Successful Card Party Held Monday At Woman's Club

Only Three More Games Left Before The Finals

One of the most successful card parties given by the Belleville Woman's Club was held Monday afternoon at the Club House. The fifth game in a series of eight was played, Mrs. A. Hodgkinson having high score for the afternoon. Mrs. Hodgkinson has already qualified for the finals, having made high score at one of the previous games, so Mrs. Sylvester Frazer, second prize winner, was entered in the finals. There are only three more games in the series and all members and non-members are invited. The next game will be played January 20.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors at the club house this afternoon at 2:30.

Mrs. I. Harry Ogden, vice-president of the Eighth District, will be the speaker at the meeting next Monday afternoon and will have a message that will be of interest to all members. Mrs. Dudley Drake will be in charge of the club tea and will be assisted by Mrs. Simeon O. Bellis, Mrs. Frank Sopher, Mrs. Charles G. Jones, Mrs. L. K. Van Houten, Mrs. J. J. Turner and Mrs. Blanche Wischusen.

Mrs. Porter Sheldon, chairman of the Monthly Food Sales, has announced that the following members will contribute home cooking to be sold previous to the meeting Monday afternoon: Mrs. Arthur Martin, Mrs. F. K. Mase, Mrs. Daniel Mellis, Mrs. Katie E. Michael, Mrs. Harold Miller, Mrs. A. Stanley Miller, Mrs. Harry B. Morton, Mrs. E. J. Mutch, Mrs. E. Nelson, Mrs. A. Neuschwander, Mrs. George H. Nixon, Mrs. E. P. Noble, Mrs. Lloyd Nunn, Mrs. George Oslin, J. D. Otis, Mrs. A. R. Paiser, Mrs. John Peacock, Mrs. Kreston Peterson, Mrs. Lionel Phillips, Mrs. John Pole, Mrs. John Ray, Mrs. Richard Ridgway, Mrs. B. S. Rowland, Mrs. Charles S. Smith and Mrs. J. F. Strauss.

The civic committee, Mrs. August Stricker, chairman, met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Carson, 277 Union avenue, Tuesday afternoon. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Henry E. Wilson, advisory member, Mrs. Harvey W. Mumford, secretary, Mrs. John Ray, Mrs. S. O. Bellis and Mrs. Harry Ruding.

Final plans are being made for the card party to be held at Demerjian Brothers' Rug Shop, Newark, on the evening of January 24. This is the second evening card party to be given by the Ways and Means Committee, of which Mrs. J. J. Schaffer is chairman and it promises to be very successful. Tickets may be secured from any members of the committee.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dahl, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stockhoff, Miss Mildred Dahl, Miss Helen Stockhoff, Mrs. Arthur Frundt, Mr. Ted Nietris, Mr. Clifford Stockhoff, Miss C. Oesterle, and Miss Carol Frundt.

Park A. C. Hires Additional Band

The orchestra committee of the Park Athletic and Social Club, Inc. announces that they have secured the services of Torre's High Hatters for their dance at Elks' Hall, February 8. As recently announced, John Richardson and his Virginia Pals has also been hired for the occasion.

The Torres are gaining prominence and popularity daily in town. They are engaged two nights a week by the High Hat Club, a cabaret in Singac. They have appeared at the Elks' Auditorium and Ferrari's new hall on numerous times. The Manager of the orchestra is arranging with Station WOR to broadcast weekly over that station.

Placards and throw-aways will soon be distributed in Belleville and nearby towns, so as to make a wide advertisement of the dance.

Building Increase Reported In Town

Construction At Soho Increases Total To $3,435,490 Despite Drop In Permits

Although the Belleville Building Department issued 114 fewer permits in 1929 than in 1928, the valuation of construction amounted to $1,465,840 more than in 1928, the annual departmental report shows. The increase was due to the $2,000,000 construction project at Essex County Isolation Hospital.

A fee of $4,015 for the hospital permit raised total receipts of the department to $8,547, compared to $6,635 in 1928. The total valuation of 1929 building was $3,435,490, compared to $1,970,150 in 1928. Permits issued numbered 518.

The revenue anticipated at the start of the year by Building Inspector Robert Williams and Matthew Richards, clerk, was $8,500. Construction was more varied in character than in 1928, it was pointed out. A marked drop in building was noted the latter half of the year.

Aside from construction handled through the department a new School 10 was built in the Belwood Park section at a cost of $225,000 and alterations of schools amounted to $100,000.

Besides the hospital there were the following varieties of construction.

Fifty-family apartment, one permit, cost, $125,000, fee $251; forty-five family apartment, one, cost and fee the same; two-family apartment and two stores, one, cost $7,000, fee $15; factories, six, cost $254,000, fees $516; one-family houses, seven, cost $379,200, fees $800; two-family houses, twenty-two, cost $153,000, fees $330; four-family houses, ten, cost $113,000, fees $326.

Alterations, 156, cost $99,175, fees $401; warehouses, three, cost $42,750, fees $89; one-car garages, sixty-seven, cost $16,520, fees $134; two-car garages, ninety-nine, cost $40,200, fees $195; three-car garages, fifteen, cost $14,000, fees $51; four-car garages, five, cost $4,200, fees $15; five-car garages, four, cost $4,400, fees $12; twenty-nine individual garages, one, $5,000, fee $11; stores, three, cost $15,500, fees $35; silo, one, cost $12,000, fee $25; signs, twenty-one, cost $3,420, fees $44; water tower, one, cost $3,000, fee $7; machine shop, one, cost and fee the same; funeral chapel, one, cost and fee the same; bakery, one, cost $2,000, fee $5; demolition, fourteen, fees $14; filling stations, two, cost $1,750, fees $6; sheds, three, cost $775, fees $5; storeroom, one, cost $600, fee $3; coal house, one, cost $500, fee $2; canoe house, one, cost $400, fee $2; workshop, one, cost $100, fee $1.

C. G. Jones To Speak At University Club

The University Club will meet Monday night, January 13 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campbell, 55 VanHouten place.

An illustrated lecture will be given on "Early Architecture of Rome and Athens" by Charles Granville Jones, Belleville architect. Mr. Jones has made an extensive study of this subject and has many interesting details to present to his listeners.

A motion picture will also be presented of Tennyson's "Beggars Maid," which has been secured by Mr. Campbell and will be displayed by Rev. Edgar M. Compton.

Thirteen Black Cats Continuation Of Hi-Y Group Has Meeting

Affair Was Held Monday Evening At Elwood Ferguson's

The 13 Black Cats, a club of boys, which is in reality a continuation of the Hi-Y Club of their High School days, were entertained at the home of Elwood Ferguson, 14 Oak street, on Monday evening. Twelve young men were present, and during the evening a telephone call was received from the absent one, William Allen, who is in Springfield, Mass.

The members are Willard Freeman, president; Joseph Degelo, vice president; Walter Mac Laughlin, secretary-treasurer; Elwood Ferguson, Richard Bruegman, Walter Williams, Gerard Rhoades, James Petrie, Robert Schriever, Howard Schreyer, William Cullen, Herbert Mayes, and William Allen. Elwood Ferguson, violin, and Joseph Degelo, piano, entertained with duets. Games were played, and supper was served by the host's mother, Mrs. Harry W. Ferguson. The Club meets fortnightly at the homes of the members, on Monday evenings.

FRELINGHUSEN BACK IN JERSEY

Former Senator Started His Campaign Yesterday

Former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghussen who will contest with Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow for the right to represent the Republican party as its candidate for United States senator in this year's general election, has returned to New Jersey to begin an active campaign.

The Frelinghussens forces have engaged temporary headquarters in the Essex Building, Newark, and until Jesse Salmon, county chairman, returns from the South next week their campaign will be directed from there.

JOHN W. HIRDES RESIGNS POST AS OVERSEER OF THE POOR

Mrs. Lucy L. Bootes of 251 DeWitt Avenue Will Be Appointed By The Mayor

The resignation of John W. Hirdes, as overseer of the poor, was accepted Tuesday night at the town commission meeting. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy announced at the conference that afternoon that he would appoint Mrs. Lucy L. Bootes of 251 DeWitt avenue in Mr. Hirdes's place. The appointment was concurred in by the commissioners.

Mrs. Bootes has been social services chairman of the Woman's Club for the past ten years and has been a member of the club for the past fifteen years, joining it when it was the Belleville Improvement Association.

She has lived in Belleville twenty-five years. Her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Marburger, is a teacher in the seventh grade of the Joralemon street school.

An ordinance was passed on first reading providing for the laying of storm sewers in the Silver Lake section at a cost of $120,000. The improvement is a general one, the cost being borne by the town.

Commissioner James Gibson declared that the improvement should be a local one and that the other commissioners were "jamming it down my throat."

He said that the ordinance had not been brought up at the conference. Commissioner Patrick Waters said that it had been brought up at the conference. He stated that an instance where such an improvement had been a general one could be cited in the case of Belleville Gardens, where $40,000 was spent on storm sewers.

Eugene T. Berry was reappointed health officer and Edward O'Connor, plumbing inspector.

Immeasurable More For Your Money

The Belleville News is building a reputation as a great newspaper with ideas that are high and with characteristics that offend none. You may take the News into your home and have no fear of offense. Careful editing assures you of protection from our youngest to our oldest readers.

This is the main reason we are the strongest and best paper in Belleville—because we taboo anything of ill-taste. If you are one of the few left who would like to join our large family of readers, who have a voice in the making of Belleville's only paper printed in town—the paper for the home and children—why not subscribe?

The paper costs only $1 a year—less than it costs us to give it to you. Our price is within the reach of all. Won't you help us to go into every home in town and won't you be part and parcel of our only true home newspaper?

Just think:

We try to get all the local news. We have excellent editorials that are picked up by others from us.

We have a colored comic feature for the kiddies—just like the big New York papers.

We have a school correspondent, James Reilly.

We have "Art" Bloemke, former high school captain, to write your sports.

We offer features now appearing in the dailies—bridge, Excelsa and McCall patterns, a serial story used by one of New York's largest dailies, cooking items, home-making, socials, jokes, national and international pictures and above all—

The ads of local merchants who want your business—men who can save you money.

Why not help us to give you more? It is all up to you. As our family increases we will improve. We need you to assist. We can't do the job alone. Why not visit the Belleville News plant? We will be glad to show you what you have put here. It is yours—not ours.

Second Banquet Of Legion Post Scheduled For January 20

State Commander Will Be Principal Speaker At Affair

The banquet committee of Belleville Post, American Legion, has completed all arrangements for the second annual banquet which will be held at the Belleville Elks' Home on Monday evening, January 20.

From the advance sale of tickets all indications point to a large representation of the ex-service men in town. The banquet is to be restricted to ex-service men and their friends. The committee announces that the state commander of the American Legion, Richard Hartshorne, of East Orange, will be present. He had to withdraw from attending a banquet in South Jersey which is scheduled for the same evening.

The banquet will mark the inauguration of a drive for increased membership in the legion. Last year the post increased twenty per cent.

There will be other notable speakers present and the entertainment has been left in the capable hands of Richard Flanagan who has had much to do with the type of entertainment provided at the Legion's past social activities. Thomas W. Fleming, past Commander, will be toast master.

