OK Marlboro Aide's Resignation

Joseph P. Leo

By SHERRY FIGDORE

MARLBORO — After a three-hour continued hearing on the status of township business administrator Joseph P. Leo, during which concessions were made on both sides, Mayor Walter C. Grubb last night agreed to withdraw his dismissal notice to Mr. Leo and allow the former administrator to resign, effective July 25.

A statement released last night by Mayor Grubb and approved by council members and Mr. Leo, states: "Through Mr. (James R.) Minogue, the township attorney, I advised Mr. Leo and the council that no charges were made against Mr. Leo but that it was important to the mayor's office to be represented by a business administrator with the same viewpoints as the mayor.

"Mr. Leo stated that he respected the mayor's position.

"After discussion with council, Mr. Leo tendered his resignation and I have accepted it, effective July 25.

The statement concludes: "Mr. Leo requested and I have granted him a leave of absence from July 7 to that date.

"Accordingly, I have advised council that I have withdrawn my notice of June 14, terminating Mr. Leo's services."

Claiming that he had a prior commitment, the mayor did not attend last night's session, despite a specific request from Mr. Leo and his attorney, Richard F. Plechner, Metuchen. Council had held over its Tuesday night hearing, requested by Mr. Leo, until last evening mainly to hear the mayor's replies to statements made by the business administrator.

Threats made earlier by both the mayor and council president Joseph A. Brodniak that the "scene might be muddied up" did not materialize.

Air Cleared

"The most important thing I insisted upon," Mr. Leo said last night, "was that they clear the air. There were no charges."

"As he (the mayor) said," Mr. Leo continued, "it was a political thing. I don't want any changes hanging."

Mayor Grubb's three-week time extension and its attendant financial advantages (including two weeks of vacation pay) were a compromise between his original notice, which terminated Mr. Leo's services as of July 4, and more generous demands made by the administrator's attorney and two councilmen.

Mr. Plechner, backed by councilman Lawrence C. Youngman and Ellis McCracken had reportedly asked for a leave of absence terminating Aug. 1.

Mr. Leo orginally learned of his dismissal from the $13,000 a year post he's held since last December, when the Daily Register contacted him at Camp Drum, N. Y., where his U.S. Army National Guard unit was encamped for two weeks.

The letter of termination, mailed by Mayor Grubb on June 14, the day Mr. Leo left for the remote Army installation, reached him only when he returned last Monday.

Harbor Board Given Crime Fight Powers

TRENTON (AP) — The Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor now has jurisdiction over peripheral activities on the docks and beefed-up investigative power for its law enforcement officers.

The New Jersey Legislature gave final approval yesterday to the necessary enabling legislation which the commission said was important in the fight against organized crime on the waterfront. Gov. Richard J. Hughes signed the two-bill package shortly after the legislature adjourned. The New York Legislature had approved similar legislation earlier this year.

Impetus for passage in the New Jersey Assembly, which had stalled the bills, was provided June 26 at a public hearing here when a ranking waterfront official claimed that the organization crime empire of Gerardo Catena, New Jersey's reputed Mafia overlord, could be severely hampered if "his trusted underlings were removed from the docks."

William P. Sirignano, executive director of the waterfront commission, asserted that his commission could do the job if its powers were extended.

Representatives of the International Longshoremen's Association argued against passage, contending that the bills would give the commission an unnecessary right to regulate the lives of dock employes.

The commission covers the New York-New Jersey Waterfront.

Assemblyman Charles J. Irwin, R-Union, who moved the bills, said it was "clear that as a matter of fact organized crime is involved in the waterfront."

He read from testimony by members of the Waterfront Commission that the late reputed Mafia leader Vito Genovese and some of his "lieutenants" had connections with companies whose employes would be affected by the bills.

Man at Top

"If you have a Tommy Eboli, a Genovese, Gerry Catena at the top, you're going to find his soldiers throughout the organization," Irwin said.

Assemblyman Herbert Heilmann, R-Union, an official of the Teamsters Union Joint Council 73, argued that the waterfront commission was "just trying to get more jurisdiction over the rank and file."

One bill to require the licensing and registration of container consolidated companies and the employes who work within 1,000 feet of the docks won final passage, 57-1.

The second measure, which grants the waterfront commission the power to designate any employe to be an investigator with all the powers of police officers in New York and New Jersey, was approved 53-0.

The legislature also enacted a measure which would temporarily raise the 6 per cent interest ceiling on bonds floated by counties, municipalities, school districts and other public bodies.

Permit Borrowing

The bill which imposes a one-year moratorium on the present statutory 6 per cent interest was designed to help these governmental units meet the current tight money crisis and permit them to borrow money at higher rates of interest.

A companion measure approved by both houses extends to school districts

July 4 Festivities Slated

By FLORENCE BRUDER

Flags will be waving outside homes during the long Fourth of July weekend, and shore residents and communities are preparing — with parades, fireworks and picnics — to mark the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and at the same time officially welcome the summer season.

Cooperation of the weather was promised, with a forecast of "sunny and pleasant" from now through the weekend.

Monmouth County is traditionally deluged with visitors to its beaches and race track, and indications are 1969 will be no exception.

Attorney General Arthur J. Sills has issued a plea for a "safe and sane Fourth." Last year, there were 16 deaths in New Jersey over the holiday and a near-record 620 fatalities in the nation. Mr. Sills has emphasized the state slogan, "Be a wise driver, not a 1969 statistic," as a keynote to travel.

Police Boosted

His office reported two helicopters will be in operation over the weekend to spot accidents or congestion and 700 state troopers will be available during the period.

Holmdel state police, who patrol the local section of the Garden State Parkway, said they are prepared for the traffic load adding that people should "take time and use patience."

In Atlantic Highlands, the 30th annual firemen's and First Aid Squad fair is under way at the harbor lot. It ends Saturday with a fireworks display.

Authorities urged caution in swimming and boating activities to avoid water accidents or tragedies.

In Sea Bright, where "the Strip" is annually crowded with beachgoers, police are increasing their force to facilitate the handling of traffic and make things more pleasant for vacationers. All beaches expect capacity crowds, including Sandy Hook State Park, where personnel are ready to cope with those who come to swim, fish and take nature tours.

The fireworks in Red Bank have been postponed, as announced previously.

The Middletown Recreation Commission will sponsor a fireworks display at Ideal Beach tomorrow. Police Chief Joseph McCarthy said his force is at top strength to cope with traffic, and will enforce all ordinances. The chief said violators who sell or shoot off fireworks will be arrested. But, he added, no problems are expected and a "fine, beautiful Middletown day" is anticipated.

Long Branch residents and visitors will be treated to fireworks on the beachfront at 10 p.m. tomorrow. All city beaches and boardwalk concessions are geared to the holiday throngs.

Hughes Now Backs Unicameral System

TRENTON (AP) — In a surprising about-face, Gov. Richard J. Hughes proposed that the present two-house legislature be replaced by a small one-house legislature with full-time members.

"I made a bad mistake," Hughes said, recalling his key role in blocking a drive among reform-minded politicians to institute a unicameral legislature at the 1966 State Constitutional Convention.

"I liked the counterbalance of two houses. But I don't like it anymore. It's a bad system," he declared.

Hughes called a late evening news conference yesterday and he interjected the proposal for a unicameral legislature into one of his most stinging attacks on the current Republican-controlled legislature.

Will Propose It

He said he would formally submit the proposal in his final annual message to the legislature next January.

The Democratic governor charged the legislature has "betrayed" the people because urban lawmakers, who have numerical superiority, were "being led around by the nose" by a handful of rural legislators.

Hughes played an instrumental role as leader of the Democratic Party three years ago in working behind the scenes to maintain the two-house legislative system. The delegates were evenly divided among Democrats and Republicans, though Hughes was not a delegate.

The convention was mandated by the courts to fulfill the one-man—one-vote concept of equalized voting. It

Bus Subsidy Voted

TRENTON (AP) — A bill establishing a $750,000 bus subsidy program was given final legislative approval yesterday and was sent to Gov. Richard J. Hughes.

The state Transportation Department contends it is needed to avert a commuter crisis, particularly in big cities.

The Assembly approved the measure by a vote of 48-16. Opponents contended that the subsidies would put the state into the bus business on a grand scale. Some charged mismanagement on the part of bus companies.

The bill is designed to keep deficit-ridden services from going out of business before July 1, 1970. The state would pick up 75 per cent of the cost while local sources would pay 25 per cent.

In a special message to the governor and the legislature on May 1, State Transportation Commissioner David Goldberg asserted:

"Unless there is public involvement in the preservation of bus service, private companies will be forced to continue abandoning unprofitable routes and increasing fares, thereby foreclosing public transportation to many citizens who need it.

"The areas which will be affected first will be the older urban centers. Many middle sized communities will be faced in the very near future with the loss of most or all public transportation service unless public support is available. The critical point was reached last year for Atlantic City and Trenton. An increasing number of communities face the same situation this year."

In Monmouth County, Boro Busses had announced it would not be able to continue intermunicipal lines without state aid.

Beadleston Hits Back at Hughes

TRENTON (AP) — The legislature yesterday refused to enact an upgraded $37 million urban aid program pushed by Gov. Richard J. Hughes and voted a study instead as Republicans and Democrats accused each other of "playing politics."

In a prolonged Senate debate, Democratic leaders claimed that Republicans, who control both houses, were intent on stalling until after the elections. Hughes is a Democrat.

Republicans countered that the Hughes' plan was submitted at the last moment, had undergone revisions almost until the time the final version was introduced and was merely a political ploy aimed at embarrassing the Republicans.

Sen. Alfred N. Beadleston, R - Monmouth, accused Hughes of "acting like a frantic political animal from the boilerworks" in attempting to brand Republicans with a charge of neglecting the cities.

"Let the frantic animal kick," Beadleston said, caustically.

Senate Minority Leader J. Edward Crabiel, D-Middlesex, said there was no excuse for authorizing a study without placing a early date for its completion. The legislature's taxation committee was directed to make recommendations on the proposal before the legislature adjourns for the year.

All 80 seats in the Assembly are at stake in the November election as well as the governorship. The Senate does not stand for re-election until 1971.

The legislature is not scheduled to convene again until after the November elections.

Crabiel said the legislature was attempting to sweep the matter under the rug rather than face the crisis of the cities.

Hughes proposed a bank stock tax to raise $25 million, then followed with a bill that would yield another $8 millions by taxing savings and loan associations. Another feature called for an accelerated collection rate which would bring the total to $37 million in the first year.

The money would be divided among 460 municipalities with the lion's share earmarked for urban areas.

The proposal for the tax study originated in the Assembly, which Crabiel said was "the most irresponsible lower house we've had."

Senate Majority Leader Raymond H. Bateman, R-Somerset, said that "if political games are being played here today, they are being played by the governor." He said Hughes' plan was "full of holes."

Sen. William V. Musto, D-Hudson, who rose in defense of the governor, said the legislature had "one hell of a nerve" in passing the bill authorizing a study of Hughes' proposal.

Disturbance Quickly Quelled at County Jail

FREEHOLD — A disturbance at the Monmouth County Jail, described by Deputy Warden John Anderson as "a disagreement," was quickly brought under control here last night.

According to Mr. Anderson, there was no riot as had been reported. He called it a disagreement over "petty stuff" and said "it did not amount to anything."

Six prisoners wanted to put mattresses on the floor to watch television, and the officer-in-charge refused, a county jail spokesman said. The prisoners started hollering. The jail staff came in and talked to them and the prisoners quieted down, he added.

"An officer didn't think and it went out over the County Radio" but when local police came to the jail to lend a hand in quelling the disturbance, "we didn't need their help," said Mr. Anderson.

Red Chinese Boats Sunk

TAIPEI (AP) — Nationalist Chinese commandos sank two Red Chinese supply boats and one gunboat and damaged another gunboat in a raid last night at a Communist naval base on the Min River in Fukien Province, intelligence sources said today.

The sources said all the raiders returned safely to their base.

They were only identified as members of the Sea Guerrilla Force of the Anti-Communist National Salvation Corps.

Cite Midland Ratable Hike

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — Mayor Hans H. Froehlich predicted yesterday that the proposed expansion by the Midland Glass Company will add $1½ million in ratables to the township tax base.

The mayor based his estimate on an announcement from Midland that it plans a 200,000 - square - foot addition to its storage facilities at Cliffwood.

He added that he was extremely "hopeful that when the proposed plant addition is completed, it will result in a tax reduction for township residents."

The expansion has been criticized by Cliffwood Residents who have also voiced opposition to the erection of two 30,000 - gallon propane gas storage tanks on the firm's property.

Referring to that approval, Mayor Froehlich chided Democratic local candidates for what he termed "fear tactics" in opposing the tanks.

Board Okayed

Claiming that the Planning Board's approval of the tanks directly led to Midland's decision to expand, the mayor stated, "I am disappointed that the Democratic candidates have chosen to use fear tactics in their efforts to secure votes."

The candidates, Marilyn D. Brenner and Joseph F. Zambor, called the approval a "callous irresponsibility to the welfare of the township" and claimed the safety and welfare of the citizens had been jeopardized.

"When the Planning Board approved the storage tanks," the mayor said, "the Democrats claimed I was willingly endangering the safety of hundreds of residents to allow Midland to save money.

"The installation has full approval of fire insurance underwriters as well as that of the Bureau of Engineering and Safety of the state Department of Labor and Industry," the mayor maintained.

Avoid Shutdown

He explained that with the storage tanks, Midland will avoid shutdown of its operations when the regular supplier, N.J. Natural Gas, cuts off service to supply residential areas.

"This will make it economically feasible for the company to expand its operations, rather than curtail or cease them," Mayor Froehlich added.

"Additionally, continuous operation of the plant will protect the paychecks of the firm's 1,000 employes," the mayor stressed.

Midland, the township's largest tax ratable, has been under fire from Cliffwood residents. They claim the plant is responsible for air and water pollution, excessive noise, speeding trucks on Cliffwood Ave., and a disregard by company officials of the community.

To help solve the problem, Mayor Froehlich established an ad hoc advisory committee to meet with the firm.

Commenting on the situation, he added:

"I am pleased that the problems caused by the premature construction of the storage tanks have been resolved and I believe discussion between plant officials and nearby residents will result in a much more neighborly attitude on the part of the company.

the power which municipalities now have to issue bonds for refunding purposes.

The current tight money market also led the lawmakers to make changes in a previously enacted measure giving New Jersey students greater access to higher education loans.

The bill gave the Higher Education Assistance Authority the power to issue revenue bonds and buy up the personal notes held by lending institutions which have made such loans but are increasingly reluctant to encumber large sums of student loans.

Amendment

One amendment relieves the authority of any obligation to purchase student notes executed prior to last Aug. 3 when the federal law was changed to permit a 7 per cent interest on such loans.

This was done because there are 5 and 6 per cent loans totaling $38 million outstanding and in today's market the return of those loans would not be sufficient to repay the principal and interest on revenue bonds issued by the authority.

Mr. Youngman left before the meeting concluded, but commented that "the mayor and council had more or less come to their senses, and followed the Faulkner Act as it was meant to be."

Hoping that "an amicable parting of the ways" is best for Marlboro, the councilman concluded that the much-publicized affair "has taught us a lesson to settle differences in our chambers instead of in the court chambers."

Stamp Bill Veto May Shut Gasoline Stations

TRENTON (AP) — Angry service station owners expanded their threat of a statewide shutdown following Gov. Richard J. Hughes' veto of a bill that would have banned trading stamps at gasoline stations.

Hughes, conforming to an announcement he made on June 20, vetoed the measure yesterday when the legislature met in special session.

The New Jersey Gasoline Retailers Association which said it would stage a "one day" shutdown unless the governor signed the measure, charged him with ignoring the needs of the small businessman.

"It may be necessary to go beyond a one-day shutdown to let the people in Trenton know how we feel about this," said Jerry M. Ferrara of Teaneck, executive director of the association.

Trading stamp companies lobbied vigorously against passage of the measure.

Ferrara said no date has been set as yet for the protest action but "it will be based on when it will have the most effect without penalizing the public."

Ferrara said the shutdown tactic was approved by a voice vote of the 300 delegates Tuesday at the group's 31st annual convention in Atlantic City. The association says it represents 6,000 gasoline dealers in New Jersey and contends that trading stamps are an unnecessary economic and operational burden.

Hughes asserted that he finds no evidence that stamps are detrimental, nor that their abolition would lower the price of gasoline or that station owners were coerced into offering the stamps.

The bill also would have banned give-away games at gasoline stations, but the governor noted that these had been banned by the state Supreme Court anyway. He said the high court opinion did not declare trading stamps illegal.

"No information has been presented to me which would indicate to me there is a detriment to the public at large, or an element of coercion involved in the use of trading stamps by gas stations," Hughes said in explaining his veto. "As a matter of fact, to judge from the volume of mail received by my office on this issue, the overwhelming majority of those who have written tend to favor the continued use of stamps."

Power Towers Ruling Due on Monday

By PAUL KERN

NEWARK — After six months of hearings, The Board of Public Utilities Commissioners will review the evidence and the recommendations of hearing examiner Jack Healy and rule on whether or not Jersey Central Power and Light Co. may build its towers along the Jersey Central Railroad's right of way from Colt's Neck to Red Bank.

Mr. Healy, accompanied by the attorney for the power company, William T. Osborne, the Municipal Public Services Coordinating Committee Counsel Milton Mausner and Felix Forlenza, counsel for the PUC will tour the right of way and inspect the towers Monday before writing his opinion.

The decision of the board depends to great extent on Mr. Healy's recommendations as hearing examiner.

Paul F. Godley Jr., a consulting communications engineer who testified yesterday as the last witness called, told the PUC he didn't think the 230,000-volt lines will cause radio interference.

Mr. Godley, who has been under retainer by JCP&L since the first week in June when he was asked to study the effect of high tension lines on radio and television communications and present testimony on his findings, said as long as TV antennas and radios are more than 50 feet from the overhead cables, there should be no effect on communications.

He also testified that because most of the communications equipment used by Red Bank Airport in New Shrewsbury, across Shrewsbury Ave. from the towers, is FM equipment, the airport's communications would not be affected at all.

The point of communications interference was brought out by Shrewsbury resident Stephen Bartosh in his statement to the PUC at the May 7 hearing, the first called by the PUC, "for the purpose of inquiring into the reasonableness of the proposed construction and its effect on the environment and safety in the area."

The battle between the power company and the MPSCC member municipalities, spearheaded by Shrewsbury and New Shrewsbury, began in December when the communities vowed to protest the granting of an easement to JCP&L to build its towers on the right of way. The towns alleged there would be danger to planes taking off and landing at Red Bank Airport and predicted a decrease in the value of the $50,000 homes abutting the right of way.

At the first set of hearings, which took place from January through April, the MPSCC brought in testimony by professional pilots who said the towers would be a danger to planes, the Shrewsbury police chief who agreed, and a letter from the Shrewsbury Board of Education protesting the towers because of possible danger to children.

In an unusual move, the PUC suspended the discussions of transferring the right of way and instead requested the power company come in and justify its plans to construct the towers.

In the meanwhile, construction had begun and had been partially completed from Colts Neck through Shrewsbury and New Shrewsbury. The latter two towns filed suits in their municipal courts because the power company was allegedly proceeding with the construction in violation of local zoning laws.

The Shrewsbury Court convicted the power company on April 28 of building the towers without a building permit and without having applied for a building permit. No permit could have been issued without a variance because of a borough ordinance prohibiting towers more than 32 feet high.

The Monmouth County Court upheld the conviction. The utility is expected to appeal the ruling to the State Appelate Division.

There has been no action on the case filed in New Shrewsbury Municipal Court, where the charges are the same as those brought in Shrewsbury.

If the Shrewsbury conviction is upheld or JCP&L is convicted in New Shrewsbury, the power company is liable to a $100 a day fine for each day the towers stand in each town. Both communities filed their suits in March and could presumably levy their fines for every day the towers have stood since the complaints were filed.

The utility, in the briefs filed in both communities in defense of the charges, claimed it was not subject to local ordinances. Judge Charles Morgan, who sat on the Shrewsbury bench for the power company's case, said the utility is subject to local ordinances unless special immunity is ordered by the PUC. As of yesterday, JCP&L had not requested that the PUC grant special immunity from local laws.

Robert H. Sims, a JCP&L vice president, told the PUC on May 27 that the company will continue with its towers whether or not it is given permission to purchase the easement from the railroad or immunity from local ordinances. He said PUC permission isn't needed in a rental agreement.

However, officials in Shrewsbury have said they will press the utility in court to halt the construction of the towers if the utility continues on its present course without PUC permission.

Find Heroin In Car; Hold Woman, 24

HOLMDEL — One thousand bags of heroin valued at $5 each, and a .38 calibre revolver were found in a car last night driven by a 24-year-old Neptune woman, State Police here said.

According to police, Trooper Erich Tappert saw a car of suspicious nature moving in the southbound lane of the Garden State Parkway. The car had bad tires and when he stopped to check it in Sayreville, he arrested the woman on charges of possession of a deadly weapon and narcotics.

She was identified as Katy Bently of 2114 Monroe Ave., Neptune, and also of Newark.

She is being held here for arraignment this morning.

Hughes Backs Unicameral

expanded the Senate to 40 members and the Assembly to 80.

But Hughes said the legislature has violated the constitution because of the "disastrous irresponsibility" of urban legislators.

"The people have been betrayed," he said after the special summer session yesterday. The legislature, convened at the request of Hughes, acted on "emergency" measures and other bills and recessed until after the gubernatorial election in November.

It adjourned without acting on Hughes' latest proposal for a $37 million urban aid program.

Republican leaders said Hughes had revised the plan at the last moment and failed to give them adequate time to consider the changes.

Hughes labeled the Republican statement "a political alibi."

Senate Majority Leader Raymond H. Bateman, R-Somerset, contended at an earlier news conference that the governor had interjected politics into the legislative session, and that both Democrats and Republicans had joined in.

He urged Hughes to "de-escalate" his attacks on the legislature, which is controlled by 3-1 GOP majorities.

Cites Campaign

"I don't think we can get a productive legislative session in the midst of a gubernatorial campaign," Bateman said when asked if the legislature would return for another special summer session if Hughes called the lawmakers back.

The governor also said he was still dissatisfied with a $12 million urban aid program passed by the legislature which he has already signed into law.

The money is in the hands of the state Community Affairs Department and Hughes hinted that he might try to block its distribution to the state's six largest cities.

The governor contends that the money was intended for police and firemen's salaries. But the bill is worded to make this illegal.

Republicans claim the money can be used for this purpose.

When asked if he planned to retaliate against the legislature, Hughes said, "I'm going to be slow in signing special interest legislation."

Might Not Sign

Asked whether this meant he might not sign into law a pay raise for legislators approved by both houses this year, he replied, "I'm thinking about it."

Hughes is barred by the State Constitution from seeking a third consecutive term in office. The governorship and all 80 seats in the Assembly are at stake in the November election.

At the 1966 Constitutional Convention, a plan for a unicameral legislature was led by several delegates of both parties, including former Republican State Sen. Walter Jones of Bergen County; David J. Goldberg, personal counsel to Hughes at the time and now state transportation commissioner; and State Sen. William V. Musto, a Hudson County Democrat.

Many observers felt at the time that the plan was showing surprising strength and some believed that the endorsement of the governor could have been decisive in replacing the two-house system.

Boy Injured At Keyport

KEYPORT — A 10-year-old boy was injured yesterday afternoon when he darted between parked cars in front of his home and into the path of a car, police said.

Douglas Maratta, 10, of 212 Broadway was reported in fair condition this morning in Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, where he was admitted with a broken arm and leg and head injuries.

