"The Biggest Fools," In Belleville Is Subject of Pastor

"The Seven Biggest Fools in Belleville" was the subject of an evangelistic sermon delivered Sunday night by Rev. Harold W. Nelson of Grace Baptist Church before a large congregation. If any body attended with the idea the text would be given a peculiarly local application they were disappointed.

The man who says there is no God and the man who doubts the miraculous were named by the pastor as among the "seven fools." Among others was the individual who leaves Christ out of his life, the one who values money above his soul and the person who accepts the teaching of Christ without being guided by it.

From I. Corinthians the pastor quoted "We are fools for Christ's sake" and added: "Folks may cuss me and discuss me but I'd rather be a fool for Christ's sake than the wisest man in the world without God." His remarks were punctuated from time to time by the "Amen's" of a man in the audience.

The call to the altar was answered by several and an after-meeting was held. Mr. Nelson spoke of having listened to Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick's radio talk Sunday afternoon and added: "If what he says is true the word of God is not true." He quoted Dr. Fosdick as saying: "The virgin birth may be believed or not. It makes no difference."

Mr. Nelson declared himself greatly exercised over the statement and announced a sermon on the subject for the third Sunday evening in May.

"Music in May" Draws big Audiences At Casino Theatre

"Music in May," the latest of the Shubert musical offerings has proven a great hit since its premiere at the Casino Theatre. The consensus of opinion among the metropolitan critics is that "Music in May" is perhaps the finest musical play the Messrs. Shubert have offered. Innumerable bouquets have been showered upon this production, notably for its music, its dancing and extravagant comicities. The score is a veritable whirlwind of tuneful songs sung by rousing choruses and soloists or duetists who would do justice even at the celebrated Metropolitan Opera House.

From start to finish "Music in May" is one delightful surprise succeeding another in rapid succession. The antics of Solly Ward, the charm of Gertrude Lang, whose voice is admirably fitted for the love lyrics of the village belle, the singing of Bartlett Simmon, Greek Evans, Gladys Baxter, and the richness and volume of the voices of the male chorus of students contribute in the making of a remarkably fine performance.

An outbreak of university students in Vienna serves as the background for the romance of a prince and the charming daughter of an eccentric umbrella maker. A former love of the prince, a Russian Countess, plots with a high Austrian official to break off the affair and use the cousin of the girl for that purpose.

The first act takes place at the country home of the umbrella maker. Hans, the cousin and the students sing a smashing chorus, "Open Your Window," which is followed by an intensive duet and dance by Charles Lawrence and Marjorie Leach, the latter displaying a remarkable gift of grotesque comedy.

Miss Lang, as Vita, the village belle, has a delightful number, "I Have Found a Friend," which she sings with Greek Evans, and another catchy duet, "Unto Your Heart," with Bartlett Simmons, who plays the prince.

"Music in May" may have arrived in New York a month earlier than its title implies, but it did not come a day too soon. Such an amusing and tuneful three hours as it provides should be assured of a warm welcome for many months.

K. of C. Degree Team Off To Lyndhurst

The degree team of Belleville Council, Knights of Columbus, will go to Lyndhurst to exemplify the First and Second Degree on a large class of candidates, tonight.

This is another link in a long chain of successes that the local degree team is forging. Their work is becoming famous throughout the State and very favorable comment is being heard.

These visits are not without some amount of gain to the local Council for wherever they go they are deluged with requests for tickets for the production which they will stage on May 16 and 17 at St. Peter's Auditorium.

The play, "The Thirteenth Chair" is a gripping mystery drama, by Bayard Veiller, author of the current Broadway success, "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

It is well acted by the local cast and director Chartrand is well satisfied with their work. Especially pleasing to him is the work of Miss Emily Marshall as the frivolous, talkative Mary Eastwood. She fills the role in a manner that would gladden the heart of any coach. Mr. Chartrand is endeavoring to arrange for a visit from Mr. Veiller, the author of the play and has his assurance that barring accidents, he will be present at one of the coming rehearsals.

Pictures By Wire, Subject Talk At School Assembly

New Jersey Bell 'Phone Co. Representative Addresses Pupils

The weekly treat Friday morning at high school assembly, as provided by Principal Charles L. Steele, was an entertaining, illustrated talk by Mr. Anderson of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

"Transmitting Pictures By Wire" was the subject.

By means of numerous slides Mr. Anderson graphically portrayed this new and highly important wrinkle in photography. He first showed every step taken in this work and the mechanism used in sending and receiving these pictures. Next various pictures that had been sent by this method, including the first picture, sent in 1924, were shown. He then proceeded to analyze the various improvements made until now it is a highly useful means of aiding the police, doctors, style creators, business houses and advertisers. He concluded that its future was bright and promising.

Mr. Steele's idea of having a special speaker for demonstration in assembly every Friday has the support of the student body.

C. E. Davies, representing the Newcomen Society, unveiled a bronze tablet Wednesday in the old Dutch Reformed Church Cemetery, Belleville, in honor of Josiah Hornblower, who brought the first steam 'fire' engine to America, as (left to right), the Rev. John A. Struyk, L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad; Dr. Fred R. Low and Charles L. Steel, principal of Belleville High School, looked on.

With heads bowed, a group of men and women gathered about the grave of Josiah Hornblower in the churchyard of the Dutch Reformed Church, Wednesday, as a bronze tablet was unveiled to perpetuate the memory of the man who first introduced the steam engine in America, thus laying the foundation of the country's mechanical age.

The group gathered there were all American members of the Newcomen Society of England, founded for the study of the history of engineering and technology. The tablet, which was affixed to the tombstone, read: "Josiah Hornblower, pioneer engineer, distinguished citizen. In 1753 he brought from England and erected the first steam 'fire' engine in this country. The Newcomen Society, April 24, 1929."

Public Official. "Josiah Hornblower was not only the first American steam engineer," said Dr. Fred R. Low, member of council of the Newcomen Society, and editor of "Power," who presided at the unveiling, "but he became a prominent citizen of New Jersey and held many honorable offices in the public service."

In sketching a brief outline of the pioneer engineer's activities Dr. Low told how in 1753, while James Watt was in his teens, Josiah Hornblower brought the first steam power plant to be erected this side of the Atlantic, to North Arlington, for the purpose of pumping out a copper mine on the Schuylers estate near what is now the corner of Schuylers and Belleville avenues.

"Only to one who can realize how essential a part power produced by steam plays in the present social and economical structure," continued Dr. Low, "and who can visualize conditions as they existed before Josiah

TRIPLE REGATTA FOR BELLEVILLE

Arrangements for a regatta on the Passaic river in Belleville, June 29, in which the Neroid Boat Club and the Tuscarora Canoe Club and the Active Boat Club of Edgewater will take part, were made at a joint committee meeting at the latter's club.

The regatta will feature at least six rowing contests between the Neroid and Active clubs and Middle States Association novelty events for the Tuscarora paddlers. Many Seek For "D's"

Large Number Of Answers Received By Contest Editor; Many Are Correct

Although only ten contestants received two tickets each to the Capitol Theatre, yet we found more correct answers from those counting the "D's" in the advertisements on the Comic Section of the Belleville News than heretofore.

However according to the rules of the contest, only the first ten correct answers received at this office were recipients of the two free tickets each. The only solution is to be correct and among the first ten. In the contest, not only correctness is necessary, but also speed.

The lucky contestants were as follows: Edith Ferguson, 28 Bell street; Margaret MacNair, 73 Preston street; Danetta Lyons, 511 Union avenue; William Brauer, 18 Kathryn street; Helen Hautala, 410 Belleville avenue; Irma Mayer, 51 Campbell avenue; Albert Evangelista, 425 Washington avenue; Katherine Casale, 13 Mary street; Elwin Taylor, 79 Preston street, and Donald Frazer, 507 Washington avenue.

Care Exercised By Public Service Men

The care exercised by Public Service Coordinated Transport in the selection of men to operate its street cars and buses and the method used to instruct the men in the proper operation of the vehicles are described in a current issue of Public Service News by Robert A. McArthur, superintendent of the employment-instruction departments of the company.

Public Service Coordinated Transport maintains a central employment office and an instruction school in Newark to care for all divisions in the northern part of the state. A combined employment office and instruction school is located in the Newton avenue carhouse in Camden street for the men operating in the Southern section of the state.

"When the applicant seeks employment he is invited into a private office and asked to detail his school training, previous employments and any other factors that may be considered as fitting him for the duties of the position which he is seeking, Mr. McArthur writes.

"During this interview, note is made of his appearance, education and mannerisms, as well as the impression that he makes upon the interviewer. Inquiry is likewise made concerning the length of his previous employments, to determine whether he is a steady worker or a man of wandering propensities. It is natural that men of steady employment are more desirable for many reasons and it has been found that men of this calibre are usually developed into good salesmen and men of good record after appointment.

