BUBBLES" PENNINGTON WINS MODEL CONTEST— GAVE LINDBERGH'S PLANE COLD SHOULDER

Belleville Boy Winters At Miami And Takes Part In Daily News—Safety Club Police Patrol Movie Comedy

Charles "Bubbles" Pennington, nine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Pennington of 129 Beech street, who turned down an airplane ride with Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, immediately after the colonel's trip to France and return to Teterboro, has followed up aviation and was recently one of eight winners among four hundred contestants in a model airplane contest at Miami Field, Fla. "Bubbles" took one look at the colonel's plane and decided it was too small in which to ride, although he had been up on numerous occasions before. "Bubbles" was considered the "mascot" of Teterboro by

The Lindbergh episode happened over a year ago. This winter "Bubbles" went off to Miami with relatives. He entered the model contest and then the Miami Daily News-Capitol Theatre Kids' Safety Club police patrol put on a comedy movie. "Bubbles" was selected as Chief of Police and according to reports bossed the "force" in great manner. "Bubbles" is scheduled to arrive in New York late this week to be home for Easter.

Signs Of Spring

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters and Library Trustee Harvey B. Thompson have noted signs of spring. Last week Harvey, who has a bird bath in the rear of his home noted a robin nonchalantly resting near it.

The same day Commissioner Waters saw one in his rear yard. For the last four or five years with many other sparrows that make their home in the Waters' property, a one-legged sparrow has been a constant visitor. The Waters' family have kept a vigilant watch over this bird and the care is evidently appreciated. Over 100 birds make a home at the Waters.

Returns From Trip

Henry W. Winfield of Preston street and son, Harry, have just returned from a three weeks' business trip through New England.

A NEWSPAPER

A newspaper becomes more or less of an institution. A small town newspaper, such as we are, becomes more than an institution in many minds. A newspaper is supposed to print the news. Only in its editorial columns is it supposed to express the viewpoint of the man who owns the newspaper.

It is surprising sometimes how quickly we can lose the temporary support of individuals, and just so that this is not one-sided, we gain friends sometimes, from very unexpected sources. All of this, however, is human nature. We feel that the small town newspaper fluctuates in the esteem of its readers to greater limits than the large town newspaper. Nobody, for example, refuses to buy the "Newark Evening News" or "Star-Eagle" because of the stand the News or Star takes on any one subject. Nobody who has read the "Sun" for years would refuse any longer to buy it, because of its stand on any one subject. You certainly would not condemn a friend of yours because of any one peculiarity, and yet a great number of people seem to feel that a small town newspaper must be infallible. It must always please them without regard to the other fellow. If we were to be able to please all people at all times, the result would be exactly like the individual all of us know, the one who never takes a stand on anything, the one who is always the same under all circumstances. We say he is nice, but "colorless."

A newspaper cannot be "colorless." A newspaper must give expression to the likes and dislikes of what it believes to be the majority opinion. Don't condemn your town newspaper simply because it does not at all times agree with you. Think of the number of times it has agreed with you and give it the support and the "breaks" you would give an individual under similar circumstances.

With Patrolmen James Anderson and Ernest Slater the watchman made an investigation and found a burlap bag filled with brass which the thieves left in their hurry to escape.

$1 A Year— No Inducements

The Belleville News costs $1 per year. During the last six months we have diligently canvassed Belleville and added many new readers to our circulation—paid readers who received no bonus or inducement to take the News except for its value as a newspaper. We did not offer prizes, inducements of free tickets to the movies if anyone would buy our paper. We sold it on its merits. We did not give it away.

The News today has a circulation of paid readers greater than it ever has had. We have canvassed—street by street—during the six-month period all our old subscribers. Nothing as thorough as this has ever been done in Belleville before.

PHONSI CARLO, RENOWNED VIOLINIST TO APPEAR AT EVERYMAN'S CLASS

Fifteen Year Old Prodigy Has Made Name For Himself High In Music Circles

Everyman's Bible Class will have a special attraction on Easter morning, when Phonsi Carlo, renowned violinist will appear. This young prodigy, who is only fifteen years of age, has made a place for himself high in music circles.

He had marked success as violin soloist with the Sherman Symphony Orchestra in September 1928 and was offered a return engagement.

Master Carlo has recently been appearing with The Crusade Union Boy Singers' Chorus, an organization which began its work in February, 1915 in the city of Spokane, Wash., the object being to uncover and utilize the better qualities which often lie hidden in the lives of boys and young men.

As Phonsi will be scheduled for the beginning of the programme everybody is urged to be on time, promptly at 9:30 to hear him.

The Police Department will within the next month make a thorough canvass or dog census of the Town, and this Department is giving advance notice of this action so that all persons not wishing to be put to the inconvenience of appearing in court will avail themselves of this opportunity to secure 1929 licenses.

READ "THE TRADE AT HOME" PAGE TODAY AND RESOLVE BELLEVILLE IS FOR BELLEVILLE

TO GET THIS CAR COSTS NOTHING BUT YOUR DESIRE TO HELP YOUR TOWN MERCHANTS PROSPER

A group of Belleville merchants are at the present time giving a Plymouth sedan to stimulate a buy in Belleville atmosphere. Any Belleville buyer who spends $1 at one time in any of the stores listed on the "Trade in Belleville" page will be given a coupon—a trade discount—which may be the means of the trader getting the car.

You not only get your trade value—but you may get a car. Ask these merchants about the plan. Look over these ads. See who the merchants are. They want to convince you that you may buy articles as good and as cheap in Belleville as anywhere else.

How often do you spend $1 for foodstuffs, clothing, haberdashery, jewelry, meats and what not? Look at all the ads in this paper. The Belleville News feels so confident of the integrity of all its advertisers that it is willing to stand behind them and their merchandise. Why not patronize them? They are here to serve you. They have been backed by the Belleville Post, American Legion, in this buy at home campaign. The Belleville News is co-operating. Everything connected with it is by and for Belleville. The Belleville News is the only paper printed in Belleville and because we have the only newspaper plant in town and the only one paying taxes here we join heartily in this proposition.

Why You Should Buy At Home

Once upon a time there lived in Belleville only three people and their names were Belleville, Court and House, and each one of them had a dollar apiece. Mr. Belleville needed some fencing and he bought the same from Mr. House, and Mr. Court also needed some fencing and he in return bought the same from Mr. House, and that drained both Mr. Belleville and Mr. Court of all of their capital. Then Mr. House needed some feed and both Mr. Belleville and Mr. Court had some feed to sell but Mr. House drove all the way into Newark to purchase the feed that he needed and therefore for once the good Town of Belleville was robbed of all its money.

Have all or any of the good people living in the community of the good town of Belleville ever considered what it means to buy at home? Take for your first consideration that every dollar that is spent outside of Belleville has gone forever.

We will cite our Newspaper. Our employees must be paid for the work that there is to be done and there is money paid by us to those that are working for us that is spent here. Our merchants must pay their rents for the stores that they occupy or if they are owned by them there are the investments that must be paid for and then the taxes that the town does and must derive from same. Our merchants through their taxes for homes and other burdens educate children in our good community.

Why then should we not take into consideration first above all buy at home and by doing so you will not only help the community in which you are living, but you will also help those who are endeavoring to help you.

If you will follow up the advertising that is being conducted by this paper you will be well repaid. Inspect the merchandise that the Merchants are giving you in Belleville for the money you spend at home and you will find that whatever you can buy elsewhere you can find in Belleville.

Mt. Prospect Theater, 675 Mt. Prospect avenue, corner Heller Parkway, Newark. Continuous performances Sundays.—Adv.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 15

The English players who have been trying out the informatory double seem to like it very much, but with their customary independence, they have refused to adopt all of the American rules. The following quotation from an article on the informatory double by a well-known English writer should be very interesting:

"So far as can be observed, the epidemic of doubling informatory is abating, and this double is being played in a much more restrained manner than a few months ago. There appears to be a general desire to make the use of this double as simple as possible, so that every player readily knows whether a double by his partner is informatory or business. The Americans, as usual, are making this convention a very complicated one, but so far as this country is concerned, the informatory double seems to be played on the following lines:

"1. A double of 'one' of a suit or of 'one No-Trump' is an informatory double whether the doubler or the doubler's partner has previously bid or not.

"2. A double of 'two' of a suit is informatory unless the doubler or the doubler's partner has previously bid.

"3. A double of 'three' of a suit or of 'Two No-Trumps' is always Business.

"There is common sense in the above, because one practically never wants to double 'one No-Trump' or 'one' of a suit for Business purposes, and these doubles can therefore always be informatory; while for the opposite reason, a double of 'two No-Trumps' or of 'three' of a suit should always be for Business purposes."

Whether or not you agree with the English view-point of the informatory double, you cannot help but admit that it is a sensible one and probably prevents much of the confusion that is prevalent in America.

Here is an interesting hand that has just been submitted:

Hearts—A, Q, 4
Clubs—Q, J, 10, 9, 7, 2
Diamonds—K, Q, 9, 5
Spades—none

If there was no score, what would you bid as dealer with the foregoing hand? The only sound bid with this hand is one club. Then, if your partner bids one spade, bid one no trump. An original no trump with such a holding is very unsound. An alert opponent, with a set-up spade suit and the lead, would pass and you would thus lose a game that could be won at the proper suit bid.