Governor Vetoes Head Tax Bill

TRENTON (AP) — Legislation to tax passengers departing from Newark Airport was formally vetoed Wednesday by Gov. Richard J. Hughes, who said the plan was "clearly unconstitutional on its face."

The governor, who had previously announced the veto, said the bill was "a cruel hoax on citizens" of Newark and Elizabeth where the airport is located. He returned the measure unsigned to the legislature which convened in special session Wednesday.

He said the courts have held consistently that the right to travel must be "free of restraints or burdens imposed by the several states."

The tax would have imposed a fee of $2 on any passenger departing Newark Airport for overseas, $1 for domestic flights and 50 cents for local flights aboard a helicopter.

Proponents of the measure contended it would bring in as much as $10 million to $12 million annually for Elizabeth and Newark. Eighty per cent of the revenue would be earmarked for Newark, the state's largest city.

Symphony Dispute Ends, Concert Set

NEWARK (AP) — The New Jersey Symphony will play its first concert in October as a labor dispute which caused cancellation of all spring and summer concerts was settled yesterday.

Terms of the settlement included establishment of a season for the orchestra and a salary guide for its musicians, members of Local 16 of the American Federation of Musicians.

The settlement ends a smoldering controversy which began last year when the union protested the hiring of eight musicians from New York to play in the symphony.

The settlement includes changing the status of the orchestra's personnel from a "club date" basis to a salaried group with a season of concerts. "Club dates" provide for the hiring of musicians on a concert-by-concert basis.

The contract provides for an 18-week series in the first year, a 20-week series in the second year and a 22-week series in the third year. The contract runs through September, 1972.

Superior Court Judge Ward Herbert had ordered the dispute to arbitration in May. Arbitrator Alan Weisenfeld, who is secretary of the state Board of Mediation, said about seven sessions were held with the union and the symphony before the dispute was settled.

According to Danny Hope, president of Local 16, the musicians will all be union members, with preference given to Local 16.

Room Use Denial Protested by PTA

MORGANVILE — Members of the Morganville Parent-Teacher Association last night protested the Board of Education's decision of not allowing them to use the Morganville School for their meetings.

The Morganville PTA, which was disbanded last year with the intention of joining a consolidated Central School PTA, reorganized last April 26. At that time, it scheduled its next meeting May 26, to elect officers and form committees for May 26.

Superintendent of Schools Russell R. Wright informed the group that the facilities at Central School would be made available to it. This site was chosen over Morganville because of the availability of maintenance men and custodians to open and close the building and because of the large, all purpose room at the newer school.

The PTA members objected to using Central School since they seek identity with their own school.

Mrs. Kenneth Peterson, PTA president said, "We are satisfied with the present accommodations at the Morganville School in regards to space." She added that "if the board saw fit it could send a custodian from one of the other schools to oversee our meetings once a month."

Questions on insurance requirements and counter proposals of having volunteer fathers act as custodians were considered by both groups.

Why It's Wanted

Mrs. George Gillam, president of the Monmouth County unit said: "It is my belief that a local PTA must work in its own environment in order to achieve the maximum benefit for the children."

The board took the request under advisement and promised an answer to the group within 10 days.

In other action, the board approved bids and awarded contracts for various items for the 1969-70 semester.

Abbotts Dairies, a division of Fairmont Foods Co. of Philadtiphia was awarded the ice cream contract for a low bid of $6,624.

The No. 2 fuel oil contract was awarded to Agway Inc., with Dean Oil Co. gaining the No. 4 fuel oil nod. Agway bid .1109 per gallon and dean submitted a bid of .10814.

Transportation contracts were awarded to Niveng Corp., Rt. 51, $1,919; Dorothy Jamison and Son Bus Co., Rts. 58 and 59, $2,286 each, Rts. 50 and 54, $4,143 and Rts. 52 and 57, $4,147.

The venetian blind contract was awarded to Goldstein Brothers, Freehold, for $1,778 to supply linen blinds.

The asphalt paving contract for Central and Robertsville schools was granted to Manzo Contracting, Matawan, on its low bid of $11,400 with an alternate bid to resurface the existing paving at Central School for $4,875.

Patock Construction Co., New Shrewsbury, also received a contract for paving with a low bid of $1,400 with a deductible of $1,310.

had announced it would have to discontinue the service.

The Public Service Electric and Gas Co., operator of one of the largest bus services; the Inter-City Lines, which carry some 5,000 North Jersey commuters daily, and bus lines in Camden and other communities claimed financial problems.

Goldberg proposed that beyond the immediate subsidy program, "consideration should be given to public acquisition of the Public Service and Inter-City bus companies."

Said Keansburg Mayor Harry Graham:

"When it was first announced several months ago that our local bus service (Marathon Bus Co. of South Amboy) would cease operations, our former mayor Leonard S. Bellezza immediately called upon all legislators to seek all aid possible. His action and the action of this council may or may have not played a part in the passing of this legislation.

"But — and the word but looms larger and larger all the time—we are most happy to see that the government has noticed that the small community with its intermunicipal bus service is just as dependent as the airline which links East Coast cities with West Coast cities.

"The borough of Keansburg is thankful for this legislation."

Release of 3 GI Prisoners Promised

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam announced today it will release three American prisoners of war and allow other American POWs to receive gifts from their families in observance of Independence Day.

Brief broadcasts by Radio Hanoi monitored in Tokyo and Hong Kong did not specifically say the prisoners would be released July 4. They also did not say where the men would be freed, nor were they identified.

But Tokyo monitors said Radio Hanoi spoke of "Americans captured in North Vietnam," indicating they were U.S. pilots who had been shot down.

North Vietnam last freed three U.S. pilots Aug. 2 in Vientiane, Laos. In the past North Vietnam has allowed American POWs to receive gifts on special holidays like Christmas.

The announcement came as U.S. military men were puzzling over one of the lowest levels of fighting in the war and trying to determine just how many North Vietnamese had infiltrated into South Vietnam or withdrawn.

Top of the News

ABSECON — Atlantic County Prosecutor Robert McAllister Jr. said yesterday he is unsure about starting extradition proceedings against a Georgia man being held in Colorado who is wanted for questioning in the murder of two coeds near here last month.

McAllister said an Atlantic County grand jury would first have to return an indictment on an unlawful conversion charge pending against Thomas R. Waldon, 22, in Atlantic City. Waldon is being held by Aspen, Colo., authorities on a car theft charge.

The bodies of Elizabeth Perry of Excelsior, Minn., and Susan Davis of Camp Hill, Pa., both 19, were discovered near the Garden State Parkway near Somers Point. Both had been stabbed to death.

Lt. James Brennan, who is heading the State Police investigation of the slayings, said, "We have reason to believe Waldon was in the shore area when the murders were committed.

"He's not considered any more of a suspect than a lot of other people," according to Brennan.

McGovern's Cong Parley Hit

WASHINGTON — Sen. George S. McGovern's secret meeting with top Communist negotiators has come under attack from a fellow Democrat who questioned whether it is in the nation's interest "to meet with the enemy in time of war."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. of Virginia raised the issue after McGovern, long a critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam, disclosed he had met for 10 hours May 23 in Paris with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives.

Answering questions about the propriety of the meeting, McGovern said he decided to go ahead with the meeting after conferring with the State Department and chief U.S. peace negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge.

"I wouldn't be able to rest if I thought anything I'd done had cost the life of a single American boy or prolonged the war," the South Dakota Democrat said in defending his action.

Try to Resolve Bus Strike

ATLANTIC CITY — A strike against the Atlantic City Transportation Co. entered its third day today as efforts aimed at resolving the dispute intensified. Mayor Richard Jackson was to have separate meetings with company representatives and negotiators for the Amalgamated Transit Union.

Welsh Cheers Hearten Prince

FISHGUARD, Wales — Prince Charles moves into a hotbed of Welsh nationalism today on a royal tour already marred by bomb scares, but his spirits were reported high after a roaring welcome from thousands of Welshmen yesterday.

The new prince of Wales was to visit the Roman-founded city of Carmarthen, a center of anti-English feeling and the only place in Wales that sends a nationalist to the Westminster Parliament.

Gynfow Evans, leader of the Welsh nationalist party, Plaid Cimru, was elected an MP here in 1966 on a promise to seek a separate parliament for Wales.

Districting Unit Praise Limited

A resolution to commend the commission for its work passed the Senate but failed in the Assembly.

The commission redrew Assembly districts for the November election and in the course of its work a number of assemblymen were placed in districts considered unfavorable for their chances at reelection. The resolution received only 29 Assembly votes, 12 less than required for passage in the 80-seat house.

War Gas Unaccounted For

WASHINGTON — Tens of millions of gallons of petroleum shipped to U.S. fighting forces in Vietnam could not be accounted for in 1967 because of what Pentagon auditors branded a "total breakdown" of a complex, unmanageable accounting system.

In case after case, a nine-man Joint Petroleum Technical Assistance Team concluded it was impossible to learn with certainty whether any of thousands of petroleum shipments inside Vietnam ever reached their destinations.

Sex Education Study Okayed

TRENTON — Amid growing protest among parents and citizens groups, the New Jersey Legislature yesterday authorized a study of sex education courses in the state.

Public hearings will be held later this month on the controversial issue of whether the courses should be banned or limited in public schools.

Say Soviets Seek India Base

WASHINGTON — An authoritative Asian diplomatic source says the Soviet Union has asked India for permission to establish a naval base which could dominate shipping lanes to all of East Asia and the western Pacific.

So far, the source reported, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India has resisted the request for a Soviet fleet base in the Andaman Islands, astride the Bay of Bengal. The source did not say how extensive a military base the Soviets are proposing for the islands, which were seized by the Japanese early in World War II because of their location.

Flood Relief Bill Passed

TRENTON — The Assembly gave final legislative approval yesterday to a bill appropriating $1.5 million for flood relief to the Passaic River Basin.

The bill, which now goes to the governor, provides for money from the state Storm Relief Fund to be used for desnagging and channel clearance of the rivers and tributaries in the area which was hit by severe flooding last year.

Apollo Crew Takes Last Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — The Apollo 11 astronauts climb into their spaceship atop a towering Saturn 5 rocket today to take part in the last major test for their launching toward a landing on the moon.

Wearing their space suits, Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins planned to enter the spaceship as the launch crew ticked off the final hours of a simulated countdown, aiming for a practice liftoff in midmorning.

Yank War Toll Drops Off

SAIGON — U.S. headquarters reported the lowest American death toll in seven weeks today — 241 Americans killed in action in Vietnam last week ending at midnight Saturday.

A few hours before the casualty report was issued U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in Washington he was told by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird: "Last week we had the lowest level in combat activity in Vietnam in a long time — possibly during the whole war." The 241 toll was six fewer than the preceding week. The wounded total was 1,674, compared to 1,686 Americans wounded in the week before.

Jury to Probe Graft Charge

NEWARK — A grand jury investigating corruption in Newark has been asked to look into charges by a city councilman that the cost of a municipal stadium now under construction "reeks of graft and corruption in high places." Essex County Prosecutor Joseph P. Lordi said yesterday he has asked the grand jury to examine charges made by the Rev. Horace P. Sharper.

Water Bond Referendum Bill Signed

TRENTON (AP) — New Jersey voters will decide in November if the state is to have a proposed $271 million bond issue to fight water pollution and acquire reservoir sites.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes signed legislation yesterday authorizing the referendum and urged bipartisan support to work for voter approval of the bonds.

The borrowing program would provide money for sewage treatment plants around the state and to acquire reservoir sites in six areas in central, northern and western sections of New Jersey.

Hughes said the bond issue was "of the highest importance to our people and industry. I intend to work as hard as I can . . . for passage of the bonds. Nothing could be more important to the health of citizens of the state and our economy."

The governor, a Democrat, originally proposed a $312.9 million bond issue. But the plan was reduced by the Republican - controlled legislature.

It now provides $242 million for sewage treatment, $27 mil for sewage treatment, $27 million for reservoir sites and $2 million for engineering.

The reservoirs would be located in the South River Tidal Basin in Middlesex County, the Raritan River confluence in Somerset County, the upper and lower Manasquan River in Monmouth County, Six Mile Run in Somerset, Two Bridges in Monmouth, and Hackettstown Reservoir in Sussex, Warren and Morris Counties.

Assemblyman Herbert M. Rinaldi, R-Essex, chief sponsor of the bond proposal, said "I hope that this bond referendum can receive the same vigorous bipartisan support toward its passage by the electorate in November as did our bond referenda of last year."

Zoning Code Unveiled In Matawan Township

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — The Planning Board last night introduced its proposed zoning ordinance for the township to a small audience at an informal public hearing.

The new ordinance, not finalized as yet, was prepared by consulting planners, the Alvin E. Gershen Associates of Trenton.

The document will be reviewed at another informal session Aug. 6, be available for public inspection in detail in the clerk's office on Aug. 20 and have its formal public hearing on Sept. 10, Chairman Marvin Paris stated.

The ordinance establishes three new zones and eliminates the residential planned community (RPC) which encompassed the Strathmore housing development.

What's Wanted

New proposals within the measure call for the establishment of a commmercial recreation area, fronting on the bay to provide for possible marina or other tourist facilities; a neighborhood commercial zone along both sides of Lower Main St. and an R-60 zone in Cliffwood.

Jay Lynch, of the planning firm, explained that the new residential zone was provided in an area surrounding the New York-Long Branch railroad tracks north of Cliffwood Ave. because of the "inconsistent subdivision of lots over the years."

The zone, which presently covers Strathmore, is being discarded in favor of an R-100 designation.

Mr. Lynch maintained, under questioning from Edward Kaufman, a former member of the Zoning Board, that the RPC zone was needed only in the beginning "for regulating a new area, but is poor for providing controls after it is developed."

Mr. Kaufman said the new zoning of the Strathmore lots which are 70 by 110 feet, would cause "2,000 non-conforming uses."

Mr. Lynch explained that the R-100 theory was used to also solve the problems of odd parcels surrounding homes in Strathmore.

Mr. Kaufman added he was in agreement with creating a separate zoning rule for Strathmore, but suggested instead, one which would conform to the existing lot sizes.

Other zones established would be similar to present ones, including light industrial and several single-family dwellings. A proposed innovation calls for the development of two highway development areas.

HD-1, Mr. Lynch stated would apply to the land adjacent to Rt. 35, where parcels would be one acre and preferred for retail commercial operations.

HD-2, along Rt. 34, would provide for parcels of three or more acres and better accommodate general commercial uses, calling for less traffic, the planner explained.

Mr. Kaufman, as well as Mrs. Marilyn D. Brenner of 93 Deerfield Lane, objected to the inclusion of a medical professional building in the single family residential zones of R-100 and less.

"We fought a professional building strenuously once when a variance was applied for," Mrs. Brenner explained. "For one, in your proposal, the side yard lines are highly inadequate and a building such as this, as well as hospitals, which are also allowed in the R-150 zones, belong in a commercial zone because they are commercial uses," she stated.

Another discussion concerned the rezoning of a small parcel of land adjacent to Lake Lefferts in the Freneau section as R-M zone — multi-family residential.

Mr. Lynch explained that the 10-acre parcel was good for apartment development with a provision for a recreation facility abutting the lake.

He claimed the recreation site would be made available to all township residents. He added that the site was inadequate for residential development in view of its grading and utility and access problems, in response to questions of its possible residential use.

Miss Liberty Contest Has Two Winners

EATONTOWN — The Miss Liberty contest has a pretty pair of winners this year. Unable to make a decision between two of the finalists, the judges declared Carol Lynn Flannery, 20, and Joy Northrup, 19, both of Eatontown, as joint title holders.

Both girls will grace the borough's Independence Day parade tomorrow and will receive valuable prizes as a result of their selection.

Judges in the contest were Harold Grossman, Robert Woolley and Richard Weisman, all members of the Bureau of Commerce and Trade, sponsor of the contest.

The girls are both college students. Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Flannery, 30 Farm Lane, and is a junior at Catholic University in Washington, D.C., where she is studying for a nursing degree. Joy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Northrup, 270 Grant Ave., and is a sophomore at Trenton State preparing to become a business education teacher at the high school or college level.

Jury Acquits Jones And 2 Others

NEWARK (AP) — Black poet - playwright LeRoi Jones and two codefendants, whose lawyers argued the police framed them, have been acquitted in a retrial on charges they illegally possessed guns during the 1967 Newark racial riot.

Jones and his father embraced defense attorney Raymond Brown yesterday when an Essex County Court jury of six men and six women reached the verdicts after 90 minutes of deliberations.

Jones, Barry Wynn, a 24-year-old actor, and Charles McCray, a 34-year-old accountant, all of Newark, had initially been convicted on the same charges in November, 1967, in Morristown, after a change of venue had been granted.

The State Supreme Court overturned the verdict, because Judge Leon W. Kapp had read some of Jones' writings in his charge to the jury.

The appellate court contended that Judge Kapp had prejudiced the jury against Jones and his codefendants by reading the selections, which appeared to advocate Negro violence against the white community.

Brown had told the retrial jury in summation that the three men were beaten by police who stopped the camper vehicle they were riding in July 14, 1967. Only after that, Brown said, did the police develop the gun charges.

Asst. Essex County Prosecutor Andrew F. Zazzali called policemen who testified they found one revolver under the camper's dashboard and another pistol fell from Jones' clothing as he got out of the camper.

Booker said the police witnesses were lying at the retrial and had created a false gun charge only after they manhandled his client.

Pike Tells of County Plans To Preserve Environment

LINCROFT — What the County Planning Board can do for those concerned with deterioration of the Monmouth County environment was outlined in the First Unitarian Church, W. Front St.

Addressing members of the Bio Time Bomb Discussion Group, Charles M. Pike, county planning director, stressed that preservation of the environment is in the forefront of County Planning Board thinking as the county master plan nears completion.

In the county's future — which includes an estimated doubling of the population each 20 years, reaching more than 1 million by the year 2000—is visualized an urbanized area east of the Garden State Parkway; an area of low population density and open spaces between the parkway and Rt. 9, the county's two main north-south corridors; more open space and low density west of Rt. 9; and a growing urbanized area reaching into the county from Trenton on the west.

In addition, Mr. Pike explained, natural stream courses will be preserved to insure adequate drainage and water supply in the county. The wooded strips left by farmers along rural stream courses may be retained, he added, as "lineal parks."

Such a plan will accommodate the "somewhat frightening" burgeoning population, the anticipated increase in commuters to 80,000 by 1985 and expected industrial growth in the western half of the county which already, the planning director said, has become the population center of the northeastern United States.

The master plan is scheduled for public hearing and final adoption in September, Mr. Pike explained.

Already completed is the county sanitary sewer plan, started in 1963. The plan, recently supplemented by the Bayshore Sewer Outfall project, has been adopted by the county Planning Board and approved by the state Department of Health. A county-wide collector network will feed 15 regional sewage treatment plants, Mr. Pike explained.

Water Plan

A county water supply plan conceived in 1961 provides for approximately 30 years of county self sufficiency, the planning director went on. The plan envisions public acquisition of the Manasquan River reservoir sites and wells in the southern part of the county. Sites and wells will be interconnected for the benefit of all county residents.

Mr. Pike stressed that the $271 million state referendum for measures against water pollution and for acquisition of reservoir sites is "very important to the future of the county."

"We have a big stake in it and I urge you to support it," he declared.

The planning director also extolled planning in general as a suitable activity for public participation. Urging group members to become involved, he commented, "The best way is to do it right the first time."

Buyer Will Renovate Old Register Building

RED BANK — The old Register building on Broad St. is in for renovation and a facelifting according to Anthony P. Busch, the building's new owner.

Mr. Busch, who is under contract to purchase the three-story building pending financing, said last night he plans to spend about $30,000 modernizing the structure. The selling price is about $75,000.

The first steps, he said, will be to put a new front on the old building and do over the first floor for a shoe store that will be the first tenant.

In the near future, Mr. Bush plans to renovate the second and third floors for offices and install an elevator. He estimated the cost of the elevator alone at about $15,000.

To Design Changes

Mr. Busch has engaged Gerard A. Barba, a Shrewsbury architect who designed the mall at the corner of Broad and Monmouth Sts., to design the improvements.

Negotiations to purchase the structure, Mr. Busch noted, took about a month and were consummated very recently.

He sees "a terrific future for Red Bank. It's one of the prettiest places in the country."

"Red Bank has the market advantage of being a town without a highway location, bordered by several little towns without either a highway location or a complete shopping district. Red Bank has the shopping facilities residents of these smaller towns need and it's more convenient to shop here than to go out on the highway," he added.

'Feels Pretty Good'

Mr. Busch also said he "feels pretty good" about the Red Bank Community Center which he bought, renovated and rents to the borough.

George A. Hogan and Newton Rice Jr. of Feist and Feist, Eatonown, were the agents.

When A. P. Busch Inc. contractors bought the building that is now the community center, Mr. Busch said, "It had been vacant for about five or six years, had plywood over several windows and was completely rundown. I bought the building, fixed it up and rent it to Red Bank. Now the kids have a place to go, the borough got a community center with a reasonable rent and I'm making some money. Everyone is satisfied and the kids have a great place to go," he said.

Mr. Busch also noted he will begin work on a shopping center on Rt. 35 in Holmdel in about a month.

Tomato Leaf Roll Isn't Dangerous

FREEHOLD — In hot, dry weather, the leaves on the lower two-thirds of a tomato plant roll upward and inward toward the main vein.

Don't be alarmed because it may be what is commonly called "physiological leaf roll."

Some varieties roll to a greater extent than will others.

The exact cause of the problem is unknown, although some believe that it is nature's way of controlling water loss from the plant during adverse conditions. This type of leaf roll does not cause any damage to the plant, says Donald M. Mohr, senior county agricultural agent.

Sometimes leaf rolling is noticed after heavy watering or deep cultivation. Wilting of the plant will generally precede leaf roll in these cases.

When the oxygen supply is renewed or new roots grow back on the plant, the wilting and leaf roll will disappear. This type of leaf roll will cause a reduction in yield.

Another form of leaf roll is caused by a heavy infestation of aphids. A good insect spray program will control this.

Blossom-End Rot Comes With Heat

FREEHOLD — Hot, dry weather is going to trigger some blossom-end rot in tomatoes, peppers and eggplant.

First symptoms usually occur as a dark, water-soaked spot on the bottom of fruit. In tomatoes this turns to a dark, leathery patch. On peppers and eggplant, it appears as a light scalded area on the bottom and sides of fruit.

This is a nonparasitic disorder brought on by a deficiency of calcium. Too low a supply of soluble calcium salts in proportion to the total soluble salts available lowers the calcium uptake by the plant, says Donald M. Mohr, senior county agricultural agent.

Any condition that depresses the soluble calcium available to the plant will bring on the disorder.

Best control measures are to keep soil pH between 5.8 and 6.4, do not overfertilize with nitrogen and potash, and provide an adequate water supply.

After the disorder appears it is generally too late to correct the condition except for watering.

Be Around for the Seventh

—Starting tonight, most Americans will start on a three-day holiday in celebration of Independence Day, probably the most important date in our nation's history.

As has been the case in recent years, many municipalities are scheduling old-fashioned observances in which a neighborly approach is being made to pay tribute to the patriots who signed the Declaration of Independence.

In world history, the U.S. is still but a youngster. Perhaps it is our youth that finds our influence spread to the far corners, which in itself causes problems we must solve. As with young humans, however, our exuberance gives us the vigor to maintain the greatest government ever devised by man.

This is a day for patriotic speeches and flag-waving, reminders that we cherish our democratic concepts despite whatever faults may be attached.

