

Monmouth to Have Its Own Airport

By CHARLES A. JOHNSTON
FREEHOLD — Monmouth County will have its own public airport and a plan will be developed within the next two months.

Freeholder Director Joseph C. Irwin made the prediction yesterday, disclosing that he has called a meeting for next Thursday of the freeholders and their Airport Advisory Committee, which has been in suspension since 1964.

The director set a deadline of July 15 for development of a suitable plan for acquisition of either a field now in business, or a new site. He picked the date to dovetail with a schedule for release of U. S. matching funds for state, county or municipal airports.

The Federal Aviation Agency announced in Washington that $50 million in U. S. aid is available and that applications must be received by July 15.

"Our's will be there," said Mr. Irwin.

"This comes at a most appropriate time. Our committee has agreed to become reactivated and proceed forthwith with development of a plan. It is the desire of the freeholders that a definite program be established and this deadline will help keep us on schedule."

Various Uses
 Federal assistance may be used for land acquisition, runway and taxiway development, and airport lighting. It cannot be used for construction of hangars or administration terminals. Those must be built with local funds or by private interests.

In 1964, the county proposed purchase of the Monmouth Airport, Rt. 34, Wall Township, which is the largest air facility in the area and which has been recommended repeatedly in FAA studies for development. The plan was predicated on a long term lease commitment from the U. S. Defense Department to keep its Fort Monmouth aviation section, then based at the field, as a tenant. The Army would have been required to substantially increase its rental.

At the time, the military was in the midst of consolidating activities at existing government owned facilities and the county bid was rejected. The Fort Monmouth air section moved to Lakehurst Naval Air Station. Then, as now, Fort Monmouth officials took a dim view of the long trek.

Conditions have worsened since because trips have become more frequent as the Viet Nam war has intensified and the Electronics Command has continued to develop and improve equipment for helicopters which are the workhorses of that conflict.

For 'Copters
 Most of the ECOM air equipment is for helicopters. Brig. Gen. William B. Latta, Fort Monmouth commanding officer, has attempted to alleviate the military problem by setting up a makeshift landing pad for "choppers" adjacent to the fort's Hexagon headquarters in New Shrewsbury.

Mr. Irwin said the county airport plan again will center on mutual interests with Fort Monmouth. (See AIRPORT, Page 3)

Convention Polls Favor Larger Legislature, Beadleston Offers Plan

By WILLIAM HENDERSON
NEW BRUNSWICK — Democratic and Republican delegates to the Constitutional Convention each held private caucuses yesterday and agreed the membership of the state Legislature should be increased.

The Register learned that polls taken among committees appointed by leaders of both parties showed that any adopted plan for reapportioning the Legislature should call for a larger Senate or Assembly, or both.

The committees "kicked around" several proposals on changing the methods of electing legislators, but the most comprehensive one was sponsored by Assemblyman Alfred N. Beadleston (R-Monmouth), former Sen. C. Robert Sarcone (R-Essex), and ex-Sen. Wesley L. Lance (R-Hunterdon).

The draft provides for 40 Senate and 60 Assembly seats in a bicameral (two-house) legislature. The plan gives Monmouth County two senators of its own and three assemblymen, as presently constituted.

apportionment of seats, and the alignment of the subdistricts is made the responsibility of a non-legislative, bi-partisan apportionment committee.

There are 21 legislators who are delegates to the convention being held in the Rutgers University gymnasium.

The Beadleston proposal stipulates that Senate subdistricts must be composed of compact territory. This rule, in addition to serving as a check on gerrymandering, or shifting party votes to make certain areas stronger, also would help provide having common interests.

The system would be used in the 1967 and 1969 general elections. The proposals are based on the population breakdown of subdistricts.

If this proposal is accepted by the full convention and passed by the voters in the November election, it would, among other things, grant Monmouth County two senators and three assemblymen.

Monmouth, now part of the 5th Senate district, would be called the 11th Senate district and the 11th Assembly district.

The proposal links Ocean County with Burlington County, which means that Sen. William T. Hiering (R-Ocean) who also represents Monmouth, would be designated to seek election in his own bailiwick and Burlington.

The Ocean-Burlington setup gives two senators to the counties. But along Assembly lines, Ocean gets one lower house member, the same as now, and Burlington two seats.

With Sen. Hiering moving out of Monmouth, the door would be open for the sponsor, Assemblyman Beadleston, to make a bid for the upper house, a spot he has cherished for several years. However, Sen. Richard R. Stout (R-Monmouth) has occupied the seat for 14 years. The reapportionment proposal finally would give the assemblyman a "break."

Here is the 11th Senate district in Monmouth, including subdistricts in which elections would be held next year under a new formula of voting:

Senate subdistrict 31 would include the municipalities of Allentown, Upper Freehold, Roosevelt, Millstone, Englishtown, Manalapan, Freehold, Freehold Township, Colts Neck, Marlboro, Shrewsbury Borough, Red Bank, Holmdel, Little Silver, Fair Haven, Rumson, Sea Bright, Matawan Borough, Matawan Township, Keyport, Raritan, Union Beach, Kearnsburg, Middletown, Atlantic Highlands and Highlands.

Subdistrict 32 would include the municipalities of Allentown, Asbury Park, Avon, Belmar, Bradley Beach, Brielle, Deal, Eatontown, Interlaken, Loch Arbour, Long Branch, Manasquan, Monmouth Beach, Neptune Township, Neptune City, Ocean Township, Oceanport, Sea Girt, South Bel-

Rand Asks Resignation, Council Doesn't Accept

LONG BRANCH — Jacob Rand resigned his acting city manager's post last night but City Council did not accept his action.

However, Mr. Rand made it abundantly clear that come May 21 he shall be out of City Hall and, come May 24, he and his wife, Lillian, will be on a Caribbean cruise.

Mayor Vincent J. Mazza said the council would discuss with Mr. Rand at Tuesday's caucus the naming of a successor to fill the post until July 1, when the mayor-council government becomes effective. That planned conference, the mayor said, was the only reason the council did not accept the resignation last night.

Mr. Rand was an unsuccessful mayoral candidate in Tuesday's election.

Councilman Samuel A. Marks suggested that the council ascertain who the business administrator under the new government will be and then appoint him manager.

Some observers at the meeting saw this as a move to force Mayor-elect Paul L. Nastasio, Jr., to declare who he would appoint administrator.

Councilman Edgar N. Dinkelspiel, also an unsuccessful mayoral contender, assailed Mr. Rand for his resignation, arguing Mr. Rand should have resigned before the election instead of "leaving us in the lurch."

Councilwoman Lucy J. Wilson, who lost a bid for a council seat, reported that the city could not have done without Mr. Rand's assistance.

Mr. Rand will continue as asstant city attorney until July 1.

Rand's Statement
 In a prepared statement which he read to the council, Mr. Rand said it was understood that, upon accepting the acting manager's post last Dec. 23, he

He replied that there was no formal written opinion but that he had kept in close contact with the township agencies in attempting to safeguard against illegalities.

Anthony Russo, attorney for Piedmont Farms and Spring Lake Gardens, Inc., development corporations, made another futile plea for delay and agreement to confer with representatives of builders.

He was the first of several speakers to accuse the committee of "hasty action" and said that more discussion probably could produce a new code acceptable to all and one which would prevent the builders from going to court.

"Insistence upon this arbitrary action," he declared, "undoubtedly will result in the township defending unnecessary litigation and the ordinances being held illegal."

Mayor Alfred E. Ruppel denied there has

Two-Acre Zoning

COLTS NECK — In the face of threatened litigation, the Township Committee upgraded its zoning and subdivision requirements last night with adoption by unanimous vote of a package of three ordinances.

Minimum lot sizes in most of the township will be increased from one to two acres. Cluster development of 10-acre tracts will be permitted but 40 per cent of the land area must be devoted to the township for preservation in open space.

About 125 people turned out for public hearings in the Cedar Drive School auditorium, but the discussion was mild as the committee proceeded to enact the measures in line with previously indicated intentions.

D. Joseph De Vito, township attorney, told lawyers for builders and large tract owners who objected that he was confident the three ordinances were legally sound.

County Highway Toll Goes Down

SHREWSBURY — Monmouth County has dropped from second place to ninth in traffic fatalities this year to date, Elmer J. Noll of Fair Haven, chairman of the Monmouth County Traffic Safety Committee, told members yesterday at a meeting in Shadowbrook.

Last year at this time, the chairman explained, Monmouth County had 33 fatalities, second only to Essex County, which has the largest number of vehicle registrations in the state.

As of last Sunday, Mr. Noll went on, 14 persons had died on Monmouth County roads—a decrease of more than 100 per cent.

"It's encouraging," he declared. "Fatalities are diminishing, and I hope it continues."

"But don't let's get complacent," he warned. "Don't let's brag. The summer is coming. Summer months have taken a high toll of lives in traffic for years."

Mr. Noll credited the decrease in fatalities to law enforcement drives by police.

"I know the public doesn't like them (the drives)," he said, "but keep them up. It's one way to help get a deterrent."

Praises Many
 He also praised activities of civic groups, local safety coun-cells, service clubs and industry in promoting safe driving practices.

Guest speaker George Horner, an engineer for the Bureau of Traffic Safety Service of the Division of Motor Vehicles, deplored resolutions considered by a few of the 500 municipalities in the state to eliminate state participation in municipal traffic control.

Some communities have reported long delays—as long as 10 years, in one case—in getting state approval for speed limit changes or traffic signal installations.

Mr. Horner explained that his bureau, staffed by only two engineers, provides assistance to municipalities in establishing uniform traffic control throughout the state. Without the bureau's services, he said, municipal control would become a hodgepodge.

"If you have only two doctors in a large area, the remedy isn't to get rid of the doctors," he pointed out.

He asked support of the committee in assigning additional bureau engineers to give better and quicker service.

The committee adopted a resolution commending the work of

Golf Ball Proves To Be Bad Egg

DEAL — That mallard duck pictured on the front page of The Register for April 22 has given up on her golf ball, officials of Deal Golf and Country Club report.

The duck gathered into her nest a Titleist ball sliced off the 10th tee by Donald Hembling, Water Way, Rumson. Putting it with her eggs, she sat on it and resisted all attempts to remove it.

The other day the eggs hatched, and the mama duck went off to a nearby brook with her ducklings.

Nothing came out of the golf ball.

The Daily Register received a letter yesterday from Joseph W. Wright, manager of industrial relations for the Acushnet Process Co., New Bedford, Mass., which reads in part:

"We know we make the best golf ball in the world and that it has been reported to have accomplished many amazing feats. However, in all truthfulness . . . we deny that our Titleist has the ability to be 'reproduced' by even the smartest of mallards . . ."

"Maybe a way of improving the Titleist can be developed so the next mallard will not have so much difficulty. Unfortunately for Mr. Hembling, that slice is something else, since no slices are inherent in the Titleist."

To Air Problems Of Raritan Valley

RARITAN TOWNSHIP — New residents of the big Raritan Valley USA development will have a chance to fire questions and complaints at township officials.

Mayor Marvin Olinsky announced yesterday that he has reserved the school auditorium of St. Benedict's Catholic Church for a mass meeting next Friday at 8:30 p.m.

"I am taking this action in response to the many inquiries we have had from Raritan Valley homeowners," he said. "We will air the problems which have come up, and hope to help the residents in whatever way we can."

One current gripe in the development is against apartment construction—a possibility in the project.

On that subject, Mr. Olinsky said, "There is still much discussion to come, and nothing has been decided in final form. One thing is certain, if the people of the township do not want apartments, there will be no apartments."

Attending the meeting next Friday will be the mayor, fire chief, police chief, building inspector, superintendent of roads, postmaster, assessor, and representatives of the Sewer Authority, First Aid Squad, Planning Board and Zoning Board of Adjustment.

U.S. Marines Maul Cong; MIG Downed Near China

SAIGON (AP) — U. S. Marines wiped out most of a Viet Cong force in South Viet Nam yesterday, while American planes downed their 12th Communist MIG over North Viet Nam, U. S. spokesmen announced.

Red China claimed the MIG-17 was from its air force and was shot down over Chinese territory. The U. S. command said the dog-fight was 20 to 25 miles south of the Chinese border and indicated it thought the plane was North Vietnamese.

Government security forces reported a major blow against Viet Cong terrorists in Saigon. They announced the arrest of 38 Communist commandos and said some of them were from cells responsible for bombings and machine-gun raids in which 21 persons were killed and more than 250 wounded.

In fierce fighting 18 miles southwest of Da Nang, Leathernecks of the U. S. 3d Marine Division reported killing 175 Viet Cong of an enemy force of more than 200. The Marines seized a Communist training camp after a 10-hour battle.

The fighting began when 14 Leathernecks on patrol 17 miles southwest of Saigon strayed into the Viet Cong nest. Though outnumbered 10 to one, the Marines stood their ground. A relief force found two wounded survivors.

Total American casualties were described as light in one of the biggest fights between the Marines and the Viet Cong in recent months. Heavy artillery and air support accounted for 120 Communist dead, a marine spokesman said. The beleaguered Communist dead were confirmed by body count, the spokesman said.

Air Missions Rise
 U. S. Air Force and Navy planes flew 135 missions over North Viet Nam yesterday, 48 more than the day before. The American planes flew more than 200 individual sorties to approach the war's high for a single day of 260.

Approve Use of 4 Classrooms For Migrants' Children's Studies

MANALAPAN — Use of four classrooms for summer classes for the children of migrant workers, was approved by the Board of Education last night. The Manalapan-Englishtown school board will receive $100 for the use of the kitchen and auditorium. Classes for migrant children have been operated by the state for several years, and they have been held in Freehold in the last year or two, says Charles D. Swalm, superintendent of schools. All expenses, including teachers' salaries, pay for kitchen employees, and other costs, are paid by the state. The program will run for six weeks. Grievances Policy The board adopted an addition to its personnel policies, governing grievances. Mr. Swalm said that Earl B. Garrison, county superintendent of schools, had said that additional provisions were needed to insure that the board's policies conform to the state directives. The new provisions safeguard a teacher from prejudicial action as a result of a grievance. Teachers also are to be assured the right to select their own representatives. Mr. Swalm reported that Levitt and Sons expect to complete the classrooms in its school by September. The developer will donate the school to the Board of Education. The school being built by Hovnanian Brothers, should be ready by February, 1967, Mr. Swalm added.

Fleckenstein Resigns Post On Board at Colts Neck

COLTS NECK — Less than a year after he was appointed to fill an unexpired term, and only three months after he was elected to a three-year term, William L. Fleckenstein resigned from the Board of Education last night. Mr. Fleckenstein, who will step down July 1, said he finds he cannot devote the time required to the board's business. He is employed at Bell Telephone Laboratories, Haldimede. The board member had been chairman of a committee to recommend appointment of the township's first superintendent of schools, who is to be hired by July 1, and a principal for one of the system's two schools. He said he expects that a superintendent will have been chosen by early June and a principal by the end of the month. He said that he dedicated the date of his resignation on the completion of his assignment. In making the motion to accept the resignation, Melvin Willett said it was with the "greatest regret." He has been an excellent and dedicated member, a fine leader who has taught all of us around the table many things. The board again divided on the policy issue of meeting expenses of school trips for students. With Mr. Willett abstaining, the board voted 7 to 0 — Lester H. Douglas was absent — to permit an eighth grade bus trip to Kennedy International Airport June 2 with children paying their own expenses. The vote was 6 to 2, however, on approval for a science club trip to Sandy Hook State Park June 4 with the school absorbing the bus cost. C. Edward Tilton and Lester Filepp voted "no" on grounds that the payment was not consistent with general policy. Mr. Willett has disputed the general policy and has been granted a hearing by state Education Commissioner Frederick Raubinger May 27. The board voted 6 to 2 again in line with general policy, not to permit distribution of a flyer advertising the YMCA Summer Day Camp at Freehold within the schools. Mr. Filepp and Lee Tuomenoska voted "no." Approval was given to close schools on the afternoon of May 20 for the faculty to have a discussion on merits of the social studies program. "You can't expect to keep teachers after 3:30 Friday afternoons," said Mrs. Zella Hamilton, administrative principal, in urging the shortened day. Mrs. Hamilton reported that 99 youngsters are registered for kindergarten next year, compared to between 70 and 75 a year ago. Resignations for health reasons were accepted from two teachers, Miss Patricia Moran and Mrs. Sylvia Couturier. Mrs. Mary Ott and Mrs. Frances H. Campanella were engaged for the balance of the current year. The board also hired Mrs. Campanella for the 1966-67 year, at $7,850, to teach a second grade, and Miss Barbara Mick, at $6,000, to teach a class for the handicapped.

Information Sought About Rabid Bat

FAIR HAVEN — Parents of children enrolled in Willow Street School have received a letter from Dr. John Powers, school physician, requesting their help in questioning youngsters on possible contact with a rabid bat. The bat was brought to school May 4 in a wire cage by a boy, who showed it to his class and pupils in two other classrooms. The bat was taken home by the boy several hours later. On May 8, the bat died and was sent to the state Department of Health where laboratory test showed the bat had rabies. According to Charles Howard, school superintendent, all investigation has shown that no one came in actual physical contact with the bat. As a precautionary measure, however, Dr. Powers sent a letter to parents of all children at the school, informing them of the incident and requesting that any information be given to school officials. Mr. Howard has been in contact with state Health Department officials and stressed that no immunization has been recommended for any of the students, including the pupil who brought the bat to school. He said rabies can only be transmitted through a bite or by a rabid animal's contact with a break in the skin. Since investigation has shown no physical contact of this nature, the letter has been sent simply as a precautionary measure, he said.