The members of the Banquet Committee are Richard Dolan, chairman; Otto T. Breunlich, Richard Flanagan and Lawrence E. Keenan. Tickets may be obtained from the committee.

Christian Endeavor To Present Comedy

"The Mummy And Mumps" Scheduled At Grace Baptist

The Young People's Christian Endeavor Society of Grace Baptist Church will present a three-act comedy, "The Mummy and the Mumps," Friday and Saturday nights, January 17 and 18, in the social hall of the church.

The play was written by Larry E. Johnson and is produced by special arrangement with T. S. Denison Company of Chicago.

The scene of the play is in Fenella, a small town near Boston. The lines are witty and the action breezy. The farce promises to be an amusing entertainment for young and old.

The role of Agatha Laidlaw, founder of the most exclusive school in New England, is played by Lorena Clark. Leonard Ferris, Jr., takes the part of William Laidlaw, her nephew. Francis Briscoe, a friend of William Laidlaw is impersonated by Herbert Wells.

Three students of Miss Laidlaw's college are Anna Hampton, a western girl, played by Helen Hageman; Maude Mullen, a girl from the East, Madeline Thompson. Mae Moore, carries the part of Dulcie Dumble. Sir Hector Fish, master of seventeen languages, is portrayed by John Stoddard.

St. Peter's Fife, Drum And Bugle Corps Is Arranging Contests

Senior Championship As Well As Juniors For Belleville

St. Peter's Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps has been selected again to conduct the Junior Championship contest and hopes to put it across as last year when the largest contest ever held by a junior corps took place. The corps also have landed the senior championship this year and in getting their assignment it is necessary to hold the event on Saturday instead of Friday.

There will be keen competition among the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps for the Silver cups in this championship class. Legion Corps from East Orange, Bloomfield, Paterson, Long Island, Woodbridge, Dutchess County, N. Y. and Morris-town, will compete.

Saturday evening, March 1, is the date selected.

This marks the sixth contest held by the local Corps, managed by Harry Hood and also the tenth birthday of the corps. Cups have already been donated by Commissioner Patrick Waters and the Local K. of C. The corps will need twelve cups. The care of the event and it is hoped will help the group secure the ten more cups.

Masonic Birthday Party Is January 24

Reservation Should Be In Committee's Hands By Tonight

Belleville Lodge, No. 108, F. and A. M., will celebrate its sixtieth anniversary on Friday evening, January 24, at the Clark Auditorium, Clark and Ogden street, Newark. Invitations have been extended to friends and members of the lodge who may wish to attend and reservations will be made for all those whose request on any member of the committee has been received or in the mail not later than January 19.

The following committee has been busy for the past month, making the necessary arrangements: Reception, Edwin P. Stout and Walter S. Mathes; entertainment, John M. Rainie, Clifford M. Packrell and Charles H. E. Scheer; publicity and printing, Robert L. Banta, Edward Roesken and Charles M. Chatfield.

The program for the evening will consist of an entertainment followed by supper and dancing. The following well-known radio artists will assist: Don Carney, better known to the children and grown-ups as Uncle Don and Luke Higgins of the Main Street sketches, will be master of ceremonies. George Shackley, musical director for station WOR, will take charge of the music, and Roy Smeek, "Wizard of the Strings," and The Moonbeams, appearing as The Carolina Trio, will make up the balance of the program.

From the response that has already been made, the committee expects the to be the largest of its kind in the history of Belleville Lodge.

Craftmen's Club Has Busy Time

Belleville Craftmen's Club, met last night at 7:45 at Masonic Temple and went in a body to Clinton Hill Craftmen's Club to work the Burlesque degree on its candidates.

The Belleville Craftmen have elected officers as follows: President, W. H. Hayes; vice president, Paul Breen; treasurer, T. P. Hosking; secretary, Alfred T. Page, J. J. Patzinger was named delegate to the National League of Masonic Clubs and Robert Kidney alternate.

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy announced in a communication to the Board of Education, Monday, the appointment to the board of William W. Stewart, of 124 Tappan avenue to succeed Paul J. H. Hollberg of 577 Washington avenue, whose term expires February 1. Mr. Stewart's term is for five years. No comment on the appointment was made by the board.

Mr. Stewart was born in Dunbarton, Scotland, forty years ago. He came to this country at the age of eighteen. He has resided in Belleville eleven years after living in West Hartford, Conn., for several years.

He served overseas in the World War for eighteen months as an officer. He attended New York University. At present he is assistant secretary and personnel director of the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company in the textile business at 50 Worth street, New York City. He is married and has one son, Watson, seven and one-half year old.

Besides being elder, he is also clerk of sessions of the Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church. He was one of the organizers of the Community Welfare Bureau of Belleville and was prominent in the recent Community Chest drive. He is a member of the Nutley Glee Club, the Belleville Lodge of Masons and the Clan Stewart, Scottish Order.

A. A. Buckley of 24 Tiona avenue, representing the Belleville Boy Scouts, appeared before the Board to ask that that body reconsider its previous action of charging $5 for the use of the No. 10 School in the Belwood Park section as a meeting place for the boy scout troop of that section.

School Commissioner Watson Current took up the discussion by saying:

"I am going to make two propositions to this body, one that the boy scouts assume janitor's fee and that every civic organization have the school buildings for nothing."

After a prolonged discussion a resolution was presented by Mr. Current which provided that all civic, non-partisan, non-profit making organizations as recommended by the Board of Education be granted free use of the school buildings for meeting places. The motion was seconded by Mrs. Judson K. Stickle, a board member, who with President John P. Maher voted for the resolution. School Commissioners James L. De Rosset and Mr. Hollberg voted against the motion. The resolution was passed.

Business Manager James J. Turner was instructed to communicate with J. W. Steinmetz, president of the Affiliated Improvement Associations, in reply to the latter's letter and tell him that he may attend any regular meeting of the board and to explain to that body why the question of an Athletic field should be renewed.

The resignation of Mrs. Florence Corvett Cooper as physical director of the Belleville schools was accepted and Miss Margaret L. Leahy, a teacher in the New Jersey Training School, Little Falls, was appointed in her place. Mrs. Cooper is a graduate of Belleville High School, class of '21.

Little Inconvenience In P. S. Fare Change

The general cooperation which the riding public has extended as well as the loyal support the employees of the company have shown, has enabled Public Service Coordinated Transport to put into effect the change in fare on its lines with the minimum of inconvenience to car and bus riders and with no disturbance of schedules or service. This is the purport of an executive bulletin to employees issued by Vice President Matthew R. Boylan.

Mr. Boylan expressed the company's appreciation to the riding public and the employees and predicted that the cooperation, already shown 'should make the experiment, which is designed to save the five-cent base fare for our patrons, a success.'

Extending to the Public Service street car and bus operators the thanks of the company's executive officers and his own personal gratitude, Mr. Boylan said the company appreciates "the highly intelligent way in which you have assisted in carrying out the company's plans and the great extra effort which you were 'led upon to make.'"

Actor To Present Shakespeare Play

By JAMES REILLY

Perlinand L. Losey, A. M. Litt. D., a Shakespearean interpreter, will present the Merchant of Venice in the high school auditorium, Friday, January 17, at 8:15 P. M.

Dr. Losey comes well recommended with letters of commendation from various schools in the west and middle west. They say that he is amazingly successful, not only in reading the actual lines and impersonating the various characters but also in creating the whole scene—a harder task.

He was a university teacher for sixteen years and gave this up to enter the wider educational field of that of author and lecturer.

The admission charge is thirty-five cents, if the tickets are purchased from students and fifty cents if purchased at the door.

Class Reunion

A short time ago the class of 1928 held a reunion at Rockaway Valley and had a merry time.

In the correspondence sent to each member of the class those who had cars were asked to meet at the High School and take others who did not have cars. The group left under the leadership of Alfred Woods.

The only ones to experience difficulty in reaching Estler cabin, where the reunion was held, were the ones Fred Baureis brought in his car, Bernice Fox and Fred Baureis, Eleanor Jamouneau and Francis Phelps, Ruth Rhom and ye scribe. Perhaps the trouble lies in the fact that Fred advanced under the guidance of one who should have kept still.

On arriving, the voyagers found a clean, spacious cabin, bordering on the ice-bound Rockaway River. The cross beams were hung with golden ears of corn placed at a distance of a foot apart. Intermixed with the corn were pieces of balsam.

The snappy window curtains were hard on the eyes, 'tis said. At the far end of the cabin there was a huge moose head on which was attached a cow bell of no "mean" dimensions. This bell was operated by a string which ran the length of the cabin, over the beams, and finally dangled down to a comfortable looking rocking chair, where many an idle member of the party managed to amuse himself with a few short jerks on the string. Still another head was to be seen at the opposite end of the cabin but nothing can be said of this one, for it was just a plain moose head. The large open fire place was made to order for toasting marshmallows and some conceived the idea of roasting frankfurters. When various participants in this sport took their hot dogs from the fire they found that they had something in the nature of a burnt offering. Some of the other eatables were delicious sugar coated crullers, creamy colored rolls to go along with the frankfurters, ice cold cider and steaming coffee to help warm all newcomers.

Such an affair would not be complete without music, so someone was thoughtful and brought along an electric radio. In the cabin was a piano and phonograph, used little if any at all. For dancing the floors had been waxed and the dance music was perfect. Other forms of entertainment were games and a mock marriage in which everyone took part.

Not to be outdone by any others in the vicinity some of the modest students had contrived to get a Christmas tree into the cabin and decorate it without giving themselves away.

An item of importance not to be forgotten is that Walter McLaughlin was master of ceremonies and performed right well.

Those present were Russ Bennett, Charles Schick, Allan Crisp, Vivian Kilpatrick, Yock Sopher, Al Woods, William Freeman, Harry Estells, Charlotte Holden, Edith Hardman, Etta Conry, Watson Currant, Robert Schriver, Don Wilfred, Allan Crisp's guest, a nice blonde whose identity remains unknown, Edith Minard,

PUBLIC SERVICE

Grace Harvey, and Roy and Paul Short.

In connection with the entertainment the committee had planned on extending lights out to the river and making possible ice skating. The heavy fog prevented this.

The illumination devices were both unique and worth while. In the very center of the cabin there was a wagon wheel suspended from a beam. At each spoke was a lighted globe and from the hub a bulb of greater brilliance than the others, protruded, casting its glare over all the cabin.

Many left when midnight approached but others staid until the wee hours of the morning.

Belleville's basketball team stared their season with a lot of good spirit but were deserted by good fortune for they lost 36-24. The Bell-boys made their appearance in new uniforms of dark blue and gold.

K. of C. To Hold Card Party This Evening

The Knights of Columbus will hold a card party for the benefit of St. Peter's new Parochial school at the hall this evening.

Rogers' Romance Is Joy Thriller Filled With Pep

Daring Action And Gripping Love Scenes Are Great Entertainment

Every corner of the world has come to know Charles (Buddy) Rogers as a great dispenser of joyful entertainment and, in his latest action-romance, "Half Way to Heaven," which will show at the Capitol Theatre, starting Monday, for two days, he has a part which gives him all the opportunity he needs to amuse and thrill.

