TOWN OF BELLEVILLE

PRICE TWO CENTS

SEEN IN THE GRANDSTAND

Many attended the game last Saturday at which the American Legion team of Belleville defeated the Carlstadt Club, 8-2. Among those whom we knew were many notables.

James "Mull" Travers was ready to bet with anyone on the game.

Jack Fox was there moustache and all.

The firemen were represented by Captain Jack McCoy, "Jimmy" Murphy and "Mike" Hanley. The policemen were represented by patrolman Harry Scott.

The famous cousins, Percy Reed and Carl Akersten, presided over the festivities in the bleachers.

Billy Wells wore "the smile that won't come off."

Charles Schlecker was there with his son, Charles, Jr.

Widmer "Mallet" O'Brien was without his father.

Harry "Cotton" Calhoun cheered vociferously.

Larry Sturchio represented the Cedar Hill avenue crowd.

William "Scotty" MacKillop created quite a stir upon his appearance.

Hugh Welsh, St. Peter's score keeper, was present.

"Mike" and "Ike" in the form of Billie and Eddie Bechtoldt showed up.

Henry "Ink" Charrier appeared with a cushion in his hand.

The Carraghers were represented by "Mike" Carragher, brother of the famous commissioner.

"Al" Strauss represented the old Belleville grads of the high school.

Charlie Steel picked the best player. His choice has not been made public.

Tom Fleming chased all over the lot taking care of Charlie's son, John.

Joe Mazza looked collegiate wearing no hat.

Harry Sullivan represented the Knights of Columbus.

Julius Schreyer was there with his son, Howard. The topic of their conversation pertained to an accident Howard was in with their new car.

George "Bun" Derbyshire, brother of the famous Alec, watched the game intently.

Jimmy Dunn opined that the first pitcher of the Carlstadt Club would not last very long. He didn't.

James L. DeRossett was there for the Board of Education.

Larry Keenan came late, without his moustache.

Leo "Seton Hall" Hood came from the collegiate circle to the game.

Arthur Conlin came from William Street and felt well repaid.

Jimmie Dunleavy attempted to catch without a mask, unconsciously. The fans howled joyously.

Andrew "Chisel" Monahan was there from John street.

"Doc" Hood dreamed over the old days when he was umpire.

Andrew L. Boylan, lawyer, was an interested spectator.

Commissioner Jams Gibson didn't have far to go to see the game.

Tom Berry says that he enjoyed

G. R. Gerard Attends Educational Dinner

Many Well-Known Educators Were Listed Among The Guests

George R. Gerard, Superintendent of Schools, attended a dinner at the Carteret Club in Trenton, Friday, which was held for the purpose of discussing educational policies. Dr. Bicket, superintendent of Trenton Public Schools, was host.

Among those present were the following superintendents: Dr. Nugent, Jersey City; Dr. Chapman, Elizabeth; Dr. Boyer, Atlantic City; Dr. Smith, Clifton, and Dr. E. C. Broome, Philadelphia.

State Commissioner of Education Charles H. Elliott, Assistant State Commissioner Morse, Dr. Frank Cady, Detroit, President of the National Department of Superintendents; and Dr. Cooper, U. S. Commissioner of Education, were also present.

Hand Made Flag Given To Woman

A hand-sewed, six by eight foot crepe paper American flag has been presented to Mrs. Elizabeth B. Brink of 348 Cortland street, by Mrs. Sarah W. Feeks of Jorammon street, Belleville, because of the former's work in organizing Good American Council, Daughters of America.

The flag was flown over a Brooklyn street when the dough boys marched along that street upon their return from France. Mrs. Feeks made the flag when she was sixty years old. The flag held a place of honor at the council meeting Friday night.

Delivery Boy Contest Getting Hot; "Billy" Mitschke Enters The Lists

We have another delivery boy attempting to cop the banner as the most popular in town. This time it is "Billy" Mitschke of 17 Wilson place, Belleville, driver for Otto Dietz, butcher, of 221 Belleville avenue, Belleville.

"Billy" is popular. There is no getting away from that fact. As catcher for the lowly Parks he displayed a wonderful versatility in contortions both on the ground and in the air. This fact made him very popular with the fans as he provided much amusement, paralleling his famous prototypes "Al" Schacht and "Nick" Altrock.

"Billy" is always happy. His sunny disposition has won for him many friends on his route. He will prove a hot contestant in the race for the most popular delivery boy.

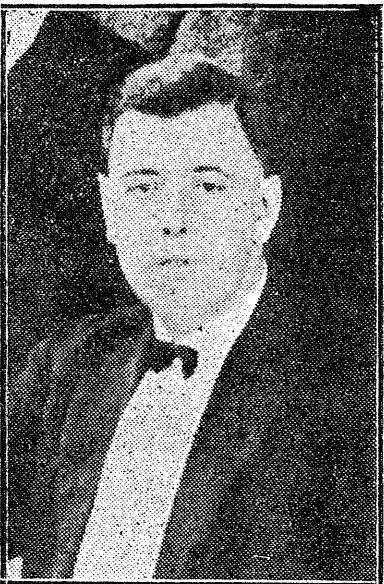

We now come to the question of what kind of a prize to give the

J. J. Daly, Town Clerk Is Exponent Of Political Life

By EDDIE TAYLOR

It has been said of John J. Daly, town clerk, that he always sends one away smiling. He doesn't always accede to one's wishes or requests but in his good natured way he points out the humor in what one says and make one feel good. Jovial John Daly!

He is a keen business man and

has a clear insight into the intricacies of political life.

Mr. Daly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Daly, who lived at 536 Mill street from the time of their marriage. Mr. Daly was born at this place and lived there until a few

Storm Hits Town A Staggering Blow

Washout Of River Bank Occurs At Holmes Street

House and street lights were put out of commission Sunday evening in several sections of town, and in the early part of evening stores were forced to use candles and lanterns.

Severe damage was done near the new water main to Kearny, the Passaic River section of which was laid last Saturday. The torrents of water washed out the Passaic banks.

A twenty-foot section of one of Belleville's storm sewers was washed into the Passaic River. The washout began at the bank of the river and extended fifty feet to Main street.

Residents on Stephen street and Belleville avenue were without lights practically all night, and in many parts of the town street lights remained out of commission all night.

Present Gold Watch To Joseph Gorman

Local Patrolman Honored At Asbury By State P. B. A.

About 950 attended a banquet Monday night in the Hotel Monterey of the New Jersey State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association in convention at Asbury Park.

A gold watch was presented Joseph Gorman of this town, retiring second vice-president, and to George R. Bouille, retiring recording secretary, by Dennis A. Byrne of New Brunswick, who was re-elected president of the association. He presented a diamond ring to Police Chief Howard L. Byram of Asbury Park, the gift of the Asbury Park branch of the P. B. A.

Mayor Clarence F. Hetrick welcomed those present to Asbury Park, and expressed a hope that the 1930 convention would also be held here, since the convention hall will be ready then.

Henry J. Miller of Rahway was re-elected first vice president and Ed-

Belleville Within Its Right In Sewer Pact Says Mayor

Corporation Counsel J. B. Brown Authorized To Tell Newark That Such Is The Case

The Town Commission Tuesday night authorized Corporation Counsel John B. Brown to notify Newark that Belleville feels it has acted properly in selling a portion of its Passaic Valley Sewer allotment to the United Piece Dye Work of Lodi. Bloomfield has also sold a portion of its allotment to the same company, which action has created concern among Newark officials, who hold that legally Belleville and Bloomfield were not within their rights, contending Newark should have been consulted as provided in an old agreement.

The right to sell the allotment was questioned last week by Newark and Tuesday night a letter was read at the Belleville meeting from Corporation Counsel Frank A. Boettner of Newark which asked Belleville to hold in abeyance "a contemplated contract" with Lodi until it had been ratified by all contracting municipalities. (Continued on Page Eight)

Block Dance Goes On Tomorrow Night

Belleville-On-The-Hill Will Have Old World Appearance

Everything is in readiness for the annual dance of the Belleville-on-the-Hill Improvement Association, which is to be held on Adelaide street, between Tiona avenue and little street, tomorrow evening. In order to accommodate the large attendance which is expected it has been found necessary to extend the dancing space another half block so

The degree team of the Belleville Council, Knights of Columbus will institute the first degree on a class of ten candidates, Monday night at St. Peter's school hall.

Officers were elected Monday night at a meeting in St. Peter's annex. They were grand knight, James E. Specht, who was re-elected; deputy, Corwin A. Stickney; chancellor, Frank Kelly; recording secretary, John Hood; treasurer, Aloysius Mann; warden, Thomas Lukowiak; lecturer, Nicholas Innamorato; delegates to state convention, Mr. Specht and Dominick Walsh; alternates, James Murray and William Herkness.

Expect 250 Persons At Legion Banquet

Final Arrangements Were Made Wednesday Evening

The committee from Belleville Post No. 105, American Legion in charge of the banquet to be tendered the baseball players who competed in the American Legion League for Athletic Development met Wednesday evening at the Town Hall.

The banquet will be held at the Belleville Elks' Home on Thursday evening, September 26.

All of Belleville's officialdom have expressed a desire to attend and many of the fans who have been treated with such entertaining baseball during the summer have already made reservations.

The committee promises prominent speakers, both in the athletic world and otherwise.

Medals will be presented to every player on the roster of the teams that competed, with the exception of the winning team, the players of which will be given gold baseballs. Cups will be awarded the first three teams. A most valuable player prize will be given to each team to be given to the player selected by his team mates as having contributed the most to his team. In addition to these, prizes will be given to the best batter home run hitter, leading base stealer, and pitcher.

Tickets may be obtained at the American Legion stand on Clearman Field, from the captains and coaches of the teams, or from members of the Banquet Committee. The Committee in charge of the affair is Richard Dolan, chairman; Richard Planagan, Otto Breunich and George Bingham.

Large Audience At D. of A. Meeting

Congressman Fred A. Hartley and Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy were among the speakers at the district meeting of the Good American Council, Daughters of America held Friday night in the Masonic Temple, Belleville, at which a capacity crowd of five hundred attended.

Rev. Edgar M. Compton of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church gave the invocation and Rev. Peter R. Decker delivered the benediction.

The guard of Equal Rights Council, Newark, captained by Mary Dunn escorted the speakers to the platform. Mrs. George Lee of Division avenue, Belleville, was pianist. Mrs. Elizabeth B. Brink presided. The welcoming address was delivered by Miss Irene Sickles, councillor of the local order.

Other speakers were Mrs. Lillian Wanhause of Belleville, associate state councillor; Mrs. Sadie Linkletter of Jersey City, chairman of the legislative committee; Mrs. Sadie Ludlow of Jersey City, state vice-councillor; Roscoe Walker of Persey City, state councillor, Jr. O. U. A. M.; William Wakefield of Belleville, past state councillor; Mrs. Sarah Johnson of Newark, national councillor and Mrs. Fannie Keller of Irvington, district deputy.

Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. Augustella Ford, and her daughters, Helen, Betty and Celeste; vocal solos by Harry Rothwell of Newark, a radio artist, and Mrs. Ford.

An exhibition drill was given by James T. Boyd Council, D. of A. Refreshments were served with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Anna Sickles of Belleville, Mrs. Ethel Rochlin of Newark and Mrs. Shelen of Bloomfield. Eleven councils of the Jr. C. U. A. M. were represented and twenty-one of the Daughters of America.

Belleville Grid Prospects Bright For Coming Season

A large squad of 100 men answered Coach Carl Erickson's first call for grid practice for the Blue and Gold on Monday.

With most of the preliminaries rid of during the past week the large squad has already settled down to the rigid task of getting in shape for the approaching season.

Prospects for a great eleven seem unusually bright for so early in the season.

With the entire backfield intact, back from last year there seems to be no worry on that score. Captain Paul Short, last year's chief ground gainer and point-scoring, is the mainstay of the veteran ball-carriers. Paul Schwiecher, the passing half of the Schwiecher-to-Short combination is also back. He seems to be slowly but surely mastering the art of punting to add to his forward passing and ground gaining proclivities to make him the chief candidate for Erickson's desired triple-threat performer. "Ooh" Anderten, the line-plunging ace, and Fred Plenge round out this great young backfield.

Coach Erickson's chief problem seems to be to build a line, a task that he has been noted for accomplishing in past years. Of last year's regulars Amour, DeJonge, Johnnie Plenge, Knowles and Domenick are lost for this season. It will be a difficult task to replace them but Coach Erickson believes he has several new-comers who will more than fill their shoes. Galluba, Estelle, D'Elia, Bonavita, Brand, Ca-sale, Udansky are the letter men back who will form the nucleus for the forward wall.

Barber Rescues Relative At Coney

Swimming in twenty feet of water at Coney Island, Sunday, Miss Lillian Paul of 502 Washington avenue, Belleville, was saved from drowning when the rubber tube she had around her burst.

Her rescuer was her brother-in-law, Joseph Schwartz, of 82 Little street, who conducts a barber shop at 501 Washington avenue. "Joe," who was about ten feet away from the girl when the tube burst caught her after she had gone down for the first time and towed her to shore a distance of fifty yards.

"Joe" used the breast stroke in his rescue which stroke he was taught at school in England.

Belleville Tennis Championship Off To A Flying Start

Remarkable enthusiasm was shown at the opening of the Belleville Tennis Championship which began last Tuesday. Before a large crowd of tennis fans three matches of the first round were decided.

Anthony Pascal and John Munro supplied the fireworks, arousing considerable excitement in the gallery of spectators. Pascal took Munro's measure in the first set to the tune of 6-0.

However, in the second set Munro uncorked some remarkable tennis and completely reversed the result of the first set and won 6-0. Pascal was not to be denied and increasing the pace of his game smothered Munro for the final set for another 6-0.

The Harry B. Fisher vs. A. Wermuth match was youth's challenge against age and experience. Fisher won the first set quite easily 6-1; only to have young Wermuth come back with a spurt to take the second set by the same score. It was in the third and deciding set that age and experience proved too much for Wermuth who was on the short end of the set, 6-4.

The third match between Jack Sterrett and Ernest Turner supplied the spectators with some spirited playing as the score indicates the games were keenly contested. Sterrett put up a game fight and should have forced Turner to an extra set, the result being in favor of Turner, 6-4, 6-3.

The tournament continues during the remainder of this week. The most important matches to be played Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Schall Store Has Doughnuts Today

Two weeks ago the Belleville News ran an ad that R. G. Schall of 386 Union avenue would open a store there in which he would make doughnuts. The News was premature with the ad and Mr. Schall was swamped with customers but had no doughnuts, because his machine had not arrived.

Today Mr. Schall has the machine, unique to say the least for Belleville folks. Read the ad today on page 5 and blame us for your steps there before his machine arrived.

Clinic Hour Change

The clinic conducted by Miss Angela Chapman at the Masonic Temple on Jorammon street each Thursday morning during the summer, will be held in the future every Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4.

Belleville Lodge F. and A. M. held the first fall meeting Wednesday at Masonic Temple.

SCOUTS SPEND SUMMER AT MACKINAC; ACT AS STATE GUIDES FOR VISITORS

Michigan Park Board Names Detroit Scouts To Garrison Historic Fortress

Historic Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island at the northwestern extremity of Lake Huron is occupied again. Its garrison of soldiers who abandoned the old fort years ago is replaced this summer by a patrol of Eagle Scouts of Michigan, appointed by General Fred W. Greene on the authority of the Mackinac State Park Board to act as guides and to escort all visitors through the fort and the newly renovated historic museum of the island.

For years tourists have visited the island without gaining an adequate insight into the historical backgrounds of this early fur post, officials say.

Determined that the story shall no longer go untold, the Governor approved the Park Board's plan to assign these Eagle Scouts to the island. At the island the Scouts will live in the old barracks of the fort, cook their own food, fire the sunset gun, raise and lower the flag, sound all bugle calls of a military post and have two of their number constantly on duty to conduct visitors through the forest.

Leaders of the Scouts will be Ame Vennema of the University of Michigan, R. O. T. C. unit. A former Boy Scout, Vennema, a resident of Menominee, has been selected as particularly qualified for this executive position.

The Scouts to make the trip are Theodore Pearson, 16, of Milford; Gerald Ford, 16, Grand Rapids; Joseph McIntosh, 16, Port Huron; Wilbur Sherrin, 15, of 5304 Seebaldt avenue, Detroit; James C. McNaughton, 16, Flint; Robert E. Ten Eyck, 16, of Jackson; Robert Callard, 17, of 2385 Monterey Avenue, and David Hodges, 16, of Wayne.

SCOUT AVIATOR

The story of a scout who enlisted in the Navy with a hope of becoming an aviator and made good in his chosen field, has recently come to the attention of the National offices of the Boy Scouts of America. Joseph Haydon, Jr., a member of Troop No. 1, Ravenna, Ky., enlisted in the Navy on March 15, 1929, and expressed a preference for the air service, although he was advised that applicants for this branch of the air service were rarely ever able to qualify. Despite this discouraging advice he took up the study of aviation and on August 1, 1929, passed his final test at the Naval Air Station in California. He did sufficiently well in his tests so that at the end of six days' training, when the class of 280 were assigned to various vessels, he was one of the twenty-two whose records were so exceptional that they were given special tests and examination for air service, according to his Scoutmaster.

Training School

Scout Haydon was held at Great Lakes for a about a month for special work and after the usual allotted time had expired he was sent to the Naval Air Training Station at San Diego, California. There he studied airplanes, working in the shops, repairing motors, as well as receiving special instruction in flying. On August 1, he was given his final test which consisted of an extended solo flight and after flying over the prescribed route, landing and taking off repeatedly, which he did with the air of a veteran, he was signalled to land. Upon reaching the ground he taxied over to the Chief of the Air Squadron, where he was much gratified to hear him say that he had satisfactorily passed the necessary tests and that his work was good.

On August 10, Scout Haydon was sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station to spend ten weeks in a special utility course and it is probable that he will then be sent to the Pacific Ocean on one of the airplane carriers, either the Lexington or Saratoga, where he will serve for six months. At the completion of this work his next will probably be at the Naval Training Camp at Pensacola, Florida and when he finishes his two hundred hours in the air at that point, under rigid inspection, he will have accomplished his ambition and received "The Wings" which will designate him as a full-fledged naval air pilot.

J. D. Haydon, Superintendent of the L. & N. Railroad Co., at Revenna, Ky., states that much of his son's advancement he owes to the earlier training he received in Scouting.

Hupp Driver Tells Of Testing New Six

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—A snorting black mass hurtles through the night alongside a national highway—the locomotive of a crack Florida-bound express. The engineer beckons to the fireman who joins him at the right side of the engine cab.

A small black spot, preceeded by two slivers of light, is gaining on the train. Slowly, from 50 to 55, then 60, 65 and 70 miles. It is abreast of the engine despite the rain drops that dampen dangerous curves. The driver and passenger, though nonchalantly peering into the inky darkness, know the totuous road like a book.

Mile after mile of winding concrete flash by under the alert eyes of these distance consuming drivers. They are going nowhere—yet their mission is important. They are two of the expert drivers who are testing out a new car—a new 1930 Hupmobile Six Sedan.

The above word picture of a scene which occurred month ago, is but a single instance of some of the unusually severe and wracking tests which this new car, now sought by tens of thousands, was subjected months in advance of its announcement.

Here is a glimpse at some of the fascinating and even dangerous experiences of which these test drivers so laconically tell.

Monday—Left the factory headed south with Number 12. Arrived Cincinnati averaging 45 miles. Roads concrete, macadam and one gravel detour. Traffic pickup noted in Detroit, Toledo, Columbus and Louisville. Charts attached. Overnight at Louisville. Weather excellent.

"Tuesday—Rainy. Concrete roads slippery and winding. Very hilly. From Middleboro to Lexington averaged 45 miles an hour. Tests showed ease of handling and perfect control under all conditions.

"Through Cumberland mountains raced the express train. Smooth handling, constant braking and hill climbing noted."

The records read on, calmly and briefly relating driving experiences which would terrify the average driver. A summary relates that for weeks these keen-eyed, resourceful men put their steed through every conceivable test. Top speed, acceleration, hill climbing, braking, riding over all road surfaces, ocean beach speedway—all combined to get the most out of this new automobile.

In other sections of the country—in the colder north, in the Rockies, on the stifling great American desert, other equally ruthless drivers were getting everything possible out of the cars. In short, Hupmobile was again demonstrating that its proving grounds are "wherever cars may be driven."

Asked what he considered the outstanding points of the new 1930 Hupmobile Six, the leader of the hard-driving test driving crew briefly summarized his impressions of the new car as follows:

"It has the ability to go out and dog it all day long—to drive all day long at top speed; instant and constant acceleration; powerful braking, easy riding at all speeds and over all roads; unequalled steering responsiveness in mud, rocky, dry or slippery roads; and effortless handling that adds 100 miles or more to a day's drive without increased fatigue."

The response from thousands of new owners of this new Hupmobile again voices these same big characteristics so casually discovered and so laconically related by the "iron-handed" Hupmobile test drivers.

The new car, which was introduced early in August, carries these list prices: Coupe, $995; Five Passenger Sedan, $1060; Convertible Cabriolet, $1075; and Phaeton for five passengers, $1100.

State Institutions Furnish Farm Products

Commissioner William J. Ellis of the Department of Institutions and Agencies announced today the result of tabulations of the production of all the farms operated by the various state institutions. The total value of farm products during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, was $608,717.56.