Our hope for you is that the holiday can be enjoyed to the fullest. For county residents, this weekend also means that the summer season is officially with us. There'll be more automobiles in the area, and whether it's a trip to the beach or starting out on a vacation in other parts of the land, the possibilities of bad traffic accidents increase.

The N. J. State Safety Council urges motorists to have their cars checked for defects, use seat belts, take frequent rest breaks, adjust to driving conditions and use courtesy abundantly. Whatever your plans, strive to make it the safest and soundest holiday of your life, which shouldn't be risked for anything less than the cause the Declaration's signers espoused.

Bus Subsidy Is a Start

The Assembly acted responsibly yesterday in adopting, 48-16, a bill to establish a $750,000 bus subsidy program. The minor opposition was based on contentions that it would put the state into the bus business on a grand scale and that bus companies are guilty of mismanagement.

Although David Goldberg, state transportation commissioner, called particular attention to critical transportation conditions in such places as Atlantic City, Camden, and the North Jersey areas served by Public Service Electric and Gas Company (operators of the Inter-City Lines), we are happy that he is aware, too, that "many middle-sized communities will be faced in the very near future with the loss of most or all public transportation service unless public support is available."

Monmouth County, which actually needs more bus routes, is in particularly dangerous shape. Brendan T. Bryne, Public Utilities Commission president, has said that Marathon Bus Lines, which serves the Bayshore-Perth Amboy area, will be allowed to discontinue service unless it receives help.

Boro Busses Company of Red Bank and Coast Cities Coaches Inc. of Neptune also are contemplating discontinuance of service. William L. Russell Jr., Boro Busses vice president, says that, unless help is forthcoming, his company will have to petition for abandonment of municipal lines before the end of the year.

It has become increasingly evident in recent years that bus lines are earning money only on charter trips. Maintaining scheduled routes through the municipalities they serve has meant increased costs at a time of diminishing income.

How to induce more workers to use the bus lines — and thus boost passenger revenues — is a question that isn't easily answered. The two and three-car families have meant that the majority of workers do not have to depend on buses to get them to and from their places of labor.

That pleasant financial ability has meant that our roads and highways have become unduly clogged. More serious, however, as a social problem is that workers of lower incomes will be denied facilities to get to their places of employment.

Although favoring the subsidy bill, members of the county legislative delegation have some misgivings about the state being totally involved in rescuing all bus firms in Jersey. The sad fact of life, though, is that the state is subsidizing railroads, and the end there isn't in sight.

The legislature and the state Transportation Department have a job of major proportions. We trust they have the will to continue searching for a solution. Passage of the subsidy bill indicates that they have.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Forman's Black Manifesto

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

Congressional investigators are carefully studying that so-called "Black Manifesto" James Forman, goateed director of international affairs of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), is truculently brandishing in his uproarious disruption of services in churches about the country.

ALLEN

Behind this unannounced scrutiny is a possible demand for a Justice Department crackdown for violation of certain civil rights statutes —widely hailed as notable advances for Negroes.

Also, the bellicose-talking Forman may be summoned before an investigating committee for bare-knuckled questioning on his threatening pronouncements and antics.

The so called "Black Manifesto" lists a number of "reparations" and other demands from churches and organizations for "previous mistreatment of blacks." They include $500 million in cash, establishment of an all-black university in the South, a Southern land bank, four large publishing plants, four television networks and a "national black labor strike and defense fund."

GOLDSMITH

The "Manifesto" came to light at a Detroit conference in April sponsored by the Inter-religious Foundation for Community Organizations, an interdenominational church group. Purpose of the meeting was to discuss economic development of Negroes.

Forman appeared with the "Manifesto" and after a rafter-shaking harangue got it "adopted." Also at this session, the National Black Economic Development Conference was established.

In winning support for the militant "Manifesto," Forman thundered:

"We live inside the U.S., which is the most barbaric country in the world, and we have a chance to bring this government down. Time is short and we do not have much time, and it is time to stop mincing words. Caution is fine, but no oppressed people ever gained their liberation until they were ready to fight, to use whatever means necessary, including the use of force and the power of the gun to bring down the colonizer."

Forman also told the loudly approving audience that he was talking "of revolution which will be an armed confrontation and long years of sustained guerrilla warfare inside this country.

"We say . . . think in terms of total control of the U.S.," he continued. "Prepare ourselves to seize state power. Do not hedge, for time is short and all around the world the forces of liberation are directing their attacks against the U.S.

"It is a powerful country, but that power is not greater than that of black people. We work the chief industries in this country and we could cripple the economy while the brothers fight guerrilla warfare in the streets."

The "Manifesto" calls for the total disruption of "selected church-sponsored agencies." It urges Negroes to seize the offices, telephones and printing equipment of these agencies and to stage disruptive demonstrations in "racist churches and synagogues."

Among the slogans spouted in the "Manifesto" are—"All roads must lead to revolution"; "Revolutionary black power," and "Victory to the people."

TOURING JURISTS — New Chief Justice Warren Burger in flying to England for a meeting with British legal authorities, is replacing former Justice Abe Fortas, who was to lead a group of U.S. attorneys and judges to confer with British colleagues on legal problems. In August, Burger will attend the annual convention of the American Bar Association. Former Chief Justice Earl Warren avoided these meetings, but Burger feels differently about the ABA.

Former Secretary of State Dean Rusk and one-time Ambassador Averell Harriman, chief U.S. delegate to the Vietnam peace negotiations in Paris, still get a large mail. Some days it runs into hundreds of letters.

A CONSERVATIVE VIEW

Translation: They Lost

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

Now that the smoke of the sham battle is blowing away, the struggle over Dr. John H. Knowles may be seen in clearer perspective. What emerges is, first, that local liberals are a bunch of bad losers, and second, that it may have been a very good thing the doctor was dumped.

KILPATRICK

It ought to be said at the outset that this whole business was vastly overblown by the Washington press. Our town is populated half by pundits and half by politicians; it is the greatest place on earth for let's-you-and-him fight. When there's nothing better to do—and it's been a pretty dull spring—we perch on the pediments of the White House, hollering for blood and headlines. On beyond the Potomac, one suspects, most of the country couldn't care less.

Anyhow, June was the month of John H. Knowles, director of the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. He was the first choice of Welfare Secretary Robert Finch for appointment as assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs. The long and short of the story is that Dr. Knowles didn't get the job; it will go instead to Dr. Roger Egeburg, dean of medicine at the University of Southern California.

ON THE FACE of it, this would not appear to be the greatest story since the rejection last year of Abe Fortas, but in the awful combats of the Press Club bar, you do the best with what you have. Now they are saying that poor Bobby Finch is dead, stabbed in the back by Richard Nixon. Senator Dirksen is depicted in his trophy room, happy with the head of Dr. Knowles. Meanwhile, the victorious troops of the American Medical Association, like the hordes of Genghis Khan, are viewed with hateful awe. It's quite a scenario.

And it's mostly hot air. Over the past ten or fifteen years, the Federal government has become increasingly involved in public health and medical care. A recent AMA study disclosed that Congress appropriated nearly $17 billion for health purposes in the past fiscal year. Two out of every three dollars spent on medical research now come from the Federal treasury. Massive programs of Medicare and Medicaid have taken root in public finance. These are trends in being; they have been put in motion by lopsided majorities in the House and Senate. Nothing that Dr. Knowles might have done could have affected them greatly.

WHY, THEN, was Dr. Knowles abandoned? It was politics, Griselda, pure politics, and what is so novel in that? Within the medical profession, Dr. Knowles is known as a "hospital man." He had made himself personally obnoxious, in the senatorial phrase, to influential leaders of the AMA. They didn't like him; they viewed him as a foe of private practice in the tradition of fee-for-service. Under the rules of the game, these AMA conservatives, having supported Mr. Nixon, surely had a right to press their views on the administration.

That is how the game is played, and liberals ought to know it. Over a long period of years—it seemed like eons at the time—major executive nominations routinely were cleared with the AFL-CIO, or with the NAACP, or with Americans for Democratic Action. Conservatives lost all those battles; we hollered too, but not so stridently, perhaps, as the liberals in defeat last week.

"The outrageous pressures which have frustrated the nomination of Dr. Knowles are a calamity for the country and an offense to the democratic process," said Senator Brooke of Massachusetts. The dumping of Dr. Knowles was "capitulation to the most blatant kind of political blackmail," said Senator Harris of Oklahoma. And Dr. Knowles, for his own part, fired off a stream of angry and embittered statements—statements so intemperate, indeed, as to suggest his unfitness for a job that demands the diplomatic skills of proper bedside manner.

What has happened, in brief, is that liberals lost a ballgame. It wasn't a calamity; it wasn't an abuse of the democratic process; and it need not result in the political immolation of Robert Finch. The venerable Thomas B. Reed, onetime Speaker of the House, once remarked that politics is mostly pill-taking. If liberals will swallow this one philosophically, they'll feel better after a while.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

Our Worst Inflation Villains

By SYLVIA PORTER

You are only a well-informed person if you believe—along with many astute students of economics—that the most powerful single force behind today's inflation spiral is the upsurge in medical costs.

PORTER

The daily service charge of a hospital room, for instance, climbed 140 per cent between 1958 and 1968.

But the skyrocketing cost of medical services has actually been a small factor in the rise in living costs for Americans as a whole, for the simple reason that only the relatively few who are sick enough to go to a hospital feel the cost increase. And for most of these, hospital insurance policies or Medicare cover much of the cost. How many of us pay even as much as $200-$300 a year in doctor bills, lab fees, hospital charges?

You are merely well informed, too, if you are convinced that property taxes, auto repairs, and home repairs are major "villains" in your mounting living cost squeeze.

But millions of American families are not property owners—or their homes are situated on small lots and thus any hikes in their property taxes do not significantly dent their budgets. And how many of us have auto repair bills amounting to more than $100 a year?

TO UNDERLINE my point, here is a tally showing how many pennies of each $1 in price increase over the past year each of the biggest inflation "villains" accounts for. It was prepared for me by Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics:

Food, 17.4 of each $1 rise; mortgage interest, 13.9; clothes, clothes care, 11.8; medical care, 8.2; furnishings and appliances, 6.1; home maintenance & repair, 5.0; reading and recreation, 3.9; property taxes, home ins., 3.4; auto repairs, other services, 3.2; auto purchase, new and used, 2.4, public transportation, 1.8.

WE ALL EAT and thus we all feel the 17.4 cents out of each $1 of price increase taken by rising food costs. This particularly so since the key factor in the increase in food costs is an upsurge in the cost of meat, and meat accounts for about one-third of our total spending for food today.

We all (or most of us anyway) wear clothes and so we all (or most of us) feel the 11.8 cents out of each $1 of price increase taken by rising clothing and clothing care costs. Price tags have risen sharply on all types of shoes and on men's clothes.

An implication which leaps out of this analysis is that the brunt of today's inflation is being borne by many of those who can least afford it: the very sick, the couple with young children buying a home on a big mortgage, the elderly American who can't crawl under his car to fix it, the widow who can't perform home repairs herself.

THE REPORTER

A Tragic Truth

By JIM BISHOP

Twilight drenched the sky and the sea with pink and burnt orange. Che Guevara, a handsome, bearded man with arms around two Cuban girls, strolled with me out of Columbia barracks up toward the snowy statue of Christ overlooking Havana Harbor. We spoke cordially, but both of us understood that we were at opposite ends of the political spectrum.

BISHOP

I said that the weakness in the world of communism was that it was always running out of heroes. He told me that he tired of discussing politics. Still, he freed one arm for an eloquent gesture and said that the world of socialistic republicans was now opposed to a "personality cult" and required no heroes.

The human mind, I said, is gaited to hunt for a hero. He frowned and asked for a translation of the word gaited. I gave it to him. We stood near the top of the hill. Below, a score of Castro's barbudos gathered between the rows of wooden barracks to admire a five-year-old boy whose mother had fashioned a brown Castro uniform, an overseas type cap, and a false beard.

The talk was fruitless. We wasted thought and breath on each other. I reminded him that Lenin was a hero and that he could not have joined the revolution of the workers in Russia without the connivance of the German Kaiser and a sealed train furnished by the enemy. "Your hero," I said, "accepted help from the Germans who were raping Russia."

Che said he had no interest in Lenin. I asked him if it weren't true that he, as commander of Castro's army, was not a Cuban at all, but an Argentinian, with membership in the Communist Party. His response was oblique. "I think I will accept citizenship here," and he kissed both girls.

Now he, too, is dead and Che is a Communist hero in story book and motion pictures. Josef Stalin is dead. He was so paranoic that, when a Soviet general was summoned to the Kremlin in World War II, he automatically made out his will and assumed that he would be shot without trial. Back in 1934, the little despot appointed Andrei Vishinsky to conduct showcase purge trials against highly-placed revisionists in the Communist Party.

Vishinsky badgered and taunted the prisoners before demanding the death sentence of the frightened judges. The prosecutor never attained the status of hero, but Stalin did. When he died, his statues and pictures came down and the rollicking peasant, Khrushchev, became premier and he, too, announced that the cult of personality was dead, never to be revived.

But he who banged his shoe atop a United Nations desk, became a hero and the Presidium of the Soviet Socialist Republics decided that he must go. He retired to a dacha (chalet) outside Moscow to tend his flowers and study the backs of brown tunics armed with rifles and bayonets.

The anti-hero cult appointed, not one, but two men to replace the stout and hearty peasant who had once looked west and shouted: "We will bury you." These were Brezhnev and Kosygin, the twinsies. Both wear worried expressions, but survived to give the order to invade Czechoslovakia and restore dependence on Mother Russia.

The thinking of the Czechs and Slovaks was not altered by the tanks and army units, but the government was. And yet the cult of personality survives. Castro, for example, is Cuba. In poverty, he is the messiah and Che is the martyred apostle. Mao is master of 700,000,000 Chinese, even though he, too, had to purge his party of "revisionists," which consists of anyone who tries to alter, ever so slightly, the doctrine of Karl Marx.

Tito is Yugoslavia. It is as though the man at the top cannot resist the adulation of the people. Tito is revisionist inasmuch as he refuses to acknowledge the Motherhood of Russia. Little Albania turns away from Russia and faces the round molasses sun of Mao. To coin a cliche, we learn from history that we learn nothing from history.

The individual finds it difficult to adore a colossal bureaucracy. He requires a person or a deity. He will admit that "the state is all; I am nothing," but he doesn't believe it. In most cases, he is not even permitted to join the Communist Party. Russia has an estimated population of over 236,700,000 with less than 13,000,000 party members.

Lenin said that the party requires only 3 per cent membership in any nation to control the government, the military, and the news media. It is a tragic truth. The one thing which cannot be controlled is the erosion of the concrete face on top of the heap. The rains of time always reduce it to sand running down a gutter . . .

Beach Fees Variance in State Source of Confusion

By BOB DUBILL

NEWARK (AP) — Ripples of confusion—and in some cases, consternation — are spreading along the Jersey Shore over the business of beach fares.

At some places you pay. At some you don't.

Rates for holidays such as July 4 and for weekends run higher in many places than rates charged during the week.

In one town, pregnant women are admitted to the beach free.

In another, nurses receive free passes.

In still another, people who just want to sun themselves on the beach without going into the water are admitted free.

Forgive the family man who is caught short the price of admission for his wife and six kids. He paid one fee at one resort only to find that another charges a higher rate.

Many Free

—Admission to most South Jersey beaches is free. These include the beaches of Atlantic City, Ocean City, Wildwood, Wildwood Crest and Cape May.

—From Ocean County north, figure on a fee. If you're not a resident, figure on paying a good deal more than those who live in the community. Few places have special weekly or monthly rates.

Here is the picture of selected areas in Monmouth County:

ASBURY PARK — For residents, season fee, $5; seasonal fee for children 10 to 15 years, $1; no special monthly or weekly rates; daily, $1; children under 12 years, 50 cents; children under 10 admitted free; Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, $1.50 for all. For nonresidents — season, $6.50; under 12 years, $1.50; no special monthly or weekly rates; children under 10 free; $1.50 for all on Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays.

BELMAR — $7 per person, $5 per month, no special weekly or monthly rates; $1 daily; children under 12 free; S-S-H, $1.25.

DEAL—An affluent community which has one of the highest fee structures on the shore. Seasonal rate for residents, $25; for nonresidents, $125; no special weekly or monthly rates; daily, $2; resident children under 12 free; nonresident children under 5, free; S-S-H, $2.50.

An Asbury Park lawyer is threatening to sue the borough over its longtime tradition of free passes to borough officials. The only public access to the beach is provided through the Deal Casino. Those who currently enjoy free memberships in the Casino are the borough commissioners, the casino manager and his assistant, the borough attorney and the police chief. The lawyer, Benjamin Edelstein, doesn't live in the borough but he has land there. The borough officials aren't commenting on the pending litigation.

LONG BRANCH — Season, $7; no special monthly rates; $3.50 for periods of 15 days; daily, 50 cents; S-S-H, 50 cents. Pregnant women, servicemen, people over 65 and children under 12 don't have to pay to use the beach. The policy on pregnant women stems from a suggestion years ago that a woman who is several months along in her pregnancy should be afforded the opportunity to enjoy the beach for free and to bring her other children. Some women claimed they were pregnant when they weren't. The general rule is to take a woman at her word.

MANASQUAN — Season, $14; monthly, $7; no special weekly rates; daily, $1; children under 14, free; S-S-H, $1.50. The borough permits free access to the beach for those solely seeking the sun without going into the water.

SEA GIRT — Season, $10; monthly, $7.50; two weeks, $5; daily, $2; children under 13, free; S-S-H, 2.00.

The state also operates resorts which draw capacity crowds.

SANDY HOOK STATE PARK — It may be coincidence, but this is one of the most popular beaches in the state and charges some of the cheapest rates. The fee is 25 cents a person, 50 cents for parking an automobile. But get there early. The "Sorry, No More Room" sign goes up early on weekends.

ISLAND BEACH STATE PARK — Another extremely popular spot. Admission, 50 cents per car; $5 per bus. No charge for children under 12.

Here is the picture at selected areas in Ocean County:

BEACH HAVEN — Free.

BUTLER BEACH — Seasonal rate for residents, $1; nonresidents, $5; no special monthly rates; weekly, $1.50; daily, 50 cents; S-S-H, 75 cents. Children under 10 and citizens over 65 free.

DOVER TOWNSHIP — Season, $4; monthly, $2; weekly, $1; daily, $1. S-S-H, $1; children under 12 free.

HARVEY CEDARS — The same fees as Dover Township.

LAVALETTE — Season, $5; monthly, $4; weekly, $1.50; daily, $1.50; S-S-H, $1.50; under 12, free.

LONG BEACH TOWNSHIP —Free.

POINT PLEASANT BEACH —At Jenkinson's beach, a private beach—Season, $14; monthly, $7; no special weekly rate; daily 75 cents; S-S-H, $1; children under 8, free. At Jenkinson's Beach and Pool, includes use of the ocean beach and a private pool — season, $40; children, 3 to 7 years, $35; no special monthly or weekly rates; daily, $1; children 3 to 7 years, 75 cents; S-S-H, $1.25 for adults and $1 for children; no fee for children under 3 years. At Risden's Beach; season, $14; monthly, $7; no special weekly rates; daily, 75 cents; S-S-H, $1, children under 8, free.

SEASIDE HEIGHTS — No special season, monthly or weekly rates. Daily 25 cents; S-S-H, 50 cents; children under 12, free.

SEASIDE PARK — Season, $6; no special monthly rate; weekly, $2; daily, 25 cents; S-S-H, 50 cents; under 12, free.

SURF CITY — Same as Ship Bottom.

On the southern shore, periodic moves have been launched in Atlantic City to impose beach fees to bring in additional revenue for the city. But these have been turned down on grounds that free beaches are an inducement for vacationers and conventioners to visit the resort which ranks as one of the leading convention cities of the world.

Enters Guilty Plea To Immoral Act

FREEHOLD — Andrew Vamos of Freehold Township pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of inviting an indecent, lewd and lascivious act with a 10-year-old boy July 23 in Freehold Township.

County Court Judge M. Raymond McGowan accepted the plea and set Aug. 13 for sentencing. Assistant County Prosecutor Solomon Lautman presented the state's case. Robert Rafano of South River represented Vamos.

Lay Leaders To Conduct Services

MATAWAN TOWNSHIP — During the absence of Rabbi Henry M. Weiner, who is conducting teenagers on a tour of Israel this summer, Friday evening services will continue at Temple Shalom under the leadership of lay members of the congregation.

The congregation will return to a custom established in the days before they had a building of their own, holding the oneg shabbats in the homes of members.

Scheduled for July are the following participants: July 4 — Service conducted by David Wolfe, oneg at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe, 8 Dawn Way; July 11 — service conducted by Bernard Presser, oneg at the home of Mrs. Edward Israel, 69 Fordham Drive; July 18 — service conducted by Arnold Katinsky, oneg at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Katinsky, 55 Warren Drive, and July 25 — service conducted by Stanley Levy, oneg at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Roberts, 25 Greenbrook Drive, Lakeridge.

The schedule for August will be announced. All services and onegs are open to the public.

Re-sentence Man For Bookmaking

FREEHOLD — Superior Court Judge Elvin R. Simmill has re-sentenced Dominick Guzzi, 57 Center Ave., Atlantic Highlands, giving him a suspended one-to-three year state prison term, two years probation and $1,000 fine.

Initially the judge had sentenced Guzzi to one to three years in prison.

Guzzi was charged with bookmaking between May 11 and May 25, 1968 in Atlantic Highlands. He had pleaded guilty to the charges.

Richard Ansell of Asbury Park represented Guzzi.

Bar Mitzvahs Held At Temple Beth Ahm

LAKEWOOD — Bar Mitzvah services were held Saturday in Temple Beth Ahm for Steven Silver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Silver, Lee Road, Englishtown. Rabbi Erwin Goldenberg of Temple Shaari Emeth conducted the services. A luncheon followed for family and friends in Battleground Country Club.

Bar Mitzvah services were also held for Andrew Brodnick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brodnick, Plymouth Drive, Freehold. Andrew read part of the Torah. A dinner followed at Van's Freehold Inn.

New Rabbi Joins Temple

ENGLISHTOWN — Rabbi Erwin Goldenberg of Temple Shaari Emeth conducted his final service for the congregation Friday at the First Presbyterian Church here.

Rabbi Goldenberg, who has served the congregation for the past three years as a student rabbi, will assume duties of assistant rabbi at Temple Abraham, Dallas, Tex.

The temple, because of its growth, must, according to the precepts laid down by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, be served by a rabbi who has had prior full time experience.

In line with this, the congregation has obtained the services of Rabbi Peter Kasdan, who has been serving as an assistant rabbi of Temple Israel, New Rochelle, N. Y., the past two years.

Rabbi Kasdan will reside in Whittier Oakes, Marlboro, with his wife, Shelia, and their two daughters.

The complete renovation of the White House in 1948-52 did not uncover its cornerstone. A mine detector failed to locate a polished brass plaque that marks the stone.

Cahill-Meyner TV Debates May Never Materialize

TRENTON (AP) — Both gubernatorial candidates say they are in favor of the idea.

But it appears unlikely at the moment that the state, at least, is going to lend any help to set up televised debates between the men seeking to become New Jersey's next governor.

It came as a surprise to some when former Gov. Robert B. Meyner announced last month that he would like to debate his opponent, William T. Cahill, before a large television audience.

Meyner, a Democrat who served two terms as governor before, has been more widely known than his Republican opponent who is now serving his sixth term as a South Jersey congressman.

Political Wisdom

Standard political wisdom has it that there is no point in the more widely known candidate appearing with his more obscure opponent and consequently reducing his own advantage.