"Half Way to Heaven" brings Rogers to the all-talking screen as a youthful trapeze performer in a carnival. In his daring role, he falls in love with Jean Arthur, his feminine partner whose charms have also captured the heart of the third member of the act, Paul Lukas, a dangerous character whose fiery jealousy threatens even Rogers' life. Rogers' own skill and daring alone save him from Lukas' rage but Lukas vows to kill him while the trio are performing under the "big top."

The story comes to a smashing hair-raising climax when Rogers, evading Lukas' attempt on his life, turns on the villain, beats him so severely that Lukas leaves the show and Rogers and Miss Arthur are free to continue their interesting romance.

"Half Way to Heaven" was filmed in the modern manner by George Abbott, maker of the Moran and Mack picture, "Why Bring that Up?" It is one of the first all-talking pictures to be made almost entirely outdoors and introduces some unique nature scenes and sounds to the talking screen. The cast is composed of well known veterans. In addition to Rogers, Miss Arthur and Lukas, the names include Helen Ware, well-known stage star; Oscar Apfel, former movie director, and Edna West, playing in her first all-talking picture after years of stage experience.

Golden Letter Contest

Engagement Told

The engagement of Miss Albina Colannino of 45 Cedar Hill avenue to Joseph Piscopiello of Newark, was announced on January 5, at a buffet supper given by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Colannino. Dancing and games were enjoyed. The wedding will take place in June.

Brothers Tear Down Whole Town To Rebuild Heart of Cleveland

Two brothers who peddled farm land not so long ago, are remaking the heart of Cleveland in the greatest unified building project ever undertaken in the United States.

A whole town—1,700 buildings—was torn down, thirty-five acres cleared, slums wiped out by O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen to make possible the Cleveland Terminal group, designed by Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, Chicago, of stone from the quarries of the Indiana Limestone Company.

"Higher than all but Eiffel, almost twice as high as the Tower of London, the Terminal Tower building of fifty-two stories forms an arched gateway to the Union Depot Concourse and the great central feature of the group.

By day, the Tower is impressive in its chaste dress of Indiana limestone, pierced from the third to the thirty-second story with graceful arches, embellished with turrets and crowned by a pyramidal headpiece, 708 feet above the sidewalk. By night its hundreds of floodlights, trained on the upper portion, transform this daytime home of 5,000 workers into a luminous Lake Erie beacon.

The Van Sweringens, master planners, threw a high-level bridge across the Cuyahoga Valley, built four main automobile highways, electrified steam railway tracks for miles in every direction and plan five rapid transit lines as additional uses of the immense project, near completion.

The group, ten years in the making, includes a department store, a great hotel, an office building, the Builders' Exchange, the Midland Bank Building, the 18-story Medical Arts structure and an 8-story, 1,500-car garage. Passageways permit one to go under roof from any point to any other in the group.

"This tremendous movement is typical of the new vision and fresh courage in American advancement today," commented A. E. Dickinson, president of the Indiana Limestone Company. "We are proud material from our quarries was chosen as the one to lend character, strength and beauty to this immense project."

ON WITH THE SHOW

By ARLINE DE HAAS

Copyright 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"ON WITH THE SHOW" is the first 100% natural color, Vitaphone picture. It is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Willie Durant is planning a musical show, but refuses to put up any more money. Jerry Connolly, the manager, accuses Durant of being unfaithful to Kitty, the stage-struck check room girl, and taking her father, Dad Malone, and her sweet heart, Jimmy, to invest their life savings to gain a hold over her. They quarrel, and Jerry takes a revolver from Durant. The two offices are suspected. Durant is annoyed. Kitty and Jimmy finish the performance unless she gets her salary. Jimmy suggests borrowing money from his father. It is Nita's cue.

Again he started at the stage door, but there was no sign of Jimmy. Only Dad Malone puffing on his pipe. Jerry sighed. He felt sorry for the old man. What this show must mean to him! Here he was ranting because he couldn't get the show into New York and pay salaries, and if he did take it in it would be forgotten in six months a year. But to Dad it represented the work of a lifetime that would make or ruin all the rest of his years. His fingers trembling, he lighted a cigarette.

"Listen to me a minute," he stood in front of Nita, beseeching her attention. "I'm going to convince you that I'm telling the truth. Nita, you know I'm talking from the heart. I've been in the show business a long time. I've turned somersaults like everyone else getting out of jams."

"Well, it's going to take a couple of double flips in the air to get you out of this one, baby," Nita came back at him quickly.

"You don't have to tell me that. I know it. I'm not trying to stall about the seriousness of this thing. I'm in a hole and I admit it. For myself I'd take it on the chin, but I've got to think of a few more people besides myself. It's like that time out in Cedar Rapids. Do you remember that, Nita? We were playing."

"Don't try to weep on my shoulder, Jerry," the actress drew herself up coldly. "I never did like getting wet. It makes me sneeze."

"I'm not trying to appeal to your sympathies. I'm trying to make you understand that I'm telling you the straight truth. I don't know where you got this idea that I picked up any cash any place, but I want you to understand that it's not so. If I had four hundred dollars I'd give it to you, but I haven't got it. Christmas! If I had four hundred dollars I'd feel like walking out on this show and leaving the whole bunch of you flat on your ears."

"Quit stalling, big boy," Nita shook her head. "I don't care worth a hoot. It's not up to me to pay salaries; that's your job. You're laying down on your end of it, and I've got a perfect right to lay down on mine."

"But Nita, can't you see it's different? I've told you if I had the money I'd give it to you gladly. But I haven't got it. Now you can go out there and work, you can do that, but you won't. It's not fair."

"Well, I don't see where all this argument is getting anybody," Sam Bloom interrupted.

"Say, for the love of Pete, forget you're alive," Jerry turned on the man. "This is between Nita and me."

"Not much, it isn't. I've got a lot in this show," Bloom argued. "I'm just as interested about where that money is as Nita here."

"You'll get your money, be sure, if it's the last thing I ever do," the manager rasped. "I've always paid my bills, and I don't intend to start gyping anybody now. After all, I've pulled through other jams. We all have."

"But this time you went to the well and shouted 'Woe' once too often, or what have you," Nita reminded him.

"I know it," Jerry admitted. "It looks like I've pulled a double cross with this box-office thing, but I haven't. I swear it. If this was just an ordinary show I'd let it go just without turning a hair. But it's not. This opera is different. There's something about it that gets me. Don't you understand? I want to put this show across—want to more than anything else in the world. Let me do it, won't you, Nita? Won't you, Sam?"

"If I was on the other side of the footlights, Jerry, you'd get me with all this heart and flowers honey," Nita laughed a shrill, hard laugh. "Reminds me of that old show we played 'Eisa, Or The Saloon Keeper's Daughter.' You can still troupe, kid."

Jerry sat down heavily on a low box, his head in his hands. He was defeated, and he knew it. There was no use trying to appeal to this cold, heartless creature who laughed in his face. He might have known better. There was only one chance, and that was Jimmy and the money he might bring.

"You've got to learn your lesson, Jerry," Sam admonished. "You can't stretch a shoestring."

Jerry paid no heed to Bloom's words. He felt sick and sore and disillusioned. He'd been in many tight places, but looking back on them now none seemed quite as tight as this one. There had always been a loophole through which he could swing out. But this time he was up against it for fair.

"Why, it's time to dress for dinner, sweetheart." From the stage came the voice of a girl just concluding the scene. "Are you coming in?"

"Trot along, Cynthia." It was Harold answering her. "I'll follow shortly."

The girl strolled off into the wings and the juvenile was left alone. He lighted a cigarette and struck a romantic pose.

"I can't forget her, my gypsy!" he monologued. "Does she really exist, or is she a figment of my imagination?"

The strains of a waltz tune floated up from the orchestra pit. Harold glanced anxiously over his shoulder and then resumed his sture.

Jerry raised his head quickly. Nita's cue! He looked at the actress, unable to say more. Nita wasn't going on! She sat there as calmly as though she had nothing in the world to think about.

"How can I forget her, my gypsy, does she really exist, or is she a figment of my imagination?" Harold repeated the cue. This time he stepped forward and looked directly into the wings, but there was no one to answer him. He strolled aimlessly about the stage, his fingers clapping and unclapping with nervous tensility.

"I can't forget her, my gypsy; does she really exist?"

Jerry jumped to his feet, tearing his hair. If he heard that cue once more he'd go mad. He looked about, desperate, wild-eyed. He must do something.

CHAPTER XIII.

What happened then was a matter of seconds, and yet to the participants of the backstage drama each second seemed an hour. The orchestra was playing the introduction to "The Dream Girl" song over again. Harold was becoming more and more upset, now gazing apprehensively towards the wings, now giving Nita her cue in a louder tone of voice expecting that at any moment she would make her entrance.

The juvenile could not see that part of the stage where Nita sat saying nothing, waiting. Jerry was walking around in a little circle, his watch in his hand.

"Say, alvin, got no sense! Here playin' yer entrance cue," Pete, the head carpenter came racing across the back of the stage to where the actress sat. "Alvin, even dressed," he shouted. "Miss French, doncha hear yer little playmate out dere callin' yer. Come on!"

Nita looked up, a tantalizing smile on her lips. "I don't take my cue from anybody but Jerry," she looked meaningfully at the manager.

"Nita, please!" Jerry swung around, catching the girl by the shoulders and trying to lift her to her feet. "I'll do anything in the world for you. You can have anything you want."

But Nita was adamant. She merely shook her head, still smiling. "Four hundred bucks, Jerry, or it's no use. I thought we settled that question."

"Hey, wait de Sam BHE's dis all about!" Pete looked from the actress to the manager and then at Sam Bloom.

"Nita won't go on unless I pay her back salary," Jerry explained sharply. "Good Lord, girl," he turned on the actress, "I thought you were real. The heat you could do would be to finish this act."

St. Peter's Choir Organizes

The first business meeting of St. Peter's Choir was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Broo, on Minker place, Monday evening, December 30, 1929 at which the following officers were elected for the year of 1930: Director, Reginald Ball; assistant director, Mrs. George Loneragan; president, Richard Flanagan; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Broo; secretary, Leo Harrington, and reporters, Mrs. George Loneragan and Mrs. F. Troast.

A committee was formed to make arrangements for the theatre party and dinner to be held in New York Tuesday evening, January 14.

Everyone regretted very much to learn that William Sullivan, one of our popular bass soloists, has found it necessary to withdraw and it is hoped that "Bill" will be able to rearrange his plans so that he will be able to be back again before long.

After a short business session at which all members signified their willingness to make the New Year as successful as the old and give Professor Ball 100 per cent co-operation, the meeting was adjourned and the balance of the evening given to entertainment.

Each member was called upon for his share of the evening's entertainment and without exception responded with a well rendered number.

At the close of the evening luncheon was served by Mrs. Broo after which everyone departed for their homes to patiently await the next meeting which will be held shortly.

Sunday morning service, 11 o'clock—"Loyalty."

Sunday evening service, 8:00—"Jesus Begins His Ministry."