"The applications are investigated and the applicant's employments, home surroundings, environment and character are checked and verified, because only men of the highest type and ability are selected who may later serve as the direct representatives of Public Service Coordinated Transport in relation to that company's customers.

"On completion of the investigation, a notice is sent the applicant and he is instructed to report to the company doctor for physical examination and must meet the company's physical requirements. After passing the physical examination he returns to the employment office for appointment and receives the equipment necessary for the position."

In addition to being carefully instructed in the operation of the street car or bus, as the case may be, the operator of a bus or car is taught that he is the direct representative and point of contact between Public Service Coordinated Transport and the passengers and he must be a man who not only handles the equipment in a safe and proper manner, but at the same time must be a salesman to every customer and put the sales across in a courteous and satisfactory manner. To this end he is under the constant supervision of this department and particularly for the ninety days after his appointment his work as bus or car operator is constantly observed that all faults and omissions may be corrected and the man thereby developed into a courteous and efficient employee

Here are some plain, unvarnished facts and figures which may serve to convince you that you owe yourself a ride in a Twin-Ignition-Motored Nash.

With Twin Ignition instead of single ignition (two spark plugs per cylinder firing simultaneously, instead of one) higher compression is practical, and a much more efficient combustion of the gases is accomplished.

The result is that the identical Nash motor, by actual test, produces 22% more power than with single ignition, 5 miles per hour more speed, and gives you 2 extra miles of travel from every single gallon of gasoline you buy.

In fairness to yourself, don't think of buying any motor car today, until you have seen and driven the brilliant new Twin-Ignition-Motored Nash "400."

Tablet Unveiled To Hornblower

Hornblower brought this plant to and operated it in America, can realize the significance of this initial installation and the interest that clusters about the record of Hornblower's work, these scenes of his activities and his last resting place.

Lifts Labor Burden

"In the little more than a century since his remains were interred at this spot the fires that he lighted beneath his boiler have spread from coast to coast and from lake to gulf, energizing our industries, transporting our products and shifting the burden of arduous labor from human muscle to swift and tireless machinery.

The erection of the tablet was the outcome of a meeting of the American members of the society last April 5, when a committee consisting of L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, chairman; Dr. Low, and C. E. Davies corresponding secretary for the society, was authorized to preside at the unveiling.

Following the ceremonies at Belleville the members returned to the Engineers' Club, New York, where the fifth annual meeting and dinner of the society were held at 7 P. M. and Mr. Loree reviewed the epochal results that followed the installation of the engine at North Arlington.

The Newcomen Society at its annual meeting in the Engineers' Club last night paid tribute to the early industrial pioneer.

L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, traced the history of the first steam engine to reach America and praised the part that Hornblower played in bringing it to Belleville.

"Much, if not all of our great mechanical development," Mr. Loree said, "is directly traceable as beginning with this atmospheric engine or 'fire' engine as it was then termed, and to the far-sighted man who brought it to America, installed it and with it drove the first machine operated in this country by other than man, animal, wind or water power."

He characterized Hornblower as "a foremost promoter of our great American industrial civilization."

The meeting Wednesday night was held simultaneously with a dinner of the Newcomen Society in London and during the evening an address by C. F. Dendymarshall, which was delivered at the London meeting, was read to the engineers at the New York meeting.

The invocation was given by Rev. John A. Struyk, pastor of the church. The high school band played.

Charles L. Steel, principal of the high school, said that at least "one or two" lines in American history books should be given to Belleville and Hornblower.

Railroad Crossings Up For Airing

Commissioners Believe That Depression Is Solution

Elimination of three Erie Railroad grade crossings in the Silver Lake section of Belleville was discussed by the Belleville Town commission Tuesday night. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy was authorized to confer with county and railroad officials.

She "Moves" Sign As The Order Said

It is all the fault of the Belleville building department that Mrs. Halsey Voght "moved" rather than "removed" the sign at her Twin Oaks roadside stand opposite the County Hospital for Contagious Diseases on Belleville avenue.

The commission Tuesday wanted to know why she did not obey the order to take the sign down in accordance with an ordinance prohibiting such signs in a residential zone.

Triumphantly she produced a letter from the building department. It told her to "move" it and she did—to another part of the premises.

The crossings are those at Watchung and Belmont avenues and Heckel street. Depression of tracks was thought to be the logical method of eliminating the crossings.

The subject came up for discussion when property owners of Silver Lake appealed for opening of Watchung avenue along the railroad right of way to Franklin street.

Commissioner James Gibson said this measure would be a makeshift and the money, since taxpayers were willing to assume it, might better be put into a permanent improvement. The board agreed, although Commissioner Patrick A. Waters was of the opinion the board members would not live to see the crossing eliminated.

Mr. Waters suggested Watchung avenue might be opened temporarily using part of the railroad right of way and thus avoid the buildings, pending permanent improvement. Property owners favored any improvement which would give them a through street, since "constant drilling" of freight trains made their travel inconvenient.

On recommendation of Police Chief Michael A. Flynn, application was refused for a pool room license at Washington avenue and Mill street proposed for a second-floor location by August Lapree and Charles Reeves. The chief's opinion was that second-floor locations were not easily subject to police surveillance. The chief's recommendation that the restaurants be amended to regulate the hour of closing was considered. Action was postponed.

THROUGH A WOMAN'S EYES

By JEAN NEWTON

"If You Were in His Shoes"

Of Lincoln stories, as of the making of books, there is no end.

And of these Lincoln stories, it may be truly said, that some are good, and others are indifferent—depending mostly I imagine upon the story-telling ability of the reporter or biographer who first brought them into the light of print—some out of the deep recesses of the goodness of his heart and the ingenuity of his imagination, perhaps!

There is one Lincoln story however which deserves the largest corner in the heart of every one of us who have others working under or for us.

It is one whose application will be valuable, not only for the sense of satisfaction it will bring us, but for its practical aid in dealing successfully with "help" troubles!

Here is the story—revealing, as more than a score of volumes could not do, the consideration, the common-sense and the big-souledness of the man.

It seems that an officer had disobeyed or failed to execute an order. "I believe I'll sit down," said Secretary Stanton angrily, "and give that man a piece of my mind."

"Do so," urged Lincoln; "write him now while you have it on your mind. Make it sharp. Cut him all up."

Stanton did not need a second invitation. It was a "bone-crusher" that he read to the President.

"That's right," said Lincoln, "that's a good one."

"Whom can I send it by?" mused the secretary of war.

"Send it!" replied Lincoln! "send it! Why don't you send it at all. Tear it up. You have freed your mind on the subject and that is all that is necessary. Tear it up. You never want to send such letters. I never do, though I occasionally write them. Now pen the kind of note you would have liked to receive if you were in that man's shoes, and send that."

Some of us do "send" the impulsive message. Nine times out of ten we find we have merely "cut our nose to spite our face." Ten times out of ten we regret it.

Miss Elizabeth Tempest was coach.

H. C. Clark Of P. S. Speaks On Publicity

"You have only to determine what you have that is salable, make up your mind to whom you can sell it, attract their attention, and then tell your story, simply, convincingly and interestingly." The principle back of successful publicity and advertising was thus outlined by Harlow C. Clark, director of Publicity, Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, in a paper presented yesterday before the annual meeting of the New Jersey Gas Association at the Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton.

"The same principle holds good whether you are selling commodities or ideas," Mr. Clark said. "It is, consequently, equally applicable to advertising of publicity, since, in general with a great deal of overlapping interests and neutral territory in between, advertising has to do with sales of the former and publicity with sales of the latter."

After dwelling on the problems that confront publicity and advertising men in attracting public attention today, Mr. Clark turned specifically to utilities and more particularly to the gas industry.

"Let us apply to the solution of this problem the three simple rules for publicity and advertising that I have before outlined," he said. "First, let us decide what it is that we want to advertise—to give publicity to. Obviously, the principal business of a gas company is to sell gas. That's where its revenue comes from and that's where its profits are made, and it might easily be supposed that any method of increasing gas sales—whether by means of advertising and publicity, or by any other way—would be advantageous and beneficial."

Characterizing the sale of gas as the sale of heat in its most efficient, most adaptable and its most convenient form, Mr. Clark told his hearers they will not have fully occupied their field until gas has generally supplanted other fuels in homes and in industry.

Equally as potent as the slogan, "Light and power for any use by the throwing of a switch," which has made a wide appeal for the electricity industry, is this phrase, based upon the possibilities of gas as a fuel: "Heat for every purpose with no more trouble than the turning of a tap and the lighting of a match," the speaker said.

That the gas business is a highly competitive business and can only succeed by not merely telling people that its service is something that is essential for their comfort and convenience but by making it so, the speaker contended. "You are directly competing with all dealers in luxuries from the automobile man to the beauty parlor," he said.

