NAME ATHLETIC COUNCIL TO COOPERATE WITH BOARD OF EDUCATION

Conference Will Be Called At Resumption Of School Next Week To Discuss Athletic Situation

To co-operate with the Board of Education a high school athletic council was appointed Monday night by John P. Maher, president of the school board. Those who will compose the Council include High School Principal Charles L. Steel, Carl Erickson, Miss Muriel Mayo and Albert K. McBride of the high school faculty and a member of the junior and senior classes. A conference will be called at the resumption of school next week to discuss the athletic situation at the high school.

The date of the completion of the addition to School Number 8 was scheduled for April 2 but on the recommendation of Architect Paul B. West a fifteen-day extension of time was granted to the electrical contractor, J. Carley Gill, for the installation of a motor generator. Mr. West said he would submit a full report at the next meeting of the board.

Charles Granville Jones, architect, reported that the addition at Greylock school was practically completed and James J. Turner, business manager, reported that he would have the addition equipped next week. Mr. Jones also reported progress at the Belwood Park school which, he said, would be ready for occupancy next September.

New offices are being constructed in the high school for Principal Charles L. Steel and Superintendent of Schools George R. Gerard.

Mr. Turner was ordered to advertise for coal bids. These will not be restricted to local dealers. He was also ordered to advertise for the grading and finishing of the ground at the Greylock school. Tennis courts are to be constructed there.

The board went on record as being opposed to the method of the Public Service Gas and Electric Company in billing the schools. The board feels that the bill for electricity should include the entire school system instead of individual schools. This viewpoint is in line with expressions of opinions from Kearny and Rutherford.

The board also went on record as being opposed to the diverting of railroad taxes for other than school purposes. Letters will be directed to Senator Wolber and the various Assemblymen asking their support in opposing the bill regarding this matter now before the legislature.

Watson Current, a board member, did not attend the meeting because of illness. Supervisor of Schools George R. Gerard, who was on a trip to Washington with the senior class of Belleville High School, was also absent.

DANCERS IN "KENTUCKY CAPERS"

In the picture are four young ladies who will take part in "Kentucky Capers," a musical revue and dance, which will be given by Ideal Court No. 31, Order of the Amaranth at Irvington Elks' Home at 8:15 Monday evening, a dress rehearsal for which will be held Sunday. Left to right the pretty Misses are Catherine Buist of this town; Virginia Pape and Mae Donahue, of Newark; and Mae Murdoch of Kearny. All are members of Miss Vivian Dobbins' studio of 163 Union avenue, this town.

NOTICE TO DOG OWNERS

The prevailing Town ordinance, governing the keeping of dogs within the Town of Belleville, either at large, tied up, or within your own home, requires that after January 1st of each year, a license be secured for each dog, said license to be issued at the Town Clerk's Office, the fee for a male dog being $1.00 and fee for a female dog being $2.00. The ordinance also sets forth that any person or persons failing to secure said license, shall be subject to summons to court, and in addition to being compelled to take out a license, be subject to a fine of $5.00.

The police Department will within the next month make a thorough canvass or dog census of the Town, and this Department is giving advance notice of this action so that all persons not wishing to be put to the inconvenience of appearing in court will avail themselves of this opportunity to secure 1929 licenses.

WILLIAM D. CLARK,
Director of Public Safety

CORBIN D. LEWIS, WILL BE STAR IN FEWSMITH PLAYERS' SHOW

The Fewsmith Players of the Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church have been very fortunate in securing Corbin D. Lewis of Tiona avenue to play the leading role of "Frank Perry" in their three-act comedy, "Are You a Mason?" which they will present at the Belleville High School on Saturday evening, April 20.

"Corb," as he is better known to his friends, is an "artist of all arts" instead of a Jack of all trades. A short acquaintance with him will reveal that in addition to being a born actor, he is very adept with the brush, can run off most anything on the piano and fits in very well in a barber shop quartette.

We have yet to read any literary efforts from this source but it would not surprise us to have him produce a manuscript most any time. Like so many other Jerseyites?

Mr. Lewis comes from Brooklyn. He has had considerable previous experience on the stage, played in "The New Boy," "Bound for Mexico," and he has spent considerable time in vaudeville. He has been a resident of Belleville the last four years and his many friends will greatly enjoy seeing him behind the footlights once more.

"HEART DAY" SET FOR SATURDAY

Saturday will be "Heart Day" in Belleville for the Volunteers of America, permission having been given to a representative of that institution, founded many years ago by General and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth. This is to be a children's drive to help children in this state for the work is to be done by the local girls and boys under the direction of Mrs. Lionel Phillips who will have charge of the children's work and finances.

The following people will represent the organization on the occasion: Rev. Peter Deckenbach, Mrs. W. B. Adams, Rev. E. J. Field, Mrs. R. C. Whitfield, Rev. Edgar M. Compton, Mrs. A. N. Streeter and Mrs. Edward Nelson. Headquarters will be in the (Council Room.) Municipal Building where boys and girls over ten years of age are invited to go after 9 o'clock to receive their tags and instructions.

The Volunteers of America is systematic in its spiritual work in the prisons of the United States; its Hope Halls and employment bureaus where discharged or paroled men may stay one to two weeks, while seeking work, and especially for the state-wide work it does in looking after the destitute families of prisoners.

The Committee announces the cordial co-operation of Belleville merchants and Berney Fenias, Capitol Theatre manager in offering some very pretty and useful awards for rewards as well as for the "contest" fun to the youthful workers.

For the one who receives the largest amount for her tags Karlin Pharmacy will present a No. 2 Brownie Camera. The second will receive Ball Bearing Skates, given by Richard's Hardware. To the third will go a Boy or Girl Scout Flashlight given by Exchange Auto Supply. The fourth award is a two-pound box of chocolates given by A. Kristensen Confectionery. The fifth is a pearl and red stone Necklace given by Charles Morawetz, Jeweler; sixth a one-pound box of chocolates, Lenz Confectionery. Those who do not win but who obtain at least $3 for their tags will receive a pass to the Capitol Theatre.

The tags are to be sold largely in the residence district for ten, twenty-five or fifty cents.

FIREMAN ELLIS OVERCOME AT SPECTACULAR FIRE

Fireman James Ellis was overcome by smoke and taken to his home in the police ambulance late Friday afternoon after fighting a fire in the rear of the Lyons Battery Company plant at 355 Cortland street. His condition was not serious.

The fire, spectacular because of the smoke screen which it laid down and the proximity to lumber yards and factories, attracted a crowd estimated at 5,000.

Commuters Delayed
Commuters on two Erie Railroad trains, the tracks of which pass the scene of the blaze, were delayed about an hour. Several telegraph wires were burned from poles.

Two alarms were sent in, one at 5:17 from Washington avenue and Jorammon street; the other from Stephen and Jorammon street. Although unable to get near the source of the flames because of the smoke which was caused by burning battery boxes made of wood and rubber, the firemen managed to confine the flames to two small rear sheds in which the boxes were stored.

WOMAN'S CLUB PRESENTS THE OPERATIC ART CLUB AT HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT

Concert Will Be Under The Direction of Rachel Leon, Accompanist of Metropolitan Opera Co.

Rupe Mills Gets Irvington Support

All Essex County Appears To Be Behind Him For Sheriff.

The Irvington Central Republican Committee at its meeting last week, recommended the candidacy of Rupert F. Mills for Sheriff, to the voters of Essex County.

Mr. Mills' popularity seems to be spreading through Essex County like a cyclone. He is getting support from the regular organization Republicans as well as league supporters who appeared to have buried the hatchet in this particular candidacy.

The former athletic star is also receiving solid backing from all veterans' organizations. Rupe is a former service man. It will be recalled that some years ago he was a member of the Newark Federal League baseball club. When Newark quit as a team he had a contract on which he was paid. Rupe had to report to the Harrison hall park each day to practice with himself.

In Nutley and Belleville he has many well wishers who, no doubt, will band to see him carry out the sheriff's duties. He is now an undersheriff.

Improvers To Hear Television Lecture

"TELEVISION," or the art of seeing by telephone or radio, is the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given by G. R. Ottinger, special representative of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, before the Belleville-on-the-Hill Improvement Association, on April 17, at 8:30 o'clock.

For many years dreamers and scientists alike have talked of the time when a telephone conversation could be made more real, more personal, and more vivid by a device which would make it possible for those talking to see each other as well as to hear each others' voices. This thought has also been extended to the radio field, and the hope expressed that some day radio entertainers whose voices are so familiar to millions of listeners throughout the country might also be seen in the home as well as heard. While the dreamers dreamed about these things the scientists have been quietly working to make these dreams come true, and just what has actually been accomplished in the art of television by busy scientists in the Bell Telephone Laboratories will be told and illustrated by Mr. Ottinger, in his talk. The talk will be along non-technical lines, and will describe the many interesting experiments made and the obstacles which had to be overcome before even a limited degree of success could be achieved.

In addition to the lecture there will be a movie film, "Voices across The Sea," an ingenious method picturing the human voice as it travels 7,000 miles in a fraction of a second. The program has been arranged by the secretary S. C. Summerfield, who is a member of the New Jersey Telephone Company's Engineering Department.