Previous plans for a 6,000 square foot room, had been estimated at $60,000 by the same firm, Mr. Swalm said. The architect said he hopes to be able to include a stage and 3,500 square feet of level space within the $45,000 limit, the superintendent said.

Gross Set To Dedicate School Units

RUMSON — Formal dedication of two new additions to Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School will take place in the auditorium Wednesday at 8 p.m. with Dr. Mason W. Gross, president of Rutgers University, as the key speaker. Dr. Gross, a Rumson resident, was guest of honor at the dedication of the last addition to the school. The public has been urged to attend the ceremonies by Dr. John F. Kinney, Jr., superintendent, who called this "a wonderful opportunity for the community to show its appreciation to school board members who have worked long and hard to achieve this and many other accomplishments for the system." Inspection Sited An inspection of the facilities and refreshments, will follow the dedication. Phillips Watson, president of the senior class, will lead the flag salute and David Sauvage, president of the Student Council, will offer the students' greetings. Robert Micklewright, architect, will present a key to Arthur L. Adamson, president of the school board, and James Greene, vice president, will address the group. Words of community appreciation will be heard from Charles Callinan and Eugene M. Magee, mayors of Rumson and Fair Haven, respectively. Dr. Kinney will express appreciation on behalf of the school, and will introduce school board members and guests. Music will be furnished by the high school band.

Ex-Appraiser For Authority Files Suit

TRENTON — P. Thomas Cahill, former appraiser for the Matawan Township Utilities Authority, has filed suit in Superior Court against four residents of the Cliffwood Beach section of the township. Mr. Cahill, a realtor and vice chairman of the Raritan Township Sewer Authority, is represented by Matawan attorney Ralph S. Heuser, Sr. The suit is filed against Fred Wetzel, Carl and Beatrice Zeyen and Michael O'Donnell, all of West Concourse. Mr. Cahill contends in the suit that his professional reputation has been damaged by public statements made by the four people. He is seeking compensatory and punitive damages. No specific amount of money is stated. The charges grow out of alleged statements made regarding Cliffwood Beach sewer easements.

Wellner Gets Police Post

He is married and is the father of four children.

Child Darts, Lohsen Home Hit by Car

KEANSBURG—A local motorist crashed his car into the home of former Councilman Martin C. Lohsen last night as he swerved to avoid a child. Patrolman Eugene Bennett said the accident was witnessed by Mrs. Lohsen, who verified the driver's statement. No summons was issued. Patrolman Bennett identified the man as Michael O'Brien, 61, of 95 Myrtle Ave. He suffered a bleeding nose in the crash and was treated by the First Aid Squad at the scene. The man was northbound on Myrtle Ave. and as he turned west into Kennedy Way the child darted in front of him. Swerving, he struck the former official's house at 26 Kennedy Way. Shrubbery, brick steps and aluminum siding were damaged, the officer reported.

Asks Proper Cemetery Care

RUMSON — Councilman Francis E. P. McCarter last night called on Borough Council to consider establishing proper care for the old Rumson Cemetery at Rumson Rd. and Conover La. Mr. McCarter told the governing body that the plot, which dates back to the 17th century, has been the target of vandals and lack care and upkeep. The issue was held for study.

Expect 40,000 in State To Take Deferment Test

NEWARK (AP) — The draft deferment examinations will be given on 24 college campuses in New Jersey beginning May 14 and some 40,000 youths around the state are expected to take the tests, a spokesman for the Selective Service said Thursday. Test scores and class standing are used as criteria for basing student draft deferments. Undergraduates must score 70 on the three-hour aptitude tests and graduates students must score 80. The test, which will also be given May 21 and June 3, covers reading ability, vocabulary usage, data interpretation and arithmetical reasoning. It was devised by Science Research Associates of Chicago, which will also administer and grade the test. Col. Joseph T. Avella, director of Selective Service in New Jersey, has urged all New Jersey youths 18 or over who have registered for the draft to take the tests if they want a student deferment. Avella declined to comment on a statement made by Adam Clayton Powell earlier charging that "eggheads" are favored in the examinations. "This is a general aptitude test, and like most aptitude tests, it is not based on years of schooling but the ability to reason," Avella said. Some 2 million students in the U.S. are eligible to take the tests which will be administered nationwide, at 1,200 locations.

SHOW TIME — George H. Crawford of 245 Spring St., and Mrs. M. W. Hohmeier of 376 Newman Springs Rd., both of Red Bank, prepare exhibits for tomorrow's Senior Citizen Hobby Show, a new project of the Red Bank Parks and Recreation Department. Mrs. Hohmeier will display needlework and knitting, and Mr. Crawford will show some of his woodwork, including a bowl (foreground) he made 63 years ago, and the nut shell carvings he is holding.

Hobby Show to Display Senior Citizens' Work

RED BANK — A wide variety of collections and examples of handicraft have been gathered for tomorrow's Senior Citizen Hobby Show in Mechanic Street School. The show will be open to the public, free of charge, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The project is a new one of the Red Bank Parks and Recreation Department and its success could make it an annual event, according to Bruce N. Johnson, director. Enthusiasm among the entrants is high, Mr. Johnson said. As of the middle of the week, 20 senior citizens had filed entry blanks, and more were coming, including 10 from the Atlantic Highlands Senior Citizen Club. Mr. Johnson reported the following exhibits already scheduled for display as of Wednesday: Painting and ceramics sculpture by Joseph G. Klubnick of Highlands, the knife collection of William B. Boschen of Freehold, the stamps and scrapbooks of John Sutton of Atlantic Highlands, the chessmen and wood turnings of William C. Noddings of Matawan, graphic arts and paintings of Edward B. Walling of Morganville, sewing by Mrs. Meta Luth of Red Bank, model trains by Joseph Noll of Eatontown, wood carving and drawing by Leonard Farnung of Oceanport, lapidary by Peter R. Farley of Fair Haven, and a hand carved panel desk by Gustaf A. Eisele of Middletown. The woodwork of George H. Crawford of Red Bank, the models and handcrafts of Ralph D. Whipple of Oceanport, the paintings and wood carvings of

OK School Calendar At Rumson

RUMSON — The Board of Education last night adopted a 1966-67 school calendar that differs from the one expected to gain approval in Fair Haven and at the regional high school. Traditionally, the three districts have maintained the same schedule, but this year the Rumson board objected to a late closing in June. Its 183-day plan gives a three-day vacation at Washington's Birthday which, with a weekend, provides a substantial break at a time when productivity and resistance to illness are at a low ebb. Two days, plus the weekend, make up the Easter recess, and a full 10-day Spring vacation comes in April. School will close June 18, a week earlier than for the other two districts.

List Police Test Results

TRENTON (AP) — Ralph J. Trolian, of 50 Walking Terrace, Keyport, placed first Thursday on a civil service list for patrolman in Keyport. The job has a salary range of $5,000-$5,940. The State Civil Service Commission also released these eligibility lists, with candidates in order of finish: Long Branch, patrolman — John N. Bucciero, 35 South 5th Ave., Jersey L. Hamlin, 413 Garfield Court. Salary, $5,900-$6,500. Middletown Township, patrolman—Kenneth L. Perkins, 29 Middletown Ave., Atlantic Highlands; Irvin B. Beaver Jr., 37 Campbell Ave., Port Monmouth; Frederick H. Burdge, 15 Park Ave., Atlantic Highlands. Salary, $5,474-$6,717.

Tract Clean Up Is Ordered

RUMSON — Borough Council will take steps to clean up a Broadmoor Dr. tract owned by Richard P. Egan of Sheridan La. Joseph Ciejka, local health officer, reported the property is the site of an accumulation of trash and debris. The owner has been notified to remove the trash, it was said. Legal steps will be taken, if the order is not obeyed.

Rumson Parade Slated May 30

RUMSON — The borough's Memorial Day parade will leave Forrestdale School at 10 a.m. Monday, May 30. The procession will go to River Rd. and proceed to Victory Park, where a ceremony will take place.

State Suit Filed to Set Land Value

FREEHOLD — A suit was filed by the State Highway Department yesterday to have a condemnation commission fix the value of a narrow strip of Rt. 35 highway frontage it needs in Middletown Township. Negotiations with the owner, the suit says, have failed. He is John Dwyer. His property, a service station, is on the south east corner of Rt. 35, and Highland Pl., south of the improved intersection at Rt. 35 — Tindall Rd. — Kings Highway. The state requires a strip three feet wide by 103 feet long, with a slope right easement of 270 square feet. The seizure would mean removal of a gas pump station.

Attorney Hits Technicality In Deciding on Variances

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — A minor subdivision may sound simple to obtain, yet for Benjamin Mann it's going to mean two encounters with the Zoning Board of Adjustment and another two with the Planning Board. Because his case isn't unusual, Jack Wéser, chairman of the Zoning Board, last night said the board will ask for a second meeting with the planners and Township Council to establish rules of procedure. The first session, said Burton Funder, board attorney, outlined this procedure: First, site approval by the Planning Board; variance from the Zoning Board, and then council's final approval. This hasn't worked because once rejected by the planners, one can go before the Zoning Board, and if successful, return to the planners. "Again, we're putting them (the planners) in a spot where they have to subdivide," said board member Philip Wetzel earlier. "If a variance is granted after the Planning Board has denied site approval — which is what happened to Mr. Mann."

To Dedicate Blake Gym

RUMSON — A dedication ceremony Sunday will mark the completion of the Edgar B. Blake gymnasium-auditorium at Rumson Country Day School, Bellevue Ave. A groundbreaking ceremony last May started the $225,000 school addition project. It houses administrative offices, a gymnasium-auditorium and boys' and girls' locker rooms. The structure was designed by Gerard A. Barba, Shrewsbury architect. Fred Burghard is building committee chairman. The edifice is named for Edgar B. Blake, the school's headmaster for many years. The ceremony is slated for 3:30 p.m.

Board to Study Well For Supply of Water

MANALAPAN — The Manalapan-Englishtown Regional Board of Education decided last night to study the possibility of installing a well to supply water to the Pease Road School, rather than buying service from the Gordons Corner Water Co. Last night's action, by the elementary school board, was prompted by the refusal of the water company to guarantee, in writing, that it will maintain adequate pressure and volume. The water company is planning to charge $5,220 as an installation fee. In addition there will be an annual charge, based on the fees that would have been paid by the houses, which would have occupied the school property. The board has estimated an annual water bill of $7,000, if all of the schools in the area are hooked up. Edward Hickey, an architect, has advised the board to check local ordinances and also to speak with the state Board of Health about the possibility of a well. The Gordons Corner School is supplied by a well, and the main problem is the iron content of the water. If a well is installed at the Pease Road School, a filter would be used to remove the iron. "The water company may agree to the paragraph we want, with this hanging over their heads," said the board's president, Charles E. Wilkoff, Jr. The board also expressed opposition to the $4,800 hook-up charge asked by the Pine Brook Sewer Co. to supply service to the Pease Road School. The board will attempt to have this fee reduced.

Discover a Treasured Location!

SHADOW OAKS at Middletown

SHADOW OAKS at MIDDLETOWN is just a little bit unbelievable. There are other locations in New Jersey that are hilly and heavily wooded and peaceful. There are other locations within easy walking distance of everything. But to our certain knowledge, no other location quite matches SHADOW OAKS for both! Where else can you walk just a few blocks from your tucked-away home to the train station where both the Pennsy and Jersey Central dispatch dozens of trains daily to Newark (30 minutes) and New York (40 minutes). Express buses are 1/2 block away. So is a brand new Shop-Rite Shopping Center. And both the grade school and town library are an easy walk. Consider, too, where in Middletown you are. This is the Kings Highway section where prestige is part of the value. Most homes at Shadow Oaks are on a dead end street, on a sloping, wooded half acre. The homes themselves are the crowning touch. Built with pride by the same builders as Shadow Oaks and Shadow Oaks South—prestige communities in Bridgewater, N.J. Designed with a Country Colonial feeling that leaps to life in hand-split barn shakes, oversized shutters, floor-to-ceiling fireplaces with rough-hewn mantles, exposed ceiling beams, antique-finished kitchen cabinets, real pecan wood paneling, and your choice of either 4 or 5 bedrooms, either 2 1/2 or 3 baths. A word to the wise: we can only build 15 homes. No more. Wouldn't it be a shame if one of these treasures eluded you?

Late School Bus Bid Accepted, Kept Sealed

MANALAPAN — A bid on school buses, which arrived two minutes after the 8:15 deadline, was accepted by the Manalapan-Englishtown Board of Education last night, but not opened.

The only bid on hand as the deadline passed was from Ott Motors, Inc., Freehold.

William Gillette of General GMC Sales, Inc. Bradley Beach, arrived at 8:17, explaining that he had thought the deadline was 8:45. At Mr. Gillette's request, the board informally accepted the bid.

The whole question was referred to the transportation committee, which will take no action until it has a chance to confer with W. Lawrence Krusen, the board's attorney.

A contract for educational supplies was awarded to J. L. Hammett, Inc., Union, at a price of $5,550.

Stating Opposition
The board voted to write Monmouth County representatives in the Legislature, stating its opposition to a provision in the bill which separates the teacher's pension fund from social security. The board opposes a provision in the bill which eliminates the right of a board to retire a teacher before age 70. Under the present statutes, a teacher may be retired after reaching the age of 62, at the discretion of the board.

The bill has passed the Assembly and is due for a Senate vote in the next two weeks. The board approved the purchase of a Monroe Calculator, to cost $575, and a machine to take dictation, which will cost $610.

A group proposing to organize the First Baptist Church of Englishtown has requested the use of a classroom Sunday morning and evenings. Charles D. Swalm, superintendent of schools, reminded the board that this would mean having a janitor on hand each session. Board members decided that the fee for the classroom would be charged twice, making a total charge of $15 for the two periods, including $10 for the janitor.

Members stressed the fact that these charges are good only through June, at which time the whole policy regarding charges for outside groups will be re-studied.

The board approved contract offers for these five teachers recommended by Mr. Swalm:

George Gambie, to teach fifth grade, $5,300. Miss Susan Smith, kindergarten, and Miss Carmela Caruso, second grade, each at $5,300; Miss Joan Isoldi, first grade, $5,800; Mrs. Judith Barisky, a speech therapist, to be used in the schools' title I program for disadvantaged children, $5,550 plus a bonus of $250 for a special education teacher. Mrs. Barisky will be paid entirely with federal funds.

The board also agreed to offer a contract to Miss Phyllis Friedman, Freehold, to teach the middle grades, $5,500.

would serve only for about two months. He noted that the period had stretched to more than four months.

The extension was caused by the government change movement which made it impossible for the city to hire a permanent manager.

The council indicated it would try to meet with Mr. Nastasio and the council-elect at Tuesday's caucus to discuss a situation which threatens to leave the city's beaches without lifeguards.

Because the caretaker government is disqualified from making appointments or hiring, neither a beach supervisor nor lifeguards can be retained for the summer season.

Councilman Marks called for a circumvention of the law, stressing the necessity of having guards when the beaches open before July 1.

The council awarded a contract to Taylor Fence, a division of Taylor Enterprises of Red Bank, for the furnishing and installation of pipe railing along the boardwalk. The firm's bid was $7,506. The only other bid submitted was $14,990, from Consolidated Steel and Aluminum Fence Co., Inc., of Kenilworth.

Emergency appropriations of $6,000 for last Tuesday's election expenses and $3,500 for the repair of storm water drainage pipe were approved.

The council adopted the salary ordinance and an ordinance appropriating $13,000 for various capital improvements.

A structure at 72 Ocean Ave., owned by the estate of Josephine Germano, was condemned.

citizen—that he was the victim of trick tactics."

"A little game," Chief Mass quoted. "We don't need such words." The editorial itself, he added, "does little, if anything, to build up confidence in law enforcement."

"What's trickery about radar?" the police chief asked. "The motorist uses every bit of trickery he can think of to get out of it."

"You've got to be paying full attention to your driving and not driving along thinking of Joe Doaks or something else. This man was obviously not paying attention."

Commenting after Chief Mass' remarks, Henry Ney, county traffic engineer, said it is up to traffic engineers, not law enforcement officers, to pick enforcement sites.

"We don't want speed traps at the bottoms of hills, or other places where motorists would naturally speed up," Mr. Ney stated.

He admitted that the 50-m.p.h. speed limit on the parkway spur, coming right after the 60-m.p.h. limit on the parkway itself, "is wrong."

"It should be 55 miles an hour," the engineer said.

The statements of Chief Mass and Mr. Ney drew a round of applause from the 44 police, borough officials, industrial representatives and other safety-minded persons attending the meeting.

The committee will meet again Thursday, June 9, at Lincroft Inn, Lincroft.

Boy's UFO Story, Picture May Get Official Attention

FREEHOLD — Those pictures of a 13-year-old Wall Township boy made March 30 of a UFO (unidentified flying object), and his glowing account of how it hovered over his head, paused and sped away, may finally get to an official investigating agency today.

Robert J. Salvo, of 1128 Curtis Ave., West Belmar, claims he saw the flying craft, which he said looked like a jet airplane but may have resembled a huge garbage can lid. And he adds, he is ready to repeat his description.

On April 15, after he had gotten back a developed roll of film that he says he made of the flying saucer, he headed his mother's advice and sent it to the Monmouth County Civilian Defense coordinator, Frank L. Wilgus.

