Courier to 'Drop In' On Gen. Washington

EATONTOWN — Valley Forge was never like this. Gen. George Washington has come a long way in 180-odd years, according to a release from the Monmouth Shopping Center Merchants Association.

Next Tuesday, Washington's Birthday, the general will arrive on a white horse at the center to greet his wife, Martha, who is coming in a horse-drawn carriage. His arrival will be heralded by a 13-gun salute from a cannon.

After Gen. Washington has inspected his troops — 13 of them, one for each of the original colonies — parading in Revolutionary War uniforms at their campsite in an area at the front of the center, he will receive a message from his Indian scouts in Freehold — by parachute.

The aerial courier will be Nick Piantanida, Brick Township parachutist, who will bail out of an airplane at 7,500 feet, free-fall to 2,000 feet, and land in the shopping center parking lot to deliver the Indians' message to the father of our country.

After the jump, general, wife and parachutist will distribute 1,000 Japanese cherry trees to children and 300 cherry pies to the first 300 adults to come to the celebration.

Tonti Scratches Race for Senate

HOLMDEL — Garden State Parkway executive director, D. Louis Tonti, took himself out of the bidding yesterday in the sweepstakes for Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator.

In a statement from his home here, Mr. Tonti did what former Monmouth County Judge John C. Giordano urged him to three weeks ago: Forsake politics and stick with vital parkway projects he has under way.

D. Louis Tonti

Judge Giordano had tendered his unsolicited advice in the role of a long time friend right after Mr. Tonti's name had been added to a list of possible opponents for two-term incumbent Republican Clifford P. Case.

In the meantime, Mr. Tonti's chances have seemed to quicken so that, until he withdrew, he was being mentioned as among three or four finalists.

Democratic leaders are now regarded to be conjuring among John C. Bullitt, a relative newcomer to New Jersey government imported from Washington to head the state's anti-poverty fight with an image of the Great Society; Rep. Cornelius J. Gallagher, of Hudson, and Mayor Thomas Whelan, of Jersey City.

Mr. Tonti said by way of encouragement to fellow Democrats that he thought Mr. Case could be beaten “by a Democrat who will present the issues forcefully and dramatically.”

While tempted to seek the opportunity, he said, he is determined to stay with the New Jersey Highway Authority and see to completion extension of the parkway in the new Central Jersey Expressway system and construction of the Garden State Art Center.

This, in part, is his statement: “Before reaching a decision on a matter of such importance,” he said, “it was necessary that I do a certain amount of soul searching.”

“For about 12 years I have dedicated all my efforts to the state of New Jersey and I am proud to have played some part in seeing the Garden State Parkway reach the position it now enjoys as one of the nation's leading transportation facilities.”

“Ahead of us is a most exciting project; the construction of the Central New Jersey Expressway System.”

“The Garden State Parkway will be a substantial and important part of that program. Here is a project that stimulates the imagination because upon its completion this highway system will infuse new economic life in Monmouth, Ocean and Middlesex Counties and will have an impact on the future growth and welfare of our entire state.”

“Few men, having devoted a major portion of their careers to a specific field of endeavor as I have to highways, are presented with an opportunity to participate in such a challenging and vital project.”

“In fact, quite recently I informed the commissioners and Sylvester C. Smith, Jr., chairman of the Garden State Parkway, a man whom I hold in high regard, that it was my intention to work with them in sharing the heavy responsibility inherent in this and other exciting projects that are currently contemplated on the parkway.”

“The facets of the program include precinct councils comprised of a cross section of people of the area which meet each month with the police captain of their precinct and discuss problems and make suggestions, an advisory commission of clergymen appointed by the mayor to give advice on civil rights; a “Wednesday Open House,” during which anyone can come to the director and make suggestions and criticize; a mandatory human relations course for all policemen; a Human Relations Squad of about 40 persons, half Negro, who are called to a potentially explosive scene to try to calm tempers; permission for civil rights leaders to accompany police in patrol cars and see what the police contend with, and a program in which policemen go to seminars with poverty stricken minority group members and discuss mutual problems. In the last case, all participants are paid from anti-poverty funds.”

In his speech before the club, Mr. Spina contended that the “apathetic citizen” was primarily responsible for today's “massive avalanche of crime,” which he called a “national disgrace.”

Noting that 44 per cent of the major crimes in this country are committed by persons under 18 years old, Mr. Spina cited the “tremendous decrease in family amity” as reason. He added that 75 per cent of the people in trouble with the law are from broken homes, and statistically that 75 per cent of the young people in trouble are destined to become repeaters.

Mr. Brause stressed that the plan to move the Chelwood Beacon, which has been aground off Sandy Hook peninsula since Jan. 23, is tentative and dependent on satisfactory weather and tide conditions.

During the past two weeks oil has been removed from the tanker to the Hess Oil Co. in Perth Amboy to lighten it.

The Chelwood Beacon will be towed by Merritt-Chapman and Scott's specially equipped salvage vessel The Cables.

Short Housing May Stall Freehold Urban Renewal

FREEHOLD — The proposed through urban renewal project for the business district meets eligibility requirements on a basis of need but may be bogged down because of a lack of housing for displaced families.

Councilman Alfred E. Sanders said yesterday these offsetting conclusions were reached Tuesday, at a mid-planning conference of local interests and federal public housing authorities.

Faced with this problem, Hanes Bassoff, Local Public Agency director, said that he has asked the public housing administration at New York to conduct a survey here to determine what facilities the borough needs.

A public housing project which may be needed, he said, is not part of the renewal program and could have been requested separately earlier.

But adequate housing for those who must vacate the urban renewal areas must be available or planned by July when the federal government is expected to consider the Part I application for loans and grants, he said.

Studies made for the Local Public Agency, Mr. Sanders said, did determine that the borough does not have sufficient housing to relocate about one-third of the 81 affected families.

One study indicated that there are less than 15 possible locations available here for the 27 affected middle and low income families, said Mr. Sanders, council representative on the Citizens Advisory Committee for Urban Renewal.

Federal requirements states that an agency must prove financial ability, plan acceptance and housing availability, Mr. Sanders said, adding that without any of these the program could be brought to a halt.

He said a representative from

Library Board Elects Officers In Fair Haven

FAIR HAVEN — Officers of the Fair Haven Public Library Board have been named for 1966. Charles Howard is board president. Mrs. Edward Daubenschmidt is secretary and Col. C. R. Haig is treasurer. James Robertson is council representative. Committee chairmen are Mrs. C. Donald English, books; Mrs. Frederick Parker, volunteers; and Mrs. Harold G. Haas, publicity.

The librarian's annual report shows 10,564 books on hand. It indicates that 41,300 books were borrowed last year.

Library budget figures have held the line and will not affect the municipal tax rate. Funds received from the local Community Appeal will be used this year for the purchase of books.

Prosecutor

"A procedure is spelled out for obtaining a permit to purchase a pistol or revolver, or for the firearms purchase identification card together with a fee of $2. The permit to purchase shall be valid for a period of 60 days from the date of the issuance and may be renewed by the issuing authority for good cause for an additional 60 days. A firearms purchaser identification card shall be valid permanently, or until such time as the holder becomes subject to any of the disabilities heretofore referred to."

"The bill provides for fingerprinting of purchasers and those who would apply for permits to carry pistols and revolvers, since this is the only effective means of checking one's background."

"Should Not Offend"

"Fingerprinting in an application for a privilege, the misuse of which could cost one or more lives in a split second, is hardly unwarranted. It should not offend persons to whom this privilege should be extended."

"I would hope to find sportsmen and others seasoned in field activities among strong supporters of this section."

"The bill would also permit minors to obtain permits for hunting upon acquiring a license and completing a hunter's safety course. Certainly fathers and sons who hunt together should welcome such an added safeguard."

"Recognizing that, occasionally, licensing authorities may be inarticulate or wrong, Assembly Bill 166 opens the way for prompt county and Appellate Court review of rejected applications. The law guarantees uniformity throughout."

"Monmouth, one of the fastest growing communities in the nation should be a safer, happier place to live with the enlightened regulations offered in this bill."

"Families of widely varying backgrounds and interests, geographically and emotionally, are being thrown together very rapidly in an area which gets smaller every day. The law would permit a maximum of enjoyment and minimum of restriction for each one of us."

"As prosecutor, I perhaps more than most in our midst recognize the frequency of tragedy from guns, and the loss inflicted not only among the wounded but upon totally innocent wives, husbands, mothers, fathers and children."

"Public officials, I believe, have an opportunity at times such as these to speak out for, and otherwise support, measures helpful in prevention of crime, violence, and mishaps of all kinds. Avoiding such pitfalls usually is more easily attained than is prosecution and punishment of the one responsible."

Shrewsbury Planners OK Lot Plan

SHREWSBURY — The Planning Board last night approved the consolidation of two lots at the rear of Red Bank Auto Imports, Inc., 119 East Newman Springs Rd.

Richard M. Matthews of the foreign car agency said the firm plans to build a 30-by-76-foot extension of its service department on the newly created lot.

The showroom is a non-conforming use in the zone, but the planners judged a 1958 variance granted to the firm to be valid.

The board also gave unofficial approval to plans for construction at the Lawes Coal Co., Sycamore Ave.

The coal company wants to demolish coal bins and a shed and replace them with a building for storing fertilizer. It would be a metal building set back 202 feet from the road.

The planners called for a complete site plan before putting the proposal to a vote, but stated the application seemed to be in order.

Homes Entered And Ransacked

RUMSON — Two homes were discovered entered and ransacked yesterday.

Police Chief William H. Zerr said a maid reported the first one at 8:44 a.m. at the home of H.G. Rossbach on Bingham Hill Cir.

Around noon a police patrol discovered the other at the near-by home of Edward Scher, 141 Bingham Ave.

Expressway

Line of the new parkway loop will be built about five miles farther west, in Manalapan Township. Such a decision is unlikely, however, he added. The first outline had had it even farther west, in Millstone Township.

"We are agreed with the Monmouth County Planning Board," Mr. Tonti said, "that a more western route would better serve the future development of the rural areas of the county."

"But it would not best serve the majority of people who will use the road now and in the immediate future and from whom we must collect tolls to make the road pay," he declared. Monmouth planners recognize that fact and have accepted it, he added.

Mr. Tonti said that while the general routing is about fixed, except for the north end, Task Force representatives are talking with county officials about details and will confer with municipal officials where questions may arise.

The speaker made no effort to conceal his concern about resolving the Woodbridge versus New Brunswick terminal issue.

Though he did not ask for an expression from the 75 officials, who represented 14 of the county's 53 municipalities, in his audience, Mr. Tonti said afterwards he may seek backing for the Woodbridge location from the Monmouth Board of Freeholders.

State Sen. Richard R. Stout, R-Monmouth, 5th, has already said he favors a New Brunswick connection. But Mr. Tonti said he believes the Planning Board and freeholders do not agree.

For its part, he added, the Turnpike Authority says it wants to co-ordinate the new parkway in its New Brunswick interchange at Rt. 18 rather than have a new turnpike connection created in the Woodbridge area, making four in a nine-mile stretch.

The Task Force plan would put the Woodbridge connection above the Raritan River at Rts. 1 and 40 and would provide a new river crossing five miles west of the present parkway and highway department spans.

Financially, Mr. Tonti said, the elimination of the new bridge, with a 55-foot clearance fixed span, would reduce capital costs by $1 million. But estimated revenues would fall by 329,000 the first year and build to $585,000 in 1965.

Furthermore, Mr. Tonti said, the turnpike would have to spend for widening north of New Brunswick and would get no increase in revenues for its added expense. He listed these other points as drawbacks:

— The idea of a new center state corridor from urban and industrial centers to Monmouth and Ocean County resorts and inland towns would be lost.

— A new Raritan River bridge, now to be paid for out of tolls, would be eliminated and the state Highway Department would have to build a river crossing, with a higher clearance, to handle the crush of traffic in the Woodbridge area from the new Verazano-Narrows bridge.

And such a bridge probably couldn't be financed for several years.

— Relief of heavy congestion of the existing parkway in Monmouth County, now averaging 38,000 cars a day in the summer will be frustrated.

"No one," Mr. Tonti forecast, "will come from North Jersey and go west to New Brunswick to come back east on the new parkway to go south. Instead they will switch to the present parkway and it will be jammed worse than ever."

"We have promised relief of that road via the new parkway but won't be able to give it if the new line is changed."

Zone Boards Told They Should Have Court's Air

LONG BRANCH — A zoning board of adjustment should sit in the capacity of a judge and jury and its meetings should have the decorum of a court room, says a planning specialist.

If not, meetings would become debates and not presentation of facts, said Irwin J. Silverlight, an attorney specializing in planning and zoning law, at the last of five work sessions of the Monmouth County Planning Board last night.