A Small store shed of the Essex Lumber and Coal Company, Inc., with a large yard nearby also was burned. The damage has not been estimated.

The Lyons Company is from Philadelphia, having taken over the plant of the Witherbee Storage Battery Company, adjoining the plant of the Isolantite Company.

When the fire, the origin of which has not been determined, started, many believed an oil car on a siding had caught, so dense was the smoke. An Erie drill engine hauled freight cars to safety.

Many homeward bound Belleville, Nutley and Passaic trolley passengers left trolleys at Jorammon street and Washington avenue to witness the stubborn fight of firemen, the fire being only a block from the trolley line.

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY WANTED FOR SHOOTING ONE OF HIS PALS

Local Boy, Twelve, Wounded in Back as Climax To Youths' Quarrel

A quarrel between boys with a shooting aftermath has led the police to search for Frank Di Bartolo, 16, of 40 Frederick street. He is said to have ended an argument abruptly by shooting Joseph Costa, 12, of 262 North Belmont avenue, in the back with a .22 rifle, inflicting a minor wound.

The two boys were in front of Di Bartolo's home Tuesday when the quarrel started, but police have not been able to learn its cause. Di Bartolo ran into the house and got the rifle which he had been using for target shooting.

Joseph saw him coming with it and started to run, but the other shot in time to wing him. At Mountainside Hospital it was reported Joseph's condition is not serious.

Di Bartolo fled in fear of what he had done and his parents said he had not been home all night. Police are questioning his chums believing he may be staying with one of them.

THANK YOU

The ticket sale we are enjoying for our Third Annual Dance proves conclusively the medium your paper is, in reaching the people of Belleville. Using no other means of publicity, aside from the individual members' efforts, a hasty inventory indicates, that we will probably have the largest crowd in the history of the Elks' Hall on April 13.

It would be remiss on our part were we to neglect to thank you for the help extended through the columns of your paper which we know is responsible for the success we will enjoy.

Should you care to use this letter for your readers you are at liberty to do so. Wishing your paper the success it justly deserves, we remain,

Respectfully yours,
THE DANCE COMMITTEE

Home Ransacked

The home of R. M. Hanschka, 595 Clifton avenue, Newark, was ransacked recently while the Hanschka family was touring Florida. The Hanschkas formerly lived in Belleville. Silverware and Jewelry were stolen by the intruders who forced a rear door.

Money Situation Again Holds Up Street Improvements

Because Commissioner James Gibson, director of Revenue and Finance believes the rate of interest is too high at the present time on call money improvements to various streets in town have again been held up by the Town Commission.

Two weeks ago Commissioner Patrick A. Waters introduced ordinances to go ahead with certain work but he withdrew his ordinances when Mr. Gibson asked him to wait until after March 30 when he said the interest rate might drop.

"My department is at a standstill," said Waters Tuesday night. "I'll agree to lay this over again to go over the improvements to see just what should be done, but we have cut to the bone. We are doing only needed work. You might as well abolish the Department of Streets and Public Improvements. The money market will be the same six months from now."

When the commission decided to join with other municipalities to fight the Public Service Corporation gas rate increases Commissioner Frank J. Carragher voted for Belleville to spend a proportionate share—$500.

"This hurts me," said the Commissioner. "What do we elect men to go to Trenton for if they can't take care of the public's concern without hiring lawyers."

THE "T's" HAVE IT ONCE MORE

It took good eye sight to locate the exact number of "T's" appearing in the advertisements on the Comic Section of the Belleville News, and in looking over the answers the Contest Editor found that the boys and girls who counted them have good eyes.

We mention this because nearly every answer was correct, but as the first ten only received two tickets each to the Capitol Theatre, the others are naturally "out of luck" this week.

The first ten correct answers were received from the following: Mary England, 10 Jerome avenue; Doris Terhune, 31 Walnut street; George Kimmerle, 3rd, 6 Bremond street; Pearl Katz, 199 Adelaide street; Dorothea Muller, 54 Campbell street; Lester Dunham, 227 Little street; Irma Mayer, 51 Campbell street; Katherine Casale, 13 Mary street; Donald Frazer, 507 Washington avenue, and Shirley Howell, 703 Belleville avenue.

BUS ROUTE CHANGE

The Nutley-Journal Square Bus is now operating in Division avenue, this town, instead of Holmes street, as a part of its route.

Work relative to the laying of Kearny's water main in Holmes street caused the change.

Veterans Outline Much Work For Coming Months Right Now Drive Is On For New Jersey Cottage In Michigan

The drive among members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for funds to build a New Jersey Cottage at V. F. W. National Home for Widows and Orphans has been conducted under leadership of E. S. Davis, of Nutley, who reported at the State Department meeting that about one-fifth of the cost of this cottage, has been paid. The drive is on its third week. The National home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan, was started in 1925. The buildings and the farm, appraised at approximately $65,000 was burdened with debts of $33,000, which debts have been reduced to $10,000. From one family, of a mother and five in 1925, the population of the home has grown to five widowed mothers and eighty-seven orphans. This increase has really come in the last ten to twelve months.

At the present time three new buildings are under construction at a cost of $30,000. These buildings will be ready by November 1, and will accommodate forty more children. On August 24 the National President of the Ladies' Auxiliary at the V. F. W., will dedicate the new Hospital which the Auxiliary built with funds from their own membership. The cost of the building and equipment will be about $35,000. On the same date the delegation of the New Jersey veterans will break ground for the New Jersey cottage.

Membership in the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is equivalent to an insurance policy that guarantees the future care and welfare of a veteran's wife and children in the event of his sudden and untimely death. This guarantee includes food, clothing, medical attention and shelter in a comfortable home equipped with every modern convenience. Children are assured of public and high school educations, which provide, if desired vocational training. In addition to all these benefits, home ties remain unbroken.

There is no time limit to the V. F. W. Policy, no tricky clauses or excuses, once an ex-service man has affiliated himself with America's organization of overseas veterans. As soon as he assumes the obligation of membership, his wife and children become eligible, upon his death to the V. F. W. National Home.

No other veteran society can match the offer of protective insurance. Developed from an ideal incorporated in the principles of stewardship, that animate the activities of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the National Home stands as a beacon of service and comradeship for those who served their country far afield.

The membership for the State of New Jersey for the last three months of 1928 shows an increase of 2300 new members and 187 reinstated members. Alexander Hamilton Post, Paterson led in increases to the number of 193 new members. This post now has a membership of over 400. "The ex-service man who is not in a veteran society today, does not know where he stands, as new laws regarding the veteran have been made and it is impossible for the veteran organizations to go out to find each service man and let him know what benefits these laws give him or his dependents. If you were an overseas veteran in time of war join some post of the V. F. W., if in domestic service during the World War, sign up in some Legion post. Find yourself an organization that will look out for you and yours," says Herbert Scott of Belleville.

Some things to remember: "Have you reinstated and converted your war risk insurance? If not do it now. Have you filed your application for the adjusted Compensation? If not, do it today. "Any V. F. W. Post will be glad to help you out on any of these affairs. Because you are not a member, do not be afraid or too proud to ask for information.

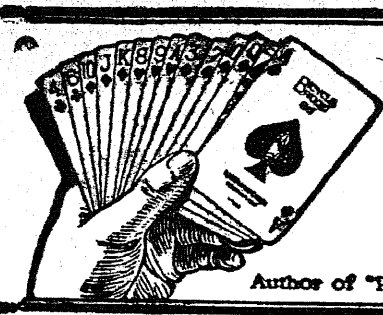

Private G. A. Younginger Post of the V. F. W. meets Thursday night at the V. F. W. Club House, Stephen Street and Belleville avenue, Belleville, and the Stuart E. Edgar Post meets the first and third Tuesday nights at Snyder's Military Hall, New Elm streets, Nutley. Emergency cases such as filing applications for claims, or insurance will be handled between meetings by applying to R. Harris, Newark Traffic Court, Washington and Court streets, Newark and H. J. Scott, 57 Garden avenue, Belleville.

How to Play BRIDGE Series 1928-29 by Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 16

Probably the great majority of players would say that the most enjoyable part of Auction is to play the combined hands of the declarer and the dummy. The declarer, as he is called, is the most important player of the four; he has the center of the stage and it is his play, rather than that of his opponents, that interests the bystanders.

The fact that the declarer plays the dummy hand as well as his own gives him a tremendous advantage over his opponents. He knows which twenty-six cards are against him, whereas each opponent has to guess as to which thirteen cards his partner and the declarer respectively hold. The declarer can throw the lead into an opponent's hand and know exactly how and when he can regain it. For all of these reasons, a mistake by the declarer is less excusable than one by either of his opponents.

To get all that is possible out of the twenty-six cards held by the dummy hand and his own is a fascinating problem for every declarer; and the proper means to obtain this wished-for result should be mastered by all players.

