FIGURELLI DENOUNCES SCHOOL TRIO

UNBIASED THOUGHTS

Editor The News:

Neither in Belleville nor elsewhere has the Supervising Principal of Schools a more earnest well-wisher than the writer of this letter. Over a period of ten years, I have conceived a real regard for him as an occasional associate in civic affairs, and as a school principal. Of course, he has made mistakes—thus retaining his membership in the human race; he has not always been tactful; he has probably known quite well, in particular, he has permitted certain prejudices to influence him, at times—perhaps to his regret.

But this man, who has become the center of the Town's attention, has done much for the schools here, that he has won the undeniable right to a fair and honest hearing, freed from prejudices and resentfulness, or from hero worship and favoritism alike, and unaffected by the ambitions and jealousies of politicians, actual or potential. This means that his friends, as well as his enemies, should be temperate and restrained in their handling of a most unpleasant and regrettable situation.

The partisans of this gentleman must share, with his opponents, some of the blame for the condition in question. On the one side, it should be conceded that the separation of the positions of Supervising Principal and Principal of the High School might well have been effected as much as three or four years ago; on the other hand, it ought to be admitted that, as Supervising Principal, the subject of this letter can still serve the system well, and should be permitted to do so, unless his enemies can find cause for his removal based upon something other than personal dislike, injured feelings, desire for revenge, political hopes and fears, or similar unworthy motives, which seem to be actuating some of the embittered citizens. It is insisted, in general terms, that there are sufficient reasons why a complete change in the administration of school affairs should be made; if such is the case, the townspeople should be advised of the facts, in order that they may be enabled to form an opinion with full knowledge of all the circumstances. Up to this time, no sound reasons have been advanced for the threatened removal of the Supervising Principal. Are there any?

Much could be written on this subject, and it would be an easy step to join those members of either party who are thoughtlessly or deliberately bringing unwarranted criticism upon the school system and upon the whole town, by their intolerant attitude. There is, however, no reason for being drawn into the present controversy to the extent of taking sides unfairly. We should view the situation calmly and steadily, and should each reach our own decision, based upon such actual information as may be obtainable. We should observe the manner in which both factions carry themselves, and should particularly seek to analyze the motives which prompt their actions. If we convince ourselves that any member of either group is primarily interested in satisfying a personal ambition or spite, rather than in rendering real service to the town in general, then we must note the name in the little book which we all conscientiously keep. Let us turn to the proper page in that book whenever the person listed there appears before us for pre-empt of any kind! The book in question should certainly be enduring enough to last until May, 1930, when perhaps we may have occasion to refer to more than one of its pages.

I am mailing a signed copy of this letter to the man whom it primarily concerns, in order that it may not be necessary to print my name here. Already, there has been too much publicity sought and obtained. In fact, it is my belief that one of the unfortunate, but amusing features—as well as one of the causes—of the present struggle is the yearning for constant publicity which has taken possession of certain of the belligerents, whose influence for good in Belleville has thereby been greatly weakened, if not wholly and permanently destroyed.

St Peter's Band Takes Two Cups In Recent Meets

Harry Hood's Boys Will Compete Tomorrow At Laurel Garden

When it comes to bands and fife and drum corps St. Peter's of this town and Sacred Heart of Bloomfield are about par. Recently at a contest in Caldwell under the auspices of the Exempt Firemen's Association of that town the Belleville boys received a cup for second place, being nosed out by Sacred Heart.

To even matters, however, St. Peter's Saturday defeated the Bloomfielders at Elmont, Long Island. Seven other corps were entered in this competition in which St. Peter's rated ninety-seven per cent. Manager Harry Hood will take his lads to Laurel Garden, Newark, tomorrow where Black Prince band will hold a contest. Harry looks for an added cup in this competition.

SOCIAL SCOOP NO. 2

By Rube

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, once upon a time, as all good social scoops and stories start, was a reporter on a Denver paper.

Probably his assistance is helping the Nutley Times, which finds its way to Belleville as the Belleville Times.

We wonder if he is editor. He once told us our policy had changed because we placed his name at the tail end of one or two good stories. Ooh and he got "sore," too. We newspaper men are vain.

Speed Line Request Comes From Soho

About 250 Home Owners See advisability Of Route There

Waters Stands Behind It

The Town Commission Tuesday night received a petition from 250 property owners in Soho section of town requesting the board to take all action within its power to have the proposed Public Service high speed line route extended in the abandoned Morris Canal bed to Paterson.

The petition set forth that the town should follow along plans as laid down in this matter by Newark's city engineer and communicate with the North Jersey Transit Commission as regards the wishes of the petitioners. The matter has been tabled by the board for conference next week.

The petition pointed out that Soho section is now without any transportation facilities and the proposed extension of the speed line will open a section of town for development that has remained vacant land for years. They pointed to increased taxes to the town and transportation relief to people now living in the section.

Waters For It

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters suggested the canal route in preference to proposed plans of electrification of the Erie at a conference of Belleville officials some time ago, showing that where the Erie lines exist transportation facilities are now adequate and the Soho project is the better one for Belleville.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher complained of the attitude of the Erie Company toward the town. He said the company does as it pleases with grade crossings, engines in Silvery Lake dump red hot coals out of fire boxes and locomotives emit smoke at meal times while passing through the town, causing annoyance to home owner, particularly east of the Newark-Paterson branch line.

SIXTEEN SAFETY STANDARDS WILL RECEIVE COAT OF WHITE PAINT FOR DAY DUTY

Belleville Stanchions Fall, One By One, In Single Night's Accident Carnival

Commissioner William D. Clark has issued orders for the safety isle stanchions to be painted with white bases and only placed in Washington avenue, Belleville during the day.

This was decided after last week's carnival of auto crashes at each of the sixteen newly installed stanchions at eight street intersections between Greylock Parkway and William street.

The stanchions were installed a few weeks ago and constantly were knocked down by motorists and then repaired and put back in place. The isles are composed of three uprights on auto rim bases linked together with chains. The isles are for the safety of persons awaiting street cars. The stanchions are four feet high and on each is placed a small red light.

Some motorists say they are unable to see them at night until it is too late to avoid colliding with them. That may have been the reason for last week's accidents. One after another of the stanchions was knocked down until none was left standing.

Many complaints have been received that the heavy auto traffic, makes boarding a street car dangerous.

Belleville Girl In College Show

Miss Ruth Mutch of 350 Joralemon street appears this week in "S. S. Intelligentsia," a musical comedy which was presented at the New Jersey College for Women, New Brunswick, Tuesday, Wednesday and yesterday and which concludes tomorrow. The show is the annual presentation of the Junior class. It was given during the week for undergraduates, at the Little Theatre, the college dramatic arts building. Tomorrow afternoon and evening it will be presented as a feature of the junior promenade week-end, which starts today.

"S. S. Intelligentsia," which has a cast of about 100 members, is original in plot, lines, dance steps and music, and is entirely the work of members of the Junior class. All committee work, including the making of costumes and scenery, is done by the juniors.