"Recently we have been taking long strides toward that goal," Mr. Clark concluded. "We have awakened to the value of research work; we have proven to ourselves that service departments, such as those

Centenary Collegiate Institute Establishes Junior College

Plans for the opening of the Junior College of Centenary Collegiate Institute which is located at Hackensack, New Jersey were approved on April 4 by the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church when it met for its 72d session in St. Luke's Church, Newark, recently. The plan already had been favorably acted upon by the Board of Trustees of the Institute in January and so with the official sanction of the Conference the Junior College of Centenary Collegiate Institute will begin its work on September 24, 1929. Dr. Robert J. Trevor, who is president of Centenary Collegiate Institute will head the Junior College.

The movement toward the establishment of junior colleges throughout the United States has gained great impetus the past 20 years, there now being 400 two-year colleges in the country, located for the most part in the West and Middle-West. This is considered one of the significant developments in the collegiate world, Dr. Trevor stated. By providing a two year course for girls who do not care to spend or who are not particularly adapted to a four year academic course, the junior college gives an opportunity for students to attend a school especially suited to their needs. At the same time, the junior college course if completed, fully prepares the student to enter the third year of a standard four year college.

The demand for a Junior College is particularly great in New Jersey, and would fill one of the educational needs of the state, Dr. Trevor pointed out. In northern New Jersey alone there is a population of about three million persons of which it is estimated 8000 are young women who should naturally be in college. Yet in the whole of New Jersey there is but one state college and two Roman Catholic colleges for women. Up to this time there has been no woman's college under the direction of any Protestant church. It has been estimated that 3000 New Jersey girls attend college in other states, and that there are about 4,000 girls of college age for whom no college facilities are provided.

Aiming to prepare each girl to meet the problems of everyday life in an efficient manner in her chosen field, the Junior College of Centenary Collegiate Institute will embody the highest standards in scholarship and the enrichment of the mental, cultural, and spiritual life of each girl.

Six courses will be offered which will embrace the subjects of a two year college, according to Dr. Trevor. A high school diploma or its equivalent is required for admission. The courses listed are: Liberal Arts, Advanced Music, Home Economics, Secretarial Science, and Social and Political Science.

Centenary Collegiate Institute was chartered in 1866, and is one of the oldest educational institutions in New Jersey. It has also grown to be the largest boarding school for girls in the state. At the time of its founding there were two departments established—the academy which until 1920 enrolled both boys and girls, and since then only girls, and the Ladies' College which was in existence for twenty-five years. It might be said that the Junior College is a modern educational revival of the Ladies' College.

Widely known for its high scholastic standards, Centenary Collegiate Institute will in the future as it has in the past, go forward, embracing modern educational methods and efficient administrative management.

Members of the board of trustees for the Junior College include: Egbert J. Tamblin, Newark, President; Rev. C. C. Woodruff, East Orange, secretary; Perley A. Prior, Nutley, treasurer; Rev. Jesse L. Hurlburt, Bloomfield; Rev. Henry J. Johnston and Charles E. Lotte, Paterson; Mrs. Letitia Simons Pound, Portchester, N. Y.; Rev. Archie D. Ball and Rev. Fred C. Baldwin, East Orange; Miss

Newest Hat Styles Today Are Direct Heritage From Antiquity of Europe

Cavaliers, Kings, Crusaders and Gallants Contributed to Our "Last Word in Fashion"

ONE quarter of a billion residents of the north temperate zone are this month experiencing the annual physical and mental metamorphosis which for all ages has defied the best efforts of medical men at exact diagnosis. "Rejuvenation" is the nearest approach to characterization that both medical and lay opinion can attach to the extraordinary phenomenon of spring's effect upon the human mind and body.

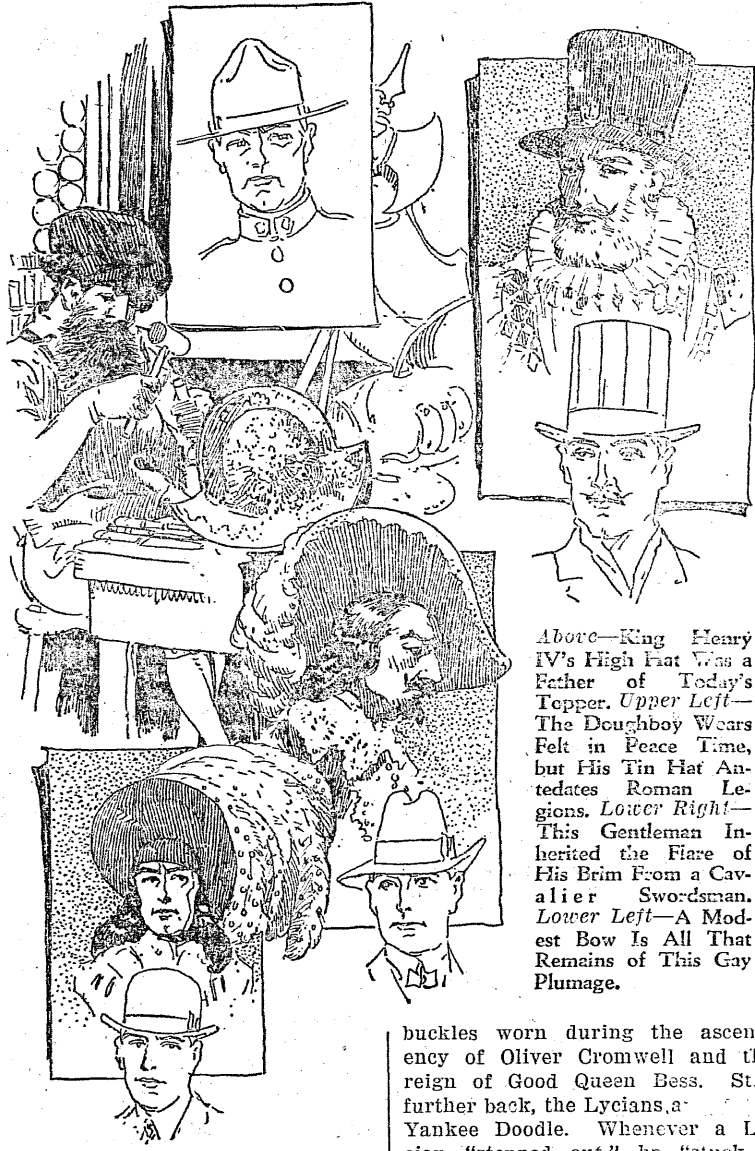

Of old, merchants satisfied their vernal longing by setting out the remnants of last year's stock. Today's pot-pourri of styles represents the concentrated efforts of experts in many lands to create "something new" that will find response in man's sartorial consciousness.

In a booklet entitled "Making Hat History," the John B. Stetson Company of Philadelphia has undertaken to show that many of our best efforts at "something new" really date back hundreds and occasionally, thousands of years. Hat brims, crowns and ribbons, this brochure states, had their counterparts in a by-gone age.

Beret Popular in Sports

For instance, those prim sailor hats worn by children of the fastidious some-time back were once part of a Brittany peasant's costume. The decorative ribbons indicated his social and economic status—single or married; land owner or tenant. The beret now popular in sports, it seems, is an outgrowth of the liberty cap worn by a Roman slave when he gained his freedom. It made a reappearance in England during the reign of Henry VIII.

The snap brim and hat turned up on one side are no newer than the days of the cavaliers. Your cavalier was a swordsman. His wide hat brim flopped about his eyes when he'd counter, parry or thrust. So, hatters simply tacked it up on one side. The front and other side necessarily took a downward dip. College boys who some time back thought they were natty with a hat turned up in front will learn with surprise that subjects of Alexander the Great turned up the brims of their hats, just as they turned up the toes of their enemies.

And the good old silk topper! Caesar wore one—of fur—when he crossed the Alps. Phillip of Spain graced a rusty beaver when he came to England to marry Mary. It still hangs in the Escorial. Henry IV had what amounted to a mania for having himself painted while wearing a $75 beaver.

How about the bows on soft felt hats and derbies? They are all that is left of the gay plumage and buckles worn during the ascendancy of Oliver Cromwell and the reign of Good Queen Bess. Still further back, the Lycians, a Yankee Doodle. Whenever a Lycian "stepped out," he "stuck a feather in his cap."

Crusaders Wore "Tin Hats"

Even the "tin" hats worn by our boys "over there" were laboriously hammered out of metal by the crusaders. And so it goes. The best answer that we can make to our stylists is: "Don't get discouraged! Everything is new after the lapse of a century." Also, just remember that Mr. George M. Cohn was not cynical but merely thoughtful when he wrote the song, "There's really nothing new beneath the sun."

Insurance Tax Exempt Bill Passed By Legislature

A bill exempting life insurance monies made payable through an insurance trust has passed both the House and the Senate. The bill was introduced by Senator Joseph C. Wolber of Essex, at the instigation of the New Jersey State Bankers Association and has attracted wide popular interest.