Meetings were at the Shadow Lawn Savings and Loan Association auditorium.

Each meeting should begin with a short speech from the board chairman outlining the procedure for that evening, Mr. Silverlight said.

The public should be told, he said, that witnesses will testify and be cross-examined on each case presented and that public views will be asked for at the proper time.

But he cautioned that the board must not be susceptible to public reaction. It must rule on each case as it applies to the ordinance, he said.

The burden of proof on each case rests on the applicant, Mr. Silverlight said. He added that a zoning board is a negative agency and should not approve applications haphazardly.

The board must be prepared to face two serious problems, he said. One is the emotional complaints from residents in affected areas and the other is that some residents believe that board members have personal interests in the cases.

"There is nothing more impressive to the public," he said, "than to see a board member disqualify himself on an application when he does have some interest or had prior dealings on a case."

A zoning board must interpret the zoning ordinance and may reverse a ruling set by an administrative body, he said. He explained that the board must

RED BANK — As part of a statewide drive to rally support for a state income tax, 16 members of the Red Bank Area League of Women Voters will circulate a coloring-book type of flyer, "Get Well Soon Dear New Jersey," tomorrow morning among shoppers in supermarkets in the Red Bank area.

Mrs. A. James Barker, Rumson, will co-ordinate the distribution, assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell, New Shrewsbury; Mrs. Octavius Pitzalis, Fair Haven, and Mrs. Robert Serfass, Little Silver, as area captains.

TV Set Stolen At Anderson's

RED BANK — Someone broke the display window at the front of Anderson's Music Store, 30 Broad St., and stole a nine-inch television set this morning.

Patrolman Paul Lang, who discovered the broken window at 3:47 a.m., said everything was in order when he checked doors on Broad St. around midnight.

Detective Herbert A. Swanson investigated. He said muddy shoe prints at the scene indicated the thief was driving rather than walking.

Planners Delay Library Talk

SHREWSBURY — A Planning Board discussion of plans for the county library failed to materialize last night.

County officials were scheduled to seek approval of the site plan and a subdivision for the structure to be built on a seven-acre portion of the former Straus Estate on the east side of Broad St.

Charles P. Laucaro, board chairman, said the county was not prepared to proceed, and the hearing had been postponed to March 16.

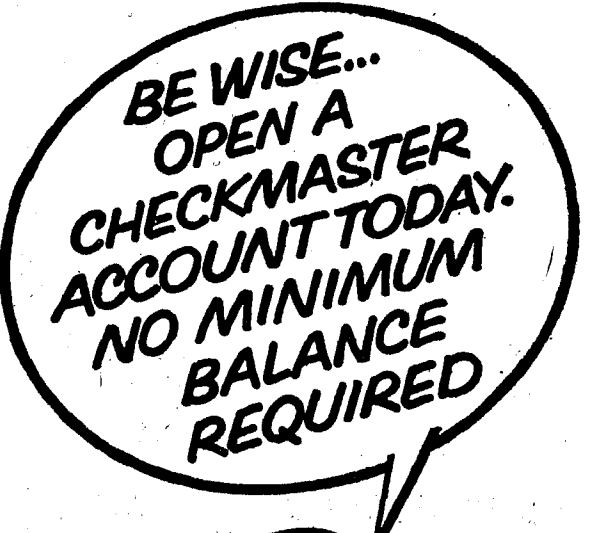

He said notice of the postponement had been mailed by county attorney to nearby property owners, but Joseph T. Grause, a Red Bank attorney who said he was representing Mr. and Mrs. David Marx of Sycamore Ave., said he had received none.

weigh each case against the code and must determine what effect it will have on the community.

He suggested that each board have its own attorney if it expects to work to capacity. Separate attorneys for Planning Board and council eliminate any possibility of pressure from one group influencing the other, he said.

Good zoning requires liaison between the board and the Planning Board, he emphasized. He suggested that they exchange minutes to keep each informed of the other's activities.

Once an application is approved by the board and goes to the Planning Board, the lots must be considered as conforming lots, even if one is substantially. The Planning Board can only disapprove an application if it rules that approval would be detrimental to the public good. But he quickly added that the zoning board should have ruled on this before hand.

General Gavin's Caution

Although President Johnson's spectacular publicity moves temporarily drowned out the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's hearing on U.S. Asian policy, the testimony of retired Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, once chief of army research and development, is worth some consideration.

General Gavin's views gave little comfort either to the doves or the hawks; perhaps the owls might claim him for their own. His central theme dealt with possible Communist Chinese reactions and moves.

He doesn't think we can afford to withdraw from Viet Nam, but he is also against escalation of the war there that could lead the Communist Chinese to reopen the Korean front.

He thinks the war will spread, as it is, to adjacent areas; that the decisive battle will be fought in Thailand rather than Viet Nam.

He thinks we should do the best we can with the forces we already have in Viet Nam. He believes the Communist Chinese have the initiative and can bring a confrontation where and when they want it; hence, he is concerned about an over-response in Viet Nam.

If there is to be war with China, he thinks Southeast Asia is the wrong place for the U.S. to fight and that the right place is Manchuria, the center of Chinese military-industrial strength.

At the heart of intelligent concern over present Viet Nam policy is the question: Where is the war there taking us with respect to Communist China? It is legitimate concern, because our Asia policy in most of the postwar period has been dominated by the mutual hostility between the United States and Communist China.

American policy in Asia was tailored to fit the global anti-Communist stance of the U.S. Government, specifically its anti-Chinese Communist stance. In the political sense, it was the product of crusading ideological cold war fervor. In the military sense, it was dictated by concern for the long-range consequences to our entire national security system in the Pacific arising from Chinese hostility to us.

Viet Nam is thus only a small chunk of the basic U.S.-Chinese hostilities. It cannot be seriously considered, from the viewpoint of American security interests, outside this context. And we have made too many mistakes with respect to the Communist Chinese not to stop, look, and listen before letting the Viet Nam war grow of its own momentum and escape our deliberate control.

To the extent that inquiring senators press the relationship of the Viet Nam war to the whole issue of Asian policy, specifically China policy, they are getting close to the crucial but fogged, befuddled, and so far avoided center of a continuing and growing crisis.

Highlands School Budget

There should be little doubt now that Highlands' school budget is as austere as it can get.

Voters there turned down the Board of Education's $165,765 spending schedule in the school election. The budget is up only $2,630 from the previous year and would result in an estimated tax rate increase of 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The other night, Highlands' governing body was called in to take a look at the budget—and, if possible, to find some way to reduce it before it goes to the voters again Feb. 23.

Mayor John Bahrs and several council members went over the budget item by item—and said they could see no place where the schedule could be cut. They noted, too, that the board is using all of its surplus and is in danger of operating on a deficit.

"It looks like a pretty tight budget. There's not much to cut," said Mayor Bahrs.

"I want to go on record as encouraging the people to vote for this budget. . . . It is a sound budget."

And so the board voted to resubmit the budget without change.

And if it is defeated again, it will go to the governing body. But it is unlikely the mayor and council will be able to find a spot to make even a token cut.

But let's hope the budget is approved when it comes to a vote again. It is difficult to oppose a spending program that already has been sliced to the bone.

Robert S. Allen, Paul Scott: Inside Washington

Powell Revives Poverty Probe

WASHINGTON — The House Labor Committee's long-moribund investigation of the $1.5 billion anti-poverty program apparently is being reactivated—with Chicago the first target.

This is a sudden about-face for Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

Only a few weeks ago, just as abruptly, he called off the long-lagging probe and ordered the sizable staff of investigators to submit "final" reports. Powell launched the inquiry last fall with much fanfare, after inducing the House to vote $230,000 for it.

Now he is telling his committee he has ordered six staff investigators to dig into Chicago's $21 million anti-poverty program—in which Mayor Richard Daley has a big and controversial voice.

It is also being hinted other cities may be scrutinized. But there is no indication which ones and when.

According to Powell, at least two weeks will be spent on the Chicago probe, with the second week devoted to public hearings. Three New York committee members were designated to conduct the inquiry—Reps. Hugh Carey, D., James Scheuer, D., and Ogden Reid, R.

REPUBLICANS are claiming credit for the sudden reactivation of the investigation. They have long been critical of its do-nothingness.

"Our criticism must have finally bestrided the chairman," says Rep. Charles Goodell, N. Y., a ranking Republican committee member. Noting Powell's abrupt cancellation of the investigation last month, after a "superficial" examination of some 33 areas and spending the bulk of the $230,000 appropriation, Goodell charged the inquiry has been a "farce."

"There has been no broad, thorough and detailed study of the program as Powell promised," says Goodell. "A final 32-page report is supposedly in his hands. But from the nature of the investigation, this reputed report is bound to be superficial, full of generalities and short on constructive criticism and remedies."

None of the 10 Republican committee members has seen this report. Democratic members also say they know nothing about it. And Powell has scheduled no committee meeting to discuss it—if it exists.

AFTER MORE MONEY—in the opinion of some committee members, Powell's latest maneuver is primarily a stratagem to seek another appropriation.

Committee insiders say that less than $20,000 remains of the original $230,000.

Where and how the rest was spent awaits accounting. Committee members don't know. House rules require that investigating committees file monthly reports on outlays and activities to the Administration Committee. Also that every member of the latter committee get a copy of these monthly reports.

But Rep. Goodell, a member of both the Administration and Labor Committees, has seen none. And neither has anyone else. Powell has yet to file a single report.

WHEN POWELL launched this investigation last fall, he set up a subcommittee to conduct it. Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., a junior member of the Labor Committee, was hand-picked as chairman. He claimed public hearings would get under way when Congress reconvened early in January.

But nothing happened—except Powell's sudden announcement that the inquiry was being dropped. This was as much news to Gibbons as to everyone else.

Now, again ignoring Gibbons, Powell has revived the probe and named another subcommittee to make it. It remains to be seen how far it gets—other than perhaps providing Powell the basis for trying to wangle more money.

Sylvia Porter: Your Money's Worth

How to Save on Taxes

Millions of us were hit by 1965's drought—and we are now entitled to deduct casualty losses resulting from that unusual and severe calamity. The intensity of the present drought is highlighted by President Johnson's designation of the Delaware River Basin and Service Area as a major disaster area due to water shortage.

While this area covers only New Jersey, Delaware, parts of New York and Pennsylvania, and all of Long Island, the drought is equally destructive in other regions. To prove this, get and keep copies of newspapers and magazine articles describing the destruction in your area.

Where the drought is sufficiently unusual and severe, you, as a homeowner, can deduct as a casualty the loss in value of your home and grounds which results from death of trees, shrubs and lawns because of lack of water. This loss is equal to the value of the property with all the live greenery, less the value of the property with the greenery dead. The deduction you can take on your return is this total less $100.

YOU CANNOT deduct as a casualty loss the expense of new shrubs, trees, and lawns to replace those that died—but the cost of these new items can be a measure of the loss you sustained on the dead greenery.

You may be able to deduct for loss due to a dried up water well, if the drought is calamitous enough, but you cannot deduct the cost of digging a new well either to replace a dried up well or to supplement your existing water supply. Nor can you deduct as a casualty loss the cost of buying water.

If you live in areas vulnerable to torna-does, floods, etc., here is an important reminder. If between Jan. 1, 1965, and April 15, 1966, inclusive, nature causes severe damage and results in the President designating your location as a disaster area, any deductible casualty loss you suffer because of this disaster can be claimed on your 1965 return. You will have until July 15, 1966, to decide whether you prefer to deduct such a loss on your 1965 return or to deduct it on your 1966 return—which you will file in 1967. If you have already filed your 1965 return when the pre-April 15 disaster occurs and if you want to deduct it on your 1965 return, you should file a refund claim or an amended 1965 return claiming a refund.

IF YOU WERE hurt by vandalism damage in 1965, you now have another court decision upholding your right to take a casualty loss deduction for such damage. In this case, a collector of fine china, glassware, and other art objects left 13 barrels of such items in a new apartment which she had rented just before going on a trip. When she returned, she found the contents of the barrels spread over the floor in broken, scratched or otherwise damaged condition. Many items were missing. The Circuit Court held that those items which were "smashed or broken" or "missing" were deductible casualty losses. Those which were "soiled or crushed" were deductible if caused by the vandalism but not if caused by slowly accumulated moisture. Here, too, the first $100 of loss would not be deductible.

Another court decision on casualty losses was unfavorable to taxpayers. In this instance, a taxpayer claimed damage caused to his clothing by carpet beetles as a casualty loss and justified his deduction by court decisions which allowed casualty loss deductions for termite damage over periods between 15 and 23 months (the Treasury no longer allows any termite loss deductions.)

John Chamberlain: These Days

Reflections on Death of a Rebel

A quiet man, hardly known at all to the general public, left his farmhouse near Westminster, Md., before breakfast the other day to feed his chickens. This had been his custom — "Feed the stock before feeding yourself." He was found dead in the soft snow near the chicken house, the victim of a heart attack.