Connected with many of the state institutions are farms which furnish an opportunity for employment of the various types of patients and inmates, and assure these institutions of fresh produce in all departments of farm activities. The total acreage of the state institutions is 7,802 acres, or equal to about 11.6 square miles. There are over 800 acres of truck land under cultivation; in addition, there are 2650 acres devoted to general farm crops, and the balance of this acreage is in pasture, woodland, institutional grounds, lawns, etc.

Addresses Institute

At the first official meeting of the Essex County Chapter, Inc., of the American Institute of Banking, the Consul's Dinner held at the Down Town Club, Newark, Charles Ellery, member of the National Executive Committee, outlined the work for the coming year.

Mr. Ellery in prefacing his talk said that the Essex County Chapter, in his opinion, is one of the outstanding chapters in America.

Stanley J. Marek, Chief Consul, acted as Chairman of the meeting. Other speakers included Raymond G. Nixon, President of the Chapter, John W. Kress, Vice-President, Daniel L. Reiber, Second Vice-President and Helen L. Schenk, Chairman of the Woman's Committee.

The meeting was attended by over one hundred consuls and vice-consuls of the various banks in Essex County.

TASTE WARNS TOO LATE FOR SAFETY

Foods may "taste all right" and yet be dangerous to health. Your doctor will tell you that foods spoil because of the tiny micro-organisms which become active when these perishables are kept for long at a temperature above fifty degrees. Fifty degrees is the danger point. For cold can conquer these bacteria and arrest their progress. In foods kept above fifty degrees—even two, three or four points—the micro-organisms multiply astonishingly, and are lurking menaces to health, even though they may not noticeably affect the taste of the food.

Year 'round refrigeration is the one safe way to keep perishables at exactly the right temperature without changing the wholesome condition of the food, or destroying a particle of its nourishment value. Window-sill and back-porch make-shifts keep foods too warm or too cold—both dangerous to health.

Edison Eulogized At Rotary Meeting

Company Vice President Tells Of Inventor's Life History

"And of this man, this super-being, who defies classification, what more can be said; what greater tribute paid than this: He is humanity's friend."

Thus spoke Arthur L. Walsh, vice president of Radio Phonograph division of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., Orange, in a talk on the inventor Wednesday at a meeting of the Rotary Club in the Nereid Boat Club.

Mr. Walsh, who had been asked to speak on Mr. Edison, as a part of the golden jubilee light celebration in this country, outlined the inventor's life from his birth in "a shingle-maker's cottage in Milan, O., in 1847" to the "Edison of today." He told of Edison's "rather fragile appearance as a child," his inclination to delve into matters chemical and mechanical at the age of five and his brief stay in school because his teachers considered him "stupid."

Mr. Walsh outlined that Edison had been publicly whipped in the village square as a dramatic warning to other adventurous youth "for building a fire in a barn for 'some apparently unknown reason.'"

"Between twelve and thirteen Edison became intensely interested in chemistry," he said, adding that about this time Edison became "a train newsboy." One day Edison spilled a bottle of phosphorus, setting fire to the car.

"The conductor put Tom Edison and his belongings off the train and boxed his ears so soundly as to cause the beginning of the deafness with which he has ever since been afflicted."

Edison's telegraphic episodes were related and the beginning of his "real inventive and commercial career at 22."

Mr. Walsh briefly outlined Edison's Newark stock-ticker plant and his discovery of "Etheric Force" at Menlo Park.

A few details of Mr. Edison's "favorite invention" the phonograph, were related as was the "Edison Effect" patent. "This discovery covers the foundation principles on which every modern radio lamp or tube is based," said Mr. Walsh, adding, "The present microphone used in all broadcasting is merely Edison's carbon telephone transmitter in a glorified form."

"As the newspapers have informed you Mr. Edison is now convalescing from an attack of pneumonia," declared Mr. Walsh. "He was very ill but the news did not reach the newspapers until the grand old man had won his battle for health. He is well on the road to recovery and we are all awaiting his return to his laboratory with great eagerness."

"When I tell you that Mr. Edison is the hardest working man in the Edison organization, please believe me. While he is devoting a great portion of his time to his experiments with rubber at the present time he is in close touch with the details of all his other industries and products. Every night several brief cases filled with reports of all his industries are sent to his home and are returned in the morning with replies and instructions attached to all of them."

"Unlike anyone that I have ever met Mr. Edison looks upon failure as success. By that I mean that he is willing to spend any amount of money for experimental work regardless of the outcome."

When Edison had an opportunity to have his hearing restored at one time he replied "I have learned to think by being shut away from confusion of sound, and I have a lot more thinking I want to do before I die. If they fix up my ear, I'll have to learn how to do it all over again. I haven't the time to lose."

Hairline Hints

By GEORGIA O. GEORGE

What kind of hair have you? Are you round-haired? Have you flat locks? Or, would the nature of your crowning glory classify you as the possessor of concave locks?

To determine which kind is growing on your head, pluck a few hairs from your head and roll them between your thumb and forefinger. If they refuse to twirl but cling to your fingers instead, you may be reasonably sure that you are the owner of 'flat hair.' If they roll round and round, you may be equally certain that yours would classify as 'round hair.' If they become crimped like a wood shaving as you twist them, you undoubtedly have 'concave hair.'

"Flat hair is characteristic of all Negroid peoples. Round hair is typical of the Mongolians, especially the Japanese. Concave hair is the inalienable hair-right of the Caucasian."

"If your crowning glory classifies as concave, your hair should be naturally curly. If it is straight, it is because your scalp is neglected and your hair too undernourished to do its work. Concave-haired persons whose program of personal hygiene includes the scientific daily shampoo always have naturally curly hair."

Kathryn M. Scaine Weds George F. Ward At St. Peter's

Miss Kathryn M. Scaine, daughter of Richard P. Scaine of 366 Greylock parkway, and George F. Ward, son of Mrs. Mary A. Ward of 21 De Witt avenue were married Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church. The ceremony was performed with a high mass by Rev. Edwin J. Field, pastor of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bridesmaid was Miss Eleanor R. Scaine, sister of the bride. William F. Watters acted as best man. The ushers were Richard H. Scaine, brother of the bride, and Harry E. Ward, brother of the bridegroom.

The mass was sung by the quartet of Sacred Heart Church, Vailsburgh, of which Miss Scaine is the soprano member. The other members of the quartet were Dr. L. B. Allabach, Frederick H. Bross, Mrs. Helen E. Kircher and Mrs. Anne Jecker. Dr. Allabach sang "Because" and Mrs. Jecker sang "Ave Maria." J. Vincent O'Donnell was the organist.

The bride was gown in white chiffon with a tulle train edged with chiffon. Her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book and a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid wore green chiffon, with a velvet hat and slippers to match. She carried a bouquet of tea roses tied with yellow satin ribbon.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Newark Elks Club. On their return from a wedding trip to Atlantic City the couple will live at 108 William street.

Mrs. Ward is prominent in Essex County music circles. She has been a member of several church choirs in Newark and has taken part in a number of entertainments and musical programs. She is a graduate of Belleville High School.

Mr. Ward also is a graduate of Belleville High School, where he was active in athletics.

SCHOOLS

Miss Alice Walters of Buffalo, N. Y. is now teaching music and drawing, mechanical for the boys and design for the girls in Belleville High School. These are new subjects in the curriculum. Miss Walters has organized two music courses, one is Music Appreciation in which the student learns about composer's lives, studies the stories of several best known operas and is taught to recognize and appreciate truly worth while music. The other course is in the theory of music. This course takes up the actual writing of music.

A class in public speaking is being organized by Miss Elizabeth Tempest. The debating team is chosen from this class.

The new teachers in the faculty are: Miss Kelleher who teaches English; Miss Lewis who teaches stenography and typewriting; Mr. Folsom, geometry and algebra; and Mrs. Baecht, bookkeeping and commercial arithmetic.

The teachers who have returned this year are vice-principal Miss Kayhart, Miss Dye, Mr. Wilcox, Mrs. Carls, Miss Underwood, Miss Soulier, Mrs. VanDerveer, Miss Mac Donald, Miss Kietzmann, Mrs. Knox, Miss Wallace, Mrs. MacGinitie, Miss Tempest, Mrs. Pendleton, Miss Brennan, Mrs. Gibson, Miss Lockward, Mr. Kittle, Miss Schenck, Miss Jennings, Miss Gray, Miss Thorne, Miss Wagner, Mr. Fagan, Miss Hollberg, Mr. Erickson, Miss Sandford, and Miss Bailey.

The gym teachers are Albert Mac Bride, and Miss Mayo.

The senior class elected the following officers Wednesday afternoon at their organization meeting: president, Robert Jackson; vice president, James Lynch, Jr.; secretary, treasurer, Mildred Joiner.

About 100 candidates have reported for the football team under the direction of Carl Erickson, coach. The first game is with Dickinson Evening High School at Jersey City, September 28. The first home game is with Bloomfield, October 5.

The Menad staff organized Tuesday with the following officers: Editor-in-chief, Patricia Murray; assistant editor, Gilbert Freeman; faculty advisor, Miss Tempest; advertising manager, Stanley Goodrich; advertising agents, Romondt Budd and Harold Brand; sports editor, Frederick King; assistant, Beatrice Volz; school news editors, Morris Idusky, and Ina Belle Collins; circulation manager, James M. The committee has planned a bridge tournament for the Fall and Mrs. Harry Hardman will be general chairman. The dates will be announced later.

Mrs. F. F. Dodd has called a committee meeting for next Monday afternoon at the club house to make arrangements for the bazaar which will be held the first week in October.

Health Department Issues Its Report

The Department of Health's report for August shows communicable diseases reported as follows: Chicken Pox, 2; Mumps, 1; Pneumonia, 2; Tuberculosis, 4; Whooping Cough, 8 and Infantile Paralysis, 1.

"Conditions during August with respect to communicable diseases were very favorable. It is most encouraging to note that during this period no diphtheria or scarlet fever were reported. All other communicable diseases showed a very favorable downward trend with the exception of whooping cough, which showed a slight increase, eight cases being reported for August, in comparison with five for July. The slight epidemic of mumps that was prevalent during the early summer months has completely disappeared, only one case being reported for August," says Health Officer Eugene T. Berry.

"The Child Hygiene Nurses made the following visits: 718 home visits as follows: expectant mothers, 75; babies under 1 year, 316; pre-school children, 100. Attended baby keep-well stations under one year, 215.

Police Seek 6 Men Who Beat Up Truck Driver In Town

Belleville police are searching for six men who Wednesday afternoon beat up a driver of a Newark Electric light Company in front of an electrical store in Washington avenue, near Joralemon street, Belleville.

The driver, Morris Sachs, of 112 Roselle place, Irvington, who was injured about the face and head when attacked with a steel chisel, has signed a John Doe complaint against his attackers. Sachs told the police there is a strike of drivers at the company. He said he has seen his assailants before but does not know their names.