In the first place, when the player on the left leads and the dummy hand is placed on the table, the declarer should take a reasonable amount of time to note the cards held in his own hand and in the dummy hand, and then plan out his line of play. Primarily, the declarer should try to make sure of his contract, and if that contract isn't sufficient for game, he also should try to figure out a plan for game. This should be done as completely as possible before he plays to the first trick.

The following hand is a good example of how the declarer figured out the proper way to make his contract:

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one heart and all passed. If A opened the nine of spades, how should Z plan the play of the hand?

Z should allow B to win the first spade trick so that if A has two spades, he cannot lead the second spade and thus be able to trump the third round. If Z wins the first spade trick and leads trumps, A will win the second or third heart trick, lead the five of spades and trump the third round. Played in this way A B will save game for they will make one spade, one diamond and two

Diamonds — 7, 3
Spades — J, 9

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. How can Y Z win five of the six tricks against any defense?

Z should lead the five (not the deuce) of clubs which Y should win with the queen. B has two plays: first, to play the trey of clubs; second, to play the nine of clubs.

First: Suppose at trick one, B plays the trey of clubs. Y should now lead the four of clubs which B must win with the nine. B is thus forced to lead hearts up to Y's hand. Y thus makes the king and eight of hearts. Z should discard the jack and nine of spades. A is forced to make one discard. He can discard either his queen of spades or the four of diamonds. If A discards the queen of spades, Y's deuce of spades and Z's seven of diamonds win the heart tricks. On the other hand, if Z allows B to hold the first spade trick, the latter can never give A a chance to rub.

Be on the lookout for such plays and don't be in a hurry to win the first trick of your opponents' suit. Play this hand out for practice, first taking the first spade trick and then allowing B to hold the trick with the jack. In the first way of playing the hand, no game is possible but, if Z allows B to hold the first spade trick, he is sure to make one spade, one diamond and two balance of the tricks. If A discards the four of diamonds, Z's seven and trey of diamonds win the balance of the tricks.

Second: Suppose at trick one, B plays the nine of clubs. Y should now lead the four of clubs and A's best discard is the deuce of hearts. He cannot discard the queen of spades or he will lose all of the tricks. If he discards a diamond he will lose all but one trick. Y should now lead the king of hearts. Z should discard the trey of diamonds. Y should now lead the deuce of spades, forcing A in the lead. A must now lead a diamond to Z who wins the trick and leads his good spade. Played in this way Y Z must win all but one of the six tricks.

Engineers Study Rapid Transit Line Newark-Irvington

Jersey City, N. J., April 4—Engineers for the North Jersey Transit Commission have now begun the study of a rapid transit route from Broad street, Newark, to Irvington Center, a distance of two and three-quarter miles, to determine the most economic location for what the commission may advocate as the first extension to the Paterson-Newark line recommended in the annual report made to Governor Larson and the New Jersey Legislature earlier last month.

This follows the policy of the commission to carry its preliminary work as far as funds available will permit in anticipation of the creation next year of a state board with power to construct by steps and administer the operation of a rapid transit system serving all of North Jersey and connecting for commuter travel with New York City.

Whether or not another appropriation is made by the Legislature for continuance of the commission's work until a constructing agency comes into being, according to advices at the commission headquarters here the work can be carried on under the present appropriation until the end of the fiscal year on June 30. By that time it is thought that plans for an Irvington extension can be completed and work possibly started on another section of the suggested comprehensive system.

Plans for the Paterson-Newark line, for which several alternate routes were reported, have been completed as far as practicable until a board with power to finance and construct it takes them over.

First work on the study of the Irvington sector will consist of determining available traffic in the territory served by the section today and designing routes to serve it economically between Lincoln Park Newark, the present terminus of the Broad street subway plan, and Irvington Center. The subway plan in Broad street will also be studied in connection with the Irvington extension to Clay street, Newark, a distance of one and three-quarter miles, to offer a comparison of that line with the Paterson-Newark line.

Just what route from Lincoln Park to Irvington Center will be given most consideration is not now known. It is thought that it may be in the vicinity of Clinton avenue, likely a subway, with a branch at Hayes Circle that would extend through the Hillside section to Elizabeth.

Heard At Times Square

But He Remembers His Salary

Phil Bakek, co-star of "Pleasure Bound," has a formula with which to upset interviewers who put the old, old question of "How did you come to enter the show business?" "I was fired from my job," says Phil.

The next question is, invariably: "What were you doing?" "I was employed at the 5 and 10," explains the comedian, "and I was discharged because I couldn't remember the prices."

Back Stage Description
"She's the kind of a girl," says Tini Hendricks of "The Red Robe," "who, when you cut your finger, weeps over it, so that she can get salt in the wound."

What's The Answer?
Shaw and Lee, the frozen-face comedians in "Pleasure Bound," the revue at the Majestic Theatre, New York, asked a newly married friend how she liked connubial bliss. "My husband is too goody-goody," she replied. "Well, you took him for better or worse, didn't you?" asked Shaw. "Yes, but he'd be much better if he were a little worse," was her retort.

Who Can Tell?

"You can revive 'The Octoroon' and other plays of 1859," says Ann Seymour of "A Night in Venice," but I'd like to see them try to bring back bustles!"

Thorough Rug Cleaning Is HOOVER Cleaning

There are two kinds of dirt in a rug—light surface dirt which is removed by sweeping, shaking and beating—heavy cutting grit wedged deep into the nap, which ordinary cleaning methods cannot remove.

"Positive Agitation"—the special feature of the Hoover cleaner—removes all the dirt from a rug. It picks up the surface dust and lint. It loosens and suction away the deep seated grit.

Why not purchase the Hoover in time for housecleaning? You can buy it on the easy payment plan and your old electric cleaner will help to pay for it.

SCENE AT BLAZE WHERE FIREMAN WAS OVERCOME

A spectacular two-alarm fire in the rear of the Lyons Battery Company plant of 355 Cortland street, Tuesday afternoon drew a crowd of 5,000 homeward-bound workers to the scene. Firemen are shown fighting the blaze from Erie Railroad tracks. Commuters' trains were held up one hour.

Two Show Marks Of Stiletto Fight Fair Stagger Into Nutley Saying They Were Knifed For Twitting Motorists

Belleville police are trying to find out what actually happened at Washington avenue and King street at 3:30 Monday morning that caused two Belleville men to stagger across Nutley line into a doctor's office and profusely from knife wounds.

Just what caused the outbreak of stiletto warfare the police don't know. It came to their official attention when the Nutley physician notified Nutley police, who in turn delivered the wounded men and the mystery into the hands of the Belleville police.

The two men, Anthony Rittaco, 24, of 410 Washington avenue, and Dominick Aiello, 30, of 57 King street, told police they were standing at the corner when a passing auto met with a mishap and was forced to stop. Two men emerged from the car. Rittaco and Aiello twitted them and were answered by an attack from the two men with knives. That is how Rittaco and Aiello say they were cut and they were holding to that story with great determination today.

Police believe their story is at least incomplete and are holding the two men for further investigation. Their stab wounds are not serious.

TALKIE TEST FOR K. OF C. CAST

Driven to desperation by the public's demand for talking pictures, movie producers in a flurry of activity are despatching trusted envoys into the highways and byways in search of material.

They have reversed Horace Greeley's admonition to go west and come east. They are taking no chances and are combing the country thoroughly.

It is no small wonder then that on last Friday evening, a representative of one of the largest companies found his way to Belleville.

He had as his objective the rehearsal of the drama, "The Thirteenth Chair," by the local K. of C. Players.

The movie scout, whose identity must be kept unknown because of the intense rivalry of the competing companies, who would not stop at stealing a likely prospect from one another, expressed himself as highly pleased with the enunciation and clarity of diction of certain members of the cast. He has arranged to convey them to the studios at Fort Lee for a screen and voice test.

In view of this there may be some radical changes in the cast of the forthcoming production which is to be staged early in May.

The personnel of the dramatic company at present, with the parts they are to play is as follows: Helen O'Neil, Miss Agnes Jordan; Will Crosby, James A. Leonard; Mrs. Crosby, Miss Dolly Ryder; Mr. Crosby, Francis R. Kelly; Edward Wales, Harry J. Sullivan; Helen Trent, Doris Salmon; Brandish Trent, Gilbert E. Howley; Howard Standish, Joseph T. Hawley; Philip Mason, Joseph Lukowiak; Mary Eastwood, Miss Emily Marshall; Rosalie LaGrange, Miss Greta Kinnealey; Miss Erskine, Miss Frances Larkin; Inspector Donahue, J. Emile Chartrand; Pollack, Hugh Patterson; Sergeant Dunn, Peter Fitzpatrick, Jr.; and officer Doolan, I. M. Casey.

Just who will make the trip to Fort Lee is at present a deep dark secret but this secrecy only acts as an incentive for the players. Whatever the result of this test, the public will receive full benefit when "The Thirteenth Chair" takes the boards in St. Peter's Auditorium for the cast will be better perfect in their parts and will give full sway to their dramatic ability with visions of Hollywood in the offing.

