West Belleville Wants County To Take Over Street

Several Town Officials At Meeting In Recreation House

Making Joralemon street a county road was advocated Monday night by the West Belleville Improvement Association at an open meeting in the Recreation House. Several town officials were present by invitation. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy was asked to present the position taken by the association to the Board of Freeholders.

Besides the Mayor officials at the meeting included Commissioners W. D. Clark and Patrick Waters and William H. Williams, secretary of the Zoning Board.

A committee headed by J. H. Boice will get the sentiment of property owners in Joralemon street with a view to petitioning the county board. The Mayor advised that if taken over by the county it might be two years or more before the street could be paved.

It would be cheaper for the taxpayers, however, he said, as the county would bear sixty per cent of the expense.

Asks for Officer at School

Mr. Clark was asked why it was that a policeman was not assigned to regular duty in front of School No. 7. He replied that he had supposed that there was an officer there regularly and he would see that there is hereafter. Commissioner Clark said he would see that parking of cars is prohibited at School No. 7.

A request was made that a flicker be placed at Garden avenue and Joralemon street, and that "School" signs be placed on either side of School No. 7. Mr. Clark promised to give consideration to the subject.

Mr. Williams spoke on the value of zoning. A representative of the Abell Construction Company, which has plans at the Town Hall for an apartment in Joralemon street, between Jefferson street and Harvard place, was present. He explained that construction is being delayed pending a decision on the paving of the street. The building, which will cost approximately $500,000, is to be built in units. The first will cost about $200,000.

August Bechtoldt Jr. suggested steps be taken toward turning over Clearman Field as a playground for small children. The Mayor declared granting of use of the field was entirely within control of the Board of Education and he would not interfere. The officials will confer with Public Service as regards buses turning around at Charles street, breaking sidewalks and curb.

Nereids Stage Fifty-Fifty Annual Meeting At Club

The fifty-fifth annual meeting of the Nereid Boat Club was held at the club on Thursday night, with over thirty members attending.

Assemblyman Homer C. Zink was elected to the presidency with E. A. Rung, vice president and John P. Dailey, secretary, who preside on the Board of Directors with Dr. D. S. Tillou, H. V. Hardman, S. H. Dingle and K. V. Hardman. J. L. Hicks was elected to the Captaincy, William Bennett, lieutenant, and Gerard Rhoades, log keeper.

An unusual number of the older active and honorary members were present at the dinner in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of C. L. Brett's membership. An engraved testimonial was given to Mr. Brett, signed by those present, as a symbol of their appreciation for his tireless effort in behalf of the club.

The completion of the club's new racing single and double gigs was announced. They will be brought to Belleville in a week or so where the finishing touches will be put on. It is very seldom, even though great pains be taken in the construction

Christian Endeavor Annual Banquet

Girl Scouts Satisfied With New Headquarters Location

Building Is Where News Got Its Start—Reception Is Planned For New Director, Miss Edith Binns

The Girl Scout Council met at the new headquarters last Thursday evening, at 338 Washington avenue, over the Capitol Drug Store.

Everyone present expressed their approval of the rooms. The committee has chosen a suite of five rooms, with kitchen and bath which will afford the Girl Scouts plenty of room for their various activities, meetings and instruction classes.

Miss Edith Binns, the new local director, was introduced to the council. Miss Binns comes here from Elizabeth highly recommended from National Headquarters. She has taken many courses in the various branches of Scouting at National Headquarters and Camp Edith Macy, especially in Troop management, song leading, craftsman, dancing, troop dramatics, and pioneer camping. Belleville is to be congratulated on obtaining a Girl Scout director of such varied and practical training. Miss Binns has been very active among Elizabeth Girl Scouts and has been instructing classes there. She is also captain of one of the larger Troops in that town.

The Council introduced Miss Binns formally to the Officers' Association last evening, at Headquarters. Mrs. Harvey Thompson is chairman in charge of this event.

The General Public is cordially invited to meet her on Tuesday, March 18, when the Council will hold "open house." Invitations have been sent to all people prominent in Belleville's affairs. It is hoped a large gathering will be present to greet her on that day.

Mrs. William Cornish is chairman making plans for this date. The following officers were all re-elected to hold office for another year: Commissioner, Mrs. Mary T. Holden; deputy commissioner, Mrs. Charles Kelly; secretary, Mrs. Bertha Payne, and treasurer, Mrs. Francis Englemann.

Any furniture the housewives of this town are discarding, no matter what type or its condition, will be very acceptable to the Girl Scouts. They will be glad to call for it.

W. H. Williams Speaks Before Rotarians

Tells Of Unionizing His Two Larger Plants Near Here

William H. Williams, candidate for commissioner, spoke Wednesday at a meeting of the Rotary Club in a meeting of the Rotary Club in the Nereid Boat Club on the print and dyeing industry. Mr. Williams is general manager of the Waldrich Bleachery, Delaware, and Manhattan Print Dye Works, Passaic.

Mr. Williams explained his plants are operated by highly skilled union labor affording the best kind of workmanship. He was instrumental in placing the unionized labor in his plants setting a precedent for the textile industry in this country. Mr. Williams' firm is the third largest of its kind in the country.

Rotarians last night enjoyed "juicy" steaks and all that goes with them at Pat Burke's Franklin Turnpike in Hohokus. The group met at "Pat" Fort's iron horse emporium in Washington avenue at 5:15. The start was made together—the finish—well, never mind that.

All members did not bring their own cars. Arrangements were made for many to ride with Ed Yerg and George Gerard, reputed to be the fastest drivers in the club. The speed was—oh, we can't tell that or may-be we would all be in court. Anyway "a good time was had by all."

500 AT MEETING IN ELKS' HOME RISE IN APPROVAL OF MEMBERS

Legacy Board Had On Taking Office Is Given Airing

Four of the five town commissioners announced their candidacy for reelection May 13 and were endorsed by the Civic League for Continued Good Government at a meeting Thursday night in Elks Home. More than 500 attended.

Those who declared themselves are Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and Commissioners Frank J. Carragher, William D. Clark and Patrick A. Waters.

The citizens rose to a man when Henry B. Jacobus, president of the league called for a rising endorsement.

Gibson Will Not Run
Commissioner James Gibson, who was unable to be present, said his health and business would not permit him to be a candidate. He paid tribute to his fellow commissioners and recommended continuing them in office.

Mayor Kenworthy said: "I shall endeavor to gauge every act by what I believe to be to the interest of the greater portion of the people of the town. Whatever governmental action I have taken that was displeasing to a few people, that action was in my judgment for the good of the town at large."

Not Intentional Errors
"I realize I have made mistakes, but they were errors of judgment and I have learned from them. I have been criticized, but one who doesn't expect to be should not run for public office. In the fact of error and criticism I have adopted the policy of dignified sitting by until time determined the integrity of my intentions."

"It is gratifying to see the taxpayers in the mood they are tonight," said the Mayor. "You have given your league a proper name 'good government.' You have been getting good government. There has not been a finger of suspicion pointed at one member of this board. 'I challenge anyone in town to point to any dishonest act of any member of this board. I feel I would also be failing in my duty tonight if I did not pay respect to former Commissioner Edward Nelson, a living example, a faithful public servant who has impaired his health in sacrifice for the public. A finer man never lived. He worked untiringly until he broke under the strain for the people of this town.'"

Has Worked Hard
The Mayor told how the board had burned the midnight oil to give service. He outlined how all his pledges of four years ago had been met. A forty-four point reduction in the tax rate, so far as actual expenses for operating the town government is concerned, was told. At the same time county and state points have increased. Only $2,000 in actual figures is the increase in town expenses over four years ago.

"For The People"
Mr. Carragher, whose remarks were brief, said his term had been a "battleground for the right." If reelected he will continue to battle for what he believes to be right, he said, and if citizens believed him right they will reelect him.

