Voters Cut Gubernatorial Field to 2 Today

TRENTON (AP) — New Jersey voters go to the polls today to narrow a cumbersome field of 11 gubernatorial candidates down to two.

Polls were open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., as voters cast their primary ballots for one of six Democrats or one of five Republicans. They are seeking a post that will be vacated next January by Gov. Richard J. Hughes, a Democrat who is barred by law from seeking a third consecutive term.

Former Gov. Robert B. Meyner, forced to retire in 1960 by the same two-term requirement, is trying for a political comeback at the age of 60 and is considered the front-runner in the Democratic contest.

The Republican race is considered a toss-up between two Republican congressmen of opposite political persuasions — Charles W. Sandman Jr. of Cape May and William T. Cahill of Collingswood.

Other Democrats include Rep. Henry Helstoski, favorite of the party's liberal wing, state Sen. William F. Kelly Jr., candidate of Hudson County's powerful Democratic organization; D. Louis Tonti, of Holmdel, executive director of the Garden State Parkway; Ned J. Parsekian, a former state senator and motor vehicle director, and John L. Hennessey, Sea Bright tavern owner and political novice.

On the Republican side, Cahill is a political moderate with the support of U.S. Sen. Clifford P. Case and other party leaders and Sandman is a conservative with a reputation as a political maverick.

Arrayed against them are three other candidates, all of whom call themselves moderates or progressives. They include state Sen.

Harry L. Sears, the assistant Senate majority leader and a close friend of President Nixon; state Senate President Frank X. McDermott, and William E. Ozzard, a former state senator now a member of the Public Utilities Commission.

The race in the Democratic primary has centered largely on one candidate — Meyner, who served as governor from 1953 to 1961.

Meyner has been criticized as too old by most of his opponents. He has also been attacked for his role as the administrator of the cigarette industry's advertising code; his legal work for Engelhard Industries, which has holdings in South Africa, and for his law partner's representation of the insurance industry in its effort to increase auto insurance rates in the state.

Helstoski, 44, has been elected to three terms in Congress from heavily-Republican Bergen County, but lacks identity statewide. He has been endorsed by the New Democratic coalition, erstwhile supporters of the late Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy.

Kelly, 58, is running as the candidate of John V. Kenny, who overthrew the late Frank Hague as the leader in Hudson County in 1949. Kenny and Meyner, former allies, split in the late 50's over patronage.

Kelly is counting on a heavy vote in Hudson County to give him a big edge in a five-man race.

Parsekian, 47, is running as "an independent Democrat." He sought coalition support but lost it to Helstoski. He contends the state party is dominated by political bosses and that only his candidacy can end their rule.

Tonti, 51, maintains that it's time for new faces in government. (See POLITICS, Pg. 2, Col. 6)

U.S., Australian Vessels Collide

56 Missing in Ship Crash

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — A small armada of naval vessels criss-crossed the South China Sea off the Philippines today for survivors of a pre-dawn collision between an Australian carrier and a U.S. destroyer during SEATO maneuvers. The destroyer was cut in two and her bow section sank.

One American sailor was known dead and 56 unaccounted for, the Navy said. There were 216 survivors.

The big carrier Melbourne sliced through the destroyer USS Frank E. Evans some 650 miles southeast of Manila. Just why remained a mystery. Weather was clear, the seas calm, and both ships were equipped with modern radar.

The 216 survivors, all crewmen of the destroyer, were transferred to the USS Kearsarge, a carrier that also was among 40 warships of six nations of the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization taking part in the maneuvers.

It was not known how many survivors were injured, but the Navy said one seaman was evacuated in critical condition to a hospital near Saigon.

No casualties were reported aboard the Melbourne.

The bow of the destroyer sank two minutes after the collision, but the rest of the ship was lashed to the Melbourne and kept afloat while survivors were taken on board the bigger ship.

Hours later, the Navy reported flooding in the severed hull of the destroyer had been controlled.

The carrier suffered a gashed hull above the water line and some damage to her flight deck. There was no fire, the Navy said.

"We've established the exact time of the collision at 4:15 a.m., Philippine time,"

Tuesday a Navy spokesman said.

Helicopters from the Kearsarge shuttled medics onto the damaged vessel, then fanned out over the water to hunt for survivors.

Small boats from the destroyers James E. Kyes and Everett F. Larson dotted the sea around the stricken sister vessel.

Secondary salvage operations were ordered to recover classified material and other documents, the Navy said.

Survivors included the destroyer's skipper, Cmdr. A. S. McLemore, and his executive officer, the Navy said.

Australian Rear Adm. G. J. B. Crabb was aboard the carrier, according to SEATO officials in Bangkok. The Melbourne headed for Manila after the rescue work.

It was the second time in five years the huge Australian carrier had been involved in a sea disaster. The first, involving an Australian destroyer, took 82 lives.

Adm. John J. Hyland, commander of the Pacific Fleet, ordered a court of inquiry into the second disaster.

A fleet tug was dispatched from Hong Kong to assist in the salvage and rescue operation.

The SEATO naval exercise, "Sea Spirit," was canceled.

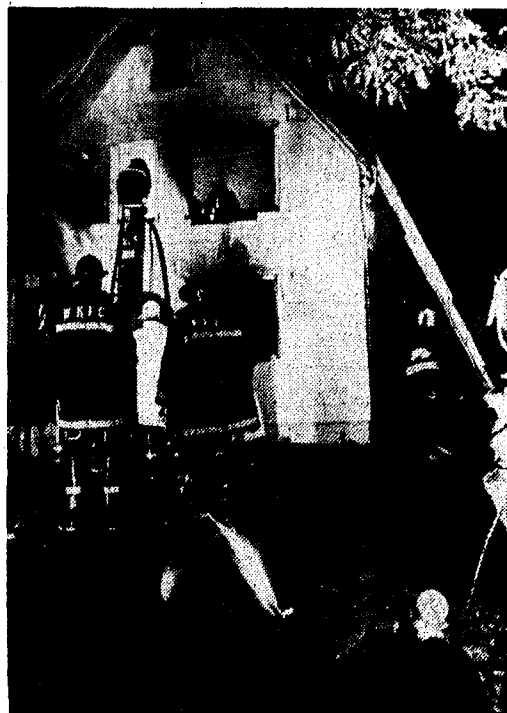

Australian Navy Minister Clive Kelly told newsmen in Adelaide, Australia, that the destroyer had been escorting the carrier as it took on planes and that both had been steaming side by side.

"I can't help feeling dismay that it happened again to the Melbourne," Kelly said, referring to the similar collision on Feb. 10, 1964. "A lot of people will look upon it as a jinx on the vessel."

In the earlier accident, the 25,000-ton Melbourne sliced through the destroyer Voyager off the coast of Australia. The bow sank immediately and the rest of the ship went down in three hours.

Both disasters occurred in darkness, but with clear weather and calm seas.

The 3,500-ton Voyager was Australia's biggest destroyer at the time. Its skipper was among the 82 dead.

Two Escape House Blaze

WEST KEANSBURG — A couple leaped from the second floor of their house here when it was engulfed in flames early today.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haddow escaped serious injury when they jumped from the second story of their two-family frame house at 457 Palmer Ave. when fire raged through the dwelling and burned out the stairway.

Fire Chief Harry Kegley reported that the home, in a business district here, was engulfed in flames when the first fire unit arrived at the scene. The first alarm was turned in at 3:59 a.m. and the second at 4:02 a.m.

"With any kind of a wind," he said this morning, "we'd still be there. We were worried about the A&P next door and the liquor store on the other side."

Mr. and Mrs. Haddow were treated for abrasions of the arms and legs at the scene by the East Keansburg First Aid Squad. They were the owners of the two-family house, living on the second floor. The first-floor apartment was vacant.

Chief Kegley said the house was destroyed. An initial investigation revealed that the fire started somewhere in the cellar and swept upward through the house, he said.

About 60 men fought the fire with nine pieces of equipment. Companies called out were the West Keansburg, North Centerville and East Keansburg units. They cleared the scene at 6:28 a.m.

Pope Invites Norris on Flight

RUMSON — James J. Norris of Avenue of Two Rivers has been informed by the Vatican secretary of state, Archbishop Giovanni Benelli, that Pope Paul VI has invited Mr. Norris to accompany him on his historical papal flight from Rome to Geneva on June 10.

Cardinal Maurice Roy of Quebec, president of the Pontifical Commission for Justice and Peace, of which Mr. Norris is a member, has also been invited.

Mr. Norris, who is president of the International Migration Commission, with headquarters in Geneva, and a paper chamberlain of the Cape and Sword to Pope Paul, expects to fly to Rome this Saturday.

2 Coeds Slain in Atlantic County

Susan Davis

Elizabeth Perry

SOMERS POINT (AP) — An autopsy report today disclosed that two coeds whose bodies were found near the Garden State Parkway were victims of murder and died of stab wounds.

Dr. Edward Albano, New Jersey's chief medical examiner, said both girls died of wounds inflicted with a small knife, possibly a pen or paring knife. The autopsy report did not reveal if either girl was raped.

Elizabeth Perry, Excelsior, Minn., died of a chest wound that penetrated her right lung. She also suffered wounds in the abdomen and the side of her neck.

Susan Davis, of Camp Hill, Pa., died of a wound in the neck that cut her larynx. Miss Davis also had wounds on the left side of her abdomen and the right side of her neck.

The autopsy was performed at Shore Memorial Hospital in Somers Point.

The coeds, both 19-years-old, had been vacationing in Ocean City, Miss Perry was the daughter of Ray Perry, a bag company executive from Excelsior. Miss Davis was the daughter of soft drink bottler Wesley S. Davis of Camp Hill.

Their partially-decomposed bodies were found near the Garden State Parkway yesterday afternoon in thick underbrush close to where the girls' car was found Friday morning.

Miss Davis' body was nude and her jacket, dress and under garments were in a heap close to her, police said.

Miss Perry was fully clothed, police said.

The girls had been unaccounted for since 4:30 a.m. Friday when they left Ocean City, a popular teenage resort, in a convertible destined for Camp Hill to join the David family.

All were to drive to Durham, N.C., for the graduation of Miss Davis' brother from Duke University.

Police said they had no definite suspects in the murders and that a murder weapon had not been found.

The girls attended Monticello Junior College in Godfrey, Ill. School officials said Miss Perry completed her freshman year at the two-year all-girls' school and that Miss Davis had graduated. They said Miss Davis planned to enter Ithaca College in Ithaca, N.Y. this September. (See COEDS, Pg. 3, Col. 7)

Pompidou Seen A Shoo-in PARIS (AP) — Georges Pompidou today appeared certain of election to the French presidency following the Communist party's refusal to back provisional President Alain Poher.

Strong pressure built up on Poher, a Centrist, to withdraw from the June 15 runoff which will elect Charles de Gaulle's successor.

Poher ran a poor second in the first round of voting Sunday, polling only 23.13 per cent of the vote to Pompidou's 44.46 per cent. It was questionable whether a Communist endorsement would have done him much good since it probably would have scared away some of his anti-Communist support. But the party's central committee made that academic last night.

Communist leader Jacques Duclos, who ran third Sunday with 21.08 per cent, announced the committee's call for a boycott of the June 15 vote. He denounced both Pompidou and Poher as "capitalist reactionaries." But he implied that Pompidou was the lesser evil, by singling out the provisional president for special criticism for having said during the campaign that West Germany should have access to a European nuclear deterrent.

While many of the 4.8 million Frenchmen who voted for Duclos are not members of the Communist party and may not abide by the call for a boycott, they may throw their votes to Pompidou to ensure Poher's defeat.

Although the Communists have never before urged abstention from a national election, when they have done so on the local level, Gaullists often have profited.

Poher had rejected Pompidou's earlier suggestion that he withdraw to foster national unity. But Bertrand Motte, vice president of the Centrist party, said last night that since his standard-bearer's position was hopeless without Communist support, Poher might try to strike a deal with Pompidou and his Gaullists.

Sewer Unit Executive Director Takes Reins

LITTLE SILVER — William R. Rooney, Fair Haven, a member and treasurer of the Northeast Monmouth County Regional Sewerage Authority since its inception, yesterday assumed the newly-created post of NEMCRSA executive director. The job pays $17,000 a year.

The executive director's position was created and Mr. Rooney, who has been a Fair Haven representative to Northeast, was appointed to the job by unanimous vote at a special authority meeting last Thursday.

Milton A. Mausner, Red Bank, authority attorney, attributed the failure to notify newspapers which regularly cover NEMCRSA meetings in advance of Thursday's special session to an oversight.

Contracts Awarded

Also at that meeting, contracts totaling $2.5 million for sewer line installation in Little Silver and Oceanport were awarded.

Mr. Rooney, a former Fair Haven councilman, was named to serve an indefinite term "at the pleasure of the authority." The appointment became effective immediately.

Mr. Rooney resigned his authority seat to take the executive director's job. He put his resignation as one of Fair Haven's two representatives in a letter to Mayor Robert A. Matthews.

Questions Answered Now, Addonizio Says

NEWARK (AP) — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio, who formerly refused to answer questions from an Essex County grand jury investigating possible corruption in the municipal government, says he has now answered 42 questions put to him by the jury.

Mayor Addonizio appeared before the panel yesterday and answered all its questions, many reportedly concerning renovations made on his $59,000 summer home on Hope Road, New Shrewsbury. He was expected to return for additional questioning today.

"I have nothing to say now, but I might have something to say after the investigation is over," said the mayor, emerging from the grand jury room. "I just hope the people of Newark have faith in me."

Assistant County Prosecutor Michael Riccardelli said he could not "confirm or deny" that Addonizio had answered the questions. The attorney said he could not discuss answers made before the grand jury, which was empaneled last year. Testimony before a grand jury is taken in closed session.

The mayor appeared before the grand jury last Tuesday when he refused to answer about 12 questions put to him about his summer house. He said to answer the questions would be violations of his Constitutional rights under the Fifth, Sixth and Fourteenth Amendments. Addonizio said at the time he was a "target of this investigation."

He then appeared before Judge Giuliano who ordered him to answer the questions.

Decision on Brochure Sparks Matawan Township Hassle

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — An attempt by Mayor Hans H. Froehlich to answer a published political statement regarding the Industrial Commission at last night's meeting ended in a flurry of parliamentary gambits, shouting, a recess and finally a concession.

A spirited exchange began when Robert Taylor, chairman of the Industrial Commission, took exception to council procedures May 19.

At that time, the council adopted a resolution permitting the commission to enter into a contract with the Plusfactor Group Ltd. of New York to execute an industrial brochure.

The resolution came unexpectedly, according to Democratic members of council, despite Councilman Jerome R. Kaye's advice a week earlier that the council had to approve all contracts under the Faulkner Act.

The May 19 council meeting erupted into a battle with commission member William F. Mullin, who subsequently resigned. Another member, Harold Painkin, also resigned the same week, and the township manager has also received a written resignation from member Michael Altman.

All were Democratic appointees and all claim as their reasons for resigning disagreement with council's action on the resolution and the direction of the commission with regard to the brochure.

Former chairman John Trabachino is also rumored to be resigning but acting Township Manager William Russell said no written resignation has been received yet.

Pair Replaced
Earlier in last night's session Mr. Russell appointed Richard L. Paula, a local attorney, and Gerald Bench of 36 Drexel Lane, to replace Mr. Altman and Mr. Mullin.

Mr. Taylor, in his statements to council, said the commission had no idea council's approval was needed for the contract despite long discussions with former Manager William J. Schuchart. Therefore, he explained, the commission proceeded with the brochure, which has been pending for almost three years.

He defended the Plusfactor group as "not some shadowy group that suddenly appeared on the corner," in answer to Mr. Mullin's statements that the group was not what it appeared.

Mr. Taylor chastised council for its involvement in commission business. "You're not helping by throwing cudgels at us. Find something else to fight about, he told the council. "It's hard enough to keep the members together and not fight with each other without fighting you as well."

"We Never Hear"
"I appeal to you to stop this so we can get on with our work, he implored the council. "I expected flotation collars, not millstones, from you people. If you want to talk to us, call — we never hear from you."

As Mayor Froehlich attempted to answer Mr. Taylor with a reply to a published Democratic attack on the May 19 actions, he was interrupted by Democratic Councilman Walter Gehricke.

"It is not proper to use this forum to rebut campaign releases to newspapers," he said, raising a point of order, and motioned to stop any further discussion of the matter by the mayor.

Time was taken to study the rules of council until it was determined that the chair had to rule on his own statements. The mayor said he didn't feel he was out of order. His decision was immediately appealed by Mr. Gehricke.

A subsequent vote drew abstentions by Mr. Kaye and Republican Thomas Powers, two no votes from Mr. Gehricke and Republican Stanley Pianko, and two yes votes from the mayor and Republican George B. Brenon, causing the mayor to be overruled.

The mayor called for his initial remarks to be stricken and then attempted to issue a statement of the history of the commission's woes and his efforts to shape up the body in a businesslike way.

Mr. Gehricke called the mayor out of order each time he spoke, causing Mr. Froehlich to call a recess until "Mr. Gehricke cools down."

The 10-minute recess ended in the mayor's concession and statement, "I don't want to concede, but it's a warm night and I don't want to keep you all so I will give a statement to the press after the meeting."

Mayor Froehlich later told reporters he had intended only to give the commission a goal system whereby certain things could be accomplished on the brochure by certain dates after a long period in which little progress had been achieved on the document.

The brochure is planned to draw more industry to vacant properties throughout the township. According to present plans, it will list numerous available sites. Plusfactor has indicated it will be sent to 10,000 businessmen and industrialists as an enclosure in the first issue of this summer of a new industrial publication, Markets and Plant Locations.

"I recommended only guidelines which the commission was free to accept, reject or modify. The opposition apparently cannot stand to see anyone take leadership," the mayor stated.

Chestnut St. Protest: Thanks to the Tanks

RED BANK — No thanks to the tanks if Chestnut St. ever is in good repair, a councilman and a borough resident agreed last night.

The councilman is Thomas F. Oakley, who heads the street and road department committee, the resident is James V. Gettis who owns the tanks belong to the New Jersey National Guard whose armory, like Mr. Gettis home, is on Chestnut St.

Mr. Gettis complained about the condition of Chestnut St. to the Borough Council last night.

Mr. Oakley and Mr. Gettis agreed that the trouble with the road is that the National Guard tanks "tear it up." Mr. Gettis said something should be done about it. Mr. Oakley said he thinks so, too, but he can't figure out what, since he doesn't know "what you can do with the federal government."

"We repair the road every year," Mr. Oakley said. "And the minute they bring the tanks out, they tear it up." "I'm paying good taxes," Mr. Gettis complained, "and, just because of the National Guard, I have to stand for that."

Councilman Theodore J. Labrecque Jr., police committee chairman, reported that in response to complaints voiced by westside residents last week, the police department set up the radar unit on Bridge and Leighton Aves. He said 10 summonses and about 15 warnings were issued to drivers as a result. Stop signs have been placed at the intersections of Brower and Depot Places, Mr. Labrecque said.

Donald Somers, owner of the White Star Taxi Company whose office is at the railroad station, complained that the stop sign facing east on Monmouth St. and Bridge Ave. "is the most neglected sign on earth," adding that he has "yet to see a policeman give anyone a summons for going through it. And I call police twice a week to report an accident there."

Mr. Labrecque said that intersection is under investigation. He said the borough is seeking permission to use railroad property for a stop sign "and the police chief, the borough attorney and the railroad are working out some feasible agreement."

"That's where the situation was eight years ago," Mr. Somers commented.

Father, Son Admit Offenses

FREEHOLD — On the fourth day of trial, a Long Branch father and son pleaded guilty to charges of obstructing two state troopers last July 29 when they were charged with a disorderly persons complaint.

Samuel Wetzel, 42, and his son, Richard, 19, of 157 Pavilion Ave., Long Branch, were on trial for assault and battery on state Troopers John Petzaek of Colts Neck and James Jeffrey of Princeton in Colts Neck when they pleaded to the lesser charges.

County Court Judge Patrick J. McGann Jr. accepted the pleas and set July 10 for sentencing.

Frank Moore of Eatontown represented Samuel Wetzel. Charles Frankel of Asbury Park represented Richard Wetzel.

