he was struck by a truck operated by Mr. Ricci January 1, 1944, on Church road, Matawan.

The settlement was effected between Robert H. Malda of the law firm of Parsons, Labrecque, Canzona & Combs of Red Bank, attorneys for Mr. Cevasco, and J. Victor Carlton, who appeared for Mr. Ricci.

River Plaza Girl To Be June Bride

Mrs. and Mrs. Luke Gordaychik of River Plaza announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Gordaychik, to Frank F. Koptonak, son of Mrs. Andrew Lutsky of Colchester, Conn. A June wedding is planned.

Miss Gordaychik is employed as a secretary by Bally Brothers, Studebaker agency in Red Bank. Mr. Koptonak is a graduate of the University of Indiana, and attended Lowell Institute under the auspices of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Northeastern university as a mechanical engineer at Watson laboratories.

Advertising Men Address Students

Business and advertising students of Monmouth Junior college, Long Branch, were addressed Monday night by two speakers from the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers association, at a special session at the college.

Two color slide presentations devised by the bureau, "The Daily Newspaper" and "Public Opinion Is Local," were shown by L. Alven Bennett of Lincoln, field representative of the bureau's national staff. William G. Bell, the bureau's research director and a resident of Long Branch, discussed "Market Research and Distribution."

Matawan Orator Finishes Fourth

The tenth annual national high school American Legion oratorical contest for the state Thursday night at Stacy Park, Trenton, was won by Mary J. Erdman of Hasbrouck Heights high school. Second was Richard A. Hampton of Frenchtown high school, third was Louis Fink of Woodbury high school and fourth was John Kahn of Matawan high school. Leon Trusty of Bridgeton high school was fifth and sixth was Robert James of South Side high school, Newark.

First prize was a gold medal, a $100 check, a $50 war bond and a full scholarship to New Jersey College for Women. Dr. Samuel A. Loveman of Toms River, state commander, and Carl E. Bremer, grand chef de gare of the 40 and 8, presented the awards. The Harold G. Hoffman trophy went to Hasbrouck Heights high school. J. Russell Woolley, Jr., of West Long Branch post was the Monmouth county chairman.

It's Your Buick - but our Sweetheart

LOOK AT YOUR BUICK everyone else does

Your Buick has lines and style that win wolf calls. Are you keeping it smart and handsome as it should be? Are you protecting its good looks, its luster and color?

There's a way to do it that Buick engineers say is right. It's called Porcelainizing. This is a powerful buffed finish that gives a smooth glaze to the body paint, sealing the pores and protecting the surface against road grime and dirt.

That's the way we do it here. Try it. See how it keeps a new car lustrous longer - how it gives older ones a new lease on good looks.

Styles Of Long Ago

The Monmouth County Historical Association exhibition of 18th century costumes is one of the most popular ever shown at the museum in Freehold.

Not only are the costumes amusing but many are beautiful and, with only a few exceptions, were the dress of our Monmouth county forebears. From Quaker costume to ball dresses, from uniforms to wedding coats and embroidered vests, baby clothes and children's clothes, not to mention the cases of accessories, they faithfully portray a gracious side of life here in our Monmouth towns for over 100 years.

The costumes have been collected from all over the county and on display is one from the wedding trousseau of Fransinthy Forman Rue, given to the museum by Miss Eleanor P. Rue. Maj. Arthur B. VanBuskirk of Keyport has lent the wedding coat of his great great-uncle, and Miss Josephine A. Brown, also of Keyport, has given a dress of Susanna Ruzau Brown of the period of about 1800. Mrs. Joseph A. Yard of Freehold has lent a dress of the Civil War period, and Miss Lydia Parker, also of Freehold, is exhibiting a dress dating from 1830-40. A "gay '90's" dress has been contributed by Mrs. Harold McDermott of Freehold.

Miss Julie B. Fouché of Toms River has contributed several of the 1880's, and Mrs. C. S. Lippincott of Red Bank, a uniform of 1812. A christening robe and accessories from 1903, made for Arthur Gibbs of Rumson, are also on display.

Many of the costumes are shown at the museum in the Washington room, where there is also an exhibit a desk made in Monmouth county by Fenwick Lyle. Mr. Lyle's picture is on top of the desk, which contains old account books of the maker, proving the authenticity of his works.

This exhibition, like all the others at the museum, is educational as well as enjoyable. The Monmouth County Historical Association is a non-profit corporation sustained through membership and voluntary contributions. The association is launching a drive during April and May for membership and funds. The board of directors points out that it is necessary to raise these funds to sustain the institution at its present level of efficiency. The constantly changing exhibitions and educational programs at the museum are outstanding and offer an unusual opportunity not only to the county and schools but to the whole state. One proof of this is the ever-increasing number of visitors and school classes visiting the museum, and the students working for advanced degrees who use the library for research. The directors feel the wholehearted support of the citizens of the county is well deserved and earnestly desired.

Clan Montgomery Initiates 6 Members

The election of officers and acceptance of six new members featured the last meeting of Clan Montgomery, held in Veterans' hall, Union Beach, with George Scott, Sr., of East Keansburg, chief, presiding.

Officers had been elected at the February 8 institution ceremonies of the clan but as the term expires in April a second election had to be held. All present officers were re-elected. The only changes made in the officer set-up were the election of Stanley MacIntosh of Little Silver as piper and George Anderson, Jr., of Union Beach as senior henchman.

New members initiated were Peter A. Laidlaw of West Keansburg, James A. Sime of Keansburg, James Bryce of East Keansburg, B. Munn Craig of Keyport and William Craig and James Hope of Union Beach.

The clansmen agreed to accept the letter from Lady Jean MacCorquodale lodge, Daughters of Nova Scotia, in becoming affiliated with Clan Montgomery.

A Bible was received from John Robertson, trustee, and dedicated in memory of his own father and also his wife's father.

The clan held its first social affair since its institution Saturday night in Balbach's auditorium, Keansburg, when an inauguration dance was conducted with John Hughes, pianist, in charge.

Church Leases Legion Hall

Rev. J. Hillman Coffey, pastor of the Highlands Methodist church, announced Tuesday night that the congregation has leased for six months the former American Legion home on Bay avenue owned by Arthur Coberg. The Methodist church was destroyed by fire recently.

At the borough council meeting last week, Councilman Louis Loder, Jr., urged removal of the standing church walls, claiming they caused a dangerous threat. The south wall of the church has already collapsed, the councilman said, and the east wall, which faces Bay avenue, could cause considerable damage.

CUSHION SHOULDER OF LAMB
—PINEAPPLE STUFFING
Have a square-cut lamb shoulder boned and sewed on two sides. This leaves one side open for inserting stuffing. Season the shoulder, outside and inside, with salt and pepper.

Make pineapple stuffing. Fill the pocket in the roast with the stuffing. Sew or skewer edges together. Place roast, fat side up, on a rack in an open pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300 F.) until done. Allow about 40 minutes per pound for roasting. Serves 8 to 10.

PINEAPPLE STUFFING
3 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 cups soft bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple

VEAL OUTLET EN CASSEROLE
Veal steak
Salt to season
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/4 cup tomato catsup
1/4 cup buttered crumbs

Have veal steak cut 2 inches thick. Rub with salt and pepper and place in shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with the lemon juice and spread with the tomato catsup. Cover with buttered crumbs. Add a little water, cover and cook in slow oven for 1 1/2 hours, removing cover the last 15 minutes to brown. Serves 3 to 4.

HAWAIIAN PORK CHOPS
6 pork chops cut 1 1/2 inches thick
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
Salt and pepper
6 slices pineapple
1/4 cup water

Dredge pork chops with flour and brown on both sides in lard or drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Place a pineapple slice on top of each chop. Add 1/4 cup water, cover tightly and cook very slowly until done, about 45 minutes. Serves six.

Novel Spice Ice Cream Comes Rich With Raisins

This wonderfully new ice cream glows darkly with fine spice and flecks of sunny tasting raisins. To make this taste treat just add a drifling of nutmeg, cinnamon, and clove, along with a handful of chopped seedless raisins to your own favorite refrigerator vanilla ice cream, or see recipe below.

Sipping an icy sherbet, cooling the tongue with a frosted custard, has been a longtime favorite table sport of eating man. Since the first epicure spilled fruit juice on snow and savored its subtle pleasures, man has sought new ways to capture his pet flavors in icy crystals.

And yet it still appears that, despite centuries of taste research, new blends remain to be discovered. For across our desk today came a stunning, fresh idea—Raisin Spice Ice Cream. It seems curious that this dish wasn't put on the market long ago. For raisins are as old as time. And spices must have captured man's fancy in the Garden of Eden. But apparently it took those modern lady wizards of the kitchen, our clever home economists, to come up with this bright new one.

The first frozen desserts were simple sherbets. Caesar was said to have teams of relay runners whose sole duty was to rush Alpine snow, flavored by different essences, to his town banquet table. Many a Roman gourmet cooled his hepped-up palate with soothing frosted syrups in those days. After the fall of Rome, fine eating went into an eclipse, though in Italy good cooking never quite went out of style. While medieval Europe was tearing bones apart with its fingers and sating its taste buds with high-spiced sauces, the Italians were still bringing sherbets to their sophisticated tables.

In 1533 a Good Neighbor Policy married Catherine de Medici to Henry II of France. And Italian Catherine took along a retinue of cooks. Soon every toney table was serving sherbet and Europe's caloused palate was being cooled, soothed, and made keen and sensitive again. Not long after, a dual chef invented ice cream; and when the French Revolution forced these kitchen artists into exile, they set up ice cream parlors wherever they went.

In America ice cream took a firm hold on the public palate. Dolly Madison introduced it to the White House. It appeared on holiday dinner tables, at state affairs and community soirees. By 1828 a New York paper reported, "I scream for Ice Cream" as a familiar cry of street vendors on a sweltering day.

INDIVIDUAL SWISS STEAKS

1 round steak, 1 inch thick
1/4 cup enriched flour
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Lard or bacon drippings
1 onion, sliced
2 cups tomatoes

Cut round steak into individual servings. Pound seasoned flour into steaks. Brown in lard or bacon drippings. Place a slice of onion on each steak and add tomatoes. Cover and cook in a slow oven (300 F.) for 1 1/2 hours, or until tender. Serves 4 to 6.

SOUP CREAM VEAL LOAF

2 pounds ground veal
1 small onion, finely chopped
2 uncooked carrots, ground
Salt and pepper
1/4 cup sour cream

Combine ground veal, finely chopped onion and carrots. Season with salt and pepper. Moisten with sour cream and pack into a loaf pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 F.) until done, about 1 1/2 hours. Serves six.

Fried tomatoes will taste better and keep the juices in if you dip each slice into egg and then into dry bread crumbs before frying.

Matawan

Channing Clapp spoke at a meeting of the Farmingdale Kiwanis club recently. His subject was "Adventures in Carborundum."

Mr. and Mrs. William Kemp and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Channing Clapp Sunday, March 16. William Kemp has returned from a week's convention at the Hotel Ambassador, New York City.

At the Monday meeting of the Matawan Woman's club the Brownies, Girl Scouts and Mariners entertained in honor of Juliet Low, founder of the Girl Scouts. The program consisted of songs, dances, knot demonstrations and skits about foreign countries, where Girl Scouts are active. Refreshments were served by the Girl Scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip P. Munning of Notre Dame, Ind., are the parents of a daughter, Mary Anne, born March 7, at St. Joseph's hospital, South Bend, Ind. Mrs. Munning is the former Miss Eileen Feistel of Union Beach. Mr. Munning was a former Matawan resident, now a student at Notre Dame university.

A daughter was born Tuesday, March 11, at Monmouth Memorial hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baer of Matawan. Refreshments were served by the Girl Scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. George N. Wilson and family have moved from Middlesex street to their new home on Ravine drive.

Mrs. Harry Bolte has returned to her home on Main street from the Perth Amboy General hospital, where she was a pneumonia patient.

George Tunnington of Atlantic avenue has returned to his home from Hazard hospital, where he was a surgical patient.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett McKee and Mrs. Joseph Baier were guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Horley in Perth Amboy on Friday.

Mrs. Koert Wyckoff and daughter Eleanor attended the flower show in Grand Central palace, New York, Tuesday of last week.

Sunday, March 16, Joseph Nuccio, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Nuccio, was baptized at St. Joseph's church by Mgr. John P. Burke. The sponsors were Mrs. Madeline DeGuccis of Union City and Michael Eovino of Matawan.

Mrs. Phoebe A. Ziegler, Evelyn, Richard and Paul Ziegler and Mrs. Thomas Walling attended the opening of the flower show at Grand Central Palace Monday, March 17. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Nuccio entertained at dinner Sunday, March 16. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John DeGuccis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nuccio and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Eovino.

Mrs. Grace Curran was a dinner guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert Wallace of Keyport, Sunday, March 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Hobrough have returned to their home after spending three months with Mrs. Hobrough's mother, Mrs. P. Johnson, Highland Park, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elfert of R.F.D. No. 1, are the parents of a son, born at Perth Amboy General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Klatt of Newark, who have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Klatt of Main street, have returned home. Myron B. Diggins, president of the board of education, has named committee chairmen for the school year 1947-48 as follows: Franklin S. Anderson, chairman finance committee; Mrs. Naomi Wieland, teachers; Fred Kortenhans, textbooks and supplies; Laurence Lemarie, public and school relations; Clifford Reeves, medical; John Lyle, athletics; Frank Carraciola, transportation.

Garrett McKee, Jr., was a weekend guest of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKee of East Orange.

