

College Club Sets Book Sale Opening

Mrs. Carle W. Highberg, president of the College Club, has announced October 10 as opening date for the club's annual book sale. The sale will start on Friday, October 10, at 3:30 PM for children's books only, continuing for the next two weeks when all other books will be offered for sale.

Mrs. Richard E. Peck and Mrs. John H. K. Shannahan, currently in charge of pricing and sorting, request last minute donations now to allow time to get them on the shelves for the sale. If residents have been away this summer they may now deposit them at sale headquarters at 10A Aubrey Street on Monday through Friday, 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. or at local banks.

Anyone in Summit wishing to donate a large number of books should call Mrs. Arna Englund at 277-6083, in New Providence, Mrs. Raymond Ellison at 464-1699, in Short Hills, Mrs. Walter Olson at 379-7886, and in Chatham, Mrs. Richard Hirst at 635-9246. Pickup chairmen would appreciate cartoning of books and some advance notice whenever possible.

Beekman Road Residents Rap Plans for Apartment

A contingent of Beekman road residents Monday night denounced a proposal to construct a high rise apartment building on a nearby Springfield avenue tract which, to their consternation, is currently zoned to multi-family and high rise apartment structures.

Ralph J. Pocaro, Springfield avenue and the Summit Executive House, Inc., owners of the property upon which the tower apartment is planned, asked the Board of Adjustment to allow a 36-unit complex, instead of a 32-unit building.

The number of units is determined by the size of the tract. In this case, under the one-unit per 2,000 square foot zoning requirement, only 32 units are allowed on the 64,357 square feet of property.

Pocaro said 36 units were needed to make the construction venture financially feasible. He cited the topographical conditions as reasons for increased investment costs.

He noted that the current condition of the mortgage market called for a 36-unit apartment at this site in order to strengthen its profitability posture.

Nearby residents, however, argued that a high rise apartment house would be detrimental to the residential

Poll Of Women Shows 40 Percent Are Unemployed

A recent survey conducted in the Morris County and Suburban Essex County areas which includes Summit, shows that 40 percent of the women interviewed are not employed at the present time.

Miss Jean Guerriero, manager of the Western Girl office in Morristown conducted the survey and interviewed in Summit during August. Western Girl is a temporary help service which also offers permanent positions.

The poll was taken to determine that length and type of employment of the average local female. More than 1,000 were interviewed in the area, with the average age of the women 38.

The results reveal that one percent of the women has never worked and five percent have worked for one year only.

Of those interviewed, 16 Neighbors Exchange Presidencies of WE

Harry G. Melhouse, 251 Oak Ridge avenue, has been elected president of Western Electric Co., it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Melhouse will replace his neighbor, Paul A. Gorman, 225 Oak Ridge avenue, who will retire as president December 1 after 40 years of service with the company. Mr. Gorman has been president of Western Electric since 1964.

percent have worked for three years; 20 percent for five years; 20 percent for 10 years; 11 percent for 15 years, and 10 percent for 20 years. The remaining have been employed for more than 25 years.

More than 70 percent of the women have had office experience, according to the survey. Ten percent were or were teachers and five percent nurses. Five percent are or were sales girls; three percent factory workers and one percent domestic help. The remainder are in other type of work, but not enough in any one group to arrive at a percentage.

Miss Guerriero found that most women, after their children are grown, want to do something with their time rather than spend it all in the home.

Even though the women want to work, some husbands, especially those in high corporation jobs, prefer that their wives not take salaried jobs.

Twenty percent of the women who participated in the survey said they would like to get back into the business world.

"Some women go into volunteer work, where their skills are still put to use," Miss Guerriero concluded in her report of the results of the poll.

City GOP Kicks Off '69 Drive

A meeting of the Republican City Committee last Saturday morning at the Villa Restaurant to kickoff the 1969 election campaign, was highlighted by an informal "state of the city" message by Common Council President Elmer J. Bennett.

Mr. Bennett, who is Republican candidate for Mayor and is unopposed, called upon members of the City Committee to help deliver what he termed a "whopping majority" for all GOP candidates in the forthcoming election.

In his remarks before the committee, Mr. Bennett touched on several subjects including the current reassessment of local real estate, the proposed land swap between the Board of Education and Ford Motor Co., the municipal swimming pool, parking and requests for open conference meetings. At the same time, he also scotched a rumor that Woodland avenue was scheduled to be widened. "I don't know where that rumor came from, but it's completely untrue. We have no plans for the widening of Woodland avenue," he said.

Registry Request Is Denied

Jonathan Plaut, Democratic Common Council candidate from Ward 2, this week expressed "deep disappointment that the Summit city government had decided not to allow voter registration on two successive Saturdays away from City Hall."

His comments followed receipt of a letter from City Clerk Harry C. Kates saying there would be no change in the publicly advertised hours and place of registration.

According to Mr. Plaut, "Procedures which call for such registration could be implemented, but Summit has decided not to use them."

"The publicity this newspaper has given to the numbers of unregistered voters existing in Summit should be reason enough for attacking in our town, with the specific registration proposed, a weakness in our democratic system found throughout the state - that is, large numbers of unregistered voters."

"As reported, a volunteer group working with the local

Qualified voters may register daily at City Hall, 512 Springfield avenue from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., except Saturdays and Sunday, and on the evenings of September 11 (tonight), 18, 19, 22, 23, 24 and 25 from 4:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. City Hall is the only place within the city where residents may register.

Art Center Seeks Zoning Variance

The Summit Art Center Monday night sought Board of Adjustment approval for construction of larger facilities at 68 Elm street.

The proposed one-story building would be located in an area zoned for single family homes. The Art Center is asking for an exception to the zoning code which would permit an educational institution in the residential zone, as well as a variance for a parking lot which would encroach upon the minimum side yard requirements.

Mrs. James Kellers, 14 Beekman road, the Center's board chairman, told the Board that the Elm street building would contain four studios, one gallery, ample storage rooms and would have 54 parking spaces.

She said the Center's present facilities at 17 Cedar street were cramped for the 650 active members, 380 of whom are registered for various classes.

The Elm street property was selected for the new center because of its central location and nearness to the Junior High School.

DeCorso Bus Co. Seeks to End Service

An application to end its bus service within the Summit Area by mid-October has been filed by the DeCorso Bus Co. of New Providence, it was learned this week.

A hearing on the application as well as a formal request for a subsidy to keep the line running will be held by the Public Utilities Commission on Friday, October 3 at Newark.

A spokesman for the DeCorso Bus Co. said that if a subsidy from the New Jersey State Highway Department is not forthcoming, the line will cease to operate by October 15. Heavy financial losses have been blamed for the move. Except for a morning and evening rush hour, fares during midday are negligible, it was learned. Adding to the

Education Can Be Improved For The Disadvantaged, Lay Committee Says

Recommendations on how to improve education for the disadvantaged in Summit are included in a new report released by the Lay Committee on Education.

The purpose of the study, undertaken by a 12-member sub-committee of the lay group, was to determine the educational needs of the disadvantaged child in the school system and to provide information and recommendations for programs which will enable the educational system to overcome the handicaps of those children.

The disadvantaged youngster, according to the report, is one who has, generally, inadequate communication skills, lack of abstract concepts, low academic achievement and a weak self-image.

The committee determined through interviews that about 350 students are disadvantaged "although a larger number were not being taught effectively by the end of sixth grade. Therefore changes benefiting the disadvantaged minority will also help other students."

The four recommendations for the school system in general are:

A regular system-wide program of inservice teacher training on attitudes and child dynamics planned by teachers and staff.

Voter Concern is Key to Election, Bourne Says

Asked this week to comment on the shape of the forthcoming political campaign in Summit, Robert Bourne, 45 Bellevue avenue, candidate for Common Council from Ward 1, predicted, "Much will depend on the alertness and concern of the voters. This year, for the first time within memory, there are contested elections for Council in both wards in Summit. The people have a golden opportunity to make democracy work," Bourne continued. "They have a choice: they can weigh the experience, abilities and programs of the candidates and select the man better able to represent the people and to cope with Summit's problems."

"Let there be no mistake about this," Bourne asserted, "Summit has problems, lots of them. Those who still think we are living in Nirvana had better withdraw their heads from the sand and pay attention. There are problems in education, in recreation, in housing, in the delivery of city services. One reason for the growth of these problems is that the city has for years been saddled with a self-perpetuating government, Councilmen elected without opposition and who do not feel obliged to respond to the needs of all the people."

"I shall be speaking out on these issues in the weeks to come," Bourne promised, "and I know that the voters will be listening. The final decision will be theirs and I am confident they will choose progress over preservation of the status quo."

"So that as many people as possible can participate in this choice," Bourne concluded, "it is essential that every eligible resident of Summit be registered to vote and that he vote on November 4. Research by my

Four - Car Accidents Injure Two

Two separate four-car accidents injured two persons here last Friday.

Shortly after 2:30 p.m. Walter J. Hessberger, 37, of Dover, injured his left shoulder in an accident at Woodland and DeForest avenues.

Drivers of the other cars were identified as Richard A. Wiegel, 37, West Orange; Elizabeth McColgan, 38, 11 Edgewood drive, and Charlotte Weiss, 51, 9 Blair place.

According to police the mishap occurred when the Hessberger and Wiegel cars were halted for a red light, heading east on DeForest, when the McColgan car, allegedly hit the rear of the Weiss vehicle, causing the Weiss automobile to crash

Preliminary reaction to the proposed land-swap between the Board of Education and Ford Motor Co. is one of opposition, it was learned at Tuesday night's meeting of Common Council.

A total of 11 letters from residents living within the immediate or nearby area voiced opposition to the move on grounds that such a facility would create "an unsightly blight", tend to lower residential values, radically alter the zoning law, and be a source of noise and confusion.

The opposition stems from a proposed land swap which would involve the Board of Education acquiring almost four acres of useable land in exchange for slightly more than 1 1/2 acres of board-owned land most remote from the senior high school building. The parcel of school property involves approximately 69,000 square feet in area with a 340-linear foot frontage on Morris avenue. No cash would be involved in the proposed transaction. The property currently lies in a residential zone.

Letters Received

Letters of opposition to the transaction were received from A. Edward Gschwind, 170 Canoe Brook parkway; Warren H. MacKain, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Montgomery,

Conference Parleys to Stay Shut

A request by Robert Bourne, Democratic candidate for a Ward 1 Council seat, to attend the common council "Conference" meetings between now and election has been denied by Elmer J. Bennett, president.

In a letter released Tuesday night, which appears in full elsewhere in today's Herald, Mr. Bennett explained that "it would not be in the public interest to grant" the request.

However, Mr. Bennett pointed out that in the event Mr. Bourne won the Ward 1 seat in the November election, Council would recognize his status as Councilman elect and would invite him to attend all "conference meetings".

In denying Mr. Bourne's request, the Council president, explained that to invite candidates to conference meetings and not to invite all citizens to all such meetings, both during and after the campaign,

We don't have to start from scratch each year.

We've been making the same basic VW for so long now, you'd think we'd be bored with the whole thing. But the fact is, we're still learning. For no matter how perfect we think one year's model is, there's always an engineer who wants to make it more perfect. You see, at the Volkswagen factory we spend 100% of our time making our car work better and 0% making it look better. Any change is an improvement. And when we do make new parts we try to make them fit older models. So there's nothing to stop a Volkswagen from running forever. (Which may explain why Volkswagens are worth so much at trade-in time.) Starting from scratch each year can get in the way of all that. Just when they've "ironed" out the kinks in the current model, they have to face the kinks in the next. We'll never understand all the hoopla over the "big changes" for next year's models. Weren't they proud of this year's?

Text of Letter From Bennett to Bourne

Robert B. Bourne, Esq.
382 Springfield Avenue

Dear Bob:

As promised in my letter to you of August 21 this year, I have brought to the attention of the entire Council your letter of August 7 requesting permission, as Council candidate in the November election, to attend our "Conference Meetings".

We have concluded, for the following reasons, that it would not be in the public interest to grant your request.

We have heretofore denied requests by interested citizens and representatives of the press to attend our "Conference Meetings." If we were to grant your request to attend during the pending political campaign and if we did not also invite all citizens to attend all of our "Conference Meetings" both during and after the campaign, we would be accused of discrimination.

There apparently is some misunderstanding of the nature of our "Conference Meetings." The primary purpose of these meetings is to receive and consider the reports of the Council Committees and suggestions and recommendations made by individual members of the Council, as well as letters and petitions received from citizens. These meetings are nothing more than informal conferences among the members of the Council, the Mayor, the City Department heads and sometimes representatives of the Boards and other Agencies of the City. Many of the reports, suggestions and recommendations never get past the discussion stage. Some are considered and discussed at several meetings. "Conference Meetings" are held at least four nights a month and frequently there are additional meetings. They seldom adjourn before 11 p.m. and frequently they run much later. Public attendance at these informal meetings would undoubtedly interfere with the free and open exchange of ideas and information, sometimes confidential in nature, which now occurs and which, in our opinion, facilitates and expedites the solution of public problems; moreover, public participation in these meetings would certainly not shorten them.

The Superior Court of New Jersey in a recent decision entitled Schultz v. Board of Education of Teaneck, 86 N.J. Super. 29 Said:

"We know of no prohibition against members of a public body holding closed conferences where no official action is taken."

Our official actions are always taken at our "Public Meetings" usually held on the first and third Tuesday of each month. As you well know, the Council, before finally adopting any ordinance, conducts a public hearing after advertising same in the Summit Herald, and in addition it is the invariable practice of the Council to invite public questions and discussion at the conclusion of each public meeting.

Let me assure you, however, that if in November you are elected to a seat on the Council, we would, in accordance with our established practice, consider it appropriate to recognize your status as Councilman elect by inviting you to attend all "Conference Meetings" following the election on the theory that your attendance at these meetings as Councilman elect would help to prepare you to discharge your duties after you assume office in January.

Very truly yours,
Elmer J. Bennett
President, Common Council

firm's woes was the recent loss of the Gov. Livingston Regional school bus service.

The company spokesman urged Summit Area residents interested in maintaining the line through a state subsidy, to appear at the October 3 hearing.

The top fare at present is 25 cents depending on the length of the trip. Michael DeCorso of Livingston avenue, New Providence, is president.

Registry

Democratic party has compiled a list of the names and addresses of over 1,400 potential but unregistered voters in Summit. Over the next three weeks a large number of volunteers, including myself, are going to invest time and energy into a comprehensive plan to register voters.

"The unregistered voters are located in all parts of town and every district but the concentration is highest around Roosevelt School in Ward 2. Therefore we decided to ask the city government to help us in this job we have undertaken, which we believe is for the benefit of all.

"I am disappointed that the city administration of Summit has decided with such finality not to honor the request which, in all sincerity, I felt to be both proper and reasonable.

"Be that as it may," Mr. Plaut concluded, "the volunteers will go on with their program of voter registration and I will do everything within my power to aid them."

Conference

would result in charges of "discrimination".

Mr. Bennett indicated he felt there was some "misunderstanding" about the nature of conference meetings. He explained that the primary purpose of the meetings is "to receive and consider the reports of the Council committees and suggestions and recommendations made by individual members of Council as well as letters and petitions received from citizens."

Pointing out that many of the matters discussed "never get past the discussion stage", Mr. Bennett added that such meetings seldom adjourn before 11 p.m. and "frequently much later". Noting that at least four such nights are held a month, Mr. Bennett said that inclusion of the public would "undoubtedly interfere with the free and open exchange of ideas and information".

Mr. Bennett cited a recent court case, Schultz versus the Board of Education of Teaneck, which decreed that there is no prohibition against members of a public body holding closed conferences where no official action is taken.