FIRE VICTIMS — Mr. and Mrs. John Haddow of 457 Palmer Ave., West Keansburg, who escaped serious injury early today when they jumped from the second floor of their home that was engulfed in flames, rest in an ambulance after first aid treatment. The house was destroyed by the fire, reported at 3:59 a.m. (Register Staff Photo)

Wants to Fill Pond With Kids, Not Fish

RED BANK — Fill Mohawk Pond with kids instead of trout this summer, Patrick McAlary, Peters Place, urged the Borough Council last night.

Mr. McAlary, who two weeks ago told the governing body "there is a crying need for one or two municipal swimming pools, especially for the kids," last night suggested Mohawk Pond as a "stopgap" until a municipal pool is built.

It would be "a nothing job" and wouldn't take more than a month to drain, clean, fill and ready Mohawk Pond for a swimming summer, Mr. McAlary said.

He said the size is right — large enough for three municipal pools, he noted. There's a dam so the pond can be drained easily and, with the borough's artesian well on the property, the pond can be filled. There's adequate parking space and lighting, benches, grills and a tool house, and the property already is partially fenced-in, Mr. McAlary pointed out.

Trout Survive
The pond is stocked with trout for the annual fishing derby and they don't die "so it's not polluted," he said.

The parks and recreation department could man the swimming pond, and if the borough leased out a snack bar "it would be fairly lucrative," he ventured.

The major cost, Mr. McAlary said, probably would be about $10,000 for sand to create a beach. "Maybe businessmen could help. Maybe each businessman would buy a couple of bags of sand," Mr. McAlary, a local businessman (he owns Corrigan's Plumbing and Heating, Oakland St.), suggested.

The YMCA and Ocean County Park have swimming areas like that he proposes for Mohawk Pond, Mr. McAlary added "and there's no reason on God's earth we can't do something, immediately, along these lines."

Cites Beach Cost

The father of four, Mr. McAlary noted the cost of sending youngsters to the Sea Bright bathing beach from Red Bank: 60 cents bus fare; 50 cents to get on the beach "and if they buy some lunch, that's $1.85 per kid."

A swimming site would keep the town as well as the kids cool, Mr. McAlary suggested.

Azoy to Lead Trip to Israel

PUTNEY, VT. — G. Whitney Azoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Azoy of Buena Vista Ave., Rumson, N.J., school master at Woodbury Forest (Va.) School, has been appointed to lead an experiment group to Israel this summer, it was announced by Gordon Boyce, president of the Experiment in International Living.

A native of New Jersey, Mr. Azoy was graduated from Deerfield (Mass.) Academy in 1958. At Princeton he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1962.

Last summer Mr. Azoy conducted the Operation Crossroads Africa team in Nigeria where Africans and North Americans worked together in reconstructing flood defenses for a river town. This spring he organized and escorted students on an archeological tour through Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula. Mr. Azoy has taught in Sicily and Nairobi and has traveled extensively in the Yukon, Africa, Europe and Central America.

MCAP Set to Replace Its Absentee Members

LONG BRANCH — Changes in the by-laws of Monmouth Community Action Program Inc., and action to replace trustees who consistently miss meetings were proposed at last night's meeting of the MCAP Board of Trustees.

The by-laws committee, chaired by Robert Gonzalez, will work out the procedure for replacing members of the board who regularly fail to attend meetings. To date there has been difficulty in committee sessions, and some, such as the health and welfare committee, have had problems in getting a quorum together.

The county Board of Freeholders will be told that certain of the members it appointed to MCAP fail to attend meetings, and a request will be made to have those members replaced.

The by-laws committee also proposed that the term of elected members be increased from one to two years. This means the present board members will serve for another year. From then on election of new board members will be staggered.

Election Planned

Election of community representatives to the board should be held on Aug. 15 annually so that it will precede the annual meeting, the committee said. Currently the annual board meeting was to have been held on May 1. Under the new proposal, the meeting will be on Sept. 1, on which date new officers also will be elected.

The board will examine the proposals in executive session.

A proposal to convert the Head Start program into an all-year round Day Care Center program was referred to the education committee.

Mr. Taylor told the board that this year's summer Head Start program will operate as usual. It has already been funded with $264,000 from the office of Economic Opportunity. Funds expected for 1970 could be utilized to fund the proposed day care program.

The proposal will cover year-round day care centers in four communities — Long Branch, Red Bank, Freehold and Englishtown. These new four centers will bring the total of year round centers to seven. Three already are operated by the Inter Community Coordinating Council, in Asbury Park, Neptune and Hazlet.

The ICCO-operated centers are funded with $113,000 each from OEO funds through MCAP.

Plaudits Received

The board yesterday received the plaudits of Brookdale Community College. A letter from Fred Hazlet, the college's admissions director, expressed Brookdale's appreciation for the cooperation it received from MCAP in the recruitment of both students and faculty.

In his monthly report, Joseph E. Taylor announced that MCAP's Housing Department is preparing a proposal for a county-wide non-profit housing corporation in its efforts to provide good housing for the poor. Details of the proposal, primarily its funding, remain to be worked out, he said, and the board will receive a fuller report at next month's meeting.

Four Face Dope Count In Rumson

RUMSON — Police here have arrested three youths and a man and charged them with possession of an alcoholic beverage and a narcotic and being under influence of the latter.

The four were identified by police as Raymond Plano, 21, Valley Drive; James Clancy, 19, W. Highland Ave., and Terence Kelly, 18, Seventh Ave., all Atlantic Highlands, and Charles Andrews, 19, Valley Drive, Highlands. They were apprehended May 15 when Patrolmen James Fenn and Robert Weiner were investigating the car in which they were parked at River Road and First St.

Beer was found in the vehicle and Plano was charged with threatening a police officer, disorderly conduct and inviting minors to have alcoholic beverages in his car.

At that time, police detected an odor of marijuana in the car and confiscated a substance which was sent to the State Police laboratory in Trenton for analysis.

Last Friday, the lab reported the material to be marijuana and the four were arrested on the narcotic drug charge.

All have been released in $500 bail each pending preliminary hearings in Municipal Court here. The narcotic hearing has been scheduled for June 16.

Shops-Apartments Plan Being Studied

MIDDLETOWN — A proposed shopping center-garden apartment complex off Rt. 35 was briefly debated by the Planning Board last night and referred to its zoning subcommittee for a report next month.

The proposed $2 million ratable, which would abate the Applebrook development, had been referred to the planners by the Zoning Board last month.

Warren N. Gaffney of 53 Hamiltonian Drive, who acted as attorney for many objectors at the Zoning Board meeting, told the planning board last night that "erecting apartments on this site would have an adverse effect on the master plan." The proposed site is in an R-22 zone.

His statement was reiterated by Mrs. Peggy Kompfner of Holland Road who added that approval of the complex "would start an apartment explosion within the township."

Gerald Heagney, president of the Homeowners and Taxpayers Association of Lincroft said "Our group would like to go on record opposing this and any other garden apartment proposal."

Planning consultant Robert Strong reminded the audience that Zoning Board referrals are not ruled on by the Planning Board, which is only a recommending body.

In other referrals from the zoners the board ruled that the applications of Louise Reynolds of Magnolia Lane, who seeks permission to erect a boarding home for sheltered care on her property; and Mrs. Eileen E. Majors of Magnolia Lane, who seeks permission to rebuild a kennel on her property, would adversely affect the intent of the master plan.

The application of Francis J. and Grace Sannelli, who wish to erect a building that will be used for the sale of agricultural products, was ruled in keeping with the intent of the master plan.

Projects Approved

After public hearing the board approved the major subdivisions of Lone Oak Homes, 18 lots off Cherry Tree Farm Road, Woodview Acres, 13 lots off Nut Swamp Road; Lincroft Estates, 16 lots off Middletown-Lincroft Road and Hilltop Manor, eight lots off West Front Street.

The board gave site plan approval to Humble Oil & Refining Co. for reconstruction of a service station on Leonardville Road.

William G. Bassler of Red Bank was appointed board attorney, succeeding Robert Otten who resigned last month.

Politics

ment. He's running on a strong anti-crime platform and is openly soliciting votes from Italian-Americans.

Hennessey, 53, says of his candidacy: "You've got to get your feet wet sometime."

Like Meyner, Sandman, 47, is the main target in the Republican race. One of the principal arguments used against him has been a lack of party loyalty, based on the gubernatorial race four years ago, when he entered the primary against a hand-picked organization candidate and narrowly lost.

Cahill, 58, has also had discrimination charges leveled at him—he was accused of owning a summer home on restricted property. His assets include the support of the Bergen County Republican organization, the state's most powerful, and endorsement from Case and former Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

McDermott, 46, gets his support largely from central New Jersey. His platform includes a strong law and order pledge.

Sears, 49, is basing his hopes on a heavy turnout in his home county of Morris. A moderate, he was one of the principal New Jersey supporters of his old friend Nixon at last summer's Republican National Convention.

Ozzard, 54, is the most outspoken of the Republican candidates. He represented New Jersey's sportsmen in a legal challenge to the state's gun control laws and is counting on their support in the primary.

Conditioner Gas Leaks Into Bank

RED BANK — Police Chief Leroy McKnight reported that firemen yesterday were called to the Monmouth County National Bank, Broad St., when gas escaped from lines leading to air conditioning equipment. George L. Bielitz, bank president, said 11 people were evacuated from the basement of the bank as a precautionary measure at 11:26 a.m. The air conditioner was functioning again in the afternoon, he said.

Firemen used exhaust fans to clear fumes from the building.

Hazlet Crash Injures 3

HAZLET — A three-car collision at 3:23 a.m. today hospitalized one driver, injured three other people and resulted in the issuance of a ticket for impaired driving to Jack Reddy, 24 Oregon Ave.

Police said he was the driver of the third car involved in the accident.

Admitted to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, with a spinal injury was the driver of the first car, James Hyer, 17, of Main St., Keansburg. The second driver was Thomas Tescheskoski, Sharon Place, East Keansburg.

Top of the News

TAIPEI, Formosa — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said today he won't talk about a coalition government for his country when he meets President Nixon Sunday, but they may discuss "a more concrete program" for the Paris talks.

Thieu, concluding a five-day state visit to Nationalist China, told a news conference he expects to discuss the gradual replacement of U.S. troops in Vietnam with South Vietnamese forces when he meets Nixon on Monday.

"We may also discuss a more concrete program on how to move toward peace at the talks in Paris," Thieu said. But "I have no intention to discuss the coalition government because I do not intend to do so, and I think President Nixon would not intend to do so with me."

The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front in its recent 10-point peace plan called for a coalition government for South Vietnam to arrange elections and supervise the withdrawal of foreign troops. Thieu has said repeatedly he would "never" accept such a government. Nixon has taken no definite stand on the subject.

Expect Sanitation Men Back

NEWARK — City officials say they have assurances a walkout by about 700 sanitation men that left an accumulation of some 100 tons of garbage on city sidewalks will end today.

The walkout started yesterday as the men voted to stay off their jobs to press their demands for higher wages. Later, however, city authorities said they received assurances from officials of Teamsters Local Union 945, which represents drivers and laborers in the city's Public Works Department, that the men would be on the job today.

Rocky Calls Trip a Success

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says that despite the anti-U.S. demonstrations his Latin-American trip was a "tremendous success" in terms of finding out what the people are thinking.

"Despite the problems that developed," the trip brought into "sharp focus the feeling, hopes and aspirations" of Latin Americans, he told newsmen on his arrival last night at Kennedy Airport.

Recommend Pact for Professor

JERSEY CITY — A one-year teaching contract without tenure has been recommended for a controversial St. Peter's College professor, the subject of a student strike and sit-in, by the American Association of University Professors.

The recommendation, delivered yesterday to the Rev. Victor Yanitelli, college president, was based on the contention that the teacher, Thomas Haessler, had not been given sufficient notice that his contract would not be renewed.

GIs Given Trial Rights

WASHINGTON — You'll find very few Americans irreverent enough to disagree with George Washington. But the Supreme Court, which a lot of Americans find unduly irreverent anyway, has turned its back on a policy set by The Father of His Country and given soldiers and sailors a right they never had before.

That right, established by 5-3 vote yesterday, is to have the kind of trial other citizens are entitled to when they are charged with civilian crimes in peacetime. Their fate for off-duty crimes unrelated to military duties should not be decided by court martials — which, Justice William O. Douglas observed, "are singularly inept in dealing with the nice subtleties of constitutional law."

Union Leader Denies Extortion

NEWARK — Union leader Peter W. Weber, who is charged with extorting money from contractors during 1963 and 1964, has testified that he spent more than $40,000 on pleasure boats in 1968, but added that none of the money was the result of a bribe.

During cross examination at his trial yesterday, Weber testified that he loaned $18,400 to his secretary Aug. 1, 1963, so she could buy a boat. He said also he spent $22,000 to refloat and repair his own boat which sank May 6 of that year. Weber said his secretary Mitzi Rocha, never repaid the money although the boat was sold in 1966 for about $14,000.

Would Stall War Criticism

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who only yesterday threw some punches at Nixon administration war policy, now suggests a moratorium on such criticism until after the President's Sunday meeting with South Vietnamese chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu.

Mansfield said in an interview the Senate ought to display as much unity as possible behind President Nixon to strengthen his position in the discussions with Thieu on Monday.

"The President is in a difficult spot," Mansfield said. "I have some uneasiness about Thieu's position. But I am sure Mr. Nixon will acquit himself well in representing the majority opinion in this meeting. In my view, the majority of the people of this country want a responsible solution of the war and they would not like to see any roadblocks put in the way of it."

Wants Wiretap Data Told

HOUSTON — Lawyers for Cassius Clay told a federal judge yesterday the Justice Department must disclose all its wiretap information or dismiss its prosecution of the former heavyweight boxing champion.

Judge Joe Ingraham delayed until tomorrow morning arguments on a defense motion to postpone a hearing the Supreme Court ordered to determine whether wiretap conversations were involved in Clay's 1967 conviction on a charge of refusing to be drafted into the armed forces.

S. viet, Red Toll Falls Off

SAIGON — The total number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam last week was about the same as the week before, allied sources reported today, but South Vietnamese and enemy totals dropped sharply.

The sources, reporting in advance of the official summary to be issued Thursday, said the combat death toll was between 50 and 300 U.S. troops, 231 South Vietnamese and at least 2,637 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. The official figures for the week before May 18-24, were 265 Americans, 413 South Vietnamese troops, and 3,968 of the enemy. American battlefield deaths from Jan. 1 through May 24 totaled 5,000, or an average of 238 a week. If this rate continues, the total number of Americans killed in the Vietnam war will pass 40,000 by early October. The total May 24 was 35,530.

Poison Gas Hearing Postponed

NEWARK — A federal court hearing designed to have top U.S. government officials explain why they should be permitted to ship 7,000 tons of poison gas through Elizabeth was postponed yesterday until a later date.

Escapee Yields, One Holds Out

LUMBERTON, N. C. — One of two convicts who escaped from a prison camp after killing a guard surrendered today, but his companion held out under police siege of a farmhouse, with the home owner as hostage.

Jimmy Lee, 21, gave himself up shortly before dawn. Ricardo Resendez, 26, stayed in the house with tobacco farmer Isley Wilcox as his captive while 200 lawmen waited nearby.

Police bathed the house in floodlights during the night. The escapees had briefly held Wilcox's 55-year-old wife, his 18-year-old son, Lynn Wilcox, and Mrs. Wilcox's daughter by a previous marriage, Mrs. Ruby Brown, who was visiting from her home nearby. All were released unharmed.

Name Johnston Little Silver's First Borough Administrator

LITTLE SILVER — Mayor Gordon N. Litwin with the unanimous backing of the Borough Council last night appointed Rufus Z. Johnston as borough administrator and clerk at a combined annual salary of $10,000. He was selected from more than 60 applicants.

The mayor said "I am most pleased to make this appointment" and added there had been "at least three men in the borough we would have gladly appointed to the position."

Mr. Johnston retired as an Army lieutenant colonel in June, 1966, and has since worked for Rowan Controller Corp. as assistant to the president and has been associated with the Russell M. Borus Real Estate Agency in Fair Haven.

Commanded Post While in the Army, Mr. Johnston commanded the post of Vassincourt in Trois Fontaines, Morre Delf, France, a town of 9,000 military and civilian personnel. His position was the equivalent of mayor.

Previously he had commanded the 69th Signal Battalion and the Student Officer Detachment at Ft. Monmouth.

Mr. Johnston attended Peelskill Military Academy and Officer Candidate School at Ft. Monmouth.

He first came to Little Silver 28 years ago when he was stationed at Ft. Monmouth and returned to the borough and the army base four years ago. When he retired he and his wife, Mrs. Estelle G. Johnston, elected to settle at 20 Alwin Ter., here.

His salary breaks down to $2,500 a year as borough clerk and $7,500 a year as municipal administrator. He will serve simultaneously in both posts, beginning June 16.

Mrs. Dickie Hoyt Callan, national water skiing champion and a physical education teacher in the Red Bank school system, was appointed to the recreation committee and Patricia Fritsche, Linda Coates and Greg Langley were appointed counselors in the borough's summer recreation program.

Holmdel Water Shortage Spurs Laying of Main to Old Manor

HOLMDEL — Many homes in the Old Manor section suffered from intermittent lack of water last weekend. The shortage keeps alive a tradition that the Board of Health has promised to halt this year.

George S. Kinkade, general manager of the West Keansburg Water Co., which services the northern half of the township, told board members, many of whom received complaints from residents during the holiday weekend, that excessive use and resultant low pressure caused the problem.

To alleviate the condition, Mr. Kinkade said the company will begin laying a new eight-inch main from Cherry Hill to Crescent Drive, in Old Manor, this Thursday, with this new water source expected to be completed within a week.

A new booster pumping station at Crawfords Corner will increase pressure sufficiently to alleviate problems in the Crawfords Hills Estates area.

Board members were not content with the proposed first-aid measures.

"This (the low pressure) has been a problem every June since 1960 that I'm aware of," charged Mayor William H. Menges.

"And every year they promise new equipment," he added.

Board member and Township Committeeman David Cohen blamed the situation on "catch-up action," explaining that increased use very quickly takes up the briefly expanded water supply.

While agreeing that excessive use in the Raritan Valley U.S.A. development probably caused the weekend shortage in Old Manor, board members want specific plans from water company officials to stave off future emergencies.

They directed a letter be sent to the company inviting representatives to a meeting Monday night with the board and the township engineer. A copy of the directive will be sent to the Public Utilities Commission.

Mr. Cohen and Mr. Menges urged that the state Department of Health and the PUC be called in immediately if the water company's plans appear inadequate to avert future water crises.

Township Engineer Richard

M. Schulz spent more than an hour at last night's meeting ruling on a number of percolation tests that have accumulated in the absence of the board's executive officer Joseph P. Quail. Mr. Quail has missed the last two board meetings.

Says Tests Not Made Mr. Schulz was also directed to follow through on sewage pollution tests in catch basins along Holmdel Road supposedly being contaminated by seepage from the Holmdel Village Shops. Mr. Quail's written report stated that four private laboratories he had contacted did not perform such tests, nor did the state nor Rutgers.

Mr. Menges asked that Mr. Quail submit a detailed report at the next board meeting of the status of dye tests being conducted in Holmdel Village and Wychwood, where septic water has periodically contaminated a branch of Ramanessin Brook running through the area.

Details demanded by the board include tests completed, future plans for continuing them, and the status of two Wychwood homes whose dye tests were positive.

'Contributing to Delinquency' Charges Dismissed by Klatsky

RED BANK — Municipal Court Judge William I. Klatsky yesterday dismissed charges against August A. Kauffmann, 26, of 27-29 W. Front St. of contributing to the delinquency of minors, but the judge ordered jail sentences on two other counts.

The judge dismissed charges that Mr. Kauffmann had contributed to the delinquency of two young teen-age girls March 10 by encouraging them to sleep in a vacant apartment. The girls were reported to be runaways from Riverview Academy, Shark River Hills.

But Judge Klatsky sentenced Mr. Kauffmann to a total of 60 days in county jail on charges of failing to give a good account of himself while on the roof of Leon's Cleaners, 68 White St., on May 30 and for being under the influence of intoxicating liquor at the same time. Mr. Kauffmann pleaded guilty to both charges stemming from the May 30 incident.