For example, eight years ago, Richard J. Hughes, an unknown lawyer and Superior Court judge, challenged his Republican opponent, the late James Mitchell, to debate in the 1961 gubernatorial campaign.

But Mitchell, a popular and well known labor secretary in the Eisenhower administration, declined the invitation. It was commonly believed by Mitchell's backers that there would be no advantage to giving Hughes free publicity.

The matter became somewhat of an issue in the 1961 campaign, although its effect is difficult to determine.

When Hughes Won

In any event, Hughes won the election by 35,000 votes, overcoming the obstacle of his original anonymity.

A similar situation is certain not to arise this year, because Cahill quickly accepted Meyner's challenge to debate.

"I certainly want to debate Mr. Meyner," the GOP nominee said. "I would welcome any opportunity for a joint discussion on the issues. I feel the people of New Jersey are entitled to see and hear us side by side so they can make a better judgment about the person who should represent New Jersey for the next four years."

Meyner said he was in complete agreement.

Although the campaign is still young, both men have appeared together in debate before public forums.

Statewide Audience

The problem, however, remains finding a way of debating before the large statewide audience that only a television broadcast can afford.

The legislature had an opportunity to solve the difficulty. But it has balked thus far at the idea.

Early in this year's session, a measure with bipartisan support was introduced calling for a $150,000 appropriation to sponsor gubernatorial debates.

The bill never got off the ground, and Democrats, who are in the minority in both legislative houses, have suggested partisan motives may be behind the bill's failure.

Assemblyman John J. Fay Jr., a Middlesex County Democrat and co-sponsor of the measure, claims the idea has been shelved because the Republican majority is just generally hostile to Democratic proposals.

"It's buried in committee," Fay said. "I don't think the leadership really wants it to get out."

Assembly Speaker Peter Moraites, R-Bergen, also a co-sponsor of the measure, was reminded that the bill had been dormant for several months.

"Gee, I really forgot all about it," he said. "Frankly, I don't think it ever came up. I don't think anyone pushed it."

The measure would establish a gubernatorial debate commission of five members named by the New Jersey League of Women Voters and by the State House Legislative Correspondents Association. The commission would set the ground rules and run the debates.

The measure originally envisioned televised debates during the primary campaign in which 11 candidates participated.

The stated purpose of the proposal was to "promote, by all reasonable and practicable means available, intelligent and responsible participation by all voters in the selection of the governor."

Portable Classroom Use Approved in Union Beach

UNION BEACH — In lieu of placing the fourth and fifth grades on split session in September the Board of Education has voted to lease four relocatable modular type classrooms at a total cost of $17,291 per year.

The board has entered a contract with the Farley-Nixon Co. of Clinton, suppliers of the 23-by 36-foot buildinngs, for a five-year period.

The buildings, to be located on the site of the former Cottage Park Grammar School, will house two first grades, a second grade and a split session special education class.

"After much negotiation and many meetings the board feels this is a cheap investment in order to give the children a full day of school," board president James R. McKittrick told the public.

Alternatives Told

"We were faced with the problem of renting off-premises space, putting 300 children on split sessions or buying the module type classrooms," he continued. "We feel we have made the right decision."

The board has appropriated $5,000 in its budget for outside premises which will be applied to the rental price. The remaining difference will be appropriated from current expenses.

School superintendent William DiMaio commended the board on its decision, saying, "It's the most educational way out of the problem."

The manufacturer's representative, seated in the audience, said after the meeting the company will need 45 working days after signing the contract to install the classrooms.

The board will not require any further outside rentals.

3 Chide Council

Board members in general and Richard Flynn, Robert Errickson and Thomas Corrado in particular, chided Borough Council for the latest delay in the hearing of the board's appeal of council's $46,000 budget cut. Board members reported they traveled to Trenton last Thursday only to find out the hearing was postponed at the request of borough attorney Philip J. Blanda Jr.

"The state can show its hand by forcing a meeting," Mr. Flynn said, "but they don't seem to care. We still have to run a school system whether or not council acts," he concluded.

"Mr. Blanda could have at least notified us before we made the trip all the way to Trenton," Mr. Corrado said angrily.

"Council seems like they want to play games with the board," Mr. Errickson stated. "Well, whether they do or they don't, 1,700 children must be educated."

A new hearing date has not yet been set Dr. Carl Marburger, state commissioner of education.

On the recommendation of Mr. DiMaio the board hired Miss Adele Venezia of Cliffside Park as a fourth grade teacher at an annual salary of $7,000 and Mrs. Agnes Hebler of Navesink as a first grade teacher at a salary of $8,800.

Mr. DiMaio announced that the school district is only one teacher shy of completing its its staff.

Monmouth Heights Pool Is Open

MARLBORO—A swimming pool for 580 families living at Monmouth Heights is open.

Henry T. Sperry, Levitt and Co. community relations representatives, said the facility is an L-shaped 6,000 square foot pool with a separate deep-water diving area. There is also a 1,600 square foot wading pool for toddlers.

Free swimming lessons will be available under the supervision of pool manager James Carrigan, a physical education instructor in the township school system. Mrs. Ann Chandler, Metuchen, is the assistant manager.

The pool will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week, Mr. Sperry said.

Facilities include tennis courts, parking for 160 cars, dressing rooms, a first aid room, snack bar, patio eating area and a playground.

Other activities being planned are parties for pre teens, teen agers and adults, games for children and volleyball.

Family Night Set for Builders

POINT PLEASANT—Member-Offspring Night will be featured when the N. J. Shore Builders Association gathers at Kings Grant Inn here tonight at 7 p.m.

The annual mom, dad, son and daughter night will feature TV puppeteer Roland Rochelle and his audience participation show.

Also featured will be a film, "The Second Effort," starring ex-Green Bay Packer football Coach Vince Lombardi, now with the Washington Redskins.

The film, says NJSBA program chairman Robert J. Bolderman, builder representative for Jersey Central Power and Light Company, under whose auspices it will be shown, has a vital message for "youngsters and oldsters" alike.

Registration Set For Swim Course

MATAWAN — The Recreation Commission announces that registration for the Red Cross learn-to-swim program will be held Monday through Friday at all borough playgrounds.

The course is open to youngsters over 8 who are registered in the summer recreation program. Enrollment is limited to 50.

THE OUTDOOR WORLD

Rivers, Living and Dead

By WILLIAM F. SANDFORD

Rivers are wondrous, living, pulsating things, each with its own genealogy, its own personality. It's little wonder that humans are continually falling in love with one or another of them.

Sandford

Our own favorite, I suppose, is the West Branch of the Pleasant in Maine's Piscataquis County. Although its near rival, the Penobscot West Branch, has given us consistently better fishing, there's something about its smaller neighbor that makes it pleasant just to be with, whether it produces a trout or not.

(We have to focus our attentions nowadays on branches, the upper tributaries, rather than full rivers, because the filth of civilization has made practically all the main streams somewhat less than easy to love.)

Of course, we can afford to be a bit fickle about rivers, and when our favorites are far away we develop quick infatuations with others closer at hand, like the Big Flat Brook of Sussex County. That stream, like portions of the Paulinskill, Pequest and some smaller brooks in the northwestern portion of the state, are proof that unspoiled waters still flow within 50 miles of Manhattan's smoggy skyline.

THERE ARE ENDLESS fascinations in a clear, mountain stream — excitement in its roaring pitches and cascades, nerve-mending tranquility in its quiet passages, soothing music in its shallow riffles and rare beauty in its water-worn boulders and backdrop of alders and birches. A river in itself is good medicine for the frenetic monotony of our workaday world. With fishing rod or binocular to explore its other diversions, it can be potent therapy.

Are you up to here with the boredom of commerce, wracked by the frenzy of its demands, stifled by its dust and smoke? Chuck it all and escape for a while, to the companionship of a clean, wild river.

THERE'S ANOTHER, much more familiar kind of river, the kind that's no longer pulsating and alive; the kind that's dying of the multiple abuses of man. Such are our own two major streams — the Navesink and Shrewsbury. Each summer they die a little, and each year now the demise is a little more complete.

The Shrewsbury died not only a little more completely but somewhat earlier than usual this spring. That's primarily because the season, itself, was advanced.

A little richness — a little of the nutritional matter necessary to the cycle of aquatic life — is good for a river. Too much can kill it as quickly as none at all. That's the problem with most of our streams. They're over-rich, over-fertilized with organic waste and inorganic nutrients from farming, gardening and landscaping runoffs. They're sick with the affluence of effluents.

The result is a lush bloom of algae and protozoa (of which the red tide is one example) and a rapid exhaustion of the water's oxygen content. The process becomes slow — all but dormant — during the cold months. The sunlight and warmth of spring set it in motion. This year the warmth came early. Stiff breezes aggravated the condition by stirring up the ever accumulating layer of rich decayed matter on the bottom of the shallow Shrewsbury, churning the water into a milky sludge in which fish and crabs died and were piled by the tides into stinking windrows on the beaches.

WHAT'S THE PROGNOSIS for a stream so sadly beset? It's not incurable, in the opinion of experts. Sewering now under way will help. Runoff control of inorganics probably will be necessary. But even if the new contamination could be completely controlled, that bottom sediment that has built up over the years would remain a major problem.

One suggested dredging process may be feasible, says John Clark, assistant director of the Sandy Hook Marine Lab. The silt would be pumped into impoundments in the river to form an island. In time the island would be salable real estate, a source of income to help pay for the original dredging. But that would take time — the years necessary for the silt to settle into stable land. And all development would have to be limited to the interior of the island, preserving its water-washed perimeter for its ecological values — the same values for which conservationists are now feverishly striving to save our estuarine areas.

St. Peter's College Degrees Go to 24

JERSEY CITY — Twenty-four Monmouth County residents were among the Saint Peter's College seniors who received bachelor degrees.

Two residents received special awards. Vincent Peters, 1 Forest Drive, Middletown, received the Hanlon Medal for maintaining the highest average during his four-year college career and also was awarded the English prize.

Edward J. Kanarkowski, 284 Bayside Drive, Atlantic Highlands, won the Prose Control Award. He also was commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

The other Monmouth graduates are Francis B. Dempsey, 69 Highland Ave., Atlantic Highlands; Joseph Sadowsky, 17 Douglas Road, and Joseph Stanton, 36 Amelia Circle, Little Silver; Joseph Raffetto, 1805 Fifth Ave., and Lincoln Manzi, 503 Tuttle Ave., Spring Lake; John Sharp, 66 Obre Place, and Jeffrey Mitchell, 26 Bordono St., Shrewsbury; Joseph Mastal, 621 Sewell Ave., Asbury Park; Robert Thorngren, Allenhurst; Raoul Cordeaux, 1243 Maplewood Road, Belmar; Eugene Dussich, 15 Mountain Ave., Hazlet, Robert Blackburn Jr., 57 Shore Blvd., Keansburg; Raymond Lena, 6 Arthur Ave., Long Branch, and William Twyman, 110B Middlesex Road, Matawan.

County Board Overhaul Is Asked by McGovern

NEPTUNE — Committeeman William D. McGovern of Freehold Township, Democratic candidate for freeholder has called "for a complete overhaul of the Board of Freeholders in accordance with a recent bi-partisan Blue Ribbon Commission study which would turn the state agency which now has no legislative powers into a true policy making government.

"The one party, complacent Republican board seems to be satisfied with being nothing more than supervisors of bridges, roads, property and welfare," Mr. McGovern told the Monmouth County Young Democrats at their regular monthly meeting held in the Admiral's Table restaurant here.

He shared the platform with his running mate, Commissioner D. Philip Gerand of Bradley Beach.

Attacking "legal inadequacies governing the structure of the county government," Mr. McGovern pointed out that 56 per cent of the county tax dollar is being disbursed strictly according to schedules set up by the state, with the freeholders having only municipal jurisdiction over their actions.

The board, he said, "spends too much time on administrative details, while not being involved in policy making as it pertains to re municipalities and the regionalized cooperation with municipalities and the regionalization of facilities which would prevent duplication of efforts. We need a body, which in its function as mid-tier government could really act as a government. We need experts handling administration and supervising the functioning of various departments under the overall guidance of the freeholders."

William D. McGovern

Mr. McGovern said he believes "the hiring of a professional county administrator might be a step to eliminate a lot of paper work with which the freeholders are overburdened, and would leave them time to charter the course of progress," and added:

"I realize that a number of laws would have to be changed, and here I feel the initiative should come from the county government. I deplore the attitude of the present 5-0 majority on the Monmouth County board which is satisfied with its own inability to act.

"We need more than a new court house, a new golf course, and a few resolutions. We need a new attitude toward governmental operations," the candidate said.

Long Branch Man Sentenced by Evans

FREEHOLD—County Court Judge Alton V. Evans yesterday sentenced Joe Young, 65 Grant Court, Long Branch, to 45 days in the county jail for fighting with Armenus Young, same address, July 21, 1967, outside the Tally Ho Tavern, Long Branch.

The judge also gave Young credit for 45 days already served in jail.

Assistant County Prosecutor Arnold Levin presented the state's case. Assistant Deputy Public Defender Thomas Spinello represented Young.

State Will Improve Jetties, Pews Creek

TRENTON — Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development said contracts totaling $84,184 and $28,732 have been awarded to Jesse A. Howland and Sons Inc. and Thomas Proctor Co. Inc. respectively, for reconstruction work in Monmouth County.

The Howland contract is for the reconstruction of the North and South Shark Inlet jetties in Avon and Belmar, respectively.

The Proctor project consists of altering and extending an existing timber bulkhead and stone groin on the east side of Pews Creek on Sandy Hook Bay, Middletown.

The work for both projects consists of furnishing all construction materials, labor, supplies and facilities, according to James K. Rankin, chief of the Conservation Department's Bureau of Navigation.

The projects are designated as protective measures to preserve New Jersey's beaches and improve recreational facilities.

Leaving at 4:30 a.m. the contingent will spend the first six days of their trip sight seeing along the way. On their arrival at the 127,000 acre scout camp, the contingent will spend 12 days on a rugged back-packing hiking trip through the Rocky Mountains.

The contingent drawn from all parts of the county will join 16,000 scouts from all over the nation, who will attend the annual Scouting event on the ranch property, home of the famous Kit Carson which includes a stretch of the Santa Fe Trail. An additional sight seeing trip will conclude their trip home to New Jersey.

HERE'S TO HEALTH

It Really Is Salt, Water Season

By IRWIN J. POLK, M. D.

Saltwater season is here again, summertime.

This is the month when millions of people dash off to the beach for their annual reunion with the elements — sun, sand and surf.

Dr. Polk

But it's the salt-and-water season, too, the part of the year when sweat can cause serious loss of salt from the body, resulting in a cluster of mild but annoying symptoms which ruin a vacation period.

The human animal, descended as it is from ocean dwelling forms, contains under its skin a supply of salt and water both in the cells and around them, referring back to the forms which dwelt in the ocean millions of years ago.

1 Per Cent Salt

About 65 per cent of the body's weight is just water, containing about 1 per cent salt. The salt and water are therefore very important parts of the body, and loss of even a little can cause trouble.

But water and salt are being lost from the body continually, as part of the exhaled breath, with the urine and stool, and especially in summer with sweat.

So both the salt and water must be replenished continually if the body is to continue to work normally. Thirst warns us when we are running out of water, but there is no warning when the body's salt is running low.

Keeps Water in Body

Since salt is required to keep the water in the body, salt loss leads to loss of water and the situation continues to worsen. The body calls on its reserves of salt and water, but when these are depleted, symptoms begin.

Especially on the first hot days of summer or on the first days of exposure to heat, the problem of salt and water loss can occur. The first sweat of the season is very salty, and much salt and water loss occurs early in the season.

(Later on, the body improves its ability to save salt, and the sweat is less salty.) So off to the shore to sweat and lose salt, to deplete the body of salt and water. Summer's here.

Then, after a day or two in the sun, sand and surf, we feel tired, irritable, run down, perhaps a little dizzy with change of position, sick to the stomach, lacking in appetite and finally feeling faint or passing out completely.

After further salt depletion, cramps may begin, particularly in the arms and legs, but sometimes in the abdomen. Many is the summer athlete who has been carried from the field writhing with the pain of salt-depletion muscle cramps.

Simple Treatment

Prevention and treatment are simple: adequate intake of salt and water. The average adult needs about a fifth of an ounce of salt a day, about a teaspoonful of table salt.

For treatment, two or three teaspoonfuls may be needed. Salt is, of course, part of much of the food we eat. So under normal circumstances we do not run out of it. Only with the unusual sweating of summer is the problem likely to arise in otherwise healthy people.

Treatment with salt is easy since it is abundant in fruit juice. It may also be used from the shaker, added to juice or food. Also, salt tablets are available which contain about a half-gram per tablet.

Thus two tablets taken with water three or four times a day is enough to treat most salt-lack, or to prevent it. The need for water goes without saying, but when the salt is used, thirst reminds you to drink.

Heat Exhaustion

Besides people who sweat a lot, heat exhaustion from salt loss can occur in people with certain kidney diseases, or glandular diseases. If heat exhaustion occurs, a doctor should be consulted to rule out these sicknesses.

Finally, the salt-loss problem may occur in people who are using "water pills," medicines designed to promote excretion of salt. These patients may find they can do without the diuretic "water pills" when they sweat a lot, and that use of pills when sweating may cause the symptoms of heat exhaustion.

So off to the busy summer of outdoor activity. If you feel weak, tired and run down, nauseated and crampy, dizzy or achy, consider the possibility of salt loss and heat exhaustion. If you are otherwise well, try some salt and water. It may save your summer!

Dr. Polk will be happy to answer questions on medical subjects. Letters may be addressed to him in care of The Daily Register, 105 Chestnut St., Red Bank 07701.

Can we wave the Flag too much?

Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Provided, of course, that you wave it with integrity? Is it possible to study Lincoln or Shakespeare too much? Is it possible to read the Bible too much? ☆ The great, the good, the true, are inexhaustible for inspiration, example and strength. I believe that we are not waving our flag enough, not nearly enough ☆ It seems to me that we are developing a tendency to be timid or even apologetic about waving the stars and stripes. Walk up and down the streets on July 4th and count the flags. It is our nation's birthday, a sacred day in world history, the most important day of America. Why isn't the flag flying on every rooftop and from every home and building? This complacent attitude is strong evidence of cancerous patriotic decay. The flag is a symbol of our national unity. It is the spirit of our undying devotion to our country. It stands for the best that is in us... for loyalty, character, and faith in democracy ☆ Isn't our flag a synonym of the United States of America? Does it not represent man's greatest, noblest, most sublime dream? Is it not the zenith of achievement, the goal to which generations have aspired? ☆ Ladies and gentlemen, I believe it is time for us... for the mad, rushing Twentieth Century American... to stop for a moment and think. Let us arrest our near reverential admiration of material success and return to the spiritual and ethical values. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded ☆ Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions? Isn't the flag Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Franklin, Washington, Nathan Hale, Gettysburg and Valley Forge, Paul Revere, Jackson and other great men and women who have given us our heritage? When you look at the flag can't you see the Alamo, Corregidor, Pearl Harbor, The Monitor, The Merrimac, Wake Island, and Korea? Lest we forget, isn't the flag Flanders Field, Bataan, Iwo Jima, Normandy, Babe Ruth and Davy Crockett? The great events of our past and present are wrapped up in our flag ☆ It is a symbol of this blessed nation, a giant in industry, education and commerce. Millions of fertile square miles, wheatlands, coal mines, steel plants. Our greatest republic, the chosen infant destined to be man's last and remaining hope for suffering humanity, a shining beacon of light, noble and glorious, the haven for the oppressed and persecuted and truly God's gift to mankind ☆

That is what the flag means to me. Can we wave it too much? I don't think so.

PALETTE TALK

Modern Museum Vistas

By ELEANOR MARKO

Quality.

That's the hallmark of the Rockefeller collection at the Museum of Modern Art, and the more I think about it, the more extraordinary it becomes.

More than 200 works are shown (through Sept. 1) from the total collection of some 1,500 works of Gov. Nelson Aldrich Rockefeller, every last one of them in mint condition — something every museum would like to achieve — yet, not always able to manage due to costs of maintenance and restoration. Superb paintings by Frank Stella, Jasper Johns, Helen Frankenthaler, Morris Louis and Ellsworth Kelly, representing the new breed, and sculpture, the most gigantic of creations by David Smith, Henry Moore, Louise Nevelson, Tony Smith,. Arnaldo and Gio Pomodoro and many others — all in exquisite condition. Perfection itself is the "Study: Falling Man" (Car Man) by Ernest Trova in gleaming polished bronze.

Represented by more works than any other artist in the collection is Picasso, including the great 1910 portrait "Girl With a Mandolin" and the famous bronze "Bathers" of 1956.

I never fail to enjoy the works of this great artist — and the mint condition of the paintings and sculpture in this Rockefeller collection is outstanding — not a knick or a scratch, or a crack or a smudge — the whites are white and the colors are as bright as I have ever seen Picassos.

This show is recommended for students and, of course, anyone who enjoys being in the "swing" of things modern. I suggest the purchase of a catalog of the show (in hard cover or paperback) available at the museum store, with its preface by Gov. Rockefeller. He gives insight to the collection which reflects his personal taste and high standards. "Looking closely at art is a good game, sharpening one's wits and warming one's heart," he states. "It is the greatest recreation ever devised by the ingenious mind of man. It gives us relief from the pressures, frustrations and compromises of everyday life," he adds to his personal comments. Amen.

A bonus to visitors to the museum is the largest exhibition ever assembled of works by artists of "The New American Painting and Sculpture: The First Generation." Staged on the second floor of the Museum of Modern Art, one can take a breather after viewing the Rockefeller collection, perhaps in the garden or tea room, and then pace the galleries devoted to 20th century painting and sculpture.

This is another recommended show for art students — in fact, a must. Almost all the artists represented here belong to the generation born before the end of World War I, and all established their mature styles within the decade following the end of the second. Jackson Pollock, Hans Hofmann (born in 1880, but who became an important painter only late in life), Mark Rothko, Barnett Newman, de Kooning, Ad Reinhardt, Glarner and Gottlieb, they're all there . . . but among the missing of pioneers is Burgoyne Diller, who was known among them and was a contemporary of theirs, developing a style now known as "hard edge." The strikingly familiar 1962 painting by the late Hans Hofmann in the collection "Memoria In Aeternum" was personally jolting — and will be to all those who knew the theme of the late Burgoyne Diller — teacher-artist-sculptor. Why his work was left out of this Museum of Modern Art show (and the museum has one work, if not more), is still to be explained. Diller definitely is the first American pioneer in neo-plasticism. Students are beginning to find that his name is the missing link in this significant 20th century development.

As if to support this contention — The Whitney Museum of American Art has announced that in its summer exhibition "Seventy Years of American Art" which opened its first section 1900-1949 era this week, Diller will be represented in the second section covering the 1950-1969 period opening July 15.

Certainly the two museums are extending a great service in presenting not only the exhibitions, but accompanying publications concerning this great era in art — whether you understand it or not. Time will tell. And it's great to have a record of its significance.

MEMORIA IN AETERNUM, an 84- by 72-inch oil painting by Hans Hofmann in the current show "The New American Painting and Sculpture: The First Generation," through Oct. 5 in the Museum of Modern Art, New York. The 1962 painting, gift of the artist, is from the museum's permanent collection.

Two classes in a summer art program for teenagers get under way Tuesday at Temple Shalom, Matawan Township. Sponsored by the temple's Youth Committee, the classes will be conducted by Ellen Schwartz, a student at the Rhode Island School of Design, Tuesday and Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m., primarily for 13- to 18-year-old children of congregants, with a few openings for unaffiliated youngsters. Apply by mail to Mrs. Dudley Robers, Youth Committee Chairman, Temple Shalom, P.O. Box 172, Matawan.

