Public Seen Pressing for Observance of Law

By WILLIAM J. ZAORSKI

FREEHOLD — Three judges, addressing separate groups during Law Day observances yesterday, said there is a growing public feeling that all those who violate the law must be prosecuted, no matter what their motives.

This year's theme is: "Only a lawful society can build a better society."

"The pendulum is swinging back to the feeling that anyone who violates the law must be prosecuted, no matter what cause he is advocating," said Superior Court Judge Andrew A. Salvest, speaking before the Ft. Monmouth Chapter of the Federal Bar Association at the fort.

'CANNOT LONG SURVIVE'

"Without law and order," said Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill, as he spoke in the county courthouse here, "our democratic society and the principles upon which it was founded cannot long survive, let alone flourish."

"We must understand that if we are to continue to exist as a sovereign nation and as a free people," said County Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court Judge Leo Weinstein before the Red Bank High School student body, "there must be a respect for the law."

Judge Salvest said: "It is in the realm of possibility that an open insurrection against the government is developing."

"Can anyone reasonably believe that a disorderly society can survive?" asked Judge Salvest.

None ever has, he answered.

"The paths of history are strewn with the remnants of fallen societies," he continued.

"In each instance, the first evidences of the society's decay appeared in its toleration of disrespect for, and violation of, its laws. Is there any reason why similar tolerations on our part will serve us differently?"

Judge Weinstein said that everyone has seen what havoc, waste and tragedy disrespect for the law brings. Disrespect breeds mobs, mobs breed riots, and riots lead to anarchy, leaving in its wake disaster, death and the same unsolved problems which existed before the riots, he said.

SEES SOLUTIONS POSSIBLE

"We believe in the value of human dignity and equality under the law," he continued. "There is no problem in this country which cannot be solved if the solution is sought in a legal and orderly manner."

"Regardless of what some people say," said Judge Sal-vest, "the law must not be disobeyed even though it is honestly believed to be unjust or wrong. I am concerned, as most thinking citizens are, about civil disobedience and the fact that many of our leaders and educators have advocated that people obey only those laws which are just and moral."

"If everybody obeyed only the laws he considered proper, the eventual end could be nothing but anarchy."

He added that if any group of Americans feel that the laws are deficient or unjust in some areas, they can, through their constitutional rights, peaceably assemble and petition the government for a redress of their grievances.

"In the past," he continued, "we have permitted some people to go too far because in many cases what they have

1,000 Reds Reported Slain In Furious Vietnam Battles

SAIGON (AP)—The heaviest sustained fighting in two months raged through the fourth day today in the northeast corner of South Vietnam. Allied forces reported more than 1,000 enemy troops killed in the battles that continued outside Hue and Dong Ha.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces reported 81 of their men killed and 395 wounded in the battling since Monday, the biggest eruption since the Viet Cong's Tet offensive in February.

U.S. commanders in the northern sector also reported that the 15,000-man allied force sweeping the A Shau Valley southwest of Hue had cut one of the enemy's main supply and infiltration routes from North Vietnam. But "there are still a lot of nooks and crannies we have not looked into," said Marine Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, commander of U.S. forces in the northern province.

97 Surrender

In the fighting outside Hue, the enemy dead included a North Vietnamese battalion commander, a battalion executive officer and three company commanders. U.S. paratroopers also reported the surrender of 97 North Vietnamese troops, including five women nurses.

It was believed to be the war's biggest bag of prisoners. The captives said their battalion was to become the occupation force for Hue after another enemy offensive they said was planned. The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong captured most of Hue in February and held it for weeks.

Hard fighting and artillery duels continued again today on both sides of Dong Ha, headquarters of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division 11 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

The biggest battle was going on two miles northeast of Dong Ha, where the Marines have been locked in combat with North Vietnamese troops since Tuesday.

North Vietnamese gunners opened up with artillery barrages on a unit of the 4th Marine Regiment sweeping the area. Later the enemy tried an unsuccessful counter-attack on a village captured by the Leathernecks two days ago.

A Marine helicopter supporting the Marines was shot down in flames by enemy small arms fire. One man was burned to death and two others were wounded.

South of Hue, enemy gunners fired more than 100 mortar rounds into the Fau Bai military complex, headquarters of the U.S. command center directing tactical operations from Hue to the demilitarized zone.

U.S. spokesmen said casualties were light.

The big North Vietnamese surrender came at the end of a three-day battle fought by American paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division who cordoned off the village of Phuoc Yon, four miles northwest of Hue.

The paratroopers trapped a North Vietnamese battalion while artillery and helicopter gunships hammered the enemy.

One of the first men to surrender was a wounded sergeant who then cooperated with the Americans, appealing by loudspeaker to his comrades to give up. Large numbers of the enemy came out with their hands over their heads. Fifty of the prisoners were wounded.

Reds Reject Ship Peace Talks

He said Hanoi still insists the talks be held either in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, or Warsaw, Poland, both of which the U.S. government has rejected.

In Washington, a number of U.S. senators were urging the Johnson administration to accept Warsaw.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, indicated he and other members told Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach that the United States should lift its objections to the Polish capital as a site for talks.

Another committee member who asked not to be named said he's convinced the United States rejected Warsaw because of objections raised by the South Vietnamese.

Fulbright, asked if South Vietnamese objections are holding up talks, replied: "They are a major reason why we don't — both South Vietnam and South Korea — but especially South Vietnam."

Katzenbach-briefed the committee in closed session yesterday. A majority of the committee has long criticized U.S. war policy.

Fulbright said he favored Indonesia's offer to send a ship to the Gulf of Tonkin for the talks — but accurately predicted the offer would be turned down by North Vietnam.

Predicted Privately

That refusal also had been predicted privately by diplomats in Washington.

NEW CLASH AT COLUMBIA — Police and students clashed at Columbia University in New York for the second straight day yesterday. (AP Wirephoto)

Columbia Board Now to Study Basic Changes

NEW YORK (AP) — Columbia University's board of trustees, meeting in special session on the campus crisis, agreed today to study basic changes in the university structure and to consult with community leaders on the fate of a controversial gymnasium in nearby Morningside Park.

The board took the action after conferring with a 12-member executive committee of the faculty named Tuesday and charged in a general faculty resolution with restoring order to the strife-torn Ivy League campus.

The action by the trustees, aimed at two key demands of the protesting students who have disrupted academic life for nine days, was coupled with a request that all students and faculty resume their scholarly activities so that the presence of the police can be ended.

There was no immediate comment from leaders of the protest.

Columbia had called off classes in most of its branches again today after new fighting flared yesterday between police and protesting students.

At least 11 persons, including five policemen, were injured when about 30 police charged a chanting, hostile crowd attending a rally by the university gate at Amsterdam Avenue and 116th Street. One student was arrested.

Israel Ignores Arabs, U.N., Parades Its Might

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel defied its Arab neighbors and a U.N. Security Council resolution today by parading its military might through the Arab sector of Jerusalem to celebrate 20 years of nationhood.

Demonstrations of protest were scheduled for several Arab capitals and a proposal to condemn Israel for holding the parade was expected in the Security Council. Israel rejected a unanimous council resolution saying the parade should be canceled because it would hurt chances for peace in the Middle East.

Braving sweltering heat, thousands of joyous Israelis and foreign visitors lined every foot of the five-mile parade route through both Arab and Jewish sections of the one-divided city which Israel united in the war last June.

Arab residents of Jerusalem kept their homes and shops shuttered.

But Arab street vendors were busy peddling food and drink to the crowds watching the march.

Soldiers and police stood guard all along the route, keeping a watchful lookout for trouble from clandestine Arab groups that ordered a boycott of the parade. Visitors were checked at roadblocks on all roads leading into the city.

Along with an impressive show of their own weaponry the Israelis paraded Soviet tanks, self-propelled artillery, surface-to-air missiles, and other equipment captured from the Arabs in the six-day war last June.

Male and female soldiers marched past the reviewing stand and saluted Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, President Zalman Shazar and Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.

The parade was covered by the Israeli state television station and could be seen on TV sets in neighboring Arab countries. In other Israeli cities there was singing and dancing in the streets.

It all commemorated the 20 turbulent years since bushy-haired David Ben-Gurion, as head of the provisional government, stood up in Tel Aviv's Museum of Modern Art and proclaimed Israel an independent state.

The next day the British Tommies evacuated the country and the Arabs went to war with the new nation. They lost that time, again in 1956 and again last June.

Gray to Challenge State Ballot Ruling

TRENTON (AP) — Jesse Gray, a Negro who once led rent strikes in Harlem, was expected today to file soon a court suit challenging an order by the secretary of state striking Gray's name from New Jersey's June 4 Democratic presidential preference primary.

Secretary of State Robert J. Burkhardt ruled yesterday that petitions in support of Gray's candidacy lacked the necessary 1,000 qualified signatures. He contended that more than half of the 1,600 signatures on Gray's petitions were invalid because they were made by persons not registered to vote in the state.

Burkhardt said that ballots for the primary would probably be printed in two weeks, leaving little time for court litigation on his ruling.

Clarence C. Coggins, Gray's campaign manager, said he intended to challenge the ruling in federal district court in Newark.

He claimed that the Democratic State Committee was acting in collusion with the secretary of state's office to undermine Gray's candidacy "because he is a black man."

Burkhardt is Democratic state chairman as well as secretary of state.

'Completely Hoodwinked'

"I'm being completely hoodwinked here," Coggins said at a hearing held by the secretary of state's office. "This is the type of thing that leads to the situation we had in Newark." He told newsmen that he was referring to the racial disorders in Newark last summer.

Highlands School Board Pares $5,100 From Budget

HIGHLANDS — The Board of Education last night cut from its twice-defeated $200,000 budget the $5,100 specified by Borough Council in March. The cut was made after a brief caucus meeting. Three bites were taken: $4,200 was shaved from teachers' salaries, where council had recommended a $2,000 cut. Administrative legal fees were reduced $250, where council had advised a $500 cut. Another $250 was taken from contracted maintenance services, where council had also recommended a $500 paring.

The vote for the cut was unanimous with no discussion. A contract for care of school lawns was awarded to Joseph E. Grzelka of 8 Bay Ave., low bidder at $150 a month. The only other bidder was Ernesto Caraballo Jr. of Long Branch, who bid $675 a month. After a report on a revised reading curriculum to start in September, Joseph J. Czarnecki, administrative principal, was given approval for the purchase of $691 in supplementary reading materials. A club program within school hours, recommended for fifth and sixth grade students by the principal, was also approved. Bids for general school supplies, coal, milk, ice cream and bread for the 1968-69 school year will be received May 29 at 4 p.m. Contracts will be awarded June 5. School will be closed the day after Memorial Day, Friday, May 31, to provide a long weekend. Mrs. Anne Juzwicki was voted a renewal contract as speech therapist at $2,000 a year. She will work one day each week. Mrs. Francine Vogel of West

Long Branch was hired as remedial reading teacher at a salary of $3,240. She will teach two days each week. Mrs. Margaret Meyer of Carlstadt was hired as a part time kindergarten teacher at $3,450 a year. Mr. Czarnecki reported that Highlands School has been chosen by the federal government as one of 487 schools in the nation and 14 in New Jersey to be evaluated as to the Title I program. "I have no idea how we got this honor," the principal commented with a smile.

Law Day Observed in County

Judge Salvest asked if anyone could really expect the world's peoples to believe that this society is better than any other when arson and looting become commonplace occurrences.

The judge said an individual has a right to speak out and to express his moral convictions but that this must be controlled when his actions infringe upon those of others.

Quoting Ernest Van Den Haag, professor of social philosophy at New York University, Judge Salvest said: "If the law were not binding on all its subjects, regardless of the conscience of each, it would be an option — not a law."

"To claim the right to choose among laws and to disobey those one's conscience opposes is to deny the binding character of penal law."

"We believe in the value of human dignity and equality under the law," Judge Weinstein told the Red Bank students. "There is no problem in this country which cannot be solved if the solution is sought in a legal and orderly manner."

Acknowledges Problems The juvenile court judge acknowledged that this country has great problems: slums, crime and inequities. The solution to these problems, he told the students, is in the orderly process of government and not in the laws of the jungle.

The judge told the students that 119 youngsters last year were sent to reform schools, and added: "What a waste! What a loss! And all because of a breakdown of respect for our laws and institutions."

The judge told the students he does not approve of draft card burning and student riots. "Who ever heard of such things?" he asked, adding that there are legal ways of correcting grievances.

Speaking before lawyers before court began, Judge Simmill said that lawyers should rededicate themselves to the rules of law and the fact that without laws there would be no government and without government, no society.

"Without lawyers and law, there would be nothing but chaos in government. Law is a force for good and right so our children and our children's children through generations may recognize the blessings that law has given us and law will give them."