Christian Endeavor, Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Leader, Mr. Fred King. Topic, "How Can Nations Practice the Golden Rule?"

Presbyterian churches throughout the United States are concentrating on a crusade of "Loyalty." The keynote of the work for the Presbyterian churches will be loyalty to the activities and interests of the church in its efforts to serve the community.

Each third Wednesday evening of the month, a group of church workers will meet in the study of Fewsmith to formulate plans for church activities. The group will be called the Church Council and will be made up of two members from each church society. The January meeting will be held on the 15.

Missionary Society

The Missionary Society held its January meeting on the 2nd day of the month. Mrs. James Moore gave a talk on China. Mrs. W. G. Knowles led the devotionals and Mrs. Samuel Millar the prayer circle. The hostesses were Mrs. W. Crombie, Mrs. G. Jordan and Mrs. A. Towers. At the February meeting, there will be an election of officers.

Christian Endeavor

A Hobo's Convention will be held by members of the C. E. on the evening of January 17. The title of Chief Hobo will be conferred on the one whose costume requires the greatest number of safety pins and patches to hold it together. Tickets will be in the hands of all members of the C. E. group.

A supper will be served at 6:15 on Sunday evening, by the losing team in the Activities Contest held by the Christian Endeavor. Miss Marjorie Owen will head the team serving the supper, and her brother, Richard Owen, will preside at the head of the table for the winners.

Fewsmith Guild

Yesterday the Guild members held their regular monthly meeting. The hostesses were Mrs. George Cox, Mrs. Fred Fackrell, Mrs. H. E. Mulligan and Mrs. E. Louer.

Notes

Sunday, 11 A. M.—The pastor will speak from the subject, "God's Plan for Each Man." God does not do things at haphazard. Do you realize that God has a plan for each day of your life?

Sunday, 7:45 P. M.—There will be the usual song service after which Mr. McCombe, will speak from the subject, "A Costly Drink." Sounds modern although this incident happened in ancient times.

Tuesday evening January 14, will begin a school of religious instruction and will continue for the period of six weeks. Experts will be in attendance to conduct the different groups. There will be classes for men, women and young people. There will be no charge for the course.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held their annual meeting, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. M. Parker, Bremond street, and elected the following officers for the coming year. This organization is doing great work in the building up and caring for the material interests of the church.

President, Mrs. George Weirick, Linden avenue.

Vice President, Mrs. P. R. Torrey, Little street.

Secretary, Mrs. Harry Ransom, Bell street.

The ladies are planning for a great work this coming year and the church will be richer and better for their efforts. Mrs. Parker proved a delightful hostess.

Don't forget to secure your ticket for the play of plays to be given by the young people, January 17 and 18. An evening of fun is assured. Much practice has already been done by those taking part as their aim is to give the best entertainment that has yet been given in Grace Church and that is some standard to attain. The name of the play is "The Mummy."

The Women's Auxiliary of Grace Baptist Church elected officers Thursday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Parker, Bremond street. All officers were reelected with the exception of the secretary, Mrs. Hallie Hickok, who declined. She was succeeded by Mrs. Harry Ransom. Other officers are: President, Mrs. Parker Torrey; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Stevens; chaplain, Mrs. Parker, and missionary chairman, Mrs. Harvey Struble.

The auxiliary will give a luncheon at the church January 28. The Christian Endeavor Society will present a play entitled, "The Mummy and the Mumps," the evenings of January 17 and 18 under direction of Herbert Wells. Mrs. George W. McCombe, wife of the pastor, is assistant coach.

Kiddies' Musical A Huge Success

The Kiddies' musical given by Mrs. William Glenck on Saturday afternoon proved to be a social and financial success. A splendid program of vocal and instrumental solos were rendered by children of the town.

The party given for all those taking part was a joyous one.

Sunday morning, Rev. George W. McCombe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, announced that he had received a check, the proceeds of the affair, which will be used for the benefit of the church.

Mrs. Glenck wishes to thank all those who so kindly helped her to make the affair a success.

Doings in the Field of Sports

Bachelors and Wesley's Are Toe To Toe

Bachelors and Wesley's present the first game of the night in the Recreation Basketball League. Each advanced a step in their point objectives Thursday night. The Bachelors managed a close victory over the Valley A. A. 16-12 and the Wesley's ran rough-shod over the Union A. A. 20-13. In the third game of the night, the Community Aces pulled a surprise in the form of a hard-earned victory over the Panthers by a 20-13.

The big feature of a thrill-cramp night was the Bachelors-Valley A. A. game, as close and as hotly-contested as a game as the league has yet witnessed. Although actually outscored in three of the four quarters, the league-leading Bachelors quintet, to their splendid showing in the fourth quarter when they piled up a total of ten points, copped a fair-line decision.

Throughout the first quarter the Bachelors were more than held their own against their vaunted rivals, outscoring them as well as displaying some of the best basketball seen in the city.

The second quarter was a different story, however. The Bachelors, led by the inimitable Johnny Johnston, hit their stride with a bang. At the end of the quarter they had piled up an 18-5 lead.

In the third quarter the Valley A. A. came back, holding their high-scoring opponents to four points. The Bachelors fell just short, however, and the losers at one time brought the count to 13-12. Successive foul shots made by the Bachelors in the closing minutes settled the issue beyond any doubt.

The story of the Bachelors' victory in the foul shot column is recorded that the winners scored half of their total points that method. Each side made the same number of field goals, but the Bachelors' Johnston, Bachelors forward, was the whole works of the offense. He scored ten points, including three field goals and four fouls. McGuire and the defensive geniuses of the Bachelors.

Metz, lanky guard of the Bachelors, stood out for the Valley A. A. scoring seven points as well as starting on the floor. Herbie Mayes, center, and Nick Comiskey also played for the A. A.

Community Aces defeated the Panthers by a 20-13. The Community Aces proved interesting and exciting in the way. The Community Aces pulled up an early lead in the first quarter by a 10-5 margin over fast-moving opponents. In this scoring spree, the work of the Pico brothers, each finding the basket to account for eight of the team's ten points.

In the second half, the Panthers scored even all the way, but were unable to wipe out the early lead piled up by the Silver Aces. The feature of this performance was the long distance shooting of the Aces, with honors about distributed.

Pico, of the Community Aces, was the scorer of the game, registering half of his team's total points in field goals. Rabbits and N. S. starred for the winners. The lanky center of the Panthers, high man in the scoring column for his team, accounting for the result of three field goals and a pair of successful foul tries. Schenck and Laird played their usual fine floor games for the losers.

In the final game of the night the Wesley's had an easy time of it overwhelming the lowly Union A. A. Led by Jimmie Metz, the league's leading scorer, who added eighteen points to his large total, the Wesley's were too much for their inexperienced opponents, who finally emerged on the short end of a 36-15 count.

During the first half, while the Wesley's were busy rolling up a grand total of eighteen points, the Union A. A. were kept in complete submission. Marco DiGiovanni, husky center of the Union, was the only one to penetrate the Wesley defense. He tallied three times from the floor for six of the seven points his side tallied. Jimmie Metz, with ten points and Jacobson, with a four point total, led the Wesley attack during the initial half.

The Wesley's were equally effective in the second half, adding eighteen additional tallies to their huge total. Jimmie Metz again starred on the offense for the winners, while Elmer Hoskings and Johnnie Carrough featured on the floor. Henny Zborowski found the net twice from the floor in this half to play best for the Union.

The score: Wesley M. E. G. F. T. Hoskings, f. 3 0 6 Jacobson, f. 3 0 6 Carrough, f. 2 0 4 J. Metz, c. 9 0 18 Groner, g. 0 0 0 J. Hozack, g. 1 0 2 R. Hozack, g. 0 0 0 18 0 36

Elks Lose Odd Game To Junior Order

Good Ol' Tom Is Whole Works For Local Pinners

The Belleville Elks pinners dropped the odd game against the league leading Junior Order five Thursday night at Elizabeth in a Morris and Essex League tilt.

The locals, after an inspired game in the first, when they came through with a fine 965 team score, could not cope with the machine-like precision of the leaders and were forced to accept the short end of each of the final two games.

Tom MacNair, "Good Ol' Tom," to his legions of admirers, was the whole works for the Belleville quintet, accounting for successive scores of 213, 226 and 211 for a splendid 217 average. Bob Whitten and Billy Bechtoldt each turned in single 200 performances, both coming in the first game when the localites took their lone game from the high-scoring Junior Order five.

The winners in hanging up successive team scores of 955, 992 and 919 displayed consistency par excellence, only one of their individual scores falling below the 180 mark. Weber's 213 tally in the first game and twin scores of 212, amassed by Reich and Gelhausen in the second game marked the high spots in the Junior Order's smooth performance.

Junior Loop Plans Set For Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning, that long awaited Junior Basketball competition, sponsored by the Recreation Commission, will get under way at the High School gym.

The league, under the capable direction of "Tony" Pascale, well-known local director of boys' activities, promises as much interest and as much action as the senior loop, which plays its games Thursday nights.

Six teams have signified their intentions of entering the new circuit and this sextet of squads will compose the league for the brief schedule already outlined with three games to be played every Saturday morning for the remainder of the season.

Tomorrow morning's tilts include Ravens vs. Rangers, to be staged sharply at 9 o'clock; Tigers vs. Franklins, scheduled for 10, and the Questions vs. All-Stars with an 11 o'clock starting hour.

Although the personnel and caliber of the teams entered is pretty well shrouded in darkness, the captains of the various teams, Anderten of the Questions; Giordano of the Tigers; Frazer of the Rangers; DeJuro of the Franklins, Fabio of the Ravens and Burden of the All-Stars all claim to lead the classiest team of the league. All that remains for them to do is to prove it and their endeavors in that direction should result in some spirited action and close play.

Form Junior Team

The Junior Valley A. A. which was organized last week with the following: James Lee, Robert Lee, Edward Johnson and Edward Bloemke, captain, meets at Edgar's yard, 6 Cortland street, for basketball practice. Any small teams desiring games or players seeking a try-out, communicate with the players by calling Belleville 4348 or 3929.

The veteran loops in town include the Manufacturers, the Church and the Lions, all three, leagues of exceptional strength and balance.

Another recognized power in local bowling circles is the championship Belleville Elks quintet, a leading entrant in the Bergen County and the Morris and Essex Leagues. Last year they were champs of the former loop and runners-up in the latter, no mean feat when the strength of these two fast circuits is considered.

At this time the question arises, "What significance, if any, has all this bowling activity in town? It satisfies the fan's appetite for things of a sporting nature, but so do pastimes with more thrills, more appeal, more interest."

The significance is this. Because of these five above mentioned factors, close to three hundred citizens of Belleville, an overwhelmingly huge majority of them working men, get exercise and all other benefits attending active sports participation, that they would not get otherwise. Add to this group the large number not entered in any of these leagues, but who take every opportunity offered them to roll and one may easily see the vitally contributory element bowling is to the recreational well-being of the town.

Another item in favor of the alley pastime is that it does not necessarily take a well-conditioned athlete to participate in it. It is a pastime for the young and old, as well. It is truly, as Frank G. Menke, noted journalist, so aptly puts it, "The Point of Perpetual Youth."

