School Board Decides Against Turf

Supt. Gerard Tells Of Belleville Schools Gives Talk Before Group At Hillcrest Association Meeting

Speaking on "General Education" before the Hillcrest Association of Belleville Monday night, Superintendent of Schools George R. Gerard defined education as "the ability to do better and more easily the thing we want to do." "We must obtain a practical mind," he said, "and it must be moral."

He reviewed the history of Belleville's school system from its organization in 1800 in the Dutch Reformed Church. There are ten buildings with 196 teachers. The average daily attendance is 5,600 and the percentage of attendance is higher than any other community in the state, Mr. Gerard stated.

Mr. Gerard said the schools had capacity for three of four years more. It is the policy of the Board of Education to engage Belleville girls as teachers when possible, the superintendent declared.

The average cost of education per capita in Essex County is $120. That of Belleville is $80, of Nutley, $110 and Bloomfield $115. Mr. Gerard pointed out that if Belleville were to increase the cost in comparison with other municipalities it would mean an addition of seventy-three points to the tax rate.

The association went on record against the new fare rate proposed by Public Service. The secretary was instructed to write the Town Commission, the Affiliated Improvement Associations and the Public Utilities Commission.

Complaint was made regarding service on the Summer avenue bus line. The matter will be taken up with Public Service.

Days Of Crinoline And Hoop Skirt At Grace Church Tonight

Reminiscent of the days of crinoline and hoop skirts will be "The Old-Fashioned Album," a series of verbal tableaux, to be presented by the World Wide Guild of the Grace Baptist Church tonight in the social room.

Parents have been rummaging through attics where, of course, the family heirlooms are kept, in search of antique gowns, hats, fans, muffs, neckpieces, scarfs and bustles, in which to clothe their thespian inclined sons and daughters for this gala event.

It is with some foreboding that the parents and friends are lending these things as the styles of the past do not coincide with the styles of the present. For this reason it seems hardly possible that the free-waisted girl of today can squeeze into the size 32 waist of a past era.

We are sure that you will be pleased with the kaleidoscopic colors and variety of costumes that will be presented tonight and we invite everyone to be present at the disclosures of tinctures to be made in "The Old Fashioned Album."

Mrs. W. D. Clark, Jr., has composed and is coaching the entire affair. Miss Pauline Rosenblum will be pianist.

Steinmetz, Mrs. Leo Dempsey, Mrs. Clarence Connor, Mrs. George A. Harrison, Mrs. S. J. Straker.

The Belleville-on-the-Hill improvement Association is already beginning to formulate plans for a suitable celebration of its fifth anniversary next February. This Association, originally formed with a handful of members, now comprises more than three hundred Hill-top residents and not alone has it been very active in sponsoring improvements and promoting social activity within its own boundaries, but it has also been one of the leaders in forming and maintaining the Affiliated Improvement Associations in Belleville. The officers of the Belleville-on-the Hill improvement Association are as follows: F. J. Wolenski, president; S. J. Straker, vice president; A. Kersten, secretary; G. A. Question Answered How Does Laundryman Spend Money

We have heard it said time and time again, "I wonder what he does with his money," referring of course, to the Chinese laundryman. It has always been an unanswered question.

We questioned one, Wu She Chen, better known in community circles as Gim Hing of 504 Washington avenue. Of course we did not ask him what he did with his money but he disclosed the fact that he has a son, Singhan Nen, who is a student at Lingnan University, Canton, China.

Gim says that keeping a boy in college uses all his money and that is the reason one sees a light burning in his shop late into the night. He told us that he sometimes has great difficulty in translating the letters from his son because they are written in English. The boy who is sixteen years old is studying art which Gim declares he does not believe will do him much good. But he is satisfied to let the boy pick his own profession.

Town Commission Hears Of Turf Bog Rejection By Schools

Opinions of members varied Tuesday night at a meeting of the Belleville Town Commission regarding the Belleville Board of Education's decision against acquisition of a portion of the "turf bog" for general school athletic purposes. The consensus was the school board offered logical reasons for not favoring purchase at this time but did not look to the future.

The commission's plan was that the school board acquire part of the waste land lying west of Nolton street and the town the remainder for recreational development.

Commissioner William D. Clark said "it looks as if someone has thrown cold water on the proposition."

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, authorized by the commission to deal with the school body, said he had been informed John P. Maher, school board president, would request a survey of the property by the state school board to determine possibilities for school use.

"Is it a logical place for a school?" queried Commissioner James Gibson.

Sees Need Soon

Mayor Kenworthy said while it was not the town board's place to consider such a matter he felt it would be but a short time before the August Plenge property would be developed residentially and create a need for school facilities in the section.

PRESIDENT JOHN P. MAHER SURVEY BY STATE OF FOR SCHOOLS AND

The Board of Education Monday night decided not to purchase any portion of the turf bog west of Nolton street and north of Division avenue for a possible school athletic field or stadium.

The action was in the form of a resolution, submitted by School Commissioner Paul J. H. Hollberg of the Building and Grounds Committee, which group recommended "hands off" the proposition. The turf bog acquisition was discussed recently at a Town Commission meeting and action by that board was deferred, pending the school board's decision to acquire the land. Already a portion of the tract has been offered the town as a donation by the Lloyd estate.

School Commissioner Watson Current said that the property, which comprises about thirty-two acres, naturally became a town proposition because a park would have to be built on the property not used for athletic purposes. He added the assessed valuation of the property at present is $50,000, that an engineer's figures on the cost of constructing a storm sewer from the edge of the swamp to Third River is $100,000 and the development of Clearman Field, the present high school athletic field, cost $100,000 and these figures pointed to an amount which the school board feels it can not wisely spend at this time. Clearman Field, he pointed out, would be useful for about ten years more.

Mr. Maher, President John P. Maher, said that he did not believe a field would add purposes for more. He referred to the grammar school to further sports in and expansion of it as well as town resolution. The gentlemen, you and that in the heavily for it.

Final reports in the Community Chest appeal, which officially closed a week ago, were made Monday night, showing a total of $16,715.40, which represents $215.40 more than the quota. Campaign Manager John Ray made public the report at a jubilee gathering in the municipal building.

About seventy-five workers and leaders of the drive were on hand. Charles Granville Jones, the chairman of the appeal, led community singing, words of which were supplied by William Orchard of Wallace and Tiernan Company, who acted as industrial chairman. Mr. Jones also recited an original poem.

Speeches were made by nearly everyone present, and, according to Mr. Jones, had the pony which he used for advertising purposes been present, he would have called on it to complete an otherwise perfect meeting.

Watson Current, as chairman of the Special Gifts Committee, reported his group had received pledges for $8,688. The Wallace and Tiernan plant contributed $1,803. A few more workers still have reports to make.

Mr. Jones introduced Mr. Current as "the man who does things." Mr. Current reported one pledge of $500, six of $250, five, $100, one, $125, twenty-two, $100 and thirty-nine at $50. The Special Gifts Committee received donations from 147.

Other speakers were former Mayor or John DeGraw, who said Belleville would have gone over the top with a quota of $20,000, as well as the $16,000 quota. He said that there are persons in town as capable and as able as any town in the state and with a broader plan could have put over any reasonable drive. A. L. Boylan, Patrolman Robert Anderson, who turned in no less than $5 from each member of the force; Burton Colehamer, Philip Dettelbach, Mrs. Elsie Martling and representatives of the Salvation Army and Wallace and Tiernan plant, also spoke.

SCOUTS ASSIST COAST GUARD WHEN LAKE STEAMSHIP FOUNDERS

Kenosha Boys Mobilize For Duty—Comb Beach For Valuable Wreckage; On Duty Day And Night

A new page in the history of the Sea Scout Division of the Boy Scout Movement has been written as a result of the efficient work of the Sea Scouts and officers of the Sea Scout Ship Ranger of Kenosha, Wis., in aiding the U. S. Coast Guard on the day when the S. S. Wisconsin sank off the coast of Kenosha. The Sea Scouts were commended for this work by the Coast Guard and last week received a letter of commendation from Thomas J. Keane, National Sea Scout Director.

Mobilize Instantly

Immediately upon the news of the disaster, the Sea Scout Portmaster and Local Pilot reported to the U. S. Coast Guard Station and offered their services as well as those of the Sea Scout crew of the Ranger. The Portmaster, Lawrence J. Melhusch, was assigned to the station and rendered service to the survivors until all had been removed to the hospital and the morgue.

