A FEW HINTS ON CARE OF MILK

"In leaving the milk bottles at your house in the morning, the milkman finishes his job and his responsibility ends. It is up to you to see that the care which has been taken to bring the milk to you clean, and wholesome, is then continued until it is used. All the effects of bad milk can be produced by carelessness with good milk after it gets to the home," says Health Officer E. T. Berry.

These rules should be followed:

1.—Have a special place for the milk to be left, preferably in a box where it is protected from cats, dogs, flies and the sun.

2.—Take in the milk as soon as possible after it is delivered and place it at once on ice.

3.—Do not remove the bottles from the ice box or the milk from the bottles until it is needed for use.

4.—With a clean cloth wipe the mouth of the bottle or wash it before pouring out the milk.

5.—Be sure all receptacles for milk are clean.

6.—Pour out from the bottle only such milk as is needed for immediate use and return what is left at once to the ice.

7.—Keep the bottles covered in the ice box and do not put them near fish, onions, or other things with odor. Milk readily absorbs flavors and the taste is spoiled.

8.—Under no conditions give to children milk that is old or slightly turned. Sour milk can be very well used in cooking.

9.—If the members in the household eat breakfast at different intervals, do not allow milk to stand on the table during this period. See that it is replaced in the box after each meal, so that those arising late are assured of pure milk.

10.—Wash the bottles thoroughly after they are used, and return them promptly to the milkman.

11.—If the members in the household eat breakfast at different intervals, do not allow milk to stand on the table during this period. See that it is replaced in the box after each meal, so that those arising late are assured of pure milk.

12.—Wash the bottles thoroughly after they are used, and return them promptly to the milkman.

13.—If the members in the household eat breakfast at different intervals, do not allow milk to stand on the table during this period. See that it is replaced in the box after each meal, so that those arising late are assured of pure milk.

14.—Wash the bottles thoroughly after they are used, and return them promptly to the milkman.

15.—If the members in the household eat breakfast at different intervals, do not allow milk to stand on the table during this period. See that it is replaced in the box after each meal, so that those arising late are assured of pure milk.

Resolution Passed On Improvement

Town In Accord With County On Union Avenue

A resolution was passed Tuesday night at the Town Commission meeting, asking the County Board of Freeholders to take over Union avenue as a County road. The cost of improvements is to be shared as follows: Between Belleville avenue and Union avenue, town and county each pay half the cost of curbing and paving; county to pay for grading of sidewalk area and town to pay for the construction of sidewalks; between Union avenue and Belleville-Nutley line, a forty-eight foot road will be laid, of which the county will pay for forty feet and the town eight feet, town to pay entire cost of sidewalk.

A resolution was received from the Board of Adjustment as regards the proposed change in the zoning ordinance. The adjustment group "feels that the proposed revision of zoning map offers disturbance of established values; it being generally conceded that the retention of established values is the great merit of zoning."

They recommended the retention of the present zoning map. The proposed change, planned by Herbert S. Swan of Park Row, New York, cost the town $1250.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher said: "Mr. Blank really did the work on this map and this man from New York merely came in and put a few red and blue marks on it. The Mayor himself had to straighten it out downstairs. He ought to get the money instead. I consider it $1250 wasted."

Mayor Samuel Kenworthy replied, "I do not feel that the Zoning Board can function properly under the present zoning ordinance. It is now six years old and I feel that it must be changed according to conditions."

It was found the request of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to lease from the town for a club-house the old Valley Hose House in Stephens street could not be granted when Corporation Counsel John B. Brown reported the town's title to the property, according to the deed, would not be perfected until 1937.

Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons's salary was raised by resolution of Commissioner William D. Clark $250 $1,750. The Mayor and Town Engineer Blank were authorized to confer with the Board of Freeholders regarding the extension of Franklin avenue, south, to Newark avenue, to afford a direct link between Belleville proper and the Soho and Silver Lake sections.

ASSESSMENT GAIN OF $124,000 IS RAPPED BY COUNTY BOARD

Local Suit On Value Boosted From $10,000 Gets Complete Airing With Many Other Cases For Appeals

The County Tax Board Thursday heard the appeal of the United States Cutlery Company of 10 Main street, from the action of the Town Commission in assessing at $134,000 for 1929 personal property, which last year was assessed at only $100,000. Decision was reserved, pending an inspection of the property.

When it was brought out that after the town commission had fixed the valuation at $134,000, William George Hunt, the local assessor, had recommended a reduction of $109,000, which would bring the valuation down to $25,000, county board members remarked that it appeared to them that "the Belleville tax authorities had 'passed the buck' to the county board. They wanted to know why Belleville had not lopped the $109,000 off the valuation, instead of recommending that the county board deduct it.

Hunt's reply was that he and the commissioners were puzzled as to just what to do, so thought they would put the matter up to the county board of adjustment.

The $10,000 appraisal on which the company was previously taxed was a nominal valuation, accorded it in consideration of reports that it was not making money. Its president, N. Dohley Myers, seeks to have this year's valuation fixed at the same or approximately the same figure. He and Thomas Fleming, former assessor, both testified that the company is not doing any business now, that stock appraised at $164,000 in the valuation has not been paid for, and that if the company had to pay on the full assessment it would be forced out of business. Myers explained that suspension of business would result in the loss of a $200,000 annual payroll to Belleville.

Statement Submitted
When a tax statement was demanded of the company last fall, one was submitted by Puder & Puder, public accountants, showing that the personality, as of October 1 last, was $298,223.87, of which $164,000 represented stock on hand. The statement also showed liabilities, or debts against the company amounting to $359,370.71.

Myers contended Thursday that these debts should be deducted from the valuation, and that the stock also should be deducted, since it has not been paid for. The board advised him that only debts owing to persons or firms in New Jersey could be deducted, whereas most of these debts were contracted outside the State, and that no deduction could be made for the stock because it had not been paid for.

Thursday's developments seemed to bear out Isaac Shoenthal, president of the board, when in hearing Belleville cases Wednesday, declared: "Belleville is underassessed and I have heard that the cause is due to some influence. I don't know how near right this is, but I believe an assessor should be put up there who doesn't live in the town, but who knows property values."

Mr. Hunt agreed with him that the town was generally underassessed but he added that he had been attempting to increase the assessments.

"Assessments have been raised in the wrong places," Shoenthal said. "We (the board) are going to talk and talk plainly, with your director of revenue and finance (Commissioner Gibson) and if this doesn't help, then the board itself will reassess the town."

Hunt reiterated that he was trying to boost the assessments and Shoenthal said: "I'm not blaming you, Mr. Hunt, because I have my opinion."

The board Wednesday as told in this paper last week ordered a $10 a foot reduction on assessments in Garden avenue. Town assessors had raised values in the thoroughfare shortly after the street had been paved. They were unaware, they said, that the improvement had been made recently. The reduction will be cancelled next year.

Nearly fifty appeals were disposed of Wednesday. Most of them were from residents in Garden avenue and Greylock Parkway and Hornblower avenue.

There Are No Disappointments When GAS is Used to Heat Water

HOT water contributes so largely to nearly all our personal comforts and to the smooth running of our homes, that when it is lacking, we are seriously inconvenienced.

In restaurants, hotels and club houses interrupted hot water service detracts from the prestige of the house.

In modern homes and commercial houses, gas is used to heat water and interruptions in hot water service are rare. Gas works most successfully under automatic control, and so well designed is the modern water heating appliance—so dependable is the action of the standard thermostat, that the owner of a gas automatic water heating system finds himself relieved of practically all effort in the operation of his water heating system.

There is no substitute for hot water, and gas, most adaptable, most easily controlled and cleanest of all fuels, is destined to be used as universally for heating water as is electricity for power and light.

Rates now charged for gas by this company fix a price of 9½ cents per 100 feet for all additional gas used above 1400 feet, a substantial reduction from previous rate for quantity use.