The Bachelors and Wesley's continue to lead the pack in the Recreation Basketball League scramble and from all present indications, it looks like a two cornered duel to the finish between these strong squads.

Although hard pressed by the

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemke

In most sporting circles a prevailing and widely accepted feeling is expressed that the public's main interest with regards to sporting events is centered in that trio of great seasonal sports, baseball, basketball and football.

Undoubtedly, this is true. People flock by the thousands to see World's Series and other great epics of the National Pastime. Countless multitudes pay thousands of dollars to witness great spectacles on the gridiron. All over the country in varied community recreation centers large groups nightly are ardent devotees of the court sport, either as spectators or as active participants.

However, despite the wholesale and undivided interest shown these three sports, bowling, a sport dating back to pre-revolutionary days, has never lost its appeal in the hearts and minds of countless people all over the country.

Belleville, like her many neighboring communities, has felt the bowling urge this year more than ever before. At the present writing, four strong leagues, composed entirely of local teams, are in the midst of heated and close campaigns. One of these, the American Legion League, in its first season, has probably aroused more interest in sports in Belleville than any other event of its scope during the past five years. It is a strong twelve-team circuit, with such well-known local organizations as the Knights of Columbus, the Moose, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, St. Peter's Dramatic Club, Jr. O. U. A. M., having teams entered in it.

The veteran loops in town include the Manufacturers, the Church and the Lions, all three, leagues of exceptional strength and balance.

Another recognized power in local bowling circles is the championship Belleville Elks quintet, a leading entrant in the Bergen County and the Morris and Essex Leagues. Last year they were champs of the former loop and runners-up in the latter, no mean feat when the strength of these two fast circuits is considered.

At this time the question arises, "What significance, if any, has all this bowling activity in town? It satisfies the fan's appetite for things of a sporting nature, but so do pastimes with more thrills, more appeal, more interest."

The significance is this. Because of these five above mentioned factors, close to three hundred citizens of Belleville, an overwhelmingly huge majority of them working men, get exercise and all other benefits attending active sports participation, that they would not get otherwise. Add to this group the large number not entered in any of these leagues, but who take every opportunity offered them to roll and one may easily see the vitally contributory element bowling is to the recreational well-being of the town.

Another item in favor of the alley pastime is that it does not necessarily take a well-conditioned athlete to participate in it. It is a pastime for the young and old, as well. It is truly, as Frank G. Menke, noted journalist, so aptly puts it, "The Point of Perpetual Youth."

The Bachelors and Wesley's continue to lead the pack in the Recreation Basketball League scramble and from all present indications, it looks like a two cornered duel to the finish between these strong squads.

ISOLATION CASES SHOW INCREASE

Essex Hospital Admitted 2,700 in 1929—Slight Mortality Jump

Deaths at the Essex County Isolation Hospital during 1929 increased one-tenth of one per cent over 1928. The number of patients admitted increased from 2,420 in 1928 to 2,700 in 1929.

This was reported last week by Dr. Ellis L. Smith, superintendent, at the first 1930 meeting of the isolation hospital committee of the freeholders. It was the first committee meeting of the board this year.

The percentage of deaths in 1929 was 6.7.

Dr. Smith said there had been a higher standard of medical care and study at the hospital during the year and pointed out that in thirty-six percent of the deaths doctors were allowed to make post mortem examinations.

The report for December showed 243 patients were admitted. Ninety-one had diphtheria, forty-four scarlet fever and thirty-four chicken-pox. There were twenty deaths, eleven from diphtheria.

There were twenty cases of measles in 1929, which the doctor said was a large number and an indication that the disease would be prevalent this year.

Members of the committee asked whether any measures could be taken to minimize the number of cases. Dr. Smith said if convalescent serum were administered to children who had just contracted the disease it would reduce the pneumonia danger.

The committee authorized the purchase of an oxygen tank to aid in pneumonia cases.

Freeholder Blauevelt, who succeeded Freeholder Lindeman, attended. He is the only new member.

Youth Found Asleep In Automobile Faces Theft Charge

Suspicious of a story told them by a youth, who gave his name as John Rayschock, Nutley police, who found him asleep Sunday in a car parked in Satterthwaite avenue, made further investigations and learned the youth had told a false story.

It was learned Monday through Brooklyn police that the car in which Rayschock, whose real name Nutley police learned is John Kosinski of 23 Washington place, Wallington, was found, had been stolen in New York. The car was returned to its owner.

Investigation by Sergeant Emil Werner of Nutley resulted in the discovery that Wallington police held a warrant for Kosinski. Nutley police were notified that the youth is alleged to have stolen a car in Garfield September 24. Kosinski also is charged with stealing another car in Passaic last fall. It was learned he was arrested in Jersey City last year for driving without a license.

Kosinski was turned over to Lieutenant Ophof of Wallington police Friday morning.

When Kosinski was taken to Nutley police headquarters Sunday he declared he had been left in the car by a youth and girl who went away and never returned. He said he had no home and worked on docks in New York.

Belwood Park Group Holds First Session

Association Decides To Meet Hereafter In School No. 10

The first meeting of the Belwood Park Improvement Association of Belleville since election of officers in December was held Friday night at School No. 10, where the group will meet hereafter instead of at the Recreation House.

Committees were named by the president, C. D. Kelly. These are: Civic, Ernest Scholl, Harry I. Parkhurst, George P. Oslin, James H. Metz and George Goerke; neighborhood, Frank Williams, James Mullen, George Lennox and P. G. Horton; railroad, Stanley Gibson and Harry Williams; entertainment, William Maloney, W. C. Winkelman, William Potter and Edward G. Riley. Secretary Frank H. Crocker was instructed to write the Town Commission requesting sidewalks on Belleville avenue from Pleasant avenue to the Bloomfield line and from Laverne street to the new school. A curb on the west side of Pleasant avenue also is desired.

Resurfacing will be requested for Stevens road, Hewitt place and Rhoades place. The entertainment committee will arrange a program of vocal and instrumental music for January 24 and a talk will be given on the care of plants.

Scientist Seeks Cure For Back Seat Driver

DR. DONALD A. LAIRD

THE psychological laboratories of Colgate University, directed by Dr. Donald A. Laird, have turned the spotlight of science on back seat drivers, as part of an investigation to measure the lack of coordination between muscular and nerve control.

According to Dr. Laird much of the nervousness displayed by back seat drivers can be traced to physical make-up and failure to provide proper nourishment necessary for accurate muscular and nervous reaction. Women who diet are good examples of this.

Foods containing sugar will be used in the tests, because, Dr. Laird said, sugar is among the most rapidly utilized of all muscle foods and therefore is particularly useful in measuring the effect of nourishment.

About 300 Attend New Year Party

About 300 attended the New Year's Eve entertainment and turkey dinner given by the Belleville Elks at their home. Professional entertainers gave a program of singing, fancy dancing and vaudeville. The Everglades Serenaders, a Belleville orchestra, played for dancing. Arrangements were in charge of the entertainment committee, of which John Fox was temporary chairman, in the absence of Frank Siegler who is in Europe.

Members Will Be Divided Into Two Groups; Losers To Pay

Nutley Post, American Legion, will conduct a membership drive the next three months. This was decided Thursday night at a meeting in the post's new home at 507 Franklin avenue, Nutley.

Members will be divided into two groups for the drive and the winning team will be feted at the expense of the losers.

Roscoe G. Symonds entertained with a motion picture program of post activities and scenes from the World War.

Girl Scouts Ready For Nutley Drive

Expect $3,000 To Cover Cost Of Work, Headquarters And Director

Girl Scouts in uniform attended the community service Sunday night at Nutley High School. The annual drive began Monday and will last a week. Solicitations this year will be by letter instead of the house-to-house. The quota hoped for is $3,000, the amount now necessary to support the work and maintain headquarters and director, which until last fall have never been achieved. A house-warming party will be held tonight at headquarters, lately opened at 7 Church street. Mrs. Mary Littlefield, director of Montclair Scouts, will speak.

Mrs. F. Jerome Allen is in charge of the program. The annual council meeting will be held tomorrow morning, when the new commissioner, Mrs. Edwin Probert, will formally take office, as will Mrs. Max C. Buchenberger, secretary. Retiring officers are Mrs. Lewellyn E. Pratt and Mrs. H. W. Harvey.

The mother and daughter dinner will be held Saturday night at St. Mary's Hall. Special awards and merit badges will be given. The committee in charge is Mrs. Buchenberger, assisted by Mrs. Ernest A. Bickell and Mrs. A. C. Lemkau.

Rawcliffe-Howat

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Howat of Willow street, Bloomfield, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Helen Neilson Howat to Maurice Rawcliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rawcliffe of Chestnut street, Nutley.

Nutley Grants Bus Application

Licenses Route Over High Street To Brookdale Boundary Line

Permission was granted to the Nutley-Jersey City Bus Company to operate six buses from Franklin avenue, Nutley, at the Erie Railroad Station, to the Brookdale town line by the Town Commission Tuesday night. The route of the buses is through High street.

The resolution was passed by the commission after Joseph Krueger, president of the Nutley-Jersey City Bus Company, had filed a petition. Mr. Krueger declared in order to accommodate Brookdale passengers who travel to Jersey City by the bus line, it would be necessary to start a bus service which would connect Brookdale with the starting point of the Jersey City buses in Nutley. He stated the fare on the Nutley-Brookdale line would be five cents.

Health Officer Eugene Sullivan's annual report included a suggestion that the town employ a public nurse. Mr. Sullivan is of the opinion that Nutley is large enough now to warrant such an addition to the Health Department.

The health officer reported for 1929, 353 births and 121 deaths, sixty-four of the latter occurring in hospitals out of town. Ninety-four marriage licenses were issued.

The annual police report was filed by Chief William J. Brown. It listed 1,370 arrests, 1,043 for motor vehicle violations. Fines amounting to $5,897.23 were collected.

The chief's report recommended the appointment of four new patrolmen and the purchase of two new automobiles to be used by motorcycle policemen in the winter.

The Nutley Shade Tree Commission composed of Anne VanWinkle, George Scorsio, Paul Rigo and Edmund Guthrie, requested the town to appropriate $8,000 for that department for 1930. During the past year 825 trees were planted, the commission reported.

Harry Bird of Rutgers place was appointed a member of the Sinking Fund Commission.

A resolution was passed which made Chanceman Frank Shupel a patrolman. Applications for chancemen were received from Joseph Durano of 75 Franklin avenue, and Leslie Griffin of 422 Center street. They were referred to the Department of Public Safety.

James Lee of 7 Erie place was appointed a constable in the Second Ward. Mr. Lee has resided in Nutley thirty-three years.

Phone Reductions Now Effective

Reductions in toll and long distance telephone rates announced recently by the Bell System, went into effect last week. Most station-to-station day calls to points more than 60 and less than 300 miles away are now 5 to 10 cents cheaper. It is announced by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

"Report charges" on calls over distances from 100 to 2,200 miles have been cut in a range from 5 to 40 cents, and overtime charges on person-to-person calls of more than ten chargeable minutes also have been reduced for practically all long distance calls.