In another case, Judge Klatsky referred to the Grand Jury two charges against Luigi Nannini, 22, of 26 Deane Way, River Plaza. On April 29, Mr. Nannini was charged with atrocious assault and battery on Raymond F. Slusarz, 19, of 3 Chestnut Ridge

Powell's Talk Is Called Off RED BANK — The fundraising dinner planned by the Shrewsbury Avenue AME Zion Church for Saturday in the New Irvington Hotel, Lakewood, has been cancelled.

Guest speaker was to have been Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y. The church was notified by the congressman's office that he had been ordered by his physician to take a complete rest and was forced to cancel his scheduled appearance for the church.

The Rev. Alfred S. Parker, pastor, announces that other phases of the fund raising project are proceeding and will culminate Sunday with the dedication of the new parsonage by Bishop Mito Smith.

Road, Hazlet, and with possession of a dangerous knife. Mr. Slusarz entered a plea of guilty yesterday on charges of assault and battery on Mr. Nannini on the same date. The judge levied a fine of $50.

Also fined in yesterday's court session were James Cummings, 52, of 22 Taylor Lane, Eatontown, $25 for being under the influence of alcohol on Shrewsbury Ave. on May 30; and Eddy Daniels, 442 Hendrickson Ave., Long Branch, $50 for being under the influence of alcohol and using loud, obscene language on May 30.

Summer Schedule For Library Set

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — Mrs. Helen S. Donoghue, director, announced the local public library will go on a summer schedule beginning Monday.

Hours will be from 10 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday nights.

Board Member to Raise Student Petitions Issue

RED BANK — It may or may not be on the agenda, but the Red Bank Board of Education will be discussing the Red Bank High School student petition brouhaha when it meets behind closed doors tonight.

Mrs. Robert Kopka, one of the three-member board minority to vote for permitting the students to circulate the petitions asking that a favorite teacher be rehired, said "we have to discuss" last week's events surrounding students' attempts to petition.

She said she intends to raise the issue at tonight's meeting.

A coalition group, born of the public rally held 10 days ago to protest the situation in the Red Bank schools, will move one step further at a meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. Thursday in the Red Bank Community Center, W. Bergen Place. Church and civic groups are being invited to send representatives to the meeting, and interested individuals also are being urged to attend.

Politely Worded Mrs. Kopka said last night that the petition the students wanted to circulate asking that Nicholas Andrian, a first-year teacher of French and Spanish, be rehired "was worded carefully and politely. I didn't see anything wrong with it."

She said she doesn't think the denial of the right to petition to the students is board policy.

"I don't think we have any written or definite policy on the matter," Mrs. Kopka said, "these things are pretty much left to the building principal." "We do have a student grievance procedure," she added, "which these students followed..."

Following the established procedure, the students first asked permission of James D. Evergetis, the high school principal, who refused it. They then went to Superintendent of Schools Robert C. Hoops, who refused permission, too, and then to the board, where the majority turned down the request. The students circulated the petitions anyway, gathering more than 300 signatures before the petitions were confiscated by a high school vice principal who reportedly threatened a student leader with two weeks suspension.

Authority

The authority is constructing a $31 million sewer network which will serve 12 communities.

Efficiency Expert As chairman of the Fair Haven Borough Council's finance and administration committee, Mr. Rooney was credited with introducing efficiency measures which cut costs.

When he left office as Fair Haven councilman two years ago — he didn't seek reelection — Mr. Rooney made a suggestion that has taken root. He proposed a regional garbage disposal system on the order of Northeast, and was instrumental in setting up the first meeting of the group that has evolved into the Shore Refuse Disposal Study Committee.

During his tenure as councilman, Mr. Rooney also served as Fair Haven representative to the Municipal Public Service Coordinating Committee, a nine-town public utility watchdog group. He is a former Fair Haven Planning Board member.

He attended the University of Detroit and has a degree in business administration from New York University. He also attended Newark College of Engineering and Rutgers University.

Mr. Rooney is a member of the Fair Haven Volunteer Fire Co. and the Republican Club.

He resides at 108 Princeton Road, Fair Haven. Mr. and Mrs. Rooney are parents of a son and a married daughter.

The authority has begun construction of the treatment plant and main pumping station on Raccoon Island off Monmouth Beach, and anticipates beginning operations in 1972.

The regional sewer network will serve six authority member towns: Little Silver, Fair Haven, Shrewsbury, West Long Branch, Oceanport and Monmouth Beach. It also will serve six customer towns: Sea Bright, Rumson, Shrewsbury Township, New Shrewsbury, Red Bank and Eatontown.

The Monmouth County Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, which contends the right to petition is protected by the free speech guarantees of the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution, is keeping a close eye on administrative procedures at the high school.

Mrs. Kopka said that when the board adopted the student grievance policy "I felt we should discuss it further and make it more inclusive. I tried to table it." But her efforts were voted down, she noted.

The policy was adopted in response to a state Board of Education request for board policy in dealing with student disorders and grievances.

'Prefabricated'

The Red Bank policy "was rather a prefabricated thing that the Superintendent's Round Table worked out," Mrs. Kopka said. The Superintendent's Round Table is a monthly meeting of school superintendents in the county.

State Commissioner of Education Dr. Carl L. Marburger emphasized his displeasure with Red Bank's stated policies — and with those adopted by most school boards — at last month's state Board of Education meeting. He lumped Red Bank with those districts whose policies, he said, indicated little thought had been given to the handling of the student grievances.

If there's a ban on circulating petitions in Red Bank High School now, it's of fairly recent origin. Just four months ago, students who circulated petitions in school were commended by the board and praised by Dr. Hoops who said the petition approach was "a model of proper procedure for the school." The petitions at that time urged that the birthday of the late Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. be observed as a regular school holiday.

"The board majority thought that banning the petitions would keep things quiet," Mrs. Kopka observed last night. "We (the three dissenting members) tried to tell them it would do just the opposite."

The letters announcing Thursday night's meeting state that "Red Bank schools are in trouble" and declare that concerned citizens "need all interested Red Bank citizens to help us work out the problems."

The letters went out over the signature of Detective Lt. Benjamin H. Glover, president of Red Bank Concerned Citizens, which co-sponsored the recent public rally attended by more than 300 persons. The rally voted overwhelmingly to call for an investigation of the school system.

Coeds Found Slain

The Atlantic County prosecutor, Robert McAllister, said their bodies were found about 20 feet apart and were purposely hidden under leaves.

He said a state trooper had found the car at 11:50 a.m. Friday and had a towing agency haul it away. He said the reason the area was not searched then was because they believed it was a routine abandoned car case. The relationship to the girls was noted when the Ocean City Police issued a 13-state missing persons alert after the parents reported their daughter missing.

The fathers, who came alone with their families, late Monday, identified the girls at Shore Memorial Hospital here.

A parkway maintenance man who was aiding in the police hunt found the bodies 150 yards from where the car had been discovered, 200 feet off the parkway.

State Police Sgt. Joseph Kobus said one of the victims was lying face down and the other face up.

Police speculate that the motive was not robbery since some small bills and change were found in the purses of the victims.

Police said the girls' suit cases were still in the trunk of the car and apparently no violence occurred in the car since there were no obvious signs of a fight.

Police did not speculate if the murders occurred at the scene or elsewhere.

The coeds had stayed in the rooming house for girls operated by Walter Syben and his wife. Syben said the girls had been there since last Tuesday and were cheerful when they drove off early Friday to beat the holiday traffic. They had originally planned to leave Friday evening.

"My wife told those girls, be careful, be careful," Syben said.

Syben said the girls replied that if they got tired they would pull over to the side of the road and rest.

"They were very nice and sophisticated. You could tell immediately they came from good families, the girls were attractive and very plain in their manners," he said.

"They hugged my wife and kissed us goodbye," he related. "The Perry girl told me and my wife: 'I love you for what you are.'"

"They were quiet and well-behaved," he said. "I wish I could get girls like them all the time."

He said the girls had spent a great deal of time on the beach, swimming and sunbathing.

Syben said the girls promised to write when they arrived home safely. Their trip ended 10 miles from the resort house.

One of the fathers, Perry, said he suspected foul play almost from the start.

"The girls simply were not temperamentally capable of driving off some other place without letting us know," Perry said before the bodies were discovered.

"They called Tuesday night and again Wednesday," Davis said. "They had gotten a bit too much sun; they'd been shopping; they said they met a few boys on the beach but nothing exciting."

Davis ruled out boys they had dated at the shore resort as being involved. "We contacted the college boys that they had dated shortly after the girls failed to arrive home Friday," he said, adding that none of them knew of the girls' whereabouts.

"They were not the boy crazy types," Davis said, describing his daughter as one who would not "jump into something and let the chips fall where they may."

The holiday was to be a special treat for the Perry girl.

"Liz was from Minnesota and getting to the seashore was a big deal for her," said Davis.

News of the deaths came to Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Perry, who had joined them in Camp Hill, through an excited reporter who telephoned them.

Without a word, they walked past two newsmen who had been waiting on the patio of the Davises' contemporary brick and stone home. The fathers did not talk to newsmen after they identified the bodies in New Jersey.

He belonged to the DeBow United Methodist Church and Local 196, American Federation of Technical Engineers.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Adele Thompson; a son, Ralph Thompson of Denver, Colo.; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Broderson of Jackson, and a brother, Melvin D. Thompson of South River.

The funeral will be Thursday at 11 a.m. in the C.H.T. Clayton and Son Funeral Home, Adelphia, with the Rev. W. C. Pierce of the Assembly of God Church officiating. Burial will be in Pleasant Grove Cemetery, Jackson Township.

Mrs. Kammerer

ORANGE — Mrs. Oscar O. Kammerer, 87, mother of Emil O. Kammerer of Fair Haven, died Sunday in Middletown Township. She resided here.

Also surviving are two other sons, Oscar W. Kammerer of Beachwood and Harold G. Kammerer of Bloomfield; a daughter, Mrs. Carl Goller of Orange; a brother, Louis Konzi of Modesto, Calif.; nine grandchildren, and 13 great-grandchildren.

Services will be tomorrow at 10 a.m. in the Johnese Nutley Home for Funerals, Nutley.

Mrs. Marion Becker

WEST KEANSBURG — Mrs. Marion Frances Becker, 45, of 59 Holly Ave. died yesterday in Riverview Hospital after a brief illness. She was a registered nurse on the staff of the hospital.

Born in New York City, Mrs. Becker had lived in this area for 22 years. She was the daughter of the late Frank and Margaret Donlon Behne. She was a communicant of St. Ann's Catholic Church here.

Mrs. Becker was a charge nurse on the staff of Riverview Hospital. A veteran of World War II, she served in the Army Nurse Corps for three years and was stationed in the European Theater.

She and her husband, the late Frank Becker, formerly operated the Flamingo Hotel and Bar in Keansburg. She was a member of the N. J. Tavern Owners Association and the Bayside Tavern Owners Association.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Margaret Ann Becker, at home; and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth (Lillie) M. O'Hare of West Keansburg.

A Requiem Mass will be offered Friday at 10 a.m. in St. Ann's Church. Burial, under the direction of the Ryan Funeral Home of Keansburg, will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, Middletown.

The meeting was called after residents loudly protested the construction of two propane gas storage tanks, needed in glass production when natural gas is not available.

The tanks, built at the firm's site without Planning Board approval of the site plan or a building permit, were "the straw that broke the camel's back" according to Mayor Froehlich.

"It seemed a real confrontation was a real possibility," the mayor explained, adding that area residents had become increasingly infuriated with the firm's alleged contribution to dirt, debris and noise in the neighborhood.

In an effort to quell the argument the mayor said he arranged for the meeting because "the residents' opposition to the storage tanks was not based on fear but rather a culmination of a long list of real or imagined grievances."

The confrontation came with Manuel Turner, president of Midland and Wallace Isenberg, a vice-president.

Residents who attended and who were later named to the mayor's ad hoc Midland Glass Neighborhood Advisory Committee, were F. E. Jurewicz of Locust St., Eli Blankley, Carmella DiGiambattista and Mrs. Jean Wagner, all of Cliffwood Ave. and George Gumbs of County Road.

Councilman Daniel Downey was also named to the committee. Robert Taylor, chairman of the Industrial Committee, was asked to be available to meetings.

The committee will be asked to meet regularly to resolve any differences, between the company and residents and check progress of any grievances.

Mayor Froehlich also squashed rumors of an imminent pull-out by the company which had circulated when the Planning Board postponed a decision on the tank site plans last month.

"The failure to get site plan approval and a building permit, were I feel, an unfortunate oversight," Mayor Froehlich commented.

Midland officials have assured me that they will comply in every way with township regulations if the Planning Board gives approval. I hope now that the board can act in this matter based on the facts and not on emotion from residents."

He added that the firm's officials have indicated that once the propane tanks are installed, the plant plans to expand the main building storage facilities by 200,000 square feet.

Midland explained at the May meeting of the Planning Board that the propane storage tanks are not dangerous and were needed to serve auxiliary equipment at the plant when the N.J. Natural Gas Company shut off power.

This, they explained, occurs on the average of 26 days a year, usually in winter, when the demand from private users increases.

The chairman of the Brookdale board of trustees, Maj. Gen. W. Preston Corderman, and vice chairman, Mrs. Harry R. LaTowsky Jr., accompanied Dr. Ervin L. Harlachner, Brookdale president, to the workshop in King of Prussia, Pa. The two-day workshop was sponsored by the American Association of Junior Colleges (AAJC), the New Jersey Division of Two-Year Colleges and the Pennsylvania Bureau of Community Colleges.

Major items on the agenda were the problems and challenges posed by increasing faculty militancy and the approach to negotiations and collective bargaining.

Local School Ties in To the World's Biggest Computer Complex

WEST LONG BRANCH — The Electronic Computer Programming Institute of 215 Monmouth Park Highway has announced the establishment of a direct telecommunications link between the Institute's programmer training laboratories and ITT's IBM 360-45 computer installation in Paramus, which is the world's largest commercial data programming service complex.

Robert K. Bunten, director of ECPI-West Long Branch, said, "Rather than install a second-down computer, we chose to tie directly into this huge computer installation by having a computer control terminal installed here." Bunten explained that the IBM 360-45 computers sometimes used for programmer training are not designed to handle programs in the important COBOL and BAL/3045 programming languages. "Without these two languages, a programming graduate is ill-equipped to qualify for a place on the staff of a full-scale modern computer installation."

Using the IBM terminal, ECPI students will be able to program

LONG BRANCH — Dr. Harry H. Brunt Jr., director of psychiatric services at Monmouth Medical Center, has been elected recorder of the assembly of the American Psychiatric Association, at the annual meeting in Miami, Fla.

The assembly is composed of representatives of the district branches and is one of APA's policy-making bodies. Dr. Brunt attended the Miami meeting as representative of area three, which covers New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and the District of Columbia. He is also a past president of the New Jersey District Branch.

The newly-elected APA officer joined the staff of Monmouth Medical Center late last year after serving as Medical Director and Chief Executive Officer of the Ancora State Hospital in Hammon, the newest of the state-operated psychiatric facilities and the only one in southern New Jersey.

Two Contracts Let By Northeast Sewer

LITTLE SILVER — At a special meeting Thursday, the Northeast Monmouth County Regional Sewerage Authority awarded contracts totaling more than $2.85 million for the main trunk lines in Little Silver and Oceanport.

Somerset Valley Construction Co., Somerville, was awarded a $1,879,000.13 contract for the main trunk line through Little Silver and a section of Oceanport.

D.A. and L. Caruso Inc., Elizabeth, was awarded a $610,800 contract for the main trunk line through a section of Oceanport.

Both were low-bidders. The authority authorized its secretary to advertise for bids for construction of sewers in Little Silver, Shrewsbury, Oceanport and Monmouth Beach, all member towns, and New Shrewsbury and Shrewsbury Township, which will be authority customers.

The bids will be returnable at a special meeting July 8, if they are advertised by June 10, and at a date to be set if they are advertised later than June 10. The $31 million regional sewer network will serve six member and six customer towns.

Mr. Hazlett explained that the college is proceeding slowly in admitting students at this time.

"We want to be certain that we do not admit more students than we can accommodate," he said. "Overcrowding our facilities would threaten the quality of the educational program and would not be in the best interests of any one."

Capacity for the fall term is 1,175 full-time day students. Students who are eligible for admission but cannot be accommodated because of limitations of facilities will be offered two options: They may have their names placed on a waiting list for full-time admission or they may elect to have priority status for admission to part-time programs offered in the evening. Mr. Hazlett indicated that Brookdale will attempt to give such students up to 11 credit hours of work if they enroll as part-time students.

Application materials for part-time study will be distributed this summer. Persons wishing to be placed on the mailing list for these materials may notify the college office at 765 Newman Springs Road.

Head Start Program Final Registration Set

RED BANK — Final registration for the Red Bank-Fair Haven Head Start program will be held Friday at the River Street School, here, and the Knollwood School, Fair Haven. Hours at both the Red Bank and Fair Haven locations will be 9 a.m. until noon, and 1 p.m. until 3.

Sixty-one children have already registered in Red Bank for this summer's program, according to Fred King, supervisor of elementary education. The program will open July 7 and close Aug. 15.

The Head Start Advisory Committee will hold its second meeting at 8 tonight in Red Bank's administration building. Appointments of a director and staff will be discussed.

The committee is headed by Mrs. Alyn-Kearney of Red Bank.

At its first meeting the committee recommended that more hot lunches be served this summer. It also moved to add six more parents to the committee and recommended that MCAP should approve the hiring of Dr. James W. Parker, Jr. as physician, and Dr. William Wright as dentist.

The committee set aside three Saturdays, June 7, 14 and 21, for in-service training days for the staff.

Head Start Advisory Committee members are: Thomas Dove, Mrs. Kearney, Mrs. John Brandon, Alden Small, Mrs. Shirley Small, Mrs. Fred Holden, Mrs. Barbara Heyer, Mrs. Marie Seitz, the Rev. Leonard G. Restaurant Robbed In Middletown

MIDDLETOWN — A knife-wielding thief escaped with approximately $265 early yesterday morning after surprising the night manager of the Burger Chef, Rt. 35, just as she closed the restaurant.

According to Detective Capt. Robert Letts, the victim, identified as Miss Rosemary Stevens, 20, of 56 Third Ave., Atlantic Highlands, said she was walking to her car in the parking lot at 1:45 a.m. carrying the day's receipts in a bank deposit bag when the assailant grabbed her from behind, put a knife to her throat and demanded the money.

She said she turned the bag over to the intruder, who then fled on foot toward Rt. 35.

He is described as a white male in his late teens, 5 feet 5 inches tall, slender build, medium complexion, with dark curly hair. When last seen he was wearing a dark checkered shirt and dark trousers.

Detective Sgt. William

Halliday and Detective Alan Ford are in charge of the investigation.

Drug Suspect Free on Bail

MATAWAN — Brian M. Gerien, 18, of 24 Beacon Lane, Matawan Township, was arraigned Friday before Municipal Court Judge Ralph S. Heuser Jr. on a charge of possession of narcotics and is free on $1,000 bail pending a show cause hearing in Municipal Court on Thursday.

Police said the contents of an envelope found on the front seat of the car the youth was driving when he was stopped by two borough patrolmen on Rt. 34 early Friday morning have been sent to the State Police laboratory in Trenton for analysis. A hypodermic needle and syringe also were found on the front seat of the car, police said.

Police said the Gerien youth's car was stopped by Patrolmen Robert Kerek and Arthur Koneller at 1:24 a.m. Friday when they noticed him driving erratically on Rt. 34. He was alone in the car, police said.

Pair Rob Three Of $300 Cash

FREEHOLD — Police are continuing their investigation of an armed holdup late Wednesday night which netted the robbers $300 in cash.

Police Chief Henry T. Lefkovich said the incident occurred at 11:52 p.m. at the intersection of Phyllis Drive and Manalapan Ave.

The chief gave this account:

Three people were conversing on the corner when two men in their early 20's approached them. One pulled a small-caliber, plated pistol and said, "I'm sorry, but put up your hands and give me your wallets."

The victims were Frank Jarczyński of Levittown, Pa., and Gerald and Rosemarie Icker, 401 W. Sylvania Ave., Neptune.

The two men handed over their wallets and Mrs. Icker surrendered her purse. They contained personal papers, credit cards and approximately $300 in cash.

