GERARD LOSES DUAL CONTROL

KENWORTHY A "LIAR AND DOUBLEHEADER" DECLARES COMMISSIONER CARRAGHER

Department Headed By Mayor's Brother-In-Law Is "Rotten" Adds The Fighting Commissioner—"Mock Heroics" Says Mayor

Personalities flew thick and fast Tuesday afternoon at a conference of Belleville Town Commission. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and Commissioner Frank J. Carragher, who is known as the battling commissioner, were the principals in an argument over whether the Building Department of which the Mayor's brother-in-law, Matthew Richards is head, had the right to issue a permit for a factory in Ralph street.

The squabble waxed so heated that Carragher left his seat and closed in on the Mayor calling Kenworthy "a liar and a doubleheader" and "I can prove you one."

This statement was in no particular reference, being taken by most to cover a general situation that has aroused Carragher against the Mayor ever since the Mayor "talked Carragher out" of being Mayor and in lieu of this handed Carragher the Department of Street and Public Improvements which Carragher alleges the Mayor was instrumental in also taking away from him to give him the Department of Parks and Public Property.

Everybody in the conference room had misgivings that more than mere words would fly, but Kenworthy eased the tense situation for a moment when he charged Carragher was using "mock heroics."

"That is a $1.50 word," said Carragher. "The Building Department is rotten. The whole thing is rotten."

"It is no more rotten than your department. You don't even keep the windows in the Town Hall clean," said the Mayor.

"Don't say I'm rotten," said Carragher, mistaking the remark.

He later said he would see that every window in the Town Hall gets a cleaning except the Mayor's.

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters started the ball rolling when he said thirty-four property owners in Ralph street object to the permit for this factory which makes chemicals and doesn't employ even two men.

"This factory was refused a permit in Nutley," said Waters. "Why should we allow them to come in here?" The Building Department had no right to issue the permit before it knew what kind of a factory was coming.

He said he would stand for protecting home owners rights in the Ralph street section and the rights that will come to the town from the "half million dollar improvement" the parkway will make there. He added the company, the Morris Reade Company, Inc., only intends to put up a factory fifty feet by 100, a small affair that would spoil the entire neighborhood. At present the company is manufacturing in an old barn and hay loft near Eastwood Wire Manufacturing Company plant, a short way from where the new building is planned. Reade is a former district clerk of Nutley schools.

A resident of Forest street appeared before the board with counsel, Charles Rogers of Belleville, to protest against assessment for two lots he owns, one being twenty-five feet and the other twenty feet. The owner pointed out he has a neighbor who owns two similar lots from one of which he purchased from the neighbor two feet so as to make a forty-seven foot wide building lot. The owner has gone ahead, recorded deeds for the change and started to build. He finds he is now assessed for forty-five feet, the town neglecting to change the frontage. Of consequence his loans have been "tied up" because he cannot get clear title to his additional two feet.

Commissioner James Gibson said he would not do anything about it until corporation Counsel John B. Brown returns next Monday from a business trip.

"Why don't you come in and see me about it?" asked Gibson.

"See you? We've been trying for

A Social Scoop

Did you ever see the big dog Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy owns? It's a beauty, and strong? Oh boy!

The Mayor was out tugging it along last Sunday near the home of School Commissioner James L. De Rosset. There is nothing wrong in that, now, is there? Just about that time along came School Commissioner John P. Maher in the automobile of another man and the Mayor, De Rosset and Maher had a chat. In the light of school affairs this is a good social note.

a year," said the lawyer

"Well I can't do anything about it now," replied Gibson.

The owner left the room declaring he would sell all his property in Belleville at a loss if he got no more cooperation than had been accorded him.

Vincent Del Guercio was named a constable in the First Ward. A request from the Belwood Park Improvement Association protesting against a large sign there was referred to Brown. The Association asked that all signs be barred from the neighborhood in the future.

The board extolled at length on the efforts of Deputy Director of Public Safety William F. Entreklin, whose resignation was accepted.

Commissioner William D. Clark who appointed Entreklin said the loss would be a severe one to the town. He attributed much of the progressive work in the police and fire departments to him. Entreklin said he had willingly given his nights and days gratis on the job but finds he now should give more attention to his family and less to the town.