This is the fourth rate reduction in its long distance service that the Bell System has made in less than three and a half years. It is anticipated that more than 45,000,000 calls will be made this year at the lower rates involving a saving to the American public of about $5,000,000 for the year.

Nutley Boy Loses Finger In Tussle

In a fight among four Nutley boys New Year's morning one of the four was so badly bitten on the little finger of his left hand that the finger was amputated at the first joint. The injured boy is John Scrudato, eleven, of 144 Harrison avenue, Nutley.

Dr. Rush C. Bauman of High street, Nutley, performed the amputation. Scrudato told the Nutley police that Arthur Strain, fourteen, of 77 Race street, Nutley, was the biter. Strain was taken to the Nutley police headquarters and later paroled in the custody of his parents.

The literary section will take Germany for study at its meeting January 20. "Interest in Events of the Country," will be given by Mrs. Joseph Quigley. "Glimpses of German Literature" by Mrs. Henry W. Goodrich and discussion of a present day novelist by Miss Rose Fuerlicht.

A moving picture benefit will be given January 20 and 21 at the Fox Franklin under auspices of the educational and entertainment sections, in charge of Mrs. Harry W. Little. Mrs. Horace Tatum is in charge of arrangements for a progressive luncheon January 27.

Red Bank Register Editor Passes Away

His Editorials Were Thorough In The Sides Of Politicians

As the publication whose editor he had fostered entered its fifty-third year of continuing publication, John H. Cook, joint founder, many years owner and editor of the Red Bank Register, died Thursday of a heart ailment.

Up to a year ago, Mr. Cook, a controlling interest in the paper, although until the day of his death he still supervised the editorial department, the management of the concern had passed into the hands of Thomas Irving Brown, became president of the corporation when the founder sold his controlling interest. Mr. Brown has held position of business manager of publication since 1910.

Apparently in excellent health despite his 75 years, Mr. Cook, was noted for his fearlessness and independence of his editorial utterance, was about his duties as late as Saturday. Since that time, according to Mrs. Cook, he had complained of no illness, until at 2 o'clock, she said, she was awakened to find him apparently having a bad dream.

Founded Paper in 1878
Mr. Cook, in partnership with his brother-in-law, Henry Clay, founded the Register on June 27, 1878, with a hand press and a job press together with a few hundred dollars worth of type. For a time, the paper, which has gained prominence as a weekly publication, consisted of four pages, two of which were so called "Boiler plate" or ready-print. In 1879, Mr. Clay retired. Two years later the plant was destroyed by fire, although the continuity of issue was not disturbed.

Business was resumed immediately and in 1897 Mr. Cook moved his paper to its present office on Broad street. In 1910, he changed the organization of the Register, forming a corporation of which he was president, and departmental heads were stockholders. For nearly 20 years he retained the leadership of the corporation until a year ago, when he sold his stock to Mr. Brown.

Mr. Cook was twice married. His first wife, Elizabeth Hope Clay, daughter of Henry Clay of Red Bank, died in 1910. Four years later, he married Alice Appleby, daughter of John S. Appleget.

Traveled Extensively
Of late, Mr. Cook spent months of each year in travel through foreign countries and was understood to have visited practically every country on the globe. His greatest interest, however, lay in trips through uncivilized countries meeting primitive peoples. The impressions which he gained in these jaunts to other lands were transmitted to the readers of his paper through lengthy letters sent back to his place from wherever he happened to be.

The Register was originally founded as a Republican paper, and unmercifully castigated the Democratic party in the severest terms. Through the virulence of the editorials, principally ascribed to the forceful pen of Mr. Cook, the publication gradually became known as the "John Cook paper." The nature of the editorials was long a thorn in the side of Democratic administration of early days, who at one time employed lawyers to read each publication thoroughly for evidence libel.

When Winter Comes

A "Snowmobile" Used in the Maritime Provinces

UP in the Maritime Provinces, the Canadian Fords wear snow shoes. Here is a Ford "Snowmobile" all set for a hard winter. Proof that it will get over the roads no matter how high the drifts may be is furnished by Captain Donald McMillan, the famous Arctic explorer, who was the first to use a "snowmobile" in the Far North. With his Ford thus equipped he travelled nearly two thousand miles over ice on one expedition, at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. This, of course, is far better than dogs can do in ordinary circumstances. The McMillan "snowmobile" has a tractor tread and runners.

A Model A Ford, such as that shown in the accompanying illustration, is used by a lumber concern in the Maritime Provinces. It travels regularly over a rough wood road at ten miles an hour. Another used by a large hotel, has accomplished a speed of twenty-five to thirty miles an hour with ease on well built roads on which, however, three or four feet of snow has accumulated.

The "snowmobile" has skis where the front wheels ordinarily would be. Heavy chains furnish traction for the rear wheels no matter how deep the snow may be. A Ford dealer has just reported that one such car regularly carries five passengers over a wood road to a lumber camp.

Members of St. Peter's Choir will attend a performance of "Sons of Guns" January 14 at the Imperial Theatre, New York. They will dine in the city after the show. Mrs. George Lonergan is in charge of arrangements.

The choir has elected these officers: President, Richard Flanagan; secretary, Leo Harrington; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Broo. Reginald Ball of Clifton was made organist and choir director, with Mrs. Lonergan as assistant. Mrs. Lonergan and Mrs. F. K. Trost comprise a publicity committee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. George Hunt of 377 Union avenue gave a dinner party Saturday. Present were Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Beverley Emery of 84 Cummings street, Irvington, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hunt of 402 Greylock parkway, Belleville.

A surprise bridge was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Murch, 411 Linden avenue, Sunday night. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Stickle, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Tallman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobus, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Schneider, all of Belleville.

Miss Elizabeth Smith of 7 DeWitt avenue gave a bridge at her home Friday night. Guests were Mrs. Eugene Berry, Mrs. Joseph Nygard, the Misses Jane Naylor, Lillian Pesvey, Jean Carlow, Ethel Ackersen, Angele Chapman, Mary Milliar, Ellen Smith of Belleville, Mrs. Eugene Sullivan of Nutley, Miss Margaret Ward of Irvington and Miss Margaret Mulholland of Madison.

A three months' activity contest conducted by the Christian Endeavor Society of Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church has ended. The team led by Richard Owen having won, that led by his sister, Miss Marjorie Owen, will serve dinner for the winning team the evening of January 12 in the church dining room.

Miss Patricia McCarthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McCarthy of Elm place, will return Thursday to Low and Heywood School, Stamford Conn.

HUPP SURPRISES WITH ANOTHER NEW EIGHT

Entering 1930 with two of the most successful models, it has ever produced—a Seventy Horse power Six in the $1,000 group and a One Hundred Horse power Eight in the medium priced field—the Hupp Motor Car Corporation today springs a complete surprise on the motor car industry.

The surprise is another new Eight—one of it not the most powerful production built cars in America. Although some of the larger dealers throughout the country had previously held private showings, the first public announcement was made at the opening of the National Automobile Show in Grand Central Palace. The unexpectedness of the new Hupmobile Eight is the more surprising since Hupmobile has usually displayed but two complete lines of cars.

Now, with the super-powered Eight, the products of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation include four chassis lengths, ranging in list price from $985 upward. Of these cars, four types are found in the "S" Six Series, six in the "C" Eight Series, five in the new high powered Eight and two in the model "U" just announced.

This newest Hupmobile is known as the Model "H." Mechanically it boasts of several innovations and refinements which are new to American motorists.

The engine is entirely new. Its developed brake horse power is 133. New cylinder head design and construction provide maximum operating efficiency from the various grades of fuel now on the market.

This new engine carries a down-draft carburetor. This is the first time that down-draft carburetion has been applied to a straight eight engine and is the first time that double down-draft carburetion has been applied to any engine.

This new carburetor enlists the aid of gravity to improve engine performance and obtains the most complete and equal distribution of fuel yet developed. There is no "starving" of cylinders.

The carburetor is now located on the top of the engine. The air intake thus utilizes the cool, clean air as it comes through the radiator, providing a much better mixture than when air is taken in alongside the engine by the conventional up-draft type of carburetor.

The most sophisticated actresses in this season's sparkling plays are choosing frocks of eggshell satin for their formal scenes. For that's the formal fabric that Paris is placing on her list of smart preferences!

The svelte lines of the frock illustrated are extremely becoming to the tall woman or the woman of medium height—and satin serves to emphasize their elegance. The skirt treatment is very new, even in a season of unusual skirts. This frock is one of the simplest evening types offered the home dressmaker.

models are equipped with spring covers, and metal tire covers are standard. List prices for the new 133 Horse power Straight Eight for 1930 range upward from $1985 for the five passenger Sedan; $2,145 for the Town Sedan; $1,985 for two-passenger Coupe and Victoria Coupe; $2,060 for the Cabriolet. Fording the Canadian Boundary Twice Longest Suspension Bridge In World Opened.

ABOVE and below, the international boundary between the United States and Canada is being spanned where the Detroit River separates Ontario and Michigan.

Already the two-mile Ambassador Bridge is linking the people and interests of the two countries. Following a dedicatory ceremony on Armistice Day, the span was thrown open for public use on November 15. For three years, it will enjoy the distinction of being the longest suspension bridge in the world. By 1933, however, its stretch of 1,559 feet between the two sky-scraping towers will be forced to take second place because of the longer span of the Hudson River bridge linking uptown New York and Jersey. Until the building of the Ambassador bridge, world distinction for the longest suspension span was enjoyed by the Philadelphia-Camden bridge over the Delaware River, its suspended length being 1,750 feet.

In the meantime, dredging and excavating are being rushed on the Detroit-Windsor tunnel. It is expected that, before another year has passed, this international thoroughfare also can be in use.

An example of the manner in which this work is being expedited is given by the record accomplished by Ford trucks in removing 40,000 cubic yards of wet clay from the Windsor entrance in the short period of two weeks. This record achievement required that the trucks make 35 round trips daily, a distance of three miles each trip with a load of two yards of wet clay.

Below—Curves of the huge span of Ambassador Bridge, opened between Detroit and Windsor November 15, is shown by the lower level of the further cable tower, visible through the rear window of the Ford sedan.

Because of the new position of the carburetor the force of the incoming air and gravity make possible the taking in of a greater quantity of air than was formerly possible since the air capacity of the ordinary carburetor is limited by the suction power within the manifold. From 12 to 15 per cent increase in power is thus obtained in the new engine because of the more perfect and volatile fuel mixture. A positive-acted fuel pump provides a constant supply of gasoline to the carburetor.

Radiator-Cooled Oil

Another advance step in engineering practice incorporated in the new car is that of radiator-cooled oil.

The new Hupmobile Eight is the first American car to introduce this practice. Radiator oil cooling systems represent the newest mechanical departures and refinements in some of Europe's most costly motor cars.

In the new straight eight a section of the left side of the radiator core is partitioned off exclusively to reduce the temperature of the engine lubricant. Inasmuch as the temperatures of engine, engine lubricant and water are interdependent, the devotion of this radiator space to cooling of the engine's oil supply reduces the necessity for large and bulky radiator space. Hence the radiator of the new Hupmobile Eight is of trim appearance lending itself completely to the modern styling of this new car.