The officers and crew of the Ranger were called and although in school the crew was on duty in one hour. A patrol of the beach was maintained for three days and many articles of value including the aerial of the radio compass was salvaged by them and turned over to the Coast Guard. Patrol over a six-mile stretch of beach was kept up constantly night and day. Later a one-day patrol of the north beach was made by the boys. Skipper Stig Wilren and First Mate William Bula were on the job continuously. It rained almost all of the time so that the Sea Scouts were really put to a test.

Replace Coast Guard

On the night that the entire crew of the Coast Guard Station were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce to receive medals for their bravery the crew of the Ranger took over the U. S. Coast Guard Station from 6 to 11 P. M. and filled all billets. Deck watch, patrol, lookout and all other duties were carried on by the Sea Scouts.

Son Of Lost Atlantic Flier Earns His Wings; Hopes For Mail Job

Westfield, Nov. 28.—There will be no more trans-Atlantic flying in the Goldsborough family. You can take Frank Goldsborough's word for that. At 17 he had watched his father fly off into the Atlantic mists never to return, and at nineteen he has just earned his private pilot's wings. Now the younger Goldsborough is to carry on the family wings but he has no desire to attempt that in which his father failed.

"Dad was a better air navigator than I can hope to be. Why should I try to accomplish something which he could not do," the boy explains.

It was on Christmas Day, 1927, that Brice Goldsborough, co-pilot and navigator of Mrs. Frances Grayson's amphibian plane "Dawn" was lost in an attempted trans-Atlantic flight. Mrs. Grayson and her crew of four perished. Brice Goldsborough was the father of the present young pilot-man who has just passed his pilot's license test and with fifty hours of solo flying to his credit, now awaits inspection for a limited commercial license that will officially launch him upon his flying career.

Young Goldsborough has been receiving his flying instruction at the Atlantic Air College, Westfield, N. J. Airport. His mother, a business woman, has financed his air schooling and accepts with philosophical resignation, her son's determination to fly.

"Aviation has been the chief topic of conversation in the family for so long I can't blame Frank for going into it. He's so happy here at the air college I can't ask him to do anything else. He can do anything he wants to. He's a level headed boy," Mrs. Goldsborough said.

She also mentions something about Frank purposely "flunking" his school work so that he could hasten the day when he could earn his wings.

Frank's sole ambition at present is to fly the air mail. He is the honor student at the Atlantic Air College and his instructor, C. B. Bowyer, states that at fifty hours, young Goldsborough handles his plane like a war veteran.

"He's a natural born flier if there ever was one," Mr. Bowyer said. And the Atlantic Air College officials back him up. In fact they have offered Frank a job at the school's flying field at Westfield, N. J. He plans to work for the air college until he lands his air mail job.

He is believed to be the first son of a flier lost in line of duty to become a pilot.

Machine Gun Awaits Belleville Bandits

If Belleville bandits become tough and take to using machine guns in their operations, after the fashion of their Chicago brethren, they will find the police ready to deal with them on an equal footing.

For Chief Michael Flynn has announced to the world, particularly the underworld, that his force has a machine gun.

The gun, a seven-millimeter Colt, was presented to the police by Floyd Bragg, of the purchasing department of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, who is also one of the tax assessors of Belleville. Patrolmen Fleischauer and Anderson called for it at the Prudential warehouse and brought it to Belleville, where it was placed on its tripod in the chief's office.

The Prudential Company purchased the machine gun in 1917, for use of the Home Guards during the war.

P. S. STATEMENT OF EARNINGS

Operating expenses, maintenance, taxes and depreciation for the period were $93,912,564.31 an increase of $5,876,598.53 leaving a net income from operation of $41,152,666.28 as against $35,136,075.63 for the twelve months ending October 31, 1928, an increase of $6,016,590.65.

SCHOOLS

High School Notes

By JAMES REILLY

Thanksgiving festivities at Belleville High School were well taken off by the Senior class, which arranged the following program: Pilsbury, Victor Herbert; The Three Kings, George DeWitt, William McEwen. Now The Day is Over, Sir Barnaby, Boys' Chorus; Psalm of Thanksgiving, Felix Goddard; Silent Halbert; Thanksgiving, Rev. Peter Deckenbach; The Breaking Waves, Dashed High, Mary Ann Brown; School.

The student body of the high school returned from the vacation Monday morning looking generally fit and, shall we say a bit more, round than before their vacation? Naturally it is to be concluded that countless stuffed turkeys and many other savory dishes had something to do with this state of affairs.

As the snow started to fall on Monday the students waited with little patience for dismissal and when the time did arrive many were the ludicrous postures attained by some slipping upon the icy pavements.

Arriving (Noise) Kirschners, who is director of the former German band, severed connections with former ties and is now heading the same members under the name of the "Silver Crescent Orchestra." They made their first appearance in assembly while under their new name and played exceptionally well.

These aspiring musicians have announced that they are open for engagements and have expectations of playing over the radio in the near future.

Just Think!

Miss Eloise Larson, who was in the high school until a short time ago, eloped recently with a young man who was a senior in Lafayette College. She has the well wishes of all in high school.

Benjamin Minifie has returned home again from Lehigh, this time due to injuries received while playing soccer.

The snowy weather has developed a goodly number of cold-hearted high school men as shown by those who attended the coasting on Greylock Parkway, Monday and Tuesday nights. The local team was well represented by Captain Paul Short, Alfred "Ooky" Anderten, Harold "Butter" Brand, Morris Udansky, Louis Galluba, Andrew McMaster, "Moon" Mullins and many others. Apparently Paul Short is attempting to start a new vogue, that of wearing a derby while coasting.

Breen, who with the late Edward Butler was instrumental in organizing Court Sancta Maria, spoke on the twenty-three years the Daughters have been functioning in town.

The committee with Miss Jean Cogan, chairman, included Misses Elizabeth Cousins, G. R.; Helen Cogan, Mrs. Maurice Conway, Miss Loretta Dunleavy, Miss Teresa Salmon, Miss Helen Lukowiak, Mrs. John Westlake, and Mrs. George Hacker. David Schorr's orchestra furnished music for dancing and solos.

There was singing of popular airs by the assemblage. The soloists were Mrs. George Ward, Mrs. George Lonergan, Miss Catherine Smith, Mrs. Thomas Dillon, and Mrs. William Davis.

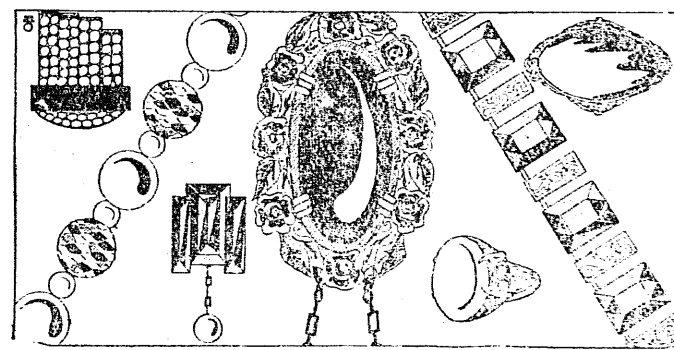

A silent toast to the departed members was offered by the Grand Regent.

Talking Radio Movies Will Be Shown

From behind closed doors of the research laboratories, television will step out before the general public. D. W. May, Inc., of Newark, has signed a contract with the Jenkins Television Corporation of Jersey City whereby television receivers and kits will soon be merchandized in the extensive local territory covered by the television broadcasting station W2-XCR of Jersey City.

"The television equipment which we are about to demonstrate," states D. W. May, "will be unique in that it will present sight and sound together—synchronized pictures and sounds, complete, by means of the usual standard radio receiver and the special television receiver. There will be two broadcasting stations, one for the sight signals and the other for the sound signals, employed. The apparatus to be demonstrated will not be a special laboratory character, as in demonstrations heretofore made by others, but, rather, will be of the simple, inexpensive type applicable to the usual home. In short, we feel that home television is just around the corner and we are pleased to pioneer in this field just as we have pioneered in broadcasting from its very inception."

Once Lowly Peanut's 50th Birthday Reveals Him In Spotlight's Glare

C. U. WILLIAMS

This year is the semi-centennial of the peanut. Barely mentioned in the American 1880 census, and with a yield of only 3,500,000 pounds in 1889, the 1929 production will be close to 2,000,000,000 pounds, three-fourths of which will be used at home. Baseball fans and circus elephants alike go in for the toothsome morsels, native to South America. The crop has become one of the South's great money-makers. An Italian immigrant, supporter of his family at 7, is a multi-millionaire today, his fortune made from peanuts. Coming to the United States when he was 11, Amadeo Obici soon was working at a peanut stand in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Within a year or two he owned it. Not long afterward he was buying peanuts by the carload. In 1906 he formed the concern known today as the Planters Nut and Chocolate Company. He has factories throughout North America, is a director in banks, organizations and associations and owns a 300-acre estate near Suffolk, Va. Last year his business reached nearly $15,000,000, all in 3- and 10-cent peanut products. "We are more than ordinarily glad that one of our oil-burners helps contribute to the comfort of a man who has been so successful in the delectation of millions," commented C. U. Williams, of Bloomington, Ill., president of the Williams Oil-O-Matic Heating Corporation. "The house where it is installed is a sharp contrast to the harness worker's home in Oderzo, Italy. It gratifies us, too, that many other thousands here and abroad share the wellbeing that Mr. Obici obtained for himself."