The man was Paul Morelock. To readers of Whittaker Chambers' books, "Witness" and "Cold Friday," the name may ring a faint, a very faint, bell. Whittaker Chambers always loved Morelock and his wife Ruth and her two sisters because they had stood by him in the earliest days of the celebrated Hiss Case. This was at a time when people were believing Hiss's claims of innocence of spy charges and spreading the word abroad that Chambers, his reluctant accuser, was a drunkard. Morelock had come to Chambers at the darkest hour and said: "When a man is down, that's when he needs friends to stand by him. Yes, sir, when a man is down, that's when he needs friends. . . . So me and the women came over."

THIS PAUL MORELOCK who loved his neighbor as himself was one of the last truly individualistic farmers in America. A breeder of Angus cattle, and an incidental grower of wheat, he led seven of his neighbors some 15 years ago in a romantic open rebellion against the crop control laws. Believing that a man's home was his castle, and that raising crops for their own (and their animals') consumption was no business of the government, they had put up signs at the entrances to their farms reading, "Government agents keep out!" What followed was swift legal action by the government, which wanted no precedents of independence established.

The irony of it was that Chambers, who was emotionally on Morelock's side, had advised his friend not to fight the administration. Chambers had tried to tell the Morelock rebels that crop controls were the impersonal result of 40-horsepower tractors, self-propelled combines, mechanical corn-pickers, and Aladdin-lamp modern fertilizers, all of which had resulted in an "inconvenient productivity." The majority of farmers, said Chambers, had voted for crop curbs "for the same reason that a fat man takes to diet—ultimately, to prolong his life."

YET WHITTAKER Chambers always wondered whether he had been right in calling the Morelock position "preposterous." Every spring, when the freshets came, Chambers would tell himself that the memory of Morelock's action must be celebrated, if only to remind men that the will to be free of coercion is a good thing in itself. Now that Chambers and Morelock are both dead, who will recall the Morelock rebellion this year when the snows are melting and the rivulets are running in the Potomac watershed?

Well, it so happened that the news of Morelock's death reached me, a friend of Chambers, at approximately the same time that I learned the U.S. Senate had, by its refusal to vote cloture, finally beaten back the attempt to repeal Section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. Romantically, this column had said from the first that the defenders of Section 14(b) would win. Now, if the Chambers logic had been applied to the romantic attempt to stop the progress of compulsory unionism, the men who successfully fought for the retention of 14(b) would have given up long ago. For logic says that the impersonal result of automation in industry must result in "inconvenient productivity," and that no worker should be exempt from the duty of supporting the union that is necessary to force equitable sharing of plenty.

But the logic is wrong, as Chambers instinctively felt. There are always voluntary ways of achieving a desired end. Unions will continue to prosper without compulsion. Crops can be controlled without sending agents into a man's fields. The human animal is ingenious; he can always find a way of solving a problem within the context of a saving measure of free choice.

School Budget Woes

Before closing shop in April, the state legislature may act on a bill banning the system of voting on local school budgets.

The plan would have the blessing of Gov. Richard J. Hughes, and three powerful education groups in New Jersey are considering backing the measure. Legislators in South Jersey would sponsor it.

Impetus was given to the proposal last week when 81 district school budgets were rejected in elections throughout the state.

The "open season" on school budgets really had its beginning in 1963 when 101 were turned down—in part—all, or by voting residents.

Of course there are those taxpayers who feel certain school districts are overstaffed and that their budgets are too high. These are the people, along with others, who constantly must battle soaring property taxes to pay for education for their children.

Some Board of Education members have become discouraged over the turn of events. "We work long hours preparing the budget only to see it blow up in our faces because a group of voters who never voice their opinions at meetings, are against it," one local education expert told this writer.

Educators favoring a proposed moratorium on school budgets say that residents of the state's $23 chapter 7 school districts would still have a voice in school affairs when they elect school board members.

The electorate in New Jersey's 55 chapter 6 districts in mostly large cities do not vote for board members nor do they cast ballots on budget issues.

Representatives of the New Jersey Board of Education, the State Association of School Administrators and the State Education Association met in Princeton last week and discussed the problem.

In Monmouth and in neighboring counties, school budgets have been tossed out by voters at an alarming rate. Legislation to eliminate such budgets would really cause a commotion in schools and homes.

SNEAK Civil Defense air raid test alert due throughout the state next month will find Highlands without a CD director. Job has been vacant since Al Horay resigned last November. Mayor and Council didn't want to get involved in a hassle over the appointment, but time has come to act.

PROTECTION for President Johnson has reached an all-time high due to the Viet Nam war, etc. Whenever LBJ goes riding, a helicopter carrying a Secret Service agent flies over the car. The agent, a marksman, keeps the door open and holds a high powered rifle on his lap. He cases all buildings, windows and suspicious movements, has a running commentary with the President in his auto.

REPORTERS attending the $250-a-plate Democratic state committee dinner tomorrow in Newark won't sit with the paying customers. They'll be fed a buffet in another room. This reminds us of the time former President Truman spoke at a $500-a-plate affair in the Waldorf Astoria, N. Y. No arrangements were made for newsmen so they were shunted to another spot, given spaghetti and meatballs hurriedly bought at a nearby Italian restaurant. The guests enjoyed filet mignon. Truman, told about it, raised hell and ordered a table for the press set up near him.

REPORTS of obscene movies being shown to teenagers are popping up around the county. Recent cases resulted in two men and six minors being apprehended for viewing lewd films in back room of a Wall Township gas station, Rt. 35.

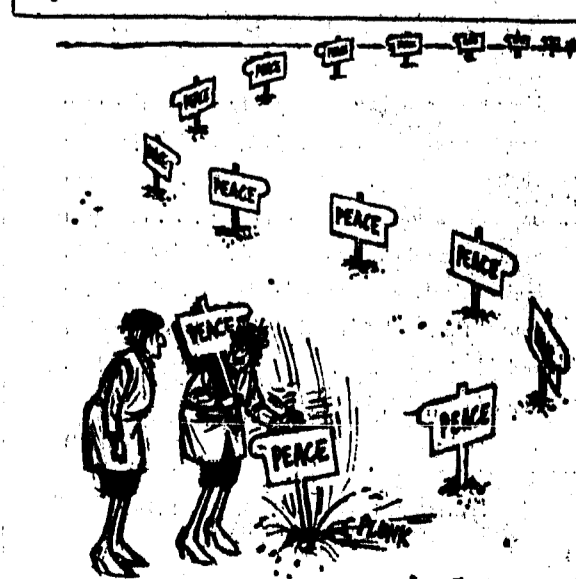

POTPOURRI — There are some Middletown Township Republican executive committee members who are griping because, they claim, Mayor Ernest G. Kavalek is bypassing party workers in making appointments. . . . TONY Roman of Highlands was bitten twice by a big Sea Bright dog. . . . WARNING: Uncle Sam's small business commission, operating locally, says not to be hooked into buying an "allanthur tree," purporting to grow 10 feet in a year. They are merely dead sticks and the gyp netted $2 million in one year in the Asbury Park area. . . .

JOSEPH F. MATTICE, Asbury Park councilman, says he is getting tired and is ready to give up his post as chairman of the city's Democratic committee. . . . COMES spring and a group of friends will tender a testimonial dinner to Sanita Camassa, Long Branch city clerk. . . . WHEN his term runs out in 1969, Gov. Hughes hopes to be named to the U.S. Supreme Court. That's his ambition and, as a former judge, he knows the ropes. . . . THE two warring Democratic factions in Union Beach will never unite and members are only hurting themselves. . . .

HEAVY CONCENTRATION of trailer-campers—many, Democrats—has a great deal to do with voting sentiment in Raritan Township. . . . LOYAL Republicans in western part of county are red hot because Harry Larrison, Jr., of Ocean Grove, an unknown, was named freeholder by party brass. . . . COUNTY Young Democrats who failed to invite Freeholder Eugene J. Bedell to their party two weeks ago should think twice before repeating the political blunder when they hold swearing-in ceremony and buffet Sunday.

MAIL TO GOV. Hughes is now running 10-1 in favor of sales tax over an income levy, but it was 30-1. . . . JEWISH war veterans are sending young Marines in Viet Nam nylon bags containing tissues, gum, ball point pens and nail clippers with letters reading: "Sorry we could not fit a five-foot, two-inch-blond into this size package." . . . MIDDLETOWN Young Republicans say there positively is no anti-Semitism in their midst. . . . HUGHES' new budget covered everything, including $750,000 for maternity and infant care and $3,400 for Board of Mortuary Science, whatever that is. . . . COUNCILMEN Wilson, Penn, Marks and Phillips and Mayor Mazza will be treading on thin ice if they have to run citywide in election May 10.

The Outdoor World

By WILLIAM F. SANDFORD

When bird watchers worry out loud they often draw non-birders into their circle of gloom. The guy without the binoculars may not give a hoot for a horned owl, but if the species is dying out he'd like to know why.

The mortality might not end at horned owls. Once in a purple moon birders become concerned over a super-abundance of a species. Here too there usually is some cause for anxiety beyond the ranks of bird hobbyists.

It may mean nothing, and the concern expressed to date has been relatively mild, but the fact is that along our Monmouth County beaches we now have a concentration of gulls unprecedented in the memories of veteran New Jersey observers. It is a prominent subject of conversation among watermen and habitual boardwalk strollers, as well as ornithologists.

The anxiety stems from the facts of gull life. The genera are scavengers. One of the best places to look for them is on uncovered garbage dumps. Along our surf it's always easy to find the points of discharge of sewer outfall lines. There will be a little flock of gulls riding the surface over each of them.

So the question arises: Why are the gulls flocking to our coastal waters like fruit flies to a vinegar jug?

LAST Saturday two nature groups held field trips along our county's beaches. Gulls made the news for both outings.

The Monmouth Nature Club, with Mr. and Mrs. Gerardus H. Wynkoop of Little Silver as leaders, toured the area from Shark River to Wreck Pond. Their best finds were three "white-winged" gulls at Wreck Pond where there was a concentration of almost 1,000 of the sea birds on the ice. One of the "white-wing" rarities was a glaucous gull, the other two Iceland gulls.

The Monmouth club outing drew 50 participants in weather that would have rated favorable comment in April.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Courtney Norwine of Holmdel (he's the club president) found another "white-wing" on the Passaic Ave. jetty at Spring Lake. It was a glaucous.

Along the beachfront we found that spectacular assemblage. There were a hundred or two gulls on every jetty, and more hundreds between jetties, from Spring Lake north through Belmar.

At the north end of the Spring Lake Beach we met a half-dozen members of the Urner Ornithological Club. They had come down from Newark in response to the news of the big sea bird concentrations. Floyd Wolfarth of Montclair said he scanned the area between Monmouth Beach and Elberon the previous weekend and estimated 10,000 gulls in that small area. The party found the birds as numerous last Saturday in the Deal-Asbury Park area.

The Urner party already had seen two Iceland gulls. Before the day ended for them at Manasquan, they saw seven white-wings, including the glaucous on the Passaic Ave. jetty, which we'd told them about.

WITH A SOUTHEAST wind, there was a strong sewage odor on the beach opposite at least one sewer outfall site last Saturday. At another place there was a slick on the surf, easily visible from the beach. In it many gulls were feeding on something. It may have been garbage.

Gulls by the thousands are just what the birder's doctor ordered. We're not complaining. But knowing the birds' habits, we begin to wonder a little when we find them in such abundance in waters just off our beaches. What are they scavenging?

It doesn't seem likely that our many separate coastal sewerage facilities have all gone into malfunction at once, so over-rich effluent could only be a contributing factor, at most. Inshore drift of offshore garbage disposal during a prolonged period of easterly winds could have more widespread effect.

It could be, of course, that there is an unusually good supply of natural food in our surf right now. The whole gull population may be up this year. Or climatic conditions could have caused an unusual concentration of the birds in our area.

All these factors may have contributed, in some measure, to the phenomenon. While it continues, all of them—and those birds—bear watching.

To Discuss Impacts Of Science

RUMSON — A foreign policy expert, a scholar in the classics and a space scientist will exchange views Monday on the impact of science on the non-scientific world.

The speakers will be Dr. Lawrence H. The conference will be the first visit to Monmouth County in Columbia's National Alumni Program, which has brought leading scholars from the university to 47 cities and six foreign countries.

The discussion is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of Rumson-Fair Haven High School.

Naturally you have some questions about Certificates of Deposit. Here are the answers:

Q. How long must I hold the Certificate of Deposit to earn the 4 1/2% interest rate?

A. Six months to one year — it's up to you.

Q. May the certificate then be renewed?

A. The certificate will be automatically renewed for one or more similar periods as provided by its terms.

Q. How and when will I receive my interest?

A. We will mail you a check or, if you wish, we will automatically deposit the interest in your Monmouth County National savings or checking account at the maturity of the certificate.