Common Council, Mr. Bennett added, always takes official actions are public meetings.

Council also introduced an ordinance which would control, regulate and maintain construction of structures within streams, brooks and drainage ways in the city.

The action, for which a public hearing will be held September 23, is aimed at trying to eliminate flooding problems which were evident throughout the city during the downpour of July 28.

Criticism of private damming and littering of drainage and stream ways have been voiced by Mr. Mandato of Middle avenue for almost 13 years.

Failure to adhere to the proposed ordinance would bring a fine of $200 or 90 days in jail, or both.

In other matters, Council released a letter received from Edward S. Olcott, chairman of the city's Housing Authority, requested city appointment of a relocation officer in connection with construction of replacement housing on Glenwood place.

Pointing out that within six weeks to two months, the Authority expects to have acquired title to the properties required for the Glenwood Place project, Mr. Olcott also said that the Authority would be responsible for managing existing properties, including the collection of rents, insurance, maintenance, security, etc.

It has been interpreted that under state regulations the relocation officer would be responsible for these operations under general direction of the Authority.

Other business matters included passage by resolution of new no-passing zones in various sections of River road, including eastbound traffic from the Passaic River bridge to Iris road and from one section of Route 24 to another for a distance of 500 feet.

Westbound traffic would be affected from Iris road to Greenfield avenue and from Chatham road to the Passaic river bridge.

into the Hessberger car, which in turn hit the Wiegler car. Police alleged that Mrs. Weiss failed to halt at a red light.

The Hessberger and Weiss cars were heavily damaged and towed from the scene. Investigating was Patrolman Joseph Grobarz.

Shortly after 8 p.m. on Friday, Leslie G. LaPoint, 19, of Union, suffered a cut lip and knee lacerations when her car was struck twice during an accident at Morris avenue and Butler parkway. Miss LaPoint was taken to Overlook Hospital for treatment of injuries.

Police identified the other drivers as Christine M. Piana, 18, 234 Kent Place boulevard; Edward R.

Konoreh, 37, 226 Kent Place boulevard, and Roberta L. Berman, 18, of Livingston.

Police said the accident occurred when the Piana and Konoreh cars were halted on Morris avenue, and the LaPoint car allegedly struck the rear of the Konoreh car. The Berman vehicle, according to police, then crashed into the rear of the LaPoint automobile.

The LaPoint vehicle was heavily damaged and towed from the scene.

Investigating was Patrolman Hoesly.

The driving privileges of Charles P. Romano, 18, of 20 Westview avenue, New Providence, were suspended for two months, effective July 20, also under the point system.

YM Also Sets Pow-Wows For Indian Princesses

David R. Cotten of the YMCA announced this week the introduction of the Indian Princess program for fathers and daughters, grades 1 and 2.

The program will be similar to the YMCA Indian Guide program for fathers and sons wherein tribes of father-daughter couples will be organized on a neighborhood or school basis and will meet in member's homes twice a month. Programs will include crafts, games, projects, and pow-wows based on an Indian theme.

Cotten explained that the object of Indian Princesses is to provide constructive activity with father-daughter companionship for girls. Many YM families who have had sons in Indian Guide requested that a similar program be introduced for their daughters. There are many YM Indian Princess programs mushrooming in the United States and in New Jersey, and the YMCA believes this new activity will successfully fill a need in the community, Cotten added.

Indian Princess tribes will be formed September 11 to October 1. Information is being distributed through the elementary schools in Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Millburn, Short Hills, and Springfield. Those interested may obtain further information by calling Mr. Cotten at the YM, 273-3330.

Local Man to Co-Chair Independents for Connor

Nicholas Conover English, 149 Kent Place boulevard, and Dr. Max Tishler, of Westfield, have announced the formation of "Independents for Connor" to promote the candidacy of John T. Connor, jr., of Cranford, Democratic candidate for Assembly at Large in Union County.

Explaining the reason for the group, English, senior partner in the Newark law firm of McCarter and English, said: "Nothing is more important than to encourage men with John Connor's intelligence, education, character and proven concern for other people to enter public life. Certainly the New Jersey Legislature needs more assemblymen like this in order to strengthen that body and to enable it to deal more competently with the public business."

Nothing that neither he nor Dr. Tishler is a registered Democrat, English pointed out: "This need transcends partisanship. Hence my decision to support John Connor."

A resident of Summit for 39 years, English is a graduate of Pingry School, Princeton University and Harvard Law School. He is a former president of the Y.M.C.A. He is currently vice chairman of the national board of Y.M.C.A.'s. He is president of the board of trustees of Kent Place School and is also a trustee of Pingry School. He is a member of the board of managers of the American Bible Society, of the American Law Institute and formerly served as a trustee of the New Jersey State Bar Association and as a member of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association.

Dr. Tishler, senior vice-president and director, Merck and Co., one of the nation's leading scientists in his own right, coordinates all Merck's research and development activities in the United States and abroad. A member of the National Academy of Sciences, he is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Tufts University, which he now serves as a Life Trustee and Member of the Executive Committee.

The group's treasurer is James C. Kellogg, 4th, of Summit, an associate with the New York law firm of Shearman & Sterling.

Heights Dems To Hear Talk By Connor

John T. Connor jr., Democratic candidate for Union County Assemblyman-at-Large in the New Jersey General Assembly, will be the main speaker at the September 8 meeting of the Berkeley Heights Democratic Club, in the meeting room of the church of the Little Flower, 310 Plainfield avenue, Berkeley Heights, at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Connor will discuss the issues involved in the state campaign, including air pollution, civil rights and low cost housing.

Democratic candidates for Berkeley Heights Township Committee, Roderick B. Anderson and John T. LaMacchia, will give a progress report on their campaign and answer all questions.

Residents of Berkeley Heights and the surrounding communities are welcome and refreshments will be served.

Union College, Cranford, is preparing plans for library and classroom buildings as part of its $7.5 million master plan.

"The big thing about Gas Heat for us is that there are never any fuel deliveries to worry about."

Says Mr. John West Paterson, New Jersey

Modern Gas Heat has lots of advantages over ordinary fuels. A big one, which Mr. John West of Paterson finds very important, is the peace of mind you get from not having to worry about fuel delivery trucks getting through in bad weather... or running short of fuel. Gas is always there the instant you need it. It's piped to you underground in all kinds of weather. There are no bulky fuel storage tanks or bins to take up precious living space either. Be wise. Convert now to clean, quiet, economical Gas Heat. Call your plumbing contractor, heating installer or Public Service for a FREE heating survey of your home. Then get rid of heating worries by converting to reliable Gas Heat.

Comment on Film

by Jon Plaut

As I discussed briefly last week, Sam Peckinpah's "The Wild Bunch" is a film of distinction. It employs to the greatest cinematic advantage (and the most natural) the fine tools of the director's and the editors craft — exacting, in the sense of never gratuitous, use of close up and deep focus; beautiful, sometimes even overwhelmingly grandiose, photography; montage editing and sound overlay which constantly drive the story and its undercurrents of relevance forward; and slow motion photography lyrically used with meaning and grace. Peckinpah invariably has us looking at exactly what should be in the viewer's eye (as it might be said that Beethoven invariably choose the right note to follow the preceding one). In this way he uses his camera (and cameraman) for the type of film editing (limiting what we see), which is a pure exercise of craft.

But there are many films these days which show the exercise of skill. The utilization of the tools and techniques of the craft is now not unusual. Rather, it is the use of the most advanced techniques within context to further context that is particularly exceptional about "The Wild Bunch."

On top of this craft so clearly and yet not gratuitously evident in "The Wild Bunch," is a highly dramatic and compelling western tale with much to say about change at the end of the frontier days and the lack of it.

It seems improbable that "The Wild Bunch" could be as good as it is. Basically, it is the story of a gang of vicious outlaws (William Holden and Ernest Borgnine included), who are left over from the era that preceded the time period of action (about 1915). They are pursued by a gang of bounty hunters (Robert Ryan, an actor of great talent), who are equally brutal and unsavory. What makes the plot compelling and of deeper interest is not only the misanthrope quality of it all, but the fact that both groups are in constant contact with various bands of Mexican revolutionaries; and therefore the film lurches in and out of Mexico's need and grasping for social reform, if not Mexican history itself. All of this is, however, unconscious, for the story moves forward relentlessly under the special brilliance of the acting and Peckinpah's sense of flow. The editing is now lyrically soft and dreamlike and then hard and toughly narrative, but it always serves first the movement of the story on to its bloodbath of a conclusion.

Why then, having starting with all these points of merit, am I so ambivalent about "The Wild Bunch." Because (1) it is also the most specifically physically violent film in a long time, and (2) the cutting for suburban distribution has robbed it of some of its meaning. It is too bad that "The Wild Bunch" has been so criminally edited and cut, as compared to its form when shown during its first run in New York. Twice, essential scenes giving what followed meaning have been lifted right out. For those who have seen the film, the sentimental scene when the outlaws leave the Mexican village is not silly or unmotivated in the film as originally shown. Its just that the preceding scene developing the needed and impelling relationships has been left out. In the same way the sequence between the "bunch" and the used Mexican women which precedes the final slaughter has been emasculated, although it really serves to explain why they have the change of heart as to freeing their Mexican comrade at the end. This is evidently the penalty we must pay for seeing films away from the city, and it is a shame.

But this weakness caused by the Phillistine minds of the suburban distributors is not fatal. For some (perhaps many), the explicit gore and violence will be. And they should be forwarded. There is this to say, also. If the violence turns you off from the ritual of the western, perhaps Peckinpah has accomplished his purpose.

***

At some point (hopefully when someone locally has enough wisdom to revive it), I am going to write about "The Night They Raided Minskys." It is surely one of the most underrated and under appreciated films in a long time. I think the name put everyone off. It comes to mind at this time, because it embodied in a different genre, but in the same thoroughly integrated manner, many of the same cinematic techniques so well employed in "The Wild Bunch," and that includes the freeing of the credits in a conversion of cinema to art.

Chorale Set To Open New Year Tuesday

The Summit Chorale will begin its 61st concert season on Tuesday, September 16 when singers—from over 20 communities in the area will gather at the YMCA to rehearse under the baton of Ralph Hunter.

Mr. Hunter is returning to the Chorale for his second season as conductor. He is also director of choral activities at Hunter College of The City of New York, and choral director of the Manhattanville College Choir. For The Chorale's winter concert, to be given January 24, Mr. Hunter has scheduled Arthur Honegger's "King David," a symphonic Psalm for chorus, orchestra, soloists and narrator. Also programmed are "Four Motets (pour un temps de penitence)" by Francis Poulenc, "Trois Chansons de Charles D'Orleans" by Claude Debussy, and "Nicolette; Rondo" by Maurice Ravel.

The Chorale rehearses weekly on Tuesdays from 8 to 10 p.m. at the YMCA. There are openings in all voice parts, and the Chorale extends a welcome to all members of the community who would like to join it for a rehearsal or a season. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Andrew Hudson, 273-1595, or by writing Box 265, Summit.

Teacher Attends Cleveland Parley

Mrs. Margaret Whilhelm, teacher of composition and English in Summit Junior High School, attended a workshop sponsored by the Educational Research Council of America, in Cleveland, Ohio, on August 13, 14, 15.

The workshop, "The Film and the English Class", conducted expressly for English teachers throughout the country, explored many ways in which films could be used in teaching English.

New concepts and ideas were presented for classroom use of films for purposes of giving information, enrichment and in conjunction with classes in literature and composition. To round out the broad use of films, student film production and films studied as subject matter, were also discussed as new techniques in present day classrooms.

Drug Use In Summit

Although Summit has not escaped the problems of drug use, compared to other communities, we are not doing too badly. For the present, at least.

The use of drugs, which has come to be termed "the Voyage to nowhere" is a manifold problem that can strike at any strata of our society. It is a problem that needs understanding, and in many instances, compassion.

In Summit, where there is definite use of drugs by a number of our young people, the problem has not yet gotten out of hand and this is due largely to the alertness of our Police Department. Over the last several months many of those who have become hooked have been picked up and an attempt to cure them of the habit has been made. There have been successes and there have been failures, but the main thing is, the Police Department knows who the users are, and acts accordingly.

We know the churches, the schools and a number of local social agencies have been, and still are working hard to get across to local youngsters that use of drugs is dangerous, and many times, lethal.

We will not say that "we cannot understand why kids use drugs" nor will we say that "anyone who uses drugs cannot face reality." We will say, however, that there are those who just want to freak out and the use of drugs is one way to do so. What's to understand? Others, who cannot face reality, and there are many, take drugs for their wild trips out and beyond. Others become alcoholics.

We would hope that Summit never becomes a community where use of drugs becomes out of hand. We do not think it will, so long as parents, schools, churches and the various local agencies maintain lines of communications with our youth, understand their problems, reach out with a helping hand and realize we are living in a rapidly changing society.

The use of drugs is a substitute for the grim realities of our time. Perhaps if we would reappraise our values the use of drugs, even in Summit, would become a limited problem, and we could get on with building a society where there would be no place for narcotics except in a hospital.

Baseball's Birthday

The great American game is now 100 years old and despite its critics and its competition from faster-paced sports, it still remains America's favorite spectator sport. Even the President took time out from his busy planning of a global trip to hold a White House reception for baseball greats.

Washington's troops played baseball at Valley Forge only then the game was called rounders. It received its present name in 1834 when the first American rules were printed with a picture of the game being played on Boston Common.

The Union forces played baseball during the Civil War and then taught Confederate prisoners the game.

The first big game on record was played at Hoboken in 1846 between the Knickerbockers and the New York

Nine. In 1928 the game moved into the big time when Babe Ruth signed a contract for $80,000 a year.

The game has been enshrined in folk literature and song. Almost every boy soon learns of Casey at the Bat and the woe he brought to Mudville. And the more knowledgeable elders recall Franklin P. Adams sad verse:

"Ruthlessly pricking our gonfalon bubble/ Making a Giant hit into a double / Words that are heavy with nothing but trouble / Tinkers to Evers to Chance / These are the saddest of possible words / Tinker to Evers to Chance."

Football and basketball may hold more thrills-per game. Both certainly move more swiftly. But baseball is still pulling them in after 100 years. Ask the Mets!

(Government by Consent-New Jersey Sunday Herald)

In that remarkable document, the Declaration of Independence of the United States, the basic philosophy under which our system of government was conceived is set forth in unequivocal terms. Certain truths are held to be self-evident, and certain rights unalienable.

Then, the Declaration continues, to secure these rights to all men, governments are instituted, "deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed..." This phrase, "the consent of the governed," is the major concept in a democratic government in which men come together for the purpose of self-rule.

This concept of government by consent appears to be threatened in several quarters today. We elect our representatives by democratic process to govern us — all the way from the district school board and town council to the United States Congress and President. They are given certain administrative and legislative powers by law. Too frequently these days, however, there are those among us who decide arbitrarily on their own that they will not be bound by the laws, the rules and the regulations established for the common good.

If the individual citizen can decide for himself what laws he will obey and what laws he will disobey we have lawlessness and anarchy. If a law adopted by a democratic form of government is unjust to the majority of the governed, then the proper procedure is to change the law or remove from office by democratic procedure those responsible for the law. When the majority of the people make their wishes known in this manner, we have government by consent.

Without widespread and almost universal consent, democratic government will fail. It becomes impossible for governmental agencies to properly administer and enforce the laws if there is no general agreement among the governed to comply with the laws.