Senator Wolber in one of the strongest speeches made this session in the Senate said, speaking for the bill, "No legislature pending today has attracted wider popular interest than this bill. It was occasioned by a decision of the Supreme Court to the effect that insurance monies though exempt from taxation if payable outright became subject to tax if surrounded with the provisions of an insurance trust. At the present time a man may make his insurance payable outright in a lump to his wife or child and this money will not be taxed. If, however, he creates a trust to conserve and safeguard this money, under the decision of Pagan vs. Bubbee it becomes subject to tax. The decision is nothing more nor less than an invitation for the creation of unprotected estates. The purpose of the legislation is to correct this situation and put life insurance money payable under a trust in the same class as life insurance money payable outright or under installment settlement options."

The bill passed the House of Assembly Monday, April 8th, and the Senate on Wednesday, April 17th. The only opposition was Senator Yates of Passaic.

FIRE MENACES 10 NEW HOMES

Police Mile Away Discover Blaze; Nearby Families Routed From Beds

A row of ten newly constructed two-family houses was threatened early Saturday on Park View avenue, in a two-alarm fire which was discovered by police officers a mile away. Sergeant Pearl and Patrolman Anderson were patrolling in the Silver Lake section of Belleville in a police car, when they saw a reflection in the sky. They drove to Park View avenue, where they found an almost completely constructed house at No. 35 ablaze from cellar to roof.

Awakens Families

They sent in an alarm and Sergeant Pearl awakened the families of Mrs. Lucy Abate and James Day at No. 42 more than 100 feet away on the opposite side of the street.

The wind was blowing the flames in that direction and the front of the house was scorched from the heat. With the arrival of Fire Chief Hirdes a second alarm was sent in summoning the entire Belleville department. The building at No. 35 was razed by the fire and firemen directed their attention to saving surrounding property. Another building under construction at No. 33 was badly damaged when the roof and north side ignited. No. 31 also caught fire, but was saved with little damage.

Return to Beds

Police and firemen ordered six families in adjoining property from their beds, but permitted them to return an hour later when the blaze was under control. Officials of the Belleville Sash and Door Company, who furnished considerable material for Nos. 33 and 35, said the property was owned by Samuel Kleinman of 154 St. George avenue, Linden, and that foreclosure proceedings were about to be instituted by the Manhattan Building and Loan Association of Newark.

Chief Hirdes, investigating said that painters had been working in the building at No. 35 up to 5 o'clock Friday afternoon and thought that a carelessly discarded lighted cigaret had caused the fire. He estimated the damage at $10,000.

Boy Scout Tree Planting Projects To Surpass Work Of Last Year Reforestation Again Promoted on National Scale By Boy Scouts Of America

The record of 1,000,000 trees planted by Boy Scouts last year in reforestation projects throughout the United States will be surpassed this year, according to advance reports already received at the National Offices in New York City. Working under the direction of the National Department of Camping, and under the direct supervision of local Scout Executives, the Boy Scouts are cooperating with the National Forestry Service in their efforts to make the year 1929 a record one in tree planting, and to educate all people in forest preservation.

Large Project

The largest single tree-planting project already reported was started on April 6, at Grays Harbor, Washington, when 100 Boy Scouts began the planting of 100,000 fir trees on a tract near the Olympic National Forest. The work was personally supervised by H. L. Plumb, state forest supervisor. The Chamber of Commerce of Gray Harbor aided the Scouts by furnishing transportation for the trees and planting implements.

As an aid in the reforestation of Pennsylvania, Boy Scouts of Scranton have purchased a 441-acre tract in Wayne County which they intend to use as a forest preserve. Many new trees will be set out in the next few years and the entire tract will be cleared of dead timber.

Supervised by E. J. Moore, assistant New Jersey State Forester, Boy Scouts of the South Bergen Council which includes the municipalities of Lyndhurst, Rutherford, North Arlington, East Rutherford, and Carlstadt, have planted 3,000 evergreen trees at their Oakland Boy Scout Camp. Plans for the reforestation of the entire camp site call for the planting of 3,000 trees each year for ten years.

More than 6,000 trees were planted by the Boy Scouts of the Navajo Mountain area near Altus, Oklahoma, this spring according to reports received from the State Forestry Department of that State.

Pecan Trees

Working with the Woman's Club Federation of Barnesville, Georgia, Boy Scouts set out 100 Pecan trees along the Atlanta-to-Macon Road of Remembrance. The work was supervised by B. C. Milner, Atlanta, assistant highway engineer.

As a good turn to the community in which they live, Boy Scouts of Staten Island, New York, have offered to bring evergreen trees from their camp grounds in Sullivan County, N. Y., and plant them around municipal buildings, churches and schoolhouses on the island. They intend planting new seedlings for every tree removed from their property.

Scouts in Worcester, Mass., Hacksack, N. J., and Springfield, Mass., have again started a campaign to rid their localities of tree pests.

SHIP LAUNCHING

Brooklyn Boy Scouts have been formally invited to attend the launching of the U. S. S. Pensacola on April 25th at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The official invitation came from T. J. Mahoney, chairman of the Executive Committee.

The "Pensacola" is one of the 10,000 ton cruisers authorized by Congress after the international conference for the limitation of armaments. It is expected that over 3,000 Scouts will be on hand to see the ship launched.

CLEAN TOWN CLOCK

The clock on the Town Hall in the town of Hempstead, Long Island, will be scrubbed by the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 33 as one of their Good Turns for the city. The Scouts have offered to donate soap, brushes, ladders, scaffold and labor to do the work.

SCOUT FIREMEN

Boy Scouts of Wantagh, New York have organized their own Fire Troop and have equipped a complete truck. They answer all fire alarms in their vicinity.

ENGINEERING COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS

The Newark Council is offering to Scouts in Newark, Belleville, and Irvington two Scholarships in the Newark College of Engineering. These Scholarships should be of interest to Scouts who wish to obtain an Engineering education in a College near home.

The Scholarships pay the entire cost of tuition for a four year Engineering course in Civil, Chemical, Electrical, or Mechanical Engineering, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in these branches of Engineering, and represent a money value of $520 each.

Good scouting and a high standard of conduct and character form the basis of the award of these scholarships. In addition the applicant must have had the equivalent of a four year High School course corresponding to fifteen High School credits. The Scholarships are intended to help Scouts who really have an aptitude and a desire for engineering, but who for financial reasons find it impossible to finance a College course.

The Council in conjunction with the College hopes to make possible an engineering education to Scouts who have shown some qualities of intellect and leadership.

All troop leaders should bring this opportunity to the attention of Scouts within this district. Application for these Scholarships and full particulars may be had at Scout Headquarters by addressing letters to W. W. Brundage.

Of particular interest at this time is a course in Aeronautics given as an option in the Mechanical Engineering course. This option is designed to give to students well grounded in the principles of Mechanical Engineering some knowledge and familiarity with the problems of airplane design and construction, and especially to teach the principles in the maintenance and operation of high-speed gas engines of the type used in airplanes.

To students interested in aviation from the engineering angle this course should prove interesting and valuable.

Pres. McCarter Tells Satisfactory Growth Of P. S. Corporation

President Thomas N. McCarter told the stockholders of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, at their annual meeting in Newark recently that the business of the corporation during 1928 had been highly successful and showed a very satisfactory growth. The electric and gas departments were in a high state of efficiency. The transportation department still faced many problems, but improvement had been shown and the management was hopeful that the problems could be worked out. "Every indication points to a continuation of increasing business during the coming year," he said.

David Baird, Jr., of Camden; William C. Heppenheimer, of Jersey City; William Scheerer, of Newark; Landon K. Thorne, of New York and Edmund W. Wakelee, of Demarest, were re-elected to the Board of Directors, each for a term of three years.

Run-away Machine Topples Light Stand

When the brakes on an automobile owned by Dr. B. A. Jacobson of 511 Washington avenue released of their own volition or were released by someone one day last week, the car proceeded in a methodical manner from in front of his office to Little street and Washington avenue, where it neatly clipped off one of Belleville's new traffic light stanchions.

How it dodged the traffic on the avenue is a mystery to many, but, it did. And, as if by design, laid low the stanchion.

ELECTRICITY

ELECTRIC SERVICE =

Comfort +
Convenience

SERVANTS and SERVICE

HOUSEWIVES say that it is constantly getting harder to secure domestic servants, but that at the same time it is getting easier and easier to secure domestic SERVICE. The rapidly growing use of electricity in the home is one big reason.

Nothing will serve you more efficiently and more faithfully than electricity,—

Nothing can relieve you of many household labors;

Nothing can contribute more to your comfort and convenience;

When you make full use of electric service, most of the duties that the well trained domestic servant performs for you, are accomplished practically automatically, whether they be connected with the kitchen, the dining room, the laundry, the living room, or any other part of your home.