Q. Suppose I need my money before the specified maturity?

A. You may have it. The certificate provides that you get your money upon 30 days' notice. However, in this instance, a reduced interest rate must apply. This is a federal regulation.

Q. In what amounts are Monmouth County National Bank Certificates available?

Jail Pro Shoplifters, Magistrate Suggests

LONG BRANCH — Magistrate Stanley Cohen, distinguishing between the absent-minded first offender and the professional shoplifter, told a group of local merchants yesterday that imposing a large fine on a repeated shoplifter is "just giving him a license to steal again."

Speaking before members of the Greater Long Branch Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast meeting in Schneider's Tea Room and Restaurant, Broadway, the magistrate prescribed jail as the only remedy for professional shoplifters. "It takes them out of circulation," he declared.

Asserting that "there aren't many people in the City of Long Branch who are repeaters," Mr. Cohen said his court differentiates between the professional and the first offender. Heavy lines aren't the answer, he said, implying that it might be unjust.

Urges Caution
He admonished the merchants to beware of "professional litigants" who make sure they are seen apparently shoplifting and then, when it turns out they haven't taken the goods from the store, sue the merchant for false arrest.

Mr. Cohen said a businessman should be "very careful" before making a shoplifting complaint and advised consultation with an attorney before charges are filed. Proof that a lawyer was consulted, he said, could be of aid in a merchant's defense if he were sued for false arrest.

On another tack, Mr. Cohen told the audience that his court was "not a collection agency," warning the merchants not to make complaints on bad check charges merely to force payment and then have the charges dropped.

Slow Learner Program Tested

CLIFFWOOD — A new approach to the problem of the slow learner is underway at the local elementary school. The pilot program is under the direction of Ruth Crawford, teacher, and Anthony J. Nuccio, assistant superintendent of Matawan Regional Schools.

The aim of the two-year first grade program, which was developed by kindergarten and first grade teachers and the administration is to help children who are unable to keep up with their class. Children participating were selected because of their indicated lack of readiness for first grade work.

The first grade work will be completed in two years, the same length of time it would take for a student to repeat the grade. The program will attempt to alter the repeat pattern by providing continuity, so that children can build lesson upon lesson.

"Program success will offer district-wide consideration," Superintendent Luther A. Foster reported.

Rumson Zoners Okay Land Split

RUMSON — The Zoning Board of Adjustment last night approved a variance application to split a Bingham Av tract with a non-conforming dwelling.

Earl Hallman, the applicant, was referred to the zoners by the Planning Board because of the lack of proper setback and sideyard surrounding the existing dwelling.

The board ruled in favor of the application due to special circumstances. The 125 by 175-foot tract will be split into a pair of conforming lots.

Hospital Aide Taking Course

LONG BRANCH — Miss Suzanne Phillips, assistant head nurse in charge of the teenage unit in Monmouth Medical Center, is attending a two-week course in leadership management at the University of Pittsburgh School of Nursing.

The course is geared to assist nurses in supervisory capacities to develop and increase awareness of the social process in hospital setting. The course is held in two weekly sessions. The second will be held in early March.

College Library Gets Gifts Worth $17,400

WEST LONG BRANCH — In the past seven months, books and periodicals donated to the Monmouth College library have totaled $17,400 in value.

Mrs. John R. Hobbie, head of the Murry and Leonie Guggenheim Library, said these gifts from 153 individuals and 10 companies and organizations contribute greatly to the college's effort to build an extensive collection.

Donations received include 6,045 volumes; 11,542 periodicals; 65 pamphlets; 132 paperbacks, and 38 records.

CELLI URGE VOTE

LONG BRANCH — Former City Councilman Michael G. Celli last night urged voters to make their preference in government forms known at the polls next Wednesday. Mr. Celli, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the City Council if the government changes, said, "We must impress our neighboring cities that we mean business, and that we mean business in large numbers."

ART DEPARTMENT MEETS

LONG BRANCH — The art department of the Woman's Club of Long Branch studied the art of free hand bronzing, three dimensional floated color on tin, and painting on velvet at its meeting in the home of the chairman, Mrs. H. Carleton Fream, Patton Pt. Mrs. Thurlow C. Haunton presented a prepared article on the history and methods taken from "The Decorator," a publication by the Society of Early American Decoration.

State and County Educators Examine Middletown High

MIDDLETOWN — Middletown Township High School underwent examination by state and county educators when the county superintendent, Earl B. Garrison, and his staff began their evaluation of the high school plant, its curriculum and administration.

The state program of evaluation is a self-study program wherein the administration and faculty are asked to prepare reports in nine areas covering strengths, needs and plans of the school.

The state program is required by school law and all public secondary schools are required to undergo examination at five-year intervals. Approval validates the local diploma and assures the transfer of credits.

The self study began last fall when principal William K. McGill appointed nine faculty members to investigate the areas of administration, instruction, supervision and curriculum development, instructional materials, pupil personnel services, curricular program, co-curricular program, health and nutrition, community relations and school plant and equipment.

Chairmen of the area committees were David Abdelta, Clair Bailey, John E. Bates, Mrs. Geraldine Carton, Francis Caruso, Richard Cole, Robert Kaye, Mrs. Mary Hopkins, and Arnold Truex.

The completed reports were sent to Mr. Garrison in January for study by his staff before they visited the high school.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of last week the visiting committee toured the high school, visited classrooms, watched teachers as they conducted classes, examined the physical plant, queried the administrators, and, finally, met with Mr. McGill and his staff and the area chairmen to evaluate their findings.

Appearing with Mr. Garrison on the visiting committee were county staff members Mrs. Elizabeth Schiffer, Miss Eleanor Morton, Mrs. Margaret Whiting, Miss Jennie Vradenburgh, Mrs.

Marguerite Truesdell, Mrs. Edla Morton and Mrs. Eleanor Englebrecht.

Present from the state Office of Education were Dr. Max Bogart and Dr. Robert Withey. Also present at the evaluative meeting were Donald Hoagland, superintendent of vocational schools, and Middletown's superintendent, Paul F. Lefever.

While official approval will not be made until March, Dr. Garrison observed that "we are very pleased with the whole situation."

The committee did, however, express disappointment that library and guidance facilities did not grow in size as the high school enlarged. Present facilities, they were agreed, are inadequate.

By coincidence, on the same day that the high school was being evaluated for its quality of education, the school budget was defeated—the second defeat in two years.

U. S. Budget Bureau Would Slash $769,912 in County's School Aid

By WILLIAM HENDERSON
WASHINGTON — Twenty-five Monmouth County, N.J. school districts will be cut a total of $769,912 in federal aid, if the Bureau of the Budget has its way. Eatontown would be hardest hit. Slashing these funds is only part of the Administration's plan to reduce education help to New Jersey by $4.7 billion, according to Rep. James J. Howard, D-N.J., 3d Dist.

The congressman said he would fight the proposed cutback by appearing at public hearings on the budget and would seek support when he speaks on the floor of the House of Representatives. The Register learned the education portion of the budget would be discussed in about six weeks.

Some of the county's school districts come under the federal government's "impacted areas aid" program. This means the districts where children of federal employees attend school.

Sees Responsibility
"Congress has the responsibility of sharing in the financial burden of educating these children and we cannot let the burden fall completely on our small municipalities," Mr. Howard said yesterday.

The Register, in breaking down federal school aid figures in Monmouth County, discovered that the Eatontown district was originally earmarked for the biggest appropriation but received the largest cut in funds as proposed by the Bureau of the Budget.

The budget estimate called for Eatontown to receive $52,603 in school aid but, under the new figure, this would be reduced to $405,066, a loss of $117,737, the heaviest of the 25 in Monmouth.

The government had given the Eatontown district the biggest grant because of the number of children attending there whose parents are either part of the personnel at Fort Monmouth or work there.

Long Branch, Asbury Park, West Long Branch, Neptune Township, Belmar, Bradley Beach and Bayshore municipalities are included in the government's "impacted areas aid" project.

Holmdel Areas Seek More Service

Demand for Water Spreading

By WILLIAM RICHARDS, 2D
HOLMDEL — The demand for "city water" has spread to the Deep Cut Hill area from the Village and Maurice Manor.

Mayor Alfred C. Poole said last night Township Attorney Lawrence A. Carton, Jr., has been instructed to negotiate with Bell Laboratories to service the firm's Crawford Hill annex with West Keansburg Water Co. water.

If the water company is agreeable to extending water service to the area, it will pick up an estimated 65 homes, Town Hall and possibly the Bell facility.

John T. Dougherty, Holmdel Rd., reported to the Register last night he has 32 signatures on a petition he will present to the Township Committee at its meeting Monday night.

More Signatures
The number of signatures—possibly including a developer's—which would cover another 20 or so homes—may be significantly higher by Monday.

Mr. Dougherty said the 65 homes include the 21-home Crawford Hill Estates subdivision, with the remainder located along Crawford's Corner, Holmdel, and Hillcrest Rds.

Mayor Poole said the committee would probably consider using "city water" in the municipal building. The mayor said he knows of one time two or three weeks ago when "the pump at Town Hall was pumping air from the well."

"There isn't an overabundant supply in the Town Hall well, but the situation isn't critical at this time," he said.

Could Be Critical
He added if there was a sudden big use, the supply could be termed as critically short.

The mayor and Mr. Dougherty, queried on the possible route of a pipeline to service the area, indicated the best route to be from the Holmdel State Police barracks on the Garden State Parkway to Town Hall, up Crawford's Corner Rd. to Holmdel Rd. and up that artery to Hillcrest Rd.

All of the homeowners who have signed Mr. Dougherty's petition live along this suggested route.

The line would then, if the West Keansburg firm accepts the suggestion, run down Hillcrest Rd. toward Bethany Rd.

Mr. English and Mr. Viofara had been in office two years. Last Friday, Mr. Barbagelata disclosed that he had suspended Plumbing Inspector Eugene House, pending investigation of his conduct in office.

One day after he was named acting manager—on Jan. 21—Mr. Barbagelata dismissed deputy township manager Joseph Leo.

It had been predicted that Mr. Leo would lose his post when Township Council introduced an ordinance Jan. 17 abolishing the position.

The measure, adopted Feb. 7, also abolished the deputy clerk's job and set up a new department of finance headed by a director at an annual salary of $8,500.

Neither the Democratic-controlled Township Council, nor the acting manager, indicated whether replacements for Mr. Viofara and Mr. English will be named at tonight's special meeting or Monday night's session.

Council meets tonight at 7:15 to formally introduce its proposed 1966 municipal budget, totaling $2,268,529.

The governing body Monday night received the proposed budget from its auditor and acting manager, but failed to introduce it and set public hearing due to a misunderstanding of procedure.

Mr. Barbagelata said Mr. Viofara was dismissed due to unsatisfactory performance of his duties. As for the tax collector post, plans call for it to be consolidated with the new finance director's position, which has not yet been filled.

Republican Firing Going to 4

Madison Manager to Oust Collector and Assessor

MADISON TOWNSHIP — Effective tomorrow, this township will be minus a tax collector and assessor—bringing the total of recent firings of Republican appointees up to four.

The Register learned yesterday that Acting Township Manager John Barbagelata has ousted Thomas J. English and Frank Viofara, the collector and assessor.

Mr. Barbagelata said Mr. Viofara was dismissed due to unsatisfactory performance of his duties. As for the tax collector post, plans call for it to be consolidated with the new finance director's position, which has not yet been filled.

Shrewsbury Planners Eye Underground Utility Lines

SHREWSBURY — Local planners are weighing an ordinance that would put utility transmission lines underground in new subdivisions.

Utility officials told the Planning Board last night they were not opposed to such a requirement, but they pointed out a few disadvantages.

The board had invited the utility men's views after discussing underground cables with its consultants during master plan development sessions.

If the requirement is adopted, the board learned last night, the cost of installing the telephone and power lines will increase. The extra cost would be paid by the developer and passed on to the purchasers of the new homes.

James J. Johnson, a district engineer for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., said underground lines in new developments are a policy with Bell for aesthetic reasons.

He said Bell installs the cables in 30-to 40-inch trenches, preferably along the rear lot line. House connections would be in pedestals, about three feet high, at the intersection of lot lines so that one pedestal could serve three or four homes.

Problem of Safety
E. M. Ambler, division manager for the Jersey Central Power and Light Co., said the electric company prefers front yard installation and is faced with the problem of safety, since cables might carry as much as 12,000 volts.

He said the power company also uses pedestals for house connections, and must install a transformer pad for about each dozen homes.

Richard O. Bright, district engineer for JCP&L, added that the cost of underground lines could be about $300 per lot above the cost of overhead lines in the average subdivision, but that figure could go as high as $600. The developer is charged the extra amount.