The events of the prom week-end include a formal banquet followed by the promenade today and a tea-dance, show, and show-dance tomorrow.

"They can't breathe," said Carragher.

"I hate to vote on this, but I guess I have to," he said when the board approved a contract with the Erie which charged the town $1 for a year for a right of way for a sewer line at Greylock avenue, which line passes under the Erie tracks.

Got 'Em Down

"They wanted $20 for the first year," said Carragher. "But Town Engineer Albert S. Blank got them down to $1. This is only for a year. We don't know what they will do next year. If this is up to the Utilities Board I would like to know. I want to know whether that board is doing its duty. I openly say I don't think they are. Look at the switch bumper—a railroad tie—where two cars went over an embankment. If I'm not telling the truth let them have me arrested."

On his suggestion Corporation Counsel John B. Brown will report next week as to whether the town or Public Utilities Commission should be held responsible for "the condition."

If the Morris B. Reade, Inc., concern, which has applied for a permit to operate a plant at 143 Ralph street comes under the heading of a chemical concern they will have to pay the town a $1,000 fee it was shown at the afternoon conference of the board. Property owners in the section recently protested against the establishment of the factory, but the Building Department had already issued a permit. Tuesday Commissioner William D. Clark under whose charge comes the Health Department, explained that Walter S. Coulter, consulting engineer, of New York, had stated the plant constitutes no nuisance, no fire hazard, is not dangerous to the public and emits no fumes or dust.

Commissioner Waters has opposed the factory on the ground that it is not wanted by the property owners and permit for it was denied in Nutley where Reade lives. Carragher took a similar stand. During February twenty-nine building permits were issued in the amount of $66,615, netting the town fees of $230.

ATTACKS OUSTER OF SUPT. GERARD AS AGAINST THE WILL OF THE PUBLIC-- SEES DEMORALIZING RESULTS TO SYSTEM

SHOOT $1,000 FADED

Shoot $1,000.

If anybody said this in the proverbial game of dice he would either be called crazy or looked upon as a millionaire.

Yet the school board has just rolled out a natural $1,000 shot on a new chemistry teacher to replace Charles L. Steel, who is now high school principal in place of George R. Gerard, who three members of the school board deposed.

It will cost $200 a month from February 1 until June for the new teacher, Robert G. Fagan, who naturally must be worth it.

But this is just one item the change has cost. Next year there will be ten school months and if the teacher get $200 per month that means $2,000 more a year the school costs have already been run up. What price education?

SAFETY ISLES ARE ENDORSED BY THE IMP. ASSOCIATION

Belleville, "the most progressive town in Essex County," has made another gain in the march of progress. The new safety isles which have come in for a lot of adverse criticism have been installed in the nick of time.

The traffic conditions on our "White Way" needed some sort of a check and the supreme test of the safety isles will be made on April 13 when the Belleville-on-the-Hill Improvement Association will hold its Third Annual Dance at the Elks' Hall.

After every effort failed to move the Elks' Auditorium to the Hill section, the popular Hilltoppers decided they would have to come to the hall and accordingly every available auto and conveyance will be pressed into service to carry the huge crowd to the annual hop.

This additional traffic thrown into Washington avenue on one night would undoubtedly cause one of the worst jams in the town's history. The foresight of our city fathers is to be commended for averting this great accident hazard.

At a spirited meeting of the Dance Committee a program was constructed which will prove a rare treat to the attendants. Anticipating a record crowd every effort has been made to make the evening an enjoyable one. In addition to the $5 in Gold which will be offered to the one holding the lucky number presented at the door, two valuable and attractive prizes will be offered for two novelty dances.

Walter Price, the maestro, will himself swing the baton for the dance numbers which by special concession will be continued into the wee hours satisfying the lovers of terpsichore to their hearts' content. The members are vying in friendly competition for the gold being offered to the lady and gentleman disposing of the greatest number of tickets. Other features are being planned which will bring out the largest dance crowd ever housed by the Elks' Club.

Awards went to the following:—

Bridge, First, A. Watson; Second, Elia Batchelor; Whist, First, ladies, Miss Brown; Second, ladies, Miss J. Smith; First, gents, R. Jackson; Second, gents, A. Nelson; booby, W. Ritchie and A. Shille and Pinochle, Mr. McNair.

The next Card Party will be held in the Elks' Hall, April 6. The card parties are open to the general public.

SUBMITS RESOLUTION OF ALUMNI ASSOCIATION TO SHOW MATTER NO JOKE

After Belleville Alumni Association, 400 members of which attended the Board of Education meeting Monday night to set forth "love, devotion and praise" for Superintendent of Schools George R. Gerard, who has been ousted as principal of the high school, had submitted a resolution in the matter, the board without comment, ordered the resolution filed.

Neil P. Horne, who graduated from the high school, offered the only opposition to Mr. Gerard's method of conducting schools and received little applause. Handclapping that "shook the rafters" of the high school, as one put it, greeted former Town Recorder Samuel Figurelli, who held his constituents spellbound with a discourse on the merits of Mr. Gerard. Mr. Figurelli's remarks drew repeated applause.

THREATENS ADJOURNMENT

When Mr. Horne said he had "facts not rumors" that the high school is not up to date he was greeted with "raspberries" from one woman who sat near him. President John P. Maher, who with Mrs. Judson K. Stickle and James L. De Rosset, took away Mr. Gerard's high school job, thereby breaking a three-year contract which Mr. Gerard held and which had two years to run, had to plead with the grads to "listen to Mr. Horne as you have Mr. Figurelli or I'll adjourn the meeting."

Mr. Horne insisted there are two sides of the story. He said in 1920 the schools were using obsolete books. He added that "last year or this year, I don't know which a teacher was hired for Spanish and when she arrived in Belleville she was assigned to mathematics." He explained that the pupils knew more than the teacher who, when asked questions, informed her class she would hold them over for an answer the following day when she could look them up!

"Mr. Figurelli spoke thirty-five minutes," said Mr. Horne, who was interrupted continuously "and I want some time, too."

An allusion to the Parent-Teacher Association was made by Mr. Horne, who said the teachers were not allowed to join it, the inference being drawn that Mr. Gerard had not permitted them to do so. Cooperation is needed for this "constructive" association said Mr. Horne. The Belleville P.-T. A. has been charged by School Commissioner Paul J. H. Hollberg as the source of all Mr. Gerard's trouble.

When Mr. Horne stated domestic science should find its way into the Belleville curriculum the alumni group laughed.

Mended Books To Save

Miss Blanche Bradley, a former teacher, said the books were obsolete because the board would not give Mr. Gerard enough money to get new ones. One summer, she said, he gave up his vacation to mend the books himself, and repeatedly went to the Town Hall to get a larger appropriation for books, only to meet turn-downs.

Miss Bradley said as far as the teacher is concerned all teachers who come to the school are not qualified, adding "there may be a failure among them."

Frederick Trost, who attended Columbia, where he said Mr. Horne "also went" outlined that he (Trost) had graduated from Columbia with honors after taking up a general course in Belleville. Trost spent six years in Columbia, garnered honors in each year and walked out with three degrees.