Mr. Wilgus says he telephoned the Fort Monmouth public information office and when he got no call back by Wednesday of this week he made copies of the pictures available to the press. The Salvo boy was a good subject for accompanying newspaper interviews.

Meanwhile, at Fort Monmouth, Leonard Rokaw, the public information director, said that UFOs are not probed by the Army.

As a rule, he added, inquiries are directed to the fort security office which makes contact with anyone interested. Contact is then made with the proper agency, the Air Force Foreign Technology Division at Wright-Patterson Airfield, near Dayton, Ohio.

In this case, said Mr. Rokaw, Fort Monmouth security reported it was unable to contact Mr. Wilgus despite efforts through April 20. It then decided too much time had elapsed for an official inquiry to be important anyway.

But with all of the publicity, particularly some newspaper reports that Fort Monmouth had picked up and was holding the pictures, Mr. Rokaw said he would personally tell Mr. Wilgus where to send the information.

Holmdel 'Old Guard' Slates Schantz Draft in GOP Rift

By WILLIAM RICHARDS, 2d
HOLMDEL — Charging that Township Committeeman Wallace A. Taylor doesn't have the interests of "Old Guard" Republicans at heart, George H. Durar, spring valley Dr., has announced the formation of a draft movement for the candidacy of Norman Schantz.

Mr. Schantz is a Zoning Board of Adjustment member and recent critic of Mr. Taylor.

Mr. Durar confirmed the draft has been thoroughly discussed; but said the final decision was hastened by Mr. Taylor's move to vote with the Young GOP in naming S. Thomas Gagliano as township attorney.

He added the movement was crystallized by a suggestion made by former Committeeman Vincent J. Maneri in The Register Tuesday that Mr. Schantz would be a capable candidate.

"We feel Mr. Schantz is a man who has always acted out of conviction, not convenience," Mr. Durar said, alluding to statements that Mr. Taylor's latest action indicates his open court-ing of Young GOP support.

'Serious Consideration'
Queried on his reaction to the draft movement, Mr. Schantz pledged to "give it serious consideration, particularly if public response to my position continues to be as strong as it has been."

Mr. Gagliano's closest competitor for the attorney's post is Howard A. Roberts, Middletown.

Madden Link Cited
The Register has been informed Mr. Taylor decided against Mr. Roberts because of his association with William K. Madden, Winding Brook Way, here.

Mr. Madden is a Democrat. Mr. Durar asserted he and other neighbors of Mr. Madden are "upset" that Mr. Madden met with this type of treatment from the committee.

He said Mr. Madden would be above using his association with Mr. Roberts—if he had been appointed—to gain political infor-

Assembly subdistrict 47 would include the municipalities of Al-len-town, Colts Neck, Englishtown, Farmingdale, Freehold Borough, Freehold Township, Holmdel, Howell Township, Keansburg, Keyport, Manalapan, Marlboro, Matawan Borough, Matawan Township, Millstone, New Shrewsbury, Raritan, Roosevelt, Shrewsbury Borough, Shrewsbury Township, Union Beach and Upper Freehold.

Assembly subdistrict 48 would include the municipalities of Atlantic Highlands, Fair Haven, Highlands, Little Silver, Long Branch, Middletown, Monmouth Beach, Oceanport, Red Bank, Rumson, Sea Bright and West Long Branch.

Assemblyman Beadleston told The Register last night that his proposal has the "consensus of the Republican delegates."

There are dozens of other proposals on reapportionment awaiting action.

Ocean Township Mayor John J. Reilly, a Democratic delegate, suggests a legislature of 40 senators and 80 assemblymen.

"It tends for better representation for the people of our state," he said.

This is the same ratio as proposed by two Republicans — Sen. William E. Ozzard and Assemblyman Raymond H. Bateman, both of Somerset County.

Patrick J. McGann, Jr., Lincroft, Democrat, second vice president of the convention, declared:

"A larger legislature, whether unicameral or bicameral, would give all the counties much stronger representation."

Sen. Stout, co-chairman of the Thursday during which the vote was taken.

He reported last week's meeting was held because he was told Mr. Menges would be unable to attend the Tuesday agenda session.

Mr. Menges, he reported, did attend.

There was also a meeting set for Monday night. The mayor said that when he arrived, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Gagliano and Mr. Wadington were present.

Asking the purpose of the session, he was told it was slated to clear some things up, he said.

Mr. Menges, when informed of the meeting, claimed no knowledge of it.

The mayor said last night the issue of who will be attorney will not be settled formally until Monday—at which time "Mr. Taylor will have to stand up and be counted in public."

committee on structure of the legislature, remarked:

"I believe a small legislature, like 30 senators and 60 assemblymen is best suited for the people of New Jersey but I would support Beadleston's proposal."

Sen. Frederick J. Scholz (R-Camden) has an idea that 28 senators and 110 or 112 assemblymen could do the job best for their constituents.

Bergen County GOP Chairman Walter H. Jones would like to see a unicameral (one-house) legislature consisting of 109 senators. This would give Monmouth six members.

The Legislature now has 29 senators and 60 assemblymen.

Fire College

The Monmouth County Fire College will hold its third session Monday at 7 p.m. at six locations.

The courses and their locations are these: Ventilation, Cliffwood; tactics, Belford; public relations, Sea Bright; care and use of ladders, Eatontown; gasoline tank fires, South Wall Township, and gas masks and

Adopt Grievances Plan, Teacher Board Unit Set

LITTLE SILVER — The Little Silver Board of Education last night adopted grievance procedures and established a teacher-board relations committee to negotiate salaries, personnel policies, working conditions and fringe benefits.

The action was recommended by an ad hoc board-staff relations committee which included three members of the board, three representatives of the teachers' association and C. David Vanderhoof, superintendent of schools.

Board member Benjamin Sanderson, ad hoc committee chairman, said the grievance procedure was submitted to each of the school system's teachers and received unanimous approval. Charles O'Malley, board president, said the new policy will be submitted to the state Department of Education for approval.

The seven-member teacher-board relations committee, like the ad hoc committee, is to include the superintendent of schools, who will be its chairman, three members designated by the local teachers' organization and three members of the board.

In addition to conducting discussions of wages, personal policies and working conditions, the committee is to assist in solving school district problems and "foster a spirit of professional growth."

State Recommendations
The committee is to evaluate problems presented to it and make recommendations to the board. If the committee is unable to reach a mutually satisfactory solution any of the groups may request a meeting with the full board in executive session and in the presence of the other groups.

The committee is to meet regularly three times a year—in October, January and April—and at the request of the administration, or the teachers' or board's representatives.

The procedures "do not preclude the teacher representatives from carrying on discussions with and resolving problems through the superintendent of schools," the policy adopted last night states.

Mr. O'Malley appointed Mr. Sanderson and the other two board representatives on the ad hoc committee, Charles Sheridan and Mrs. Janet Bradley, representatives to the new committee.

Colts Neck
haste. He said the changes have been studied for a year, in the light of experience with existing regulations adopted more than 10 years ago.

New 1.75 Acres
He said the township currently has an average developed lot size of 1.75 acres, compared to the two acres to be required, and that minimum floor space averages 2,100 square feet in recently constructed homes, against a new requirement of 2,000. Its school age population, he said, is 1.6 per cent.

The hearing lasted only 90 minutes with about 18 people taking active part.

Mr. Russo, his brother, Arthur Russo, developer of Piedmont Farms; Martin Goodall, an attorney representing his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Goodall; Alexander Caplan, a builder; Mrs. Elizabeth DeCamp Statler, and Ildon Blackburn, were un-equally opposed.

Richard Mosher, Harry Prud-foot, Robert L. Saunders, Jr., and William Fiskin were outspoken in support and all drew rounds of applause from the rest of the audience.

Charles M. Pike, Monmouth County Planning Director, submitted a letter asserting that the upgrading was consistent with the county master plan. This plan, he said, foresees Colts Neck as part of a permanent rural area between the seashore areas and Rt. 9, western Monmouth corridor.

Need No Sewer
Mr. Pike said adoption of two-acre zoning would mean that Colts Neck probably would never need public sewerage and water supply. He noted that the township appears determined not to participate in any fashion in a proposed Middletown regional sewerage plan.

To those who said Colts Neck's tax rate, among the lowest in the county, indicated no economic pressures to warrant tighter zoning, Mayor Ruppel said the tax question had not been a factor. The changes were intended to retain a rural residential character and promote the best interest of health, welfare and safety of residents, he said.

To those who urged that industry be sought to offset possible fiscal pressures, the mayor said the township, without public sewers and water supply, was not considered attractive to industry.

Briefly, the meeting took on a political flavor. But it was short-lived.

Endorse It
Robert Simms, president of the Republican Club, announced that 55 members of the club's 110 registration recently voted unanimous endorsement of the changes.

Mr. Blackburn said, "I didn't know this was to be a political meeting, but if they polled all of the Republicans I don't think the result would have been the same."

To which Mrs. Anne Wylie, deputy clerk, commented: "He doesn't come to the meetings."

Committeeman Joseph Moreau, assuring the audience that it wasn't a political question, said spokesmen for the Democratic organization were welcome.

Stephen Zwolinski, a Democratic Club member, said the committee should follow advice of the county Planning Board and seek a balanced zone plan. This would not place full reliance for tax income on residential real estate, he added.

He said that a year ago it was said that one-acre lots were adequate. Now, he said, it's two acres and a question whether soon three or four-acre minimums will be required to control the growth.

Don't Carry Load
Mr. Zwolinski said that apparently houses costing $35,000 don't produce enough tax income to carry the load. He warned that continued upgrading might wind up in a court decision which would force standards below even what they are today.

Carl Zellers, of Holmdel, a real estate broker, suggested that 1 1/2-acre minimum lots would be adequate. He also suggested that Rt. 34 be zoned for light industry to a depth of 800 feet.

The proposal from a non-resident brought George Dittmar, chairman of the Planning Board and prime mover for tighter zoning, to his feet.

Mr. Dittmar said that, however sincere the suggestion, he believed that if he made them at a meeting in Holmdel "I would be completely out of order." He was widely applauded.

Otto Einsiebler was critical of a section of the subdivision ordinance which requires developers to deed enough land to the township to assure 75-foot road widths. But he declared "I don't think so," when opposing the ordinance, included him among those who he said would be hurt.

Too Severe
Miss Carolyn Stetkowski, a real estate broker, disputed the restrictions as too severe.

"I've lived here 40 years," she said, "and I love all the people. But I don't think those who have just moved in should say now that we're here, don't let anybody else in." The builders gave her a round of applause.

Robert Cummings, who is an amateur radio operator, objected to a section dealing with interference by electrical or electronic equipment with radio and television reception. He said that broadcasting was subject to regulation by the Federal Communications Commission and that a local regulation was both unnecessary and superfluous.

To all who commented, committeemen stressed the intent was to preserve a Colts Neck for the future along present lines.

Said Committeeman George Handzo:

"In all this great metropolitan area, we want a place where 30 years from now you can still find two trees growing near one another."

Caused Imports Shop Fire

HOWELL TOWNSHIP — Defective wiring ranks high on the list of probable causes for a blaze that destroyed $50,000 worth of merchandise at the M and F Imports Shop, Rt. 9, yesterday.
 Adelphia Fire Chief Stanley Roe added, however, that since the red antique shop had burned evenly inside, he could not limit the cause to one source yet.
 The blaze was discovered by a passing fireman at 1:05 a.m. and kept firemen from Freehold Borough, Freewood Acres, Southard and Adelphia, at the scene until 4:30 a.m. yesterday.
 No firemen were reported injured, Mr. Roe said.
 Flames in the ceiling made the blaze look worse than it was, he added.
 Mrs. Myron Wisotski, who, with her husband, owns the shop,

2d Recorder Turnoff Try Ruled Out

MARLBORO — A group of residents here were set for action when John Narzowich threatened to turn off the Citizens Committee's tape recorder at the Township Council meeting last night.
 Before he began his customary remarks during the public session, Mr. Narzowich objected to the second recorder which was capturing the sounds of the meeting for the Citizens Committee.
 The township uses one recorder to record the meeting as part of its official records. The Citizens Committee introduced its machine April 28 because it contended that the deputy clerk was taking down the discussions incorrectly.
 When Mr. Narzowich left his chair and walked toward the machine, Mayor Walter C. Grubb, Jr. exclaimed:
 "You better not touch that machine!"
 Gerald Bauman, Citizens Committee president, hently stood in front of the machine. And residents waited in expectation.
 When the council president, George Creevy, told Mr. Narzowich that the township attorney, Milton Kosene, advised him to let the machine continue, Mr. Narzowich paused, returned and stood in front of his chair and began his talk.
 And the residents settled themselves back into their chairs.

The Register's Opinion

A University — More than Words

In a recent report to more than 500 of the state's chief school administrators, Michael B. Gilligan, acting assistant commissioner for higher education and the president of Jersey City State College, promised that "teacher education will continue to be the prime job of the State Colleges."

The colleges will continue to stress teacher education, not withstanding the fact that this fall they will admit, for the first time, a few students who are not committed to careers in teaching, Mr. Gilligan said.

Undoubtedly, the commissioner felt that continuation of the emphasis on supplying teachers would come as good news to the superintendents, who must be concerned with New Jersey's future supply of teachers.

In offering them this reassurance, however, Mr. Gilligan has given strength to the argument that the six state colleges, even if lumped under a single administration, will not constitute a university in any meaningful sense of that term.

Applying the name Woodrow Wilson State University to this proposed association of teachers' colleges does not change this fact.

We agree that there are merits in the WWSU proposal, insofar as it recommends reorganization to give the colleges greater fiscal autonomy. But in contemporary usage the term "university" is reserved for multipurpose institutions of higher learning, offering a variety of courses in the professions, the sciences and the humanities, and offering degrees at all levels of study.

A university is not a group of teachers' colleges; neither is it a group of teachers' colleges with an added sprinkling of other courses of study.

It is clear from the comments of Mr. Gilligan and others, that it will be several years, at least, before the state colleges could conceivably offer the broad spectrum of activities which, viewed as a whole, might conceivably entitle them to be called a "university."

For just so long as the training of teachers or the training of students in any other single area is their primary purpose, the colleges can not justifiably be termed a university.

If, at some future date, the state colleges become true multipurpose institutions, offering a diverse curriculum and a suitable number of graduate studies, it would be appropriate to reconsider the WWSU proposal.

At the moment, however, it has little merit. If implemented, it could make New Jersey a laughing stock in the educational world. Basic deficiencies cannot be overcome by naming an institution after an illustrious President.

Keeping Walling on the Job

We are glad that Assemblyman Joseph Azzolina introduced legislation this week which, if adopted, would enable a police chief to retain his job until age 70.

It is no secret that the situation involving Middletown Police Chief Raymond T. Walling prompted Mr. Azzolina to take the action he did.

As the matter stands, Chief Walling will have to leave the force in October at 65 under the 1944 state pension act which requires office holders in police departments to retire at that age.

However, there is general feeling in Middletown that Chief Walling is doing a first-rate job in running the police department. And, in the relatively short time he has held the post, he has taken steps to improve the force and its operations. And Middletown is right in wanting to keep him.

We, too, have been impressed with Chief Walling's efforts in Middletown. And we hope that Mr. Azzolina's measure gets speedy approval so that a dedicated public servant can be kept active.

National Hospital Week

The tremendous growth of Monmouth County's hospitals is worthy of mention today as National Hospital Week draws to a close.

The county is fortunate that its existing hospitals are meeting the challenges brought about by a growing population.

Riverview in Red Bank, Monmouth Medical in Long Branch and Fitkin in Neptune are all expanding to better serve their areas. And Fort Monmouth's Patterson Army Hospital adequately takes care of the military and their dependents.

In the Bayshore area, plans are under way to construct a hospital in Holmdel and in the Freehold area a campaign is mounting to build a facility there.

The theme for National Hospital Week is "Alliance for Health," emphasizing Medicare, which begins July 1. And it is significant that our hospitals have pledged their resources and skills so that this new alliance will contribute to healthier and fuller lives for older Americans.

We are proud of the contributions made to the community by Monmouth's hospitals and their staffs. They realize their responsibility — and are meeting it.

How to Avoid Spring Swindles

An 88-year-old Nebraska woman was recently cheated out of $500 for a few hours of shoddy shingling work on her house, and another Nebraska woman was presented an $810 bill for home repairs a gypster has told her would cost only $4.

Two elderly Baltimore spinsters not long ago paid a total of $3,650 to a racketeer who had advised them their home was so badly infested with termites it would not last two years.

An 80-year-old Brooklyn woman was similarly bilked out of the fantastic sum of $19,650 late last year for a long string of home "improvements" ranging from waterproofing her basement (which immediately developed leaks) to patching her roof with a compound which washed off in the rain.

Among the leading victims of the $500 million-plus a year home "improvement" swindles, the nation's No. one spring gyp, are our swelling numbers of elderly citizens. This has become the most appalling aspect of the entire racket.

HOW, THEN, can you avoid, and help others to avoid, being gyped? Here are basic guidelines from the National Better-Business Bureau in New York:

Beware of the doorbell-ringing repairman who "just happens to be in the area" with all his equipment. Most reputable repairmen just don't conduct business this way. Also beware of the self-appointed "inspector" who cannot produce solid credentials, or any repairman who can't give you references, even if he says he has been "sent by the city" or works for an official agency.

Be suspicious of any offer of "something for nothing" or a "bargain" repair job. You get what you pay for, and these bargains frequently turn out to be grossly overpriced.

