Board Investigates Entering Of Schools

Public School No. 4 Has Been Entered Second Time.

Public School No. 4 has been entered for the second time in the past month. Several boys are under suspicion and they will be summoned and held for questioning. A week or so ago, a boy, whose name is known, was detected twice trying to enter School No. 2. He was frightened away both times, it was reported Monday at the School Board meeting.

The question of furnishing the teachers' room in School No. 8 was brought up by Mrs. J. K. Stickle, who estimated that the cost would be approximately $300. There are, at the present time seventeen teachers in this school, but eventually, when the building is entirely used, there will be twenty-five. The matter was referred to the Buildings and Grounds Committee for report.

Mrs. Stickle recommended that the board see that the temperature of the classrooms be maintained at sixty-eight degrees throughout the year. In the past the question of starting fires in the buildings in damp, chilly weather has been left to the discretion of the principals. Superintendent G. R. Gerard suggested that he address a letter to the principals, calling their attention to this matter and asking them to see that fires are made on especially chilly days. A motion was passed that it is the sense of the board that the temperature of all classrooms be maintained between sixty-eight and seventy degrees at all times.

The Schick tests will be completed in the schools this week.

Bids will be received by the board for materials to be used during the coming school year. Lists of the approximate quantities of articles will be sent to reputable concerns handling these supplies.

INJURED MAN HELD IN FIRE

Newark Burned As Gas Explodes In Vacant House He Owns

A gasoline explosion early Wednesday in a vacant house at 23 Clinton street, resulted in the owner, Placido Tobasso, 25, of 84 Wintrop street, Newark, who was found suffering from burns, being held by the police for questioning.

Tobasso approached Policeman Higgins of the Eighth precinct at Mt. Prospect and Elwood avenues Wednesday morning and asked for medical assistance. He was badly burned about the face and hands. The policeman sent him to City Hospital, where he was treated by Dr. Jolodin and discharged in custody of Detectives Forsythe and Shine.

Tobasso told the detectives he went to his house 2 Wednesday morning "to see if everything was all right." He carried a lighted candle into the basement and the explosion occurred fumes from a five gallon can of gasoline having been ignited. He said he walked to the point in Newark where he met the policeman. It was said the house is insured for $7,000.

Stolen Car Is Struck By Train And Abandoned

Two hours after an automobile was reported stolen in Newark it was struck by a freight train in Belleville and abandoned by the driver. The driver, apparently uninjured, described as a young man, jumped from the machine and made a get-away by running along the tracks.

A freight train drilling in the Silver Lake section of the town about 3 o'clock Friday morning struck the coupe when the driver failed to stop for the signal of the train brakeman, Frank Novick. The right rear fender and a right rear corner of the top of the automobile were crushed. The conductor of the train was Harry Brandenburg.

Patrolmen Spatz and Christiano found in the car two cases of empty milk bottles, owned by John Cetrulo, of 328 North Tenth street, Newark. Cetrulo told police he did not own the car or know how the bottles came to be in it. Ownership of the car was traced to Isabelle Cross of 110 Brunswick street, Newark, who had reported it stolen.

Hunger Routs Runaway Boy From Tree Hut

After having hidden and slept in a hut built in a tree until hunger drove him out, James Stewart, fifteen, who has been missing a week from his home at 206 Bergen avenue, Jersey City, was found working on a bakery wagon in Belleville Friday afternoon. The boy told Patrolman Joseph Gorman he lost his job in Wall street a week ago and had been afraid to return home.

The boy's mother took him home. His tree retreat was located in Malone avenue west of Union avenue.

Hackensack Tossers Defeat Belleville

Belleville High travelled to Hackensack Saturday and lost 9-3. The score does not serve to indicate the closeness of the game. Going into the late innings Hackensack's margin was but a single tally, the score being 4-3 in the sixth. At this point however, Bonavita, who had pitched a good game up to then, suddenly became ineffective and the Hackensack boys totalled five runs in the last three innings to increase their margin of victory.

Neither teams tallied in the first two frames, although Belleville threatened to score in the first. In the third inning the Bell boys accounted for the initial run of the game on a long fly to left center, which the center fielder muffed after a run, good for two bases by Bloemeke and J. Bonavita's double to left. Hackensack then scored three times in her half on two walks followed by a double and a single.

In the fourth Belleville again tallied on singles by Fornorotto, N. Bonavita and De Jura. Hackensack also got a single marker in the same frame on two hits and an error.

After a scoreless fifth frame the Bell-boys came within one of knotting the count on a Hackensack error, a stolen base and a single by O'Neil, a pinch-hitter. This ended Belleville's scoring for the day although she threatened to tally often. The ensuing five run assault on Bonavita in the last few innings served to remove the issue from all possible doubt. These scores were the result, mainly, of some heavy hitting by Hackensack, interspersed with inopportune bases on balls.

Bloemeke led the Belleville attack with a pair of bingles, while Cella and Novick added two blows each for Hackensack.

In their next start the localities will endeavor to break into the win column again, against the Montclair A. C. Juniors (Montclair High School players) at Clearman Field on Saturday afternoon.

Belleville-Nutley Debate

Belleville High School debating team Friday scored a well-earned victory over Nutley by the score of 2-1 at the local High School Auditorium.

Belleville's victory in the face of her inexperience in school debates was a pleasant surprise, testifying to the capable brand of coaching of Miss Elizabeth Tempest of the High School faculty, who worked diligently for the interests of her team.

Belleville Man Is Found Stabbed

Golf Link Employee Picked Up Badly Hurt In Bloomfield.

With five stab wounds in his body, one of them in the throat, a man identified as Michael Moresco, 50, 115 Heckel street, is in critical condition in the Mountinside Hospital and likely to die.

Moresco was found in the driveway of the property of Algis M. Hayes, 7 Belleville avenue, Bloomfield and near the Forest Hill Golf Club links. On account of his condition police and prosecutor's men have been unable to learn how he was injured or by whom. Moresco was employed as a golf link's laborer.

The man was found at 5 o'clock Sunday morning by F. Kelley, 107 Belmont avenue, North Arlington, employed by H. Pantley, 701 Summer avenue, Newark. The police were unable to locate Kelly Sunday for a statement but learned he had notified Fred Poppenberg, superintendent of Forest Hill Country Club golf links, who in turn notified the Bloomfield police. Patrolman Clark was sent to the scene and had the man sent to the hospital.

Detectives Spatcher and Whalen found a razor about fifteen feet away from where the man was found, also a bottle of wine which belonged to the victim, it being his custom to take wine with him daily for lunch.

Two men who police believed might know something of the case were questioned and others are to be brought in.

Vocational Talk Is Given Before P. T. A. Members

Paterson Instructor Gave Timely Tips At Last Gathering.

"In many cities and towns, vocational guidance, is being recognized as the answer to 'What shall I do when I finish High School,'" said Walter Krumbeck, instructor in the Paterson High School, in a talk before members of the Parent Teacher Association last week, outlining the manner in which Paterson is helping its High School pupils to solve this problem.

"A citizens' committee, cooperating with the High School staff, supplies speakers on various topics who bring to the young people, some knowledge of the lines of business and professions. These speakers, as well as leading business men of Paterson give personal interviews to students who are interested in the particular lines of work.

"During the first year of High School, plans are made, through cooperation between home room counselors, pupils and parents, to outline the complete High School course. In the event that a pupil plans to enter college, a consultation between those interested tends to bring about a definite understanding of just what work must be done in order that the college credits may be sufficient when the pupil graduates. Any pupils who are delinquent are notified, as well as the parents, that greater effort must be made in order that the necessary percentage may be obtained. This tends to keep a pupil 'on his toes' as well as keeping the parents advised of the progress being made.

"Pupils who find it necessary to drop out of school without completing the high school course, are interviewed with the object of encouraging them to remain by pre-arranging their course to revive their interest in school or, in case of financial inability to continue, an effort is made to place them along the right path of future work.

"The whole object of vocational guidance is to endeavor to place every pupil into the place in life that offers most happiness to the individual and most service to the community," he concluded.

Musical numbers by the Girls' Glee Club of Belleville High School and violin solos by Miss Jean Tallman, were offered under the direction of Miss Indra Bryant.

The $100 which is contributed to the Student Loan Fund annually by the P. T. A., will be forwarded to the Council, as application has been made by a student who will graduate in June.

Give Latin Program At School Assembly

An unusual program, arranged by the Latin students of the High School and coached by Mrs. Knox of the faculty, was presented before the student body, Friday Morning.