ADVENTURES in KITCHEN CRAFT

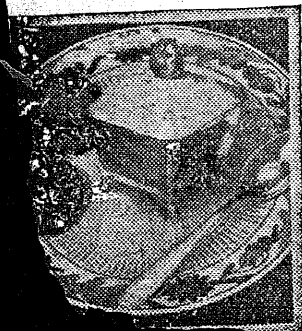

by Jeane Adaire

COOKING becomes more and more a series of adventures, since every day brings to the kitchen some fascinating new device to enable the cook to do things with her own hands never dreamed of in the philosophies of yesterday. Now that electric refrigeration has made it possible to prepare frozen food without chopping ice or turning a crank, tables are being graced with a variety of salads and desserts never known before.

Women are finding keen enjoyment in this new custom of "freezing their own," and they put into the task a great deal of originality and creative artistry.

To make lovely things for the table has always been among the joys of cooking. To combine several different food flavors or ingredients into a dish that offers a new tang is another adventure dear to the heart of the courageous cook. These two ends may both be served at the same time, in the new cold cookery; because freezing the food combinations both helps to blend them in flavor, and to fix firmly in place their beauty of arrangement.

The following frozen dishes are especially suitable for early spring menus. Strawberries are still expensive, yet we like to serve them occasionally. The mousse makes the most of these delicious berries.

Strawberry mousse, decorative and delicious, may be frozen either in the freezing tray of your electric or in individual dessert molds, which are made of silver, six of them fitting the medium-sized tray of the refrigerator.

All these recipes were tested in my own laboratory and found perfect.

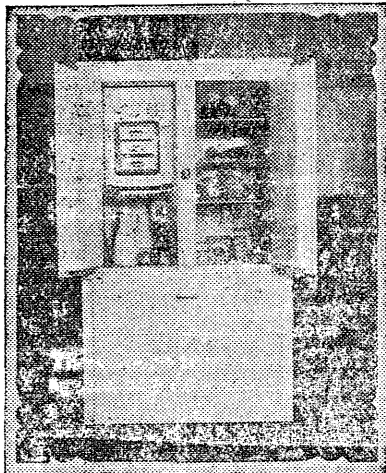

Frozen Fruit Salad

2 egg yolks
2 tsp. sugar
Juice of 2 lemons
1 tsp. flour
1/2 cup strained honey
1/2 cup cream
1 cup fruit
(canned salad fruit, or any cooked fruit)

Cook honey, flour, and sugar 10 minutes in double boiler. Add lemon juice and egg yolks slowly, and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Cool, then add fruit cut in small pieces, and fold in stiffly whipped cream. Pour in freezing tray. Set cold control in fourth or fifth position. When frozen cut in cubes to serve.

Frozen Nippy Cheese

One-half cup chopped ripe olives, one-half cup sour cream, one nippy cheese are required for this zesty dainty, which may be served as an accompaniment to a crisp green salad, or with chilled tomatoes and French dressing, or with crackers and coffee as dessert. Mash cheese smooth, work in the cream. Then add chopped olives, and blend well. Sweet cream may be used if preferred. Rub a cut garlic clove inside tiny paper cases; fill with mixture and freeze one hour.

Strawberry Mousse

1 pint strawberries
1 cup sugar
2 cups cream
2 egg whites
2 tsp. lemon juice
pinch salt

Crush berries with sugar, and bring to boiling point, then remove from fire and press through sieve or ricer. Cool, then chill in refrigerator. Whip cream, add vanilla. Fold cream into berries, then fold into stiffly beaten egg whites, adding the salt to whites while beating. Pour into freezing trays, or individual molds. Set cold control in fourth or fifth position. When mousse has frozen, set cold control back to second or third position, as this will keep the frozen mixture just right for serving.

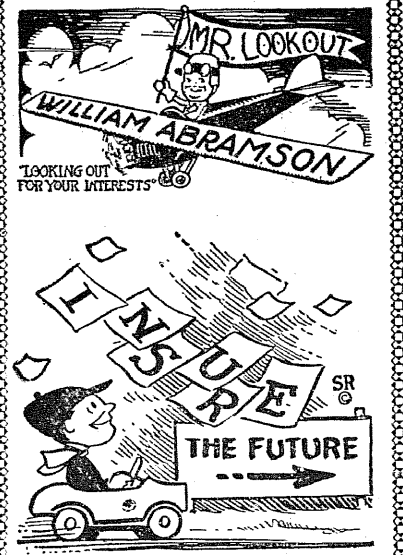

A new principle in refrigeration is the cold control, which enables cooks to "set a clock" for quick, medium, or slow freezing of foods or ice cubes.

CHURCHES

BELLEVILLE REFORMED

Rv. John A. Struyk, A. B.

Easter day was a gala day in the old church that has stood for over two centuries. The church was crowded as it has not been in many years, a beautiful scene amid palms and flowers. Flowers were distributed to the sick after the service. Many were received into the Membership of the church. A new period has come for the old church with young life. May the church of pre-revolutionary days be an inspiration to the people of the twentieth century.

Tonight, 7 o'clock—The Girl Scout troop will meet in the Chapel.

Simple Design with Colors Adds Charm to Small Home

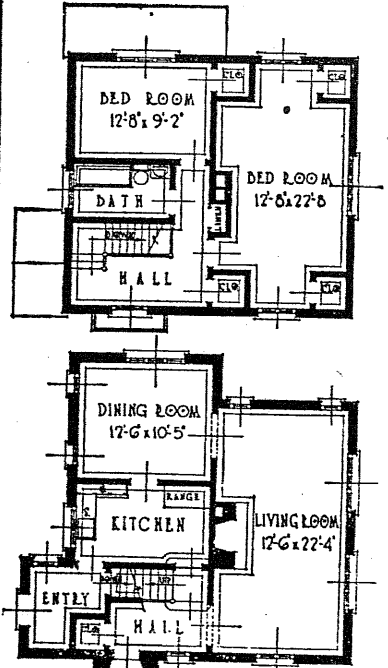

SIMPLICITY and economy have combined with color and pleasing lines in making this an architecturally interesting small home. It has a charm that careless embellishment would totally destroy. The walls of concrete tile are painted a light buff, the lintels over the doors and windows are dark brown, the woodwork light green, the shutters dark green, and the roof is varicolored.

Details such as the formal doorway with the window balcony above, large shutters, the many-paned windows—and even the drainpipe—entirely relieve the suggestion of Colonial severity.

Rooms Are Large.

The rooms are large, light and airy. It will be noted that the living room owes its length to its position along the side of the house, and that the dining room has two exposures—a very desirable feature—due to the central placement of the kitchen. The "front" entrance to the kitchen has, by skillful treatment, been utilized as an integral part of the design. The second floor is characterized by large and conveniently located closet space.

Such a house could easily be erected at comparatively small cost on a small city lot, yet it has all the desirable features of a more expensive structure. The home pictured belongs to Dr. L. E. Phelps at Toledo, Ohio. It was designed by Bollinger & Hayes, architects, of Toledo.

"Fill her up!" said the absent-minded motorist to the waiter, as he looked at himself in the restaurant with a sweetie.

Neighbor (angrily): "Professor, I'm surprised to hear that your chickens have been over the wall scratching up my garden."

Professor (with dignity): "My dear sir, that can hardly be regarded as a phenomenon. If your garden had come over the wall and scratched my chickens I could have understood your astonishment."

Mrs. Nut (handing her husband a saucerful of white powder): "John, taste that and tell what you think it is."

Mr. Nut: "It tastes like soda."

Mrs. Nut: "That's what I told Bridget. She declares it is rat poison."

After herculean efforts against temptation the wayfarer once again found himself listening to yet another sentence to prison.

The magistrate knew the prisoner of old and admonished him thus: "If, as you say, you want to live happily in this world, you must keep straight. Now, do you understand?"

The prisoner frowned and had to admit that he was puzzled.

"I am afraid I don't, your worship," he said doubtfully. "But if you'll tell me how a man is to keep straight while he is trying to make ends meet, I might."

"What time does the next train come in?" asked little Edward of the old station agent.

"Why, you little rascal, I've told you five times that it comes in at 4:44."

"I know it," replied Edward, "but I like to see your whiskers wobble when you say 4:44."

Uncle Toby had a neighbor who was in the habit of working on Sunday, but after a while he joined the church. One day he met the minister to whose church the man belonged.

"Well, Uncle Toby," said the minister, "do you see any difference in Mr. Smith since he joined the church?"

"Yes," said Uncle Toby, "a great difference. Before, when he went to mend the fences on Sunday, he carried his ax over his shoulder. Now he carries it under his coat."

"No, but I hear her telling my wife she had done her best."

BEHIND THE SCENES

Seeks to Copyright Dance Routines
Application was made yesterday in Washington by George Wood, manager of the Jack Donahue-John Boyle Dancing School, New York City, to copyright internationally all dance routines and steps performed by the various Donahue-Boyle units appearing in the musical comedy "Boom Boom," and other shows.

In his affidavit, Mr. Wood stated that it has become necessary to protect the individual dancing steps of his units as a playwright or composer finds for copyrighting a script.