Considering the convenience realized gas is the cheapest fuel with which to heat water.

Now in observing this anniversary it takes pride in recalling the early start and the growth—with the assurance that the past has been so successful.

American Cooks Are Acquiring Flair for Delicate Seasonings

By K. CAMILLE DEN DOOVEN

Formerly Chef of the Hotel du Littoral, Westende-Bains, Belgium, and Writer on Culinary Topics.

NOWHERE have I encountered a more delightful cuisine than in traveling the length and breadth of your beautiful country. The old charge that American cooking is lacking in individuality will no longer hold. One reason for the rapid improvement which is taking place is undoubtedly that your cooks are acquiring the French flair for delicate seasonings to develop the natural flavors of the ingredients.

I have particularly noted, with pleased surprise, that American cooks seem to have recently learned what I have always thought was a secret of the most expert of the Continental chefs. I refer to the use of a small amount of sugar, added while cooking, to accentuate vegetable flavors. As I take pride in my own vegetable dishes, I hope that the following recipes will prove gratifying to the American penchant for serving well cooked and well seasoned food.

K. CAMILLE DEN DOOVEN

Spinach Dauphine — Cook one half peck of spinach in boiling, salted water for twenty-five minutes. Drain and chop fine. Then reheat in a pan together with two tablespoons butter, one and a half tablespoons flour and a third of a cup of chicken stock. Season with salt, pepper, a little grated nutmeg and lemon rind, and a half teaspoon of powdered sugar.

Green Corn Croquettes — Grate from the cob four cups of green corn. Stir into the corn two well beaten eggs, two teaspoons of melted butter, a teaspoon of sugar, and salt to taste. Add enough flour to enable you to form the mixture into cylindrical shapes about two inches long and an inch through. Roll in flour and fry in deep fat.

Savory String Beans — Shred two medium-sized onions and saute them until they are tender in two tablespoons of butter. Mix the onions with a pint of strained, stewed tomatoes. Season with one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, a dash of cayenne, two teaspoons sugar, and two cloves. Bring to a boil and add one quart of freshly cooked string beans. Simmer for fifteen minutes, add a teaspoon of butter, and serve.

Beets Piquante — Boil four medium-size beets until tender. In the meanwhile, mix together two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon grated onion, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon vinegar, and a dash of nutmeg. Cook for five minutes. When the beets are done, slip off the skins and chop into small pieces. Put in a hot serving dish and pour the sauce over them.

BOY SCOUTS THROUGHOUT COUNTRY ASSIST IN CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGNS

Nails And Other Sharp Objects Removed From Streets As Good Turn For Motorists

Working with City Health authorities and other municipal officials, Boy Scouts in every part of the country participated during the early summer months in clean-up campaigns. In some places Scouts cleaned up the city streets, in others they centered their efforts upon municipal owned properties, still other Scouts drained marshes and cleaned out stagnant pools to aid in destroying mosquitoes and at present, Scouts wishing to do a good turn for motorists of their community, are picking up nails and other articles which might injure automobile tires from the streets of their home communities.

New York City

In New York City and Newark, N. J., Scouts worked with the City Health officials in general clean-up campaigns. Although no mobilized force of Scouts did any spectacular work, individual Troops of boys in different parts of the cities cleaned up in their home neighborhoods and helped spread the doctrine of cleanliness to their neighbors.

At Omaha, Nebraska 300 Scouts distributed posters urging all citizens to aid in a thorough clean-up of their city. These Scouts also cleaned all municipal and public properties within the city limits. At Salt Lake City, Utah, Boy Scouts not only cleaned up all municipal places, but also distributed posters and helped the city authorities to carry on an educational campaign urging all citizens to clean and paint their premises. At Newport, News, Va., Boy Scouts made a complete survey of the city and later asked the citizens to aid them in their work of making Newport News one of the cleanest municipalities in the country. At Philadelphia, Scouts placed special emphasis upon the necessity of keeping houses and private properties clean as a means of fire prevention. The Scouts distributed self-inspection blanks to every householder in the community. These blanks were filled out and returned to the city authorities after the householders themselves had made a thorough clean-up of their premises.

Good Work

At Logan, Utah, nearly a hundred Scouts and their Scout leaders cleared out brush and underbrush in the woodlands surrounding the city. They also burned all rubbish collected on municipal property. At Great Falls, Montana the Scouts carried on an extensive campaign to educate the people of their municipality in the need for keeping garbage covered and keeping their properties clean so that houseflies could be kept away from the residential sections of the city. "Beautifying Toledo—clean-up and paint-up," the Scouts of Toledo, Ohio, distributed circulars and posters and were the instigators of a clean-up campaign in which the entire population of the city participated. Other clean-up campaigns were conducted at Chicago Heights; Des Moines, Iowa; Jacksonville, Florida; Spokane, Washington; Boise, Idaho; Buffalo, N. Y., and Brooklyn, N. Y.

REAL MOBILIZATION

When a tornado demolished the town of Slocum, Texas, shortly after noon on April 24, killing seven people and injuring more than 100 others, the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 3, of the community, under the leadership of their Scoutmaster, Ralph Irvine, were immediately mobilized for service. They rendered first aid to the injured, fed the homeless, and collected clothing for those left destitute. According to the report of Scout Executive Edmonds Knittle, the Scouts worked steadily for nearly a week after the tornado, salvaging from the completely demolished town all things of value and returning them to their rightful owners. The tornado destroyed every building over a six-mile area and destroyed everything in its path including even the smallest pieces of furniture.

For three days after the tornado, 350 people were fed by the Boy Scouts who had practically no equipment with which to cook. They were later relieved when an army field stove was given them to work with. On the first day twelve boys gave their services and on the following day 50 Scouts were on the job.

In commenting on the work of the Scouts, Scout Executive Knittle said, "I know that the work of the boys has been really appreciated, and that more than anything else it has helped to tell to many people just what Scouts can and will do in an emergency of this kind. There were a great many other tasks, like burying dead stock, rounding up and penning up chickens, and the like, that the boys undertook, and I am rather glad to have had the opportunity to have been at the head of such a group of boys and leaders in the emergency we have just gone through."

A SCOUT IS TRUSTWORTHY

Because he wanted to become a Boy Scout and, knowing the Boy Scouts are sworn to truthfulness, Earl Jones, 16, of 4010 Parker street, Omaha, Nebraska, confessed to a series of robberies in the neighborhood of Fortieth and Hamilton streets, Omaha, and voluntarily gave himself up to the police.

The day before giving himself up this negro boy had applied for membership in a Scout Troop and was given an application blank to study and read. According to the report of Scout Executive Jack Wright of the Omaha Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, the boy, on the following day, voluntarily appeared at the nearest police headquarters and gave himself up. When interviewed by the Scoutmaster, he very tearfully stated that he wanted to tell the truth about everything from now on, even though he knew that no Scout Troop would admit him after being arrested.

In recognition of the influence that the Boy Scout Movement had upon this boy, the Juvenile Court paroled him to the Scoutmaster and the Scouts of the Troop have voted to admit him to membership.

A NEW TROPHY

A loving cup to be known as the Kelly cup has been offered by Lieutenant Kelly of the United States Aviation Service, to the Boy Scout making the best model airplane at Grove City, Pennsylvania.

A contest in building of planes among the Scouts will be followed by an exhibition. Lieutenant Kelly, now stationed at Oregon, is a Grove City boy. He was among the pioneers in making air history. His transcontinental non-stop flight was the first made by an American aviator.

SCOUT TRAINING

When a fisherman was overcome by the heat on the Concho River near Campbell, N. Y., and fell into the water recently, three Boy Scouts, Leo Loucks, Ernest Goodrich and Ralph Stevens, plunged into the water after that man and brought him to safety. Then applying artificial respiration, they brought him to consciousness and turned him over to Constable Harry Hopkins of Campbell who took him to his home. The Scouts were complimented for their very efficient service by the Constable.