Carragher was commended as the watch dog of the treasury; Clark for his police and fire departments and

Carragher Says He's Battled Erie 3 Years

Gets 1888 Data On Grades From The Newark News

"For three years I have been trying to straighten out the grades on the Erie Railroad crossings," said Commissioner Frank Carragher, Tuesday. "The profiles and plans could not be found and they (the town) claimed that Mr. Shepard (Frank T.) had never furnished them to the Town. I had a survey made and found that the grades were high at all the crossings and after I made this survey the original plans were found in the Town Hall."

"They claimed that they had been pushed back in some corner. There was no ordinance, either, and Mr. Brown (Town Attorney John B.) told me that he couldn't do anything with them if he didn't have the ordinance, so I went to the Newark Evening News office and got the ordinance made in 1888 showing they were passed by the Town Council at that time. We also have now a record of Mr. Shepard's affidavit showing the Erie tracks all above grade which is on file in the Town Clerk's Office. This is a record that couldn't be found before in the Town Hall."

At Tuesday's meeting of the board Mr. Carragher asked Mr. Daly to read the following discussion between Mr. Brown, Mr. Shepard, Town Engineer Albert S. Blank and Mr. Carragher.

The profile maps were compared with the list and blueprints furnished by Mr. Shepard. The tracks of the Erie are above grade on the following named street:

Cleveland street, 1 foot; William street, 7 5/8 inches; John street, 17 1/2 inches; Rutgers street, 4 1/2 inches; (was raised 1888-1895—2 feet, 9 inches with consent of the Town. From 1895-1929 it was raised arbitrarily by the Railroad 4 1/2 inches.)

Academy street, 2 ft. 11 3/8 in. (1888-1929—there is no record of that to show whether the Erie or the Town is at fault.)

Holmes street, 4 1/8 inches; Joralemon street, 11 3/4 inches (1895-1929 was raised 9 inches; Little street, 1 1/2 inches; Greylock avenue (1914-1929) 3 3/4 inches; Franklin street, 7 inches; Belmont avenue, 7 inches.

Mr. Brown: "Have you maps to conform with this list, Mr. Blank?"

Mr. Blank produced maps for the following streets: Holmes street, Rutgers street, Little street, Academy street, William street, Cleveland street, John street.

Mr. Brown: "I should like to know the grade of the streets at the present time."

Mr. Shepard: "I don't think it is a question of grades; it is a question of whether the grades have been raised or lowered from 1888 to 1929."

Commissioner Carragher: "The Erie Railroad is above grade and that is all there is to it. It has been proved that the tracks were raised all along. Mr. Blank is going ahead with Holmes street and should have the Town Attorney's opinion and a resolution passed by the Board of Commissioners."

Mr. Brown: "Have we any profiles showing the present established grades of the present established street?"

Mr. Shepard: "The grade did not perhaps go across the track. In all probability it was taken as far as the track and then a jump taken over to the other side of the tracks and the grade taken up on the other ment to any writer.

Criminologists and sociologists the world over have acknowledged the truthful power of Mrs. Niles' book and she herself admits that Sidney Howard's adaptation of the book to the screen has not varied an inch from the truth. Even the fact that the hero does not finally succeed in escaping follows the actual fact, since, in all the history of Devil's Island, only two convicts have ever succeeded in making their way safely through the shark-infested waters and fever-haunted swamps which make it the best protected prison in the world.

One of those two convicts, the notorious Eddie Guerin, had a hand in the details of the screening of "Condemned!" through a strange coincidence which put one of his best friends in the cast of the picture as one of the mob of criminals in the jail scenes. Guerin himself is, of course, well out of the way, but his reminiscences, retrailed through his friend by letter, gave the director of the picture, Wesley Ruggles, a valuable check on matters which Mrs. Niles could not supply.

The Goldwyn staff spent $60,000 manufacturing a real tropical jungle for the scenes in which Ronald Colman and Louis Wolheim, as his comrade, are attempting to escape through the swamps and forests of the mainland. All the bamboo and elephants' ears in Los Angeles were commandeered for this set, which also included an artificial river, life-size, running 200,000 gallons of water every 24 hours.

Even the French government extended its official cooperation to the Goldwyn production executives in making the picture, following their courtesy in allowing Mrs. Niles to visit the island two years ago.

True Picture Of Devil's Island Is "Condemned!"

People who see "Condemned!" the new Ronald Colman starring picture which Samuel Goldwyn brings to the Capitol Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, can have no doubt as to the literal truth of the scenes and incidents displayed on the screen. This picture of the life among the convicted sentenced to terms in the famous French penal colony of Devil's Island off the coast of South America has been authenticated in every way known to man during production.

Ronald Colman's role, that of the dashing, debonair young thief who falls in love with the warden's mistreated wife, is taken from life. This character formed the central figure of Mrs. Blair Niles' book, "Condemned to Devil's Island," from which "Condemned!" was adapted. The original of this character is living now in his cell on Devil's Island, and Mrs. Niles has had letters from him twice since her six months' visit of inspection two years ago, the first ever allowed by the French govern-

SISTER OF TWO BROTHERS WHO DIED, ILL

VIZZA GIRL IS SUFFERING FROM EPIDEMIC MENINGITIS AT HOSPITAL

Dr. Ellis L. Smith Says She Will Live

Apparently baffled by the cause of death of two brothers, Orlando Vizza, four, and Pasquale, nine, recently the deaths were recorded as "natural." The children were sons of Peter Vizza, 54 King street, Nutley.

Thursday a daughter, Mary, fourteen was taken ill and rushed to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic by Dr. Martin Meehan of Belleville. A lumbar puncture of the spine was taken and an examination of the fluid in the spinal column showed "epidemic meningitis." The girl was rushed to the Essex County Hospital for Contagious Diseases, Belleville. She is expected to live, according to Dr. Ellis L. Smith, superintendent.

County Medical Examiner Harrison S. Martland was called by Health Officer Eugene Sullivan of Nutley on this last case, as the others. He was greatly interested because the exact status of the other cases had not been determined.

The death of Orlando followed about one week after the death of his brother, Pasquale, who died at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, February 9. According to Mr. Martland the deaths were by natural causes. He performed an autopsy on the first child.

Both were apparently well the day before their deaths exhibiting a slight dark color in their faces and being subject to vomiting attacks.

Dr. Edward Rizzolo, 523 Union avenue, Belleville, was called to the Vizza home on Sunday, February 8, shortly after midnight. Pasquale died at 3 o'clock, shortly after the doctor left. About midnight Friday, February 13, the doctor was called to attend the second child, who died Saturday afternoon, February 14.

The death certificate for the first child was signed by Alice C. Collins, a Rutherford undertaker. Under cause of death was written "pending chemical analysis." Dr. Martland said no poisonous matter was found, the death coming from hereditary causes.

When the second death was called to the attention of Health Officer Sullivan he immediately called on Dr. Martland, who explained that examination of the stomach contents of the first child showed nothing wrong. At first it was believed the first child had died from ptomaine poisoning. A mass of regurgitated food was offered for the boy in Holy Family Church, Nutley. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Arlington.

Dr. Rizzolo did not know the cause of death and that is why the certificate was signed pending investigation.

Dr. Martland gave as a theory that "status Thymico Lymphaticus" caused death. This is said to be a state of the glands being overdeveloped. It is a condition in which all the lymphatic tissues, thymus glands, the spleen and bone marrow are hyperplastic or overgrown due to multiplication of elements.

Because she displayed heroism and resourcefulness in the use of telephone facilities to summon aid after a blast had wrecked and set fire to the building in which she was working, a Perth Amboy girl has been awarded the Theodore N. Vail Memorial Medal in bronze.

She is Miss Iola D. Gibbons, 447 Division Street, Perth Amboy, who as night chief operator for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company at the Woodbridge central office, remained at her post of duty early in the morning of May 6, last, risking her life to avert further destruction and possible loss of life following an explosion in a harness shop next door.