"I consider the general course in Belleville High School sufficient for anything I ever needed," he said "I consider our schools as excellent, when it is realized my own achievement was made against New York City High School graduates who come from the richest and best equipped schools in the country."

"Mr. Horne is very much misinformed," said James Metz. "I went from Belleville to a University. Some of our graduates gained honors at West Point and Annapolis. Our schools have been economically and thoroughly operated."

Mr. Figurelli said he would mince no words in his stand for Mr. Gerard and he did not, referring to "someone who sits in luxury on our money at the Town Hall and nonchalantly smokes a cigar between puffs saying 'I have the men to do my bidding.' This was construed to be Mayor Kenworthy, who appoints the school board. He recently was attacked at the Alumni meeting and before that by citizens who disapproved of his appointment in February of De Rosset, who before he even knew Mr. Gerard, submitted at his first meeting a resolution to take away the high school duties.

Fair Play And Justice

"I believe in fair play that is fair play and justice that is justice," said Mr. Figurelli. "In war you know where to look for the battlefield. In peace you don't know who will shoot from the back."

Mr. Figurelli told the members who had taken away Mr. Gerard's dual control that he believed they may retain their dignity by doing the job back to him.

"He stated that ever since the board held its organization meeting it aimed its attack at Mr. Gerard. Rumored you will now take on the duties as Superintendent. If you were asked for a direct statement on this none was forthcoming."

"I think this board acted unwisely to change the principal of the high school at mid-year," he said, adding "and I have heard from many people and children of a tender age that probably Mr. Gerard will be taken away from us. It is not a benefit to the morale of the school system. Your body holds a very sacred duty to the future citizens of our community and it should act with very great precaution."

"This great love, this great admiration, this loyalty to Mr. Gerard by the alumni and the students does not come because it is a crisis. Mr. Gerard has earned his reward to it."

To eulogize and praise Mr. Gerard is not necessary. Crude in contrast to the great and good work he has done is something of a more serious nature—more grave. It is not necessary to mince words. "He has given the very cream of his life to the schools. He is by far the outstanding man in the community. He has given one quarter of a century to schools. It has been his life and his life to work for children—to educate. He wanted to step out of office in dignity. He had reached the pinnacle where he could do it."

"Place yourselves in his position. You reach the pinnacle. Somebody willfully, wickedly and crudely cuts your arms and leaves you dangling in the air."

He declared that the board by a two to three vote had taken away the duties and the difference means the vote of one.

Pleads For Harmony

"We have heard rumors. We have seen them fulfilled. We beg and beseech of you not to relieve Mr. Gerard."

YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN WHO THINK CLEARLY THE GREATEST DEMAND OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

Bankers Association President Gives the Five Essentials of Sound Thinking in Business—Greater Opportunity Than Ever Before for Young People With Educational Training and Power to Analyze Problems.

By CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD
President American Bankers Association

ONLY half a century ago Michael Pupin, a shepherd boy, guarded his flocks by night among the fields of Serbia. Thieves often lurked in the bordering cornfields awaiting an opportunity to make off with a part of the herd. Serbian boys were taught a method of signalling one another for warning and help. Each carried a knife with a long wooden handle which he would thrust deep into the ground and in case cattle thieves approached he would strike the wooden handle. The sound would be transmitted through the ground to other boys some distance away who could hear and interpret the message.

CRAIG B. HAZLEWOOD

"Why is it," Pupin asked his mother, "that we can signal this way? Why is it the sound can be heard through the ground, but not through the air? Why is it the signals can be heard in the pasture land so much better than in the plowed fields?" The boy's mother could not answer his questions, nor could the village teacher. However, having an eager mind and great determination, the boy decided to go to America, where he might win an education and find out the answers to these and other perplexing questions. Hundreds of other boys under the same circumstances and with the same set of conditions merely accepted these things without once questioning them just because they had always done them that way.

The Land of Education and Success

So a penniless immigrant boy from Serbia at the age of fifteen landed in New York in 1874 and, years later, having worked his way through Columbia University, concentrated the wonder and simplicity of his mind upon the problem of sound, which had puzzled him as a shepherd boy. The results of his thinking—what he has accomplished for the long distance telephone and for radio communication by his inventions—are known the world over. "If during the past twenty-two years this company had been compelled to do without one invention of Michael Pupin," an official of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company once said, "and yet give the same service it is giving today it would have had to spend at least $100,000,000 more than it has expended."

These inventions, in which millions of dollars of capital have been invested, were the result of the thinking of a mere country lad who had the simplicity to wonder, the determination to know and the power to apply what he learned.

Stimulating the imagination and thinking is the greatest purpose of education. What American business needs more than anything else is young men and women to think—individuals who are not mentally anchored to tradition, who do not merely appropriate other people's ideas, but who are hard, purposeful thinkers, independent and unprejudiced, with the ability to concentrate and strike straight for the heart of a problem.

Business Needs Folk Who Think

America has astounded the world by its readiness in casting aside traditional viewpoints, disregarding traditional difficulties and pioneering new shortcuts formulas in the realm of business. Business is undergoing epochal changes.

Business problems are crowding in upon us so rapidly that the executive knows not where to look for adequate help or relief. With the enormous increase in size and intricacy of business affairs the problems have become so complicated and the mass of information necessary to their solution so great that the "days are not long enough." The demand for managerial and executive ability is rushing ahead—the opportunity for young men and women who have the professional training and who develop genuine thinking power is greater than ever.

All business feels the same crying need for the men who see clearly and think conclusively. Wherever we look—manufacturing, wholesaling, retailing, banking, financing—new forces are at work. Vast movements are under way and executives are seeking light upon perplexing problems daily.

Let us consider briefly the five essentials of a sound thinker. If I were looking for a young man of exceptional promise I should hope, first, to find in him the simplicity to wonder. Every great advancement in business has been made by men who dared to wonder, who had the courage to inquire into present procedure and who had the audacity to ask whether something that had been done a certain way for a long time might not be wrong. Although the history of America's progress from its very discovery to the present time has shown the value of an inquiring mind, there is still an inevitable tendency in most men to accept in a docile manner the opinions, methods, suppressed facts, procedures and processes of the past. With due reverence to the effort, the spirit, the accomplishments of the past, let us make it our rule that everything be looked at with the clear questioning mind of the scientist.

Business Requires an Open Mind

Second, among the essentials for sound thinking I would write down an open mind. We have mentioned freeing our minds from the influence of tradition. Let us think also without prejudice of personal feelings, desires or consequence. Let us seek only the truth. Mere surface reasoning must be discounted. Old "can'ts" and "don'ts" must be thrown into the discard. A man who has an open mind will do a great many things because he doesn't know they can't be done.

The third essential to sound thinking is knowledge—a thorough, comprehensive understanding of all the factors involved in a problem. It has been said that most problems answer themselves when the facts have been gathered. A well known student and teacher of business describes the method of attacking a problem as tearing it down, reassembling the problem and drawing the conclusion. There can be nothing but guess work or intuition unless the unknown quantities are discovered.