Even if you find you have been hoodwinked, don't fall for a double-bilking offer of a "refund." What happens in this scheme is that after you have paid the gypster's original bill, he informs you that you were "overcharged" by mistake and asks you to issue a second check for the lower amount you were supposed to have been originally charged. His aim is to cheat you twice; he never returns your first check to you.

Be on the guard against the termite man who tells you your house is about to collapse or the furnace "inspector" who warns you your house may blow up if you don't buy a new (overpriced) furnace from him. Check the need for the work with established local firms.

DON'T SIGN ANY CONTRACT you do not thoroughly understand. Make sure that any contract contains the name and address of the company, the type and amount of work promised, the date the work is to be finished, description of materials, total finance charges. Make sure too that any oral promises appear in the contract and if there is a guarantee, that the contract specifies exactly what it does and does not cover.

Before you accept any financial arrangement, query local lending institutions to find out what terms they offer to finance the same work.

Refuse to sign any statement saying work has been completed before it is actually completed. Otherwise you may be liable for full payment whether or not the job ever gets finished.

Don't take merchandise "on approval" from any unknown salesman.

Deal only with firms whose reputations bear checking, get bids on work you want done from several sources, and request names of other clients for whom work has been done. Don't rely on written testimonials which may be fabrications.

One Irishman's Luck

Happiness is a lady named Kelly. Next week, we celebrate our fifth anniversary with daughters ranging in age from 28 to 22 to 13 to 11, which, I suggest, is the hard way. There are also seven grandchildren, and the eighth is expected this week.

BISHOP

It is sickeningly saccharine to praise a wife in print, but this one is a champ. More than that, she has become the fulcrum of the family. At the age of 37, she has a daughter 23 who sends Mother's Day cards, Gayle, 22, who was once my buddy, now confides in Kelly and gives me a short hello and a shorter peck on the cheek.

Karen, 13, the dignified and beautiful lady whose head is so high that she falls over chairs, is more mine than her mother's. This is also true of the button-nose beauty, Kathleen, 11, who curls in my lap for a good-night kiss and whispers: "Growl in my ear, Tiger."

None of it seems real. It's an opium dream. Happiness is not a sustaining emotion. To be appreciated, it must vacillate between sun and storm. That, in essence, is what is wrong with this marriage. It is happy all the time. Every waking moment is so serene that I walk through the rooms bouncing, as though too much foam rubber was put under the rug.

This is not to belittle my contribution to the union. I'm conscious of my worth as a husband. But it is small indeed compared to hers. She works at being a wife, a mother, a cook, a secretary, a housekeeper with jealousy in her heart. She wants to excel at all of them.

AND YET, SHE is anything but a slave. Somehow, she manages to do all things for all of us without ever tiring and, when the television shows are dull in the evening, she is in a workroom making dresses for the little ones on a machine. She finds time to travel with me all over the world, taking her own notes and matching them with mine back at the hotel.

I have written 15 books and the first one I ever shared with anyone was in researching A Day in the Life of President Kennedy. Kelly made all the notes on White House decor, on Mrs. Kennedy's attire and attitudes, and the lovely First Lady's feelings about raising children. It was she who noticed, when John-John said his nose was running, that his mother ran her finger under his little nose.

I missed it. A man is lucky to have one good marriage. I had it. It lasted 27 years and it was full of tears and laughter, ecstasy and misery, and a lot of true love. No one has a right to be greedy enough to expect a second good one. That's why I did not entertain the thought when Elinor died almost nine years ago.

I stood at the rail of the liner United States. Far below, on the dock, I saw her in a blizzard of people who looked like colored confetti. She was crying. I thought: "How like her. You'd think it was the end of the world." It was. I never saw her again.

ONCE I MOANED because my house is peopled with females. Now I love it. Kathleen baked a superb chocolate layer cake for Karen's birthday, and did all of it herself. Karen can cook a dinner to please my father, who is 82 and not easily pleased. He says her spare ribs, mashed potatoes and sauerkraut are better than her mother's, but I suspect he is merely trying to remain in good standing with the kid.

When I am committing a blunder, Kelly says: "Do you think you ought to do that?" If I say yes, she stands behind me and catches the pieces. If I do something right, she is my greatest fan. She reads the mail from kindly readers, takes the dictated replies, places the book research on the night table, draws my attention to magazine articles and books which bear on my work, keeps the bills paid, and permits me to buy my own clothes.

The idealism of marriage is in none of these things. It lies in something called a communion of spirit. This isn't easy to define, but when she is out shopping, I feel like a man with one leg, one arm and half a head. When she is at my side, my confidence soars and I work harder to win an approving nod from her.

She never dresses wildly, and doesn't need it. Her blonde hair is long, held in a bun at the back of her neck, and her face has such a womanly quality that she reminds me of someone who should wear a white crepe Grecian gown, with a gold clasp on one shoulder, all the time.

If I go tonight, I will say: "Here goes a lucky Irishman."

Robert S. Allen, Paul Scott: Inside Washington

Hartke Defies Administration

WASHINGTON — The much-touted "consensus" course the Johnson administration is pushing in attempting to cope with the country's increasingly strained economy and fiscal conditions is ambiguous, shortsighted and ineffectual.

That's the bluntly critical judgment of a prominent Democrat who was one of the President's closest lieutenants when he was his party's Senate leader.

Sen. Vance Hartke, Ind., member of the influential Finance Committee, strongly feels the time is overdue for the President and his advisers to (1) Fully and freely tell the nation exactly what it faces in the tortuous and costly Viet Nam conflict; (2) immediately embark on sound and responsible planning and measures.

"With Ambassador Lodge in Washington for consultations," says Hartke, "the American people deserve some frank answers. If military victory is possible, can Viet Nam attain a stable and enduring government? If these prospects are remote, then the American people should be told that so we can plan for a long-drawn-out war."

"It is fair and proper to ask why are we not preparing a financial plan for a long war. No one in the administration has said that this will not be a long war. Yet no one in the administration has admitted that long-term financing is necessary. All administration suggestions and proposals for financing Viet Nam have taken the form of one-shot, stop-gap restorations of excise taxes and multi-billion dollar supplemental appropriations.

"Why has the administration ignored the necessity for sound and responsible economic and fiscal planning for the possibility of years of military struggle ahead of us? Why delude ourselves? We have everything to lose and nothing to gain by such a vacillating and shortsighted attitude.

"The times are too critical and the stakes too great for temporizing and makeshifts. We must squarely and firmly face up to realities and deal with them clearly and forcefully.

"We are putting 300,000 American lives on the line in Viet Nam, and we owe them forthright answers."

MAKING HIS POINT — To underscore his militant challenge of the administration's so-called "consensus" policies, Sen. Hartke voted against the $12 million rent subsidy advocated by the President.

Previously, Hartke supported the proposal. But this time he opposed it on the ground it "can't help those it was intended to help."

"It has been turned into a mockery by the run-away inflation on home mortgages," he caustically said. "The working man who wants to buy a home can no longer meet a mortgage. Not only is money too expensive, but money is not to be borrowed at the price he can afford.

"Rent subsidies cannot undo the damage that the money squeeze is perpetrating throughout the country."

FIRST-HAND EVIDENCE — A flood of mail is flatly refuting Defense Secretary McNamara's indignant denial that little is being done to effectively use immense quantities of surplus military equipment to meet critical shortages in Viet Nam.

Hundreds of such letters have been received by the Senate Subcommittee on Foreign Aid Expenditures, headed by Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, since its recent public hearings that aired shocking instances of the failure to make the surplus property available to U. S. fighting forces in Viet Nam.

Poignantly illustrative of these angry rejections is a letter from a father saying that his son has written asking that a sniper scope be bought and sent to him as his company had none. The father quotes the son as assuring him, "I'll pay for it if you can find one in some company handling government surplus or electronic equipment."

Balanced Community Offered by D'Agostino

FREEHOLD — A long-standing problem for the new home buyer — the complex logistical process of selling the old home, scheduling moving into the new one and integrating the two to make the transition as smooth as possible — has been solved by James D'Agostino at Stonehurst-at-Freehold, the home and apartment community rising on Stonehurst Blvd. and Schanck Rd., off Rt. 9.

Because of the "balanced community" concept at Stonehurst — where new homes and garden-type apartments have been built on the same 500-acre site — D'Agostino is able to offer a new program which solves the transfer problems a buyer has to face.

"From the time a new buyer signs the purchase contract," he says, "until his new home is ready for occupancy, he will have one of our apartments available to him, at a moderate, reduced rental figure."

According to D'Agostino, many problems which have made new home buying a highly complicated process of scheduling for the average family are solved by this new plan. Among these are:

Rutgers' Gardens On Display

Good time to plan your visit to the Rutgers Display Gardens. The rhododendron and azalea garden is a "spring spectacular" until about May 20 with azaleas, rhododendrons, and other acid-loving plants blooming beneath white dogwoods.

The small tree collection, shrub garden, and lilac collection also have plenty of color during this same period in May, notes Donald B. Lacey, Rutgers' home horticulture specialist.

The hedge demonstration, vine collection, evergreen garden, shade trees, and American and Japanese holly collections are also producing new growth now. This summer, plan to make another visit to see the display of annual flowers which should be colorful from mid-June to mid-September when over 100 varieties of petunias will be featured. The date of this year's Vegetable - Flower Open House at the gardens is Saturday, Aug. 6.

The Rutgers Display Gardens are located at U. S. Rt. 1 and Ryders Ln., New Brunswick. They are open without charge from 8:30 a.m. until dark.

Ask Marvin A. Clark, county agricultural agent for a copy of "Guide to the Rutgers Display Gardens" which contains a map for reaching the gardens and information on the featured displays. His address is 20 Court St.

Calls Home Ownership Anti Inflation Hedge

POINT PLEASANT — By 1970, prices of new homes will be 25 per cent above today's level, predicts Joseph Fabiano of New Shrewsbury, president of the N.J. Shore Builders Association.

Because of spiraling costs, he advises young couples to buy a new home "as soon as possible." He says that more expensive labor and materials are adding about $1,000 a year to the cost of a $20,000 house.

Mr. Fabiano bases his conclusions on industry studies just completed by the National Association of Home Builders. The Shore Association is the Monmouth-Ocean affiliate of NAHB.

Citing the reasons for the advisability of buying a home now, Mr. Fabiano said our economy is entering an inflationary period similar to that of the mid-1950s. Home ownership, like other long-term real property, is likely to appreciate faster than other commodities. In short, he says, it's the strongest hedge against inflation.

Available land each year becomes harder to find and develop, so it becomes more expensive, he continued.

Earlier purchase of a home, preferably prior to raising a family, pays other dividends. By the time the children are ready for school, school facilities will be developed and in all probability the tax burden will be less.

Schools built today, like houses, will cost less than those built tomorrow, said the New Shrewsbury builder.

Another factor favoring the early purchase of a home is the creation of an estate which will grow in value and can be used as collateral for borrowing for further investments — to raise funds to start a business, to pay for college educations, to invest for profit, and to meet the expense of adversities.

To emphasize the concrete value of home ownership, Mr. Fabiano cited two family histories. Both couples were married in 1954.

The first couple bought a $17,000 home in 1955 which today has a market value of $22,500 — on a 20-year $15,000 mortgage at 5 per cent interest. The $99-a-month payments during the first 10 years have totaled $11,880 — $5,668 of which represents the couple's equity, $6,212 interest.

The second couple rented a five-room apartment, initially for $100 a month. With steadily increasing rents, the monthly rental has averaged $138 for a total of $16,554 — and no equity.

Mr. Fabiano says that buying a home has been proven to make owners more responsible, and that their desire to improve their lives makes them better financial risks and job-holders and leads to higher family incomes.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

QUESTION: I mentioned in my home one night that I intended to use a French finish on a piece of unfinished furniture I had bought. Two persons there told me their versions of what a French finish was — and both were different than what I had understood. I am now confused. Exactly what is a French finish?

ANSWER: It is quite possible that whatever you read here might be a fourth version. French finishing, often called French polishing, calls for the use of a mixture of shellac, boiled linseed oil and denatured alcohol. From that point on, there are many differences of opinion on how those three ingredients should be mixed (if at all) and how the mixture should be applied.

One opinion is that the mixture should be 50 per cent boiled linseed oil, 30 per cent shellac and 20 per cent denatured alcohol — stirred before application. Under this method, the mixture is applied to the surface of the wood with a clean cloth and then immediately rubbed off with another dry cloth. After waiting a few minutes, sand with a fine grade of paper, dust and repeat the procedure. Do this still a third time. In applying the mixture, do only a small portion of the surface at one time.

Another opinion holds that the shellac and the denatured alcohol should be mixed, but that the boiled linseed oil should be in a separate container. A clean wad of cotton or piece of cheesecloth is dipped in the shellac, then in the boiled linseed oil and then rubbed on the wood in circular movements. After a wait of several hours, the procedure is repeated. In both cases, waxing is recommended after a day or two.

Some well-stocked dealers specializing in wood finishes carry ready-mixed French polishes. If you use one of those, follow the instructions on the container.

(You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P. O. Box 954, Jamaica, N. Y. 11431. Also available, at the same price, is "Paint Your House Inside and Out." Be sure to specify which booklet you want.)

Jonno Gives Talk Today For Students

POINT PLEASANT — Blaze R. Jonno, past president of the N. J. Shore Builders Association and chairman of its Job Opportunities for Youth Committee, will address the student assembly at Toms River High School today.

Mr. Jonno, who also is chairman of a similar committee for the N. J. State Home Builders Association, will speak on the opportunities awaiting youths in the construction industry and its allied fields.

Mr. Jonno, who was selected as the shore association's builder of 1965, also heads its speakers' bureau.

Use Starter Solution For Transplanting

FREEHOLD — Use a starter solution when you set tomato, pepper, eggplant and other vegetable plants in the garden, urges a Rutgers vegetable specialist, Dr. Bernard L. Poljack.

Water that is fortified with a highly soluble fertilizer accomplishes two things, he says.

The moisture creates conditions favorable for root growth, and it also helps to settle the soil around existing roots. Unless the soil is firmed and allowed to settle, air pockets remain.

These pockets make the roots dry out and severely check or even cause the death of the plant.

Firming means to press — not pack — the soil. Roots under hard-packed soil have difficulty getting the air they need for growth.

Starter solution adds the nutrients the plants need to get them off to a flying start, says County Agent Marvin A. Clark.

Be sure to follow the directions on the label, as a too strong solution is worse than plain water because it may actually burn the roots, he warns.

One-half to one pint of solution generally is the correct amount of each plant, the agent says.

"Plants often wilt after setting, especially in warm and windy weather. The solution will help the plant recover from wilting by the next day," he adds.

Agent Has Suggestions On Sodding New Lawn

FREEHOLD — Sodding can provide you a new lawn in a matter of hours. But it's no escape from careful preparation, advises Dr. Henry W. Indyk, extension turf management specialist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

Getting the most value and satisfaction from an investment in a sodded lawn involves providing the basic needs for vigorous growth of the lawn grass, he says.

You can't expect miracles from sod placed on hard, compacted, infertile soil which has been carelessly prepared. Soil preparation is similar to that for seeding a lawn. Ask the Monmouth County Agricultural Agents for Leaflet 308 — "Making a New Lawn" which contains detailed information. The address is 20 Court St.

The soil should be adequately provided with lime and fertilizer, Dr. Indyk continues. On very sandy or heavy clay type soils, some form of organic matter should be incorporated. Any materials added to the soil surface should be thoroughly incorporated to a depth of at least six inches.

Rake the seedbed level and smooth and firm slightly with a roller. Fill any depressions. Every precaution possible should be taken to get a level and smooth soil surface. It becomes very difficult to correct rough areas after the sod is placed.

If the soil is extremely dry, water lightly before laying the sod pieces. When you lay the pieces make sure that they fit together as tightly and evenly as possible.

As soon as a sizable area is laid, roll lightly and start watering. Water thoroughly so that the sod is completely wet through to the soil below.

The next few days after laying sod are very critical. It must not be allowed to dry out. Keep it well watered, making sure the sod pieces are completely moist.

You can check on moisture by lifting a corner of the sod occasionally.

Pressurized Air, Gas Danger Cited

1-24 Pressurized Air, Gas Danger Cited re est bs

FREEHOLD — Although pressurized air or gas is a good servant in many ways, it can be dangerous when misused, cautions Martin Decker, Jr., specialist in agricultural engineering at Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

Pointing out that compressed air can main or kill with tremendous violence, he gives the following examples of its potential capacity to deliver injury:

"A strong enough blast of air or gas from a hose can dislodge an eye from its socket, rupture an eardrum, or induce hemorrhage.

"An airjet from a 100-pound per square inch line released through a one-eighth inch diameter or smaller opening at skin surface can enter through a cut or sore and inflame the flesh or even cause air bubbles in the bloodstream.

"A stream of air from a hose under 40 pounds per square inch pressure can drive metal chips at speeds that make them real missile threats to eye and face."

County Agent Marvin A. Clark warns that people should not accept such injury potentials in principle while underestimating them in practice. He advises that compressed air or gas should never be allowed to contact or enter anyone's body or drive particles to human targets.

Pine Bark Aphid Can Be Controlled

FREEHOLD — If your pine trees are covered with a white, cottony material especially on the trunk and underside of limbs, the odds are that you have a pine bark aphid infestation, says County Agent Marvin A. Clark.

The pine bark aphid primarily attacks white pine trees and occasionally Scotch and Austrian pines. In heavy infestations, the bark of pines appears to be whitewashed as a result of the cottony material produced by the aphids.