Announcement of the medal award was made today by the Regional Vail Memorial Medal Committee, which also voted honorable mention to another New Jersey Bell Telephone Company employee, Arthur G. Lucas, a fireman in the Trenton district, who assisted in the rescue of a man who had come into contact with high voltage wires.

The Vail medals are given annually, when the committee deems them to be merited, in memory of Theodore N. Vail, pioneer in telephony whose home was in Morristown, New Jersey, and who was head of the Bell system for almost fifteen years. The medals are given for acts of heroism out of or in connection with the performance of regular duty and which employ to some extent the plant and equipment of the telephone system.

Announcement of the medal award to Miss Gibbons recalls the violent explosion about 2:30 a.m. in the morning of May 6, which shook the business district of Woodbridge, inflicting injuries upon five persons, damaging a large amount of property including the Woodbridge central office building and putting all telephones in Woodbridge and Carteret out of commission.

Miss Gibbons, alone in the operating room at the time, was thrown violently to the floor, glass and debris showering on her and inflicting cuts and bruises to her face and scalp. Unconscious and unaware of the cause of the explosion, she made her way back to the switchboard and called the Woodbridge police headquarters, telling of the blast.

Although the building she occupied already had caught fire and the force of the explosion had shattered all the windows, cracked a wall and knocked off most of the plastering in the operating room, Miss Gibbons continued to sound the alarm and quickly called Miss Alice J. Dolan, Woodbridge Chief Operator, and the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company Emergency Bureau, at Newark.

Then she went to the assistance of Miss Mae E. Smolinski, 196 East Milton Avenue, Rahway, night relief operator, who was sleeping in the retiring room near the operating room and who was stunned by a blow on her head when a door was blown across her bed. Both girls stumbled back into the operating room and were at the switchboard when police arrived a few minutes later. Police were obliged to use force to get the girls out of the building and to a place of safety.

As a result of the alarm spread by Miss Gibbons, firemen were soon on the scene to extinguish the flames and at 2:50 a.m., about twenty minutes after the blast the first Telephone repair man arrived.

RECREATION COMMISSION

Diverting from the usual style of publishing a party program each week we are going to give some suggestions on which social evenings are built up, as well as the activities for such occasions.

Because of the lack of space we are compelled to limit our article to the more essential features. However, if any individual or organization desiring the bulletin in whole may do so by communicating with Anthony A. Pascale, Recreation House.

Suggestions for a Social Evening.
Leadership Hints.

1.—Start your program on time and close on time.
2.—Plan your work ahead and work your plans.
3.—Remember no game is yours until you have played and directed it.
4.—Have assistants who are responsible for the details.
5.—Make a list of the equipment needed after the program has been planned.
6.—Welcome the guests and have something to do after they have taken off their wraps. This breaks the feeling of self-consciousness.
7.—Order and discipline are essential for good leadership.
8.—Change to another game as soon as the group has reached its highest point of enthusiasm.
9.—If working with a large group, have a whistle.
10.—On directing a game, at first get the room quiet and the undivided attention of every person. Then give your directions, briefly, concisely, and in ordinary tone of voice.
11.—If the game does not go right quietly change to another.
12.—Be sure and have a balanced program.

Backache
If functional Bladder Irritation disturbs your sleep, causes Burning or Itching Sensation, Backache or Leg Pains, making you feel tired, depressed and discouraged, why not try the Cystex 48 Hour Test? 13.—Enforce rules to the fullest extent.
14.—Stimulate the active participation of every player in the room.
15.—The average person does not know more than a dozen games; teach new games and principles carefully.

Program Building
A program is usually built consciously or unconsciously in the following manner:

- 1.—Pre-Party Games.
- 2.—Get Acquainted Games.
- 3.—Mixers.
- a) Active Games.
- b) Passive Games.
- 4.—Active Games.
- 5.—Passive Games.
- 6.—Conclusion with a bang.
- 7.—Refreshments.

It may be stated that there are games particularly appropriate for each of these sub-divisions under program building. In fact, these games can be so arranged as to keep the interest of the people throughout the program and conclude the evening or program with a hit or bang.

Burke's Colts, Add Another Victory

Take Rutherford American Legion Five Into Camp

The Burke's Colts bowling quintet, present leaders in the American Legion League race, were at the peak of their form, Wednesday night, and disposed of the Rutherford American Legion five with speed and eclat, in an interesting match on the losers' alleys. A brilliant 921 count by the homesters in the opener was all that saved them from a complete white-washing by the locals, who took the final two with ease.

In the last two games, both of which the Colts won with 900 tallies, the expert rolling of Gene Gelschen, Tommie Dunn and Butch Kastner stood out in bold relief. Gelschen contributed an even 200 and a 199; Dunn 169 and 218 and the imitable Butch in the role of anchor man, 216 and 181. Tommie Dunn's 218 in the final was incidentally the high individual tally of the night.

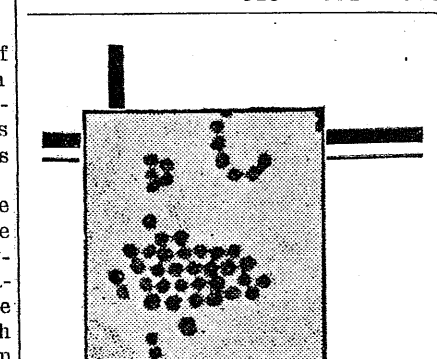

While the crack Burkes were busy with their flock of brilliant efforts, the Rutherford team was certainly not idle. Sangor with 215 in the first, Stratten with 211 in the final and Angel with 199 also in the third were especially scintillating for the Rutherford boys.

The score:

Johnnie Nelson Takes Decision In Bout

Outpoints Mc Williams In Scrap At Elks' Benefit

Johnnie Nelson, popular idol of Silver Lake, handily won the decision over Johnnie McWilliams, Friday night, in the main bout of the Elks' benefit boxing show at the local Elks' hall. The bout, which was the first meeting between the pair, fairly bristled with action, although Nelson's victory was clean-cut and popular with the crowd. He held a margin in nearly every round, but McWilliams put up a game though losing battle.

The semi-final brought together another Silver Lake idol, Ernie Ratner, and that promising young battler from Brooklyn, Louis Napolie. Ratner got the duke in this one to make it a complete success for the many Silver Lake rooters present. This set-to was closer and more evenly matched than the main tussle and most of the time Ratner and Napolie stood toe to toe and slugged it out. Napolie usually held the edge on these occasions, but Ratner's in-fighting and sparring was plenty good enough to earn him the popular verdict as well as that of Gene Roman, the referee.

In the first of several preliminaries, Syl Hearn, youthful Belleville battler, k. o'd Kid Quail in the second round. Hearn, whose battling has been little short of a sensation hereabouts lately, was complete master of his opponent and beat him badly in the very first round. The knock-out in the second seemed merely a formality, after the terrific trouncing Hearn administered his Newark rival in the first round. In another preliminary Frank Cossi knocked out Joe Beamish in the second. A flashing right uppercut turned the trick for Cossi, after he had Beamish on the floor twice in the first.

A touch of humor was added to the occasion, when it was announced just before the main bout that Little Jake Rhodes had run out on George

The show, though not the expected financial success, due to the inclement weather, was not disheartening to Billie Ammorita, the match-maker and the Elks in general and they are planning on running another in the near future.

RETURN THE ADMINISTRATION TICKET

A few days more than nine weeks from now will be occasion of a municipal election in Belleville. Five commissioners will be elected. So far as we can see the die is cast for the administration ticket to be returned to office.

This ticket is not to be denied. Frankly, and without bias or personal feeling, this ticket deserves the support of voters. There is no upheaval in Belleville today; there is no criticism of the board from the standpoint of efficiency. This is in contrast to the spirited election of four years ago, when the present board was named to settle once and for all the adverse front page publicity Belleville was getting from newspapers.

This board set about that task with a will and surmounted all obstacles, including a shortage of about $134,000, which was, in itself, enough to discourage anyone.