The borough's fire department was called twice Thursday, March 13, to extinguish grass fires which threatened damage to property. A call shortly after 2 p. m. took the firemen to Franklin street, where flames threatened to spread to the residence of Thomas Koopman on Lake Lefferts. The second alarm at 4 o'clock called the apparatus again to Middlesex street, where flames from a grass fire were threatening the Arno Kalma home. Both were extinguished in short order without property damage.

Miss Mary Myers of East Orange was an overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. McKee Friday, March 14.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Sampson of Woodbury were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baier Sunday, March 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rice of Valley drive are parents of a daughter, born Friday, March 14, at Monmouth Memorial hospital.

Fruit Growers Form Institute

John Hendrickson, Jr., Elected Trustee

Designed to "play an important part in the future development and welfare of the apple industry," the New Jersey Apple Institute was organized this week as a non-profit corporation by a group of prominent fruit growers.

Incorporators were C. William Haines, Masonville; Morris April, Bridgeton; Clinton Carrough, Allendale; Thomas S. DeCou, Haddonfield; Tunis Denise, Freehold; John L. Hendrickson, Jr., Middletown; and C. B. Lewis, Riverton. The incorporators were elected as trustees for the ensuing year.

At an organization meeting of the board of trustees at Camden Tuesday, Mr. Haines was elected president, Mr. Carrough named vice president, Mr. Hendrickson, treasurer and Arthur J. Farley of New Brunswick, secretary.

Mr. Haines declared that objectives of the New Jersey Apple Institute are: "The propagation, sale and distribution of new varieties of apples, the promotion of New Jersey apples and the general improvement of the industry through research, better grades and greater efficiency in production, harvesting, packing and marketing."

The institute consists of 25 members, nominated by the president of the State Horticultural society for five-year terms. Seven trustees elected at the annual meeting have power to make such rules and regulations as in their judgment shall be for the best interests of the institute. Standing committees on propagation, promotion and research have been authorized by the trustees.

Haines explained that the institute will replace the apple industry committee of the State Horticultural society. It will do the same things for apple growers that the New Jersey Peach council does for peach growers.

Members for 1947, in addition to those already named, include: Henry H. Albertson, Burlington; Leslie N. Applegate, Freehold; Carroll W. Barclay, Jr., Scotchville; John Barclay, Cranbury; Robert C. Brooks, Moorestown; Charles A. Collins, Moorestown; Kenneth Davis, Burlington; Ralph Earl, Morristown; R. M. Marlatt, Port Murray; Russell Mount, Princeton; Ernest S. Race, Jr., Belvidere; Byron T. Roberts, Moorestown; Emmor Roberts, Vincentown; Frank Schober, Monroeville; Lawrence J. Smith, South River; S. Martin Sorenson, Freehold and Carlton Heritage, Richmond.

Union Beach Names Vigne

Joseph R. Vigne was appointed a member of the Union Beach borough council Thursday night to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of William Ritt, and Councilman George Pickering was elected president of the council, a position held by the retired member.

Six citizens were named to a recently formed planning board, which consists also of the mayor and two councilmen. The members are John Friel, Edwin Masson, Joseph Sholer, Joseph Schubert, Leonard Floyd and Leonard Pierce. A request for better service was sent to the Central railroad. The borough hopes that improved service will aid commuters in making connections to New York.

Hazlet

The barn on the Patrick Montagna farm was completely destroyed by fire with a large quantity of hot bed ash and fertilizer Thursday, March 13. The fire company was called but was unable to save the building, which was burning fast due to the high wind. The place is known as the J. P. Brower farm, which was later owned by Leonard D. Roberts, who sold it to Joseph H. Webster. Following his death, his widow sold the place to Patrick Montagna.

Thursday morning, March 13, the fire company responded to a call on Florence avenue to extinguish a grass fire.

Your Customer Will Judge You By The Fresh Appearance Of Your Stock, Or Food You Serve

Insulation

A heavy four inch layer of approved insulation between the outer and inner metal cases makes every bit of ice count for economical operation.

Exterior

All metal is heavy gauge steel, specially treated to inhibit rust... all joints are brazed and welded. Surfaces are covered with high-baked, Porcel-finish.

Self-Aligning Doors

Specially constructed to allow flexibility, assuring tight fit with face of refrigerator. Special grease resisting gaskets are designed specially for commercial service.

Control Dial

The user can regulate the forced draft system according to service conditions, according to temperature desired and according to usage of the cabinet.

Shelves

Heavy construction, all welded steel shelves. Can be adjusted to any height. Easily removed for cleaning.

Ice Compartment

Designed to withstand severe treatment, this heavy gauge galvanized steel compartment is all welded construction. The entire compartment is suspended within the refrigerator, eliminating contact with side-walls, thus conserving ice.

WARD OLYMPIC FORCED DRAFT SYSTEM

The benign effect of ice in the preservation of food is as old as history. Ward refrigeration engineers knew that melting ice gave the high humidity to a refrigerator needed to keep foods fresh. They were familiar with the laws of evaporation and the relationship of temperatures and dew point. Guided by these natural laws, they designed the forced draft Olympic Commercial Ice Refrigerators, applying the constant circulating washed air principle.

Food odors and warm air picked up from storage area is driven by forced draft through deflectors into the ice compartment, depositing odor-laden moisture on surfaces leading to the drip pan. An Olympic keeps foods fresh... Less wilting of fruits, vegetables or salads... Less drying up of meats or cheese... Less trimming, less loss... only high humidity refrigeration accomplishes these results.

Assembly Program

Although Alton B. Keeler, A. M., Ph. D., is an American citizen he lives in Mexico City, where he first went several years ago to teach in the American high school in that city. He married the daughter of a prominent Mexican citizen and has lived in Mexico since that time.

He spoke here not as a tourist or as a busy good-will-tripper but as a man who lives in Mexico and knows its people and their ways. His film was not a travelogue but a documentary film dealing with Mexican industry, customs and costumes.

The film showed the Mexican pottery, silverware and leatherwork being made in Guadalajara and in Tlaquepaque, as described in a recent article in The Readers Digest. The film showed the complete process involved in the production of a beautiful piece of pottery from a lump of clay as well as the process involved in other crafts.

"Our American Neighbors" included views in Tasco, one of the most spectacular show cities of the entire country. It showed simple folk in their gay clothes buying from shrewd merchants at the Tasco market. Then it showed the volcano at Paracutin, the West Coast at Acapulco with its high cliffs along the sea with young men and women doing death-defying dives from the cliffs. It included recent shots of Mexican yacht races, water skiing—in short, Mexico at work and at play—Mexico as it really is today.—Emily Conover.

The Masquers

The Masquers club, directed by Miss Barbara Deckert, will make a theater trip to New York April 18 to see "Years Ago," now playing at the Mansfield theater.

The play stars Frederick March, Florence Eldridge and Patricia Kirkland and portrays the life of Ruth Gordon.

Friday, April 25, the Masquers are giving a play entitled "George Porgie" as an assembly program.

The list of characters are as follows: George Spinnit, Jerry Briloin; Mrs. Hazel Spinnit, Jean Geller; Tessie, Bettie Costa; Ted Spinnit, Robert Jones; Dorothea Spinnit, Betty Prominski; Millie Spinnit, June Sims; Hugh Cameron, Harry Patterson; Mamie Burmeister, Patricia Carlucci.

Ann Marie Heiser is property manager and Ella Spinning is stage manager.—Emily Conover.

School Newspaper

The student council of Red Bank high school, in co-operation with the journalism classes, is attempting to secure the student body's opinion concerning a new school paper. The journalism class has interviewed several students on the subject.

Mary Bottagaro, junior—"I think a school paper lets everyone know the happenings around school. I don't think that there should be too much gossip because someone is usually hurt. A school paper would be a good idea if it would bring out the talent of some of the students that we wouldn't otherwise know about."

Nancy Boyle, junior—"It is nice to know what is going on in different classrooms and what pupils are doing."

Peter Wingerter, senior—"I think that we should have a paper because then you get all the low-down on what's going on in school."

Peggy Wymbs, junior—"Yes, because I think it would bring up the morale of the school and give us a chance to publicize our activities so that our parents and the general public would know more about them."

Louise Lepore, junior—"It is nice to know what is going on in school. It would also give our parents a chance to know more about our activities."

Paul Murray, junior—"Yes, because I would like to know what is going on in school; what activities are to take place and their results."

Dorothy Ayres, senior—"Yes, because if we had a school paper it would help to raise the morale of the students and stimulate interest in journalism. It also will help to better relations between teachers and students."

Vincent Paladino, teacher—"Yes, I think we should definitely have a school paper with no gossip in it."

Joie Calza, senior—"No, because once before they tried to have a newspaper and they had no support from the faculty."

Lorraine Stalter, senior—"No, there isn't any room, there are no facilities, and the most important feature lacking is the real spirit to contribute time and effort among the student body."

Joe Seastio, junior—"No, because I do not have time to read them, and also because the faculty will not help."

The student council poll on the question found an overwhelming majority of students in favor of the resumption of a school paper.

Basketball semi-Finals

The senior girls' basketball team won the semi-final round of the inter-class competition playoffs by defeating the girls of the junior class, 15 to 11. The game, which drew a large crowd of spectators, was played last week at noon in the high school gymnasium. Mrs. Irene Smith, the girls' physical education teacher, directed.

The senior girls who participated in the game were Beverly Osuna, captain, Eleanor King, Dot Groves, Catherine Manual, Mary Cagle, Connie Griffin, Rosie Soyler, Hope Wolfcamp and Rosalie Powell.

The junior girls were Mary Bottagaro captain, Flossie Finnelli, Arlene MacCloud, Yolanda Jones, Ethel Williams, Jackie Legate, Louise Lepore, Ann Lomerson and Claire Sindlinger.

Eleanor King was high scorer for the senior girls with nine points and Mary Bottagaro led the junior girls with five.—Dorothy Groves.

Nature Club

The Nature club, under the supervision of Howard L. Brown, is planning a trip early next month to the Museum of Natural History in New York city. The club expects to go after the Easter vacation. The trip will be by bus.

Student Council

A poll among the student body to determine its willingness to co-operate with the return of two group assemblies has been conducted this week by the student council under the direction of Miss Ruth LeWall.

Two group assemblies were discontinued because of the lack of auditorium facilities, which led to complicating problems. Under the existing plan only one-half the students of the senior high school are allowed to attend the programs at one time, thus programs are missed by one group or the other.

A suggestion box, which the student council had placed for use by students, was opened at their last meeting. All suggestions bearing no signature were disregarded, while the others were discussed at the meeting. Actions on them shall depend on student co-operation.

Girls' Gym Tests

Self-testing exercises were administered last week to the girls' morning gymnasium classes under the supervision of Mrs. Irene Smith.

The exercises were given in two days and they consisted of push ups, sit ups, pull-ups, broad jumps, ten-second squat, thrusts, potato races and 30-second squat thrusts.

Girls with the highest averages in all the classes combined were Claire Sindlinger, who jumped seven feet; Dot Groves, who did 40 pull-ups; Judy Ryerson, who won the potato race in 8 1/2 seconds; Phyllis Glyoly, who had 58 sit ups; and Margaret Smith, who did 23 squat thrusts in 30 seconds.

Play Day

The Red Bank and Rumson high school girls' sophomore and freshman basketball teams held a play day last week in the Red Bank high school gymnasium.

The Red Bank freshmen won their game, 18 to 14, while the sophomores met defeat, 14 to 11.

The Red Bank freshmen line-up included Satter, Mego, Young and Sindlinger as forwards, and Davenport, Atkinson, Porter and Scott as guards.

The Rumson freshmen team included Johnson, Noonan, Geron, Cantalice and Clamborne as forwards; Eli, Reilly, Alexander and Hullen as guards.

Red Bank sophomore team players were Wright, Brancadora, Wilson and Sandemeno as forwards; Grogan, Neal, Van and Carter as guards.

Rumson sophomore team included Herrdon, Hogan, Felt and Enderson as forwards; Allaire, Rloridan, Hower, Kaplan and Myer as guards.—Ruth Lange.

Pick-Up Truck Falls In River

Mrs. Lolis Stalfa and her brother-in-law, Frank Stalfa of Rumson, escaped injury Sunday morning when a pick-up truck in which they were sitting rolled off the bank and into the Shrewsbury river near the Stardust Inn on Bridge avenue.

According to Red Bank police, James Stalfa, driver of the truck, stopped on the crest of the hill in the rear of the inn after he had pushed another car to get it started. He got out of the truck to see if the other car would start. He noticed a truck slide into the river and did not realize it was his until he went to help open the doors which were caught in the mud. The tide was low and there was no danger of the occupants drowning. The truck was pulled out about noon Sunday.

"What a funny place for a Classroom!"

In our training schools hundreds of new telephone men are learning the many jobs required to maintain and expand the telephone system.

Some of these men are attending "Classes" on telephone poles. Others are learning to place underground cable, or to install new telephones. Here, too, experienced telephone men are taking refresher courses to learn about new methods and new types of equipment.

Last year alone, 300,000 man hours were spent in this training. That's a lot of time—but it assures the technical "know-how" that keeps the system running smoothly and efficiently while we're going ahead with our $200,000,000 expansion program.

Wilhelmina Dobbins Maintains Prestige As Local Fashion Center

Wilhelmina Dobbins & Company, at 63 Riverside avenue, Red Bank, recognized as the Mecca of fashionable women, now has a greater stock and wider variety of beautiful clothes than ever before. The war years necessarily enforced many restrictions both on tastes and fashions, but now Mrs. Dobbins says with a smile, "the manufacturers are again imploring us to look at their merchandise."