The two robbers fled on foot, but apparently they had a vehicle nearby, the chief said, as police patrols failed to find anyone walking in the area.

The chief has issued a county alarm for the pair, described as Negroes in their early 20's, one 5 feet 8 inches thin, with an Afro haircut and wearing all black clothing, and the other 5 feet 6 inches also thin, in a white shirt and dark pants.

Sentencing Set In Drug Case

FREEHOLD — Monmouth County Court Judge M. Raymond McGowan has set July 10 for sentencing of Andre Land, N. Ward Ave., Rumson, who has pleaded guilty to possession of hashish at his home last Jan. 27.

Reordering of National Priorities

Aware that President Nixon must grapple with the colossal tasks of resolving the Vietnam war and curbing inflation, Congress has not pressed the chief executive to offer ambitious programs for the easing of the nation's domestic ills.

Unfortunately, Mr. Nixon has seemed to be more concerned with augmenting an immensely powerful military establishment than attacking substantive problems intimately affecting the moral and physical health of the nation.

Thus there are signs that Congress may not be so patient with the President. U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., has urged Mr. Nixon to reorder national priorities away from building "limitless" military power and toward restoring "domestic tranquility."

Although he maintains that the President has initiated more realistic policies dealing with inflation and other economic problems than the Johnson Administration, Sen. Javits believes that the Nixon Administration has failed to articulate new approaches to such problems as the nation's decaying cities, tax reform and the revision of foreign economic policies.

The senator suggests that the President gave undue weight to the counsels of military advisers in preparing the budget. Only $1.1 billion has been pared from a swollen military budget, but $2.9 billion has been cut from crucial domestic programs. He says $5 billion more must be appropriated for domestic spending if new crises are to be countered.

Mr. Nixon is undoubtedly correct in his assessment of unchecked inflation. Soaring living costs impose a cruel hardship on low income groups. Such people as Robert S. Benson, former Defense Department official, claim, however, that as much as $9 billion could be cut from the defense budget "without reducing our security or touching those funds earmarked for the war in Vietnam."

For a start, Mr. Nixon might delay deployment of the questionable ABM program pending the outcome of disarmament talks with the Soviet Union. Denial of funds to needed public programs in tumultuous times could prove to be a disastrous example of false economy.

Fort, Eatontown in Accord

It is comforting to learn that Ft. Monmouth and Eatontown officials have reached accord on educating 100 new students who are to be housed in new construction in the Capehart Area of the fort.

Geographically, the area is in New Shrewsbury. Eatontown, however, has for a long time been educating children from the fort.

Eatontown's Board of Education and Borough Council naturally express concern about costs when Eatontown taxpayers are adversely affected. This occurred a few years ago, when governmental red tape was responsible for a cutback in aid, which subsequently was restored.

We like to think of Army youngsters as part of the county community and, as such, deserving of the best education possible. In addition, these children — who quite often have traveled extensively — can enrich the lives of those with whom they go to school.

The amicable settling of the Capehart question is evidence that the fort and Eatontown are continuing the fine relationship that has been cherished by Maj. Gen. William B. Latta and his predecessors.

Red Bank and Recreation

Outdoor folk dancing, scheduled for tonight in Marine Park, is among the events arranged by the Red Bank Parks and Recreation Department. The program announced yesterday by the department is ambitious, indeed, and is designed to appeal to young and old — and those in between.

We continue to be impressed by the enthusiasm Alfred A. Gatta, recreation director, has exhibited. Both in expanding the department's functions and in working with area organizations, he and council's Recreation Committee, headed by Councilman William S. Anderson, deserve praise.

Whether it's the little ones at supervised play or the Old Guard playing shuffleboard, Red Bankers should feel fortunate that the summer will afford them so many enjoyments within the confines of the borough.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Unwelcome Mat for Fortas

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
If former Justice Abe Fortas insists on returning to his old law firm, of which he was one of three founders 23 years ago, it will be over the opposition of an overwhelming majority of its partners and associates.

That was made starkly clear at an unusual showdown on the matter. Only three senior partners voted in favor of Fortas' rejoining the firm.

Following is the inside story:
Accounts differ on who proposed that Fortas resume connection with the firm. According to one version, he initiated the move. Another, it was made by his close friend and fellow founder Paul Porter, New Deal chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Porter is credited as being very eager to have Fortas back. But in sounding out firm members, Porter, to his dismay, discovered considerable objection. After talking it over with senior partners, decision was reached to hold a meeting of the entire firm.

The discussion was thorough and frank. Porter and Thurman Arnold, the third founder and top partner, vigorously urged that Fortas be asked to return. Arnold, crusading head of the Anti-Trust Division and a federal judge in the Roosevelt Administration, particularly lauded Fortas' "idealism" and legal efforts in behalf of civil rights.

Both Porter and Arnold contended the firm owed it to Fortas to invite him back. But younger partners and associates didn't see it that way. Without directly chiding or criticizing Fortas, they made it very clear they felt the firm could best do without him. Some voiced surprise that Fortas would want to resume the practice of law. They implied he would be better advised to occupy himself with writing or teaching.

Carolyn Agger (Mrs. Fortas) attended the meeting, but said nothing. She is sixth-ranking partner and head of the firm's tax division, with a number of lawyers and accountants working directly under her. Among attorneys, her income is reported to be in excess of $100,000 a year.

The vote produced the following results: For Fortas' return—Arnold, Porter and William McGovern, fifth-ranking partner; against—34 other partners and associates; not voting—Miss Agger and Norman Diamond, fourth-ranking partner.

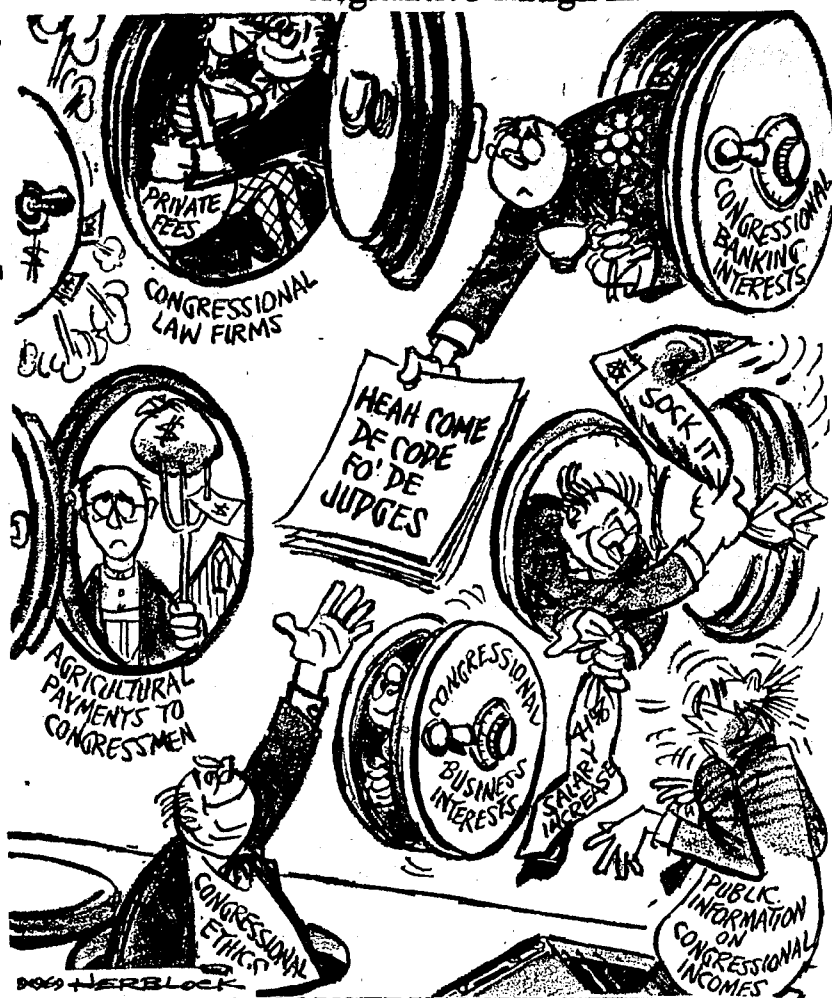

Since this meeting, some firm members have hinted they will quit if Fortas disregards this overwhelming rejection and does come back. One promising young attorney slated to join the Arnold, Porter "shop" changed his mind and accepted another offer.

ON THE GRIDDLE — A leading member of the House Judiciary Committee wants Justice William O. Douglas summoned before it for thorough questioning on his outside activities and considerable income, particularly from the Albert Parvin Foundation, which got quite a bit of its funds from Las Vegas gambling casinos.

Rep. Clark MacGregor, R-Minn., who spearheaded the House drive that led to the resignation of Justice Abe Fortas, is proposing that to committee chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., MacGregor is sponsoring a bill imposing stringent limitations on the outside activities and income of federal judges, and wants Douglas interrogated in connection with this legislation.

CELLER is cautiously not committing himself on MacGregor's extraordinary proposal.
THE LONG-TIME Judiciary chairman says he wants to see what the Judicial Conference headed by Chief Justice Warren does about formulating a code of ethics for federal judges. Also the report of the Ethics Committee of the American Bar Association which is considering the charges and complaints against Douglas.

Legislative Laugh-In

A Letter From Rickover

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK
Several weeks ago, Sen. John O. Pastore wrote to Adm. H. G. Rickover. The senator asked for the admiral's views on where the nation is going and what needs to be done in a military way at a time of national debate on preparedness.

Rickover responded with a letter that merits the widest possible reading. Let me give him the floor.

"The first point I would like to make," Rickover wrote, "is that in judging between conflicting views on this matter, the deciding factor must be their relevance to the world as it is, not as we would wish it to be. Granted the hideousness of modern war, can we deduce therefrom that mankind is now wise enough to forego recourse to arms? A look at history should put us on guard against those who claim that humanity has now reached a state where the possibility of armed aggression can be safely disregarded in formulating national policy."

"I am reminded of the intense opposition to the Navy's 15-cruiser bill in 1929. It was argued by many that with the signing of the Kellogg Peace Pact the year before, it was no longer necessary to build new warships. And this in light of the lessons of World War I which erupted despite the various Hague Peace Treaties! These ships were of inestimable value in helping us to win World War II. The war itself was prolonged because the Congress — heading the 'merchants of death' argument — in 1939 prohibited shipment of war materials to Britain and France."

THEN, TOO, weight must be given to the credentials of those propounding opposite views. Are they public servants, charged with the awesome responsibility to secure our country against foreign conquest? Or are they private individuals not accountable for the consequences of their opinions, who feel free to express their personal abhorrence of war and to agitate for a reduction of the financial burden military preparedness imposes on the taxpayer?

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Revolution Hits Office

By SYLVIA PORTER
The U.S. consumer revolution has finally sifted down to the area where 34 million of us spend a full one-third of our lives—the office.

Doomed to extinction or to undergo drastic change are office concepts and hardware created for a way of life dead and gone. You know... the completely enclosed "boxes" in which the bosses isolate themselves behind monster mahogany status symbols; the inhuman row upon rigid row of steel desks with their clumsy drawers at which you sit all day; the huge file cabinets in which we hide paper until it is obsolete, irrelevant and overwhelming.

On the way—and already here in some of America's top corporations—is the "Action Office" concept in which each of us, from the board chairman down to the file clerk, has the tools with which to fix up our own "work stations" to suit ourselves and our jobs.

TO ILLUSTRATE... Free-standing panels which we can move to create areas completely, or partially enclosed or not enclosed at all; tables of varying heights at which we can stand or sit as we work; files which will have limited capacity and be displayed so that we'll be tempted to purge paper as it becomes obsolete; small conference tables scattered throughout the work areas at which we can meet for discussions; built-in spaces for our computers and other necessary electrical equipment.

Yesterday, Herman Miller, Inc., the

"Would the majority of the electorate accept their argument that, given our unmet domestic needs, we cannot afford an effective defense position vis-a-vis our potential adversaries? Or that war is so horrible that it is better to suffer defeat than to fight?"

"As for the high cost of preparedness, it is in fact no greater proportional to total U.S. output than 10 years ago—8.8 per cent of total U.S. goods and services. Omitting the costs of the Vietnam War, and allowing for inflation, our armed forces have less buying power today than a decade ago."

"In the Soviet Union, on the other hand—according to the annual report of the congressional subcommittee on foreign economic policy issued last June—resources have been diverted from the farm sector to defense, where outlays rose dramatically in 1966-67, after remaining static since 1962."

"IF HISTORY teaches anything, it is surely that weakness invites attack; that it takes but one aggressor to plunge the world into war against the wishes of dozens of peace-loving nations if the former is militarily strong and the latter are not."

"As a lawyer, you are familiar with Blackstone's statement that security of the person is the first, and liberty of the individual the second 'absolute right inherent in every Englishman.' Just so, the first right of every American is to be protected against foreign attack, and the first duty of government is to keep our nation alive. Given the world situation, this calls for maintenance of a defense capability which is adequate to discourage potential aggressors."

"There can surely be no doubt that the overwhelming majority of the American people are opposed to relinquishment of our defense capability, recognizing full well that there will then be no one left to prevent the takeover by Communist power. Whether one takes the optimistic view that a permanent East-West detente can be negotiated, or the pessimistic view that ultimately we shall have to fight for our liberties, this nation has no future if it allows itself to be outmatched militarily."

Idiots and Ignorance

Florence Road
Middletown, N. J.

To the Editor:
Mrs. Judith Astor Smith, who agrees with the restriction against prayer in our schools, writes that she is shocked by the "total ignorance of the public" who disagree with the ban.

I am 'shocked by ignorance, too. Hers! She wrote "Why should a Moslem be subjected to a Christian prayer or a Christian to a Jewish prayer. One general enough to please them all would say nothing."

I wonder if she actually thinks that the 23rd Psalm says nothing. It is accepted by the Moslems, the Christians and the Jews. They all share the same God. The Moslems accept Christ as a prophet along with Moses, and Mohammed. The Jews accept Moses as a prophet and Christ as a teacher. Even the prayer said by Christ in Matt: 6 would not offend the Jewish people since it is directed to their God, too.

One prayer ruled unconstitutional by the Warren Court was "God bless my family, God bless my school, and God bless my country." Anti-Semitic? No. Anti-Christian? No. Anti-Moslem? No.

How about that shocking little "God is great, God is good, and we thank Thee for this food." Imagine all the damage that must have done when our children said it!

The First Amendment says there shall be no law prohibiting the free exercise of religion in addition to the portion so often quoted. How can anyone with any sense of reasoning defend a court that took prayer from tax supported schools and then ruled it is constitutional to give taxpayers' money to Catholic schools for textbooks and busing? I agree with Assemblyman Azzolina. They are a bunch of idiots.

Sincerely,
Lillian Holbert

Aid Squad Praised

Lincroft, N. J.

To the Editor:
It has come to my attention that the Lincroft First Aid and Rescue Squad has launched its annual fund-raising drive. I would like to express my assistance to them by calling attention to my personal experience as a recipient of their devoted work in their endeavor to provide aid to unfortunate persons who require assistance in time or serious illness and injury.

On Sept. 23, 1965, while engaged in a trial at the Court House in Freehold, I was suddenly stricken with a severe stroke to the extent that I was entirely incapacitated. It was my desire to be moved to my home and not to a hospital. Arrangements were made, unknown to me, so that upon my arrival at my home in Lincroft, the Lincroft First Aid and Rescue Squad was waiting to carry me into the house. The squad members assisted me in many ways to the extent that words cannot express my thanks and appreciation to the squad and its members.

The building of the Lincroft First Aid and Rescue Squad was recently severely damaged by fire, causing serious financial problems.

It is hoped that this small expression of public thanks to the Lincroft First Aid and Rescue Squad will encourage the public to realize how fortunate they are to have such a devoted and efficient organization to offer aid and assistance to those dependent upon them when illness or injury strikes, and will assist in helping their fund drive to go over the top.

The Center Is a Success

Red Bank Community Center
144 West Bergen Place
Red Bank, N. J.

To the Editor:
On behalf of the president and the board members of the Red Bank Community Center, we would like to publicly thank your newspaper and particularly Doris Kulman for the fair and accurate reporting of "the center's activities since its inception. We think it is fair to say that without the promotion help of The Register we would not have progressed so far as we have today."

After 10 months of operation, we are happy to report that we have an active enrollment of over 500 people. There are programs for adults, teen-agers, young people and nursery age children with more activities starting each week.

We would also like to thank the many Monmouth County residents who have contributed cash, books, games, records and even a piano. The local firms and businessmen have been most cooperative in lending us equipment and giving valuable advice. For all this help, the Community Center is extremely grateful.

We're convinced that our director, Mr. Aaron Knight, is doing a wonderful job and we all feel proud of the results. Visitors are welcome and we hope some of your readers will stop in at the center.

Very truly yours,
Howard Rudrow

The Fort's Cannon

6 Roslyn Drive
Oakhurst, N. J.

To the Editor:
In response to the man complaining about the cannon at Fort Monmouth:

Thank you lucky stars the cannon that awakens you is being fired from Ft. Monmouth.

Haven't you ever been awakened by the bugle and ever thrilled to the Stars and Stripes being raised? Ever listen in the evening to the sounds of taps? You have a lot to be thankful for, and better lose a minute's sleep in the morning, be able to "roll over for as long as you like" than to live in under another rule with many sleepless nights.

Happy to hear our cannon any time.

Teacher Education Graduate School to Give 10 Degrees

WEST LONG BRANCH — The first 10 persons to complete their requirements in the graduate program of the Department of Teacher Education will receive advanced degrees at the college's 35th annual commencement Saturday.

The college began offering graduate courses after it had received state Department of Higher Education approval of its program in 1967. The first graduate students enrolled in the Teacher Education Department in the 1967 summer session.

Park Tract Nets $15,000 In Ocean

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — Township Council last night sold a 15-acre Industrial Park tract for $15,000.

The property went to Herbert Axelrod, Bernard Duke and Harold Bader. They were represented by Harry Tumen, Asbury Park attorney.

A measure to repeal the criminal registration ordinance, downed by the state Supreme Court last month, was approved by council.

Other codes passed by council action were an ordinance to prohibit the sale of meat wrapped in other than clear and colorless packages; a measure to set parking regulations on Sunset Ave., Wickapecko Drive and Larkin Place, and a code to change the name of Hanks Place to Elberon Blvd.

All three ordinances were introduced at the May 19 council session.

Anthony Kostna Jr., 187 Pinecrest Road, and James T. Hopkins of 409 Wells Ave., were named special police officers by the council.

Dr. William H. Atkins, chairman of the Department of Teacher Education, said two graduate students will receive the master of arts in teaching degree, while eight persons will receive the masters of science degree in education.

Paul J. Boucher, Alpern Ave., Elberon, and Jeffrey H. Karger, Henry Hudson Parkway, Riverdale, N. Y., will receive the master of arts in teaching in the field of secondary education. He is employed by Ft. Monmouth as operations research analyst. Mr. Karger, a teacher in the New York City school system, holds a bachelor of arts degree in history from Monmouth.

Receiving master of science degree in education are Frances R. Calabria, Herbert Drive, Englishtown, who holds a bachelor of science degree in business education from Monmouth.

Laura P. DeWyngaert, Sunrise Road, Belford, holds a bachelor of arts degree in fine arts from Monmouth. She teaches at Thorne Junior High, Port Monmouth.

Althea H. Egbert, Asbury Ave., Asbury Park, teaches in the Hazlet school system and holds a bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Monmouth.

John S. Jones, Parker Road, West Long Branch, is chairman of the Social Studies Department at Shore Regional High School and holds a bachelor of science degree in secondary education from Monmouth.

Michael R. Krauthelm, Lake Ave., Spring Lake Heights, teaches at Shore Regional High School, and holds a bachelor of science degree in secondary education from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

James G. Meaney, Timothy St., Brick Township, is chairman of the Science Department at Shore Regional High School and holds a bachelor of science degree in physical education and education from St. Peter's College.

Ruth M. Weiner, Norgrove Ave., Elberon, holds a bachelor of science degree in secondary education from Monmouth.

Gladys Willman, Roseld Ave., Deal, teaches at Ocean Township High School and holds a bachelor of science in zoology from Ohio University.