As a fourth essential sound thinking requires the capacity to generalize. How often we have seen men sweating and confused before a mass of details which they were utterly unable to classify and crystallize. We have the problem of sorting out the relevant, attaining a perspective and reaching a conclusion that can be defended against any attack. To certain minds this procedure comes naturally; to others training in the solution of complicated problems points the way out.

The Time for Action

Fifth among the essentials of sound thinking is the power to apply. A few individuals have minds that travel at random or in circles. Some have minds that even refuse to budge. But there are still others who naturally or through training have minds that can be directed straight through to the practical application of their thoughts. They refuse to compromise or to be thwarted in purpose before definite application of their ideas has been achieved.

It is possible, I believe, for young people to train themselves to an inquisitive attitude, an open mind and the ability to classify and interpret material step by step from the beginning of a problem to its final solution and application. Here, then, is the thought I would leave—the paramount need of business is sound thinking. Some may think I have overstated the case, have set too high a standard. They may feel that they are merely cogs in a machine. That, too, is a part of the problem. The only way to solve that is to find time and place in the day's work for thinking.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKING MOVEMENT REACHES IMPRESSIVE PROPORTIONS

Almost 14,000 of America's schools now have school savings banking plans in operation, and about four million pupils are learning systematic savings through this type of thrift, with deposits in excess of $26,000,000 recent reports of the American Bankers Association's Savings Bank Division show. The schools included in the reports are attended by 4,609,825 pupils, of whom 3,980,237 are participants in the school savings banking plans as depositors. During the year these pupils received interest in the amount of $947,610 on their deposits.

The reports gathered by the association also show that there are 33 cities in the United States in which a full 100 per cent of the grammar school enrollment is participating in school savings banking. The figures covering high schools show that in 47 cities 100 per cent of the attendance in this class are school savers.

BEGUILING THE FISH

That slang phrase, "poor fish," is rapidly acquiring a literal meaning. Not content with all sorts of fascinating flies that tempt the fastidious trout which will not bite a worm, someone has devised a luminous bait to make sure that the fish sees it. And now another expert advises feeding worms with sweet milk and bedding them in moistened moss. The worms under this treatment, it is said turn pink and look much more attractive to fish.

All these elaborate dodges to escape the ignominy of a day without a bite may appeal to some anglers, but they will seem a good deal too elaborate to the most ardent fisherman of them all, the American country boy. He will keep on fishing in the good old way, scorning fattened worms or luminous flies and he will manage to bring home an enviable catch.

BLESSED RADIO

The Lord bless radio! It has put old people back into the world. Rheumatism and other infirmities common to old age no longer are able to break the contact between the individual and the world. Grandpa, without taking off his house slippers, can turn a little "thingamajig" and hear politics, news, sermons, markets and crop reports; and now and then a comical dialogue that makes him chuckle. And grandma can serenely sit beside a little box with dials and listen to an orchestra, a band, a bit of grand opera, a discourse on garden seeds and garden culture, how to grow pretty flowers with the best of success, and how to make preserves, apple butter and grape jelly and how for 10 cents one can make a dollar apron; and all such diversions and useful hints. Yes, radio comes as a blessing to the aged and shut-ins. It makes grandpa forget his rheumatism, and grandma seems to suffer less from the stitch in her back. And the world is at their elbows. Bless radio!

THE INDIAN SIGN

Henceforth articles made by the American Indian are to bear some insignia that will tell the purchasing world that the things were really made by the aborigines, and are not a cheap imitation by the white man. Secretary West conceived the idea and he has approved a design of identification.

This is a good thing for the redskin and for the public. The country is flooded with cheap blankets, pottery and such articles purporting to have been made by Indians, but which probably never originated farther West than Chicago. The Indian is a good craftsman, and deserves to have his wares protected.

The trademark should, and we suppose will be, something that will be distinctive and striking. Violation of its use ought to be difficult and dangerous.

AN EYE TO THE FUTURE

Newark, with a municipal airport, looks ahead in the air age. Mail carrying air companies seek to lease the port facilities for a sum of $600 per month each. Newark holds out for a cent per pound on all mail landed there. The monthly rental would bring in far more money than would the cent per pound at present, but Newark sees a tremendous increase in air mail carriage. Incidentally Newark has had sufficient confidence in the air to put $7,000,000 into its airport.

HAIL TO THE CHIEF

The country expects much of Herbert Hoover, who Monday became our President.

Not many incoming Presidents have taken office amid as profound a feeling of confidence and good will as Mr. Hoover has inspired. There is a country-wide belief in his entire competence, an almost universal disposition to believe that he is equipped by training and experience for his high office in a greater degree than many of his predecessors.

The country looks on the new President not alone as a proven administrator of the most important affairs, but as possessing a knowledge of world problems superior to that of any other American. We know him as a thorough master of the science of government. As an engineer and as a director of great business interests the world over, he is particularly fitted to wrestle with all our economic problems.

Mr. Hoover has few political obligations. He is indebted to no set of men. He was never the choice of the Republican machine leaders, who supported him only when they realized the Republican voters demanded his nomination.

His election by a large electoral majority places him above any partisan considerations. While his will be naturally a party administration, his independence of spirit and his broad national viewpoint assure something above a conventional adherence to party programmes.

The President is a forceful man. He is a person of strong opinions and hearty likes and dislikes. He is hardly the man to submit tamely to any sort of party dictation. He is a natural leader.

We believe the American public like that type of President. He, like President Wilson and President Coolidge, may have his troubles with Congress, and particularly the Senate, but he will have an immense advantage in the strong public confidence in his honesty and his judgement.

No man ever had a greater opportunity before him than Mr. Hoover faces. It is this task to organize, direct and diffuse this somewhat turbulent and lop-sided prosperity, which has recently enriched a part of the population and passed the others. There is a feeling that the great Hoover talents will be able to devise a better order of things, stimulate business, industry and agriculture that all may share in the onward march of America.

ford recently remarked that he never thinks about money. But supposed to be the richest man in the world, is somewhat of a finances than are most people.

VOLUNTEERS IN DEMAND

OUR ONLY DUTY

The Belleville News has one duty. To put out a good newspaper and refrain from ugly attacks on competitors for lack of any other means to get into the limelight. Our competitors do not concern us in any way.

This paper feels that it has established its integrity in the community and sinister, shaded, vulgar and untrue statements are not a part of its makeup. We don't live by attacking our competitors. We play fair. An underhanded false and spiteful attack has been made against us. We consider it beneath our dignity and ethics to quote anything from another paper for the purpose of drawing a wrong inference. We have not yet stooped to such things. If we do have occasion to quote we try to do it accurately. Although we sometimes make mistakes. Editorials that have appeared or will appear in this paper are based on our honest opinions and nothing else. We have no political axe to grind and don't give a hoot who is in charge of the municipal well-being of the community, except to the extent that they must be capable, reliable and straightforward.