Wanted to Inform Others Judge Simmill said that the usual practice on Law Day was to have a ceremony in his courtroom (He is the assignment judge) but this year the Monmouth Bar Association thought it better to inform others about Law Day. The judges, however, felt that there should be some recognition of the day in the courthouse, he said.

In Moscow's Red Square, he said, there was a display of force. "When we observe Law Day, we show them the right we have and I don't care what anybody thinks, might doesn't make right. Right makes might." Thomas F. Shebell Jr. of Asbury Park called upon his fellow lawyers to rededicate themselves and to take cases that are just even if they are unpopular. Law Day was originally instituted in 1959 by a presidential proclamation. Since then it has been observed annually. The purpose of this special observance is to increase public understanding of the place of law in American life and to point up the contrast between freedom under law in the United States and governmental tyranny under communism. The day is sponsored by 1,400 bar associations across the nation.

"If we observe the law, anarchy cannot exist," said Judge Simmill. "If we do not, anarchy will flourish."

2 Cooper Scholars: Much in Common

Gerald A. Cooper of New Shrewsbury and Stephen D. Cooper of Long Branch haven't ever met — but they have more in common than their last names.

Both are outstanding high school seniors who have won highly coveted National Merit Scholarships.

Both plan to attend Princeton University. Gerald, a Monmouth Regional High School student, will major in physics. Stephen, who attends Long Branch High School, will be a liberal arts student.

Both have won another highly coveted national honor, too; they were named to the honors group in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search.

Stephen participated in the Columbia University Science Honors Program. Gerald won a National Science Foundation fellowship for study in a summer program at Chico (Calif.) State University.

And both have musical talent. Stephen plays the clarinet in the All-Shore Conference Band and the Youth Symphonic Honors Band. Gerald played the trumpet in his high school's concert band.

Double Sessions Seen Unlikely in Marlboro

MARLBORO — Despite new homes being built in the township, Marlboro schools will not go on double session for at least two years, if at all, Superintendent of Schools Russell R. Wright said last night.

Mr. Wright said that with the completion of the new Robertsville School and anticipated additions to the Robertsville and Central schools there will be sufficient classroom space for more than the minimum of 260 children expected when 300 new homes being built by Levitt and Sons are completed by the end of this year.

Mr. Wright said he wished to clear up a misconception held by many township residents concerning Levitt's offer of a school for the township.

Contrary to an opinion held by some, the board did not reject an offer of a free school from Levitt, he said. The proposed school was to be built by Levitt and leased to the Board of Education for 25 years at a cost of $70,000 per year, he added.

Mr. Wright said the board had considered the proposal and found it to be in excess of its financing capabilities.

Leo J. Scully, board president, urged voters to turn out for the May 14 referendum which will decide the question of the school additions needed to keep the schools on single session.

Mr. Scully said that the board had talked to many groups in the township and that response had been favorable so far.

Okay Notes Issuance The board also authorized the issuance of up to $865,000 worth of promissory notes in anticipation of bonds. The issue will be due no later than May 15, 1969.

Board Secretary John A. Dugan reported that progress on the new school is excellent and that the June 1 completion deadline will be hit "pretty much on the nose."

The board accepted "with regret" the resignations of Mrs. Iona E. Granger who has taught in the Marlboro school system for 32 years and Mrs. Judith Poulos.

Frank E. VanNote was hired as a vocal music teacher for the 1968-69 school year at a salary of $7,000. Sandra Percy received a contract revision raising her salary $300 to $7,300 in compensation for credits earned toward a graduate degree.

The meeting was adjourned to May 16 when it will reconvene at 8 p.m.

The chief said the intruders climbed a pole about a half a block north of Anderson's — by the Sherman Shop — and crossed rooftops to their destination. He said they dropped down through a skylight on a rope.

Taken from the store were four television sets, four guitars, five microphones and various other pieces of audio equipment. The case was investigated by Lt. Detective George H. Clayton Jr.

State Cigarette Tax Boost Talk-Happens Every Time

By BOB DUBILL
TRENTON (AP) — In smoke-filled rooms where legislators and governors search for ways to balance state budgets, the talk inevitably turns to increasing the cigarette tax. This year in New Jersey the inevitable happened a little bit earlier than usual.

Democrats started serious bargaining on revenue measures to balance the budget and finance other state needs, the word was passed that Republicans leaned to the idea of a nickel-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax. Gov. Richard J. Hughes, a Democrat, followed with special messages on urban problems and recommended either an income tax or sales tax to finance the program. He suggested that if the lawmakers refuse to enact an income tax that the sales tax be raised from three to four per cent. He suggested this be coupled with a nickel-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax.

Industry Appalled
The cigarette industry was appalled. It launched a vigorous campaign designed to hold the line on cigarette taxes. "Governor Hughes, You Think You Have Troubles Now!" declared the Tobacco Tax Council in full-page ads.

Similar expressions were directed at Republicans. "If you do not oppose the proposal to increase New Jersey's cigarette tax from 11 cents to 16 cents per pack, your troubles will only be beginning. Such a tax increase would not only give New Jersey the highest taxes in the nation, it would also give the state of New Jersey a new partner — the underworld. If you don't believe it, look at neighboring New York State where bootlegging has been rampant ever since its cigarette tax was increased in 1965."

The Tobacco Distributors of New Jersey placed booklets on the desk of every legislator claiming that high cigarette taxes equal criminal control.

The booklets contend that the only remedy for criminal infiltration of the cigarette industry is to reduce the present tax. "The depredations of cigarette bootleggers, smugglers, counterfeiters and other criminals have cost our cigarette retailers a total of $35.4 million in the first year of the operation of the high tax," the booklets asserted.

Senate President Edwin Forsythe, R-Burlington, says the legislature will have to make its own appraisal of the validity of these assertions.

Porsythe said the Republicans envisioned $40 million a year from increasing the tax by a nickel-a-pack. The normal return for a one-cent increase is $9 million a year but the Burlington County lawmaker said there would be a tailoff in smoking at the start of any tax increase and the yield would be subsequently reduced. "We projected a $5 million tailoff which would bring in $40 million," said Porsythe.

More facts may come out out and we may have to take another look," he added. Forsythe, who says he smokes more than a pack a day, said he would hope a price increase would cause him to cut down on his own smoking. But he said he doubts that it would.

Sue County On Accident Of Warden

FREEHOLD—A woman who was struck and injured by a car driven by the late Warden Earl A. Smith, who died of a heart attack shortly after the 1967 accident, filed a Superior Court suit yesterday.

Mrs. Eleanor Palmer, together with her husband, James A. Palmer of 54 Main St., here, are suing Monmouth County and Jerry Sokol, an attorney here who is administrator of the estate of Mr. Smith.

Mrs. Palmer was struck by the warden's sheriff's office station wagon Jan. 3, 1967, while she was crossing W. Main St. near borough hall. The suit maintains she almost completed crossing the street when she was struck.

The warden was driving west on W. Main St. about 7:30 p.m. when the accident occurred. Preliminary hospital reports then said Mrs. Palmer suffered cuts and bruises on her right leg.

The 65-year-old warden was visibly shaken over the accident and was waiting in his parked car for a Freehold policeman to drive him home. Within minutes, he had a heart seizure and died.

He was succeeded in the post by Ralph Cook, then deputy warden.

Isadore I. Zlotkin of Freehold represents the Palmers.

'White Elephant' Water Unit Facts Concealed: McCormick

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — Albert V. McCormick, Republican candidate for township committeeman, yesterday charged the municipal administration with "deliberately concealing the facts concerning the status of our white elephant water system."

"It has become blatantly obvious that Mayor Daniel B. Schwartz and his loyal majority on the Township Committee have done this," Mr. McCormick said.

The water situation here is critical, he maintained. The residents, however, have been led to believe their water problems had been solved and industry would flock to their door, he said.

More and more money is being poured into this overpaid and inadequate system, he contended, adding that Mayor Schwartz is now begging for additional water from Freehold Borough and elsewhere.

The former mayor charged that the present mayor offered residents "a lame excuse" that water rationing was necessary because April was a dry month.

"If he were truthful," he continued, "he would frankly admit that our existing well is not producing the amount of water required and has nothing what so ever to do with the weather."

Mr. McCormick asked if the township cannot supply an adequate amount of water now, how will it supply the hundreds of additional families during the summer months. "Quite obviously," he said, "the answer is going to be expensive to our already overburdened taxpayer."

The Republican candidate said that besides the $1,568,000 paid for the water company—the original negotiated price was $750,000—another half million dollars is now being spent. He added that large water mains and a three-million gallon water tank are under construction but the tank cannot be filled. Mr. McCormick urged township residents — Republicans, Democrats or Independents—to scrutinize their mayor's actions which, he said, "seem to me as economically irresponsible as they are naively transparent and politically desperate. For how long does Mayor Schwartz think human intelligence and common sense can be tested?"

Board Delays Action On Project Proposal

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — After a public hearing in which no objections were raised, the Planning Board held until May 15 action on the proposed Janis Construction Co. subdivision on Van Brackle Road.

The application called for subdivision of one lot into four, on which three houses would be built. A two-family home already exists on one lot, but Lawrence Hecker, attorney for the firm, assured homeowners from the VanBrackle-June Place area that only one-family dwellings will be built.

Two houses would face June Place and the third Van Brackle Road. All would conform to side, back and front line requirements.

The board gave approval to the application of John Marz, for a subdivision of an 85,000 square-foot lot at Rt. 35 and Amboy Ave. Approval is subject to deeds of dedication as per county request for a five-foot easement in anticipation of future widening of Amboy Ave.

The property has undergone de facto subdivision by the state, because of a jughandle onto Amboy Ave. The minor subdivision divides the lot in two.

Robert Cronheim was granted two minor subdivisions on property between Rt. 35 and Matawan Ave., just south of Cliffwood Ave.

The first subdivision divides one tract into two acre lots. A second subdivision granted to Tamat Realty Co. subdivides a two-acre parcel from a 19-acre tract and joins it to a lot granted under the first application.

Mr. Cronheim explained that the expanded lot, which faces Rt. 35, will be used for a department store and parking facilities.

The board held action on a site plan approval to Florence Malinconico, for the addition of a 15 by 16-foot storage area and kitchen on Flo's Bar, 1 Central Ave.

The board requested a more complete plan, showing parking facilities at the site as well as exits.

Hans Froehlich urged Mrs. Malinconico to hold her plan until a meeting of the Garden State Parkway slated for mid-May. The authority plans to discuss lane expansion of the parkway, which would affect the tavern, located on a parkway access road just off Lower Main St.

Mrs. Malinconico said the tavern was located far enough from the parkway and would probably not be affected. She added she would resubmit her plans at a special meeting of the board, May 15.

Present—For You and Yours . . . Make plans to go home next weekend if possible. Travel will be under excellent aspects from a safety standpoint, too. Today, keep at the job even though more interesting pursuits beckon, especially in romantic areas. Don't try to combine business with pleasure—it's disastrous.

Destructive Criticism

18 Highland Ave., Rumson, N.J.

To the Editor:

A nameless radio commentator recently interviewed a totally misinformed individual, representing a London daily newspaper. The former deliberately baited the latter into making derogatory, undeserved statements about our country.

The following quotes are words in essence, not verbatim: Question 1—"In view of the recent events in our country, could you tell me how you think your country and the world reacted?"

Answer 1—"We were not surprised. We regard the U.S. as a country of violence..." Etc., etc.

Question 2—"Judging from your remarks then, in your opinion, do you feel the U.S. has the right to assume the position of world leader?"

Answer 2—"Definitely not. It is only considered as such because of its tremendous wealth. It has no right to consider itself a moral leader..." Etc., etc. Unquote.

Furiously indignant with the ignorant and unjust assumptions of the Englishman. I refute Answer: Our country is a great and wonderful one. And what is a country but its people? I have traveled from coast to coast, have met people from 26 states, and always feel so warmly satisfied on reflecting that the majority of Americans are basically good and purposeful individuals. It is an unfortunate fact that the corrupt and lawless element, even though representing a smaller percentage of the population, provides most of the material the news media thrives on. For every act of violence reported, there is the other side of the coin, one thousand fold, unheralded.

Regarding Answer 2: In Mr. Warren J. Andrew's recently extremely well written letter to the editor, titled "Impossible Nightmare," it is evident our country is grossly and unjustifiably maligned in many quarters of the world.

Would that more people pursued the truth and constructive analysis, rather than negative propaganda and destructive criticism!

Sincerely, Barbara M. Johnson

Welcome Entry to the Race

We're mighty happy New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller has announced he is a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency. Although this is not an endorsement of his candidacy, we believe he represents the best in modern Republicanism.

The 59-year-old millionaire should have taken this step long ago, but in a year of unexpected happenings in both major political parties, it should not hurt his chances in Miami this August. Richard M. Nixon, the former Vice President, should not be the only voice heard in the battle to carry the GOP banner.