Instruction will be in wood sculpture, ceramics, acrylic painting and making paper flowers. Assistants will be members of the committee, Mrs. Seymour Piltch and Mrs. Seymour Shore.

MOUNTAIN GOAT, a 21-inch tall sculpture in alabaster by Gen (for Genevieve) Rindner of Tinton Falls, from her collection of carved animals currently in the Monmouth County Library, Eastern Branch, Broad St., Shrewsbury.

Summer Classes Open Monday

RUMSON — Art classes open to any resident of the county, adults and children, will begin this coming week at the Rumson-Fair Haven Regional High School, Ridge Road. The summer school, sponsored by the Board of Education, will include classes in oil painting and composition taught by Donald Beidler, a staff art teacher at the high school and free lance commercial artist. His classes 8 to 10:15 a.m. begin Monday and continue each day through Friday during the summer program.

Teaching watercolor and sketching three days a week, beginning Tuesday, will be Lincroft artist Don Voorhees, His classes are from 10 a.m. to 12:15 Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday throughout the summer program.

Registrations should be made at the school today or Monday.

THREE-MAN SHOW

RED BANK — The Thoms family of artists, Walter, Letty and Marschia, are being presented in an exhibition of their works currently in the United Methodist Church of Red Bank, Broad St., during the summer months. Staged in the Church Lounge, the exhibition includes work by Walter H. Thoms in pen and ink and several of his sculptures; his wife Letty P. Thoms, a number of water colors and temperas; and their daughter M a Thoms, a student of fashion design at the New York School of Design, fashion sketches.

Ben Shahn Retrospective Is Slated

TRENTON—A major retrospective covering every aspect of the art of the late Ben Shahn is scheduled to open Sept. 20 here in the main galleries of the New Jersey State Museum.

Included will be more than 50 paintings dating from 1929 to the 60's, a group of rare drawings, Shahn's complete graphic oeuvre from the museum collection and sketches and photographs of some of his murals.

Two murals purchased by the museum for its collection in 1968, each measuring 6 x 30 feet and executed in mosaic, will be shown for the first time.

Lenders to the exhibition include major museums and collectors throughout the country.

The exhibition is scheduled to run until Nov. 16.

Register, Rumson, previews watercolors by Shrewsbury-New York artist Robert Taylor, who will be one of the many artists represented in the annual Outdoor Art Show sponsored by St. George's by-the-River Episcopal Church. # Singer Campbell Warms His Large Young Audience

WHOOPEE — Glen Campbell, with his banjo, and his songs of America, its towns and people, turned the young audience at the Garden State Arts Center on for one hour yesterday afternoon. They were delighted with the program.

By CAROL JACOBSON

HOLMDEL — Our world changed for the better yesterday afternoon when 4,500 children watched and listened to Glen Campbell and the Four Freshman perform on stage at the Garden State Arts Center.

The youngsters, from community centers and camps all over the state, yelled and applauded with delight at the comedy and songs of the Four Freshman, and the familiar songs that Glen Campbell delivered in his warm and twinkling way.

This was the first of the Summer Youth Programs that the center is presenting for underprivileged children. Yesterday's group was bused here from all over the state.

Mutual Exchange

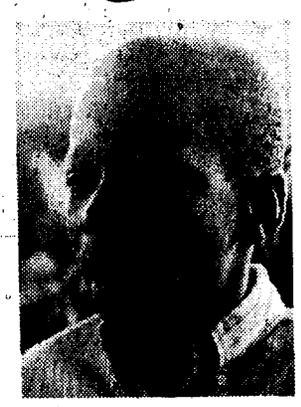
The performers donated their time, and Glen Campbell arranged for 100 tickets to be used by the Monmouth County Action Program, which has service centers in many local towns with their central office in Long Branch. The children, in turn, presented the star with a citation and their thanks.



FIRST TIME — Toni Natarcola, 15, left, of Union Beach an aide with the Neighborhood Youth Group training program and Stacy Lattimer, 11, of Wall Township, with a group sponsored by Progressive Life Insurance Co., Red Bank, enjoyed the music at the center and are waiting for the next program.

Two hundred children arrived with Richard Wenner, director of the Bayshore Area of MCAP and several aides from the Neighborhood Youth Corps, a training organization for teen-age boys and girls sponsored by MCAP.

Many of the buses arrived from northern Jersey with hundreds of excited children acting more like adults; many of them had been to the center before. They were quite busy taking everything in.

Sixty boys and girls climbed off the bus from St. Bridget, in Newark. Thirty-six from another bus came from Holy Spirit, in Orange. Three bus loads of children came from Queen of Angels, in Newark, all church-school summer camps.

Those youngsters from Essex County were supplied with transportation by the Essex County Park Commission, and the Progressive Life Insurance Co., of Red Bank supplied buses and fed candy and box lunches to 600 more boys and girls, said Elwood White, the district manager of Progressive.

All Join In

Some of the children that Progressive sponsored sat in the front row and just beamed when Glen Campbell strummed on his banjo and sang "Y'all Come." They clapped and joined in the chorus.

A group of 25 children came from Camp Koinonia in Hazlet, and when Campbell, the American balladeer of the day, sang some of the Jimmy Webb songs that made him famous, they just squealed with joy and yelled "just great" "I love it."

The Tunes Score

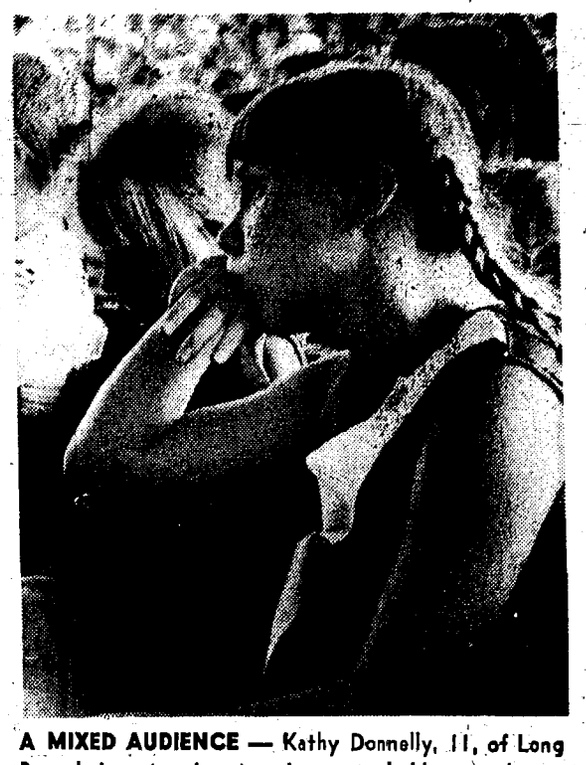
The familiar strains of "Witchita Lineman" "Where's The Playground Susie?" "Galveston" and "By the Time I Get to Pheonix," brought shouts and cheers from the exhilarated audience.

When he suggested that they all join in on the chorus of "Oh, Oh, Oh," one little girl just put her hands over her ears and hid her head in her knees.

Mrs. Augustine Willis of the Bureau of Children's Services, Summerfield Ave., Asbury Park brought about 18 girls and boys ranging in age from eight to 15, and they were already preparing themselves for the next matinee performance.



A MIXED AUDIENCE — Kathy Donnelly, 11, of Long Branch is not going to miss a word. Her mood conflicts with the sentiment of one young girl who when asked if she liked Glen Campbell said, "He's too country for me."

(Register Staff Photos by Larry Perna)

The Four Freshman complimented the children telling them that "they were the most polite kids we ever saw," and they all just beamed. Their act was geared to the age of the audience and it went over well.

"Treat others as you would like to be treated and we'll all get along in the world a lot better," said Glen Campbell as he concluded the performance with a musical rendition of "The Lord's Prayer." As they left their seats, these children's faces were filled with thanks and appreciation. The day was a good one.

County's Food Stamp Plan Seen Working Out Well

By DORIS KULMAN

TRENTON — The final statistics haven't come through the computer, but all indications are the food stamp program, which got off to "a rip roaring start" in Monmouth County is ending its first month "unbelievably successful," Bernard Goldberg, supervisor of the New Jersey Food Stamp Program for the Department of Institutions and Agencies, said yesterday.

Congressional action soon will broaden the benefits of the program, Mr. Goldberg said.

And he explained what to some participants appears to be a drop in benefits.

The Daily Register received inquiry yesterday from a man who said he had purchased $26 worth of stamps for $10 when the program got under way on June 2, but now has to spend $20 for the same amount of stamps.

That's because families enrolling in the program for the first time were given stamps at half-price, Mr. Goldberg explained. He said this was done to enable low income families to catch up on back bills and to get their food purchases "on a cash and carry basis."

Of course, the half-price bonus "didn't get low income families on a cash and carry basis," Mr. Goldberg hastened to acknowledge, "but it was all the department could afford to give as an inducement to participate."

He said increased benefits aren't too far off.

The Congressional appropriation for the program will increase from the present $340 million to $750 million, Mr. Goldberg said, which means participating families will be able to buy more stamps for less money "and won't need to spend more than 30 per cent of the net family income to buy them."

Monmouth was the 17th county in New Jersey to join the food stamp program; Essex County two days ago became the 18th.

Number Is Growing

"And it looks as if there will be as many as 175,000 persons in New Jersey participating in the program," Mr. Goldberg said. "No one ever thought that we had that many people who would be eligible or would want to participate. With the new provisions, we will be able to reach a good percentage of the state's low income families."

He estimated the food stamps add "between $10 and $12 million a year in increased purchasing power."

Mr. Goldberg said the program got off to a "rip-roaring start in Monmouth County" because the county Welfare Board "really reached out into the county" to inform low income families about it.

"We did six radio shows about the program in Monmouth," he recalled, "and the Welfare Board arranged meetings with low income families. It was an excellent beginning. We don't have the final statistics through data processing, but it has got to be that 85 to 90 per cent of those who filled out the applications in Monmouth actually bought stamps."

Under the program low income or welfare-aided families can purchase coupons at participating banks and can spend them at participating grocery stores. A family of four spending $60 gets stamps worth $86.

The program here is a joint venture of the United States Department of Agriculture, the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies, and the county Welfare Board. The Welfare Board maintains field offices for the program in Keansburg, Keyport, Asbury Park, Red Bank, and Freehold.

Army Seeks to Renew Deal Test Site Lease

WASHINGTON — Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., announced yesterday that the Department of the Army has submitted to Congress its recommendations for the renewal of a lease for the Deal test site of Army Electronics Command.

Used for research and development projects, the 208.43-acre property contains offices with 19,000 square feet of space. The annual estimated rental is $85,000.

The site, located in Ocean Township, N.J., has been in continuous operation since Sept. 15, 1953, when the Army acquired a lease hold through condemnation proceedings.

When a lease term ended June 30, 1964, a new one was negotiated at an annual rental of $40,000 terminating June 30, 1969, the senator said.

There are five buildings containing 19,000 square feet of space, used for office purposes, research and development, and two garages accommodating seven vehicles.

The site has been described as being ideally situated for the conduct of activities in support of long range equipment. These relate to research and the constantly expanding fields of radio astronomy, antenna research and testing, wave propagation. and ionospheric and tropospheric phenomena.

This property prior to lease acquisition by the government, was equipped and utilized by Bell Telephone Laboratories.

No known available government owned or controlled lands with equal satisfactory characteristics are within the general vicinity of the Hexagon, in New Shrewsbury, it has been stated. Continued use of the land is considered to be a long range requirement.

The Army plans renewal of the lease for one year commencing July 1, extendable yearly through 1974.

Reported Keansburg Rezoning Plans Hit

KEANSBURG — The regular meetings of the Planning Board — or the lack of them — caused public dissent at last night's meeting of Borough Council.

A group of about 25 residents of the Shore Blvd. area vehemently protested alleged reports that the planners are seeking to rezone their area into a commercial zone.

"Several weeks ago we came to the council meeting to voice our objections," Philip Mess, a resident of the area told council, "and we were told to attend the next meeting of the Planning Board.

"Well we did," Mr. Mess said, "and we showed up last night for the special meeting again but that also was postponed. If our planners can't attend meetings then they should be replaced," he stated.

The planners, who meet on the fourth Wednesday of each month, postponed their regular meeting until Tuesday night. A quorum of five members did not attend.

Not Advised

In defense, Mayor Harry Graham announced that the governing body has not been advised of any intent of updating the master plan.

"The planners are only a recommending body," he told the audience, "and anything they do or say must be approved by the Borough Council. There will be a public hearing if and when such a proposal comes before this body," he concluded.

Several objectors, not satisfied with the mayor's explanation, continued to point out that the area in question is of high residential density.

"Our entire beachfront is commercial," Norman Alexander, a Shore Blvd. resident, told council. "Let's not continue it any further."

The subject of nursing homes and their present and future status brought forth considerable debate.

Several residents attested to Mr. Scales report of incidents of unusual behavior on the part of boarders at custodial care homes in the borough. Borough Attorney Howard A. Roberts told council that supervisory personnel can be held accountable for disorderly acts performed by their charges.

Mayor Graham said the state Department of Institutions and Agencies is investigating all complaints.

Municipal Manager C. Bernard Blum announced that the Belvidere Beach, the Pineview Avenue Beach and the Main Street Beach are open temporarily. All local ordinances pertaining to swimming will be strictly enforced by the beach patrol.

Receive Bids For Hospital

FREEHOLD — Bids were received yesterday for construction of the proposed Greater Freehold Area Hospital.

Charles R. Miller, a member of the hospital board, said it was anticipated contracts would be awarded within the next 60 days.

He added that the board was pleased, as the bids were in line with origianl cost estimates.

Five were received for general contracting; five for heating, ventilation and electric work, and three for plumbing.

Car Hits Tree

MIDDLETOWN — A car went out of control and hit a tree on Hartshorne Road, Locust, last night at 9:30 p.m.

The driver, Daniel NaClean, 57, of North Arlington, was taken to Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, by the Leonardo First Aid, treated and released.

LWV Sets County Probes

FAIR HAVEN — At the first meeting of the board of directors of the Monmouth County Council League of Women Voters decision was reached to fully investigate water pollution and housing in Monmouth County.

The water pollution study is part of a nation-wide undertaking by the League of Women Voters.

In Monmouth County it is expected that the league will work for the conservation and development of water resources and the improvement of water quality.

URGENCY IS TOLD

"In a county such as ours where recreation and suburban living are in great part based on the quality of our water supply, the problem of pollution is most urgent," said Mrs. Vreeland.

The scope of the study as presented by Mrs. R. O. Rippere, Chairman of the Water Committee, will be to continue to work for the extension of our surface and underground water supplies, the preservation of our marshlands and estuaries, the protection of Sandy Hook Peninsula, the promotion of regional sewerage facilities and the cleaning up of our county waters.

In the appointment of Mrs. Charles Bellin of Atlantic Highlands, as chairman of Human Resources, it was pointed out that perhaps one of the most needed studies was that of housing in Monmouth County. The study will investigate the availability of housing that will enable people of all income groups the equal opportunity to live in an area of their choice.

In education continued support will be given to the development of Brookdale Community College. Mrs. Charles Springhorn of Matawan will represent the League at each public meeting of the College Board of Trustees. It was the position of the County Council that the Board of Trustees of the College be of a non-political nature and represent a broad spectrum of the community.

This was the initial meeting of the Monmouth County Council League of Women Voters Board of Directors who represent the local Leagues at Red Bank, Matawan, Middletown and the provisional League of Holmdel. Officers are Mrs. Vreeland, Fair Haven, president; Mrs. Michael Brodnitz, Matawan, vice president; Mrs. George Pope, West Deal, secretary-treasurer. Directors are Mrs. Irving L. Bander, West Allenhurst, Mrs. Bellin, Atlantic Highlands, Mrs. Rippere, Locust, Mrs. Charles Springhorn, Matawan, and Mrs. Brian Smith, Fair Haven.

Elect New College Trustee

WEST LONG BRANCH — Jules L. Plangere Jr., Interlaken, secretary and production manager of the Asbury Park Press, has been elected to the Monmouth College Board of Trustees, according to an announcement by Dale B. Otto, board chairman.

The trustees also elected George N. Arvanitis, West Long Branch, to the post of secretary, succeeding Edward F. Kolar, Deal, who resigned for health reasons.

Jules L. Plangere Jr.

Alton C. Dickieson, Colts Neck, was re-elected for a seven-year term.

Mr. Plangere has been associated with the Asbury Park Press since 1947. He served as manager of the newspaper's photo-engraving department and has been production manager 17 years. He was elected secretary of the Asbury Park Press Inc. in 1966.

A graduate of Asbury Park High School, Mr. Plangere attended Rutgers University where he majored in business administration and served as an Army lieutenant during World War II. He is a former commander of the Spring Lake American Legion Post 432, a former chairman of the New Jersey Press Association's Mechanical Committee and a former member of the Mechanical Committee of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association.

Mr. Plangere is a former president of the Welfare Council of Monmouth County; a former president of the Asbury Park area Chamber of Commerce; a former member of the board of directors of the Shore Area YMCA; and is a member of the board of the Monmouth Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Mr. Arvanitis, elected to the college board of trustees in 1967, is a partner in the law firm of Carton, Nary, Witt and Arvanitis.

Mr. Kolar, general manager of the Electric Power Division of the Bendix Corp., Eatontown, has served as a member of the board since 1961. He has been active in civic affairs and served as a director of Children's Psychiatric Center, and also served on fund raising committees for Riverview Hospital, Red Bank, and the Salvation Army.

Mr. Dickieson was first elected to the board in 1967. He is vice president in charge of transmission systems development at Bell Telephone Laboratories Inc., Holmdel. He was instrumental in the development of Project TELSTAR, the Bell satellite experiment during the early 1960's.

Mayor Sees No Need For Safety Director

LONG BRANCH — Mayor Paul Nastasio Jr. yesterday recommended to City Council President Samuel Teicher that the governing body rescind the May 22 resolution providing for the appointment of a public safety director.

"Since Chief (Joseph D.) Purcell is doing such an outstanding job in the Police Department," the mayor's letter said, "and since I feel that he has qualifications above and beyond any man that I have interviewed for the job, I feel that the City of Long Branch does not require a director of public safety."

The mayor added that the creation of such a post would add a $15,000 annual burden on city taxpayers.

The governing body has considered creating such a post and the mayor has interviewed several applicants for the job.

RUMSON — Down by the riverside, in a far-out slip at the Rumson Yacht Club is the Richard Scotts' graceful and well-appointed "Black Sheep." She's here tonight and gone tomorrow, for the Scotts, otherwise moored at 66 West River Road, and their two daughters, Cyndi and Meredyth, will celebrate their Fourth of July aboard.

Peg's a bit of a gourmet, on land or on sea, and we asked her for a few menu tips that will satisfy salt-sprayed appetites with a minimum of fuss in a close-quartered galley.

Her immediate suggestion was the Swedish Chicken outlined here, a favorite with her family and so easy, she says, "I do it while we're running." She likes not having to brown the chicken before cooking and we like the idea of using lots of tomatoes and peppers, now looking so good on the fresh-produce stands.

"Though it's a cinch, it looks like you're being a gourmet," Peg says.

To sustain that look, she adds a little something special to her tossed salad, such as artichoke hearts or marinated mushrooms or cauliflowerettes, or all of them.

The dessert is appropriate for a sailor-gourmet, too. And so simple! Grapes in sour cream, chilled, with a sprinkling of brown sugar at serving time.

Although it isn't Peg's, we've included also a molded salad with a few fillips that you might find interesting, to make ahead and to a take on board, or consider as your contribution to a good old-fashioned neighborhood get-together Fourth of July picnic.

Wherever you spend it, have a bang-up, and a safe Fourth of July!

SWEDISH CHICKEN

2 Tablespoons butter
one or two onions, cut up chicken pieces, about six salt, pepper, seasoning salt, to taste
2 tomatoes, cut up
¾ green pepper
1 pint sour cream

In electric skillet or large, heavy fry pan, soften the onion. Add chicken pieces, seasonings, the tomatoes cut in wedges and the cut up pepper. Close with a tight lid and simmer ¾ hour until chicken is fork-tender.

Remove chicken from pan and stir in sour cream. Return chicken and keep warm over low heat.

TOSSED SALAD DELUXE

Combine pieces of canned artichokes, cooked green beans, raw cauliflowerettes and greens. Marinated mushroom slices may be added.

SOUR CREAM GRAPES

Remove seedless green grapes from stems and chill in sour cream. Serve with a sprinkling of brown sugar.

ROSE'S FRUIT MOLD

2 packages raspberry Jello
1 package frozen strawberries
1 large can crushed pineapple
1½ bananas, mashed
1 pint sour cream

Dissolve Jello with one cup of hot water and the juice from the strawberries and pineapple which have been strained. Mix in fruit and pour one half of the solution into a mold. Refrigerate to jell, leaving the other half at room temperature.

When it has jelled, put the sour cream over the jelled part and add the remaining Jello. Refrigerate again to jell. (Mrs. Rose Matlaw, Elberon)

THE FAST GOURMET

Fast, Entertaining Casserole

By POPPY CANNON

"When you have just completed your PhD degree in home economics at Cornell University, your friends expect something special from you when you ask them to drop in for a bite of supper on Sunday evening."

This is the slightly wistful confession of Lenora Moragne, whose job as a publicist keeps her deeply involved with food — professionally as well as personally. Chic as one of her own models, Miss Moragne is a black woman deeply involved with Negro communities and the Negro press.

CANNON

Her after-hour hobbies range from the Black Theater performances in New York to making wall-to-wall draperies for her apartment in White Plains. But her love of loves is cooking. At least two or three times a month, no matter how crowded her schedule becomes, she takes the time to entertain at small dinner or supper parties. She has developed a series of weekend specialties. Most of them are whole-meal casseroles. For the most part they can be assembled hours ahead of time, if necessary — even put together the night before and kept in the refrigerator ready to bake.

LASAGNE LENORA

Start by cooking a (12 oz.) package of lasagne or any broad noodles according to directions.

Meanwhile, in a medium-size frying pan, lightly brown 1 medium onion, finely chopped, 1 clove garlic, crushed, in 1 tbsp. olive or salad oil. Add 1 lb. ground beef and break apart. Cook until red color disappears. Blend in a (3 or 4 oz.) can of sliced mushrooms, with the liquid; 1 (8 oz.) can tomato sauce; 1 (6 oz.) can tomato paste; 1 tsp. each salt and oregano; ¾ cup water. Cook 5 min.

Mix 1 slightly beaten egg with 1 (10 oz.) package frozen chopped spinach, thawed; 1 cup creamy cottage cheese; ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese; 1 tbsp. olive or salad oil; 1 tsp. salt.

Beat another egg slightly and toss with the cooked, drained lasagne. Pour half of the meaty mixture into an oblong baking pan; cover with half the lasagne. Spread on the spinach mixture; add another layer of lasagne and meat sauce. Cover and bake in a hot oven 400 deg. about 20 min. Uncover; arrange strips of American cheese over the top and set back in the oven for another 3 or 4 min. or until the cheese is melted. Serve from the same dish. Makes eight servings.

WHEN A PH.D. COOKS

Lasagne Lenora
Tossed Escarole Salad
Olive Oil and Wine Vinegar Dressing
Emerald and Ruby Sherbets

EMERALD SHERBET — Combine 1 can of apple sauce, 2 tbsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. lemon juice, ⅛ tsp. peppermint extract. Add 3 drops green coloring, one drop at a time. Freeze in refrigerator trays until firm but not icy.