Just as Sachs drove up to the Belleville store the six men jumped from an expensive sedan, the rear license plate of which had been obscured. The sextet floored Sachs and also beat up two bodyguards, E. C. Walling and Andrew Burns, both of 236 Academy street, Jersey City, employees of a detective agency which had provided an escort for Sachs, an attack being anticipated.

Following the attack the company truck was battered by the attacking party with steel bars, the engine being destroyed. The injured men were attended by Dr. A. A. Rubin and were then able to proceed to their homes.

Valley Association To Meet Thursday

The Valley Improvement Association will hold a general organization meeting at Public School No. 1, Cortlandt and Academy streets on Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. Permanent officers and committees will be elected at this meeting, and everyone interested in the organization is urged to attend.

Each person living east of Washington avenue from the Newark line to the Nutley line are eligible to join and should do so.

The organization is non-partisan and non-political and its aim is solely to make to Valley and Belleville a better place in which to live. If you live in this section it will be worth your while to attend this meeting and find out what it is all about.

Modern Priscilla, a group of welfare workers, will hold a public card party Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on the lawn of the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Pabst, 449 Cortlandt street. There will be a block dance in the evening. Refreshments will be served. There will also be a home made cake sale.

Booster Club Plans Outing September 15

Buses Will Leave At 8 O'Clock From Moose Home

The Booster Social Club, an organization among members of the Belleville Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, is planning an outing for September 15 at Castle's Grove, Swinefield. Buses will leave Moose Home, 503 Washington avenue at 8 in the morning. There will be running races, row-boat racing and a baseball game between married men and bachelors.

Races for children are also scheduled and prizes will be offered. Children will be admitted free. Michael DiCarlo heads the committee of arrangements. Assisting him will be William Reed and Louis Pasqualena.

"You must remember," said Mr. Smith to Willie, his ten-year-old son, "that your thoughts have much to do with what you are to become. Never forget that 'as a man thinketh, so is he.'"

Well satisfied with this bit of philosophy, he dismissed the boy and turned to his paper. Somewhat later Willie again confronted his father.

"That bird who said, 'As a man thinketh, so he is,' was all wet," he complained bitterly. "Look at the black eye I got for thinkin' I was better than Butch Brown!"

LONG WINDED ADS IMPERIL RADIO FUTURE, SAYS SILVER

America's million radio listeners must be saved the annoyance of broadcasts thickly peppered with advertising to insure the future of ether wave entertainment, according to Murdoch Silver, Chicago radio manufacturer. Radio entertainment will stand or fall on the dignity of its appeal, Mr. Silver said, and that dignity is seriously threatened by the insertion of long advertising monologues in a high grade musical program.

He has stationed scout listeners with stop watches to check up on the length and frequency of such "artistic" talk on various stations. They have found that some programs average as much as five minutes of pestiferous interruptions between musical numbers.

"Fans who write radio stations about favorite programs should send complaint cards whenever they find these interruptions annoying," said Mr. Silver, president of Silver-Marshall, Inc. "The ultimate solution lies in the listeners' hands, because enough complaint cards piling up on an announcer's desk would soon teach the sponsors a lesson in elementary psychology."

"The landslide to the manufacturer who takes the lead in substituting one or two short announcements for the long and dreary talks now prevalent would popularize the idea overnight. Radio engineers have worked ten years and more perfecting receivers which will not destroy good music by imperfect reception. Power tubes to insure tone fidelity, band selector tuners preserving the high notes of broadcast music, dynamic loud speakers to reproduce the full power of low notes and other technical devices have been incorporated in 1929 radio sets to stamp out the appellation of 'canned music' to the programs of symphony orchestras, prima donnas and other artists of like standing. But the enjoyment of these superior programs on technically improved receivers, making the average drawing room a combination orchestra hall, opera house and dancing salon, is constantly interrupted by monologues on everything from shaving soap to automobile oil—certainly a broad mental leap from Beethoven, though possibly not from George Gershwin.

"The rules of the National Association of Broadcasters provide that a client's business and his product should be mentioned sufficiently to insure him an adequate return on his investment—but never to the extent of losing listeners to the station. In interpreting this rule, manufacturers should realize that the annoyance of long drawn out advertising stunts creates more ill will with the radio public than favorable returns commercially. Broadcast sponsors must remember that the ether wave listeners are at their mercy, as opposed to the newspaper readers who may choose to ignore all the ads if they wish, and that the abuse of the privilege of radio advertising, especially prevalent in smaller stations, is riding a good horse to death."

Youth Dies As Bus Hits 2 Automobiles

Rider In Nutley Man's Car Killed, Driver Badly Hurt. Bus Passengers Escape.

A Nutley youth was killed and a man seriously injured early Saturday when a Public Service bus collided with two cars at Park avenue and Garside street, Newark.

Natalie Donaldin, 19, of 42 King street, Nutley, a passenger in a car driven by Frank Lillore, 31, of 9 Brown street, Nutley, died in the City Hospital from a skull fracture and internal injuries a few minutes after arrival. Lillore is in a serious condition in St. Michael's Hospital.

Lillore was driving north in Garside street, shortly after midnight when a Bloomfield line bus, operated by William Muller, of 52 Chestnut street, Belleville, collided with his car. An auto driven by E. Dasseus, of 75 Wolcott avenue, going west on Park avenue, was also struck by the bus. Passengers in the bus were uninjured.

LOWEST BIDDER GIVEN RELEASE

Nutley Sewer Contract Is Given Next Man After Plea Of Error

The Sammara Construction Company of Nutley was awarded the contract for the construction of storm sewers in Nutley, Grant and Park avenues at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners Tuesday night. The contract was awarded to Joseph Abbott, Inc. of Montclair, September 3, but at the request of Mr. Abbott last week his bid was withdrawn.

Abbott declared that when estimating the cost of the job he neglected to add an additional expense. This error accounted for his low figure. The Sammara estimate was second low when the bids were filed.

At the request of the Board of Education, a resolution was passed which provided for the appointment of Ralph Hollenbeck of 30 Elexander avenue, Nutley, as a special officer of the town. The Board of Education recently appointed Hollenbeck as truant officer for the 1929-30 school year at an annual salary of $1,500. Hollenbeck succeeds Patrolman Charles Murren of the Nutley police in this capacity. In the past the Police Department had furnished a man for the truant officer position, but last spring notified the board that in the future a policeman could not be spared.

An ordinance was introduced by Commissioner Charles Sherwood authorizing purchase of tracts in Park avenue at Wayne and Hampton places and Union avenue. This land will be used for the widening of Park avenue and the ordinance will have its final reading September 14. The sum of $3,000 has been appropriated for this purpose.

The board passed an ordinance paving sidewalks, curbs and concrete paving in Glass avenue from Mescham avenue to the Nutley-Belleville line. The work will be done by Belleville, with Nutley bearing the entire expense.

Mayor Cook and Commissioners Rife and Sherwood also favored an ordinance which calls for the construction of storm drains from the new Public Safety building to the Third River.

A petition, sent in by six property owners in Brown street, requested the town to pave Brown street from curb to curb and to construct sidewalks from Harrison street to Jefferson street. The petition signers pointed out that it would benefit the children who attend Lincoln School. Town Clerk Simon Blum read a letter from the White Eagle Society of Nutley which asked the town for permission to hold a picnic at Harrison street and Franklin avenue in a vacant lot, September 15. This petition was referred to the Department of Public Safety.

Nutley Club Women Have First Meeting

The first fall meeting of the Woman's Club was held Thursday when the members of the Board of Directors gathered in the club rooms.

A club meeting will be held Monday, September 16, and in place of a speaker, the members will give accounts of their vacation experiences. Music will be furnished by Mrs. James Reed, pianist, and with the annual reception to members who joined the club within the past year will be held under the direction of Mrs. Harry H. Halstead, chairman of membership.

Miss Marilla Hebbert, delegate at the Student Council at Geneva, who was scheduled to speak September 16 at the club, is remaining in Geneva to attend the sessions of the League of Nations. Miss Hebbert will return to Nutley September 21, and will tell of her experiences Thursday, September 26. On that date there will be a point meeting of the Woman's Club and League of Women Voters at the home of Mrs. Frederic Sanford. The scheduled speaker for this dual meeting is Miss Katherine C. P. Wiley of the Consumers League of New Jersey, who will discuss "Industrial Conditions of Woman and Children."

Officials In Nutley Speed Bride's Home

In order that E. J. Rhoades may complete his new home at 79 Prospect street, Nutley, in time for his wedding within a few weeks, the Zoning Adjustment Board of that town will hold a special meeting tomorrow night, to straighten out a complication, caused by a surveyor's error.

Construction has been held up because the discovery was made that the house is too close to the adjoining property. Mr. Rhoades' bride will be Miss Marjorie Taylor, a teacher in Belleville.

Wesley Auxiliary Has First Meeting

Members Are Entertained At The Home Of Mrs. Compton

The first meeting of the season of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ladies' Aid Society of Wesley M. E. Church was held Tuesday evening, at the home of the minister's wife, Mrs. Edgar M. Compton. She was assisted by Mrs. Phillips.

Plans were discussed for taking charge of a candy booth, and some attraction (still undecided) for the children, at the church fair November 14 and 15.

It was also decided to hold a Halloween party for members of the Auxiliary on October 2 in the church parlors.

Mrs. Ira Cornel was made assistant treasurer to Mrs. O. Breunlich, and Mrs. Thetford appointed chairman of devotions to complete the unexpired term of Mrs. L. Ballentine.

All members present stood a moment in silent prayer in memory of their deceased member, Mrs. Ralph Allaire.

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held Tuesday evening, October 1, at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. O. F. Breunlich, with Mrs. George Baumeister and Mrs. F. Newton as co-hostesses.

Bingo Party To Be Held At Belleville Home

A Bingo Party will be held tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Mae Stumpf of 87 Tappan avenue, Belleville, sponsored by the Dames of Malta, Sisterhood No. 239.

A meeting will be held Thursday, at 711 Broad street, Newark, when the investigating committee will make its report.

Helen Wills Scores Starvation Diets, Advising Girls on Health and Charm

Proper Food, Exercise and Sunshine Best Guarantees of Happiness and Success, Says Champion.