Citizen Cites

The comforting thing about despair is that it begets so much hope.

Many a man makes a noise like virtue to drown the clamor of his vices.

The surest way to acquire good will is to do good work.

All the world admires a hustler. He never has time to tell his troubles.

Some men will never take a stand so long as they can run.

The average man doesn't worry so much meeting his expenses. It is dodging them that causes him so much worry.

Some people expect to be given a chance: others take it.

People who want to travel the road to glory should keep out of the ruts.

Some people should be glad that the voice of conscience is so still and small that the neighbors can't over hear it.

Youth will have its fling, but that is no reason why it should be thrown away.

The people who are forced to swallow their pride must be pretty well fed up on it.

FIGURELLI FLAYS SCHOOL POWERS

Gerard of his further duties, and restore his principalship. This town has had its full share of notoriety and publicity. Don't let it touch the public school system.

"Let me say here and now that the only reason by the board for removing Mr. Gerard as principal was to give him more time for other duties. He has plenty of time. He has so much that he knows the first and last name of each of the 5,000 odd pupils in the schools and he has not forgotten one name back over the last twenty-five years. He knows more than that. He knows what every body does after they leave school. He knows what they did the first day they came in. He knows whether I am married or single, have children and my profession.

There are two sides to every story. On one side is the splendid achievement of Mr. Gerard, on the other a desire to oust him for personal animosity and pettiness.

Mr. Figurelli attacked De Rosset when he said he thinks the first duty of any public official who desires to oust anyone is "to know the man or at least inquire what kind of a man he is" without taking heed of "what somebody may say he is." He received a round of applause when he said another "whispering campaign which is still with us" says Mr. Gerard is too old for the job.

"I think a gentleman on the board is somewhat older than Mr. Gerard. He looked at Mr. De Rosset, who was forced to smile.

Valuable Asset
As far as age goes it is a good thing. The years of experience of dealing in school matters, knowledge and training are valuable to Belleville."

Mr. Figurelli wanted to reply to some of Mr. Horne's statements and vice versa, but the president denied both. The meeting broke up with a long list of "ah's" as though it were not long enough. On previous occasions, until the Gerard matter came to a head, the school board meetings were not attended by more than one or two citizens. Mr. Figurelli in outlining that "sentiment is ninety-nine percent" against the school board said this is significant and the taxpayers will not let up until the "political death knell of the one who puts his finger in the Town Hall is sounded and his funeral dirge played."

Resolution introduced by Samuel Figurelli, Chairman of the Resolution Committee.

WHEREAS, at a meeting of the Belleville Board of Education held on February 4th, 1929, it was resolved by a majority of said board of education that the written agreement entered into between the preceding board of education and Mr. George of the High School and Supervising Principal of the entire school system of the Town of Belleville until 1931, be rescinded; and

WHEREAS, at the following board of education meeting held on February 18th, 1929, it was further resolved by a majority of said board that Mr. Gerard be immediately removed as Principal of the Belleville High School; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Gerard has been Principal of the High School and Supervising Principal of all the schools of Belleville for twenty-two years or more and has so ably administered said offices so as to place Belleville in a foremost position among the schools of the state and of the country and his conduct during said time has been such that he has acquired the greatest respect, esteem and admiration of not only the student body but of their parents and the public in general; and

WHEREAS, his services have been so distinguished that in 1927, he was selected Head of the New Jersey Teachers' Association and has also been extended an invitation to attend an international conference on education in Europe this coming Summer as the eastern representative of the United States; and

WHEREAS, it has been rumored that Mr. Gerard is to be removed from his said further position as Supervising Principal of the Schools of Belleville; and

WHEREAS, the past action which has been taken by said board of education and the further action which it is rumored it will take is a reflection upon the ability, efficiency and earned prestige of Mr. Gerard; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Gerard, after such a capable and successful career, is entitled when he goes out of office to go out of same with the deepest respect and appreciation of the community; and it is very evident from the overwhelming sentiment and enthusiasm of the public in favor of his retention as Principal of the High School and as Supervising Principal that when the time does arrive for his departure from the Belleville school system that he be released reluctantly and with the profoundest appreciation of the people for his most splendid work and that none of all, he be permitted to leave the town as he is and like he came in, a gentleman, and not be ousted in unjust grief and humiliation.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Belleville High School

Mr. Gerard in said office; and
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that we, said alumni association, also do hereby very earnestly and very respectfully request said board of education to refrain from taking any action to remove Mr. Gerard as Supervising Principal; and
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a copy of this resolution be spread in full upon the minutes of this association, that it be published in the newspapers and that a copy of same be submitted to the board of education at its next meeting.

ADOPTED: February 28th, 1929.

LITTLE USE FOR DISGUISES NOW

Modern Detectives Seldom Resort to Make-Up Box in Trailing Crooks.

New York.—In the blood curdling lurid melodramas of the '90s stage detectives were masters of many disguises. These Hawkshaws of the play while unraveling a mystery frequently lost their identities in a bewildering assortment of wigs, mustaches and beards, and sometimes were so successful that they were able to deceive the villain as well as a good part of the audience.

Although detectives rarely resort to the make-up box of the actor, using grease paint and false hair, they have done so on occasion. It requires a real artist, an experienced actor, to make up for a part successfully, and when he faces his audience he is helped mightily by the soft lights of the stage. If he appeared in the garish light of day, his disguise doubtless would be easy to penetrate. There is such a thing as looking too wiggy and unnatural in the sunlight. Accordingly, detectives have a strong aversion to the paint box.

"Brave Disguises."
Therefore when they do have to resort to what the police term a "brave disguise" they rely principally on nature. Two detectives, being assigned to a certain mission, were told to make themselves look as rough as possible. They were to appear as two sorry, case-hardened derelicts. If they failed to look the part, they were foredoomed to failure. Realizing this and wishing to make a success of their mission, they were willing to make any sacrifice at the expense of their personal vanity. Accordingly, they prepared for the work at hand most painstakingly.

They let their hair and beards grow. Both of them were naturally hairy men and in a short time they had grown beards that the most depraved professional beggar would have envied. This was a beginning. Next they procured the sorriest old garments they could rake up and put them on. But they still were not satisfied. Being in private life scrupulously neat and clean, they did not wish to appear strangers to the part they were to play, so they spent several days in walking about in order to get accustomed to their rags and tatters.

Fool Officers.
When they finally set out on their mission they looked like the two most shameless beggarly derelicts that had ever ventured along the avenue. Indeed, they appeared to be such hopeless outcasts that even the avenue's worst bums shrank from contact with them. Although the avenue had its strong arm beggars and roustabouts, none of them was as tough as the two newcomers.

When at length the climax of their mission came and they were to round up the organized gang of strong arm terrorists, policemen who came running to the scene, attracted there by the noise of combat, could not believe that the two were fellow officers. And it took the two Hawkshaws some time to convince them that they were really detectives.