Celebration of the Fifth Anniversary of Fewsmith Church in Belleville was held on Sunday and the church was filled to capacity. Mr. M. J. Price of Newark, who was one of the three men originally appointed to meet the Belleville applicants when the church was organized in 1924, brought a message of commendation to the church members. Mr. Price pointed out the splendid accomplishments of the church group in the few years of its existence and stressed the possibilities ahead.

Thank offering envelopes were received and a substantial amount was contributed toward the church property indebtedness. Those members who have not as yet turned in their envelopes are requested to send them to the treasurer, W. H. Stone.

Miss Helen Caldwell, general chairman, announces that all details have been completed for the Pop Corn social to be held next Friday evening, December 13. A combination of Friday the 13 and a Pop Corn party hold untold possibilities for entertainment, all of which will be used to the best advantage. Tickets may be secured from any member of the C. E. or from Miss Caldwell. The party will be held in the church school auditorium.

The Activities Contest which has been taking place between the Red team, Captain Richard Owen; and the Blue Team, Captain Marjorie Owen, is nearing a close. The Red Team has thus far maintained a lead over the Red Team and a call is being issued for reinforcements and ammunition trains (also Gunga Din). The losing team will be hosts at dinner for the winners so unless members of the Red Team crave an opportunity to serve a meal to those Blues, they must make this month count.

Members of the Fewsmith C. E. have been invited to attend the Fortieth Anniversary celebration of the Essex County C. E. Union of New Jersey. This celebration will be held Thursday, December 12, at the North Reformed Church, Broad and Bridge streets, Newark.

Sunday, 11 A. M.—The pastor of Grace Church will have as his subject, "Christ and His Disciples." One cannot but admire the attitude that Jesus assumes toward his disciples. The Son of God with infinite tenderness was ever alert to save his beloved followers from the cruel plans and petty persecutions of the established authorities. Such a leader demands the admiration of his followers.

Sunday, 7:45 P. M.—"Fooling God is the subject of the evening discourse. When one realizes the insignificance of man, one wonders at his daring and foolishness in withstanding God. Man seemingly forgets that God knows all and sees all. What do you think, is it possible to fool God?"

Tuesday, 7:45 P. M.—The church meets for fellowship and good cheer. The membership of Grace Church is taking great interest in the discussion of the church covenant. The meeting is open to all who care to attend.

Sunday was a very cold day, but when the pastor faced the two splendid congregations the cold of winter was driven from his heart. The happy eager faces were an inspiration to the pastor of Grace Church to do his best. If you have no church home or if your home church is quite a distance, and you want to spend a happy hour, come to the services at Grace Church and enjoy good fellowship and cheer. You will be made welcome.

Just what we expected. The Young People have been crowded out of the room where they have been holding their Sunday evening service; and are now meeting in Judson Hall. It looks, if last Sunday evening is any sign, that they will have to move again to a larger room, in order to hold their meetings in comfort. However, this is no drawback as we have the room ready for them whenever they may need it.

An entertainment, "The Old-Fashioned Album," will be presented tonight by the Senior World-Wide Guild of Grace Baptist Church, in the social hall under direction of Mrs. W. D. Clark, Jr. Miss Helen Colehamer is assisting in coaching. Among costumes shown will be several wedding dresses about fifty years old.

Mrs. Elmer Hyde, Miss Laura Baumbusch, Mrs. George Karrer and Mrs. Charles Thomson will exhibit the album by turns. There will be community singing of old-time songs.

The same organization will sponsor a Christmas pageant December 22 at the church. All the young people's societies will cooperate. Mrs. Thomson, president of the Senior World-Wide Guild, is chairman of the committee, with Mrs. George W. McCombe, wife of the pastor, as assistant. The committee held its first meeting Wednesday night at the parsonage.

The Christian Endeavor Society will present a play, "The Mummy and the Mumps," in January. Rehearsals are being held under direction of Herbert Wells.

Mrs. Hallie Hickok of 200 Grey-lock Parkway was hostess to the Women's Auxiliary yesterday afternoon.

WESLEY METHODIST EPISCOPAL

Rev. Edgar M. Compton

10:45 A. M.—Morning Worship. Sermon by the pastor.

12 Noon—Church School.

6:30 P. M.—Vesper Tea in the church dining room under the auspices of the Missionary Societies. This will be followed by a Devotional Service, with Mrs. Ricketts, Mrs. Clark and a Chinese student, as speakers.

This will take the place of the regular evening service.

Forty members of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Wesley M. E. Church gathered at the home of Mrs. John Brown, 353 Washington avenue, Tuesday evening and had one of the most enjoyable meetings this year. An interesting business meeting preceded the musical program, and this in turn was followed by a social hour. The program was as follows: Devotional, Mrs. Thetford and Miss Olive Dupes; Vocal Solo, "There's a Song in the Air," Mrs. Frank Dorman; Piano Duet, "Romero and Juliet," Mrs. E. Akers and Mrs. G. H. Davies; Violin Selections, "Cavatina," "Away in a Manger," Mrs. Christine Phillips; Recitation, "Pipe of Peace," Mrs. J. V. Thetford.

During the evening, the ladies made more than fifty stockings, to be filled for Christmas, and given to the Salvation Army. Mrs. Chris Petersen was nominated to do this.

Those assisting Mrs. Brown were Mrs. H. J. Virtue, Mrs. John Welch, Mrs. Louis Rau and Mrs. Chris Petersen.

On December 22, the Auxiliary will take charge of the Sunday evening service. Van Dyke's "Mansion" will be read by Mrs. J. V. Thetford, assisted by Mrs. Edgar Compton, Mrs. Frank Dorman and Mrs. Ellsworth Akers. The members of the Auxiliary will form the choir for that evening, singing appropriate Christmas songs.

The next monthly meeting of the organization will be held January 7 at Mrs. George Cameron's home, 120 Hornblower avenue. Co-hostess will be Mrs. Ira Cornell and Mrs. H. Lester Hamilton.

Sunday School is at 9:45 every Sunday morning, with Superintendent Sylvester P. Denison in charge.

Junior Girls' Friendly Society meets every Monday afternoon, directly after school. Miss Frances Williamson is in charge.

Boy Scouts meet every Monday evening at 7:30. Assistant Scout Master Robert Shriver looks after these boys.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will meet at the Rectory, on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Deckenbach is spending the week with friends on the Southern coast of Massachusetts, but will return in time for the Sunday Services.

Wednesday evening the Girls' Friendly Society held their Mother and Daughter Supper and entertainment. Next Wednesday evening, under their auspices, will be the Public Supper, for the benefit of the Church Building Fund. Mrs. Hal W. Earl is in charge of the supper, and is assisted by the working and honorary associates. Mrs. Martha Peck will look after the large dining room while Miss Lillian Edwards will supervise the smaller dining room. G. F. S. members will be the waitresses. Mrs. George A. Kelsall is the branch president.

On account of the snow storm of Monday, the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, and annual election of officers, was postponed for two weeks, and will take place on Monday evening, December 16, promptly at 8 o'clock, as two other organizations will meet at the parish house, on that same evening, the Altar Guild and the Men's Club. The box of partly worn and second hand clothing for the Indian Mission in Utah, will be packed this afternoon at the Guild room. Kindly send your donations.

The December unit of the Ladies' Guild, under the Chairmanship of Mrs. J. A. Tempest, has set Friday evening, December 20, as the date for its entertainment. "Mrs. Jarley's Wax Works" will be on exhibition, under the direction of Mrs. Tempest.

The second part of the program will consist of "Old Time Songs, in Costume," and will be in charge of Mrs. Homer Zink, assisted by Mrs. Charles S. Smith and Mrs. G. Willard Wharton. Mrs. Lottie A. Wilford will see to it that those attending are served with some tasty refreshments. Other members of the Committee are: Mrs. H. B. Winship, Mrs. J. C. Weber, Mrs. E. Terhune, Mrs. S. Tillou, Mrs. M. Ten Broeck, Mrs. G. W. Wharton, Miss E. G. Wharton, Mrs. J. C. Wardell, and Mrs. B. Wisschusen.