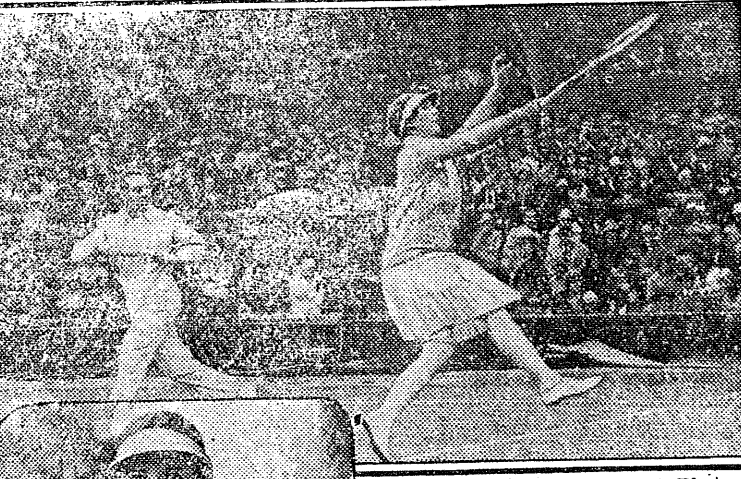

THE fad for reducing diets for the sake of a boyish figure finds no friend in Helen Wills, America's premier woman tennis player, who holds that good health is the young girl's greatest asset, that without it she cannot hope to compete in life with her sturdier sisters, but that with it there are no limits to her possible achievements.

"To the young girl who is anxious to increase her charm and good appearance," Miss Wills says, "I would say, for health and beauty, and for getting the most out of life, stick to sensible habits of eating. Never run the risk of ruining your health by foolish food fads, and keep out in the open as much as possible."

"I most emphatically do not approve of eliminating nourishing foods from the diet, especially in the case of growing girls who need every ounce of reserve force. Lacking this important force, it is impossible to meet any crisis with success. In tennis, we players are under a strain more or less, of both a physical and mental nature, and we must maintain our energy by some method of refueling, especially during strenuous matches."

"It is a habit, therefore, to partake of some strength-building foods, usually a hot beverage and perhaps a few sweet crackers. The most wonderful energizer in the world, I have discovered, is sugar. It is the best thing I know, and I use it extensively. Usually I take several lumps dissolved in a cup of hot water. This is much more palatable, of course, with a dash of lemon."

For the girl who is obviously over-weight, Miss Wills has no admiration, but she believes that unless a girl is afflicted in some physical manner, she will never become over-weight to an alarming extent if she takes sufficient exercise. Weight charts have never appealed to Miss Wills as accurate evidence of one's physical fitness. She does not accord with the standard weight for her height by several pounds, yet she is strong and absolutely healthy in every respect.

Naturally, Miss Wills explains, she is a firm believer in out-door exercise, and she feels that organizations which foster an interest in sports are contributing greatly to the development of the finest type of girlhood. Tennis leads in her estimation, but she believes that even tennis should be played in moderation. "It is a strenuous game and should be taken gradually," she says. "That is, one should not over-play. This applies to the seasoned player as well as to the beginner."

Sugar, Miss Wills says, is the world's greatest energizer, and here she appears with a lump of her energy food clutched in her good right hand.

Mrs Gus Luettgens Would Get Opinions On Popularity Contest

Mrs. Gus Luettgens of 54 Terrace avenue says she would like "to hear the opinion of the public and her many friends, who purchased tickets to help her win in the so-called popularity Contest in connection with the Nutley Elks' Charity contest in which Mrs. Margaret Charles was named the winner and Mrs. Luettgens, second.

"Mr. McGary, head of the circus committee, called at my home twice to have me enter this contest which I consented to do if it was run straight with no vote buying at the last minute and he assured me it would be strictly 'on the level.'"

Say Call Not Made.

She adds, "Mr. McGary stated to my husband on Monday morning, that previous to announcing the final result a general call to the public would be made for any votes for the contestants. 'Mr. Luettgens and Mr. Edson, Elk of Lodge No. 21, and myself stood at the voters' booth from 10:15 until after 11 o'clock and this call was never made."

"A hat was passed around and contestants drew a number and deposited votes in the order that this number was called. I drew number 1 and so one. The highest ones got the numbers in rotation which brought Mrs. Charles number 5 and last to enter her votes."

"While she was in the booth I and others thought it looked very strange in the manner we drew our numbers and I remarked to Mr. Luettgens 'You had better speak to Mr. McGary about the books of votes the friends hold as they are still waiting the call.'"

Votes Taboo

"When Mr. Luettgens approached Mr. McGary on the subject he absolutely denied ever having made such a statement and refused to allow these votes to be entered in the contest. We did not expect to go in the booth with them nor were they collected after I came out of this booth. They were brought right from home in a separate package from what I held and which also contained the cash. He refused to accept the books. There was a committee of nine Elks but not a one was there as there should have been. Mr. Luettgens started to look for Allan Machette, chairman for the Elks. While he was trying to locate Mr. Machette I said to Mr. McGary 'you are making a mistake not to accept this box.'"

Says "Bigger" Check Offer

"He answered, 'I was offered a bigger check than anything you have there.'"

"I asked him how did he know what I had. Mr. Luettgens came back without anyone of the committee and asked him again to accept the books which he refused."

"A second hunt brought Mr. Machette to the booth and a few words passed between Mr. McGary and him and then they both flew at us repeating it would not be fair to let me in. We insisted this was not our intention, but they should accept the box."

"Lucky For Elks"

"Very foolish on their part they did not accept it, but lucky for the Elks to whom the books belonged and furthermore these books held chances for the $300 cash award which these Elks had no chance to win, according to the action of Mr. McGary."

"When the drawing took place Mrs. Charles' score was announced 189,650 and she entered a bundle of books which had not been in circulation for votes, as books of other contestants were, and a check for $350

Newark Man Who Shot Sister Is Sent To Jail

Charged by Chief William Brown of Nutley with atrocious assault and battery with intent to kill, Albert Fay of 12 East Sylvan street, Newark, was sent to the Essex County Jail Friday, after a hearing, to await grand jury action.

Fay is accused of shooting his sister, Mrs. Amelia Riley, of 174 Conover avenue, Nutley, at her home Monday evening. Mrs. Riley, who was wounded in the abdomen, is recovering in Beth Israel Hospital, Passaic.

Fay told the Nutley police that he committed the act because he thought his sister was withholding a share of his mother's estate which was due him.

Plans Announced In Nutley Churches

The Sunday school of Grace Episcopal Church will resume classes Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock. Evening services will begin again in October. During this month church activities are being organized and will be ushered in the first Sunday in October with special services to celebrate the tenth anniversary of Rev. Charles P. Tinker as rector. A confirmation class is being formed for November.

The first fall meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Vincent Methodist Church was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Tomorrow Circle 4 will give a luncheon at the home of Mrs. H. M. Smith of 266 Whitford avenue. The fair committee of the Ladies' Aid Society will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Hugh Eagleson of Grant avenue to perfect plans. Rally week for departments of the church will be held from September 29 to October 6. A large program has been arranged.

There was a consistory meeting of Franklin Reformed Church Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The Flower and Christian Service Guild met at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Dina K. Boeder was in charge of a meeting of the missionary society Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. That evening at 8 o'clock there was a business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society followed by a social hour. Rev. Arthur C. Roosenraad conducted services last evening. Division I of the Woman's Guild will meet tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Scorsio with Mrs. Walter W. Graves in charge. Mrs. John Heeb of Orchard street will entertain members of Division 2 tomorrow evening.

Women of the congregation of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church will meet this evening at the church for completion of fall activities.

Immigration League Opens Fall Season

The first meeting in the fall season of the Essex County branch of the Restrictive Immigration League will be held Wednesday, September 25 at 248 Market street, Newark. The meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Augustella Ford of Bloomfield, president of the branch.

The good and welfare committee will meet Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth B. Brink of 348 Cortlandt street, Belleville. Speakers will be heard. Music will be in charge of Harry Rothwell of Newark, Mrs. Jennie Newby is secretary. She lives at 20 Ridge avenue, West Orange. All meetings are open to the public.

4,084 Enroll In Nutley Schools

This Is An Increase Of 88 Over Last Year's Total

Enrolment in Nutley public schools has reached 4,084, an increase of eighty-eight over last year, it has been announced at the office of Dr. Paul R. Radcliffe, superintendent of schools.

Washington School has the largest enrolment with 723. Others are: High school, 617; Park, 678; Lincoln, 605; Spring Garden, 534; junior high, 511; Yanticaw, 354; Orphans' Home, 62.

Yanticaw School shows the greatest increase over last year, having thirty-two more pupils. The high school is next with thirty.

The new additions to Yanticaw and Lincoln schools were available for use Tuesday. Dr. Radcliffe reported all students were on full time. There are 168 teachers, an increase of one over last year.

2 Banks Reopened By Hobart Trust

Merchants Trust And Main Branch Resume Business Under Passaic Control

Two Passaic banks closed July 24, last, by the State Department of Banking and Insurance, Tuesday reopened their doors for business under new ownership.

They were the Hobart Trust Company and the Merchants Trust Company, whose control by the New Jersey Bankers Securities Company was the subject of court investigation.

The Merchants Bank, together with the Service Trust Company, were branches of the Hobart. All three were closed by the State Department because of "impairment of capital."

Later the Court of Chancery approved the sale of the majority stock on the banks by the New Jersey Bankers Securities Company to a group of local business men headed by Dow H. Drukker, who became president of the Hobart and Merchants.

The new management discontinued the Service Trust Company and removed its records to the Hobart Trust.

Reconvening after an adjournment since June, the Passaic County Grand jury Tuesday postponed until Friday the renewal of its investigation into the kidnapping of Willard H. Elliott, former vice president of the Hobart Trust Company of Passaic.

Twins To Be Guests At Capitol

If you are twins you do not have to worry about the price of admission to the Capitol Theatre next week.

The first ten pair of twins to phone their names and addresses to this office will receive passes to see "Twin Beds" playing Monday and Tuesday at the Capitol Theatre.

Jack Mulhall and aPty Ruth Miller are the bridegroom and bride in "Twin Beds." Mulhall is starred in this screen version of the famous stage farce by Margaret Mayo and Salisbury Field, and Miss Miller is the petite and charming bride who is separated from her husband on their wedding night. "Twin Beds," which was directed by Alfred Santell, is an all-comedy screen offering with an all-comedy cast. It is built for laughing purposes to usher in Fun Week at the Capitol Theatre with great eclat.

EXIT THE KITCHEN

The older generation can remember when many families ate their meals in the kitchen, which was the really important room of the home. Later the dining room developed into an institution. Now the pendulum is swinging the other way.

Apartment house builders some years ago eliminated the kitchen and substituted a dinky little space for a gas stove, sink and closet and called it a kitchenette. Now they are destroying the old-time dining room and substituting what they call a "dinettes," really a part of the kitchenette. The space now devoted to the preparing and serving of food would not make half of the old-time kitchen.

The apartment house builders, who must sense the demands of tenants, appear to believe that cooking and eating are rather minor parts of the average family's daily life. The fact that tea rooms, restaurants and cafeterias abound in apartment house districts show the belief is well founded.

Builders are spending their money on bathrooms these days instead of kitchens and dining rooms. It is getting so that people who seek five-room apartments, with two or three bedrooms, insist on two bathrooms. The shower bath has the call over the kitchen range.