These two detectives doubtless went to extremes in disguising themselves. It is common for detectives to don rough raiment and roam city streets. They realize that experienced crooks have an unfailing faculty for "spotting" a "cop" when he is attired in ordinary garments. There is something about a policeman's gait and carriage that gives him away. If the detective garbs himself in an old suit and woolen shirt, he feels that he may be mistaken for a stevedore, driver or laborer because a good many such men are big, strong and powerful. Like the average policeman.

There are certain policemen who do not lend themselves easily to any kind of disguise. They usually are young men with an intellectual cast of countenance. When they clothe themselves in rough garments they frequently look uncomfortable and out of place. On the other hand, there are plenty of policemen who can readily pass for what they wish to look like

General Electric Employees Arrange To Stage Musical Play

Members of the Employees' Mutual Benefit Association of Bloomfield Works of General Electric Co., under the direction of Harold Whitte, president, are busily engaged at present getting their various committees organized in preparation for the long looked for "KATHLEEN," a romantic musical comedy, which is to be staged under their auspices for the benefit of the Relief Fund.

The cast of "Kathleen" will be composed of talent selected largely from the Bloomfield plant and should prove one of the big events of the year in amateur theatricals, owing to the fact that the production will be staged under the direction of the John B. Rogers Producing Company of Ohio, who have produced this play throughout the United States and Canada. The play will be staged at the Orange High School, Central and Lincoln Avenue, Orange, April 19 and 20, and the Organization expects to make this one of the biggest affairs that it has ever attempted. The cast will contain more than 100.

Dates of Founding of Famous Colleges

An interesting compilation of the dates of the founding of the great universities of the world has been made as follows: The University of Oxford was founded by King Alfred in 872; the first college of the University of Cambridge was founded by Hugo, Bishop of Ely, in 1257; the University of Paris was founded by King Philip II, about 1200. The first university of the German empire was at Prague, Bohemia, 1348; Trinity college, Dublin, was incorporated by royal charter in 1591; the University of Edinburgh, the youngest in Scotland, was founded in 1582 by a charter by King James IV of Scotland, 171 years after St. Andrews, the most ancient. Harvard university had its beginning at Newton, afterward Cambridge, Mass., in 1636; Yale university had its beginning at Saybrook, Conn., in 1700, and was removed to New Haven, in 1716, and the William and Mary college was started in 1617, and was chartered at Williamsburg, Va., in 1693.

Anyway, She Quit!

Will you let your readers know of your misstatement in your last week's issue "Officer Resigns from P. T. A. Mrs. Ida M. Gilbert, Corr. Sec'y" etc. etc

No officer resigned from the P. T. A.

Mrs. H. L. Hamilton is and has been Corresponding Secretary of the P. T. A. since October, 1928. Mrs. Ida M. Gilbert has not been Corresponding Secretary since October 19-29.

Mrs. Gilbert asked the assistance of a member in writing the necessary letters of the office, and all replies to such letters were received and reported by her to the Association. She willingly accepted this help and it is no reflection on her ability, all credit for this work being given to and accepted by her.

This being the second time a correction of your statements relative to the P. T. A. has had to be made, we hope that in the future you will be more accurate in the news furnished your readers.

Yours very truly,

traveler on a dusty road
Strewed acorns on the sea;
And one took foot and sprouted up,
And grew into a tree.
Love sought its shade at evening-
time.
To breathe its early vows;
And age was pleased, in heat on noon.
To bask beneath its boughs.
The doormouse loved its dangling twigs.
The birds sweet music bore—
It stood a glory in its place,
A blessing evermore.
A nameless man, amid the crowd,
That thronged the daily mart,
Let fall a word of hope and love,
Unstudied from the heart;
A whisper on the tumult thrown,
A transitory breath—
It raised a brother from the dust,
It saved a soul from death.
O fertile seed, O word of love
Which men at random cast,
Ye were but little at the first,
But mighty at the last.

March Of Progress Is Told In Lecture

Nutley Community Services Hears Illustrated Speech

With the aid of colored lantern slides Professor B. R. Baumgardt of the Mt. Wilson Observatory, Cal., at the fifth community service in the Nutley High School Sunday night, traced the march of time from the dawn of civilization in ancient Egypt to the present.

"As far as can be ascertained," he said, "the first roots of civilization took life about seven to eight thousand years ago, doubtless upon the shores of the Nile. In this connection our so-called modern ideas and modern conception of things are not quite so modern as we think."

"Asian example he cited the existence of the civil service in Egypt about 5,000 years ago."

As he showed some pictures from Greece the speaker commented upon the apparent wide gap between the church and the drama, suggesting, perhaps, the waning power of that came when the two organs separated. He said that, though could be obtained mutual from those two.

Men Pay Honors To Ex-Mayor Blum

Of "The Regulars" Has Served Smoke Eaters 35 Years

Chemical Company of the Fire Department honored for Mayor Abram Blum with a dinner at the fire headquarters Tuesday celebration of his thirty-fifth as a member of that company.

Blum was among those to the company, the first in the It was organized March 5, and officially established by the Nutley Committee when that part Nutley was known as Franklin. Blum is eighty years old and one "regular" at headquarters. He father of Town Clerk Simon Mayor Cook presented Mr. Blum a thirty-five-year badge and Chief Hugh Hattley gave him a Masonic ring, a gift of Nutley the Masons.

Following the formal ceremonies refreshments were served and entertainment was furnished by John and Miles Stiles and Robert Strauss, members of the department.

The committee of arrangements for the affair consisted of Walter C. Pratt, chairman; Assistant Chief Light C. Decker and Mr. Strauss. Others who paid their respects to Blum included Commissioners Woodward and Rife and Town Clerk

Blum, who retired from business several years ago, after organizing a chain of butcher stores in New York to this country when a child. He has always taken an active interest in town affairs and served as the first mayor under commission government in Nutley. He makes daily trips to Newark for his "recreational ride," as he calls it, and nightly in the fire headquarters he still holds his own among the bridge players.

Fined As Reckless Driver

Dittie Eliason of Fisher avenue, was fined $26 by Recorder William Smith Friday night on a charge of reckless driving. The charge was made after an accident in Center street a month ago.

C. F. Walter of Rensselaer road, Ex. Fells, was fined $3 for parking about lights. Police issued fifteen citations for this violation Friday night. Hearings will be held before Recorder Smith tomorrow.

JANCOVIUS BUSINESS GREW AND GREW FROM SMALL START

Forty-seven years in business in Newark, starting in a small one-room basement and expanding into one of the most complete plants of its kind in the country, which requires two buildings to house, one of six stories and the other of four stories, is something to be proud of. Consequently the relatives, friends and patrons of William T. Jancovius, head of the firm of Jancovius & Sons, Inc., Arlington street, Newark, are unanimous that Mr. Jancovius' pride is justifiable.

Mr. Jancovius is a native Newarker and he possesses the traits of industry and progressiveness, which have been the dominant factors in the upbuilding of Newark. Although he has labored long and arduous at his vocation, he is apparently as full of enthusiasm and as active now within two months of his seventieth year, as he was when he first hung out his shingle in February 1882.