The present day electrically served home is the most livable, the most comfortable and the most convenient that the world has ever known. Consult us as to the best way to electrify yours.

Boys' Week Plans Are Formulated

Interest will be centered on the BOY, when National Boys' Week, April 27 to May 4, will be observed in hundreds of cities throughout the country. Newark is doing her share in arousing interest in the problems that face our youth to-day, and the local committee under the chairmanship of J. J. Sparr, 2nd, has been preparing to make this week memorable to the boys of Newark and vicinity. The whole purpose of the movement is designated not only to interest everyone in the boys, but to interest the boy himself. Special emphasis will be placed on developing the fundamentals in character building and citizenship.

Many features designed to interest the boys have been planned for the week, among which will be Boys' Day in Religion, when special services will be held in Churches and Synagogues, emphasizing the manliness of the religious life and a challenge to service that will interest almost any boy.

Boys' Day in Industry will be another "big day" when over a thousand youngsters will visit the large industrial plants, and study their operation. Private buses of the Public Service and transport lines, have been placed at the disposal of the committee to transport the boys to and from the various factories.

Outstanding among the week's activities, is Boys' Day in Citizenship when the boy "Mayor" and his fellow commissioners will take over the government of the City, under supervision of the regular commissioners. They will spend the day in City Hall, observing how Newark's official business is conducted. The five Newark high schools and St. Benedict's Preparatory will hold elections to determine who will act as Mayor on that day.

Boys' Day in Character and the Home, will bring the week to a close with a mass meeting at Wallace Hall, where prominent speakers will address the boys, and the whole procedure broadcast over WOR.

The Civic Clubs Council is attending to all the details of the celebration. The following organizations are participating: Exchange, Kiwanis, Optimists, Rotary, Reciprocity, Traffic, and A. B. C.

Assisting Mr. Sparr on the various committees are: Boys' Week Executive, Charles A. Gammons; Boys' Day in Religion, Charles Lee Reynolds, chairman, Horace C. Grice, Milo S. Borden, S. Palmer Scott, Diran A. Kurk, Max E. Stern, Rev. Harry Hadley and William A. Weston. Boys' Day in Industry, Robert O. Six-Point Control Stops Disease

Few gardeners realize the cause of diseased or scabby gladioli corms. The five diseases to which gladioli corms are commonly subject are hard rot, dry rot, fusarium rot, penicillium rot, and scab. With the exception of scab, which is a bacterial disease, all are caused by parasitic fungi.

These diseases are carried from year to year on corms and cormels that were infected the previous season, in soil that has grown a diseased crop of gladioli, and in diseased tops and corms that were left on the ground. In the control of these diseases there are six fundamental principles which must be observed.

First, do not allow old tops and other refuse to remain in the field. Such refuse should be gathered in the fall and burned just as soon as possible. This practice prevents soil contamination.

Second, properly cure the corms before storage by drying thoroughly and removing as much soil as possible.

Third, store in a cool and dry place that has a temperature range of between 35 and 40 degrees Fahrenheit.

Fourth, sort bulbs in fall and again in the spring, before planting. Discard all heavily infected corms, as they are sources of soil contamination.

Fifth, treat all corms and cormels with a corrosive sublimate solution made up of one half ounce corrosive sublimate to 15 quarts of water and to which has been added 15 liquid ounces of commercial concentrated hydrochloric acid. Soak the corms for seven hours in this solution, which is poisonous, and can be used only in wooden containers because of its corrosive action on metals. The corms may be planted immediately after treating, or they may be dried and planted later. Germination will be delayed slightly but no serious harm will result. Chemicals for this treatment may be bought at any drug store.

Sixth, plant in new soil, if possible. Where the foregoing recommendations are followed a distinct improvement will be noted the first year, after which it should be possible to harvest a clean crop of corms and cormels each year.

Clean-Up In Rose Garden Stops Disease

A strict and energetic clean-up campaign now helps in obtaining an abundant bloom of roses later in the season.

The beds should be thoroughly cleaned of litter and old leaves that were left there last fall. Fungous diseases of the rose live over winter in the material, from which infection comes in the spring.

Removal of winter protective material from the rose bushes may reveal that they have been injured. In some cases canes may be dead almost to the ground. Such injury may be due to disease, or to lack of sufficient protection during winter. This should not discourage the gardener, however, because roses should be pruned heavily in the spring. In most cases, the home gardener does not prune enough.

Each cane should be cut back two or three buds. This eliminates a large percentage of the disease which may be on the cane, insures vigorous growth, and a compact, busy productive plant. Old canes should be destroyed by burning to destroy any infectious material.

A free copy of the Rutgers Bulletin "Roses in The Garden" can be secured by writing R. E. Harman, Agricultural Agent, Caldwell, N. J.

Medicine Chest Need Of Gardeners

A medicine chest is a necessary part of the home gardener's equipment. Such a chest, with its stock of insecticides and fungicides, prepares the gardener for the inevitable battle with insects and diseases, which must be controlled of vegetables and flowers of high quality are to be grown.

Ten dollars will cover the cost of the materials recommended for the gardener's medicine chest. They include 5 pounds of powdered arsenate of lead; 1 pound of 40 per cent nicotine sulfate; 5 pounds of hydrated lime; 5 pounds of commercial Bordeaux mixture containing arsenate of lead.

Where chewing insects are to be controlled, one-half ounce of arsenate of lead and 2 ounces of hydrated lime, mixed in one gallon of water, will usually give satisfactory results.

A solution made up of two teaspoonfuls of 40 per cent nicotine sulfate and one ounce of dissolved soap to one gallon of water is an effective control for sucking insects such as plant lice and leaf hoppers.

For the control of blights, spots and other leaf diseases of vegetables, use Bordeaux mixture at the concentration recommended by the manufacturer. A desirable mixture for dusting roses consists of 9 pounds of dusting sulphur and 1 pound of arsenate of lead.

The important step in all control work is to apply material thoroughly before insects or disease have become firmly established. Subsequent applications should be made at one-day intervals in order to afford adequate protection to the plant.

Community Nursing Seen Nutley's Need

The need of a community nursing service to cooperate with the Nutley Social Service Bureau was stressed by Rev. Harold W. Schenck of New York, former pastor of Franklin Reformed Church, at the annual meeting of the bureau, held at Nutley Field Club Friday night. He said such a service would greatly aid in cases uncovered by the bureau. He commended the work of the bureau, declaring it "undeniably and irrevocably Christian, and not influenced by sects."

Officers were reelected with the exception of the treasurer, Perley A. Prior, who was replaced by William J. Miller, cashier of the First National Bank of Nutley. Mr. Prior's activities prevented his serving again. The other officers are: President, Emil Diebitsch; vice president, Miss Susan B. Lockhart; secretary, Mrs. William J. Vail. Miss Eloise R. Griffith was reappointed executive secretary and Miss Florence McGowan her assistant.

Mr. Prior reported receipts of $6,306.52 and disbursements of $5,483.46. The statistical report shows 165 cases cared for during the year.

ASSESSMENT COMMISSION REPORT ACCEPTED REGARDS BROOKLINE AVE. SEWER

Protest of property owners on Brookline avenue and adjacent streets in Nutley against benefit assessments for the new storm sewer were unavailing Tuesday night when the Town Commission approved the report of the assessment committee. Former Town Attorney William F. Hurley represented a large body of property owners and urged the commission to apply the cost of the sewer to the town at large, contending the improvement was a benefit to the whole community rather than a localized one.

The commission passed an ordinance revising the setback limit for future apartment house developments. The measure was designed to protect residential zones.

Mayor Ernest P. Cook reported that he had investigated complaints of smoke nuisance at a large hat factory near the Washington School and had ordered the owners to comply with regulations of the smoke abatement ordinance.

"Our Foreign Loans and Investments Abroad" was the discussion by Mr. Rife. The general subject was "Financing The New Era In Business." The chairman was Dean A. Wellington Taylor. Pay Boosts For School Teachers

High School Principal Gets $250 Increase To $5,000.

The new salary schedule for teachers in the Nutley schools reported Monday afternoon by Mrs. Joseph D. Little, head of the teachers' committee of the Board of Education, showed several increases.

The maximum in the junior school was raised from $2,500 to $2,600, and in the high school from $3,000 to $3,100.

The head of the manual training shops in the high school will receive a maximum of $2,900. The maximum of the teacher of physical training in the high school was increased to $2,600; teacher of sewing in the high school, the same increase, assistant principal of high school, an increase of $100, to $3,400, and principal of the high school, $250, to the maximum of $5,000.

In announcing the signing of contracts for next year Mrs. Little stressed the point that those living in town or graduates of the town High School receive first consideration, following sufficient experience elsewhere. Of those thus far engaged three are from Nutley—Edward Assmus, teacher of mathematics in the High School; Elizabeth O'Neill, second grade, Washington School, and Edna Lentini, penmanship and spelling in the Junior School.