We have differed in matters political on more than one occasion with the administration, but that was on specific matters.

As a whole and from observation of municipal affairs for a period covering the last fifteen years in Belleville and other nearby town, we have yet to see a commission face the electorate for re-election with the confidence imposed in this administration ticket.

Not only is that confidence from those friendly with the board but from taxpayers with personal grievances, who must admit, in order to be fair with themselves, that the administration has done good work.

There has been no crookedness so far as we have seen from close contact with this board. We have seen and told of political errors, errors, perhaps of judgement and not intention. But that cannot be held against the ticket for re-election. Their four years of constructive service must be the yardstick by which they should be measured.

This board has weighed all matters from the standpoint of the greatest number. It has thought of the majority, casting aside hope of holding a few personal friends. But in the final analysis that is good for the majority. And the majority is what rules in any good free, American city.

There are five men to be elected and the voters have a choice of several good candidates. For the debt owed the administration the voters have a definite line cut out for them. The administration should be returned. And this should be weighed from a town standpoint and not personal.

We refer to the constructive work of the board by this editorial. Later editorials will feature the individual work of this ticket.

SAFETY

Added to the long list of fliers to strange places—Polar explorers and transatlantic fliers—who have disappeared, and to the number of lesser accidents in recent months, the picture of some few recent air mishaps at first glance is not pretty. Evidently the airplane is not yet perfect. Not yet has it acquired the relative degree of safety of some other modes of traveling.

Yet to say this is to give only half or less of the picture. No mode of traveling can ever be entirely safe. Accidents may be decreased; but they can apparently never be entirely eliminated.

The automobile death total lately has been reaching frightful proportions. Despite constant improvement in the safety records of railroads, train wrecks occur from time to time. It is no safer to travel on foot; for train wrecks occur from time to time. It is no safer to travel on foot; for in a large proportion of deaths by vehicles pedestrians are the victims. The modern ocean liner is infinitely safer than the vessels on which the first white men came to this continent; but shipwrecks have not been entirely eliminated.

Moreover, insurance figures show that more accidents occur in the home than in any other place. If one is not safe from accident in one's own home, it is rather carrying timidity to excess to avoid airplane travel because of the danger of accident.

Undoubtedly, improvements will be made which will make airplane travel safer than it is at present. But the few accidents which have occurred have drawn attention away from the many successful flights, the number of miles flown on schedule day after day without accident.

Granted that the airplane has not yet reached the stage of perfection achieved by railroads and automobiles, it is still remarkable that man can fly through the air in a straight line toward the goal he wishes to reach, at speeds never possible on land, and with a comparatively high degree of safety. The record of airplane travel may not be unspotted; but when the railroads were as old as airplanes now are, they would have been proud of an equal record of safety.

WHERE PRESIDENTS SLEEP

No more fitting resting spot for the body of William Howard Taft could possibly be imagined than Arlington Cemetery. He served the nation so long and so splendidly that he was in truth a veteran soldier of the Republic. Furthermore, because of that long service, Washington became his permanent home, and it is right that he should sleep "at home."

If memory serves correctly only one other President is buried in or near our capital city and he, like Taft, really lived there. Woodrow Wilson chose Washington as his home after he left the White House. In his all too brief span of life after relinquishing the presidency he never left the city.

The idea of a great national shrine where the mortal remains of our Presidents might be interred has never been given serious consideration and probably never will be. The communities from which they rose to eminence have always desired that their distinguished dead be laid to rest there. The Presidents, too, wished it.

We do have our shrines dedicated to our Presidents. Mount Vernon, the home of Washington, is doubtless the most hallowed. But there is Monticello, where Jefferson lived and rests; the church in Quincy where the Adamses, father and son, are buried; the Hermitage, down in Tennessee, home of Jackson; Lincoln's tomb at Springfield; the modest grave of Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, and many others. The most striking place of all is Grant's Tomb in New York, but it is fair to say that the magnificent mausoleum is dedicated to the Soldier and not the President. All of these places witness their pilgrimages and teach their lessons of patriotism.

Citizen Cites

In war you can be killed but once, but in politics many times.

Alimony has made it possible for a woman not to take a man's name in vain.

The banner after dinner speech is "I'll help you with the dishes."

Most good luck comes to him who is busy picking up pins right in front of him.

Many who rely on their faces for fortunes should be arrested for counterfeiting.

Some persons are most agile when it comes to side stepping obligations.

Another good way to save money is to make more than you have time to spend.

Marriage may be a risky gamble but consider the number of good sports who are willing to try it.

A woman is a person who knows what her postscript will be before she starts writing a letter.

It's a wise stock that knows its own par.

Repartee is saying on the spot what you think of next day.

Fat men seem to enjoy life more than a fat woman.

It isn't hard for most of us to believe the worst about anybody.

Some "self made men" either ran out of material or lacked the right tools.

Clinton F. Berry, vice president of the Union Trust Company of Detroit, Michigan, says:

"That today is the day of unsurpassed opportunities! The old idea that an 'opportunity' was a chance to buy as cheaply as possible and sell at the highest price obtainable, is fast going into the discard."

"Today, the greatest opportunities exist for those who take something of service to mankind and develop it on such a scale that its cost is reduced and its price lowered, thereby making it available to an ever widening circle of users."

"Such a reversal of concepts has widened our boundaries immeasurably. 'Inevitable saturation points' vanish into thin air; new and vastly improved ways of doing things reduce costs—but not wages; new inventions pass with amazing rapidity from the stage of luxury to that of necessity; cooperation is being found to be vastly more economical than senseless, cut-throat competition; the light of knowledge is found to be essential to scale the heights of achievement."

"But, in the complex structure of our modern civilization, where dependence on the efforts of one another is essential and inevitable, the eternal verities remain unchanged. The lasting nature of an opportunity or business depends, more than ever before, upon confidence, integrity, truth and honest dealing. None can disregard these qualities with safety. An appearance of prosperity may be temporarily produced by ignoring them, but retribution will be sure—and on a greater scale than ever before, by reason of the nature of the forces we are now employing upon such immense scales."

Officer's Watchfulness Averts Mishap

The watchfulness of Officer Walter Britton early Saturday morning prevented what might have been a serious mishap. The officer saw smoke issuing from the roof of the Bank of Nutley. He notified police headquarters and Sergeant John Somoracki, and Lieutenant Arthur Stroba and Fireman Walter Crabtree of the fire department went over to the bank. They found that the smoke was coming from the chimney and investigating further discovered the pilot on the oil burner had gone out. They shut off the electric and oil supply.

POLITICKS

— By —
ANTI-KAMNIA

Being the latest collection of political tid-bits, some good, some bad, gathered by this columnist as he travels thither and yond, without benefit of censor of the publisher of this worthy paper or the present board of commissioners.

Editor's note:—The views of this columnist are his own personal views and are not governed by the policies of the publisher.

The great moment in Belleville's history is in the offing. May 13—to be exact is the day.

The campaign has been an unusually quiet one. From present indications it will continue to be so.

That is as it should be. It isn't or rather shouldn't be necessary for the present administration to shout it from house tops that they should be returned.

Taken by and large, the past administration was not a bad administration.

This is not the writer's own thought but is the expressed opinion of older residents who know their Belleville.

The present occupants of the Hotel at Washington and Belleville avenue can rightfully assume the status of the proverbial "star-border."

Unless other candidates for the high honors of "Servants of the People" can step into the political lists, girded with the proper qualifications for the jousting party in May the sign, "No Vacancies," should be displayed at the Town Hall.

Proper qualification means more than the ability of a hearty hand clasp and a winning smile.

It means more than a bowing acquaintance with Jim and John and Mary and Ann, for a few months.

Ability, production, character, vision, perception, past performance in public and private life not for a day, a month or a year, but for a period of years is the yard stick which measures applicants for the high offices the citizens of Belleville will confer in May.