Sunbeams Visit Ivy Hill Almshouse

Saturday afternoon, despite the intense cold, twenty-nine members of Sunbeams, the Junior Branch of the International Sunshine Society, accompanied by eleven mothers went by way of bus to the Ivy Hill Almshouse carrying candy and smokes to the inmates. Mrs. Anna Ruff, president of Roof Tree Branch and Mrs. Alfred Adler who is assisting with Sunbeams were in charge. Many were sitting waiting for a grown-up entertainment but when they saw the laughing, dancing kiddies they came flocking from all sides, and how they did enjoy that entertainment and the Sunbeams.

Sunbeam president Helen Ruff was the announcer for the following pleasing entertainment rendered by members of Sunbeams. Sunshine songs by members. Dance "Breakaway" by Janet and Walter Smith. Piano and violin selection "Moonwinks" by Helen and Bernice Ruff. Specialty dance by Marjorie Hamilton. Trio—saxophone, piano and violin, Pauline Rosenblum, Eileen Lynch and Bernice Ruff. Winter Cance. Janet Dear. Song, "Lilac Time," Lorraine Ransom. Waltz Clog by Bernice and Helen Ruff. Song, "Little Pat" by Wesley Adler. Military Tap Dance by Marjorie Hamilton and Janet Smith. Recitation "Christmas" by Ruth Thatcher. Violin solos "selected" by Chester Adled. Piano selections by Pauline Rosenblum. Recitation "Pat's Reason" by Helen Ruff. Giving this in the real Irish dialect and answering applause with another in German.

After the entertainment cheer was passed among the old folk, and all left after solemnly promising to come again soon. Ruth Lang received a letter Monday from Ivy Hill complimenting the children and thanking here for arranging the trip.

Others who enjoyed the ride and entertainment from Sunbeams were Adrienne Adler, Harriet Anderson, Lorraine Anderson, Josephine Burde, Carol Carswell, Dorothy Duffy, Dorothy Dunleavy, Muriel Evers, Gladys Fielding, Margaret Findlay, William Terry, Blossom Huizer, Margaret King, Gladys Lovitt, Marie Moniot, Antoinette Natale, Mildred Natale, Jane Alice Shepherd, Anna Stringer, Frank Hanlon, and Aunt Sallie Evans.

Sunbeams will meet this afternoon at 31 Bell street, the home of the president, Helen Ruff.

Discuss Formation Of Federation Of Local Bible Classes

A Mass Meeting for men under the auspices of the State Federation of Men's Bible Classes will be held in the First Methodist Episcopal church, 26 North Fullerton avenue, Montclair, on next Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock for the purpose of forming a local Federation of Men's Bible Classes of West Essex which will include the Men's Bible Classes in Montclair, Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Watessing, Caldwell, Cedar Grove, Verona, and Belleville.

The Everyman's Bible Class of Montclair which is in charge of the publicity advises that optimistic reports are coming in from churches and Bible Classes of the above mentioned communities, also from Ruthersford, the Oranges, Maplewood and Newark. Already the committee on arrangements has been assured that the Mass Meeting will be a great success and from present indications it is almost certain that the Church Auditorium, in which the meeting will be held, will be crowded to its capacity with Jersey men who are interested in the great Bible Class Movement which is spreading so rapidly throughout the country. The committee feels assured that it will reach its minimum goal of one thousand men in attendance.

The program will include an address of welcome by Dr. Victor G. Mills, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Montclair, a ringing message to men by the Rev. Edmont P. Hains, well-known radio preacher, and address by J. T. Greenan, president of the Federation of Men's Bible Classes of the Oranges and Maplewood on "How We Did It" in which he will tell of the splendid work that the Orange Federation is doing and the method by which this work is accomplished.

There will also be spirited Community Singing, led by Jack Thomas, popular song-leader of the National Federation, duets by Hains and Scott famous for the "Happy Hour" over station WAAM, instrumental numbers by the Belleville Everyman's Bible Class Orchestra; prayer by a prominent Montclair clergyman, a roll-call of the many and various Bible Class representatives and the setting up of a Federation of Men's Bible Class in West Essex by Russell N. Fairhurst, president of the State Federation and vice president of the National Federation of Men's Classes, who will also preside at the meeting.

A cordial welcome is extended to all men who believe in "first things first" to attend and take part in this inspirational mass meeting. A royal welcome awaits all who attend.

GOLDEN VOICED TABLE IS LATEST IN RADIO CABINETS

The further acceptance of radio as a household utility is noted in the development of a table cabinet which proved the feature of the World Radio Exposition in New York, and at the radio shows throughout the country, this season.

To all outward appearances, the cabinet is just a beautiful table, finished on all sides. There is no exposed wiring above the floor, this being concealed in the table legs. It has been found specially adapted to apartment use or where economy of space is desired.

A panel on the side of the table drops down to expose the dials, and can be closed again when the tuning is completed. The table is thirty-one inches high, with the top measuring twenty-four by thirty-six inches.

This "Golden Voiced Radio Table" has been approved by A. Atwater Kent as preserving perfectly the fine tonal quality achieved by the best radio receivers. It is now being built exclusively for Atwater Kent screen grid sets.

SEEN ON THE FIELD

By EDDIE TAYLOR

Belleville won a hard-fought game Thanksgiving Day against East Side, 7-0. Those East Side boys certainly were rough, tough and nasty.

Paul Schwieker got a mean dig in the ankle in the beginning of the game, which hindered him throughout the contest.

Captain Paul Short made some fine end runs as he usually does.

Harold Bade was the outstanding star of the line, making some spectacular tackles. Morris Udansky, another guard, was also effective.

"Tony" D'Elia in contrast to last season, was not injured this year. Louis Galluba, the other tackle, came through the season finely after an early season injury.

Bob Jackson proved his worth in the game with Orange when he snatched a forty-five yard pass out of the air. He played a good game Thursday. So did Jerry Bonavita, the other end. Ralph Casale looks good for next year.

Alfred "Ooky" Anderten ended the season in a blaze of glory by making his letter in scoring the lone touchdown of the fracas.

Jimmy Byrnes wins all prizes that are to be awarded for meritorious interference.

Fritz Plenge was always dependable when three or four yards were needed.

Lloyd "Milo" Salters made gallant attempts to tear around the ends, but because of lack in interference his efforts were fruitless.

Charles L. Steel, Jr., explained the fine points of the game to a throng of admiring listeners.

Dan Hanrahan, Victor Green and Joe Degelo were seated prominently in the bleachers.

Edward Mutch remembered the year his son Robert was the star of the Belleville High School team.

The Three Musketeers were represented by the Robert brothers, Joe and Dolly, and Bill Rodenbeck.

Reynolds Golden's blonde hair was visible in the crowd.

Doris Colehamer smiled to all and sundry in her pleasant way.

Harry "Cotton" Calhoun, Joe Mazza, Ray Mertz and John Mazza should be known as the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. They attended nearly every practice of the of the football squad, as well as every game. One practice it rained very hard and we saw "Cotton" Calhoun and John Mazza braving the storm and watching the practice, and neither of them had on raincoats.

Leo Donahue, an army flier of 43 Linden avenue, noticed the usual plane which circled over the field during the game.

Theatre And Air School Combine In Unique Plan To Encourage More Flying

Newark, N. J.—A unique experiment on the part of a Warner Brothers' theatre here to stimulate interest in aviation, especially from the standpoint of training young men and women to fly, is under way this week at the Tivoli Theatre where, with the cooperation of the Atlantic Air Service, sixteen aviation courses valued at $2,000 are being donated to the public.

Officials of the theatre company said that this is the first time any theatre in the United States has supplied such cooperation. The flying courses which are being provided by the Atlantic Air Service will be given at the Atlantic Air College, Westfield, N. J. Airport.

The prize course available under the arrangement is a $590 private pilot's course which includes twenty hours of flying. Other courses offered include five junior courses with four hours of flying and ten primary courses. Each course includes a series of ground classes.

Commenting on the arrangement, Charles R. Dann, President of Atlantic Air Service, Inc., stated that the production end of the airplane was rapidly outdistancing the "human element."

"We face a shortage of good, competent pilots and although the air schools are turning out many excellent young fliers, the manufacturing of planes continues to exceed the quota of finished, qualified pilots."