Master of Science in Physics Degrees for 5 at Monmouth

WEST LONG BRANCH — Among students receiving degrees at commencement exercises Saturday at Monmouth College will be five men representing the first group to graduate from the master of science in physics program begun two years ago.

The first graduate students in the Department of Physics enrolled in September 1967. There are 27 students in the program.

"By the end of the semester, these people will have completed the 24 credits of advanced course work and the thesis which is required for the degree," Dr. Derek A. Barnes, department chairman, said.

He said research undertaken in the department covers approximate methods in quantum mechanics, plasma physics, atomic structure and laser holography. The thesis presented for review this semester, he added, dealt with problems in the first two areas.

The students are all employees at Ft. Monmouth. Their names, and addresses are: Leonard M. Compton, Eaton Crest Drive, Eatontown, a physicist at the U.S. Army Electronics Command. He received a bachelor of science degree in physics from Monmouth.

Salvatore F. LaForgia, Dallas Drive, Toms River, who holds a bachelor of science degree in physics from St. Bonaventure University, Orleans, N.Y. He is a physicist in the Display Techniques Branch, Communications Automatic Data Processing Lab.

David F. Register, Eaton Crest Drive, Eatontown, a physicist in the Solid State and Frequency Control Division. He earned a bachelor of science degree in physics from Boston College, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

Raymond L. Ross, Dover

Ave., Oakhurst, a research physical scientist with Division E of the Institute for Exploratory Research. He received a bachelor of science degree in physics from Monmouth.

James D. Schumacher, Stony Hill Road, Eatontown, who holds a bachelor of science degree in physics from Monmouth. He is a physicist in Solid State and Frequency Control.

Dr. Barnes said Mr. LaForgia, Mr. Ross and Mr. Schumacher investigated problems in mathematical physics which are of interest in plasma physics, astrophysics and field emission theory.

Mr. Compton and Mr. Register, he said, applied variational techniques to calculate growth rates of instabilities observed in nuclear fusion devices.

7 Motorists Are Fined

NEW SHREWSBURY — Traffic violators appeared in Municipal Court yesterday before Judge Lawrence A. Carlton 3rd.

Willie M. Santy of Newark was fined $55 and had his drivers license revoked for six months when found guilty of driving while impaired.

Elaine Conway of Keyport was fined $30 and had her driver's license revoked for 60 days, for driving at 85 miles per hour in a 60 mph zone. Thomas J. Ely of Ridge-wood was fined $20 and had his license revoked for 30 days for speeding 75 in a 60 mph zone.

Frank J. Glaquinto of Totowa was fined $17 for careless driving; James J. Oberdich of New Monmouth was fined $15 for speeding 69 miles per hour in a 60 mph zone, and Donald W. Sinclair of Elizabeth was fined $12 for making an unsafe move without the use of his signals.

Matthew N. Lantry of Orange was fined $25 and was ordered to pay $65 for contempt of court when convicted of a 1966 charge of speeding 80 miles per hour in a 60 mph zone.

Cool in the Kitchen

Margaret Stern: Panic-Proof Party Hostess

By MARGOT SMITH
SEA BRIGHT — Having spent two fast hours with Margaret Stern, I will never again be terrified at the thought of entertaining.

Margaret Stern is an un-sinkable hostess, a genuine panic-proof giver of parties. She has successfully steered three at a time (one her own daughter's wedding reception) and come up bubbling like fresh-poured champagne. Though she claims that business procedures foil her, that long-range planning leaves her cold, and cooking is not her forte, Margaret has got herself chin-deep in a catering service that keeps her in a constant party whirl. And Margaret loves parties.

"Every one I give is my first. And I have a ball!" Laughing all the way, Margaret, whose business is based in Westfield, and whose Sea Bright home is on the river at 253 Ocean Ave., tells of how it all started, 23 years and thousands of fried chickens ago, when she had three tots under four, a husband down with illness, and a mighty good recipe for lemon meringue tarts.

Many impulsive decisions followed the one which catapulted her into the catering business. She simply said to a friend, "I'm going to 'do' parties."

She got an immediate contract, dessert for eight ladies. "Those tarts really came out high and nice, and I was in business," Margaret, now a mother of five and grandmother of four, recalls.

Within four months, the Stern endeavor netted a wedding, at $1 a head. Her reputation spread without benefit of advertising and Margaret acquired a helper. Now she has 40.

In the early days of her career, Margaret took on an order for dinner for 1,000 to be served in the Elizabeth Armory. It had no kitchen and no running water.

"We cooked everything in my home on my six-burner, two-oven stove and took it over to the armory in my station wagon. I had the brilliant idea to freeze scoops of mashed potatoes (those were the early days of freezers) but forgot about the defrosting. We had thawing potatoes spread out on the piano and all the living room tables."

Dishes for 1,000

"They brought in two stoves at the armory, to keep things warm, and a nice janitor ran a hose through a window to provide water. I had no idea of how many dishes had to be rented for 1,000 people. They came in three truckloads . . . It was a beautiful party!"

Having surmounted that challenge, and further bolstered her reputation, Margaret tackled Con Edison's order for a Circle Line boat tour around Manhattan, breakfast and lunch for 250, aboard ship.

"They promised me a stove, and I got a hot plate!"

The ship was garlanded with flowers and boughs, and yellow-clothed tables were set with forest green dishes.

"Since then, we've done it 12 times. I can really say I've catered around Manhattan!"

There were parties on tug boats, in a converted chicken coop, and a poolside wedding reception. No challenge ever foiled Margaret Stern.

Keeps No Lists

She never makes lists or keeps records of how much food is needed for her parties. Each assignment is like starting all new. Bouncing from one to another, she has always "found a way," no matter how bizarre the specifications. After each party, the indomitable hostess reviews the proceedings and calls it "the best ever."

A success story like Margaret's has got to have a formula.

Keep cool, yes, but how?

Spontaneity Is Key

"Don't get overcome with details," Margaret says. "I hate details. The main idea is to get everyone relaxed and having fun. A little of the unexpected adds life, and no one is going to worry the next day." Spontaneity is the essence of Margaret and the key to her success. "If something goes really wrong, don't let it become obvious."

Believing that a party should end in full swing, Margaret subtly manages to have the bride and bridegroom leave the wedding reception before the guests find rose petals melting in their hands.

"Photographers should not become intrusive at wedding receptions. It's the bride's day, and she should enjoy her own party."

Music Helps

Music helps any party, Margaret says, whether it's an eight-piece band or the phonograph. A theme helps, too, sets a mood.

Margaret says that her own private parties have taken place with minimum time for preparation. Only once has she issued written invitations. "We always had a Christmas open house for all the children's friends, but they just 'happened.'" Margaret's theory is that if you spend too much time planning a party, you're too immersed in detail to enjoy it yourself.

Margaret suggests a guest list that doesn't bring the same people together all the time. "People enjoy meeting new people."

If she had her way, Margaret would outlaw steam tables and receiving lines. "Neither contributes anything."

If she had her way, and she usually does, Margaret Stern, the hostess who fed 2,000 at a two-day plant opening and then rushed to the bedside of her seriously ill daughter, would go on "having a ball" forever.

'Oliver' Premiere to Benefit Arthritis Foundation Chapter

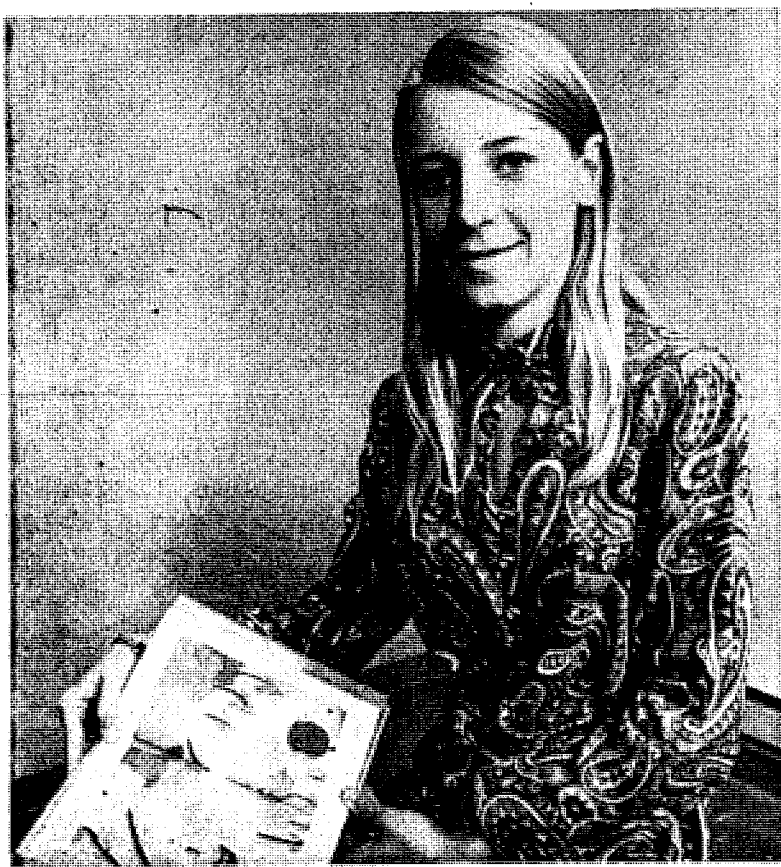

RUMSON — The Monmouth County Committee, N. J. Chapter, The Arthritis Foundation, is sponsoring the premiere showing of "Oliver!" Friday, June 20 in the Lyric Theatre in Asbury Park. "Oliver!" the winner of six Academy Awards, including "Best Film of the Year," is entertainment for the whole family.

Mrs. Ralph Berman of Rumson, is chairman of this fund-raising project for the benefit of the New Jersey Chapter, The Arthritis Foundation.

Funds realized from this premiere showing will help support the Chapter program of public and professional education as well as patient and community services in Monmouth County and surrounding areas.

Mrs. William Wrightson Jr., Rumson, is honorary chairman of the committee. Aides include Mrs. Charles J. Bajart, Oakhurst; Mrs. James Barker, Rumson; Mrs. Andrew Dedick, Rumson; Mrs. James R. Hinton Jr., Fair Haven; Mrs. Andrew Kennedy, Shrewsbury; Mrs. A. Vincent Lawrence, Rumson; Mrs. John Lenhart, Rumson; Mrs. James Nelson, Fair Haven; Mrs. Frederick W. Rose, Fair Haven; Mrs. Albert Schwartz, Long Branch; Mrs. Erma Sweeney, West Long Branch; Mrs. Nathan Troum, Deal; and Mrs. Earl G. Tyree of Fair Haven. Tickets for this benefit performance may be obtained from anyone on the committee or at any Walter Reade Theatre.

NOT GRIM ABOUT GRIMM

Linda Buterbaugh, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buterbaugh, 266 Harmony Road, Middletown, displays her painting based on the Grimm fairy tale, "The White Snake," which is included in a recently published edition of Grimm's Fairy Tales.

(Register Staff Photo)

Debut of Young Illustrator

MIDDLETOWN — Two years is a long time to wait. Linda Buterbaugh can testify to that.

Two years ago, when she was 14, she painted a tempera impression of "The White Snake," a Grimm fairy tale. Her painting, done as an art class project at Thorne Junior High School, was then entered in a contest sponsored by the Follett Publishing Co. The contest, open to children of all nations between the ages of 4 and 14, was designed to discover whimsical illustrations for a new edition of Grimm's fairy tales. Linda received $10 and a copy of the book as an award.

Worth the Wait

A year later, Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Buterbaugh, 266 Harmony

Road, was selected as one of the seven United States winners. Another year passed before the book was published. Only recently available, the book is well worth the wait, for the translation of the classic stories is excellent, and the illustrations are bright and effective.

Late Arrival

Linda's wait was further prolonged last week. An exhibition of the illustrations was to have opened at the Monmouth County Library, Eastern Division, Broad St., Shrewsbury. A delay in transit forced a postponement in the opening date, but now the exhibit is hung and on view in the Library's Children's Room. The exhibit will continue through June 16.

By POPPY CANNON

WASHINGTON — Considerable renovation and redecoration has been afoot in the President's private apartments at the White House, but as yet there has been no official showing. Nevertheless, top secrets have leaked. The look of the drawing room and the private dining room and kitchen (which Jacqueline Kennedy installed) is known to be now — definitely yellow.

When the Nixons dine with the Nixons in family, the table is often covered with a sunny yellow cloth, not unlike those used at the last three official state dinners — when, however, they were surmounted by embroidered organdy covers. Almost always there are flowers on the Nixon table — often smaller, simplified versions of the official floral centerpieces which include orange lilies, yellow gerbera daisies, yellow and white marguerites, carnations, snapdragons and spoon chrysanthemums — also in shades of orange, yellow and white — and often a few white sweet peas and sprays of gypsophila.

Unlike many first families, the Nixons did not bring a family cook with them to the White House. Chef Henry Haller cooks their meals, but no grand cuisine for them when they are alone.

When the President's schedule permits, they like to eat early — between 7 and 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Nixon rarely makes suggestions about the menu, for already the chef knows their likes and dislikes. On one occasion, however, Mrs. Nixon made a suggestion. When daughter Julia and her young husband David came down from Cambridge, she said, "Let's have steak tonight. On their budget, they don't get it very often."

Chilled Baked Apples
Sabayon Sauce

SAUTEED CALVES LIVER AND BACON — Remove the skin and membrane from 1 lb. calves liver; have it cut into slices about 1/4 inch thick. Roll in flour which has been seasoned with salt, pepper and a little paprika. Heat 4 tbs. butter or bacon drippings in a pan which has been slightly rubbed with garlic. Sauté liver quickly, not more than 2 min. on each side. Sprinkle very lightly with grated lemon rind and 2 or 3 tbs. lemon juice or dry red table wine. Serve on heated plates and pour the sauce over the liver.

Serve immediately.

PARSLEY POTATOES — Potatoes are potatoes are potatoes. But to give them a truly cheflike flavor, add a small, quartered onion, 4 whole peppercorns and a tiny sliver of crumbled bay leaf to the cooking water. Boil quickly until just tender. Drain immediately and toss in a heavy pan over heat until they develop a covering of "downy feathers."

SOME PEOPLE like to mix the chopped parsley with butter, to pour over the potatoes. With liver, however, we like them best with plain, chopped parsley.

GREEN BEANS AMANTINE — Why not use frozen? SABAYON SAUCE — In the top of a double boiler combine the grated rind and juice of half a lemon and 1/2 cup orange juice or white wine, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks. Set over hot water and beat with a whisk or rotary beater until thick. Cool slightly, then fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Adler

Golden Wedding

MILLBURN—Mr. and Mrs. Abe Adler of Bradley Beach, and North Miami Beach, Fla. were honored at a reception here in the Short Hills Caterers, in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

Hosts were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Adler of Union, and Mr. and Mrs. David Rappaport of Matawan. Included in the processional ceremony, as honor attendants, were their four grandchildren, Neal and Beth Adler, and Barbara and Jill Rappaport.

Mr. Adler, born in Poland, and former Anna Weinbaum of Russia were married there in 1919 and came to this country in 1922. They lived in Irvington for many years, until moving to the shore area and Florida, in recent years.

Mr. Adler operated a mill-work business for many years in Newark and Irvington and then opened a lumber yard in Middletown, when many farmlands still existed there, and was one of the early business pioneers in that town. He is now retired from active business, but still owns the Adler Shopping Center on Rt. 35, Middletown.

ANN LANDERS

No More House Calls

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I own a profitable carpet business. My brother works for us. Vernon and I do the selling and my brother and a helper do the installations.

Yesterday a socially prominent woman came in and selected some expensive carpeting for a small room. Vernon sold it to her. She asked if he would lay the carpet personally. Instead of telling her that someone else does the installation, he said, "I'd be happy to."

Today Vernon left the shop with the lady's carpeting. He was gone five hours and I was worried sick. He came back at 6:00 P.M. — drunk as a skunk — said they'd had a few cocktails, got to talking and lost track of time. He also said my brother should go over tomorrow and lay the carpeting as he never got around to it.

I am furious. If Vernon had been picked up in our truck for drunk driving it could have ruined us. When I tried to explain this to him he called me square and said personal attention is good for business. What do you say? — Alma

Dear Alma: Personal attention is good for business, but when it gets TOO personal it's bad for business. Tell Vernon to stay in the shop and out of the truck and let your brother make all house calls from now on.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow who is getting mighty fed up on women who view every unmarried female as a threat to their marriages. A woman I work with was leaving the office just as I was. Her husband was waiting in front to pick her up. When he saw me, he poked his head out the car window and asked if I'd like a lift home. (They live a few blocks from my apartment.) I said, "Yes, thank you," and started toward the car. His wife leaped in front of me and elbowed her way in to the car to make certain I didn't sit next to him.

I said, in a voice dripping with honey, "Your husband is very attractive, Myrtle, but I make it a rule never to attack a man while he's driving." Her face turned red and she didn't reply. Her husband laughed for five minutes. This morning when I saw her in the office she was very cool.

Do you feel I spoke out of turn? — V.B.C.

Dear V.: Your remark was exquisite! I couldn't have done better myself.

Dear Ann Landers: We just brought our two-and-a-half-year-old daughter and our one-and-a-half-year-old boy home from the hospital. They had their stomachs pumped. It wasn't a very pleasant experience for us or for them.

Please inform all mothers in your reading audience that no bottle is childproof and no shelf is out of reach. All medicines and cleaning fluids should be kept in a metal box or a cupboard — under lock and key. Surely the extra trouble is worth a child's life. Your youngster may not be as lucky as ours. — Cuyahoga Falls

Dear C.F.: I've printed such warnings in the past but I'm willing to do so again. Busy mothers forget and need to be reminded.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

... alert, and intelligent, and as mature as such little children CAN be, are invited to join our new kindergarten classes. Our success in teaching reading and arithmetic to qualified five-year-olds encouraged us last year to believe that something more in the way of readiness training could be done for certain four-year-old children than was being accomplished. We started this program, and it certainly worked, with a fair number actually going into formal reading and number work during the year. We plan to continue permanently with these groups and are ready to examine applicants. The children will attend class in our primary school center at Rumson, which is devoted to the training of four-, five-, and six-year-old children. They will attend school from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. during the conventional school year, with plenty of provision for rest. If you are interested, please call us and arrange for preliminary testing. Cepeda Comes Home

Orlando Cepeda came home to St. Louis last night... and came home... and came home... and came home.

And when Atlanta's slugging first baseman was through touching home plate for the evening the Braves had ended a four-game losing streak by trimming Cepeda's once-beloved El Birdos, the Cardinals, 6-3.

Cepeda tripled and scored in the second inning, cracked his 10th home run in the fourth and walked and scored again in the fifth in his first St. Louis appearance since he was traded for Joe Torre during spring training. Torre was hitless in three at-bats, once popping up with two men on base.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego shaded Philadelphia 6-4 and the New York Mets nipped Los Angeles 2-1 and San Diego shaded Philadelphia 6-4. The San Francisco-Montreal and Cincinnati-Pittsburgh games were washed out while the Chicago Cubs and Houston were not scheduled.

In American League action, the Chicago White Sox out-slugged Boston 6-4, Minnesota edged the New York Yankees 3-2, Washington outlasted Kansas City 7-6, California topped Detroit 3-1 and Seattle trounced Cleveland 8-2.

Cepeda agreed that it was a "fine homecoming" after helping send the Cards to their 17th home setback in 23 games. And then he came up with a line which St. Louis fans who cheered many of his 61 homers and 257 runs batted in over the past three seasons may find hard to believe.

"I don't like hitting here," he said of Busch Stadium. "This is a tough ball park."

I never hit too good in this ball park."

Most parks look alike to Henry Aaron, though, and the Braves' right fielder capped the night's scoring with an eighth-inning homer, his 12th of the season and 552nd of his career. It pushed him past Ted Williams into fifth place on the all-time homer list.

Atlanta's 10-hit attack, which included four singles by Sonny Jackson, helped unbeaten George Stone record his sixth victory. He needed relief help from Cecil Upshaw, who worked the last three innings.

The expansion San Diego Padres used Nate Colbert's two-run homer and Tommy Dean's two-run double to beat Philadelphia for their fourth straight win, a team record. A four-run sixth wrapped it up.