Don't be afraid to bid one club on such a hand, for if your partner is alert he will make a bid and thus give you another chance. Never leave your partner in with an original club or diamond bid if you have any possible bid. The only way to get the best bid of the combined hands is by bidding; so do your part to obtain the desired result.

Here is another interesting question:

Hearts—K, Q, 5, 4
Clubs—A, J, 9, 8
Diamonds—10, 5, 3
Spades—K, 4

Score, Y Z—10; A B—0, rubber game. Z dealt and bid three hearts. A passed, Y bid four diamonds, B doubled and all passed. What is B's proper opening lead?

This question has been submitted to many leading players and very few agree. Some say the king of hearts, others say the ace of clubs; but to the writer, the king of spades seems the ideal lead and the one that offers the best chance for a big penalty.

Z's bid of three hearts, if sound, and there is no reason to believe otherwise, should indicate lack of spade strength. Therefore the spades probably are in the hands of A and Y. If A has the ace of spades, B will be able to make one of his small trumps; and if A has as good as the queen, the lead of the king of spades will do no harm. In other words, there is a trick to gain and very little to lose.

On the other hand, the lead of the king of hearts may give Y a valuable discard, for it is very likely that he has no hearts at all. Otherwise he would hardly have taken out his partner's original three heart bid.

The lead of the ace of clubs also seems to be a bad lead because it may set up two club tricks in Y's hand. In all, the lead of the king of spades seems to be the only sound lead in this difficult hand.

Here is a pretty hand, one that illustrates a point of play that comes up frequently enough to be well worth the closest study:

Problem No. 18

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one heart and all passed. If A opened the line of spades, how should Z plan the play of the hand? An analysis of this interesting situation will be given in the next article.

THIS red and white chiffon crepe made of Bernberg is unusual in that it has borrowed a tweed design and the dress serves a double purpose—when worn with the little jacket it does duty in the afternoon, and later becomes the perfect sleeveless dinner frock. It is one of the twenty-five tempting displays of feminine fashions ranging from beach pyjamas to evening gowns of the sheerst chiffon crepe seen on living models in the fashion showing of spring and summer patterns in Svelta washable fabrics at Bernberg's, Newark, this week. Several of the extraordinary creations in this style pageant have been filmed for the motion picture news reel and are now being shown and described in the Fox Movie-tone at leading theatres throughout the United States.

Your First Night In Naughty Paris At Moulin Rouge

Paris, city of gayety and folly—the Moulin Rouge, the most glamorous and glittering music hall and night resort in all that city of gilded naughtiness—caught by the camera as it actually is, and placed on the screen for the first time in the World Wide Picture, "Moulin Rouge," which is now at Adam's Newark Theatre, on Market Street, just below Broad street, Newark.

For the first time this picture reveals with startling realism not only the gigantic auditorium, the stage and bar and midnight cabaret, but the innermost secrets of its holy of holies, life behind the wings in the private dining rooms, hidden scenes reserved only to the initiated few.

E. A. Dupont, the famous continental director, who gave you "Variety," has photographed it all in this spectacular picture. Motion picture experts claimed it could not be done, but Dupont did it, catching all the lights and shadows of life in this famous place of amusement.

The Moulin Rouge, with its myriad of glittering, whirling lights on its gigantic mill wheel, draws not only the elite of Paris but every visitor for miles around. If it were your first night in Paris nothing could hold you back from this famous night club. If you were alone it might be smooth sailing, but if wife were along considerable finesse might be necessary, and lucky for you of there should be a ring on the telephone and you could explain that there was some urgent business call. Then off for a night of frolic, a night of rapture.

But it is not necessary to go to Paris, for unfolding on the screen is a panorama of spectacular splendor—the gigantic auditorium with its cosmopolitan crowds from every walk of life—women from the highest ranks of society, and the demi-monde, a women of beauty and wit and charm, fascinating in their gorgeous gowns, the latest styles from the smartest and most fashionable Parisian shops, fingers sparkling with costly jewels, necks encircled with flashing diamonds and ropes of lustrous pearls—men-about-town, young bloods and aristocrats, counts, marquises and princes from every part of the continent, men of wealth and genius, officials and diplomats, also the apache and men of the underworld who live by their wits, all there for a night of careless pleasure, all rubbing elbows in a night of revelry. And among them the tourists, the visitors from America and from every part of the world.

Then flashes the stage with its gorgeous revue, famed the world over for its beautiful dancing darlings, girls in flimsy, diaphanous costumes, showing the gleaming ping and white of matchless skins, and romping across the stage with a "come hither" smile and beck and nod that sets the heart aflutter.

The camera turns to the spacious bar, aglitter with a mountain of glass and colored bottles and frothing bubbling liquors—to the little tables in the midnight cabaret with its after show entertainment of dancing and drinking. Couples with care thrown to the winds for the night, dancing in reckless abandon to the popping of champagne corks amid a whirlwind of drifting confetti, floating balloons, the flash of multi-colored lights and syncopated music.

This is what you see just as though you were actually visiting the Moulin Rouge. But the picture shows more than you would see if you were just a visitor. For only the favored few ever penetrate to the life back stage and in the private dining rooms. But this also Dupont has given you in this picture.

This spectacular production introduces the famous continental star, Olga Chekova, to the American public. Long known abroad as one of the most talented actresses of the stage and screen, she appears in an unusually strong emotional role that gives full play to her artistry. She is supported by Eve Gray, an English actress, and Jean Bradin, of the French stage. This is the first of the productions to be imported by World Wide Pictures from a list of selected pictures of the finest European product.

dividends on its preferred stock amounting to $6,701,194.93, leaving a balance of $16,270,994.67 earned on common stock, which was equal to $3.28 a share on the stock outstanding at the end of the year, or $3.51 a share on the average number of shares outstanding during the year. There was paid in common stock dividends a total of $11,163,424.91, while the sum of $5,107,569.76 was added to consolidated surplus at the end of the year. Of total operating revenue, $58,860,099.12 was derived from electric operations; $28,683,368.97 from gas operations and $37,985,112.27 from transportation, of which latter amount $18,902,609.82 came from motor bus operation, $16,865,016.73 from street car operation; and $2,217,485.72 from ferry and tarmac operation.

The Consolidated balance sheet of the Corporation and its subsidiary operating companies as of December 31, 1928, shows assets of $600,348,443.53 of which $549,885,781.82 is represented by fixed capital.

Statistics of operating companies show sales of electricity amounting to 1,406,258,947 kilowatt hours, exclusive of energy furnished for the operation of the street cars of Public Service Coordinated Transport, an increase of 172,274,895 kilowatt hours over 1927; and sales of gas amounting to 23,826,833,203 cubic feet, an increase of 1,250,576,836 cubic feet, while 643,134,181 passengers were carried on street cars and buses, an increase of 15,981,168.

An analysis of the traffic statistics show a decrease of 29,504,597 in the number of street car passengers and an increase of 45,485,765 in the number of bus passengers. "This result" the report points out, "is accounted for by the substitution, in many instances, of bus for car service and by additional bus lines taken over or put in service." For the first time in Public Service history bus revenue exceeded car revenue, although the number of car passengers still substantially exceeds the number of bus passengers.

There was an increase in the number of stockholders accounts on the books of the Corporation, December 31, 1928, as compared to December 31, 1927, of 9,113, the actual number of stockholders on the former date, with duplications eliminated, being 80,532.

Employees of the Public Service companies on December 31, 1928, numbered 19,941 and there was paid during the year $37,487,048.39 in salaries and wages.

During the year taxes amounting to $13,618,959.60 accrued against Corporation and its subsidiary companies, an increase over the previous year's taxes of $1,430,903.29. For the operating companies taxes amounted to 10.7 per cent of their net earnings.

Concerning the transportation situation, President McCarter says: "Substantial progress was made during the year in carrying forward the policy of coordinating transportation facilities. Our efforts are directed towards the creation of a transportation system in which street cars, buses and other units as their operation may be undertaken, will be utilized so as to provide a maximum service and effect economy by the elimination of waste and duplicate service and the combination of construction, maintenance and operating activities to reduce overhead expense."

President McCarter reviews the history of the Corporation during the twenty-five years of its existence, and says as to prospects for future growth: "Because Public Service companies operate in a section of New Jersey that, in regard to both population and industrial activity, shows an increasing rate of growth, and because new uses are being constantly found for the utility services which Public Service provides, it is safe to assume a continuing great increase in business."

Zone Change Query Brings Fiery Words

Builder Insists That His Plan For 38-Foot Lots
Be Accepted

When J. V. Padula, a builder and developer, submitted a map to the Belleville Town Commission Tuesday afternoon at the weekly conference, for ratification as to assessments on lots, he stirred up a veritable hornet's nest. The row ended with Padula leaving the conference with a passing remark that he has money enough to get what he thinks is his from the town.

Mr. Padula asked the Board to approve a map presented by him and reassess properties he sold in Garden avenue on a thirty-eight-foot instead of forty-foot basis.