Carragher added that Entreklin had saved the town considerable money and that work of this nature without pay should be appreciated.

A suggestion from Carragher that the afternoon conference be placed on the taboo list was frowned upon. Carragher said the troubles of the board should be aired at the regular meetings.

Mr. Mason Please Note!

Star chamber sessions—executive meetings—or what have you seem to be a common affair with the school board these days. Once in a while they leak out.

One was held at 7 o'clock Monday night in the high school. Needless to say Watson Current and Paul J. H. Hollberg were not on hand. What transpired has not yet become public property. Maybe no action was taken.

Recreation Leaders Introduce Handicraft

A class in handicraft is the new project about to be introduced into the Recreational system. Never before has the Commission conducted classes of this sort except on the summer playgrounds. On Tuesday evening, March 5, the class will start, membership being open to women.

Miss Gladys Holmes, who has had considerable experience in this particular line of work, will be the specialist in charge. Miss Holmes supervised the handicraft on Belleville playgrounds last year and brought about remarkable results from children having had little previous training and practically no artistic ability.

"Pat" Fort Flies Over New Orleans

Threatens To Become The Only Auto Dealer Pilot In Belleville

"Pat" Fort, Belleville's hustling and progressive Nash automobile dealer, is in the sunny south flying in airplanes over New Orleans, La.

"Am on a little vacation," writes "Pat."

Recently he became air-minded and that accounts for his airplane trips in the south. He motored down, but could not withstand the lure of the lighter than air machines and hence the flying.

Rumor has it that "Pat" has hied himself off to the south to take up flying at Kelley Field in San Antonio, Texas. He threatens to become the only automobile dealer airplane pilot in Belleville. Already he knows the feel of the controls up in the clouds were the wires whistle "Nearer My God to Thee."

But Belleville Nash owners and prospects have no fear, "Pat" will be back here shortly and just as loyal as ever to the Nash.

Montclair Class Visits Belleville

The Everyman's Bible Class of Montclair will be guests of the Belleville class next Sunday morning. O. R. Ebel, leader of the Belleville class has announced that his topic for the morning talk will be "Life's Pros and Cons."

The two classes are about to engage in another attendance contest and the joint session next Sunday is expected to get the men enthused and "pepped up" for their work which will begin the following Sunday. A large attendance of the Belleville fellows is urged.

Child Able To Speak After Removal Of Walnut

Doubts that Joyce Shannon, seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shannon of Bremond street would be able to speak again after undergoing three operations in three days for the removal of half and English walnut from her right lung have been dispelled.

"Joyce can talk and is doing nicely," it was stated at Presbyterian Hospital, where she is a patient.

The operations followed an attack of pneumonia due to the oil which emanated from the nut. They were performed three weeks ago by Dr. Henry Orton of Newark.

Silver Lake Kicked Out Of Council On School Athletics

Angelo Dominick With Other Current Appointees Get "The Gate"

The five-man athletic council which Watson Current named in January when he was president of the Board of Education and which received opposition from John P. Maher, president now, is no more. Mrs. Judson K. Stickle opposed naming of the council for a year and on this hinged its going out of existence Monday when Maher saw fit to name a new three-man group, before the others had a chance to operate.

Maher's words in effect were that he is now sitting on top of the heap and he recalled to Current's mind that Current had told him to take a "back seat" when the original council was named.

On the original council were Charles Kelly, Angelo Dominick, August Plenge, Thomas W. Fleming and William H. Williams. All got "the gate" except Plenge, who now has with him Bernice Begeman and Charles Tate. The latter is usually picked as publicity chairman on Mayor Kenworthy's so-called citizens' committee.

In Silver Lake there is no end of resentment because Dominick, a Lake resident, was thrown into the discard. Many residents there feel that the section has received a slight in the form of the ouster of one of their residents who had been accorded a place in school-dom's athletic realm.

Current asked the Board to at least discharge his committee but this did not meet with approval at first. Current was finally granted permission to notify his council that they just plain "aint."

He said he would do so pointing out that he, personally, would have felt it an insult to the members if they had not been notified in some official way that their services—which never actually started—had been terminated.