KILL CATERPILLARS

For destroying the greatest number of tent caterpillars of any Boy Scout Troop in Western Massachusetts, Troop No. 88, Boy Scouts of North Agawam, Mass., were recently awarded a bronze plaque by the Department of Agriculture. This Troop of Scouts destroyed 3,314 tent caterpillars. The Radio Nature League collaborated in the crusade.

SERVICE TO GOLFERS

Troop No. 20, Boy Scouts of America, at Boise, Idaho, have come to the rescue of the golfers of Boise and will combine their daily Good Turn with a course of instruction. As part of their course in map making, the Scouts will make a map of the Hill golf course, with everything set down just as is, and to facilitate the making of the map, shiny pegs will be placed at strategic intervals along the fairways.

Those who have played the ups and downs of the Hill course are inclined to greet this innovation—the pegs, not the map—with joy, since it will facilitate the judging of directions over the brow of hills to distant greens, the location of which under the present conditions, are hard to find.

Nash Anniversary Shows "400" Sales A Great Triumph

Kenosha, Wis. July 18—Rounding out one of the most spectacular triumphs in the history of automobile making, the famous "400" series Nash cars, which were introduced on June 21, 1928, have completed their first anniversary of public service with a sales record greater by thousands of cars than the sales of any previous twelve months on the books of the Nash Company.

C. H. Bliss, general sales manager, in footling up factory sales totals from June 21, 1928, to June 20, 1929—the period in which the popular "400's" have completed their production and sales anniversary—found today that 168,269 of these new type cars were shipped from the Nash factories.

This record does not consider the usual fiscal year, but takes the new Series through their first birthday with a total of 32,748 units over and above the totals shipped in the best previous twelve months of Nash manufacturing.

The biggest twelve months experienced by Nash previous to the advent of the "400's" came in 1926, when 135,521 Nash cars were shipped from the factories. In the year 1929, half of which was devoted to the manufacture of the new Series, a total of 138,138 units were shipped.

"Using any basis of comparison," said Mr. Bliss, "it is plain that these twin-ignition, high compression and far advanced Nash models have won their way both to the greatest international popularity that Nash has so far attained, and to the highest factory sales records in company history. The demand for them during the twelve months from June 21, 1928, to June 20, 1929, brought about a shipment increase of some 24 per cent over the former Nash banner year of 1926. It won them an increase of 57 per cent over the number of cars shipped during the same twelve months in 1927-1928, and has brought about the company's greatest industrial success."

Diamonds Play Important Part In Hupp Construction

Detroit, Mich., July 18.—A half hundred stalwart and nearly nude native laborers stagger from the mouth of a great diamond mine in North Africa. They file past the inspection clerk for examination. He even feels of their kinky hair to see that none of the precious stones have been hidden away. Fifteen minutes later, having convinced the inspectors that they have concealed none of the precious stones, they pass through the great gates for a few weeks freedom and contact with the outside world.

Quaintly dressed Hollanders, mingling with men of western dress, through the great diamond marts of Holland. One efficient individual concludes his purchases and departs for America. Ten days later he appears at the manufacturing offices of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation with a special consignment of commercial diamonds.

It's been a long trip for these semi-precious stones—from Africa to Holland and thence to Detroit. But these stones will aid in building a motor car to unusually rigid standards.

Hupmobile makes extensive use of commercial diamonds to provide Hupmobile owners with a guarantee of long and economical service. These stones are the cutting edges that drill the connecting rod bearings of all six and eight cylinder engines.

The precision of the finest watch makers is a constant factor in the manufacture of Hupmobile cars. The lower bearings and upper bushing of the connecting rod must be exactly parallel and perfectly round. Hupmobile uses the most modern method to simultaneously bore both ends of its connecting rods. Hupmobile engineers point out that with older methods, such as broaching, it is often necessary to twist and bend the rods after boring to obtain perfect alignment or parallelism of the two bearing surfaces. Obviously, this correctional method is unnecessary at the Hupp factory.

Hupmobile has a battery of three diamond boring machine in the Detroit plant alone which cost approximately $4,000.00 each. Twelve to fifteen commercial diamonds must always be ready for use, costing between $780.00 and $1,000.00. This number of diamonds will machine approximately 2,500 connecting rods before they must be "lapped" or re-sharpened, at a cost of from $10.00 to $12.50 each. The services of a specialized jeweler, who knows this type of diamonds is required for this work. To summarize, Hupmobile's investment in the diamond boring of connecting rods, to turn out a given amount of work approximates $13,000.00 as compared with a cost of about $150.00 to do the same work by antiquated and less effective methods.

NASH "400"

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

Delivered, Fully Equipped
Prices of 23 "400" Models,

$970 to $2301

including Touring, Roadster, Coupe, Cabriolet, Victoria and Sedan Models

PRICED TO GIVE YOU GREATEST VALUE

CONSIDER the delivered, fully equipped price of this charming Nash "400" Sedan, and you'll see immediately it is a car you certainly should consider, when you get ready to buy.

For here, at a delivered, fully equipped price much lower than you would expect to pay for a car of its size and character, is an Advanced Six "400" Sedan with the Twin Ignition, high compression, valve-in-head, 7-bearing motor—with the beauty and style that have made the "400" a heavy favorite among all the year's new cars—and with a host of other costly-car features never available before in this price field.

Such features, for instance, as Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication which oils 29 chassis points at the pressure of a pedal. And alloy steel springs individually designed for its size and weight, correlated with Houdaille, double-action, outboard-mounted, hydraulic shock absorbers. And the "world's easiest steering"!

These are only a few of the features of this Nash "400", but they give you an idea of its greater value and the extraordinarily fine performance you may expect from it.

The delivered, fully equipped price on this, and on all "400" models is lower, for the simple reason that all this equipment—Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication, Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire lock, and tire cover—is installed at the factory and included in the factory price. Some dealers charge as much as $50 to $60 extra for bumpers alone.

Mrs. Tatz Dies From Gas Fumes

Ninety-Year-Old Widow Asphyxiated In Her Home

Seated in her favorite rocking chair, Mrs. Ernestine L. Tatz, a 90-year-old widow, was found asphyxiated by gas Monday evening by her son, Hugo, when he returned to their home at 467 Franklin avenue, Belleville.

Her parrot, a companion for many years, met death at the same time. That they had not encountered the same fate a week ago, when the gas, as Monday, was found escaping, was due to the fact, her family believes, that the windows of the house were open then. Monday they were closed.

Mrs. Tatz, had she lived until October 8, would have been ninety years old. She had been a resident of Belleville fifty-five years.

Hugo discovered his mother, and the parrot in its cage, dead in a front room upon returning from work Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Gas was turned on full but was not burning in the stove in the adjoining room. It is believed the elderly woman had placed some water to boil and pressed the pilot light of the stove but not sufficiently to ignite the gas.

This is what happened a week ago. Then, Mrs. Tatz's plight was discovered by a granddaughter-in-law, Mrs. Theodore W. Buck, who lives next door at 461 Franklin avenue. She was accustomed to prepare the aged woman's breakfast and when she did not appear for it last week, Mrs. Buck went for her and found the gas on and unlighted under potatoes on the stove.

Assistant County Medical Examiner Berardinelli declared death due to accident.

Besides Hugo, Mrs. Tatz is survived by two other grandsons, David of 38 Baldwin street, Bloomfield, and Dewey of 470 Franklin avenue, Belleville, and six great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held yesterday at 2:30 P. M. at Theodore Beck's home. Interment was in Bloomfield Cemetery.

Break Ground For New Town Building

Workmen Get On The Job Tuesday Morning

The Beyea Construction Company of Union City broke ground Tuesday morning for the Public Safety building at Warren and Chestnut streets, Nutley.