The aphids pass the winter in the egg stage and hatch during early spring when they crawl about the trunk and branches and begin to feed.

To control the pests, apply lindane or malathion in early May, suggests Dr. Louis M. Vavary, extension entomologist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science. Thorough spray coverage of the trunk of trees and larger branches is necessary to get adequate control.

By EARL ARONSON AP Newfeatures

If a blade has ever whipped from your lawnmower or if you have seen anyone injured by such power equipment, then you must sympathize with the safety campaign of the Outdoor Equipment Institute.

The safety drive's first phase is recruitment of manufacturer to adopt the OPEI safety seal. An estimated 60,000 to 80,000 persons are injured annually by power mowers.

The OPEI, reporting that "engineering skill and experience have been combined in most modern power mowers to provide the ultimate in safety and efficiency," says that as with any type of power equipment, "carelessness or error" by the operator can result in injury. Protect yourself and others by following these safety steps:

1. Know your controls. Read the manual carefully. Learn how to stop the engine quickly.
2. Make sure the lawn is clear of debris that could be thrown by the blade.
3. Never add fuel to a running engine. Use an approved safety container for fuel.
4. Keep children and pets a safe distance away.
5. Disengage all blade and drive clutches before starting units so equipped.
6. Start the engine carefully; keep feet well away from the blades.
7. Do not operate engine where carbon monoxide fumes can collect.
8. Stop the engine whenever you leave the mower, even for a moment.
9. Always maintain the mower, frequently checking all fasteners, guards and parts.
10. Stop the engine before pushing mower across walks or roads.
11. Do not allow minors or untrained neighbors to operate mower.
12. On slopes or wet grass, be extra careful of your footing.
13. Never cut grass by pulling mower toward you.
14. Stop engine and disconnect spark wire before checking or working on mower.
15. Never use a plug-in electric mower in the rain or wet grass.
16. Be extremely careful when using a riding mower on slopes. They can turn over.

17. Never leave a spring gine or siter governor settings. Excessive speed is dangerous.
18. Do not overspeed the en- It shortens the mower's life.

Publication to Benefit Hospital

Cookbook Insured for $10,000

By ELEANOR MARKO
HOLMDEL TOWNSHIP — A group of women are anxiously waiting for the "Great Day" to arrive.

The little bundle they insured for $10,000 several weeks ago is due back any day now from the publishers in the form of an illustrated cookbook of their own making. When the initial thrill dies down, the hard work of selling the first 1,000 copies to reach their June goal of $4,000 proceeds for the Bayshore Community Hospital will begin. The price tag is $4.50 a copy.

"Treasury of 1,000 Favorite Recipes" has been compiled by members of the Holmdel Auxiliary to the Bayshore hospital. Sixteen women worked on the committee for the cookbook which will be sold by the 80-member auxiliary, hopefully as a continuing fund-raising project.

Never Said Yes
The chairman, "who never has said yes to the heading of this committee," is Mrs. Joseph Lucania, 38 Miller Ave., assisted by Mrs. Paul Hancik, Telegraph Hill Rd. They estimate that some

1,000 volunteer hours have gone into compiling the fully indexed book with recipes in 18 categories from members of the community, and from distinguished gourmets beginning with President Johnson. LBJ's meatless, tomato-base recipe for barbecue sauce for chicken shares honors with Mrs. Richard J. Hughes' recipe for a sour cream coffee cake, and the French cheese cake from Chief Chef Scheffel of the Luxury Liner SS United States which begins, "Take two pounds of cream cheese, 10 egg whites, 10 egg yolks, one cup of heavy cream and 10 ounces of sugar."

Also included are recipes from popular eateries: Smithville Inn's Indian pudding, clam chowder, chicken roll and whole wheat, rye and corn breads. Bahrs of Highlands also lists its recipe for Lobster Newburg with sauce.

P. J. Evans, principal of the Holmdel Village School, has contributed the recipe for his favorite chocolate cake with whipped cream. "Just like a man," Mrs. Lucania states, "it takes three bowls to make it in."

Some way-out simple recipes include "Payola," "One-Eye Egyptian," and a casserole "Schlesisches Himmelreich" or "Dish of Heaven," dreamed up by a German bride.

65 Drawings
There are some 65 line illustrations in the cookbook done by Mrs. Herman Reinhold, who is noted for her porcelain painting. The book, published by the North American Press of Kansas City, has a grease and water resistant cover, special plastic binding and contains extras such as meat temperature chart, calorie chart and baking and cooking hints.

Mrs. Lucania and Mrs. Hancik estimate they spent about 400 combined hours seeking out advertisers.

"The days we didn't go out we spent on the phone," Mrs. Hancik said.

When the day came to mail out the manuscript Mrs. Hancik said they "couldn't let it go . . . and would have flown out to Kansas City with it if it were possible."

They settled for insuring it at a cost of $12.85 and never rested until they heard from the publisher that the precious package had arrived safely.

"If it's worth doing — it's worth doing well" is a motto Mrs. Lucania has adhered to throughout the seven-month period it took to compile the 1,000 recipes.

For Men Only
There is a collection "For Men Only" and juniors, with special treats like "Pink Squirrel," "Drunken Chicken" and the "Payola." This recipe was contributed by a wife who used it to impress her hubby's boss. The result was payola . . . and that is what Mrs. Lucania and her committee hope their own project will be.

DINNER IN JUNE
HIGHLANDS — At a recent meeting of the Past Presidents Club of the Twilight American Legion Auxiliary, plans for the annual dinner to be held in June at Bahrs Restaurant were discussed. Mrs. Bernard Mount is in charge of arrangements and reservations.

A rummage sale will be held in the building adjacent to the post office, Bay Ave., June 3 and 4. The next regular meeting will be held on Monday, May 30, instead of May 23.

"If each member sells 10 books," she says, "we'll have our goal by June." They have $2,100 in costs to meet first.

Where she will put the 1,000 copies of the cookbook due to arrive in her own home, is a problem Mrs. Lucania is determined to meet. She said that reservations for copies are assured in advance sales, including those to members of her committee: Miss Ann Luccarelli, president of the auxiliary; Mrs. Francis R. Casilli, Mrs. Morton B. Cohen, Mrs. Joseph Ens, Mrs. Earl S. Glover, Miss Gail Hammer, Mrs. Lewis Kendall, Mrs. Fred Klawunn, Mrs. Edward Kojola, Mrs. James Warnock, Mrs. Douglas M. Mitchell, Mrs. Herman Reinhold, Mrs. George Runge and Mrs. A. M. Everett. They have hopes that the auxiliary's pledge of $10,000 toward a room for the proposed hospital which is to be built on 17 acres of land on Beers St., Holmdel, will soon become a reality.

LBJ'S BARBECUE SAUCE FOR CHICKEN—Mrs. George Runge, 8 Spring Valley Dr., Holmdel, with an assist from her two daughters Judy, 8, left, and Kathy, 10, prepares ingredients from a recipe in the cookbook "Treasury of 1,000 Favorite Recipes" compiled by members of the Holmdel Auxiliary to Bayshore Community Hospital. Lady Bird contributed her husband's favorite barbecue sauce recipe for the book which is due back from the publisher for sale by the committee. A goal of $4,000 is set for the fund-raising project for the proposed hospital.

Chrzan Is Hawk Here in 5-4 Win

PATERSON — John Chrzan capped a three-run eighth inning for Monmouth College with a single that drove in Vince Giordano with what proved to be the winning run yesterday as the Hawks edged Paterson State, 5-4.

Those tallies were just enough for the victory as Paterson came up with two runs in the bottom of the ninth which just fell short of turning the tables on Monmouth. Jim LaRusso opened Monmouth's winning surge with a single and then stole second. He scooted home when Dennis Van Pelt was safe at second on a two-base throwing error. Van Pelt was moved to third by Mike Sylvester's sacrifice bunt and scored on Giordano's single. Lou Nanna then was safe on an error and Chrzan followed with his game winning hit.

Monmouth pitcher Wayne Rooney had exhibited good control through the first eight innings. He walked only two in that distance. His control left him in the ninth, however, and he walked two more and gave a spike wound and Manager Hank Bauer after an argument in the fifth inning.

Don Lock carried the Senators to their victory over the Angels, overcoming a 2-1 deficit with a two-run homer in the seventh inning before driving in a final run with a ninth inning single.

Bobby Knoop hit a homer for the Angels and Washington pitcher Phil Ortega drew a warning from Umpire James Odum after one of his pitches grazed the helmet of the next batter, Rich Reichardt.

Houk Wins, Yankees Lose

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Houk got his way, and his first loss. Unbeaten during a stretch of three games and two rainouts since being reinstated as New York manager, Houk wanted last night's weather-threatened game at Minnesota to be played in an attempt to maintain the Yankees' momentum.

Important to the players," Houk said. "They need time to relax about halfway in the schedule. These days belong to the players and I am against allowing anybody to reschedule a postponement into the All-Star period."

And there was the Yankees' momentum to consider, following two straight postponements. So the game went on. The only thing it rained was hits. The Yankees collected 11, but only one after Merritt came on in the sixth inning and cut off a Yankee rally.

On the other end of the standings, Chicago and Baltimore also played in poor weather, the White Sox defeating the Orioles, 5-3, despite a constant drizzle. In the only other game played Washington downed California, 4-2.

The Twins packed eight singles and their four runs into the third and fourth innings with Earl Battey and Cesar Tovar each collecting a pair of hits. The Yankees scored their first two runs in the fourth on singles by Joe Pepitone and Roger Marris a walk and a force play. Then, in the sixth, they chased Camilo Pascual when Roger Repoz and Roy White smacked consecutive doubles with two out. Merritt came in, got Bobby Richardson for the final out and gave up only a harmless single the rest of the way, striking out five and walking none.

The White Sox-Orioles game was marred by the rain which contributed to seven errors, five by the White Sox. There also were 10 walks and three wild pitches.

Don Buford did most of the damage for the White Sox, triggering three rallies with a single, double and triple.

Buford singled in the first inning and the White Sox eventually scored on a sacrifice fly by Bill Skowron. Buford then tripled home a run in the fifth and scored on a wild throw, and doubled in the seventh and raced home on a single by Tom Agee. Curt Blefary hit his seventh homer for the Orioles, who lost catcher Andy Etchebarren with

Clay's Draft Appeals Rejected

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The chairman of Cassius Clay's local draft board says his interpretation of Muslim law contradicts the heavyweight champion's claim that serving in the Armed Forces would go against his religion. The contradiction, J. Allen Sherman said yesterday, caused the rejection of one appeal made by Clay of his 1-A draft status.

The other appeal, in which Clay said induction in military service would present a hardship, also was rejected by Local Board 47 in Louisville, Sherman said.

Edward Jacko, Jr., Clay attorney in New York, said, "The appeal is predicted mostly on hardship, because the hardship exists at this time." But he said there are "eight or nine grounds for the appeal, including conscientious objector." Jacko didn't elaborate on the others.

Sherman said both appeals were referred to Kentucky's Western Judicial Circuit Appeal Board at Louisville.

Should Clay's conscientious objector appeal be upheld, he still would serve, either in non-combatant military service or non-military jobs, said Col. Everette S. Stephenson, director of Kentucky's Selective Service.

Sherman said the local board rejected Clay's appeal after "I looked up a little Muslim law. The Muslim code says the Muslims should obey the law of the land in which they reside. Now, the draft law is the law of the land."

"Another thing, the Muslims have their own military force. I don't see how they could say they are not militaristic when they have a military force of their own."

Clay's next recourse after the Western Circuit Appeal Board would be the President, Sherman said. But he said Clay couldn't appeal to Washington unless the appeal board is split on its decision.

Sherman said the conscientious objector appeal will be forwarded to the U. S. Department of Justice, no matter what the appeal board decides. The department might recommend a different course of action to the appeal board, Sherman said.

Stephenson said Clay, training in London for his May 21 title fight against Henry Cooper, will be informed immediately when there is a decision on his appeal.

But Stephenson said he has no idea when the decision might be made.

Monmouth, Shore Record 6th Straight Net Matches

Undeclared Monmouth Regional and Shore Regional notched their sixth straight tennis victories in yesterday's action.

The Falcons downed Long Branch, 4-1, which was also their sixth straight Shore Conference Tennis League victory. Shore won its sixth over-all match by defeating Ocean Township, 4 1/2-

1/2, in a non-loop affair. Three of the Blue Devils' wins have been in league play.

In the other conference matches, Freehold Regional was victorious over Rumson-Fair Haven Regional, 4-1, and Southern Freehold Regional edged Lakewood, 3-2.

The turning point in the Southern Freehold-Lakewood match was the second doubles. The Rebels' Bruce Lockwood and Neil Karadib won the first set, 6-4, before Lakewood's Ron Schurgin and Ron Berger took the second, 6-2. The Piners' duo took a 5-0 lead in the third game, but Lockwood and Karadib fought back to match point three times and eventually won the set, 9-7, to give Southern Freehold the decision.

Shore won all three singles matches and the first doubles against Ocean. In the second doubles, Shore's Jeff Barron and Bob Siedler drew with Rich Grossman and Bill Van Middlesworth, 6-7, 7-6.

Jerry Jirelle of Monmouth and Dave Tepper of Long Branch hooked up in a marathon contest in their singles event. Jirelle won in the first set, 6-2, but Tepper outlasted his opponent in the second, 12-10, before Jirelle took the third and deciding set, 6-4.

The Purple Roses, notching only their third victory in 13 games, took a 2-0 lead in the first inning before turning the game a rout. Singles by John Gamberg and Joe Simplico, two errors and five walks produced the six runs.

Ed Breitbach went the distance on the mound for St. Rose, striking out two and walking three. Manasquan now owns an 8-4 record.

FIVE FUND EFFORTS
During the past 16 years the church has engaged in five capital fund efforts, and there has been recently completed in April of this year another campaign for additional buildings which has realized $275,000 in pledges.
The church is also noted for the fine musical programs it offers. Its choirs were organized in 1953 by Dr. Carl F. Mueller, a well known composer of religious anthems, and the various choirs now number 225 voices.
Other activities of the church are the Tower Hill Nursery School, which presently has 30 children enrolled; 11 women's circles; the Hathorn Club, for young married couples; the Senior Couples Club, and the Junior and senior high fellowship groups.

HOW IS THIS POSSIBLE?

Eighteen years ago Evelyn Wood, a Utah schoolteacher, made a startling discovery that led to the founding of Reading Dynamics. While working toward her master's degree, she handed a term paper to a professor and watched him read the 80 pages at 6,000 words per minute — with outstanding recall and comprehension.

Determined to find the secret behind such rapid reading, she spent the next two years tracking down 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words per minute. She studied their techniques, taught herself to read at these faster rates. Now, after years of testing, you can benefit from this great discovery.

IMAGINE READING THREE BOOKS A DAY! A FAMOUS U.S. PRESIDENT DID THIS!

Time Magazine, referring to Reading Dynamics' impact on our nation's legislators, says, "Washington has seen nothing like it since the days when Teddy Roosevelt read three books a day and ran the country at the same time."

HERE ARE JUST A FEW TESTIMONIALS FROM FAMOUS PEOPLE:

SENATOR PROXMIRE, Wisconsin: "I must say that this is one of the most useful educational experiences I have ever had. It certainly compares favorably with the experiences I've had at Yale and Harvard."

SENATOR TALMADGE, Georgia: "It is my opinion that if these techniques were instituted in the public and private schools of our country, it would be the greatest single step which we could take in educational progress."

HOW IS THIS COURSE DIFFERENT?

Conventional rapid reading courses aspire to 450-600 words per minute. Most Reading Dynamics graduates can read between 1,500 and 3,000 words per minute, and may go even higher.

County Police Plan Study Report Due

BELMAR — The Monmouth County Municipal Association committee studying the county police proposal will not release a progress report before Wednesday night.

Chairman John A. Taylor, local commissioner, said this week's meeting resulted in agreement that the report should not be disclosed until the association meets Wednesday in the American Hotel, Freehold. The report is now being drafted, the commissioner said.

He gave only one hint on progress status when he commented: "There is still a lot of work ahead."

He added that responses are still awaited from sources which were solicited for information on the pros and cons of a county law enforcement system.

Rumson Set To Ask Plan For School

RUMSON — The Board of Education last night took no formal action toward purchase of a site for a new middle grades school building, but authorized Superintendent Francis E. Hocky to approach Bernard Kellenyi, Red Bank, architect, about designing the proposed building. Location of the desired site has not been announced.

Dinkelspiel Stays Mute On Recount

LONG BRANCH — Councilman Edgar N. Dinkelspiel remained mute last night about whether he would demand a recount of Tuesday's election in which he lost the mayoralty by 530 votes, but he has stern words for all but 2,400 voters who succeeded in "silencing their voice and their watchdog."

Mr. Dinkelspiel finished second to Paul L. Nastasio Tuesday night in a bid for the mayor's post.

That night he complained to the city clerk that one of the voting machines in an Elberon polling district was defective. He said after he complained at the polling place, a repair man was dispatched and the machine fixed within 10 minutes. At that time he said he might seek a recount.

He said last night "The people's lack of support for me" accomplished something no politician, pressure group or litigation could do in 30 years — "silence the voice of the people's champion and the watchdog of the city treasury."

Mr. Dinkelspiel said that, come July 1, he will "no longer be on the firing line" protecting the people's interest, because the people have rejected the ideals for which he stands.

Full-Time Thrill Hill Check Set

KEYPORT — Station Commander Thomas Olkowski of the state police barracks here issued a statement this morning that a 24-hour daily check will be made by state police at the South Laurel Ave., Holmdel, site commonly known as "Thrill Hill."