The program was opened with the reading in Latin of various selections from the Bible by Bernice Close.

"Latin—A Living Language" was the subject of the next feature, a lecture rendered by Harriet Miller with the aid of various posters. The use of Latin in cardinal numbers, mottoes of states, English words, stars, proper names and medicine were given as evidences of Latin's enduring qualities.

A brief, explanatory talk on Roman implements of warfare by William McKnight served to impress upon the student body the cruder but more humane type of warfare carried on by the ancient Romans. Several cleverly constructed miniature battering rams, catapults, etc., used by the Romans were exhibited for the edification of the students.

A musical number sung in Latin entitled "Lauriger Horatius" selected from Horace, Ode XXII, was next rendered by thirteen members of Mrs. Knox's Latin classes. It was a pleasing prelude to the main presentation: a pageant, "The City of Rome: Its Rise and Decline" composed by Dr. D. Walker, giving a dramatic enactment of Rome's history in three periods.

The first, the period of the Republic, was divided into three scenes: "Cato's deference to the Vestal Virgin," "Cato's simple meal" and "Cato censuring Rome's modern woman." This was followed by the second period, the age of Augustus or Rome at the height of its splendor and power. "Octavian introducing peace," "Octavian becoming Augustus" and "Augustus, patron of literature" composed the three scenes of this period. The final stage of Rome's history or her decline made up the third and concluding period. The barbarian, gradually gaining control of Rome, until aged and faded Rome left the stage to the barbarian, was graphically portrayed by the students.

The various characters in this entertaining pageant were enacted by Edgar Williamson, Christine Zetterstrom, Charles Cummings, Marie Kasper, Vincent Halbert, Charlotte Wilford, Curtis Mellick, Anthony Lusiana, Thomas Fornorotto and Felicitas Jannarone. Nicholas De Jura acted as chronicler and Maurice Abramson provided the music throughout the presentation.

Commission Debates On Stored Tanks

Use Of Erie Property Is Left To Brown For Opinion

Iron tanks still rest in storage on property leased from the Erie Railroad at Schuyler and Cortland streets against the protest of residents, while Corporation Counsel John B. Brown looks up the records to see if there is a deed in existence prohibiting such storage.

At the Town Commission meeting Tuesday night Brown said the original deed, which gave the use of the land for freight and passenger station purposes only, has not been enforced for twenty years and is void. There is a possibility that another is in existence.

The property is leased by the Lee Tank and Boiler Works. Last Friday Recorder Fitzsimmons fined the company $10 for not having a certificate of occupancy and that started the controversy.

A resolution releasing Brown as trustee of Leroy F. Vermeule properties, seized by the town when the latter was convicted in 1926 of embezzling $130,000 of town funds while serving as director of revenue and finance, was passed by the Commission. A vote of thanks was given Mr. Brown for the way he handled the trusteeship.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher was the only member of the board who felt Mr. Brown's report and request for release should be laid over for inspection. He would not vote for the release, although he said no criticism was meant toward Mr. Brown.

Mr. Brown reported the town had received a net return on the Vermeule deficit, through sale of properties, $5,847.95, plus $672.15, which represented an account of Vermeule's in the Home Building and Loan Association. The town received further a deed to five parcels of land in the western section of town, which the board had indicated would be set aside for park purposes and Mr. Brown hence had not tried to sell. Out of four other properties in Belleville, Mr. Brown reported he sold two and two were lost in foreclosure proceedings while a $1,200 mortgage of Vermeule's on a house and lot located partly in Essex County and partly in Passaic County is being contested in the courts.

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy reported he had been advised by John M. Congdon, general manager of the Erie Railroad, that fifteen to seventeen foot strips of the railroad's right of way at Watchung avenue and Heckel street would be leased to town, that means of ingress and egress might be provided residents of Silver Lake to Franklin street. Commissioner Carragher stated he had "fought" three years to bring the relief about.

A resolution, introduced at Mr. Carragher's request by the whole board, appropriated $10,000 for constructing tennis courts, sewers, lawn and heating facilities and making repairs at the Recreation House, Joralemon street and Garden avenue. Mr. Carragher explained the "whole board should be responsible" when any large amount of money is to be expended.

The board with the exception of Mr. Carragher, favorably received Edward Rankin's report on the proposed Meadowbrook storm sewer, Belleville's share of costs being estimated at $124,923.15, compared to a total cost of $709,020.90 to be borne by Belleville, Newark, East Orange and Bloomfield.

Bids were received for paving, curbing, catch-basins and sidewalks, according to needs in sixteen streets, as follows: Ligham, Wilber, Charles, Jefferson, William, Center, Clinton, Valley and Meyer streets, Liberty Watessing, Glass, Continental, Arthur and Bellavista avenues and Parkside Drive.

Rev. O. Bell Close.

Services 11 a. m. and 8 p. Sunday, May 26. Subject of the pastor's morning sermon "Circumstances."

The evening service will be memorial in its nature. All Veterans, either of the World War of preceding wars, who are in Belleville or vicinity, are cordially invited and urged to attend. Dr. Close will, in his address, ask the question in regard to our soldiers who have fallen, "Have These Died in Vain?"

Interesting music, appropriate to Memorial Sunday, will be given by the choir and organist, assisted by Robert Louer, trumpeter. The selections will include Kipling's splendid "Recessional," and Mendelssohn's "Rest in the Lord," rendered in solo. At the organ will be played "Commemoration March" by Grey, and "America" with variations of the well-known air.

On Sunday, June 9 will occur "Children's Day." In the morning service the children will step into the lime-light, and the grown-ups be assigned the dull back-ground, where they can enjoy, in obscurity, the brilliance of the younger generation. Each department of the School is busy thinking thoughts as to the program it will present, and much rivalry, of the unbiting and enjoyable kind, will undoubtedly result. The entire program is under the direction of Mrs. E. B. Prophet.

The Woman's Guild will hold a Cake and Food Sale in the school room of the Church, Saturday afternoon, May 25 at 2:30. The women will donate cake and other eatables, and buy the donations of their fellow Guild members for the provisioning of their Sunday or other day tables. The proceeds go to help the Church. People interested in hunting up appropriate texts of Scripture, are referred to 1st Corinthians 10:31, in which we are enjoined to eat and drink to the glory of God.

The Juniors will meet at the Recreation House June 5 after school. FOR those who like to be out and going—top down—nothing but blue skies above—Nash designers built three smart "400" Cabriolets.

With the top up and windows raised, they are luxurious closed cars—with the top down and windows either down or up, they are smart open cars. All have a big, comfortable, roomy rumble seat.

The Standard Six Cabriolet is one of the most popular cars in its price field, because it combines the smart open-enclosed motoring vogue with Standard Six performance superiority.

It has a big, high compression, 7-bearing motor for power and speed—"400" steering for the world's easiest driving—Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, for cushioned smoothness over all kinds of roads.

The Special and Advanced Six Cabriolets are distinguished by such "400" features as the new Twin-Ignition motor, Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication—press a pedal, your car is oiled—Lovejoy and Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers.

And, every "400" model comes from the factory equipped with bumpers, hydraulic shock absorbers, spare tire lock and tire cover, at no extra cost. Some dealers, charge as much as $50 or $60 extra for bumpers alone.

Compare these Cabriolets to others, then compare their fully equipped, delivered prices. You'll see the advantage in buying a Nash!

Delivered, Fully Equipped, Price Range on 25 Nash "400" Models, $970 to $2301.

MEMORIAL DAY

Before the News goes to press again Memorial Day will have been observed. It is not amiss at this time, although a week early, to remind those who are apt to forget that Memorial Day serves to honor the heroes of this country's wars who have gone to their final resting place.

Of late years the ranks of the G. A. R. have been thinned. They, religiously, carried out the programs of past Memorial day observances and are now reaching the point where time demands that, except in few cases, they rest not only on this day but others in the year.

It is commendable that the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars have taken upon themselves the sacred duty, so ably carried on for years by the G. A. R. It is the duty of everybody to assist on this day and see that its reverence is observed.

In particular, are the ex-service men and women who slight this day called upon to do their part.

This year presents to Belleville folks an added incentive to turn out for the parade and services. There are only two G. A. R. men left—Respect them—turn out!

TRAGEDY'S WORST.

The mind could hardly conceive a greater horror than the sudden destruction by fire and gas of a hospital filled with helpless patients. The story which comes from Cleveland reveals one of the most heart-rending tragedies of recent history.