"That's just what we will not do," Commissioner James Gibson asserted. "This man has been selling thirty-eight-foot lots. It's high time he was put in jail."

After hesitating a moment, Padula replied: "I'll go to jail if you go with me." He turned to Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and said: "Anybody who talks like that to a man who is honorable ought to be put out of the room."

"Try and do it," Gibson retorted. "I'd like to know this gentleman's name," said the builder. "I'll take this up with him later."

Mr. Gibson promptly replied: "You haven't been living long enough in Belleville if you don't know my name. You do know very well you were building in an A zone."

"Why, across the street they were building on less than forty feet," Padula answered. "I didn't know I was committing a crime. I did it before in Irvington, did it in Newark, all over. I was never called a crook until this day."

"You need a darn good kick," was Gibson's opinion.

"I tell you I'll not be criticized," Padula asserted, leaning across the table toward Mr. Gibson.

"No, but you can criticize," the latter replied, rising from his chair. "The trouble is you're caught with the goods this time. If you violated the law in Irvington and Newark, you're not going to in Belleville."

Mayor Kenworthy told Padula: "You filed applications to build on forty-foot lots. Now you ask us to accept this revised map, which is contrary to the zoning ordinance. It can't be done."

"He's been grabbing all along the town," was Commissioner Patrick A. Carragher's comment.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher declared Mr. Gibson's stand was right. "But the only difference is it makes a difference who you are in this town," he added. "If Johnnie Jones comes in to make his lot thirty-seven feet, he can. It has been done in the last three or four months."

"Longer ago than that I instructed the building department to bring any builder they caught doing it down and have him fined the $200," the Mayor said.

"If there is a fine for what I have done," Mr. Padula said, "I'll pay it six times over, but I won't be talked to in such a manner." The board did not declare its intention to press a charge against Padula. Building Inspector Robert Williams is authorized in the ordinance to make such charges.

Discovery of the situation was made by Harry Higgs of the engineering department about a year and a half ago. In making up assessments he found there was one house too many. He learned from purchasers they had less than forty feet frontage. He warned Mr. Padula of the violations at the time.

Town Engineer Albert S. Blank will survey, upon request of property owners in Heckel street, possibilities of opening that street along the Erie railroad to Franklin street.

Mr. Waters suggested the town should derive a higher tariff from out-of-town milkmen and bakers, whose fee is now $10. Town Clerk John J. Daly will write other municipalities to learn what they charge. Appointment of a Plan and Art Commission to work with the zoning board was suggested by Mayor Kenworthy. A town planning map was purchased by the town for about $1000 six years ago. This matter was laid over.

Mr. Carragher announced he had arrested his "Republican friends" on the matter of introducing a bill which would require that pending assessments be noted on tax searches.

The board tomorrow will go over property at Isaac and William streets to determine just what it will do as regards to a town garage. Plans, as submitted by the town's architect, Paul B. West, were considered it was found that to build a garage will cost about $2,000, almost double the figures estimated some time ago.

Build the garage right, but if it is going to cost that much wait until money is more available," said Mr. Carragher.

Town Engineer Albert S. Blank reported that the gutter of the fire house in Silver Lake section of town extends two inches over the line of property owner adjoining the fire house and will have to be removed.

FEWSMITH SHOW RECALLS DAYS OF OLD TIME BROADWAY COMEDY

Leo Dietrichstein's Play Featured At Wallack's Theatre On Broadway Quarter Of Century Ago.

The play, selected by the Fewsmith Players for production at the Belleville High School on April 20, is a revival of the old time comedy by the famous author and actor, Leo Dietrichstein, "Are You a Mason?"

It is highly entertaining, humorous and the old timers who remember seeing the show at its original presentation at Wallack's Theatre, New York in 1901, will recall that many laughs were occasioned due to complications arising from Masonic impostors. Every Mason will enjoy this show.

The members of this society are working hard to give Belleville the best show ever produced. The revival of successful plays of other years is popular in the legitimate theatre, movies and in radio broadcasting and the modern presentation of "Are You a Mason?" should likewise prove interesting and entertaining.

Tilden Urges Athletic Fields and Playgrounds

Advocating the building of athletic fields, parks, playgrounds, and other means of physical development for the youth, William T. Tilden, 2nd, champion of the tennis courts, told Passaic Rotarians recently that competition in amateur sports among countries is the greatest influence in the world today for the building up of international friendship.

"America will have to provide the opportunity for competition in athletics if it is to retain the supremacy in the amateur sport world," Mr. Tilden declared.

Europe, the speaker said, has recovered from the effects of the great world conflict and today America finds her bidding fair for the lead in the sport world. This country, he said, was quick to meet the business problems, while Europe meets her athletic activities more sanely and quicker than this country.

Declaring that the present singles and doubles champions of the United States were direct products of a San Francisco public park, the speaker told that in one tennis tournament there, over one thousand participants were under the age of eighteen years. "This will take your boys and girls off the crowded streets and develop them physically and morally for the job you men are doing today," he said.

After the wedding the groom, whose non-deplume was Episododel Periwinkle gave a dainty tap dance for the guests, and the girls served sandwiches, cake and fruit lemonade.

The next meeting of the Society will be held on Tuesday evening instead of the usual night affair on account of the Men's Club dinner.

At 4 p. m. Sunday afternoon the church school will present a pageant, "Go Ye Unto All The World," written and coached by Miss Mary Biller.

Miss Jane Walker will be heard in the title role of Mother Church and ten messengers will bring little one from the far spaces of the earth—Japan, China, Alaska, Liberia, and the Mountains of N. C., Palestine and Mexico. These little ones are asking that the gospel be brought to those far away countries and when the answer comes that it is not possible for this to be done on account of lack of funds of lack of funds Amy Melvaine comes slowly forward with the Church school mite box offering for this purpose. The pageant carries forward the wonderful missionary spirit and brings a dear lesson to both old and young.

Man Shot By Bandits Is Canvalessing

Raymond G. Schall Gave Battle To Pair Of Gunmen

Raymond G. Schall of 386 Union avenue, who was shot in the legs in a hold-up of his delicatessen store by two men Friday night, is recovering. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, Newark, after the shooting by Patrolmen Flynn, Smith and Cruthers.

The hold-up men, described as Italians about twenty years old, fled after the shot was fired.

Passersby who heard the shot notified police, but a search of the town proved fruitless.

According to Mrs. Schall, who was at a high school entertainment in which one the couple's children was taking part Friday night, her husband was in the store, with a younger child, Mildred, five months old, in a carriage in a back room.

The young men entered about 10 o'clock, one asking for cottage cheese. The other contradicted the order, saying they didn't want that and asking the proprietor to make them malted milks. They followed the proprietor along the counter to the back of the store.

He looked up just as one was about to strike him on the head and then, his wife said, made a dash for the hand in which the young man held a revolver.

Whether the two made their getaway in an automobile police did not determine. Mrs. Schall said there had not been a large amount of money in the cash register.

Bandits Get $35

Ludwig Pikarsky, proprietor of a delicatessen store at 217 Belleville avenue, was held up at the point of revolvers by two bandits Monday night and had $35 stolen from the cash register.

Profiting by the experience of Raymond G. Schall, storekeeper at 386 Union avenue, who was shot Friday in both legs when he resisted the bandits, Pikarsky made no attempt to thwart them.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Miss Ethel Barrymore To Open
In "The Love Duel" Easter Monday

Following the original plan for a repertory program, as announced by Mr. Lee Shubert and Miss Ethel Barrymore at the opening of the Ethel Barrymore Theatre, in spite of the continued success of "The Kingdom of God," will appear in her next play, "The Love Duel," by Lili Hatvany, on Easter Monday (April 1st). This is the play which was mentioned last December as the likely successor to "The Kingdom of God." It is a Hungarian piece, and has already had great success in Hungary, Vienna and Berlin.

"The Kingdom of God" will end its present run on Saturday evening, March 16th, although it is very probable that it will be given later by Miss Barrymore for several performances a week.

Casting for the new play is already under way. Louis Calhern will have the leading male role, and Dorothy Hall will have a prominent part.

Robinson Starred in "Kibitzer"

Because of the great personal hit that Edward G. Robinson has made in "Kibitzer," the comedy-hit at the Royale Theatre, New York, Patterson McNutt, the producer, has starred the play's chief player. The appearance of Mr. Robinson's name in lights over the entrance to the theatre has not been wholly unexpected by Broadway theatregoers. For several years, the reviewers, because of Mr. Robinson's work in the Theatre Guild and in Arthur Hopkins's plays, have been hailing him as the next star.

"Pleasure Bound" Breaks House Jinx

The jinx which is supposed to dwell in certain houses has been destroyed for the Majestic Theatre, New York, by "Pleasure Bound," the Shuberts' laughing revue which stars Jack Pearl, Phil Baker, Aileen Stanley, and Shaw and Lee. Since its construction the theatre has not housed a success until the arrival of the present revue, which has been selling standing room at each and every one of its performances, including the opening night.