We hold dear our individual liberties and rights, but these must not be confused with permissiveness and selfishness. The freedom to dissent should not be equated with riot, looting, destruction or the trampling of the rights of others. The right to govern ourselves carries with it the responsibility of governing by consent.

The building to the right, then the library, now houses the Playhouse Association, while the huge structure in the background is the George Manley estate, built about 1885 and which he named Fair Oaks. The house was later rented to Dr. Eliot Gorton and Dr. Thomas Prout and became Fair Oaks Sanatorium. Later the sanatorium acquired land on Prospect street and built the first part of the present facility. (Courtesy Louise Revere Morris)

County Government: Time to Overhaul?

County government — dating back into New Jersey's colonial history — should be modernized to provide a base for meeting regional problems in the 1970's. This is among findings of the State's County and Municipal Government Study Commission. The proposals are scheduled for early public hearings.

Detecting "fragmentation" and "lack of political responsibility" as well as legal, fiscal, structural and administrative inadequacies in New Jersey's present county government set-up, the Commission proposes restructuring to give "a substantial measure of self-determination so that county and municipal officials can shape government to meet their local needs and conditions." Freeholders would be given a legislative and policy-making role and professional central administration, would relieve freeholders of administrative duties.

Similar to opportunities afforded municipalities under New Jersey's "Optional Municipal Charter Law of 1950, provision would be made for:

(a) petition or enabling ordinance for a referendum on creation of a county charter study commission and election of the commission,

(b) authorization of direct petition to initiate a charter change referendum,

(c) four different basic structures from which charter study commissions or citizens could choose the form most suitable to their particular county's environment.

As outlined in the Commission's recent report to the Legislature, the alternative county forms are:

1. Elected Executive Plan — a county executive elected as chief executive with appointive and budget making powers, and supervisory administrative powers over all operations, with the aid of an appointed professional administrator.

2. Strong-Manager Plan — a professionally qualified manager appointed by the elected freeholders with extensive powers including appointments, budget making, administrative and executive.

3. Elected Supervisor Plan — an elected supervisor with limited appointive and administrative powers aided by a board-appointed professional administrator who operates under the supervisor's direction.

4. Board President Plan — a chief executive appointed by the freeholder board from its members and a board-appointed county administrator who operates under the president's direction.

Raps Appointment

Editor, Summit Herald:
The following letter has been forwarded to Mayor David E. Trucksess. Publication in the Summit Herald is requested.

Jonathan Plaut

David E. Trucksess, Mayor
Summit, New Jersey

Dear Mayor Trucksess,
As a resident of Summit with two children presently in Brayton school, may I add to the others who have written you, my deep conviction that you seriously erred in your recent appointment to the school board.

I do not know Mr. Caming personally. He may in some respects be qualified for the position, but the fact that he has elected to send his child to a private school rather than the public school in which he is supposed to be interested and to which he is supposed to dedicate himself, should have ruled him out. I would think that the simplest common sense would have dictated finding a candidate with enough confidence in our public system to place his child under its direction.

Very truly yours,
Jonathan Plaut

Protests Rate Hike

The Editor, Summit Herald:
Attached is a copy of a letter which has been mailed to the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of the State of New Jersey. I shall appreciate your publishing this letter because it discusses a matter of concern to the residents of Summit.

Arnold C. Matthies

99 Fernwood road

Mr. David A. Waters,
Secretary
Board of Public Utility
Commissioners
Room 316
State House Annex
Trenton

Dear Mr. Waters:
On July 28, the Jersey Central Power and Light Company sent a letter to all of its customers that it intends to file an application for an increase in rates charged for electricity.

I understand, and am sympathetic with, the problems faced by Jersey Central as well as other industrial concerns in maintaining prices in the face of the accelerating rate of inflation we have been experiencing. As a customer completely dependent upon Jersey Central for an essential commodity I recognize that it is important that the company be capable of expanding at a rate adequate to meet the rapidly rising demand for power and at the same time to provide good and dependable service. However, the magnitude of the proposed rate increase — 13% — aroused my curiosity. I have reviewed financial and operating data for Jersey Central and for the electric power industry as a result of which I have made some observations and conclusions.

During the period 1961 through 1968, electricity sales of Jersey Central have been growing at a rate of 10.4% per year, somewhat above the national average of around 9% per year. During these same years, the percent return on stockholders' equity ranged from 8.9 to 10.8%. For the three years 1966 through 1968, it has

Council Comment

After a summer recess, Council Comment will again be published weekly as an information service to the citizens containing articles dealing with matters before Common Council.

Procedure for Zoning Change

During the past weeks, there have been several inquiries as to the procedure to be followed for a change in the Zoning Map and Ordinance. These questions have been raised as a result of the recent newspaper publicity relating to the interest shown by the Ford Motor Co. in the land owned by the Board of Education fronting on Morris avenue to the rear of the Senior High School.

The area in which the Ford Motor Company has evidenced an interest is in the R15 Residential Zone. Only residences, home occupations, or private educational institutions are permitted in this zone. In order for the use to be changed, an application first must be received by Common Council setting forth the proposed use, a detailed plan showing how it will be developed and a request that the zone be changed to one which would permit such a use.

The State Statutes RS 40:55-34 explicitly states that "No Zoning Ordinance shall be adopted, amended or repealed until after public hearing thereon by the governing body... at which parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard." The law further states that said ordinance or amendment shall be published in the official newspaper of the city setting forth the time and place of the hearing and that such public notice shall be published ten or more days prior to such hearing.

As a further safeguard to the public's interests, the application for any such change must be submitted to the Planning Board for approval, disapproval or suggestions before it can become effective and "the Planning Board shall have a reasonable time, not less than 30 days for consideration and report, and in case of an unfavorable report such amendment shall not become effective except by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the governing body."

There is an additional provision to protect affected property owners for the law also states "in case of a protest against such proposed change signed by the owners of 20% or more of the area of the lots or land included in the proposed change, or of the lots of lands in the rear thereof extending 100-feet therefrom, or the lots or land on either side thereof or directly opposite thereto extending 100 feet therefrom (exclusive of street space) such change shall not become effective except by the favorable vote of two-thirds of all the members of the governing body."

Therefore, for the Council to consider any change in the present City Zoning Ordinance, the following steps must be taken:

1. An application for such change is received by Council as a public communication, read and made a matter of record at a regular council meeting and referred to the Planning Board for study and report.
2. If the Planning Board so recommends, the Council will then introduce the Ordinance, publish it in the Summit Herald and set the time and place for a public hearing.
3. If the Planning Board does not recommend such action, Council may still introduce the Ordinance making the change in Zone.
4. After the public hearing at a regular Council meeting, the Council may adopt the Zone change by the required vote — a majority or 4 if the Planning Board recommendation is favorable or by two-thirds or 5 if unfavorable. If the required votes for passage are not obtained, the ordinance is defeated.
5. Should the Council receive, after the introduction of the ordinance but prior to final action, a protest signed by 20% of the property owners as listed above, a two-thirds vote of five would also be necessary to adopt such zone change.

Some questions have been asked as to how long such a procedure would take. This is an "iffy" question but in the past such actions have been taken in three to four months while others have taken one to two years. It is not something, however, that can be done quickly as you can readily see by the legal steps which must be followed.

Looking Backward

Fifty Years Ago

Plans were laid for the celebration of the 25th anniversary of Kent Place School, with the principal speakers listed as President Hibben of Princeton and President Pendeton of Wellesley.

The opening of school saw four classes in East and North Summit operating on a part-time basis, with an additional eight rooms being used outside the regular buildings. It was expected that additional classrooms would have to be rented or part-time sessions would be extended.

At the Lyric Theater: Mabel Normand in "The Pest", listed as "a cyclone of thrills; a downpour of laughs".

Twenty-five Years Ago

A weekly youth canteen was initiated at the North

Summit Neighborhood Center, according to an announcement by Rev. William M. Hunter, new headworker.

The Summit Nature Club highlighted the Harvest Show with menus featuring dishes from uncultivated plants from woods and fields.

At the Lyric Theater: "Step Lively", a "six-star sensation of rhythm on a rampage", featuring Frank Sinatra, George Murphy, Adolph Menjou, Gloria DeHaven, Walter Slezak and Eugene Pallette.

Ten Years Ago

Congresswoman Florence P. Dwyer requested that the Postmaster General approve expansion plans for the Summit Post Office in light of the inauguration of the Metropolitan Plan, which been constant at 10.3%. For all private electric utilities in the U. S., the return on stockholders' equity averaged about 9% in the 1950's and rose to 10.7% in 1965 and 10.8% in 1966, (the latest information available). It appears, therefore, that there is still not an obvious downward trend for Jersey Central and there is not a significant difference from the national average.

Jersey Central is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the General Public Utilities Corporation. The rates currently being charged by Jersey Central are already higher than rates charged by the other three subsidiaries of the GPU Corporation. For example, in 1967, the average cost of electricity to residential customers of Jersey Central was 2.6 cents per kilowatt-hour. The average for the other subsidiaries of GPU was 2.27cents per kwh. The national average charge for residential use in 1968 was 2.12 cents per kwh for all privately-owned power companies. The present rate schedule appears high relative to other rates in this area and also when compared with the national average.

A 1968 report, by the Boston Consulting Group, Inc., entitled "Perspectives on Experience" presents a correlation of the trend of electric power costs with time. The conclusion is that technological advances still have a significant effect upon the cost of electric power. The data indicate that the cost of power is still declining at a rate of 2 1/2 to 3% per year at constant dollars (assuming no inflation). Therefore, cost economies through technological advances can counteract a rate of inflation of almost three percent per year. Obviously, our recent experience is greater. However, our national goal is to reduce the rate of inflation to 3 to 4% per year. Under these conditions, it would appear that only a modest increase in the price of electricity, if any, can be justified.

In view of the facts discussed above, I seriously question the justification for the granting of a rate increase to Jersey Central at this time. A sudden increase of 13% does not appear reasonable in the light of recent financial performance of the company, and granting such a request would, in itself, be inflationary.

A memorandum is attached which provides more detailed data to support the conclusions summarized in this letter.

Very truly yours,
 Arnold C. Matthias

Repeal Sought

Editor, Summit Herald:
 Not very many people, I imagine, are aware that under a federal law that is in effect today, the Attorney General may arrest and hold in custody "each person as to whom there is reasonable ground to believe that such person probably will engage in, or probably will conspire with others to engage in, acts of espionage or sabotage." In other words, each person whom the Attorney General or his subordinates consider a subversive character, whether the person has actually done anything wrong or not.

Unbelievable? This law, known as the Emergency Detention Act (also as Title II of the Internal Security Act) was passed in 1950 over President Truman's veto. It is supposed to go into effect during an "internal security emergency," which may be declared by the President if the U.S. or its possessions is invaded, if Congress declares war, or if there is insurrection within the U.S. in aid of a foreign enemy. The internal security emergency declared by President Truman in 1950 in connection with the Korean War is still in effect today, having never been officially terminated.

Since its passage, the Emergency Detention Act has never been enforced. But, as Truman warned in his veto message, "It is not enough to say that this probably would not be done. The mere fact that it could be done shows clearly how the bill would open a Pandora's box of opportunities for official condemnation of organizations and individuals for perfectly honest opinions."

This year, bills to repeal the Emergency Detention Act have been introduced in both houses of Congress. A total of 126 Congressmen and at least 26 Senators have co-sponsored these bills, among them is Senator Harrison Williams.

Please write letters to Senator Case, Senator Williams, and Congresswoman Dwyer supporting repeal of the Emergency Detention Act. The address for Rep. Dwyer is House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20505. That for the two senators is Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510.

The full text of the Emergency Detention Act may be found in Title 50 of the U.S. Code, Sections 811 to 826. Copies of the law may also be obtained free from Rep. Dwyer or one of our senators.

Resisting The Draft

Editor, Summit Herald:
 This is about resisting the war and the draft and living a new way.

I lived in Summit until I graduated from Summit High in 1966. Then I left for college in Chicago. In Summit terms, I've "gone bad." I was expelled from college because I was very active in the student movement, and I'm openly defying the draft law. I'm 1-A. If I am drafted I won't go in and I won't run away. I'll face the military and say NO, even though they can put me in jail for this.

Here, very briefly, are three reasons we should fight the draft:

1. It forces guys to fight in Vietnam, against people who are trying to take their country back from the Americans and the few rich Vietnamese.

2. It scares a lot of us who oppose the army into a school or job we don't really want, by bribing us with deferments.

3. It comes down harder on guys who already have things hard - like giving students deferments and drafting young workers. Some of us have had our minds poisoned by this and get to think that students are better than workers.

I decided that a "respectable job" and big income aren't important things to live for.

I and lots of other people have decided to struggle against anti-human institutions, even if we are threatened with things like expulsion from school and imprisonment.

At the same time we try to live communally, helping each other emotionally and financially, and spreading the spirit of community in ways like getting young working people to get groceries and car repairs cheaply.

YMCA's Indian Guides Open Membership Drive

Indian Guide of the YMCA have set their annual membership drive for September 11 to October 1 during which time new tribes in the communities of Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, Short Hills, Millburn and Springfield will be formed.

Y Indian Guides is a 43-year old national YMCA program for boys grades 1-3 and their fathers. Tribes of about nine father-son couples, organized on a neighborhood or school basis, meet in member's homes on a rotation basis twice a month. Tribes develop their own programs around the basic Indian theme and come together at intervals from swims at the Y, sports, camping weekends, and special pow-wows.

On October 18 all fathers and sons will attend a West Point football game, and on Saturday, November 1, all new and veteran tribes will join for the annual picnic and campfire pow-wow at Seeley's Pond. New tribes will then be formally introduced to the Summit Area YMCA's "Watchung Nation" which last year consisted of 39 tribes and a membership of 700 fathers and sons. Presiding will be newly-elected "Chief of the Longhouse," William Pierce of Murray Hill; "Medicine Man," O. E. Raffensperger of Summit; and "Tally Keeper," Norman Wordelli of Berkeley Heights.

Indian Guide information is now being distributed through elementary schools in the five towns mentioned. Those interested in joining may obtain further information by calling David R. Cotten, director of the YM's extension and camping division at 273-3330.

The program for the day will be under the direction of Mrs. Norman Rivkees, T.E.A.C.H. chairman. This is the project which provides aides to special service classes in public schools. Mrs. B. Tarmy and Mrs. M. Bernstein, who have worked in the classrooms for the last two years, will share some of their experiences with the general membership. Since the number of children in need of special services has increased, the T.E.A.C.H. project must be expanded. Additional volunteers are needed and all interested can sign up at the meeting or by calling Mrs. Rivkees, 277-0430, or Mrs. M. Weiss, Vice President, Community Services, 273-2637.

Story Hours Set to Open At Library

The Public Library is currently taking registrations for the fall and winter series of story hours for pre-school children to be held in the library Thursdays at 10 a.m.

To be eligible, a child must be a Summit resident and have been born before September 1966.

The children are arranged in homogeneous age groups; each group meeting for six successive weeks. They gather in the Boys' and Girls' Room of the library at 10 a.m. and form a "choo-choo" to travel down to the story room for stories, games, songs and occasional film strips. At 11 a.m. this "choo-choo" comes back upstairs to the mothers who are requested to remain in the library during this time.

While the children are at the story hour, Mrs. Margaret Harrigan, director of the Family Service Association, will lead the mothers in group discussions on the normal problems of raising normal children. These are lively, informal discussions — not lectures. The library staff urges mothers to join.

Attendance at Story Hour is by pre-registration only and registrations will be accepted until October 1. The first group will meet on September 25. Those assigned to the group will be notified by mail.