There wasn't such a great demand for a rug cleaner in Newark, at that early date, but there were plenty of carpets, with a rug occasionally, and he found a brisk business when he tidied up the basement at 599 Broad street, near where the Peddie Memorial Church now stands. As business grew, he moved to larger quarters, going to 283 Broad street on the third floor, then to a larger third floor place at 910 Broad street, the site of the City Hall, and after that to 9-11 Franklin street for still larger quarters.

Twenty-two years ago he left the Franklin street location and moved into a new building he erected on the present site at Plane street. First he had a four story structure, and even housed some tenants, then he occupied the whole building himself, later pushed it up to six stories, and of recent years annexed a new four story structure. These buildings comprise 47,000 feet of floor space, are all fire-proof, and have the latest fire protection equipment throughout.

And how they treat rugs and carpets in that building! Well, the modern girl who has her hair bobbed, shampooed, dried and waved, has nothing on the rug or carpet which is entrusted to the Jancovius establishment. It is a question, whether the rug doesn't get better treatment than Mademoiselle's locks. If you have any doubt, visit the establishment, and see a rug get a shampoo, dried with electric heat waves, have it's nap all brushed, and the fringe sponged and combed; then see it brought forth as clean and as glossy as the tresses of any brilliant blonde or sparkling brunette.

The last word in modern machinery is throughout the building. Special machines, patented by George T. Jancovius, a son of the founder, brushes them clean of dust. Vacuum tanks take the dust and dirt. More vacuum treatment then comes to the rug, which is placed atop a steel mat to form an air cushion. Then in turn the rug goes to the shampooing room, the drying room, and either the storage or shipping rooms, dependent upon whether they are to be delivered to the owners immediately or kept until the family returns from the seashore of the tropics.

When it is seen, that 22,500 rugs were shampooed last year, in the Jancovius establishment and that from 12,000 to 15,000 rugs have been stored there at different periods the extent of the business can be judged. The cleaning is not the only work done either, as a rug can be made, remade, repaired or can be put through any other operation known to rugs. One sewing machine 37 feet 6 inches long as only part of the equipment, suggests the extent of repair work done. Persons in the trade have come from various parts of the country to inspect the plant and they are unanimous in the assertion that it is without an equal in the United States.

Youths Held On Robbery Charge

Police Say Pair Admitted Holding Up Nutley Resident

Robert Nugent, nineteen, of 420 Center street and Gehart Masuhr, seventeen, of 21 Race street were held in $1000 bail each by Recorder William Smith on Monday night on a charge of holding up and robbing Thomas Conroy of Hopper avenue, December 27. Nugent was committed to the county jail Tuesday morning in default of bail. Bail for Masuhr was furnished by his father, Benno Masuhr.

The youths admitted the robbery, according to the Chief of Police William Brown, Captain John Jameson and Motor-cycle Officer Henry Hoch after their arrest Monday afternoon. The hold-up is alleged to have taken place in Vine street. Conroy reported the thieves took $3.75.

Girl Scout Council Names Nutley Heads

These officers of the Nutley Girl Scout Council were elected at a luncheon given by Mrs. Lewellyn E. Pratt of Highland lane to the council members, officers and captains: Commissioner, Mrs. Pratt; first deputy, Mrs. A. C. Lemkau; second deputy, Mrs. A. G. Mitchell; treasurer, Mrs. Otto C. Drescher, and secretary, Mrs. H. W. Harvey. Except Mrs. Mitchell, all were re-elections. Mrs. M. B. Johnson was made a council member.

Mrs. Pratt stated she would not act as commissioner after this year. Plans are being made for engaging a joint director to carry on the work of the Nutley and Belleville scouts. Receipts of the drive held two weeks ago are 782 and returns are still coming in. The quota was $2,000, which amount would have defrayed all expenses for the year. By amalgamating with Belleville, however, enough money will be available to pay half the cost of a director.

The Scout Mothers Club, of which Mrs. L. D. Colon is president, and which was formed last month to aid in promoting interest among parents, has donated $20.

A spring rally is planned and a camp reunion will be held March 16 at Vincent Methodist Episcopal Church under direction of Miss Elizabeth Tempest.

A letter has been sent to Mayor Cook by Council protesting against a film shown this week at a motion picture house and recommending a creation of a board of censors.

Letters of commendation have been lately begin renovation and expect awarded Verna Stevens of Troop 2 to occupy the building as headquarters and Margaret Mitchell of Troop 8.

COOLIDGE'S GREATEST FEAT

At the farewell conference with Washington correspondents Friday afternoon, some one asked President Coolidge what he regarded as the most important accomplishment of his administration.

"What I regard as the most important accomplishment of my administration was minding my own business," he said laconically.

Nutley Petition Urges Miss Mott For Assembly

Miss Mott has been a member of the committee since 1918. She is retiring president of the Woman's Club of Nutley. She also is vice president of the Nutley League of Women Voters and a member of the Nutley Republican Club. She is a graduate of Vassar.

Nutley Legion Buys New Headquarters

Nutley Post, American Legion, has purchased the large residence building on Franklin avenue, across from the Franklin Theatre, formerly used as a room.

Members of the post will immediately begin renovation and expect awarded Verna Stevens of Troop 2 to occupy the building as headquarters and Margaret Mitchell of Troop 8.

NUTLEY SELLS BOND ISSUES

The Nutley Town Commission Tuesday night sold to B. J. VanIngen & Co. of New York, one of four bidders, $226,000 public improvement bonds, $402,000 assessment bonds and $697,000 temporary improvement bonds. The company's bid was $226,031 at 4 1/2 per cent, $402,031 at 6 per cent and $697,031 at 6 per cent for the respective issues.

When Commissioner Raleigh S. Rife announced the award H. S. Smith, representing Graham, Parsons & Co. of New York, said his firm bid $402,080.40 at 5 1/2 per cent for the assessment bonds and was entitled to that issue.

"With all due respect to this body," Smith declared, "I wish to protest." The award of these issues is not in accord with the terms of sale or the laws of New Jersey. I was the only unconditional bidder. I do not know of any law by which you can sell bonds on an interest basis."

Mr. Rife held VanIngen bid for "all or none" and Graham-Parsons did not bid for the temporary improvement bonds. VanIngen offered maturity in nine months on this issue and Mr. Rife declared it was to the advantage of the town to sell short term bonds at this time. The other issues mature in twenty-seven years. Smith withdrew his objections after the meeting.

Other bidders were Dewey, Bacon & Co. and Lehman Brothers, both of New York.

Three petitions for rezoning were referred to the Department of Public Safety and the committee for rezoning recently appointed by Mayor Ernest P. Cook. The Degener Realty Company asked the east side of Washington avenue, near Hagert street, be changed from business to industrial because of its proximity to the railroad and the nature of nearby buildings. Another petition for change from residential to business of the property of Pelice Jannarone of Harrison street, at the northwest corner of Walnut street and Park avenue, was received. The property was the cause of civic protest during the last administration when a permit to erect a coal pocket there was sought.