Cortez and Peggy Have New Dance

Cortez and Peggy, the Spanish ballroom dancers, now in the musical comedy "Boom Boom" at the Casino Theatre, New York, have devised a new dance which they call "Ya Ya." It is based on a South American motif.

It is doubtful if any ballroom dancers have been more honored than these two. They have danced before almost all the crowned heads of Europe and are the invited guests at all important gatherings of New York's Four Hundred.

Margaret Anglin To Appear Under Shubert Banner

Margaret Anglin will be under the direction of Mr. Lee Shubert when she opens in "Security," in New York sometime in March. The play is by Esme Gwyn Tyson. The supporting cast has been completed and is composed of Thurston Hall, Marjorie Gateson, Edward Cooper, Ethel Griffies, Anita Kerry, W. Messenger Bellis, Robert Harrigan, Florence Wessels, Hope Drown, Ferdinand Hart, Eva Leonard Boyne and Howard Benton. Stanley Logan is staging the play. "Security" will have a brief tour in the East before it is presented on Broadway.

New York's Loss—Chicago's Gain

Broadway hardly seems the same street with Mae West away. When "Diamond Lil" packed her bags for a trip westward the Times Square wise ones prophesied that it would not be long before the golden-haired lady would soon be back. Broadway needed her for they lacked subject matter for coffee table conversation. But Chicago has found the lady fully as entertaining as did Manhattan sophisticates, and they are standing as deep in the Apollo Theatre, where Mae West is appearing in "Diamond Lil," as they ever did in New York playhouses.

Male Chorus

One of the hitherto unconsidered effects of prohibition on modern artistic production is the inevitable disappearance of the singing male chorus. Wherever manly voices have gathered to raise their voices in song, there could be found glasses or steins filled with other things than aqua pura. One of the outstanding numbers of "The Student Prince" was the song sung by the students in the beer garden, and in "Music in May," an operetta from the Viennese which is on a pre-Broadway tour, is "High, High, High," a song sung by the male choruses to the thumping of seidel. What are the men going to raise their voices in praise of when the memories of the beer drinking days have gone?

Phil Baker and Ben Bernie to Produce a Revue

Phil Baker, co-star of "Pleasure Bound," at the Majestic Theatre, will try his hand at producing again this season. He will stage an intimate revue called "Caricatures of 1929" in association with Ben Bernie. Baker and Bernie produced "Cafe de Danse" earlier this year. The new revue will have a cast of twenty-four, all principals, who will double as the chorus. Mr. Bernie will write the music. Mr. Baker the lyrics and some of the sketches. The revue will open in Philadelphia early in April, coming here the end of that month.

BANKERS IN NATIONAL MOVE FOR UNIFORM FINANCIAL PRACTICES

Would Promote Greater Consistency Among All the State Laws in Respect to Banking Conditions—Uniformity of Practice and Understanding Will Make for Greater Convenience, Efficiency and Safety for All Business.

By S. J. HIGH
President State Bank Division, American Bankers Association

RAPID interchange of business and the quick transportation of goods in the United States, coupled with almost instantaneous means of inter-communication by telegraph, telephone and wireless, have welded the country into an economic unit. The nation is not, in a business sense, conducting its affairs in water-tight compartments, as in a measure it did in the days of slow travel and remote places, but styles, methods, commodities and business practices flow freely today in all directions. Therefore it is desirable that finance, trade and industry throughout the country operate along generally uniform or at least consistent lines, so that a contract or an agreement or obligation in connection with business transactions shall mean virtually the same thing in all parts of the country. Particularly necessary in this connection is the establishment of uniform financial and banking practices so as to facilitate the flow of trade along accepted and understood lines.

S. J. HIGH

Banking in the United States is recognized as a semi-public type of business and is therefore subject to laws to define the scope and character of its activities. These laws at present set up a great diversity of conditions under which banking is conducted in various parts of the country since they come from both state and federal authorities. The national banks are all chartered by the federal government and therefore operate on the same lines in every state of the Union, but there is no such regularity in respect to the conditions under which the state banks chartered by the respective forty-eight states must conduct their business. All state banking codes, while they have similarities, also have many great dissimilarities in respect both to the national bank laws and the banking laws covering state bank operations in other jurisdictions.

Bankers Move for Uniform Laws

The State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association, which latter includes in its membership banks of all descriptions throughout the country subject to all the variations of state and federal banking laws, is committed to the effort to bring about greater consistency and uniformity among the statutes of all these various jurisdictions. This body is conducting a vigorous nation-wide campaign urging that active steps be taken to secure greater co-ordination in banking legislation, more equitable conditions and more uniformly efficient public supervision of banks in the several states.

The organization is particularly concerned with fostering this movement to bring about more uniformly desirable conditions throughout the United States in respect to the public supervision of banking institutions by the state banking departments. It is on record as favoring the policy that the important office of state bank commissioner should be kept as free from entangling partisan politics as the judiciary itself and should be completely detached from all other functions of state government.

It is also on record as favoring the policy that the tenure of office of state bank commissioners should be made more secure and lasting than is now the case in many state jurisdictions and that this important public officer be granted sufficient compensation and discretionary power so that the office shall attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability and successful banking experience.

It is also a part of this policy that the bank commissioner's ability to serve well should be strengthened by providing him with adequate forces of bank examiners, selected on the basis of merit from men having the requisite qualifications of honesty, ability, training and banking knowledge to carry out the duties of their offices on the highest plane of usefulness to the public as well as to banking.

The Trend of State Laws

The Association's State Bank Division has recently concluded a nationwide survey of state banking legislation and conditions and in general has discovered a definite trend along the following lines:

There is a distinct tendency among the states to raise the minimum capital required for banking institutions to $25,000 and also to give the bank commissioners or the banking boards sole power as to the granting of charters for new banks, thus enabling them to use discretion as to the need or desirability of added banking facilities or the fitness of the organizers to enter the banking field. In this connection many states are creating banking boards to act in an advisory capacity with the state bank commissioners.

There has also been observed a tendency to increase the compensation of the bank commissioners and to lengthen their terms of office and to give them power to appoint necessary deputies and examiners so as to build up an adequate force to carry out their responsibilities and duties. An important augmentation of the powers of bank commissioners in some states is found in laws giving them complete charge of insolvent banks and their liquidation as distinguished from more costly liquidation through the courts.

In the Public Interest

Distinctly in the public interest are laws prohibiting or limiting an officer or director of a bank from borrowing from his own bank unless his collateral security is approved by a majority of the board of directors of the bank. Also there is recent legislation noted providing for closer supervision and regulation of building and loan associations, credit unions, finance companies and private banks.

In some states measures have been enacted broadening the field for investment of funds of savings banks and trust companies, which have materially enhanced the service that these institutions can render, particularly in the way of co-operation with their customers in personal financial management. Another type of legislation, important especially to banking in view of the frequent efforts to defraud banks, is that which makes the issuance of worthless checks a misdemeanor with specific penalties.

The State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association endorses in the fullest degree in principle the development of banking laws along the foregoing lines and is actively engaged in fostering the spread of such legislation wherever its services are considered useful both to banking and to the public. Uniformly sound banking institutions and practices, together with common methods and understanding, will materially add to the convenience, efficiency and safety of business in serving the well-being of the public in all parts of the nation, especially in those transactions involving dealings between different localities.

AMERICA LEADS THE WORLD IN SAVINGS

The past year saw the greatest gains in savings in a single twelve-month ever recorded in the United States, bringing the total savings deposits in banks to over $28,400,000,000 on June 30, 1928, held in more than 53,000,000 individual accounts. It is reported by the American Bankers Association. These are the biggest figures in this field shown by any country in the world.

These figures are indicative of prosperity more general than any time since the business depression of 1920, the report declares. Only three states failed to show a gain and the 1928 volume of savings constituted an increase of more than $2,327,000,000 above the 1927 figure. The gain per inhabitant for 1928 over 1927 was $17 and the gain in number of savings depositors was 2,496,079, an increase of 5.2% as against a growth in the population of the country of 1.2%.

The gain in savings per inhabitant in New England and the Middle Atlantic states over the previous year was $36. These groups of states, with 29.9% of the population of the United States and 52.8% of the total savings deposits, have the largest savings rate, $461 per inhabitant, of any area in the world. The per capita savings for the United States as a whole this year stands at $237 as compared with $220 last year.

"An acre of alfalfa for every cow in Howard County, Iowa," is the slogan adopted by the county bankers association there after watching several hundred thousand dollars go out of their county last winter for feed.

Golden Letter Contest Reaches High Pinnacle

Number Of Letters Received From Those Seeking "H's" Largest On Record

The largest number of answers recorded during the Golden Letter Contest were received at the office of the Belleville News from the boys and girls who endeavored to count the number of "H's" in the advertisements appearing in the comic section.

Naturally, many were correct, but only ten first correct received two tickets each to the Capitol Theatre. Those answers that were correct and early were sent in by the following: Robert Dobbins, 163 Union avenue; Marie Renza, 425 Washington avenue; Marion Robbins, 432 Joralemon street; Evelyn Abramson, 500 Washington avenue; Margaret MacNair, 73 Preston street; Theodore Muller, 54 Campbell avenue; Edward Howell, 703 Belleville avenue; Emma England, 10 Jerome avenue; Pauline Lawing, 109 Ralph street and Katherine Casale, 13 Mary street.