There's nothing half-baked about Chicago's Sweetroll Kid. Before long, he might be the hottest biscuit in baseball's swinging May family.

Carlos "Sweetroll" May, whose older brother, Lee, hits home runs for Cincinnati, poled the first grand slam homer of his brief major league career Monday night, climaxing a six-run eighth inning rally that thrust the Chicago Sox past Boston.

The homer, 11th of the season for the Chicago rookie, gave him 29 RBI in 38 games and boosted his batting average to .307 — fifth best in the American League.

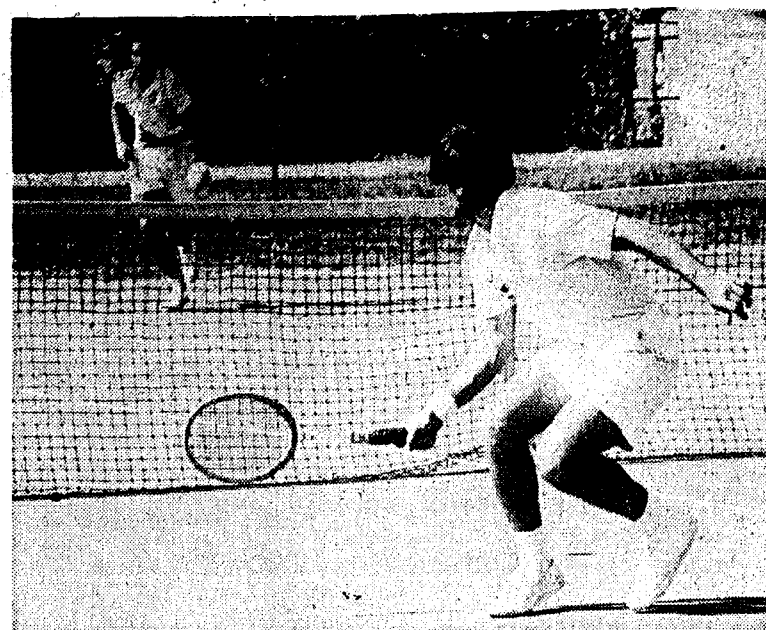

Brother Lee has hit 15 homers and knocked in 35 runs for the Reds in four more games, but his average is 23 points lower.

"Carlos is going to be an even better hitter than his brother," says Luis Aparicio, the White Sox' veteran shortstop. "Lee is good. I know he hit .290 last season with 22 homers and 80 RBI. I looked it up."

"But Carlos has a better swing. In maybe two years he'll pass Lee."

Hegan Cracks Pair
Seattle's Mike Hegan cracked two homers and a single to move into the No. 6 spot in the AL batting derby with a .304 mark as the Pilots slammed Cleveland.

May, nicknamed "Cupcake" and then "Sweetroll" by White Sox teammates because of his butterball physique, smacked 10 homers before celebrating his 21st birthday on May 17.

BACKHANDED RETURN — Monmouth Regional's Gary Hyde backhands a return to Long Branch's Ken Resnick during first round play yesterday in the Monmouth College Invitational Tennis Tournament. The Golden Falcon downed the Brancher, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, as his team advanced with a 2-1 victory. (Register Staff Photo)

WILD IS THE WIND — Los Angeles' third baseman Bill Sudakis dives in a futile attempt to catch New York Mets' Jerry Grote's fourth inning pop fly that was caught by the wind. Shortstop Ted Sizemore backs him up. Cleon Jones scored on the play to give the Mets a 2-1 verdict. (AP Wirephoto)

Mets Make .500 Behind Koosman

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Koosman pitched a five-hitter and a windblown pop fly helped the New York Mets nip the Los Angeles Dodgers, 2-1, last night for their fifth straight victory.

The Mets' longest winning streak of the year has lifted them to a .500 percentage for the second time.

Koosman struck out eight Dodgers and bested Claude Osteen, 7-4, in a pitching duel.

The Mets scored both their runs in the fourth. Tommie Agee opened with a single and Cleon Jones forced him at second. After Ron Swoboda filed to right for the second out, Ed Charles walked.

Then Jerry Grote lifted a pop fly near third base. Bill Sudakis circled under the ball but the wind pulled it away from him for a single. Jones scoring and Charles reaching third. Al Weis then doubled Charles in.

Rookie Bill Russell ended Koosman's shutout with a two-out homer in the eighth.

WEST LONG BRANCH — Christian Brothers Academy, Rumson-Fair Haven Regional, Monmouth Regional and Lakewood were all winners yesterday in the Monmouth College Tennis Invitational here.

CBA, the top ranked team in the tourney, had little difficulty disposing of Howell, 3-0. Brent Shearer, one of the Shore area's best, knocked off Neil Karadem, 6-2, 6-2. Colt Bill Koch topped Bob Metz, 6-2, 8-6. Shawn Kelly and John Burrus completed the Colt sweep by stopping Steve Banek and Mark Schnahtz, 6-3, 8-6.

Second-seeded Monmouth Regional had to work hard to eliminate seventh-ranked Long Branch, 2-1. Gary Hyde opened for the Golden Falcons with a 3-6, 6-4, 6-2 victory over Ken Resnick. Falcon Jackie Kline had an easier time with Joe Catalano, winning, 6-2, 7-5.

Long Branch won the doubles with little trouble. Craig Poole and Dan Northrup mopped up Bruce Spector and Bruce Pavlovsky, 6-2, 6-2.

Spartans Slide
Ocean Township, third-seeded in the event, dropped a 2-1 verdict to sixth-ranked Lakewood.

Piner Steve Cohen walked away with a 6-2, 6-2 trouncing of Rich Grossman. In the second slot, Lakewood's Neil Maizlish topped Mike Katz, 6-3, 7-5.

Ocean took the doubles when Dick Hathaway and Andy Kessler trimmed Mark

Kotlovker and Ross Wishnik, 7-5, 7-5.

Bulldogs Advance
Rumson-Fair Haven Regional, the tourney's fourth seed, edged fifth ranked Red Bank, 2-1.

Dick Douty led the Buldogs with a 10-8, 6-2 triumph over Buc Bob Raynor. Greg Langley came back with a win for the Bucs by defeating Tom Stender, 7-5, 6-4.

The Bulldogs took the doubles quickly when Tom Avchen and Chris Anderson walloped Bruce Cook and Rich Ciambone, 6-2, 8-3.

Girl Gymnasts 'In'

At Camp Arrowhead
MARLBORO — Camp Arrowhead has decided to include girls in its formerly all-male gymnastic camp.

The gymnastic school, for ages 11 through 17, is one of many activities available for the summer at the camp. Plans for the season include various camp programs for seven-year-olds through teenagers. Family members may also participate.

Facilities for basketball, volleyball, picnics, softball are available.

The newest plan would put Los Angeles, San Francisco, St. Louis and Philadelphia in one division; Chicago, Detroit, Green Bay, Atlanta and New Orleans in another, and New York, Washington, Dallas and Minnesota in the third.

No one would say how the owners reacted to this but a spokesman said no plan did better than 11-2. The vote must be unanimous.

Climatic Condition
The problem is that all the teams want to play in the largest parks with the best teams in the most favorable climates and still maintain traditional rivalries.

Rozelle said that just for fun, the whole matter was referred to a computer. The computer said there were 90,000 possible plans but did not specify which teams would go where.

"The computer said that if we worked on each plan for 15 minutes round the clock, it would take five years and 17 days to consider each proposal," Rozelle said.

Killebrew HR Tips Yank Bid

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Harmon Killebrew's towering three-run homer sparked the Minnesota Twins to a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees last night.

Killebrew, moving into the No. 13 position ahead of Duke Snider on the all-time homer list with his 408th career blast, slammed a Stan Bahnen pitch 365 feet into the left field stands and brought the Twins from a 2-0 deficit in the fifth inning.

New York took a 2-0 lead in the third inning when Bobby Cox belted his first home run after Horace Clarke singled.

Twins left-hander Jim Kaat brought his record to 5-3 with a six-hitter.

Another Vote for Torborg

By CHUCK TRIBLEHORN
Register Sports Editor

Stringing along with quotes, quips 'n' stuff... At the risk of being accused of being a press agent for Jeff Torborg, New Jersey All-Stater, Rutgers University All-American and Los Angeles' All-Inactivity in his six-year major league career, additional evidence has been placed before the jury.

"I would love to have Torborg, but the Dodgers' won't let go of him," says San Diego manager Preston Gomez, an LA coach until this year. "He's a fine catcher with a good arm and I think he would hit if given a chance to play regularly. He'd be the number-one catcher on a lot of major league teams."

"It's too bad he's never really had a chance to play much. A lot of teams would love to have him."

Torborg was signed for a reported $100,000 by the Dodgers in 1963 and has played a quiet second fiddle to John Roseboro and Tom Haller since.

OAT MONEY FOR GREENFIELDS
Bill Purdey, former Daily Register sports writer and Holmdel horse owner, turned to an old friend to ride his Wallrooses in the seventh race on opening day at Monmouth Park Saturday. Mike Hole, showing his riding talents to the Oceanport fans for the first time, hopped aboard.

As Purdey would put it, Wallrooses "beat three horses" against strong opposition headed by winner Pappa Steve. Translation: The long-shot entry finished fourth in a field of seven to bring Greenfields oats money.

The English-born Hole, incidentally, led Garden State's riders with 39 winners, including a closing day triple topped by the Jersey Derby victory aboard Al Hattab. It was Hole's first ride in a $100,000.

SHORE'S ALPHABET SOUP
The Shore Conference supposedly is considering adoption of new class designations to eliminate the alphabet soup of A-B-C. There'll be a "D" added in 1970. The groups represent only a division by enrollment, the largest schools in "A," smallest in "D," rather than a measure of athletic ability, as in the grade system.

The best we could come up with is Alpha Beta, Gamma and Delta as a substitute, unless you want to resort to Large, Medium, Small and Pullet?

We're just "egging" you on, but are there any suggestions from the field?

ROWE FINISHES FOURTH

Freehold's Don Rowe of St. John's finished fourth in the mile in last weekend's ICAA track meet at Rutgers University. Rowe, a Christian Brothers Academy grad, is an All-American in cross-country and indoor track... Speaking of All-Americans, Ed Farver of Middletown attained that coveted plateau when he was named to the Little All-American first team in lacrosse. Farver, co-captain of the Bucknell Bison, is a senior mid-fielder who was named the most valuable player in both the Pennsylvania-Delaware Lacrosse Association and the Middle Atlantic Conference. He scored 22 goals and had 12 assists for 34 points as Coach Sid Jamieson's stickmen finished with a 10-1 record. Their spotless 7-0 record in the MAC won the championship for the school in its second year as a varsity team.

MEN OF LETTERS

Four Shore residents were awarded varsity letters at the spring sports banquet at The Peddie School, Hightstown. Senior Richard Cureton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Cureton of Riveredge Road, New Shrewsbury, was a baseball recipient, while Julius Christiansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius S. Christiansen of Sycamore Ave., New Shrewsbury, earned his "P" in track. Letters in lacrosse were awarded to Russell Marcellus, son of Mrs. Harvey L. Marcellus, Buena Vista Avenue, and Peter Reardon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Reardon, Ridge Road, both Rumson... The New York Jets' Gerry Philbin is doing the next best thing to making the Bayshore area his off-season home. Philbin, principal speaker at the Keyport High School sports banquet 10 days ago, returns for an encore tomorrow night for the Mater Dei High School fete at Buck Smith's in West Keansburg.

DUNTING THE DATEBOOK

The 23rd annual Red Grant Regatta, sponsored by the Raritan Yacht Club of Perth Amboy will be sailed June 11-12.

The district Rotary Club's annual golf tournament will be staged June 18 at the Navesink Country Club.

And don't look now but another interscholastic sports year is almost history, with senior athletes calling it a schoolboy career. They'll leave with memories and hopefully a wealth of values from their experiences on the fields of play.

SURF, FIELD AND STREAM

Red Bankers Hit the Jackpot

By DICK RIKER

There is a happy crew of surf anglers working out of Red Bank these days. It all started with Paul Newmiller of Eatontown. Newmiller snatched a 27-pound, 14-ounce striper out of the surf Thursday, somewhere south of Long Branch. Paul told some fishing buddies the happy news and the gang headed for the beach.

The father and son team of Anthony Cecero Sr. and Jr., both Red Bankers, used live herring and came home with a 26½-pound bass for father and a 21-pounder for son. Then Jim Cecero laid a 26-pound bass on the beach.

KRAMER'S DAY... TWICE

Saturday was Karl Kramer's day. So was Sunday. Kramer weighed in a 42-pound, 8-ounce striper at Giglio's Tackle Shop in Sea Bright Saturday and came right back Sunday with a 32-pound, 3-ounce specimen. Back-to-back trophy fish on live herring. It doesn't happen to a surf fisherman very often.

Trollers were getting in their licks off Sandy Hook through Saturday, then had to hang on the mooring lines Sunday as a four-foot heavy chop made trolling miserable. Harry Hayden, Long Branch, cracked the ice with his 18-pound striper. Grover Shinn, Fair Haven, also boated bass. Scores of small bluefish, too large to be called snappers and too small for slammers, hammered metal and bait alike to make plenty of the boatmen happy. The fish moved into the surf at times, giving surf anglers along Sandy Hook something to take home. Frankly, the surf fishing north of Sea Bright was a bust this weekend.

At Long Branch, pier fishermen tagged fluke on the one to two pound class and topped off with a smattering of the little blues in the one pound class. A dribble of blowfish rounded out pier angling this weekend.

Archers should be investigating the upper reaches of Swimming River Reservoir these nights. Carp are starting to spawn in the shallows and bow benders can get plenty of action.

A canoe or small pram to slip silently through the shallows, a good eye and a bow set up for carp shooting can give you hours of sport. You can also help control a carp population that can injure sportfishing for the hook and line angler.

Carp in the reservoir generally run five pounds or so, with an occasional 10-pounder or better to sweeten the pot. Trapped in shallow water, the fish put up one whale of a fight when skewered.

The big blues are moving up the coast and the chumming days are not too far off. It seems to me that the first of the chum fleet connected on June 11 last year. I don't see such an early start this year. Look for chumming operations to get started about June 21. In the meantime, trolling will lead to good sized slammers in small numbers. As of now most of the action on bluefish lies south of Barnegat.

Partyboaters are still taking good numbers of whiting and ling on 17 fathoms and the edge of the Mud Hole. Cod and pollack too. The half day boats are looking for blackfish and fluke with varying results. Odds are that the fluke picture will not be good this year.

Bombers, Bar H Lead Tri-Boro

KEANSBURG — Looli's Bombers and Bar H continued to lead the Tri-Boro Softball League with 5-0 records.

The Bombers beat Butler's Tavern, 9-2, and Bar H nipped Hi-Hat 4-3 in the two team's most recent games.

Jim Nappo led the Bombers to their victory with four hits and four runs batted in.

Hurler Bill Roslowski tossed a three-hitter. Bill Berger won the game for Bar H with a seventh-inning pinch single. Keelan's Bar trimmed Ronie's Crew Cuts, 4-1, on the strong arm of pitcher Ron Forbes, and Beach Club Light House knocked off wipless Kinlin's, 9-5, for its first league triumph.

Colt Golfers Riding High

By RICH NICOLETTI

LINCROFT — Brother Michael, Christian Brothers Academy golf mentor for the past six years, has had some good golf teams, but this year he really has had a lot to talk about.

The Colts thus far have a 18-4 record. They ran a string of 14 straight wins before hitting a three-match slump, but they already have wrapped up the Central Jersey Catholic Federation in undefeated fashion.

The CBA number one linkswoman, Angelo Petraglia, has a personal record of 12 - 5-2 this season and has averaged 38.5 on the links. Petraglia is a junior, playing varsity for his third year.

Playing in the second slot is George Daly, a senior who will attend the University of Miami next fall, has been with the Colt team four seasons. He shoots about 40 and has won 14 of 19 events this year.

Bob Stern, also a senior, is the Colts' third ace. Stern, a member of the varsity for three years, has a 15-4 mark so far, and he is Hartford University bound.

CBA's fourth man is Charles Kienzie, a junior, who may move into the number two slot next season. Kienzie is sporting an 11-6-1 mark.

Mike Duffy, a senior playing number five, may be a Villanova golfer next spring. Duffy is 11-3-1 with the Colts.

Two men share the role in the sixth position, Mike DeCesare and John Sampson both shoot around 47 for CBA. DeCesare is 3-1, while Sampson is 3-3.

Both Petraglia and Daly have been named to the all-star Central Jersey Catholic Federation team.

Brother Michael has been in the CBA educational system seven years, teaching math and science. He has been golfing for 20 years.

As a coach, Brother Michael has a record of 81-32. Next season, he will have his number one, four, and both of his number six men returning.

Dave Wiegand and Henry Hemminger will also help the team next year.

Ed Carleton League Meeting Tomorrow

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS — Boys age 16-18 interested in playing in the Ed Carleton Memorial Baseball League, here, will meet at the Fireman's Field tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Clay Says Boxing Days Ended

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay says his boxing days are over and he plans to make speeches and sell hamburgers.

He said yesterday, however, he had turned down a singing contract.

"I'll never return to fighting," Clay said at the federal courthouse where he and his lawyers appeared for a wiretap hearing before Federal Judge Joe Ingraham.

This was in sharp contrast with statements made in March about making a comeback in the ring. These remarks prompted a reprimand from Elijah Muhammad, head of the Black Muslim sect.

Reluctant to Talk — The former heavyweight champion was reluctant to talk about the court case and boxing, but was eager to get in a plug about a proposed restaurant chain in which he says he owns half.

He said he expects about 50 of the eating places to be in operation around the country by the end of summer. He said they will be established in poor areas. He declined to say who owned the other half of the franchises.

Clay appeared pudgy. He said he weighed 230 pounds which is about 20 pounds over his usual fighting weight.

"I had this suit cut to hide it," he grinned.

He listened closely to arguments by his lawyers and prosecutors but had not commented.

"I have nothing to say about the court case," he said.

"I am trying to cool down some of the militants," he said. "You can't force integration."

Reporters kept steering the talk around to boxing but made little headway.

"I don't keep up with fighters any more," he said.

"What about the Joe Frazier-Jerry Quarry fight this month?" someone persisted.

"I just don't pay any attention to them any more," Clay replied. He was asked if he was offered a contract recently to make some singing recordings.

He said he turned it down. "I have turned down all contracts," he said.

He said he still prefers the name Muhammad Ali. This is the Black Muslim minister name he went by when he was convicted in 1967 on charges of refusing to be inducted into the armed services.

U.S. Net Hits Are Misses

PARIS (AP) — The United States' two top tennis girls, Nancy Richey and Julie Heldman, faced each other today in the quarter-finals of the French Open championships—and it was a vital match for both.

Nancy, of San Angelo, Tex., is defending the title she won last year.

Julie, of New York City, is bidding for the big European double. She won the Italian title in April.

The United States no longer has any interest in the men's singles event at the Roland Garros Stadium and is pinning its hopes on the girls. Two other American professionals, Mrs. Billie Jean King and Rosemary Casals, are also in the quarter-finals but were not scheduled to play today.

Miss Richey, whose steadiness on the baseline and fighting qualities brought her to the title last year, is chasing an elusive target. The last player to win this crown twice running was Maureen "Little Mo" Connolly in 1953 and 1954.

Also scheduled for today were the two remaining men's singles — Rod Laver of Australia, the top seed, vs. Andrew Gimeno of Spain, and Tom Okker of The Netherlands vs. John Newcombe of Australia.

Two Australians, Kerry Melville and Mrs. Margaret Court, were paired against each other in the women's singles.

The men's singles, carrying a first prize of $7,000, is dominated by promoter-controlled professionals.

Yesterday Ken Rosewall, the defending champion, defeated fellow-Australian Fred Stolle 12-10, 4-6, 7-5, 6-2, while Tony Roche of Australia downed Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia 4-6, 7-5, 6-0, 4-6, 6-1.

Franulovic was the last remaining contender outside the promoter-controlled circus. In doubles matches yesterday, Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., and Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico, U.S. Davis Cup players, advanced by default. They didn't have to play in the quarter-finals because Manuel Santana of Spain withdrew because of a groin injury.

President Iselin Is Optimistic

OCEANPORT — Philip H. Iselin, president of Monmouth Park, yesterday reviewed Saturday's record opening of the 59-day meet here.