The real swaggar apartments now feature "master's bedroom with dressing room and tiled shower bath attached"—"guest chambers, each with bath," etc., but the kitchen and dining room seem of little consequence.

Kitchens and dining rooms seem destined to disappear from the apartment houses; in fact, there is little left of them now. The average apartment house kitchenette is not equipped to handle the old-time dinner, and these "dinettes," with the gas stove at one elbow, hardly provide the setting for a real meal.

One by one the traditions of the old, spacious, comfortable home are disappearing. Good cooking, which formerly contributed so much to the family peace and comfort, can hardly thrive in the apartment house atmosphere.

:O:

DOES NEWARK KNOW HOW?

In its threat to prevent, if possible, the leasing by Belleville and Bloomfield of a part of their unused allotment in the Passaic Valley sewer to the United Peace Dye Works of Lodi, the City of Newark is appealing to the letter of the law to defeat its spirit. If the city should succeed in making good its threat, those who are suffering from the continued pollution of the river will know where to place the blame.

Thus speaks the Sunday Call which adds:

The Newark Evening News offers some good advice to Mayor Congleton on the subject of river pollution. The News would save Newark from the ill-will of its neighbors and the condemnation of many of its own citizens.

Ah, our big hearted brother—Newark. What that city wouldn't do to us if it owned us.

The Newark News knows whereof it speaks. It knows the inner track of consolidation and annexation—forced or otherwise.

The Newark papers are trying to show the wise rulers of the city what to do. It will be interesting now to watch what the commission does. Probably it will call "hands off" the sewer proposition. At least it will if it intends to gobble up Belleville.

Don't contaminate us too much, Newark! The river has poisoned us enough, now.

RADIO NOT A LUXURY

Everyone has known that the radio is "an important social institution," but we have lacked legal authority for such knowledge. A German judge has now decided that a radio set is not a luxury but a necessity. A legal precedent has been established.

The owner who sued a physician for interference because of his use of a high tension electrical apparatus was upheld by the learned judge. The doctor claimed that a radio was a luxury and that the complainant was not entitled to relief. The court set him right. And while we hardly needed the assurance, it may prove a useful precedent if a similar case comes up in an American court.

ARTHUR BRISBANE WILL WRITE FOR THIS PAPER

We are about to begin publication of a feature of such brilliancy and individuality that, were it unsigned, careful readers of newspapers would immediately identify its authorship.

It is not improbable that something like 20,000,000 sturdy Americans of all classes, including thousands of writers, believe that Arthur Brisbane is the greatest editorial writer of the present day. "Think, think, think," is his slogan, and his immense following is due to the fact that he can phrase his thoughts with such brevity and clarity that they are immediately understood by everyone.

Champion and exemplar of the square deal, Arthur Brisbane is the apostle of tomorrow, the prophet of a better time. Human nature, harassed, perplexed, accepts the Brisbane faith that the tomorrow of the race will be greater, finer, nobler, more bearable than it is today. Every day, therefore, one-fifth of the newspaper reading population of the United States consumes his editorials as hungrily as it eats its bran or oatmeal and toast and eggs.

Brisbane has an unequalled facility for simplifying complex material and making it attractive. For example, if he wanted to "put over" a talk on hygiene and dietetics, he would entitle it "Pity Poor Moses: He Had No Icebox." His writings have achieved a reputation for the originality which attracts, the brilliancy which holds, the paradox which makes people think, and the bluntness which convinces.

The adage: "Whatever is right," does not go with Brisbane. Whatever is isn't right, to him. It can be, and should be, better. He is the highest priced editorial writer in the world. He wouldn't and couldn't be so high priced, if his clear and humanly attractive philosophy were not worth the money.

We shall carry a column entitled: "This Week," by Arthur Brisbane. It will be just what its name implies—thoughts inspired by the latest happenings and trends throughout the world, but more particularly, in America. The feature will seize and hold you, greatly to your entertainment and profit.

Our Poets' Corner

INFLUENCE

INFLUENCE is great, We all wield it each day,
In home or in business, At work or at play,
Though quiet its voice. Yet we all have a share,
In lifting or crushing, Some life with its care.

INFLUENCE we question, What does the word mean,
People are not always, What to us they seem,
Off with smile they greet us, But heart is not there,
They crush, do not lighten, Our life with its care.

INFLUENCE oh where may we find it to-day,
The kind that is helpful, In life's troubled way,
This, This is the way, You may find it dear friend,
Give your life to others, Your INFLUENCE lend.

MYRON W. MORSE.

William G. Conley, Governor of West Virginia, Says: That I do not believe the present generation is "going to the dogs," that it is worse than the last generation, that we stand on the brink of moral decadence and disaster. I do not believe that Christian religion has passed into disuse as have artificial, foundationless cults that for a time were the fad of the frivolous. I believe that our boys and girls and our men and women are as true and staunch and upstanding and full of strength and character today as were the boys and girls and men and women of a generation ago or of a century ago.

We are living not only under changed conditions, but in a time when conditions still change so rapidly that some of us have difficulty in adjusting ourselves to the new order. Conventions that were binding half a century ago have been tossed into the discard, but others just as well-based and just as binding constrain us today.

Our boys and girls, our young men and women, with greater facilities for learning than were available twenty-five years ago, can secure an education at an age earlier than could their parents. Because they know more than ultra-conservatives think they should know "for their age," they are condemned as precocious and hardened. Knowledge that used to characterize the forties, today is the characteristic of the twenties; but the boy and girl of twenty, sophisticated, schooled, prepared for life, no more deserve condemnation for having knowledge than did the older man and woman of forty a generation back. That knowledge is natural to the age in which we live.

Materially, at least, we are living today at a more rapid rate than was dreamed of half a century ago, but the ideals for which we strive in 1929 are as high and noble and splendid as those for which paladins fought when knighthood was in flower. The holocaust called the World War showed that patriotism, loyalty, love of home and country, willingness and desire to serve humanity, were as firmly entrenched in the heart of American youth as when the cannon of Old Hickory repulsed the British at New Orleans or when Washington led his tattered and bleeding army at Valley Forge. Storm-wrecked Florida and the flood-ruined Mississippi Valley proved that ours is a generous people with hearts susceptible to pity. We are touched by the sufferings of humanity everywhere. Love of home and hearth, of Mother, of State and Nation, is every bit as strong as it was a hundred years ago. Our belief in God is as firm today as it was in the hearts of the Pilgrim Fathers. The fires of our faith burn with steady intensity. We must have a deep faith in ourselves, and we have the things to which we may anchor that faith.

This generation is the peer of any that has gone before.

Citizen Cites

Success never comes to the man who stops promptly when the whistle blows.

You can't fly with the owls at night and keep up with the eagles in the daytime.

The marriage is a failure if she looks back to the first six months and wishes he would be like that now.

The man who insists upon feeling a friendly interest in our affairs is apt to be a good bit of a nuisance.

One thing must be said for the young man in the business world—he has all his mistakes ahead of him.

The big problem of the "dollar down" merchant is to keep the stall out of the installments.

Many a married woman's idea of economy gets no further than having hash for breakfast.

A business will run without advertising like a car will run without gas.

The only time some men ever do any work is when they are laboring under a delusion.

Be good to your friends. Your enemies can be depended upon to be good to themselves.

A great many citizens would rather swat the golf ball than the fly.

More things come to those who don't wait for them than to those who do.

The spend-thrift may live to see the day when he won't have the cents he was born with.

It's when a man decides to economize and cut down expenses that his friends begin to fall by the wayside.

It is just as well to remember that in the pursuit of happiness rapid transit is not absolutely necessary.

Man reaps what he sows unless he be an amateur gardener.

It is easy to get rattled when you have a skeleton in the closet.

Life is a game of give and take—except in the little matter of advice, when it is mostly give.

The bride can never be quite happy unless she has as much confidence in her husband as she has in her hair-dresser.

Five gallons of gas and two quarts of oil will give a motorist a good time if he stays on his side of the road.

This little couplet, short and solemn. Was just put in to fill this column.

The man who can't collect his thoughts is apt to become a mental bankrupt.

It is much harder to make an apology than it is to make a mistake.

"Mose, do you know what the A. D. on the cornerstone of that building stands for?"

"Yes, sah. It stands for 'All Done.'"

Him: "Funny thing about the Declaration of Independence." The Female: "What's that?" It and Nothing More: "Most of the men who signed it were married."

St. Peter scanned the tally that had been kept on the latest applicant. "I can hardly let you into heaven on this record," he said. "Just what was your occupation on earth?" "I was a truck driver," returned the disembodied soul.

"Open the gates, boys! He must have the right of way."

"What ya doing, big boy?" a college student inquired.

"I'm writing home to mother," his roommate replied.

"Well, when you get through copying those verses from 'Indian Love Lyrics' let me have the book. I'm going to write home to my mother, too."

A city visitor from one of the windswept States gazed intently at the spiral fire escape that wound its way down the rear of a thirty-story building.

"Gosh," he exclaimed. "That must have been a dang long ladder before the cyclone hit it."

Would End Strikes.
Another Arab War.
The Feminine Mind.
Senate and Sugar.

BRITAIN'S labor government seeks a way to "end strikes and lock-outs."

In a recent cotton strike workers lost $5,000,000 a week in wages. Mills lost $7,000,000 a week in export trade, and must fight to get it back.

Arbitration is the only way. If the labor government can find arbitrators that both sides will trust, persuade employers to play fair and union men to keep bargains when they find they don't like them, it will render inestimable service to Great Britain and teach this country something it needs to learn.

Another war has broken out, following wholesale murders in Palestine. Jews and Arabs are boycotting each other in business. The Anglo-Palestine bank refuses bills of credit to Arabs. The latter boycott the Rutenberg Electricity Company and the Jewish bank.

Christians are as much interested as Jews in the outbreak once a religious-war starts, the Mohammedan fanatic enjoys equally the murder of a Christian or a Jew. If anything, the Arabs might favor the Jews, to whom they are racially related. From the Jewish religion Mohammed borrowed much for his Koran.

It has been said that the Koran was written by an educated Jew for Mohammed, who probably could not write, although he certainly could fight.

The senate is discussing tariff. One hundred and twenty million Americans who eat sugar, beet sugar men, Louisiana sugar men, sugar growers of the whole world, are interested in sugar. A high sugar tariff really means protection, a national subsidy of many millions, for employers of Asiatic labor in Hawaii and the Philippines.

Sugar comes duty free from those places, belonging to Uncle Sam; Asiatics do the work. Their employers get the profit. Not much of it will go to sugar growers on this continent.

Our friend Cuba, good customer and neighbor, would be ruined by a high tariff, if anything could ruin so plucky a people.

Johnny Goodman, twenty-year-old golfer from Omaha, put Bobby Jones, king of golf, out of the amateur championship. Verily, "He hath put down the mighty."

Young Mr. Goodman represents a part of the country that has staying power, and you will hear more of him.