While telephone cable is much the same above or below the ground, underground power cables are more complex, Mr. Bright pointed out.

He said easements would be required for maintenance of the lines, and while malfunctions would be fewer, they would take longer to locate and could necessitate excavations on lawns and in gardens.

All the utility men agreed that the technology of underground wiring is advancing. They said methods are being sought to get transformers and connections safely underground as well as the cables.

Rumson has required underground lines in new major subdivisions for two years and other communities are pondering such a move.

School Bells to Toll For Parents Tonight

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — Parents of high school students here will occupy their children's seats in the classrooms tonight.

Classes start at 7 p.m. — as part of the school's first open house. The several hundred parents expected to attend will follow their children's schedule, moving from class to class every 15 minutes.

Parents don't have to study during their children's study periods, though. Instead, they will be offered refreshments in the cafeteria.

"The teachers will discuss the aims of their courses, the work being done, and the books used," said Mrs. Rita Bander, a member of the Board of Education. More than 1,300 high school students attend seven class periods daily.

Mrs. Bander said she would like the open house to become an annual school event, but would prefer to have it planned for earlier in the school year.

Charles A. Scott, principal, and Ronald F. Dick, the assistant principal, have arranged the open house.

FRHS Group to Push Third District School

FREEHOLD — The Freehold Regional High School Education Association announced yesterday that it will campaign in support of a proposed third high school for the district.

Voters will decide March 22 whether to approve a $4 million bond issue for a new school at Marlboro and an addition to the two-year-old Southern Freehold Regional at Howell Township.

Robert Meyer, president of the association, said a resolution was adopted at a meeting Thursday, Feb. 10, and that copies have been forwarded to Dr. Jacob Lewis, Board of Education president.

The measure calls on each

He named Mrs. Barbara Murphy as her successor.

It was the second jolt of the day for the Norman family. Earlier, Harry Norman, her husband, was taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, after suffering an apparent heart attack. He was in critical condition here today.

Announcement Slated On Keansburg Marina

KEANSBURG — Specifications and details of improvements to be made to the municipal marina here will be announced Saturday, Mayor Leonard S. Bellezza reported last night.

Responding to a letter from Dr. Ralph E. Berman, local physician who questioned council's intentions concerning the sale of the marina, the mayor assured residents that before title to the property is transferred, all necessary commitments will be obtained.

In his lengthy letter, Dr. Berman cautioned that "oral promises have no place in this type of transaction." He called for a definite time limit to be placed on improving the 13-acre tract, about to be sold for $75,000 to Bonafede Enterprises, Inc., Manhaspet, N.Y.

The agreement also calls for

PTA Okays Reduced Budget at Colts Neck

COLTS NECK — After a long and bitter debate, the Colts Neck Parent-Teachers Association passed a resolution last night supporting a reduced school budget.

The Board of Education adopted the reduced budget totaling $413,250.50 last Friday after township voters had turned down a proposal $31,275 higher.

The reduced budget will go to the voters next Wednesday. If it is again defeated, the Township Committee will set the figure.

The resolution approved last night supports the decreased budget but depletes cuts made from the previous total. It authorizes a flyer to be sent to all township residents expressing the PTA's view.

In addition, a committee of three will be appointed to present the PTA's position to the Township Committee in case the budget is once again defeated.

Organization Has 800
The vote was 55 for and 15 no. There are approximately 800 members of the organization.

William Fleckenstein, a recently re-elected board member, represented the board at the meeting.

Mr. Fleckenstein told the association that "we thought from the outset that we had a lean budget."

He said the cut of $31,275 would mean the loss of the board's plan to hire a full-time board secretary, an additional teacher, one more custodian, and delay of repairs of certain classrooms plus furniture replacements and locker purchases.

In addition the cost of meals in the cafeteria will increase because of a reduction of $8,500 in the budget. Mr. Fleckenstein said the board has been operating the cafeteria at a loss, but will now have to reduce the deficit.

'Too Many Frills'
Frank Sindlinger, vice president of the Planning Board and co-author of a letter circulated on the eve of the budget referendum urging voters to disapprove it, told the PTA that even the reduced budget "has too many frills."

Mr. Sindlinger said a superintendent of schools, called for in the budget for a salary of from $13,000 to $16,000, was not needed. "They don't teach children," he said.

He warned those present that if the budget is approved the township tax rate would increase to $3 per $100 of assessed valuation, a jump of 65 cents over this year's figure.

Mr. Fleckenstein denied there were any "frills" in the budget saying that it cost the board $543.98 to educate each student under the new budget and that this figure compared favorably with such communities as Holmdel, Fair Haven and Rumson.

He said that any further reduction would mean "a serious harm to the educational system."

Board member Melvin C. Willett said he voted against the budget cuts because he disagreed with the elimination of the full-time board secretary and the additional teacher.

"I disapproved of the cut in items not in dollars," he said. Mr. Willett said he would have eliminated one principal and an administrative clerk at a cut of $13,500. This would leave the proposed superintendent and one principal for the present two schools.

He said he favored other cuts so a second physical education teacher could have been added.

The reduced budget was approved by the board by an 8-1 vote, Mr. Willett casting the sole negative tally.

Council adopted its ordinance for the licensing and regulating of borough businesses, despite protests on sharp increases in the costs of permits for juke boxes and taxicabs.

Juke box permits went from $10 to $20 yearly. Cab permits tripled from $25 to $75 annually. Fees for most other type licenses were also raised.

The governing body, responding to a second request from local Jaycee President Richard J. Fleming, granted the Jaycees a three-month extension on its option of borough-owned land for an industrial museum and park. Council withdrew from the option the portion of land which fronts on Rt. 36.

An industrial firm is reportedly interested in purchasing the highway frontage for $45,000.

Council directed Patrick J. McGinn, Jr., borough attorney, to draft, if necessary, an ordinance to provide for installation of curbing along Creek Rd. between Fourth and Church Sts. Mr. Blum urged the governing body to act swiftly to pave that portion of roadway, using state formula aid funds.

The borough, in recent years, has attempted to have curbing installed whenever a street is paved.

Robert Greenberg, borough engineer, was authorized to complete plans and specifications for the installation of sewer lines in Holly and Garden Sts. and portions of Shore Blvd. and Myrtle Ave. He said that he can probably be ready to advertise for bids in two weeks.

Material for the project has already been ordered.

Mr. Blum called for action against many borough business establishments whose owners have failed to keep sidewalks clear of litter and snow.

Stocks Churn on Market, Trades Up But Prices Fall

By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved a bit lower Wednesday on balance in a churning session which witnessed some wide swings in individual stocks. Trading was heavy. Volume was 9.19 million shares.

Despite a preponderance of losses in the list as a whole, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial advanced .83 to 882.40. This was because several of its component blue chips moved up. Among them, General Electric rose 1/4, Alcoa 1/4, United Aircraft 1/4 and U. S. Steel 1/4. Of 1,419 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 667 to 545. New highs for 1965-66 totaled 90 and new lows 54.

Standard and Poor's broad, 500-stock index ended with a minimal loss of .01 at 83.16.

The Associated Press average of 80 stocks dipped 2 to 366.8, with industrials up .6, rails off .3 and utilities off .9.

Wall Street was in an uncertain mood, analysts said. The Street seemed to be torn by desire for quick capital gains in some of the high-flying issues and caution in regard to higher-quality stocks because of rising interest rates and possible anti-inflationary moves by the Government.

Stocks which are mainly attractive because of their yield were dampened by news that President Johnson said he is raising the interest rate on U.S. Savings bonds to 4.15 per cent from the present 3.75 per cent.

Asian Policy Factor

The background was further clouded by debate in the Senate over U.S. policies in Viet Nam and elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

Studebaker was conspicuous as a widely swinging stock rising 3/4 to 33 1/2 on 304,200 shares, making it the most active issue. Studebaker ranged between a high of 38 and a low of 30 1/2. The Street was filled with rumors that a tender offer was being made for the stock, probably at $40 a share, but this could not be confirmed during the session.

Among other active gainers, Texas Gulf Sulphur rose 3/4, Burroughs 1/4, Packard Bell 2/8 and Occidental Petroleum 4/8.

Boeing Falls

Boeing was the worst loser among the volume leaders, falling 4/8 to 157. The Street was reacting further to news that the Federal Aviation Agency was calling a meeting of airlines operating the Boeing 727 jet liner, of which four have been involved in fatal accidents.

An official of Ford Motor Co. was quoted as saying that sales of new cars this year could possibly go as high as 10 million, and General Motors said it plans to increase its capital spending to $1.4 billion in 1966 from $1.3 billion in 1965. Ford closed unchanged and GM 1/4.

Erie-Lackawanna was heavily traded and fell 1/4 to 13 1/2 amid discussion of the terms under which the railroad could be included in the Norfolk & Western railway system. Erie preferred fell 1/4 to 40 1/4. N&W gained 1/4. W. R. Grace, off 1/4, asked for tenders of up to 700,000 shares of Ruberoid Co. at $50 a share. Ruberoid advanced 2 1/4 to 43 1/2.

Emerson Radio sputtered 3/4 to 18 1/4. The reports were that National Union Electric plans to increase its 62 per cent interest in Emerson through an exchange of stock.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "I believe there are an enormous number of fellows in my category. I will be inducted into the army in about three weeks and after gathering all my assets, I will have $3,000 to invest for the period I am in the service. I am single and have no ties. If I put the money in the bank, I will get good interest but it will still be $3,000 when I get out. I would like to see my money increase." L. M.

(A) We certainly owe a debt of gratitude to men like yourself, who approach a difficult and possibly dangerous duty with apparent equanimity. I believe your reasoning is sound. You must understand that we have been witnessing an unusually long leg in the 16-year old bull market. We may go through a period to expect substantially higher earnings but the issue was off 3/4.

The Federal Reserve Board reported a strong rise in industrial production in January. Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 4.8 million shares. Great American Industries rose 1/4 to 3 1/2 in active trading. Syntex rose 4/8 and Hydrometals 1/4 while Massey-Ferguson slipped 1/4.

Corporate bonds declined. U.S. Treasury bonds were mixed.

Offer By Celanese

Celanese said it would offer its shareholders about 1.5 million shares through a rights offering. Celanese common dropped 1/4.

Crucible Steel rose 1/4 on reports of a proxy fight.

Raybestos-Manhattan increased its dividend and the stock rose 1/4. Automatic Canteen was re-

Mark 50th Anniversary

MORGANVILLE—The 50th anniversary of the Morganville Independent-Volunteer Fire Company was celebrated Saturday at a dinner dance at Diamond Jim's Rt. 34, Chesapeake.

The dinner, attended by approximately 135 people, was preceded by a cocktail hour.

Stacy P. Conover, the only charter member still active, was presented a gold watch and chain for his 50 years of active service. Gold lapel pins were presented to Louis H. Becker for 44 years of active service and to John Holtz, 42 years.

Guests of the firemen were Mayor Walter H. Grubb, Alfred Storer, president of the Morganville Volunteer Fire Company; Thomas Hankinson, president of the Marlboro Fire Company, Robert Nivison, representing Robertsville Fire Company, and Fred Wey, president of the Morganville First Aid Squad.

The Morganville Independent-Volunteer company was established in February, 1916, with headquarters on Rt. 79 on a parcel of land of the late Alfred E. Hardy. The first building was two rooms of the old Morganville schoolhouse, which was moved to the site. The original apparatus was a two-wheel cart, built by the late Mr. Hardy and the late John Dill.

With expansion of the community, the headquarters proved inadequate and in 1951 the firemen purchased three acres a half-mile south on Rt. 79, moved their building, and built a large addition.

The present building houses three pieces of modern equipment, has a large hall and fully equipped kitchen. The facilities are used for various community affairs. Several years ago, a Ladies Auxiliary was formed.

Present officers of the fire company are: President, Louis H. Becker; vice president, Mat H. Kelly; treasurer, Leslie Woolley; secretary, William Brewer; and chief, Edward Smith.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the dinner dance was headed by Edwin Preston, assisted by Leslie Woolley, Kenneth Miller, Matthew Kelly and Robert J. Smith.

Registrar Urges Early Requests For Age Proof

TRENTON — Persons wanting proof of age from the vital statistics registration program of the state Department of Health to establish eligibility for Medicare by the deadline of March 31 should have their applications on file by March 1.

This was the word today from F. Merton Saybolt, registrar of vital statistics in the New Jersey Department of Health.

"There has been a heavy increase in applications for certified copies of records to prove age," Mr. Saybolt said. "To be sure that we can physically process the applications to meet the Medicare cutoff date of March 31, we should have the applications by March 1.

"A birth record is the most acceptable proof of birth," Mr. Saybolt continued. "Birth certificates, baptismal certificates, or any other proof of age that was recorded within the first 11 years of the individual's life are most readily accepted by the Social Security Administration," Saybolt said.