RUBY SHERBET — Combine 1 cup apple sauce, 2 tbsp. sugar, 1 tbsp. lemon juice, and 16 red cinnamon candies in a small sauce pan. Stir over low heat until candies dissolve. Remove from heat and add 3 drops red food coloring, one drop at a time. Freeze as above. Both these sherbets should be spooned into very small goblets or whisky glasses. They will make four to eight servings.

Think Positive

JEAN ADAMS

LIKE DAD: (Q.) My father is an alcoholic and my mother is constantly fighting with him. She tells me she can't stand him. I'm afraid she's getting to feel the same way about me.

I resemble my father very much. It seems that everything I do she tells me, "You're just like your father!" Then she starts to yell at me as if I were really him.

ADAMS

We're always getting in arguments because of this. I've told her how much it bothers me, but she keeps on. What can I do to show her how much this hurts me? — Hurt in Detroit.

(A.) Your mother needs your love and understanding and patience very much.

So does your father.

If you can be kind to both of them, you may help them beyond measure. If you can, quietly and without arguing, help your mother to see the good things about your dad and vice versa, you may be able to change your home into a much better place.

This is a big assignment, I know. But in your home somebody needs to be positive, constructive, and loving. Your mother and father, in their present condition, are not able to do so. That leaves you. I believe you can help them. I believe your kindness will rub off on them.

DANCE DON'T: (Q.) My mom saw my boy friend and me dancing and she told me she didn't like what she saw. I told her the kids on television dance like that, but she said I'd better not any more.

When my boy friend asks me to dance, should I tell him I can't dance his way? — A Reader in San Antonio, Tex.

(A.) You do not say what kind of dancing your mother thinks is wrong. If you know in your heart that she is right, follow her advice.

If you feel you are dancing the way clean teens dance today, at parties and on television, too, ask your mother to explain to you just what it is that you and your boy friend are doing that she feels is different and wrong.

Canvas Awnings

put the sun in the shade

Spring is here and the battle with ole Sol is just begun. From early morning till late afternoon the hot sun will be beating first at your east windows, then at the south, then at the west. To keep a cool home you need to shade those windows on the outside with canvas awnings. By blocking out 75% of the sun heat, canvas awnings keep rooms 8 to 15 degrees cooler. Order now and avoid rush-season waiting...

ANN LANDERS

Proof Is in the Trash

Dear Ann Landers: I need your cool, smart head to see me through this one. Yesterday I ran into a large collection of the filthiest pornography ever assembled in one place. There were several magazines, pictures of live people (not drawings), and advertisements for gadgets I never knew existed. It made me sick. I discovered this unspeakable trash in a suit box under our 16-year-old son's bed. The boy is an honor student, an excellent athlete and has many friends, both boys and girls. I can't imagine him being interested in this stuff, but obviously he is because the mailing envelopes are addressed to him, which is proof he sent for the trash.

The boy's father died two years ago and I feel helpless. So far I have said nothing to him. I am waiting for word from you on how to handle the situation. Please advise me. — Unsure Mother

Dear Mother: Confront your son with the junk and tell him you found it under his bed. Tell him you are surprised that he'd spend his time and money on trash designed for fourth rate minds.

Don't appear shaken or condemnatory. Just let him know you are disappointed. Hand over the material and tell him the stuff is his and he can do whatever he wishes with it. If he keeps it, say nothing. From your description of the boy he appears to be stable and solid and the junk will not hurt him. (P.S. I'll bet he doesn't keep it long. Bright people become bored with pornography when the novelty wears off — and it wears off in a hurry.)

Dear Ann: When I married Elsie she weighed 98 pounds. She gained 15 pounds with each baby (we have three children) and she hasn't lost any of it. Elsie loves to eat and hates to exercise. Last week she asked me for an additional $20 a week for massages. She said the girls in her card club insist massages are a great way to lose weight.

I don't see how massages are going to help Elsie if she continues to eat everything in sight and shun exercise. She insists that the electrical equipment and the massager's ability to pummel off the fat is the secret.

If you say she is right I will hand over the extra money. — Unconvinced

Dear Un: I hate to deprive Elsie of the massages because they might help her relax. But they will not make her thinner.

If Elsie eats like there is no tomorrow and continues to sit on her fatty acids (courtesy Dr. Paul Dudley White) she won't lose an ounce.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage — What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Twinlight Post Auxiliary Slates Party

HIGHLANDS — A card party sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of Twinlight Post, American Legion, will be held Aug. 6 at Andy's Shore Bar, 152 Bay Ave.

A's Slammin' Jackson Wins Over Pilots, Keeps His Cool

Associated Press

The home run records of Babe Ruth and Roger Maris are safe. Reggie Jackson guarantees it.

"I'm not going to get 60 home runs because I'm not a 60 home run man," Jackson said last night after belting his 31st, 32nd and 33rd homers in Oakland's 5-0 victory over Seattle.

Some of the figure filberts have other ideas and point out that Jackson's pace is 10 games ahead of Maris, who hit 61 in a 162-game season in 1961, and 23 ahead of Ruth, who walloped 60 in a 154-game campaign in 1927, both for the New York Yankees. Last night's was Oakland's 72nd game of the season.

"It's nice to be compared with great players like Ruth and Maris, but I don't think I'm ready to be put in their class yet," said the 23-year-old outfielder. "I'm so young. If I have five or six years back-to-back I might consider myself in their class."

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota topped the Chicago White Sox 4-2, Detroit drubbed Boston 7-0, Washington whipped Cleveland 5-1, the New York Yankees edged Baltimore 3-2 and Kansas City shaded California 1-0.

In National League action, Atlanta clubbed Cincinnati 9-4, Houston clobbered Los Angeles 8-2, San Francisco beat San Diego 6-3, the Chicago Cubs downed Montreal 4-2, the New York Mets outlasted St. Louis 6-4 in 14 innings and Philadelphia bombed Pittsburgh 14-4.

Jackson's explosion was the eighth time this season he has hit more than one homer in a game. The major league record is 11 by Detroit's Hank Greenberg in 1938. Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh set the NL mark of 10 in 1947.

'Only Once Before'

"I only hit three homers in a game once before in organized ball," said Jackson, who is in his second full season in the majors. "That was for Modesto in the California League in 1966. I wasn't consciously trying to hit home runs against Seattle. Once you do that, you try too hard and you don't hit any."

Jackson connected in the first and sixth innings off Marty Pattin and in the eighth against Diego Segui. All three homers came with the bases empty.

The first was a fly ball that barely cleared the fence just inside the right field foul pole some 330 feet away. The second was a towering 425-foot shot over the center field fence and the third was a line drive which just cleared the wall in center, which is 400 feet from home plate.

Virtually overlooked was John "Blue Moon" Odom's five-hitter, which kept the A's three percentage points in front of Minnesota in the AL West. It was the fifth consecutive triumph for Odom, who ran his record to 11-3 and also hit a home run.

Minnesota's Dave Boswell checked the White Sox on two hits until the eighth inning and Harmon Killebrew slammed his 19th homer. The game was called because of rain after 8½ innings. It was Chicago's first setback in Milwaukee, where they play one game against each AL club. They had won the first five.

Tom Tresh and Don Wert belted homers and drove in three runs apiece for Detroit, making it easy for Denny McLain, who scattered eight hits, to become the AL's first 12-game winner. Boston has a five-game losing streak for the first time this season and is only one-half game ahead of third-place Detroit in the AL East.

Washington continued its mastery of Cleveland, beating the Indians for the ninth time this year — 10 in a row overall — as Paul Casanova and Brant Alyea each knocked in two runs. The Senators, who have won six in a row, also ended Sam McDowell's seven-game winning streak. Tony Horton homered for the Indians' run.

DOWN TO THE WEYER — Umpire Lee Weyer bends to examine the hand of Felix Millan of the Atlanta Braves as he writhes on the ground after being hit by a pitch by Pedro Ramos of the Cincinnati Reds yesterday. # Davis Cup's Fate Fought

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The first battle in the campaign to extend open tennis to the Davis Cup was being fought in London today.

Delegates from the Davis Cup nations were meeting to vote on a proposal by France that the promoter-controlled professionals be admitted to the big team tournament.

France has the support of the other three big tennis powers — the United States, Britain and Australia. But most of the smaller countries were reported opposed to the idea, which needs a two-thirds majority to go through.

Vote Indecisive

Even a vote in favor of an open Davis Cup would not be decisive.

Basil Reay, who is secretary of both the Davis Cup and the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF), said:

"Although the competing nations control the Davis Cup and its rules, in this case they can only make a recommendation to the ILTF.

"When the ILTF meets in Prague July 9, it will decide whether to adopt the proposal for one category of players, with the abolition of the terms professional and amateur.

"Obviously, any decision to run an open Davis Cup would be meaningless if the governing body of world tennis rejects the idea of one category."

Today's meeting was on the basis of one vote for each delegate.

At the ILTF meeting in Prague, decisions will be taken on a block voting system. Britain, the United States, Australia and France each have 12 votes, while other countries are allowed votes carrying between one and nine, according to their past tennis achievements.

Ashe vs. Laver

Meanwhile, Arthur Ashe, the last surviving American in the Wimbledon men's singles, faces the defending champion, Rod Laver of Australia, in today's semifinals.

The other semifinal was between two Australians, John Newcombe and Tony Roche.

Laver is half-way toward the grand slam — the world's four major tennis titles in one year. He has already won the Australian and French titles and now has Wimbledon and Forest Hills to come. Laver did the grand slam in 1962. The only other man to do it was America's Don Budge in 1938.

Yesterday, Mrs. Margaret Court of Australia lost her hopes of pulling off a women's grand slam — a success achieved only by the late Maureen Connolly in 1953.

Mrs. Ann Jones of Britain defeated Mrs. Court 10-12, 6-3, 6-2 in a two-hour semifinal of drama and high quality tennis. Mrs. Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., slammed Rosemary Casals of San Francisco 6-1, 6-0 in the other semi, a drab and one-sided affair that was all over in 28 minutes.

BUBBLING OVER — New York Yankee third baseman Jerry Kenney sports a good-sized bubble during the eighth inning against the Baltimore Orioles yesterday. Kenney's relaxed attitude evidently was what was needed as the Yankees won, 3-2, with his assistance on the final double play of the game. (AP Wirephoto)

Stott Stops Orioles

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Stottlemyre scattered eight hits and Horace Clarke cracked out three hits yesterday in pacing the New York Yankees to their second straight victory, 3-2, over the high-riding Baltimore Orioles.

Stottlemyre, who has won 11 and lost six games, opened shakily. The lanky righthander was reached for six hits in the first five innings. But he settled down and nailed 11 Birds in a row.

The American League's Eastern Division leaders snapped the streak in the ninth when they threatened to pull it out. Paul Blair led off with a double down the left field line and scored on Frank Robinson's single to center. Stottlemyre, however, got Boog Powell, who drove in seven runs Tuesday night, on a fly to center and forced Brooks Robinson to hit into a game-ending double play.

Clarke drove in the second Yankee run with a two-out, run-scoring triple in the fifth

Mets Finally Drop Cards After 14-Inning Struggle

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ken Boswell lashed a two-out RBI single and pitcher Ron Willis issued a bases-loaded walk in the 14th inning to give the New York Mets a 6-4 victory over St. Louis last night.

Boswell lined his single to center to score Tommie Agee, who had singled and stolen second.

Willis then hit Cleon Jones with a pitch and walked Rod Gaspar before issuing the free scoring pass to Wayne Garrett.

Chance Is Missed

The Cards missed a chance to win it in the 10th, loading the bases with none out. But Del Maxvill forced one out at the plate, and pitcher Tug McGraw fanned Steve Huntz and erased pinch hitter Bill White on an infield out.

The Cards also loaded the bases with two out in the 13th, but Tim McCarver popped out to end that threat.

Koosman had two out in the inning, then walked the next three men and was lifted for Taylor.

Allen Sells Thoughts On Phillie Suspension

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rich Allen hinted last night that he might play baseball in Japan or South America or even go live on a farm with a few horses rather than return to the Philadelphia Phillies.

The 27-year-old Allen, one of the great hitters in baseball, was suspended indefinitely June 24 for failing to show up for a doubleheader against the New York Mets at Shea Stadium. He reacted by saying he would never play for the Phillies again.

Allen has refused to talk with most writers and the broadcast media, but tonight sold his thoughts to a local television station WPHL-Channel 17 in a copyrighted half hour dialogue.

Channel 17 sports director Al Meltzer asken Allen: "Who is going to make the first move . . . because this is a stalemate?"

Allen replied: "Well, I made the first move when I came home. They (Phillies) made a move when they suspended me without knowing if I was laying on the highway dead or what. They made the move not me. The man (Phillies' manager Bob Skinner) suspended me. Even if I get there I can't play."

Skinner has said that he is ready to reinstate Allen on the manager's terms and that it would take several talks and a few days or more before he would send Allen back to first base. Allen's business manager, Clem Capozzoli, has been trying to arrange a meeting between the two, so far unsuccessfully.

"Do you want them (the club) to make the next move?" Allen was asked.

"No, I don't want them to do anything. No. I don't want nobody to do nothing."

"You'll sit for the rest of the season," it was suggested. "So?" he replied.

Based on his reported $80,000 a year salary Allen is being docked almost $500 per day. He said he wasn't worried about money.

"Money isn't all. I lived from 1 to 18 without it. So, if I'm going to make a living why not go and make $105 a week somewhere and live in the country with a few horses and forget it and live in peace. I don't have to worry about you asking me questions, not that guy with shooting pictures, or this guy asking for your autograph."

Allen said that going into some other business was a possibility, but didn't elaborate. "Maybe I'll play in Caracas, Venezuela or Japan, somewhere. Everybody might get a laugh, but I might in another line of business be able to make more money."

"I'd like to clear up a lot of things," Allen said on the TV show. ". . . First of all, I'd like to say that whatever is going to be done is going to be decided between my wife and myself. We'll sit down and talk it over and not another soul in the country.

"The only one is The Man Upstairs, God, and my wife, and myself. Much as I love my mom, and even Clem, they can't help me now. The decision will be made at home. I will say that whatever the decision is that will be it."

Middletown made the best of three Monmouth Beach errors to rap the Beach Boys, 4-1.

Bass Pull Plug, While Blues Hit

By DICK RIKER

It seems as though the big bass blitz at Sandy Hook finally came to a halt last Friday. It was grand while it lasted but like all good fishing it had to come to an end. With the stripers going off fresh bunker, it's every man for himself until the bass school up again the fall.

Old timers along the beach always went with the rigged eel starting in July and continuing into September. Sure, even in those old days there were a few pluggers or squidders, but there was a band of anglers who used only rigged eels and were rarely seen by man during daylight hours.

RIKER

If you were an early summer riser, you might see some of these anglers just as dawn broke. Red of eye and long in the beard, they turned toward home or the bait shop as the sun came up. But couldn't they catch bass though.

SOME LIKE DARK

There are still a few who like the dark of the moon, a quiet jetty or tidal pool and the rigged eel. From now until the fish school up, these fishermen will be working the jetties. The eel is the bait to use if you want to get results in July and August.

Just before dark, the little boats push off the beach. They too are using eels as bait for big bass. But most of these eels will be live eels either drifting or slow trolling.

Trolling live eels is an art few care to perfect. It could be called a controlled drift, since the smallest of motors is used to push the boat along. As slow as the motor can be made to fire produces the proper trolling speed. The big boats used rigged eels when trolling and like to start at about 500 rpm and then play around a bit with the throttle. But live eels must be worked at even slower speeds.

Then, too, the cartoppers carry a few rigged eels and work the jetty tips all along the coast. With the main concentration of bass at Sandy Hook now split up, bass fishing is just plain hard work.

Bluefishing looks like the best bet for the coming holiday weekend. There is an immense concentration of bluefish on the Acid Water grounds. These fish seem to be a bit on the small side with two and three pounders providing most of the catches. But another school of larger fish seems to be on the way up from Barnegat Ridge, so anything can show this coming weekend.

It is a bit too early to call the play, but Seahorse docked at the Highlands Marina on Wednesday evening with a tie for high hook. Bill Wilson of Middletown was one of the top anglers with 21 blues in his bag. It might be that the blues are now ready to settle down and provide some good fishing for the fest of the summer.

Ducks Unlimited dedicated a new top-quality complex of waterfowl production marshes in central Saskatchewan recently. The new wetland complex consists of five marshland units totaling 6,476 acres of prime waterfowl habitat.

The addition to Ducks Unlimited "duck factory" was made possible by the generous grant of $200,000 from the Richard King Mellon Charitable Trusts.

DU (Canada) President Lorne Cameron told those assembled at the dedication ceremonies: "Such outstanding support as we are recognizing today will play a vital role in our 'master plan for tomorrow,' in which we accelerate our control or reservation program to add another 4,500,000 acres of waterfowl habitat within the next decade, before it is lost forever."

As of Jan. 1, 1969, Ducks Unlimited had 1,057,925 acres with a total shoreline of 7,306 miles producing ducks and geese. DU's long term construction program represents more than 1,000 dams, several hundred water control structures and many miles of canals, fences and fire lanes; toward which American sportsmen have contributed some $14,000,000.

'BREAKFAST AT MONMOUTH' — Patrons enjoy breakfast at trackside at Monmouth Park during early morning training hours yesterday. Newly inaugurated at the Oceanport plant, the progarm proved to be popular with horselovers of all ages. Three times a week (Monday, Wednesday and Saturday) the sessions will feature top racing personalities explaining the "inside" to fans. Yesterday H. A. "Jimmy" Jones, director of racing, was the guest of "maitre d' " Ray Haight for a discussion of equipment used by jockeys and horses. An estimated 225 persons turned out.

Fireworks Fill Racing Weekend

By CHUCK TRIBLEHORN
Register Sports Editor

OCEANPORT — A midweek crowd of 15,361 settled down to a program void of the customary Wednesday stakes feature yesterday, as Monmouth Park prepared to light the fuse for a July 4th weekend of thoroughbred racing fireworks.

Process Shot and Gallant Bloom, voted divisional champions in separate national polls as 2-year-old fillies last season, are the holiday sparklers tomorrow. Both will put their unbeaten 3-year-old records on the line in the $25,000-added Post-Deb Stakes, a mile and 70 yards feature event.

Process Shot, the Elberon Farms' darling of David A. "Sonny" Werblin, has won four stakes in as many starts this season. Gallant Bloom, racing in the interests of Robert J. Kleber's King Ranch, has taken both of her outings this season, including a breezy victory prep here last week.

Tomorrow's match-up has added interest in that both fillies will carry equal weight of 117 pounds under the allowance conditions of the stakes.

The track hardly will have time to cool down before Top Knight leads the parade to the post for Saturday's Lamplighter Handicap, another $25,000-added attraction for 3-year-old fillies at a mile and a sixteenth.

Racing for the estate of Steven B. Wilson, under Manny Ycaza, Top Knight will lug high weight of 125 pounds against an impressive field which also includes last year's 2-year-old champion Al Hattab.

Al Hattab, Jersey Derby Derby winner at Garden State Park on Memorial Day, will carry 124 pounds and the colors of Pelican Stable. Trainer W. A. "Jimmy" Croll Jr. is looking for his horse to rebound after two consecutive disappointments since. Al Hattab was third in the Long Branch Stakes in deep slop here and unplaced in the Leonard Richards Stakes on Delaware Park's grass course.

Chuck Baltazar, Process Shot's rider tomorrow, has a royal chance to assume the lead in the jockey standings before the weekend is over. Baltazar has 22 winnings for the meeting, two less than Walter Blum and one behind Mike Hole, but the number one and two men are sitting out five-day suspensions served up by the stewards after Monday's racing.

For the second consecutive day, jockeys found the going rough. Paul Kallai was dumped when his horse, Devilish Debbie, fell leaving the starting gate in the first race. Kallai, who was sidelined for several months after being injured in a four-horse spill on closing day here a year ago, was moved to Monmouth Medical Center, Long Branch, for X-rays and examination before being released.

In the second race Anthony Verde was flipped from Ajewel at the final turn and did not appear to be harmed. Ajewel, however, had to be destroyed on the spot because of a broken leg.

Frank Verardi and Robert Perna are resting comfortably in Monmouth Medical Center after Tuesday's spill in the feature race. Verardi suffered a slight concussion and Perna has a slight shoulder separation. Both are expected to be released before the weekend.

Mrs. Russell L. Reineman's Bold Mariner and Raritan Stable's Basic Witness engaged in a furious stretch battle to the wire, with the former crossing under the wire a nose in front to win yesterday's $6,500 Cool Reception Purse.

Atlantic City Gets Stable Assistance

ATLANTIC CITY — Because of the pressure for stalls for the Atlantic City race meeting opening on Aug. 8, Garden State Park has agreed to provide additional stabling accomodations.

Under an agreement worked out between racing secretaries Ken Lennox and Ken Noe Jr., stalls for approximately 3,000 thoroughbreds will become available. Monmouth Park, where Lennox is racing secretary as he is at the Atlantic City Race Course, will keep its stable area open through Aug. 17 and Garden State Park's stable area will open the following day. Meanwhile, the Atlantic City Stable area will open its gates on Tuesday, Aug. 5.

In a joint statement the two racing secretaries said that "never before in the history of New Jersey racing have so many stalls been available.

NICK'S NOTES

Base Hits with Beer Labels

By RICH NICOLETTI

"And now fans, why don't you go on out to the kitchen and open a nice cold bottle of 'Burp, Burp' beer?"

How often have you heard those words between innings of a televised baseball game? How's this? "There goes a long drive to deep right field, that ball is going, going it is gone for a Ballantine blast?" Remember when former New York Yankee announcer Mel Allen used to describe a home run in that particular fashion? Even a four-bagger had a beer label on it.

BUTTS ABOUT IT

Russ Hodges used to give away cigarettes every time a New York Giant belted one into the stands. If we remember correctly, he didn't mention it when Bobby Thompson hit his memorable round-tripper that defeated the Dodgers in the 1951 pennant playoff. He forgot all about the veterans in the hospitals that day.

NICOLETTI

There was a time when the only way an ad came across to the fans was when they came to the ball park and saw the billboards lining the outfield fences.

Ebbetts Field was the best example of a park with billboard advertisements. The fences were gayly decorated in "silent salesmanship."

Nowadays, TV broadcasters try to get a word in for the sponsor every chance they get. "It sure is a beautiful day for a ball game. That reminds me, why don't you sit back and open a nice cold bottle of . . . ."

Television is consumed in advertisements. Sure it's essential, but why so much, and so often? There was a time when you could watch a movie on TV for a full 15 minutes before an ad set in to destroy your concentration. Now it's 10, and sometimes even seven minutes. It's tough on poor John P. Viewer when he's watching a mystery movie and he gets all tensed up and emotional. All of a sudden there is a pause and he sees before him, a man holding a bottle and softly saying, "Irregularity?"

Baseball sponsors haven't come to that yet. They're still working on the liver and lungs.

Isn't it gratifying to know that in between the innings of a Met game you can see how long the foam will last on a "10-minute head?"

If that doesn't get you going, switch to Channel 11. There you will find Jerry Coleman expounding on the beer the Yankees are currently in love with. Then turn on the radio for the same broadcast and hear Phil Rizzuto sing a different song about which is the Yankee's favorite lager.

KIDS REAP BENEFITS

And who reaps the benefits of all of these elaborate commercials that you see and hear on television and radio? The kids, who else? Most adults who watch TV ads can't remember from one minute to the next what commercial they just saw. But just ask a kid to sing a beer jingle that's been played over and over on the tube, and nine times out of ten you will hear it verbatim.

Believe me, this next story is true.