Defense, Piccirillo's Passing Bolster Regional High Eleven's Title Hopes

BERKELEY HEIGHTS — When a high school football team posts a 7-1-1 record in its first season under a new coach, everything is wonderful, right? Well, not necessarily!

Coach Dick Lawrence's first Governor Livingston Regional High football team had that mark a year ago and wound up with considerable frustration.

The Highlanders won their final seven games in 1968, but it was too late. The opening game loss to Scotch Plains-Fanwood High and the following tie with Hillside deprived Governor Livingston of the Watchung Conference title.

It was a bitter pill for Governor Livingston to swallow as the Highlanders completely dominated conference champion Clark Regional in downing the Crusaders 13-0, and also whipped the conference's perennial champion, Westfield High, 16-7, for their first football victory over the Blue Devils.

The loss and the tie also caused further frustration when Governor Livingston was beaten out for the Central Jersey, Group 4 title by Thomas Jefferson High of Elizabeth. Jefferson had only a slightly better mark (8-1), but finished with a clear edge in rating points as several Watchung Conference teams had "off" years, as did the Highlanders' two independent games, North Plainfield and Watchung Hills.

The start of a new season is just 16 days away, but as Coach Lawrence drills his big squad for the home opener with Scotch Plains-Fanwood High on September 27 he knows he is faced with the same problems as last season, with some extra ones thrown in.

The Highlanders again are faced with the prospect of beating out Clark Regional and Westfield for the Watchung Conference crown, while Jefferson, led by the county's scoring leader of 1968, Gil Chapman, again looms as the team Governor Livingston will have to beat out to win Central Jersey, Group 4 honors.

And, of course, the Highlanders have to be ready for a rugged opener with Scotch Plains-Fanwood and face the prospect of playing consecutive road games with Westfield, New Providence and Clark. Regional in October.

In the long run, the Watchung Conference title may be decided in the October 25 meeting of Governor Livingston and Clark Regional. Westfield can't be discounted lightly, but the Blue Devils, hit hard by graduation, must play Clark Regional and Governor Livingston in the first three weeks of the season. The rebuilt Westfield eleven may not be up to such tests so early in the season.

Governor Livingston has rolled up a 36-3-2 record over the past 4½ seasons, with most of that record being compiled during the tenure of Jack Bicknell, who has moved on to a coaching berth at Boston College. But Bicknell and Lawrence have established a winning tradition at Governor Livingston and it should continue through this season.

Defense has been the key to the Highlanders' prolonged success, but Governor Livingston also has come up with an array of fine passers. There have been George and Tom Bublik, Bruce Corcoran, an all-State performer, Joe Dowling, and now John Piccirillo, whose passing was a key offensive weapon last year.

Defense figures prominently in the Highlanders' plans for 1969, but Coach Lawrence has good reason to believe his team will score more this season than in the past. Piccirillo is one of the county's finest passers and he has a fine target in 6-5 Eric Wichelhaus.

One of Piccirillo's favorite targets of last year, Jeff Burdette, is passing up football this season to concentrate on basketball. Jeff will be missed as Coach Lawrence readily admits. "Jeff was a real fine pass receiver," Coach Lawrence says, "and he could have helped a lot."

His place will be taken by Rick Whitescarver (6-2, 175) or Jack O'Dowd (5-10, 160), the school's top sprinter during the track and field season.

Piccirillo (5-9, 165) and Wichelhaus, a 200-pounder, are among eight returning lettermen. Burdette would have been a ninth. The other lettermen are end Mike McBain (6-1, 185), guard Tom Roll (5-11, 175), center Bill Ruff (5-11, 190), tailback Frank Burns (6-0, 165), fullback Steve Paine (5-11, 160) and defensive back Doug Rau (6-1, 175), who also is the reserve quarterback.

QUESTION MARK

A big question mark now is tackle Joe Mondelli (6-2, 230), the heaviest player on the squad, who still is troubled by a hepatitis infection that sidelined him last year. If he is unable to play, the tackle spots probably will go to Chuck Pisciotta (6-0, 195) and John Schnek (5-10, 180), with sophomore Mark Velten (6-0, 185) the backup man.

Roll is a brother of Chuck Roll, an all-county center at Springfield Regional who went on to play at Cornell University. Tom will be a two-way player, handling a guard post on offense and playing linebacker on defense.

Battling for the other guard post are two juniors, Dave Ruch (6-0, 170) and Rich Ray (5-10, 160). Ruff, Burns and Dave Hof (5-10, 160) will share the linebacking chores with Roll. Rau and Paine also will start on defense with Roger Pitzer (5-10, 150) as the safetyman.

Piccirillo, Burns, Paine, Rau, Whitescarver and O'Dowd will handle most of the offensive backfield chores. O'Dowd's great speed will make him a threat to run to the outside as well as a pass receiver.

Coach Lawrence has several others players, mostly underclassmen, who will fit into the Highlanders' offensive and defensive platoons. Rick Potempa (5-10, 185) is an offensive end and defensive tackle; Joe McGrath (6-0, 175) will see action as a defensive end with Wichelhaus, while Eric Jones (5-9, 155) is the reserve fullback and also will handle punt returns.

Three Sweeps In Plaza Loop

The 1969-1970 bowling season started rather inauspiciously for the Madison Plaza Industrial League last week with the evening's results showing three teams tied for first place and six men with an average of 180 or better.

Madison Pharmacy took three games from Palelo Painters, with Ram Transformers keeping place by taking three from T. Bauer & Son. The Spoilers spoiled the inaugural outing of the Chatham Fire Department with a sweep.

National Manufacturing took the measure of Schwartz Dairy, 2-1, while The Masons defeated last year's champions, A. Corradi & Son, 2-1. Benedict's Beauty Parlor came back from a disastrous first game to take the last two games from Ray & Bill's Auto.

High scores: Roland Smith, 583

Barter, Hoesly Top Bowlers In Rec. Loop

SUMMIT — The Summit Recreation Bowling League got off to a rather slow start at Echo Lanes, Mountaintide, last week, with only eight bowlers averaging 180 or better. Joe Barter topped the pinners with 205-215-604 and Al Hoesly had 202-205-601. Gene Parsil rolled 202-592; Merv Merchant, 218; Jack Lawrence, 214 and Bill Wehrle, 220.

Echo Lanes has installed new alley beds on Lanes 1 through 40 and has resurfaced the remaining alleys which, with new wood on each of the alleys, could have accounted for the low scores registered on opening night.

Charlies swept its match with Esliad Electric, formerly Soccodatto Builders, hitting high single game of 974, in addition to a 943, and high series, 2808, for the night.

Ciba Corporation took three games from Ciba Pharmaceutical as it registered the third 900 game of the night, a 912, and a 2600 three-game total. Ciba Corporation, with only Dick Margerison returning from last year, presents a formidable lineup with Rudy Burger, George Debus, Al Wengert and Bill Behre, in addition to Margerison. The team has a 907 average.

Fitters and West Penn Oil took two games from Merchant & Sons and Larry's, respectively.

Tom Burke (3 pass interceptions), Buck Clarke, Dick Moyer, and Craig Sterett were outstanding on defense, while Pete Faherty and Cal Grant excelled on offense. Denville's lone touchdown came in the second quarter on an 18-yard pass from Art Toms to Bill Gangini. Summit's coach, Chan Betsy Stricker of Summit has been named "All-Around Junior" at the Clover Hill Swim Club in Millington.

Summit Eleven Triumphs In Touch League Opener

SUMMIT — The Summit Touch Football Club won its opening game in the Morris County Touch Football League by trouncing Denville, 31-6, last Sunday at Tatlock Field.

Heights' Benning, Plainfield Club Pro, Named 'N.J. Golf Professional of Year'

BERKELEY HEIGHTS — Bob Benning of 72 Sherbrooke Dr., professional at the Plainfield Country Club, has been named "Golf Professional of Year" in New Jersey by the state Professional Golfers Association.

The award, for contributions to the game of golf, was made by a special committee of the PGA headed up by pro Joe Dante of Rockaway River C.C.

Dante lauded Benning for his services to the state PGA as a member of the executive committee the past five years and also as head of the PGA Education and Teaching Committee; his outstanding service to Plainfield CC, where he is head pro, and his promotion of the game through speaking engagements and as scoring advisor to ABC-TV during telecasts of major tournaments.

Benning was second in the "Player of the Year" category in 1966.

Fine Player
 Bob is a fine player as attested to by his fourth place finish in this year's state PGA championship, coming through with a nine-birdie 66 in the final round. Previously, he twice was runner-up for the title and has been in the top five of the State Open three times.

Benning, a 6-3, 190-pound blonde, is now in his third year of the ABC-TV work, won the PGA pro-championship with Pat Schwab of Crestmont in 1965. This year on tour, he led the Bogota Open for three rounds and was fourth in the Panama Open.

The 36-year-old pro is in his sixth year at Plainfield, having been an assistant at Mountain Ridge, Thunderbird CC in Palm Springs, Calif., Oakmont CC in Glendale, Calif., and Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio, his home town.

At the age of 15 he swept three junior championships in the Dayton area, and as captain of the Purdue University golf team won the Big Ten championship.

All-Marine Champ
 While serving in the Marine Corps as a communications officer, he won the All-Marine championship. He later did graduate business work at Southern California. Benning has given the state PGA much credit with his work the past three years as education chairman. He has conducted clinics for youngsters and veterans hospital patients throughout the state.

He organized the education committee, and the past two seasons conducted business seminars for PGA members, which dealt with golf business and equipment manufacturing.

Joe Dey, formerly executive director of the U.S. Golf Association and now executive head of the national PGA, spoke at his seminar, as did executives of the feuding PGA and the pros during the national pro tour dispute.

National Honors

"As a result of Benning's work in the areas of business and education," said Dante, "the PGA and golf in general received a considerable boost in the state. He's now eligible for national professional of the year honors."

Bob and his wife Ellen, have two children, Stacy, 6, and Robert Michael, 5.

The 30-second oven cleaner 7¢

(It takes just 30 seconds of your time to whisk away the dirt. Costs less than you're now paying.)

Ladies, get your heads out of the oven. Now you can have an electric range with an oven that cleans itself automatically, for an investment of about 7¢ and 30 seconds of your time per cleaning.

With most models (check the instructions first) you can even put the surface-unit drip pans into the oven. Then, when you turn the switch to "Clean", spills and spatters disappear from the oven, racks and drip pans during the average 1½ hour cleaning cycle. Only a trace of powder remains. You whisk that away in about 30 seconds.

There's no worry about scrubbing the surface units either, because spills disappear from them while you're still cooking. Only electric ranges can give you this "total cleanability".

So throw out the expensive oven cleaners, the cans of stuff, the brushes, the steel wool, and the dirty rags. Buy a new electric range with a self-cleaning oven. You'll find a large selection at the local appliance dealer displaying the familiar Reddy Kilowatt seal. He's open right now.

A LOOK AT FALL FASHIONS

By Elizabeth Lee Pettig

Fashion's look for Fall '69 is long, lean, pulled down, with the overall feeling one of softness and fluidity. The length is anywhere — mini, midi, maxi, with the designers' contention that a really chic woman must have all three in her wardrobe.

The signature of the season is the yards-long scarf accompanying anything from the most casual pants suit to the most glamorous evening gown.

Coats follow the rule of three. Romantic, ankle-length (and sometimes longer) coats may be belted trench coats, fitted Regency models or luxuriously fur-trimmed styles. Midi lengths adhere mostly to the skinny shape, often with an important belt emphasizing the waist. The full coat, swinging from small shoulders, has its counterpart in the full "little" coat, a shorter version which top pants and jumpsuits. Coat collars, when present, are apt to be small. The yards-long muffler is the almost standard accompaniment.

The season's sweater shape dominates the suit scene, with long cardigan jackets or tops stretched down and belted like pullovers. Skirts are full, pleated, bias-cut or gathered. In pants suits, the long line jacket also prevails and trousers are cut straighter and narrower this season. Jumpsuits are a major fashion.

The long look is often the layered look. Combos include skirts or pants topped by shirts, vests, jackets. Tunics are pulled low over short, flip skirts. Jumpsuits and suspend skirts pair with blouses. Jumpers are for real or just for effect, with full contrasting sleeves. Dresses over pants are a recurring theme. The wrap-and-tie dress silhouette is the secondary shape of the season. Shoulders are small, armholes high. Large, soft shirt collars, surplice necklines and criss-cross sashes above gently moving skirts, define this look.

Evening fashions are for the femme fatale. Nudity gives way to more alluring ideas — deep décolletage, in front, back or both; necklines, ostensibly prim and high, but slashed to the waistline. The sweater look of daytime carries over in fabrics of glittering threads and jewels, stretching to the floor or worn over flaring pants. Gowns are statuesque or soft and flowing and are mostly long. Evening pajamas and jumpsuits are still important.

To balance the long, lean look, hats are neat and head-hugging, reminiscent of the 20's. The soft, close look is done in knits, furs and tweeds, some with tiny, flip-up brims. Hats to complement pants suits are exaggerated fedoras and sombreros with wide brims dipping low over the eyes.

Shoes rise higher this season but will retain the chunky look. For wear with pants there are shoes with high vamps, high heels and platform soles or the new low jodhpur type boots. Sport or dress shoes for daytime have higher heels, straight or flared, but never fragile looking. Chunky shapes appear for evening wear, too, done in all kinds of materials.

Fall fabrics sustain the soft mood. Knits in every form and pattern mold the figure gently. Crepes, matte jersey and silks are naturals for smooth flowing styles. Tweeds are softer in new layered, yarn-like textures. For evening, fabrics are luxurious. Velvets, brocades, rich tapestries abound; as well as metallic chiffons and slipper satins. Art Deco and Klimt patterns flash across the night scene. Fur is a favorite trimming and many of the jewels enhancing evening gowns are real, put on with prongs, not sewn.

The colors of autumn are subtle. Deep, dark tones — spinach, indigo, deep reds and greys abound and there is a great deal of black. Pastels are muted tapestry colors and neutrals are principally platinum gray, mushroom, taupe and mauve.

A Man's-Eye View

What Am I Doing HERE?

By John Waring

To a reporter accustomed to Township Committee and Board of Education meetings, my assignment at the American Designer fashion shows was a somewhat different nut to crack.

I was at Delmonico's in New York on the last day of the show, sitting in the ballroom with six or seven men, most of them photographers, and some 100 women writers. With me at the table were several fashion editors, all carefully noting "the bloopy softness that manages to make the body underneath look skinnier" of a certain sweater collection.

I took several minutes to observe the models, looking for a sign of life other than motion, searching for a smile, wondering if stiff necks and backs are part of that profession. To my relief one model, as she left the stage, took the last step with a little leap and headed for the dressing room with a very definite and most feminine bounce to her hips.

Relaxed now I watched a male model, adorned in tan slacks and a lavender sweater, saunter across the platform. His outfit was called "Agamemnon." "Achilles" in knickers was next, followed by "Robin Hood" in a red, knitted jogging suit.

The next designer, using the customary voice and inflection, announced he would sing two songs to put the writers in the proper mood. "Love Me with All Your Heart," in English and Italian, and "Till There Was You," only in English, were his selections. A hearty round of applause greeted his recital.

The highpoint of this collection was hidden, elastic waistbands in the dresses for "the American woman who lets herself go around the waist." I wondered if there was any tension in the elastic from the model's waist.

To the melodies of the 1920's, another designer introduced his fall collection which harked back to that period. His introduction told of the "great lengths" he went to "to show how long, long, longer than long his coats were." They were long. The coats hit the ankle, the scarfs reached almost that far and the strings of pearls (all genuine, as he said several times) touched the knee. An interesting outfit in this collection was a red jumpsuit, complete with a buttoned "trap door" in the seat.