The Republican Party, and perhaps the nation, could benefit from Nixon-Rockefeller debates. From them, delegates could get information that would provide an exact definition of what the party stands for in these times.

Particularly encouraging was Rockefeller's prompt pronouncement on Vietnam. By calling for a reversal of the "Americanization" of the Vietnam war effort and the convening of a council of Asian nations to work for economic progress and political stability, the governor is offering something positive that is worthy of consideration.

His declaration is one of the examples of his qualifications to be a candidate for the nation's top office. He is an able man with a background of considerable government service, and one who can give his party the moderate-liberal image it needs to help voters forget that Barry Goldwater in 1964 was the GOP standard bearer.

Rocky is popular in New Jersey, and undoubtedly in Massachusetts, too, as indicated by the surprising victory for him there Tuesday. He also seems acceptable to Monmouth's Republican leaders, particularly J. Russell Woolley, the county chairman, who said the governor's name on the ballot could enhance the advantage of GOP candidates for county and local offices.

With both parties generating interest by all-out campaigns, we should be in for a most interesting summer. The result, we hope, will be that the most outstanding candidate in November will be one who can provide the leadership our troubled nation needs.

A CONSERVATIVE VIEW

Amnesty, No; Expulsion, Yes

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

The trustees of Columbia University, by their spineless unwillingness to call in the cops 10 days ago, have made their own miserable contribution to the anarchy that is spreading a typhus contagion across American campuses this spring.

KILPATRICK

Student insurrectionists held five buildings at Columbia. Classes were suspended. A red flag fluttered from the top of a mathematics hall. The administration vacillated: It first sought to appease the militants by suspending construction of a controversial gymnasium; then it announced a policy of "no amnesty" in a feeble gesture of firmness.

What in the name of heaven has happened to our college and university administrations? The series of outrages began at Howard University in Washington March 19, when student insurrectionists seized the administration building and held it for five days.

THUS INSPIRED, students at Bowie State University in Maryland went on a similar rampage; they blocked driveways, seized the university switchboard, banned president Samuel L. Myers from the grounds, and began deliberately wasting water and electricity. Someone had taught them, presumably, that this was free speech.

The contagion spread to Virginia Union University in Richmond; to Virginia State College in Petersburg; on April 7 to Tuskegee Institute in Alabama, where students chained the doors of an administration building and kept trustees captive for 13 hours. In other manifestations, student insurrection hit Colgate, Western Michigan, the University of Georgia, Long Island College.

At Barnard College in Manhattan, the administration groped abjectly with the problem of young Linda LeClair, a student who had lied—lied brazenly and willfully—in order to deceive the college as to her place of residence. The case caused serious embarrassment to Barnard. Linda had to be punished—the college denied her access to the snack bar.

HERE AND THERE, it is true, a few public officials have reacted with firmness. Maryland's Governor Spiro Agnew closed Bowie State. The Tuskegee trustees moved decisively against offenders. Generally, the pattern has been a pattern of administrative surrender. It has been a pattern of permissiveness gone mad, of tolerance turned inside out. In the process, the whole meaning of a university has been lost.

If a university fails to maintain conditions of free inquiry, it fails in its primary function. But freedom demands order. It demands discipline. It demands a sense of hierarchy, in which the students are inferior to their masters. What kind of free inquiry was possible at Columbia with the insurrectionists in charge? The zoo has been surrendered to the gibbons, the asylum yielded to the inmates. Students who wanted to pursue their education were effectively prevented from doing so. This was an exercise in healthy dissent? In free speech? In peaceable assembly and petition? Nonsense. This was anarchy; it cannot be condoned.

An explanation may be sought, perhaps, in the perverted emphasis our society has placed upon "youth" and upon "equality." In our fatuous exaltation of the immature, we have tended to destroy the meaning of maturity. The notion that students are somehow equal to professors has undermined the whole of the academic relationship.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Rent Anything Lately?

By SYLVIA PORTER

How would you like to have a brand new dishwasher, clothes washer and drier, refrigerator, stove and color TV installed in your home—without paying a penny down for this equipment?

You could have this American dream for a monthly rental charge of, say $90, which would also cover the costs of repairs. You could have the choice, after four years, of either exchanging these appliances for new models, or buying them at sharply reduced prices. You could also get bigger "bargains" in rented appliances by buying older, reconditioned stoves, TV sets, etc.

You can't do precisely this today, but the time is near when you will be able to, says W. I. Newstetter Jr., of New York's Havenfield Corp., specialists in corporate financial management. What's more, says Newstetter, you'll be able to rent a wide variety of household equipment at lower cost than the cost of buying it outright.

Relentlessly and ever more powerfully the trend continues in this country toward renting vs. buying an enormous range of goods. The list of items you can rent seems almost limitless: cars, floor polishers, Tuxedos, party gear, art works, TV sets, reducing devices, camping equipment, lawn mowers, rollaway beds, mink coats, pearl necklaces, pianos, shirts, bulldozers, jet airplanes. Moreover, the extent of acceptance of the list is growing almost by the hour.

BANKS ARE leasing out such items as production machinery, jet airplanes, computers, railroad piggyback containers and offshore oil rigs. Mounting numbers of supermarkets and hardware stores are offering for rent everything from cars to chain saws.

U.S. corporations are now renting an expanding variety of office equipment: electric typewriters, dictating machines, copying machines and computers.

This year, 20 per cent of the passenger cars being manufactured are for sale to leasing or rental firms and an estimated 90 per cent of computers being produced in this country are rented or leased. Just within the next five years, IBM expects to have $15 billion worth of its latest series of computers on lease.

It's estimated that the overall rental business in the U.S. has reached a yearly volume of $10-billion, triple or quadruple the volume just one decade ago.

What would be the advantages to you, the consumer, if you could rent whole batteries of major household appliances?

FIRST, YOU would be rid of the nuisance and unexpected costs of repairs, insurance and vague warranties.

Second, you would have a chance to try out an appliance without having to buy it.

Third, leasing would provide you with a hedge against inflation because you would be paying a pre-set monthly charge over a period of years.

Fourth, leasing could simplify your family budgeting because the appliance costs would be on a fixed, monthly rather than every-few-years basis.

Fifth, you would avoid the big initial cash outlay for a big appliance, and have this money available to invest in other assets which grow rather than diminish in value over the years.

Finally, you would be protected against rapid obsolescence of many products and could switch easily from, say, black-and-white to color TV, from no-defrost to self-defrosting refrigerators without taking a financial loss.

"Pride of ownership," Newstetter states flatly, "is obsolete." Far more important are use and convenience.

Renting is enabling our "thing conscious" society to reach new dimensions.

The Legislature's Responsibility

In calling the $2 billion bond issue proposed by a blue-ribbon commission a "sobering and extraordinarily impressive document," Governor Richard J. Hughes was uttering profound, truthful words. Comments by Republican legislators that it is "too much, too soon," however, should be seriously questioned.

At their special meeting today, we hope those legislators recognize one of the most important of the commission's contentions. That is that $1,990,900 is needed immediately to rectify conditions caused by years of neglect in education, state institutions, water pollution, conservation, education and transportation.

The Republicans make a legitimate point when they question if voters would approve such a massive program in one bond issue. Senate Majority Leader Frank J. McDermott, R-Union, fears that if the voters defeated such an issue, it would put the state another five years behind in meeting its needs.

Assistant Senate Majority Leader Raymond H. Bateman, R-Somerset, said about the same thing when he asked: "How much can the public take at one election?" Senate President Edwin Forsythe, R-Burlington, in mentioning timing, size and selection, said: "The toughest decisions are ahead."

Those are the thoughts of responsible men who must make a momentous decision, and we agree with them in their approach that the proposal requires serious review. It should not be one, though, that is a camouflage for delaying tactics.

New Jersey can no longer put off facing problems that have been with us so many years. The needs of the cities in our state, in particular, cry out for dramatic action.

Governor Hughes says the commission's report will impel a thorough reassessment of where we are and where we are going in this state. It is imperative that today's gathering in Trenton be a genuine effort to make that examination.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Humphrey Looks to Oregon

By PAUL SCOTT

In his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, Vice President Hubert Humphrey is counting on a big vote in the strategic May 28 Oregon primary to give his campaign a big boost.

Although his name won't be on the ballot for president, Humphrey will be trying to top the vote total of either Sen. Robert Kennedy, N.Y., or Sen. Eugene McCarthy, Minn.

As mapped out in Washington, Humphrey's strategy will be to turn out a heavy vote for the office of vice president since his name will be entered for that position on the Oregon ballot.

His boosters also will be encouraged to launch a massive Humphrey write-in campaign for president to draw votes from Kennedy and McCarthy, whose names will be carried on the ballot.

If the total of these vote combinations tops the other candidates, as Humphrey's lieutenants are predicting, the vice president will hail this achievement as a major political victory over his two rivals.

To bolster his Oregon prospects, Humphrey will make one or more speeches in that state before the primary. He will be doing the same in Nebraska (May 10) and South Dakota (date still to be decided), although he won't be officially entered in either state's primaries.

According to Senator George McGovern, D-S.D., the latest non-partisan poll in his state gives Humphrey 48 per cent of the Democratic vote, Kennedy 33 per cent, and McCarthy 19 per cent. Senator McGovern, a friend of all three candidates, is remaining neutral.

LOOKING AHEAD — Kennedy, who is spending money lavishly in his presidential campaign bid, is hoping to give his campaign a big lift from a victory in Tuesday's Indiana primary.

Aides report Kennedy is so confident of winning that he switched his number one Midwest political expert, Pat Lucey, to Nebraska last week.

Lucey, who directed the spending of more than $750,000 in Indiana since the Wisconsin primary, has the assignment of getting out the Democratic vote in Omaha for the May 14 primary. Democratic voters in Omaha, who are heavily Catholic, represent about 30 per cent of the vote in the state's primary.

To block Kennedy's efforts to win over labor in Indiana, South Dakota, and Nebraska, AFL-CIO officials here have begun circulating reports in those states that Kennedy endorsed the Landrum-Griffin labor law while serving as counsel to the Senate Government Operations Committee. To back up their charge, the labor officials have the tape of a statement Kennedy made on a national TV show.

Since becoming vice president in 1964, Humphrey has clocked more than 260,000 miles, visiting all 50 states.

SPEAKING OUT — In private talks with Democratic colleagues in the Senate, Humphrey describes 1968 "as perhaps the most critical year in our history."

Holding out great hope for the future of the country, Humphrey contends the report by the Presidential Commission on Civil Disorders was not an obituary but a warning to America.

"The greatest challenge to American people today is to give real meaning to American citizenship for every American," he says. "We don't have any choice. We simply must do what we say — build one nation."

At 56, Humphrey is reputed by his doctors to be in the best of health. Democratic senators rate Humphrey as one of the most vigorous campaigners ever to come out of the Senate. Aides say he is itching to debate either Kennedy or McCarthy before the conventions.

CONGRESSIONAL SUPPORT — Indications are that top congressional leaders are beginning to swing behind Vice President Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination.

A sign of the probable alignment of the leaders came when Representative Hale Boggs, La., House majority whip, announced his support for Humphrey.

Speaker John McCormack, Mass., is planning endorsement before the convention. House Majority Leader Carl Albert, Okla., is also expected to back Humphrey, as is Rep. Mel Price, Ill., head of the House Ethics Committee.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., is for the present neutral, stating in a recent interview that he had "no candidate" for president but favored Senator Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, as the vice presidential candidate.

Other legislators who are supporting Humphrey are Representatives Henry B. Gonzalez, Tex.; Chet Holifield, Calif.; James O'Hara, Mich.; Clement Zablocki, Wis.; and Herbert Towner, N.Y.

Library Badly Needed

50 West Front St., Red Bank, N.J.

To the Editor:

Is it not about time that the mayor interested himself actively in the Library Committee of the Red Bank Public Library?

As you know, the library has been closed for one year and there is still little evidence of completion to the alterations.

There are any number of residents who feel the matter is one of urgency and merits immediate attention.

Yours very truly, Mary B. Wilson

EVENTS OF YEARS AGO

50 Years Ago

A number of Lincroft farmers have plowed out their asparagus and will quit raising the crop. The scarcity and high price of labor is the reason given by the farmers for not raising asparagus. Most of them will raise corn and potatoes in place of "grass."

Mrs. L. Hicks and Mrs. May Broadbent of Long Branch enjoyed a swim in the ocean last Thursday. Their mother, Mrs. N. Cook, has been taking ocean baths since the middle of March.

The latest war contract to be received by Sigmund Eisner Company of Red Bank is one for 500,000 trench caps. This work is done mostly by girls and the factory managers are scouring the country for female help.

25 Years Ago

With enthusiasm matched only by their patriotism, residents of Red Bank and eight surrounding communities have launched their "Buy a Bomber" campaign and the second war loan drive with an almost unprecedented purchase of war bonds — their investment in victory and freedom.