William Armstrong, architect, will be unable to supervise the work for a few days as he is ill at his home, 603 Bloomfield avenue, Nutley. In his absence his partner, Peter de Geleke of Boonton, will take charge.

Mrs. Margaret Windheim

Mrs. Margaret Windheim died Monday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stewart Fleming, 66 Raymond avenue, Nutley, from a heart attack. Funeral services will be held at Mrs. Fleming's residence today. Burial will be in the Nutley Methodist Episcopal Cemetery.

Born in Shohola, Pa., seventy-one years ago, Mrs. Windheim had lived in Nutley forty years. Besides Mrs. Fleming, she is survived by two daughters and five sons. They are Mrs. Charles Liebau, Nutley; Mrs. Ernest Thrum, Newark; John, Arthur, Henry, Frederick and Conrad, all of Nutley.

Mrs. Windheim's husband Henry died in Nutley in 1896.

Nash Wins Budapest Style Award

beautiful Nash "400" Advanced Six Limousine won to the highest award in the annual Budapest "Concours d'Elegance." Three other "400" models, two Advanced Six Sedans and a Special Six Sedan, also received prizes in their class.

Elliott Confined To Bed With Grip

Severe Mental Strain Is One Of The Causes Of His Condition

Willard H. Elliott of 88 Lafayette avenue, East Orange, former vice president and treasurer of the Hobart Trust Company, Passaic, who was kidnapped recently and held for six days, has been ordered to bed by his physician. It was stated this week at his home.

Mr. Elliott complained of a chill Saturday night and is suffering from a nervous breakdown and the grip. Since his release after the kidnapping experience Mr. Elliott has been aiding police and detectives of Passaic County in trying to locate the two buildings where he was held.

Declaring his intention of trying to solve the mystery, Mr. Elliott recently told friends he did not intend to take a vacation or seek another position, having resigned from the trust company last week, until some new clue was found. Members of his family said he has been under a severe mental strain continuously since the night of his release.

P. S. Appropriates Sum For Bus Terminal Plan

Would Use Second Floor Of Terminal In Park Place

Appropriation was authorized by the Public Service Coordinated Transport management Tuesday for the renovation of the second floor of the Newark Terminal building to make it available for bus terminal uses. It is intended to so arrange the layout as to provide a combination bus and trolley terminal that will be ahead of anything of the kind in the country, afford convenient facilities to patrons and relieve street congestion by eliminating certain bus terminals from busy streets.

Work will be begun without delay. It is intended to have the buses enter the building from Mulberry street by way of the ramp. Inside the terminal they will proceed along the northerly track to a switch which turns into the centre of the enclosure. Here an area approximately 50 by 250 feet, providing ample room for loading and unloading, bus platform and waiting room, will be made available when the present track is removed. The plans call for the installation of an escalator which will carry both bus and trolley patrons from the concourse floor of the terminal to the waiting room. Buses will leave the terminal through the center doors, proceeding to Mulberry street by way of the couterly track used as an exit by all street cars leaving the upper level.

A complete ventilating system will be installed with fans delivering a constant supply of fresh air to take up the motor exhaust gases. The air will then be drawn by exhaust fans through ducts into the open in a similar manner to that employed in the Holland Tunnels. Another interesting feature will be an automatic recording device operated by electricity which will mark the arrival and departure of every bus. A mechanical loud speaking system will also be installed so that the announcement of the departure of buses will be heard in the concourse as well as the waiting rooms.

For the present the terminal will be used by the super-service interurban buses of Public Service rather than for short headway local service. Such lines as the Newark-New York, Hackensack, Plainfield, Morris County, Clifton and others will be run into the terminal as will certain buses other than those operated by Public Service. These latter include the White Way Tours operating between Philadelphia and New York via Lakewood; Peoples Rapid Transit, operating between Philadelphia and New York; Greyhound Lines and Great Lake Stages operating into Pennsylvania, New York, and points west; Colonial Lines operating to Rochester, and Syracuse; and the Golden Arrow Lines operating to Allentown and Easton.

It Pays To Stop At Stop Streets But Some Pay For Non-Stops

Found guilty of violating the stop street law in Nutley, four motorists paid fines of $3 each Monday. They were Russell Hoffman, East Orange; William Hunter, Roselle Park; Benjamin Brooks, Hawthorne, and Joseph Schwartz, Newark.

passenger coupe at $1045. The sixth body model is a five passenger tourer listing at $1095. All prices are f. o. b. factory."

First Aid Saves Life Of Child, 5

Telephone Employees Are On The Job At Parkway Pond

Prompt first aid measures by two telephone employees saved the life Monday of Robert Trantmeter, 5, of 64 Orchard place, Nutley, who was wading with a number of children in the Memorial Parkway pond on Vreeland avenue.

Although the water is only about a foot deep, he fell to the bottom. The screams of the other children brought to the scene Rudolph Herdin of 89A Union avenue, Clifton, and William Kamerling of 85 Hamilton avenue, Paterson, working nearby.

Apartments Fare Badly At Meeting

Commissioners Stand To Protect Nutley Residents

The Board of Commissioners of Nutley has no intention of changing the residential aspect of the town, it was indicated Tuesday night, when more than forty petitions for changes in the town's zoning ordinance were denied.

Apartment houses and extra-family dwellings fared particularly bad, for more than half of the petitions requested sites to be altered to allow their erection. Two cases that have been hanging fire for some time were closed by the board's action.

The application of Felice Jannarone to erect a coal yard at Park avenue and Walnut street was one of them. That of Llewellyn E. Pratt to have the lower section of Highfield lane classed for apartments was the other.

The board's decision in the several cases was not unanimous, Commissioner Rife voting "no" in many instances. He was especially emphatic in the Highfield lane matter, saying that the northeast corner should be made an apartment house zone.

The La Proto Construction Company of Lodi and Samara and Company of Nutley were the low bidders on the construction of sanitary sewers on Glendale street, Paterson avenue, Newark avenue, Dodd street, Willow street, Laurel avenue and parts of Nutley and Whitford avenues. Commissioner Sherwood recommended that before awarding the contract to the first named concern an investigation be made, as they have not done any work before in town.

Mrs. Emil Diebitsch was appointed chairman of a committee to make a survey of street names in town and to recommend changes where duplication or similarity occurs. Commissioner Sherwood said he had suggested to her that historical names be used as far as possible.

The board passed a resolution asking the Essex County Board of Freeholders to improve the section of Union avenue, from Center street, Nutley, to the Belleville town line.

It Wasn't So Hot But Auto Takes Dip In Brook

Residents Get A Thrill In Center Street Dash

Residents in the neighborhood of the Center street entrance to Yanticaw Park, Nutley, were startled late Monday afternoon when a runaway roadster, without driver, traveled 200 yards along Center street, ran over the curb, broke a fence and disappeared down a hill into a brook.

The car was owned by Annunzioardi, 297 Center street, who had parked the roadster in front of his home. The brakes failed to hold it. It was towed from the brook an hour later by trucks owned by George Payne and Harry Taylor, Nutley.

Nutley Boys Play Ball At Saranac

Two Nutley boys, John O'Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. O'Neill of 154 Whitford avenue, and Thomas Garrison, son of Mrs. Marian Garrison of 11 Prospect street, returned to their homes Sunday after spending three weeks at Saranac Lake, where they played summer ball with an amateur baseball team representing that resort.

O'Neill has gone to Lake Placid where he will remain for the rest of the vacation period. He will play Sunday ball with the Lake Placid town team.

Garrison and O'Neill, who are both twenty years old, will return to Manhattan College as sophomores in the fall. Garrison prepared for college at Nutley High School, while O'Neill attended Nutley High School, St. Peter's Prep, Jersey City and St. Benedict's Prep, Newark, before going to Manhattan. The two college boys are members of the class of 1932.