"The Atlantic Air College is ideally situated for student flying, unhampered by commercial traffic or building obstructions around the field. There are no thickly populated areas around the westfield Airport. No factory buildings, tall chimneys, railroad yards or high tension wires. Under such training conditions, the student pilot undergoes no flying hazards to endanger himself or his peace of mind."

"Any young man or woman physically fit can learn to fly under such conditions. That is the reason we have no hesitancy in making such a public offer as the courses donated to the Tivoli Theatre."

School Mortality

Perhaps there is no school topic which is more the concern of those connected with education than that of the vast number of pupils who drop out of school at an early age, commonly referred to as school mortality. In fact, so much importance is attached to this topic that it is said the worth of any school system can be determined by the degree with which it holds its pupils. According to a recent nationwide survey, among each 1,000 pupils who begin school in the United States only 95, or fewer than one in ten, finish high school.

We center so much of our attention upon those of our sons and daughters who continue and graduate, that we are prone to forget the countless thousands who drop out of school so young that they are ill-prepared for the struggle for existence. It is not gain said that "knowledge is power" and that our educated citizens are our best citizens and largely make America; but millions who refuse education to any great degree also enter into the making of this nation.

There recently appeared in newspaper articles a table of this school mortality, and it is of interest to the people of Belleville to know how the holding power of our local schools compares with the national survey. To this end a table has been prepared showing the comparative figures. While the showing is flattering to Belleville Public Schools, it may be stated that it might be even better if it were not that we have an unusually small Senior Class this year, that we are an industrial community, and that while the national survey purports to follow 1,000 pupils through the twelve-year course, the present October roll of Belleville Schools was used though the upper classes therein did not begin 700 strong eight of ten years ago because of our recent rapid growth.

The table of actual numbers and of percentages remaining each year follows:

GRADE	Actual Numbers	Percent of beginners remaining
Belleville October Roll
XII	80	95 11%
XI	125	129 17%
X	226	170 31%
IX	329	230 45%
VIII	422	490 59%
VII	537	620 75%
VI	555	735 78%
V	576	820 81%
IV	610	905 85%
III	613	940 86%
II	633	970 89%
I	712	1,000

Good-bye Stained Teeth

New Safe Treatment Bleaches Dark Teeth in Three Minutes

Dentists have discovered a new safe treatment which bleaches stains from teeth, giving yellow discolored teeth a beautiful flashing whiteness. It is called Bleachodent Combination, and consists of a remarkable liquid which cures or softens the stains—and a new kind of paste, which instantly removes the softened stains, and prevents new stains from forming. Simply brush the teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste—and even the dullest teeth are quickly whitened. Tobacco stains disappear after first few applications. Bleachodent Combination was first made for children's teeth to avoid the use of harsh gritty pastes which are so harmful to children's soft sensitive teeth. While Bleachodent Combination will instantly remove surface stains, do not expect it to remove stains caused by silver fillings, as these are below the enamel, and Bleachodent Combination is not intended to act on the enamel in any way. Fine for the gums. Bleachodent Combination is widely used and recommended. Costs just a few cents, and money back if not delighted. Get it today at all good dealers, such as:

Many Interesting Topics Were On The Program

Banta read a paper on "What Is Play to Your Child?", Mrs. Richard Berlin, "What Toys Do" and Mrs. H. W. Boyce, "What to Look for and Avoid in Toys."

Nutley Boy Killed In Skidding Crash

Fatality Occurred In Collision With Trolley Car In Passaic

A skidding accident caused the death of Vincent Mazzarise, 6, of 11 Passaic avenue, in Passaic, Monday. He was flung from the arms of his mother in the automobile of Michael Petelio, same address, as the car skidded and crashed into a trolley. The boy's jugular vein was severed by broken glass and he died before he could be taken to a hospital. Petelio was held on a manslaughter charge.

Mayor Attends League Meeting On P. S. Request

Commissioner Gibson Says Corporation Plea Has Merit In It

Belleville Town Commission Tuesday afternoon at the regular weekly conference continued its discussion of the application before the State Board of Public Utilities Commissioners to sell twenty tokens for $1 or charge a ten-cent fare for casual riders, who pay cash.

The matter was brought up when Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy said he would be present, as Belleville representative, at a meeting of the League of Municipalities, held at the Robert Treat. Last week Belleville decided to have its corporation counsel, John B. Brown, represent the town when the Public Service hearing takes place before the Utilities Board.

Commissioner James Gibson said: "I believe in the careful investigation of the fact in this case by the League of Municipalities. We should abide by the decision of this league. I feel that the trolley men deserve an increase in pay and this is the prime motive for the increase in rates."

In the absence of Town Clerk John J. Daly, who is attending, with a Belleville contingent, a meeting of International League heads in New York in the interest of Motor Vehicle Commissioner William L. Dill, as possible president of the league, Town Engineer Albert S. Blang acted as clerk.

Elks In Nutley Hear Address By Albano

The most enduring monuments to those who have passed on is a willingness on the part of living to emulate them, Judge Nicholas Albano said Sunday at memorial services of the Nutley Elks. The judge urged "a building upward, rather than a building outward, in life."

Francis X. McCabe gave the eulogy. An organ prelude was played by Clarence Illiffe, and tenor solos were accompanied by Miss Vera J. Kerrigan.

Higgins-Miller Troth

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Miller of 262 Grant avenue, Nutley, formerly of Verona, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Louise Miller, to Walter Giraud Higgins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Higgins of Grover Lane, Caldwell.

NUTLEY BEATS SO. SIDE BEFORE RECORD CROWD

Sunnysiders Subdued In Hectic Battle At Park Oval By Stanford Grid Machine

The heights beckon to another great Nutley eleven. Hope nurtured since 1922 when a Kirkleski-inspired Maroon and Gray ensemble attained as far as a post-season contest with Rutherford, flares anew today as the Stanford clan looks forward to another opportunity to prove its championship stature. This time it is Asbury Park, also unbeaten, which would be the opponent in a post-season clash if one is authorized.

South Side, a battered but gallantly grim opponent, was swept aside, 6-0, at Park Oval, Nutley, Thursday morning. More than 15,000 packed the stands and stood up in every possible point of vantage on the surrounding hills. They saw a greatly superior Nutley eleven held at bay by sheer fighting spirit until the last quarter when bruised Sunnysiders finally gave way before the assaults of an amazingly strong Nutley forward wall and Hank Stager, hard-plunging full-back, hurtled over from the one-yard line for the contest's only touchdown. Hub Crawford's place kick attempt was wide, the first to go awry of this booter's last six attempts.

Caught Gold Flat-Footed
A queer quirk of football technique, a master stroke of strategy by the Maroon, was the manner in which South Side, prepared to beat a dazzling forward pass attack with a five-man backfield defense, found instead its weakened six-man line riddled by a strong running offensive. Nutley resorted to the forward pass only as a threat to keep the defense spread, attempting only seven, of which four were successful—two for a little or no gain, however—and one was intercepted. While South Side maintained futile anti-air outposts, Nutley unleashed a bewildering double and triple-pass onslaught, the effectiveness of which was made possible by a charging screen of Maroon linemen.

Nutley amassed 16 first downs to South Side's four. The Gold's offensive threats—Spletty, Ehrenkrantz, Sol Lifson and George Kramer—were obviously in poor shape. South Side never seriously threatened, while Nutley found itself balked twice in near touchdown territory.

At the very outset South Side flashed its best showing. Aaron Weidenfeld ran Crawford's kick-off back to South Side's 32 yard line. Kramer and Lifson combined to make a first down and Ehrenkrantz added a 12-yard off tackle dash. But Nutley braced here and Lifson was forced to kick.

The punt was one of the highlights of the game. The ball went out of bounds on Nutley's three-yard strip. Instead of kicking, Nutley took a chance and rushed the ball. The gamble was a good one. A 20-yard sprint inside end by Pint Sentner and a 10-yard gallop by Howard Jones brought the ball out of danger before South Side's defense stiffened and Alex Baykowski kicked short to midfield.

Nutley got as far as the enemy 20-yard line early in the second period, but on last down Garodnick, sub end, intercepted a pass to avert the threat temporarily.

Ball on South Side's Five-Yard
A few minutes later a 20-yard jaunt by the elusive Jones was strung together with consistent gains by Baykowski and Stager to bring the ball to South Side's five-yard mark. Here two pecks at the line netted

Declare Nutley And Asbury Park Tied; Will Not Play For Title

Rival Coaches Agree Post-Season Contest Would Be Out Of The Question

The long awaited football game between the great elevens of Asbury Park and Nutley high schools, which nine out of every ten school-boy fans believed would be played Saturday for the New Jersey State title, has been called off on account of Monday's snow.