"Although they do not have the same deadline applications for proof of age to apply for other Social Security benefits are caught in the same backlog. Persons applying for these benefits, should also apply at the earliest possible moment," he concluded.

Palette Talk

20th Century Classics

By ELEANOR MARKO

If ever a soul of an artist was revealed, it couldn't be more evident than Paul Lehr's. His 20th century classics of moods, meditations, reflections and penetrating observations expose him. He's sensitive. He's sentimental. He's creative. He's a craftsman.

Not every artist has such a perfect package of drive and talent to withhold his work from the exhibition scene until he was completely ready and had more than 20 current major paintings to show the stability of his work.

The Locust artist has emerged from his studio deep in the Hartshorne woods with a collection and presented in an initial exhibition currently in the Florence Walters Gallery, Shrewsbury.

Paul's statement: "I start out with a definite idea what I want to accomplish," is rather startling in this age of "happenings" and accidental approaches to painting. He has controlled his palette of colors to work for him to create a sensitive mood about all his subjects, whether they be landscapes or portraits.

"The Inferno," a 48 by 48 oil in a chromatic scheme of reds, jolts the senses not only with color but in the embroiled mass of figures strangely beautiful, not grotesque.

"Reflections in the Hartshorne Woods" 48 by 44, and "A Tree in a Shadow" 19 by 23 are two other compositions which complete the air of mystery about them without being abstractions.

The mood deepens in Lehr's portraits, including his two largest canvases "My Parents" 59 by 48 and "Self-Portrait" 59 by 32. It turns to sunny tenderness in "Dressing Her Hair" 35 by 21, a completely disarming scene with the subjects caught in relaxed natural attitudes and bathed in light reminiscent of an old master — with a new soft-light bulb. It transcends time. In fact all of Paul Lehr's new works on exhibition do. Perhaps you'll agree if you look with your heart.

JOHN BRZOSTOSKI, art teacher and an authority on Asian art, will present a lecture Thursday, Feb. 24 at 8:30 p.m. in Asia House, 112 East 64th St., New York City. His subject will concern his trip last summer to India, Nepal and Kashmir in search of Tibetan refugees.

Mr. Brzostowski, who is an art teacher at Red Bank High School, and teaches courses in Buddhism and Oriental art history at the New School for Social Research, New York, recently spent four hours on the Long John all-night show on radio, as part of his personal campaign to raise funds to aid the refugees, including an attempt to provide a pair of artificial limbs for a small child who had undergone surgery in a Nepal hospital. The program brought a contribution of one dollar.

Curator of Tibetan art for Riverside Museum, New York, Mr. Brzostowski, who lives in River Plaza, announced that the museum has just opened a new room for the collection of Tibetan sculpture and paintings from the 14th to the 20th centuries. That makes a total of three rooms given to the museum collection.

A YOUNG ISRAELI ARTIST Yehuda Yordan, 25, is being presented in a one-man exhibit of paintings, drawings and collages opening Sunday in Art Fair Galleries, Rt. 35, Holmdel.

The exhibition, which will be extended to March 13, is expected to reflect his draftsmanship, especially in his wood cuts and collagraphs.

Mr. Yordan was born in Turkey in 1941 and immigrated to Israel in 1957 where he attended the Bezalel School of Art in Jerusalem. When he was 18 he had his first one-man art exhibition which was reviewed by the Israel semi-monthly Bama'le which stated "This is the first time in the history of Israeli youth that a youngster who works and studies, manages to attain high artistic levels."

TWENTY PAINTERS WITH 50 PAINTINGS are in the spotlight at the Old Mill Gallery, Sycamore Ave., Tinton Falls, in a Winter Exhibition which continues through Feb. 28.

In keeping with his policy to introduce new talent and new work of artists associated with the gallery, director Geza deVegh has selected to showcase the new work of Kenneth Daniels, Matawan; Joyce Desloux, Middletown; Ted Goerschner, Herbersville; Patricia E. Lafferty, Rumson; James Groody, Medford Lakes; Fred Hersey, Brick Township; Ann Mitchell, Belmar; Anna Mumford, Middletown; Rose Osborn, Eatontown; Clara Snyder, Bay Head; Elizabeth Tribie, New Shrewsbury, and George Williamson, Shrewsbury.

Goerschner, Groody, Mumford and Mitchell all have had one-man shows at the mill and have been represented in other exhibitions. Goerschner's newest work includes a large windswept landscape; Groody's, paintings in brilliant acrylics; Mumford's using the sea as the subject and Mitchell, also concentrating on seascapes.

Featured new talents are Barbara Cocker, Sea Bright; Diane Fitzgerald, Rumson; Bernice Goodwin, Matawan; Dorothy McGay, Middletown; Nora Giantzman, Freehold; Harietta Palmer, Lincroft, and Anita Rosen, Rumson.

The exhibition is open daily from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. including Sunday.

National Football League Owners, Coaches Agree Falcons are Well Stocked

By JACK HAND

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Dallas Cowboys and Minnesota Vikings agree that the newly stocked Atlanta Falcons fared better than they did as National Football League expansion franchises in 1960 and 1961.

"I would like to have had that group when we started," said Tex Schramm, general manager of the Cowboys, who finished their first season in 1960 with a 6-11-1 record.

"They are better off than we were," said John Thompson, assistant general manager of the Vikings, whose first team in 1961 wound up with a 3-11 mark.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle and the other NFL owners went along with the thinking of the Cowboys and the Vikings.

"I feel, with the stocking program and the rookies Atlanta has signed, they are in much better position than either Dallas or Minnesota at the start," said Rozelle.

Vince Lombardi, coach and general manager of the champion Green Bay Packers put it this way:

"They are very well stocked, far better than anyone thought they would be at the time."

"Fairly formidable," Joe Kuharich, coach and general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, said the Falcons could be "fairly formidable," and Ray Walsh, general manager of the New York Giants, said, "They are going to have a fairly good team on the field."

The Falcons were stocked yesterday with 42 experienced players from NFL rosters. They averaged 26.2 years old and about 3 1/2 years pro experience. The Falcons also have 22 rookies and a large number of free agents, making a total of 94 players.

"I am very pleased," said Coach Norb Hecker of Atlanta. "We have a fine group of defensive backs and defensive linemen."

The big surprises to me were Dennis Clardige of Green Bay, Alex Hawkins of Baltimore, Larry Benz and Bobby Franklin of Cleveland and Maury Youmans of Dallas.

"As of now, Clardige is my quarterback. I think he is a great prospect."

Lombardi, who put Clardige's name on the list, said he didn't think the Falcons would select a quarterback. However, there were rumors that a deal might be involved at some later date.

Hecker served as Lombardi's defensive backfield coach for the past seven years.

The league never has announced any financial figures on the Atlanta franchise, but it is reported owner Rankin Smith put up $8.5 million to get the team.

It is understood that $50,000 goes into the league treasury as a franchise fee, and the rest is divided among the other 14 clubs over a period of years.

That would give each team about $600,000. As each gave up three players, it could be figured at $200,000 a man.

The Falcons took 23 offensive players and 19 defensive men from the established clubs. According to league compilations, 22 of the players have held starting jobs in the NFL although not all in 1965.

Hecker outlined his personnel on a blackboard depth chart, showing an offensive unit with Clardige at quarter, Ernie Wheelwright of New York or Junior Coffey of Green Bay at fullback and Perry Lee Dunn of Dallas, Dan Lewis of Washington or Randy Johnson of San Francisco at running back.

His receivers would be Neal Petties and Hawkins of Baltimore, Bill Martin of Chicago, Bob Jencks of Washington, Dale Messer of San Francisco and Red Mack of Pittsburgh.

Among the brightest rookies acquired in the college draft or signed as free agents are Tom Nobis, All-American linebacker from Texas; halfbacks Bill Wol-ski and Nick Rassas and end Phil Sheridan of Notre Dame and quarterback Randy Johnson of Texas A&I, Steve Sloan of Alabama and Tom Hodges of Virginia.

The Falcons will play every team once, but their standings will be listed in the Eastern Conference. They plan to go to work early at a training camp still to be selected.

Praise or Jinx?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Besides being a student and record-setting (three-mile event) runner on Manhattan College's track team, George Sheehan of Rumson finds time to be a columnist in the school paper, The Manhattan Quadrangle. The following is an article written by George, a junior class member, on the woes of being the subject of a Sports Illustrated cover story.)

By GEORGE SHEEHAN
The cover story of Stan Mikita in the current issue of Sports Illustrated should be looked upon as a bad omen for Blackhawk fans. Why? Well, it seems that SI, especially its cover, has publicized many athletes who soon later show a complete reversal of form or are even injured. In other words SI is a jinx. And this is becoming a well known fact among weekly readers.

Bobby Hull was injured shortly after he appeared on the cover earlier in the season. He may yet break the 50 goal Ruthian record for goals in a season. Last year SI put an end to his explosive start and record hopes when they put him on the cover.

"MOST RECENTLY SI had an article entitled 'The Year of the Kidd,' referring to Billy Kidd (U.S. skier) and his assault on the European Championships. Needless to say Billy had a bad fall and will need at least two weeks rest to recuperate. Working backwards from there, this past Fall Tommy Nobis and his Texas Longhorns had their worst year in recent history. Frank Ryan was immediately injured and Willie Pastrano was beaten within one week of publication. Pastrano was billed as never having been felled, yet in the following issue they showed Willie on his knees battered almost beyond recognition.

The World Champion LA Dodgers should have given a World Series share to SI. In May, after Tommy Davis was injured, SI wrote the Bums off as pennant contenders. Then, in late August, SI put Juan Marichal on the cover. Suspended less than a week later, Juan finished the season 3-4 securing a Dodger pennant. Finally, before the Series started, SI had Zoilo Versalles on the cover, finishing the Twins.

Except for the Marichal incident these examples are only minor ones. Looking back again we see the picture of figure skater Laurens Owen. She was America's hope for a gold medal in the '64 Olympics. Less than two weeks later Laurens, her mother and a dozen other American hopefuls were killed in a tragic airplane crash on their way to European competition in 1962.

EVERYONE KNOWS WHAT happened to the NYU basketball team of '63-'64. Led by Barry Kramer they managed to lose 10 games after being chosen as pre-season No. 1 by Sports Illustrated. Last year it was Davidson's turn. They dropped their first game right off the bat. This year St. Joseph's was unfortunate in being selected. They have lost four games already and may stumble even more.

The jinx is applicable to any sport. For example take the case of Stirling Moss. He wrote a series of articles dealing with safe driving. Guess what happened to him shortly thereafter? Right. Now look at the case of Earl Young, quarter-miler. Billed by SI as the king in this event, Earl disappointed the track world by losing the NCAA and getting decidedly whipped by three others in the AAU meet. He was never the same after that.

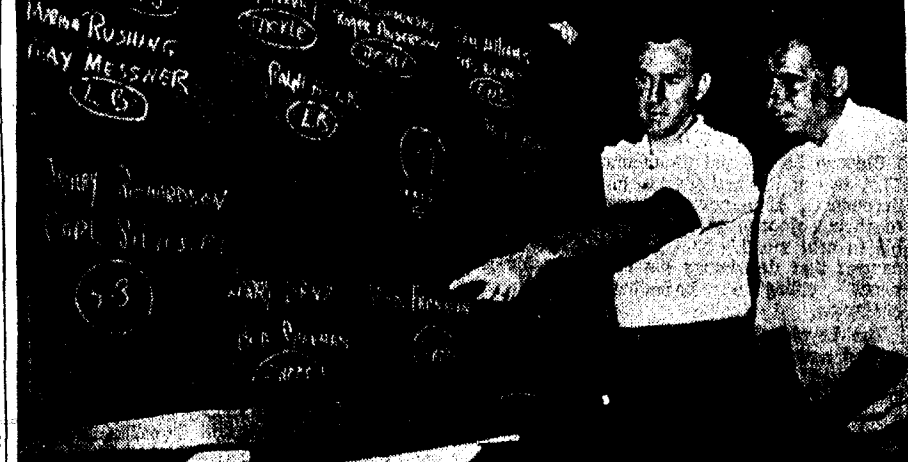

THERE ARE MANY other cases which could be cited to support this idea of a jinx. I have to mention the person who has been on the cover most often and look at his career. Seven times a cover subject, Mickey Mantle is a person who one can say has had more than his share of hard luck.

So Stan Mikita and other future athletes had better think twice when asked to appear on the cover of Sports Illustrated for "The Jinx."

EDITOR'S NOTE: If we may add: As the college basketball season hit high gear, Bob Verga of Sea Girt, former St. Rose of Belmar star now leading scorer at Duke University, was the subject of a five-page spread in SI. Earlier this week, Duke coach Vic Bubas benched Verga two games for disciplinary reasons.)