Belleville Separates Hold First Practice

Belleville Separates held their first work out Sunday morning. Manager Johnny Woods, after getting a line on his candidates, decided on a six mning game between the regulars and the tryouts.

Of the new comers Peps George, a out paw curve ball artist formerly with the Nyack A. C. team, is worthy of mention. His many long drives and his work on the mound was excellent and far exceeded all other candidates.

Charles Polaschak, also a new comer who plays the keystone sack, owed mid-season form by knocking down many a hard liner and getting his man at first.

The Separates will pry off the lid n Sunday morning April 14 at Celloloid Field by opposing the strong St. Benedict C. C. nine in the first game of a series. The batteries for his game will probably be Woods, and "Terrible" Will Fiore with Peps George in reserve.

To date the Separates have booked up worthy opponents as the St. Benedicts, Caldwell A. C., Verona Junior Order.

Famous French Chef Discusses Secret of Vegetable Cookery

Chef of Ritz-Carlton, New York, Tells of French Method of Cooking Vegetables.

WHY, in spite of all the advances which have been made in American cooking during recent years, do we still hold a position inferior to the French in the culinary art?

The answer, according to Louis Diat, chef of the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, New York, lies largely in a difference in attitude. The average American housewife looks upon cooking as a form of drudgery. The French housewife knows it is one of the fine arts. Because of her attitude, the American woman is often content to prepare a merely passable meal. She seldom bothers about developing the delicate nuances and blends of flavors. The French woman, on the other hand, feels that any dish which falls short of its full potentialities is a serious reflection upon her ability.

Restoring Lost Flavors

"Take American vegetable dishes," Monsieur Diat says. "So frequently they are almost tasteless. There is, though, no reason why they should be, although we have here a condition you do not find in other countries. Most French and other European cities are surrounded by truck farms. The farmers bring their vegetables into the cities in the evening of the day on which they are picked, and they are sold the next morning. In America, many vegetables are brought from points four and five days distant from the market. During all of this time they are losing some of their natural sweetness.

"But although the vegetables purchased by the French housewife are usually fresher than ours, she takes pains to bring out and accentuate their distinctive flavors. Over here, we do not take such pains. Most of us have not learned, for instance, how to use sugar in cooking vegetables. The French cook will add a little sugar while cooking peas, carrots and other sweet-juiced varieties. The sugar does something we do not entirely understand. It does not change the flavor, but it restores any sweetness that has been lost, and makes the vegetable taste as if it had just come from the garden. Only recently have American cooking experts discovered this secret, and it is not yet shared by many housewives.

The original flavors of canned and dried vegetables can also be restored to a great extent by the use of sugar, according to Monsieur Diat. No more sugar should be used than will make up the sweetness which has been lost. The amount varies with the difference in the natural sweetness of the different vegetables. In cooking most of the sweet-juiced varieties, from a teaspoon to a tablespoon of sugar should be used for each quart of canned vegetables, and for each quart of water in which fresh vegetables are boiled.

Louis Diat who for eighteen years has been responsible for the quality of the food served to the guests of the New York Ritz-Carlton.

Louis Diat has been chef of the New York Ritz-Carlton for eighteen years. Before coming to the United States he was the assistant chef, first of the Paris Ritz, and then of the Ritz in London. During the time he has been in this country, he says, the quality of American vegetables has shown a steady improvement. Today, America grows as fine vegetables as are produced anywhere in the world. Long transportation hauls do present a special condition, but it is one that is easily offset.

The Cook's Responsibility

"There is nothing magical or mysterious in French cooking," Monsieur Diat says. "Nor is it ever extravagant. The French cook sticks close to nature, and tries always to preserve her original flavors. Cooking is looked upon as an art requiring subtlety and imagination. It is recognized that the cook makes or mars the dish. Here, too, the cook is almost wholly responsible for the quality of the product. If American vegetable dishes are often tasteless, the remedy lies in better cooking."

FIRE APPARATUS TO COST $14,000

Purchase of New Engine Will Be Put Up To Nutley Citizens

Nutley will have an additional combination pumper and hose machine in its fire fighting department, provided the citizens of the town approve its purchase. The apparatus will be of 750-gallon capacity and will contain 800 feet of hose. The cost will be $14,000, and the machine will be of the American La type. A hearing on the ordinance authorizing its purchase, introduced at the meeting of the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night, will be held on April 9.

Following up a petition received last week from several citizens living near Passaic avenue and Center street, asking that something be done to prevent accidents there, Mayor Ernest P. Cook reported that he had written to the county authorities. He said he had placed a policeman there and at Center street and Union avenue, both in civilian clothes, to check up the violations of the stop-street ordinance. As a result a campaign was started on Monday, which resulted in the issue of sixty-four summonses on that day and twenty-seven Tuesday. The mayor added that there will be no "reconsideration" of tickets issued. He was emphatic in his statement that motorists in Nutley and other municipalities will have to be educated to the rules.

Several citizens were present to object to some of the provisions of the ordinance calling for the widening of corners at Bloomfield avenue and Center street and Bloomfield avenue and Raymond avenue. When Commissioner Charles A. Sherwood told them that the improvement was a town one, and that the cost will be borne by the town actually, they went away satisfied.

Commissioner Sherwood resented a resolution to petition the Board of Freeholders to postpone acquisition of five-foot strips on either side of High street until traffic conditions make it necessary to widen the street, which was taken over two years ago as a county road. The agreement provides the town acquire the land within sixty days of demand by the Board of Freeholders.

Commissioner Sherwood presented an ordinance, also to have a hearing April 9, increasing the fee of commissioners of assessments from $3 to $5 for each meeting.

Commissioner Raleigh S. Rife reported $354,037.57 unpaid taxes. He said special bills will be sent out in about a month and the cost of the bills assessed on delinquent taxpayers.

An ordinance providing installation of water mains in Hancox avenue between Yale street and Washington avenue, Lewis, Gabriel and Wilson streets at an estimated cost of $12,000, was passed for a hearing April 9.

A petition from Ceresa Gennaro of 161 Mt. Prospect avenue, Newark, sought permission to erect a gasoline station at King street and Union avenue. It was referred to the Zoning Board of Adjustment. A petition from two property owners in Nelson place asked for water mains in that street between Florence and Cross streets. It was referred to the Department of Streets and Public Improvements. Also referred to this department were two bids, one for $200 and the other for $950 to remove two buildings on the site of the proposed police and fire departmental building at Chestnut and Warren streets.

Nutley Zone Shift Is Asked Of Board

Property Owners Ask That Apartments Develop Values

Property owners on Washington avenue Monday night at a meeting of the Nutley Planning Commission, expressed themselves as favoring a change of the zoning laws to permit the erection of apartments on that thoroughfare, which is now in the residential zone.

The property owners will petition the Town Commission to amend the ordinance to include the street in the apartment house zone. The meeting, of which Daniel Mungall was chairman, also heard protests against the proposed change from residents of Walnut street, who argued that apartment houses on Washington avenue would block their view of the thoroughfare.

The Washington avenue property owners said their property was too valuable to be restricted for small homes.

Art Editor Talks On "Home Decorations"

"The Heritage of Beauty in Homes" was the topic of a lecture Friday afternoon by Walter Wendell Storey, art editor of the New York Times under auspices of the art department of the Women's Club of Nutley.

"Interior decoration is not a matter of periods," said the speaker, "but the combining of lines, forms and colors, just as an artist does to make a harmonious picture, one need not be afraid with combining period pieces, if done with thought, it is not a matter of being archeologically correct, but being artistically correct, that counts."

"Various periods are not taken too seriously, as people are realizing that there is a relationship of periods in curves and lines." Mr. Storey told of different styles of furniture and influences which affected them through colonial, Louis XV and XVI, Empire and Directoire times. The vogue for Spanish architecture and motives in art through Florida and the Southwest, he attributed to the romantic background of the country, the furnishings of these homes being more Spanish than in homes in Spain, with an additional comfort and cheeriness to the dignity and austerity which prevails in Spanish homes.

America has modified and simplified the various types to her own needs, he said. The Victorian era has returned, in this sense, because of the comfort of style during that era, which again is appreciated today. Modern art today can be divided into two important groups, modernistic and contemporary, he declared. The former is "crazy" and has no reason for being. It is "a product or self-conscious artists, reflecting the same self-conscious attitude."

Contemporary art, Mr. Storey said, is emerging from types of original design. Reflecting influences back of the moment. Use of new materials and fabrics enter into these designs, which are practical. Modern furniture will come in, he said, but will not supplant the old until it proves more useful and represents our time and architecture.

Mrs. G. Roland Boyce introduced the speaker, who spoke of the colonial atmosphere of the old clubhouse. After the meeting tea was served.

List Of Accidents

Michael Westemeier of 53 Second avenue, Newark, was injured Friday afternoon when his motor-cycle skidded at Franklin avenue and Church street. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, in the Police ambulance for observation.

Joseph Calciani, seven years old, of 515 Franklin avenue, Belleville suffered severe lacerations the same afternoon when struck by an automobile at Franklin avenue and Joralemon street, Belleville. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital, Newark.