Lunch time was now approaching and writers were quietly exiting the ballroom for the dining room. There was one more show before lunch so I stayed. As it turned out I thought this collection was the best of the day. Some of the models even smiled and I felt they enjoyed the clothes. Maybe they were just smiling at the diehards who had not fled.

This collection was by Ceil Chapman and the outfits were identified only by number. They were uncluttered, attractive and at times elegant. Most of her skirts, blouses and dresses were for streetwear, in one or two basic colors. All had belts of varying widths and designs. The belts gave the simple designs the necessary variety and intricacy to keep the outfit interesting.

But that is just my impression about which I must hold reservations. For near the end of the day, the daughter of the fashion editor of a large daily newspaper told me her impression of my own clothes. "Why are you wearing that tie? It doesn't go with your shirt, suit, shoes or socks. It doesn't even clash right."

WEAVING ITS MAGIC — Adele Simpson's charcoal wool coatdress for Fall 1969 takes on added elegance with the woven grey, brown and white graphic plaid stripes. Matching muffer is THE accessory of the season. At The Suburban Dress Shop, 319 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

TIMES TWO — Dress or sleeveless coat of this double knit wool in black and white could go it alone. Together they are twice as effective. By Gianni Ferri, available at Rose Miller, 507 Millburn Avenue, Short Hills.

TRIPLE THREAT — Betty Carol's black double knit costume in three parts is from the Fall '69 Mam'selle collection. The double-breasted coat with black and white stencilled calf collar tops a long sleeved dress with the same line, worn over matching pants. At Sara Lewis, 53 Main Street, Millburn.

Fall Dresses Use Soft Sell

Dress fashions for fall go soft —soft in line, in color, in fabric.

Two favorite silhouettes are the long, lean torso over a wide and flaring skirt, and the surplice, wrap-and-tie styles. But other favorites recur also — the shirtwaist and the princess coatdress, for example.

Shoulders are small, bodices cling and pleats are everywhere: in short, flippy skirts, or in dresses composed entirely of pleats. With the exception of fabric sashes on wrap-and-tie silhouettes, belts are never confining.

Sleeves, for the most part, are long, either full or skin tight to the wrist. Necklines may be turtles or mock turtles, cowls or the V-necks of a tennis sweater. The ubiquitous scarf of the season accompanies many dresses.

Fabrics for daytime are soft and deep and there is a great deal of use of more than one fabric in a costume. Colors are subtle and dark or are dusty tones of lighter shades.

The little black dress comes into its own again, but updated, by intricate seaming or trimming, into something more than the old standby.

ARGYLE ARRIVES Argyle is the plaid pattern most frequently seen in fall fashions, in either bright or muted earth tones.

Fit and fringe and fur are the signatures of the August de Lorenze fall collection for Branell.

Designed with the sensible admission that not every one has the figure of a model, the dresses and costumes tend to have slimming features—a front panel or a fly-front over low front and back pleats.

Stoles, most often fringed, are flirtatious accompaniments to the costumes or dresses. Fringe is a favorite, too, for evening, as in the white crepe long-sleeved dress with fringe from above the knee to the floor, or the all-fringe tunic over slim crepe pants.

Fur for the hem and boa of a tweed suit, mink collar and cuffs on a princess coat or ranch mink for the neck and front borders of a brocade coat with matching dress are examples of the lavish use of furs in the collection. Ultra glamorous for evening is the full length brown velvet wrap coat with mink collar, lapels and borders, worn over a white chiffon gown with jewel encrusted bodice.

At Altman's, Bloomingdale's, Doop's, Feller, Lord & Taylor, Suburban Dress Shop, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

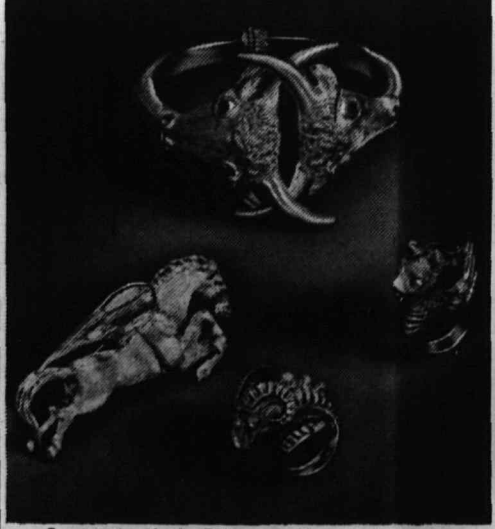

The coat and dress, in herringbone wool, with gold and rust contrast strips, is the constant achievement of Roxane for Samuel Winston, for Fall 1969.

De La RENTA
La Belle Epoque is the inspiration for Oscar de la Renta's new collection. Fabrics are lush and intricately patterned, folded and molded.

A swirling cape tops long, clinging jumpsuit and tweed shorts under a short skirt have a cardigan ankle length coat as a component. A two-piece dress is shown with a huge, dramatic shawl.

Drama is the word for the fashions, achieved in one instance in a simple, short, black crepe dress, slashed to the waistline in front; in another black satin with a double founced border, equally decollete.

TRAVILLA
Travilla captures the nude mood in cocktail and evening gowns, via rich fabrics and intricate cut. A bare backed midriff dress joined at the front by a beaded border bow, is fashioned of cut velvet polka dots on chiffon. Belted waistlines are often slashed to a deep decollete and bra tops of beaded ribbons are paired with chiffon skirts.

The trench coat silhouette appears often, in a coat, a white wool jumpsuit or a white crepe dinner gown with jeweled buttons.

Favorite colors of the designer for daytime are cognac and moss in a mosaic mix wool fabric; white and copper toned wools; reds, gold and white and black and white. For evening new pastel greys are dramatized by diamonds. In metallic brocades there are white, black, red and ruby.

HAROLD LEVINE
Softly feminine dresses, often pleated or tucked, intricately seamed to define the figure, mark the Don Breiting collection for Harold Levine. The season's signature, the scarf, is another Breiting favorite, attached at the neckline, but falling free or softly tied.

Crepes and silks are used for daytime as well as evening fashions, in various tones of red, browns and lots of black.

The shirtdress for evening is done in a black and silver metallic soufflé or a coup de velour on gold jacquard chiffon. Satins and velvets are part of the glamour scene and fur is used a great deal. One long burgundy velvet is bordered in mink and another gown, of printed metallic velvet, has a grey fox hem. Pants for evening are of lush materials, often have tunic tops.

FASHIONABLE FULLNESS - Belled sleeves and flowing skirt of this shimmering red and gold paisley organza gown from Mollie Parnis' fall collection, define the luxurious feeling of the season. THE SHAPE OF FALL — The Norfolk jacket, one of the season's best fashions, is belted and buttoned in brown leather and edged with welt seaming. The two piece suit by Kimberly is available at Brooks of Summit, 410 Springfield Avenue.

KIMBERLY
The Kimberly collection for fall '69 re-discovers the "dress". A welcome note after years of shifts and shells, the dresses are in a variety of shapes. They may be full-sleeved and flared; fitted with a wide midriff and shapely skirt; princess-style; girlish jumper; a long sweater line over a pleated skirt; the softly wrapped surplice of the brisk little pant-dress. These and more.

Pants suits have one thing in common. They drop straight from the hips, slim and tailored. Jackets may be safaris, low-neck tennis sweaters or cut like a full sleeved shirt.

Costumes may be composed of two or three pieces, or may be coat and dress combinations. Low belts and low flared shirts are seen throughout the collection.

Browns and greens set the scene for autumn but there are other bright touches of color, persimmon, glowing reds, apricots and curries. Bloomingdale's, Brooks, Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Hahne, Lord & Taylor, Morris's, Panache, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Tepper.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT — In shades of lilac, green and blue, sharpened with black, Davidow fashions a suit with the new longer jacket and short skirt. Available at B. Altman & Co., The Short Hills Mall.

DAVIDOW
Davidow fashions for Fall '69 project a younger, brighter image than in former seasons. Always immaculately tailored of beautiful fabrics, the styles now have the added plus of livelier colors and more youthful lines.

Wool dresses are topped with easy moving coats, some fitted high and belted, others swinging gracefully. One costume with a grey wool jersey coat dress has a coat of grey, red and white Italian wool plaid.

Another, a black and white plaid coat is companion to a wide belted black wool dress.

Suit jackets go to all lengths, from short cropped, to long, riding-jacket. Skirts have soft folds or pleats and there are a number of pants suits. Several of these have long jackets and easy pants slightly belled.

Fur trims a number of coats, most with their own matching skirts or companion dresses.

GEOFFREY BEENE
Turning back the clock to the beginning of this century, Geoffrey Beene finds inspiration for his collection from that time up through the period following the First World War.

Raglan sleeves in both coats and dresses are one of the signs of the times as are exaggerated dispatch pockets and oblique closings. Cardigan coats and jackets are shown over both pants and dresses.

A new restaurant length in cocktail and dinner gowns reflects the year 1918 and femininity as defined in velvets and satins, lames and brocades, reigns for evening fashions.

ADELE SIMPSON
With today's inveterate traveler in mind, Adele Simpson designs a series of fashions with their own "little overcoats." One vicuna-colored camel's hair coat and skirt has its own foulard shirt. Another grey jersey overcoat pairs with a jumpsuit and satin shirt. Grey is a favorite for the city shirtdress and costume. Dark wool dresses flaunt vivid scarves, pale ones have softly colored scarves. Plaids and tweeds make other daytime city fashions, often with elongated bodices and flip, pleated skirts. Tweed suits have longer jackets and fast moving skirts. Glamorous evening fashions begin with party pants; long of line, and may be a jumpsuit or a shirt-tunic done in shimmering fabrics. A series of gowns are black transparencies, with long bodies, low flares and jewel embroidery touches.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Bonwit Teller, Sara Lewis, Lord & Taylor, Suburban Dress Shop, Saks.

MAM'SELLE
Betty Carol's collection for Mam'selle is based on the premise that the fabric dictates the design. Soft knits and silks adapt to clinging lines; wools and tweeds are tailored into pants costumes or dress and coat costumes. The range of costumes include the dress and jacket, the dress and coat with cuffed pants or the jumpsuit with its coordinated coverup. Dresses are either high-waisted or low with a deeply pleated or flared skirt. Tunic dresses leave the choice—skirt or pants—to the wearer.

At Feller, Hahne, Sara Lewis, Lord & Taylor, Morris's, Saks.

A Suit To Suit Every Taste

The term "suit" covers a variety of fashions this fall. The "classic" suit, the skirt and jacket, newly softened, shares the scene with a number of other versions.

The suit skirt, always mobile, pairs with a long sweater jacket, the blouse on top, the blazer or the swinging, cape style jacket. The sleeveless jacket goes with a long-sleeved, high collared dress, to make another "suit."

The layered look of the season may mean pants with a dress; pants with a tunic, and/or blouse and over all, a coat or longer jacket. Skirt and blouse are apt to be one piece, rather than two, with the matching coat or jacket completing the suit look.

Pantsuits have trim, straight and narrow trousers of assorted lengths—from the ankle, to midi to short. Knickers, leggings and britches are other pants styles.

Jumpsuits, fashioned of soft fabrics and worn under long coats, are the newest of fall's ensembles.

SARMI
Sarmi's talent for creating the completely feminine, elegant and luxurious fashion is demonstrated once again in his fall collection. Concentration on late afternoon and evening dresses, he uses a great deal of black in addition to his favorite pale shades. Silhouettes are varied, from the shape with full sleeves, and full skirt to the narrow-sleeved, bias cut chiffons that cling closely. Sometimes necklines are slashed or scooped deep. Others have the covered-up look, with throats draped in long, narrow fringed scarfs. Luxurious fabrics are used in this "Story Book Doll" collection. Chantilly lace forms an overskirt for a black velvet gown. Laces in other gowns or evening pajamas are hand-painted and re-embroidered in gold. Chiffons, brilliant in color, are perfect foils for jewels. A green crushed velour coat is companion to a green, jeweled gown. Lavishly embroidered "sweater" tops of chiffon or lace have huge skirts of taffeta. A long, black, velvet dress has a black lame coat.

Designer Quotes

DON SIMONELLI: "The idea this year is to look as natural and casual as possible and to expend a lot of effort to look that way."

MOLLIE PARNIS: "Out of the earlier confused search for individual self-expression and change has come the abiding understanding that fashion is the woman's slave, not the other way around."

ELINOR SIMMONS: "Women have forgotten that bit about trying to look like the fellows. It's time to go back to beautiful clothes in the fullest sense of the term."

DAVID KIDD: "There is no more fashion philosophy. Now the thing is fashion psychology. The trends of today merely reflect the relationship of the individual woman to the garment she wears... Clothing has reached new levels of freedom of expression and must be designed to fit the needs of daily living

HELEN LAZAR of KIMBERLY: "I love what's happening to skirts. They are all shapes and widths--and that means BECOMING!"

DONALD BROOKS: "It makes sense to have a long winter coat, and the swashbuckling look of the Regency dandies or stage-coach drivers are amusing and to me a new resource for contemporary clothes. Always, of course, whatever I put underneath is very, very short."

MARILYN LEWIS (for CARDINALI): "... travel is perhaps the most potent force in fashion today. It profoundly affects the shapes, the weight and the compact, intelligent interrelation of clothes."

TIFFEAU

Jacques Tiffeau's undisputed way with suits is demonstrated once again in his collection for fall. In smart tweeds, in bright, hot colors, in combinations such as grey and camel, he fashions suits with longer jackets to the top of the hip like lumber jackets, and short, swinging skirts. One new jacket has a muffler collar and barrel cuffed sleeves. Mix match suits have striped jackets and plaid skirts and are worn with wrapped stoles.

Jumpsuits star in the collection—in the tweed with its own leather sleeveless jacket, or rust colored wool boasting a 7/8 coat lined in brown mole. For the traveler, Tiffeau designs a short pantdress of jersey, collarless, with long sleeves and a buckskin saddle belt. Another "moon-suit" is a two-piece black jersey, with deep V plunge neckline, a silver fox hood and silver fox trimmed short pants.

A series of paisley dresses and others of soft wools and jersey complete the daytime fashions.

For evening, the outstanding styles are of black crepe inspired by the designer bathing suit line which he created for Catalina. One long dress has a tiny bathing suit top with criss-cross straps. Another teams a black stretch bra with side wrapped pants and a black and gold flecked cape.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Feller, Panache, Saks.

A FAVORITE OF THE SEASON — THE SHIRTDRESS — Shannon Rodgers for Jerry Silverman interprets the fashion in luxurious weighty crepe accented with a jeweled belt and buttons. At Hahne & Company, Montclair, Newark, Westfield.

BLITHE SPIRITED PLEATS — Goswami light "Prince of Wales" plaid wool from England has the zingiest skirt of the season — four low pleats springing from the hips. Bert Geiger fashions it in cinnamon and navy, adds the lift of a cinnamon silk bow. Available at Doop's, The Short Hills Mall and East Orange.

MALCOLM STARR

"Starr Shine" aptly describes the Elinor Simmons collection for Malcolm Starr. The gowns and costumes glisten and shimmer, gleam with jewelery. Fabrics are satins, lames, chiffons and brocades.

Short costumes, understated in line, are fashioned of luxury materials. One short dinner dress of satin brocade has its own coat. A group of white wools a la Grecque are embroidered with deep gold borders.

The designer stresses the attraction of illusion rather than nudity. Sheer jersey and chiffon are used for finely draped evening gowns, many with sweeping skirts. One fire red chiffon evening shirt is jeweled at the rolled collar and cuffs.