Eighty-eight years old and a former Coast Guardsman at the Old Sandy Hook station, Andrew Nelson of Waterman Ave., Rumson, saved Alfred Olsen of Sea Bright from drowning in the Shrewsbury river off Sea Bright.

Q—Last summer while visiting Expo 67, my wife and I were impressed with the modular apartment complex-Habitat. Are there some companies in this field that would be suitable speculations for us? —C.McI.

A—The idea of pre-constructed, self-contained housing has far-reaching applications. In slum clearance these units suggest low-cost apartments that could minimize family displacement because of their fast-moving construction. The modular concept is presently being applied in the building of apartments, hotels, schools and dispensaries.

The stocks of two companies, solidly based as builders of larger mobile homes-fabricated at the plant and moved to permanent locations-might be considered for your purpose. Guerdon Industries produces modular components for multi-family, two-story apartments, Redman Industries, in addition to the construction of mobile homes, is the country's largest producer of riveted aluminum structures for use as school-rooms and field headquarters. This company recently joined a Virginia group in erecting a low-cost garden apartment complex of stacked trailer-type homes. Both companies are listed on the American Exchange; both report promising gains in current earnings, and their managements are thoroughly familiar with the costs and techniques of modular construction.

Q—I have $10,000 in a savings and loan association and want to put half of this into another kind of investment. I am 28 and have never invested before.—D.K.

A—You are using good judgment to move into stocks with part of your cash savings. At your age you should aim for growth regardless of income. As a starter I suggest equal dollar amounts of Radio Corp. and Del Monte. The first will give you a diversified investment in aerospace, electronics and electrical equipment, education and communications, and leisure-time pursuits. The second represents a leading company in a basic industry—the processing and packing of fruits and vegetables.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Common stocks, senior securities and Mutual Funds—plus the proper part they should play in different kinds of portfolios... How to decide on your investment objective, and the best way to start towards it.

There's no charge for these lectures—or the helpful literature we distribute, either.

But space is limited, so please call Karl Kemm collect at (212) 688-4900 and make your reservation soon. Or, just mail in the coupon below.

Been Irritable This Week?

By PAUL KEY, M.D.
Things have not been exactly normal at our house this week. Since we set the clocks ahead to Daylight Saving Time, nothing has gone exactly right. We are all a bit edgy, irritable, tired and drawn. There never seems to be enough time in the day for the usual activities. But we know that this will all pass in a week or so as it does every year.

For this is an annual occurrence—taking place each year when the clock jumps forward and to a lesser extent in the fall when it goes back again. It can be accepted as a part of the change of seasons. We know that the change in time causes a reaction in the clocks which seem to be built into our bodies, which take a few days to adjust.

That there are body clocks and rhythms is generally accepted by laymen and doctors alike these days. In fact, this has been so generally accepted that it was only with the advent of jet travel that anyone began to look into the problem. The impetus for investigation of one working of our body-clocks came with the development of travel by jet across continents and oceans. Passengers and crews of these flights experience discomfort, irritability, fatigue and loss of efficiency in adjusting to the change in life that occurs with travel from one time zone to another.

Leaving New York for a six-hour flight west, you arrive at your destination three hours later, and your body, expecting to perform its functions for a six-hour period, seems thrown off stride by having to accommodate to a schedule for three hours later. Impressive as this is for jet flight, it will become more of a problem should space flight ever become commonplace for the average person.

So the problems of the jet age have come to warrant medical investigation, and incidentally are related to the out-of-sorts feeling that occurs with the change in the clocks for daylight time.

Similar problems arise for people in isolated work, such as submarine crews, and shift or night work. All of these people have the daily rhythm of the body disrupted with notable changes in the psychological and physiological operation of the body.

The body-cycle under discussion is complete in about a day. It is therefore called a "circadian," from the Latin words, "circa" meaning about and "dies" meaning day.

This rhythm concerns the cycle of sleep and wakefulness which happens on a daily basis, as well as certain mood changes which seem to have daily cycles in many people. There is a daily fluctuation in the output of the adrenal glands, the level of the blood sugar, the changes in the pressure within the eyeball, to mention just a few.

Even such a well known measurement as the body temperature can readily be shown to vary with change in the time of day, so that it, too, has a circadian rhythm.

The daily blood rhythm seems to begin in earliest infancy. At first, the newborn, who sleeps about half of each 24-hour period, may have "his days and nights mixed up," sleeping "all day, wakeful all night."

Gradually, under the influence of the noise by day, quiet by night, daylight and darkness, and the cycle of family activity, especially feedings, the infant's body-clock adjusts to the cycle of the family, daytime activity and nighttime sleep. Thereafter, the circadian rhythm is part of the physiological mechanism that governs bodily activity.

So strongly does this cycle impress itself on the body that, under most circumstances, it is quite difficult to disrupt. Most adults experience some difficulty in sleeping during daytime hours, except if very sleepy, and in awakening at night.

This circadian clock can of course be overcome, but not without the occurrence of a general feeling of unease and irritability. For the moment there is nothing medicine has to offer for the problem.

No drug will set the body clock forward or back. With this circadian clock can of course be overcome, but not without the occurrence of a general feeling of unease and irritability. For the moment there is nothing medicine has to offer for the problem.

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — "Civil Disobedience: Have We the Right to Break the Law," was the topic of discussion by a panel of three persons at a meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm.

The panelists included Rabbi Morris L. Rubinstein, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Ahm; Anatole Schlosser, English instructor at Pace College; and Robert M. Weiman, commander of the Department of New Jersey, Jewish War Veterans. Mrs. Melvin Singer served as moderator. Mrs. Albert Friedes, social action chairman, arranged the panel discussion.

The Rabbi stated there is a definite difference between civil disobedience and rebellion or outright defiance. He quoted a story from the bible about the King of Egypt who commanded midwives to kill male infants. In fear of God, they disobeyed and thereby pursued justice. Burning a draft card, though he objects to it, is not interposing personal values on others.

The Rabbi commented that respect for the law strengthens law's capacity to protect rights while disrespect for the law can only weaken that capacity, and

Zionist Unit To Install

LONG BRANCH — Lt. Col. Max H. Daina of Oceanport will be installed as president of the Monmouth County Chapter of the Religious Zionists of America at a meeting next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Congregation Brothers of Israel here.

Cantor Philip Rosenblatt of Congregation Brothers of Israel will be installed as vice president. Other officers include Maxwell A. Brown, Bradley Beach, treasurer, and Rabbi Benjamin Gonsky of the Yeshiva, Asbury Park, secretary.

Col. Daina has been active in the Mizrahi Organization for the last few decades. He has completed 22 years of service in the U.S. Army.

Rabbi Rafael G. Grossman, spiritual leader of the host congregation, will be guest speaker. Rabbi Maurice A. Shmidman of Asbury Park and Rabbi Philip Goldman of Bradley Beach will so extend the greetings.

Mr. Brown will receive a life membership certificate. "Sand Curtain," a film of the latest developments in Israel, will be shown.

On behalf of the national organization, Rabbi Shabse Katz, director of the New Jersey Mizrahi, will deliver a message.

Names of members who will attend the annual national dinner May 28 at the Waldorf Astoria, New York, will be announced.

In the process wither away the rights themselves.

Anatole Schlosser has traveled extensively in Europe and the Middle East, and in 1962 attended a peace and disarmament conference held in the Soviet Union. In 1965, Mr. Schlosser was tried on the charge of conspiracy after transgressing the Cuba travel ban. In the case of the United States versus Laub, Luce Martinot and Schlosser, he was acquitted. The decision was later upheld by the United States Supreme Court.

Mr. Schlosser defined civil disobedience as an intentional act which should be non-violent in its origin with no ordinary criminal intent. He stated that a person feeling that a constitutional law is unjust will violate it in order to test its validity. Such an individual does not wish to defy the Constitution but only to clarify it.

He posed for an example a person who violates a travel ban and cannot get a passport. If he illegally gets into a non-recognized country, he is testing the courts as to the truth of the law.

Mr. Zweiman, an attorney in Fort Lee, received his bachelor of science and LL.B. degrees from New York University. He is national chairman of the All-American Conference to Combat Communism. He is also chairman of the Education about Communism Committee of the Bergen County Bar Association.

He said willful non-violent opposition of civil law is disobedience and that laws that persons feel are unjust should be changed by legal means rather than by individual civil disobedience.

Flower Power in Scraps of Text

By ELEANOR MARKO
 "There must be ways for us to say beautifully the things that we believe in, without embarrassment."
 This polite statement by Sister Corita, head of the art department at Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles, and a Catholic Peace Fellowship supporter, is an introduction to her exhibition of serigraphs which may appear outlandish for a nun's image.
 Bold statements and clichés lifted from advertising copy in newspapers, magazines and television, have a shock quality in color (which pulsates) and in their projection away from tired old methods of communications.
 Thirty-three of these poster-type non-figurative serigraphs are on view to the public through Sunday in the basement meeting room of the rectory of St. James Catholic Church, Broad St., Red Bank. It's a provocative show and I recommend it to those who think that culture of the past is mostly dead and out of touch with most people — especially the young.
 Sister Corita's art magnifies the "vital" words we've become familiar with: Stop, Handle with Care, Bread, Life, Vote, God, Hope, Wrong Way, Take It Easy, Let Yourself Go, Make Love Not War. Many of them are coupled with works by contemporary poets such as Simon Garfunkel's "Let the morning time drop all its petals on me. Life, I love you — all is groovy." Also, Lennon McCarthy's "And our friends are all aboard. Many more than live next door."
 Believe it or not, when given a chance this collection can jolt the conscience and pound the senses. It is a plug for the new flexibility and joy in religion, art and life stamped: "Today."
 "I have a theory," Sister Corita states and adds laughingly, "that doesn't work — it's that there is nothing that's ugly. If you try this out, you find you block out fewer things than if you go around looking for what is beautiful or great. I can't think of artists as negative or despairing — or else they wouldn't be doing it. If you notice and care about things there is tenderness." The nun sums up her theory: "In the midst of all the screaming for help, you have a hope that someone is going to answer. Peace on earth is a tired phrase for many people. We think we have made it fresh and new again."

 A sense of humor will help viewers to thoroughly enjoy this show. We spotted this commentary by writer William K. Zinser on Sister Corita's exhibition, which has traveled throughout the country, "Where are the satirists to prick our balloons and remind us that America was born with the gift of laughter? Art Buchwald, Herblock and Jules Peiffer have wielded the pin for years. They need help."
 Sister Corita, who received her MA in 1951 from the University of Southern California, seems to try harder.
 Our congratulations go to the St. James Catholic Youth Organization for sponsoring the exhibition. Our only suggestion is that it come out of the rectory meeting room and be placed, even for a short time, in a larger staging area. The assembled scraps of text have power to condense the size of a room.

30 works by members of the Old Mill Association, including Frank B. Johnson of Matawan, who is currently represented in his first New York one-man exhibition at the Shuster Gallery, Third Ave., through May 18. He has developed a mixed media technique utilizing oils, acrylics, sand, wire and plastic in well-balanced compositions.
 Represented in the Red Bank show through May 24 also are Amos Mumford, Caroline Levy, John Manship, Jacques Kupfermann, William Munro, Barbara Cocker, Joan Wark, Celine Pelly, Diane Fitzgerald, Leslie Beeman, Ruth Turner, Pat Lafferty, Henriette Palmer, Joyce Descloux, Ann Mitchell, Kenneth Daniels, Linda Paul, Helen Siegel, Betty Tribble and Gonzales Sebastian. Their individual styles present a varied and colorful show.

Collectors Choice

Staging of Monmouth Museum's newest exhibition "Collectors Choice" is under way and woe to those who still think the wildflower show is still there. A members' preview will be given by the museum in its gallery, 152 Broad St., Red Bank, Sunday, from 4 to 6 p.m. when the first glimpse at the jade collection of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Langston, Asian art objects of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maxwell, pewter collection of Mrs. Foster Tallman, and her husband's military collection; William Mackey's decoys and paintings from private collectors, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wideman, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Huber, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Wrightson, Mrs. Robert Maisel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eisner and Mr. and Mrs. David Marx. Included will be works by Miro, Andrew Wyeth and Dwight D. Eisenhower.
 The show will open to the public Tuesday at 11 a.m.

Art-Go-Round

An art happening reflecting current trends is being staged by the Northern Monmouth County Branch of the American Association of University Women Monday in the Presbyterian Church House, Shrewsbury. The public is invited to the demonstrations featuring more than a dozen artists and craftsmen from 7:30 to 9 p.m. At 9, a performance of a modern dance, a happening to modern music will be given. Betty Abel of Little Silver is chairman of the event.