State Favors Proposal For New School

TRENTON — The Holmdel Board of Education's $2,660,000 intermediate school proposal was received favorably yesterday by the officials of the state Department of Education.

Mayor Alfred C. Poole, reporting on the meeting, said the department told the board it "hopes all other school systems present their proposals in a similar manner."

The mayor said the department officials also congratulated the board on the series of meetings it held with some 20 official and unofficial township groups, to discuss the direction in which the board should travel.

The mayor reported he and township committeeman James H. Ackerson accompanied school superintendent H. Victor Crespy, school board secretary George E. Conley, and three board members to the meeting.

The board has a tentative June 7 meeting scheduled with the division of local government for approval to exceed the township debt limit.

A referendum will be held June 13 to approve the bond issue and purchase of the 74.5 acre tract on Crawford's Corner Rd.

Accept $5,000 In Settlement

FREEHOLD — Mrs. Eleanor Poch, and her husband Vincent, Rohallion Dr., Rumson, accepted $5,000 yesterday in settlement of a suit against Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, for negligence.

Mrs. Poch, working at the hospital as a volunteer nurses aide, Sept. 19, 1962, suffered back injuries when an examining table she was moving collapsed.

The settlement came in the fourth day of a trial before Monmouth County Judge Clarkson B. Fisher and a jury. John Rathman, Newark, represented the Pochs and Richard Amdur, As-

Won't Suspend Clerk Pending Court Probe

LONG BRANCH — Acting City Manager Jacob Rand refused last night to suspend Court Clerk Frank Palaia until the Grand Jury completes its investigation into alleged "discrepancies" in the Municipal Court operations.

Monmouth County Prosecutor Vincent P. Keuper was scheduled yesterday to send his report on the Municipal Court operations to the Grand Jury.

Councilman Edgar N. Dinkelspiel, at last night's City Council meeting, suggested that Mr. Palaia be suspended until the investigation is complete. Mr. Rand refused. Most council members concurred with the manager.

Mr. Dinkelspiel referred to a published report that Magistrate Stanley Cohen asked Mr. Rand

Synagogue Gift to Blind Boy

LONG BRANCH — Garry Binder, 13, received an unusual gift last night from the Congregation Brothers of Israel—five huge volumes of the Bible in Hebrew Braille.

The synagogue also gave Garry, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Binder, 556 Monmouth Pl., in addition to the various teaching manuals with the Braille set, a souvenir Braille copy of his bar mitzvah service which he gave last October.

This is the first time in the 68-year history of the synagogue that a blind boy has given a bar mitzvah, according to Rabbi Rafael Grossman. "He did the entire service by memory and did it remarkably well," he said.

"He has a beautiful voice and a magnificent ear for music. He also has a great interest in his religion and its history," said the rabbi. After the service, the synagogue ordered the Braille set from the Jewish Braille Institute of New York City for its newest member of the congregation, who has been blind since birth.

Garry, who studies English Braille, said he doesn't know Hebrew Braille, "but I'd like to try."

Garry has a keen interest in music as well as perfect pitch. He said he enjoys jazz (his favorites are Dave Brubeck and

Hike Sub Teacher Pay, Blame U.S. Competition

LITTLE SILVER — The Little Silver board of Education last night upped the salary of substitute teachers — and blamed competition from Uncle Sam.

By a 3-4 vote, the board agreed to pay substitutes $19 a day for the first five days and $21 a day for the sixth through the 15th day. After the 15th day, the salary will be pro-rated according to the teacher's experience and the projected length of time her services will be required.

Substitutes had been paid $17 for the first five days and $18 for the sixth through the 15th day.

Depletes Number

In moving for the increase, Benjamin S. Sanderson, personnel committee chairman, said the hiring of teachers by county schools for projects financed by the federal government under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 had depleted the number of available substitutes and increased competition for their services.

"We have had a problem the last few weeks in obtaining substitutes," Mr. Sanderson said.

Charles O'Malley, board president, and members Charles Sheridan and Robert Lehman protested that the salaries proposed were higher than those being paid by neighboring districts.

"If we pay $18 a day we will be equal to or better than eight out of 10 districts in the immediate area," Mr. Sheridan said.

"Unless we pay a higher rate we won't have the list of substitutes to choose from," Mr. Sanderson argued.

How Vote Went

Voting for the increase were Mr. Sanderson, William Howard, Curtis Callan and Mrs. Janet Badgley. Voting against it were Mr. O'Malley, Mr. Lehman and Mr. Sheridan.

Marlboro Council Stops Recordings of Comments

MARLBORO — Township Council last night drew the line on its official minutes debates by ruling that no longer will mayor or council comments be recorded.

Because of the voluminous pages to the official records and the difficulty in approving them, council said that only actions of the township officials would be recorded by the deputy clerk.

With the change of council majority in January, the passage of council minutes have taken, at times, more than 30 minutes.

Councilman Joseph Brodriak has taken the deputy clerk, Mrs. Mary B. Denton, to task for what he termed inaccuracies in the transcriptions of the meetings.

The resolution states that Mayor and Council must request beforehand that they want their statements recorded. If they don't, only the results of their actions would be recorded.

Mr. Brodriak objected, declaring that he believed this to be another move by council majority to enforce a "gag rule" on the minority council members.

Disagreeing with him was Councilman Philip Arnold, the other Citizens Committee council member. Mr. Arnold agreed that something had to be done to reduce the volume of the minutes and so cast his vote with council majority.

When Council President George Creevy announced his eight-member council advisory committee to recommend possible revisions in the master plan and zoning law, Mr. Brodriak charged that this group was a "continuation of the subjugation of the Planning Board."

Mayor Walter C. Grubb, Jr., questioned the scope of the agency, and was told by Mr. Creevy that it was not an extension of the Planning Board but was to make recommendations to council.

Advisory committee members are: Alfred Storer, purpose and principle coalition councilman, chairman, Aristo-Sarcophaga, Citizens Committee member from the Planning Board; Edward Tilton, from the municipal Utility Authority; former Mayor Paul E. Chester, from the industrial community; Mrs. Lillian Vanderwiel, from the Board of Education, and Mrs. Lillian Petronio and John Narzowich, as citizens-at-large.

The appointments and establishment of the committee did not require council approval.

Safe Stolen From School

LITTLE SILVER — A burglary at the Point Road School here during the early morning hours yesterday resulted in the loss of the school safe, which contained $11 and the school keys.

According to Police Chief John H. Foster, the safe was found yesterday buried in mud near the Brighton Ave. Bridge in Neptune Township.

The theft occurred between 12:30 and 5:30 a.m. yesterday. Chief Foster said entry into the school was made through two windows in the rear of the building.

Chief Foster said the thieves also jimmed a door to the principal's office, where they upset filing cabinets and ransacked several desk drawers.

Capt. Walter Sterns and Lt. David Kennedy are investigating.

But Suggests Overhaul Judge Praises JCC

FREEHOLD — While Juvenile Conference Committees may benefit generally from an administrative overhaul, they are working well and deserve praise and encouragement in Monmouth County.

This was the view yesterday of County Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court Judge Leo Weinstein after release of a report by a Supreme Court study committee urging wholesale revisions of procedure statewide.

Judge Weinstein said that most of the points of criticism by the committee headed by Judge Martin J. Kole of Bergen County have either been met and overcome in Monmouth or just don't apply. Since his appointment 18 months ago, all committees in Monmouth have been reactivated and fully manned.

High Court Review

The committee report will be reviewed by the Supreme Court and by a state Judicial Conference in June. It may be the basis for changes in court rules dealing with administration of the juvenile courts.

Juvenile Conference Committees, which were created in Monmouth more than 20 years ago as a voluntary experiment, are required in all municipalities.

They are made up of laymen appointed by the county courts — by Juvenile Court Judges where they exist — and of the local magistrate and of police and probation department representatives.

Committee Findings

The Kole Committee found that in some counties appointments are regarded as politically advantageous, that committees often are dominated by individuals who gain the unofficial title of "judges," that fines and conditions of probation are improperly imposed, and that county courts are sometimes bypassed by reference of serious offenses to committees.

In Monmouth, Judge Weinstein said, all juvenile complaints are made initially to his office. Only those of first offenders accused of minor offenses, such as trespassing, incorrigibility, creating a neighborhood nuisance, are referred to the committees.

Fines are not permitted, probation can not be ordered, and no fixed penalties can be prescribed.

"The committees provide a place for discussion of problems with the children and their parents for the purpose of rehabilitation and of prevention of a juvenile court record for a child," he said.

"Committees keep in contact with families in difficult periods and help in a neighborly fashion. We are fortunate in this county to have preserved a country atmosphere in which most people are known to their neighbors and maintaining a good reputation is still important."

A charge that in some counties minority groups of the population are not represented on committees would not apply here, the judge said.

Neither could it happen as cited in the report, he said, that two teenagers accused of committing an immoral act with a 7-year old girl would be dealt with by a committee without knowledge of the juvenile court.

"We have a regular procedure and close supervision which does not permit that sort of thing here," he said.

"But a close review of any system, which deals with such a vital problem and which is so big, is necessary. I believe the report will be most helpful to the Supreme Court in evaluating the performances of the committees."

To Sell Matawan Library Building

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — The 150-year-old library building on Main St. in Matawan Borough will go on the auction block.

The Joint Library Board last night so destined the fate of the present facility to pave the way for the new library.

According to Mrs. Evelyn Carter, board president, a contract has been signed with Red Bank architect Frank M. Amodio to prepare specifications for the $33,000 building and the board is now ready to consider bids for contracts.

The pre-Civil War building will be auctioned off, either whole or in part," Mrs. Carter said. The board and Mayor Walter Gehricke agreed to the feasibility of this method of removing the present library to allow construction of the new one on the existing site.

Mayor Gehricke suggested that organizations and clubs be contacted in an effort to establish a campaign to pledge money for furnishings and fixtures for the new library.

A sewer gas smell has been detected in facilities in the library and the board decided to have a plumber check the possibility of improper venting.

Circulation of adult books for 1,992 in 1965, and juvenile circulation was 1,956, as compared to 1,523 last year.

A member of the board will meet with the Library Friends Wednesday.

Highlands Studying Urban Renewal Maps

HIGHLANDS — Borough Council and the Planning Board had their first look at urban renewal maps last night, presented by the local Housing Authority.

David Malamud, New York, local renewal consultant, explained in detail to the 13-member audience, plans and the significance of the individual maps.

He said the purpose of the meeting was to inform the two bodies of the "substantially completed technical work" and status of urban renewal, for Highlands.

The 22-acre project area, bounded by Miller St., Bay and Waterwick Ave., and the former railroad bed, will consist of a shopping center, with parking facilities and a residential area. The residential area would include multi-dwelling and garden apartments.

He explained that a study had been made of the 113 families now residing in the area as to size of family, age level, income and type of housing preference for them.

During a question and answer period, he was asked what would happen to the five or six new homes in the residential area, (north of Atlantic Ave. to Waterwick Ave.). He replied that there are ways in which to move houses and federal Urban Renewal Agencies are studying the feasibility of such moves.

Copies of maps and the text of the urban renewal plans will be in the hands of council and the Planning Board shortly, Mr. Malamud stated.

Further citing that the master plan must be updated to precisely coincide with urban renewal plans, he asked for a target date of the end of June for this to be completed.

Highlands Sea Wall Seen Last Resort on Drainage

HIGHLANDS — It appears construction of a sea wall may be all of them," Mayor Bahrs has stated.

At one time, agreement was reached among all parties involved to participate in correcting the situation, but at the last minute, Middletown balked at appropriating funds, said the mayor.

He indicated that when the tides rise, rather than spilling over bulkheads, they most often course up through the municipality's storm drains. This, coupled with additional waters draining from the hill areas, places a strain on the drains, thus causing flooding of the lowland area, which includes the Bay Ave. business district.

Lower Wall Suggested

In its last talk with the Corps of Engineers, the governing body in February stated that the last storm produced tides of only seven feet above mean sea level, leading members to believe a wall of that height, or slightly higher, might be the answer.

Corps representatives said at the time that a seven-foot wall simply "would not do."

The mayor then asked if the Corps could draw a feasible drainage program and divide the responsibility for initiating it among the other municipalities, state, and county.

Referred to State

Corps men, noting that drainage problems are out of federal jurisdiction, recommended referring the mayor's suggestion to the state Bureau of Navigation.

The Army Corps, in October, 1965, first proposed the series of sea walls and dikes at an estimated project cost of from $3 to $5 million.

The federal government would pay 70 per cent of the entire project cost and the state would pick up the tab for half of the remaining 30 per cent.

If a decision is made in favor of the sea wall flood control project, borough officials have indicated they would push for county assistance, as was promised to the proposed Bayshore erosion project.

Six School Districts Get $177,967 U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON — Rep. James J. Howard, D-N.J., 3d Dist., today announced the disbursement of federal aid totaling $177,967 to six school districts in Monmouth and Ocean counties under "federally impacted areas" aid.

Areas with heavy concentrations of federal employees receive additional federal school aid to offset the impact created by the increase of students in the schools.

Mr. Howard said the federal aid announced today is part of the 1966 allocation. The federal aid includes: Monmouth Regional High School, $121,653; Oceanport Board of Education, $23,403; Shrewsbury Board of Education, $18,402; Monmouth Beach Board of Education, $3,580; Belmar Board of Education, $4,233; Berkeley Township Board of Education, $6,690.

On April 15, Mr. Howard announced similar grants totaling $335,627 to the boards of education in Long Branch, Neptune, Asbury Park, Little Silver, Spring Lake Heights, Atlantic Highlands and Shore Regional High School.

Mr. Howard had been at odds with the Johnson Administration over a proposal to cut $190.6 million from the "impacted areas" aid, including $1.3 million from the Third Congressional District which is comprised of Monmouth and Ocean counties.

Congressmen fighting the plan were successful in having the full amounts restored in the House Appropriations Committee. On May 5 the full appropriations were approved in the House.

Tapes Flutter, Parley Pauses

MARLBORO — At 9:17 last night Township Council paused in its discussion at the sound of fluttering tapes.

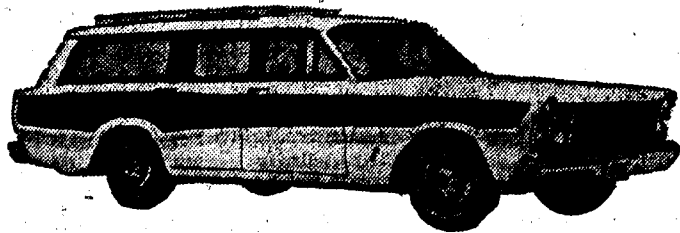

Deputy Clerk Mrs. Mary B. Denton rushed to the council tape recorder and Citizen Committee President Gerald Bauman raced to his, which made its premier at the last council meeting to record the meeting for the political group.

Both worked speedily to reverse reels. But victory laurels went to Mrs. Denton since she returned to her seat first. Mr. Bauman remained at his machine about a minute longer, before getting it to work properly.

'Going Overboard' Is Fun

Red Bank Family's Home Is a Boat

By PENNY FISHER
RED BANK — When members of the John Malmquist family speak of "going overboard," they don't mean extravagance. On the contrary, a step "overboard" in their household means a dunk in the Navesink River. Home to this active family of four is a 42-foot cabin cruiser based at Irwin's Boat Works. The family has been living aboard the boat since last July. They bought the craft, christened "The Meadowlark" last May. Prior to that, they had never owned a boat of their own. In fact, up until then the family had lived in a seven-room house in Middletown.

Moving from a seven-room home into a 42-foot boat was an experience, to say the least. But with almost a year of sea-going adventure under their belts, the Malmquists are quick to say they "wouldn't live any other way." This enjoyment of life afloat is shared by the entire family, which includes John, a sixth grade teacher at Willow School in Fair Haven, his wife, and their two children, Lea, 9, and Anne, 7.

What possessed them to take up housekeeping on a boat was simply a matter of "doing something different." The idea took root back in 1957 when Mr. and Mrs. Malmquist, looking for a way to spend an "unusual" vacation, accepted a boat firm's offer to drive a craft through the Inland Waterway to Florida. When they returned from the trip, a long search began for a boat of their own. "We haunted boatyards all over the Eastern coast," Mr. Malmquist says, "and last year came across this one—practically in our own yard." The 40-year-old boat was purchased in Bay Head.

Mr. Conover said that cost of the Viet Nam conflict in the 1966-67 national budget is set at $10.5 billion and may go higher. "Rather than ask business and labor to restrict its prices and wages, the administration should take a second look at its own fiscal policies," he asserted.

Scout Cooking Exhibit Slated

ASBURY PARK — The modern-day Boy Scout can still hold his own when it comes to cooking. Just in case there are any doubts, a special cooking exhibit is scheduled at the annual Boy Scout Show May 28 and 29 in Convention Hall.

The special exhibit will receive an assist from the New Jersey Natural Gas Co., which is supplying eight gas burning units. Highlight of the cooking exhibit, which will be set up south of the Paramount Theater, will feature members of Boy Scout Troop 43 of Ocean Township making 36-inch pancakes on a charcoal grill. According to Scoutmaster Jerome Mitchell, the boys will mix the batter with a canoe paddle. Other delicacies to be featured include aluminum foil cooking by Boy Scout Troop 66 of Matawan Grammar School; "Space Kabobs" by Boy Scout Troop 230 of Keyport, and "Space Puppies" by Troop 190 of the Hamilton Methodist Church, Neptune.