Change in Courses
Supervising Principal Radcliffe announced several proposed changes in the mathematics, English, science and history courses in the Junior School. Beginning with the seventh grade, it is planned to organize the mathematics courses in a single unit of six years (seventh to twelfth grade), on two bases—(a) the subject matter needed by those who will enter college, and (b) subject matter needed by those who have no particular interest in formal mathematics.

Enrollment figures for March indicated an increase of 207 over the same month last year.

Following a short discussion as to the propriety of the Board of Education in entering into a zoning question near the Washington School, Walter F. Rheinheimer, head of the buildings and grounds committee was authorized to make an investigation and if action is necessary to call a special meeting. Mrs. G. F. Gottfried introduced the matter by asking if the board should not make an attempt to prevent the rezoning of the land near Park avenue and Walnut street, to allow the installation of pockets for the storing of stone and gravel.

Town considers Zoning
Mrs. Gottfried said that the Town Zoning Adjustment Board is now considering the matter. The petitioner, Felice Jannarone, was turned down about two years ago, when a request was made for a permit to erect a coal pocket there. At that time the board objected, because of the hazard to the school children.

Mr. Rheinheimer said Monday that the new location desired is considerably removed from the one first proposed by Jannarone and suggested that the board adopt a policy of "hands off" until the matter comes "closer" to the school property.

President Richard W. Booth thought that the best policy, but insisted that the board will certainly continue its objection if there be any encroachment, or if the concern desires to use Park avenue as the outlet of the yard.

Commissioner William L. Dill of the motor vehicle department was one of the speakers Monday night at the annual meeting and dinner of the All-Nutley Bowling League in St. Paul's parish house.

County To Make New Survey Of Nutley Traffic

Chamber Of Commerce Re- news Plea Already Turned Down

At the request of Nutley's Chamber of Commerce, the county will again make a study of the need of electric traffic signals on Center street and Franklin avenue.

The Chamber's letter, asking for the lights on the ground that traffic conditions warranted their installation, was read at the meeting of the freeholder's road committee Monday. It was referred to Chairman Crane, County Engineer Stickle and Traffic Engineer Simpson for a survey.

County Engineer Stickle explained that at the last meeting of the committee Mr. Simpson's report on Center street traffic was read and approved. The report declared electric signals were not needed at the intersection of Union avenue and of Passaic avenue.

Mr. Simpson's decision aroused considerable comment in Nutley, and the Chamber of Commerce immediately took action to demand the lights. The traffic engineer's report did not include Franklin avenue, because no request by the town had been received at that time.

Plans Arranged For Eighth Poppy Sale

Kansas City, Kansas, April 25—First among veteran organizations to conduct a nation-wide poppy sale and the first organization to conceive the idea of having poppies made exclusively by disabled veterans, plans are practically completed for the eighth annual distribution of "buddy poppies" during the week prior to Memorial Day, May 30, 1929, by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

"The Flanders poppy first came into prominence as a symbol of sacrifice through its association with the men who served overseas in the World War. The movement to make the poppy America's memorial flower was sponsored by the veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States in 1922," declares R. B. Handy, Jr., chairman of the national buddy poppy committee in a statement released from headquarters here.

"Prior to that time artificial poppies made in France had been brought to this country and sold but the proceeds were used for the welfare of French orphans. In 1922 the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States adopted the slogan, 'Honor the Dead by Helping the Living,' and conducted the first national poppy sale as a source of relief funds in connection with our rehabilitation program for disabled men and their families."

"In 1923 we decided that all poppies sold by the V. F. W. would henceforth be the handwork of disabled veterans, who would thus be provided with employment and a chance to help themselves. In line with this plan we established a 'Buddy Poppy Factory,' the first of its kind, at Pittsburgh, Pa., manned throughout by men who were maimed or disabled as a result of their service."

"The idea proved so practical it met with the instant approval of General Frank T. Hines, director of the U. S. Veterans Bureau and the work was extended to the various government hospitals throughout the country. Hospital authorities immediately recognized the benefits derived by the men, especially those receiving occupational therapy treatment for nervous and mental diseases."

"Since 1922," Handy's statement continues, "the president of the United States has given his endorsement of the poppy sale conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, voicing his approval of V. F. W. poppy program as a distinct patriotic service in the care and welfare of the disabled and their dependents."

BOY DIES AFIRE AS BLAST RIPS NUTLEY PLANT

Youngster Killed When He Throws Match Into Chemical Drum.

Funeral services for William Sullivan, 8, of 482 River road, Nutley, who was burned to death Saturday afternoon following an explosion in a steel drum at the plant of the Hermit Chemical Manufacturing Company, also of 482 River road, were held at the home Tuesday afternoon. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Totowa. The boy's father, William Sullivan, Sr., is employed by the company as an engineer and lives on the premises.

Saturday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan went to Newark to do some shopping and left their four children—William, 8, Frank, 5, Michael, 4, and Anna May, in the care of Charles Walters, an employee of the plant. The children were playing in an old barn used for the storage of empty chemical drums when, William, according to the other children, playfully dropped a lighted match through the bung hole of a drum which had not been thoroughly drained.

A powerful explosion, followed, tearing the head out of the drum and lifting it and the boy, who was bending over it, to the roof of the building. After striking the ceiling with a force that might have killed him, the boy dropped back into the blazing drum and his body was burned.

Walters was not in the immediate vicinity at the time of the explosion. William's brother and sister escaped injury and ran to the street, crying and calling for help.

Patrolman Valentine Wilks who heard the blast, ran to the old barn and dumped the charred body of the boy out of the still blazing drum. He then summoned an ambulance, which arrived with police Captain John Jameson and Fire Captain Frank Zimmerman, but it was too late to do anything for the boy. His body was taken to Kuntz' morgue, in Orange.

AMERICAN LEGION BASEBALL

The News through its editorial columns extends congratulations to the Belleville American Legion for the spirit of civic consciousness and pride it has exhibited in forming the Twilight Baseball League. Our town will profit greatly from this addition to our community activities. Belleville has long been in need of a properly supervised and organized baseball league. It appears to us that this venture of the local Legion Post will be a great success; already the Board of Education and the Recreation Commission by their help and cooperation with the Legion have shown a spirit which is commendable and which insures the success of the League. There is a great deal of confidence on our part that the good people of the town will do much to aid this work in every way. It is necessary for us to supply town wide support to make this movement, the aim of which is to develop clean athletics, sportsmanship and healthy competition, an integral part of the civic life of the municipality. The makeup of the teams in the league is ample assurance that some interesting games will be served on Clearman Field, on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings during the summer months. The Legion is asking the assistance and cooperation of old ball players and fans to act as coaches and league officials shows that it will welcome aid from all channels. All who are fitted to help should make known their qualifications to the officials of the league. There is no doubt that this project will be of inestimable value in promoting a fraternal and friendly feeling amongst the sports lovers of the town. The good old national game is coming in to its own in Belleville, and we should take part in the parade and view the game this Saturday afternoon which will mark the opening of the league. The News wishes the Legion and all the teams the best of success in their undertaking, and may the best team win the pennant and be crowned "Town Champs."

THE NEWSPAPER CODE

A newspaper, to deserve and retain the confidence of its readers, must be something more than a business enterprise. Unless a newspaper is wholeheartedly committed to unselfish service to the public it is of little value to the community.

All newspapers make mistakes. But errors of judgement can be forgiven. A position on a public matter, mistaken though it may prove to be, is excusable if it arose from a sincere belief that the position taken was an honest one. Much may be pardoned in a free and independent press.

The public has no other means of gaining information on important public matters than through the newspapers. The voter usually makes up his mind on matters requiring his judgement at the polls from what he reads in the press. He relies on his newspaper for information regarding the manner in which his chosen representatives have represented his community or his State.

He has a right to expect that a newspaper shall not allow its material interests to dictate its course on public questions nor serve the cause of interests seeking special privileges from the representatives of the people.

At the same time a newspaper is bound to deal fairly with great corporations engaged in public service. They have every right of publicity for their side of any public controversy in which they are engaged. It would be doing no service to the public to deny these interests full representation in the press. The citizen needs such information to arrive at any reasoned conclusion.

But beyond this no free newspaper can go.

The moment great corporate interests receive special consideration in editorial columns because they are able to demand it, then the interest is betrayed.

Newspapers are subject to many temptations, particularly in this era of money making. It is remarkable that so many remain unsullied by any financial connection which might impair the honesty of their views on public questions. Great fortunes are rare in the newspaper business as compared with some other lines of mercantile activity though it is quite true that there are many successful newspapers in the country.

The great danger to American institutions is that the source of the public's information on public matters may pass from an independent, uncontrolled press to one over which selfish interests have obtained complete power.