Working artists will be Grace Gikesson, Little Silver, fused glass; Amos Mumford, Holmdel, acrylic polymer painting; Elberon artists Stanley Stamaty, cartooning; Clara Gee Stamaty, mixed media; Sheila Haskins Loebel, Red Bank, woodcuts; Regone Piarakos, Monmouth Beach, expressionistic oil painting; Yvonne Aubert, Red Bank, abstract watercolor; Inger Frils, Rumson, jewelry making; Russell Heston, Little Silver, industrial design; Virginia Hammond, Toms River, collage; Peg Boots, Elmcroft, sculpture, and Joan Harvey, dancer, who will perform a satire on the new ballet.

A unique addition to this demonstration program will be computer art. The machine will be manned by Alex Langa, West Long Branch, an electronics engineer at Electronic Associates, Inc.

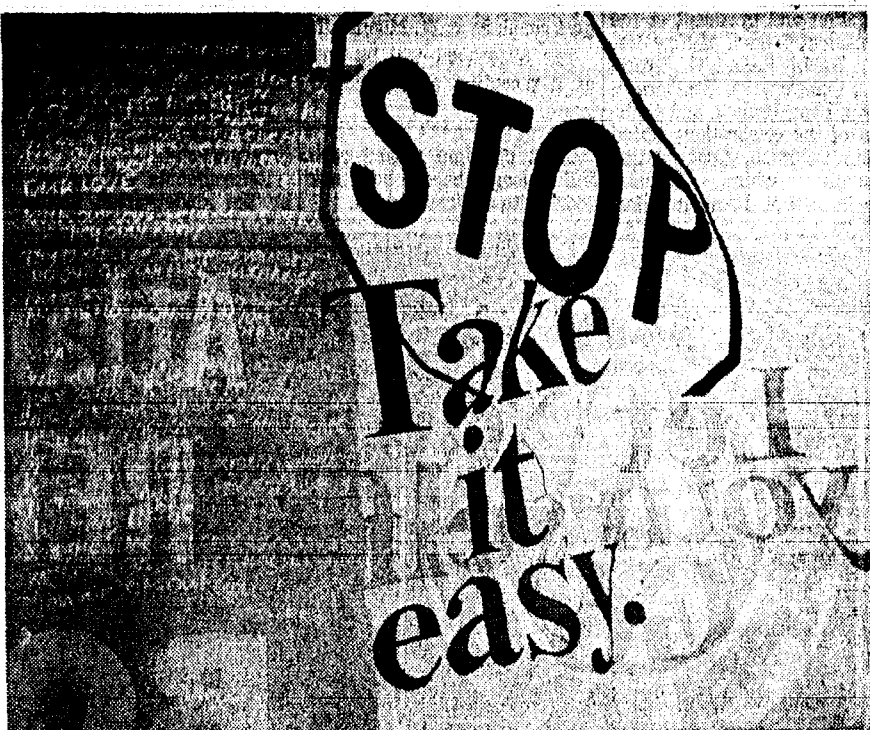

Four pianists who will be giving their first public performance will be Margo Montgomery, Pauline Schulz, Susanne Stallings and Sally VanWageren.

Temple Shaarl Emeth of Englishtown will hold its first art show Sunday, May 19, in the Gordon's Corner Firehouse, Tennent Road, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glazer, Monmouth Heights, who represent the Jentra World Art Company, will direct the show, which will have on view more than 100 items for sale, including paintings and reproductions.

Guggenhead Art

Modern art will get a good-humored spoofing when the Guggenhead Collection of (Awfully) Modern Art moves from its home base of Phoenix, Ariz., to the Monmouth Shopping Center Mall, Eatontown, May 14-May 18. The collection, created by Paul Anthony to satirize various aspects of way-out modern art, has received extensive reviews in newspapers, magazines and television in California.

West Coast artists were commissioned to paint these "misdemeanors" to the accompaniment of Anthony's titles, some of which are signed by Jackson Polluck, Robert Rauschen-burp, Ad Blindhardt, Vincent van Gone and Salvador Dilly, and include an animal category in which an unscrupulous taxidermist disguised as a chimp perpetrates a fraud. Before leaving its winter home in Phoenix this year, the Chamber of Commerce there awarded the collection a giant green ribbon inscribed "Worst in the West."

POSTER ART — A 24 by 36-inch serigraph by Sister Corita of the order of the Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, California, is a provocative study of the immediacy of the times. It is one of her 33 prints in vibrant colors on view through Sunday in the Rectory Meeting Room of St. James Catholic Church, Broad St., Red Bank.

Wasserman Prints At Guild Sunday

SHREWSBURY — Thirty-five silk screen prints by Burton Wasserman completed between 1963 and 1968 will open in exhibition Sunday here in the Guild of Creative Art, 620 Broad St. A meet-the-artist reception will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. and is open to the public.
 Dr. Wasserman, a professor of art at Glassboro State College, is currently represented with an invitational work in the New Jersey State Museum's "Art New Jersey 1968" exhibition at the Cultural Center in Trenton, and in the national print exhibition at the Hunterdon County Art Center in Clinton. His most recent one-man show was in March in the Gordon Craig Gallery, Miami, Fla. Wasserman's expressional vision seeks to be free of reference to anything located outside the forms within his work itself. It is in a language of pure non-representation form, with a color range restricted entirely to primary reds, yellows, blues, black, white and grays. All the shapes to be found in his prints are structured in strict but widely varied horizontal-vertical relationships.
 Original prints by Wasserman are in the permanent collection of the N.J. State Museum, Newark Public Library, Glassboro State College and the Philadelphia Public Library, in addition to private collections. The artist will give a print demonstration May 24 at 8:30 p.m. in the Guild.

Estuaries: Lifelines for Fish

By LONIA EFTHYVOULOU
(Second of four articles)
SANDY HOOK — Of vital interest to this immediate area is the Estuarine Research project conducted by the Sandy Hook Marine Laboratory.

which degradation of the estuarine environment might have on the abundance of all fish which to some extent depend on these estuaries. As a first phase, the laboratory started a survey to establish exact spawning areas over the Atlantic continental shelf.

The area covered by the survey stretches from Cape Cod, Mass., to Cape Lookout, N. C. Samples were collected from some 80 stations along predetermined lines. Last year further sampling operations were extended south of Cape Lookout to Palm Beach, Fla.

A "primary sort" involved separation of fish from plant life; in a "second sort" fishes were sorted out into species groups, and in a "final sort" a positive classification and identification of specimens was made.

John Clark, assistant laboratory director anticipates that by the end of 1968, "the laboratory will have preliminary results for most of the important coastal fish. These will show patterns of spawning and the distribution of young in the estuaries."

resulted in the emergence of patterns on such important species as mackerel, fluke, bluefish and menhaden. The laboratory is currently engaged in a bibliographic search of all published references on geographic areas and ecological conditions where juvenile fishes have been collected along the Atlantic coast and estuaries.

LAB TECHNICIAN — Carol Reinwald of Fair Haven is engaged in sorting marine samples at the Sandy Hook Marine Laboratory. Miss Reinwald, together with other laboratory technicians, are engaged in separating marine animal life from plant life and then in classifying eggs and larvae of fish into species. This operation is part of the laboratory's estuarine research program, designed to evaluate the relation between migratory salt water fish and Atlantic estuaries.

Jersey's Library Aid Standards To Boost Some Local Services

By ELINOR MULTER
TRENTON — New standards governing state library aid pose no threat to the Monmouth County Library but will mean more books, hours and librarians for some local libraries if they are to remain eligible for state aid in the future.

million were distributed under the act last year. Standards applicable to county libraries serving more than 100,000 population (Monmouth County Library serves a population of about 210,000) require 16 full-time paid employees, exclusive of janitorial help, a minimum of 125,000 volumes, an annual purchase of one volume for every 10 persons in the population, annual subscriptions to 200 periodicals and service at least five days per week which must include some evening and Saturday hours, for a minimum of 60 hours weekly.

Alexander Garelick, director of adult services for MCL reports that the library is already meeting the employment standards. The library's collection is approximately 50,000 volumes and the annual purchase rate of new volumes is approximately the 21,000 that would be required if the regulations were in effect, Mr. Garelick indicates.

however local libraries will be required to incorporate, to file incorporation with the state librarian and to employ certified librarians in professional positions. In addition, to be eligible for full aid, libraries must have at least one full time paid employee or the equivalent in part-time employees. An additional full time employee or equivalent must be added for each 4,000 population beyond the first 4,000.

exceeded the new requirements, the State Department of Education reports. The new regulations provide that "decisions on the use and expenditures of per capita state aid rest with the board of trustees of municipal, joint and association libraries and with the county library commission of the county libraries."

Action Urged in Englishtown Police Need Weighed

ENGLISHTOWN — This borough soon may have to choose between a low local tax rate and police protection for its residents. Councilman Harry Chomko touched off a round of audience demands at last night's council meeting when he gave an account of how his son and a friend were chased around the school yard by a car after a Boy Scout meeting.

tion would add 10 per cent to the tax bill. Mr. Chomko reported that Trooper Ralph H. Niles of the Manalapan State Barracks had suggested the formation of a Block Parents system. This is a program which cannot be initiated by a political group such as the council. It is usually sponsored by a PTA or service organization.

Under the system, a block parent is chosen after investigation and a red hand is placed in the window of that home as a sign to children that it is the place to go in case of trouble. Mr. Chomko quoted Trooper Niles to the effect that if a block parent called the barracks a trooper would be dispatched immediately. Borough Council said it is interested in hearing from any local organization which might be interested in sponsoring this program.

Frederick J. Rast
Rast Leaves Force, Made Investigator

FREEHOLD — An Atlantic Highlands patrolman for 1½ years, Frederick J. Rast yesterday was sworn in as a Monmouth County investigator. The appointment was confirmed by county Prosecutor Vincent J. Keuper and chief of county detectives John M. Gawler. Mr. Rast, 23, left the Atlantic Highlands police force April 26 and began his county duties yesterday after he was sworn in at the county clerk's office. An Army veteran, Mr. Rast was graduated from Atlantic Highlands High School and had attended the Institute of Practical Drafting. He had graduated from the six-week municipal police class in 1966. According to the 1968 county directory, Mr. Rast becomes the third investigator in the county detectives' office. There are also five detectives in the office.

Cleans Gun, Man Is Shot
HAZLET — John Fuller, 23, of 5 Carrie Drive was reported in fair condition this morning at Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, with a bullet lodged near his spine. Police reported Mr. Fuller was attempting to clean a .38 caliber revolver in the living room of his home shortly after 6 p.m. yesterday, when the gun went off accidentally. A bullet struck him in the right side near the stomach. Doctors at the hospital have decided against operating, saying the bullet will do no damage where it is, but surgery could be dangerous because of the proximity to the spine.

Limousine Route Confab Is Postponed
NEWARK — A hearing on the application of the Asbury Red Bank Limousine Service, to operate between the Shore and Newark Airport, was adjourned yesterday because of a technicality raised in a similar case the day before. The permission is being sought from the state board of Public Utility Commissioners. The limousine service, now in operation, was told by the PUC it must make application as an autobus line and obtain municipal consents from the towns in which it operates. In a case being heard Tuesday, a motion for dismissal was made on the grounds that the limousine service had not obtained a consent from the City of Newark. The service, which wants to operate between another part of the state and the airport, replied that it had a permit from the Port of New York Authority, owner of the airport. Since the same situation exists with the Asbury-Red Bank application, the case was adjourned until the PUC rules on the motion in the other case.

Planners Okay Two School Sites

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — The Planning Board last night gave qualified site plan approval to plans for the Cambridge Park Elementary School and the Matawan Avenue Intermediate School, as proposed by the Regional School Board. On recommendation of board member William J. Schuchart, township manager, the board approved the Cambridge plan subject to submission of a traffic circulation plan showing access in addition to that already shown on the site plan. The board questioned whether the one access route in-dedicated off Crest Way is adequate to handle influx of traffic to the school. 2nd Route Eyed Members suggested another route off Clover Way, behind the school as a possible second route. The resolution for approval also requested that the entire school board tract be submitted showing existing and proposed building, parking areas, recreational areas and access drives, rather than just the buildings as now submitted. Another stipulation called for landscaping and fencing to be

Report Amazes Middletown Officials Charter 'Endorsement' Denied

By BOB BRAMLEY
MIDDLETOWN — Mayor Ernest G. Kavalek and three township committeemen expressed amazement and dismay at a report yesterday that the Township Committee has endorsed a recommendation by its five-man advisory committee for a charter study commission and a slate of commissioners to appear on the November ballot.

Committeeman Edward P. Makely, who said he considers the contemplated administrative code "his baby," reacted angrily when told of the news report. "I had hoped nothing like this would happen," he told The Daily Register. "This thing is too important to the township to play games with," he added.