SUPERINTENDENCY OF SC HOWEVER, STILL REMAINS UNDER HIS CONTROL

With utter disregard to the wishes of citizens who appeared Monday night before the school board protesting against the screws that have been clamped on Superintendent George R. Gerard, three members of the body took from Gerard the dual control as superintendent and principal in Belleville.

The citizens through William W. Stewart, asked that the action be held up one week so that a petition in the matter could be submitted.

"I am informed," said Mr. Gerard "that I cannot accept as final the action of the board."

"Hooray for Mr. Gerard," shouted someone and three cheers went up. "Hooray" again.

"You mean you wish to retire?" queried president John P. Maher.

"No, sir. I cannot accept the action as final."

"You mean to say you refuse to relinquish the job?" asked Commissioner James L. De Rosset.

"I am acting on advice of counsel," replied the superintendent.

Charles L. Steel, Jr., who acted as vice-principal of the high school and chemistry teacher, was made a principal until June 3 under his present contract.

Anticipating trouble a policeman was detailed to maintain order. After the meeting Maher made it appear his presence was needed when he told the policeman to disperse the angry citizens who accused Maher and De Rosset, of "playing ball" with the Mayor to "get Gerard." De Rosset, who lives near the Mayor, was appointed at the last board meeting to replace Edward C. Kennedy, whose term expired. Kennedy, it is said, could have held his place in the board if he had a desire to play along with Mrs. Judson K. Stickle and Maher, also Kenworthy appointees.

Stewart's appeal to be heard came only after a debate with Maher who said he was out of order. Stewart said he desired to speak for the citizens who next week would submit a lengthy list opposing the board's plans.

"Do I understand you refuse to allow me to speak as a citizen on this important matter?" asked Mr. Stewart.

A hurried conversation of the triumvirate resulted in Stewart's voice being heard.

The only logical excuse for separating the jobs was submitted by Mrs. Stickle who said the time had come when the work is too much for one man in the dual capacity.

Watson Current, whose scalp along with Gerard's, is said to be the political aim of the triumvirate, warned that to take away one of the jobs would be to break the three-year contract which Mr. Gerard was given a year ago. He added that it would lead the town into costly litigation and the individuals responsible for breaking the contract may be held personally liable.

Current drove home to the satisfaction of the citizens that to avoid the litigation legal advice should be obtained on the resolution which by "its terms breaks the contract."

He said the board owes protection to taxpayers in a matter of such import.

Mrs. Stickle submitted the resolution with a list of others. De Rosset promptly backed them all up with a second and the pair received Maher's support. Current and Paul J. H. Hollberg stood firm for Gerard.

"If there are any complaints against Mr. Gerard let them come out," said Hollberg.

At this point someone passed a remark not to the liking of Maher who said "no more side remarks."

"Pardon me," I didn't know you heard it," was the retort.

Gerard warned that it will cost about $3,000 to hire a chemistry teachers' Committee, which is headed lution of Mrs. Stickle. would mean that much year to replace Steel in

The first stipulation was to take away his previous method chers. Now a standard plication will be used to the Business Manager James J. Turner, and over to Gerard for his everything is approved cher's Committee, which by Mrs. Stickle.

Clock With A Radio Set Keeps Washington Tim

HERE is a clock which includes a radio set so adjusted as to receive time signals direct from the Arlington Naval Radio Station at 12 noon and at 10 p. m. daily.
Thus, automatically, the correct time is always available. Moreover, with this clock as a master, the frequency of the electric current on the light and power circuits of Public Service Electric and Gas Company is regulated, permitting the use of telephon-ic and similar clocks in the home with the assurance of "observatory time"
once the clocks are correctly set.

Public Service has installed the radio clock in the Load Dispatcher's office in the Newark Terminal Building, the observation point from which the generation and distribution of electric current is controlled throughout the company's system. Thus, all the clocks on the electric property are kept in unison with the master time-piece. In the photograph, the radio set will be seen at the top.

The radio clock is a New Jersey product, being made by the Radio
Electric Clock Corporation at Linden.

Tax Exemption For Life Insurance

A bill has been introduced before the present New Jersey Legislature which if enacted will put life insurance proceeds, when payable under a deed of trust, in the class of property exempt from the New Jersey Transfer Inheritance Tax.