The Washington Park Land Company asked Washington avenue from May place to Roosevelt avenue and east to Oak street be changed from one-family residential to business. A previous petition to change the property to apartment zone was refused. The company stated there were no stores near the property, which is under development.

A letter from Nutley Council of Girl Scouts protested against showing of "The Road to Ruin," a motion picture, at a Nutley theatre last week and asked a board of censors be appointed. Mayor Cook declared last week he planned to appoint this body. The petition was referred to the Department of Public Safety.

Isolation Hospital Has Fewer Patients

A decrease in number of patients at the Isolation Hospital in Belleville is shown in a report of Dr. Ellis L. Smith, superintendent, to the hospital committee of the Board of Freeholders. The committee meeting at the hospital held Wednesday was brief because of the absence of William Mungie, chairman, who is recovering at his home, 640 Ridge street, Newark, from pleurisy.

Superintendent Smith reported that hospital facilities were adequate to handle the smaller number of patients. Most of the cases admitted last month were diphtheria. "an encouraging sign, Dr. Smith said, was that the average stay of diphtheria patients was becoming shorter each year, showing that treatment was more successful.

Of 200 patients admitted during February, eighty-eight were diphtheria cases and forty-five scarlet fever. Discharged patients totaled 155, of whom sixty-two were diphtheria and thirty-five scarlet fever. Fifteen deaths were recorded. Nine resulted from diphtheria.

Vitaphone Starts At Capitol Theatre

Screen and stage players whose popularity reach to every nook and crevice of the world will be seen and heard at the Capitol Theatre when that playhouse presents "The Home Towners" Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as the first sound picture under its new policy of offering the newest sound and talking pictures of the industry.

For the past several weeks, the playhouse has been undergoing that electrical wiring process which is absolutely essential for the perfect presentation of sound and talking pictures.

The coming of sound, effects and dialog to the screen is the greatest revolutionary step in the development of the motion picture. It is a step more dramatic than the invention of the celluloid strip or the recording camera. Sound and talking pictures now bring the world to the screen and every action, every whisper, every natural sound can be reproduced with fidelity and dramatic effect.

The presentation of "The Home Towners" is one of the newest pictures having sound and dialog brings to this city the newest developments of the screen. The photoplay is one of the forerunners of this new type of entertainment and it is only an indication of the type of programs that will be offered from now on at the Capitol Theatre which will devote itself to a policy of presenting the utmost in sound and talking attractions.

Other coming attractions are "On Trial" March 18, 19 and 20; "Interference," March 25, 26 and 27, and others like "My Man," "Conquest," "Weary River" and "The Barker."

If the crook play has begun to make you feel that you are rather fed up with that sort of cinema fare, then remember that a play is coming to the Capitol Theatre that will make up tenfold for all that you have had to suffer at the hands of the yeggs and such critters. The screen special that is to do all this magic is none other than Warner Bros.' version of George M. Cohan's tremendous stage comedy success, "The Home Towners."

George M. Cohan has the reputation on Broadway of being the cleverest of comedy-makers and comedy-stars—and producers, too, for the Broadway is lost without two or more Cohan plays in full swing. Then by way of variation George dashes off a song like "Over There," that sells by the millions, and better still, is on a million lips everywhere. And "The Home Towners" is George M. Cohan at his chucklin, twinkling, flag-waving best. It has to do with a middle-aged small town man who comes to the city to fix up the troubles of a boyhood pal, whom he believes to be in imminent danger of being hoodwinked by a young adventurer. For what follows—come to the Capitol. This picture is 100 per cent all talking.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 14

Deductive bids are interesting and difficult, but every good player should be on the alert for such opportunities and take advantage of them. Here is a hand that shows the necessity for being on the alert:

Hearts—K, Q, 8, 5
Clubs—Q, 10
Diamonds—Q, 10, 9, 7, 5, 3
Spades—J

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A bid one spade, Y passed and B bid two clubs. Z now bid two diamonds, A bid two spades. Y bid three diamonds and B passed. What should Z do? Should he try for game at diamonds or should he bid three hearts and try for game in that suit?

Game at diamonds looks hopeless because Y Z would lose three, probably four tricks. On the other hand, it takes one less trick for game at hearts than at diamonds; therefore game might easily be possible at hearts and not at diamonds. Also if Z does bid three hearts and is doubled, he can very easily bid four diamonds. In other words, a three heart bid offers a better chance for game than diamonds and without any great danger.

After analyzing these facts, Z bid three hearts. A bid three spades, Y bid four hearts and all passed. In the actual play of this hand Y Z just made four hearts and thereby scored a game and rubber not possible at diamonds, at which bid they would also have scored four odd. Y's hand was as follows:

Hearts—K, 6, 4, 2
Clubs—none
Diamonds—J, 10
Spades—9, 8

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win six of the eight tricks against any defense?

Solution: Z should lead a club, winning the trick in Y's hand with the queen. On this trick A should discard the deuce of hearts. Y should now lead the ace and king of clubs. B follows suit and Z is forced to make one discard, the nine of hearts. A must make two discards. One of these should be the four of hearts and the other must be the ten of diamonds. He cannot discard a spade or another heart or Y Z's spades and hearts will be good.

At the fourth trick, Y should lead the four of diamonds, forcing A in the lead with the jack. A cannot lead a heart or Y Z can win two heart tricks. A is forced, therefore, to lead a spade. Z wins this trick with the king and returns the five of spades, again forcing A in the lead. A now has left only the king and six of hearts, so no matter how he leads them, Y Z must win the balance of the tricks.

This problem is an easy one but comes up so frequently that you should thoroughly understand the principle of throwing the lead. Many a game and rubber is won by that method so be on the lookout for similar opportunities.

The following hand was given as a test of your ability to bid hands at Contract, so as to arrive at a slam bid if possible:

Hearts—A, 10, 9
Clubs—8, 5
Diamonds—6
Spades—K, 5

Clubs—J, 7, 5
Diamonds—A, Q
Spades—A, Q, 9, 8, 7

Hearts—J, 3
Clubs—10, 9, 3, 2
Diamonds—5
Spades—3

Hearts—A, K, 5
Clubs—A, Q, 10
Diamonds—K, 10, 8, 7, 5
Spades—K, 7

No score, rubber game. Z bid one diamond, A passed, Y bid one spade and B passed. Z now bid two no trump, A passed, Y bid three no trump and B passed. How should Z and Y bid their hands from now on so that they can arrive at a little slam by sound bidding?

Solution: Z should now bid four hearts, to show his partner that he can take care of the first round of hearts, at least. A will pass and Y should now bid five diamonds to show his partner that he holds the top diamonds. If B passes, Z is now in the happy position of being "in" to bid six clubs, to show a club trick, and when A passes, Y should bid six no trumps. Y Z can easily make this bid; in fact a grand slam if A opens clubs. When playing Contract and you hold such a big hand, be on the alert for slam possibilities and don't stop bidding, when you can give valuable information by doing so, until you have bid for the slam or are sure that it cannot be made.