'TOO IMPORTANT'
Mr. Makely said the Township Committee received a report from the advisory committee Monday, "but informally, not as a body." The committee also has a preliminary draft of Dr. Miller's proposed administrative code, he added, "and we feel we have policy decisions made."

'NOT OPPOSED'
The mayor said, "I am not and never have been opposed to a charter commission being placed on the ballot. It's up to the voters to decide." Committeeman Robert P. McCutcheon called the report "way premature."

"I have not yet received a report from the advisory committee," Mayor Kavalek declared. "I am certainly not in a position to form an opinion on it. . . It's very early to say we have taken a stand on it," he added. "The whole committee should sit down with it and come up with a decision."

The entire story," he declared, speaking of yesterday's news report, "is not so." One thing preventing the Township Committee from taking action to endorse or reject the advisory committee's recommendation or the administrative code, Mr. Makely said, is Committeeman Harold H. Foulkes' absence. Mr. Foulkes is in New Orleans and will not return until Saturday. The Township Committee, Mr. Makely went on, will discuss the draft of the administration code in detail Tuesday and will try to determine a course of action. He will release the draft to the public Wednesday, he promised.

Keansburg Marina Is Topic of Dispute

KEANSBURG — Discussion about the former borough owned marina, now in litigation on alleged expenditures, highlighted the meeting of the Borough Council last night.

Thomas Kennedy, former Planning Board chairman, and a party proclaimed candidate in a proposed recall election, termed the legal interpretation of Borough Attorney Howard A. Roberts on the title changing between the borough and the present owners "a form of blackmail."

Mr. Kennedy also complained about the amount of rust that has appeared in the water system. Cause of Rust
Plumbing Inspector James W. Davis explained that because work has been going on in the borough on installation of new water lines, the contractor has had to shut down certain areas from time to time, and when service is again started, the recharging of these lines has brought about the rust situation.

Highlands Teacher Cleared of Charge
HIGHLANDS — James White, 5th grade teacher in Highlands Elementary School, was completely exonerated last night in a statement read into the Board of Education by Stewart D. King, board president.

At the April 3 public meeting, Mrs. Florence Adair, a board member, accused Mr. White of absenting himself from his class during school hours and declared she saw him down town, Mr. King said. An error in identification caused Mrs. Adair to mistake Clarence Burdge of 90 Highland Ave., who was down town at the time, for Mr. White, his nephew. The two men look somewhat alike, although Mr. Burdge is perhaps 25 years older, the board president said. "This error can only mean a deliberate attempt to defame Mr. White, or a case of bad eyesight," Mr. King concluded. The important thing, he added, is to have the matter straightened out on Mr. White's record.

Mrs. Isabelle McDermott, a member of the LSMFT organization, complained to council about the incident that involved the stabbing of an off-duty police officer. She said the beachfront should be patrolled more by borough officers. Mayor Leonard S. Bellezza referred her to statements made by him in area newspapers last week, and reiterated that the force will be enlarged by three additional patrolmen and that regular patrolmen will be paid overtime wages to patrol the beach area on foot weekends starting this week. Mayor Bellezza announced the Local Public Agency (LPA) will meet the third Monday of each month at the former railroad station instead of the Kennedy Community Center.

Milk Price Hike Okayed
TRENTON (AP) — The State Office of Milk Industry yesterday authorized half-cent-a-quart increase in the minimum price of milk in North Jersey and a penny-a-quart in South Jersey. This works out to 2 cents for gallons in North Jersey and four cents in South Jersey. The increases were prompted by increases in producer prices authorized by the federal government. The increases in the federal and state prices took effect Wednesday.

Walsky Wins Medal Of Swedish Academy

NEW SHREWSBURY — Dr. Lee Walsky, 41 Wellington Drive, headmaster and owner of Hill-View Academy, Morganville, has been awarded the Great Medal of St. Olaf's Academy, Malmo, Sweden, for his work in setting up a course of study for handicapped children there.

The award includes an honorary lifetime membership in the academy. Dr. Walsky describes the medal as being "very large, in yellow and black, with two ribbons for cords, and designed for formal wear."

The program he devised for the Swedish children includes job training for those over 14 years of age. It also encompasses useful subject matter for study and a progression of skills for meaningful community living.

Dr. Walsky points out that his curriculum is being used by more than 200 handicapped children throughout Sweden. The citations came from Dr. John Trollnas, rector magnificus of St. Olaf's.

A former coordinator of special education and head football coach at Red Bank High School, Dr. Walsky received his degree in special education from Newark State College.

He found out about the need from an exchange student at Jersey City State College, and promptly went to work devising the course of education.

Dr. Walsky and his wife, Babette, are parents of two sons, Michael, 13, and Robert, 10.

HOW IT'S DONE — Red Bank's Monmouth Workshop was host to students of the Rutgers University Workshop Administration Training Program. ## Set Design Workshop On Colonial Costumes

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP — A colonial costume design workshop will be held May 6 and 20, and June 3 at the Barkalow School, Freehold Township from 8-10 p.m.

The workshop sessions, conducted by members of the Colonial Week 275 Costume Committee, will provide detailed instruction on preparing costumes for the week-long celebration, June 28-July 4.

Costume patterns for dresses and colonial men's attire will be available. Sewing machines will be provided for those desiring to work on their costumes during the workshop sessions.

"I hope all members of our community take part in the events scheduled for Colonial Week," said Mrs. William Sterling, chairman of the costumes committee. "We live in an area that is experiencing tremendous growth in population and industry. Yet, we also live in an area that holds more than two centuries of colorful and exciting heritage I would not like to see us forget."

"For that reason, I hope all our residents — new and old — get into the spirit of Colonial Week 275. Wearing a costume is part of that spirit."

Issue Handbook On Medicare

ASBURY PARK — During the coming weeks, older people in Monmouth and Ocean Counties will be receiving a new copy of "Your Medicare Handbook," a new up-to-date guidebook on their Medicare benefits, how the program works, and how payments are made.

James J. Calvano, social security district manager, said the new Handbook highlights the changes enacted in the 1967 social security amendments, improving protection and simplifying Medicare procedures. It has also been made easier for older people to read and understand.

RED BANK—Brigadier John Fahey of the Salvation Army will receive the Red Bank Kiwanis Club's Outstanding Citizen Award at a dinner May 11 in the Molly Pitcher Motor Inn. Arrangements for the award, made annually in recognition of contributions to the civic good, are under the direction of John J. Garruto and Harry Genovese.

The brigadier, who has been stationed here the past six years, is a native of England and received his early education there.

During his teen years he visited the United States, and liked it so well he decided to stay. It was while crossing the ocean that he was introduced to the Salvation Army and its work.

An Army officer for 41 years, Brigadier Fahey graduated from its officers' school in 1927, served a year on the school staff, and was then named to guide the opening of a new post at Rensselaer, N.Y.

Subsequent assignments took him to Saratoga Springs, N.Y.; national headquarters in New York where he helped organize Boy Scout troops; and Mount Vernon, N.Y., Newark and Elizabeth where he was sent with his wife, Capt. Mildred Parker Fahey, after their marriage in 1934.

Next he was given administrative assignments in Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, and served 10 years doing rehabilitation work in Men's Social Service Centers in Philadelphia and Staten Island.

Cadette Trip Plans Told At Meeting

FARMINGDALE—More than 50 girls and adults braved rain and wind to attend the instruction meeting for the Monmouth Council of Girl Scouts Piper-sponsored Williamsburg Cadette trip of May 10-12.

Forty-two Cadettes from throughout the area served by Monmouth Council, and three adult chaperones, including the Piper are scheduled to start from the Monmouth Shopping Center at 5 p.m. Friday, May 10, arriving at York House, Williamsburg, late that evening. A full day of sightseeing is scheduled for Saturday, May 11, and the group is to return Sunday evening, May 12.

During the instruction meeting, slides of Williamsburg were shown by Mrs. G. C. Grubb, Little Silver neighborhood chairman. Mrs. William Windrow, Monmouth Council field advisor, gave background information.

Mrs. Van B. Fox, the Piper, who has visited Williamsburg on several occasions, discussed the trip with the girls. Room partners were announced. A memo was distributed covering the trip schedule and suggestions on what to bring.

The May 11 schedule starts at 8 a.m. with breakfast, followed by a movie on "The Story of a Patriot," an all-day tour of Williamsburg accompanied by guides reserved for the Cadette group. A free period is scheduled for Saturday evening.

Sunday, May 12, there will be attendance at church, luncheon in Williamsburg, with the return trip to start at 1 p.m., arriving at Monmouth Shopping Center at 9 p.m.

To accompany the girls, in addition to the Piper, are Mrs. Grubb and Mrs. Windrow.

Emergency Unit Gave Aid to 188

KEYPORT — Mrs. John Kirby, treasurer for the Salvation Army Emergency Unit, here, announced that the unit aided 188 persons during the past Thanksgiving and Christmas assistances, and that some transients were provided with lodging, meals and cash. Payments also were made for medical and optical attention.

The Salvation Army has started its annual spring drive and the local unit committee has asked that contributions be returned as soon as possible.

ALERT AND ACTIVE

DARWIN, Australia (AP) — A customs officer dived 40 feet from the Norwegian freighter Hock Lee into Darwin Harbor when he spotted a Chinese seaman toss a small package overboard. The customs man covered the package, later found to contain opium.

The unit services Keyport, Union Beach, Hazlet, Holmdel and part of Cliffwood Beach. Mrs. Walter Cohen, welfare secretary, and George Search, chairman, reported that families were aided with food, clothing, shoes, furniture, payment of rent and fuel, and

Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"You can fool some of the people some of the time," Abraham Lincoln once said, meaning that this was nothing to be proud of. If Lincoln had been a bridge player he would have classed occasional success in the fooling business as a very sizable accomplishment.

East won the first trick with the jack of hearts and continued with the ace and king. South ruffed the third heart with the queen of spades, and West casually discarded the deuce of clubs.

As you see, West was a bridge player, not a President. He knew that fooling some of the people some of the time was pretty good for a bridge player.

Now, forget about the East-West cards and look at the hand from South's point of view. South can get to dummy exactly once, with the ace of clubs. He can take either the spade finesse or the diamond finesse, but not both; and he must win the finesse of his choice if he hopes to make the contract.

No Problem

South has no problem if West overruffs the third round of hearts with the king of spades. Since there is no longer a spade finesse South must try the diamond finesse. This succeeds, and South makes his contract.

South does have a problem when West fails to overruff. Since South does not know which opponent has the king of spades, South may go to dummy with the ace of clubs and lead the nine of spades for a finesse. If so, he will go down since he will lose the spade finesse and will later lose a diamond as well.

Mind you, South may try the diamond finesse instead. West cannot be sure of fooling South all of the time. But even an occasional success is better than no success at all.

Incidentally, don't write that letter about leading a low spade from dummy for the finesse. West would refuse to take his king, and South would be no better off.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S—K 3 2 H—8 3 D—8 5 3 C—J 9 8 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass or bid two spades. This is a borderline decision. Raise with a good partner; pass with an unreliable partner.

Boys, 11, Admit Breaking Panes

RUMSON — Two 11-year-old Rumson boys have admitted breaking an estimated $1,000 worth of thermal glass windows at a house under construction on Wardell Ave., police said.

The boys, both Forrestdale School students, have been released to their parents to await action of the juvenile officer.

Some 59 panes of thermal glass window in the house, including two 4-by-5 foot picture windows, were broken when empty beer bottles, stones and pieces of brick were hurled through them Monday night.

The boys were apprehended Tuesday afternoon by Patrolman John Keany who spotted them in the area of the house, police reported.

The house, on the circle at the end of Wardell Ave., is being constructed by Bob Lee, West River Road.

The Outdoor World

By WILLIAM F. SANDFORD

If there were — as a friend of mine jestingly suggests there is — a big mist net strung across the entire migration path of our spring birds somewhere to the south of us, the effect would be just about what we're now experiencing.

Mist nets are the flimsy nylon webs in which bird banders trap their subjects. Banders have told me that only about one bird in 500 to 1,000 is able to force its way through the mesh, without becoming entangled, and continue on its way.

That's about the proportion of a normal migration influx — a small fraction of one per cent — we have had in northern Monmouth County throughout the month of April.

The mist net idea is ridiculous, but so is the current local bird situation.

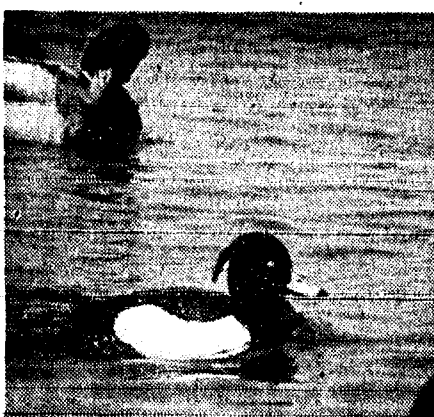

IF FIELD BIRDING were entirely predictable it would still be interesting. It's the same way astronomy is interesting. It's the variation that adds excitement. But when the variation is so completely negative, frustration sets in. Some local birders are talking of switching to botany or entomology, or even golf.