"Each dance routine represents months of labor, and years of experience," Wood's affidavit reads in part. "We have clients, notably the Messrs. Shubert, who pay us for the exclusive dancing steps taught to the girls appearing in their several musical shows. These steps are original and are important elements of the production. Unless some protection can be gotten, it becomes almost useless to call these steps exclusive property."

"Luckee Girl" Original on Broadway
Broadway last week had an opportunity of seeing the original French play which formed the basis of the musical comedy, "Luckee Girl," which brought the very corpulent and very amusing Billy House to the attention of legitimate playgoers.

The original French version was given in the repertoire of the French Musical Comedy Company, and the comparison was wholly in favor of the American comedy, the common opinion being that the Americanized version was funnier and had a superior production.

Rolls Royce Audience for Mae West
No star on the American stage has been able to boast of a "higher hat" audience than Mae West, who is starring in "Diamond Lil." The drama of nineteenth century Bowery life has attracted a society following, and the Chicago theatre-goers at the New Apollo Theatre where the star is now appearing, come to the playhouse, over 50 per cent, in evening dress.

During the last week there was never less than a dozen Rolls Royce limousines parked before the theatre, waiting for the final curtain.

At the STAGE DOOR

"A Night in Venice" Began
Pre-Broadway Tour April 1st.

The Messrs. Lee and J. J. Shubert opened "A Night in Venice," the third in this series of revues, at Newark, on last Monday evening, April 1st. From advance reports the new production has even surpassed "A Night in Paris" and "A Night in Spain," which were hits both in New York and on tour.

Like its predecessors, "A Night in Venice" has an abundance of comedy among its merry makers being Ted Healy, Ann Seymour, Jans and Whalen, Phyllis Pearce, Carlotta Ryan, Laura Lee, Alfred Young, Anita Case, Nimura, Harry Stowell, Louise Wright, Badu, Shemp Howard, Louis and Farley, Kenderocs, Mishon Brothers, Walter Armin, Steven Brothers, Moe Howard, Fred Sanborn, the Chauve Souris Quartette, a troupe of Chester Hale Girls, a troupe of Alan K. Foster girls and sixty Venetian dancing girls. The book is by Harold Attelridge, the music by Lee David and Maury Rubens. Busby Berkely created the dances and Lew Morton staged the production. The setting are by Watson Barratt.

The length of the pre-Broadway tour of "A Night in Venice" has not as yet been determined. New York is hoping that it will come to the metropolis at once, but the demand for the revue throughout the country is fully as great, and may influence the producers to make a lengthy tour of the revue before it is presented to New York theatregoers.

Spanish Dancer Also A Painter
Frank Veloz, of the featured dancing team of Veloz and Yolanda, in "Pleasure Bound," the revue at the Majestic Theatre, New York, is a very distinguished portrait painter in addition to being one of the dancing finds of the season. Mr. Veloz's talent in this direction has been recognized by several of the leading artists in America, and at present his genius along this line is represented by a beautiful painting of his dancing partner, Yolanda Blanca, which is at present hanging in a prominent Fifth Avenue art gallery.

The oldest tourist resort in the world is Spa in Belgium. It was first extolled by the Roman, Pliny the Elder, in the first century, and has been a healthful resort for over two thousand years.

Although Europe is thought to attract an overlarge number of Americans each year, statistics show that less than half of one per cent. of our families have members who journey there annually.

The open air Parliament at Thingvall, Iceland, is visited every year by thousands, because it is the oldest in the world, having met first in A. D. 930.

Foreigners gamble when they go to France. The profits of French casinos amount to from eight to ten million dollars a year. Increase of profits is in direct proportion to growing foreign colonies, for the casinos depending on a French clientele contribute but a small amount to this total.

If you do not take first class accommodations on Norwegian trains, you will find the second is exactly the same, except that the first class passenger buys a two-passenger compartment for his sole use. Second class sleeping cars correspond to a drawing-room on the American Pullman.

Leipzig is the Paradise of the book-worm. It has been selling books for two centuries, and the streets might have been paved with the total sales.

If a European desired to tour the United States and see the show places between New York, Los Angeles and New Orleans, it would take him five or six weeks if he stayed only one or two days in each place; whereas an American desirous of touring Europe and seeing the best of London, Paris, Geneva, Berlin, Stockholm, Rome and Venice, could end his excursion excluding the ocean trip in less than a month.

New sport for those who enjoy bountiful climbing may be found in the Saxon Alps, southeast of Dresden. Instead of thousands of feet, the highest of these miniature mountains offers only 400 feet of actual climbing, but they rise almost perpendicularly and have few projecting ledges for feet and hands. The mountains are of soft sand-stone to which the soft-soled shoe clings without slipping, and even experienced Alpinists admit that the technique is more difficult than that required in the Alps or Dolomites.

If the 100% American meets with an accident or he is suddenly taken sick in Germany he will not need to resort to pantomime in order to reach a doctor. On all houses in which physicians live will be a triangular illuminated sign, bordered with red, and bearing the single word "Arzt" (doctor).

An old way of seeing England, by "Hacking" from place to place, has been revived recently. The members of a well-known family have surprised hotel and inn keepers by their demand for stable accommodation. The two senior members use a motor car while the son and daughters go on horseback.

Amsterdam is one of the few places in the world where servants are still plentiful. There, in an ordinary-size home, comes a maid to scrub continuously for eight hours every day for a very small wage. No wonder Holland is a clean country.

Broccoli is the staple vegetable of Italy. Its great, coarse, green leaves and white stems come submerged in soup (al brodo); it comes as a salad, crisp and raw, under oil and salt; it comes scalded and limp, heaped in a huge inert mass under a lump of butter (al burro), to be unraveled like spaghetti, and then, like spaghetti, to be spiraled round the fork and carried to the mouth.

Winter holidays to Europe are increasing so fast on account of reduced steamship and hotel rates at that season of the year, that on some lines it is as difficult to get a passage before Christmas as to get one before Independence Day in the summer.

The American craze for color has not yet invaded all the railroads as it has in Germany. The "Rheingold," new express from Holland to Switzerland through the Rhine valley, has coaches painted a bright violet, with window frames in cream and with silver-gray roofs. Great attention has been paid to interior decoration, and the passenger is at liberty to choose the room that pleases him best.

A whole cityful of cheerful, smiling people rushing about with no hats on; this is the visitor's first impression of Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia.

Travelers in Edinburgh can now see the house where Walter Scott met Robert Burns in 1787. Scott was a boy of 15, and he little realized that his name would be linked with Burns's as a great native genius of Scotland. Burns' house was at 477 Baxter's Close.

In a Rumanian railroad train if a passenger enters a "Smoker" compartment he not only is permitted to smoke, but is forced to! A fine of twenty cents is imposed upon anyone caught seated in such compartments without a lighted cigarette or pipe in his lips.

The tourist who take his automobile to Europe with him, can now arrange to have it ready for him at the time he lands, with his tank filled and licenses procured.

Switzerland has the largest skating rink in Europe at the mountain resort in Davos. It measures over seven acres and is divided into sections for skating, curling, and hockey—all of it in perfect condition.

You can always depend on having interesting fellow passengers on the railways of Germany. Germans take twenty-three railroad journeys a year per capita, and only one-third have to pay full rates. The other two-thirds take trips for scientific, education, and cultural purposes, or in some other way are able to take advantage of reduced rates.

A welcome innovation in facilities for motorists is the A. A. roadside telephone boxes on important crossroads, in England, Scotland and Wales, which provide also illuminated signposts. The method of lighting, coupled with the bold lettering on the signpost arms, enables road information to be read after dark at considerable distances by passing motorists. The telephones are available at any time during the day or night, and are constantly used for communications to hotels, business headquarters, etc.

EDUCATIONAL PREPARATION A GROWING REQUIREMENT FOR SUCCESS IN MODERN BUSINESS

By HAROLD STONIER
American Bankers Association

THE great school of Experience is still holding classes in America, but the scientific spirit of the age has so generally invaded the workshops of industry and trade that they have largely become technical research and training laboratories in themselves and are no longer run on the old-fashioned cut-and-dry methods of former generations when Experience was considered the only teacher. It would be hard to find a working force in any pre-eminent successful business or industrial organization in the United States today but what the dominating leadership is schooled in the scientific principles of its specific field, whether manufacturing, merchandising or finance. The rapidly advancing standards of business in this country, with their relentless demands for efficiency as the only hope for survival in the competitive struggle for economic existence, has sounded the death-knell for guesswork and slipshod methods.

As a result, educational preparation in the techniques of commerce, industry and science are virtually essential to outstanding success in these days, as it is already an absolute prerequisite in the various recognized professions. This is not to depreciate the value of natural ability and experience in business, but education after all is merely a means for helping the individual to apply the net good of the accumulated experience of many to his own day's work—a means for helping special native ability to come into its own more rapidly and surely and for enabling all classes of ability to gain the maximum of success to which they are entitled.

These facts are plainly recognized by practical, work-a-day business in every line. Every progressive business organization in America is emphasizing the importance of education as never before. Education has come to be looked upon as the answer to many of the problems within the organization as well as to problems affecting industry as a whole.