By virtue of other pressing personal business and a desire to retire from public life Commissioner Gibson has seen fit to withdraw his name from the roster of candidates for election.

The very important post so ably handled by Mr. Gibson, which has earned for him the praise and respect of his fellow citizens and board colleagues, therefore is the only vacancy.

Scanning the records of the past four years is conclusive proof that the remaining four commissioners are in the very best position to administer the duties of their separate departmental functions.

With no intent to cast aspersions on other desirable citizens who are willing to put on the political toga of public office holder the present field of announced candidates does not offer one man who could competently fill the positions of any of the present positions better than the present incumbents.

This statement is worthy of analysis.

The present Mayor — Sam Kenworthy—is worthy of another term. He has proven himself to be trustworthy, with a thorough grasp of the difficult responsibilities which are part and parcel of that distinctive office. Testimony to his ability have been freely subscribed to not only by his fellow townsmen but by county and state officials with whom he has sat in conference. He has without a doubt by his personal appeal and magnetism brought Belleville nearer to its place in the topography of this Garden State of New Jersey than any of his predecessors.

Commissioner Clark — whose departments mean so much to the well being of every citizen is so far advanced with his ideas of municipal government in so far as applicable to fire and police protection, lighting and traffic regulations that Belleville outranks some of the largest cities of this grand old United States. Positive proof can be furnished that our traffic system which was open to much unjust criticism at the time of installation has been the model for at least six or more large cities. The police signal system, one of the best if not the best was installed just one year prior to a big neighbor of ours whose proud slogan is "We know how."

Commissioner Pat Waters—of the house of Waters—whose illustrious brother of blessed memory carved such a worthy niche in the heart of this municipality and to whose reputation he has added further glories of well discharged accomplishments really needs no further comment from this humble scribe. No municipality in Essex County or in fact in any County of New Jersey can boast of better and in some instances fail to equal by a large margin the fine condition of the streets and highways of this town. And this condition with only four years of service behind him. Mr. Waters assumed a stupendous task in taking the Department of Streets and Highways and results with the limited funds due to mal-administration of the past is nothing short of a miracle. True, there are sections that have not received the attention which the residents think they are entitled to, but this is only due to the fact that other sections where the need was greater was cared for with the existing funds. It is safe to assume that given another term to which he is justly entitled that the few instances where an apparent grievance now exists will be remedied.

Charles Granville Jones
ARCHITECT
133 ACADEMY STREET

Commissioner Carragher — that fine old gentleman—whose unselfish service to the community has earned for him the soubriquets of "The Old War Horse," "The Watchdog of the Treasury," and other now familiar appellations, needs no further recommendation. His academic training leaves much to be desired but this is really a fine asset and makes him a really desirable member of the board. For by his arbitrary stand on the multitude of questions with their complexities he very often brings to light that which for the want of a better name sometimes proves to be the joker of certain transactions.

The fifth and the most important office—Department of Finance—by virtue of Mr. Gibson's expressed desire to retire from public office is therefore the only logical vacancy to which candidates may rightfully aspire. The many sided angles of the present financial condition of our town treasury and the stringent condition of the money market makes it imperative that the aspirants for this office carry only the very best recommendations to make them worthy and capable of serving in this capacity.

In succeeding issues this columnist will endeavor to carry thumbnail sketches of the present candidates in the field together with such other items of interest which are pertinent to the present campaign.

Readers who wish to comment on any notes set forth in this column will receive the courtesy of their comments being honored by addressing ANTI-KAMNIA, care of Editor, Belleville News.

Shun Fresh Pork, Not Well Cooked

"Within the past week two cases and one death were reported from Trichinosis, also several deaths in a municipality in Pennsylvania, which again brings sharply to mind the danger of eating raw or improperly cooked pork. Trichinosis is caused by a parasitic round worm, the female of which, entering the human intestines, partially embeds herself in the intestinal wall and reproduces," says Health Officer E. T. Berry.

"The embryos get into the blood stream and are distributed to the muscles where they become encysted. Many animals harbor the parasite but the most important is the hog. It is extremely difficult to recognize the disease in swine during life and inspections of meat cannot show with certainty the presence or absence of the parasite."

"For these reasons the only safe means of prevention is to cook thoroughly all pork before it is eaten. The parasites are quickly killed by heat, but one must be certain that the meat is cooked long enough to allow the center to be heated to 137 degrees Fahrenheit. Fresh pork should be cooked until it becomes white and is no longer red in color in the center. Pork products which are prepared to be eaten without cooking are required, under the Federal meat inspection regulations, to be refrigerated at a temperature not higher than five degrees Fahrenheit for not less than twenty days. The parasitic larvae are not particularly resistant to cold and this temperature and length of time are sufficient to kill them."

"Curing, if done thoroughly, usually destroys the parasites, but it is difficult to determine if the meat was sufficiently cured, all salted or pickled pork should be cooked before it is eaten. This is especially true if it is known that the meat was home cured."

LIKED SINCERITY

Editor The News:
"Look over the comment on our public officials in last week's News. How much space is given to that great majority of men whose sincere, earnest, and honest hardwork ought to be blazoned from the house tops?

Can not we apply that to our public officials of Belleville. Good, sincere men are scarce, and it would be hard to beat those we have now in office.

I attended my first political meeting last week, being non-partisan, not even knowing the Mayor by sight I knew these men only by their words and deeds through your paper. I have attended many lectures, but none gave me greater pleasure than the words of these men. Their outstanding feature was their great sincerity. They are just about perfect, and I only hope the people of Belleville will have the good sense to return them to office.

Look around you at the other towns of New Jersey, and what do you see? Truly Belleville is getting back its good name of beautiful town. Belleville, the town of a good government—let us keep it up for four more years at least. It is only just beginning to show results. Let us show those good, sincere men we appreciate them.

By their fruits you shall know them. What do you say, Belleville?

Notes
Sunday, 11 A. M.—The subject for the morning discourse at Grace Church will be "Lost in the Desert." Seems like the head lines in the morning newspaper, relating the experiences of an airplane running out of gas. If that is our guess we will miss the mark; but that is another story.

Sunday, 7:45 P. M.—Mr. McCombe will endeavor to speak from the subject of "Trying Out God," this coming Sunday at the evening service. There will be the usual song service; which the people enjoy.

Much sickness has been evident the past few weeks among the people of Grace Church, but many are on the mend again. The pastor and his wife have been among the victims, but both are now on the way to their usual health. Mrs. W. D. Clark, superintendent of the Junior department of the Grace Sunday School is confined to her home with a bad cold.

Henry Ward Beecher said, "A lie is a very short wick in a very small lamp. The oil of reputation is very soon sucked up and gone. And just as soon as a man is known to lie, he is like a two-foot pump in a hundred foot well. He cannot touch bottom at all."

Another week and the minstrels will be with us. Much hard work and practice has been put into the production, and as Mr. Ransom has the ambition of making this evening the best entertainment that has yet been put forth before the public, under his management, it means an evening of fun and pleasure that is sure to please all who may attend. Some outside talent will be present to aid the locals in putting over the show. Better get your tickets now to be sure of a good seat as none will be reserved.

Monday evening the Good Will Chapter of the World Wide Guild of Grace Church gave a surprise party to the Misses Zeda and Anna Chaffee, at their home on Bremond street. The evening was spent in games and refreshments were served. The guild presented as gifts from the chapter to Miss Zeda and Miss Anna a beautiful silk scarf. The girls were surprised as each received the beautiful gift; but the delight of their hearts was evident as they expressed their happiness at receiving the beautiful tokens of esteem from their comrades of Good Will Chapter. Mrs. Chaffee was also remembered. The members of the chapter presented her with a handsome bunch of choice roses. Mr. and Mrs. Chaffee will remove to their new home in Vermont early next month. The community and church will feel the loss of Mr. Chaffee and his family, as they are the type that any community might well be proud to have in their midst. The following were present: Misses Naomi Cooper, Irene Eller, Grace Eller, Elinor Winkelman, Emma Thetford, Ethel Bryan, Jane Babban, Ida Bruegman, Madeline Thomson, Gwendolyn Bennett, Doris Coleman, Claremae Broadhead, Eve Beckett, Katherine Shepperd, Edith Pesvey, Zeda Chaffee, Anna Chaffee, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. William Chaffee.