Last January the business was expanded into a company, and Mrs. Dobbins took as her partners, Miss Elsie deCamp, noted designer, formerly with Josephine Sanders of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Tina Rusch, a renowned stylist with Mary Black of London. Several days each week are spent in New York City, selecting new models personally from the same houses that supply many of the better city stores, among them Saks Fifth Avenue and Lord & Taylors.

As fashions must be ordered months ahead, dresses are chosen on the reliable basis of fine materials, original design, practicality and that exclusive quality known as good style. The firm has an abundant selection of spring clothes already on hand. For the first time in several years they have had the freedom of choice dear to the buyer's heart and they have certainly taken advantage of it.

Wilhelmina Dobbins & Company are noted for distinctive women's apparel—suits, coats, semi-formal dresses, hats, blouses, afternoon frocks, corsets; also a smart line of accessories. Styles vary from the simplest tailored models to elaborate items suitable for any gala social function. Sizes start with the juniors and go through to women's sizes.

The personal touch is an important part of the firm, and they have something for everyone; for individual care and attention is given to each customer—her needs and preferences are thoughtfully considered. Mrs. Dobbins has many customers for whom she selects their entire wardrobe and her judgment and taste has long been respected and trusted. This year the firm has added a bridal department; where, under the personal supervision of these ladies, a bride and her attendants can be completely outfitted in ready-to-wear or custom-made gowns.

The success of the establishment which has served residents of Red Bank and environs for the past 30 years, and its devoted and satisfied clientele is ample proof of the high standard of excellence maintained in the merchandise.

The Strand Restaurant Invites Inspection Of Fully Equipped Kitchen

"If a man writes a better book, preaches a better sermon or even serves finer food than his neighbor, the public will make a beaten path to his door." There may be some controversy over the origin of this epigram—but there is still no doubt of its truth; when you take, for example, the Strand Restaurant at 64 Broad street, Red Bank. Since 1923, the public has learned that there is no compromise with quality at the Strand. It is a delightful place to dine, where the best in the way of food and liquors are served at reasonable prices.

Twenty-four years ago John Morris and William Noglovs opened a small restaurant in the center of Red Bank's business district; and as the borough grew, so did the business at the Strand increase. Today it is one of the oldest, largest and leading restaurants in town. Out to lunch, in Red Bank, usually means, out to the Strand, as they serve many business men; and it is a favorite spot for dinner in the evening or that late snack after the show.

The Strand Restaurant has two separate departments, with one kitchen serving both the counter service and main dining room. When you are in a hurry and want just a light lunch, many prefer the quicker service at the counter; but for a hearty meal and a delightful cocktail, we recommend the main dining room and bar. The Strand is acclaimed as a restaurant where "dining is a delight and cooking an art," and justly so when you consider the menu offers everything in season, properly prepared and correctly served. The entire establishment is air-conditioned.

The kitchen at the Strand is always open for inspection, in fact, they take pride in showing the huge ovens, immaculate cooking utensils, and leading restaurant equipment, the modern dish washing equipment, and the latest appliances for meat, poultry, fish and vegetables. Housekeepers will note with approval the exact care taken in preparing food and the quiet and efficient manner in which it is operated.

In writing this story about the Strand restaurant, we do so with the view to acquaint you folks in the area who have not been there lately to try it sometime; and then you will realize that its popularity and success was established on "quality and service."

The Homestead Golf, Country Club Finest On North Jersey Shore

Next to marine sports there is no more popular outdoor recreational activity than golf along the New Jersey Shore. Numerous courses dot the landscape and they are among the most prominent in a state that is noted nationally for its golf consciousness.

Among the leading links, famed for its sportiness and the well-groomed condition of its fairways and greens, is the 18-hole course of the Homestead Golf and Country Club.

Despite its excellent condition and the expenditures made to maintain it as one of the Shore's best golfing grounds, Homestead is available to the public. In the family of New Jersey courses it enjoys a semi-private rating.

Homestead's history has been varied and interesting. It was born in the burgeoning golf boom which followed World War I and was inaugurated as a strictly private and rather exclusive golfing organization in 1922. Its official opening gave the community of the Spring Lake Heights two 18-hole courses, both of which were to loom large in links activities of the Garden State.

Throughout the lush years which preceded the Wall Street crash of 1929 Homestead flourished. But like so many organizations of the kind the sickening thud of the stock market left an indelible impression on the picturesque course and it fell upon lean days.

From an exclusive private club Homestead drifted inexorably into the pay-for-play category and after the depression of the early '30s its condition began to deteriorate until its once famous greens became shabby reflections of their former glory.

It was not until 1943, however, that Homestead reached its present place among the state's golfing grounds. Thence hangs an intriguing tale.

During the earlier and palmer Homestead days Tony Yonadi, an estate Newark tavern owner, wanted the Shore's best golf course to join a few friends in a round of golf. Yonadi never leaving a club. It never occurred to him that he could learn to play the royal and ancient pastime, because some years earlier he lost the fore part of his left arm in a printing press.

As a last he took hold of a golf club and swung at a ball. The virus is potent and once it entered his blood stream he realized he had become one of the vast army of "golf bugs."

In later years as Yonadi rode past Homestead he'd say, and his listeners believed he was joking, "Some day I am going to own that golf course."

"And true to his word, he purchased the 110-acre tract, lock, stock and green cutters, in the winter of 1943.

From the day Yonadi acquired the property he has exerted all his energies toward restoring Homestead to its one-time brilliance. A human dynamo, Yonadi has kept a crew working throughout the year, repairing and restoring equipment, beautifying the grounds and modernizing buildings and appurtenances. He decided to the county of Monmouth a corner of his property so that a traffic hazard could be eliminated. The elimination served the dual purposes. It also made more attractive the approach to Homestead.

Apart from golf Homestead has been offering discriminating epicures the ultimate in food. For the purpose Yonadi has imported the most talented and expensive chefs. Their tools are one of the most modernly equipped kitchens along the Jersey Shore.

To those who have expressed astonishment at what Yonadi has accomplished in the last two years, he says "This is only the beginning. I hope that golfers, diners and revelers who visit Homestead will go away feeling they have enjoyed nothing but the best."

Bernard Spiwak Progressive Florist

In visiting the greenhouses of Bernard Spiwak located at 93 Avenue of Two Rivers, Rumson, one will immediately notice that great progress has been made at the establishment. Upon entering the greenhouses where the retail branch of the business is conducted, you will be impressed with bench after bench of beautifully colored and sweet scented stock; one of the largest and best selection of flowers in this locality.

In the Spiwak greenhouses are snapdragons by the thousands and in all colors of the rainbow, including his own origination of the bronze Lady Dorothy snapdragon; also carnations and geraniums, pansies, sweet peas, forget-me-nots and many other flowers too numerous to mention. Altho Mr. Spiwak specializes in growing snapdragons, for which he has been awarded medals at the New York Florist Club; he also grows a great variety of all flowers, plants and perennials.

Bernard Spiwak will have a large stock of beautiful Easter plants, unique corsages, boxes of cut flowers, dish gardens, also a good selection of pottery and novelties will be among the group as Easter gifts. He is gradually but surely becoming well known for items of this kind. As a member of the Telegraph Delivery Service, Mr. Spiwak offers prompt and dependable delivery of any kind of flowers or plants to all parts of the country, coast to coast.

When it comes to a gift for any occasion, or just to enjoy the pleasures of life, there is really nothing that can take the place of flowers. Soon after Easter, many will start the Spring planting of vegetables, annual and perennials plants, and of course Spiwak's will be ready with a good variety of hardy stock. In the past few years, Mr. Spiwak has certainly made many friends and satisfied customers.

Bernard Spiwak has been in the business 26 years and was formerly in charge of various large greenhouses and florist establishments. He moved to Rumson from Towson, Md., where he supervised the propagating of trees and shrubs in one of the largest nurseries in the East.

Joseph Hoffman Long Established In Painting Trade

One of the enterprising and long established painting contractors in Red Bank, Joseph Hoffman, is another example that reliable work and quality products will bring its just reward. Mr. Hoffman now has among his regular customers many local families and firms for whom he has done painting time and again during the 35 years he has been in the business. The address is 62 Harding place, Red Bank.

There is an old saying, "experience is the best teacher," and with this thought in mind, Mr. Hoffman had the foresight at the start of the war, to purchase vast quantities of pure linseed oil and Eagle and Dutch Boy white lead; two very important products for a good paint job. As he still has a good stock on hand, he is in a position to give the kind of interior or exterior painting that is just a little different and better than the average.

Painting the exterior of a building is the best protection against the elements of the weather, and the Spring is the best time of the year to do the work, after a hard winter. Interior painting or decorating in the home should be done before the spring house cleaning. Whether you have a large or small painting job, Mr. Hoffman will gladly submit an estimate and offer new and modern ideas to obtain the best effects for the particular type of room.

Joseph Hoffman employs only skilled mechanics, men with years of experience and who take pride in their work, and therefore he can guarantee a paint job that will be carried out exactly as requested. All work is done in a clean and orderly manner, and every effort made to have it finished at the time specified. Prices are within the means of modest budgets and convenient terms can be arranged.

Remember, a good paint job is never an expense, simply an investment that will return many times the cost in protecting the property and adding to the beauty and comfort of the home. Mr. Hoffman will call at your convenience to discuss any painting job; service with a capital "P" has always been of paramount importance in his business dealings.

Ellis Office Supply Co. Offers Business Firms "Lettercraft" Service

Ellis Office Supply Company, with stores located at 69 Broad street, Red Bank, and 708 Mattison avenue, Asbury Park, is owned by David J. Ellis, whose experience in the business dates back many years. He started in his father's paper, ribbon and carbon business in Newark in 1919, which was then an old-established firm. The late Mr. Ellis was a well-known and well-liked salesman in many offices in and around New Jersey, and following in his father's footsteps, David J. Ellis has likewise been successful.

In October, 1945, Mr. Ellis opened the Red Bank office and has since built it up to a modern, fully equipped repair shop for typewriters and business machines. His mechanics have the ability and equipment to fix any type office machine. The Asbury Park store was purchased in August, 1946 from the New Jersey Typewriter Company, and has been completely renovated and modernized. A full line of office equipment, including typewriters—new, used and rentals—adding machines, cash registers, mimeographs, stationery and supplies is carried in stock.

David J. Ellis has the sole Underwood Agency in Monmouth and Ocean counties, and his display of new typewriters and Sundstrand adding machines is matchless. He has been approved for On-The-Job Training of Veterans, and has three boys now working under this program. His truck, with "Here Comes Ellis," is a familiar sight on the highways.

Being progressive, Mr. Ellis recently engaged in another enterprise—Lettercraft—at the Red Bank office. Together with Ann E. Drake, they are operating a multi-graph, mimeograph and letterpress, and hope to build up a service that will meet the requirements of local firms. They have a permanent mailing list and facilities for handling all advertising matter. There seems to be a definite need for a service of this kind, and they are offering prompt and dependable work.

Mr. Ellis, or "Dave," as he is known to thousands of people, is a salesman in the real sense of the word. His fine disposition and pleasing personality are envied by many. Even his staff, consisting of mechanics, salesmen and secretaries, radiate his inimitable personality. While "Dave" is kept quite busy, he doesn't let business interfere with his community obligations. He is a member of the Rotary club, Chamber of Commerce of Red Bank and Asbury Park, and is president of the Holy Name Society of St. Agnes church, Atlantic Highlands.

Public Always Welcome At Sunrise Turkey Farm Largest In The State

The food situation is often a serious problem to many housekeepers; but regardless of increasing cost or scarcity of meat, local residents will find an almost endless supply of fresh-killed turkeys and at a reasonable price at the Sunrise Turkey Farm, on East Road, near Campbell's Junction, Belford. In a recent interview with Barth Hockins, head of the Sunrise Turkey Farm corporation, we learned that right in our back yard, so to speak, is one of the largest, finest and most completely equipped turkey farms in the State of New Jersey.

An inspection of the farm revealed many interesting facts. As we gazed over the 50 turkey pens and saw about 15,000 birds, we were informed that while a majority of the birds are raised for the wholesale market, Mr. Hockins always makes it a point to have enough on hand to supply his main customers, the local housewives. Mr. Hockins, who is a turkey expert likes to "dry pluck" all his birds and does not kill any until they are 26 weeks old. The farm has Broadbreast Bronze and White Holland turkeys and several of the "Wagon Wheel" strain, sent directly from the originator, Dr. Griffith in California. These birds weigh from 30 to 40 pounds.

The Sunrise corporation is made up of Barth and his wife, Mrs. Ann Hockins. They have lived around Belford on and off for the past 25 years. At one time they had another turkey farm on Green avenue, Belford, and raised 12,000 birds, but this is their first big venture, and it is fast proving a success. About a year ago the present farm was nothing but woods, and now there are 85 acres of turkey farm equipped with the latest improvements. Several notables in the turkey industry have referred to this farm as the most modern in the state.

Plans are being made for even more pens, the enlargement of the freezing unit, and facilities to take care of more customers. The farm has come a long way in the past year. Feed is no problem to Mr. Hockins since he is the local agent for the Beacon Feed Company; he can get all he wants but the bill is quite an item. Space does not permit us to inform the public of all the various innovations and equipment necessary to operate a farm of this size; but we can state you are always welcome and Mr. Hockins will gladly show you around the huge establishment, and you will find it most interesting.