At least such was a natural finding after a four-hour vigil Monday night at the Robert Treat Hotel, where the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association held a special meeting and declared the teams tied for the

Speaker Sees Danger Of Moral Bankruptcy

Rev. Halford E. Luccock Of Yale Speaks In High School

Rev. Halford E. Luccock of Yale Divinity School spoke Sunday night at the second community service in Nutley High School. With "Adventures in Bankruptcy" as his topic, he pictured America as in danger of moral bankruptcy because of life's "outward trappings."

"The business of religion is to restore the picture of the ideal life," he said. "Jesus gave life its largest meaning by living a life that has left a lasting impression. He had no outward circumstances to mark him, merely an inner relationship of harmony with the spirit of God."

Marmon Co. Names Nicholas Moore As Advertising Manager

Announcement of the appointment of Nicholas Moore as advertising manager of the Marmon Motor Car Company has been made by T. E. Jarrard, general sales director. The appointment became effective December 1.

For the past three years Mr. Moore has been publicity supervisor of the Marmon company and has had wide experience in newspaper and advertising work. The establishment of a factory advertising department and the appointment of Mr. Moore as advertising manager is an important step in Marmon plans for the coming year, Mr. Jarrard said.

As head of the advertising department Mr. Moore will supervise the preparation of all forms of Marmon advertising, and publicity and will direct its distribution throughout the country. The advertising plans of the Marmon company for 1930 call for an aggressive campaign in newspapers as well as a diversified use of other mediums. Both the Marmon and Roosevelt lines of straight eight automobiles will be featured prominently in newspaper advertising, according to present plans.

Prior to his connection with Marmon, Mr. Moore, who has a wide acquaintance among newspaper and advertising men, was a member of the editorial staff of the Indianapolis Star as reporter and later assistant financial editor.

Small Damage At Zuckerman's Store

Fire in an old chimney did slight damage Monday night at the hardware store of Charles Zuckerman, 472 Washington avenue. Careful covering of stock by the local firemen prevented damage to that. The small amount of damage is covered by insurance.

The blaze was discovered by Mrs. Pringle Greer, a tenant of the third floor above the store, who noticed smoke in her kitchen. She summoned the firemen, who got at the blaze by cutting a hole through the second floor. Mr. and Mrs. Zuckerman were at the movies when the fire was discovered. Their three and one-half year old son, Louis, was asleep in their apartment above the store.

GRACE AND ST. MARY'S FIVES WIN AS NUTLEY CHURCH LEAGUE OPENS

The fourth season of Nutley's Inter-church Basketball League was ushered in Monday night at Park School with the Grace Church quintet trouncing Vincent 35-9 and St. Mary's vanquishing St. Paul's, 9-7.

The first contest was a runaway for the Grace five, last year's champions. Russell Eichenger, Grace forward, captured individual scoring honors with twelve points. Illiffe excelled for Grace on defense while Stager played best for the losers.

The game between St. Mary's and St. Paul's was nip and tuck. Both aggregations revealed excellent defenses but lacked the scoring punch. Fred Macaluso, St. Mary's forward, tallied five points. Leo Jentis scored four for St. Paul.

In 1927 Grace won the championship and in the following year

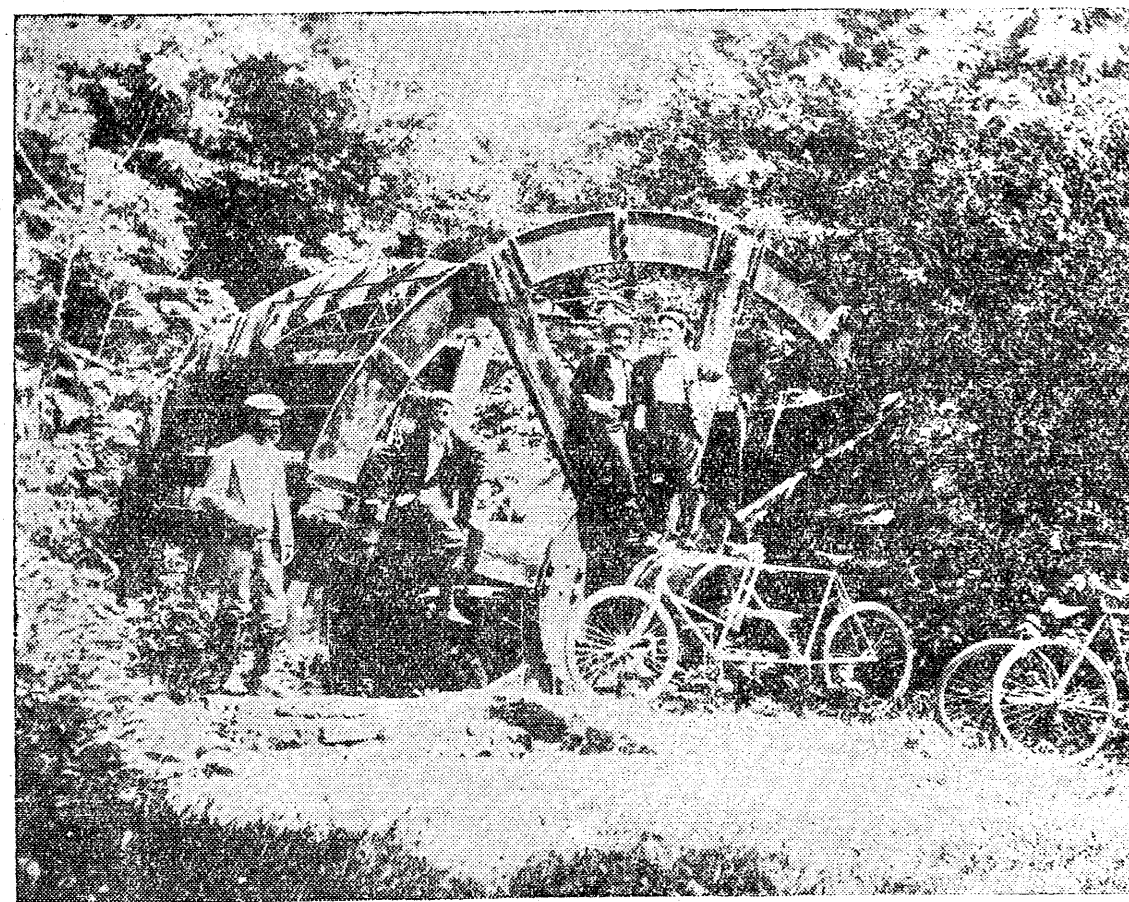

Mary's captured premier honors. The league committee is composed of Alfred Crockett, Grace; Cy Darvill, Vincent; Harry Roebel, St. Mary's, and William Wallace, St. Paul's.

OVER THE TOP

Belleville, when it sets its mind to the task, surmounts all obstacles in the way of community welfare and betterment. There is no better proof of this than the report of over the top in the $16,000 Community chest appeal, as made definitely public Monday night.

All were not in accord with the drive but objectors with reasonable ideas for objections confined their views to themselves. In no way did they try to "crab" the appeal, so to speak.

Nearly everyone in town helped in some way. They should feel satisfied for the work they have done.

They should feel happy that they have paved the way to help others and started a true civic feeling in the community.

A SHORT WINTER?

Winter seemed to many of us to swoop down a little earlier than we liked. It is difficult to remember another Harvard-Yale game when spectators sat with their feet in snow. But it is no moment to lose courage.

Consider the beaver. He knows weather, the naturalists say, rather better than man does, even if we have elaborate statistics and all sorts of apparatus. A correspondent of the New York Times has been watching the beaver colonies. He says that the beavers, who usually collect winter provisions in October, have just begun to fill their storerooms. So he is sure that we are going to have a surprisingly short winter, which is the sort of prophecy that most of us are willing to believe.

OUR POWER RESOURCES

The gloomy predictions that another 25 or 50 years will see the world bereft of power to run its machinery have never worried most people, who are confident that some way will be found to get power even if coal and oil are exhausted.

General William Barclay Parsons has extended our period of power resources to a century. Then, he says, "our boasted mechanical culture" will be at an end. It is possible, of course. But coal is still too plentiful, despite all we use. New oil deposits are found faster than we use up the old ones. And we can not help suspecting that if these do fail, in a century or so, science by that time will be utilizing the tides or energy from the sun or something else that will continue to make the wheels go around.

—O—

GUEST CANNOT SUE

The Supreme Court of the United States last week handed down a decision that is, or may be, of importance to every owner of an automobile in America. Briefly, it is that a guest, riding with such owner cannot sue him for injuries received in case of an accident to the car.