The "way out" foods are in keeping with this year's show theme, which centers around the space age.

Neighborhood Council Session

MATAWAN — The Matawan Neighborhood Council will meet Sunday (May 15) at 8 p.m. in the Second Baptist Church, Orchard St. The group will discuss the urban renewal project as it affects the Orchard St. area. Walter Hill, council president, has urged all residents to attend the meeting and discuss the master plan and its implications.

And in the summer, recreation is no more than a matter of starting the boat's engines and taking off down the Navesink. Last summer, the Malmquists took their "home" to Williamsburg, Va., for an extended vacation. While many prefer a vacation away from home, the Malmquists find taking their home along an ideal arrangement. "There's no suitcases to pack and we never forget anything," Mrs. Malmquist says.

Mrs. Malmquist is considered the "captain of the house" and is usually delegated to steer the craft away from the dock when they go for a cruise. The children are also adept at boating, particularly with the dinghy; which can be rigged for sailing. Both Lea and Anne enjoy taking the small boat out into the bay to fish or sail. And in the winter, ice skating is no more than a walk off the boat.

One "family law" is that the children wear life jackets whenever they are playing on or near the boat. The rule has already paid off. "All of us have gone overboard," Mr. Malmquist explains. When it comes to visiting, Mrs. Malmquist says they find they stay home more than if they lived in a home or apartment, attributing it to the fact that their home can be utilized in so many ways. Guests, however, can prove to be a problem. "We've found most don't stay too long because they feel they're an inconvenience." But the Malmquists have a good record so far—no one has left because of seasickness.

Although the Malmquists are content in their houseboat, they do look ahead to the time when the children are older and space becomes a problem. "Perhaps we'll just buy a bigger boat," Mr. Malmquist reasons.

His wife and children enthusiastically nod their heads in agreement.

"YOU'RE NEVER GONNA GET MARRIED IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE KINDA WORK YOUR HUSBAND DOES!"

Conover Sees Businessmen Among Congress' Top Needs

HIGHLANDS — John C. Conover, Republican candidate for the congressional nomination in the Third District, says "Washington needs more hard-headed businessmen who know what it is to meet a weekly or monthly payroll."

Mr. Conover, an Allenhurst real estate broker, was guest at a reception tendered him in Bahrs restaurant by the new "Conover for Congress" committee.

The candidate said: "We need people who know how to keep other people at work during a period of declining business."

"Inflation and rising prices are no secret today. In fact, during 1965, the cost of living rose 2 per cent, the highest increase in seven years. Food that our wives spent $10 for this time last year, today would cost them $10.40."

Mr. Conover, who served in the China-Burma-India theatre during world war II, believes the American offensive in Viet Nam should be strengthened.

"With our growing involvement in Viet Nam I feel the Johnson Administration should limit its domestic spending to the essentials without impairing our economic strength or endangering our national security."

TV Highlights

7:30-8:30 (11) — Bertrand Russell. This BBC documentary on the "life and times" of Bertrand Russell, 83 years strong, includes interviews with the venerable philosopher-social critic himself; Sir Julian Huxley, distinguished scientist-author; Michael Foot, British Labor Member of Parliament; and Alfred J. Ayer, philosopher.

7:55 to conclusion (9) — Baseball. The New York Mets vs. the San Francisco Giants, from New York's Shea Stadium. (color).

8:30-9 (2) — Hogan's Heroes. (Repeat). A happy cheerful show. The POWs, who can do anything they set their minds to, rig up an award ceremony for silly Colonel Klink, head of the German POW camp. The story is written for sheer amusement, and the scene stealer is Werner Klemperer as Klink, who positively beams making his speeches. (color).

8:30-9 (4) — Sing Along With Mitch. (Repeat). Though the account still underlines those endearing songs-of-yore Mitch digs on his shows, there's a switch to musical instrument solos in a segment on the rerun tonight. Come prepared to hear Mitch play the oboe, and individual members of the band performing on the piano, the piccolo, the guitar and the violin. (color).

8:30-9 (7) — The Addams Family. "Uncle Fester, Tycoon." (Repeat). Mild fun this round. Fester falls in love and tries to prove that he, too, can be a successful businessman and can afford to get married, Fester's efforts to make his fortune naturally backfire.

8:30-9 (13) — Paris: 1900 Feydeau. This week's farce by Georges Feydeau is titled "The Ribbon," and it deals with the machinations of a couple of wily candidates for France's coveted Legion d'Honneur.

9-9:30 (2) — Gomer Pyle. (Repeat). More action than usual as Sgt. Carter and his Marines engage in sea maneuvers with rubber landing rafts. Country boy Pyle doesn't take kindly to the water or the rafts, and becomes highly proficient in sinking the rubber boats in the best sequences of the show. Series is in good form with the Marines on sea duty. (color).

9-10 (7) — Special. "Cardinal Spellman — The Man." A tastefully produced documentary about Cardinal Spellman who rose from "parish priest to Prince of the Church." There is interesting footage following the 77-year-old cardinal through a normal day's activities, such as visiting hospitals, making speeches at fund-raising luncheons, and greeting guests at St. Patrick's parish house. In an interview with Bob Conidine who narrates the show, Cardinal Spellman reviews some of the events of his 50 years with the Catholic Church. A highlight of the hour is the cardinal's nostalgic return to his home town of Whitman, Mass., where he enjoyed a reunion with the Spellman clan.

9 to conclusion (11) — Baseball. The New York Yankees vs. the Kansas City Athletics, from Municipal Stadium in Kansas City.

9:30-10:30 (13) — College Sports of the Week. Taped highlights of the Athletic Rowing Sprints Races from Worcester Mass.

10-11 (2) — CBS News Special Report. "Crash Project: The Search for a Safer Car." Timely report on a subject much in the news offers comment from government, industry and public sources on the whole question of safety standards in automobiles. Of special interest are interviews with Senator Abraham A. Ribicoff, who explores the government's attitude toward regulation by legislation; Henry Ford II, on the automobile industry's attitude toward the safety features in cars; and Ralph Nader, author of "Unsafe at Any Speed," whose allegations sparked the current controversy and the Congressional hearings being held. Also of interest are statements made by three safety engineers: Roy Haeuser of Chrysler Corp., C. R. Briggs of Ford Motor Company and Lou Lundstrum of General Motors Corp. (color).

10-11 (4) — The Man From U.N.C.L.E. "The Arabian Affair." (Repeat). A wild, tongue-in-cheek adventure sends Ilya into the Arabian desert on a spying mission against THURUSH, and Solo into the enemy's lair for a plausible turncoat and help. What happens to them both is as amusing as it's improbable. (color).

Final Concert Tonight

RUMSON — The fourth and final concert of the 1965-66 subscription series by the Chamber Music Society of the Monmouth Arts Foundation will be held at the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church tonight at 8:30 p.m. The performance will be by the "Viola-Piano Duo," Paul Doktor, viola, and Yaltah Menuhin, piano.

The duo is known to Chamber Music Society subscribers, having performed on past occasions. Part of their special attraction is the range of their programs — from baroque to modern. As a duo they have concertized all over the United States, as individuals their tours have been worldwide.

Doktor began to study the violin at the age of five with his father, late violinist of the celebrated Adolf Busch String Quartet, as tutor. He continued his musical education at the State Academy of Music, Vienna, where he completed the five-year course in two. Since 1947 he has made his home in the United States. He is now a resident of New York City.

Yaltah Menuhin is the youngest sister of Yehudi, the violinist, and Hepzibah, the pianist. Though born in the United States, she received her musical education in Paris and Rome. She now makes her home in New York City. Recordings by the duo have appeared on the Mirrosonic label. Paul Doktor's recordings also appear on the Westminster label while Yaltah Menuhin's appear in dual piano recordings released by Everest.

The Chamber Music Society is now engaged in the 1966-67 subscription series drive.

Chamber Music Society Lists 66-67 Program

RUMSON — Richard H. Clark, chairman of the Chamber Music Society of the Monmouth Arts Foundation, has announced that the program for the 1966-67 season will include the Budapest String Quartet, Igor Kipnis in a harpsichord lecture-recital, The Galimer String Quartet and the Festival Winds.

The concerts of the society are presented at the Fellowship Hall of the Presbyterian Church.

A drive for new and renewed subscriptions under the direction of Peter Spellman of Middletown is in progress.

"ASTRO-GUIDE" By Ceean

Saturday, May 14

Present—For You and Yours... Proceed with tasks, even though results may not show immediately. Listen to imaginative ideas of others, but remain practical in your own thinking. Social aspects are good, but if mate is reluctant to extend a gathering, don't insist. Enjoy an evening with the family.

The Day Under Your Sign

Libra, Sept. 23 to Oct. 22
The course of true love should run smoother than usual under current transits.

Scorpio, Oct. 23 to Nov. 21
Think of the future and decide what your course will be. Quit silly-dallying.

Sagittarius, Nov. 22 to Dec. 21
Do your level best to make a good impression on a new acquaintance.

Capricorn, Dec. 22 to Jan. 20
Keep working toward your goal, even though you make occasional slips.

Aquarius, Jan. 21 to Feb. 19
Something you wish for may seem out of reach now, but don't give up hope.

Pisces, Feb. 20 to March 20
Giving people the benefit of the doubt is fine, but in this case don't overdo it.

Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The trouble with playing bridge against a dentist is that he knows just what to say when he makes a fiendish play. At any rate, that's the way it happened the other day when Dr. Monroe Engelberg was one of my opponents in my weekend game in Beverly Hills.

If you think the bidding was aggressive, you have company. The players in that game nurse their aggressions all week long and let them out on Saturday and Sunday. We sometimes need two scorecards for one rubber.

Declarer took the heart lead in dummy and returned a club to the king. He cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed a low diamond in dummy and returned dummy's last trump.

At this point Dr. Engelberg stepped up with the ace of clubs and made his fiendish play.

The easy return would be a heart, of course. South would win, draw the last trump and overtake the queen of spades in dummy to discard his two small diamonds on the ace and jack of spades. Six clubs, bid and made.

Better Return

Dr. Engelberg stopped that by returning the ten of spades to dummy's strength while he still had the ten of clubs. South could overtake in dummy and discard one diamond, but when declarer led a third high spade from dummy East ruffed to prevent another discard.

South had to over-ruif and play the rest from his own hand. He had to lose a diamond trick at the end. Down one.

Losing the slam wasn't so bad. What we didn't like was Doctor Ed's remark. Just as he led the ten of spades, he warned declarer: "This may hurt for just a moment!" It did.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades 10 9, Hearts 9 8 3 2, Diamonds Q 10 9 5, Clubs A 10 8. What do you say?

2 Get Patent

FORT MONMOUTH — Co-inventors of a ferrite power limiter duplexer, Irving Reingold of West Deal, an engineer, and physicist John L. Carter of Belmar have been issued a patent.

It was the 12th government patent granted to the two Fort Monmouth scientists with the Army Electronics Components Laboratory.

The patent is directed to an improved ferrite type microwave duplexer which does not require gas filled or other electronic discharge tubes for operation. As a result, the duplexers have greater life expectancy and power handling capabilities.

Issuance of the patent also entitles the co-inventors to share an incentive award of $150.

Plan Firsts For Armed Forces Day

FORT MONMOUTH — Several firsts will be on the open house program of events here for its big Armed Forces Day show for the general public.

Armed Forces Day is Saturday, May 21, and the 17th annual celebration here will highlight exhibits, displays and demonstrations from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Electronic equipment and many other Armed Forces projects will be shown continuously throughout the day for the thousands of Fort Monmouth visitors.

New on the 1966 Armed Forces Day program at Fort Monmouth will be:

- The Army Electronics Command exhibit.
- The Army Satellite Communications Agency exhibit.
- Open house in Satellite Communications Agency headquarters building.
- Education Center.
- Computation Agency.
- Equipment exhibits from each of the Electronics Command laboratories.

- Releasing of weather balloons.
- Stage show.

The main exhibit area is laid out on the northwest corner of Greely Field, where tents and vans will house military displays. Several helicopters will be in the vicinity. Buildings having special exhibits are adjacent to the main parade grounds.

Another big exhibit site will be in Myer Hall. The headquarters building of the Army Signal School near the post's west gate will feature electronic and communications equipment, plus school programs in its specialized training of military personnel.

The school's Signal Corps Museum will be open, as will displays from other branches of the Armed Forces. The latter setup will be on the mezzanine level of Myer Hall.

At 11 a.m. there will be a big garrison review on Greely Field.

A half hour before the parade there will be a drum and bugle corps demonstration.

During the afternoon, there will be two performances of the Showcase stage production, "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

The Fort Monmouth Army Band will give a one-hour concert, starting at 2 p.m.

At 3 p.m. the West Point Sport Parachute Club will put on a sky diving exhibition in leaps from high altitudes.

3 Firms Get ECOM Pacts

FORT MONMOUTH — Two midwestern firms and another in New York received separate contracts for the military purchase of more than 2½ million batteries.

Recipient of the third military contract is the Burgess Battery Company in Freeport, Ill. The contract is for 337,000 batteries at an Army expenditure of $1,416,780.

The awards, announced by the Procurement and Production Directorate of the U. S. Army Electronics Command, amount to more than $8.3 million. All of the items are dry-type batteries for use in the operation of portable radio sets.

Largest of the three military contracts is the award to the Union Carbide Corporation of New York City, for $5,479,128.59.

The Marathon Battery Company, a small firm in Wausau, Wis., received a contract for $1,447,688.

ECOM Seeks To Fill 1,600 Job Openings

FORT MONMOUTH — If unemployment is high, it can't be blamed on the Army Electronics Command here.

The Civilian Personnel Office of ECOM has announced a recruitment drive will be held next week to fill an estimated 1,600 job openings. The positions have been created as a result of expanding activities in the ECOM program and the Southeast Asia crisis.

Because of this manpower need, the Civilian Personnel Office will open an office in the Monmouth Shopping Center in Eatontown next week to recruit engineers and physicists, as well as administrative and management personnel.

The office will be located on the mall of the shopping center and will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday. Job opportunities exist for electrical, electronic and mechanical engineers, plus physicists and administrative personnel. Salary ranges are between $7,000 and $14,000 a year.

The recruiting office will be staffed with members of the Civilian Personnel Office as well as engineers and scientists from the Electronic Command's laboratories here.

Council President Attempts to Unite Freehold Factions

By ELINOR MULTER
FREEHOLD — The rivals who fought to a close finish in the recent election of a Student Council president for the Regional High School here, continue to work in close harmony, writing a new constitution for the council.

The victor, John Polgreen, who defeated Andy Lane by a vote of 496 to 429 reports that he and Andy hope to complete the draft of the constitution within a week.

While rivalry with Andy poses no problems, John does see the need to unite the high school's two factions as a major problem and one which he hopes the council can help to overcome.

The two factions can be roughly classified as the college preparatory student (including all those who plan to continue their education in some manner) and the non-college bound.

Each group includes approximately half of the students, according to principal James E. Campbell.

In student lingo, the two groups are tabbed as the "Rah Raha" and the "Greasers" respectively.

A similar split among the student body can be found in nearly all public high schools today, Mr. Campbell reports.

Distinguishing Features

The two factions can be most readily distinguished by their appearance, John says. "Rah Raha" tend to dress more conservatively, the boys wearing their hair combed over the forehead.

Greasers got their nickname because most of the boys comb their hair back, off the forehead, and use hair cream to keep it in place.

John is anxious to see all groups in the school represented on the Student Council. In this regard, he hopes that rigid standards for council representatives will be eliminated. At present a student must have a C minus average to serve.

All representatives must have the approval of the administration before they can be seated on the council, and John feels that this is an adequate safeguard.

John and Mr. Campbell are both anxious to see the council win a larger measure of respect among the students. They agree that the council's role in the school needs to be enhanced to accomplish this.

Summer Session Dates Set

LONG BRANCH — The Long Branch High School Summer Session offering remedial, make-up and enrichment courses will start June 27, according to Herbert A. Korey, high school principal and summer session director.

The six-week session will have both morning and evening programs. Mr. Korey said the session again will emphasize the summer enrichment program. Last summer more than 600 students representing colleges, high schools, and elementary schools enrolled in 40 different courses.

The program will offer advanced academic work, travel-study courses, courses to supplement regular school work, orientation to advanced high school and college studies, programs to develop special interests, and vocational classes.

Students also may make-up courses which they failed during the school year, and those who received incomplete grades in courses may fulfill the course requirements.

Mr. Korey said there will be choral and instrumental concerts, dances, and field trips also.

The major council activity at the present is to sponsor service projects in the community.

John plans to attend meetings of the Board of Education where he feels there are times when it would be well to have the students' views represented directly.

"However, I expect to do a great deal more listening than talking," John says.

Consideration of a student dress guide is a matter which has been channeled to the Student Council, Mr. Campbell said.

During the election, support for John and Andy ran across the lines of the factions; a matter which John feels may reflect the greater trust which students tend to have in the college prep students.

Enormous Pressure

John, who plans to attend college and pursue a liberal arts course, comments that there is really enormous pressure on the college bound students.

College prep students do not violate the school's "no smoking" rule as frequently as do other students, not because the group includes a smaller percentage of smokers, but because the students fear that they will be caught and the resulting mark on their record will keep them out of college.

Pressure to get into college is a factor which tends to warp the values of today's world, John feels.

A resident of Freehold Township, John is 16 and lives on Terrence Terrace, within walking distance of the high school.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Polgreen and he has two younger brothers, one of whom will enter the high school in the fall.