Wellington Wilkins, Jr. Has Sold Hudson Cars In Red Bank Since 1923

Fourteen years of dependable business methods in the selling and servicing of Hudson Motor Cars, in this section of Monmouth county is the achievement now accomplished by Wellington Wilkins, Jr. head of the Wilkins Motor Sales located on Broad street, Red Bank. The steady increase in the volume of business was not accidental; it was attained by adhering to a principle that a customer's interest is the predominant factor. In every transaction—from a small repair job to the sale of a new Hudson car.

In 1923, Mr. Wilkins acquired the Hudson Motor Car franchise which was formerly held by H. L. Zobel of Sea Bright. He started in business with a small service department on Mechanic street and a sales room at the corner of Monmouth and Pearl street. Rapid progress was made from the very beginning of the enterprise, and the business was moved to the present location in 1930; where he employs five experienced mechanics and has all the latest equipment and facilities. The service department is under the direction of Elmer Brown, who has been with the organization since its inception.

Wellington Wilkins, Jr. is a well-known resident of Red Bank. He attended local schools and has always taken an active interest in civic affairs of the community. He is the

Phone Answering Service Asset For Professional Men

On January 2, 1947, Mrs. Margaret I. Birmingham, formerly chief clerk in the plant department of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, inaugurated a telephone and secretarial service that has since filled a much needed requirement in Red Bank and the surrounding area. It was her original idea to offer this remote control telephone system primarily to physicians, but after receiving numerous requests for the service, Mrs. Birmingham has decided to extend its use to include business firms and all professional people.

The exchange operates on a 24-hour basis, day and night. If a doctor is not available when you phone, the exchange is in a position to suggest one of his colleagues, giving service to patients not rendered heretofore, or will try to locate the physician called if possible. This service has already received favorable mention in the Monmouth County Medical Society bulletin.

Similar services have been conducted throughout the country, and it is operated on a large scale in New York and other metropolitan centers, as the principle has proven to be very effective. A direct extension from your office to the exchange is requested when the service is requested to cover the phone. They really act as your secretary, answering your phone in your name, giving the information to you on your return or relaying the message to whom you designate.

Because of the mileage charges involved, physicians and business firms outside of the Red Bank area, who may not desire a direct extension to this service, may subscribe to the kind known as "if no answer," which is a second listing under your name in the telephone directory. As the telephone directory goes to press the first week in April those desiring this form of service should apply immediately.

The office of Mrs. Margaret I. Birmingham is in the Kelly building at 157 Broad street, Red Bank. If you do not have a local office you may terminate your telephone calls here, and they also will receive and forward your mail.

Thrifty Shoppers Trade At Rusell's For Antiques

Twelve years ago Andrew E. Rusell started in the new and used furniture business and being progressive it was soon a growing and successful venture. He adopted as a slogan "we buy and sell anything," and before long Mr. Rusell had a large and varied stock of merchandise that he purchased from local homes, estates and the leading auction houses.

Then came the war—and during the two years Andrew served in the Pacific, his younger brother Theodore conducted the business. It was during this time that the building was sold and they were forced to move to the adjoining property, 25-27 East Front street, its present location. When Andrew was discharged from the service last year, he again took over the active management, operating as Rusell's Furniture and Art Galleries, and Theodore Rusell became a partner in the business.

At Rusell's you will find thousands of useful items for the home; art pieces, paintings, watercolorings, etchings and prints, bronzes, curios, china, glassware, magnificent library of rare books, silver, jewelry; also a collection of rare porcelains, vases, musical instruments—collectors' items from many parts of the country.

Many prominent residents of the county realize that here they can usually pick up choice pieces in quality used furniture and at a considerable savings in price. The homelike atmosphere at Rusell's, the courteous and efficient service, and extensive assortment of merchandise are a few of the reasons for the growth of the business. Stop in anytime, and just browse around, you will find it like a treasure hunt.

Andrew Rusell has plans for enlarging the establishment in the near future. He intends to have a two story building with facilities to properly display the ever increasing assortment of merchandise. It is merely giving credit where credit is due to state that Andrew has been successful, as he strives to please every customer in a business that is quite competitive throughout this locality.

Hotel Molly Pitcher Noted For Excellent Cuisine, Hospitality

The old town hall, where villagers met to talk over matters of national and county importance, or merely to enjoy a friendly chat, has disappeared to a great extent in the past few decades. However, the desire for congeniality still remains. People still like to see familiar faces and to enjoy each other's company in a place where good food and good drinks create their own particular kind of atmosphere. Residents of Red Bank and the surrounding communities now continue this old tradition by holding their social functions and business meetings at the Hotel Molly Pitcher.

The name, "Molly Pitcher" of course dates back to the Revolutionary days, but the Hotel Molly Pitcher only dates back to 1928. It is a modern fireproof structure, located on the Shrewsbury river, and offers to the public all conveniences and appointments. Elgaud B. Paine, general manager, has made numerous improvements and innovations to the hotel, and he has installed a complete and efficient staff for every department.

The 100 rooms were recently redecorated and refurbished, and now appeal to a particular clientele. The spacious lounge was renovated and furnished, and on the outdoor garden terrace and well kept lawn overlooking the beautiful Shrewsbury river, special and colorful umbrellas are now placed for comfortable lounging and relaxation.

Chero's Farm Market Has Large Variety Of Locally Grown Produce

About 16 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chero started a small roadside market on State highway No. 35, about one mile north of Cooper's bridge, and realizing that the best way to win and hold customers was to sell only the finest quality produce, it has since proven a successful venture. Hard work and long hours also played an important part in the growth of their business.

local farms, cider, vinegar, honey, jams, preserves and other farm products. As soon as any seasonable product is available, you can be sure that Chero's will be among the first to have it in stock. Of course in the winter they store vast quantities of potatoes and apples.

Right now Chero's has a large variety of beautiful flowers and plants for Easter, mostly the products of Monmouth county. It will certainly pay the thrifty shopper to drive out and see this reasonably priced selection of Easter flowers.

The friendly greetings extended to customers plus the large assortment of quality farm products undoubtedly accounts for the progress of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chero. They made in a business that is somewhat competitive. Chero's Farm Market, now one of the leading road stands in Headden's Corner section of the county, is certainly deserving of public comment in these columns.

Katherine Beauty Salon Caters To Select Clientele

Correct hair styling and beautiful services are of paramount importance nowadays to every woman; and the modern methods of beauty culture at Katherine Beauty Salon, located 46 Monmouth street, Red Bank, has long been acclaimed most becoming and effective. Excellent work, courteous service, location, reasonable charges; four reasons why this beauty salon has been serving many of the same customers continuously for the past 11 years.

The operators at Katherine Beauty Salon have been kept quite busy this past week when so many women desire to have an attractive hair-do for the Easter parade; but nevertheless, your work will not be hurried in any way because of this activity. The smallest detail is never overlooked or neglected, it will be finished exactly as requested; and as a consequence of this principle, this beauty salon has long attained a merited reputation.

Katherine Beauty Salon has all the latest appliances that are so necessary for the numerous services to milady's appearance; and as the operators are skilled in the newest fashions, you can be assured of a hair-do that is individual and a little different from the ordinary. They will style your hair to enhance your loveliness, and then you will favor the compliments sure to follow.

Regardless of what your particular requirements may be in beauty culture—hairdressing, permanents, hair tinting, facials, scalp treatments, shampooing, finger waving, sculpture curls; the operators here will cheerfully take your specific instructions, so that the work is finished as requested. The sincere desire is to please every customer in a business that is somewhat competitive, and the steady increase in trade is evidence that this principle has been accomplished.

Katherine Beauty Salon is indeed well and favorably known to the women of Red Bank and the surrounding area, and the prestige it has long attained for the best in beautiful service is worthy of comment in these columns.

Mr. Paine is ever alert for the comfort and convenience of all guests.

The French Ballroom offers an ideal setting for wedding, banquets, receptions and dances. The famous river view dining room is noted for its excellent menu, and the special Sunday dinner will surely please those who appreciate delicious food, well served and moderately priced. The air-conditioned bar and cocktail lounge is most inviting, and with the extensive selection of fine wines and liquors, plus the entertainment during the cocktail hour and after dinner, it is a very delightful spot to while away a pleasant hour in an atmosphere of congenial good-fellowship.

Hotel Molly Pitcher is often referred to as "The Gem of the Atlantic Coast," and justly so, for it certainly can take a deserved place among the numerous fine hotels in the North Jersey shore area of the state. Needless to state, many local residents will have Easter Sunday dinner at the Molly Pitcher, so may we suggest that you phone and make any early reservation?

The 100 rooms were recently redecorated and refurbished, and now appeal to a particular clientele. The spacious lounge was renovated and furnished, and on the outdoor garden terrace and well kept lawn overlooking the beautiful Shrewsbury river, special and colorful umbrellas are now placed for comfortable lounging and relaxation.

Posten Funeral Home Has Served Public 65 Years

Every thinking man and woman upon whom the responsibility of making funeral arrangements may come day fall, is urged to select a funeral director in advance of need. In no other line of endeavor is the business relations so intimate and the personal equation so important as between the funeral director and those who require his services in time of bereavement.

The well established firm of A. M. Posten & Sons, has rendered a complete, inexpensive and sympathetic service to residents in the Bayshore area of the county continuously for the past 65 years. The business is now carried on under the direction of Herbert W. Posten and W. Harry Posten, sons of the founder, the late Amzi M. Posten.

Service at the Posten Funeral Home is offered with a sincere thought to the financial requirements of all who call upon them in their hour of sorrow. The firm has gained the confidence of the public to such an extent that all arrangements are made quickly and satisfactorily; and they will attend to the smallest detail requested. The funeral home is non-sectarian in character and offers every modern convenience.

The private rooms for the family, and the tact and reverence in conducting services, create a memory picture that forever lessens the thought of grief. The staff of courteous co-workers, willingly and capably offer any aid and assistance. The high standing of efficiency and record of integrity that the Posten firm has attained through the years is the result of close attention to every detail involved in the correct rendition of funeral services.

Efficient services at time of bereavement is one thing, but service based on sympathetic understanding of conditions and economical needs is quite another; and A. M. Posten & Sons has long attained a reputation of friendly cooperation.

Herbert W. and W. Harry Posten are to be commended for the discretion evinced in their business methods. The Posten Funeral Home is located at 60 East Lincoln avenue, Atlantic Highlands.

RED BANK JUNIOR HIGH

New books of interest to junior high school pupils in the Red Bank high school library are: "Tangled Skein," Seymour; "Reunion in Poland," Karavina; "The Sea Is Blue," Lawson; "The Lion's Paw," White; "Butro Tamer," Hays; "The Angry Planet," Cross; "Secret of Baldhead Mountain," Epstein; "Adventure in Tunisia," Martin; "Bonny's Boy," Reckditz; "In the Hands of the Senecas," Edmonds; "Madeline Takes Command," Bill; "Don Marshall, Announcer," Ford; "Jeremy Pepper," Rogers; "Florence Nightingale," Nolan. The names of these books were submitted by Miss May Throckmorton, librarian of the high school library.—Merna Handelman.

It has been a tradition in our school to dedicate one or more days each year to the prevention of noise. Such days are set aside to maintain absolute silence in the halls, and are on dates unknown to everyone except the principal, Chester Wilhelm. Silence signs are placed in the halls and on the stairways throughout the junior building. Penalties are given to those students who do not follow the simple directions and also to students who are caught talking in the halls. Such a day was Thursday, March 13. The students, however, made a good showing and there were not many complaints of disorderly conduct by the traffic director. The results of the project proved to be satisfactory.—William Frank.

Popular music in addition to the regular songs is being taught by Miss Clementine Welpert, music teacher, to the eight-o'clock music class. In commemoration of St. Patrick's day, the group learned, "How Are Things in Glocca Morra" and "Irish Eyes Are Smiling." The well known "Palm Branches" and "The Wearing of the Green" are also being sung. Other popular songs being sung are "Till the End of Time," "Moonbeams" and "Anniversary Song."

Records from the "Jolson Story" have been played. Other records included "Anniversary Song," "Palm Branches," "Ave Maria" and "The Two Grenadiers."—Elinor Dill.

On Thursday, March 13, the Red Bank freshman girls' basketball team played Rumson's freshman girls with a score of 18 to 18, in Red Bank's favor.

During the first quarter, Lillian Mego and Virginia Satter each scored a basket, with the latter scoring a foul shot for Red Bank.

Rumson scored only one basket, made by Marie Cantalice. By the end of the first half, Virginia Satter had scored two baskets with Patricia Noonan's foul shot, making her score 8 to 7 in Red Bank's favor. The third quarter, Marie Cantalice and Patricia Noonan each scored a basket against Lillian Mego's basket and Virginia Satter's basket and foul shot. During the last quarter, Virginia Satter made two baskets and two foul shots, while Betty Moncrief and Marie Cantalice each made a basket. Marie scored a foul shot ending the game.

The participants were as follows: Rumson, Joan Eli, captain; Barbara Johnson, Marie Clambrone, Marie Cantalice, Karen Aatten, Anne Kelly, Edith Alexander; substitutes, Lois VanGehren, Patricia Noonan, Julie Terry, Betty Moncrief, Joan Eli, Red Bank, Virginia Satter, captain; Lillian Mego, Caroline Sindlinger, Patricia Bennett, manager; Ingrid Davenport, Laura Atkinson, Judy Portner; substitutes, Nancy Young, Jane Albert, Emma Poole, Peggy Brasch, Roberta Nelson, Joyce Scott.

The instructor at Rumson is Miss Alma vomSteeg and at Red Bank, Mrs. Irene Smith.—Emily L. Edwards.