Convention Report

Dwight Decker, retiring president of the Nutley Rotary Club, spoke today at Yountakah Country Club at the weekly meeting of the Nutley Rotarians. Mr. Decker gave a report of his experiences at the National Rotary Convention held in Dallas, Tex., in May.

Booster Social Club

The Booster Social Club of the Moose Lodge will hold a meeting Friday evening, July 19, at the home. After the meeting there will be entertainment and refreshments. Arrangements are being made to hold an outing at Castle Grove some time in August.

Two members of the club are fond of salt water fishing and each time they have a big fish story and very little fish. These two, M. De Carlo and E. Mc Dowell took a trip to Barnegat Bay the other day and the results were no fish and a big story. Because the fish weren't biting they went crabbing, equally as successful.

William Reed, secretary, hopes they have many fish and a little story next time.

BUILDING HIGHWAYS FOR THE FUTURE

So rapid has been the development of automobile travel in this country that many highways built but a comparatively few years ago are outmoded and dangerous.

As a result progressive sections are building for the future. Low cost pavements are being constructed, wide enough for several cars abreast, with banked turns and mathematical grades.

There is no place with our modern 50-mile-an-hour cars for 20-mile-an-hour highways. The roads of today must be built with an eye on the years to come.

In another part of the News today is a story by E. E. Duffy on the experience of Akron in road building, which through carefully contemplated and progressive street widening has already saved nearly $2,000,000.

The saving was affected through a set-back plan which eliminated costly expenses for condemnation when it was found necessary to acquire more land for roads.

Recently Newark newspapers told about the congestion of shore roads. Only one plan will eliminate such conditions—wider roads. Why not employ a little foresight?

Wider roads will be needed for years to come. Failure to see the saturation point in motor car ownership proves this. New Jersey would do well if a state law were enacted which would compel municipalities to put into effect a set-back rule. Taxpayers would save themselves countless millions of dollars if they insisted that such a law be passed.

Belleville avenue is a striking example of where foresight was lacking. All along it homes, stores and apartments have been permitted to rise almost right to the street line. Belleville avenue is one of the main arteries from this part of the state to New York City and one of the narrowest of streets hereabouts. It is a shame that somebody did not have foresight enough to realize that some day this thoroughfare would have to be widened. Now it has to be done and the county is more concerned than anyone else over the cost. It has given the Freeholders plenty of headaches. Condemnation will have to be resorted to—a course that never should have been necessary. Right here—a stone's throw from New York—the pulse of the world, someone without vision wasted taxpayers' money. How long are these conditions going to exist?

It is about time that municipal officials decided that a set-back plan is the only plan. With such planning wider streets may be constructed without needless expense.

Belleville commissioners would do well for the town and themselves to consider this matter and it is passed on to them for what it is worth.

:O:

EDUCATED AMERICA?

Upon going over the records of Belleville's Public Schools for the past year, it was discovered that only one-fifth of the pupils reaching high school age complete this course of learning. In other words, eighty per cent of the young men and women of Belleville, entering the business world, have not had a high school education! This is astounding.

While this might not seem improbable in a foreign country where education is not regarded so highly, or in a rural district where home duties take up much of the time of boys and girls, there seems to be no excuse for such a condition existing in a town of Belleville's size and locality.

There are, of course, some cases where families may be in dire need of the few dollars brought in by a fourteen-year-old child. Also, some children may be so constituted mentally as to render schooling impossible and useless. But such cases are very few in comparison to the great number who have failed to take advantage of the opportunities offered them.

The children are not to blame. They are young and in some cases have no foresight—they have not been "through the mill," so to speak. But parents who have lived and learned, why do you allow such things to happen? Why do you not explain, plead and even force these children to complete their education and thus fit themselves to carry on the work of this great nation?

Why will an otherwise loving parent, who would willingly lay down his life for his child, allow him to carry such a hinderance into future life through neglect of education?

:O:

SUPPLEMENT YOUR HUNCHES

No ordinary investor, wandering in the maze of modern finance, can choose safely from the thousands of securities offered the public. "Tipster" sheets and friendly advice are easily found, but dependence upon such information alone is generally hazardous.

A great number of separate elements enter into the stability of a stock or bond issue. Marketing conditions governing whatever the company sells, the relation between supply and demand, price levels, competition, financial reserves and assets, location, the quality and integrity of the management—any one of these can mean the difference between a successful industry and a failure.

For one person who turns a few dollars into a fortune in an unknown, highly speculative venture, a thousand lose. The blandishments of suave promoters, handsome brochures and unscrupulous advice, generally pave the way to financial ruin.

Investment or speculation should be restricted to securities in industries that have been proven sound and that have promise of future progress. Reputable investment bankers, and brokerage houses whose standing is established through membership in one or more of the great major exchanges, are available to the large or small investor who should supplement his hunches with their advice. Purchase of a listed security in itself assures a reasonable degree of safety as it must uphold certain standards to maintain its listing.

Hint To Salesmanship
A man of experience wishes to advise young bond salesmen not to approach a prospect who is nursing a boil.—Milwaukee Journal.

By JOHN SAUER

We learned the other day, via the radio, that this is National Insect Killing Week. As a result we have compiled the following list of those we would like to see exterminated
immediately:—

The pest who keeps his radio going full blast, with the windows
open.

The radio tenor who sings, "I Faw Down—"

The motorist who wants only half the road—the middle half.

The officer who insists on insisting on slapping you on the back after a week-end at the sea-shore.

The boy friend who insists on telling how he almost married a million dollar heiress while on his vacation.

The sweet thing who "just adores"
Rudy Vallee.

The girl friend who tell you about all the other dates she has had when you take her out.

The college boy who honks his horn at two in the morning when he brings the neighbor's daughter home.

The Rocking Chair Brigade at all summer boarding houses.

Now that two men have succeeded in staying up in the air for approximately ten days without traveling more than a couple of miles from their starting point, we can see no difference between endurance flying and flagpole sitting except that the former is much more expensive.

A Good Stunt
"Two Aviators Remain Aloft for Ten Days When Plane Falls."—
headline in Newark Ledger.

To get back to the old subject, all
we need now is a flagpole sitter
without a flagpole.

This headline put us in mind of the story of the two men who were watching a plane do stunts at an exhibition.

"I'd hate to be up there with that thing," remarked the first.
"Yeah, but I'd hate to be up there without that thing," replied the second.

American wage earners' envelopes
contain from one-third to four times more than those of European workers, according to a survey made by the Home Study Council of Washington.

This may be true, but we shouldn't lose sight of the fact that this extra two-thirds or three-fourths, which ever it might be, is passed on to the Europeans by American tourists.

With the circulation of the new paper money, the smokers who felt a grievance at the discontinuance of cigar coupons are happy again. They now pay for their smokes with a ten-dollar bill and get the same thrill out of picking up their change in new bills as they did from collecting the old certificates.

On the other hand, some of the suspicious ones are keeping their eyes peeled to see that they don't receive a coupon instead of a five-spot.

A New England horse dealer sold a horse to a customer, who returned in a day or so and declared that he was not completely satisfied with his deal.
He was asked the reason for his dissatisfaction.

"There's only one thing I don't like about this horse," he said. "She won't hold her head up."

"Oh, that's only her silly pride," exclaimed the dealer. "She will when she's fully paid for."

Charity—"Will you donate something to the Old Ladies' Home?" Generosity—"With pleasure; help yourself to my mother-in-law."

An officer on board a battleship was drilling his men. "I want every man to lie on his back, put his legs in the air, and move them as if he were riding a bicycle," he explained.
"Now begin." After a short effort
one of the men stopped.

"Why have you stopped, Murphy?"
asked the officer.

"If you please, sir," was the reply, "O'm coasting."

The scholarly appearing little man rushed into the police station. "I wish to report," he gasped, "that my car has just been stolen!"

"See who did it?" queried the desk sergeant.

"Ye-yes."

"What'd he look like?"