Yanks Tear Sox in Lincroft

LINCROFT — The Lincroft Pharmacy Yankees had to fight in the final week of play to overtake the Lincroft Esso Red Sox for the title of the Senior League in the Lincroft Little League.

They clinched the title with a final win over the Stephen J. Gross Senators, 7-1. Ray Salani and Don DeCamara combined to toss a three-hitter for the winners.

The Jets topped the Bk W A's, 7-4. The Jets put the game on ice in the third frame when the Jets scored all seven of their runs.

Chris Steinberg was the winning hurler.

The Keansburg-Middletown Bank Wildcats, champs of last year, won their last three games to move into fourth place in the Omega League.

The Wildcats whipped the Mavericks, 14-12, in a slugfest last week. Doug Joyce singled home two runs in the sixth to decide matters.

In the Alpha Pioneer League, Wardell's Dairy Tigers won the championship by trouncing the Rhino's, 12-2. Steve Harrison was the winning pitcher, and Bob Chernow drove in five runs. Mark Kulper tripled with the bases loaded for the first three runs.

The Village Pantry Penguins took the title in the Junior Omega League by trimming the Larks, 8-5. It was their ninth straight win. Jimmy Roman batted and hurled his team to victory.

Moisture Conservation Is Vital to Vegetables

FREEHOLD — Soil in many areas of New Jersey has lost moisture during the hot and dry weather. Save your vegetable garden by conserving moisture now, says a specialist in vegetable crops.

Cultivate your garden carefully to avoid pruning roots from plants. Do this by cultivating only about an inch deep. Cultivate away from the shallow roots closest to the stems.

Shollow cultivation allows the surface soil to dry. A dry surface keeps weeds from sprouting. Such cultivation also creates a mulch of dust which will reduce water loss from the area of soil where most of the plant roots are located.

A loosened surface soil allows future rain or irrigation to enter the ground. Thus, moisture will not be lost as runoff.

For small areas, you can useh various mulching materials to cut soil water loss and stifle weed growth. Peat moss, salt hay, and sheets of black plastic film set over the soil can benefit your garden.

By conserving water in the soil, you will reduce naturally the need to irrigate again in a short while.

When you irrigate, avoid light sprinkling. The water should penetrate the soil to a depth of at least six inches. After such a watering, wait to irrigate again until the soil has dried to a depth of several inches.

Catholics, accounting for about one-third of the 1.5 million population of Ireland, claim the predominantly English and Scots Protestant majority discriminates against them in jobs and housing.

Timely Gardening Tips

Ash — A good year for ash flower gall (present on male flowers only). No value in sprays now. Next spring, use malathion after buds swell but before new growth begins.

Dogwood — Most dieback of tree tops and large branches is the result of borer in the main trunk and scaffold branches. Spray or paint trunk and larger branches now, using dieldrin or endosulfan.

Honeylocust — The mimosa webworm is starting to build up. Use malathion, lindane, lead arsenate or carbaryl now, and twice more at about 4-week intervals.

Juniper — On many specimens the spider mite is really going to town. Use aramite or dicofol and add spreader-sticker or detergent for good coverage.

Maple — Starting with the hot dry weather of June, and still continuing, many green leaves have been dropping from Norway maple and a few other shade tree species. Part of this is due to aphid infestations which can be checked with lindane, malathion or diazinon. However, many leaves that are dropping are not the result of aphids, but are just the result of nature reducing the heavy crowns at a time when temperature and wind are demanding too much water in the leaves. The leaf drop helps to balance the situation.

Weed Killers — Dr. John Meade has noted the fact that improper use of weed killers or fertilizer plus weed killers is causing a lot of damage to trees and shrubs. The number of specimens (referred to as "diseased" by the senders) that have been received in the Pathology Department is really something. County agents have also been hit with many such specimens and complaints. Many species of trees and shrubs are affected but the ones must frequently submitted are plane tree, pin oak, magnolia, forsythia, Taxus, hemlock and spruce. Severe cupping of leaves with acute up-turning of leaf edges is the mark on deciduous trees. Apologies to friend John Meade for using the word "weeds" in this newsletter, but the more encouragement the homeowner can be given to keep the "killers" far, far, far away from the tree and bush roots of our ornamental plants, the better off everyone will be.

River Dredging Brings Bass and Complaints

By BOB BRAMLEY

LOCUST — On the north bank of the Navesink River, visible from the Oceanic Bridge, a yellow dragline scoops sand from the tidal flats and deposits it atop a swampy section of tall sedge grass and cattails.

The results of the excavation show as a yellow scar of sand against the general green of the riverbank; it's obvious to persons driving across the bridge that a significant change is being made in the shoreline of the property across the water.

The nature of the change and its effects are the concerns of Eugene F. Miltenberger Jr. of Clay Court, who is doing the excavating; the American Littoral Society, and the township's recently created Conservation Commission.

Derickson W. Bennett of Fair Haven, conservation director of the American Littoral Society, reports his organization questioned Mr. Miltenberger's operation June 24 in a night letter to Robert A. Roe, state commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development. The telegram was prompted, Mr. Bennett said, by a report that Mr. Miltenberger was dredging without a proper permit.

Roe Advised

The night letter to Commissioner Roe asked whether a permit to dredge the tidal bottom had been issued, whether a riparian grant of the tideland had been sold to Mr. Miltenberger, whether an ecological study was made to discover possible damage to natural resources, whether dredging and filling without bulkheading was approved and whether the site is monitored for possible siltation, Mr. Bennett said.

A telegram in answer from Mr. Roe told the society that no application for the riparian grant or the permit had been made by Mr. Miltenberger. The reply added that state regulations on filling require that dredged material be retained so as to preclude its return to waterways.

An inquiry to the state Bureau of Navigation by the Conservation Commission produced another answer. The commission was told that a dredging permit had been issued to Mr. Miltenberger, but agreed with Mr. Roe that there had been no grant of riparian rights.

Builds Luxury Homes

Mr. Miltenberger, a builder and developer of luxury homes in this area, told The Register his side of the story yesterday, providing a guided tour of the dredging site.

First, the builder said, he has the necessary dredging permit and has had it since before the work began.

Second, it is true that he did not at first obtain the riparian grant ("It was an oversight on the part of my lawyer," Mr. Miltenberger explained) but the riparian rights are now in process of being granted by the state at substantial cost to the builder.

Third, while work was indeed ordered stopped June 25, Mr. Miltenberger has since received permission to continue dredging, and the dragline is hard back at work.

Fourth, it was never the builder's intention to dredge and fill without bulkheading; an application for permission to dredge dated May 9 shows the planned bulkhead line 100 feet off the original shoreline.

Knows the River

Fifth, Mr. Miltenberger grew up on the Navesink River and is just as much interested in conserving its marine life as any other township resident.

The builder cited the fact that when he was a boy, crabs, fish and other marine life abounded in the river, while now there is little life there aside from horseshoe crabs. Pollution, he pointed out, has killed off most of the marine life, and a good deal of the pollution, he charged, comes from private and township sewage pipes draining into the river.

Far from harming aquatic life, the builder went on, his dredging operation has already resulted in an influx of bass. Pointing to the deep water hole being dredged in front of his property, he declared:

"I was down here last night with my daughter and a friend with fishing poles. You should have seen the bass. They collect in this deep water after feeding upstream. And there were never any bass here before."

Effect on Ecology

The deep hole, Mr. Miltenberger estimated, will not fill up with silt for at least 20 years.

Mr. Bennett stressed that neither the Littoral Society nor the Conservation Commission are concerned specifically with Mr. Miltenberger's dredging operation as such. The concern, he explained, is in the operation as representative of work that may continue to be permitted by the state and might have an adverse effect on the ecology of estuarine lands in the river.

"Where do we go from here? That bank of the river is in awfully good shape ecologically. If one person starts dredging, the whole thing can go," Mr. Bennett said.

Mr. Miltenberger deplored that fact that he has never been approached by anyone from either the Littoral Society or the Conservation Commission.

Freehold Township Voters Have Date

FREEHOLD TOWNSHIP—Voters in this rapidly growing community will decide Tuesday whether or not a new Middle School can be built in time for the next wave of children.

The referendum will be for $195,000, amount needed to cover increases in the cost of construction since last year.

The polls will be open from 3 to 9 p.m. at the West Freehold School and the Burlington Road School.

On June 25, 1968, the voters passed a $1,850,000 referendum. Of this amount, $1,700,000 was for construction of a Middle School (for grades six, seven, and eight) next to the Burlington Road School on Burlington Road. The remaining $150,000 was for the purchase of two additional sites for two new schools to be built in the future.

Since last year's referendum, however, construction costs increased between 12 and 13 per cent more than anticipated, Marshall W. Errickson, superintendent of schools, said yesterday.

17 Per Cent Increase

The school board originally estimated that costs would increase 5 per cent over the cost of building the Laura Donovan School last year at $18.67 per square foot.

"Instead, the increase was closer to 17 per cent," Mr. Errickson said.

As a result, contractors' bids received by the Board of Education May 20 came to $1,895,000, or $195,000 more than anticipated before the first referendum, the superintendent said.

Most of the increased costs, he said, are for wood and carpentry. The building designed by Coates and Armstrong, Somerville, architects, will have a roof of two-inch wood decking supported by laminated wood beams.

The contractors have agreed to hold their bids at the May 30 price until after Tuesday's referendum.

If the vote is favorable, Mr. Errickson said, the school board will be in a position to award a contract Tuesday night right after the results of the voting are announced.

In that case, it would still be possible to begin construction Aug. 1 and have the school ready for use by September, 1970, the date originally set for completion.

Be in Trouble

If the referendum is voted down, Mr. Errickson said, "The alternative would be to reject the bids and redesign the building." This would cause further delay.

"Then we'd be in trouble," he added.

The superintendent said school enrollment, as well as total population, has been growing much more rapidly in the township than anticipated. Last year, the board expected a school enrollment of 2,755 pupils by June, 1970. "Now we're expecting more than 3,100 children," Mr. Errickson said.

He attributed the increase in the rate of population increase to the fact that Levitt and Co. now has 449 building lots with an option to buy 128, which will make a total of 577 new homes. The township anticipates that about 1,200 new houses will be built here next year, he said.

The board has tried to keep up with growth by planning each new school to accommodate two years of growth.

This has not worked out, Mr. Errickson said, because the rate of growth has increased so rapidly. The opening of the new Laura Donovan School on Stonehurst Blvd. last year added 27 classrooms, but the school system is already two classrooms short.

The Middle School being planned is designed for an enrollment of about 750 children. It will have a total of 28 classrooms. Of these, 16 will be regular classrooms, eight for mathematics and science, one for industrial arts, one for home economics, one for music and one for art.

If the voters turn down the $195,000 referendum, the school system will be between 15 and 20 classrooms short next year.

The school board has acquired the sites for two additional schools to be built as needed in the future. One is an L-shaped site with 40 acres on Elton Road and Jackson Mills Road. This will probably be the site of a K-6 school to be built after the Middle School. A $490,000 state emergency building fund, which must be spent by Jan. 1, will pay part of the cost of this next building.

Where the Flag Always Flies

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — Every Boy Scout knows that the American flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset.

There are some exceptions, however, where it flies day and night in all kinds of weather. Most of these are within a 40-mile radius of Baltimore:

—Ft. McHenry in Baltimore, where the flag inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner."

—The Flag House in Baltimore. There, Mary Pickersgill made the flag Key saw waving at Ft. McHenry.

Key penned a stanza on the back of an envelope during a 25-hour British bombardment of Baltimore in 1814. Congress designated it the national anthem in 1931.

Alexander Doyle of New York designed the monument. The 9½-foot sculpture of Key is by Pompee Coppini, who came to this country from Italy in 1896.

At the base of the pedestal is a bronze group symbolizing patriotism. The three allegorical figures are a woman representing the Goddess of Patriotism, a boy of 14 representing war and a child of 5 representing music.

When Key died in 1843 in Baltimore, he was buried there. His body was removed to the family plot in Mount Olivet in 1866. In 1898, Key and his wife, Mary, were placed in a crypt at the base of the monument.

The monument was financed by a legislative appropriation, fund raising by the Key Monument Association and contributions of pennies, nickels and dimes from school children across the United States.

Many school children are among the tourists visiting the grave. Each year, the graduating class of an Iowa school places a wreath at the base of the monument. This year's, in red, white and blue, carried a musical clef and the first three notes of the anthem.

The first gravestones of Key and his wife still stand in another section of the cemetery. The years have darkened the stone and worn away so much of the face the writing cannot be read.

A hundred yards away, are the graves of Key's mother, Anna Charlton Key, and his father, John Ross Key, an officer in the Revolutionary War.

Amid flowering fruit trees, dogwoods, evergreens and white birches is a long row of identical gravestones for more than 500 Confederate soldiers who fell in the Civil War.

Replaced Monthly

Robert A. Kline, superintendent and secretary of the nonprofit cemetery, keeps a fresh flag fluttering atop the flagpole at the monument. This means replacement at least once a month.

"In bad weather, they don't last that," said Kline. "I put them up and they go bad in one night in a storm. They get wet and go to pieces."

Veterans organizations contribute some flags. Funeral directors provide others at the direction of families who have buried relatives in Mount Olivet.

Standing in a prominent spot at the cemetery entrance, the monument and flag are floodlighted at night.

Kline doesn't have time to show everyone around, but he does point out the Key monument to them.

"Some people come in and can't even see it," he said.

West Long Branch Events Start Tonight with Firemen's Competition

WEST LONG BRANCH — James M. Ronan of the Recreation Commission said that in addition to the annual Fourth of July Day celebration sponsored by the commission, plans have been made to have Firemen's Competition tonight at Franklin Park Lake.

Competing will be Fire Companies 1 and 2.

Last year's contest ended in a tie, with many councilmen and resident spectators getting drenched by "well-directed" fire hoses.

The Fourth celebration starts with a parade beginning at 6:30 p.m. The point of assembly is Elmwood and Wall St. The parade route is down Wall St. to Locust Ave., ending at Franklin Park Lake on Locust Ave.

In addition to the Royales, a 70-man drum and bugle corps, and a precision drill team from the Ft. Monmouth Signal School, the parade boasts representative marching units from local civic organizations and borough officials.

Starting at 7 p.m. at the park sack races, two-legged races and egg-catching contests will be held for young and old, with prizes being awarded.

The Chamber of Commerce has donated free balloons for youngsters and also will conduct a watermelon eating contest. Refreshments will be sold by the Sports Association (Little League), Oceanport Sharks (Pop Warner Football) and the Community Center.

Following the games, the Tune Toppers, under the direction of Jake Mazzaroppi, will provide three hours of listening music featuring old fashioned tunes and sing-a-longs.

Fireworks, some of which were designed by Dr. Fred Gangemi of Newark, pyrotechnic enthusiast, will be shot off at dusk.

The commission encourages those attending to bring lawn chairs and blankets.

In addition, they invite any local civic organization to participate in the parade or to enter any type of float. Anyone desiring information may call Mr. Ronan.

100 Share in Opening Of Operation Suburbia

RED BANK — More than 100 adults and children from black city families and white suburban families picnicked in Bodman Park, Middletown, last Saturday, and launched the second year of "Operation Suburbia" in the Red Bank area.

The project, co-sponsored by the Red Bank and Newark chapters of the Revitalization Corps, brings black children from Newark to vacation with families in the Red Bank area. The picnic was a chance for the families to become acquainted.

The co-chairmen for the local Operation Suburbia are Mrs. Frederick Pohl, Middletown, and Mrs. Richard Hatch, Colts Neck, who have spent the past few weeks matching up families and arranging the picnic. Co-chairmen for the Newark group are Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Broome St. and Mrs. Dorothy Cook, Mercer St., who held a rummage sale and dinner to raise the $90 needed for transportation from Newark to Red Bank.

The Revitalization Corps is a national private citizens organization designed "to educate suburban families and to break down the walls of racial polarization on a grass roots level." The Greater Red Bank Area chapter, completely volunteer-staffed, was formed last May. The Newark branch was formed last summer.

Walking Rare Blood Bank For Area Is Organizing

LITTLE SILVER — A meeting has been scheduled for July 14 in the firehouse to set up a "Walking Rare Blood Bank" for residents of the Little-Silver-Rumson-Red Bank area.

Bernard Wallach of Holmdel will talk about a similar established effort in the Holmdel-Matawan-Haxlet area.

George B. West, 365 Prospect Ave., will organize, maintain and publish the listing in this area. He may be contacted by persons interested in the program.

Check Parking Ban Legality

SEA BRIGHT — Municipal Court Judge Edward Stokes last night postponed a hearing on five parking violation charges until July 16, pending certification from the state highway commissioner, needed to establish whether "no parking" signs on Ocean Ave., here, were legally posted.

Charged with the parking violations are Jerome Gorlin, Rumson; Dennis Bliss and Lorraine Robinson, both of Red Bank; and Harold Sherman and Virginia Christianson, both of New Shrewsbury.

Gary R. Scapano of Spotswood was fined a total of $30 on two charges: having no registration in his possession and speeding 59 miles per hour in a 45 m.p.h. zone.

Five Drivers Fined in Ocean

OCEAN TOWNSHIP — Five persons were fined in Municipal Court yesterday by Judge Vincent J. Agresti.

Edward H. Jones, Madison Ave., Eatontown, and Peter T. Orsi, South Orange, were each fined $10 on careless driving charges.

Rex's Diner Moves to Red Bank

A good example is the new Rex Diner, which opened here at 117 West Front St. The Rex, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Angelo, was moved from its former location on Rt. 35 in Keyport.

And moved is exactly what Mr. and Mrs. Angelo mean. A modern diner still features the mobility characteristic of its predecessors.

Only the dining room, which is done in subdued Early American atmosphere (in contrast to the stainless steel, tile, marble, and vinyl upholstered aspect of the diner proper) plus an extension of the kitchen were constructed at the site.

Fit for King

The Rex moved, keeping its former name (which could be taken as a place where the food is fit for a king), without any hitches, but, Mrs. Angelo commented, "I don't think we could ever go through it again."

And why Red Bank, rather than some other shore location? Mrs. Angelo said they had tried to find a location in a growing community and they felt that Red Bank offered an encouraging locale for a growing business.

"And it seemed a good time for Red Bank to accept a new restaurant," she added.

Back in Keyport, a brand new restaurant is taking shape in the Rex's old location on Rt. 35. Here the new Town and Country Inn will have two brand new portable diner sections and will feature a slightly more formal atmosphere throughout, said Mrs. Angelo.

Native of Greece

She added that the new operation will be opened in approximately a month.

The Angelos, who have operated the Rex in Keyport about six years, are natives of Greece, although they are now naturalized American citizens.

Mrs. Angelo said their two children, boys aged 6 and 2, are in Greece visiting their grandparents, leaving their parents additional time to devote to their new restaurants.

Friday, July 4

Present—For You and Yours . . . Outlook excellent for a sociable, safe, sane holiday. Cares are forgotten as old friends and distant relatives get together for a carefree day of fun. Romance is a big factor on the day's agenda and new friendships are apt to be of a permanent nature. A word of caution for the day: Take care around water.

The Day Under Your Sign

Taurus. April 20 to May 20
Keep family discussions on an unemotional level and try to reach mutually fair understanding.

Gemini. May 21 to June 21

Cancer. June 22 to July 21

Leo. July 22 to Aug. 21
Choose your own area of activity. Success is indicated in any endeavor—hobby, social life, etc.

Virgo. Aug. 22 to Sept. 22

Libra. Sept. 23 to Oct. 22
Good friends and good food are on the schedule. Forget cares and enjoy life.

Scorpio. Oct. 23 to Nov. 21
Impersonal attitude is your best bet. At any rate, try not to get emotionally involved.

Sagittarius. Nov. 22 to Dec. 21
Outing with the family will prove fun and you can certainly use a little relaxation from tension.

Capricorn. Dec. 22 to Jan. 20

Aquarius. Jan. 21 to Feb. 19
Spend some time alone. Meditation will give you a chance to face weekend refreshed.

Pisces. Feb. 20 to March 20
If entertaining, keep groups small in number. Invite people who have common interests.

Bridge Advice

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The most satisfying way to use an ace is to capture an opponent's king with it. You're almost equally happy if you get an opponent's queen or ace. But if you get nothing but small cards for your ace, you have the feeling that your pocket has been picked. In today's hand East refused to let his pocket be picked, but declarer stole time to make his contract anyway.

West opened the six of hearts, East put up the king, and South won with the ace. Terence Reese, played the South hand in an English tournament, saw that he might lose a diamond trick if he tried to develop that suit. Then the opponents would knock out the queen of hearts, and he would have only two spades, two hearts and four diamonds.

South thought of leading a low club at the second trick but felt sure that East had the ace of clubs for his take-out double. East would capture the king of clubs with the ace and would return a heart. Now the contract would depend on winning three club tricks, and the odds were almost 2 to 1 against such good luck as a 3-3 break of the six missing clubs.

Reese solved his problem by getting to dummy with a spade and leading dummy's low club. This put poor East on the horns of a dilemma.

If East put up the ace of clubs, South would play low. Then he could surely win the three club tricks he needed for his contract.

Unwilling to accept nothing for his ace, East played a low club. Reese therefore won the trick with the jack of clubs. Now he had time to go after the diamonds. West got the queen of diamonds and knocked out the queen of hearts, but declarer had four diamonds, two spades, two hearts and the all-important club trick that he had managed to steal.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S— Q 9 8 7 H— K 8 3 2 D— 3 C— A 10 9 5. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart. When you have a choice of four-card suits for your response, bid the cheapest suit. One heart is a cheaper bid than one spade, so you bid the hearts. This is sometimes called "bidding up the line."

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q — I am a 72-year-old widow in need of additional income. I get a small railroad pension, have a bank account and own some stock that pays a pretty good dividend. Western Pacific has been recommended for its good dividend. But I notice that it has a very poor rating and railroads seem to be a thing of the past. Please give me your opinion.—A.J.

A — I would not be too ready to "ring the bell" on the railroad industry. Last year freight traffic and revenues reached all-time high levels. Much of the gain was attributable to new concepts such as piggy-back and unit-train service. Rate increases, mergers, diversification efforts and possible government subsidy of passenger service combine to give the industry a relatively optimistic long-term outlook.

Rather than Western Pacific, which reported sharply lower first-quarter earnings, A-rated Norfolk & Western would be my choice. Shares yield about 6.4 on a well-covered dividend. The company's competitive base was strengthened when, through its subsidiary Dereco, control was gained of Erie - Lackawanna and Delaware - Hudson. Consummation of the merger with Chesapeake & Ohio — pending ICC approval — would greatly improve earnings base. Norfolk's real-estate development program could also provide an additional boost to future earnings. Shares are an attractive buy.

Q — I have about $2,500 which I would like to invest in a lower-priced, listed, speculative issue. I can afford the risk.—J.S.

A — Telex Corp., on the American Exchange, seems to fit this description. The company manufactures audio equipment, communication products, hearing aids, and digital tape drives. In professional tape recorders and digital tape drives. In 1967 a line of replacement drives for use on IBM systems was introduced and has since added substantially to profits. A marketing agreement with Information Storage Systems to distribute the latter's IBM-compatible disc-pack drives is expected to provide a good boost to earnings by 1971. Backlog on March 31 was up 14 per cent year-to-year to $18.3 million. About one-fifth of the shares are held by 17 institutions.

Stock Market Records 3rd Straight Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — "There's a few smiles around Wall Street for a change," an analyst said yesterday as the stock market's rally steamed ahead to give it its third straight winning session.

"The action this week has been better than a lot of people expected," he added, "and we may have a good summer rally building up here."