Last week, pupils in the seventh grade English classes told of an adventure each had experienced, an adventure of someone else, or a story that had been read. The classes also made up limericks in honor of St. Patrick. Mrs. Agnes Oakley is the teacher.—Albert VanNostrand.

Seventh grade mathematics class has been working with percentage and whole numbers in the book "Mathematics We Use." George Lovett, the teacher, likes to sketch and often sketches pictures to illustrate the lesson.—Diane Widger.

Hobby club members are knitting, embroidering and crocheting. Some are knitting socks, while others are knitting, stocking hats and baby sweaters. Mrs. Charlotte Sims, the adviser, is also social science, penmanship and spelling teacher.—Diane Widger.

The French club, under the supervision of Miss Amy Chateau, held an election of officers during club period. Florence Deitz was elected president and Bernard Hoffman was made vice president. The members are now learning to say the names of colors and to count in French. Soon the group will play lotto in French.—Elvira Morris.

Seventh and eighth grade girls gym classes held on Thursdays and Fridays, and on every other Wednesday, have been doing drills and exercises, and playing basketball once a week. There are about 70 girls in the class which is divided into six squads of 11 girls each. The class captain is Dorothy Smith, and the squad captains are Joyce Stout, Joyce Crawford, Bessie Economas, Shirley Anderson, Carol Kintsky and Shirley Baynton.—Joyce Crawford.

Ten eighth grade boys from homeroom nine have been holding an after school song festival for the past week. When the homeroom teacher, Mrs. Frances Manning, found it necessary to leave the group one study period, loud singing echoed through the corridors and was traced to room nine. This convinced Mrs. Manning that the boys were anxious to do some extra singing and the afternoon period was assigned. On Monday the boys were led by Miss Clementine Welpert, music teacher. After the first night, the boys were led by student participants. The leaders were Billy Ottinger, Bernard Hoffman, Eric Emt and Lawrence Weinstein.

The remaining troubadours included Robert Warren, Robert Benowitz, William Sherwood, Terry Doremus, Wallace Smith and Clyde Lindner. Some of the songs sung were "Daisy Bell," "Over There," "How Are Things in General Motors," "East Side, West Side" and "Smiles."—Elinor Dill.

A "Guide for Pupils and Parents" was distributed to eighth grade pupils in the civics classes. The purpose of the guide was to help pupils select ninth grade courses. Required subjects in the general course include English, American History and Physical Training. The scientific course (College Preparatory) requires English, American History, Algebra, Science and Physical Training. Compulsory for the academic course (also College Preparatory) are: English, American History, Algebra, Latin, and Physical Training. The commercial course offers: English, Commercial Arithmetic, Business Training, American History and Physical Training.—Shirley Anderson.

The 8-1 shop class visited the Sigmond Elmer plant on Bridge avenue Tuesday. The class was supervised by Joseph Verdure, the teacher. Members of the class met in the main office and made a complete tour of the plant. The boys saw how the machines are operated and how uniforms are made. The pupils asked the guide, as they went around, 12 questions which had been given to them previously by Mr. Verdure. The class is also planning to make other trips to Merritt's machine shop and to the Commercial Press.

The members of the class are Bernard Hoffman, Clyde Lindner, Terry Doremus, Billy Ottinger, Billy Sherwood, Wallace Smith, Bob Gallagher, Eric Emt, Robert Benowitz, Robert Warren, Billy Graham and Larry Weinstein.—Larry Weinstein.

A fire inspection was held Wednesday and junior high school was found in good condition. Harold Wilson of the fire underwriters of the state of New Jersey inspected the building. The inspector told the principal, Chester Wilhelm, some of the repairs that have to be made. One of these was to have two new plugs in the science room.

Mr. Wilson checked all light switches, fixtures, aerials, fire alarms and all fire equipment.—Albert VanNostrand.

Seventh grade English classes have been making up and reading limericks, which are five lines long with the first, second, and fifth lines rhyming and the third line rhyming with the fourth line. The students in the class are William Ayres, Carol Bennett, William Boyd, Whitney Conrow, Joyce Crawford, Alice Dix, Corrine Emt, William Erickson, Barbara Francis, Joseph Fuller, Richard Gilbertson, Richard Handy, Irene Hoffman, Margaret MacDonald, Judith Mazza, Margaret Molnar, Elvira Morris, Charles Quolette, Irene Palmer, Shirley Safran, Katherine Scalzo, Edith Schuster, Gail Stoolhoff, Elizabeth Sweeting, Marjorie Terhune, Jeannette Ullery, Louis VanPelt and Diane Widger.

The teacher is Mrs. Agnes Oakley.—Diane Widger.

One of the important deteriorations in Europe accompanying the overthrow of the Roman Empire was the abandonment of sound farming practices which had been developed by the Romans.

J. Wilson McBride Is Bank President

J. Wilson McBride last week was elected president of the National Bank of Englishtown to succeed the late Edward T. Rooney. Mr. McBride has been a director of the bank since 1932 and its vice president since 1941. Before World War I he was employed in the bank as a clerk, a position he resigned to enter the army.

Burling Replaces Perskie On Bench

JUDGE ALBERT E. BURLING

Judge Albert E. Burling of Camden, who will replace Justice Joseph B. Perskie of Atlantic City tomorrow as an associate justice of the State Supreme court. His nomination by Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll last week was immediately confirmed by the senate.

A member of the court for two seven-year terms, Justice Perskie is one of the few high court officials in modern times to be passed over by a governor after his application had been submitted. Judge Burling was appointed to the circuit court in 1942 by former Governor Charles Edison. Justice Perskie said "I am grateful to the people of the state for the opportunity of having served them the past 14 years. I manifested that gratitude by trying to discharge my duties honestly, fearlessly and with utter disregard of the political machinations on the part of anyone."

MISS MENIGAR ENGAGED

Mr. Scholz, who is employed by Western Electric, served in the army six years and was overseas four and one-half years.

County Sets Date For Seawall Hearing

The Board of Freeholders last week set April 2 at 2 p. m. for a public hearing on a resolution under which the county will participate with Sea Bright borough and the state in the cost of constructing a new sea wall in that borough. It also passed on final reading a resolution appropriating an additional $11,000 for the purchase and installation of electrical machinery for operation of the Belford draw-bridge. The original appropriation for this work was $25,000.

The board awarded to the Fred McDowell Co., Neptune, a contract for road reconstruction materials on their bid of $124,405, the lowest of five received. The Link Radio corp., New York city, the only bidder, was awarded a contract for a new transmitter for WAJC, the county police radio, on a $3,000 bid. The board took under advisement a letter from Avon borough in which the county was informed a new jetty will soon be needed in that community and from Wall township asking improvement of a bridge at Shark River station.

Adult Education School Planned For This Area

Eleven Municipalities Are Represented On Directors' Board

It is estimated that 1,000 persons will enroll in a newly organized adult education program, which is the result of work by men and women from 11 Monmouth county municipalities.

Plans were announced at the Rumson high school last Thursday night, at which time representatives from the interested municipalities were present. The meeting was in charge of George Reid, a member of the Rumson board of education.

The adult education program plan, which is modeled on schools now operating in Montclair, East Orange, Morristown, Glen Ridge, Mount Holly and North Newark, contemplates holding fall and spring series of courses, each continuing one night a week for ten weeks with tuition fees ranging from $2.00 to $3.00.

At the last meeting of the Rumson board of education, use of the Rumson school for the adult education program was granted. Members of the board said they were only too glad to donate the use of the school for such a worthy purpose.

The communities interested in the program are Red Bank, Fair Haven, Rumson, Little Silver, Atlantic Highlands, Highlands, Sea Bright, Oceanport, Shrewsbury, Eatontown and Middletown township.

Capt. Willis C. Conover, a retired army officer, now living in Middletown township, was elected acting chairman of the program. He has been holding informal planning meetings during the winter and has been consulting with educators from Princeton, Rutgers, Stevens Institute, New York university and nearby school systems. Wylie G. Pate, supervising principal of the Middletown schools, and Charles A. Wolbach, supervising principal of the Rumson schools, are advisers of the program.

Mrs. Ruth Gahn of Rumson was elected secretary of the organization and Donald W. White, former member of the Red Bank school board and publicity director of the Red Bank PTA, was chosen treasurer.

The program has been organized on the "Monmouth Adult School," "Monmouth Leisure Hour School" or "Monmouth Forum" were mentioned as possibilities.

Courses in the school will fall in the following general categories: world affairs, languages, public speaking, music appreciation, understanding of good books, photography, foods and clothing, dancing, contract bridge, for beginners, sewing, badminton, handicrafts and stenography.

The board of directors for the school is as follows: Clarence E. Lovejoy, member of the Oceanport school board; Harry Green, Little Silver attorney; Ross King, member of the Little Silver board of education; Mrs. Fraser Kingland and William Russell of Fair Haven. Dr. Thomas McVey, former mayor of Atlantic Highlands; George Reid, member of the Rumson school board; Paul Young, Red Bank district school clerk; David Russell of Shrewsbury, president of the Red Bank Community Chamber of Commerce; Robert Maltz of Eatontown and Mrs. Jerome H. Meyer of Sea Bright.

The next meeting of the officers and directors will be held tonight at the Rumson high school and will be open to the public. The Rumson PTA has been investigating the proposal for adult education courses and it is believed other PTA groups and community clubs will lend their support.

The new Monmouth adult school probably will have a salaried part-time director and executive secretary. Plans will be adopted during the spring to launch the opening series in October.

Mrs. Mary O'Brien Has 85th Birthday

A party was given Sunday for Mrs. Mary A. O'Brien of Middletown, formerly of Leonardo, by her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Kaiser of Leonardo. The occasion marked Mrs. O'Brien's 85th birthday.

Mrs. O'Brien received many gifts and cards of congratulations. The party was attended by four generations of her family. Others present were Frank O'Brien, Raymond and William O'Brien of Middletown; Miss Mae Britton, Highlands; Nicholas Kaiser, Jr., and Barbara Ann Kaiser, Leonardo, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. ## 'Student Prince' To Be Produced By Catholic High

McCue, Chevalier Have Lead Roles; Was Produced In '32

Sigmund Romberg's "The Student Prince" will be presented by Red Bank Catholic high school students April 17 and 18, with Vincent McCue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCue of Long Branch, and Dolores Chevalier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Chevalier of Leonardo, in the lead roles of Prince Carl Franz and Kathy.

Tickets for the annual production went on sale Tuesday afternoon, and the advance demand indicates that capacity audiences will greet the show, which was last performed at the Catholic high school in 1932, when William Maloney of Long Branch and the former Miss Madeline Kridel of Atlantic Highlands had the lead roles. A matinee will be given at 3:30 p. m. on April 18.

Mrs. Dorothy Littlefield of Philadelphia, famed dance director and show personality, again directs the dance routines. Sister Mary Eleanor, school principal, is directing the cast, and Sister Mary Mercy, music director, is coaching the singers and choruses.

Others in the cast are Joseph Kellenyi of Eatontown, Dr. Engel; Samuel Marks, Robert Douglas and Paul Coleman, all of Long Branch, student friends of the Prince, Lucas, Von Asterberg and Detlef, respectively; Jose Lorent of Long Branch, Gretchen; George Vaccaro of Red Bank, Lutz, the comedy lead; George Trevis of Atlantic Highlands, Ruder, the inn keeper; Marion McCue of Long Branch, Princess Margaret; Jerry Travis of Atlantic Highlands, Capt. Tarnitz; Henry Cloutier of Long Branch, Hubert; Elaine Rager of Long Branch, Duchess; Mary, Elaine of Atlantic Highlands, Countess; Andrew Schindler of Red Bank, Von Mark, the prime minister, and John Casagrande of Belmar, Tony, the waiter.

The "lacksies" will be Samuel Marks, James Robbins, Harry Smith and Frank Hanich. The "ladies-in-waiting" will be Doris McBride, Joan Moore, Martha Conrad, Mary Galpin, Mary Johnson and Patricia Rooney. There will be choruses of peasants, Heidelberg students, ambassadors, court guests and townspeople.

Paul Coleman, who will play Detlef, is a brother of the late George Coleman, who gained considerable commendations for his voice and acting as Dr. Engel in the 1932 production.

PTA Schedules Health Forum

A panel of doctors, led by Dr. Philip L. Costa, Red Bank school health officer, will conduct a forum on "Your Child's Health" under the joint sponsorship of the Junior-Senior PTA and the Mechanic street school PTA at the Mechanic street school auditorium April 1.

Featuring talks by Dr. Frank Pignataro, psychiatrist, Dr. Eugene Newman, dentist and Dr. Costa, physician and pediatrician, the meeting will be marked by special charts on the health records of Red Bank school children. Graphic material also will be displayed to show actual health facilities as they exist today in the borough's five public schools.

Conducted as part of the continuing child health program of Red Bank's Parent-Teacher associations, the meeting will also include a musical interlude.

Sodalists See Passion Play

Members of the Blessed Virgin Mary sodality, of St. Anthony's church, attended a performance of the Passion play at Hackensack Sunday. The local group will present a play, "Mary Magdalene," in the River street school auditorium next Sunday afternoon and evening.

Sister Assunta spoke on the life of Mary Magdalene at a sodality meeting last Thursday in St. Anthony's hall. Announcement was made of a mission to be held next Sunday and Monday at St. Anthony's by Rev. Tarcius Farley.

Propose Widening River Plaza Road

Edwin H. Brasch, former county road supervisor, was re-elected president of the River Plaza Taxpayers' association at its last meeting at the River Plaza fire house. Fred H. Fink, Sr., was elected trustee for three years and Charles E. Thompson was named membership chairman.