Two gear driven oil pumps are located one above the other in the engine sump, and completely submerged in oil. One—the force-feed pump inlet is placed 3-4 of an inch below the inlet of the cooling pump. Thus the latter picks up the hotter top surface oil in the crankcase and forces it to the top of the oil section of the radiator. The temperature of the lubricant is reduced in its journey downward through the radiator, and then returned to the crankcase. In this manner the prevailing temperature of the oil in the crankcase is reduced from 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit.

Hupmobile engineers point out that a chief deterrent factor in building large, high-powered engines with high speed capacities has been the rapid deterioration of all lubricating properties because of high operating temperatures. With radiator cooled oil, the way is now opened for more powerful engines boasting a here-to-fore unheard of capacity for sustained high speeds.

Oil deterioration at high temperatures, engineers declare, is due to no fault of the lubricant. Rather it is that manufacturers have not previously introduced oil cooling methods which, while more costly in manufacture, assure the owner of greater performance and increased long life of his motor car.

As the oil temperature rises the consistency of the lubricant rapidly thins out. At about 210 degrees Fahrenheit, the danger zone begins. From this point on the oil thins so fast that it may no longer provide a lubricating film for bearing surfaces, but, instead, permit metal to metal contact. This results in burned out bearings, noisy and costly operation and resultant short engine life.

With the new Hupmobile device the engine oil temperature never gets higher than 197 degrees Fahrenheit—the most advantageous operating temperature. The oil cooling system is just as advantageous in winter operation. Automatically controlled radiator shutters protect both the oil and water supply. In addition, a pressure release valve prevents circulation of the oil to the radiator until the proper temperature has been reached. Through this valve the oil from the pump is spilled back into the crankcase at low temperature.

Much of the performance of the modern automobile, engineers agree, depends upon the relation of horsepower to car weight—in other words, upon the number of pounds of car weight which horsepower must propel. The new model "H" Hupmobile boasts a singular record in this regard—only 30 pounds of car weight for every horsepower. Thus this new Hupmobile outranks every American-made production automobile, and exceeds its closest competitor by 2 pounds, and the average in its price field by 13.9 pounds.

Bodies Incorporate New Style
The bodies of the new Hupmobile Eight are exceptionally large and roomy. The new series is longer than the Hupmobile introduced last October, having an overall length of 175 inches.

The brisk, smartly peaked roof coping lends a note in frontal appearance. A distinctive median line divides the coachwork into separate planes. This median line is first noted in the smart French roof coping. In the rear of the bodies it is carried out in even greater prominence. From the top center point throughout the rear panel it is noted. Even the lower edges of the windshield and rear window carry out this new line effect. The windshield frames are chromium plated. Two windshield wipers are standard on all models.

In design and fitment design the new car employs the same superimposed baguette or facet theme which was so popularly received in the first 1930 Hupmobile Eight. This design is noted exteriorly in the new radiator emblem, and on the head lamp rims, fender light rims, and mounting brackets, bumper attachments and hardware.

Interiorly the same single decorative theme is employed on the instrument panel, instrument board and panel light, all garnish moldings, rear quarter lamps, dome light switch, steering wheel spokes and rim, robe rail attachments, sedan smoker sets, foot rest brackets and all hardware.

An interesting note is found in the new interior glare shields of the Eight. These two shields, fitted to the front compartment roof in all closed cars except the collapsible top Cabriolet, eliminate blinding sun headlight glare as well as reflection from the road surface and from lights in the rear which are mirrored in the windshield. They are easily adjusted by hand and remain in any desired position. When closed upward against the top, the upholstery covering matches that of the top. All higher cost.

World's Shipbuilding Industry Now Faces Revolutionary Change

The launching of this unpretentious looking barge, at the Groton, Connecticut, works of the Electric Boat Company, is expected to revolutionize the shipbuilding industry of the entire world. Built without rivets, she was welded into what is virtually a "one-piece" vessel.

A SIMPLE flat-bottomed barge, towed into New York harbor recently by an equally unromantic looking tugboat, is threatening to revolutionize the entire shipbuilding industry of the world. Its successful launching has created such a sensation that experts from the United States navy, marine architects, and representatives from every large shipbuilding organization on the eastern seaboard recently gathered at Groton, Conn., to hear the story first hand from its designers and builders.

The barge, named the "Steelweld," was designed by Eric H. Ewertz, a consulting engineer of New York, and was built at the Groton, Connecticut, works of the Electric Boat Company.

The "Steelweld" is the first vessel ever built with the so-called Ewertz welding system named after its inventor. The use of rivets is eliminated; she is virtually a "one piece" vessel. And like Fulton's "Clamshell," the "Merrimack" and "Monitor," the "Savannah" and the other great "firsts" of marine annals, the little barge "Steelweld" is destined to take her place in international maritime history.

The welding process results in a saving of twenty per cent in total cost of shipbuilding, and twenty-five per cent in weight and the time required for construction. Maintenance cost is likewise reduced by almost a fourth. Leakage of liquid cargo around corroded or "sprung" rivets will also be obviated. Stressing the importance of this, shipbuilders point out that three per cent of every liquid shipment such as oil is lost in transit through such leakage.

At the meeting of naval experts and shipbuilders at Groton, Conn., it was almost unanimously agreed that as a result of the successful launching of the "Steelweld," the industry is facing a revolutionary change as great in its way as the departure from sail to steam, or from wood to steel construction.

Good-bye Stained Teeth

New Safe Treatment Bleaches Dark Teeth in Three Minutes

Dentists have discovered a new safe treatment which bleaches stains from teeth, giving yellow discolored teeth a beautiful shining whiteness. It is called Bleachodent Combination, and consists of a remarkable liquid which cures or softens the stains—and a new kind of paste, which instantly removes the softened stains and prevents new stains from forming. Simply brush the teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste—and even the dullest teeth are quickly whitened. Tobacco stains disappear after first few applications. Bleachodent Combination was first made for children's teeth to avoid the use of harsh gritty pastes which are so harmful to children's soft sensitive teeth. While Bleachodent Combination will instantly remove surface stains caused by silver fillings, as these are below the enamel, and Bleachodent Combination is not intended to act on the enamel in any way. Fine for the gums. Bleachodent Combination is widely used and recommended. Costs just a few cents, and money back if not delighted. Get it today at all good dealers, such as:

MOTHER GOOSE VERSUS SPINACH

The News, in a broad way favors spinach for children. It leans strongly, too, toward carrots in the child's scheme of diet, and its stand on juvenile tooth-brushing would probably be considered quite unassailable by the health authorities. Still it views with something akin to dismay the activities of the reformer who would shelve the Mother Goose tales and other literature of the sort in favor of something more modern, realistic and practical. We have always been secretly grateful that Lewis Carroll's Alice did not stumble on Spinachland. Life might have been more rational had she done so, but surely much less piquant. We have always felt that Hans Christian Andersen had definitely more charm as a weaver of childhood fancies because he did not suggest, as our good lady crusader might have had him do, that it was a deficiency of vitamins that made the ugly duckling ugly. We are ready to concede, if necessary, that the table eccentricities of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Spratt were dietically deplorable, but we will never concede that the account of a Spratt insistence on vegetable soup would have been half as fascinating. Nor will we concede that Jack-the-Giant-Killer would have been half the hero that he was had he stopped, within earshot of the fee-fi-fo-fums, to give his teeth a brushing.

It seems to us that the children are entitled to their little garden of verse and literature without forever being compelled to pick carrots from it. No one wants to believe, least of all the imaginative child, that Jack jumped over the candlestick to stretch his leg muscles, nor that Hi-Diddle-De-Dee-My-Son-John caught a cold in his chest because he neglected to wear both his shoes. By all means let's teach the children hygiene, but for the sake of maintaining the dream world of literature intact, let's not insist on pneumonia for every sprite and gnome and elf that wets his feet while dancing the green. The child, bless his heart, is entitled to some romance.

IMPROPERLY ADDRESSED MAIL

A man or woman has a name, and those likely to receive letters and packages by mail commonly have what is called an address. The latter consists of a number and a street, a city and a state.

Now, such is the perfection attained by the postal system, if a piece of mail shall bear upon its surface a plainly written, non-detachable statement of the foregoing simple facts, the chances are not much more than one in a million that it will fail to reach the addressee. Barring fire and ships lost at sea, mail finds its way to destination with the certainty of sunrise, provided this simple condition is met. It is not a complicated matter, and yet we are again informed by the postoffice department that extra work entailed by improperly addressed mail costs the government more than $5,000,000 a year. "Periodical and systematic campaigns" are conducted in the hope of abating the nuisance, yet "the evil grows as fast as the rapidly increasing business of the postal service itself."

Five million dollars annual cost to the taxpayers does not, however tell the whole story. Much mail is received in such condition that it is impossible to complete delivery. The intended recipient is disappointed and the sender has his trouble for nothing. Just incompetence covering a matter involving three lines of writing presents a problem that a century and a half of study hasn't been able to solve.

BROADCASTING PROFITS

Profits in the radio broadcasting field are apparently far from certain. According to report of the Radio Commission about half the broadcasting companies showed profits while the other half lost money.

To be exact 149 companies reported losses and 168 showed profits. The high powered stations were shown to be very costly, the expense increasing rapidly with the larger volume of watt power. There was, however, no great uniformity in the reports. Some of the big stations made money and some of the low watt stations also were profitable; while at the same time stations widely variant in size made profits.

In a new industry such as broadcasting the percentage of losses is naturally high. Like all new industries the field is over crowded and it will take time to weed out the weaker units besides what may be done by regulation.

As yet the broadcasters seem to be willing to assume all the expense. The public as audience is not asked to contribute anything for the entertainment and evidently will have it gratis for an indefinite period.

BOGUS BILL MAKERS

Quite contrary to opinion of the money experts, there has been a decided increase in counterfeiting since the introduction of the new bills. It was thought that the gentlemen who exercise their skill in making bogus money would have more difficulty in floating bad bills because of the presence of a different portrait on the currency of each denomination. The contrary has been the case.

The reason for this is, in the opinion of the same experts, who seem to have changed their tune in the last six months, that photographic reproductions have become easier because of the flatness of the portraits and the engraving. This kind of imitation has become very much more skillful in the past few years, anyway, and naturally the bills suffer from it.

It is believed that some minor but very noticeable changes will have to be made before long, if the counterfeiters are to be foiled.

Lighted candles seemed to be the only effective means of keeping windshields clear during the sleet storms. But some motorists met with disaster from the heat breaking the glass. This was especially true of non-breakable glass where the celluloid inner layer caught fire or sometimes exploded. John Dority, Maine's genial and efficient superintendent of State highways, gives a simple means of keeping the glass clear. It is this. Put something under the back end of the hood so as to leave a little space. The heat from engine will drive back against the windshield and melt the ice or snow. Next time you find difficulty in driving, and thank Mr. Dority.