Bobby Hull Operates for 46th Goal

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bobby Hull, five goals away from the National Hockey League single season record, will undergo surgery on his left hand after the season ends. Meanwhile, he's operating on National Hockey League goal-tenders.

New York's Ed Giacomin was Hull's latest patient. Chicago's blond bomber, who was supposed to be sidelined for another week with strained knee ligaments, showed up in the Black Hawks' line-up last night. His 46th goal of the season whistled past Giacomin in the first period and the Ranger goalie never recovered as Chicago went on to a 5-2 victory.

In other games, Boston climbed past the Rangers into fifth place as Pit Martin scored three goals and the Bruins edged Detroit, 5-4. Toronto got two goals from Ron Ellis for a 3-1 victory over Montreal.

Hull injured his hand in a fight with Detroit defenseman Gary Bergman recently and says it's still sore. He suffered a slipped knuckle in the battle and says doctors have prescribed surgery after the season.

Giacomin and the Rangers never expected to see him yesterday after reports had him sidelined at least another week with the knee injury. "The doctor leaves it up to me," Hull explained. "If I feel I can play, I play."

His first period goal opened the gates for the Hawks. It came on a 45-foot slap shot that sailed past Giacomin before the New York goalie had a chance to move. After that, the Hawks beat the Ranger goalie with an assortment of dribblers and soft shots that had New York manager-coach Emile Francis scratching his head.

"Being an ex-goalie myself," said Francis, "Giacomin's the laid guy I'd rap. But they had some awfully funny goals."

Ellis, the Toronto sophomore who seems finally to have shaken a season-long slump, was scratching his head too.

McKenzie tied the score with less than seven minutes left and Ron Stewart batted a Martin rebound home for the winner at 14:40.

Chicago's victory and the losses by Montreal and Detroit's opened the Black Hawks' first place lead to four points. Toronto still is eight points behind the Canadiens and Red Wings, who are tied for second.

Martin's hat trick, the second he's had in 2 1/2 weeks, came against his former teammates. Detroit swapped him to the Bruins for Parker MacDonald on Jan. 1.

"I'm real happy here," the 22-year-old center said later. He should be. He's scored 14 goals in 21 games for Boston.

The Red Wings led, 4-2, in the third period before Martin completed his hat trick. Then John

Staggs Tosses Shot 53-4 1/2 In Long Branch Triumph

LAKEHURST — Gordon Washington ran and jumped to gather 11 points, but Art Staggs was the individual standout as Long Branch High's well balanced indoor track team emerged the victor in a triangular meet inside a Naval Air Station hangar here yesterday.

Staggs, a sophomore who spent the fall knocking down opposing players as a fullback and line-backer on the Green Wave football team, tossed the shot put 53 feet, 4 1/2 inches to win over 240-pound teammate Don Marza, who tossed the 12-pound iron ball a foot short of Staggs' outstanding effort.

Long Branch, under new coach Merrick Tomaine, totaled 52 1/2 points to win easily over host Central Regional, runner-up with 25 1/2, and Ocean Township's young team, which picked up 10 points.

The win was the fourth in six meets for the Branchers, who should score their share of points in next Wednesday's Monmouth and Ocean County indoor championships here.

Washington collected his meager total of 11 points by meeting the 220-yard dash

Branchers' Sweep Puts Them 5 1/2 Up

SHREWSBURY—Long Branch swept all three games from Ocean Township yesterday in the Northern Division of the Shore Conference Bowling League to widen its first place lead to five and a half games over second place Middletown Township.

In other matches, Middletown dropped a pair to Keyport. Henry Hudson Regional and Raritan Township split their three games, Shore Regional blanked Red Bank and Rumson-Fair Haven Regional took three from Matawan.

Keyport's pair of victories over Middletown enabled the Raiders to climb out of the division's cellar. They were replaced by Matawan. Keyport won the first two games from the Lions, 767-739, and, 824-753, before dropping the final one, 832-721.

Joe Serpico rolled a 158-170-178-506 to pace Keyport. Bob Schneider followed with a 178-187-140-505 set. Middletown's best effort was turned in by Rick Sherrane with a 142-178-181-499 series.

Henry Hudson and Raritan split their first two games. Raritan took the opener, 905-819, while Henry Hudson won the second, 801-753. The two teams finished with identical scores in the third game, 757-757.

Pasarell to Test New Net Philosophy

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — and Manuel Santana of Spain as well as defending champion Jan Erik Lundquist of Sweden out of the tournament as the result of second-round upsets, many observers are picking Pasarell to take it all.

Since he was a teen-age tyke, Pasarell has been acclaimed a natural, bound to hit the peak. He is a strapping six-foot athlete with wonderful movement and strokes.

He always has had one major fault: he has been inclined to suffer lapses against minor opponents.

He has beaten Ralston twice, Roy Emerson of Australia twice and also Santana. He won the Philadelphia Indoor last week by crushing Lundquist and Arthur

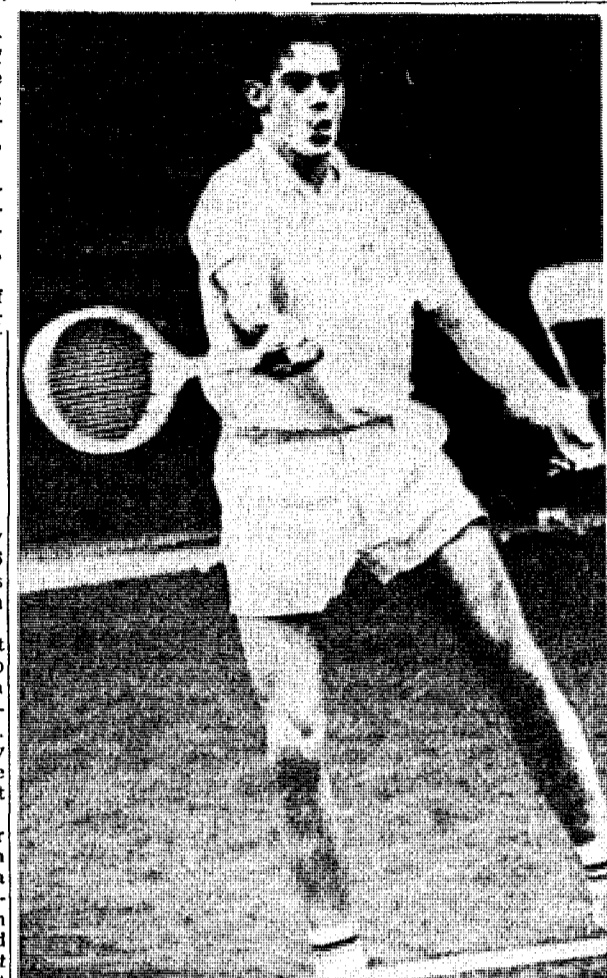

Ashe on consecutive days. "I've beaten just about everybody," Charlie said. "Trouble is I've lost to just about everybody."

"I'm inclined to be lazy and not prepare for matches which didn't seem tough to me. The result is I've got an awful spotty record, but I've got to grow up some time."

In Lutz, Pasarell won't have an easy pigeon. The husky Los Angeles youngster, built like a blacksmith, upset Lundquist last night, 7-5, 6-3. He hasn't lost his service in the tournament.

A second quarter-final match tonight sends Brazil's giant killer, Tomaz Koch, against Rafael Osuna of Mexico. Koch toppled Ralston 6-4, 3-6, 6-3 while Osuna

Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., 6-4, 8-6. Drysdale had an easy time with Juan Gisbert of Spain, 6-4, 6-1 while Holmberg crushed John Pickens of Tuscaloosa, Ala., 6-1, 6-3.

SCOTT IN UPSET — Gene Scott of St. James, N. Y., returns ball to Manuel Santana of Spain yesterday on his way to 6-4, 6-3 upset over world's No. 1 ranked player in National Indoor championships. (AP Wirephoto)

Chicago Loyola, Oklahoma City Take Steps Toward Tournaments

Associated Press

Chicago Loyola and Oklahoma City, two of the nation's top independents, have moved closer to their objective of landing a bid to next month's NCAA tournament that determines the national collegiate basketball champion.

The Loyola Ramblers, fourth-ranked nationally in this week's Associated Press poll, invaded Dayton, Ohio, last night and scored an impressive 77-72 victory over the Dayton Flyers, another leading independent. It was Loyola's 19th victory against two defeats.

The Oklahoma City Chiefs also won impressively on the road. They came from 12 points back to defeat West Texas, 87-80, at Canyon, Tex. It was the Chiefs' 10th in a row, their 14th victory in their last 15 games and upped their season record to 20-3.

Penn State, Virginia Tech and Temple similarly kept alive their hopes for a postseason tournament bid.

Penn State, 14-4, rolled over West Virginia, 108-81, for its 25th straight home court victory. Virginia Tech, 17-4, downed The Citadel on the road, 67-61. Temple, 18-5, crushed Fordham, 91-74, in the opener of a double header at the Palestra in Philadelphia. Villanova routed St. Bonaventure, 93-81, in the second game behind Bill Melchioni's 44 points, his career high for one game.

Chicago Loyola, the only team in the AP top 10 to play yesterday, weathered a furious late rally by Dayton. A sellout crowd of 5,880 cheered as the Flyers, behind by 12 points at 68-56, cut the deficit to one point at 73-72 in the last minute. The Ramblers held on as Jim Coleman converted twice from the foul line

Monmouth Grapplers Nip Seton Hall, 19-16

SOUTH ORANGE — Monmouth College's wrestling team won its third meet in five outings last night, edging by Seton Hall, 19-16, on the loser's mat.

Victories in the middle weight classes led Coach Art Oberg's Hawks to victory. After Seton Hall, now 2-7 on the season, won the first two classes, Monmouth went off on a four-match streak with Bob Amo (137), Bob Graf (145), Bob Jeranek (152) and Bill Ackerman (160) posting victories. Ackerman, who has a 5-2 individual record, pinned his opponent for his third five-point victory of the season. He leads the team with that pin total.

Don Koehnlein clinched the victory for Monmouth with a pin victory in the 177-pound class.

Knicks Hot-Cop 8th in 10

Associated Press

Suddenly and belatedly, the New York Knicks are about the hottest item in the National Basketball Association.

The perennial cellar dwellers in the NBA's Eastern Division have won eight of their last 10 games with four of those victories on the road.

The Knicks defeated San Francisco's Warriors, 112-108, at San Jose, Calif., in the only NBA game last night.

The game, the Warriors' fourth straight loss, was decided by a little Bowling Green graduate who played and a large Bowling Green graduate who couldn't play.

Howie Komives, the Knicks' 6-foot-1 backcourt man, topped scorers with 22 points, 16 in the second half. Included among them were two in the last 70 seconds that kept New York safely in front.

Nate Thurmond, the Warriors' 6-foot-11 center and Komives' teammate at Bowling Green three years ago, suited up but couldn't play because of a muscle spasm in his back.

Rookie Fred Hetzel took over for Thurmond and got help from

Hawk Boys Win, Girls Beaten in Swim Meets

WEST LONG BRANCH — Monmouth College's boys' swimming team scored a victory over Trenton State College by the score of 60-31, but the girls team went down to defeat at the hands of a strong Trenton State girls' team, 49-19, last night.

The boys' medley relay team of Fred Woertman, Alan Lewis, Henry Gross, and Steve Parks set a new Monmouth College record of 4:18.7 to highlight the victory.

Keith Fitzgerald, Fred Woertman and Captain Henry Gross scored double victories. Dave Matthews performed well to win the dive.

The girls from Trenton State had too much depth and experience for the Monmouth girls. Sue Steadman copped the diving event and also stroked to a close victory in the backstroke to pace Monmouth.

Roberta Rasmussen and Peggy Sharp had close races in their events, but had to settle for second places. The girls have two losses against one victory while the boys have won nine, lost two.

The next meet for the girls will be at the Centenary College for Women in Hackettstown next Wednesday. The boys will travel to New London for a meet with the Coast Guard Academy team on Saturday.

Artist Does Posters For McCarter

PRINCETON — The posters heralding McCarter Theatre's winter-spring drama series, the theme of which is "The Masks of Love," were designed by artist Saul Lambert of Hopewell.

Lambert, a nationally known magazine illustrator and designer of book jackets, became enamored of the covered wagon used on stage in last season's production of "Mother Courage," and was determined to own it.

The wagon was constructed at McCarter of authentic barnwood brought back from Lakewood, Ohio, by set designer Barbara Miller, Miss Miller, who with a friend had smuggled the wagon wheels on the plane to Princeton in lieu of luggage, told him it was not for sale. Lambert, who has one of the most unusual homes in New Jersey, a former barn the top floor of which houses a full-sized gymnasium as well as his studio, was insistent and finally arranged a trade.