The matter came from Connecticut, whence so many other important cases arise. It concerned the constitutionality of the law of that State which holds that persons riding in an automobile at the invitation of the operator, cannot recover damages for his hurts, unless he can prove recklessness or intentional harm—neither an easy thing to do. The Supreme Court fully upheld the validity of the statute, and to such an extent that when the appellants got through their argument, it held that it was insufficient and decided that there was no need to hear the other side.

This decision is in direct opposition to the rulings of some State courts that a person riding with another can collect damages if the driver of the car in which he is hurt is at fault—he doesn't have to prove recklessness. Cases have been decided that way and damages have been collected by individuals ungenerous enough to sue their hosts, so to speak. It is that feature of law that has made so many persons hesitant about taking in "guests" on the road. No one knows just when some accident may happen, and some ungrateful chap sue his benefactor for injuries.

Hereafter, if States pass laws similar to that of Connecticut, there will be very little danger of this kind of mulcting. The decision of the Supreme Court is sensible. There was no reason in equity why a man driving a car should be responsible for damages to somebody he had invited to ride with him.

BYRD'S TRIUMPH

The finest thing about Commander Byrd's wonderful flight to the South Pole is not the spectacular triumph but the manner in which it was won.

Here was no mere dashing adventure—an isolated chapter of daring—but the exact working out of well-laid plans and months of preparation in order that the climax might be as certain of success as human carefulness and ingenuity could make it.

Commander Byrd followed the same programme in the South that characterized his brilliant flight to the North Pole and his amazing victory over the elements in his flight across the Atlantic to France. In each case he did not start until he felt sure in his own mind that he could win. He spent months seeking to eliminate every element of possible failure. He sought 100 per cent efficiency, where it could be obtained.

His triumph is that of an organizer as well as a daring leader. It takes a great man to be able to organize as well as to lead.

Step by step, overlooking nothing that might contribute to the success and safety of his expedition, providing means of escape from possible disaster should the plane fail, waiting weeks for just the right moment when weather conditions were promising, Commander Byrd's plans bore him to the goal.

How wonderfully satisfactory here is this modest Virginian. He stands as America's greatest contributor to the field of exploration and daring.

Father—"Oh, my goodness, son, try and make your money last longer than that."

John H. Sorrells, Editor of the Fort Worth (Texas) Press, says: That advertising has proved its soundness through travel that an unsound idea would have fallen under.

When one considers the "jip" advertising that has been sold—the stunts and features that mean nothing in the way of returns to the advertiser—the falsehoods that have been told—the high pressure efforts to set up a false structure—he cannot help but marvel at the ability of advertising to continue to sell goods.

Advertising has borne a cross—and borne it well.

It is sound and has proved its soundness.

Wherever there is a well-made product that sells for a reasonable price, advertising will help place that product in the hands of the consumer.

Advertising is not a panacea, but it will sell honest goods at a fair price, despite the abuses to which it has been subjected.

Motor Industry Slow To Introduce New Style Features

Detroit, Mich., December 6.—While other industries have been quick to adopt new modes in an endeavor to capture popular fancy, the automobile manufacturers have long neglected the aesthetic appeal of their product and, instead, have devoted their resources generally to mechanical improvements.

This statement, released today by the Hupp Motor Car Corporation, strikes a new note among the many expressions publicly made by the motor car manufacturers. The statement refers particularly to the style and design of automobile bodies and equipment. Motor car designers have primarily devoted their efforts to mechanical betterments, the company claims.

"There have been from the beginning in the industry but six primary changes in body construction design and appearance," according to the statement. These were: "Development of the touring car with open front compartment and entrance in the middle of the rear seat to the first model with side entrance. This was followed by doors first for the rear compartment and then for the front. Then came the windshield, followed by the original crude and box-like closed cars using the same leather upholstery as was in the open models."

"All of these changes were made, not especially to improve the appearance of the automobile, but rather for the sake of utility—that is, for the comfort and convenience of the driver and passengers."

"Next came the development of the front end—the first change to concern style and appearance. A cowl was added to increase the length of car and to compensate for its great overall height as well as to provide increased leg room. This innovation came about 1912, and since that time the only major body changes have centered about the brief attempts to make practical the all-steel body and the subsequent trend to composite bodies of wood and steel which are generally accepted now as the best."

"Then late in 1927 the first Century Hupmobile introduced a real style precedent. New low, long lines, vivid color combinations, the introduction of wind resistance design, and smart sheet metal tailoring to cover unsightly equipment were features of this model. Many of these new features were generally adopted in the industry."

"The original Hupmobile radiator cap, with its smart point, is a striking example. Few persons had ever suspected that such a commonplace accessory could be made an ornate and complementary unit."

"In the meantime body designing engineers had exhausted all conventional decorative schemes. Most of the body equipment designs, such as instrument panels and hardware, had come from the animal kingdom of from the plant kingdom. There appeared nothing new or striking left."

"Hupmobile engineers solved this perplexing problem by resorting to a new source of design—the science of geometry. A combination of straight lines and planes, superimposed in triplicate, was selected as the most pleasing. To make it effective and simple, this combination was adopted as a single style motif on every item of equipment. Practically every accessory item and fitting of the new 1930 Straight Eight Hupmobile bears this design."

"This same series of linear design design was then adopted for the bodies of the new 100 Horse Power Eight. Their adoption mark the first major change since the advent of the closed car."

"Straight lines were accentuated in exterior mouldings and deckings."

The smart roof coping was slightly peaked at the center. To complement the roof design, the windshield base and mouldings is smartly curved upward.

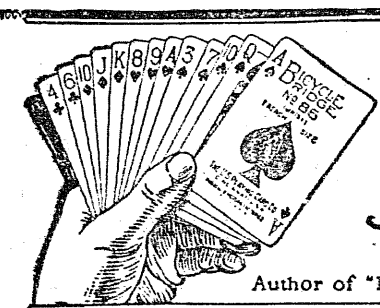

"For want of something better, the rear construction of most cars have retained the original bulky and clumsy rear panel."

"Hupmobile decided that there was nothing desirable or distinctive in this long-time design, so developed the rear of its new eight series to include the new modern design by incorporating a clearly defined median line. This pronounced median line starts in the rear top and extends downward through the lower skirt of the body which is smartly flared to the rear. Even the rear window bears a complementary upward curve where it meets the median line."

"Another modern and distinct touch is found in the two passenger closed models. In the coupe and Cabriolet, both of which have large rumble seats, the body moulding is extended on the rear deck to the median line in a modulated position. This theme of straight lines curves is furthered in these two cars by extra wide doors which carry setback at the belt line."

"The introduction of this completely new style in bodies and fittings which now gives to the purchaser distinctly new appearance, is but small advancement in motor car design. It is the beginning of a logical development toward producing new style in motor cars which will ultimately match the international demand for a choice and freshness of design in the world's pleasure vehicles. Particularly in America has this aesthetic appreciation been developed and broadened to include motor cars along with other intimate necessities. And this new sense of beauty appreciation will have to be met by the automobile manufacturer only through the introduction of new ideas and beauty themes in style and appearance."

ARTICLE No. 8

If you are a fisherman, you have heard and told many a fish story and the biggest fish is usually the one that got away. If you are an auction player, you have heard and told many a story about the play and bidding of unusual hands. Here is a new one, where the "biggest fish" was actually caught.

Example Hand No. 1

Hearts—none
Clubs—A, K, Q, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 4
Diamonds—none
Spades—Q, J, 10, 9

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A bid one trump, Y bid two hearts and B bid two no trumps. Z and A passed and Y bid three diamonds. B bid three no trumps, Z and A passed and Y bid four diamonds. B doubled and Z and A passed. Y now bid four hearts, B doubled and Z and A passed. Y now had the stage set for the big scene so bid five clubs. B and Z passed and A doubled. Y redoubled and all passed. Needless to say, Y made the bid, losing only two spade tricks.

The only reason Y was able to land the "big fish" that is, get away with such extraordinary bidding, was due to the fact that his partner, Z, was a very alert and intelligent player. After hearing Y bid hearts and diamonds and suddenly switch to five clubs, it wasn't difficult for him to deduce that the previous bidding was camouflage only, and that the five-club bid was the real article. For the one "fish" landed by such tactics, however, many more get away and the ultimate loss is more than offset by the occasional gain. Learn to play sound auction and leave the fireworks for the other people.