A representative of every family in River Plaza will be invited to the next meeting Friday night, May 9, at the fire house when the purpose and activities of the association will be explained. The proposed widening of West Front street through the village will be discussed.

St. James Church Lists Services For Holy Week

To Have Additional Mass Easter Sunday; Program Outlined

The schedule of services for Palm Sunday and Holy Week at St. James church were announced yesterday by Msgr. Joseph T. Casey, pastor. Palm Sunday will be celebrated at 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. and the 6:30 mass next Sunday and distributed at each mass thereafter.

Confessions will be heard Wednesday afternoon between 4 and 6 o'clock and in the evening from 7:30 until 9 o'clock. Msgr. Casey will celebrate Holy Thursday's mass at 8 a. m., at which the boys' choir of the high school will sing. The procession to the special repository will follow the mass. In the evening, the Monsignor will conduct holy hour, starting at 8 o'clock. He will deliver the sermon.

Mass of the Pre-Sanctified will also be offered by the pastor Good Friday at 9 a. m. From noon until 8 o'clock the devotion of "Three Hours on Mount Calvary" will be conducted. A Franciscan father will preach. The service will end with Stations of the Cross, after which Veneration of the Cross will be observed. Stations of the Cross will be conducted in the evening at 8 o'clock, again followed by Veneration of the Cross.

Holy Saturday ceremonies will begin at 8 a. m. with blessing of the new fire. Paschal candles, and Easter water, after which a high mass will be sung by Msgr. Casey at 9 o'clock. There will be an additional high mass Easter Sunday. It will be celebrated in the school auditorium at 10 a. m. and will be sung by the boys' choir. The other masses will be on regular schedule, 6:30, 8, 9, 10 and 11. There are two masses at 9 o'clock, one for adults in the auditorium and the other for children in the church.

A Jesuit father, Rev. Thomas S. Bowden, former president of Creighton university, will visit the parish Easter. It is expected he will lay the ground work for the "Institute of Social Order," a program tentatively scheduled for St. James in May.

Lincroft Girl Falls From Car

Lois Ann Creswick Dies In Hospital

Lois Ann Creswick, three-year-old daughter of Edwin R. and Bernice Klipp Creswick of Brookdale farm, Lincroft, died at Brookdale hospital Sunday from a broken neck and a fractured skull suffered a short time previous when she fell out of the rear door of the Creswick car on Newman Springs road in front of Brookdale farm.

Mrs. Creswick was driving at the time of the accident. She was alone in the car with the child, who was riding in the rear of the family sedan, the two rear doors of which were supposedly locked. State police who investigated, advanced the theory that the child inadvertently unlocked one of the doors. Walter Maher, an attendant at the state hospital, Marlboro, saw the mishap, and rushed the child to the hospital in his car.

Mr. Creswick is treasurer of the Red Bank Lumber and Supply company of 9 Wall street. The family, originally from Bayonne, had also lived at Washington, D. C., before moving to Lincroft about a year ago.

Besides her parents, the child is survived by two sisters, Janet Creswick, six years old, and Edwina Creswick, six months old.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at the Worden funeral home with Rev. George L. Grambs, pastor of Trinity Episcopal church, Bayonne, officiating. Interment was in Fair View cemetery.

PTA Endorses Pascoe Plan

The Shrewsbury township Parent-Teacher association last week adopted a resolution endorsing the Pascoe plan, which provides increased state aid to municipalities for education.

The association sent $40 to the Monmouth County Dental clinic office to make up a deficit for dental care given children of Shrewsbury township. Mrs. Randolph Hallett will be a delegate to the county conference. Miss Katherine Cooper, public health nurse, spoke on "Social Hygiene."

Police Arrest Six Connected With Warehouse Theft

Leonardo Men Held In Theft Of Building Materials

By arresting five men during the week, the Atlantic Highlands police and members of the county prosecutor's office have discovered the theft of $20,000 worth of equipment from the Atlantic Investment company warehouse on Bay avenue. Reported thefts of a quantity of paint from the warehouse 12 days ago, put police on the trail. A sixth man was arrested this morning at Jersey City in connection with the case.

The warehouse, owned by the company of which Harry Hauser is president, was stocked with materials and equipment which the company was going to use for building veterans' homes.

Arrested were Joseph Bush of Red Bank, Leonardo, jailed at Freehold awaiting grand jury action; Alfred Carlock of Hamilton avenue, Leonardo, who will be arraigned at Freehold this morning; Jeffrey Cloutier of route 28, Leonardo, freed on $1,000 bail for grand jury action. These three men are charged with stealing and removing goods from the warehouse; William Senn of Ridge avenue, Leonardo, also will be arraigned at Freehold today, charged with receiving stolen goods; William Hoelle, also of Leonardo, a painter employed by the company, is free on $5,000 bail awaiting jury action on a charge of theft. It was Hoelle who informed police of the original paint theft and under questioning revealed a series of other robberies and had implicated the others.

According to Mr. Hauser, 200 kitchen cabinets, light fixtures, cooling ranges, iceboxes, kitchen equipment, plumbing supplies and building materials had been removed from the warehouse.

Chief Sterling Sweeney of Atlantic Highlands said that several employees had passed keys to the warehouse. The company does not employ a watchman at the warehouse.

Chief Sweeney reported: this morning that Michael Sogga, a Jersey City painting contractor, was arrested at Jersey City this morning on charges of receiving stolen goods. According to the chief no charges will be made against him at Atlantic Highlands. He was arrested by Capt. James Egloff of Atlantic Highlands and Detectives John Gawler and John Green of the prosecutor's office.

Hadassah Chapter Has Fashion Show

Wilhelmina Dobbins Displays Clothes

A wide variety of spring fashions were shown at the annual membership meeting of the Red Bank chapter of Hadassah last night at the Jewish Community Center by Wilhelmina Dobbins, shop. Models of the Hadassah school of dancing entertained.

Mrs. Dobbins was commentator for the show, which was highlighted by a wedding party. The bride's gown, modeled by Miss Shirley Meltrich, was white tulle, made with a high neckline, long sleeves and a full bustle back, which fell into a long train. Her veil was French illusion net, scalloped along the edges. She carried small sprays of white stock and white snapdragons.

The bridesmaids' gowns were similar in style to that worn by the bride, of old blue tulle, and matron of honor wore fuchsia tulle. All the flowers carried by the bride party were designed by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Spivak of Rumson.

Prints were popular for the afternoon gowns shown, including fuchsia and white scroll designed dress made with a double ruffle peplum and a blue and white printed dress was designed with a full draped skirt. All the suits had the new, long-jackets and longer skirts and were both sport and dressmaker style in wool, crepe and in faille.

Most of the sports dresses were cotton. More than 200 persons attended. Mrs. Milton Gerard was chairman.

Minstrels Saturday At St. James School

The Holy Cross minstrels will be presented Saturday night of this week in the Red Bank Catholic high school auditorium for the benefit of the Rumson Veterans' Memorial fund. Several performances were given in Rumson recently and many late the show as "tops" among local talent productions.

One of the "ands" is Billy Raucher of Highlands, a high school student, who has stopped the show with his feats of magic. The production is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. William Turner of Highlands, former residents of Red Bank, who for many years appeared professionally on the stage.

The show will also be given tomorrow night at Convention hall, Asbury Park, for the benefit of a war veteran.

Sea Bright Adopts Bond Ordinance

Boro To Contribute $60,000 For Sea Wall

The $60,000 bond ordinance representing Sea Bright's share of the sea wall to be erected along Ocean avenue between the two bridges was adopted by the mayor and council of that borough last Thursday night. The total cost is $700,000, with the county and state contributing the balance. A hearing on the project will be held April 2 at Freehold by the freeholders, at which time it is expected that preliminary matters will be taken care of to permit advertising for bids for the job at an early date.

The council authorized the installation of a two-way radio set between police headquarters and the police car with the county radio station at a cost of $800, and a taxicab license was granted to Frank Clambrone of Rumson.

Mayor Thomas M. Farrell issued a proclamation urging the residents of the borough to contribute as generously as possible to the cancer drive in April.

Bids for the garbage contract will be opened at the next meeting April 3.

When Councilman Jack White, chairman of the fire committee, reported purchase of fire equipment amounting to $450, Councilman Neils Jacobson, a member of the committee, protested that he had not been consulted regarding the purchases. Mr. White contended that as chairman he had the authority to buy the equipment. This led to a discussion as to the eligibility of Councilman Daniel O'Loughlin, a third member of the fire committee, holding office on the council. Mr. O'Loughlin has been absent for several meetings and both Mayor Farrell and Councilman Jacobson contended that he is not a legal resident of the borough.

Delegates to the County Council—George Morvan, Sr., and Daniel Blacksmith.

It was also announced that a few positions on the post softball team are open and tryouts for candidates will be announced by Coach John Leach. The post is practicing on East field, Belford, in a determined drive to reach the top rung of the newly formed Monmouth County Softball league.

County Gas Strike Dispute Settled

The state board of mediation Tuesday brought about a settlement of the dispute between the County Gas company of Atlantic Highlands and its production and distribution workers. It was announced yesterday.

The settlement calls for a 14-cent hourly wage increase, a compromise between the demands of each side and one cent lower than the amount recommended by Gov. Discolli's public hearing panel. It is expected that control of the plant, taken over by the State Department of Labor March 14, will revert back immediately to private operation.

Atlantic Highlands To Sell Bonds

The Atlantic Highlands mayor and council Tuesday night introduced an ordinance to sell $8,000 in bonds to purchase a standby generator unit for the well at the water works.

The Sharnon Realty corporation, owned by Harry Hauser, made application for a liquor license to operate what is to be known as the Harbor View tavern on First avenue, formerly the site of Rhoades restaurant.

Since objection was voiced by Mrs. M. Louise Conover, a public hearing on the application is scheduled for March 31.

Marlane Co. Plans Marble Structure

Still Negotiating Store Leases—Manson Application Turned Down

Surgeon Killed As Tractor Falls Over Steep Bank

Death Cuts Short Promising Career Of Dr. George Beekman

Dr. George Crawford Beekman, 32, of Holland road, Middletown, resident surgeon at Lenox Hill hospital, New York city, died suddenly Sunday afternoon, a few minutes after he was admitted to Riverview hospital from injuries received when a tractor he was driving went over a ten-foot embankment on his father's farm and overturned.

The Marlane company is negotiating leases for the stores in its proposed building, the size of which will depend somewhat on these leases. In all likelihood a department store and two or three other units will occupy the building.

Marlane plans to erect a two-story, marble-front structure with a marble-front return of 30 or 40 feet on Canal street. An official of the company told The Register yesterday that it would be "the finest and most modern store building in Monmouth county." The building permit was granted with the proviso that the building be constructed 22 and 65/100 feet back from the north curb line of Canal street.

Mrs. Manson had planned if her request was granted to sell her property at Broad street and Newman Springs road to a Paterson lumber company.

Mr. Safran plans to appeal to the zoning board of adjustment for an exception in his case on grounds of hardship.

The next meeting of the board will be Friday night, April 11, at 8 o'clock at the borough hall. Members of the board are Willis A. Clayton, George K. Hoppling, Eli D. Powers, Ferdinand A. Wessell and Robert A. Kennedy.

Shrewsbury Post To Make Dugout

Plan To Renovate Cellar Of Building

Shrewsbury post, American Legion, at a meeting Monday night at their Riverside avenue home accepted 11 new members and made plans to renovate the cellar into a "dugout" recreation room.

Walter Boskey, Sr., Raymond Brower and Harry Aumack volunteered to assist in the mason and electrical work and other members offered to perform other services to complete the work.

New members are William J. McKenna, Charles Marvel, Joseph G. Bocciauto, Adam G. Kretowicz, William K. Warden, Wallace B. Mackey, Louis M. Drazin, Miss Sophia Walters, Carr W. Turner, John A. Pettillo and Walter H. Narozick. Commander Harold Adamson accepted the resignation of Joseph A. Koch as service officer and appointed William W. Dennis to succeed him.

George Gray was named chairman of a committee to form a post ritual team, which will perform at funerals and ceremonies.

The post voted to cancel its previous offer to use part of its grounds to erect the honor roll wall. It is removed from its present location on Broad street. The size of the board, was given as the reason.

Harry Hurley Dies

Harry H. Hurley, 53, of 139 Monmouth street, died Tuesday afternoon of a heart attack. He was born in Shrewsbury, son of the late Harthorne and Ella B. Hurley. He had been a resident of Red Bank for 30 years.

Mr. Hurley was employed at one time by Elliott's stationery store and later operated a newspaper route of his own.

He is survived by a brother, Charles W. Hurley, and a sister, Mrs. Catherine Dickson, both of Long Branch.

The funeral will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Mount Memorial home, with Rev. John A. Hayes, pastor of the Red Bank Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will take place Saturday at Greenlawn cemetery, under the direction of the Mount Memorial home.

$5,000 DEATH SETTLEMENT. Mrs. Daniel Sutherland, formerly of Belmar, received a $5,000 settlement this week through her attorney, Theodore D. Parsons, from the Standard Bitumino, a Delaware corporation. Her husband was employed at Belmar by the company in March of 1945, when he suffered accidental injuries, which, according to Mrs. Sutherland, were the cause of his death about a day later.