This bill was designed to change
the law as laid down in the case of Fagan vs. Bugbee, Comptroller—decided by the New Jersey Supreme Court on December 6, 1923, which in effect holds that proceeds of life insurance policies payable to a trustee under a trust agreement created by the insured, are taxable as part of the insured's estate at his death.

Senator Joseph G. Wolber, who presented the bill, when interviewed, said, "It is difficult to see why the proceeds of life insurance policies, the income of which are payable to a widow and the income to the children after the widow's death, and the principal to the children at specified ages, should be taxable any more than if the widow or the children had received the insurance monies direct. The intervention of a trustee and the use of the income of the trust and the postponement of the payment of the principal should not cause taxation any more than if named beneficiaries took the money directly."

"While the legal theory of the inheritance Tax Law is that the tax imposed upon the transfer from the decedent to the beneficiaries, in reality the inheritance Tax is a tax upon the property which the decedent leaves, payable by the beneficiaries who receive same by virtue of decedent's death, and it cannot be said that proceeds of life insurance policies and the funds resulting therefrom which come into existence only at the death of the decedent should be taxed as part of his estate because he never owned the same."

Senator Wolber went on to say that he had presented the bill at the instance of the Legislative Committee of the New Jersey Bankers Association of which Thomas H. Stephens, President of the Bank of Montclair,
is Chairman. "I feel," said Senator Wolber, "that this bill will have a far reaching influence and if enacted will be of inestimable benefit to the residents of New Jersey."

J. Fisher Anderson, Counsel for the New Jersey Bankers Association, collaborated with Senator Wolber in the preparation of the bill.

Even though motorists persist in toppling over Belleville's new safety fences they add an appearance of "big time doings" to Washington avenue. Not only do they "doll up" the avenue but give a certain amount of protection to citizens who desire to board trolleys. Whether the isles of safety remains to be seen. At least, Commissioner William Clark who has revamped the police and fire departments with his deputy William F. Entekin, along modern lines has the right idea in mind.
Isles in the position they are placed should reduce speeding in Washington avenue. Perhaps after enough local motorists realize they successfully batter steel to pieces out of town cars will follow the motion of local cars in the avenue.

Clark and Entekin have built up their departments to an efficient state. They should receive cooperation from everybody in what they are doing. Citizens would appreciate their work to a greater extent if they visited the fire and police headquarters. Systems equivalent to those in leading cities have been built at a very little cost. We understand the safety islands were made out of odds and ends at the town yards. If so the taxpayers will have no "kick" as to cost of material.

Torture

There is little or no excuse for the torture Superintendent of Schools
R. Gerard is undergoing in the "ride" he is getting from three members of the Board of Education, President John P. Maher, Mrs. Judson K.
and James L. De Rosset.

Whether it is liked or not, Mr. Gerard is getting a "ride," and it is a hard one. He was subjected to a gnawing at his heart strings when he learned that Stickle and De Rosset had gone to Trenton to find out if he could be retired.

There came a lot of talk at a "private meeting," details of which leaked to the public. This meeting was held with State Commissioner Charles Elliott who holds Mr. Gerard in high esteem.

Paper stories of politics in Belleville school affairs led Mr. Elliott to look over the schools and is satisfied with them.
Then followed a meeting of the board at which Mr. Gerard was further tortured. Watson Current was also hammered. He has always favored Gerard.

And now comes another meeting. Mr. Gerard is the object of all kinds of changes in his system of doing things. His method of hiring teachers is being changed. He loses the principalship of the high school. A change is being made in the way he must hand in his monthly reports. He gets it all, to say the least.

Mr. Gerard is going to give the board a battle—a legal battle—he has one of the best contract lawyers in the state—Merritt Lane.

The contention of many that when the three members voided the contract away a portion of the duties stipulated under it they opened up costly litigation and possible personal suits.

Insistent legal advice be obtained before the action taken.
The members were denied this by the triumvirate. If legal advice was obtained by the three it was obtained without knowledge of the other two members of the board. If it was obtained it was secret from the other two members of the board. If it was obtained it was secret from the other two members of the board.

And this leads us to say that there is a lot of meaning in two words our letters each—Love and Hate.