"They call us the terrors of Terrence Terrace" John says with a grin.

Debaters at Croydon Hall Learn a Variety of Skills

By LEE COOK

LEONARDO — Nearly 1,900 years ago, Roman rhetorician Marcus Quintilian said, "A good speaker must first of all be a good man; he must be intelligent and observant, but above all he must have integrity of character."

Echoing these words and describing the values of the National Forensic League, Croydon Hall instructor William Treanor commented, "A forensic debater must present himself with assurity, coherency and a degree of self-restraint."

Under the guidance of Mr. Treanor, 15 students at Croydon Hall participate in interscholastic debates as members of the New Jersey Forensic League and the National Forensic League. The team placed second in competition at the New York Oratorical Debates in Mineola, Long Island, in February, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Categories included oratorical interpretation and original and humorous oration.

Although the team competes interscholastically, Mr. Treanor feels the benefits of this form of public speaking are manifested in "in-class" work as students learn to present themselves intentionally.

"We use public speaking," he explained, "in inter-class competition, as a spring board to later practice and formal debates."

Teaches Researching

Mr. Treanor also stressed the program as valuable in teaching a student to research a subject, as aspect that asserts itself in better grades in English composition, history or current events.

Assets Will Show

"We're not idealistic, however, with the team," he noted, "since we would rather gear the program to the boys, letting them raise their own level of ability. Later in life, the assets of public speaking will show up in the course of conversation, when a person is found in a situation demanding an argument or discussion of an intelligent question. It is an art to be able to convey your thoughts, forcefully and coherently, yet avoiding an-tagonization or anger toward an audience."

Dr. John Carr, president of the academy, stresses as probably the most important aspect of an education, the ability of a student to speak, read, write and understand his own language.

"Forensic," a word derived from the Latin "forensis" and "forum" meaning "public" and "market-place" respectively, has been a means of public debate since the ancient Greeks. Mr. Treanor pointed out the Webster-Hayne, Burr-Hamilton, and Lincoln-Douglas debates which have become part of American history.

"As it was in the time of Cicero and Demosthenes," he said,

"the ability to speak well is still an outstanding characteristics."

Better Debaters

Since Croydon Hall is an all-boy's prep school, practice debates at the academy are among the boys themselves. However, interscholastic competition involves boy-girl teams. Mr. Treanor said, "Girls are given definite respect in a mixed debate. It is also my observation that girls are better debaters than boys, for two reasons.

A girl is literally afraid of making a mistake and will memorize her argument. Secondly, girls just seem to enjoy public speaking more than boys."

Forensic competition involves two four-man teams, each giving an eight minute presentation speech, followed by a four minute rebuttal on each side and a three minute cross questioning by the opposition.

"Membership in the forensic debates is a weighing factor in college acceptance," the instructor noted. He said admission officers consider this a valuable extra-curricular activity, and will give consideration to a participant even if his marks are lower than a non-participant, in determining acceptance.

Excerpts From Four Musicals Included in Mater Dei Production

By KENNY CROKEN

NEW MONMOUTH — Mater Dei High School presented its annual spring production, entitled "With Hoops of Steel," last weekend.

The play, which had an original script, employed numbers from four plays: "The King and I," "Camelot," "My Fair Lady," and "The Sound of Music." The plot centered around a director, portrayed by Mark La Mura, and his search for the appropriate show for his star soprano, Angel Craney.

Part of the guest was told by a speaking chorus comprised of Raymond Angersbach, David Bailey, Donald Cunlion, Gerald McDavitt, John Poole, Henry Varno, Florence Buck, Patricia Conlin, Donna Simonetti, Mary Trivitt, Jan Mallieu, and Nancy Kikuff, who represented the "Ideas" in the mind of the director. In each of the four phases of the play, Miss Craney portrayed the leading lady: Anna, Guinevere, Eliza, and Marie, with a different leading man in each.

The speaking chorus, playing the director's imagination, presents him with the first play "The King and I," where she met the King of Siam, played by Philip Galli.

The Siamese children were played by the girls' chorus consisting of Joann Lynch, Jean Beatty, Linda Brown, JoAnne Wodjiewodski, Rita Sears, Sharon Duggan, Noreen McGowan, Eleanor Cahill, Candy Korpon, Kathleen Macon, Ruth Byrnes, Laurel Trow and Gail McCabe.

Also, Georgette Ader, Nancy Bond, Kathleen Buckley, Catherine Natall, Susan Lee Ientile, Colleen Fleming, Susan Beyer, Fadela Mastellone, Catherine Cahill, Maureen Cassidy, Mary Ann Thorstenson, Donna Edwards, Kathleen Deneen, Linda McGee, May Ann Tortoiello, Carol Mayo, Sharon Callahan, Margaret Mosko, and Pegeen Slover.

The boys' chorus, who played the Siamese nobles, are Gregory Fennell, Richard Hirshbien, Edward Minson, Lars Guy, William Koller, Harold Corbran, Carmen Patella, Robert Barbuto, John Fleming, Frederick Whittles, George Jefferies, John Poole, Ronald Etzkorn, Kevin Whalen, Kenneth Croken, and Philip Humes.

Next was "Camelot" where Gregory Fennell was King Arthur. After the director refused both plays we go to England for "My Fair Lady." Mr. Higgins was played by Kevin Whalen. Mr. Doolittle was Lars Guy, and his two sidekicks were Robert Barbuto and Ronald Etzkorn.

After the director rejected "My Fair Lady," an annoyed imagination took him to Austria for the play, "The Sound of Music," where he, Mark LaMura, played Baron von Trapp, opposite Angel. The nuns in this sequence were played by Eleanor Cahill, Candy Korpon, Sharon Duggan, Donna Edwards, and Carol Mayo. The von Trapp children were played by Catherine Natall, Noreen McGowan, Cathleen Macon, Keith Kehner and Robert LaMura. In the end the director himself marries Miss Craney.

The Students Speak Up

By DON LORDI

The Register will pay $2 to any reader between the ages of 14 and 21 who submits a question chosen by the editors for use in this column. Send questions to the "Students Speak Up," Young Adult Section, Daily Register, 40 Broad St., Red Bank.

PLACE: Freehold Regional High School.

QUESTION: Many of today's skirt styles come above the knees. What are your thoughts on this matter?

JOHN BENNETT, Main St., Marlboro, senior.

I believe skirts that rest directly above the knee are perfectly all right. However, skirts that are presently well above the knees are in poor taste. They tend to cheapen the general appearance of the girl.

TOMMY BRERETON, 6 Prospect Pl., Freehold, senior.

For high school girls the limit should be no more than a couple of inches above the knees. If the skirt is too short this draws all the attention to the girl's legs, and in many cases this does the girl's appearance little good.

OTTO NICHOLS, 612 N.A.D. Earle, Farmingdale, junior.

Girls' fashions today are more of an exhibition of their feminine characteristics than a desire for a more conservative type of dressing. I personally think that knee-high skirts aren't very bad unless they tend to get higher. Men's interest and respect for women is lowered by the increasing tendency of women to display themselves.

PAUL GAY, 2 Otterson Rd., Freehold, junior.

The styles above the knees should be worn according to the situation. I believe they would be excellent as coverups for beachwear and summer wear around the home. Whoever buys them should take into consideration either their benefit or harm.

TOM LENAHAN, 18 Center St., Englishtown, senior.

I believe most girls use enough discretion to wear what looks best on them. Most girls wear skirts that come to a respectable length, but, of course, there are always some who go to extremes. I think that any skirt which is more than one inch above the knee is rather indecent, and should not be worn by any girl who does not wish to lower herself in the eyes of many boys.

JOHN POLGREEN, 19 Terrence Ter., Freehold, junior.

I think the present trend is just an exaggeration, a kind of game to see who is the most daring. I don't think many boys really like girls to wear really short skirts. They would rather see girls be feminine than brave.

SOUL SET SETS BUSY SCHEDULE — Red Bank producer Norman Seldin's new group, the Soul Set, will play tonight at the Barclay Hotel, Belmar, for the St. Rose High School prom, and Saturday in the Pin Up Lounge in Highlands. The busy trio includes, from left, Doc Holiday on guitar, Seldin at the organ, and Don Scascia on drums. They'll play June 3 with The Young Rascals at the Roller Dome, Matawan, and June 17 with Little Anthony and the Imperials at the same place. Future bookings include proms for Shore Regional, Long Branch and Lakewood High Schools, a summer tour of the East Coast with a discotheque show, and a national record release.

Schedule Conference On Atom

Perle Reminds Youth Of Their Obligations

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

All one needs is Perle Mesta, former ambassador to Luxembourg, to liven a luncheon table as she did the other day.

"Just dropping by," she said, blue eyes twinkling as she babbled with enthusiasm over her new interests concerning youth—one, the year-old Youth Councils on Civil Affairs.

She was on the way to the national convention in Dallas to make a speech to the group of 14 to 21 year olds, now 2,500,000 strong, she says. Their object; to sell America tall.

"This is the group that started in Jacksonville, Fla., with a bright young man named Ernest Evans," she explained. "The idea is to have three youths sit in court when young people were tried on various charges. They try to assume some responsibility for the accused young people."

Mulling over the speech she was slated to make to the 1500 or so who will represent the organization, Mrs. Mesta said: "I think the most important thing youth needs to be told is that they are the hope of America and must strive to be real Americans—that they must be aware of their responsibility to their country, to their community, to their parents. Sometimes they forget."

"They want stories about youths I've known, and I plan to tell them about my visit to Saigon about 10 years ago to speak at a refugee camp, how I was almost killed by some student rioters. My secretary and I were the only ones left after the evacuation of the hotel. I was saved because they recognized my name," she says.

She'll tell about the time 200 members of a youth group were stranded in Luxembourg caught in the Korean crisis. They had come from America to tour Europe. She took care of them at night and at breakfast until they could get out.

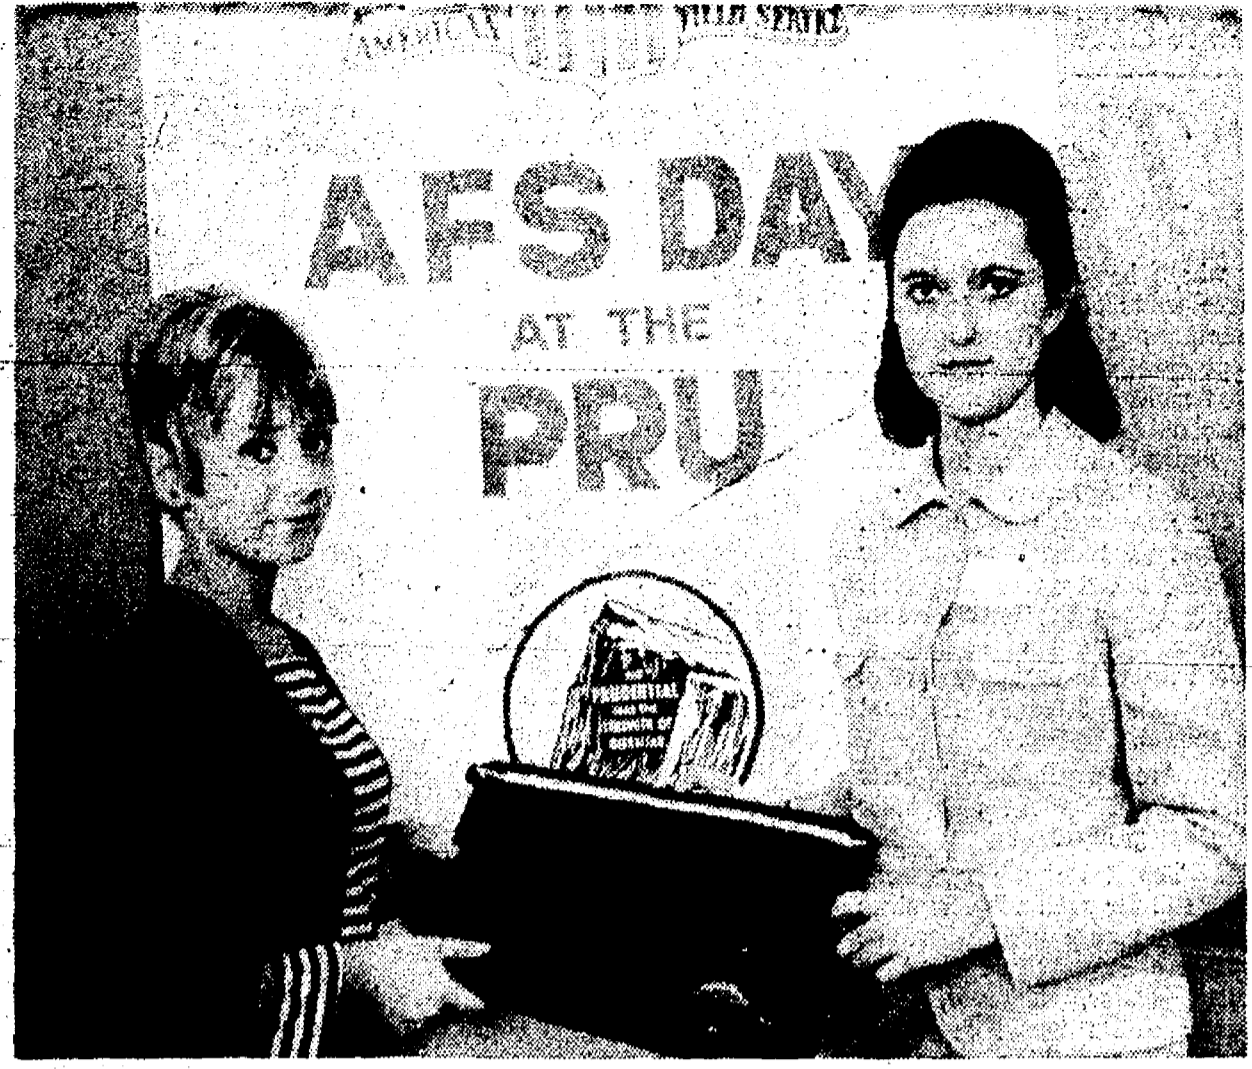

"I've always loved working with youth, maybe it's because I haven't any children," she said.

As "hostess with the mostess," she has come to the conclusion after studying dull parties that music may be one secret of her success.

Some Questions and Answers

Psychological Tests

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Butler, a clinical psychologist and Fair Haven resident, in addition to his weekly discussion of subjects of interest to teenagers and parents, will answer questions in this column addressed to him in care of The Daily Register, 40 Broad St., Red Bank. Names will be withheld on request.

In response to a number of questions about psychological tests, we would like to make the following comments.

Q. Are IQ tests valid?

A. The overwhelming weight of evidence indicates that individual IQ tests are reasonably reliable and valid estimates of intellectual capacity when administered and interpreted by a competent, experienced, and well trained psychologist. Examples of established individual IQ tests are: the Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale, the Stanford-Binet, and the Wechsler Intelligence Scale for Children. Such tests generally show a fairly high degree of agreement with school grades.

Q. What does IQ mean?

A. It stands for the words Intelligence Quotient. The IQ is expressed as a quotient because it is obtained either by dividing mental age by chronological age, or by comparing a testee's score with test scores of others within his age range.

Q. How good are group IQs such as the "paper and pencil" tests given in schools?

A. They are generally considered to be much less reliable. A very high score on a group test usually indicates superior intelligence but a middle or low score is often a poor measure of a student's ability. Part of the reason for the low reliability of group tests is that the interpreter is much less aware of the subject's interest, motivation, and emotional state when taking the test.

Q. Can IQ's change?

A. Yes. IQ's are influenced, in part, by emotional attitudes, cultural and educational experiences. Southern Negro children, for example, who move to New York City early in their life often show an IQ increase of 10 to 20 points. Usually, however they do not vary more than five or six points, either way.

Q. How young can a child be tested?

A. There are tests that begin as early as a few months but they are not considered very reliable. The IQ testing of young children (one to five years) seems to depend more on the skill, experience, and judgment of the examiner than on the tests. By age five or so a fairly reliable estimate can usually be obtained in most cases.

Q. What do personality tests show?

A. A battery of personality tests gives hints about a person's strength, such as his capacity to perceive reality, organize material, control impulses, express feelings, and relate emotionally to other persons. They may also show weaknesses such as poor reality testing, immaturity, lack of control of feelings, and emotional conflicts. Learning about a person's strengths and weaknesses can be useful in helping a person to work out his problems and strengthen his personality.

Q. Can a person cheat on psychological tests?

A. That depends. A subject can "slant" his answers on paper and pencil questionnaire type tests. He can try to give the tester what he thinks he wants. These kinds of simple tests are sometimes given by employers to prospective employees. It is much more difficult, however, to cheat on personality tests such as figure drawings, the TAT (Thematic Apperception Test), or the Rorschach (ink blot test). In most situations it seems silly to cheat because the subject is usually taking the tests because he wants some kind of help. A skilled tester is usually aware of a subject's attempts to slant his answers.

Q. Are psychological tests valid for Negroes and other minority groups?

A. The tests are generally less valid for such subjects since they are rarely used when the tests are originally devised. A skilled tester, however, can usually obtain useful results if he knows something about the subject and takes other information into account when he makes his evaluation of the test scores.

Q. Are vocational tests any good?

A. A battery of interest, aptitude, achievement, intelligence, and personality tests definitely can be helpful when given and interpreted by a competent counseling psychologist. The information and clues obtained can be very useful in working with a person to help him explore and actualize his vocational interests and aptitudes.