"I am very optimistic that this will be our best meeting ever," said Iselin. "We anticipate no change in the prevailing trend at Monmouth, which has been an increase in both attendance and handle throughout the 1960s."

Although the opening day of the Continental Downs flat race meeting at Liberty Bell Park, near Philadelphia, provided additional competition for fans and money in Monmouth's general drawing area, the track was not lacking in either.

Saturday's attendance of 29,393 was more than 4,000 over the previous record set in 1955 and 4,683 over the first Saturday of last year's meeting, also during the Memorial Day holiday. Monmouth opened on a Friday a year ago.

The day's handle of $2,679,936 was $286,914 more than a comparative Saturday in 1968 and established a record opening day mutual's pay.

A crowd of 10,831 was on hand yesterday to see Meadow Ridge Stable's Sun Lord outpace his entymate, Alfred Muller's Pomabee, with a stirring stretch run to win the $7,500 Landlocked Purse. Placed in contention behind front-running Zulu Native and Rifle through most of the one-mile turf race, Sun Lord took the lead going into the home stretch, where he was joined by Pomabee on the outside.

Jockey Buck Thornburg on Pomabee registered an unusual claim of foul against his stablemate for interference in the stretch, but Monmouth stewards ruled that bumping was a 50-50 proposition. Although the horses have different owners, both are trained by Budd Lepman.

Scout Roundup

NEW SHREWSBURY—The 21 girls of Cadette Girl Scout troop 605 recently took a Heritage Trip to Boston.

They earned money to finance the trip by calendar, cookie, baked goods and trash and treasure sales and by giving planned parties for children.

Mrs. Van B. Fox, leader, and Mrs. Frank Ruscio, assistant leader, accompanied the troop.

The itinerary included a walking tour of Freedom Trail, a twilight tour of Salem and the North Shore, a visit to the House of the Seven Gables and to the USS Constitution, Harvard University and the mother church of Christian Science.

The group stayed at the Hotel Vendome and dined at the Hawthorne Hotel.

CUB PACK 126

LITTLE SILVER—Cub Scout Pack 126 recently held its April meeting in the Markham Place School. Den one won the appearance and the most parents present award and also presented a play.

Awards were presented to Eric Nilson, Jimmy Sommers, Henry Wollman, Teddy Soden, Billy Giselson, David Gabbe, Doug Hansen, John Mueller, Natalie Damien, Robbie Scott, Nicky Hubbard, Rob Palmer, William and Paul Ronan, Steve Miranti, Louis Marotta, Frank Ackerman, Bruce Daniels.

Peter Solviero, Dominic Solviero, Don Weisman, Dave Silverman, Peter Sanderson, John Wardell, Nicky Palmer, Gary Krogh, Steven Beers, Billy Perkins, Tommy Seaman, Kenny Smith, David Dickson, David Hubbard, Pat Mazzucca, John Clark, Jerry Linden and Jimmy Piculas.

This month the pack will go by bus to the Philadelphia Zoo and in June a Pack-o-Fun is planned.

Oceanport Mayor Backing Tonti

OCEANPORT—Mayor Robert J. Jackson Jr., the Democratic leader of Oceanport, came out at the Oceanport Regular Democratic Club and asked the members to support D. Louis Tonti for the gubernatorial nomination.

The mayor stated that "with the modern state of affairs we are so overwhelmed in water pollution, air pollution, highways, railroads and now garbage disposal problems, that we need a man who knows the problems, how to cope with them from the scientific and engineering standpoint, a man who is hard driving, energetic, intelligent, youthful—a man who doesn't take 'no' for an answer. In Tonti we have such a man," he said.

On Campus

Miss Linda Olup, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Olup, 38 Lafayette Drive, Hazlet, has been elected secretary of the student executive board at Trenton State College.

A 1968 graduate of Raritan High School, Linda has represented her freshmen class on the executive board this year.

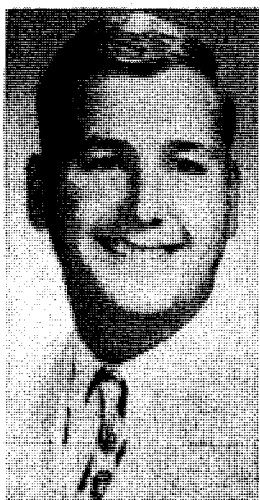

Patric Jordan of Crugers, N.Y., a former resident of Hazlet, has been accepted at the Air Force Academy in Colorado.

The son of Major and Mrs. Henry Jordan, he was president of his senior class at Raritan High School, Hazlet, and active in township organizations.

John E. Bates, 21 Danemar Drive, Middletown, has been received into the membership of the New York University Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national honor fraternity for graduate students of education.

Currently enrolled in the NYU School of Education, Mr. Bates is employed by the Middletown Township Board of Education.

Patricia A. Laughlin, 38 Kenneth Ter. W., Middletown, received a two-year twirler award for service with the band at Albright College, Reading, Pa.

Dr. William King

Dr. King Graduated As Dentist

LITTLE SILVER—Dr. William King recently graduated from the Temple University School of Dentistry, Philadelphia.

Dr. King is a graduate of the Little Silver elementary school, and Red Bank High School, and did his undergraduate work at Temple University.

While at Temple, he was a member of the John H. Kilmer Honorary Medical Society, the Junior Dental Association, Psi Omega dental fraternity, and was treasurer of the Peridental Honor Society.

Dr. King has accepted a commission in the Naval Dental Corps and will be stationed in New London, Conn., with his wife, the former Coryn Jane Langly. After completing his service, Dr. King intends to practice in the Red Bank area.

Miss Laughlin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Laughlin.

Linda J. Alterman and Michael E. Alterman, 13 Asbury Lane, Matawan, have been admitted as associate members of Sigma Xi, national honorary science society. Both are students at Rutgers University College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, New Brunswick.

Martha Glaze, a junior music major at Ithaca College from Middletown, has been elected to membership in Pi Kappa Lambda, the national music honor society. She is one of three recipients at Ithaca, N.Y., College of the Pi Kappa Lambda Achievement Award. Martha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Glaze, now of Middletown.

Two Monmouth County students at Pfeiffer College, Misenheimer, N.C., have recently been elected to leadership posts on the campus.

Ronald Durning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Durning, Tanvat Road, Locust, has been named vice president of the rising senior class in recent spring elections.

Miss Patricia Kirk, daughter of Mrs. June Kirk, 112 Raritan Ave., Keansburg, has been named to membership on the Judicial Board of the Association of Women Students and has been elected to membership in Delta Sigma service sorority.

Miss Nancy Lenthe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Lenthe of Briarwood Road, Rumson, was recently awarded the Marguerite Treille Prize and the E. Louise Leonard Prize at Hood College, Frederick, Md.

The E. Louise Leonard Prize is awarded annually to a senior whose major subject is French and who has done excellent work in the language and literature of France. The Marguerite Treille Prize is awarded to that student residing in the French House on campus who has done the most to encourage the use and appreciation of the French language.

Miss Joyce Stryker, daughter of Paul R. Stryker, 82 Leedsville Drive, Lincroft, has qualified for the dean's list at Centenary College for Women, Hackettstown, at the end of the second semester. Miss Stryker is a member of the graduating class.

Man Caught On Laundry Roof Jailed

RED BANK—A 32-year-old Red Bank man, apprehended on the roof of Leon's Laundry at 11:35 p.m. Friday, has been sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

August Kauffmann, 32, of 157 Maple Ave., here, was charged with loitering under the influence of liquor and failing to give a good account of himself, Police Chief Leroy McKnight reported. He said another man seen on the roof with Kauffmann escaped.

Suspect in Stolen TV Case Admits Good Account Failure

FREEHOLD—Samuel Pandure of West Long Branch, who was to go on trial yesterday on charges of possessing a stolen color TV set, pleaded guilty to charges of failing to give a good account of himself.

It was concerning this charge of possession of stolen property that Pandure's attorney, Ralph Real of West Long Branch, charged last April that the county prosecutor's office had reneged on a "bargain" in which the charge would be dismissed or downgraded.

Mr. Real had contended that he was told on many occasions by Assistant County Prosecutor Arnold Levin that if Pandure of 22 Throckmorton Ave. testified the indictment would be dismissed or downgraded.

The attorney made this charge shortly before Pandure's first trial. That trial adjourned abruptly after a jury had been picked and was to have begun yesterday. The reasons for the postponement were not made public.

At that April hearing, Mr. Levin declined to reply to Mr. Real's allegations. He said he was making no comment whatsoever.

Pandure had testified—he was compelled to under the immunity from prosecution law—in the February trial of Attilio Agnello and Nunzio Merla that he had made arrangements with Merla for two color TV sets.

There was no mention yesterday of the alleged bargain when the assistant prosecutor announced that Pandure was pleading guilty to the downgraded charge.

The indictment for possession of the TV set should be dismissed July 10 when Pandure is sentenced, since he pleaded guilty to a lesser charge.

County Court Judge M. Raymond McGowan, who accepted the plea, noted that the disorderly persons charge carries a maximum six-month county jail sentence and either a $500 fine or both.

Innocence Found
A jury found Merla innocent to charges of receiving stolen property and Agnello was acquitted by the court on a motion of insufficient evidence.

The Sears color TV set was one of several that allegedly were stolen from a freight car in Newark. Agnello, Merla and Pandure were charged with having the set in their possession Nov. 27, 1967, in Long Branch. Under the disorderly persons charge, Pandure is accused of failing to give a good account of himself Nov. 24, 1967 in Long Branch. Pandure had testified in the trial that Merla and Agnello took his truck on that day after he had made arrangements with Merla for two color TV sets and drove off.

After the trial, the state indicted Samuel Magarino of Matawan, Agnello, Merla, Pandure and John Pandure on charges of conspiring to receive stolen property concerning the same indictment. Trial dates are to be fixed.

Mr. Levin represented the state in the proceedings.

Why No Freehold Arrests? Residents Ask on Disorders

FREEHOLD — Tempers flared briefly at the Borough Council meeting last night as two white residents demanded to know when arrests are going to be made in connection with racial violence here May 19, when some 140 black teenagers ran through the business district smashing windows.

A resident who later said he did not wish to be identified complained that recent newspaper coverage has been "wrong" and there has been trouble at the Freehold Intermediate School.

The man said his son and another student at the school had been "jumped" by "a number of black students" on May 20, that there have been other incidents since then, and that he had been told by Police Chief Henry T. Lefkovich that the school was to make the complaint because what happens on school property is the school's responsibility.

"They went off the school property. There was a policeman in the area and no one was stopped or anything done about it... I have the names and will swear out a complaint," said the man. "I am not a rabble rouser, but I want protection... for my family. I am fed up and somebody is going to do something about it."

Another resident, Asbury E. Brown of 10 Phyllis Road, said, "If I went downtown and broke a couple of windows, how long would it be before I was arrested? I'll bet a dollar I'd be arrested in 10 minutes."

John Davis, president of the Concerned Citizens of Greater Freehold, retorted that he was "concerned about people's lives. Nobody has said anything about the two boys who were shot."

"This was no riot. Nobody got burned up or shot and killed. We should be thankful those two boys weren't killed."

He referred to the two black youths, Dean Lewis, 16, who lost an eye, and Leroy Kinsey, 19, wounded in the neck May 19 as a result of a shotgun blast fired from a car containing white teenagers. A 15-year-old boy is accused of firing the shot and two 17-year-olds with aiding and abetting him.

Councilman Tobias H. Mayer, police chairman, said of the window-smashing, "Warrants will be served and arrests will be made. The Police Department feels it's ready to make them."

Chief Lefkovich said later arrests will be made but "time is not of the essence."

He said "at least" three juvenile and two adult complaints have been prepared, with police officers as witnesses, and that merchants are being asked to cooperate by identifying other offenders.

The adults will be summoned to Municipal Court and the juveniles to the Monmouth County Juvenile Court, he said.

Chief Lefkovich said only six policemen had been on hand at the height of the disturbance and they were too busy and concerned with protecting people and property to make arrests on the spot.

"How could six people arrest 150 vandals? It's physically impossible," said the police chief.

"We have waited until the situation cooled down some, too (before making arrests)."

Chief Lefkovich said some of the offenders will be charged with larceny and some with vandalism. He said he did not know how many arrests will be made.

The council appointed two probationary patrolmen — Ronald L. Busch, who was sworn in last night, and Michael S. Whaley, whose appointment is effective June 14.

A limited curfew in effect for the past two weeks was lifted last night.

One of the letters read at the council meeting came from Robert W. Daley Sr., 31 Runyon Ave., who commended the police for their handling of the situation here.

Right to Vote Emphasized To 69 Naturalized Citizens

FREEHOLD — County Court Judge Thomas J. Smith yesterday urged 69 naturalized citizens to exercise their right to vote.

"I ask you to vote and vote intelligently," he said. "The secret ballot guarantees the right to vote for candidates of your choice," he added.

Welcoming the new citizens, Judge Smith said, "Citizenship is a thing of the spirit, not of the flesh," that it is based on "the doctrine of the natural rights of man."

Responsibilities Stressed

He gave as examples of these rights the secret ballot and freedom of religion. However, he warned that with citizenship came not only liberty, but also responsibilities.

"Remember that liberty does not mean lawlessness," he said, adding that one could "enjoy all the rights and blessings of liberty as long as you do not interfere with the rights and blessings of others."

The judge introduced three guests attending the naturalization ceremony. They were Mrs. Campbell Rudner, of the National Society of the Colonial Dames of America; and representing the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Robert Semmendinger, Americanism chairman, and Mrs. John Lyle, regent.

Those naturalized were presented with booklets by the DAR and the Colonial Dames, and with American flags by the county clerk.

The Aylet Chapter of the B'nai B'rith of the Bayshore area served coffee and cake after the ceremony.

Five persons changed their names as they became citizens. The old names are listed in parenthesis. The 69 persons who were naturalized yesterday included nine children.

New Shrewsbury Wins Triangle Tract Ruling

NEW SHREWSBURY — A ruling by the Appellate Division of the Superior Court favors the borough of New Shrewsbury in its long standing dispute with Geza De Vegh, owner of the Old Mill Gallery, at the intersection of Sycamore and Tinton Avenues here.

The ruling also permits the borough to retain ownership of a triangular piece of property, between the gallery and the Tinton Falls Fire Co., at the same intersection, which, Mr. De Vegh claims, the borough acquired "illegally."

"I intend to use every possible legal means to regain my property," Mr. De Vegh said yesterday. "I will take the case to the highest possible court, if need be."

Decision Upheld

Mr. De Vegh's appeal sought to reverse a decision against him by Superior Court Judge Merritt Lane Jr., and sought to have the case reopened. The three member appeals court refused to reopen the suit stating that it agreed with Judge Lane's decision.

In his judgment Judge Lane said there were no "exceptional extraordinary and compelling grounds" to reopen the case in view of the fact that Mr. De Vegh did not make his request within a reasonable period of time after the original judgment.

The dispute arose in 1961 in connection with a plan by Mr. De Vegh to build a "cultural center" on his property. As part of his proposal, Mr. De Vegh wanted to sell a piece of this property for construction of a gasoline station.

Ultimately the borough granted a conditional variance. The gasoline station was eventually built. The conditions set by the borough required that Mr. De Vegh should "relocate or demolish" an old house on his property within 18 months.

The borough requested that the deed of the disputed triangle be put up as a performance bond for carrying out this condition.

"The bond demanded from me for the demolition of my home and its removal was illegal and is not required by any statute. The performance bond was never designed as a means for the acquisition of land by any municipality," Mr. De Vegh said.

When Mr. De Vegh failed, for various reasons, to remove the house in which he still resides, and which was once the residence of the Colonial Governor of New Jersey, the borough claimed title to the triangular piece of property. The borough claims it has already spent some $3,000 on the tract for improvements.

Mr. De Vegh claimed this acquisition was illegal and quoted this from another decision by Judge Lane: "There was no legal justification for the requirement to demolish or relocate the mansion house as a condition to granting a variance. The two are unrelated."

Rights Unit Split on Course Integration

MIDDLETOWN — The Human Rights Commission split last night with a 3-3 vote on a motion to go on record supporting a separate course in black history in Middletown Township High School.

Commission chairman James Goell—also a member of the Board of Education—resolved the tie by voting for the motion.

In favor of the separate course were the Rev. Vassie L. Peek, who made the motion, John Barron and Almoses Harris. Voting against it were Arthur O'Neill, Mrs. Ernest Jackson and the Rev. Charles F. Kelly, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, New Monmouth.

Voting against the motion, Mr. O'Neill made it clear for the record that he is not opposed to the teaching of black history to black and white students alike. He is opposed, however, to a separate course in black history, preferring an integrated general history course for all students.

Separatism

Mr. O'Neill said he feels a separate course smacks of black separatism, a concept he opposes as strongly as he opposes racism.

Those who favored Mr. Peek's motion disagreed. Their viewpoint was stated by Mr. Barron, who declared that while curriculum integration is fine in theory, in practice nothing happens.

Freehold Fire Membership Code Hearing Reset June 18

By HALLIE SCHRAEGER

FREEHOLD — Public hearings on the Freehold Fire Department ordinance, originally scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday by the New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, have been postponed until June 18 and 19.

A spokesman for James H. Blair, division director, said yesterday the hearings were rescheduled when it learned that Borough Attorney Richard T. O'Connor has a conflicting date in Superior Court this week.

The controversial ordinance governing membership procedures in the fire department was adopted here unanimously May 5. At that time the civil rights division had already termed it "unacceptable" because of several provisions, but borough officials defended the measure, calling it "reasonable and fair."

The division maintains that fire department members should not be able to vote on applicants until the newcomers have served a probationary period.

Other Objections

The division also objects to: — A requirement that an applicant provide a character reference signed by two persons who own real estate and reside in Freehold. Too restrictive, says the division. It is all right require character references, but not to limit them to Freehold property owners.

— The requirement that an applicant shall be able to read, write and speak the English language "well and intelligently." Unnecessary and vague, says the division.

— Other vague provisions for rejection such as "other good causes" and "other disgraceful conduct" which might be subject to arbitrary interpretation.

The hearings — believed to be a "first" not only in New Jersey but in the country — may have far-reaching effects. They will be conducted in the Hall of Records here before Mrs. Sylvia Pressler of Ridgewood, a hearing examiner appointed by the state attorney general.

perior Court this week.

Mr. Peek reported a great improvement in the playground in the Hillside Avenue area.

The field has been graded and seeded, he said, and looks "real nice."

He also reported that Benjamin M. Schaffer, recreation superintendent, has hired two black youngsters as playground directors for the summer.

The commission's next meeting will be Monday, July 7, in St. Mary's Church.

Medical Center Fetes Its Junior Volunteers

LONG BRANCH — The more than 400 Junior Volunteers of Monmouth Medical Center who devote their time to helping the sick "are symbolic of the vast majority of American youth whose image is being unfairly tarnished by a small minority in revolt," says R. B. Fulcher, the hospital's associate administrator.

Addressing an awards dinner at which the teenage boys and girls received recognition for the service they contributed during the past year, he said:

"It is here in the hospital that we see youth truly in perspective, as they give so unselfishly of their time in the service of others. To all of the young people who serve us, let me express our deepest gratitude."

Mrs. Earle C. Kunes, director of volunteers, who hosted the affair, welcomed the guests and extended her thanks to the volunteers and to their parents for sharing their teenagers with Monmouth Medical Center.

Awards were presented by Mr. Fulcher, Miss Muriel R. Wescott, administrator in charge of extended care; Miss Elizabeth Sanderson, director of nursing services; Mrs. Angus Reid, assistant director in the school of nursing; James Gillen, administrative extern, and Mrs. Jesse Goldberg, volunteer chairman.

Applicants are distributed geographically from California to Canada. They include persons with many years of college or school teaching experience, as well as recent college graduates with a master's or bachelor's degree and applicants with extensive business and industrial backgrounds.

Brookdale President Dr. Ervin L. Harlacher has expressed satisfaction at the large number of well-qualified applicants.

Diverse Backgrounds

"The response we are getting makes it possible for the college to select, for its professional staff, the very best people in the country, representing diverse backgrounds and varied approaches to the challenge of the community college," Dr. Harlacher said.