Two Hurt as Car Upsets In Collision With Truck

Two were injured when the automobile in which they were riding overturned in a collision at Bloomfield avenue and Center street Tuesday afternoon. The two, who were taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, are Henry Weisberg, driver, of 29 Stratford place, Newark, rib injuries and lacerations, and Joseph Lubet, 288 Orange street, Newark, lacerations and injuries of one shoulder.

Resurrection Is Keynote Of the Spirit of Easter

Easter may mean different things to different people, according to the symbol which they regard as most nearly representing the idea of that day. Although Easter is celebrated as a Christian holiday, the essential idea of Easter is shared by Christian and pagan alike. It is the idea of "resurrection," of revived life after apparent death and it marks the climax of the year when all nature awakes from sleep, throws off the death-like chill of winter and begins to live anew.

In this issue is an interesting development of this theme in an illustrated feature article "The Spirit of Easter," by Elmo Scott Watson. Be sure to read it.

TO SEEK BIDS ON ROUTE 21

Schick Test For Belleville Pupils

Circulars to parents of school children describing the need for Schick tests and inoculations of toxin-antitoxin for immunization against diphtheria have been distributed in Belleville schools. Replies giving parental consent for inoculations were requested by the Health Department not later than Yesterday. That tests may start directly after the Easter vacation.

Among the 2,339 children who received treatments last year, not one case of diphtheria was reported in the schools, Health Officer Eugene T. Berry stated. He said eighty to eighty-five per cent of these children will show negative reactions this year and need no further treatments for immunization.

Parental consent was given for treatment of almost fifty per cent of school children last year. Of these, 1,719 showed negative or immune reactions to the Schick test. Town physicians and nurses will spend a day in each of the nine schools after Easter.

Club Dance

The entertainment committee of Yountakah Country Club, has announced a special dinner dance to be held Saturday evening. The dance was not scheduled on the club's social program.

Paterson Seeks To Sublet Use Of Flume To Hawthorne Borough.

Officials of Nutley and Paterson are arranging for a conference on the question of leasing to the city part of Nutley's capacity in the Passaic Valley sewer. Paterson, in turn, it is expected, will lease 1,500,000 gallons of daily capacity to the Borough of Hawthorne. Nutley, it is said, will ask for an annual rental of $25,000.

By making certain repairs, which eliminate the infiltration of surface water into the sanitary sewer pipes in Nutley, the town has reduced its daily use of the Passaic Valley sewer to about 1,000,000 gallons. Its actual daily allotment is 9,000,000 gallons, so the Nutley authorities feel that they can with safety lease five of more million gallons of its capacity with the understanding that the arrangement can be terminated on a year's notice.

New Golf Course At Branch Brook Not In Condition

18 Holes Will Not Be Ready At Least Until June.

Golfing enthusiasts who expect to start the season by playing on the new 18-hole Branch Brook Park course will be disappointed. The thirteen new holes west of Belleville avenue will not be in condition for play until June at the earliest, and possibly not until August or September, it was said yesterday at the Essex County Park Commission offices.

However, golfers will be permitted to use the same course at Forest Hill as they did last year. It was thought at the close of the season last fall that the eleven holes south of the Erie Railroad and Second river would be abandoned, and public golfers would be permitted to use the new course this spring.

When it was seen that the new holes were not yet "ripe" for play and that considerable damage could be done by players if permitted to use them this spring, it was decided by the park commission to again rent the acreage containing the eleven holes south of the railroad until the new course is ready.

Commissioner Edward W. Jackson said that the two new holes east of Delavan avenue, Newark, and adjacent to what is now the first, second and third holes, will be placed in play soon.

"UNCLE DICK" IS PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD AGAIN

Richard W. Booth, County Treasurer, Accepts Position With Famous "I Thank You"

County Treasurer Richard W. Booth was reelected president of the Nutley Board of Education Monday for his eighteenth consecutive term. He was first elected to the office in 1912 and had been a member many years before that.

Dr. Horace Tatum was reelected vice president. Mr. Booth, Mrs. George M. Gottfried, recently reelected to the board, and Chester A. Shannon, new member, were sworn in by District Clerk Colin Linn, who was reappointed.

When called on for a speech Mr. Booth said, "I thank you. That's saying as much as I might say if I talked for half an hour." Mr. Booth, familiarly known as "Uncle Dick," has the reputation of being a man of few words.

Committees were announced by president Booth as follows: Finance, Harry Halsted, Chester A. Shannon, and Mrs. Frederick H. Sanford; teachers, Mrs. Joseph D. Little, Frederick H. Young and Mrs. George Gottfried; curriculum, Mrs. Gottfried, Mr. Halsted and Mrs. Little; buildings and grounds, Walter Rheinheimer, Dr. Tatum and Mrs. Sanford; rules and regulations, Mrs. Sanford, Mr. Young and Mr. Shannon; lectures, Mr. Shannon, Dr. Tatum and Mr. Young; publicity, Mr. Halsted, Mrs. Little and Mr. Shannon; athletics, Dr. Tatum, Mr. Rheinheimer and Mrs. Gottfried.

Mrs. Sanford, for the rules and regulations committee, made a report of an investigation of the room used at the Orphan Home as a classroom for thirty-four pupils of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades. She said that the ventilation and light are so poor and dampness so prevalent that the home management has been notified to remedy the condition immediately, or the pupils will be transferred to Washington School.

Superintendent Paul Radcliffe announced the opening of three extension courses in the schools as follows: "Child Guidance and Mental Hygiene," given by Dr. Lena M. Crabbs of Columbia University, being taken by forty-three teachers, forty-two of whom are on the town staff; "Elementary Science," given under the auspices of the State Department of Education, with Miss Laura E. Woodward of the Newark Normal School as teacher, for which 100 teachers, 75 per cent from Nutley, are enrolled; "Manual Training," being conducted by the State Department of Education, with Edwin Ganong as teacher, for which forty-five from various schools are enrolled.

Nash Service Developed By Regional Dealer Clinics

The Warren-Nash Motor Corporation, the largest Nash distributor in the world, in combination with the Nash factory, have just completed a series of territorial Service Clinics which will enable Nash Authorized Dealers to render a very superior service.

Under the guidance of Oscar A. Eschue, General Manager for Warren-Nash Motor Corporation, assisted by a corps of men from the Nash factory these clinics have been held in strategic points throughout the great territory; and all Nash dealers, together with their service force, have attended. Here, they have been able through the use of moving pictures and practical time studies by factory mechanics assisted by the latest short-cut tools to see actual service operations consumed in the minimum time to assure perfect work. Not only have these factory men brought the tools with them, but there have been special exhibits of all shop equipment which has been ordered liberally by Nash dealers.

Mr. Nash realizes that today service stands paramount in the success of any automobile and each Authorized Nash Dealer operates directly under the factory policy.

Home Is Ransacked

The home of Charles Steinmeier of 41 Passaic avenue, was ransacked Monday afternoon. A check failed to show anything missing. Mrs. Steinmeier left the house shortly after 1 o'clock and returned about 3 o'clock when the entry was discovered. Police are investigating.

Belleville Man At Meeting Of Group To Defend River

Move Against Municipalities That Pollute Passaic Is Predicted

C. E. Emmons of the Tuscorora Canoe Club was Belleville's representative Friday night at the Rutherford Yacht Club where the Passaic River Protective Association perfected its organization. Representatives of six other municipalities were present.

Commodore Clarence J. Hardin of the Rutherford Yacht Club presided at the meeting, the principal business of which was the adoption of the constitution and by-laws of the association. Election of officers will be held this evening at the yacht club.

It was said that definite action may be taken to stop the alleged dumping of waste into the Passaic River by Paterson, Wallington and Lodi. The association plans to name a committee to work with the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission to take legal steps in the matter.

Commodore Hardin explained that there was a state statute that prohibited dumping sewage into the river but that the measure had never been rigidly enforced. It is the desire of the Passaic River Protective Association to get the Legislature to put teeth into the law, forcing the owners of factories to construct sewers to connect with the trunk sewer built by the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission several years ago.

The association hopes that eventually twenty municipalities will be represented steadily in its organization, and it has placed no limit on the gross membership it hopes to attain. The organization also plans a social program besides its activity in freeing the river of pollution.

Those present at the meeting last week included Captain Frank VanRoden of the East Rutherford Chamber of Commerce, Arthur Turner of the Lyndhurst Chamber of Commerce, John J. McHugh of the Kearny-Arlington Civic Betterment Club, Frank Mooney of the Passaic Chamber of Commerce and Mr. Emmons.

A card party will open the annual three-day spring carnival of St. Peter's Social Society at St. Peter's auditorium, the evening of April 24. The committee comprises William Hood and John J. Sullivan.

The two succeeding nights the members will present a comedy under direction of J. Emile Chartrand of Newark. Mrs. George Lonergan will assist. Dancing will follow the performances. The entertainment committee includes Mrs. Nellie Cogan, Misses Johanna and Elizabeth Cousins, Mrs. George Hacker and Miss Katherine McDonough. Miss Loretta Dunleavy and Margaret Donohue are the committee on music.