The advance got under way Monday, after weeks of decline, and in its first two sessions this week the Dow Jones industrial average, which had been falling steadily since reaching its 1969 high of 968.85 May 14, gained a total of 6.14. It picked up 4.79 more in yesterday's session to close at 880.69.

Strong Early Lead

Gains jumped into a strong early lead over losses and expanded their advantage as trading progressed. Of 1,562 issues traded, 907 advanced and 422 declined. There were 16 new highs for the year and 95 new lows.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was the best of the week as 11.35 million shares changed hands, compared with 9.90 million Tuesday and 8.64 million Monday.

There were 56 blocks of 10,000 shares or more traded on the New York Stock Exchange, compared with 49 Tuesday.

Brokers said the volume expansion and increase in big blocks "indicates the institutions with their big reserves of cash are starting to get back in somewhat and that both they and individual investors are starting to get a bit more confident. But there's still a fair amount of caution."

The Associated Press 60-stock average gained 1.1 to 313.2, with industrials up 1.9, rails up .3, and utilities up .7.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .86 to 98.94.

The market's advance has been regarded as mostly technical in nature, resulting from its recent steep decline.

"The market was bound to come back, at least somewhat, after the steep drop it had for a month and a half," an analyst said.

He noted that the prices of many issues had dropped to such a degree that they were attractive to bargain hunters.

Prices generally were higher on the American Stock Exchange, with the Amex index gaining 25 cents to $28.35.

Volume was 4.79 million shares, compared with 4.32 million Tuesday.

Kingsford Co., most-active, was off 1⅝ at 11¾. British Petroleum, second most-active, lost ⅛ to 20.

Scurry-Rainbow Oil gained 1.

EAC's Quarterly Income $159,000

RED BANK — Sales of $5,573,000, and net income of $159,000, or eight cents a share, were reported by Electronic Assistance Corporation for the three months ended April 30.

Sales for the first quarter a year ago, restated for poolings of interest, amounted to $5,416,000, and income was $229,000, or 13 cents a share.

James R. Reardon, EAC vice president-finance, said sales volume for the quarter was affected by delay in shipment of certain product lines. He added that earnings continued to reflect the cost of integrating and expanding the operations of some of the company's new subsidiary firms.

Mr. Reardon stressed that the problems have been receiving priority attention, and disclosed that progress is being made in improving the earnings return.

An independent investment banking firm, Dominick & Dominick of New York, has been retained to make a study of the stockholder benefits which may be gained from a proposed merger of Einson Freeman and De Troy Corporation into Electronic Assistance Corporation. Einson Freeman purchased 150,000 shares of EAC common stock in a private sale from Robert Edwards, former EAC president and now company chairman.

Einson Freeman is one of the country's older suppliers of high quality products for the graphic arts industries.

Lawn Mowing Needs

FREEHOLD — The lawn mowing season is never satisfactory or trouble free unless a safe, qualified operator is running the machine.

No adults or teen-age boys should be allowed to operate a power mower until they are familiar with the safety rules.

Donald M. Mohr, senior agricultural agent, recommends that you follow these safety rules:

2—Keep hands, feet and loose clothing away from the moving parts of the machine and wear good, sound shoes.

3—Have all spectators leave the immediate area. Small stones and other objects may leave the discharge shoot of a rotary mower at speeds of up to 180 mph.

4—Shut the power unit off whenever the mower is unattended, even for a few minutes.

5—Maintain control of the mower at all times. If it is a self-propelled mower, don't let it pull you.

6—Cut sideways on a slope — not up and down so that the machine doesn't run away with you.

7—Know how to stop the machine! All adults in the family, plus the operator, should know this important procedure. If it is self-propelled, know how to disengage the clutch.

Hawaii Offers A Fine Setting

NEW YORK (AP) — Moving a variety show off those familiar studio stages into the outdoors is a hard way to create an hour of entertainment. It's hard to get the sound right, it's difficult to dance on uneven ground and breezes keep mussing up hairdos.

LOWRY

But when the background includes some of the beautiful and dramatic spots of the nation's 50th state, it is worth the effort and no viewer minds an occasional rough spot.

NBC's "Music Hall," in the first of a quintet of summer shows starring Don Ho, showed him in his native Hawaiian environment. Ho, a gentle-mannered, relaxed man with a smooth singing voice, headed up a handsome and comfortable sort of show. He sang a number of mainland standards; strolled singing along the ocean's edge with guest star Carol Lawrence; read — rumbling a bit — the straight lines to set up a Bill Dana comedy interlude.

Even without the imported Miss Lawrence and Dana, the hour had a lot of charm. Ho surrounded himself with smiling, singing children, one of them is his own son who helped his father move into a commercial break.

Ho's programs will be mixed among a dozen taped in London.

There is a valid reason: to comply with union rules, most persons connected with the production of taped variety shows must be paid as much for a repeat show as for the original production. Thus, it usually costs more to turn out a modestly-budgeted new program than to repeat an old one.

Hawaii, with its lush tropical background and sparkling ocean, seems to be a natural for television production. CBS has been making its action series, "Hawaii Five-O" there for the past season and has resumed production for next. Although the series is standard cops-and-robbers stuff with plots that could be acted out against a New York, Chicago or Los Angeles background, the location shooting in Hawaii has given it special visual authenticity.

"Hawaii Five-O" has run into a situation that might hamstring its production. The problem lies in a request for a zoning variance to permit establishing a needed new studio. If it is not granted, production, cast and all may be moved back to Hollywood. If that happens, Hawaii would lose its only TV series production and the show would lose its character. Hollywood studios can simulate almost anything, but somehow those backlot sets with their fake landscaping never are quite convincing.

Songstress Dionne Warwick To Perform at Asbury Park

ASBURY PARK — Songstress Dionne Warwick heads a star package, with orchestra, into Convention Hall on Saturday to open Moe Septee's "Summer of Stars" lineup at Asbury Park's seaside showcase. Her two shows begin at 7:30 and 10 p.m.

A few years ago the name of Dionne Warwick was unknown to the public. Then came her recording of "Don't Make Me Over" and she became recognized as a gifted artist.

Dionne has studied music since age 6, coming from a family of Gospel singers. She did a great deal of singing in choirs, in school in East Orange and at the Hart College of Music in Hartford, Conn. She became an accomplished singer and pianist by playing and singing in church every Sunday.

In New York's recording studios, she sang in background choruses. Her unique song styling attracted two song writers and record producers, Burt Bucharach and Hal David, who brought her to the attention of Scepter Records. "Don't Make Me Over" followed.

Marlene Dietrich and Petula Clark have her "Anyone Who Had a Heart" in their repertoires. Miss Dietrich was so impressed with Dionne's recording that she personally introduced her at the Olympia Theater in Paris in December 1963. She received critical acclaim and was warmly welcomed by Parisian audiences.

"Anyone Who Had a Heart" was followed by "Walk On By" which became a top five record. Miss Warwick starred in the 1964 Cannes Television and Film Festival, shown throughout the continent on Eurovision. She appeared on major television shows in Great Britain where her recording of "Walk On By" reached the select top ten.

In 1964, Dionne embarked on a four-month personal appearance tour of the continent of Europe covering every major country this side of the Iron Curtain. The trip included a return to the Olympia Theater in Paris, as co-star of the show, and also a guest-star appearance on the "Sunday at the Palladium" television show in London.

The National Association of Record Merchandisers voted Dionne the "most popular Female Vocalist of 1964." The next year, she made three appearances on NBC's network show, "Hullabaloo," and that spring played a two-week engagement in London's posh Savoy Hotel. She has been returning there on a regular basis since then.

In 1966, Miss Warwick's popularity grew through personal appearances, television exposure and consistent hit recordings and albums. She appeared three additional times on "Hullabaloo," plus the Dupont Show of The Month, The Tonight Show, The Danny Kaye Show, The Red Skelton Show, The Garry Moore Show, and the Grand Gala du Disque in Amsterdam, which was shown throughout Europe on Eurovision. Her concert in Lincoln Center's Philharmonic Hall in New York was a sellout.

Dionne has been playing in more than 100 college concerts each year. She also has been featured at the Copacabana in New York, the Fairmount Hotel in San Francisco, the Century Plaza Hotel in Los Angeles, and on TV's Kraft Music Hall, Red Skelton, Ed Sullivan and Carol Burnett shows.

A Satirical Look At Christian Saints

Ecumenical as all get out, he devotes the first part of the book to spoofing the saints (many of them obscure) of the Roman Catholic Church, and the second part to a series of acid portraits of "Stalwart Christians" on the Protestant side. (His background is Protestant—long a Methodist minister, recently he became a Congregationalist minister.)

In his section on the saint he uses short paragraphs to summarize each saint's credentials, and then draws a few snappily stated moral lessons in terms of today's status symbols.

There is even more kick in the second section, which contains essays on Protestant stalwarts, beginning with Luther and Calvin. There is a really hilarious chapter on Henry VIII—telling it like it was—and another on the origins of the King James Bible. Among his other targets is Kierkegaard, whom he tears apart.

As a humorist he splashes around in the common argot, some of it a bit dated, and some of it current. He has a lot of fun with the device of adding footnotes containing smart cracks.

The author's attitude is that organized religion is full of pomposities and absurdities, and he attacks them with scorn and ridicule. His writing carries a lot of sting.

Miles A. Smith

A former faculty member of the noted drama school, Burr also delivered the commencement address to the 1969 graduation class during ceremonies in the Playhouse patio.

Burr has been an active member of the Pasadena Playhouse Alumni and Associates since his first association with the school in the early 1940s.

"Ironside" returns to the NBC Television Network for its third season in September.

TOO MUCH

LONDON (AP) — Film star Joan Collins has refused to wear a swim suit that becomes see-through when wet in her latest movie "The Executioner."

"I'm no prude," she said, "but the suit practically disappears when it's wet. I honestly think the love scenes are hot enough without this costume."

Joan co-stars with George Peppard in the movie, now on location in London. The love scenes will be shot on an Athens beach during the summer.

Genevieve and Generation Gap

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — One day a year and a half ago a high-spirited 18-year-old who had heard that all the action was in London packed an extra T-shirt and left home.

While Genevieve Weight sought fame as an actress, her parents 6,000 miles away were frantic with worry over the still very young girl fending for herself in a big, sometimes very bad, world.

In this respect the story of Genevieve and the generation gap is typical of thousands of such breeches among families the world over.

"My mother and I had some terrible rows," The bewildered, string - haired blonde with blue crescents under her eyes and a tattoo on one wrist pondered over life as it was not so very long ago.

"I have been thoroughly slapped and I've called her all the conventional names, and I have run away."

Very Scary

"It was all very scary."

Her last name changed to Waite, Genevieve was now in a posh restaurant in this town. If she had not been covered by a crumpled gold velvet dress and a tangle of gold chains, the sad-eyed innocent would have been recognized immediately as the girl in nothing but a necktie seen on posters advertising her first movie, "Joanna."

And even as a star, life is still very scary. Not because her dreams have not come true, but because they have — with such fantastic speed, that she can hardly comprehend it.

"They're holding their thumbs for the picture's success," she told her audience in that same wondrous, airy voice that so candidly and accommodatingly spells out her views on everything.

Python Coat

Now that she was a star she would like to have an ankle-length python coat, buy a really groovy surf-boat for her 16-year-old brother Warwick, and a house in the south of France for herself.

"Yes, and I'd like to marry Matthew," she added. Matthew is a Brooklyn-born poet who introduced himself to her in a London restaurant and whose romance has survived the strain thus far of, as he calls it, "the system of accidents" which made her a star.

(And three days after this interview she did become Mrs. Matthew Reisch in a civil ceremony performed by Judge Nat Sobel.)

The system started in Johannesburg where Genevieve won a contest as South Africa's Twiggy despite a body somewhat more voluptuous than the English version. Happily, she was turned down at the Royal Academy of Art, a turn of fate she considers lucky — "Otherwise, would I be here?"

Chose Her Play

At a party hair stylist Vidal Sassoon asked her to model, which in turn led her to Producer Michael S. Laughlin and director Michael Sarne who chose her to play, "Joanna."

Meanwhile, Genevieve's proud family defend her and worry about her. Having played romantically opposite a Negro, the youngster has been banned from her homeland. Her parents are annoyed by crank calls in this apartheid land.

"My mother gives them what for," says Genevieve with vehemence. "She is very liberal. She's a friend of Helen Sussman."

Genevieve stops to order lamb chops medium and please.

"Generation gap? There is none with us. I tell them exactly what I've done and they understand." But in the rush of words that follow it is evident that there was one, one which introspective and Freud-wise teen-ager has obviously analyzed and considered normal.

"My father looked like Clark Gable and I guess I tried to alienate him from her . . . All girls are like that. But, of course, I lost the battle.

"You suffer a great deal. Parents give you love and affection and you give it back and then it all stops. Kids feel they can't turn to their parents and so many get hurt. I have run away and it is very scary. And very expensive. You don't want to take from your parents when you are only going to leave home and give them a hard time."

FONDUE IS HER FORTE — Mrs. Bonnie Parisi, owner of Nice Nellie's Inc., Ocean and Seaview Aves., North Long Branch, explains the newest twist in dining out at the shore: cooking your own Swiss fondue. The recently opened restaurant specializes in both beef and seafood fondues, cooked at the table by the customers themselves. As an extra bonus, she has decorated the newly renovated structure with an assortment of fascinating antiques chosen from The Tinker's Dam, a Fair Haven antique shop which she also owns.

Rowan's Life Is No Laugh-in' Matter

HOLMDEL — Millions of people have become addicted to the satire-slapstick antics of Rowan & Martin, who will be appearing all next week (July 7-12) at the Garden State Arts Center.

Their "Laugh-In" weekly show is one of the top television programs of the season. Little does this vast coast-to-coast audience know, however, that for one of Laugh-In's co-stars, life itself is hardly a laughing matter.

Visit him in his studio dressing room and a small emblem around the wrist of Dan Rowan indicates that this handsome, healthy-looking man has a serious medical problem that in emergencies must be immediately recognizable by attending nurses and physicians.

It's diabetes.

By following a rigid health routine he is able to lead a relatively normal life. But like 300,000 other people, Dan wears a Medic Alert emblem as added protection. Membership in this unique organization, which has its headquarters in Turlock, Calif., provides instant recognition, by way of a bracelet or emblem, of the special health problem of an individual for those who have no prior knowledge of his medical case history.

Nearly Lost Life

Medic Alert was started by Dr. Marion C. Collins after his daughter, Linda, later to twice win the San Francisco women's amateur golf championship, nearly lost her life after receiving a test injection of tetanus antitoxin to which she was allergic.

While membership is a confidential matter, a number of celebrities have acknowledged that they are Medic Alert emblem wearers.

In addition to Dan Rowan, other celebrity members include Joan Fontaine and Peter Nero, as well as a number of prominent athletes.

Rowan lives with the fact that there is always that possibility of an unexpected diabetic seizure. He could, for example, be unavoidably separated from his strictly scheduled insulin shots. Or, as in his special case, even a miscalculated extra round of golf could bring on a dangerous diabetic reaction.

Prevents Error

In strange and unknown surroundings, without the life-saving information contained on his emblem, Dan, like millions of other diabetics, stands the chance of being mistaken for drunk in the event of an unexpected attack, and thus denied the proper medical treatment.

But life for this diabetic, who must live in the hectic world of television with its crazy schedules of rehearsals, tapings and personal appearances, can and does go on.

Dan is the type of diabetic who cannot keep his condition under control with simple diets and pills like many other sufferers of this disease. He needs both the diet and two kinds of insulin every morning. And when you see him taking a sip of amber-hued liquid during the course of a Laugh-In show, he isn't pulling a Dean Martin trick. A bit of shakiness or dizziness has provided an inner-clue that his "sugar" is burning out. A glass of soda pop stands by to put him on an even keel again.

"Bugs," he calls it. "But you've got to get used to them."

It Bugs Him

It "bugs" Dan to know that so many people are walking around with less "Laugh-In" time simply because they ignore, or are unaware of the fact that a very simple test can indicate a diabetic condition.

"You don't have to go to a doctor to find out if you have the disease," he says. "Any drug store has a roll of tape big enough to test your whole family eight times a year, for like pennies."

Like perfecting the split-second timing of a Laugh-In performance, Dan has, with the assistance of his wife Adriana, scheduled his life to the routines and rigid timing the life of a diabetic requires.

He keeps a close watch on his weight, relying upon Adriana's closely calculated 1,800-calories-a-day meals. He religiously follows a procedure that calls for an intricately-arrived-at shot of two kinds of insulin every morning, and he watches closely for any signs of fatigue that say, "take a rest break," or "grab candy bar," for that energy-packed shot of sugar.

While it's not all happiness — "I'd be just as happy without it," — Dan accepts his condition and adopts his already active life to the requirements of one suffering from diabetes. Placing reliance upon medical science, his own inner-disciplines, and a simple Medic Alert emblem for added assurance, this Laugh-In star is conducting a personal "Live-In" that shows for others that life doesn't end up on a shelf simply because one suffers from diabetes.

Old-Fashioned Fourth Scheduled at Allaire

ALLAIRE — The Deserted Village at Allaire State Park plans a real old-fashioned Independence Day celebration for the Fourth of July.

The firing of an old Civil War cannon every hour beginning at 10 a.m., plus music, dancing and games for the children at 2 p.m. will provide the holiday entertainment. Sack, three-legged, spoon and wheelbarrow races will entertain children of all ages, much as their grandparents played at Fourth of July celebrations 50 years ago.

For families who want to make it a day long outing, the Deserted Village suggests a picnic lunch on the Village Green. Snacks will also be available at the Village Inn.

Other summer events scheduled at the Deserted Village include the second annual kite contest, July 12; the year's second flea market, Aug. 23, and non-denominational worship services every Sunday at 9 a.m. in the Allaire Village Church, according to K. H. Creveling, executive director of the Deserted Village.

Second Season For Golddiggers

"Dean Martin Presents the Golddiggers" kicks off its second summer season — Gail Martin, Paul Lynde and Lou Rawls headline this year's edition — on the NBC Television Network Thursday, July 17 (in color, 10-11 p.m. NYT).

Comedian Stanley Myron Handelman and the 12 pretty Golddiggers will also be featured on each show. Other talent will also perform on the program.

Lynde (a special guest on every show), Handelman, and the Golddiggers will be making their second appearance as regulars on the Summer show, since all were in last Summer's version. Miss Martin starred on the Dean Martin Summer replacement show in 1967. Rawls will be marking his first sojourn as a series star.

NBC Cited

The National Broadcasting Company has received a U.S. Department of Labor Certificate of Merit for its "generous support for Stay-in-School Campaigns during the past two years."

In a letter accompanying the Certificate, George P. Schultz, U.S. Secretary of Labor, says that NBC "helped immeasurably in our effort to convince young Americans of the necessity to get at least a high school diploma."

Bob Hope Set For TV Special

A new production of "Roberta," considered one of the all-time great musical comedies and the vehicle which brought stardom to Bob Hope, will be presented as one of nine "Chrysler Presents The Bob Hope Special" colorcasts on the NBC Television Network during the 1969-70 season.

"Roberta," with music by Jerome Kern and book and lyrics by Otto Harbach, will be taped Oct. 1-8 at the Bob Hope Theatre at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

The Bob Hope Theatre, a gift of the NBC-TV comedy star at a cost of nearly a million dollars, was dedicated in November, 1968, to the memory of the late Texas showman, Robert J. O'Donnell.

"Roberta" opened on Broadway originally in November, 1933, with Bob Hope in the role of Huckleberry Haines. The musical, starring Tamara, Lyda Roberti, Ray Middleton and Sidney Greenstreet, ran for 255 performances.

Underprivileged Youth at Center

HOLMDEL — As many as 65,000 disadvantaged New Jersey young people will come to the Garden State Arts Center here in July and August to enjoy cultural events in a program jointly sponsored by the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development and the Garden Arts Center.

Four thousand at a time, youths will be transported by bus to the center for special performances. One was for Glen Campbell last Tuesday. Others include a performance of the Broadway musical, "Fiddler on the Roof" and a combined performance by Liberace and a steel band.

Major performers will donate their time. Other costs will be underwritten by the center and transportation of the youths will be paid for by the department.

Transporting the youths to the center is part of a larger summer-long program in which as many as 350,000 disadvantaged youths from all parts of the state will be transported by bus to state parks, historic attractions, cultural events and athletic events.

The transportation, financed through grants by the department, will be arranged through local agencies which will select youths and provide supervision for each trip.

Agencies participating include municipal recreation agencies, church youth groups, boys' clubs and other community action groups.

Robert A. Roe, commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development, said state parks and other agencies within his department will open facilities to the youth groups, waiving usual park fees.

The cultural performing arts program is a joint effort cooperatively arranged by D. Louis Tonti, executive director of the Garden State Parkway, and Commissioner Roe.

Besides the three performances scheduled, as many as 13 additional performances will be arranged.

JUDY GARLAND

Legend Remembered

JUDY: THE FILMS AND CAREER OF JUDY GARLAND. By Joe Morella and Edward Epstein. Citadel Press. $8.95.

Judy Garland was a living legend. This book, meant as a record of that legend—of her triumphs and tragedies — has now become the complete story of her life.

Her death at age 47 will surely bring a flurry of "biographies," detailing the quest for home and family of the real-life Dorothy of Oz.

Judy Garland

This book, published before her death and written with an unstated hope that Judy would once again "come back," now has a special and sad significance of a hope unfilled.

Its authors plan to add one final page to the book, noting simply that Judy Garland died in London June 22, 1969.

Almost everyone liked Judy Garland—one of the most popular entertainers of this century and one of the most sensational news items in the sensational world of show business. But even her detractors would likely concede that she had tremendous talent.

Without encouraging it (in fact her behavior often seemed to discourage it) she became the darling of an enormous following, indeed of a cult.

This book, by two of her fans, is not really a biography, but rather a record of her film, television, recording and concert career. The authors make no attempt to analyze, to explain or to defend her.

Love and Life In Today's China

THE THREE DAUGHTERS OF MADAME LIANG. By Pearl Buck. John Day. $6.95.

Miss Buck's novel, a fictional look at what happens to human beings in today's China, gets the message across by telling the story of an older woman, her three daughters and the men with whom they fall in love.

As the narrative opens, Madame Liang — a revolutionary herself in the days of Sun Yat-sen — is operating a plush restaurant in Shanghai, and fears what may happen under the Communists. Her daughters are in the United States, where she had sent them to be educated, and she tries to get word to them to stay there.

First the Chinese order the eldest daughter, Grace, an accomplished pharmacologist, to return to her native land. Not realizing how the Communists operate, she obeys. Eventually, she falls in love with a Chinese surgeon who is dedicated to the Communist ideology. The second daughter, Mercy, a singer, marries a young Chinese who has been studying nuclear physics in the United States. They return voluntarily to China, but the husband is drawn, against his will, into working on military projects. The youngest, Joy, an artist, remains in the United States. She marries a famous Chinese artist who is in self-imposed exile.

The story is about the family, against the backdrop of war, revolution, the Great Leap Forward and finally — as the plot reaches its climax —the Cultural Revolution.

Some of the dialogue, particularly that of Madame Liang, is didactic, and the reader becomes conscious of the fact he is being given a message. But it is an interesting message that the story carries.

Miles A. Smith

Our car the movie star.

You are looking at the romantic lead of a big new Hollywood picture.

Why not?

Signing one up for a lifetime costs less than they have to pay other movie stars in a single day.

Once signed up, the bug won't suddenly start making crazy demands. (A gallon of gas for every 27 miles or so is all.)

No studio could ask for a less temperamental star. (It'll work any time, anywhere and in any weather.)

Or one with fewer bad habits. (It doesn't even drink water.)

Or one that ages so gracefully.