Example Hand No. 2

Hearts—A, 2
Clubs—Q, 10, 7, 2
Diamonds—K, 5
Spades—9, 7, 6, 4, 2

Z

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A and Y passed and B bid one diamond. Z bid one spade. A bid one no trump and Y bid two spades. B now bid three hearts, Z and A passed and Y bid three spades. B and Z passed and A bid four hearts. All passed and A B easily made four hearts. Z opened the ace of clubs and followed with the eight of clubs which B won with the king. He now led the seven of hearts and forced Y in the lead with the ace of hearts. Y now led the queen of clubs and followed with the four of spades. B trumped with the queen of hearts and followed with the eight of hearts, winning the trick in A's hand with the jack. He now led the queen of diamonds from A's hand and whether or not Y covers, A B must win the balance of the tricks.

This is a normal hand, well bid and well played with one exception and that is Z's failure to bid as dealer. This failure to bid caused him and his partner to lose the rubber. With a hand of this type, containing two quick tricks, one of which is at the head of a five-card suit, Z as dealer has a justifiable bid.

Just suppose, for example, Z bids one spade. A's hand is pretty weak in everything but spades so the chances are that A would pass. He is well served with the spade bid and his heart suit is hardly strong enough to justify a bid. If A passes, Y's proper bid is three spades. B will then bid four diamonds and all will pass. With the club opening as before, A B can make four diamonds and so will fail to score game.

Don't pass a justifiable original bid if your hand contains the necessary values. The foregoing hand is a good example of what happens to the timid bidder. It is a well known rule of the game that if you are going to be an overbidder or an under-bidder, the former is the lesser of the two evils.

Willie Durant is financing Nita French, an actress, in a musical show, but suddenly refuses to put up more money. Jerry Connolly, the manager, accuses Durant of being unsuccessfully attentive to Kitty, the stage-struck check room girl, and inveigling her father, Dad Malone, and her sweetheart, Jimmy, to invest their life savings to gain a hold over her. They quarrel and Jerry takes a gun from Durant. The box-office is robbed. Joe, the detective, suspects Jimmy. Durant is annoyed by Kitty and Jimmy hits him. Kitty explains that she was trying to save Jimmy by being nice to the backer. Durant talks to Nita, and then . . .

"Here, take this!" With a sudden gesture she stripped the little silver ring from her finger and thrust it into Jimmy's hand. "I'm through!"

Jimmy tried to squirm away; to refuse the return of his gift. "You—say, wait a minute, Kitty," he stammered.

"I'm through and I mean it." The girl's eyes were overflowing with tears, and she turned hastily and ran across the stage without a backward glance.

Too dazed to speak, too surprised to do anything, save stand and stare dumbly at the little circle that lay cold in his hand, Jimmy finally dropped the ring into his pocket and turned away to come face to face with the detective.

"Spill It!" Nita Ordered

"Come on, kid," Joe growled, "you've stalled long enough. You're under arrest."

At the sound of the man's words Jerry raised his head and listened. "I don't care," Jimmy answered. "Arrest me or hang me, or do anything you want." Nothing seemed to matter to him now that Kitty had returned his ring.

The detective took hold of the boy's arm and would have led him away then and there had not Jerry suddenly jumped to his feet and intervened.

"Say, wait a minute," the manager began, "what do you think you're doing?"

"Takin' him to the station house. What do ya think?" the detective retorted.

"Yeh? Well, who ordered his arrest? Durant, I suppose."

"Go ahead and suppose. It's too bad about you, just too bad. You attend to your business and I'll attend to mine. Come on, mug."

Joe once more started on his way, only to meet again interference in the form of Sam Bloom.

"What are you arresting the kid for, Joe?" Sam took in the situation at a glance, noting the detective's secure hold on the boy and the satisfaction that lighted up his face. "He hasn't done anything!"

"No?" Joe sneered. "I suppose stickin' up a theatre box-office is a good legitimate trade, huh?"

"Why not arrest the man who really pulled the job?" Sam returned with a knowing smile.

"That's not a bad idea," Jerry put in.

"All right, smart guy, all right. You know so much about it, who done it?" The detective ignored Jerry's interruption, addressing his question to Bloom.

"Sure, let us in on the secret," Jerry suggested.

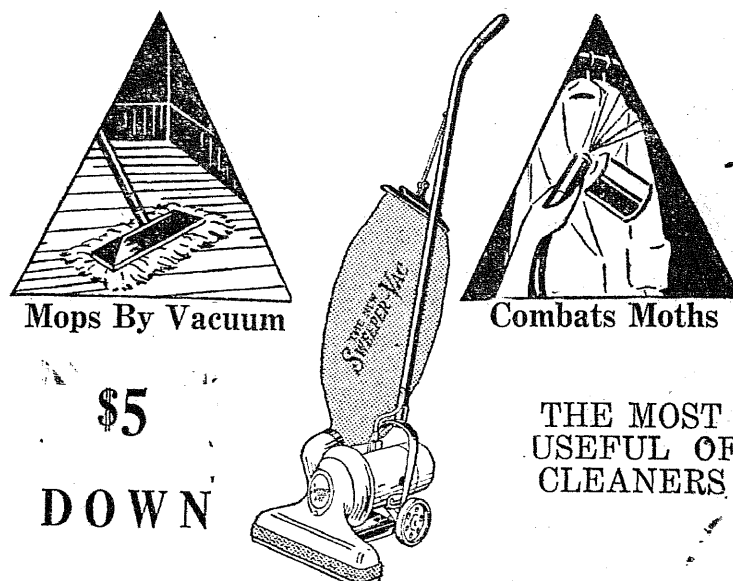

Sam surveyed the group, pausing for a moment as though to make his next statement the more impressive. "All right," he said slowly, "Give yourself up, Jerry!"

There was a gasp of surprise from the manager. He opened his mouth, staring first at Sam and then at Joe. "And you look pretty sane, too," he said finally, turning back to Sam.

The detective grinned. "If that's the best you can do, you'd better stick to building scenery," he snorted.

BELLEVILLE HIGH WINS 8th GAME

Paul Short Is Honored By Selection On County Squad

Of great interest to Belleville sports lovers generally and to the followers of Belleville High School's grid team in particular was the splendid news that Captain Paul Short of the Blue and Gold eleven was picked for regular quarterback on Gus Falzer's mythical all-county eleven, which in reality is pretty nearly the pick of the state.

The selecting of the brilliant Paul on this all-star eleven for what is probably the most important cog in any football machine was hardly unexpected by his many ardent admirers, because Der Paulie seemed to rise to every occasion during all the Bell-boy games and whatever the score he was the life of the party, both offensively and defensively. His sixty-seven point total during the past season, the fourth highest in Class A ranks in the state, made against some of the best defensive eleven hereabouts, speaks for itself.

It certainly is no mean honor to be ranked alongside such celebrated ball-toters as Anderson of Montclair, Lifson of South Side, Schummel of Bloomfield, etc., but a worthier man than Short could hardly be found to fill these shoes. But a step beyond all-county selections is the coveted all-state rankings, and Paulie stands a splendid chance of being the first Belleville player to win this great honor.

Another interesting angle of these selections was the honorable mention given Paul Schwieker, Belleville's forward passing artist. Many people contend that if Short hadn't been picked on the first team, Schwieker would be the first string fullback, as the picking of two players from the same school in the varsity backfield would not make the backfield representative in Falzer's eyes.

Whether this is true or not, due credit can not be taken from Schwieker, who played a fine game through-

Recreation League Enters Sports Ranks

Four Games Scheduled For Each Thursday Night

With the holding of the first meeting on Monday night the newly organized Belleville Recreation Basketball League officially announced its entrance into the ranks of Belleville sportdom.

The majority of the teams entered were represented at this initial session. The league designated Thursday night as the opening night at the local high school gym. The league schedule calls for four games each Thursday night thereafter for the remainder of the season.

A tentative opening night schedule was drawn up as follows: Bach- elors vs. Community Aces; Garnets vs. Unions; Valleys vs. Panthers; Wesley vs. All-Stars.

The question of eligibility of players in the league was brought to a close with the passing of a motion that no more than two members of the disbanded Belleville A. A. five could play with any one team in the league.

The drawing up of a constitution and a schedule for the league was left in the capable hands of "Tony" Pascal, the Judge Landis of the newly organized circuit.

"Tony" expressed a desire at the meeting that it be made known to the Belleville public at large that the league was to be a community affair and any Belleville citizen so desirous might come and witness the games free of charge.

Plenge-Schumacher Feud Ends With Game In Long Island

The Plenge-Schumacher feud is ended. These two families, the Plenges of Belleville, and the Schumachers of Flushing, L. I., have agreed to bury the hatchet after eight years of competition on the football field. The latest game was played Sunday at Memorial Field, L. I. before a crowd of 2,500 people and the Belleville team won, 20-6.