Business Organizing Institutes

Institutes for developing specifically qualified workers are being operated or organized in many fields of commercial and industrial activity. These institutes are trying various types of educational work with a distinct trend toward more and more emphasis upon education for the rank and file of business employees of all grades.

We have been having business failures in this country at the rate of about 2,000 a month. This score speaks for itself. It is glaring evidence of incompetence on the part of thousands of business men in handling the problems inherent in their fields of endeavor. The detailed records show that practically 75% of business failure in this country is due to lack of training and competence on the part of those who failed. This is conclusive evidence that no one can afford to undertake executive business responsibilities without adequate education and training. It is for that reason that every enlightened business organization is today insisting as never before that its employees take advantage of some type of technical training.

American banking is fortunate and has just cause for pride in that it has a record of twenty-eight years of definitely organized educational activity among its workers to its credit for developing trained bankers. People in banks in large numbers are taking advantage of the educational opportunities given by the great non-commercial college of the banking business, the American Institute of Banking. They see on every hand evidences of the value of the training it gives. Of the 10,000 graduates of this Institute, 70% now occupy official positions in American banks. The other 30% are still too young to have attained such heights. Here is an example and an encouragement to the people of all lines of business.

The American Institute of Banking has a membership of 64,320. Of these 38,851 are class enrollees, comprising younger bank people, both men and women, who are learning the scientific technique of their chosen business at the same time they are engaged in the practical work of earning their livings at it. The difference between the 38,851 enrolled in classes and the 64,320 total membership comprises older bankers who have taken the Institute courses in the past or are at the present time sponsoring some type of educational work in the organization.

Banking Educates Its People

It has been estimated that there are probably 875,000 bank officers and employees in the United States at the present time. These figures would mean that about one banker in every six is either enrolled in Institute classes in banking or is actively supporting some educational function of the organization. No statement could possibly give more emphasis to the importance placed on education by the banking interests of America than these facts.

Family Unaware Of Peril As Roof Overhead Burns

Passerby Warns Them Of Blaze And Gives Alarm In Nutley

Mrs. Katherine Broderick, deeply interested in a book; her husband, Kai, reading a newspaper; a young son, trying for distance over the radio, were spending a quiet Sunday evening at their home, 1 Whitford avenue, Sunday night, unaware that a fire was raging above their heads.

The violent ringing of the front doorbell startled them, and Broderick, who answered the ring, heard John A. Hoar of 38 Hamilton place, Passaic, excitedly tell him his home was on fire and then saw him rush to a nearby firebox and give the alarm. A glance skyward showed Broderick that the roof was ablaze and flames shooting from the attic window.

Adding his wife and son to the street, he awaited the arrival of firemen. The damage was estimated at $1,500; covered by insurance.

The fire, thought to have been caused by a spark from the chimney, was discovered by Hoar, a maintenance man for Public Service Electric and Gas Company, as he was driving by in his car.

Color Bids Given For License Plates

1930 Colors Will Be Pearl Gray With White Numerals

Subject to formal approval by the State House Commission, the Essex Varnish Company of Newark will have the contract for coloring material to be used in the 1930 registration plates for automobiles. The company's bid was $18,576.

It will be the first time in five years that the Crescent Ink & Color Co. of Philadelphia has failed to land the contract. The Crescent company figured quite conspicuously in testimony given before the Bright legislative investigation committee. It was charged that favoritism had been shown in the award.

Twenty-two bids were submitted for the 1930 contract. The award is based first on the reaction of the materials submitted to an exacting series of tests and then on the price. The tests, made at the State Prison, are supervised by a committee of three members selected by lot from among the bidders. The products of the Murphy Varnish Company of Newark and Cassan & Whelan of this city also qualified in the test, but each of these bidders submitted higher figures than the Essex company.

The 1930 colors will be pearl gray and white. The background will be of gray and the numerals in white.

Stricken On Ride, Nutley Man Dies

Police efforts with Inhalator Fail to Save Life of Arthur Grant

Taken ill while driving with his parents Sunday, Arthur Grant, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Grant of 12 Humbert street, died in the police headquarters despite the strenuous efforts of Captain John Jameson, Officer Frank McCrean and Fire Captain Frank Zimmerman to save him with the inhalator.

Dr. Rush C. Baumann, who was summoned by the police, said that he had been treating the young man for some time for tuberculosis.

County Medical Examiner Martland allowed the body to be removed to the undertaking parlors of Frank McKenny of Franklin avenue.

Funeral services were held at the home yesterday at 2:30. Burial was in Ridgeland Cemetery.

CAR ABANDONED AFTER COLLISION

An accident in Nutley Friday night was responsible for recovery of an automobile stolen in Newark Thursday. The ire of Vincent Moyes of 433 Centre street, whose machine was struck by the stolen car, in which the thieves were riding, was roused when they did not stop. He gave chase.

According to Moyes, he was driving east in Center street at St. Mary's place when the other machine, driving in the same direction at a fast rate of speed, cut in front of him and damaged a front fender.

Moyes chased the speeding car in which were two men to Washington avenue, followed them up King street to Union avenue, where the two abandoned the machine and ran. Police found the car belonged to Sidney Rosenthal of 26 Treacy avenue, Newark, who reported it stolen Thursday.

Nutley Coal Row Leads To Knifing

Victim Confined To Home As Assailant Escapes In Affray Over Coal Bill

George E. Mitchell of 37 Ernest street is confined to his home suffering with a knife wound, and his assailant, George Pasby of 95 Passaic avenue, is at large, following an argument Saturday night over the purchase of coal.

Pasby was visiting Mrs. Nellie Braye, living on the third floor of 37 Ernest street. A little later Mitchell, Mrs. Braye's son-in-law, joined them. Everything was peaceful until the subject of who should buy coal, apparently a sore topic of conversation, was mentioned. Then the trouble started. Pasby stabbing Mitchell in the back, just missing his spine.

Pasby ran down the stairs, Mitchell after him. The latter, weakened by his wounds, stopped at the bottom of the stairs, unable to go on. Pasby escaped.

Dr. Rush C. Baumann treated Mitchell's wounds.

Bullet Breaks Window, Found In Nutley Home

A .22-caliber bullet pierced a window and was found Saturday morning in a bedroom of the home of Alexander Dow of 42 Orchard street. Police believe the bullet was spent when it struck, as it did no damage in the room.

Mrs. Dow found broken glass on the floor as she went to call her daughter, Miss Edna May Dow, Saturday morning. She first believed a perfume bottle had broken. When the curtain was drawn aside, the broken window was discovered. The bullet fell to the floor when blankets on the bed were shaken. Two similar cases in which a .22-caliber gun was used were reported to police recently.

New Method Of Judging Students Used At Hill

POTTSTOWN, PA., April 5, (Special to Belleville News). A new system of determining whether or not a boy should go to college has been put in operation at The Hill School here. Instead of the usual procedure of saying all are qualified who can pass certain entrance examinations the new system brings out that many who pass with some difficulty are fully qualified for college work.

The system which involves keeping a complete biography of the student from the time he enters Hill, is a kind of comprehensive questionnaire. The boy is asked to answer such questions as, "What type of book do you read most frequently?" and "Do you work during the summer?" Do you work for pay?" From the answers to these and similar questions certain deductions are made which brings out whether a boy is fitted for college work.

State-Wide Program Proved Interesting

Approximately 2,000 representative citizens of the state accepted invitations to the Greater New Jersey Dinner held last night by the State Chamber of Commerce and the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company to foster interest in the state and its future development.

The dinner started at 6:30 o'clock. It was held simultaneously in seven places, the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark; Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton; Hotel Plaza, Jersey City; Walt Whitman Hotel, Camden; Alexander Hamilton Hotel, Paterson; Hotel Traymore, Atlantic City, and the auditorium of the New Telephone Headquarters Building in Newark, which was dedicated to the service of the state at the dinner.

The gathering at the auditorium of the Telephone Headquarters was the key meeting of the seven through which the joint program for all meetings were directed. The joint program was heard at all dinners over a telephone hookup and public address system, and that part of it from 9 to 10 o'clock was broadcast from the Telephone building by Radio Stations WOR, WPG and WCAM.

Willard I. Hamilton, president of the State Chamber, presided at the key meeting; James Wilson at the Paterson meeting; General William C. Heppenheimer at Jersey City; William Bittles at Newark; A. P. S. Bellis at Trenton; Ralph D. Baker at Camden and Samuel P. Leeds at Atlantic City.

The program was in two parts. Starting at 8:10 o'clock, short speeches were made from one group meeting after another until 9:00 o'clock, when the rest of the program was broadcast from the Telephone Building.

The speeches in the first part of the program were as follows: Atlantic City, William B. Duray, secretary of agriculture, on the State's agricultural problems and possibilities; Jersey City, Roy B. White, president, Central Railroad of New Jersey, "Transportation," Robert Treat Hotel, Newark, Walter Kidde, "Highways," Camden, E. W. Wollmuth, executive vice president, Newark Chamber of Commerce, "Industry," Telephone Headquarters Building, Newark, Thomas N. McCarter, president Public Service Corporation, "Power," Paterson, Charles R. Lawrence, president, Wright Aeronautical Corporation, "Aviation in New Jersey," Trenton, Floyd W. Parsons, writer and editor, "New Jersey Tomorrow."