If there is any love and regard or any ideals in the scheme to get Mr.
Gerard out of the job will be quickly done without torture to a man who, at his life, should be accorded words flavored with a little of that cloak of mystery about which we read much and see little in practical use, instead of the brunt of what appears to be personal animosity. Certainly there are no charges against him. What is the cause? Aren't you taxpayers to know? Aren't you entitled to know that Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy appointed these three to the board who proceed as they see fit and according to the code of ethics all public servants should follow out?

The "Public be damned" is an old political phrase, but it is constantly being used in Belleville and the last three or four years have seen more of it than in the last twenty.

WATERS CONSISTANT

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters is about the most consistent man we have here. This is speaking general. And as further proof of it here is a specific case. He wants a parkway along the river. He doesn't want sites along the river cluttered with factories and he doesn't want homeowners bothered with factories.

At the present time he is waging together with Commissioner Frank Marragher a fight against a factory in Ralph street. Mayor Samuel S.
Kenworthy's brother-in-law issued a permit for the factory from the building department which he heads. Waters feels the parkway "half million" project too worth while to the locality to allow factories to come any way of thinking he is right.

OUT OF THE WOODS

LAST WORD OR LAST WORDS

A good and close friend of Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy says the Mayor has not yet made any statement in school matters in particular to the allegation that he is responsible for the ouster of Superintendent of Schools George R. Gerard.

"He will have the last word," says the Mayor's friend.

It appears that the taxpayers are entitled to some word of explanation at this time. Perhaps when the last word is said the Newspapers will have some comment to make. Who knows?

Newspapers like to comment on last words of public officials sometimes and we think this all important school affair will be worth a "stick or two"
when and if any last words are given the public.

Driving While Asleep

At last we have a judicial decision on a question that has, doubtless, puzzled many persons. How many minutes constitutes a "few minutes?"

A court in Newport, R. I., has rendered a decision which puts the driver who falls asleep at the wheel of his car in the same class with reckless drivers. The defendant who went to sleep while driving a truck, which thereupon collided with an other vehicle, was found guilty of 'operating so as to endanger the property and lives of persons on a public highway.'

There is usually a disposition to deal leniently with a driver who is overcome by sleep when forced to spend long hours at the wheel without respite. Often he is obliged to whip his flagging energies to complete a night trip undertaken as extra duty. "Driving while asleep" is a fairly common cause of accidents resulting in death or injury, and countless other instances are recorded in which disaster was averted by the narrowest of margins.
The Newport decision serves to bring home the responsibility of the driver in these circumstances. If he cannot turn the wheel over to another, he can stop his car by the roadside to "sleep it off" when he realizes that he is approaching the danger point, or he can restore himself to wakefulness by brisk exercise. The briefest lapse means danger not only to himself, but to almost certain disaster to any he encounters on the highway. It is his duty to take precautions for the safety of others as well as himself, and knowledge that sleeping at the wheel will be dealt with as severely as any other form of negligence should serve as a spur to such caution.

The New Money

The motor car has affected not only our comings and goings, our work and play, our religion and education, but the size and the composition of our paper money. The motorist carries bills for gasoline, oil repairs, roadside lunches, and what not, and the person who takes this money and makes change, is likely to have greasy, oily and grimy hands. This constant grasping of bills by motor mechanics and by car owners who go through the ordeals of changing tires, retooling and assisting with tools and gasoline, has cut the life of bills from 12 months to 6. The government finally found it necessary to manufacture new paper dollars, to have them smaller, and to treat them with chemical mixtures which will be a protection against the inroads of the automobile accessories. The decrease in the size of the bills from 7 7/16 by 3 1/8 inches to 6 1/8 by 2 5/8 may have some interesting minor effects. Will our billfolds, which now accommodate the larger currency, become somewhat smaller and have new sub-divisions?
Will waistpockets shrink sympathetically? Will our metallic currency also be modified in time? The foreign-looking 2c piece and the deceptive 3c coin, popular in their day, are almost unknown to the present generation. Will our quarters, halves and cartwheels come under the scrutiny of the treasury department efficiency experts later? Shall we perhaps have some new coins, a 15 cent or 20 cent piece, say, or a 2 or 3 cent coin, which will give our hand-to-hand money more elasticity and reduce the continual use of the cent

Something New in Radio Line
Is Cropping Up Every Day

With the discovery that water faucets and toasters make loud speakers, another surprising discovery regarding radio comes from Belfast, Maine. Two families living near together use the same radio, by having a loud speaker wired from the house where the set is to the other. It works beautifully and the extra speaker can be turned on or off at will. That is not the strange part however, for thereby hangs a tale.