The one safeguard of the public rights rests with the free and independent newspaper men who are keepers of their own souls and who can honestly say that they know no other master than the great public they serve.

Berlin is the cleanest large city in the world. All things that tend to disturb this perfection are forbidden. One is not allowed to throw things upon the sidewalk, not even in the sacred precincts of one's own property to have disorder or litter of any kind whatsoever. The result is cleanliness and comfort and order.

American tourists have trouble entering Italian cathedrals when wearing shortsleeved dresses. Consistent with this the Archbishop of Pisa has just noticed some nude figures on the great fresco of his cathedral, and has ordered that they should be draped. Most American ladies now visiting old Italian churches wear high neck dresses and long sleeves.

Americans can sigh with relief for it is reported that the growing tourist traffic has given a powerful impetus to language study in all parts of Europe, with English taking first place. Hotel men, waiters, policemen, and even railroad employees are receiving intensive instruction.

Automobile dealers and manufacturers in Germany have established a "board of estimate" whose task is to establish the value of used automobiles offered for sale. This helps tourists in Germany who buy cars abroad and wish to get rid of them at the end of their trip. They can be satisfied that no one has taken advantage of their position.

Good King Wenceslas recently lived, and just a thousand years ago. In the old Christmas carol we commemorate his kindness. In a bronze equestrian statue the citizens of Prague commemorate his statesmanship, which brought a bloodless peace and independence out of defeat and thralldom to the country which is now Czechoslovakia.

Radio fans in America cannot enjoy as do the Europeans the carillon concerts of the great music towers of Holland and Belgium, but tourists in England and on the continent who now "listen in" enjoy "the famous bells of Malines" in Belgium, as they are relayed through Brussels to thousands of places.

At a famous golf club in Wales the sixth hole is "blind." You must not play, naturally, until the couple in front of you are off the green. So the Committee has thoughtfully provided a mommouth periscope attached to the sign of the greenkeeper's shed. You can see them putting out—a good idea.

Americans always enjoy exploring the feudal castles of the Old World. "Oh! Then I'll go along and show you where it is."

Uncle Eli Podger paused in front of a restaurant window and read this sign: "Chicken pie today—40 cents." He licked his lips as his thoughts turned to the wonderful chicken pie that Aunt Jerusha made for him back home in "Ioway." When he could resist the temptation no longer he hurried into the restaurant and seated himself like a little boy preparing to make way with his Thanksgiving dinner.

When at last the chicken pie was brought Uncle Eli raised the crust and sat looking at the nether contents intently for a while. Then he called the waiter. "Look here," he said. "What did I order?"

"Chicken pie, sir."
"And what have you brought me?"
"Chicken pie, sir."
"Chicken pie! Why, there's not a piece of chicken in it, and never was."

"That's right, sir. There ain't no chicken in it."
"The why do you call it chicken pie? I never heard of such a thing."
"That's all right. There don't have to be chicken in a chicken pie. There ain't no cottage in a cottage puddin' as I know of. Chicken pie—that's just the name of it."

Mrs. Oshkosh was on her deathbed. Calling her husband to her she said: "There's only one thing I want you to promise me before I die."
"And what's that, my dear?"
"I want you to travel in the same coach with my mother."
"Well, I'll do it to oblige you, but you've sure spoiled the day for me."

"Poor ole Bill. 'E's so shortsighted 'e's working 'imself to death."
"Wot's 'is short sight got to do with it?"
"Well, 'e can't see when the boss ain't looking, so 'e 'as to keep on shoveling all the time!"

A man sent a small boy to deliver a note to a young woman who lived a few streets away. He gave the boy a nickel so that he could hurry. After a short time the messenger came back, and returning the money, said:
"Miss Jones says she will be glad to see you tonight, but she didn't want the nickel!"

How to Play BRIDGE

ARTICLE No. 15

In the preceding article a number of interesting hands, submitted by correspondents, were given and opinions asked as to the proper bids and play. Here are the solutions:

Answer to Problem No. 20

Hearts—A, K, 8	Clubs—A, K, 8, 6, 4, 2	Diamonds—none	Spades—K, 8, 7, 4
Hearts—7, 6, 2	Clubs—J, 3	Diamonds—A, K, Q, J, 10	Spades—10, 6, 5
Hearts—10, 9, 5	Clubs—Q, 7, 5	Diamonds—5, 4, 2	Spades—Q, J, 3, 2

Hearts—Q, J, 4, 3	Clubs—10, 9	Diamonds—9, 8, 7, 6, 3	Spades—A, 9
-------------------	-------------	------------------------	-------------

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A passed and Y bid one club. If B passed, what should Z bid with the foregoing hand?

Z should bid one heart. If he does, A will bid two diamonds, Y will bid two hearts and all will pass. A will open the king of diamonds, which Y will trump with the eight of hearts. Y's best play is to lead the ace king and deuce of clubs, trumping the third round of clubs in Z's hand with the jack of hearts, thus shutting out A. Z should now lead two rounds of hearts, winning both in Y's hand. Y should then place Z in the lead with the ace of spades so that he may lead his queen of hearts, thus taking out all of the trumps. Z should now lead the nine of spades, winning the trick in Y's hand with the king of spades. Y's three club tricks are now good; thus Y Z lose only one spade trick. This surprising hand is a most interesting one, both in the bidding and the play, so note it carefully.

Answer to Problem No. 22

Hearts—K, Q	Clubs—A, K, 10, 7, 5, 4	Diamonds—K, J, 6	Spades—A, 7
-------------	-------------------------	------------------	-------------

Hearts—9, 8, 5, 2	Clubs—9, 6	Diamonds—10	Spades—K, Q, 9, 8, 6, 5
-------------------	------------	-------------	-------------------------

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A passed, Y bid one no trump, B bid two hearts, Z bid two spades and A passed. Y bid two no trump, B bid three diamonds, Z bid three spades and all passed. A opened a low heart which B won with the ace. B returned a low heart, and all followed suit. How should Z play the hand from there on?

Y's hand is in the lead. Z knows that B has both the ace queen of diamonds and the top hearts. Therefore, he should so plan the play that he can set up a diamond trick, if possible, and thus obtain one heart discard. The other losing heart he must trump in Y's hand.

At trick three, therefore, Y should lead the six of diamonds, which B must win with the queen, all following suit. B's best lead is a spade, which Y should win with the ace as A will play either the ten or jack. Y should now lead the ace of diamonds and B must play the jack. Z should trump this and lead a heart. A has no heart, so he can either overtrump Y's seven of spades or discard. In no way can A win more than one spade trick. When Y's hand obtains the lead, Y should lead the king of diamonds which is now good and discard Z's last heart.

Played in this way, Y Z should only lose one heart, one diamond and one spade trick at the most. It is a pretty hand, and should be played out for practice. To do this properly, give B five hearts to the ace, five diamonds to the ace queen and then distribute the remaining cards in different ways.

No score, rubber game. If Z dealt, bid one no trump and A passed, what should Y bid with the foregoing hand? Y should bid two clubs. The hand is too unbalanced to justify its play as a no trump; yet it is strong enough to offer a chance for game at clubs. If the partner should bid two no trump, Y should bid three clubs. If partner then bids three no trump, Y should pass. If partner should bid two hearts over Y's two club bid, Y should bid two no trump. If partner should bid two diamonds or two spades, Y should pass.

Don't hesitate to take out your partner's no trump bid when you have a singleton or a void suit, whether your long suit is a minor or a major. The usual distributions that warrant a take-out are 4-4-4-1; 5-4-3-1; 6-4-2-1; 5-5-2-1; 5-4-4-0; 7-3-2-1; 7-3-3-0, or any longer suit. Such take-outs are the so-called distribution take-outs and are being followed pretty generally.

If your partner knows that you take out with a singleton or void suit, he usually can figure out the missing suit and then, if he thinks the no trump bid offers a better chance for game, he

HOLDS PUBLIC SERVICE RECORD FOR YEARS OF EMPLOYMENT

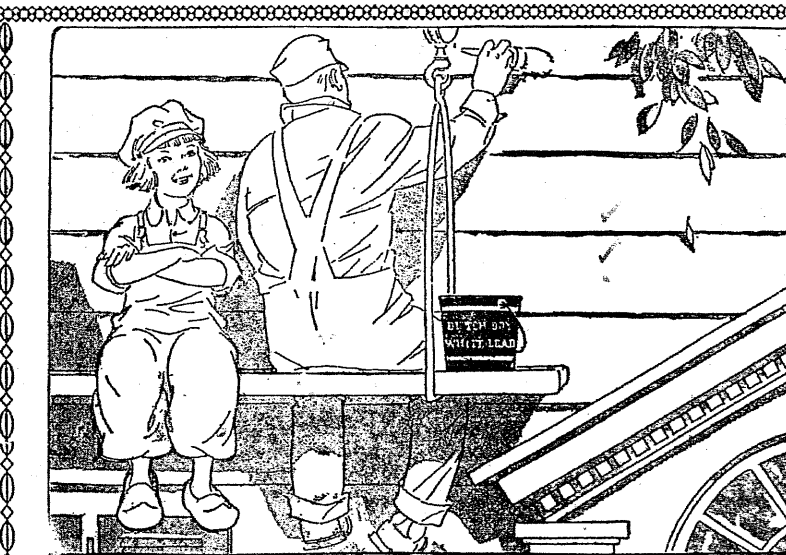

LOUIS STRAUB

Four years more than half a century in the employ of Public Service and predecessor companies is a record Louis Straub, of 1 Shippen Street, Weehawken, points to with pride. He is the oldest man in point of service with Public Service. A remarkable feature of his record is the fact that this was his first job and he never worked anywhere else but at Union City Carhouse.