At this point, their joking scarcely masks their anxiety.

If variety is the spice, predictability is the comfort factor in all native study. In the face of increasing threats to nature's balance there is reassurance in the continued manifestation of ageless cycles—the opening foliage and blossoming of woods plants, the emergence of the frogs and the turtles from winter hibernation—and the return of the birds from the south.

Sandford

OFF COURSE, OR TRUANT? — Tufted duck, similar to native ring-necked but sporting a conspicuous head plume, is a European species seldom seen in U.S. except in captivity. When one is found in the wild here, as was this one now on a Point Pleasant Beach pond, question arises as to whether it got here under its own power or is just a fugitive from a collection. (Register Staff Photo)

A birder once told me of a nightmare he'd had. It was the last week in May and the turtles from winter hibernation—first of the hordes of April and May migrants.

We have just concluded the first half of that period with the nearest thing to a realization of that nightmare in the memory of the oldest of local bird-watchers.

In the April 4 edition of this column we listed 20 species that could be expected before the end of April, with median dates for each. We're still looking for 14 of them.

Lions Hear Veteran Of Three Wars

RED BANK — Lt. Col. Harry B. Williams of Ft. Monmouth, a veteran of World War II and the Korean War, and who recently returned from Vietnam, spoke to the local Lions Club at the Molly Pitcher Motor Inn.

Col. Williams, who was in charge of four post exchanges in Saigon and vicinity, told of his experiences and views on Vietnam, and showed color slides. He will be in charge of the forthcoming Armed Forces Day observance at the fort.

He was introduced by William R. Blair Jr., who was in charge of arrangements.

Honored for their many years of service to the club with Old Monarch service awards, were Dr. F. Melvin Edwards, and Edward H. Conway, Sr.

25 years; Daniel W. Dorn, 20 years; and Dr. Allen B. Kendall, 10 years.

Walter T. Anderson of Little Silver, vice president of Anderson Bros., Inc. of Red Bank, was welcomed into the club. Initiation ceremonies were conducted by Eugene Magee Jr.

Harold B. Millward, chairman of the nominating committee for 1968-69 officers, will report at the next meeting.

Two of the other six species I've seen just one of, and two others I've tallied only twice.

In another paragraph were listed 14 species due before April 15. Six of them are still missing from my list, including the purple martin described here on April 4 as "due any day now."

All that despite a season remarkably advanced in all other phases. Nothing on the weather maps indicates any meteorological dam blocking the avian tide to the south of us. It's a mystery for which few explanations are being offered, and we can only hope that those voicing fears of "a tremendous winter die-off" prove to be overly pessimistic.

WE'LL KNOW more soon. During the next two weeks migration should reach its climax. If it isn't markedly different from the month just ended, we'll have to put this down as the year the birds failed to come back to Monmouth County.

Meanwhile, only a bird buff can appreciate the feeling that comes with an hour's woodland walk on April 30, when we expect to find the air full of the voices of a host of recent arrivals — a half-dozen warbler species, two or three of the vireos, catbird, wood thrush, possibly Baltimore oriole — and to hear only the red-wing, cardinal, song sparrow and chickadee, the same sounds we've been hearing since February.

ONE OF THE MOST confusing factors in the study of field ornithology is the escaped exotic. And it's getting worse. With more and more birds being imported for everything from drawing room cage specimens to park pond stockings, more are bound to escape. They can pose insoluble problems for field students.

An example of such a problem is the tufted duck now apparently enjoying life on Old Sam's Pond in Point Pleasant Beach. There's no way of knowing whether this European native made a navigational error and returned from its Iceland breeding grounds along the wrong side of the Atlantic, or merely escaped from somebody's farm pond.

Some ornithological group should move for legislation which would make it mandatory that all imported birds be conspicuously banded so that, when they escape, there can be no doubt as to their origin. Until there is such a law, it's going to be impossible, in many cases, to establish authentic examples of natural, accidental occurrences of species far off their normal ranges.

Ann Landers

A Message for All of Us

Dear Ann Landers: I just finished the column in which you staunchly defend the medical profession. The reader cites a number of instances involving members of her own family where doctors goofed and you very politely tell her that no human is infallible and that, unfortunately, when a physician makes a mistake somebody becomes terribly ill or dies. This is advice?

I am enclosing in my letter to you a clipping from the London Sunday Times. It reports one of the most interesting errors of all time. A surgeon in Birmingham, England, amputated the wrong leg. I agree with you, Ann, that no human is infallible and I can understand certain kinds of "mistakes" but THIS is ridiculous. Have you the courage and decency to print my letter? I shall watch the paper with great interest. — SAN JOSE READER

Dear Jose: Thank you for your letter and for the clipping. Outrageous mistake? Unquestionably so. But the comments of the 75-year-old widow who is now legless were far more deserving of notice than the doctor's mistake. She said, "Whoever it was who made the operating error probably saved hundreds of lives before he got to me. I happened to be the unlucky one. But, as I told them at the time, we all make mistakes and I am not going to have one word said against him."

What a sterling example of true charity! That this woman was able not only to forgive, but to defend the man demonstrates mercy in its best sense.

Thank you for sending the clipping. It contained something of value for all of us.

Dear Ann Landers: Do you have anything in your files on blasted horn blasters? I refer to adle-brained mothers who have the car pool for the week and rush around picking up the kids in the neighborhood.

They start to toot the horn the minute they turn the corner even though the kid lives at the end of the block. Am I a grouchy old bag because I resent being honked out of bed at 7:30 a.m.? What about the people that are ill, or work night shifts and don't need to get up until noon? Aren't they entitled to their rest?

The whole thing boils down to decent manners. How can parents expect their children to be polite when THEY go around behaving in such a rude, inconsiderate fashion? And please don't say these folks should be arrested for disturbing the peace. Why should it be up to the law to teach manners? I feel that YOU, Ann Landers, are the gal who can do it. Please try. — HONK WEARY closing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

When is a poster like a banana peel?

(When the poster is nailed, tacked or stapled to a utility pole, causing a lineman to slip.)

Linemen must climb utility poles in the best and worst of weather—in the brightest of days and the darkest of nights. Their work is vital to the community; their job is already dangerous. Nails, tacks and staples jutting from the poles are an unnecessary hazard.

Pasting bills on utility poles in New Jersey is illegal (Section 27:5-1 of the Revised Statutes).

Please, post no bills.

Easy-Going Chef Tastes As She Cooks

By MARGOT SMITH

FAIR HAVEN — "You have to taste as you cook." That's the kitchen philosophy of Wilma Aaron, 25 South Woodland Drive, who loves to cook but has reservations about writing down how she does things.

"These recipes leave a lot to the judgment of the maker, they are flexible."

Mrs. Aaron is rather flexible and easy-going herself. Her attractively decorated home came with a greenhouse attached, so she and husband, Robert, have taken up growing things, like orchids. She is incoming treasurer of the Fair Haven Garden Club, vice president of the Council of Jewish Women, and types out Braille for the blind as a volunteer project.

Still, there is time for a lot of cooking and entertaining. The shrimp toast squares she is teaching us to make frequently appear as snacks ("We eat them like peanuts") or hors d'oeuvres. She learned the recipe when taking a Chinese cooking course in Morristown.

Wilma's chicken or turkey leftover dish, certainly easy, came "from Mother." The veal casserole is her own invention.

CHINESE SHRIMP TOAST

- 1 1/2 pounds raw shrimp
  - 1 can water chestnuts, finely chopped
  - 1 bunch scallions, finely chopped
  - Salt, pepper and Accent, to taste
  - 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
  - 3 eggs
  - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- If shrimp is frozen, defrost and drain thoroughly. If fresh, shell, clean, wash and drain.

In wooden bowl, chop shrimp thoroughly. Add other ingredients and chop again until mixture is a thick paste.

Trim crusts from about 18 slices of good quality bread. (Arnold's thin-sliced). Spread the mixture evenly on bread and allow to chill at least a half hour.

In heavy fry pan, heat oil (about a half inch deep) to very hot. With a knife that has been dipped in cold water, cut bread slices into quarters, triangles or strips. Place in hot oil, shrimp side down. Fry for a minute or so on one side, then turn and finish browning. Drain on paper towels. Serve with Saucy Susan duck sauce or hot mustard, for dipping.

Ideal snack, hors d'oeuvres or luncheon accompaniment.

The fried shrimp toast may be frozen and reheated for later use. Mrs. Aaron spreads the cooked pieces on a flat pan, freezes, and then repacks for storage in a more compact container. Reheat quickly in very hot oven.

CHICKEN A LA ROSE

- Leftover chicken or turkey
  - 4 medium onions, sliced
  - 2 green peppers, cut in thick strips
  - salt and pepper to taste
  - juice of half a lemon
  - 1 tablespoon sugar
  - Accent
  - 1 can mushrooms
  - 1 large can Hunt's tomato sauce
- Saute onions and pepper in oil until soft. Add tomato sauce and half a can of water (or juice for mushrooms). Add drained mushrooms.

Cook slowly half an hour. Add cut up chicken or turkey and heat through. Serve on rice that has been cooked in beef or chicken bouillon instead of in water.

WILMA'S VEAL SCALOP

- 10-12 pieces veal scalopini
  - garlic to taste
  - 2 packages French's instant brown gravy mix
  - 1 cup water
  - 1 cup Marsala wine
- Saute veal with garlic in hot oil. Remove veal from pan, and drain oil, leaving drippings. Add gravy mix, water and wine and simmer until well combined.

Place veal in casserole and pour sauce over. Bake in medium oven for half an hour. Serve with rice.

Convalescent Mother of the Bride Attends Wedding in Hospital Chapel

LONG BRANCH — The bride's mother was a patient at Monmouth Medical Center. The bridegroom is scheduled to leave for Vietnam momentarily. There was just one place to hold the ceremony to meet both contingencies.

made all the arrangements, the center went all-out to make the wedding an exceptionally memorable one. Charles Joynes of the housekeeping department sang "O Promise Me," and when the service, performed by the Rev. William Riley of St. John's Methodist Church, Keyport, was over, the wedding party went to the Borden Conference Room for a reception. "It was wonderful therapy for me," Mrs. Stellingwerf said.

Miss Loretta Stellingwerf of Keyport and Cpl. Bernard Bechtel, stationed with the Signal Corps at Ft. Monmouth, were married Saturday in the apple-blossom-bedecked Borden Memorial Chapel of the hospital.

With her physician's approval, the bride's mother, Mrs. Fred Stellingwerf, a surgical patient, was wheeled down from her room to the first-floor sanctuary so that she and her husband could see their daughter take her marriage vows.

Miss Ruth Sherman, Fanwood, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and Cpl. Bechtel's best man was an Army buddy, Pvt. Donald Burgess of Los Angeles.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Earl Kunes, MMC director of volunteer services, who hand-picked the apple blossoms and

Auxiliary Honors Its 'First Lady'

COLTS NECK—Mrs. Martha Decher was honored as the First Lady of the Colts Neck Fire Company Auxiliary at the organization's 30th anniversary dinner-dance here in Colts Neck Inn.

The white-haired charter member, whose husband, Conrad, helped organize the company and served as its first chief, was presented a pin and a plaque by auxiliary members.

In the days when fire calls came directly to the chief's home, Mrs. Decher summoned the firemen by ringing the old bell which now stands in front of the new firehouse. The company was then housed in a former blacksmith shop next door to the Decher home on Rt. 537.

In 1930 the company installed a fire siren in the chief's house. After his death in 1933, "Mom" Decher continued to receive fire calls at home and to blow the siren while her three young sons opened the doors of the firehouse, often starting the trucks for the firemen.

The Decher boys, Kenneth, George and Franklin, later became members of the company. George, an ex-chief, is still active. The other two, no longer local residents, are honorary members.

A son-in-law, Harold Gunther, also is a former chief, and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Gunther, was first president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Decher helped to organize the auxiliary in 1938 and is its oldest member. She became president in 1951 and served for two years. She has 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. A grandson, George W. Decher Jr., is serving in Vietnam with the Marine Corps.

Wave Ends Falcon Track Skein

Long Branch High School rates as the hottest team on the cinder paths after yesterday's 72-54 victory over Monmouth Regional on foreign soil.

The Branchers lost their opening meet to Christian Brothers Academy by a slim two points on a sloppy track. Since that loss, Coach Merrick Tomaine's club has racked up five wins in a row. The Wave knocked off the previously undefeated Falcons, who now have the same 5-1 record as Long Branch, topping the conference at 4-0.

Bob Bazley, one of Tomaine's stars, posted his fifth straight victory on the mile yesterday in taking it easily. Bazley will defend his title in the Newark Board of Education Meet Saturday.