At 9:00 o'clock a roll call of the meetings was taken by Mr. Hamilton from the chairman of the meetings. Speakers at the key meeting included Dwight Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico and a Jerseyman, talking by telephone to the meeting from Mexico City; William Butterworth, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, talking from Washington; Governor Larson; Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; M. Hamilton; Chester I. Barnard, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company and G. W. McRae, vice president and general manager; and Representative Franklin Fort, transmitting from Washington a message from the New Jersey Congressional delegation.

Features of the meeting included the singing of Mark Andrew's new song for New Jersey, "Sing New Jersey's Praise," for the first time by Anna Case, native of New Jersey and famous soprano; the unveiling by Mr. Gifford in the auditorium of a bronze tablet to Theodore N. Vail, of Morristown, head of the Bell System during its early critical years; and the first public demonstration or two-way telephone communication between the ground and an airplane in flight, flying over Mr. Vail's former home, now the Morristown City Hall. The passenger in the plane conversed with Mr. McRae at the dinner.

Many Fined In Nutley For Breaking Motor Law

Nineteen drivers were fined $3 each by Recorder William Smith Friday night for failing to stop at stop streets and three $2 each for parking without lights. A number arrested for these violations paid fines before hearings. Twenty summonses for parking without lights and two for failing to stop at stop streets were issued by police Friday night.

The case of Charles Aut, 63 Hudson street, Philadelphia, who failed to appear for a stop street violation, was referred to Commissioner Dill.

Bungler Is Caught Breaking Into House

At least one intruder has come to rue. With the many incidents of recent occurrence the residents of the Hill section were under a constant strain not knowing when the next visit from the light fingered gentry would take place in Belleville.

Consequently, they are wary of every stranger lurking in the neighborhood. A mysterious gentleman was sauntering along Forest street last Thursday night. Frank Wolenski, of 65 Forest street, was returning from a committee meeting of the Belleville on the Hill Association when he observed the stranger entering his driveway.

Having, on more than one occasion had the opportunity to eject undesirable, Frank grabbed the shadow hound by the collar. He took him into the house and was just about to notify the authorities when his unwelcome visitor told his story.

"Please Mister," he said. "I know I done wrong by sneaking around as I did. But you see, I picked up this paper (displaying a recent letter of the B. O. H. Association) and I noticed your name and address on it. I've been trying to get tickets for the dance of this Belleville Hill Improvement Association that's to be held on April 13 at the Elks' Hall."

"No one seems to have any extra ones and I understand its going to be one of the finest dances in town. I just want a couple of tickets for the dance if you can spare them."

Mr. Wolenski, having a few tickets left, sold the stranger two and advised him if he needs more to pay a visit to Mr. Delhagen at 47 Belmont street, or Mr. Kirchdoerfer at 304 Greylock parkway. In speaking to Mr. Wolenski the writer learned that two ladies and three gentlemen are leading the membership prize ticket contest, their sales running from twenty-two to thirty-eight tickets sold.

Citizen Assaulted

"When Bolder Bandits are Born, Belleville will beat them." Our local police force lines up well in coping with the holdups in town. Criminals are now giving Belleville a wide berth. The shrewd work they have accomplished recently is a thing of the past, for the "John Laws" of this town are up on their toes.

"This was ably illustrated during the past week when an attempt was made to hold up one of the prominent members of the Association on Union avenue. This particular citizen, who desires to have his name withheld, had made heavy collections from ticket sales for the dance.

He was evidently watched and waylaid shortly after 10 P. M. last Friday night. One of the minions of the law, however, being in the vicinity appeared and the would-be hold-up man took to his heels.

The reason for the unprecedented ticket sales for this event is due to the unusual program. During the past week, Prof. Bob Cole's Dancing Studio has prepared a program to be given between the dances which will prove "the" surprise feature. Prof. Cole, who has been associated with some of the foremost New York theatrical productions, has promised that the numbers he will offer are alone worth the price of admission. Price for Music and Cole for Dancing are synonymous for a good evening anywhere. The door prize, ticket prizes and other attractions have made it necessary to add the name of Leo. Dempsey of 178 Tappan avenue as an additional ticket distribution center.

Mystery Of Dumps Still Unsolved

Belleville police learned last week the story of William Wallace of 20 Greylock avenue, Belleville, who said he saw two men remove the body of a man from the Belleville dump at the foot of Greylock avenue at 6 a. m. one morning and carry it away in an auto.

Wallace, who said he is a veteran of three wars, came into Belleville police headquarters breathless and gasped out his story, adding that the two men forced him away with guns when he tried to interfere with their activities.

Wallace took Patrolmen Gross and Wirtz to the spot where he said the body had lain, but no tracks of an auto were visible in the soft earth there. He said the men, in a blue sedan with an Ohio license plate, the number of which he gave police, had covered the body with burlap lifting it into the car. When he approached and looked into the rear seat he saw a man's legs and head, he declared.

Police were inclined to doubt Wallace's story although they are attempting to check up on the license plate and will continue an investigation.

Sailor Admits Thefts In Belleville Garages

Caught in town early Monday morning, his pockets filled with articles he is said to have stolen from private garages and valued at about $35, Charles Wagner, fifty-four, a seaman recently discharged from a boat at New Orleans, was arraigned before Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons Monday night on a charge of petty larceny. An accomplice, whom Wagner called Douglas, escaped.

He was given six months in the County Jail.

Wagner was apprehended by Patrolmen Leighton and John Flynn in the back yard of the home of George H. Silbon at 51 Preston street. Police responded to a telephone call from a person in another house who saw the men.

Police are checking the number of garages entered. One was that of Clifford Smith at 192 Overlook avenue, where two flashlights, found in Wagner's pockets, were taken, but a top coat and lap robe not touched. Other articles found on Wagner included nine packages of cigarettes, a vanity case, pocket mirrors, a razor, a military hair brush, seven tire gauges and cigarette cases.

Douglas, Wagner told police, made the entries while he watched outside and received the articles. Douglas escaped with more stolen goods than Wagner had, the latter said.

Wagner's discharge was dated February 13 from the Castana as a messman. He said he arrived in Paterson Friday without money. In Newark Sunday night he met four men, who bought him something to eat and gave him twenty-one cents. Douglas offered to take him to Belleville to sleep and enroute asked him if he wouldn't like "to make a little jack" he said. His discharge rated his character, ability and seamanship, all as very good.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

"Everybody reads the newspapers whatever else he reads, while the only reading done by portions of the population is newspaper reading." This rather obvious fact, recently restated in a public address by William A. Thompson, director of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, is indeed one so simple that it is likely to escape attention of the advertiser caught by the bright ink and glitter of narrower forms of publicity appeal. Newspaper advertising," he added, "is the link that connects the seller and the buyer in the scheme of mass production. It has bought the amazing power of the American people into contact with the equally amazing production power of the American manufacturer." And whatever else may interest, entertain, inform or influence certain portions of the people, the newspaper furnishes the one known vehicle of contact with the entire people. "All media of advertising other than newspapers," concluded Mr. Thompson, "are duplicated in their circulation and influence by the all-inclusive circulation of the Newspaper."

MISS MORROW'S HAZARD

We often wonder if Anne Morrow, who looks perfectly happy, knows what she's likely to be up against before she's through with this thing and if they have a church wedding she'll be lucky if her more enthusiastic well-wishers don't actually chip pieces off her to remember the occasion by.

The main question in the American household just at present is "You 'spose it's possible we could make a half-ton do?"

Calvin Coolidge is reported to have said he does not intend to pursue a literary career, but prefers an executive job of some kind. Evidently he has discovered that while the pen may be mightier than the sword its earning power is not equal to the demands of the age.

The average age of President Hoover's cabinet is sixty years. Here's hoping they make good on the job. If they fail to do so it will be used as another argument for chloroforming all persons who attain such an age.

Somebody predicted the other day that in time the mechanical men known as robots will be perfected to such a degree that they may be sent on errands. The average hubby will be interested to know if they can even remember to mail letters when sent to the postoffice.

Citizen Cites

Absence from the place where the thing happens is better protection than an accident policy.

Excuses aren't worth while. Your friends don't care and your wife won't believe you.

Many a man who regards himself as the victim of circumstances is the architect who designed them. It is thoughtfulness that makes and keeps friends.

Common sense is the ashes that enable one to avoid falls on the slippery track of life.

A person will never succeed in business who wants to take all the best of it and give everybody else the worst of it.

Children learn by what they see us do, not by what we tell them.

It's impossible for wisdom to enter your head while words are gushing out of your mouth.

Even a man of steel may lose his temper when he gets hot.

Some people wouldn't even be interested in the horn of plenty unless it played jazz.

It's easy to secure the world's good opinion if you have the price.

Many a person who is in the public eye is just about as irritating as a cinder would be.

Any man who does you an ill turn will never forgive you for it.

It may be all right to pay a man back in his own coin, but it is better not to have borrowed in the first place.