The very idea of storing great amounts of highly inflammable material in a place where the merest spark from an X-ray machine would cause an explosion makes one shudder.

A hospital is the one place where the most rigid precautions against fire and accident are called for. All the traditions of the medical profession demand the utmost carefulness.

Our nearby hospitals are reported as using the utmost of precautions to avoid fires. It will be well, however, for the officials of all these institutions to make an especial survey of fire prevention conditions, in view of what has happened in Cleveland.

ITS SAFETY PROVED

The great Graf Zeppelin, after floating about in the air with motors disabled and in a condition of general uncertainty, ties up at last at a French airport, and all is well. It was a strange thing that after all the trials the craft had undergone, the very machinery upon which her progress depended should have gone bad. But better than over mid-ocean.

This episode shows that it takes a good deal to put a Zeppelin in real danger. If motor trouble of like seriousness had developed in an airplane, especially over water, the tale would have been one of death, perhaps mystery. But the "Zepp" does not come to earth. It floats about, in some peril, of course, but as long as the gas in the bag holds out, her passengers have not a great deal to worry over.

There will always be disputation about the relative merits of the plane, and the dirigible. But on the mere point of safety, the Zeppelin, now that non-inflammable gas is used in her bags, has decidedly the call.

NEW AIR LINERS

Aircraft progress is strikingly emphasized in the new air liners just ordered for use in the England to India service. The biggest heavier than air machines yet planned, they will seat 40 passengers, will be four-engined, and the cabins will be as wide as a Pullman car.

With a super-dirigible already nearing completion, Great Britain is evidently not going to allow Germany to run away with the growing air business. Progress toward greater safety has not been as swift as many travellers would like but in size and comfort, these new air liners will present a startling contrast to the little machine with which the Wright brothers made history in 1903.

A STARTLING CONTRAST.

New York's plans for a civic centre grouped about the attractive old City Hall will, if they are ever completed, form the strangest contrast between the new and the old that the world possesses. Trees and shrubs will be planted in an extensive park about which will be grouped civic buildings of colonial type, simple and graceful rather than high and massive.

To the north and south will rise the skyscrapers of the new metropolis. The plan may prove effective but it sounds somewhat impossible. Would Mount Vernon or the White House look as charming and safe if they were surrounded by skyscrapers?

Jokes

The grocery salesman, a Scotchman, hailed a taxi.
"How much to take me to the Majestic Hotel?" he asked.
"Four bits," was the reply.
"And how much for my suitcases?"
"Oh," said the taxi driver, "I'll take those for nothing."
"Fine! Take the suitcases. I'll walk."

An Irishman obtained permission from his employer to attend a wedding. He turned up next day with a black eye and with his arm in a sling. "Hello! What's the matter?" said his employer. "Well, you see," said the guest, "at the wedding yesterday I saw a fellow strutting around with a swallow-tailed coat and a white waistcoat. 'And who might you be?' says I. 'I'm the best man,' says he; 'and begorra, he was, too!'"

David Starr Jordan, former president of Stanford University, said of a state that is notorious for underpaying its school-teachers: "A young lady in this state went to the bank to get her monthly check cashed. The paying teller, as he counted the cash deftly, said: 'I'm sorry not to be able to give you clean new bills, miss. I hope you're not afraid of microbes.' 'Oh no, I'm not afraid of them,' said the young lady cheerfully. 'No microbe could live on my salary.'"

A well-known lawyer tells this good story of his efforts to instruct his office boy. One morning in mid-summer the young master-of-millions-to-be blew into the office, tossed his cap at a hook, and announced: "Say, Mr. Blank, they's a ball game down't the park today, an' I'm goin' down." The attorney was willing, but thought a lesson in good manners would not be amiss. "Jimmy," he said kindly, "that is not the way to ask a favor. Now, you come over here and sit down and I'll show you how to do it." The boy took the office chair and his employer picked up the cap and stepped outside. Then he opened the door softly, walked quietly to the opposite side of the room, hung the cap securely on the hook, and, turning, said to the small boy in the big chair, "Please, sir, there is a ball game at the park today. If you can spare me I would like to get away for the afternoon." In a flash the boy replied, "Why, certainly, Jimmie; and here is fifty cents to pay your way in."

At a Church Congress in London, Canon Knox-Little described a restored gateway in front of a beautiful church. "There was placed over it," said the canon, "This is the Gate of Heaven," and underneath was the larger notice, "Go round the other way!"

Pupil (just coming from the principals' office)—What 'ja think? The principal asked me three times where my hat was, and it was right there on my head all of the time.

The Voice of Others

Not When Congress Meets
"All quiet along the Potomac," shouted the newsboys in Civil War days. In Volstead days can a determined President substitute "dry" for "quiet?"—Boston Transcript.

Busy Hands

The chief trouble with European delays in reaching a complete accord is due to the fact that not enough of the politicians over there play golf.—Indianapolis Star.

Sitting Pretty

Any Mark Elsewhere?
A prominent educator says spanking is the best method of applying punishment, "because it leaves no mark on the memory." If it doesn't, what is the object of applying it?—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Wickedness Of The Past
Of course it doesn't matter now that the country is dry, but how many old-timers can remember when a big scandal was caused if anyone spiked the lemonade at a party.

A Doubtful Warning
A sculptor has executed in relief on one side of a new Brooklyn bank vault the figure of a burglar in the act of blowing a safe and on the other a similar figure behind the bars. The warning unfortunately is likely to be overlooked by bandits in their haste and to be misconstrued by depositors.

She Didn't.
Mrs. Calvin Coolidge—in a current magazine—is not a story of how she persuaded her husband to talk.

One Of The Things.
Mr. Edison says "We don't know a millionth of one per cent about anything." Well, that's one of the things we didn't know.

WHEN YOU NEED IT MOST

That is usually the time when assistance is most difficult to obtain. The aim of this bank, however, is to be of assistance all the time, to every extent that we can legitimately be called upon to assist. We solicit new accounts as a means of broadening our scope of activity, that we may thereby have greater opportunity to assist and serve.

Here and There

By JOHN H. SAUER

A large Chicago hotel has prohibited the serving of cracked ice to its patrons because of numerous padlocks having been clamped on resorts in the city.

In the future a person with a sick stomach will have to present a doctor's certificate in order to obtain a quantity of the frozen fluid.

It might be a good idea to serve ginger ale in bottles with nipples sealed on them. This would prevent anybody from adding intoxicating liquors to the drink.

MY DREAM.

Each night I dream of a small white house
With roses all over the door,
And a dear little girl who is waiting within.

Could any man ask for more?
Each evening I go homeward bound,
Out from the city streets,
To a meal that is cooked by loving hands,

And a smile from lips so sweet.
At twilight we sit side by side
Sharing our joys and sorrows,
Dreaming of yesterday's incidents,
Planning for tomorrow's.

But this is only my dream you see.
Yet I am far from blue,
Cause someday I'll go to that little white house,
And that dear little girl will be you.

It may be all right to blow your own horn, but it sounds a lot better if somebody else does it for you.

Mayor Walker is sponsoring a plan to install loud speakers in the smaller parks throughout the city. The concerts which are to be broadcast from Central and Prospect Parks will be relayed to these speakers over the city Fire alarm wires. This will enable those, who object to listening to the radio indoors on warm summer evenings, to go to the parks and enjoy the concerts there. We think the city will be spending a lot of unnecessary money if they go ahead with this plan. If the Mayor will walk along any city block some summer evening, he will hear the concert being emitted from any number of radio stores, and with such volume as to be heard three or four blocks away.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The arms of nations laid away.
The guns of war have long been still.

There still remains a debt to pay,
A debt you never can fulfill.
You have your home and loved ones yet,
E'en though you went and paid a price,

You owe a debt to those who went,
And made the greatest sacrifice.
Ten years have passed since war-crazed men

Upon the field of battle met,
Ten year—with buddy underground,
You know you never can forget.
In spite of all he can't come back,
He's gone beyond all worldly care,
So on this day remember him,
And offer up a little prayer.

Citizen Cites

Prosperity is something business men create so politicians may take credit for it.

The closer a man is, the more distant his friends are.

A luxury ceases to be one just as soon as you have enough to afford it.

The greatest danger to the average business man is the dotted line of least resistance.

It isn't always the big man who looks down on his neighbors.