"I fear I could not describe him accurately," replied the little man.
"But," (and he brightened up and produced a note book from his pocket)
"I succeeded in taking the number of the car."

The driver of a Ford sedan, who was plainly out of his element in city traffic, attempted to turn around in the middle of a block, and was side-swiped and upset by a hook and ladder fire truck on its way to answer a call.

Striding over to the overturned
vehicle a traffic officer poked his head through the broken window and demanded: "What do you mean by blocking traffic like this? C'mon outta
there, you're pinched."

"You let him alone!" said a female voice from the back seat. "How did we know them drunken painters
was going to run into us?"

"Where did the car hit this man?"
asked the lawyer when questioning
the attending physician at the trial.

"At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," responded the doctor.

The foreman of the jury rose in his seat and remarked: "I've lived in this county for upwards of fifty years
and I never heard of any such place;
I believe it's a made-up case."

Not long ago Deacon Miller bought a horse and buggy and took his wife out one Sunday for a drive. They came to our neighboring town of Os-seo and saw a sign which read,
speed limit, fifteen miles per hour.

"Here, ma," said the deacon excitedly, "you take the lines and drive and I'll use the whip. Maybe we can make it."

Judge: "Now, sir, please tell the court what passed between you and your wife in the quarrel."

Defendant: "A flatiron, a rolling pin, six plates and a kettle."

Citizen Cites

Even the man of steel may lose his temper.

Fate sometimes makes a hero of a man, but he can't always hold the job.

The trouble with uplift work today is that too much of it is confined to noses.

It isn't always the high flier that gets to the top.

Some people never know which side of the fence they are on till they fall off.

Take care of your friends and your enemies will take care of themselves.

Success in the game of life doesn't always come to the man who relies on a one-card draw.

The average politician's platform
is a turn table.

An antique is the only thing that is out of date and yet in style.

Fate may be instrumental in making a hero of a man, but it takes more than that to enable him to hold the job.

Crumbs of comfort don't always materialize from casting our bread
upon the water.

There are other things besides happiness that money cannot buy.
Manners, for instance.

Everything you say will be remembered by some one else after you have forgotten it.

It's all right to take time by the fore lock, but don't tell your troubles
before they happen.

This seems a hard world, especially to those who are intent on making it a soft one.

It is all right to take things as they come, but don't knock them as they go.

There are many instances in life
where ignorance is the ally of happiness.

Some men finish making the last payment of the car just in time to use it as the first payment on a new car.

"Four out of five" have it—a lip
in the talkies.

A man may be down and out, but he can always tell a widow how to invest her life insurance.

Caunders Norvell, president of the Remington Arms Company, Inc. says,
"That after forty years in business,
and studying the things that happened in business, I am absolutely convinced that the only policy upon which a business should be conducted is that of absolute honesty, integrity and fairness. I do not mean this from a religious point of view, or even a moral point of view. I mean that experience teaches any observer that it is the best policy."

The basis of all business, of course, is confidence. We only do business with people in whom we have confidence. We only increase our business with people in whom we have confidence. When that confidence is broken, then all satisfactory business contact comes to an end. This is true not only between a house and its customers, but it is true between the heads of a house and its employees. It is true between employees in conducting the business. Suppose the head of a house does something that is unfair. Suppose he is crooked, even in a small matter. Naturally,
the employees nearest to him know what he has done. Naturally, they lose confidence, and this loss of confidence spreads in an organization like a prairie fire.

Then there is another side to unfairness in business that should be considered. When things go wrong and result in quarrels, fights, lawsuits, claims and all that sort of thing, it takes up a world of time of the head men as well as the employees of the business, as there is only just so much time for all of us. The time taken away from an executive with these claims of all kinds is time taken away from constructive work.
It is not only expensive in itself, but it destroys profits that might be made if the executive could devote his time to building up the business.

I have observed that in almost every case where a business has a great many lawsuits and fights that there is something wrong with the management of that business. They are trying to be too shrewd. They are trying to take unfair advantage of somebody. Of course, I know this is not always the case. Sometimes

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1928-29 by
Wynne Ferguson

Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright 1928, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 29

A correspondent has just written as follows:

"You say that the exception to the rule of the informatory double occurs
when the dealer, having bid a no trump,
doubles two of any suit bid by an opponent, either second or fourth hand.
That such a double should be interpreted as a business double and not as an informatory double. What is your reason for this exception?"

The reasons for this exception are very definite: First, the fear of such a double for business prevents fourth hand from bidding a weak suit merely to show the lead. You will be surprised how the threat of a business double will shut out such bids. Second, an informatory double after a no trump bid is rarely of game-going value. That is, the bid in answer to the informatory double rarely is strong enough to score game.

If smart opponents know that the
no trump bidder doubles informatively,
they will bid their suits with impunity,
hoping to force opponents to a suit bid that cannot score game. The fact that informatory doubles rarely score game
and business doubles frequently produce large penalties is the deciding factor. Bids by an opponent without hearing from partner are largely guess work and frequently go wrong, and when they do, produce larger penalties
than higher adverse bids that are bid
up gradually.

The same correspondent gave the following example and asked for comment:

"Down in North Carolina last winter
as first hand I bid a no trump, second hand bid two diamonds, and my partner (third hand) doubled. I construed it as a business double. It was so played, and we lost. My partner meant it as an informatory double. We had arguments every morning, and nobody could make a conclusive argument that satisfied everybody. I made the following argument, and I wonder if it is correct. I said that there were two reasons why this convention of the informatory
double in such a case was useless.

"First: The object of an informatory double is to give information. If the first hand bids a no trump, and the second hand overbids with a suit, the third hand has the information that the first hand no trump consists of three suits not bid by second hand. Having this information, there seems to be no sense in making an informatory double. The third hand, if strong enough, should support the no trump bid by the first hand, or keep still, or make a business double, or support one of the three suits probably held by first hand in his no trump bid.

"Second: The convention would have no practical use, because there would seldom be an occasion to use it. If the first hand bidding a no trump has three suits, and the second hand has one suit, it would almost never happen that the third hand would have strength in the same three suits that the first hand
had. Of course, it could possibly happen, but it seldom would happen. It could happen easily enough that the third hand would have strength in one of the suits contained in the three-suit no trump bid by the first hand, and the third hand probably should support that suit, if it should be bid by first hand."

To which I replied:
"Your example of no trump, two diamonds on your left and double by your partner, should undoubtedly be interpreted as a business double. Unfortunately, a certain number of players interpret this type of double as in-formatory. Such an interpretation seems illogical to me. One of the best rules
as to interpretation of a double as business or informatory, is always to interpret it as informatory when in doubt as to its real meaning. This rule is particularly valuable when playing with casual acquaintances whose game and viewpoint are unfamiliar. Your analysis of the weakness of such a convention is very clever and shows up its weak points very well."

Here is an interesting hand, both as to the bidding and the play:

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one diamond. A passed, Y bid one spade and B passed. This pass by B was very clever. The bidding indicated that his opponents held the better cards and that it would be better to conceal the strength of his hand and await developments.
Z now bid two clubs. A passed and Y bid two diamonds. B then felt that he could safely take a chance, for his first pass had undoubtedly deceived his opponents as to the strength of his hand and from this point on they probably would underestimate it. B, therefore, bid two hearts.
Z bid three diamonds and A bid
three hearts. This bid by A was sound.
He knew that B's heart bid was probably one of four cards only, or it would have been bid on the first round. As A had four hearts, however, and probably two outside tricks, he could safely raise his partner's bid. Y went to four diamonds, a doubtful bid except for the fact that Z had bid two suits. B bid four hearts, a doubtful bid except that the lead probably would be diamonds and, therefore, make his king of diamonds a sure trick.