They looked at each other, examined the radio and found it shut off, absolutely. Where was the music coming from? It sounded like a cornet, or saxophone and like a musician practicing the scales.

After puzzling a few minutes they called over to their neighbor who had the loud speaker attached, and asked if anyone was playing a cornet.
Sure, the man of the house was running a few scales. Why?
Then it was explained. The notes from the cornet were communicated from one loudspeaker to the other and it was later discovered that the two families could talk through the speakers as easily as through the telephone by standing near the speaker.

So now they have their own broadcasting stations, and that's that.

Makes first auto trip from South to North America

Jose Barone, intrepid spanish driver completes epic trip in 19 months driving Studebaker car

WITH THE ARRIVAL in South Bend, Indiana of Jose Mario Barone in a 1922 Studebaker, the first overland automobile trip between South America and North America, was successfully completed. Almost two years were required to make the journey which started at Rio de Janeiro, May 29, 1927. By far the most time was spent in remote sections of South America where it was often necessary for the driver to blaze his own trail over roadless territories. The veteran Studebaker had more than 100,000 miles on its speedometer when the trip was started.

Sought Eight Months, Caught After Chase

Wanted eight months in Belleville for failing to answer a summons for running his auto into a tree, Charles Babcock, alias Charles Brown of 299 Delawanna avenue, Delawanna, was arrested after an accident Tuesday as a hit-and-run driver. He was caught after a two mile chase by Patrolman Leighton.

He was arraigned Wednesday before recorder George A. Fitzsimmons on charges of driving without a license, improper registration, leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving and failing to answer a summons. He was fined $100.

A warrant was issued for his arrest last summer, but he could not be located under the name of Brown. Patrolman Leighton captured Babcock in Nutley, after chasing him on a motor-cycle the length of Union avenue in Belleville. The accident was at Union and Belleville avenues. Babcock's machine was in collision with one driven by Anthony Cerbone of 6 Connelly street, Nutley.

Answering the improper registration charge, Babcock told police he bought the car Monday and had not had the plates transferred.

"When Dreams Come True," Carragher Is Mayor Of The Town

"When dreams come true." This was all Commissioner Frank J. Carragher of Belleville could say Tuesday night when he insisted upon being made Mayor for next Tuesday's meeting of the Town Commission.

It all happened this way. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and other members of the official family expect to be at the League of Municipalities meeting in Trenton. The Mayor called a conference of his colleagues after the regular meeting.

"What are we going to do men?" said the Mayor. "I will be away next week and Commissioner Gibson will be on a business trip."

It was decided to call off the afternoon conference and Commissioner Patrick A. Waters suggested Commissioner William D. Clark act as Mayor.

"How about me?" asked Carragher. "I should have been Mayor of this town, you know. The people don't think I can do the job. At least, that's what some of the board have been spreading like whispering magpies. Give me a chance."

And he got it. Carragher was high man at the last municipal election, but passed up the Mayorality for the Department of Streets and Public Improvements which duties were taken away from him.

ANENT MINUTES

Mrs. Judson K. Stickle, the records of the school board show, and not Watson Current made the motion to strike from the minutes Current's remarks of two weeks ago.

De Rosset seconded it. Newspapers, this one included, did not hear the motion by Mrs. Stickle. They heard Current move that the minutes be approved as "doctored." This, the newspapers report, was seconded by De Rosset who added "as corrected."

Mrs. Stickle says she made the motion and Current's was not seconded.

Largest Single "Move" Made By Phone Co.

The largest single "move" ever made in New Jersey has just been completed.

It was the concentration by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company of its management and supervisory organization in its new twenty-story state-headquarters building nearing completion at 540 Broad street, Newark.

With scarcely a break in the daily work of many hundreds, and so gradually and smoothly that few Newarkers knew it was in progress, more than 15,000 pieces of office furniture and fixtures, 1,000 truck loads and the activities of about 2,700 men and women were transferred from several buildings about the city, to new quarters under one roof, in a "moving day" that lasted nearly two months.