The International Congress of Psychology learns that married life brings the male mind closer to the feminine mind. Investigation of "sex differences, primarily non-intellectual," said Doctor Erman, shows that married life weakens "mental masculinity."

Naturally and fortunately, men were once all cannibals, all murderers, all thieves. To meet a stranger was to kill him or run so that he would not kill you. Women had to change that gradually, in their husbands and in their little boys also. They have done it partly. Much work remains for the feminine mind.

Finance is a mystery, understood least by the man who thinks he understands it.

Britain lent millions to France, and France now is drawing gold from London, worrying the Bank of England.

The French lend money on call at 3½ per cent, while complaining of poverty caused by the war. This richest country in the world lends call money at from 9 to 20 per cent. A French business man can borrow money on time loans for 3½ per cent. American business men pay 6 to 8 per cent.

Today the stock gamblers and investors probably will start again cheerfully. August was a great month. Two hundred and forty representative stocks increased in value by four thousand, four hundred and sixty-five million dollars.

Colonel Lindbergh says a flyer sent out of trouble—not too much imagination, which might distract him from his flying. And the first-class flyer must not know what fear is.

Lieutenant Doolittle possesses the necessary requirements. While showing what an airplane could do, above the Cleveland airport, he stripped the wings from his plane and jumped at 3,000 feet with his parachute. He immediately asked for a new plane and went up to compete in "upside-down" stunts.

Mussolini is delighted with his new baby, Anna Maria. Well he may be if he wants his power handed on to future generations. The father's qualities are inherited by the daughter, as shown by Galton's studies in heredity. What an interesting life that little baby will have, and what a tragic life she may have.

BUSSES CRASH, 11 ARE INJURED

Two Children Hurt In Accident Caused By Rainstorm

Eleven persons, two of them children, are nursing cuts and bruises and recovering from nervous shock as the result of the collision of two North Newark-Passaic busses Sunday night. None was seriously injured.

The busses, owned by the Public Service, were proceeding south on Union avenue, between Holmes street and Belleville avenue, when the first bus slowed down for a street intersection. It was driven by George Martin of 92 VanWinkle avenue, Passaic.

Following was a bus driven by Paul Arra of 380 Oak street, Passaic, in which all of the injured were passengers. The bus skidded on the pavement and sidwiped the first bus, badly damaging both machines and shaking up the passengers.

Those who were aboard the bus were: George Wolak, Sr., wife Mary, son George, Jr., 9, and son Benjamin, 12, of 329 Oliver street, Newark, all shaken up.

James McLaughlin, 25, of 362 Main street, Lodi. Abrasions of knees, probable fractures.

Miss Mary Higgins, 21, of 165 Union avenue, Belleville. Injuries to head and back.

Pearl Wison of 49 Mt. Prospect avenue, Newark. Injuries to right arm.

Mrs. Rose Somorachi, 20, of 27 William street, Delawanna. Sprained right ankle, bruised right shoulder.

Mrs. Ben Best, 50, of 585 Broadway, Newark, cut over right eye and injuries to mouth.

Mrs. Anna Jacobs, 35, of 31 Vandenberg avenue, Delawanna. Bruises of body.

Mrs. Mary Edgar, 20, of 19 Vandenberg avenue, Delawanna. Abrasions of right elbow.

All of the injured were treated by Dr. Martin Meehan and Dr. Edward Rizzolo, and the most seriously injured were taken to their homes in other busses after they had received first aid treatment.

The less seriously injured and those who were only shaken up took busses on regular routes to their destinations.

Police did not press charges against either of the drivers. They said they believed the slippery pavement and bad vision because of the heavy rainfall were responsible for the crash.

Telephone Veterans At Pioneer Outing

Telephone men and women from Newark and vicinity who are veterans in the industry were among the 400 or more who attended the second annual meeting and outing of the H. G. McCully Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America, at Asbury Park last Saturday and Sunday.

The Chapter is the New Jersey unit of an organization that is nationwide in scope and has more than 15,000 members. The gathering brought together telephone workers from all parts of the state who have been actively identified with the earlier days of the service in New Jersey. The meeting was informal in character, the only formal note being a banquet Saturday evening at the Berkeley-Carter Hotel, at which Chester I. Barnard, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, delivered an address.

The pioneers are men and women who have seen at least 21 years of service and whose records in some cases go so far back that "telephone service" was little more than a phrase when they began their work.

The national organization was formed in 1911. The New Jersey Chapter was organized in 1922, being named for H. G. McCully, who for many years was prominently identified with the development of telephone communication in the state. As far back as 1884 he was superintendent of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company with headquarters in Jersey City, and all departments under his supervision. Mr. McCully died in 1917.

In 1927, the membership was greatly enlarged when pioneers in the southern part of the state transferred from the Liberty Bell Chapter, with headquarters in Philadelphia, on the formation of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company and consolidation of most of the state's telephones under one statewide operating unit.

Those from Belleville and vicinity who attended included: F. M. Covey, R. E. Dixon, L. Donohue, H. W. Ferguson and A. R. Palser of Belleville; and J. M. Mansfield, J. Molyneux, Arnot Quinby, O. F. Ryan and H. E. Naylor of Nutley.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Coley and sons Mortimer and Donald of Monview place have returned from their summer cottage at Compo Beach.

On With The Show

By ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"ON WITH THE SHOW." is the first 100% natural color, Vitaphone picture. It is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

"Welcome Home," a musical comedy trying out on the road, is stranded. Willie Durant, the financial backer, is friendly with Nita French, the star, but, strangely enough, refuses to put up any more money. Behind Nita's back he is attentive to Kitty, the check room girl with stage aspirations, and induces her father, "Dad" Malone, stage doorman, and her sweetheart, Jimmy, the head usher, to invest all their savings in the piece. Jerry Connolly, the manager, is unable to pay salaries. Sam Bloom, scenery builder, comes to take away the sets, but Sarah Bogardy, the comedienne, momentarily dissuades him.

CHAPTER III—Continued

"Compared to me he's on fire." Sam turned on his heel and headed for the stage door.

"Now look here, Sam," Jerry caught hold of the man's arm.

Sam shook him off. "Try Wall Street. That's headquarters for suckers."

Sam continued on his way, leaving Jerry to stand staring after him thoughtfully. He must do something, and that something and to be done quickly. Perhaps he could talk to Nita and see if she wouldn't try to use her influence on Durant. It was a funny thing, he reflected, that Durant should refuse to put any more money in the show, especially with Nita as the star. That was one of the reasons Nita had been given so many song numbers. Not that she could actually put them over, but a younger, never face might have been a little more attractive in the role that called for pulsating youth. He shrugged his shoulders. Anyhow, Nita was in the piece. He started towards her.

A figure in organdie that swung ludicrously about revealing ruffled bloomers flashed by him. Sarah Bogardy, the comedienne, sent him a smile from a month that was too large to be exactly pretty, and hurried into the wings. Jerry shook his head. No use trying to see Nita now. Once Sarah got into the wings the two would immediately start one of their cat-and-dog battles, and when Nita went into battle—Jerry shuddered. That was part of the trouble. Everybody was on edge, nervous, uncertain as to the future.

"Miss French, I've asked you and asked you and asked you to take your suit cases and things out of my dressing room. I shan't ask you again," Jerry could hear Sarah already beginning to upset Nita.

"Can I depend on that," Nita retorted, her eyes flashing fire.

"I certainly don't intend to work with you any longer," came the reply. "I won't stand it! I won't!"

"Don't hysterics me, darling. I'm a woman myself," Nita cried.

"I hope you have gallstones," Sarah called, and then Jerry seized her arm and pulled her back as Nita turned, hand upraised, as though to slap Sarah's face.

"Oh my darling, how sweet, how very sweet it is to have you back." It was Nita's voice coming from the stage, as she softly twined her arms about Harold Astor's neck. "Do you remember when we were just little children playing together along the levee."

"Do you remember that game we used to play, the game of pretend," Harold was breathing gently the cue for the on-coming song. The orchestra took up the melody.

"Games we played when we were little children."

Still seem nice somehow.

After all we're grown up now."

"Cat!" Nita's voice carried off into the wings as she neared the stage proscenium. Turning her back on the audience she glared at the belligerent Sarah.

"Come, dear, and wander through the land of Let's Pretend, Away out yonder where the Springtime knows no end."

Nita was crooning softly as she swayed gently back and forth, a beatific smile lighting her face. She gazed into Harold Astor's eyes as though he were a god descended from Olympus.

"Just as a child would, let's make believe."

We're in the wildwood, dreaming, Knighthood was in flower.

You'll find no sorrow there 'cause everyone's your friend."

"I'll throw every one of those trunks out," Sarah began from the wings.

"Just you dare!" Nita whispered savagely.

"And each tomorrow there you'll find the rainbow's end."

Jerry caught Sarah's arm and dragged her swiftly away.

CHAPTER IV.

As the curtain fell with a dull thud the swift rush of prop boys, carpenters, electricians back and forth across the stage began. Hammering, pounding, grating of wood against wood as the scenery collapsed, folded up and moved back against the wall methodically. A though a miniature earthquake had rocked a painted town, houses and streets were swallowed up and new vistas of gardens, homes and greenery were belched forth, teetering uncertainly into a semblance of concrete order.

Intermingling odors of powder perfume and warm, damp flesh filled the air. Show girls dashed by, wrenching off their clothes as they ran to make a quick change. Flashes of bare, moving legs, bright costumes, garish paste jewels, made moving spots of color and light against the dull drab walls. Out in front of the curtain the dancing feet of the Dorsey twins pattered and clogged to the rhythm of low-down blues.

"Well, I see you found him, Mr. Bloom," Jimmy came running through the stage box into the wings almost upsetting the retreating figure of Sam Bloom.

"Yep, he found me," Jerry nodded wearily. "He wants to attach the box office or take the scenery."

"Ah, gee, Mr. Bloom, you couldn't do a thing like that," Jimmy gasped. "Why, we got a great show here. It's a new idea. It's wonderful. You just look at it once and you'll see."

"I'm through arguing," Bloom grunted, trying to pull away from Jimmy's clutching fingers. "I'll take out every stick of scenery as soon as my trucks get here."

Jerry shook his head hopelessly. He'd messed things up for fair now, he told himself bitterly. Why had he had to tell Sam Bloom that Durant was through with the show. Perhaps he could have stalled Sam along for a while at least. It must have been the strain of trying to save the show that was beginning to tell. Perhaps Durant would come through all right. Why hadn't he waited until the backer had come in. He'd talk him into paying the bills once arrived.

"Oh, hello, Mr. Bloom! Hello, hello, hello!" Sarah's strident voice cut short the manager's meditations and caught Bloom's attention. "Did you hear my laugh? Wasn't it simply marvelous. Look at the notices I've been getting." Sarah dived down into the bosom of her dress and drew forth a newspaper clipping. Before anyone could stop her she began to read.