Z doubled four hearts, a perfectly sound double, in view of his own cards
and Y's bidding of spades and diamonds. All passed and Z opened the ace of diamonds as B had figured, and then the deuce. How should B plan the play of the hand from this point on so that he can make four odd in hearts? Solution in the next article.

unfair people try to take advantage of the business and they must defend themselves, but I am dealing in generalities. Always look out for a man or a business that is mixed up with lawsuits. There is something wrong somewhere. All this twisting and turning causes a lot of loss. The best law firms in the country are those that keep their clients out of court.
Even when a client must submit to some imposition, frequently good lawyers recommend that they settle the claim.

While I do not pretend to be orthodox, I have always said that the best book for a commercial house was the Bible. The best business lessons are to be derived from that Book.
The Bible is based on human nature in the raw, and business is also based on human nature. Therefore there is a very close connection between the Bible and business.

A Back View Of A 1929 Sportswoman

McCall Printed Pattern 5800

The sportswoman of today enjoys apparel of a type that would be considered extreme a very few years back.... what with her culottes and sun-tan backs! The latter, especially has been almost universally adopted since the sun-tan mode made its much heralded 1929 entry.

Before one adopts a fashion much as this however, one's skin should be attuned to the sun-tan vogue in complexion. Of course, a natural tan is the best type to acquire, but many women consider it much too painful a process to undergo. In this case, cosmetics are a wise second choice.... a sun-tan lotion should be applied to face, hands, arms and back.... and a powder to cover it may be used, if one wishes, though either lotion or powder is quite efficacious when used alone. Then a sports frock like the one illustrated may be adopted with the sun back in U or V shape whichever one prefers. This little model is in a white tub silk with yellow dots and is worn with a yellow straw beret, sun-tan hose and brown and white sport oxfords.

CITY SAVES MILLIONS BY EARLY PLANS Through Progressive Street Widening Akron Is Creating Space For The Motorist

By E. E. DUFFY

Millions of dollars will be saved American cities through the expedient of planning city improvements early. This is evidenced by the experience of Akron, Ohio, which through carefully contemplated and progressive street widening has already saved nearly $2,000,000.

Ten years ago Akron adopted a street widening plan calling for the eventual widening of nearly 20 miles of streets. To have widened these thoroughfares outright would have been impossible, for the total cost would have been some $20,000,000. The plan was adopted of establishing new set-back building lines so that as buildings became obsolete and were replaced, the new structures were erected ten feet or more back from the former building line.

The two million dollar saving by Akron includes money saved through the avoidance of condemnation charges. Having saved this amount in ten years, the city now is going to spend roughly that amount in widening four and a half miles of an important artery.

E. A. Kemmler, chief engineer, bureau of highways of Akron, points out that the fifty-year plan will be completed at a total cost less than half of the original estimate.

If motoring comfort is ever to be attained, planning must be done early. Motor car needs will certainly be no less ten years from now. The saturation point of automobile ownership is not yet in sight—and if it were there is not a single town or city in the country that has anything like adequate facilities for the cars now within its gates.

As is shown in the case of Akron, the creation of automobile facilities can be made without straining the community's resources.

MODERN HOUSES SELDOM DEMAND FIREMEN'S AID

The modern home builder foresees—and cancels—a possible "4-11" fire alarm when he plans his house. Afterwards, he knows, it will be too late to do anything but fight fire. So he works on the basis that prevention is worth a good deal more than cure.

He knows, for example, that a considerable proportion of house fires originate in basements—around heating plants or in stores of fuel, ash, trash or other inflammable material. So he plans to prevent such figures climbing upward and through his house. The simplest fire barrier is a concrete first floor; aside from the fire safety such a floor guarantees it adds structural rigidity to the house and offers great possibilities in decorative floor treatment, either with conventional materials or on the surface of the concrete itself.

Fire may also enter through the roof which is exposed to flying embers. Firesafe shingles or tile eliminate the hazard and add materially to the beauty of the home.

While fewer fires are transmitted from the exterior wall real firesafe implies fire-resistive construction in those parts of the house. Hollow masonry walls, or walls covered with good cement stucco, provide excellent protection from fires of exterior origin. Fire-stops in walls, unburnable stairways, proper design of fireplaces and chimneys—these are a few of the details the modern builder includes in his far-sighted "4-11" alarm preventative.

Novel Refrigeration Device

Refrigeration without the use of ice or an electrical unit, is the feature of the Crosley Icyball, a product of The Crosley Radio Corporation and distributed in Northern New Jersey territory by D. W. May, Inc.

In both principal and operation the new refrigerator is simple, according to descriptions given by Walter Perry of the Newark corporation. The refrigeration unit consists of two balls, one of which is placed inside the refrigerator and the other outside, both connected by a pipe or tube.

The action of the unit revolves around the heating of the outer ball which drives the refrigerating liquid along the tube until it comes in contact with the inner ball. The unit is then placed inside the refrigerator and subsequent contraction and evaporation of the liquid into the outer ball takes the heat with it.

Experiments have proven that the refrigeration secured in this operation will quickly freeze water or deserts in trays placed on the inside of the space cooled by the unit, Mr. Perry states. This contracting and evaporating action continues until the liquid has returned to the outer ball and the latter is then heated again with the result that the cooling process will again take place.

Due to the fact that thousands of the units have been placed in general use over the country and are proving successful, Mr. Perry is expecting another successful year.

Troopers' New Garb Is Protected From Infringement

For the information of the public, Colonel H. Norman Schwartzkopf, superintendent of State Police, is having distributed pictures showing the new approved State Police uniform which will be worn by members of the State Police not later than August 1.

Under a law passed this year, the new uniform is protected against infringement in New Jersey. It is made unlawful to copy or imitate the uniform or any of its essential parts for any purpose. The law against imitation is applicable to officers or officials, elected or appointed by any municipality, corporation or association, or any individual. The statute provides a fine of not more than $250 or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year or both, for violation.

The standard winter uniform as described in the law follows: French blue blouse, dark blue band and French blue belt, black boots, black pistol belt, long dark blue trousers with yellow stripe for officers and French blue overcoat.

The summer uniform omits the overcoat and substitutes a French blue shirt for the blouse.

Man Is Bonded In Marital Suit

Ira DeWitt Crane of 165 Oakridge avenue, was arrested Friday by Deputy Sheriff Thomas McManus and released in $1,000 bond to prevent his leaving the state pending the suit of Mrs. Jeannette Crane of 14 Thornton street, Bloomfield, for separate maintenance.

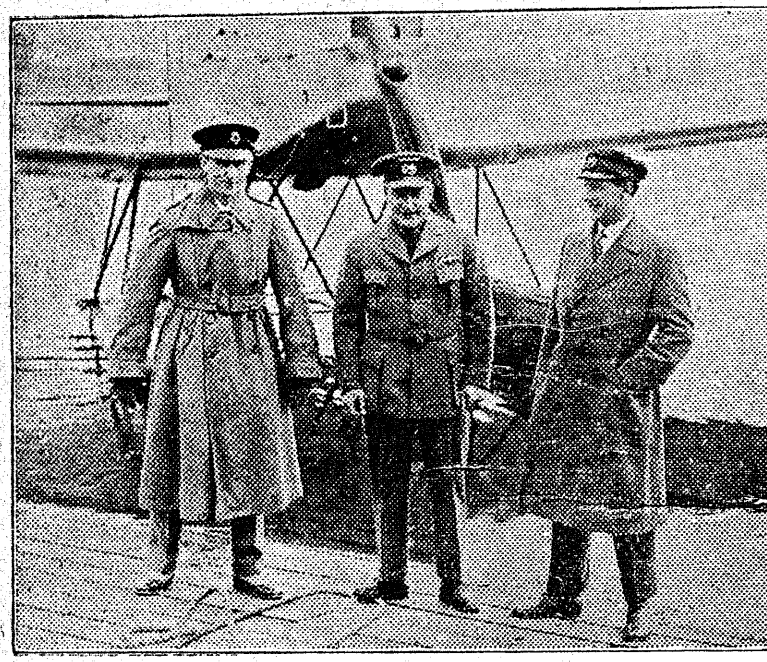

In Mrs. Crane's bill, filed by James J. Farley, it was charged Crane had threatened in May to leave home June 1, but changed his mind.