The move has brought to one location the directing forces of the telephone system of the whole state. There are no central office switchboards in the new headquarters building, so no operators were involved in the move.

Those in the new building are charged with the maintenance of New Jersey's telephone communication service, management of its operation, and planning for future needs. From one building the company almost literally keeps its fingers on what is being done and what is to be done telephonically from northernmost Sussex County to Cape May on the south, and from the shore resorts to the Delaware River.

So carefully and so long in advance had the move been planned that the worst was over to all intents and purposes before a single piece of furniture had been moved. After it was underway, and as each department was transferred, an employee would wedge the drawers of his desk, then gather his office effects together, label them for the proper floor and room in the new building, and go home for the night. In the morning, he would go to work in his new quarters including his desk chair, files and other belongings in their proper places, and his extension telephone connected and ready for service.

Behind this apparent simplicity, however, were many months of hard work planning the move and considering all its details. Before any part of the move could be undertaken the necessary space in the new building had to be made ready for occupancy. Elevators, heating plant, ventilation, acres of linoleum for the floors, gilt lettering for doors, electric light bulbs in every fixture, all furniture cleaned and polished before it left its old location for the new, every piece properly marked for its destination, — these and countless other items had to be carefully coordinated.

A fast-moving squad of men followed the moving forces from office to office when the move actually began, cutting the wires of every telephone in the old quarters, and removing the telephone instruments. Then they had to go to the new building and connect up the instruments to wires that had been put in place there, running through conduits that had been placed beneath the concrete floors.

This meant, too, that every line had to be tested "clear" and ready for service during the night, so that its user could come to work the next morning and find it ready for him to make his daily calls. There are about 1400 extension telephone in the 540 Broad street building.

In the move, the fragile and the ponderous; the easily-handled pieces and awkward ones had to be moved. Great safes had to be lowered many floors, transported through the city, and then raised five, ten or fifteen stories above the ground. Files full of valuable papers had to be moved without damaging their contents. All that ever about moving was in New Jersey's big few new wrinkles were the side.

For Better All Around Service— More Telephones in More Homes"

It can be done with your help

THE MODERN way to secure the most satisfactory telephone service is to place instruments at various vantage points in the home to make the service always handy day and night.

In this way, at little cost compared with the savings in steps and minutes (miles and hours in total), you gain the full advantage of telephone service and help those who call you to secure better service too.

Answering the telephone or making a call is always quick and easy, for it merely means reaching for the instrument beside you or at most taking a few steps.

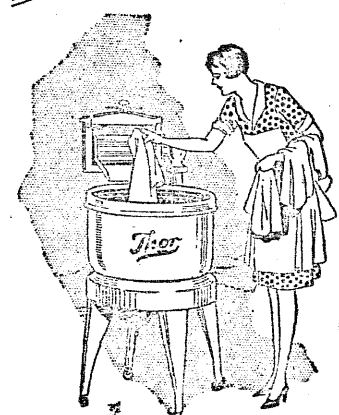

More telephones in more homes means quicker answers, fewer service delays, improved service to those you call and who call you.

HEAT COOKING INCINERATION REFRIGERATION GAS LAUNDRY

SIMPLIFIES HOUSEWORK

GAS, no less than electricity, plays its part in making life easier, more comfortable, more convenient, for all of us. In the kitchen, in the laundry, in every room of the house, it stands ready to perform services that lessen labor and make our homes more attractive and more livable.

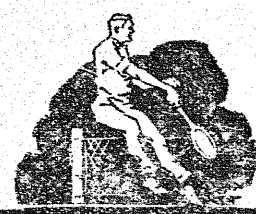

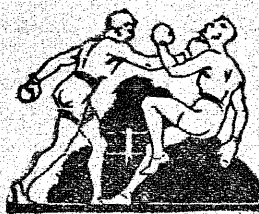

Gas has simplified, has improved, has made more efficient, the way in which we cook our meals, reducing by hours the time that the housewife spends in her kitchen.