A long sleeved white wool Empire dress is bordered in white, gold and rhinestone embroidery. Still another has silver bugle beaded fringe shimmering on a white brocade column.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Feller, Hahne, Sara Lewis, Lord & Taylor, Panache, Suburban Dress Shop, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

THE SOFT TOUCH — The fluid feeling of fall clothes extends to jeans, of all things. Here they are satin-stitched and paired with a satin pull-over body shirt. From Lynn Stuart's Pantsville Collection for Mr. Pants. Available later this month at Pants Place, 241 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

HARVEY BERIN

Karen Stark's fall collection for Harvey Berin makes its statement with quiet good taste. Colors include many browns, ambers, greys, rich greens and a glowing Madeira red. Lines are crisp, but skirts are easy and moving and necklines often end in softly rolled funnel collars. Costumes, always a favorite of the designer, put emphasis this season on jackets rather than coats. In varying lengths, they go over dresses, skirts or pants. For evening, opulence begins with French borcades, "Angel Touch" crepes and velvets. Jeweled bodices, necklines and cuffs add the final touches of elegance. Many evening gowns are cover-ups as are pants costumes with tunic tops, but there are others with slashed or deeply scooped necklines.

NARDUCCI

It's the year of the scarf for Narducci. The many versions include the toe-to-toe scarf in wool plaid or silk crepe-de-chine and fringed with silk. Large triangles of self fabric, also silk fringed, are companions to dresses and pajamas and a gigantic silk red paisley shawl, silk fringed, is shown over several fashions.

"Italian tartan", a handsome red and green wool plaid is used for a group of sportswear. Another favorite is worsted gingham check combined with black satin. Art Deco appears in a chiffon-weight wool jersey with a red, black and white abstract houndstooth design.

The silhouette is clinging with pleating shown throughout the collection in dresses, skirts and sleeves. Long jersey pulls emphasis the body and soft blouses define the gentle approach to shaping.

At Altman, Brooks, Hahne, Lord & Taylor, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Tepper's

LARRY ALDRICH

The colors of fall are muted in Marie McCarthy's collection for Larry Aldrich. In fabrics that are rich and varied she favors plum, putty, spinach, grey and black.

Plum and putty combine in one costume and in another a spinach green double breasted coat pairs with a short red dress.

The coat dress, the long jacket over a multi-pleated skirt, the dress belted either high or low, are components of the collection.

For evening the designer translates basically simple styles into glamorous fashion through the use of lush fabrics and jewels. A fly-front gold lame coat dress with low pockets and a Peter Pan collar embroidered with jewels. Another, a chemise, completely covered with silvery bugle beads, has border accents at neck, wrist and hem. A black velvet jumpsuit, for hostess or party-goer, makes its statement of glamour with diamond buttons.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Lord & Taylor, Panache, Suburban Dress Shop, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

THE HAT LINE

Hats for fall follow the feminine line, complementing the fluid, softer fashions of the season.

The Pants Hat—from small caps to wide swinging brims, these styles catch the mood of every pants outfit, and are no longer limited to mannish fedoras.

The Close-to-the-Head Hat — inspired by the thirties, these caps and pill boxes are worn well down on the head and are fashioned of everything from jersey to silk to wool to fur.

The New Swingers — the swinging movement of all fashion is translated into the brim that sweeps upward and off the face; many of these hats have their own swinging scarves and boas.

Escalator Clause — "The longer the skirt, the higher the hat" means the introduction of some higher crowned felts and furs to balance the line of pants and new midi-length coats.

The Palette — Many shades of beige to brown, deep greens, blues and bright red vie for attention with the versatile wine tones.

The Furs — From status mink through the fun furs every kind of fur is represented, done in the new shapes of the season.

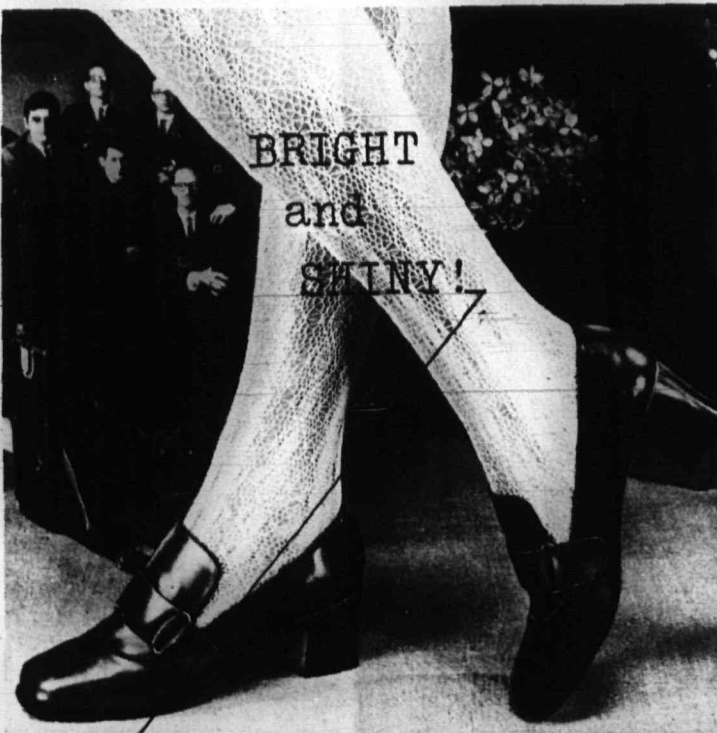

Night Caps — befurred, befeathered, bejeweled, these hats for cocktail and evening affairs are guaranteed for attention-getters.

THE ELEGANT PANTS DRESS — Gayle Kirkpatrick created this melange of multi-colored quilted patchwork on velveteen for one of the most glamorous costumes of the season. At Jelof's, 120 Essex Street, Millburn.

FALL EXCITEMENT — For the season's gay evenings, Chester Weinberg designs the transparent chiffon jumpsuit worked with metallic threads. Fringed scarf makes the after dark long-torso point with its low sling over the hips. Model's couture coiffure match is by Helene Curtis. Available at Elsie Sommer, 11 Scotland Road, South Orange.

Coats-A Happy Combination Of Good Looks and Warmth

Freezing, this winter, will not be mandatory since fashion's decree of three lengths extends to coats. For the sufferer-from-the-cold, ankle length coats are indicated. For the reasonably normal type woman who still doesn't appreciate wintry breezes, the midi should be just right. And for the really rugged (and young) the mini is still in style.

The shaped coat is small on top, semi-fitted through the body and flaring toward the hem. The dirndle coat, still small at the top, has rounded skirt and belted waist.

The swinger is a harbinger of shape to come, with fullness below snug shoulders. The short, full coat goes over pantsuits and jumpsuits.

Capes and cape collars and the elongated sweater shapes are themes throughout the coat collections. Belts appear more and more, from skinny strips of leather through all sizes and materials to the wide self-fabric obis, wrapped high. Fur is used extensively, for collars, cuffs, borders and in smaller pieces, for decorative accents.

The long, long scarf is seen as an accompaniment to many coats. It may be of the coat fabric or of silk, and is designed to be flung dramatically over one shoulder, tied in a big Windsor knot or wrapped around the waist.

FASHION LEADER - VICTOR JORIS for Cuddlecoat leads the anti-establishment rebellion with long coats that dip dramatically from about eight inches above the ground to pavement sweeping levels. This one is in white melton. Available at Morris's, 253 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

RICHARD BLAUNER'S BOUTIQUE

"History is Made at Night" is the title for the George Samen collection for Richard Blauner's Boutique.

The fashions are designed for evening but are fashions with a difference, showing primarily jumpsuits, pants dresses, pajamas and an occasional gown.

A jumpsuit is done in black knit with a detachable black and white brocade skirt. Black and white faille make a party pantdress with dropped waistline and hidden pants. Another pantdress is of black and white "Art Deco" brocade. Contrasting patterns and fabrics make newsworthy separates and a sleeveless reefer coat is designed to be worn over pajamas, jumpsuits or gowns.

PAT SANDLER

Pat Sandler's daytime fashions are contemporary, easy and wearable. Jerseys, gabardines and worsteds are used in dresses and costumes with crisp color contrasts. Black and white are favorite combinations and black and white tweeds are used for coats and costumes.

For dresses, one "basic" silhouette features a high collar, long sleeves and a gathered waist. Variations include the tunic over pants.

Glitter touches enhance the fashions for evening. Dresses and pants costumes are done in sheer sari fabrics, laces, satins, brocades and chiffons. Velvet is used for evening pants costume, often with jewel trim. One white gown has a spaghetti skirt and blouse and a jeweled girdle.

At Altman's, Bloomingdale's, Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Feller, Hahne, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

CHESTER WEINBERG
 "Sweater-soft" is Chester Weinberg's definition of his fashions for fall. Emphasis on the figure is achieved through artful detail, often by the use of different textures together.
 Pants appear throughout the collection, usually as a jumpsuit beneath a companion coat. Jumpsuits for evening are done in sheer fabrics, often printed and shot with metallic threads.
 Weinberg's theme of "earth and its elements" is shown in the selection of fabrics, jerseys, ribbed knits, soft wools and challis. Earth tones are bronzed rust, sand colored neutrals and dark green. Printed velvets for evening are printed like "harlequinades"; black on black, white or a color appears in wool, velvet and satins. Other evening colors reflect the tones of semi-precious stones.
 At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Bonwit Teller, Doop's Sara Lewis, Lord & Taylor, Suburban Dress Shop, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

EXTRA DIVIDEND—The coat of this pantsuit is long enough to look great on its own. Added bonus is matching A-line skirt. Pants are straight leg and ride neatly on hipline. Of 100% herringbone wool in red/beige combination, it is available at Peck & Peck, The Mall, Short Hills.

TRIGERE
 Pauline Trigere makes news with her coats for the coming season. Of tweed, in novel mixtures of colors, they are matched to different dresses, for different occasions. They may top slim little wool dresses, lace or brocades gowns. One "Coachman" plaid may pair with a satin gown or may go over black pants.
 Highlights of the collection include typical Trigere touches—tailored ruffles, petal hemlines, intricate bias cuts and transparent bodices in cocktail fashions. Lace is newly used with brocades and a new doublefaced satin in the collection is midnight blue on one side and black on the other.
 At Doop's, Lord & Taylor, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

SIMPLY STATED—From Agnona, of Italy, the black double-face coat in single-breasted style, wears an air of quiet authority. At Eleganza, 227 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

"CHERBOURG"—Misty Harbor's very contemporary cavalry twill coat boasts two-by-two buttons, top notched collar and cuffs. Weather proof and luxuriously lined, too. Available at Muir's, Summit and East Orange.

MIGNON
 Dorothy Farbo's great interest is in designing clothes that are soft and beautiful. In her collection for Mignon waistlines are marked by design, by belts or gently insinuated. Skirts are often cartridge pleated.
 The designer does a French peasant dress with a velvet bodice; the gypsy look, repeated in vivid prints on velvet, orlon and jersey and a brilliant red crepe de chine, pleated, tucked and tiered. Art Deco dresses are done in blended brocades with circles of color on color.
 Evening fashions go all out for glamour. Sexy see-through chiffons or a black velvet with deep slit neck and side panels of nylon net embroidered with velvet circles are two examples. Mink trims short formal costumes and ball gown costumes in satin or metallic brocades are enhanced with jewels.
 At Doop's Suburban Dress Shop, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

MODELIA

Don Simonelli's collection for Modelia brings with and imagination to the pants suit picture. He tops wide-legged pants with a slim bright tunic under a knee length jacket. Or tops the pants with a long sweater coat with mock turtle collar. A favorite is the pea jacket which goes from thigh-high, to knee, to ankle length.

Maxi coats pair up with a dress, with shorts and top, or pants. Wide belts are a signature of the collection as is a new shaping. In this, four deep inverted pleats start high and swing out wide at the hemline.

Leather and fur are used extensively in both long and short coats. A red coat is bordered in sable-dyed opossum. Another costume has a sleeveless tunic worn over fur chaps of natural raccoon.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Brooks, Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Hahne, Panache, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

FUN WITH FUR
In addition to collars, cuffs, tuxedo fronts and hemline borders touches of fur appear unexpectedly as closings, scarves, pockets and other adornments.

WELCOME...
FALL 1969

Our collection of American Designer clothes is perhaps the largest in the state. From the tailored sports dress to the formal evening gown, from the simple tweed coat to the most Originala, from the casual Damon knit to the sophisticated Cisa, all here, now, for your Fall and Winter wardrobe.

BEN REIG

Suits in the Ben Reig collection are trimly tailored, pretty and feminine. Companions to the blazer-type jackets, seldom belted, are either skirts or pants. Several have both, making a four-part costume. Skirts fall from the hipbone rather than the waist, achieve fullness through inverted pleats or A-line shaping.

Jewel-tone tissue wools and crepes appear in dresses with intricate seaming details, godets and set-in midriff belts. Knife pleats at each side of the skirt are often used to create movement without bulk. Jacket costumes are composed of softly tailored dresses with longer blazer jackets.

Gala gowns accentuate the feminine, with deep plunging necklines, full skirts and clinging fabrics. One flame satin gown has its own brocade coat colored in mink.
At Doop's, Lord & Taylor, Vogue Gowns.

NAT KAPLAN

The dress or costume, simply styled, but with a quietly dressy touch that makes it right for many occasions, is a specialty of Nat Kaplan this season.

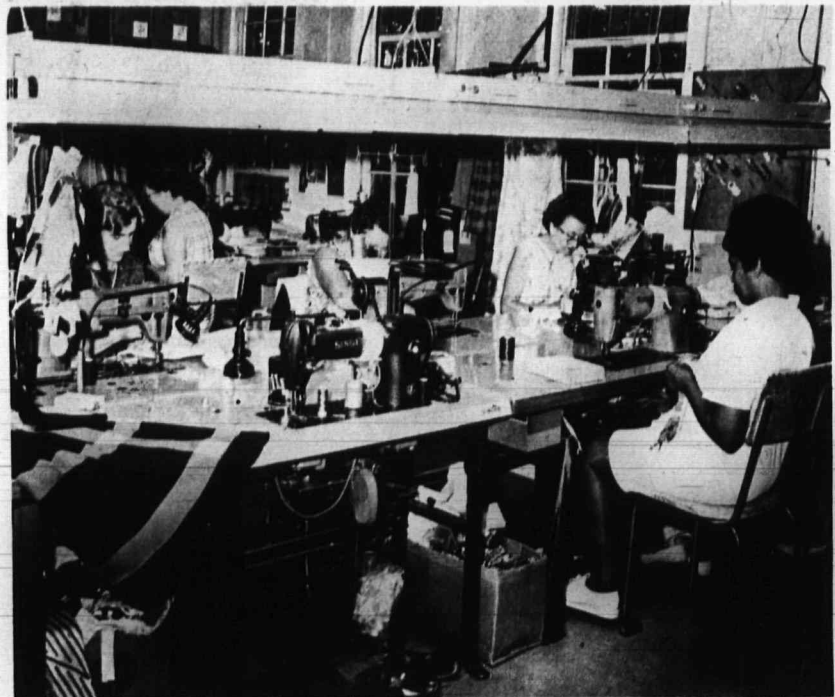

Plaid coats top dresses that take on a festive air when the coat is shed.

For after dark, black velvet combined with gold is a favorite, whether in a dinner dress or dinner pants. Lightweight wools for after dark are shown in glowing colors. One long yellow wool gown with a fringed stole has a jeweled belt. Another of bright red is a dress and jacket costume.