Mrs. Crane charged she found an automobile she had paid for, and which her husband drove, parked at the girl's home and tried to see her husband there. She was told he was not there, she charged, but later he came out of the house.

She charged Crane struck her and she fled in fear of him. She charged the woman he would flee to California with the young woman's brother as soon as he could get his affairs in order.

The Cranes were married March 14, 1919. They have no children.

Bachelors Win Second Game By Forfeit Over St. Anthony's

The Bachelors continued their winning ways on Thursday evening with a forfeit triumph over the second place St. Anthony nine.

Going into the seventh frame, trailing by the score of 6-5, the Bachelors displayed a rousing finish that had the fans on their toes and scored five runs. After the fifth Bachelors player had dented the rubber the game was called by Umpire Derbyshire, who claimed that the St. Anthony team was stalling. The game will go down in the official archives as a 9-0 forfeit victory for the Bachelors.

In the first two frames the "Saints" started off strongly, tallying twice in the first and four times in the second. Two singles and a Bachelors error accounted for the first inning scoring, while in the second frame the whole side batted around to accumulate a total of four runs.

A pair of free tickets, Snell's double over the fence and singles by P. Carchio, Pedrici, and M. Carchio were the feature of this barrage.

After these outbursts, Phelps, who had previously pitched such fine ball to defeat St. Peters, settled down and retired the St. Anthony nine in 1-2-3 order for the remainder of the game.

Rothwell's single, scoring Connolly, who had reached first on an error, and Parcells, who had been passed, gave the Bachelors two markers in the first.

After getting a single tally in the third without the aid of a hit, the Bachelors sounded the tocsin two additional times in the fifth to come within one marker of tying the score.

In this frame Lawlor singled hard to center, Parcells got in a one-ply blow, Rothwell reached first on a St. Anthony error, scoring Lawlor, and Bartley singled, tallying Parcells.

"Hick" Loesner started the firework with a double down the third base line. Snell then issued two successive free tickets to fill the bases. Bartley, next up, forced Loesner at home, but Clark was walked bringing Parcells across with the tying run. Dowling followed this with a clean single to deep center scoring Rothwell and Bartley and when the St. Anthony outfield fielded the ball slowly Clark also scored and Dowling reached third. Additional stalling tactics that allowed Dowling to score with the final run stopped the game, which was then awarded to the Bachelors.

Legion Nine Loses 8-5 To Paterson

Despite a garrison finish that had the many fans present on their toes the Belleville American Legion nine dropped a close 8-5 decision to the vaunted Paterson Public Service nine, Saturday.

"Ral" Flynn, who started on the mound for the local nine, was not up to his usual form, allowing twelve hits and six tallies in the five innings he worked. He was strong in the pinches, however, bearing down often when his meant runs.

"Jim" Mallaek, his successor on the mound, pitched fine ball for the remainder of the game, allowing but two hits and two runs to the hard-hitting Patersonites. In the last three rounds he retired the side in order.

In the first four rounds the winners piled up a six-run lead, that was never overcome.

After being held scoreless for the first three innings, featured only by the first of "Tommy" Dunn's four hits, the Legionites scored their premier marker in the fourth. "Tommy" Dunn's second single, a long triple to deep center field, and Lilori's single provided the scoring punch.

"Tommy" Dunn, with his four consecutive safe wallops, including his fourth inning triple, was easily outstanding for the local nine, while Mallaek and Lilori, with a pair of bingles apiece, also starred at bat.

"Ral" Flynn, local center fielder, electrified the fans in the sixth with a marvelous heave from deep center field to nip the runner, trying to score, at the plate, after his catch of Kudla's towering fly. It was easily the fielding gem of the day. Lilori also starred afield for the Legion nine.

Sickles with four consecutive bingles, for a perfect day at bat, featured the Paterson attack, while Gallagher, with three hits, and McQuillan, also performed creditably for the winners.

Schenck Twirls No-Hit, No-Run Game For Panthers

With "Bill" Schenck twirling no-hit, no-run ball, the Belleville Panthers easily defeated the Clinton B. C. Sunday with a crushing 14-0 victory.

Schenck was never in danger issuing but two passes and but one Clinton player going as far as third base. It was the eighth consecutive win for the Panthers, who claim the local heavy junior title, having now easily defeated the Park A. C., the Community Aces and the Clintons, as well as the other leading teams of the vicinity.

Every member of the winning lineup tallied at least once while Suderly, O'Neill, Byrnes and Murphy led with the stick with two bingles each. Suderly and Byrnes provided the most damaging blows, the former smacking out a triple with the bases loaded, while Byrnes hit a homer in the third with two aboard.

Sullivan and Howley starred for the losers.

Capitols Tounce Bachelor Club, 23-0

One-Sided Slugfest Was Played Tuesday Afternoon

In a one sided slugfest on Tuesday the Capitols overwhelmed the Bachelors, 23-0.

The Capitols' cannonading of Bachelor twirlers seemed unceasing as they piled up a total of twenty-five hits, which, aided by six Bachelor misplays, gave them their record score. Seven run outbursts in both the third and seventh frames were their high-water marks in scoring, while five and four run barrages in the second and fifth completed their day's tallying.

"Lefty" Kintzing, Capitol ace, restricted the Bachelors to four widely scattered hits in the five innings he worked, before retiring after the Capitol score had mounted to sixteen. Phelps, who has been so effective in his two previous starts against the St. Peter and St. Anthony nines could accomplish nothing with the hard-hitting "Caps," who clouted him to all corners of the lot.

Lawlor, his successor on the mound, fared little better, the Capitols combining his delivery for eight hits and seven runs in the two rounds he worked.

"Tommy" Dunn, who is the batting sensation of the league, continued his fine work with the stick, garnering a total of five safe wallops, including three doubles.

Schessler, with four clean hits, and Kintzing, with a homer, triple and single were next in line for batting honors.

John Mallaek, Dunleavy and Gelshen also contributed three hits to this swatting orgy, in which every member of the Capitol lineup got at least one hit and scored at least two runs.

"Jim" Clark, with two clean wallops to center, featured for the Bachelors.

St. Peter's Club

Downs Parks, 6-3

Resume Winning Ways After Temporary Halt

In a league tilt, marked by the fine twirling of Johnson, St. Peter's star, after a poor first inning, the St. Peters nine resumed their winning ways, temporarily halted by the Capitols and Bachelors, with a 6-3 victory over the lowly Parks.

In the initial frame the Parks started off strong with a trio of tallies to take an early lead. Vogel slashed a hit to center as an opener. Reeves and Lawson then followed with safe drives scoring Vogel. "Bill" Murphy then came through with a line hit to bring Reeves and Lawson across. Travers, next up, also singled but poor base-running on the part of the Parks cut short a promising rally.

In their half the "Saints" came right back with a pair of scores on "Ral" Flynn's long double to left with two runners aboard.

With Johnson setting the Parks down in order for the remaining rounds the St. Peter boys gradually overcame the scant margin of the Parks with a single run in the third and two more in the fourth.

Two smashing line doubles by Buttons and "Ral" Flynn gave the winners their third inning tally to knot the count. In the fourth a Johnson's long single and Button's safe wallop accounted for a brace of markers to send the St. Peter nine into a permanent lead.

"Biddy" Carragher's double to left, followed by Johnson's third hit, a slashing single, resulted in the final St. Peter tally in the sixth.

Johnson, with his three safe hits, and "Ral" Flynn with two long doubles led the attack for the St. Peter nine, while Buttons and Carragher also accounted for a pair of bingles.

Vogel was the Park's best hitter with a pair of drives.

Travers performed best afield for the losers.