The Wise man says, "That there is no need of any effort to rewrite the Bible, but there is great need today in re-reading the Bible." The Sunshine Chapter of Grace Church World Wide Guild had charge of the Fellowship meeting on Tuesday evening. In spite of the storm a large number was present to enjoy the program. The guild gave two playlets, "Tired of Foreign Missions" and "Very Foreign Missions." The young ladies had their parts well in hand and gave a very interesting program. Doctor Booth, executive secretary of the Newark Baptist Extension Society was present and during the evening was presented with a handsome brief case, in token of his work as instructor in the recent School of Religious Instruction. A delightful evening was passed by those who were fortunate to be present. Doctor Booth is always a welcome visitor at Grace Church.

How often in these days, says the "Watchman-Examiner," are we told that the churches are dying and that religion is fading from the picture. Are the institutions of religion and the institutions indirectly fostered by the churches going into bankruptcy? The John Price Corporation, authority on religious statistics, announces that the gifts to special religious projects in 1929 reached the enormous total of $996,300,000 practically one billion dollars for religion. Will some one of those who are daily discovering substitutes for the churches explain this outpouring of a billion dollars for religion? Meet your old friend at Grace Church, this coming Sunday.

Next Tuesday evening the study of Great Thoughts from the Great Books will be resumed, with the pastor in charge.

Last week Tuesday, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Harvey W. Mumford, represented the Christ Church Altar Guild at the all-day Diocesan Altar Guild Conference, held at Trinity House, Newark.

In the morning there was an address by Bishop Wilson R. Stearly, who stressed the following points for Altar Guild workers: "try to obtain new members for your Altar Guild, that others may become interested in this sacred work. Display taste, and have things done as they should be, decently and in order. Have a system about your duties; have every thing ready on time." The Bishop then summed up the "Dividends." The refreshments of the good companionship enjoyed with your fellow members, the satisfaction which comes in the feeling of having done something well pleasing in His sight, something worth while. The afternoon session was given over to reports and discussions and an exhibition of Altar apertenances. Christ Church had on display two reversible Stoles, which were worn by Rev. Cornelius S. Abbott, a former rector, over fifty years ago; a hand embroidered violet Burse and Veil, and Lectern Frontal; and an Altar Frontal with hand crocheted lace. The embroidery was done by one of our Altar Guild members, and the crocheted lace by a member of our church.

Come out and make Christ Church Men's Club a real factor in the life of the church.

About a dozen women of the church will make a trip to the Seamen's Institute on the East Side in New York, on Monday. They will take the 10:30 A. The most enthusiastic and best attended meeting the Everyman's Bible Class has had for months was that of last Sunday when the attendance showed an increase of nearly 75 over the previous Sunday.

A battle royal is being waged this week between the Red and Blue Armies, to decide which group shall do kitchen duty on the evening of March 21 when the ladies are again to be guests at a social gathering. Howard Virtue is in charge of the program for the evening and says a good time is in store.

The Red Army has the advantage so far in attendance and their opponents, the Blues, must come across with 15 more men than the Reds next Sunday, if they are to keep out of the kitchen.

Mr. J. I. Riddle of Alabama, substituted for his old college classmate, Prof. Carmichael last Sunday and gave a very inspiring talk on "Christian Recreation." Prof. Carmichael has been confined to his bed with an attack of "flu." He expects to be at the class next Sunday.

High School Notes

By JAMES REILLY

Among the speakers to visit Belleville High School in the past week was G. R. Kelly from the Pace Institute. Mr. Kelly pronounced his task a pleasant one and his purpose, that of leaving something worthwhile with the students.

The subject of Mr. Kelly's talk was "Power to Become" and with his discussion he gave an example William Burnett, multi-millionaire. William Burnett drove mule-teams when a boy and to-day, through his own efforts, is one of the great men of this country.

The three essentials in life are establishing the right perspective, the vision to begin and stamina to continue, he said. The person may really never be too old to accomplish worth while results, for sixty-four per cent of great things accomplished have been done so by people over sixty years of age.

A conclusion was the slogan, "Determine, Dare and Do," which Mr. Kelly assured would be of value if remembered and abided by.

Junior assembly was in charge of Bernard Close. The program consisted of a presentation of card tricks by Harold Herbert and a short popular music schedule by "The Melody Trio" composed of Angelo Lilore, clarinet; Bob Spole, banjo, and "Joe Serbie," as pianist.

Vincent Walsh, graduate of B. H. S. and now an army man visited the high school and talked to the boys in particular of the C. M. T. C. training camps of N. J.

With an average of ninety-nine and thirty-five one hundredths Mrs. MacIntire's home room leads the school in attendance for the year, followed by Mrs. Van Derbeer's room with 99.14.

A resume of the high school musical comedy brings to light the facts that the first act takes place in the garden of Don Quixote, the fiery old spanish grandee, in a suburb of Havana. The second act is on the Isle of Pines, the lair of the pirates. The hair is a wild desolate spot and makes an ideal setting.

Theresa, the leading lady; her friend Eleanor, an American heiress, and Miss Pelling, dignity incarnate, are kept captives for a week on the desert Isle and this part of the story deals with most of the scenes.

Miss Mae Bailey, teacher of Belleville High School, is the accompanist.

Posters and stage decorations were made and arranged by the art class in the high school.

Those taking part in the play are Bob Haythorne, Ruth Hess, Marguerite Spaulding, Leonard Hodgkinson, Louis Westra, Paul Schwieker, Jane Babin, Elizabeth Worton, Homer Estelle, Jimmy Lynch, John Heack, Elaine Curran, Jane Mead, Jean Hoey, Anna Brady, Inabell Conklin, Ena Holden, Elizabeth Conklin, Ruth Williamson, Ellen Bartlett, Nancy Miller, Elizabeth Martin, Doris Struble, Benita Nappa, Harriet Landells, Alma Taggart, Marion Lukowiak, Edna Baum, Vivian Mitchell, Mazzie Sloan, Dufferie Ruchace, Aileen Mazza, Alexander Govern, George Eiller, Joseph Niesner, Robert May, Harold Salters, Joseph Evangelista, George Brand, Willard Wharton, Bob DeGroat, Curtis Melick, Bill McKnight, Ambrose Cuklin, Mary Nappa, Ethel Miller, Pearl Katzen, Thelma Kraus, Beatrice Vogel and Elsie Gibson.

Miss Walters pronounced this play as was given under her direction in Buffalo, N. Y., as surpassing any amateur production given there in many years and feels confident that as long as the participants in the play are attentive there will be no mishaps, slip-ups, or what have you?

Aviation Books
Appeal To Readers

Aviation books are very much in demand at the library. The following are a few of the popular books:

"Aircraft year book of 1929." This eleventh issue emphasizes the amazing transformation of aeronautics in the United States during 1928.

"A-B-C of Flight," by W. L. Le Page. A good elementary treatise for the layman which explains step by step, and in the simplest language the theory of the flight of an aeroplane.

"Knights of the Wing," by A. M. Jacobs. A good popular book for older boys or those casually interested in aeronautics.

"20 hours, 40 minutes; our flight in the Friendship," by Amelia Earhart. The first woman to cross the Atlantic by air, describes the incidents of the journey based upon the entries in a log kept on the flight.

"A-B-C of Aviation," by V. W. Page. A simplified exposition of all types of aircraft with condensed instructions on their basic principles of construction and operation.