The Red Bank zoning board of adjustment has authorized the granting to Marlane, Inc., a subsidiary of Cronheim Realty company, Newark, a permit to build at the southeast corner of Broad and Canal streets. It has refused a request of Mrs. Edna Manson of Alton court to have her property on the northwest corner of Broad street and Newman Springs road changed from a business to an industrial zone. It has also upheld Building Inspector Enslay M. White, who turned down an application of Max Sanford, proprietor of Max's bar on Maple avenue for a permit to add two rooms to the living quarters at the rear of his bar. Mr. White contended that a store in front of a dwelling is a non-conforming use, and to permit the enlarging of a non-conforming use would establish a precedent for 59 other properties falling in this category.

The Marlane company is negotiating leases for the stores in its proposed building, the size of which will depend somewhat on these leases. In all likelihood a department store and two or three other units will occupy the building.

Weddings

THONY-MEYER

Miss Lucia Thony of Davos-Platz, Switzerland, and Charles F. Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Meyer of Port Monmouth, were married Sunday at the Keyport Lutheran church. The couple met while the bridegroom was serving with the army in Europe.

MRS. CHARLES F. MEYER

The bride chose a gray wool suit, with white accessories and a white veiled hat. Her corsage was of gardenias. Miss Isabelle Maxson of Chapel Hill, was the bride's only attendant. Her costume was navy blue, her accessories white, and her corsage was of pink flowers.

John Whalen of Neptune was best man and Mrs. Richards of Oceanport was an usher. A reception followed at Murphy's at East Keansburg.

The bridegroom's mother wore a black dress, trimmed with Roman stripes in varied colors. She had matching accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

The couple will reside on Chestnut street, Port Monmouth.

Operated Upon For Appendicitis

Richard Sheppard of Wallace street, an employee in the mechanical department of The Register, underwent an operation for appendicitis Tuesday at Monmouth Memorial hospital.

Middletown Village

Frank Weinheimer of Laurel avenue, principal of Rumson high school, is attending a vocational guidance conference at Columbus, O., representing the state.

There will be an all-day meeting of the Needlework guild Tuesday at the Reformed church.

The Woman's auxiliary of Christ Episcopal church will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. W. B. Spofford, Sr.

Twenty-three members of the 1-5-8 Women's Republican club of Middletown township attended the annual spring luncheon of the United Women's Republican club at the Molly Pitcher hotel Friday.

Mrs. Thomas H. Morford, a club member and resident of Middletown township, is retiring president of the organization.

Dr. and Mrs. Wylie G. Pate spent the week-end in New York city.

Kenneth Robinson, representing the Public Service Gas company of Newark, has been attending a meeting of utility company personnel in Boston.

While at the meeting he read a paper "Our Position in Wholesale Baking."

Miss Phyllis Mount, who is attending Oak Grove school at Vauxhall, N. J., is home for the Easter holidays visiting her mother, Mrs. Field Mount.

Miss Joyce Hance, who is a student at the School for Social Research at the University of Chicago, is spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving W. Hance, Sr.

Dr. and Mrs. Graham Erdwurm are parents of a son born recently in New York city.

Dr. Erdwurm is the son of Mrs. Florence Reed of Little Silver, a former resident of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor E. Grossinger attended a dinner party in New York city Saturday, with a group of friends.

Edward W. and John M. Swackhammer of New York city, spent the week-end with their mother, Mrs. E. W. Swackhammer.

Rumson

W. Elmer Ether of 29 Bingham avenue has resigned as treasurer of Ellington & Company, Inc., effective April 1, to devote his entire time to public accounting and tax work.

He will specialize in advertising and banking fields, where he has had extensive experience in operations and audit examinations.

Officer Seth Johnson was the recipient of "many happy returns" from friends when he attended the dinner given last Thursday night by Oceanic Hook and Ladder company for its members who served in the armed forces.

A member of the police department 18 years, Seth, who is well-known throughout the borough and popular among his colleagues on the force, received felicitations during the day from his many friends on his 44th birthday.

Word has been received from Seattle, Wash., that Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hammond, formerly of this borough, are the parents of a son born March 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Horton of Bingham avenue are parents of a daughter, born Sunday at Monmouth Memorial hospital.

April Bride-To-Be

Tendered Shower

Miss Elizabeth Hughes of River road, gave a bridal shower last week for Miss Elizabeth Carton, who will be married Saturday, April 12, to James Quinn.

Mrs. Lida Zingale, Mrs. Hazel Henderson, Mrs. Pauline Wright and Miss Helen Finn were welcomed as new members at last week's meeting of the Legion post auxiliary. Mrs. Mildred Roberts presided. A hand-knitted baby set, made and donated by Mrs. Christine Hayes, was awarded to Mrs. Clara Langley of Red Bank. A brush party was held at the close of the meeting, the door prize going to Mrs. Rose Moyes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hengartner and daughters Diana and Ellen of Englewood were recent guests of Mrs. Hengartner's aunt, Mrs. Mary Kuegler of South street.

Mrs. Anna Aumack of Lewis street has been elected president of the Deputies Association of Monmouth and Ocean counties, Sons and Daughters of Liberty. The next meeting of the association will be held April 17 in borough hall.

Henry Sihler, who recently resigned as assistant cashier of the Eatontown National bank, is now associated with the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency as an assistant banking examiner in the New York Federal Reserve district.

The frames were called out Tuesday about 11 a. m. and extinguished a small blaze in a storage room in the rear of the second floor apartments in the Stillman building adjoining the bank. Damage was slight.

Mrs. Genevieve Cort and son William of Freehold were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schick of Lewis street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Potter and Mrs. Esther Tilton of Asbury Park spent Sunday with Mrs. Potter's sister, Mrs. Florence Knight.

A game party was held Monday night by Pride of Crescent council, Sons and Daughters of Liberty and was attended by 30 members. A Pollyanna and birthday party will be held next Monday when "secret pals" will be revealed.

John Ousterman will sing "The Palms" at the Palm Sunday morning service at 10:30 o'clock in the Methodist church, Rev. Dunham V. Reihng will preach on "The Great Procession." The sermon topic for the 7:30 o'clock evening service will be on "Incidents in the Life of Christ."

Several applications have been received by Police Commissioner Fred S. Morris for the positions of police officers. Two are to be appointed.

The word "ventriloquism" is derived from the Latin "venter," or belly, and "loqui" or to speak, and originally was supposed to result from a peculiar use of the stomach during the process of inhaling.

They are: Belford Methodist, New Monmouth Baptist, Leonardo Baptist, Navesink Methodist, Highlands Methodist, All Saints Episcopal, Navesink, and Quinn chapel, St. Paul's Baptist, Central Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches of Atlantic Highlands.

The services to be held at 8 p. m. begin Monday and continue through Friday. Rev. J. Hillman Coffey of Highlands will preach Monday in All Saints church; Rev. Paul J. Myers of Belford will speak Tuesday in Central Baptist church; Rev. Charles P. Johnson, rector of All Saints church, will preach Wednesday in Quinn chapel and Rev. William C. Goodwin of St. Paul's Baptist church, will bring the Communion meditation Thursday in the Belford church.

A Good Friday service will also be held from 2 to 3 p. m. in the Atlantic Highlands Methodist church, with the pastor, Rev. Roy E. Williams, Jr., in charge. At the Friday night service in the Leonardo church the united choral society, under the direction of Rev. E. S. Wolf, will render Maundy's "Olivet to Calvary."

Oceanport

A double celebration took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fesler Saturday evening. It was Mr. and Mrs. Fesler's 13th wedding anniversary, and Mrs. Fesler's birthday. Guests were Mrs. Cecil McCloud of Red Bank, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Fesler and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fesler, all of Long Branch, and Conrad J. Yagles and Leroy Fesler of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Witte of West Orange were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McGregor over the week-end.

Mrs. Charles Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tyler, and daughter Judy, and Mrs. Charlotte Brills, all of New Rochelle, N. Y., have been spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt.

Mrs. Charles Walling spent Monday at the flower show at Grand Central palace, New York.

Mrs. Charles Prothero, Sr., Mrs. Kenneth P. West, Mrs. Louella Lockwood, Mrs. Kathryn Morris, Mrs. Arthur Crochet, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McGregor and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Kinkade attended a card party at West Long Branch Wednesday evening of last week. Mrs. McGregor was awarded a large homemade cake.

The property of Sgt. and Mrs. Larry Myers of Arcana avenue, has been purchased by Sgt. E. Conklin of Little Silver. Sgt. and Mrs. Myers are planning to go to New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Balch are spending several days at Buffalo, N. Y., before starting for California.

Mrs. A. T. Willens and children, formerly of this place, have arrived safely in Hawaii, where they were met by Lt. Willens. Mrs. Willens writes that she had a pleasant journey.

Mrs. Jean De Eshart and daughter Roberta of New York, were week-end guests of Mrs. Eleanor Forbes.

Mrs. John Biel, Mrs. Wallace

McGregor and Mrs. Thomas Ross attended the annual Republican dinner at the Molly Pitcher hotel Thursday.

Mrs. John Bramley of Trenton spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Kathryn Morris.

Little Silver

Cpl. John Galvin of the State Police addressed the Little Silver School Safety Patrol at the monthly meeting yesterday. Safety in bicycle riding was stressed and some of the pupils wrote compositions and made posters on the subject.

School will close next Thursday noon for the Easter vacation and reopen the following Monday.

Mrs. Hattie Morris has returned home after a winter's stay at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Close to $300 was taken in from all sources at the recent men's supper in the Methodist church hall.

Woman's Society of Christian Service has given $100 to the new parsonage fund, $50 to the current fund of the church and an electric sweeper for use in the parsonage.

Mrs. Mabel Hurley, Mrs. Mattie Johnson and Mrs. Carolyn Bucklin have united with the Methodist church on confession of faith.

The Methodist Sunday school's victory party will be held Saturday, April 13, in the social hall.

The Little Silver school fifth and sixth grade basketball team was defeated Saturday by the fifth and sixth graders of the Fair Haven school by a score of 13 to 0. Group 2 team upset the group 1 five in a game played Wednesday of last week on the school auditorium court by a score of 18 to 10. Charles Myers and Arthur Appy, pupils of group 3, were the referees.

Michael Cataldo, who moved here with his parents from Jersey City, is a new member of the seventh grade in school.

The intermediate group is building a grocery store in the classroom as part of a study of community helpers.

Rev. Furman A. DeMaris pastor of Embury Methodist church and member of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting association, will direct the daily Abundant Life Service meetings in the tabernacle during August, replacing Dr. George W. Henson, association president.

Sara S. Bolce has returned to her home on Woodbine avenue after a vacation at South Pines, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Johnson of Sunnycrest drive are parents of a son born Monday in Monmouth Memorial hospital.

Amusements

CARLTON.

"Sinbad the Sailor," a swash-buckling movie, which stars Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Maureen O'Hara and Walter Slezak, will be on the screen today, tomorrow and Saturday. The story is built around fabulous treasure, turbulent romance and intrepid deeds of daring on land and sea. It is in technicolor, and its lavishness gives the atmosphere of "The Arabian Nights."

STRAND

The first of a new Hopalong Cassidy series is part of the double feature booked with "Singin' in the Rain," which will be shown through Saturday. William Boyd, who has been "Hopalong" 11 years, is again starred and he is supported by friends Andy Clyde and Randy Brooks. The name is "The Devil's Playground." Judy Canova stars in the other picture, a lively musical comedy which features such songs as "Pepita Chiquita," "An Old Love Is a True Love," "I'm a Gal of Property" and "Ma, He's Making Eyes At Me."

Wylie-Dean Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wylie of Vanderburg have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Betty Ann Wylie, to Richard A. Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dean of Coll's Neck.

MISS BETTY ANN WYLIE

Miss Wylie will be graduated from Red Bank high school in June. Mr. Dean attended Union high school and Rutgers university. He is a laboratory technician for Merck & Company at Rahway.

Holmdel

The Federated church has been invited to share in several services Holy week. At the Marlboro church April 5 at 7:30 p. m., a religious movie, "Journey Through Faith," will be shown. At Coll's Neck Reformed church, service of Holy Communion will be held Good Friday evening.

Charles Applegate is a new teacher in the Sunday-school for the juniors, who were previously under the supervision of Donald Swartwout.

The fire company was called out Sunday to put out a fire in the house on the Martin and Brown farm, formerly the Henry Lohse farm. Mr. and Mrs. S. Vansle are living in the house. A room over the kitchen caught fire and with prompt attention from the firemen very little damage was caused.

Nathaniel Cheek, son of Edward Cheek, is in Fitkin hospital with an injured thigh.

Mrs. Harry Pitcher and Mrs. William Pitcher spent Saturday at the flower show and at Radio City.

About 60 people attended the moves at Fellowship hall Thursday evening by Harold Holmes and about $20 was collected for Bibles for new scholars of the Sunday school.

Holmes Duncan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Duncan, celebrated his 21st birthday Thursday evening of last week with a dinner party. He returned Tuesday to the University of Tennessee. William Duncan, a younger brother, returns today to Blair academy.

Edward Gaar of Keansburg bid for the John McGrath estate on Middle road at a township auction held recently for taxes. He purchased it for $1,000. Sole survivor of the estate is Mrs. Bridget McGrath, who is in a nursing home.

East Keansburg

A meeting of the Civic association will be held tonight at the fire house.

Mrs. E. J. Hahn and Mrs. Claire Lambert have returned from Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Engelman celebrated Mrs. Engelman's birthday Monday by a trip to New York city.

A motion picture entitled, "The Life of Christ," will be shown by Lawrence Gardner at Bay Shore Community church Thursday night, April 2, at 8 o'clock.

The Women's guild of the Community church will hold a bazaar May 29, 30 and 31.