Be sure you are right and you will be pretty sure that everybody else is wrong.

One of the hardest jobs faced by our children is to learn good manners without seeing very many.

Some people talk so much that they haven't time to say anything.

The price of justice will have to come down before the average man can afford to buy it.

Some men are almost as crooked as the dollar mark they worship as their god.

Royal Splendor That Once Dazzled Europe

Europe was dazzled by a display of royal pomp unequalled in the history of pageantry, when Henry VIII met Francis I of France on the Field of the Cloth of Gold.

For his entertainment a temporary palace was built at Guines, near Calais, covering three acres. No fewer than 2,800 tents stood around it to house the knights and ladies of his resplendent train. Their chapel had 35 priests to serve it and for the 20-odd days they were in France 2,200 sheep went to form one item of their menu.

There is a picture in Hampton court which will give you some idea of the splendor of the day. It shows the Great Harry, that giant ship, with her sails of damask cloth of gold and four royal standards flying from her fore'sle, sailing out of Dover harbor. Other ships, bearing Yeomen of the Guard, drummers, fifers and banner bearers, are making ready to follow, and the water is thronged with small boats full of spectators, one of whom is graphically represented in the act of being seasick.

The diplomatic results of this magnificent display of wealth and power, it is sad to read, were as near nothing as doesn't matter.

Chairman Didn't Quite

Get Idea of Lecture

Being a Scot, and therefore a sentimentalist, I have always had an appreciative eye for good-looking women.

As a consequence of many wanderings I thought I could give a lecture about the ladies of many lands. I gathered a lot of pretty photographs—ladies walking in Hyde park, dusky maidens dancing in the South Sea islands, and that kind of thing—and wove a cheery lecture. "Sovereign Woman: Being the Impression of a Man in Thirty-eight Countries." It went well.

I delivered it in a Surrey residential town. My chairman, who had entertained me ardently at dinner, said the customary things a chairman is expected to say—information culled from "Who's Who"—and concluded by remarking, "Now I will call upon our lecturer to give you his experiences with 38 women in different countries!" The audience roared. I blushed. The chairman inquired in a loud whisper, "Have I said anything wrong?"—Sir John Foster Fraser in London Graphic.

Disappointing

The big house in the wood had been untenanted for years and was supposed to be haunted.

In despair the owner had the place redecorated, fitted with electric light and every possible labor-saving device, and offered the whole concern at a very modest rental.

Later he happened to hear that a man had been shown over the house, and in great excitement he rang up the agent.

"Is it true some one's taken that house at last?" he asked.

The agent's voice was sad. "So far he's only taken the electric light fittings," he replied. "Perhaps he'll come back for the rest."

Not Case of Attraction

When two small objects are floating near each other in a basin of water why are they suddenly drawn together as if by a magnet? The bureau of standards says that the weight of the floating particles stretches the surface of the water, forming a dimple when the two particles come close enough; the two dimples coalesce into one, throwing the particles together. The action is due to surface tension, in virtue of which the surface is constantly striving to reduce its exposed area to a minimum.—Washington Star.

Problem

Last year I asked my best girl to marry me and she refused. I got even with her by marrying her mother. Then my father married the girl. Now what am I to myself?

When I married the girl's mother the girl became my daughter and when my father married my daughter she became my mother. Who am I?

My mother's mother, who is my wife, must be my grandmother. Since I am my grandmother's husband, I am, therefore, my own grandfather.—Vancouver Province.

Where the Shed Horns Go

Why aren't the woods full of the horns which deer and moose shed every winter? The answer, according to a writer in Field and Stream, is that they are eaten by rodents. "Many," says the sport monthly, "have been found partly eaten which have the teeth marks of mice, chipmunks, squirrels, ground squirrels and porcupines. Horns disappear quickly after they are shed, as few are found in the woods."

Versatile Publishers

The Centrolzdat, central publishing house of the Soviet republics, faces a big task in supplying books to the various small nations of Russia in their respective tongues. Most of the books are textbooks, printed to supply the demand of the newly liberated, backward peoples for education and knowledge. Six fundamental alphabets are used to print the 42 dialects: Russian, Latin, Hebrew, Arabic, Gothic and East Gothic.

Song Popular Among Rovers of Caribbean

The sea-song of the pirates with its weird refrain of "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest" which Robert Louis Stevenson introduces into his famous book "Treasure Island" is in part at least authentic and was sung by the pirates and buccaneers who roved the Caribbean sea in the late Seventeenth and early Eighteenth centuries. Dead Man's Chest was an island of the Virgin group, which has been christened "Dead Chest Island," thereby losing much of its piratical flavor. To this island the pirates used to repair, to careen their ships, stretch their legs, drink rum, sing their buccaneering songs and make merry after their own fashion. Curiously enough there is a little church on the Chilean coast which is obviously built of ship's timbers. Recently a traveler of an inquiring mind, reasoning that if the church were built of ship's timbers, the bell would also come from a ship, determined to investigate. A climb among the rafters did not reveal the name of the ship, as he had hoped, but around the edge of the bell were inscribed the words: "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest." All that the clergyman knew was that the church bell came from a ship that was wrecked in 1722, which was just the time when the West Indies were getting hot for pirates, and many were being driven into the Pacific.

Odd Forms of Prayer

for Parching Fields

Many countries hold odd ceremonies to end drought. The Chinese take their dragon god around in a procession, and beat him soundly when he ignores their prayers for rain. The Bantus of Delagoa bay sing songs at their dried-up wells and make mothers who have twins carry the children around the parched fields. In Greece they send children marching round all the wells and springs, under the leadership of a girl adorned with flowers, who sings at each halting place. The same custom prevails in Yugo-Slavia, where a little girl called the Dodota is clothed from head to foot in grass and flowers, and leads her companions through their native village, stopping at each house, so that the housewife may pour a pail of water over her, and singing the good news that the rain has come, even though it is usually far away.

"Traveling Stones"

"Traveling stones," from the size of a pea to 6 inches in diameter, are found in Nevada. When distributed upon a floor or other level surface within 2 or 3 feet of one another they immediately began to travel onward toward a common center, and there lie huddled like a clutch of eggs in a nest.

A single stone, removed to a distance of 3½ feet, upon being released, at once started with a wonderful and somewhat comical celerity to join its fellows.

These queer stones are found in a region that is comparatively level and little more than bare rock. Scattered over this barren region are little basins, from a few feet to a rod or two in diameter, and it is in the bottom of these that the rolling stones are found.

The cause for the strange conduct of these stones is doubtless to be found in the material of which they are composed, which appears to be lodestone or magnetic iron ore.

Natural Query

The stroller happened to be present one evening when a young hopeful of six years returned home after a hard day's play and received a quarter left by his grandmother, who had called to see him, but who, fearing the night air, as grandmothers do, had had to leave before his return.

The boy had heard grown persons talk about "when the old lady is gone Junior will get quite a sum," and always when she came to see him she had placed a dime in the chubby speedthrill hand.

He stood with the quarter almost covering his palm, then looking up with great mysterious eyes, asked in awed tones: "Is she dead?"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Work of Volta Bureau

Volta was a famous French electrician. The Volta prize, created by Napoleon, was conferred by France upon Dr. Alexander Graham Bell for the invention of the telephone. Doctor Bell took this money, 50,000 francs, added to it a large sum received from other electrical experiments, and founded the Volta bureau, "for the increase and diffusion of knowledge relating to the deaf." This bureau prints and distributes every year hundreds of leaflets containing helpful information for the hard of hearing, or for the parents of deaf children.

"Chowder" Really French

Chowders, although considered American, did not originate in America. They are supposed to have been made first by the fisher folk of Brittany. For them, everyone in the village brought their contribution for the dish and added it to the common caldron and the name "chowder" comes from the name of their caldron, which was chaudiere. Our early colonists learned this dish from the French and so chowders are associated with the history of New England and are linked with America in general.

OLD PATEN, STOLEN FROM ENGLISH CHURCH, IS FOUND

Part of Communion Service Made in Seventeenth Century Restored to Norfolk Church.

London.—After an absence of nearly a decade, a Seventeenth century paten, stolen from the ancient church of Booton, Norfolk, on April 22, 1919, has been found and will once again rejoin the silver communion cup of which it is the cover.

The two pieces were made in 1634 by the famous goldsmith of Norwich, Timothy Skottowe, and their value is considerable, since early Norfolk silver, especially ecclesiastical, is in much demand. The cup and chalice of the Booton church were known to collectors all over the world, and when they disappeared in 1919 every effort was made to trace them, but without avail.

In 1921 the cup alone was put up for sale and was recognized by an expert the day before the sale. On being informed of the identity of the cup, it was withdrawn from sale. Investigation showed that it had been bought at a market booth some ten or twelve weeks before its purchaser offered it, but efforts to trace it further back were ineffective. The cup was returned to the church, which turned it over to the Norwich Castle museum.

And then, recently, the missing paten suddenly came to light, when it was offered among the objects belonging to a private collector whose property was being sold. P. M. Turner, an authority on old silver, noticed the paten and suspected that it was the mate of the recovered communion cup. A comparison of the two pieces proved that he was right. He therefore bought the piece at auction, and presented it to the Booton church from which it was originally stolen, whence it will probably go also to the Norwich museum to be exhibited with its companion piece.

Rare Book Secured by Library of Congress

One of the rarest of books on science, the first edition of Sir Isaac Newton's "Principia," was obtained by the Library of Congress, after year of search. Though only an inch and a half thick and ten inches high, with seven and a half inches wide, with 510 pages, it has been termed "the most important printed work on exact science ever published." It was published in 1687 in London, and in Newton first gave to the world the results of his fundamental study of the laws of gravitation. Two issues of the first edition were made in the year of its publication, one being intended for sale in England, and the other on the Continent. The Library of Congress copy is of the first issue. However, the entire edition was small and it is related by contemporary writers that as early as 1691 it was very difficult to obtain. At present it is almost completely unprocurable. The Library's copy was bought for Watson Davis, managing editor of Science Service, but upon learning of the library's desire for a copy, he relinquished it. The full title of the book, in Latin, is "Philosophiæ Naturalis Principia Mathematica." An interesting feature of the title page is that it bears the imprimatur, or approval, of Samuel Pepys, famous for his diary, who was at that time president of the Royal society.

No Word or Deed but

Leaves an Impression

Kelvin, the great scientist, once told his students, as he put a piece of chalk on a certain mountain, that it strained the whole globe. If there were instruments delicate enough, its effect might be measured in the most remote place.

That is how science speaks of the "influence" of a bit of chalk. That there are no instruments, delicate enough to measure the influence, does not make it any the less real or far reaching.

Circus Day To Bring Horde Of Wonders Soon

It was glorious news to young and old brought in the announcement of the early appearance of the great Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, with its thousand and one wonders which will exhibit in Newark, May 28 and 29.

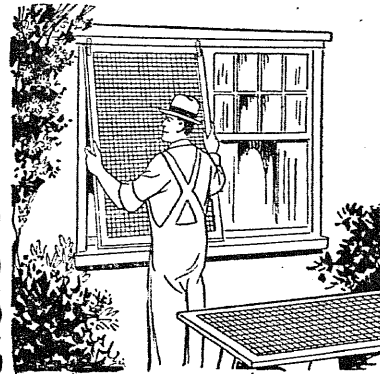

The only five-ring circus in the world, with a Big Top seating more than 16,000 persons, will this year offer more new and startling acts than ever before in its history.

Not least in the attractiveness of the Big Show will be the presence of seven herds of elephants, 43 great pachyderms, the majority of which are highly trained performers. There are likewise the largest herds of giraffes, zebras and camels in captivity.

The menagerie of the Ringling-Barnum Circus is the largest travelling zoo in the world, and in its gilded cages there appear every known variety of animal, brought from the earth's remote corners by agents of the huge amusement institution.

And at each performance is to be seen "Goliath," the monster sea elephant, weighing five tons. During the past year "Goliath" has grown a full ton in weight.

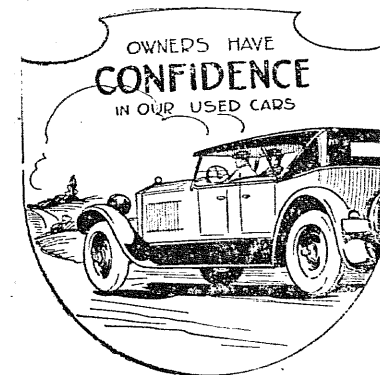

One of the most annoying things in the world is to be prepared for an emergency that never turns up.

Largest Ship of Sea Scout Fleet Given to Boys of New York City

Notable Yachtsmen Inspect "Minas Princess" At Anchor Near Port Chester—Gift Of George P. Bonnell.

The largest ship of the National Sea Scout Fleet, "The Minas Princess," 168-foot schooner of the Sea Scouts of Manhattan Council, New York City, N. Y., will be placed in service on June 15. She was inspected on May 12 by Howard F. Gillette of Chicago, National Sea Scout Commodore, and other Sea Scout Officials who were the guests of Commodore George P. Bonnell, donor of the vessel and Chairman of the Manhattan Sea Scout Committee. Commodore Bonnell was formerly Commodore of the Cruising Club of America. The vessel, which will act as the base ship for the Manhattan Sea Scout Fleet, will be anchored off the Bonnell Estate at Port Chester, New York.

Equipped with facilities for carrying a crew of 150 Sea Scouts and carrying in addition to eight 24-foot whale-boats equipped with oars and sails, several cutters which will be used for training Sea Scouts in the handling of small boats, the "Minas Princess" is the finest ship of its type in the Sea Scout Fleet, according to Thomas J. Keane, National Sea Scout Director. The ship was formerly a lumber schooner sailing out of Minas Basin, Nova Scotia, and is only nine years old. She has been refinished and equipped to meet every need of the Sea Scouts.

During the summer months this year, hundreds of Manhattan Sea Scouts will have an opportunity to live on the big vessel and to study seamanship. They will register for two week periods under competent leaders and will participate in regular sea activities.

The group of yachting notables who inspected the ship consisted of: National Sea Scout Commodore Howard F. Gillette, of Chicago, Regional Sea Scout Commodore F. H. Boshyshell of Los Angeles, Regional Commodore Paul Hammond, of New York, President of the Manhattan Council, Boy Scouts of America, Thomas J. Keane, National Sea Scout Director, Bruno G. Andrews, Deputy Regional Executive for Sea Scouting and Commodore Bonnell.

SCOUT HEROISM

When a small eight-year-old boy climbed a tree near the grade school building and came in contact with a live wire at Quincy, Illinois recently, the contact was broken to the ground by Basil I. Williams, Assistant Scoutmaster and Principal of the school.

Reports of the accident say that Assistant Scoutmaster Williams saw the boy almost immediately after he had touched the wire. Getting a ladder and pushing the wire away from the boy with a dry board, he took the boy in his arms and carried him to the ground. While the Assistant Scoutmaster despatched two boys, one for a doctor and one to telephone the power company about the accident, he rendered first aid, and although the boy was badly burned and in a dangerous condition, the hospital authorities say that he will recover, and that he owed his life to the quick action of the Assistant Scoutmaster. There were 5,900 volts on the wire.

WINS LINDBERGH TROPHY

Scout George McCurdy, of Grove City, Pennsylvania has been awarded the coveted Lindbergh Trophy in the Model Aeroplane Contest sponsored by the Boy Scouts of that city. The plane which won the contest was a model of a German Taube which he constructed in his workshop at his home on Fenton Street. The Scout is already constructing a larger model plane than the one which won the prize.

Concerning the construction of his German Taube plane, George said: "I used bamboo and Balsam woods, because of their extreme light weight for the skeleton and fuselage of the model. Then I covered it with a light but very durable and almost transparent paper covering. The propeller is made of Balsam wood and is eight inches long. Select rubber bands are used for power." He added that he constructed the plane in 5 hours.

SCOUT BROADCAST

Through arrangements made with Radio Station WJD which is operated by the Loyal Order of Moose at Mooseheart, Illinois, a monthly Scout program is to be broadcast from that station. The programs will be strictly Scouting. Station WJD is a 20,000 watt station which operates on a frequency of 254.1 meters and 1180 Kilocycles and can be heard throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico.

WALTER HAGEN SAYS

"The best advice that I can give to the readers of BOYS' LIFE, who are beginning the game of golf," says Walter Hagen, the world's greatest professional golfer, "is to start at the beginning and learn every step of the game properly." And in the June issue, in an interview by Irving Crump, he tells boys where to begin, and gives some valuable hints on the first steps that must be mastered by the golf aspirant.

FOREST SERVICE

Under a plan approved by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters will again award this year 100 medals for meritorious service to Boy Scouts who render conspicuous service in forest protection. In announcing the awards, Secretary Charles E. Dorworth stated to Scoutmasters of the state that in making out the applications for medals for the Scouts of their Troops the following types of service should be shown:

Prevention of forest fires, detecting and reporting forest fires, educating the public to the danger of forest fires.

The state has been divided into 10 districts, in each of which 10 meritorious service medals may be presented. A medal may be awarded to an individual Scout, to a Patrol, to a Troop, or a Boy Scout official.

COLORED SCOUTS

The report of the National Director of Inter-Racial Activities for the Boy Scouts of America for the year 1928 showed that there are now 618 Troops of colored Boy Scouts scattered throughout the United States. There are Troops organized in every Southern State and in a large number of the central, west and northern states. More than 12,000 Negro boys are registered in these Troops.

The Inter-Racial Work of the Boy Scouts of America is under the direct supervision of Mr. Stanley A. Harris. Courses in Scoutmastership are now being given at the Hampton Institute Summer School and other schools for the advancement of the colored race.

FORMER GOVERNOR A SCOUT

The former Governor of the State of New Jersey, A. Harry Moore, was elected president of the Jersey City, N. J., Boy Scout Council recently.

COMMUNITY GOOD TURN

When a factory in Middleport, New York, decided to abandon an athletic field which they had supported for the community for several years, the America Legion of that village, with the aid of the Scout Troop which they are sponsoring, decided to take over the field and keep it open as a community project. The Boy Scouts distributed handbills urging upon the citizens the need of keeping an athletic field open for the use of the community. The American Legion raised the money for the support of the field.

A new camp site valued at $20,000 has been turned over to the Boy Scouts of Dayton, Ohio, by Mr. Frederick B. Paterson, of the National Cash Register Co., according to word received from Scout Executive Perle L. Whitehead. The new Camp site will make it possible for Dayton to conduct the divisional plan of camping on a much larger scale than heretofore enjoyed. 177 acres of rugged camping land with plenty of ravine, ledges, woodland, streams, wild life, and nature preserves is included in the gift. The camp will be known as Cricket Holler this summer.

ZIEGFELD DRINKS $12 CUPS OF TEA

Goes In For Extravagance Since Three Of His Shows Prove Successes—Hires A Circus.

BY GRACE DAVIDSON

The most expensive cup of tea, hotel authorities claim, is served to Florenz Ziegfeld daily at his offices at the Ziegfeld Theatre in New York. This afternoon tea costs him $12 with the tips. The Savoy-Plaza sends it over in a taxi with a waiter and bellboy in livery. The waiter heats the water on a little chafing dish arrangement, and the tea is of a special brand. It is served with lemon and plain toast and petit fours.

Mr. Ziegfeld remains at his desk, talking intermittently between two gold engraved continental telephones while his secretary, "Miss Goldie," does the general supervising of the Savoy-Plaza tea. Mr. Ziegfeld very seldom invites anyone to this tea in his office. In the outer office it is not unusual to see an array of lawyers, stars and authors waiting until the producer finishes his daily $12 cup of tea.

Has 200 Elephants

His other extravagances number the finest collection of elephants in America. He has at least 200 specimens in his office. They are all sizes, jade, carnelian, crystal, gold, bronze, amethyst, coral and ivory. Pictures of his favorite stars are enshrined in costly frames, each one with a vase of their favorite flowers, or rather the Glorifier's favorite flowers for it.

Since the success of "Showboat," "Musketees" and "Whoopie," Mr. Ziegfeld has gone in for the most amazing luxuries. He just bought himself a yacht, called "Good Times," for which he paid a quarter of a million dollars. He maintains three cars of the Rolls-Royce type, with three chauffeurs at his constant call.

His homes now number three. There is his great estate at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, on which he has spent a vast sum recently for improvements. He has another showplace at Palm Beach, and still another in Canada. And he maintains a permanent apartment at the Savoy-Plaza.

Band Leader's Tip $1,000.

Recently in Florida he engaged a great portion of John Ringling's circus for a party he was giving. The entire band and various acts, including some of the animals, were moved from Sarasota to Palm Beach by special train.

Mr. Ziegfeld was told that the fee for the band alone was $1000. He handed the leader $1000 and a few days later he was much surprised to find a bill for services from the band leader for his men. The producer said that he had already paid him. And when the band leader was told this, he answered, "Well, Mr. Ziegfeld did give me a $1000 bill, but I thought it was my personal tip. They said it was the greatest party ever pulled in Palm Beach, so I didn't think a $1000 tip was too high."

The story was repeated to the producer, he chuckled, and said, "All right, give him another $1000 for the men. I didn't know that was my rating."

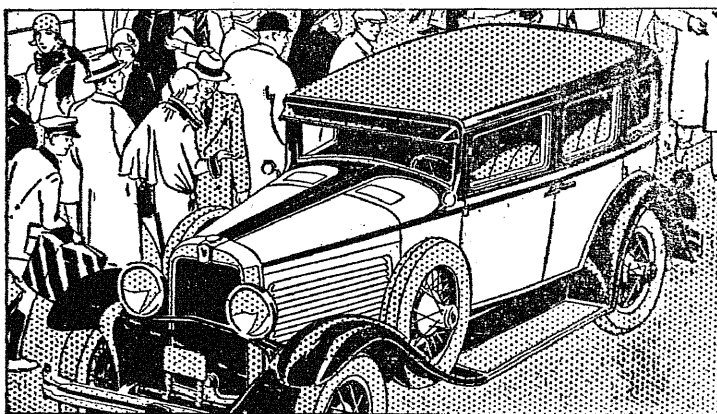

Cantor Saves His.

And, yet, close friends and associates say that despite the producer's enormous earnings, in five years' time he won't have as much money as a comedian like Eddie Cantor, who works for him. The producer pays Cantor a salary of $250,000 a year. Mr. Ziegfeld's profits on his shows are a million a year, but Eddie Cantor saves his money and the producer knows how to spend a million a year. Cantor's fortune, which he owes to his Ziegfeld salaries, is now estimated at $2,000,000 and his adviser, Nathan Jonas of the Manufacturer's Trust Company of New York states that in five years' time, with the continuance of Cantor's earnings and investments, he will be worth at least $8,000,000.

Mr. Cantor is not interested in collecting old masters, fine homes and yachts, and the producer is.

Storing Iron Tanks Without Town Permit Brings A Fine.

Storing iron tanks on property leased from the Erie Railroad at Schuyler and Cortlandt streets, without a permit or certificate of occupancy cost the Lee Tank & Boiler Works, 55 Valley street $10 Friday night in Police Court. Recorder Fitzsimmons imposed the fine on a charge. He said he would apply for a certificate of occupancy. Complaint was made by Building Inspector Robert Williams, at direction of the Town Commission, which was advised residents considered the storage yard a nuisance and hazard.

GAS and your silk dress

Gas is used in the mills producing the fabrics of your silk dress for much the same reason that you find it so adaptable to the home—it is easy to control and burns with an unvarying flame.

The silk mills use gas to burn off the fuzz and loose fiber ends of the fabric. The cloth is passed across a series of "ribbon" burners which produce a knife-edge flame. This flame must be maintained at a constant height and intensity if the quality of the fabric is to be uniform, and so gas is used.

Wherever heat of uniform temperature and intensity is needed, gas will be found adaptable, convenient and economical.

The Orphans' Outing under the auspices of the New Jersey Automobile Club, have arrangements under way for the annual outing to be held on Thursday, June 13, 1929 at Olympic Park.

WALTER C. JACOBS

invited will have a glorious time. The big problem is cars to take the youngsters to the Park.

The committee has plans for the automobile owners who will donate their cars and drive them, to report to the institution they are assigned and proceed to north end of Branch Brook Park where parade forms and from there proceed to Olympic Park. It is not necessary for the car and driver to remain at the Park, if business compels them not to, as long as they come back to Olympic Park and take their youngsters back to their institutions. By calling Mitchell 8500 or Market 7945 all desired information can be had and you can register your car with the committee for assignment.

The other officers of the committee are: Clarence Fisher, treasurer; Al Way, secretary; committees: park and refreshments: Henry C. Wagner, chairman; Cars: Ray Nash; publicity, Joseph Gunn; parade route: Chief James McCall; Theodore Marfield; reception: Walter D. G. H. Koenig; badge and banners: Claude Holgate; souvenirs, Al Way and Edward Koenig.

NEW YORK RECTOR ADDRESSES CHURCH SERVICE LEAGUE

Rev. Dr. Donald Aldrich, rector of the Church of the Ascension, New York, spoke Tuesday at the annual Church Service League luncheon of Grace Episcopal Church held at Yountakah Country Club and attended by 150.

Dr. Aldrich talked of the beauty of giving as a cure for spiritual inertia. "There is a receiving and a giving end of life, he said, but to get back to realities, after the spirit slacks, all was summed up in the symbol of the cross, which means unstinted giving of each individual to build up the good of humanity. Jesus is not to be thought of as a mystic or theological scheme, but as an individual who took his life and staked it against all odds for the sake of others."

Fenton, retiring president, presided and expressed her appreciation of the support and interest extended to her during her term of two years, and the continued need of individual responsibility of all members. COMMISSIONER SHERWOOD'S ROAD PLAN APPROVED BY COUNTY COMMITTEE

Freeholders' Group Agrees To Share Road Widening Cost—Town Is Loser In Signal Fight

Commissioner Charles Sherwood

Assurance was given Commissioner Charles Sherwood by the Board of Freeholders road committee Monday that the county will go along with the plan to widen and improve Park avenue from Union avenue to Washington avenue. Commissioner Sherwood wanted the committee's O. K. on the scheme as a preliminary to obtaining the necessary property for the improvement.

The job of putting down a new pavement, forty feet wide, curbs and drainage, will not be done until next year. There will also be two side-walks ten feet in width. The cost will be divided equally between the town and county. The improvement will be a link with the Avondale bridge. Unanimous approval was given the plan by the committee after County Engineer Stickel said he favored it. Nutley has lost its fight for automatic electric traffic signals on Franklin avenue and Center street.

FATHER STOLE TO EDUCATE SON

Hard Pressed To Support His Family, Admits Thefts From Macaroni Employer.

Pressed for money with which to support his family and send his son to college in Italy, Joseph Di Geronimo, 47, of 267 Berkeley avenue, Newark, stole money he collected for his employer and in six months his thefts totaled $2,161. His salary was $40 a week.

Di Geronimo is said by police to have admitted the thefts to his employer, Peter A. D'Avella, a macaroni merchant, of 46 Belmont avenue.

D'Avella had Di Geronimo arrested Sunday and he was arraigned before Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons in police court on a charge of embezzlement.

According to the story D'Avella told police, he became suspicious of Di Geronimo two months ago and an investigation revealed discrepancies in the collector's accounts.

At that time he admitted having taken the money, D'Avella said, and promised to return it. He said he expected money from Europe. Di Geronimo failed to make restitution, however.

He was held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury.

Intruder Flees

An attempt to enter the home of Natale Piro of 43 New street, Nutley, was frustrated early Sunday morning when Mrs. Piro was awakened and called to the intruder as he tried to open a rear door. Route No. 7

AN ANSWER

Oh! ye who sleep in Flanders field,
Rest now in deep content.
Your brothers o'er the sea have heard
The message that ye sent.

In lowly beds made consecrate
By blood of heroes slain,
Rest on; nor in your quiet sleep
Dream that ye died in vain.

The torch your daying hands upheld
Our heroes caught, to glow,
Above their hosts and sanctify
Their "quarrel with the foe."

Rest, then, in peace on Flanders fields,
No broken faith shall keep
Thy spirit's quiv'ring to advance
Against the foe, Oh, sleep!

Where larks still singing fly above
Thy "crosses row on row"
Eternal fame shall guard thy rest
Where Flanders poppies blow!

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by
Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hays, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 22

Many players seem very downhearted at holding bad cards, but there should always be one consolation. It is for better training to try to win with poor cards than to win with good cards by indifferent playing. One of the best players in the country attests his skill to the fact that for the first few years he played Auction he held very poor cards and was obliged in self-defense to learn how to play a good game.

On the other hand, players who continually hold good cards can win without learning to play a good game. As a rule the big holders are seldom the best players, so if your cards are pretty bad and you have to struggle with might and main to break even, don't get discouraged. You are now learning the fine points of the game and when your luck turns you will be able to take the proper advantage of it.

Here is another consolation for the player who thinks he holds the worst hands in the world. The following hand was held in a social game in a small town near Philadelphia:

Hearts — 7, 5, 3, 2
Clubs — 5, 3, 2
Diamonds — 7, 6, 5, 4
Spades — 6, 2

The amusing part of this incident is that the holder of the hand included it in an affidavit which was forwarded to the Knickerbocker Whist Club of New York City with a letter stating that he understood there was a prize of $100.00 offered for such a hand. Of course, the Knickerbocker Whist Club never made such an offer, so the holder of the foregoing hand was not compensated for his bad luck. The writer, however, once held a hand with a six spot as the highest card, and has yet to hear of a worse one.

Don't be too ready to make a business double just because your opponents have made a high bid. Be on the lookout for freak hands and use good judgment before doubling. Try to figure out what your opponents can hold to justify their bid. Always try to obtain the maximum result with the minimum of risk. Don't make the game any harder than it is. Always take the normal way whenever possible. By that is not meant to play safe. Try for the maximum at all times but, in doing so, don't take any unnecessary risks. The following hand is a good example:

Y :
A B :
Z :

Hearts — K, Q, 7, 6
Clubs — K, Q, J
Diamonds — K, J, 9, 7
Spades — A, K

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. If A bid three spades and Y and B passed, what should Z do? Should he double three spades, bid three no trump or p? Z should try to figure out what A could hold, to justify a bid of three spades. The only possible justification for such a bid would be eight or more spades and one or more tricks in side suits. In such case, Z might defeat a three spade bid; but there would be no certainty of doing so. On the other hand, Z has such a good hand, including a double stopper in the spade suit, that he could, readily score three no trump with a little assistance from Y. For this reason, Z should not double three spades but should try for game by bidding three no trump. Then, if either A or B should bid four spades, he should double. This plan of action tries for the maximum result with the minimum of risk.

The following hands bring out very much the same principles:

Problem No. 24

Hearts — none
Clubs — A, K, 10, 9 : Y
Diamonds — A, 10, 9, 7 : A B
Spades — K, Q, J, 10, 9 : Z

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one heart, A bid one spade and Y bid four hearts. B and Z passed and A bid four spades. Y and B passed and Z bid five hearts. Should A double, bid five spades or pass? Figure out your plan of action and compare results with the analysis that will be given in the next article.

Problem No. 25

Hearts — A, K, Q, 10, 9, 8 : Y
Clubs — A, 10, 7, 6, 2 : A B
Diamonds — A, K : Z
Spades — none

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one club, A passed and Y bid three spades. B bid four hearts, Z bid four spades and A and Y passed. Should B double four spades, bid five hearts or pass? Certain facts should be very apparent from the bidding of this hand, so try to figure them out. Solution in the next article.

Problem No. 26

Hearts — 5, 4
Clubs — 6, 3
Diamonds — A, K, 10, 9, 8
Spades — A, K, 10, 9

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one club and A bid one diamond. What would you do with Y's hand? Would you double one diamond, bid one no trump or one spade? Think over this unusual situation and compare results with the solution that will be given in the next article.

St. Anthony's Defeat Capitol Club, 2-0

In a game replete with action and thrills the strong St. Anthony's continued their winning ways, temporarily interrupted by the Bell-Nuts, by defeating the Capitols, 2-0, Thursday, at Clearman Field.

Snell, on the mound for the winners, although hit freely as the seven Capitol hits will testify, pitched a masterly game being invincible in the inches. "Jim" Mallack pitched a good brand of ball for the losers, limiting them to seven well scattered hits, but he was not equal to the shut-out brand of ball twirled by his opponent. A four-run outburst on the part of the "Saints" in the seventh was wiped off the record books because of ensuing darkness before the Capitols could take their turn at bat.

In the first inning the St. Anthony nine scored their first run on Rizzolo's long triple to left center and a Capitol error. The St. Anthony's scored their final tally in the fifth when Julianio singled, was advanced to second on an infield out and scored on Grant's single. In every inning with the exception of the first the Capitols had men on the base-paths but the needed hit was not forthcoming.

Juliano led the St. Anthony clouters with a pair of safe wallops, while Rizzolo, "Saint" shortstop garnered a triple besides pulling the "hidden ball" trick successfully on the Capitols cutting off a possible tally by the losers.

Dunleavy, "Cap's" catcher, was the long distance clouter of the day with two long doubles to his credit. His second double was one of the longest recorded on the local field. Lilore starred in the field for the losers besides hitting a double over the fence.

People's National Defeats First National, 12-11

Last Wednesday afternoon the People's National Bank ball-tossers won a close game from the First National Bank nine at Riviera Park, 12-11.

Up to the fourth inning the First National boys were leading by the score of 9-0 behind the masterful pitching of Dingle. In this frame, however, the People's Bank swat-smiths drove Dingle off the mound with a deluge of base hits. McFadden who relieved him was little better and he was succeeded by Karrer, who was also hit hard. Pierson then pitched the remainder of the game and held the People's Bank sluggers at bay.

Wagner's long home run with two men on the bases for the People's Bank was the batting feature of the day. Howley also played well for the People's Bank.

Dingle who collected three safe hits for the First National tossers was the batting star for the losers, while Karrer also performed well with the willow.

Wanner's Colored Giants Lose 7-Inning Tilt

Last Sunday at the Yanticaw Park the Wanner's Colored Giants lost their opening game to Lamonte's Mill team, 5-4. A poor first inning in which pitcher Jimmy Jones of the Giants forced in three runs was the downfall of the colored boys.

Wanner's team showed plenty of hitting power but the hits did not come at opportune times. The Giants out-hit the Mill team 9 to 4. "Jimmy" Jones, formerly of the Jersey Cubans showed plenty of stuff with the horsehide, striking out fourteen batters and letting them down with but four hits although his wildness in the first gave the opponents three unearned runs.

McPherson and Rugg were the hitting stars for the winners, the former collecting two of the four hits in spite of the fact he was pitching. Bill Evans with three safe bingles and P. Stout with two showed the way for the Wanner boys.

St. Peter's Defeat Parks In League Game

On Friday the St. Peter's nine handed the Park A. C. a decisive defeat by the score of 6-1, behind the excellent twirling of Johnson, the "Saints" mound ace.

Johnson allowed the losers but one hit, a double by Zborowski which was converted into their only tally. Johnson also struck out eleven of the Park batters to face him. Paul pitched a good brand of ball for the Parks, striking out ten of the "Saints" clouters, but he was more liberal with his hits, St. Peter's garnering six from his delivery which were converted into as many runs.

The "Saints" broke into the scoring column in the third after two scoreless innings and collected two runs on some heavy hitting by Carragher, Johnson and Wengel.

In the sixth the Catholic boys went on a batting rampage, scoring four times before the Parks could get them out. In this frame a pair of singles by Irving and Johnson and a double by Kinneally aided in the run scoring. The Parks scored their lone run in the seventh due to Zborowski's double.

Zborowski featured for the Parks with the only hit his team made besides fielding in faultless style.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR TUSCARORA FROLIC AND CARNIVAL

Nutley High Trims Columbia For No. 7.

Last Saturday afternoon at Park Oval the Maroon and Gray slammed the offerings of three South Orange pitchers for seventeen hits, to walk off with an easy victory 18-4. Incidentally it was the seventh consecutive victory for Stanford's boys and the ninth in ten games, one win being held by St. Benedict's Prep over the Nutley lads. Captain Gibney and Baykowski divided the pitching burden.

After holding South Orange scoreless the first inning Nutley started right there by collecting two runs on a single by "Pint" Sentner and a long home run over the left field bank by "Hank" Stager. Columbia's big rally came in the second inning when they scored three runs on two hits combined with two costly walks. Nutley again took the lead in their half by shoving four wearers of the Maroon and Gray across the platter in the second canto. This inning saw the finish of Pen Day who was relieved by Lombardy, Columbia's star twirler. Lombardy managed to get through the third without allowing the heavy hitting Nutley aggregation to score but the following two innings no less than nine crossed home plate which marked Lombardy's end. Bell who took up the pitching duties from there fared no better, being touched for five hits and three runs in two innings.

Every man on the Maroon and Gray squad connected safely at least once with the exception of Mike Connors, who was at bat but once and was walked. Jacques and "Jim" Sentner led the attack with three hits apiece. Capt. Gibney had two long doubles to his credit, knocking in three runs. Nutley opposes Plainfield at the latter's stamping grounds today.

Final arrangements are being completed by Clifford W. Zeliff, chairman of the committee which will stage the frolic and carnival for the Tuscarora Canoe Club. The affair will be held on the club grounds and will open Monday evening and continue for a week.

Mayor Samuel Kenworthy and the other commissioners, Congressman Fred A. Hartley Jr. and Under-Sheriff Rupert Mills have been invited to present the opening night. Civic, fraternal, sport and other organizations of the town are also expected to help the canoeists get the big show under way. A big free show which always attracts the people will also be staged nightly. Monday night has been set aside for the leading riders from the Velodrome and several races will be contested on the rollers. As the riders start their night racing on the various tracks. Mr. Zeliff was very fortunate to hook paddlers for the opening. Le Roy Garrison, George Chapman Alfred Grenada, Orlando Piani are expected to ride. Recollection of the old days when racing was held at Hillside Park will be brought to the natives when these star riders step on their bikes.

A life and drum corp contest will furnish plenty of entertainment for the following evening. As there are many good corps in this vicinity a lot of interest should be aroused. Wednesday night, the committee will present a rare feature, in the form of a thirty piece harmonica band. It is known as the Boys' Harmonica Band from every-day's safety league of Newark. Recently, in a contest in Philadelphia, Pa., the boys won a beautiful silver trophy, which was contested by over three thousand boys. The band makes a wonderful appearance in their full dress uniforms and plays under the direction of Mrs. Rossi. Any boy in town who has an harmonica is invited to bring it along that night and join in the chorus. Decoration Day water sports will be held in the afternoon. A variety program has been booked for the evening. Harry Siegmund and Stanley will paddle in a three heat match race, the first heat to be run with double blades and the second with a single blade, while the third will be decided with the toss of a coin. A tilting contest and other races will make up the remainder of the program.

Some of the best boxers in the state will help the paddlers to put across a big attraction Friday night. Jack Martin, a 147 pound boy representing the Prudential A. A., Henry Gorside, 150 pounds, of the Bay View Wheelmen; Joe Hahn, Prudential A. A. who tips the scale at 145 pounds; Al Fehn, Shawnee Reds, 147 pound state champion and others will feature that night.

A fine card has been arranged for Saturday afternoon. One of the events will be an exhibition of lifesaving by the United States Volunteer Life Saving Corps under the direction of Captain Verner Hogan. A paddler will upset his canoe and the spectators will be shown the proper method of rescue which will be followed by a first aid demonstration. Other feats will also be performed. At night a handsome prize will be given away. The large outdoor dance floor will be open for free dancing the entire week. A big midway rides for the youngsters and many other features will help give it a high class touch.

Other members on the committee who are assisting Mr. Zeliff are as follows: Theodore Peiter, Charles K. Emmons, Percy Pearce, Alfred Lang, Jules Brandmaier, George Nagel Stanley Nelson, Arthur Schmidt, Harry Siegmund, Samuel Mirzwick, Joseph Hoffman, Verner Hogan, Franklin Aids and Willard Keller.

Belleville Separates Pile Up Another

Webster Pros Defeated In Free Hitting Contest.

Belleville Separates continued their winning ways by defeating the Webster Pros in a free hitting contest at Separates' Field, Saturday afternoon. The score was 11-9. The game scheduled with the Astoria A. C. team for Sunday afternoon was washed out by rain.

Villicari, outfielder for the Separates, started on the mound and although twirling for the first time got by until the eighth inning when Johnny Woods, regular pitcher, came to his rescue in time to receive credit for the victory. Woods of the victors also connected for three hits two being doubles. Julianio who plays third base for the Separates was the fielding star of the day, his catch of a hard line drive with the sacks loaded in the sixth inning was a feature. Julianio also boosted his batting average by polling out two hits.

Vasselli started on the mound for the Webster Pros but was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning. Pastore led at the bat for the losers getting three hits.

Saturday afternoon at Separates' Field the strong Roseville A. C. will be the guests for the Separates. Sunday morning at Celluloid Field the Belleville nine will meet the St. Benedict B. C. in the second game of a series. The St. Benedict nine are representing Newark in the suburban league.

Fans hereabouts are invited to attend first class semi-pro games every Saturday afternoon at Separates' Field located at Passaic avenue and Joralemon street. The attraction for Decoration Day will be the Newark Colored Aces, a fast traveling senior ball club.