A late development in the Gas appliance field indicates one of the many ways in which inventive genius is still furthering the task of the homemaker. By using a time control range, food may be placed in the oven, at any convenient time, and the control adjusted. At the time set by the housewife, the Gas will be turned on and lighted. When the food is cooked the Gas will be turned off. The entire operation is automatic and time, once spent in watching the oven, may be spent in other tasks or away from the home.

Gas, one of the most efficient and dependable of household servants, is always at your command. Study its possibilities for home usefulness and you will enlist its aid in many ways.

St. Marys vs. St. Pauls

Grace vs. Vincent

Those who attended the weekly basketball games put on by the Nutley Church League were treated to a pair of fine games Monday night. In the opening tussle the Green and White of St. Mary's downed Grace 26-21 to take undisputed possession of first place. In the second contest St. Paul's, trying hard to get into the win column, forced Vincent into an extra five-minute period before giving up by the score of 27-23. The Grace team got off to a flying start in the first half when they faced a make-shift St. Mary line-up. The tally at the end of the first period stood at 10-5 in favor of Grace and at half time they were leading 15-10. Leading the attack for Grace was Bauman.

With the opening of the final half the St. Mary's five went to work with a vim, which carried them closer to the Grace combine and finally passed them by the third period, leading 21-19. In this spurt the Maryites again showed a well balanced team, all of the players contributing to the scoring. The last session proved a hectic one, the game developing into a nip and tuck battle with the Maryites finishing on top 25 to 21. Bauman was the individual star for Grace while all the St. Mary aggregation played well.

Vincent vs. St. Paul

In the second game of the night the Vincent team took an extra five minute period battle from St. Paul's by the score of 27 to 23. In the initial quarter the teams battled along fairly even with the Vincent five leading 8 to 6. By the finish of the first half Vincent had increased its lead to 16-8.

Opening the second half the Paulies started to close the gap and were trailing 20-17 by the end of the third canto. Fighting hard the Saints knotted the count with two minutes to play at 21 all and then both teams tallied a basket bringing the total up to 23. Mack was given two free tosses for St. Paul's but failed to register. One of his shots would have given his team the victory. As he failed the game went into extra period.

In the lay off the Vincent team tallied two field baskets while holding their opponents scoreless.

Nutley Continues On Winning Way

Keeping up the brand of basketball that has carried them to victory in their three starts the maroon and gray tossers handed the Boonton High School a 33-10 setback Friday night at the Nutley gymnasium. Using a short snappy passing attack with a tight defense the Nutley team was able to outscore their opponents in all of the four periods.

Starting early the maroon pried up a lead of 10-3 in the first period and kept on with no let up until the final whistle. Even the string men were able to keep up the good work while they were in the fray. Leading the offensive of the Nutleyites was Alex Baykowski, who tallied seventeen points. Crawford and Gibney scored six apiece. The two guards, Sentner and Stager kept up their fine work which they have displayed to good advantage so far this season. The final score was Nutley 33, Boonton 10.

Denies 28 Counts In Forgery Case

Thomas Sommara of Nutley pleaded not guilty to twenty-eight indictments for forgery when arraigned before Judge Robert V. Kinkead in Bergen County Common Pleas Court Hackensack, Friday. Sommara also went under the name of Charles Lubretto and Charles Lutrith and gave an address at King street, Belleville.

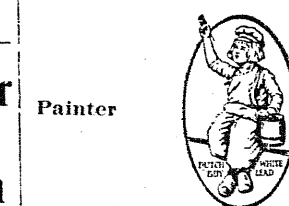

Sommara is also charged with obtaining money under false pretenses and will be tried before Judge William N. Seufert Thursday.

The man was arrested in Rutherford by Patrolman Joseph Bobrowski October 3, last, and was released in bail of $1,000. He is now in the Bergen County Jail because his bonds man surrendered him last week.

Sommara it is alleged, swindled the New Jersey Cash Credit Corporation, a small loan company which has an office at 45 Park avenue, Rutherford, of $9,900 from April to August 1928.

It is said he took names of alleged applicants to the Rutherford branch of the company to negotiate loans, representing that they could not visit the office to sign the papers, due to illness or business. It is charged Sommara filled out the applications fictitiously and when he received checks for the amount of the loans he forged the false names and cashed the checks. In all, thirty-three transactions of $300 each were put through in this way.