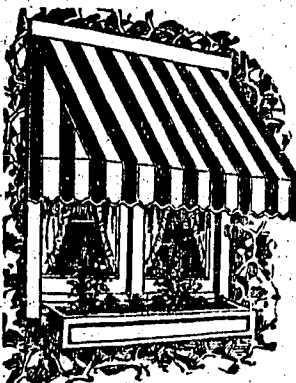

The junior women of this place are disposing of an electric toaster on the co-operative plan.

Winners of the merchandise club of the Women's guild of Community church were Miss Annie Shaw of this place, Mrs. Mary Rice of Newark and Robert Murphy of Bedford.

Convalescing from recent illness are Mrs. S. Black, Mrs. Ada Bernston, Mrs. Agnes Ellefson, Mrs. Nora Carew, Miss Ethel Rowland and Mr. Brube.

Word has been received from Mrs. Anna Brach from Texas that she recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Balbach, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Emil Sehnick and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schnoor, who are sojourning in the South.

I Love to Read the Ads

Like any merchant I look over the ads in the papers every week, and if ever I was convinced that low overhead keeps prices down, some ads I saw recently confirmed my belief. Here are some items that were advertised recently and our prices on the same merchandise:

	Other Ads	Our Price
Rollaway Bed and Mattress	$21.88	$19.50
5-Piece Dinette Set, Side Leaf Extension, four chairs	74.95	69.50
Chicken Feather Pillow	2.55	1.95
Chrome Chair, curved back	7.95	7.50

There's no special trick to our low prices. It's simply that we don't have large salaries to pay and most of all no terrific rent to shell out every month. Our savings on these things are passed along to our customers.

Our "hard to get" department received this week: Revere Copper-Clad Stainless Steel cooking utensils; plenty of congoeum rugs, sizes 9x12, 12x12 and 12x15; and the complete 1947 line of Thayer Baby Coaches and Strollers. Now more than ever "IT PAYS TO TRY US FIRST"

Packard Announces All-New Convertible

A 1948 Super-Eight Convertible, "new from the tires up," has been developed and thoroughly tested by the Packard Motor Car Company, T. C. Otto, local distributor, disclosed today.

Describing it as "America's first all-new postwar convertible," George T. Christopher, president and general manager, said the car will go into quantity production in June as a supplement to the present Clipper line. This is the new model about which he hinted last fall, Christopher added.

Everything in this Super-Eight Convertible is brand new, from the tires up. Packard spent nearly $1,500,000 in engineering and tooling-up for this model, its first new convertible since 1941. This fact will be readily understood by all who see its fine quality and striking design.

Inadequate supplies of materials and parts, including specially-built frames, will prevent the company from hitting its production stride on the convertible before early June, but the introduction of the new model will not halt or delay production of the current Clipper eight and sixes.

Before the tooling-up was authorized, Mr. Otto says, the convertible was put through "unusually tough" tests at the Packard proving grounds, including a motor run the equivalent of a year's normal mileage at consistent speeds between 70 and 80 miles an hour.

Among many standout features of the new car are flush-contour motive design, with no bumps or protrusions, and a new 145-horsepower engine, which contains the best of everything Packard has learned about powerplants in the past 48 years.

The convertible has no rear fenders, the body itself extending in simple sweeps over the wheels. The massive bumpers, whose long arms reach almost from wheel-opening to wheel-opening, are integral parts of the car, instead of just being hung on. Part of the cooling air enters through the front bumper, which also serves as a section of the grille and Packard identity is not only preserved but enhanced by the distinctive front design.

The new straight-eight engine, which develops nearly one-half horsepower per cubic inch displacement, is the first to be developed by Packard since World War II, when the company built 13,000 PT Boat powerplants and 87,000 aircraft engines.

Other features of the Super-Eight Convertible include an instrument panel with keys that push for both "on" and "off." The keys stay in constant alignment along a chrome strip at the bottom of the panel. The dials are softly illuminated by "black light," which eliminates night-time glare and reflections. The airplane-type steering wheel is made of a steel core covered by tough plastic, with chrome inserts. All four windows move silently up or down at the touch of a button. Each passenger has an individual control, but the driver can operate all four windows from a master set of buttons at his left. The entire top rail of the body is made of stainless steel to prevent rust.

The top is trimly tailored of new fabric which has a generous addition of rayon for better appearance and greater durability. The top is raised or lowered at the touch of a button, and locked or unlocked at the turn of a single lever. It folds flush in to the well in a matter of seconds.

The upholstery is made in smart new shades of bedford cord and a war-developed plastic material that has the look and feel of leather but even greater durability.

As the power-operated front seat moves forward, it automatically rises to maintain back support. The cushions are padded with foam rubber. Front seatbacks swing aside and permit passengers to step easily to the rear compartment. The car is equipped with pull-to, no-twist door handles.

A new Refresh-Aire System brings fresh air into the car through a series of built-in ducts. It permits driving in rain, with windows closed and adequate ventilation still provided. This ends annoying window fog, and also circulates air to backseat passengers as well as those in front.

The Super-Eight Convertible will be available in six new colors—Packard Ivory, Cavalier Maroon, French Blue, Black, Golden Green and Sardinia Brown.

The car's 120-inch wheelbase makes it easy to handle—for women and men alike. It has more usable space and less car noise than any convertible previously built by Packard, which—by the way—has produced more convertibles in proportion to its total output than any other company in the industry.

The new model will be on display at the show rooms of T. C. Otto, Inc., Broad street and Harding road, where the local public is invited to inspect same.

All-Star Hoop Game Set For Saturday

"Nite Of Stars" At Convention Hall To Benefit County Red Cross

The third annual "Nite Of Stars" will take the spotlight at the Asbury Park convention hall Saturday night when the all-star basketball game will be played for the benefit of Monmouth county chapter of the Red Cross. The event, sponsored by the Red Bank Exchange club, is being promoted by Jerry Breslow and will have in action hoop stars from high schools in the county.

Johnny Doerr, popular Keyport high school coach, will be guest coach of the northern county stars, while Vic Hirsch, who brought St. Rose of Belmar through a successful court season, will coach the southern quintet.

Players chosen to represent Northern Monmouth county are Richie Mastria and Warren Booth of Red Bank high, Jack Keelen of Red Bank Catholic, Gus Zambito of Matawan, Tom Altkas and Ogden Schank of Keyport, Fred Britton and Don Rackley of Atlantic Highlands, Walter White of Rumson and Charley Reilly of Leonardo.

The southern luminaries will include Frank Rubino and Lou Silver of Long Branch, Joe Falco and Tony DeSarno of Asbury Park, Mel Sepeides and Sal Grasso of Neptune, Ray Kuzava of Freshford, Jack Manutti of St. Rose and Don Greer and Frank Fairfax of Manasquan.

A preliminary game, scheduled to start at 8 p. m., will be a display of court power. Keyport Taxi A. A., winners of the northern title in the Monmouth-Ocean county league, will meet St. Peter's Claverites of Asbury Park.

Kislin's, Stoble's Battle For "Y" Title

Championship of the Community YMCA basketball league will be decided at the River street gymnasium tonight when Kislin's Sea Hawks tangle with Stoble's Bar five. The Sea Hawks are the first half winners, while Stoble's gained second half honors with a stirring 48 to 45 victory over Westside on Tuesday night.

Westside and Stoble's had ended the second half in a deadlock, causing Tuesday's playoff.

In Tuesday's game, Westside led most of the way, but Stoble's tied the score with two minutes to go on a long set shot by Ralph Mazzucca. Joe Vincent gained temporary respite for Westside on a tap-in, but Ralph DeGennaro tied it up again with a side shot. With three seconds remaining Bill Geroni was fouled when in the act of shooting. He sank his first free toss and the victors elected to take the ball rather than the second shot. On the throw-in Jim Vaccarelli zipped one through the cords to insure victory.

Ben Yasko Goes To Homestead Club

Ben Yasko, former professional at Fort Monmouth country club, was named pro at Homestead Golf club this week by Tony Yonadi, one-armed owner of the Spring Lake Heights club. He succeeds Gene Kunes.

Although his tournament golf has been limited, Yasko was New Hampshire Open champ in 1941 and he has a reputation as a hefty driver.

Apy Family Has Hoop Team

Councilman Chester Apy of Little Silver has realized a not-uncommon prediction of bridegrooms, in that he has an athletic team within his family. Tuesday night in the Little Silver gym he and his four sons combined to defeat the Little Silver Hi-Y basketball team, 32-18. To complete the picture, Mrs. Apy was official scorer.

In posting the victory, Chet, Jr., 15, racked up 16 points to become high scorer on the family quintet. The "pater" was next with ten and Art, 13, was third with six. Ed, 10, and Doug, 8, went scoreless as they fed the ball to their older kin.

Councilman Apy is a broker in the New York Stock Exchange and is pastor of the Second Advent church in Eatontown. Besides his councilmanic duties, he is active in civic affairs. He is also Little Silver police commissioner.

Atlantic Highlands

Mayor Paul Kieran of Long Branch addressed the Lions club Monday night at the Homestead Inn.

The citizens' committee for the Sea Scouts will award a car radio and two tires tonight at the Atlantic theater. The proceeds will go toward acquiring a building for the Sea Scouts.

The final judging of the boat model contest sponsored by the Sea Scouts will be held at the end of this week, Lieut. Louis Meister of the Sandy Hook Coast Guard station will judge the 50 models. The Scouts are still continuing their paper drive Saturdays.

Capt. James Egido of the police force, officiated at two basketball games Friday played by the Highlands Police Athletic league. The borough is waiting for the repair of two blowers for the operation of the incinerator.

Plans are in progress for a Memorial day service to be sponsored by all veterans organizations in the borough, it was announced by Jerry Rich, commander of the Sandy Hook American Legion post.

The Catholic Veterans, which now number 50 members, are planning installation of officers next week, it was announced by Henry Rich, commander. Rev. John R. Torney, county Catholic veteran chaplain, addressed the group this week at St. Agnes hall.

Mrs. Joseph Ryan of Memorial parkway has recovered from an attack of pneumonia.

Carolyn Jean is the name given to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Everson of Union Beach. The child was born March 2 at Monmouth Memorial hospital. Mrs. Everson is the former Miss Dorothy Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ryan of Memorial parkway.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schaffer of East Washington avenue are parents of a daughter, born Saturday at Monmouth Memorial hospital.

TO START SOFTBALL

Middletown VFW has appointed John Leach coach of their softball team, which will be a member of the Monmouth county softball league. Coach Leach said that several positions are still open. He intends having try-outs for candidates when weather permits.

Snyder Makes Report On Fire Insurance Rates

Earle S. Snyder, head of the insurance firm of E. Snyder and company, submitted his report in writing to the mayor and council of Atlantic Highlands Tuesday night on the reclassification of the borough by the State Fire Insurance Rating organization and the recent announcement of the reduction of fire insurance rates.

Mr. Snyder's report follows: Having been out of town for the past week, during which an important announcement was made of interest to your body and to the property owners of Atlantic Highlands, I take this earliest opportunity to make a report.

Approximately two years ago I made a request of the mayor and council which was granted, authorizing me to take steps with the fire insurance rating organization, the official state body, to obtain a reclassification of the borough on the basis of an all-year residential community, rather than a seasonal town. To this end I submitted statistics with regard to the present number of summer residents as compared to the past, received through the direct co-operation of the borough water department, through the borough clerk, the borough collector's office, the borough assessor's office, the County Gas company, the late Mrs. Bowtell, the Southport Realty company and through further indirect co-operation of the Jersey Central Power & Light company, the Central railroad of New Jersey and of other local public-minded individuals and organizations.

The rating office pondered the information submitted for a considerable time, pending their own engineering checkup, and eventually assured me of an early decision. Atlantic Highlands, effective March 15, 1947, has been reclassified for fire rating purposes as an "all year town" and not a seasonal resort, with a resultant reduction in fire insurance rates on frame dwellings as a class of 30%; on brick dwellings of 41% and on other classes of property approximately the same ratio, except on specifically rated property, which may benefit by a reduction of the general town charge on application for re-rating. These changes do not apply to policies in force until expiration, although policies may be cancelled on a pro-rata basis and rewritten for no less than the original amount for a new full term if desired. This new rating is approximately 10% lower than the rates in effect before the increase made by the Fire Insurance Rating organization in 1938, and compares favorably with the rates of the non-seasonal nearby fire districts.

This change has been accomplished without the expenditures previously required for reclassification (as made known to the borough at the time of last rate increase), namely, for an extra warehouse, for a pump, for a fire alarm system; for rethreading hydrants for standardization; for a equipment in connection with a neighboring water supply system; for full-time paid drivers for the fire trucks; nor for the adoption of fire-prevention municipal building code. As of which is possible for the borough to conform to will entitle Atlantic Highlands to a still lower rate, comparable with any in the county.

Plan To Enlarge Scout Troop 8

The executive committee of St. James' troop eight met Monday night and heard Monsignor Joseph T. Casey, pastor, outline plans for greater boy scout activity in the parish.

Action to enlarge the troop and possibly form another was initiated. A committee of den mothers will be announced. They will form cub packs in order to recruit future scouts.

Committees were appointed for a father-son dinner which will be held in the school cafeteria April 16.

John Hopkins and Adam Kretowicz were named on the executive committee. Others attending the session were Theodore J. Lasek, John F. Mulvihill, Sr., John Finnegan, Sr., John Ryan, Edward H. Haeley, Joseph Hintelman, Sr., Scoutmaster Robert Sargent and Frank T. Wise, Sr. Another meeting will be held in two weeks, at which time final plans for the dinner will be made and an extensive training program for the summer outlined.