Joe Jones, another consistent point-getter for the Wave, gave another strong performance in scoring a double win.

Bankers Bop Lions

In other meets, Rumson-Fair Haven nipped Metuchen, 64-62; Red Bank was a 73-53 winner over Middletown; Point Pleasant Beach smothered Henry Hudson Regional, 97-29; Point Boro downed Shore Regional, and Howell swamped Manasquan, 91 1/2-34 1/2.

Monmouth Coach Jay Demerest watched his boys put two new school records into the books. Charley Johnson ran the 100 in :10.3 to erase the old :10.4 mark. Glenn Clark dashed the 220 in :22.7 clocking to also erase a standard.

Johnson added the slim two-point victory in a Gar-180-yard high hurdles and Clark won the State Conference meet. Rumson won first places in Jones. Long Branch, was a only three of the eight running double winner, taking firsts in events, with Butch Carson taking both the high and long jumps. He made a triple by grabbing the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Battle of Bulldogs

Rumson and Metuchen went first in the long jump. Greg Hill down to the wire before the leg posted the other success in Purple Bulldogs pulled out the the 180-yard low hurdles.

Rumson trailed by a point when they got back into the competition with a sweep in the high jump, with Guy Halton the winner. Halton also had a second in the javelin.

It was the discus that paid off. Rumson needed a second place for the two point margin, and that is just what it got when George Conley was second to Allan Robinson of Metuchen's Bulldogs.

Rumson is 4-1 in the GSC while Metuchen is 2-1.

Field Events Count

Red Bank and Middletown ran neck and neck until the field events that paid off for the Buccos.

After each team scored four first places in the running events, Red Bank marked up four firsts of the six field events listed.

Middletown's Dave Siegfried won both the shot and discus for the Lions' field victories.

Buc Bob Rudlow won the high jump, Don Bartell, pole vault, Al Griffin the javelin, and Mike Aruck the long jump.

The Chuck Wagon Weekly Menu: This 'n' Data

By CHUCK TRIBLEHORN
Register Sports Editor

Cooking up our weekly serving of Chuck Wagon stew, digestible food for sports thought.

Starting out with a cocktail—Manhattan is singing the praises of Ed Mulvihill, former Christian Brothers Academy trackman. Mulvihill scored 14 points in a dual meet against Fairleigh Dickinson. The senior biology major was runner-up in both the high jump and pole vault in the Queens-Iona Relays. Mulvihill has been accepted at Long Island University for graduate work in marine biology. . . . And don't forget the Cherry (Hill). Just six horses went postward in the third race at Garden State Park last Saturday, but two of them were entered by Monmouth Park personalities. Cold, the winner, races for the partnership of Mrs. Philip Iselin and Mrs. Jimmy Jones, the wives of the Monmouth Park president and director of racing, respectively. Cabin Light, who finished third, races for Joseph M. Roebing, a Monmouth Park director.

BRING ON THE APPETIZERS

Bill Foster, Rutgers University basketball coach, elated that Chris Hill, Christian Brothers Academy's stellar cager, was headed for the banks, said: "Not only is he (Hill) an exceptional basketball player, but one of the finest young men I have met. He is a complete basketball player, a scorer when he has to be, but more important, capable of performing all the necessary skills to contribute to a winning team. He is unselfish, a team player to the 'enth' degree, and we are proud that he has decided to pursue his athletic and academic careers at Rutgers. I'm sure that his brilliant efforts on the court and his exemplary character are reflections on the superb coaching Chris has received from Winnie Cox. . . . Dom Santelle, Riverview Ave., Little Silver, reports his backyard tennis courts are open to his friends and guests for the 16th consecutive year—but something new has been added. Lief Nordlie, professional at the Shore Racquet Club, Wayside, will be on hand to give lessons to the netters. Of course, Dom also is planning his annual tournament in July. Hours? "The courts are open all the time," says Santelle.

ALPHABET SOUP

Jack Rafter, Red Bank Catholic athletic director and pioneer in girls' interscholastic athletics in New Jersey, will direct a track and field and basketball session at Camp Poconos, Stroudsburg, Pa., June 14-16. The all-girls (12-18) summer camp is operated by Bob Kennedy, former Trenton area coach. . . . Frank C. Hawk III, Atlantic Highlands racing boat pilot, has received an international racing driver's license from the American Power Boat Association. Hawk, racing under the colors of the Winding River Boating Association, will campaign in the 145 Class, as he starts his third year in APBA racing. . . . Mrs. Raymond McLaughlin and Mrs. Betty De La Cruz are at the coaching reins, and Gene Bibaud and James Thompson are advisers, as Mater Dei High School begins its fourth season of girls' track. About 150 girls turned out for the Seraphettes initial workouts. Interscholastic meets are being arranged. . . . Steven Howard, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Howard, 163 Bingham Ave., Rumson, and a student at Forrestdale School, will attend the Ted Williams Camp, Lakeville, Mass., Aug. 11-31.

CAMPUS CASEROLE

Second baseman Vern Paulson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon O. Paulson, 11 Park Ave., Rumson, is a second-year starter on the Gettysburg College varsity baseball team. The senior psychology major is a former three-sport captain at Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School. . . . Coxswain Charles Scudder of Navesink, Ross Barnes of Highlands and Edward Scudder of Locust are members of Princeton University's freshman 150-pound crew. . . . Ty Lewis, Red Bank High School's hard-hitting catcher of a year ago, is no longer a catcher—but he's still hitting hard. Lewis, a 5-11, 195-pounder, rapped out five hits in as many trips to the plate (two runs batted in) in William Penn College's 12-0 romp over Iowa Wesleyan. Overall, the Statesmen from Oskaloosa, Iowa, garnered 13 safeties in taking their third victory in four starts. . . . One of the top rifle shots in the East, Dick Fields, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Fields of Lincroft, has earned his third varsity rifle letter at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa. The junior sharpshooter this spring fired a 283 to place first in a National Rifle Association sectional invitational shoot at Annapolis, Md., with 16 schools competing. Fields also scored 282 in a match with Clarion State College (Pa.) to set a record high standard in the Western Pennsylvania Rifle League.

SEVERAL SIDE O' DERS

Middletown's Ed Farver, captain of the Bucknell University lacrosse team, continues to garner the goals. Farver found the nets three times in the Bisons' 9-4 victory over Lafayette to bring his season total to 20 goals in seven games, tying him for team honors. . . . Sophomore third baseman Dennis Simpson of Eatontown and junior outfielder Elliot Lovi of Lakewood are members of the Montclair State baseball team, the 20th guided by Coach Bill Doguardi, a summer resident of Elberon. . . . Soph Bob Moller of Point Pleasant is a member of the Indians' tennis team, while senior Jack Landfried (Belmar), sophomore Kirk Ansbach (Highlands) and freshmen Scott Merritt (New Monmouth) and Dave Flagg (Bricktown) are listed on the school's spring track roster. . . . Neptune's Gordon Orgler trained all winter for track, and his conditioning is paying dividends for himself and the Wagner College spring squad. Orgler has won every race he has entered and has pushed once. He competes in the 220 and 440-yard dashes. . . . On a recent six for 12 batting streak, Wagner catcher Ed Liebfried of Point Pleasant lifted his batting average to .360 in the Seahawks' first 11 games.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Suddenly, the flame was back. Sudden Sam McDowell's fastball and his pace against the Oakland Athletics convinced some people he was going to a fire. McDowell struck out 16 batters—two short of the nine-inning major league record—and pitched Cleveland to a 3-1 victory over the Athletics Wednesday night. And he did it with only 119 pitches in two hours, 11 minutes—near record time for McDowell, who usually throws a lot more pitches and takes a lot longer doing it. "The Eighth Wonder," "Gentlemen," he marveled afterward, "you have just seen the eighth wonder of the world. Only 119 pitches in two hours, 11 minutes. I never thought I'd see the day." In other American League action last night, Baltimore belted New York 6-1, Tommy John struck out 12 and pitched Chicago to a 4-1 victory over Washington, California downed Boston 5-3, and Detroit shaded Minnesota 3-2. In the National League, Philadelphia whacked New York 7-2 in 11 innings, Pittsburgh shut out Chicago 4-0, St. Louis took Houston 3-1 in 12 innings, Cincinnati nipped San Francisco 6-5 and Atlanta took Los Angeles 7-3. McDowell, who has had arm trouble in the past, had no trouble with the Athletics, who managed just three hits. He retired 20 men in a row after yielding an unearned run in the third inning. "I had more confidence tonight than I've ever had in my life," said McDowell. "I didn't even worry when I went to 3 and 2 on a couple of batters. I could throw curves and sliders where I wanted." Reggie Jackson, one of the league's top 10 hitters, struck out three times against Mc-Dowell and was mystified. "All he has to do is throw smoke," said Jackson. "The guy who taught him to throw a curve and slider was crazy." Jim "Blue Moon" Odom was doing a pretty fair job of pitching for the A's. He retired the first 15 Cleveland batters but Chicago-Salmon's sixth inning single broke that spell and McDowell's single drove in the Indian's first run.

Tony Horton and Duke Sims singled in the seventh and Horton scored the tie-breaking run on a passed ball. Then Salmon's second hit brought Sims in. The White Sox won their third game and John captured his second with a strong effort against the Senators. He shut Washington out on three hits over the first eight innings before yielding a run with two out in the ninth.

Jackson Jinx Sinks Mets

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Taylor walloped a bases-loaded triple in the 11th inning—his fourth hit of the game—helping Philadelphia to a 7-2 victory over the New York Mets last night. It was the 20th career victory over the Mets by Larry Jackson, who had them shut out until the ninth inning. Reliever Ron Taylor walked the first two batters in the 11th and then another walk by Billy Short loaded the bases before Taylor's shot cleared them. Johnny Callison's double and a sacrifice fly provided two more runs.

Jackson left for a pinch hitter in the 11th and ran his career record to 20-1 against the Mets. Only Don Drysdale, with a 21-5 career mark, has beaten the Mets more times than Jackson.

North Stars Square Playoffs, 5-1

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Bill Goldsworthy scored two goals and added an assist before a Metropolitan Sports Center record crowd of 15,172 as Minnesota belted St. Louis, 5-1, last night. The victory enabled the North Stars to tie the National Hockey League West Division final playoff series.

Final Tomorrow
With each team now owning three victories in the best-of-7 series, the North Stars and Blues return to St. Louis tomorrow night. The winner will meet the Montreal Canadiens in the NHL Stanley Cup championship series opening Sunday afternoon.

Goldsworthy capped his evening by setting up Milan Marcetta with the North Stars' fifth goal midway through the third period.

Marcetta tapped in his own rebound as Minnesota pushed Blues' reserve goalie, Seth Martin.

Hawkins' 41 Evens ABA Series at 3-All

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Connie Hawkins sank 41 points to lead the Pittsburgh Pipers to a 118-112 victory over the New Orleans Buccaneers last night and tie the American Basketball Association best-of-7 title series at three games each. The championship game will be played in Pittsburgh Saturday night.

Hawkins, who had been reported ailing with a torn ligament in his knee, showed no sign of an injury and was the only one on either team to play the entire game.

Hawkins, the Most Valuable Player in the ABA, counted on 15 of 22 field goal attempts and was 11 for 15 from the free throw line.

The Bucs caught fire in the first half and held a 72-59 lead at intermission. They were sparked by Jackie Moreland, who scored 14 points, his output for the game, in the first half.

The Pipers, led by Hawkins and Charlie Williams, began to move in the third quarter and tied the score at 93-93 at the end of the period.

Baltimore Belts Yankees' Stott

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dave Johnson drove in three runs and Boog Powell two as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the New York Yankees, 6-1, last night behind the five-hit pitching of rookie Dave Leonard. Johnson's sacrifice fly tied the score 1-1 in the fourth and his run-scoring single sent the Orioles ahead in the sixth. Both times he drove in Curt Blefary, who started the rallies with singles and moved up on hits by Brooks Robinson. Mark Belanger also had a sacrifice fly in the sixth. Steve Hamilton, who relieved loser Mel Stottlemyre, 3-2, allowed three runs in the seventh. Powell drove in two with a bases-loaded single and Johnson followed with another run-scoring single.

New York scored in the second on a single by Roy White, a stolen base and a single by Bob Cox. Leonard didn't allow a hit between the third and ninth inning in winning his first game of the season.

St. Louis broke through on Cesare Maniago at 13:53 of the second period to momentarily cut Minnesota's lead to two goals. Gary Sabourin slapped in a rebound.

The North Stars grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first period on a pair of long shots by Wayne Connelly and Andre Boudrais, which eluded Hall.

Connelly slapped a 40-foot shot at Hall at 5:28. The puck took a crazy bounce right under Hall's outstretched legs and into the cage.