IMPRESSIONS

All of us meet individuals to whom we take an instant dislike. We could not explain why to save our souls. Many times it occurs that we later meet that individual and find out that our first impression was wrong. We find that that man has much in common with us. Sometimes we are sorry that we have given vent to our feeling of dislike, and then later we feel ashamed of ourselves when we find out the truth. That is the trouble with first impressions.

Visitors going down South for the first time come back with stories of how they saw fields galore which were plowed around stumps of trees. They say that the farmer was too lazy to pull up the stumps. They remark about the lack of paint on otherwise beautiful homes. That is also a "first impression."

Don't forget that visitors to our town are pretty much given to first impressions. To come along thru our streets and see garbage cans and ash cans strewn all over the pavement in exactly the same way as the ashman left them; to see the lawns strewn with paper and debris; to see houses sadly lacking in paint, creates a bad "first impression."

Now is the time to clean up, paint up, spruce up. Buyers for property come from out of town. They are largely guided by "first impressions." Let us do our part, not particularly from any civic pride standpoint if that does not appeal to you, but from a purely selfish viewpoint in having our judgment in living in a town justified, and boosting our own property values, inviting out-of-towners to come into our town—and buy.

POLITICS

Every once in a while we hear our friends bitterly attribute something to "politics," of course, they are wrong. "Politics" in the sense that we should know it in America, is GOVERNMENT. We have here, government by the people themselves.

So long as human beings differ in opinions and differ in methods, you will have competition. That is not bad. Competition is responsible mainly for all of our progress.

Do not attribute to "politics" something that is INSIDIOUS or WRONG. Differentiate when you use the word "politics" between insidious politics and good political competition. The day has gone of "politics" as we used to know it, the politics of the crude, strong-arm political gangster. Today, men and women in all walks of life, are, at some sacrifice to themselves, engaging in this GREAT GAME OF GOVERNMENT. Do not forget for an instant that if you stay out of politics and anybody else who lays claim to decency and respectability stays out of politics, that there are those human beings who will profit. The political gangster; the political boss, so-called, benefits directly in proportion to the number of decent, God-fearing men and women who decide to "STAY OUT OF POLITICS."

Do not be misled by the cry of "graft." It is surprising how little there is today, especially in communities such as ours. Don't condemn the man who goes into politics as a "grafter." By so doing you not only prevent other men from going into politics, but you discourage those who have the time and the courage to try and help you.

By all means go into politics constructively, not in a spirit of damning everything that the other fellow has done, but have your voice in government, realizing that there are many sides to all questions and that in all probability you would do under similar circumstances exactly like any other individual, whether he is in or out of office, is doing if you knew all of the circumstances.

Only by your participation and by the participation of others like you can this game of government be run to your satisfaction.

PROGRESS

It has been said that "nothing" can stand still. We must either progress or go backwards. Youngsters say that in a different way: "Whatever goes up must come down." Regardless of how they say it, we all admit it is true. The same thing applies to a town. No town can afford to stand still. No town can afford long to refuse to put in those visible signs of progress that sister towns are installing. To do so means that the deadly parallel between your town and some other town is being constantly drawn. We are surprised therefore every once in a while to hear criticisms regarding the installation of various improvements.

In the case of Belleville, however, the criticisms are doubly unwarranted. Towns throughout the country are busily installing traffic signals. Belleville's traffic signals as they finally will be, are considered the last word in traffic engineering. All traffic signals show colors. There is not anything new about that, but there is something new in the working of them. The things you never see, the method of replacement, the fact that no reasonable change can be made that Belleville cannot make with practically no great expenditure. In other words, it is the engineering brains that went into the traffic signals that has made this system the system that is called by traffic engineers thruout the country, the last word in traffic signals. That is, of course, cause for pride. civic pride, if you will.

Apparently that is not enough however, because a lot of our people say we have gotten along for a good many years without them. That is true. We got along without the sewing machine, the electric light, the telephone the Radio. There is nothing we can say to those individuals that would be conclusive.

For those however, who really would like to know the truth, we refer you to a law passed by the Legislature a few years ago which said in effect that the police must get one day off in every seven. That meant that Belleville had to hire a new policeman for every seven, if the town was not to have less protection than it had previously. In addition to that it has been conclusively proved that policemen independently working a corner, restrict traffic rather than aid it. Therefore, it resolves itself down to comparative costs and benefits. By installing traffic signals at a charge of less than one policeman's salary a year, that released automatically nine patrolmen for patrol service. Whether or not the town has benefited as much as is should have by the proper location of these patrolmen, is entirely beside the point. If the town was faced with the possibility of having to hire seven or eight or nine patrolmen at $2900. a year, or installing traffic signals at less than the cost of one, its good business to install traffic signals.

The same reasoning applies to the police telephone and telegraph and signal system. The cost of maintaining and carrying twice the number of boxes and signal lights, is little more than formerly paid the telephone company for half as many boxes alone. That again seems to us to be good economy.

We feel and have expressed it before, that given the proper kind of public officials, what they do in any certain instance is exactly the same as we would do under the circumstances. The difference between the average man and those officials, is that the man on the street has only half the information. The News has no criticism or fault to find with the operation of the Department of Public Safety for the past year. The town has been made a better place to live in. It has been advertised more extensively by the works of this department than we could have gotten in any other manner. The unfortunate part of the whole situation in Belleville is that the average man and woman will not take time to go and see the inside workings of the many improvements that have been made.

FIRE HOUSES

How many of us have ever been in a fire house? You have seen the firemen go out to a fire; you have seen them go out on a ladder in freezing weather with the cold water spraying them and freezing as fast as it fell. We know them more or less as individuals, but how many of us have ever been in a fire house?

Our women folks never give mere men credit for good housekeeping. It is always the man that throws his coat down on the living room furniture. When a man washes dishes he accomplishes that usually by holding the dishes under a spigot and letting the water run on them, and when it comes to making beds,—well,—there just isn't any man that knows how to make a bed.

We hate to disabuse the minds of our women folks, and we hate to take away from them some of their sure ammunition, but next week, ask your husband to take you to a fire house. You don't need to bother taking friend husband along. You will find the firemen perfect gentlemen and tickled to death to show you thru their quarters. They will show you a house as clean as yours. They will show you dishes washed as you wash them. They will show you beds that will compare with yours. They will show you a place for everything and everything will be in place. That is organization.

Make it a point to go down to the fire house in your neighborhood. Ask a couple of your friends to go with you. When you do this you will be in a position to appreciate those men whom you never call except when you need them, and who to you have nothing else to do but play pinocle. As a matter of fact, the fireman's life is anything but a sinecure. The brass on the apparatus does not grow that way; the engines are not kept up as they are, automatically; the floors don't clean themselves; there is no automatic dish washer in the fire house.

By all means visit your fire house. It is an education for the youngsters; it will teach them the value of good housekeeping, and we know of no finer instructions that can be given to a youth than to teach him to organize himself as completely in his everyday handling of his toys and tools as he will find in the fire department.

Take him along.

TREES

There is nothing that adds so much to the attractiveness of the town as trees. Streets plentifully supplied with trees appear restful, quiet and beautiful; they enhance property values; create a lasting, pleasing impression that more than repays the cost of the trees.

Unfortunately, Belleville has grown so rapidly in the last few years that in many cases, we feel trees have been cut down that a little bit of planning would have saved. This is not a criticism but a suggestion. Plant trees. Lots of them. You would be surprised how much a tree on your lot will add to its value.

We suggest to the school authorities, far a composition subject in the schools—TREES. We suggest to the man who is thinking of building a home—TREES. The trees are God-given protection against flood. TREES furnish the necessary fertilizing agent for lands, and do more to enhance the value of property than almost anything else a similar amount of money can buy.

TRAVEL TRIFLES

The oldest and smallest republic in the world is San Marino, fourteen miles from Rimini, Italy, so inaccessible on its hill top that tourists often find it hidden in the clouds.

The best time to visit the little-known island of Corsica is during May and June, when the thick covering of low shrubs called "maquis" is in bloom and the whole island is a mass of many-colored flowers. The perfume can be noticed many miles out to sea.

Most passenger steamships crossing the Atlantic publish a newspaper every day, containing the latest radio news.

Norway is a great country for tourists who are anglers. From the Swedish boundary in the south to the Finnish line at the north, there are over two hundred rivers where salmon are caught.

It is estimated that Americans visiting France drink Vichy and other French mineral waters at the rate of 342,000 gallons a year. No attempt has been made to keep track of the wine they consume.

When the last American Ambassador left Germany he said to the Germans, "I hope that our American citizens will now come in masses as before the war, to the country of Kant, Hegel, Goethe, Beethoven and Wagner. My countrymen can convince themselves with their own eyes how finely Germany will welcome them."

People wonder why strangers always feel at home in Paris—more so than in any other city. It is because after midday it has no home life. Parisians do not even need a living room in their flat, for they live outdoors in the park, on the street, at the cafe.

Sweden receives 68,000 foreign tourists every year of whom one-eighth are Americans. who make an average sojourn of 19 days and leave behind them 6,000,000.