Kaplan's featured fabric this season, shown in cocktail dresses, dinner gowns and a long dress with full length matching coat, is a tapestry brocade, a combination of pink, green and gold on white. Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Lord & Taylor, Suburban Dress Shop, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

JERRY SILVERMAN
Shannon Rodgers' little wool dresses and travel-wise jerseys appear this season in soft pastels or vibrant clear colors.
In addition to these and to the coat and jacket costumes which are Jerry Silverman signatures, there is stress in the collection on the "special occasion" dress.
Youthful and easy, these gowns are done in delicate laces, crepes, satins, brocades and metallics. Many are jacket costumes. Long, elegant gowns range from the understated covered up crepe dinner dress to a glamorous navy and silver brocade.

FUR SUIT — Blackglama from Great Lake Mink is used to fashion a stunning (and warm) costume for winter. At J. M. Holstein Furs, The Mall, Short Hills.

B.H. WRAGGE
Crisp and smartly detailed, the Wragge collection for fall has its signature architectural feeling. Dimensional textures include wide wale corduroy, ribbed knits, printed velvets and wools. Plaid coats team with solid color dresses; a cable knit jumpsuit has a long, long scarf and another achieves the jumper look with a tweed top and schoolboy shirt and striped necktie.

Wragge's innovation this season is Stiches, a collection of knits, in dresses or jumpsuits in lively colors. At Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Feller, Lord & Taylor.

MARQUISE
Two silhouette themes highlight the David Kidd collection for fall. The elongated look, either belted or wrapped, and the loose, flowing fashions that are small at the top and flare to dramatic fullness.

In costumes armholes are small and high whatever the length of the jacket. There are jumpers worn with long sleeved silk or satin blouses. Skirts are always moving and many costumes are topped with precious furs.

Trouser suits claim variety according to their components. While the pants are always slender and tailored, the tops may be long jackets, blouson, belted or wrapped; or capes worn muffled with scarves and completed with tuck-in hoods. Fur trims and fur linings are used often.

The "special occasion" collection highlights velvets in all lengths. Floor length wool coats cover glittering evening pajamas and a reversible white mink short coat is the companion for rose glitter lace pajamas.

At Altman, Bonwit Teller, Panache, Suburban Dress Shop, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

GREAT DANE — A lustrous silk seal coat, fashioned in the trench coat manner, is from Denmark. It is black coffee color, trimmed in matching leather. Available at Bloomingdale's, The Mall, Short Hills.

SAMUEL WINSTON

Whether with its companion coat or jacket, the dress assumes importance in the Roxanne collection for Samuel Winston. Softly shaped, with a high or low waistline, the dress never is cinched at the waist. Sometimes a wide fabric inset defines the waistline and often there is the signature touch, a large decorative motif in ormulu, used as a buckle. Soft lines distinguish the coats and jackets and they are often collarless. Necklines are designed for jewelry, much of it created by the designer herself.

Metallic brocades, printed chiffons and beaded silks are some of the lush fabrics used for evening fashions. Metal brocade evening coats are shown over matching jump suits. Jewel touches enhance the organzas or silk failles of the collection's ball gowns and there are velvets and broadtail velvet used for gowns and evening suits.

At Doop's, Sara Lewis, Lord & Taylor, Suburban Dress Shop, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

The Many Moods of Fall Are Reflected in Footwear

PANTS SHOES
Important in a season when pants a major part of the fashion story. Lines are high and tongues rise above the rest of the shoe, are often curled over, fringed, buckled or chained.

STRAPS
Any number can play in straps for the season's shoes. Instep straps, in multiples, are fastened with little round pearl buttons on the side.

EVENING
Nighttime shoes are beautiful and extravagant. Be-ribboned and be-jeweled, they are fashioned of everything from kid to velvet and satin.

SHAPES
Shoe shapes range from ankle-high to sliver-low. Lines swoop from high-cut back to low front, or vice-versa. Most dramatic is the high, high tongue and high, high heel.

HEELS
Heels go up and down, along with skirt lengths. Wafer slices, wedges, architectural shapes and stacked heels are all shown. Two-and-a-half inches for afternoon or evening shoe heels is the newest trend.

MR MORT
Mort Stan Herman sees the action starting at the hipline. Snugly fitted to that line, skirts take on motion from there down, usually in accordion pleating.
The long torso line appears in dresses and jackets with the sweater shape much in evidence. Ropes of pearls, flying chiffon scarfs and emphasis on the cuffs of tight sleeves, add up to nineteen hundred and twenty something.

Black is a favorite and silver shimmers and shines for evening. Newest colors for the designer are soft and powdery pastels.
At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Bonwit Teller, Doop's, Feller, Lord & Taylor, Saks.

SEW 'N SEW — Sandler of Boston fashions the shoe that stands up front-and-center, with starchy swirls fore and blocky, higher heel-af. At Futter's Shoes, 333 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

THE REGAL "ELIZABETH" — The new molded look high fronted shoe creates a fresh new silhouette, especially great with pants. In genuine alligator and other leathers, on a chic mid-high heel, the shoes are by David Evins. Available at Mr. Jay, 237 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

MAURICE RENTNER
Bill Blass finds a sensible and attractive length for coats in his collection for Maurice Rentner. The boot-skimming, 15/16's length toppers of tweed have big collars and cuffs of fur. Coats come in other lengths, too, ankle length or short and are fashioned of brisk tweeds, often double-breasted and with back belts. Many have companion dresses. The nautical cut collar is a favorite and big scarfs are accessories to most costumes. One camel colored coat with an "X" closing is shown with a checkerboard dress.
Art Deco comes on strong in the evening collection. Transparent chiffons and laces are multicolored, shot with gold or silver. Brocades are equally dazzling and fur trim is used often. One broadtail velvet has double sable hems. Another pants suit of black cut velvet has a fur bordered jacket with fur cuffs for the pants.
At Altman, Doop's, Lord & Taylor, Elsie Sommer, Saks, Vogue Gowns.

Tall Girl Fashions

"Fashions look great on Tall Girls!" All designers agree. However until now, no one has made fashions to fit the tall girl. Clothes . . . Yes. Fashions . . . No. An outfit for a tall girl is more than a question of hemline length. The waistline and pockets must be in the right place. Long sleeves must equal long arms. Height should never be confused with age. Until now most tall clothes have been geared for matrons. Since tall girls come in all ages, styles must be appropriate. Sizes too, since there are tall juniors as well as tall misses.

Martin Berens Tall or Long Waisted Fashions of California is an altogether new concept. It is not "one flight up" or a dingy small corner with limited selections. It is a beautiful store exclusively devoted to fashions for tall girls. It can offer a tall girl everything - lingerie, slacks, coats, dresses, sweaters, skirts, shoes - everything except a tall man!

On a recent trip to California, Mrs. Gertrude Certner, 6'1", checked the classified phone directory hoping to find a tall girl shop offering something different. Of the two stores she found, one had the usual "uniform" clothes to be found everywhere. The other, Martin Berens, offered something new and exciting. For the first time, here were tall girl clothes that were "The Height of Fashion."

A call to Mr. Berens to compliment him on his achievement led to a mutual decision that it was time to bring these California Tall Fashions to the East. Mrs. Certner and her partner, Mrs. Helen Schmidt are now offering these styles at 356 Millburn Ave., Millburn.

Teen Shoe-In

The shoe show for fall has enough stars to please the most particular teenager. Styles are fresh and appealing, full of the dash that is so attractive to the girls.

The mini-monster—high fronted slip-ons in numerous leathers, have extension soles and beefy mid-heels. Great with pants and sportswear.

Boots—the perennial teen favorite are in lengths from ankle to knee-hith, the newest the jodhpur type.

Pumps—now with a softer feeling and pretty touches such as bows, appliques, buckles and gold hardware.

"Pretty girl" footwear, delicately bared or elegantly covered. Leather strapping sandals have jeweled bars and buckles, flowers or appliques.

New higher heels compete with the low broad ones for popularity and toelines are wide and rounded.

MR. PANTS

With 13 years of experience designing pants and sportswear for Mr. Pants, Lynn Stuart qualifies as an expert in the field.

This season's version of pants, either cuffed or uncuffed, is a style that is narrower and straighter, or with slight flares. Waistlines rise higher and pocket detailing is important.

Menswear wool checks and plaids and solid flannels are a hallmark of the collection. Color favorites this season are deep ruby, bottle green and golden yellow.

In the Geo collection a group of tailored wool double knit pants team with vests and blazer jackets. Flannel stitched and satin stitched jeans are worn with contrasting shirts and sashes enhance the trim Pantsville junior pant collection.

In the Mister Skirt line, the skirts are easy, pleated, wrapped or buttoned. Coats and jackets range from blazer to maxi length in the LGS collection.

The collection for evening stars satin, chiffon, metallic knits and panne velvets. Wrap tunics are sashed over flowing pants and long border-print satin shirts or skinny fitted metallic knit tops are worn over coordinate pants.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Brooks, Feller, Hahne, Lord & Taylor, Saks.

SIMPLY BEAUTIFUL — Quiet good taste is apparent in this wedding gown of silk-faced satin by Galina. The jewel neckline and long bishop sleeves are enhanced with pearl-beaded Alencon lace. A-line skirt has an attached court train. Available at Lillian O'Grady, 20 Woodland Avenue, Summit.

BRILLIANT KNIT — This exciting flame red knit coat ensemble with fly front and mandarin collar was designed by Gino Paoli. Available at Herman Gold's, 358 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

ANNE KLEIN

Crisp tailoring, vivid colors and a spirit of youth marks Anne Klein's collection for fall.

Highlights are the jacket lengths, the pants, the full coats. Elongated jackets are fitted, often show only two or three inches of skirt below. Blazers, a perennial favorite with the designer, are more shaped and longer than ever.

Pants are narrow and straight, carrying out the long feeling and knickers are worn with long sweaters or elongated vests. Jumpsuits are usually belted in leather and accented by little watch pockets.

Bulky coats, sometimes wool, sometimes fur, top long-lined dresses. One coat of shiny brown vinyl is companion to a white ribbed knit dress. Another of black vinyl with fur collar and cuffs is worn with matching pants and white blouse.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Bonwit Taylor, Doop's, Sara Lewis, Lord & Taylor, Penache, Elsie Sommer, Saks.

SUZY PERETTE

The skirts in the Victor Costa collection for Suzy Perette achieve fashionable fullness via low pleats or dirndl fullness. Tops follow the long line, tailored or softly draped.

Costumes are often comprised of tweed skirts and long stoles, worn with a solid color blouse. Jumpers are much in evidence, made from many materials. A group of "winter violet" wool dresses are strictly tailored, with low necklines and trapunto borders.

For glamorous evening, it's all-out for velvet in jump suits, dinner suits, restaurant dresses and long gown. Satin touches spark these fashions. Also for evening there is a group of metal brocades, combining soft colors with gold, silver or copper. These are designed on Oriental lines or have high shaped bodices with scoop necks and sunburst pleated skirts.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Brooks, Bonwit Taylor, Doop's, Feller, Hahne, Lord & Taylor, Suburban Dress Shop, Saks, Tepper's.

Fashions for the Younger Set Are Both Pretty and Practical

Pretty and practical fashions for the sugar and spice set are everywhere for fall of '69. Whether for play, school or party, little girl's fashions are trim and neat.

The layered look of older fashions invades the young world. At its most simple, it is pants and a dress. At its fullest, it may be a turtle neck jumpsuit, topped by a wrapped skirt or culotte, a full length knit vest and a jacket.

Mother's favorite knits have sifted down to the younger generation where their comfort and practicality please both mother and daughter. Sweater dresses may be the simplest of designs or may have the illusion of separates, with set-in dickeys and contrasting sleeves.

The shirtdress is another favorite, cut closer to the body this year, gently shaped for a softer look and more comfort. Pleats of every variety provide grace and free movement.

Coats of broadcloth, melton and fleece vie in popularity with those of "fabulous fake" fabrics. These imitate everything from cheetah to beaver, crushed lamb and opossum.

Real fur is seen on an increasing number of little girl coats, for hemlines as well as cuffs and collars.

CLASSROOM CLASSICS — Polly Flinders dresses of woven plaid, cut on the bias and hand smocked, are perfect for school. Added plus is permanent press. Available at Brooks of Summit, 410 Springfield Avenue.

JOSEPH LOVE

Gypsy colors, pants dresses and the French schoolgirl look are all starred in the Joseph Love collection for little girls.

A wildly colorful and gay collection of prints, florals and border prints has the added fillip of kerchief and coins. This gypsy styling is done in school dresses as well as play clothes.

Pants dresses, pretty and practical, are firmly entrenched in the young fashion scene. Whether in a walking suit or a Victorian lace dress over velveteen pants or sunburst pleated pants under a tunic, they make up a big part of a young wardrobe.

The feminine enchantment of the French schoolgirl look is captured in a group of Love knits. One, of cranberry color, has white soutache trim at the deep-V neck, long puffy sleeves and long torso pleats. Another with a red rib knit vest has a wallpaper print skirt and a white lace trimmed blouse.

HELEN LEE

The patchwork look, the long-pull line, the stretched out muffler — in fact, most of the signatures of grown up fashions, are spelled out in miniature for the Helen Lee collection for little girls.

Variation on the current themes include the gad-about dress with shorts to match; the neat little button-down shirt-dress with a scarf pulled through the collar and tied in front and the dirndly patchwork gingham skirt mated to a white pique blouse.

Dresses in the collection are keyed to a group of Helen Lee coats. These are in styles ranging from a semi-fitted red melton bordered with natural Kit fox to a swifty A-line in navy diagonal weave wool with a high round collar.

ALYSSA

Alyssa's collection of children's fashions for fall features those mothers' delights — the no-iron cottons, machine-washable bonded acrylic knits, silk and polyester mixtures, hurt-proof corduroys and permanent press plaids.

The magic number seven can make a wardrobe — seven interchangeable parts, a zipped-up jumpsuit, a pleated skirt, a lace-edged white blouse, a little buttoned-up vest, a trim jacket, a jumper top and a pair of tailored slacks.

In the dress category there are new low-flared models, with white smocking against dark cotton or others, bias cut and low sashed.

A IN ADDITION — The layered look adds up to fashion in Pandor's school clothes for fall. Topping a plaid pants skirt of bonded wool and nylon are a turtle neck sweater and longer vest-cardigan, both of orlon acrylic. At The Younger Set, 326 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

ADDING UP FASHION
Layered look mounts up to extra fashion this fall.

FOR SLEEPING
Stretch terry and matte jersey sleepers are popular, and for variety there are quilted jumpers over pajamas, tailored wraparounds with matching gowns, sheer culottes over bra-and-bikini sleep sets, and slinky long nightshirts in stretch nylon.

GOING VERSATILE
Tunics show their fashion power in styles to be worn over a sweater, a blouse, a skirt or pants—or as a dress.

WARMING SHOULDERS
To keep shoulders warm and smart, fall offers an array of little fling-ons, such as ponchos in fur or fabric.

HOW LONG?
And what about lengths, where are they moving to? Hemlines show no decided preference for going down. Rather, the length-that-suits-you seems to rule. Short lengths prevail, with midi and maxi (mid-calf to ankle) lengths, appearing, too.

FLATTERING GIRLS
Fur flatters little girls as well as their mothers, this fall. Young styles include all-fur rabbit coats and fabric coats lavishly trimmed with raccoon.

ADD IT UP
Accessories are the signature of the young fashion look for fall '69. In addition to the scarf, there are belts, berets, body jewelry of the chain variety, knee socks and patterned or opaque pantyhose, cut-out shorts and other gloves and handbags galore, to add it all up.