Elocution is a good thing, but it doesn't go far enough. It merely teaches a man how to speak, not when.

The half that doesn't know how the other half lives is the one that goes to bed at ten and gets up at six.

The peacemaker may be all right in the next world, but it takes a fighter to get very far in this.

Home cooking is coming to be so thoroughly appreciated that many restaurants specialize in it.

Another optimist is the man who wears his $12.85 suit out in the rain to see if it is all wool.

The Voice of Others

Little Tommy accompanied his father to church one cold sabbath morning, and upon their return his mother asked if he could repeat the minister's text.

"Course I can," replied Tommy. Getting up and rubbing his hands together, he said, "Many are cold but few are frozen."

Offutt—I hear you've left the Bumm Bead Company.

Onnott—Yes, I'm in business for myself now.

Offutt—What are you doing?
Onnott—Looking for another job.

"I have the faith that moves mountains," said Mr. Goofers.

"I wish you had the faith that would move the ashes out of the basement," his wife replied.

The minister was horrified one Sunday to see a boy in the gallery pelt the congregation with pebbles. As the minister looked up the boy cried: "You tend to your preaching, mister; I'll keep 'em awake."

Fizzle—Did you hear that Scotty MacDonald committed suicide?

Poozie—No, what was the trouble?
Fizzle—During a week's stay at a hotel Scotty did all he could to economize in his eating and when he paid his bill he found that the meals were included in the price of the room.

Askum—Ever been surrounded by wolves?

Bascom—No, but I know the sensation. I used to open the dining-room at a summer boarding-house.

A college student handed in a paper to his professor and was surprised the next day to have it returned with a note scrawled on the margin. He studied it diligently, but was unable to decipher the writing. So he brought the paper back to the professor.

"I can't quite make out what that is, if you please," said the student.
"That, sir?" asked the astonished professor. "Why, that says, 'I cannot read your handwriting.' You write illegibly, sir, a very bad practice."

Ring Where Dempsey Met

Tunney Now at Hill School

POTTSTOWN, PA., April 5 (Special to Belleville News). The boxing ring which 135,000 people paid more than two million dollars to gaze upon for a few brief hours of entertainment on that rainy September night in 1926 when Gene Tunney out-pointed Jack Dempsey in ten grueling rounds is now leading a secluded life far from the maddening crowd.

In the gymnasium of The Hill School for Boys in the quiet little town of Pottstown, Pennsylvania, it rests serenely with its memories. Where it once had enough telegraph keys surrounding it to send all of the Easter greeting messages out of Chicago in a twenty-four hour period, it now has the silent chalk lines of a basketball court girding it.

Where it once had a corps of radio announcers talking glibly to their "invisible audiences" it now has little knots of school boys cheering lustily for their candidates in the inter-class boxing eliminations, boxers who would have put on quite a few pounds to edge their way into the featherweight class.

The youngsters in the ring go about their work with an amount of cool equilibrium that would have made Dempsey envious three years ago. They are nonchalant; oblivious to the fact that they are in an arena where sporting history was made.

The ring, which was presented to The Hill School by one of its alumni, Briggs Cunningham, is set up once each year, after the basketball season is over. It is used for boxing instruction work as well as competitive eliminations.

Inter-Towns Plan

For Baseball Nine

The Inter-town Stars are in the field again for baseball after a fairly successful season last year.

The team will have back this year "Kid" Cappy, pitcher; Virono, the home-run hitter and first sacker, and Luzzi, star second-baseman.

The team will travel in Essex County. Light midget teams seeking games should communicate with L. Luzzi, 14 Federal street, Belleville.

OARSMEN PLAN RECORD YEAR

Rowing And Canoe Clubs On Passaic See Best Time Since 1901

If plans of the rowing clubs carry, the coming season on the Passaic River will show more activity than any year since 1901, when the last open rowing regatta was held on the historic racing course.

Members of the Nereid and Institute Boat Clubs are earlier than usual in making plans and have brighter prospects. Both clubs will be represented by squads of husky youngsters in local club and inter-club regattas and in some of the big regattas on the Harlem River and the Schuylkill American Henley course at Philadelphia.

Nereids All Set.

The Nereid club is all set for what it anticipates as the most successful year of its fifty-four. Coach C. Leverich Brett and other veterans of the old-time rowing organization have recruited more than thirty young men to do battle with sweeps and sculls.

The boat-house was opened several weeks ago. Already many of the young oarsmen have had several drills in four-oared gigs, quadruple shells and singles. Coach Brett will have the boys on the water three or more nights each week now. With several other veterans of the club he will drill the lads in the art of handling the sweeps and sculls.

A meeting and dinner was held last night at which plans for the season were further discussed.

Institute To Have Carnival

The Institute Boat Club is planning to open the season during the week of Memorial Day with an aquatic carnival in the afternoon and a dance in the evening. The boat-house, on the Passaic River south of Chester avenue, Newark, is undergoing spring cleaning and the fleet of racing shells and gigs are being put in trim by Captain Frank J. Cornburn and his lieutenants. Many young men have joined the ranks of the oarsmen since the closing of last season and several good crews may soon be seen practicing on the racing course.

A quadruple shell which the club obtained a year ago is being renovated and will get new outriggers. The craft has not yet been rowed on the Passaic and the members are anxiously awaiting its launching.

Tuscorora Preparing

The paddlers of the Tuscorora Canoe Club are preparing for aquatic and social activities that will keep them on the go until the snow flies again.

The first event is to be a card party at the club April 19, for the paddlers and their friends. The major social event of the season will be a circus to be held on the grounds adjacent to the club during the week of Memorial Day.

The Paddlers who do the racing for the club will be out on the water in a week or so. Many aquatic events will be staged during the season.

MORE

B. M. B. Club

Again under the veteran leadership of Harry L. Breckenridge, the Belleville Motor-boat Club will greet a busy season this summer preparing for an active part in power boat regattas in the fall. Hulls of the motor-boat fleet have been scraped clean and are receiving careful applications of paint these spring days.

Within the next ten days launchings are expected to be in order.

Commodore Breckenridge, back in the pilot's seat of the club after a lapse of two years, is undismayed about the proposed State Highway No. 21 which threatens encroachment on club property, located at the foot of Belleville avenue, between Main street and the Passaic River.

The State Highway Commission has much in the way of details to round up yet, and there is no occasion at present, the commodore feels, to lose time worrying when the regular seasonal enjoyment beckons on the water.

The club will have its usual invitation regatta in the fall on the seven-mile course which starts and finishes at the clubhouse after making two turns up the river. It is promised ahead that most of the power boat clubs along the Passaic and Hackensack rivers will enter the events.

Working with their veteran leader are this year, Nelson Machette vice commodore, and A. P. Steinwald, rear commodore.

An Imprudent Buyer

The pseudo prince was wine and dined for a month in New York and reciprocated by buying 25 cents' worth of salted almonds, although for the same money he could have got more jelly beans.

GRACE WINS LEAGUE TITLE

Final Standing

	W.	L.
Grace	12	3
St. Marys	11	4
St. Pauls	4	11
Vincent	3	12

A new champion was crowned in the Nutley Church League when Grace downed St. Marys in the final game of the year. When the smoke of battle had cleared Grace had a twelve point advantage, the score being 40-2. In the other contest St. Pauls nosed out Vincent, 25-24, for third place, in a game that took an extra period to decide the winner of the fray.

In the championship battle St. Marys started off in fine style gaining a seven point advantage in the first quarter, the score standing 11-4 with the Catholic boys in the van. The second quarter was a demonstration of long shot shooting by Grace, who advanced to within four points of St. Marys on baskets by Iliffe and Baumann. Keeping up the good work of the preceding quarter Grace soon caught up to St. Marys and at the close of the period they headed the Maryites by four points.

The last quarter found Grace dropping in all kinds of shots making every shot count to leave St. Marys hopelessly in the rear. For the victory Grace receives a cup and also gold basketballs for all the members of the team.

St. Pauls and Vincent had it out for the last place position and St. Pauls kept their winning streak started off late intact by winning out in the fifth period. The game was close throughout and many fouls were committed. A long hawker by Briggs decided the game in St. Pauls favor in the extra period. Gibney and Briggs starred for the winners while Taylor and Forrester were the whole works for the losers.

Park A. C. Has

Fast Work Out

Although Sunday was Easter Sunday it did not prevent the baseball enthusiasts of Park Athletic and Social Club, Inc., of Belleville from appearing at their first baseball practice.

The veterans are Larry Auriemma, Frank Calabrese, Nicholas Colaninno, Andy Colaninno, Abie Del Grosso, Victor Kieme, Carmine Trolio, James Leonard, Frank Lotruglio, Kid Miller, Frank Petrosino, John Seabert, Victor Sacchetti and Henry Zborowski. The new selected twirlers are, Johnny Cavallo, Sal Caputo, Tony Cece, Tom Byrne, Al Schwartz and John Traverse.

One glance at this set of players will convince anyone that the Parks will be able to defeat any teams of their class. The club will probably enter the Belleville American Legion Athletic Development League.

For games write to Frank Lotruglio, 77 Washington avenue, Belleville.