There is great danger that the Dutch windmills, those landmarks so emblematic of Holland, will disappear before the onrush of modern mechanical equipment which functions better and at less cost. But methods are now being devised to utilize the old structures with new machinery whereby they can remain both ornamental and useful.

John Addington Symonds, the translator of Cellini, in illustration of the sun and frost of winter days, says that at lunch at Davos in Switzerland one day, he lit his cigar by the sun's rays through a magnifying glass and while doing so cast a shadow on a glass of water on the table at his elbow, which began to freeze.

How do hamlets and inns high and remote in mountainous sections of Europe get their provisions? Germany, always progressive, delivers food, beer, and newspapers by aeroplane, dropping them in accessible spots by parachute. This is where beer seems to fall from the skies!

Since the Steamship Lines established the low price third class tourist services, the objection to such travel has almost disappeared. On one trip recently, the third class tourist cabins contained an architect, clergyman, graduate nurse, lawyer, teacher, physician, student, chemical engineer, bacteriologist, author, banker, army officer and an office manager.

In Hamburg do not look for the Hamburger steak. Go To Vienna and there alone you will find it at its best.

The horns of the taxis in Italy are pitched in different keys, and when a block occurs on a street, the protest is melodious and never harsh.

Spain has in operation a stringent code for the reception of American tourists, and the prices at hotels, restaurants and pensions, also for bus hire, automobiles and guides are fixed officially and heavy fines imposed for violations.

For five cents a tourist can ride for hours around the city of Berlin. A system of transfers makes it possible to change at will from street car, auto bus or subway without paying extra fare.

The average cost of each American's trip to Europe, including passage, rail, hotel charges and spending money, is in the neighborhood of $1,300, altho many tourists "do" Europe on half this amount.

The largest European air route is that from Berlin to Madrid. This trip, covering more than 1,300 miles, is made in 17 hours.

The people of Athens still have the old historic names. Your barber is Thermistocles; your bootblack Alcibiades, your taxi is driven by Xenophon and the traffic policeman is Thucydides.

Germans believe in hiking, for this nation now has 2,300 hostels for its chief walking club of 85,000 members, where bed and breakfast are found for a few cents.

Tennis, golf and horse-racing are among the deck sports now enjoyed by travelers on steamships crossing the Atlantic.

The miles and miles of bulb fields in Holland are a rare sight in spring.

But the Dutch grower is no sentimentalist; the bulb fields would soon disappear, an unprofitable industry, if he did not send his workers out, day by day, to cut off the full blooms and thereby strengthen the bulbs for future flowering. The tourist is welcome to as many flowers as he can carry away from the "refuse pile" besides every patch.

For those who find that a complete change of cookery is part, and a pleasant part, of the adventure of travel, France offers a double attraction. In each section of the country its dishes are varied and characteristic, but not more so than its wines.

An antique shop has been unearthed among the ruins of ancient Pompeii. How can American tourists hope to bargain with Italians who have evidently profited at this business for two thousand years?

Europeans have developed jazz bands for the benefit of American tourists. But there is still something too incongruous about a jazz band outside of the United States, so you will find that the Europeans themselves evidently enjoy it more than the Americans.

In France Champagne is the wine of sparkling wit and gaiety; Bordeaux the wine of long intellectual and skeptical discussion; burgundy the wine of old friends and genial companionship. Tourists soon learn the philosophy of the vine.

In Oslo, Norway, plan to go shopping for fur, hand-wrought silver, enameled jewelry, and artistic home handicrafts. The shops of the Norwegian Art Handicraft Society are famous for their fine tapestries, carved wooden articles, leather, wrought iron, and dolls in the costumes of various parishes. Prices are very reasonable.

The souks, or covered bazaars, of Tunis surpass all others in North Africa. The bazaar quarter is a whole city under one roof with a labyrinth of narrow, tortuous lanes, alleys and passages. Each of the trades has its own lane; one devoted to perfumes, another to jewelry, a third to textiles, and so on; an arrangement which tends to make shopping and bargaining easy.

Many hotels in Europe now permit passengers on their way across the Atlantic to reserve their rooms by radio, at the charge of the hotel.

Although London has a reputation for rain, a careful record shows that it has much less than many American cities. London's 25 inches compares favorably with Philadelphia's 41, St. Louis' 40, Cleveland's 37, New York's 39 and Detroit's 36 inches.

RED CROSS CHAPTERS STRENGTHEN FORCES FOR DISASTER RELIEF

Launch National Campaign to Perfect Preparedness Plans in Every Community.

A nation-wide campaign to strengthen plans for preparedness against disaster and for emergency relief has been launched by the American Red Cross through its Chapters. The program is intended to perfect disaster preparedness committees in the ten thousand communities reached by Red Cross Chapters and their branches.

When carried out, through committees of men and women in the communities, it will insure that should a disaster come, an organization for emergency relief, including every modern method science has perfected—such as the radio, the airplane, the motor car and watercraft—can be mobilized to bring assistance, with the promptitude applied by the Red Cross in recent major disasters, such as the West Indies hurricane and the Mississippi Valley flood.

These enlarged and strengthened plans for disaster relief are set forth in the revised Red Cross manual, "When Disaster Strikes," which has been placed in the hands of every Red Cross chairman throughout the nation. The plan to encourage adoption of these added disaster preparedness methods was begun at this time because Red Cross records—covering 48 years of disaster relief—show that the period of the greatest number of disasters, large and small, ranges from the early Spring through the early Fall.

The Record of 48 Years
A historical summary of Red Cross disaster relief since 1882, shows that the society was active in giving relief in 938 domestic disasters and its expenditures in those relief operations were $49,594,000. The three groups of calamities appearing most frequently were: cyclones, tornadoes, hurricanes and other storms, 231; fires, 131; floods, 128.

During this period, the Red Cross also has given assistance to distressed peoples of other countries in 153 disasters. Total expenditures for relief at home and throughout the world, in 48 years, amount to $77,354,000.

In the four most recent major disasters, among the greatest which have ever visited the American continent, Red Cross expenditures for relief totaled $29,188,908. Only in the event of large disasters such as the Florida hurricane of 1926, the Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, the New England flood of the same fall, and the West Indies hurricane of 1928, does the Red Cross seek contributions from the general public for relief work; and frequently these are not ample, as in the four disasters listed, the Red Cross donated $1,338,201 from its own treasury to aid in the work. In the event of smaller disasters, the cost of the relief is met largely from Red Cross resources.

No Community Immune
No community is immune to great disasters of one type or another, the manual shows. One preparedness measure that can be adopted is a survey of the surrounding country, with the assistance of engineers and other experts to determine the type of disaster to which the section is subject. Hazards resulting from the presence of rivers and lakes, subject to overflow, of mines, munition factories, and other industries wherein dangers from explosion and fire may exist, are singled out for consideration.

Extension of existing disaster organizations in communities, and organization of men and women, trained in public health and community service, will result in the saving of lives and the prevention of extensive suffering, through privation, epidemic and other misfortune, should emergency action be required.

Co-ordination of all of the societies, organized groups and institutions in the locality is urged, so that all effort for emergency relief will be directed without conflict. Trained in advance, these committees can swing into action, and provide an orderly and systematic relief organization.

The following are expenditures made by the American National Red Cross for relief in the four most recent major disasters:
Florida hurricane, 1926	$4,477,170.07
Mississippi Valley flood, 1927	17,498,902.16
New England flood, 1927	1,299,773.93
West Indies hurricane, 1928	5,913,062.47
	$29,188,908.63

Comets Take Two Games From The Leading Ironbonds

Hamilton Aces	10	8	849
Neverspares	5	13	813

High team score—Hamiltons, 849. The race in the Nutley Junior bowling league has again tightened and the difference between the first three teams is one game.

Last Saturday night the Comets took two from the "Ironers" and the Neverspares were unable to put in a full team so withdrew and forfeited three games to the Aces to make the present standing in the league.

The setback handed the Ironbonds by the Comets was not a surprise by any means for the Comets have been rolling well in the last few matches and did the same thing Saturday to win two games. In the only exciting match of the evening the Comets overcame a 30 pin advantage in the last frame to beat the Ironbonds by nine pins. Bohler of the Comets again tied his high score by hitting 218 in the last game.

High School Girls Down Alumni

The Nutley High School girls' basketball team closed their season by riding roughshod over the Alumni, Friday night at the high school gym. The Maroon and Gray found little opposition in the former stars and ran off fifty-three points to the Alumni's twenty-seven.

The school girls showed up brilliantly in the final game and victory was never in doubt. In the first quarter Miss Pratt and Miss Quinby made basket after basket to give the school girls a big lead. The gap was widened in the second quarter as the Alumni found it impossible to stop the offense presented by the High school lassies. In the second half the Alumni made their best stand and scored a few points on their own account, Helen Jones featuring in the attack.

Miss Pratt was high scorer for the night making no less than twenty-nine points. Miss Quinby with eighteen and Miss Stoddart with six completed the scoring for the Maroon and Gray. For the Alumni Miss Jones carried off scoring honors when she registered twenty-three points the other four being made by Miss Mutch.