"Flying the Arctic," by G. H. Wilkins. A fine account of the first airplane flight across the Arctic from America to Europe—twenty-two hundred miles from Port Barrow, Alaska, to Dead Man's Island, off the coast of Spitzbergen. It is the story of a thrilling achievement after continued failure, and it is, as well, a contribution to practical aeronautics.

"Flying with Lindbergh" by D. E. Keyhoe. An enthusiastic boyish account of Lindbergh's tour of the United States for the promotion of aviation. An intimate portrayal of the "real Lindbergh" fond of fun, lovable, cool-headed, unassuming.

HEAT GIVING

The degree of heat you get from the fuel you burn depends entirely on its quality. For the maximum heat, regular and dependable, be sure to use the quality of coal we are prepared to furnish. It comes from the most celebrated coal mining district; it is free of foreign substances; no slate; and costs no more than the ordinary run of coal.

Valleys Step Ahead Of Garnet Squad

Break Second Place Tie By Virtue Of One-Point Victory

In a thrillingly close battle for second place in the Belleville Recreation Basketball League the fast-stepping Valleys nosed out the Garnets 18-17 at the local high school gym, Thursday night. The game was as fiercely fought and as evenly matched as any league has witnessed to date. By virtue of their hairline victory the Valleys moved into undisputed possession of second place in the second half of the league and will probably play the Garnets again in the near future for final settlement of the perplexing second place problem.

The other games of the night, while not as close as the feature battle, nevertheless, provided every bit as much action and rivalry. In the opening tussle the Panthers dropped a narrow 22-20 margin to the up-and-coming Unions. The remaining tilt of the night marked the Wesleys' return to form, as they handily trounced the hard-fighting Community Aces in a rather convincing 26-10 fashion.

The Garnet-Valley set-to proved a ding-dong battle as first on side and then the other attained a short-lived lead. The Valleys got off to a fast start, ringing up six points scarcely a minute after the opening tap-off. The Garnets were not so easily convinced though and with the aid of some brilliant shooting by the stellar Bob Mutch tied things up in quick order and continued forward to take a 12-10 lead at half time.

The two teams continued their even struggle in the final half and with a minute to play the count was deadlocked at 17 all. At this crucial point came the "break." With possibilities for a score on either side's part just about nil, Harry Metz, pivot man of the Valley, was fouled and coolly made his try, to provide the winning margin as announced by the final whistle, seconds later.

In reality the Garnets out-shot the Valleys, registering eight goals to the winners' five. The Valleys proved dead-eyes, however, from the fifteen-foot stripe, caging eight out of a possible ten fouls to eke out the decision.

Jim Petrie and Harry Metz, with five points apiece, were high men in the Valley attack, while Mayes was

Belleville Elks Take Two Battles From Oritani 5

After Dropping First Game Hello Bills Come Back Strong

After dropping the opening game the Belleville Elks' pin knights proved their mettle to take the next two in a Morris and Essex Bowling League match against the strong Oritani F. C. quintet on the local alleys, Thursday night.

In the initial tilt the Oritani boys rolled in superlative form to amass a fine team total of 946, high for the night. Berghale and Watson of the Oritani led this invasion in local territory.

The Belleville squad was equal to the occasion, however, and in the next pair of games convincingly proved their superiority over the Englewoodites. Successive team tallies of 902 and 899 gave them fifty pin margins in both set-tos.

Cliff Faust, the locals' high man in the M. & E. averages, was the ace in the hole for the winners, compiling two fine individual efforts of 221 and 206 and finishing up with another near-century count. Billy Bechtoldt, that sterling young No. 2 man in the Hello Bill's line-up got off to a poor start in the opener, but more than made up for it in the next two. His two splendid scores of 196 and 188 were big factors in the twin victories recorded by his team in these games. Tom MacNair performed in his usual consistent form in the role of anchor man.

close behind with four. Herb Otto's scintillating play at the guard post was another feature from the Valley stand-point.

Bob Mutch was pretty nearly the whole works for the Garnets, "sinking" four field goals, as well as starring on the defense. Nap Prior also featured with four points, as did Dingle with three.

Hoople Club Shows Lyndhurst The Way

Showing the fine form that has enabled them to keep among the leaders in the strong local Legion Bowling League, the Hoople Club rollers travelled to Lyndhurst, Thursday night, and decisively swept the three game match with the Lyndhurst Bowling Club.

Although there were no 200 individual tallies registered, the locals hit 180 with frequency and kept at their even, steady pace all the way through. The Hooples had a seventy pin margin in the opener, a much slimmer thirteen pin lead in the second and were ninety pins to the good at the termination of the final.

Mooney, lead-off man for the winners, was at his usual best, bowling over the maples for high water marks of 188 and 187 in the first and final. James was almost as good with a pair of counts of 180 and 185 recorded in the second and third tilts. "Red" Kant, captain of the invaders, contributed a fine 183 in the first game, to complete the individual features from a local view point.

Johnson, of the Lyndhurst quintet, rolled 187 in the first game to easily take high scoring honors for his team. Chuckson's work was the steadiest of the losers.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemeke

Among high school students and the many close followers of high school activities in the ranks of local residents, the feeling has been increasingly expressed that Belleville High ought to deviate from its straight, three major sport program.

In other words, the local secondary school ought to be represented in a wider range of sports than its customary football, basketball and football. The feeling is mutual up to this point, but the actual naming of the fourth sport itself has brought forth a wide range of suggestions.

The most frequently mentioned sport to fill the supposed vacancy is track. Others suggest the ancient and honorable art of swimming, still another group maintains that boxing is fit and ready to enter any high school's athletic curriculum as a major sport.

Of the above mentioned trio of sports track is undoubtedly the most favored. A majority of the nation's high and prep schools participate annually in it to some degree, while its values as a body and mind-builder and as a form of inter-school competition are simply unlimited. However, there is a draw-back to the chosen sport of Paddock, Nurmi, and others. The cost of necessary equipment to outfit a prospective high school track team is quite large and its entrance into a sports program might curtail the amount of money expended on some other sport. This difficulty is hardly an insurmountable one, however, and always remember "where there's a will, there's a way."

The second sport mentioned is the natatory pastime, the familiar art of swimming. Unlike track, swimming is already enjoyed to a large extent by the high school students, who find it comparatively easy to locate a place in which to take a "dip."

This is advanced, though, because of its fine possibilities as a competitive sport. In this respect it is in a class by itself.

Finally we come to boxing. Quite unexpectedly we discovered a short time ago that the preferred sport among a large group of the local high school students was the manly art of self-defense. They had even formed boxing clubs, subject to the supervision of the school athletic authorities.

A daily paper of a few days back contained the brief but interesting item that boxing had been elevated to a major sport at the University of North Carolina. This serves merely as an illustration of the trend of the present day's scholastic sports activities. Boxing, in spite of its ebullient interest professionally, is gaining friends by leaps and bounds in the amateur and scholastic sports fields and promises to catapult ahead of its more familiar brethren, baseball, football, basketball, and so forth.

The above should merely be taken as hurried suggestions, as there are other sports, which in the eyes of many, are the equal if not far superior to this trio.

However, no matter which sport it is, the feeling for a fourth major sport at the local school, while not an urgent one, must be given some attention, and it is felt that the day is not far distant when this suggestion may materialize.

Tiffany Office Is Victor Over Shop

Before a large crowd of some 400 basketball fans and fannettes, the Office five of Tiffany's scored a signal triumph in its inter-branch sport warfare, Saturday night, at the local school gym.

The Office force, fresh from a fifteen game winning streak, was entirely too big an obstacle for the Shop quintet to hurdle and the much less experienced men were in the rear all the way. Nevertheless, the shop-workers tried hard and furnished plenty of opposition and action, despite the fact that this was their first game as a team.

Incidentally the victory for the New York Office was the first athletic victory recorded by that department in all its inter-department skirmishes. Previous clashes in bowling and baseball had always found the Shop branch on top.