Mr. Straub started in the transportation business in 1875 as a towboy for the North Hudson County Railway Company. Later, he drove a horse-car, and when the trolley cars succeeded the horse-drawn carriers he became a motorman. In recent years he has been janitor at Union City Carhouse.

The Art of Painting

EVEN the small boy, who touches up his express wagon with a little red color, paints—that is, performs the act of painting.

The art of painting is another thing. It involves a thorough knowledge of materials and methods—an understanding of surfaces, paint mixing and paint applying.

We have this knowledge—mix our paint specially for each job so that it perfectly meets all conditions. Only the best materials are used, such as Dutch Boy white-lead.

Long-lasting, good-looking paint work is the rule with us. May we submit an estimate?

Doings in the Field of Sports

St. Peter's Club Out Strong In League

With the warm days of spring to be followed by the summer nights in our midst which, thanks to daylight saving to become effective Saturday evening, will prolong the evening activities for thousands of athletes. St. Peter's Dramatic Club feel that their efforts to produce Musical Comedies, Minstrels, etc., with the combination just mentioned above would not be productive from a social point of view and feeling that the interest of this organization should not be entirely neglected during the summer season the organization felt they had sufficient material in their ranks to represent this club before the public eye during these periods.

About the same time that this proposition was being given serious thought the American Legion members were also sponsoring the idea of a Twilight League in the Town, which would not alone create an interest as well as a form of entertainment for the town at large, but at the same time would also be the means of backing up the ambitions of the athletes mingling in the national pastime with a view of further development possibly to greater heights. With this thought in mind the Dramatic Club delegated a representation to the initial meeting of the American Legion meeting at which definite plans were formulated for the organization of this league which since that time has become a reality.

The Dramatic Club feeling that they must place on the ball field a formidable aggregation issued a notice to the effect that the organization would back a baseball team. As a result, eighteen to twenty candidates have signified their willingness to be among the fortunate ones to be selected and on Wednesday evening a final decision will be rendered by John Flynn who has been delegated by the American Legion to act in the capacity of Coach with the assistance of "Biddy" Carragher.

In the catching department Hugh Welsh, Teddy Marshall and Wengel will offer themselves for inspection. Each realizes the burden of this important cog for the reason of the Dramatic Club having corralled "Rat" Flynn and Joey Curran to do the grunt of the pitching with Pat Hanson. The pitching department is one of the strongest not alone in the league but also in the Dramatic Club's personnel. The first base decision will also be a tangled affair in that there are no less than four candidates out for it—Ashworth, Leonard, Herkness and Gorham. On second and Joey Comesky and Johnson will fight it out. At short will be Mackey Lamb who does not seem to have any opposition. At third another nifty battle will be waged with Marry Mallack, Joe Howley and Irving Browning, catching, whirling, running, sliding and what not in their anxiety to beat each other over the victory line. In the outfield several candidates will be chasing all over the outfield to test their speed, throwing ability and their science of catching the sphere in their determination to be one of the three to represent the defense.

Joseph Lister, an old favorite with fans of a few years back will manage the team and it is more than likely that Jimmie Kinnear will be selected to run the team on the field as Captain. The Dramatic Club are leaving no stones unturned in their efforts to be in the finest of condition both on the offense and defense.

Maroon And Gray Trounces E. Orange

Forgetting all that happened in Saturday's game with St. Benedict's, the Maroon and Gray of Nutley went ahead and soundly trounced East Orange H. S. 10-3, Tuesday afternoon at the Orange Playground. The pitching of Ed Fenrich was the big feature of the game. The Nutley youngster allowed but three hits in nine innings.

Nutley batsmen found the pitching of Emerson just to their liking and had the speed ball artist of East Orange off the mound before the end of the fifth. McGeary who followed him on the mound fared no better and he soon gave way to Deacon who managed to end the game.

Home runs were in fashion Tuesday and no less than five homers were clouted in the game. Nutley hit three, Wallace hit one in the first inning and Jacques did the same in the sixth with no one on. It was left to "Pint" Sentner to clout one over the left field wall in the eighth with two mates aboard the sacks. Cummings, snappy East Orange second baseman collected two for his team.

The playing of the Nutley infield deserves a great deal of credit, for besides seven strikeouts and one ball hit to the outfield it was left to the Nutley infield to retire the East Orange team, this was also done without any errors. Nutley faces Lincoln High of Jersey City at the Park Oval Saturday.

BELLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL WINS FROM WOODROW WILSON TEAM

Blue and Gold Batters Come Out Ahead In Game Played in Weather Suitable For Football

Woodrow Wilson High School of Weehawken was decisively beaten by Belleville High baseball team, 10-3, at Clearman Field, Saturday.

Belleville went into the lead in the beginning and was never headed. Despite the poor baseball weather the localities displayed a strong defensive game with Domenick, Lamb and Byrnes, the individual stars. The team as a whole displayed real promise and ability. The game, which was played for the most part in the rain, was a good one.

Belleville started off, getting two runs in the first inning. Byrnes led off with a clean single. "Mac" Lamb followed with a two-base hit against the left field fence, scoring Byrnes. Bloemeke walked and on a double steal Bloemeke reached second and Lamb scored. In the first half of the third inning Weehawken scored their first run. O'Neill walked, stole second and scored on a single by Saffro.

In their half Belleville proceeded to sixth when Weehawken gave the left field fence a run. Byrnes, Lamb and Bloemeke walked in succession. J. Bonavita then got a safe hit scoring two runs. Domenick flied out and then three more hits including a double by N. Bonavita accounted for four more tallies.

There was no more scoring till the sixth when Weehawken gave the Bell boys a scare by knocking Bonavita off the hill. After they had scored two runs on four straight hits and a pass Casale was sent to the mound by Coach McBride. He proceeded to hold the visitors scoreless for the remainder of the game.

In their half of the sixth inning, Belleville accounted for two more runs on hits by Byrnes and Bonavita making a total of ten for the day. Casale's relief hurling and Byrnes' and Maniscalco's work with the stick stood out for Belleville. Baycick and Hammer played best for Weehawken.

St. Benedict's Prep Pastes Nutley High

Coach Blood and the wearers of the St. Benedict Prep colors came over to Nutley Saturday afternoon and handed the Maroon and Gray an 18-3 pastin.

Hitting the offerings of Baykowski all over the lot the Newark boys had little trouble in winning the game. Kellar the third pitcher to go into the box for St. Benedict was a real star, showing unusual ability in controlling a wet ball and at the same time having a deceiving hook which he also controlled. St. Benedict started their scoring in the second inning combining three hits with a couple of errors for two runs and followed with six runs in the next inning on some more hits and errors. Nutley's only three runs came in the second inning, on a couple of walks and three hits.

"Bart" MacDonald playing with Benedict for the last four years was the batting star of the day collecting five hits out of six official times at bat. Jacques, and "Jim" Sentner collected two hits apiece for Nutley.

Nutley Beats Blair In Low Hitting Game

Nutley High's baseball prancers traveled to Blairstown Wednesday where they downed the Academy boys of that town, 2-1. The game was featured by the pitching of Captain Ray Gibney, Nutley's twirler, and Martins and Keegan who pitched for the prep school. The combined hits of both teams amounted to five. Nutley gathering three of the wallops. The fact that the game was played in extremely cold weather, and a steady drizzle to annoy the batters may slightly account for the poor stickwork of the teams.

Blair was first to score. The prep boys combined their only two hits of the game in the fifth inning with a walk to score their only marker.

The Maroon and Gray came right back to couple two hits with Martin's wildness to score their two runs. Jacques started off by singling through the pitcher's box. Stager followed with a safety to left field and Crawford walked. Gibney was called on strikes. Baykowski hit a grounder to the short stop. Jacques scoring, the short stop throwing late to the plate. Jones was then walked forcing in Stager to give Nutley its winning tally. Two fast double plays by the High School boys also stood out in the game.