HEAD OF THE CLASS — A back-to-the-books outfit that gets high marks is Alyssa's wide wale corduroy suit. Gold buttoned jacket in beige has a navy and beige block pattern cotton blouse to team with an A-line skirt or bell bottoms. At Young Innocents, 44 Main Street, Millburn and Bay Head.

JEUNESSE
George Samen's collection for Jeunesse makes news through his combinations of contrasting fabrics and patterns. A gunmetal grey corduroy coat teams with a grey metallic brocade; wine colored corduroys make the scene for evening as well as daytime dresses; coatint fabrics are used for dresses which may be also worn as coats.

Inspired by the "Roar of the Twenties," Samen's newest silhouettes, has a long torso, ending in a flip skirt, bias flare or gathered bubble.

Evening fashions may be in the covered up manner, as in the blond satin empire gown with cuffs of white feathers. Others, such as the brown see-through chiffon with bare bosom, are deliberately seductive.

At Altman, Bloomingdale's, Brooks, Faller, Hehne, Lord & Taylor.

HATTED FOR FALL
Hats are soft for both sport and dress wear this fall. Softly drimmed, curvy felts complete city ensembles, and squashy knitted or crocheted berets top the sports scene.

ANIMAL-ESE
Animal imitations in deep or furry piles appear both as trim and as complete coats.

Fall Brings a New Look To Menswear Fashions

A fresh new look and many style innovations highlight men's fashions for fall of '69.

A variety of double-breasted, shaped single-breasted and bold "country patterns" are available. Updated blues and grays should be among the most popular colors in both suits and tailored sportswear.

Easiest way to tell this year's model from past year's will be by starting with the once-prosaic business suits, with lapels which are definitely wider than any since those of the 1940's. The more generously proportioned lapels are found on both single- and double-breasted models and reach their widest measurement on elegant Edwardian interpretations.

"Shape" at the waist line has reached the mass acceptance level, as both mature and young men prefer this new, flattering silhouette. Along with shape and wider lapels, the new suits have been slightly lengthened in order to maintain proper balance.

Both traditional and fashion suits have been influenced by these changes. Those formerly far-apart concepts have also adopted deeper vents, and some suits in both types have higher armholes that accentuate the close-fitting look.

Stripes are the up-and-coming pattern for Fall. Striped fabrics include both classic and novelty patterns and range from subtle pin stripes to bold, multi-colored, cluster stripes. The always popular glen plaids and smart windowpane plaids are due to share the style spotlight.

With grays among the leading fashion colors, it is no surprise that fine worsted flannels are making a comeback. Some of the newer flannels incorporate several colors in their yarns to create mixey looks of greater depth. The textured effects are also found in "twist" yarns used to weave both plain and patterned fabrics.

FUR: FASHION OUTLOOK FOR FALL - For today's fashion-liberated male, Roots offers almost every look in fur, from fabulous fakes to the real thing: rabbit, muskrat, South American lamb and nutria as well as shearing leathers and suedes. Roots, 401 Springfield Avenue, Summit.

Boot Styles, Blunt Toes On Shoe Scene

In keeping with the trend, there is a return of heavily embossed Scotch grains in some of the beefier brogues, making them perfect for wear with popular tweeds and country suits.

Boot styling ranges from ankle-high chukkas to others that are high enough to cover the calf. In order to facilitate donning these long boots, many are equipped with zippers concealed in the seams.

The broad and blunt look has influenced the classic business shoe and heavier brogues as well. The broader toes of those styles, while less extreme than some of the others, provide a distinctly updated look.

FOR THE YOUNG SPORT - Buckled strap boot by Buster Brown provides comfort and long-lasting durability for play or school. Available at Nee Dell's, 386 Springfield Avenue, Summit.

'Fashion Flubs'

For the fashion-conscious man who would like to be considered in the well-dressed category, or for the man who just prefers not making a fashion gaffe, Hart Schaffner & Marx has outlined the most common "fashion flubs".

1. The leg show is out of fashion for suits. Wear over-the-calf hose to close the gap between shoe and trouser.
2. In shoes, the pointed jobs have been supplanted by square-toed models.
3. Maybe you shouldn't wash your dirty linen in public, but there IS a time for showing it. And the jacket cuff is one place. Amount varies with taste, but one-half inch is a good average.

4. Pattern-with-pattern is great but you can overdo a good thing. Stick to two patterns only, and try to make one of them less dominant.

5. There's a jacket shortage obvious here. It's too short in the seat as well as the sleeves. Makes it look outgrown.

6. Narrow ties have gone, by the boards. Now they begin at 3 1/2 inches and go all the way up to 5 1/2.

7. Narrow lapels are gone, too. Here again width varies, depending mostly on style involved. The range is roughly 2 3/4 to 3 3/4 inches at the widest point.

8. Yokel look is achieved with wrong hat style and size. Brim width and crown height need to be adjusted to each wearer's facial configuration.

THE COUNTRY ATTITUDE

- can be shown in city, also, when the suit is our three-button model with soft shoulders, natural trousers, and neatly traced waist. The country-oriented "barleycorn" fabric will present an equally vigorous appearance in suburb or office. Now waiting inspection in the heartiest shades of fall. ## FASHION ADDITION --

The total look of men's fashions begins with the shaped suit, but that is just a start. Other components of the whole are equally important for the well dressed man.

Wider ties. They're broader throughout, both at the base and at the shank. This makes for a larger knot, another feature that coordinates with shaped clothing. Tie width begins in the neighborhood of 3 3/4 inches and on up.

Spread-collar shirts. The wider collar is necessary to accommodate that bigger tie knot. Darker and bold tones, properly chosen, emphasize shape. Tapered shirts avoid extra fabric at the waistline.

Wider belts. Skinny belts look out of place when other components have more breadth.

Hats with turned-up brims. They have a slight dip in front. Extra brim curl at the head level is a finishing touch. The homburg also can be worn with shape.

Broad-toed shoes. The pointed jobs are out for shape. Ankle-high boots are good for shape, too. Straps, buckles and other hardware are a good choice.

Shiny Season For Outerwear

Shiny - shaped - long. Those are the fashion words that describe the new styles of men's outerwear for fall.

The popular shiny, wet look is achieved in vinyls or crepe nylon that is used in the shells of the insulated jackets and snow coats.

The "shape theme," which is so strong in other facets of men's fashion this fall, is equally pronounced in outerwear with the "long look" used to good advantage in outerwear jackets.

Among the most popular and colorful wool overshirts are waist-length jackets deriving their details from both military and Western garments, and dressy woolen coats in mid-thigh-lengths. New ideas include stadium coats in bold, super-windowpane plaids and ultra-district checks called "Stadium Plaids," and a revival of the colorful, nubby, Donegal tweeds for use in both short and long coats.

In maxi-lengths and shorties, single- and double-breasted, belted and shaped, the leather coats and those made of leather-like vinyls meet all of the season's style guides.

Among the most popular of the leather coats are double-breasted trench coat models. Some are in maxi-lengths with pile linings and pile collars, looking very much like the World War I aviator's coat. Some eliminate the pile trimming and are knee-length.

Classic garments like the nautical pea coat and the CPO shirt have come ashore with the use of bold checks and plaids and bright colors. Safari coats, long associated with the African plains and forests, have been "winterized" with heavier fabrics and lined with either wool or pile fabrics. Those safari coats or bush coats are another classic style that is given new meaning by way of new treatments.

No look at outerwear is complete without consideration of the multitude of skiwear jackets. This year the usual nylon fabrics have been joined by the shiny crepes and the seemingly endless number of waistlengths, longer "instructor coats," reversibles and colorful prints similar to those that decorate summer slacks and beach coats.

BIG Is the Word

For Season's Hats

There's a new hat on the horizon, described in just one word - big. Big in brim, big in crown and big in fashion.

Styles range from the dressy, businesslike, broader-brimmed versions of today's "shaped" hats to some that are actually modified Westerns and that take their shape from the favorites of the plains.

Men's shoes for fall feature broader toes and show a trend to straps rather than laces.

Boots and the boot-look also rate high and shades of "true brown," chestnut and burnished brass make a bid to replace black as the leading shoe color.

STRONG STATEMENT - Two-button sport coat in bold plaid has slightly suppressed waist and ticket pocket. Available at Mr. E, 335 Millburn Avenue, Millburn.

MAXI-OVERCOAT - Trim double-breasted model with high-standing collar has style and flair for young crowd. It's worn with brown wool slacks and brown leather gloves. At Martin Eastman Ltd., Millburn Avenue corner Main Street, Millburn.

SOLID COMFORT - A two-eyelet demi-boot with crepe soles and suede top is a sure way to happy walking. Available at Harrison Brothers, The Short Hills Mall and Montclair.

The big butterfly bowtie - the floppy shape - that became popular so fast this spring, has been particularly strong in velvet for formalwear.

Knit dress shirts, especially those of dacron tricel, may soon be a big item because of good looks and thorough comfort. They stay crisp and fresh through a day's wearing.

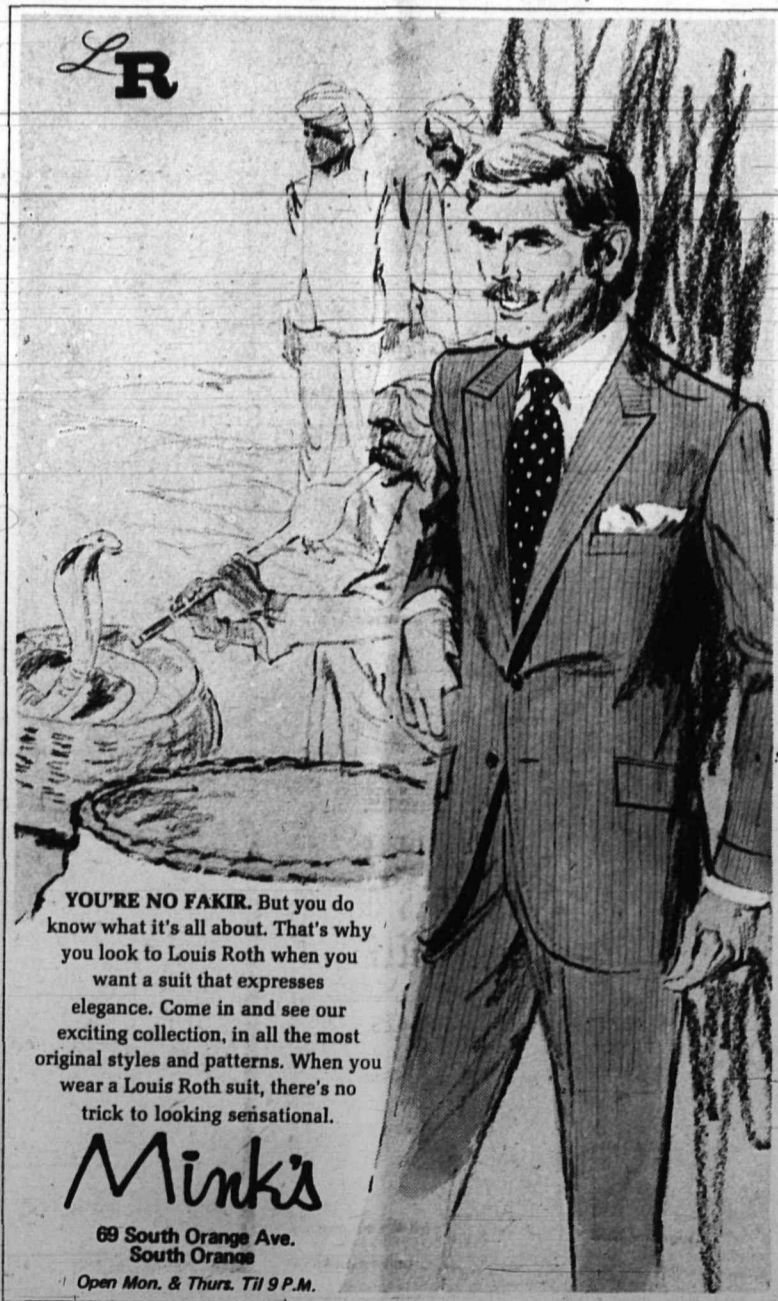

While sunglasses are not classified as apparel, they are certainly in fashion favor these days. As the volume of business is almost twice what it was in 1968, it seems they are bought for their "look" as well as for practical purposes.

Fall's Slacks and Sweaters Make a Fashionable Duo

There are three basic fashion innovations in men's sweaters for Fall. They include a new silhouette, a new style detail and the return of the argyle as a fresh pattern idea.

The favored silhouette this season is longer and closely fitted to the body. It goes perfectly with knit or leather belts, worn at or below the waistline.

Matching sets of sweaters and slacks in which the woven fabrics of the trousers pick up the basic color of the knits are another style idea of great promise. Popular slacks styles this season include "flares" which are about an inch wider at the bottom than they are at the knee, and "stovepipes" which are somewhat wider at the knee and fall in a straight line to the bottoms.

In sweaters, the featured knits are collared coat sweaters, six-button cardigans and sweater vests. Sweater shirts are available in a wide variety of collar treatments that include crew-necks, boat-necks, V-necks, mock-turtles, turtlenecks and collared crew-necks.

Classic renditions of pullovers in both plain and fancy stitches are always important. These include flat knits, cables, popcorns, intarsias and the big, bulky ski knits.

Among the more popular sweater looks this Fall are updated versions of the "layered look"—which means wearing one knit or another. The current trend is to combine patterned with plain sweaters. Possible combinations are almost infinite.

Coordinated sweater and slack outfits are very much in the "fashion mood" for Fall. Pre-planned or put together at the whim of the wearer, they have a stylish, casual look for suburban, country or any off-duty wear.

Patterned slacks continue to grow each season. There are both bold and subdued stripes, contrasty windowpanes, glen plaids and some very tweedy Donegals and herringbones.

The avant-garde group might try slacks of real leather and others of vinyl that simulates leather. Slacks enthusiasts will also find more knitted slacks available this Fall. The knits, usually made of blends of polyester-wool, retain their crease, shed wrinkles and have a built-in recovery factor that deters "bagging."

HOW TO TIE A SCARF

Scarves are "in." Whether worn neckerchief style like those of the navy gobs, bandana style similar to those of the working cowpoke, or ascot style in the familiar sportswear version, scarf is a symbol of the fashion-conscious male. This season, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, scarves will be seen in patterns as well as solid colors, in many fabrics and various sizes.

Some scarves are finding their way into the dress-up category, replacing four-in-hand ties with Regency and Edwardian suits. In those instances, they are tied the same as the ties they replace.

With the return of the flowing scarf to the dressy scene, neckwear has completed a full cycle. The "cravat," or necktie, originated with a Croatian regiment in the Napoleonic Wars. After a significant victory the troops of that regiment wore strips of cloth knotted about their necks as a token of their success.

From that gallant beginning, the cravat progressed through many shapes and forms. The black neckerchief worn by enlisted men of the U.S. Navy originated in the British Navy where it was instituted as a mark of mourning at the death of Admiral Lord Nelson.

No great expertise is required to tie a scarf correctly. In all cases the square scarf is folded into a triangle and then folded or rolled until it is approximately two-inches wide, before knotting or using a slip fastener.

ASCOT—to wear as an ascot requires only a simple overhand knot.

APACHE—the neckerchief worn "apache" style can be either relatively snug about the neck or knotted at the level of the first shirt button below the collar, or even worn with the knot well down on the chest. It has become general practice to pull the two ends through a ring or a specially made cylinder, rather than tie a square knot.