Lambert, winner of numerous illustrating awards, has exhibited in N.J. at Bolles Gallery and Contemporary Arts, in Columbia, S.C., at the Museum of Fine Arts, and his works have been on display in San Francisco, Tel Aviv and Jerusalem.

Television Highlights

7:30-8 (7) — Batman. "When the Rat's Away the Mice Will Play." Tonight's thriller isn't a strong show, but Frank Gorshin's Riddler continues to hold your interest and gimmicks like a phony Batman help too. The plot finds the caped crusader escaping from the generator room in time to prevent the Riddler from blowing up the Statue of Liberty." (Color.)

8-8:30 (7) — Gidget. "Operation Shaggy Dog." Don't let the title mislead you—the Shaggy Dog is a high school hangout the town is about to demolish and Gidget enlists the help of her contemporaries to protest such an outrage. The show's appeal is the true-to-life dispute between Gidget and her Dad who are on opposite sides of the civic controversy. (Color.)

8:30-9:30 (13) — "Two Roads to the Center." This hourlong documentary probes the political and social climate in Argentina and Chile and the nature of the struggle each one is facing in establishing a democratic form of government. In Argentina, inflation and the rightist-Peronistas are the problem, while in Chile it is a search for reform without Communist control.

9-9:30 (7) — Bewitched. "Double Date." Another cute idea for this frothy series has Darrin turning into his boss, Larry Tate, for a 24 hour period, and the complications are many and fun. As always, Endora (Agnes Moorehead) is responsible for the strange transformation but this time her intentions are honorable, at least.

9:30-10 (13) — USA: Novel. "Truman Capote—The Nonfiction Novel." Truman Capote discusses his latest book, "In Cold Blood," which he refers to as a nonfiction novel, in this half hour profile of the writer and his work filmed at his Long Island summer home and his Manhattan apartment.

10-11 (4) — Dean Martin. Julie London is an eye-stopper here, talk-singing throatily to "Never on Sunday." Another visual phenomenon, Phyllis Diller, chats about her good looks and sings a few notes with Martin. For the rest, Mahalia Jackson appears for a spiritual, Eddie Albert tries "Ya Got Trouble" and joins Guy Marks and Dean Martin for the finale entitled "Style," and the Swingle Singers are also aboard. (Color.)

10:30-12 (13) — The Beethoven Year. "Fidelio." (Repeat.) Music commentator Jay S. Harrison is host of this documentary study of Beethoven's only opera "Fidelio," written in 1805, echoing the depth of his ideas on liberty and freedom growing out of the French Revolution. In addition to background notes on the history of the opera, selections from its score will be performed as well as a dance choreographed by Yuriko to the music of its Prisoners' Chorus.

11:30-1 (4) — Tonight. Johnny Carson has actor George Segal and photographer Bunny Yeager, who photographs women exclusively, along for the chatter and whatnot tonight. (Color.)

Only $7.40 Spread Top School Bids

NEW SHREWSBURY — A spread of only $7.40 separated the two highest bidders last night on the Tinton Falls Board of Education $399,000 bond issue to finance the addition to Tinton Falls School.

The entire issue was awarded to B. J. Van Ingen and Co., Inc., of New York City, on a bid of $399,638.40 with interest at 4 per cent.

Next highest bidder was John J. Ryan and Co. of Newark, with a bid of $399,631 at the same interest rate.

The award to the Van Ingen firm was made unanimously on a resolution offered by Merton B. Purvis.

The bonds are scheduled to be retired at the rate of $20,000 annually through 1984 and $19,000 in 1985.

Television Mailbag

By STEVEN H. SCHUEER

Question — I would like to know why June Lockhart, Timmy and his father aren't on the TV program "Lassie" anymore. Also, whose voice is used for "My Mother, the Car"?—D. W., San Jose, Calif.

Answer — The "Lassie" program experienced "growing pains." It was decided that a new setting and new characters would gather more audience interest. You can see June Lockhart starring in "Lost in Space" on CBS each week. In "My Mother, the Car," the voice belongs to actress Ann Sothern.

Question — I saw the movie "Rome Adventure" on CBS' Thursday Night Movie, and was wondering if you could tell me the name of the song which was played throughout the movie—also the singer, and does he have any album out in which he sings the song?—T. J. C., Battle Creek, Mich.

Answer — Quite a few requests have come in about the music from this film since it was shown on TV. The song to which you refer is entitled "Al Di La," and was sung in the film by Emilio Percoll. We're happy to note that it is possible to obtain an LP recorded directly from the sound track, available on Warner Brothers LP No. W 1458. The record also contains Max Steiner's background music for the film. Consult your local record shop.

Question — Please settle an argument—did Robert Taylor play the lead in "Twelve O'Clock High"? I contend he was the main character when this series first began.—J. C., Meamesburg, Ohio

Answer — Nope — it was Robert Lansing who played General Savage in the TV series. In the movie version, the role was played by Gregory Peck.

Question — Could you tell me whose biography the movie, "The Jim of the Sixth Happiness," was based on? The movie starred Ingrid Bergman and Curt Jurgens.—R. M. B., San Antonio, Tex.

Answer — The film portrayed the life of Gladys Aylward, the English girl who became a missionary in China. In later years, Miss Aylward lived in Formosa. The film was based on the book, "The Small Woman," by Alan Burgess.

Question — Why is "Peyton Place" on so many times? If you miss it once there's no use to watch it anymore. I'm 13 years old and to me it's a corny show. Most teens like it but my friends and I think it's not good enough to be on the air. I know you're going to make up something to stick up for the show.

Baloney to you! It's not good enough to be watched.—C. Columbus, Ohio.

Answer — Yeah. Well... Question — Could you tell me if "The Fugitive" was made from a novel, or was it thought up by the producers of the show?—P. H., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Answer — The show is an original creation of Roy Huggins, the executive producer. Mr. Huggins also developed the original format for "Run for Your Life" this season. Although "The Fugitive" is not based directly on it, the device of a wanted man fleeing from a doggedly determined detective was the basis of Victor Hugo's classic novel "Les Miserables," as some critics have pointed out.

Question — Some years ago there was a movie entitled "The Foxes of Harrow." Would you tell me who portrayed the following characters: Stephen Fox, Odalie Fox, Aurora Arceneaux, Desiree, Etienne Fox, Julie Fox, Cecille Cloutier and Tom Meredith.—M. L., Memphis, Tenn.

Answer — The film was produced in 1947 and has been on TV frequently. Cast: Stephen: Rex Harrison; Odalie: Maureen O'Hara; Aurora: Vanessa Brown; Desiree: Patricia Medina; Etienne: William Ward. The other characters, who apparently were in the novel, were altered or dropped in its transference to the screen.

Question — I would like to know if the rumors I've heard of a sequel to the film "The Magnificent Seven" are true, since I think it was one of the best movies I have ever seen. I would also like to know if the original film is available to television.—D. W., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Answer — Yes, "The Return of the Seven," is currently in production with Yul Brynner repeating his role. "The Magnificent Seven" is available to local TV stations through United Artists Associated. This film, incidentally, was based on a Japanese movie called "The Seven Samurai," with the locale changed to Mexico.

Question — I would like to know the male star in the movie "A Man Called Peter."—C. P., Perkasie, Pa.

Answer — Rev. Peter Marshall was played by actor Richard Todd.

(For an answer to your question about any TV program or actor, write to Steven H. Schuer, Television Mailbag, c/o this paper.)

Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you have to take your tricks on the run it is fatal to let declarer gain the lead by ruffing. You must play just the right number of tricks in each side suit.

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts, returned to his hand with a spade and led his singleton club, losing the king of the ace. Now South would make his contract if he could gain the lead in time to discard a heart or a diamond on dummy's queen of clubs.

East returned the queen of diamonds, South covered with the king, and West won with the ace. West returned the deuce of diamonds, and East took the ten.

Now East switched to the nine of hearts, and West won with the jack. West had to know that he could not lead another diamond, just as East had known in switching back to hearts. West did cash the queen of hearts, and South was down one.

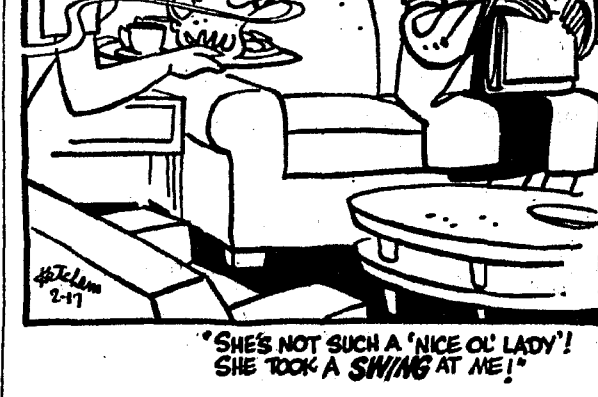

East and West were not guessing when they played just the right number of tricks in hearts and diamonds. They informed each other by the cards they led. When you return a small card in a suit partner has led, you lead your original fourth highest card if you started with four or more cards of the suit. If you started with three or two cards in the suit, you return the highest card you have left at that time.

Since West returned the deuce of diamonds at the fifth trick, he showed that he had started with exactly four diamonds. East counted his own diamonds and easily worked it out that South had started with only two diamonds. Therefore it was necessary to switch back to hearts.

Since East then led the nine of hearts, he showed that he had started with fewer than four hearts. West could then work it out that South had started with at least three hearts; and it was therefore safe to cash the queen of hearts to defeat the contract.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades—8 5. Hearts—K Q J 4. Diamonds—A 8 4 2. Clubs—9 8 3. What do you say?
Answer: Bid 1 NT. You would bid a suit if you had a decent five-card suit to show, but there is no virtue in going to the level of two in a four-card suit with only 10 points in high cards. If partner cannot find another bid over your response of 1 NT, you will not miss a game.

Friday, February 18

Present—For You and Yours... Take with a grain of salt sarcastic remarks, which are probably made because of envy. Don't rush around looking for something to do. It's good to loaf now and then, and you can do so with a clear conscience. Don't be too enthusiastic about a new project until you've got the entire picture.

Calls Publisher-Inspector In Madison in 'Conflict'

MADISON TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Cecil Wilson, a member of the local Civic Association, last night charged the sanitary inspector, James E. White, with conflict of interest.

Mr. White is publisher of The Madison American.

The point was raised at a previous Board of Health meeting by Mrs. Virginia Wolf, another critic of the inspector, that it was "improper" for Mr. White to write stories and editorials in his paper about citizens who speak out at board meetings.

Attorney's Opinion

Marc Gordon, the board's attorney, said, "I see nothing wrong if the sanitarian writes articles about members of the public who speak at meetings."

In the attorney's opinion, there is no conflict of interest involved. Mrs. Wilson said it is "100 per cent wrong and unfair that he criticizes the public for being interested enough in the community to come out and speak."

"It either should be the paper or the sanitarian's post," Mrs. Wilson asserted.

She also hinted at the possibility of Mr. White's roles as both a publisher and an employee of the township constitute a conflict of interest since the local government prints legal advertisements in his paper.

Mrs. Wilson said Mr. White either should sit at the press

Freeholders Unit in State Selects Daly

FREEHOLD — Monmouth County Freeholder Marcus Daly has been appointed chairman of the newly-formed Intergovernmental Affairs Commission of the New Jersey Association of Boards of Freeholders.

John J. Sullivan, association president, announced committees yesterday. Richard J. Coffee, Mercer County, immediate past president is co-chairman.

The commission's purpose, Mr. Daly said, is to study ways and means of improving co-operation between state, county and municipal governments and improved co-operation at these levels with the federal government.

The freeholder said the commission will follow patterns of intergovernmental co-operation initiated in Washington.

"I am hopeful," he said, "that county governments will be able to work more constructively with the governor, Legislature, League of Municipalities, and the New Jersey Conference of Mayors."

"The association believes that the commission may function to eliminate many irritants and alleviate problems which now plague attempts at co-operation between these levels of government with the state, and between them and the federal level."

Court Trims Bankruptcy Case Fees

TRENTON (AP) — The Appellate Division of Superior Court yesterday reduced fees for a receiver and his counsel from $50,000 to $35,000 each growing out of bankruptcy proceedings against the Berkeley-Carteret Hotel in Asbury Park.

Monmouth County Chancery Court authorized a $50,000 allowance each for John Warren a Red Bank lawyer who was appointed receiver, and his counsel, D. Joseph D'Alto, a lawyer from Sea Cliff, following a hearing in November 1964. They had sought $80,000 each.

A report filed by Mr. Warren said that the hotel was sold for $1,250,000.

The Lafayette National Bank of Brooklyn, N.Y., and the Franklin National Bank of Brooklyn, creditors of the hotel, contended the receiver and counsel fees were too high.

The Appellate Court agreed.