"With the exception of Sarah Bogardy's off-stage laugh, Jerry Connolly's new musical venture is a good, clean show. Man and boy, we've heard many feminine laughs but never one which seems to promise so much." Sarah gave a reproduction of the laugh that had caused such critical comment. "We predict a very exciting future for Miss Bogardy," she continued, "and hope to see more of her. Our phone number is Market 3568. Ask for Jack." Isn't that sweet," the comedienne demanded.

"That's a great notice," Bloom agreed, trying to edge away. "Well, sorry, folks, but I've got to go. Going to phone for the trucks."

Jimmy looked at Jerry, horror stamped on his boyish face, but before the manager could raise his voice in protest Sarah had caught Bloom's arm and was talking at him, her words tumbling out, staccato, like the popping of a machine gun.

"Now, Sammy," she dragged him toward the wings. "I haven't seen you for days and days. I won't let you run away. Come on and watch the show. You'll like it. I'll stay right here with you until I go on. This next is my big scene."

"Nope, I've got important business to attend to," Sam tried to withdraw Sarah's hand from his arm.

"Go on Sam," Jerry put in eagerly. "Take a look at the show. You'll enjoy it."

Belleville Legion Wins From Sapphires

Local Tossers Put Game On Ice With 6 Runs In First

Behind the stellar pitching of Roy Snell, Belleville American Legion annexed another victory at the expense of the Sapphires of Carlstadt, 8 to 2, Saturday at Clearman Field.

Belleville tossers put the game on ice by scoring six runs in the opening inning, during which frame they blasted Luciano from the mound. Art Lamb led both teams at bat with four hits in four trips to the plate. Ruhl started for the losers' outfield and at bat. The Sapphires out-hit Belleville, 11 to 9, but Snell was invincible in the pinches.

Lions-Rotary Baseball

At the weekly meeting of the Nutley Lions Club in Yountakah Country Club Thursday evening, it was announced by Anthony Gatto that the Nutley Rotarians had accepted the challenge for a game of baseball issued by the Nutley Lions. The contest was at the Park Oval yesterday. Test will be at the Park Oval today.

The Nutley Lions will close their diamond season at Clearman Field, Belleville, September 19, in a return game with the Belleville Lions.

Nutley Footballers Get Under Way

Forty Candidates Report To Coach George Stanford

Forty candidates for the Nutley High School football team, have reported to Coach George Stanford for drill.

Stanford divided his men into two squads. He drilled twenty of the more experienced men and told the other twenty to report this week for practice.

Eight letter men present included Edward Edson, Henry Stager, Roy Kramer, Alexander Baykowski, William Senter, William Wallace, George Wetherill and Hubert Crawford. Among others who participated were Ernest Stender, Ted Lusa, Donald MacKenzie, Charles Sherwood, Mike Connor, Frank Blase, Robert Lange, Clem VanHorn, Horace Tatum, Jr., Jack Bennett, Edgar Hay and William Kirkleski.

Capitols Shut Out Tail-End Parks, 10-0

Behind a splendid three-hit twirling exhibition turned in by Jim Mallack, the league-leading Capitols administered a sound 10-0 drubbing to the tail-end Parks, Friday, at the local diamond.

Mallack, ace of the Caps' mound staff, was never in danger scattering the trio of bingles he allowed over as many innings and striking out seven of the Park stickers.

"Ed" King, a third-baseman by trade, was elected to toe the rubber for the Parks, who were minus several players. Ed, however, was unable to stem the heavy Capitols' attack, which has swept all before it the entire season and was slapped around for thirteen safe pokes, seven of which were bunched in the initial two rounds to allow the winners to register eight separate and distinct times, and cinch the decision.

Successive one-baggers by John Mallack, Dunleavy, Jim Mallack, and Schessler, coupled with a pass to Tommie Dunn and a Park error were productive of five large markers in the first round. A double by John Mallack with two on, followed by Dunleavy's one-ply wallop to center added three more in the second.

Jim Mallack's crashing double far over the left field fence and Schessler's single were good for a ninth tally in the fourth.

In the sixth the Caps accounted for their tenth and final counter on a free ticket to "Joe" Flynn and successive one-ply wallops by John Mallack and Dunleavy.

"Jim" Mallack's fine mound performance can best be appreciated when it is mentioned that but one Park player got past first base during the entire contest. "Bill" Murphy opened the second with a double and reached third on an infield out. He was stranded, however, as the next two batters were easy outs.

Dunleavy seized the opportunity to fatten up his great batting average, grabbing himself three wallops in as many trips to the platter. John Mallack also collected a trio of hits, one being a double. Jim Mallack and Schessler had to content themselves with two apiece.

Bill Murphy, Park's crack out-gardener, was the only one to solve Mallack's offerings, slamming out a double and single in his only two tries. Vogel got the third and final hit off Mallack.

Bell-Nuts Down Bachelors, 7-2

The Bell-Nuts downed the Bachelors Wednesday in a local Legion League contest, 7-2.

Phelps, Bachelor mound ace, had an off night as the Bell-Nuts knocked him out of the box in the first with a five-hit barrage good for as many markers.

In this round "Pint" Senter opened with a double and scored on "Arties" Lamb's single. A Bachelor misplay and a wild pitch allowed Lamb to tally a few minutes later. "Hughie" Clark's homer to far right center with one on added two more tallies. A hit batsman, J. Senter's single and O'Neil's one-bagger produced the fifth and final run of the inning.

"Hughie" Clark's second extra-base wallop, a long double with two aboard gave the Bell-Nuts their final two markers of the game in the second canto.

A sensational running catch by "Jim" Clark, which was converted into a double play, cut short the promising rally.

For the remaining three rounds, Johnnie Lawlor, who had relieved Phelps on the mound, was supreme retiring the winners in 1-2-3 order.

After being blanked with but one hit in the initial five stanzas, the Bachelors suddenly came to life in the sixth to dent the rubber twice on three hits and avoid the kalsomine brush.

Lawlor's single followed by Loesner's homer to deep right were responsible for these markers.

"Hughie" Clark, with his double and homer, and "Pint" Senter, who collected a double and single, hit best for the winners.

Rosy Ryan Features As Separates Win

Knocks Three Hits And Gathers In Three Flies

Rosy Ryan, Belleville Separate's center fielder, was the whole show in their 10 to 4 victory over the Long Branch A. C. nine over the week-end. He gathered three hits, two of them going for home runs, and played well at center field snaring three flies. Ryan, who is well known hereabouts having played the Nutley A. C. club, drew a round of applause from the large crowd, every time he came to bat. Although it was Ryan's first appearance at Long Branch the fans and resort management has obtained the local nine's word to have Ryan on hand in their next meeting.

Johnny Woods pitched for the Separates and was in exceptional form fanning sixteen batters. He held the eight hits allowed the Long Branch tossers well scattered and eased up in the ninth to allow two runs. Woods who is looked upon as one of the best prospects in sand-lot ball, will join Walter Smallwood, former Bear hurler next spring.

Belleville Separates who have proven their class on many occasions, challenge the Belleville American Legion nine to a game of baseball to be played at Clearman Field.

Local Elks Resume Regular Meetings

Belleville Lodge of Elks, which has been holding one session a month since June, has returned to the regular schedule calling for meeting on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Monday night's session, held in the auditorium of the Elks' Home, was characterized by the regular routine. The exalted ruler, Harry W. Estelle, presided. He has announced a large class for initiation at the next meeting.

Belleville Panthers Win Three Games

After having scored easy triumphs over the Hillside Robins and the strong North End Cubs, the Belleville Panthers made it three in a row with a 7-5 triumph over the Liberty Seniors at Branch Brook Park Sunday.

Bill Schenk, Panther mound ace, chalked up his twelfth win of the season in this game keeping the seven hits he allowed well scattered.

Murphy, McCarthy and Byrnes starred with the stick for the local nine, while Dave Lamb played a bang-up game afield.

Jones and Macaluso Sign With Irvington Cardinals

Former Nutley High Stars Will Report To Doc Baker For Practice Today; Camptowners To Open Season September 29.

Art Macaluso and Sarah Jones, two former Nutley High School stars, are the latest addition to the Irvington Cardinals' cast. Macaluso played on the famous Nutley eleven which lost in a play-off with Rutherford for the State championship, while Jones is a star of more recent years.

The Cardinals held their first outdoor work-out Sunday at Irvington Playground and Coach Baker has ordered all hands to report for a signal drill tonight at the clubhouse. The Cardinals will open their season September 29 at Olympic Park.

Besides Jones and Macaluso, other new men are Louis Jaffe, former N. Y. U. player; Joe Stone of Potomac, Henry Kloss and Pep Koso-

LOCAL PLAYGROUND CHILDREN SHOW APPRECIATION FOR PASTOR

Rev. Benedetto Pascale, pastor of the Italian Baptist Church, Silver Lake, was given a pencil and a golf sweater Friday night by the children of Friendly Playground an appreciation of his work in obtaining the plot. Jasmine Petrucci, director of the playground, made the presentation.

The occasion was a welcome home to the pastor and his family, who returned early in the week from a vacation at Ocean Grove. The entertainment included moving pictures, community singing and a black-face performance by Mr. Petrucci. Mr. Petrucci's six-year-old son Elmo sang.

A practical demonstration of the regard of his congregation and the playground children was afforded when Mr. Pascale returned to find that his kitchen has been renovated, a new range had been bought and the bathroom floor tiled. The children's part was helping in the clean-up incident to the improvements. One of the congregation had made a broom closet for Mrs. Pascale.

The playground property, purchased by the church this summer, is operated under Recreation Commission auspices. The commission has granted use of the apparatus until winter, although other grounds under commission management have already closed.

Mr. Petrucci addressed the children, urging them to keep up the friendly spirit manifested through the summer.

"Be clean in speech and action in all you do, play to win and win fairly," he said. After this week volunteer workers will be in charge.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemeke

It won't be long now, fans! The dull thud of the revolving pigskin has already been heard with the first call for football candidates for this year's Blue and Gold football eleven by Coach Carl Erickson.

Baseball, tennis, rowing, and all those other delightful summer diversions must soon take their bow, before the greatest thriller of them all, football.

It's in the air, boys! Let's go!

St. Anthony's Defeat Parks Tossers, 6-0

St. Anthony's whitewashed the tail-end Parks, 6-0 in a Legion League contest, Tuesday.

Snell, St. Anthony ace, permitted but four bingles, scattered over as many innings to easily cop the decision, while seven Park batters miss the third strike.

Seabert, who toed the rubber for the Parks, was easy for the Saints who clubbed him for nine safe wallops.

M. Carchio, with his three consecutive singles, stood out in the Saints' attack. Julianio and Lilori were next in line with two apiece.

Seibert got the only extra base hit for the losers off Snell, a double in the fifth, while Travers's running catch of Raddy's fly in the fourth was the fielding feature.