The other night the citizens of Dallas, Texas, held an unusual dinner. It was an occasion of honor for one of their number, who had just passed his seventieth birthday. Letters and telegrams of congratulation and tribute were received from ex-President and Chief Justice Taft, a governor, several senators, a large body of the Texas Congressmen in Washington, presidents of railroads, heads of great industries all over America, educators, men high in church circles, and so on down to just plain folks.

Perhaps most of those who read this have never heard of George B. Dealey. But mighty few of us have grown up without hearing of The Dallas Morning News. Mr. Dealey's life has been spent in the up-building of this great daily, and now at seventy he pauses to look back from his chair at the desk where he is still the active head of his paper and a power for good among his fellow-men.

Amid his honors, has he forgotten the days and years of just plain work—the years that often seemed dreary but that have brought him now to the top of the ladder? I think not. I think he counts them all worth while, and I rather believe he is thankful for even the set-backs which gave him strength to drive forward again. I add my tribute to the many being accorded to Mr. Dealey, and to the other Mr. Dealeys whose lives have been given to the up-building of their communities, and who have earned the honored title of "leading citizen," all over the face of this earth.

Woman Is Given Life-Saving Medal By Public Service

The first woman in New Jersey to be awarded a medal for saving a life by the prone pressure method of resuscitation received the medal Monday in Plainfield. She is Mrs. Myrtle Mae French, of 15 Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, and she revived by the prone pressure method a child who nearly drowned in the Raritan River last summer.

Her husband, an employee of the Public Service, all of whose employees are taught this method of resuscitation. Mrs. French first became interested in it at a Public Service safety lecture meeting she attended. Supplementing what she learned about resuscitation at that Council President's Medal for saving a life was made by A. J. Again—The Proof of Telephone Policy is in Its Results

EACH YEAR the definite improvements that are made in New Jersey's telephone service become less easily seen. Spectacular developments in a telephonic network of such magnitude, complexity and delicacy as that which now serves New Jersey are rarely possible. Instead, progress is made by the coordination of hundreds of items and hundreds of thousands of detailed operations.

During 1929 the service was brought to a still higher plane of efficiency in many respects. Substantial improvements were made in business office and billing services, and in the provision of telephone directory information—one of the most difficult and yet most essential parts of modern telephony.

Progress was made, too, in quick, convenient installation of telephones, in the maintenance of plant to prevent interruptions to service, in the handling of local calls at night hours, in improving and enlarging apparatus in many central offices, and in expansion in rural districts.

Many of the accomplishments in 1929 are the result of several years of preparation and their benefits will be more apparent in the future.

Other undertakings which have been started and are not yet complete will bring improvements next year and later.

Operating under a policy that seeks to provide the best service at the least cost to the public, the New Jersey telephone organization in 1929, as in the past, made definite advancement in the service it renders. It will continue to do so.

THE POLICY

To enlarge New Jersey's Telephone System to meet all demands for service promptly.

To improve the usefulness and convenience of service in every way reasonably possible.

To charge only enough to keep the business sound and able to meet the State's increasing service needs.

PROGRESS IN 1929

Additional buildings, switchboards, cable and other facilities for providing telephone service were made available by a construction program of $25,000,000.

350,000 miles of wire were placed in the system, 95% of it in storm-proof cable.

47,000 additional telephones were installed, the total in the State now being 670,000.

New installations of service were made on the exact day desired by the customer in 90% of the cases.

The speed, accuracy and clarity of long distance talking were improved. Despite an increase of 22% in long distance messages, the average connection is now made in 2.2 minutes.

"Information" service was improved through additional information centers and the use of new equipment, records and methods.

"Extended Scope Service," treating 5c. toll calls as local messages, was extended to new areas, and is now being used by subscribers having 143,000 telephones.

"Time of Day" service is now given throughout the State.

As a result of improved methods, trouble on telephone lines is now cleared within two hours on 65% of business cases, and within four hours on 80% of residence cases. These figures cover service in both normal and abnormal times.

Rate reductions of 5 cents to 25 cents were made on calls by number to points 130 to 1,500 miles distant.

DIPS and DAUBS

THE veriest novice can dip a brush into a pot of paint; then daub the paint on. But it takes more than a series of dips and daubs to give satisfactory paint work. Good painting comes only from good materials, intelligently mixed and applied.

We use the best materials, such as Dutch Boy, white-lead. This, plus our long experience in mixing and applying paint, guarantees a good-looking, long-lasting job.

An estimate costs you nothing.

T. ROOSEVELT AND DAWES BECOME HON. PRESIDENTS OF SCOUT COUNCILS

Governor General Of Porto Rico And Ambassador To Court Of St. James Maintain Active Interest In Boy Scout Movement

Two famous Americans, Charles G. Dawes, United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James, and Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of Porto Rico, are maintaining their interest in the Boy Scout Movement despite the importance of the new positions. Theodore Roosevelt, who is a member of the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America, has been named Honorary President of the Porto Rico Council and Dawes was re-elected to his position as Honorary President of the Evanston, Ill., Council of the Boy Scouts.

Both Theodore Roosevelt and General Dawes have had a long experience in Scouting. For several years Mr. Dawes, while vice-president of the United States, sponsored a Scout Troop in Evanston, Ill., his home town. Roosevelt, like his father before him, has been actively interested in Scouting since the founding of the Movement in America.

On the occasion of his reception by the Scouts of Porto Rico, the new Governor of the Island issued the following statement regarding the Scouts:

"I was much pleased and touched by the reception given me by the Boy Scouts of our Island. For eight years now I have been a member of the Executive Committee of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America."

"To me Scouting is as splendid a training for our youth as there is. It teaches discipline, honor and duty. Should I have to epitomize the entire Scout Program in one word, I would choose 'Service'."

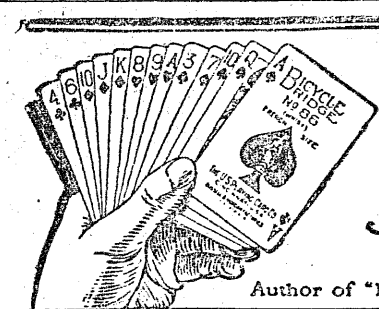

"The Scout Creed builds boys who believe in putting something into their country, not merely in taking something out of it. That is the type of citizenship that makes a land great."

HANDICAPPED SCOUTS
A Troop of Boy Scouts has been organized at the Children's Shore Home at Atlantic City for the inmates who are over twelve years old and would like to join the Boy Scout Movement. All of the boys in this home are suffering from tubercular bed-ridden. The Troop will be known as Troop No. 35 of Atlantic City.

This Scout Troop for Handicapped Boys was made possible through the work of Troop No. 14 which meets at the Church of the Ascension in Atlantic City. Scoutmaster Malcolm H. Sherman and the boys of the Troop themselves made the plans. They went to the older boys' ward of the hospital and demonstrated various Scouting activities, presenting each patient with a Handbook, and teaching them the rudiments of Scouting, so that they might pass the Tenderfoot tests. Through the interest of this Boy Scout Troop in the handicapped boys of the hospital, the Scout Troop was soon formed. Dr. Edward Z. Holt, Superintendent of the Children's Sea Shore Home, has become the Scoutmaster of the Troop and has enlisted the aid of several other doctors to act as Troop Committeemen. A Patrol of Scouts from each of the hospitals on successive Tuesday evenings to assist the Troop of crippled boys in their Scout work. The Scouting program has afforded to these shut-ins many hours of real happiness, according to Harold V. Feyl, Scout Executive of Atlantic City.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1929-30 by Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1929, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 10

One of the most difficult of all problems that arises at the auction table is the one dealing with justifiable penalties. Just how far one should go in a justifiable effort to save game is always a difficult question and one that requires judgment of the highest order to solve properly.

Here is a hand that was held in one of the championship games at the recent Auction Bridge Congress. The proper bidding of this hand decided an important match, so note it carefully:

Hearts—9, 8, 7, 5, 4, 3
Clubs—10, 9, 8, 5, 2
Diamonds—A, K
Spades—none

No score, rubber game. If Z dealt and bid one no trump, what should A do? Should he pass and hope to save game and rubber or should he bid and thus take the chance of losing a big penalty?

The hand is so unbalanced that a

Hearts—K, 10, 7, 4, 2
Clubs—A, 7, 2
Diamonds—none
Spades—A, K, 8, 4, 2

No score, rubber game. If Z dealt and bid one no trump, what should A do?

With a two-suit hand of this type, A should certainly bid two spades, and then if overbid by his opponents he should show his heart suit. If his partner has any help at all for either suit, A has a good chance for game. A double of one no trump with this hand would be most unsound. Never double a no trump bid when you hold a two-suit. Bid one of the two suits and show the other on the second round of bidding. In this way, you give your partner a much better picture of your hand. A should bid two spades and Y passes.

What should B do? Should he pass the two spade bid or should he show his club suit? A's bid of two spades over a no trump bid shows a good hand and one that should be prepared for a bid by partner. The fact that B has a singleton spade makes it imperative for him to deny the spade suit if he has any other justifiable bid. The question, therefore, is whether or not B's seven-card club suit, headed by the queen ten, is a justifiable bid.

Ordinarily such a suit holding does not justify a bid, but in this case the two factors, (1), the fact that A has bid over a no trump and thus shown a very strong hand and (2), the fact that B has a singleton of his partner's suit, justify a bid of three clubs. Such a bid cannot be hurt much and it may prevent A from going on with his spade bid. Such a bid by B must be regarded by A as a most emphatic denial of the spade suit. Z will pass a three club bid and A should also pass. He has great help for the club suit and his hearts aren't strong enough to show under such conditions. At clubs, A B can score five odd and thus make game and rubber. It is a pretty hand and the bidding and the reasons for it should be carefully studied.

Here is another hand that shows the problems confronting the player whose right-hand opponent has bid one no trump:

Hearts—8
Clubs—A, 9, 8, 5
Diamonds—K, 10, 9, 7
Spades—A, 10, 8, 5

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one no trump. What should A do? Should he double or pass? If he should double and his partner should bid two hearts, what should he do?

Never double one no trump unless you are prepared for any bid that partner may make. With this hand, A is prepared for any one of three bids, but is not prepared for a two-heart bid. If B should bid two hearts, A's hand is not strong enough to bid two no trumps. For that reason, A should pass the no trump bid. If his partner should now bid, A's hand looks very strong; but until B shows some signs of strength, A's proper procedure is to pass and thus take the defensive.

If all pass, the question of A's proper opening against a no trump is an interesting one. He has two choices, either the ten of diamonds or the five of spades. The latter opening, however, seems the better one and should be made.

Pronunciation of "Address"

All reputable dictionaries agree that the correct pronunciation of this word is "a-dress," the second syllable being accented. The word is widely, but incorrectly, pronounced "ad-dress," with the accent on the first syllable.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Notice to the public

SUPPOSE you are today paying 50c a tube for your tooth paste (and there are many very good dentifrices selling today at that price).

Suppose, like most people, you buy about twelve tubes during a year. Now if you knew that you could buy as good a dentifrice as can be made and still save each year the price of 25 loaves of bread or 60 bars of soap or 40 pounds of sugar or a box of fine cigars—could you conscientiously fail to take advantage of such an opportunity?

That is exactly what you do when you buy Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Figure it out for yourself.