"We will have a significant number of people from Monmouth County and we will be looking to these individuals to help us mold our program to suit community needs. At the same time, we will avail ourselves of the best in new ideas, wherever they may originate."

Dr. Harlacher pointed out that all new faculty and administrative personnel are familiar with Brookdale's philosophical platform and are in agreement with its

Arrest 5 For Drugs Possession

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — Police searching for a robbery suspect stopped a car here early yesterday and arrested three Cliffwood Beach males, an 18-year-old Keyport girl and a 15-year-old Cliffwood Beach girl for possession of narcotics and possession of alcohol.

Police Chief Ralph E. Wallace identified them as David Maul, 18, of 139 Raritan Blvd.; Frank Auriemma, 25, of 64 Rosewood Drive, and Robert Orlando, 19, of 144 Pine Island Ter., all Cliffwood Beach, and JoAnne Tooker, 18, of 5 Locust St., Keyport.

The three men are free in $1,500 bail and Miss Tooker is free in her own recognizance pending arraignment and preliminary hearing in Township Court on July 1. The 15-year-old girl, whose name wasn't disclosed because of her age, has been released in her parent's custody pending action of the county Juvenile Court on charges of juvenile delinquency.

According to the chief, Detective Joseph Booket and Sgt. Ralph Medolla stopped the car at 12:10 a.m. yesterday while searching for a suspect in a recent robbery.

They found beer in the car, and while arresting the occupants, noticed one of the men reaching under the rear seat. One of the officers grabbed the man's hand and found him stuffing a bag of heroin under the seat, the chief said.

Brookdale Is Drawing Applicants From Afar

LINCROFT — A great many people from a great many places are interested in professional positions at Brookdale Community College.

Merrill Miller, assistant to the president, reports that the college has received more than 1,500 applications for faculty and administrative positions.

Applicants are distributed geographically from California to Canada. They include persons with many years of college or school teaching experience, as well as recent college graduates with a master's or bachelor's degree and applicants with extensive business and industrial backgrounds.

Brookdale President Dr. Ervin L. Harlacher has expressed satisfaction at the large number of well-qualified applicants.

Eatontown Board to Seek Aid For Added Federal Schooling

EATONTOWN — The Board of Education unanimously approved the agreement reached last week between five board members and Ft. Monmouth officials to seek federal and state funds to school the projected 100 new students from the planned Capehart Army Housing addition.

The board met after its regular meeting last night to decide on a tentative building plan which is necessary to apply for the federal funds and formal application will be made after the next board meeting.

Five board members met last Tuesday with Maj. Gen. William B. Latta, commanding general at the fort, his staff, County Superintendent of Schools Earl B. Garrison, Mayor Herbert E. Werner, Councilman Robert Sullwagner and Borough Auditor Herbert A. Caruso.

The meeting was requested by Army officials after the board adopted then rescinded a resolution at its May meeting disavowing responsibility for educating any additional pupils from the fort outside the borough proper.

The proposed housing is in New Shrewsbury. Eatontown now educates all children from the fort regardless of location.

After Tuesday's meeting the board and the commanding general's office released a joint statement which read in part as follows:

"There was mutual agreement that, following the receipt of federal funds for the Woodmere School, the school budget is in balance insofar as the costs to the Eatontown taxpayer of educating military children is concerned.

"Further, Ft. Monmouth authorities have indicated they will actively support the board's application for additional funds for the construction of new facilities to accommodate the approximately 100 new students to be housed in new construction in the Capehart area of Ft. Monmouth."

Board member Samuel Garofolo objected at last night's meeting to the committee issuing the release in the entire board's name.

Board member Frank Bilanin replied that the five who attended the meeting constituted a majority of the nine-member board.

Board member Gregory Guarino then proposed that the statement be approved as released and the board unanimously approved his motion.

Board president William Greenwood, and members James Van Dover and William Schlosser were not present at last night's meeting.

Members of the audience questioned the board on the decisions reached at last week's meeting.

Mr. Bilanin, sitting as chairman, said that the board and Army officials compared figures on the impact of the proposed housing and "we received assistance from Ft. Monmouth we hadn't expected."

"We may end up disagreeing or agreeing with them, but we will hold any resolution of the past in abeyance pending further investigation," he added.

He said that approximately 10 additional classrooms would be constructed if the aid is forthcoming.

The resignations of Marian Epstein, a social worker, Marjorie Schwartz, a second grade teacher at the Vetter School, and Nancy A. Pappalardo, a fifth grade teacher at the Woodmere School, were accepted effective June 30.

Appointed to the teaching staff effective Sept. 1 at the indicated salaries were: Geraldine Siciliano of Allenhurst, Sandra Rosen of Eatontown, Joan H. Gannon, of Manasquan, Kathryn L. Davis of Hackensack, Susan L. Reiter of Oakhurst and Patricia A. Colangelo of Neptune City, all at $8,500; Elizabeth A. Tannis, $8,225, and Joan E. Hennis of Long Branch, $6,825.

Youth Center Project Is Funded in Freehold

FREEHOLD — Borough Council last night authorized an emergency appropriation of $9,000 to "beef up" its Parks and Recreation programs.

Part of it will be used to set up a teen-age recreation center at the old "Hullabaloo" building, 25 Broad St., said Councilman Walter J. Kozloski, a member of the recreation committee.

"We need a building primarily for the 15-to-20-year-old youngsters," explained Mr. Kozloski, who said it will be designed for the entire community, black and white, and will be open all year. He said he hopes for better facilities soon.

"We need a very large building to house a community center for plays, arts and crafts and so on," he said. "We intend to beef up our entire recreation program in the borough," declared council president Edward M. Lewis Jr.

Councilman Tobias H. Mayer reported he had asked for a $150,000 bonding ordinance for a youth center at the last budget meeting and said he will make the same request next year.

Other borough officials blamed the fact that Mr. Mayer's suggestion had not been taken up on costs of the new municipal building, which is expected to be completed here in August.

More recreational facilities, especially a teenage center, have been requested by black community leaders.

Mayor John I. Dawes said after the meeting the recreation program here "has doubled in the past two years as far as appropriations are concerned. I'm proud of our recreational program."

To Fill Gap
The teenage center will help to fill a gap being left by the closing of the YMCA later this month.

The cost of the $9,000 appropriation will be spread over a three-year period.

Councilman Alfred E. Sanders voted against it, saying later that "the time for a special allocation is budget time."

The council appointed Linda Vanderveer, Susan Breton, Charlotte Menalis and Robert Warrington counselors for the Parks and Recreation summer program. The borough has a full-time recreation director in the summer: Richard Kane, a school teacher who fills the post part time during the rest of the year.

To Remove Fire Boxes To Curb False Alarms

RED BANK — Fire boxes pulled for false alarms "will be taken out, and we will take them out from all locations in town if we have to," Councilman William S. Anderson, fire committee chairman declared last night.

The measure would be drastic but not dangerous, Mr. Anderson noted, New York City's fire commissioner is on record as having declared "the only reasonable way to report a fire is by phone."

Mr. Anderson made the statement in response to Miss Ernestine Taylor, S. Bridge Ave., who asked whether the fire alarm box removed from the corner of W. Bergen Place and Pearl St. has been returned.

No. And another box "on the eastside" at John St. and Harrison Ave., has been removed for the same reason — too many false alarms, Mr. Anderson replied.

He said the fire alarm boxes will be removed from all areas of town if necessary to cut down the incidence of false alarms except the business section, "and we can't take those out."

Ordinances banning additional rooming houses in all sections of the borough by limiting to two the number of paying guests permitted in private homes were adopted after public hearings without any objections. Also adopted was a zoning amendment exempting single-family and two-family private dwellings from the requirements of the site plan ordinance.

The council authorized John Bryan, municipal clerk, to advertise for bids for new water meters, part of a continuing program, initiated three years ago, to replace all interior meters with outside ones. There is $25,000 in the capital budget for the purchase.

The council approved a minor subdivision for Marvin Z. Hall, W. Bergen Place and Pearl St., on the recommendation of the Planning Board.

Move Offices Of Assessor

HOLMDEL — The township tax assessor's offices have been moved to Township Hall, Crawford's Corner Road.

Office hours will be from 1 p.m. until 4:30 p.m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday, and from 7:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Dog's Barking Helps Prevent Serious Fire

LITTLE SILVER — Mr. and Mrs. William Gregory of 26 Daniel Drive credit their dog, Gypsy, with preventing a serious fire, possibly with tragic results, when lightning struck their home yesterday morning.

The Gregorays were awakened by the lightning storm at about 4 a.m. and heard one thunderclap that sounded as though a bolt had struck nearby, Mrs. Gregory said. They would have paid no further attention, but shortly later, Gypsy, who was downstairs, began to bark excitedly.

When the dog's barking persisted, Mr. Gregory got up to investigate. He found the utility room alight with the flames of a fire that had started in clothing atop a dryer.

The bolt apparently had struck the dryer, igniting the clothing, Mrs. Gregory said. Mr. Gregory was able to extinguish the flames and damage was limited to the clothing, dryer and adjacent switchbox. Had the blaze gained another minute's headway, however, the couple said, it would have been out of control.

"We were thankful that Gypsy was there to give the alarm," a grateful Mrs. Gregory said yesterday. "It proves how valuable to a household a dog can be."

DEVOTED VOLUNTEER — Mrs. Alfred Kaufman, center, a volunteer worker at Monmouth Medical Center, devotes not only her time but money to helping the sick. Here she presents a $50 check to hospital administrator George J. Bartel and Mrs. Earle Kunes, director of volunteers, for cancer research. Mrs. Kaufman donates her monthly earnings as a cosmetics saleswoman in memory of five members of her family who were victims of cancer. She resides at 210 Elmwood Road, Oakhurst.

"ASTRO-GUIDE" By Ceean

Wednesday, June 4

Present—For You and Yours... Make the most of the favorable planetary influences which rule career matters. Judgment is sound, but beware of thoughtlessness. Consult your mate or others concerned before making drastic change that will affect the family. Consider long-range benefits carefully. Safety warnings after early evening hours.

The Day Under Your Sign

Aries, Born Mar. 21 to Apr. 19
Get tedious jobs out of the way rather than "stewing" about them. Outlook optimistic.

Taurus, April 20 to May 20
Don't let domestic matters interfere with carrying out career activities.

Gemini, May 21 to June 21
Working with young people can bring happiness and a sense of personal accomplishment.

Cancer, June 22 to July 21
Better keep personal opinions to yourself if you would avoid criticism. Refuse to argue.

Leo, July 22 to Aug. 21
Don't yield to pressure brought to bear by someone who has his own interests at heart.

Virgo, Aug. 22 to Sept. 22
You will absorb what you read or hear and you will retain the information.

Libra, Sept. 23 to Oct. 22
Settle down to work as soon as you arrive. Don't dilly-dally around because others do.

Scorpio, Oct. 23 to Nov. 21
Although aspects are fine for anything you attempt, don't start more than you can finish.

Sagittarius, Nov. 22 to Dec. 21
Auspicious time to assume progress in study or research. Start new projects.

Capricorn, Dec. 22 to Jan. 20
Your willingness to assume added duties could help you achieve an ambition you're cherished.

Aquarius, Jan. 21 to Feb. 19
Temporary disappointment could cause you to become emotionally upset, but only for the moment.

Pisces, Feb. 20 to March 20
It is not wise to drive yourself—even for extra money. No point in being the richest corpse in the cemetery!

Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

What the world needs now is a simple way to tell whether or not an opponent has a singleton. You can't just stare at a man and tell from the look in his eye. The method suggested in today's hand may help when you have no other guide.

South tried the queen of hearts at the first trick, but East put up the king and South had to win the trick. Declarer drew two rounds of trumps and gave up a club.

The defenders cashed their heart trick and then led two more rounds of clubs. South ruffed the third club, led a diamond to dummy's king and then wondered whether to win the second diamond with dummy's ace or with his own queen. Either play would be successful if the five missing diamonds broke 3-2, but if they broke 4-1 South had to guess where to win the second diamond.

Two Possibilities

South knew that each defender had started with precisely two spades. If either defender also had five hearts and five clubs he would have a singleton diamond to fill out his hand.

Both defenders were crafty and would do their best to confuse the "count," so South couldn't tell much from the play of the cards up to that point. Still South eventually came to the correct conclusion that East was more likely than West to hold a singleton diamond.

South therefore took the second diamond with the queen. East failed to follow suit, and South could lead the next diamond toward dummy for a finesse with the ace-nine.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S— Q J 8 7 H— Q 5 D— A K 9 4 C— 8 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. Avoid opening a borderline hand when a substantial part of your strength is in queens.

'Peyton Place' Just Fades Away

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Born noisily, television series are likely to die quietly. "Peyton Place," after five trauma-filled years on ABC, slipped away Monday night without even a farewell.

The wind-up show, as a matter of fact, showed a callous disregard of the faithful viewers.

The network and 20th Century-Fox, the studio that turned out more than 500 episodes, could have at least shown the consideration and class of Quinn Martin, producer of "The Fugitive" and tied up a few loose ends.

Those storm-tossed characters were tossed out on a new adventure. Dr. Rossi was about to go on trial for the murder of his fiancée's ex-husband and a young man was about to give himself up on a hit-and-run charge.

Years ago, when CBS's radio network decided suddenly to kill off some long-running soap operas — some in mid-episode — it received such a freshet of anguished letters from listeners that they had to tell them — by mail — how some of the stories worked out.

In the case of Helen Trent, who had been proving for years that romance could come into the life of a woman over 40, a form letter to fans revealed that she just up and married the latest romance in her life and went abroad to live happily ever after.

It is highly unlikely either ABC or the studio wants to wrap up the serial for the viewers. Primary interest of the producers now seems to be "Peyton Place's" financial future in re-runs.

Not only will we probably never know whether Dr. Rossi was acquitted, but the disappearance of Alison will never be cleared up. Alison, as true blue fans will remember, was played by Mia Farrow and she disappeared the day Mia quit the serial.

The only clue we had that it was all over for "Peyton Place" was the line "the end" on the screen. Next week the time period will be filled by "The Guns of Will Sonnett," a western limping to the end of its trail.

Earlier ABC presented the first of its "Summer Focus" news hours, a rather interesting report on the apparently unhealable breach between the Israelis and the Palestine Arabs.

The narration succeeded in presenting the two viewpoints with notable impartiality, although the cameraman's best film was of Israeli families farming the land won from Jordan during the six-day war two years ago but harried by military action from across the river.

The program did point up a new element entering an old dispute: the emergence of a Palestine resistance movement involving trained commandos.

"Summer Focus" is a catch-all series title. The second show, Thursday night, will take up the subject of abortion.

Hostess Is Signed

ABC's syndication division has signed Betsy Palmer to a long-term contract and named her hostess of its daytime show, "Girl Talk." Miss Palmer has been acting in the absence of Virginia Graham, star of the show from its inception seven years ago, who left in February in a dispute over money. Miss Graham apparently is out of the show, but there is some resulting litigation to be cleaned up.

'West Side Story' Now At Bene

MORGAN — An updated version of "West Side Story" is featured at the Club Bene Dinner-Theater.

Beninato Productions will feature a new young cast in the tragic love story of a modern-day Romeo and Juliet trapped in the backwater of New York's West Side.

The Romeo is Tony portrayed by Robert Donmoyer, hero in the Jets gang; the Juliet (Adele Paige) is Maria, sister of the leader of the rival Sharks gang.

Curtain time is 8:40 nightly except Sunday, when it is 7:40 p.m. Reservations for dinner should be made in advance.

The bitter-sweet tragedy will remain at the Club Bene through June 29 and will be followed by "The Pajama Game," opening July 1.

Theatre Six Gives Youths Free Tickets

METUCHEN — Theatre Six has donated $1,200 worth of season tickets to the Middlesex County Office of Economic Opportunity for allocation to disadvantaged young people.

David Morning, MCEOC youth development director, said the tickets would be distributed by the MCEOC, NAACP and the Urban League.

Theatre Six is eligible for a $750 reimbursement from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts for the tickets, provided the state funds can be matched on a local basis.

Richard Halajian of Brick Township, bass, has played throughout the metropolitan area and is well known for his virtuosity.

Brewer has been teaching percussion a number of years. He has recorded with a variety of groups and has made several TV appearances. He is writing a book on drum instruction.

Seltzer Elected Trustee Of Garden State Ballet

NEWARK — Ronald Seltzer of Oakhurst has been elected trustee of the Garden State Ballet Foundation. He is vice president of Bamberger's in New Jersey.

Mrs. Joseph H. Lerner, president, announced the election of eight other trustees: Jules Aresty, Trenton; Louis V. Aronson, 2d, Far Hills; Joseph M. Byrne 3d, Short Hills; Leon Kranzohr, East Orange; Donald A. McMahon, Convent Station; Anthony M. Surano of South Orange; Mrs. Joseph L. Tabourne, Jr. Somerset, and George B. Underwood, Short Hills.

This foundation is the sponsoring organization for the ballet, New Jersey's resident ballet company. It is in the final weeks of a record year in which it has visited 30 New Jersey cities, and appeared in 16 public concerts and 74 educational programs reaching more than 100,000 children and adults between October and May.

Present Student Awards Today

RED BANK — Students at Red Bank High School who have won honors in athletics and academic work were to receive their awards at an assembly this morning.

All varsity monogram winners received letters at the assembly instead of the sports banquet as in previous years.

Retarded Students

Are Guests at Dance
HIGHLANDS — The Henry Hudson Regional School Future Teachers of America Club sponsored a dance in Atlantic Highlands Grammar School for students at the Red Bank School for the Retarded. Music was provided by the Armadillos.

Club members designed and made decorations, served refreshments and supervised games for the children. Each youngster attending the affair received a gift bag.

In Spring Concert

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — Diane Messner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Messner, 103 Apple Orchard Drive, New Shrewsbury, will be singing in the Wittenberg University Chorus when the group presents its spring concert Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Wittenberg Union. The concert will feature works by Berger, Pinkman, and Brahms.

Jazz Concert Sunday By Brewer Quartet

TINTON FALLS — After a lapse of about seven years, the Old Mill Gallery will resume its jazz concerts.

Scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday will be a jazz concert by the Dave Brewer Quartet.

Featured will be works by such jazz exponents as Miles Davis and Bill Evans. The program will also include works by Herbie Hancock, Gary Burton and original compositions by Mike Garson of New York.

Brewer, who has his drum studio at 2 W. Front St., Red Bank, had this to say on the presentation:

"The quartet will play our own arrangements of these works. Our interpretations are representative of things that are being done in jazz now. The concert will not be a reiteration of the past.

"We try to present a distillation of some past influences and current trends in jazz. We believe in the freedom of expression by individual members of the group, but the quartet as a whole moves in the same direction to interpret music as we see it and feel it."

Dave Kenny, on vibes, has played with the American Wind Ensemble and the National Orchestra Association. Ken Bichel has placed in several national piano competitions, and has signed with Atlantic Records. Both of them are from New York, and are both candidates for their master's degrees in music from the Juilliard School of Music, New York.

Richard Halajian of Brick Township, bass, has played throughout the metropolitan area and is well known for his virtuosity.

Brewer has been teaching percussion a number of years. He has recorded with a variety of groups and has made several TV appearances. He is writing a book on drum instruction.

Arts Center Box Office Is Handling Direct Sales

HOLMDEL — The box office of the Garden State Arts Center has opened, to start direct sale of single-event tickets for its 1969 summer season.

While remaining subscription seats for both classical and popular series can also be obtained at the box office before the season starts June 12, it will serve throughout the summer as the main outlet for advance and night-of-performance tickets to the individual events scheduled in the center.

The season opener Thursday, June 12, at 8:30 p.m. will be the Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy with The Romeros, Spain's first family of the guitar, as guest soloists. The Ormandy-led Philadelphia Orchestra also opened the inaugural season last year June 12.

ticket sales from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and from 10:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. It will be closed Sundays.

The box office at Telegraph Hill Park will be open for Singers Set to Tour The Arts Center

HOLMDEL — Singers Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme are scheduled to tour the Garden State Arts Center at Telegraph Hill Park here for the first time around 2 p.m., tomorrow, following a press conference.

The couple, motoring to the site, plan to take a close look at the facility where they will appear with Woody Herman and his orchestra for a week's engagement in August.