In addition to bringing over a fine, well drilled court five, the New York Office was heavily represented in the rooting gallery, close to 200 of their admirers making the trip with them. Dancing before and after the game helped to keep this large delegation amused, while not absorbed in watching the struggle between these two old rivals.

Manager Derbyshire on the Shop quintet made the announcement after the game that arrangement will in all probability be made to make this an annual affair.

CIVIC LEAGUE BACKS BOARD

traffic and police systems, as second to none. One speaker said "four years ago you could not tell whether the water would go through fire hoses; today you know it will."

Clark told how the signals in Washington avenue had relieved seven policemen for duty elsewhere.

Clark's Work.
Commissioner Clark called attention to the "legacy the board had upon taking office," referring to the Vermeule deficit of $135,000, and said the town was not "sailing proudly on an even sea." Credit for improving the Police and Fire departments, the traffic problem and street lighting were due to "majority cooperation of the board" with the work of his department, he said.

"My program is bent in every consideration toward creating conditions to save life. Toward that end it is my desire to carry on for the best interests of the town."

Waters Gets Big Hand.
Preservation of Belleville's individuality as known to its forefathers, with the added beautification and convenience of today, was the ambition of Commissioner Waters. He said the placing of the town Water Department on a paying basis and laying none but concrete roads were due to the board's support of his efforts.

"I shall continue to stand against apartments and industries usurping homes," he said. "I shall insist upon bringing back to its old-time glory the valley section, extending along the Passaic River, where, it has been stated, we shall have a parkway from end to end of the town, and where, when question arose, this board backed the fight for our promised rights."

Mr. Waters added he pledges to do just as he has done while in office.

"I have lived in the lower section of town fifty-four years, all my life," he said, "and I hope to end my days there. I saw the section along the river one of the finest in the state. Folks came from all around to spend a pleasant Saturday or Sunday there. After thirty years of pollution the river is coming back again. The Park Commission planned a parkway there. Along came the state highway commission and took a part away. The entire board and park commission got together and now we have gotten a guarantee that we will have a parkway all along the river from one end of town to the other.

Waters stood for concrete roads.

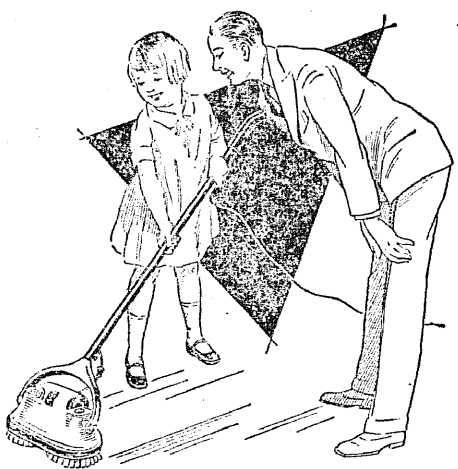

"He has been concrete about everything," said Mr. Jacobus.

Cosmos On Job.
Daniel McGee of Newark, who directed Carragher's publicity last election, urged citizens to "stand by those men who stood by you" and "keep Belleville clean." Having sat in conferences of county and state where Mayor Kenworthy appeared, he said: "There's not a cleaner, finer Mayor than Kenworthy."

"That goes, too, for Frank Carragher, the watchdog of your interests, and 'Pat' Waters, who carries on the traditions of a family which served you forty years. Clark I don't know, but he's done a good job in traffic work." McGee also spoke in behalf of Dwight W. Morrow for United States Senator.

Darby Backs Board.
Walter R. Darby, state commissioner of municipal accounts, said Belleville had made greater progress in financial management during the last four years than in any prior period. Mr. Darby directed in 1927 the investigation of the Vermeule embezzlement of town funds.

PUBLIC SERVICE

Taylor Writes.
William Gavin Taylor, consulting engineer, of Kearny, unable to attend as a speaker, wrote complimenting the initiative he had found in the board.

"Please accept my thanks for your invitation to attend the meeting of citizens tonight. I regret sincerely that, by reason of an attack of laryngitis, I am unable to attend and address the meeting, in person and to express my appreciation of the present Board of Commissioners of Belleville and my admiration of the manner in which they have conducted the municipal affairs during their incumbency in office," he said.

"For more than twenty years I have had intimate official business associations with Belleville and many other municipalities in New Jersey, including all of the contracting municipalities within the Passaic Valley Sewerage District. My professional employment also involves service in many communities in several states and I naturally come in contact with many municipal boards. This experience gives me the basis of forming sound opinions of municipal officers and by reason of the lights and shades which one observes, to come into a deep appreciation of a Board of Commissioners who conduct the municipal affairs in a straightforward, capable and skillful manner, without selfish and personal interests. Add complete honesty of purpose and action to this skill and ability and you have an ideal administration. I have found that the present Board of Commissioners measures up to this test and as an outside observer, experienced in municipal procedures do commend your present Board to the citizens of Belleville as having capably carried on the business of the municipality."

"Frequently, I have had contacts with your Board of Commissioners in matters of importance: in the matter of leasing a portion of the unused capacity owned by Belleville in the Passaic Valley Sewer, the Commissioners were confronted by a new problem—one which had not hitherto been met by any municipality. Your Commission thoroughly investigated every phase of this problem and they finally negotiated a leasehold contract for the use for a few years, of a portion of the unused capacity belonging to Belleville. This contract results in a material profit to the Town of Belleville and brings in additional revenue from a new source and this is always welcome in a growing community. The contract possesses no unfavorable terms limiting the action of the Town or the use by it of its full Passaic Valley Sewerage capacity. The Commissioners are to be commended for their administration of this matter to the profit of the Town."

"Again in the granting of permission to the Town of Kearny to construct a large steel water main through Holmes street from Main street to Cedar Hill avenue, the Board of Commissioners negotiated a contract which protected every interest of the citizens of Belleville. The Commission should again be commended for their stewardship in this matter."

"My observations assure me that these two isolated cases which the present Board of Commissioners have solved to the great advantage of the Town of Belleville are fair indications of the manner in which the general affairs of the Town have been conducted. No doubt there are many, many other instances of creditable performance. The experiences cited above, however, offer a definite and clear indication of a continued record of efficiency in which the citizenry may take just pride."

Yours very truly,
WILLIAM GAVIN TAYLOR.

William Wakefield, vice president of the league, said the town should continue in office those who served faithfully. The lack of public interest concerning the election satisfied him the intention was to return the officials to office.

Mr. Wakefield said that the lack of interest of taxpayers in the election is taken to mean they are satisfied with the "men who have served faithfully the last four years. These men have rendered a service that could not be paid for in dollars and cents."

Both Leaders Satisfied.
Democratic indorsement of the candidates was voiced by Town Clerk John J. Daly, Democratic leader, who said the town had received good government under their direction. Thomas Berry, republican leader, announced his support several days ago.

Songs by George Cole and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sheehan interspersed the speeches. Robert Cole gave tap dances and there was orchestral music.

There was a delegation present from Henry Vreeland Woman's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the G. A. R.

Good-bye Stained Teeth New Safe Treatment Bleaches Dark Teeth in Three Minutes

Dentists have discovered a new safe treatment which bleaches stains from teeth, giving yellow discolored teeth a beautiful shining whiteness. It is called Bleachodent Combination, and consists of a remarkable liquid which cures or softens the stains—and a new kind of paste, which instantly removes the softened stains, and prevents new stains from forming. Simply brush the teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste—and even the dulllest teeth are quickly whitened. Tobacco stains disappear after first few applications. Bleachodent Combination was first made for children's teeth to avoid the use of harsh gritty pastes which are so harmful to children's soft sensitive teeth. While Bleachodent Combination will instantly remove surface stains, do not expect it to remove stains caused by silver fillings, as these are below the enamel, and Bleachodent Combination is not intended to act on the enamel in any way. Fine for the gums. Bleachodent Combination is widely used and recommended. Costs just a few cents, and money back is not deducted. Get it today at all good dealers, such as:
