Mayor Outlines His Platform

WILLIAMS IS INDEPENDENT

This newspaper quite clearly set forth months ago and repeated in various articles its stand for William H. Williams, an independent candidate, who so far as we have been able to determine by thorough investigation, has not linked himself with any faction.

Mr. Williams is too big a man to be misunderstood on any issue in any municipal election. His ability and his desire to be of service to the town are all that are going to count in the votes he will get. He has earned a well-deserved respect in all quarters.

He stands today as he did months ago as an independent candidate.

Inasmuch as we have favored the administration ticket which received the endorsement of the Civic League for Continued Good Government, we only feel it fair to Mr. Williams to repeat what we have previously said about him.

We add once more that there are no strings attached to Mr. Williams. He favors and fears none and thereby his chances with the public are enhanced.

He is independent, 100 per cent, and his decision to rest his case with the public, as an individual candidate, deserves the highest commendation and respect. We feel that such a man with this view of things would afford the town independent and individual thought if elected.

Lady Hilltoppers Party
To Be Held At Recreation House, April 23

The old order is on the wane—Hail! Hail! to the new order of things. Or words to them effect. Verily, Verily, this is getting to be a great world, and the Ladies is the guys what is makin it greater. Take for instinck that Hill-top crowd known as Belleville on the Hill Improvement Association. Up to a short time ago the men were running things. And how! !! Now we goils are takin things in our own hands. The foist thing on the program will be a card party. And let me tell you folks of Belleville and the rest of the cock-eyed world including Hoboken, that this will be some card party. None of them so-called social flops. This party is headed for the top of the list in Belleville's social calendar.

Before we forget the date is April 23 and its goin to be held at Recreation House. And what a swell joint they made out of that place. The price of admission, of 50 cents is cheap at half the price as a feller says. What a line-up of prizes these goils are lining up for the party.

Ask the merchants, they know. As one of the poor fellers remarked after one of the flaming committee ladies felt her victorious arms wrapped securely around a baby grand piano while in her purse nestled safe and securely a three-piece overstuffed mohair parlor suite which was another merchant's donation "to the ladies belong the spoils." Besides the 150 prizes for players, ranging from a lemonade set to a Fokker monoplane or what have you, there will be enough samples for the spectators who will sit on the side lines watching husbands and wives growing green-eyed over a four-spade bid with a one Club hand. Its not going to be a half bad party as is attested to by the following committee in charge: Mrs. F. Wolenski, chairlady; Mrs. A. E. Kirchdoerffer, publicity; Mrs. R. Schall, prizes; committee members, Mmes. S. Straker, G. Harrison, F. Giraud, J. Herrman, R. Stivers, L. Dempsey, W. Robinson, E. Briggs, A. Adler, C. Connors, F. Oschner, J. Steinmetz, L. Farrington, R. Miller, A. English and S. C. Summerfield.

Contracts Awarded
By CommissionersLodi and Glen Ridge Firms
Are Low Among Fifty Bidders

The Belleville Town Commission Tuesday night awarded a contract to Paul Giuliani, of Lodi, in the amount of $3,813.60 for the construction of sanitary sewers in Berkeley avenue, Hunkele street and Lukowiak place.

Water main contract in the amount of $4,078.30 was awarded John J. Alworth, of Glen Ridge, for Cecilia Terrace, Hill street and Crescent Terrace. About fifty bids were received last week for this work.

The board will consider a request of George W. Stewart, Jr., of 27 Smallwood avenue that a screen hedge be placed in Belwood Park section to obstruct view of factories from the residential section.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher said that if the factories had been denied the screen would not be needed. Commissioner Patrick A. Waters said some similar screen is needed in the Passaic Valley section.

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy will attend a meeting of the Public Utilities Commission, April 17, in Newark, as regards the ten-cent fare or ten tokens for fifty cent trial plan of the Public Service.

A delegation from New Street petitioned the board to keep it at its present width, twenty-four feet and not widen it four feet on the east side prior to construction of a concrete pavement. This was agreed to. A ten feet set back for buildings will be made on that street.

WHERE THE MAYOR STANDS

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, in seeking re-election to the town commission May 13, has much to offer the town.

Among other things, of having lived up to all his promises of four years ago, the Mayor has carried Belleville's fair name far in National and State affairs.

The Mayor has a contact with President Hoover and so on down the list until we come to our own state. For the purpose it is not necessary to outline his National connections.

Let us go back a few years and see what big problems the Mayor has been in. Let us be fair. Here are a few in which the Mayor lead:

President of the Board of Trade.
Leader of the Essex Delegation in the State Assembly.

Chairman Motor Vehicle Taxation, State Legislature.

Chairman Special Commission, Tax Relief, State Legislature.

Vice Chairman Second River Joint Meeting.

Chairman Essex County Mayor's Committee.

Member Executive Board New Jersey State League of Municipalities.

The net result is what counts. The Mayor has not been selected for these jobs just because he would take them. There must be some good reason why the Mayor gets this recognition. There must be something about him that commands respect in the county, state and nation. It must be a will to do things. It must be that he serves with ability or he wouldn't get these assignments, time after time.

We touch on these matters because we believe the Mayor has spread Belleville's name to advantage outside of the town.

The Mayor definitely states his platform in this issue of the paper. He stands for continued progress and lower taxes, contending we can have both. He believes that in this metropolitan area we must either step ahead or go backward. He would prefer to go ahead in step with other progressive municipalities about us.

Stands On His Record
For Continued Good Government And Lower Taxes

"In announcing my candidacy to the office of Commissioner on May 13, I do so with the firm conviction that a man seeking re-election to any public office should be prepared to stand on the record made during his administration.

"This I am willing to do and I am prepared to be either re-elected or rejected on that record." Thus speaks Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy.

"In spite of the fact that the present Board of Commissioners were faced with a shortage of some $135,000, within two months after election, and while the first two years of our term was largely devoted to bringing order out of chaos, facts show that Belleville has enjoyed during the past four years the most constructive and progressive period in her history.

Major Improvements

"Much of my time has been spent in bringing major improvements to our Town. Within the first two months of my administration, I had convinced the County Board of Freeholders of the advisability of taking over Quarry street as a County Road, with a subsequent saving to the town of approximately $50,000.

"After conferences with the officials of the Erie R. R. it was my pleasure to see the erection of the new Belleville Station and the opening of Watchung avenue and Heckel street.

"Negotiations with six other municipalities led to the construction of the Second River Sewer and the (Continued on Page Six)

School Board Plans To Change Angle Of Clearman DiamondWould Make Left Field
Longer To Avoid Hits
In Union Avenue

Plans are being made by the Board of Education to change the angle of the baseball diamond at Clearman Field.

It is felt left field is too short and a change in the angle will prevent fly balls from being hit into Union avenue. Business Manager James J. Turner has been authorized to make the change.

Objection to passage of the substitute for Senate 76, the school survey bill, during the present session of the Legislature, was emphatically expressed by the board Monday night. The objection was based on lack of time to study the bill as modified.

Mr. Turner, who is president of the New Jersey Association of School Business Officials, will carry the objection to the Essex delegation of the Legislature.

"It appears to be a case of law for law's sake," Mr. Turner declared. "There is no need to rush the measure through without proper study. It is just a case of piling up more inadequate legislation. Some of the provisions in the elaborate substitute are silly. They need ironing out with facts of the situation."

Funds Voted for Athletics
The board voted $700 to high school athletics and $300 to grade school athletics. Plans for the baseball season were sketched by the general athletic committee prior to the board meeting.

George R. Gerard, supervising principal, was authorized to carry out his recommendation to add first grades in schools next term where necessary.

Resignations of the following teachers were accepted: Misses Cassie V. Foley, Martha Williamson, Ruth A. Schlee, Marcella Maher and Marion Farrell.

The following appointments were made for next fall: Misses Catherine Brennan, Mary C. Dolan, Rita Sweetney, Christine Walter, Margaret E. Patton, Mary Owen, Cecelia Priester, Julia Brody, Margaret Washburn and Edna Naumann.

Hollberg May Enter
Commission Race

A rumor is to the effect Paul J. H. Hollberg, former school commissioner, will be a commission candidate.

Interest in the town election, which will be held May 13, has lagged for the last two weeks and Hollberg's candidacy was the first stir in the political pot in that length of time.

There will be a corned beef and cabbage luncheon served by the Ladies Auxiliary of Grace Baptist Church in their social hall between 12 and 2 o'clock on Tuesday, March 25. Tickets are on sale.

Crusade Union Boy Singers At Reformed Church

The Crusade Union Boy Singers presented a program of sacred music in the Reformed Church, Sunday evening.

The Western Crusade Boy Singers were signally honored by three presidents of the United States. The late President Woodrow Wilson graciously honored the chorus four times during his administration. A congratulatory message from President Wilson was read at the first concert given by the "One Thousand Boy Chorus" in Spokane, Washington. An invitation was extended to the Boys to visit the White House—the message coming through the then Congressman, now U. S. Senator, C. C. Dill. At a Father's Day service, conducted on the Interstate Fair Grounds, Spokane, Washington, the President pressed a button in the White House giving the signal for the service to begin. On that occasion, the Western Union cleared the wires three minutes before the signal was given donating the service of their system to the Boys' Chorus. Frank Deely, who was then Soprano Soloist of the Chorus, and later soloist in the Grace Episcopal Church, New York City, was granted a half hour interview with the President who asked many questions pertaining to the Boys and the work of the Chorus.

THERE is nothing quite like telephone hour when absent relatives come home for a regular chat by telephone.

The family is gathered in the living room. It's an exciting time. Dad will call Marjorie and John at college first, and then the family will talk with the folks back home.

Improvement Group Takes Old World Trip

A meeting of the Belleville on the Hill Improvement Association was held Wednesday evening, at Fewsmith Church, Union avenue and Little street.

A very pleasant trip was taken by all under the able leadership of William J. O'Brien, lecturer for the Canadian Pacific Railroad. This trip was a Mediterranean cruise, a visit to the great sea whose shores were the stage of ancient history. Many places of interest such as Madera, the Holy Land, Cairo, Venice, Rome and other spots were described. There were moving pictures and over a hundred slides shown.

The association will hold a card party April 23 at the Recreation House. The cooperation of every member is needed to help the committee of ladies in charge.

No tickets are to be mailed for this affair but the ladies will call in person and ask for support in buying tickets.

An applicant for a job in a big industrial plant asked the doorman the location of the manager's office.

"Well," replied the doorman, "just go along that hall to the door marked 'No Admittance.' Go through the door and up the stairs until you come to a corridor with the sign 'Keep Out.' Follow the corridor until you come to a sign 'Silence' and then holler for him. He's up around there somewhere."

He had had bad luck fishing and on his way home he entered the butcher shop and said to the dealer: "Just stand over there and throw me five of the biggest of those trout."

"Throw 'em. What for?" asked the dealer in amazement.

"So I can tell the family I caught them. I may be a poor fisherman, but I'm not a liar."

In an original drawing by Carl E. Schultze a pen and ink spotlight is turned on the guests of this week's entertainment at the American Home Banquet, a National Broadcasting Company presentation, sponsored by the American Radiator Company.

Sheba the Mysterious.

Few people have been so famous and yet at the same time nearly mythical as the Queen of Sheba who was one of the guests at the American Home Banquet this week. Many nations claim the beautiful Queen with the sparkling mind, but there does seem ground for assurance that she was "Miss Arabia." Her Kingdom of Saba ("Sheba" sounds wickered, perhaps, but truth must prevail) was one of those domains, which, though built on shifting sands, endured for centuries, in the southwest portion of Arabia. Find Yemen in a modern atlas and you have the approximate location. Who her ancestors were, and who her descendants have been, still baffles the genealogist. The Abyssinians have a history, or legend, tracing the course of their country back to a son of the mysterious Queen.

Whatever her exact environment, she seems to have been gifted with three supreme charms—beauty, intelligence and riches. The luxury of her court was something that must have made even King Solomon, well-versed as he was in such matters, wonder if the major-domo of his palace was keeping up appearances in accord with the latest dictates of fashion.

Her reputed generosity was on no small scale, either. The presents she gave Solomon have been calculated as running well into eight (modern) figures—but such estimates grow, of course, in the telling as they come down through the ages.

Every evening at 6:30 The American Radiator Company brings to you The American Home Banquet.

"A POSY IN HIS BUTTONHOLE"

By Wallace Irwin

I liked the way he stepped; his face was crossed with seams, But sprightly as a child it kept the freshness of its dreams, Or, like a sage, perhaps, he saw the way to reconcile His gentle living to the law: "We pray best when we smile."

With a posy in his buttonhole—his brow was bald, God bless his soul, But his step was light and strong; His jaunty swagger seemed to click in cadence with his walking stick, With a posy in his buttonhole, he jogged his way along.

A watcher in the parks, he sat. I think that he preferred The sparrow, with its gutter-chat, to any singing bird. As one, in Fate's inclemencies, who did not choose to grieve Or wear his tender tragedies upon his rusty sleeve.

With a posy in his buttonhole he puffed his pipe, and in a droll Young humor, passed the throng—Whom the gods hate, they first make glad. But, being blessed in being glad, With a posy in his buttonhole, he jogged his way along.

This poem was a popular feature of Friday's broadcast at the American Home Banquet.

Where The Movies Were Born

Many people who know of Senator Leland Stanford as the founder of Stanford University do not know that he was also one of the men primarily responsible for the invention of motion pictures.

The whole project arose because of an argument over a race horse. Senator Stanford owned a 7,000 acre ranch and stock farm at Palo Alto, some thirty miles south of San Francisco, and was greatly interested in raising fine horses. One day there arose an argument as to whether or not there was a moment when a trotting horse had all four feet off the ground.

Senator Stanford called in Eadweard Muybridge, photographer and inventor. Muybridge arranged twenty-four cameras in a row, with fine threads stretched across the track. The running horse broke these threads as he came along, thus taking twenty-four pictures of himself, showing all phases of his stride.

There was indeed a moment when all four feet were off the ground; but there was also something else. The still pictures blended so perfectly with each other that when they were arranged on a strip of film they gave the illusion of smooth, continuous motion.

That was in 1870, and for many years thereafter Senator Stanford financed Muybridge's experiments. In 1881 he evolved the "zoopraxiscope" which showed birds and animals in motion, and many authorities regard Muybridge as the real inventor of the motion picture. Senator Leland Stanford was a guest at the American Home Banquet on Monday night.

"SACRED THUNDERS!" roared Count Gabriel Honore Mirabeau, erstwhile leader of the Third Estate, while a sweet young high school maiden trembled before him Monday night at the American Home Banquet. "Don't they teach history in schools nowadays?" And then to the embarrassed maiden who had dared to inquire just what the Third Estate was he explained that in his day the French governing body consisted of the First Estate, composed of three hundred nobles; the Second Estate composed of three hundred clergymen; and the Third Estate, consisting of six hundred representatives of the people. Later there came to be a Fourth Estate, the editors of the press.

ANDY JACKSON, looking rough and ready in homespun jacket and cowhide boots, had his own ideas when law enforcement was mentioned Friday night at the American Home Banquet, and suggested that we revert to an old frontier custom. When he was a young lawyer in Tennessee, in the days when lawyers rode horseback and not in limousines, Old Hickory said, if the parties didn't agree that everything was settled in court, they just stepped outside and fought it out right there while the judge and jury looked on.

QUEEN LOUISE of Prussia, who turned out to be a charming chummy person for all her gold crown and ermine cloak, which drew much attention from feminine diners at Monday's American Home Banquet, got together with some of the wives afterwards and agreed with them that husbands DO put their foot into it at times. "Yes," said her Prussian majesty, "in another quarter of an hour I would have had Napoleon rapped into giving Prussia all sorts of easy terms, but at just the wrong moment in walks Frederick William and spills the apple cart."

THOSE electric vibrators that the effete city dwellers use to bring a little glow into their pale cheeks are just another modern adaptation of an old idea, and a pretty decent one at that, if you would believe that rugged old fire-eater Senator Thomas H. Benton who used to have his own method of keeping a healthy body around his healthy mind. "Humph," he snorted Friday night at the American Home Banquet, "I used to have a negro servant rub me down every day with a horse brush."

RICHARD STEELE, always keenly interested in customs, raised an eyebrow at the Hostess when she informed him smart people entertain in their basements nowadays. When she explained that modern basements are a glorified version of the old-fashioned cellar, with light and color and comfort of their own, he was much taken by the notion and resolved to write a paper on "Enter-taining a la moderne."

THE Queen of Sheba had some difficulty at the check-room just before entering the banquet hall at the American Home Banquet. She had forty slaves, two hundred elephants, a flock of Arabian horses and a cask of jewels, and wanted to put them all on one check.

SIR RICHARD STEELE, who was a great critic of manners and morals, rather frowned upon the informality of the American Home Banquet Tuesday night by caustically remarking that ceremony was the invention of wise men to keep fools at a distance, but he softened the blow somewhat by adding that good breeding was the virtue which placed he wise and the less wise on an equal footing.

ONE of the guests, who was delegated by the Toastmaster to go in search of Admiral Newcomb when that inebriate mathematician and astronomer failed to arrive in time for the hors-d'oeuvre at the American Home Banquet Wednesday night, insists that he found the Admiral out on the corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street trying to count the stars in the milky way!

MR. PRIESTLY, discoverer of oxygen, was much interested in hearing that the latest heating boilers, burning soft coal of any grade, utilize the volatile gases so efficiently that practically complete combustion, with smokeless performance, is secured.

POETS are not supposed to be heroes, but at Tuesday's American Home Banquet guests were much impressed by Signor Tasso's tall, well set-up figure. In truth, our versemaker once put to the sword several assassins who were molesting Ferrara, and a popular couplet about him ran: "For the sword as well as pen, Tasso is the man of men."

SENATOR LELAND STANFORD was a picturesque figure at Monday's American Home Banquet. He made a fortune in California at the time of the gold rush, was governor of the state during the Civil War, built the first transcontinental railroad immediately after the war, and eventually gave his entire fortune, estimated at $30,000,000, to found Stanford University as a memorial to his son, Leland Stanford, Junior.

"MY, your majesty," said one busy housewife at Monday's American Home Banquet, running a daring finger down the lovely ermine cloak of Queen Louise of Prussia, "you queens have it easy! What did you do with your time?" "Well," answered Louise, "in the first place I had ten children. . . . 'Heavens,'" said the busy housewife, "don't go on, that's enough for any woman, queen or no queen."

ONE SPEECH that he never made, Senator Benton explained Friday night at the American Home Banquet was a bitter reply to Calhoun which the westerner refused to deliver when he heard that his southern opponent was ill. "When the Almighty lays his hands on a man," he said, "Benton takes his off."

Dressed-Up Street Features Mardi Gras

New Orleans, March 11. — New Orleans this year had particular reason for jubilation during the Mardi Gras for Canal street, the world's widest has just been completely repaved, and the new sidewalks have been edged with rosy hue borders. All in all, the dressed up Canal street has given new enthusiasm to the traditional Mardi Gras parades which are always held on this thoroughfare.

The use of rose colored concrete on Canal Street with which a rich mosaic effect has been obtained, and of green concrete on the sidewalks of Baronne street, marks the first use of color in downtown pavements by any large city.

Canal street is over a mile in length and 171 feet wide. The repaving program included sidewalks, street pavement, and the wide neutral ground occupied by four street car tracks and safety areas. All of the old pavement was torn out and because of the importance of Canal street to commerce, it was necessary to complete the new paving as soon as possible. Accordingly high early strength concrete, made with Portland cement, was specified. Certain of the intersections were thrown open to use in from one to two days after the concrete was placed.

The colored sidewalks of Canal street consist of diamond shaped squares of a rosy hue, with the mosaic effect obtained by mixing chip-ped metronite, crown point spar and mica with the cement. The regular sidewalks were given colored borders 23 inches wide and the color strips in the neutral areas vary from twelve and a half to twenty inches. The color was obtained by mixing about eight pounds of a red iron oxide mixture to each 100 pounds of cement.

New Orleans' colored sidewalks have attracted considerable attention to this form of city decoration. Architects have expressed the opinion that colored walks and driveways could well be incorporated in designs for beautiful public and private structures. Widespread use of color in pavements it is believed, would lower the cost which even now is not prohibitive.

Lefty Kintzing In Basketball Series

"Lefty" Kintzing, who is a member of the championship Rochester basketball squad, which is now engaged in a world series battle with Cleveland was the star of the Rochester win over Paterson last week.

Rochester was crowned second half champion of the American Basketball League. Cleveland won the first half.

Last week's score was 26 to 18 and the Centrals went about the task of assuring Rochester its first Championship since the formation of the professional basketball wheel in a steady and business-like manner. At no stage of the game were the Crescents able to gain a lead and Rochester went as far as to keep its margin large enough to enable it to go along without taking any unnecessary risks.

The battle was one of long pegs from the center of the hall, and the expert marksmen of the champions once more proved the more proficient at this form of attack. The only short shot of the game was credited to Wyka, Paterson guard, who took a pass from Benny Borgemann in the second half and turned it into two points.

Borgemann High Scorer

Two well-borne defensive systems caused this orgy of long shooting. The attempts made to work near the goals were frustrated so completely that there was no alternative.

Benny Borgemann, the high scoring ace of the Crescents, was the only player whom the Centrals were forced to watch with more than ordinary closeness. Benny worked his way into dangerous positions many times, so many that he was granted sufficient opportunities from the free throw line to register six foul points. He also scored three goals from the fields to run his total for the game to 12, and to practically clinch high scoring leadership of the league.

While Borgemann's play was outstanding for Paterson because of the number of points he scored, he did not have much on "Lefty" Kint-zing, who played left guard for Rochester, and "Tiny" Hearn, who jumped center.

Hearn Aggressive

Kintzing did a great deal toward repelling Paterson's advances despite that his man was the game's best scorer. "Lefty" did his best guarding in the final half, when he held Borgemann to a single field goal, and that from a very long distance out. In the meantime, Kintzing helped himself to three hair-raising baskets and a foul to give him Rochester's best total.

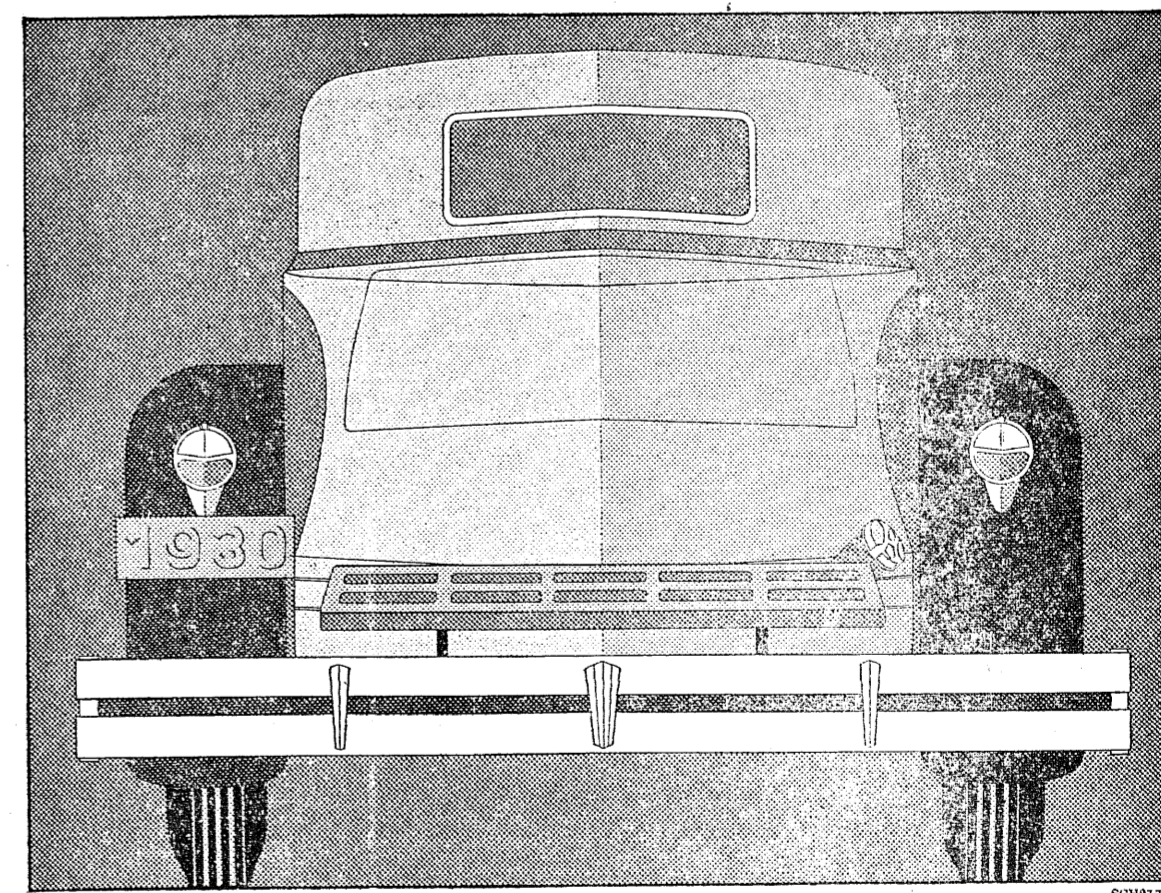

Hearn displayed pleasing aggressiveness in holding Bob Grody scoreless and scoring two long baskets himself. His play was up to the high standard he set on his other appearances.

ILLUSION

We have been reading a very interesting scientific article on illusion. Now we do not mean hallucinations but the illusions of the normal mind. We probably would dispute any one who said that we suffered from this malady if such it can be called. But who of us have not seen and traced figures in the clouds or on some striking design of wall paper? Did you ever sit in a railroad train and, as another beside it moved, felt that it was your own train starting on its journey? Did you ever feel a tooth in the jaw long after it had been extracted? Did you ever call out in the stillness of twilight and hear a voice echo back your own? If you have at any time experienced any or all of these sensations you have been the victim of illusion. Take for instance the illusion of sense. Under this head comes the color-blindness that was found to afflict so many of our young men during the World War. Many a young soldier who might have been an officer was turned despairingly away because he could not distinguish between green and red or blue and yellow. When on a hot day we look at a pitcher of ice water and feel its coolness we have another example of illusion of the senses. Another instance is the aching of a limb that has been amputated or coldness of the feet when both had been shot away. Did you ever think in terror as your absurd imagination conjured up what was going on inside your mouth when the dentist was operating that horrible drill? If so you have fully experienced the workings of sense illusion.

Some day we will tell you something more of illusions and their close relation to dream life. After all illusion and dreams have their own parts to play. It would be a dreary, sordid daily grind without the rose-hued vision. Columbus was an illusionist; so were Cortez and Majellan and Ponce de Leon. So are all great discoverers, great poets, great artists, world builders. So was Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. They saw beyond the petty confines of their every-day matter-of-fact world into realms among the mountain peaks and the stars. Science and philosophy open the dream of man and the splendor of the vision to show the soul the road to the heights of fulfilled destiny.

DO OR DIE, AGAIN.

There are times when we all feel as if the old world were giving us hard usage. We are inclined to think our lot the most severe under the sun. But some people complain continually and others maintain a discreet silence. After all things are usually evened up some time, somewhere. So why fill the long-suffering ears of our friends with lamentations and complaints concerning our own troubles? When so many have theirs as great as ours in this world where we all have to be tried in the furnace of suffering.

"Hard? What of that?
Didst fancy life one summer holiday?
Go, get you to your task.
Conquer or die!"

THE USUAL THING

Eugene Christian, a somewhat famous dietician and author of the book "How to Live 100 Years," is dead. He did not acquire a century by any means, for he passed on at the early age of 69—early, that is, compared with the five-score he told "how" to attain. To be sure, his death might be called accidental, for it was caused by pneumonia, which is not a disease of old age, especially, but a threat at any time. Still, his book should have told him how to ward off that threat.

This is the usual thing. When a man becomes dogmatic about any special ill that may befall the race and announces that he knows the way to avoid that ill, he is almost sure to fall a victim to it. If the author of "How to Live 100 Years" cannot do it himself, we may well put it down as quite beyond the accomplishment of the vast majority of mankind. The authentic centenarians are still very, very scarce.

EUROPE BY AIR

The real experts in aviation are not so optimistic about fleets of huge transoceanic air lines in the immediate future as are some people who do not know much about aircraft. Martin Wronsky, general manager of the Lufthansa, the biggest of Europe's corporations which control the air routes, has just stated that the freight and postal business will be more important than the passenger trade.

"The comfort in airplanes even in five or ten years from now," he said, "due to the limited space, would not compare with the luxurious arrangements of the ocean giants." Even if safety could be added to speed, the airplane will not soon replace the slower liners that offer such comfort and luxuries to travellers.

Citizen Cites

You can't keep a good man down, nor a bad man up—for long.

After all love in a flat is merely the old song on a minor scale.

The memory of the man whose god is gold is swallowed up in the descriptive silence of eternity.

It is probable that as much trouble has been caused by half-truths as by outright lies.

Blessed be the man who can take things as they come, whether they be bouquets or bricks.

The grabber gets little sympathy when he overreaches himself in efforts to get more than his share.

Use the double entry system in your business so you can go out the back door when a collector enters the front.

There never has been a surplus of food, clothing or joy.

The line of least resistance marks the path of no progress.

Modesty has more charms than beauty.

Before trying to be the master of your fate, try to be the master of your temper.

Don't worry and you'll have nothing to worry you.

George D. Stuart, editor of the Tarentum (Pa.) News, says:

"That eighty per cent of the men and women in any American community merely live in it. Be it a great center of population with its teeming millions, a thriving city or a mere wide place in the road, this rule, said to say, applies.

"It has never dawned upon four-fifths of the people that they are a definite part of the community, that their town belongs to them, that they are obligated by the tenets of good citizenship to contribute their part toward the development and expansion of that place which they call their home.

"In every city or town, regardless of size, a glance about will convince even the stranger that all tasks of a public nature are performed by a mere one-fifth of the people, a faithful few who, exhibiting a fine spirit of sacrifice and willingness, make a sincere effort to carry the burden while the others, with arms akimbo set, look on, rarely to praise, frequently to criticize.

"Those vexing problems which are ever to the fore in every community could easily be solved if the thoughtless army of the four-fifths would join with that loyal, courageous little band of the one-fifth.

"Here, indeed, is a problem for the educators and the thinkers of the land. How are we to train our children in order that they may grasp a consciousness of the fact that obligations go hand in hand with the privileges of citizenship and residence in any community? How are we to instruct them so that they will gladly put their shoulders to the wheel and push with all their might and main when they become men and women—and citizens of New York or Main street?

The solution of these problems will automatically solve a hundred others just as perplexing. The answer is the key which will open the door to that era of community progress which is the dream heaven of every forward looking man and woman.

But meanwhile, while we cast about for the answer to Society's great problem, let us appreciate and give full credit—not criticism—to those earnest men and women who roll up their sleeves when a community task is to be done—and do it. For, truly they are the salt of the earth—the real patriots of these piping times of peace.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By BOYCE BROGDON

I have agreed to write a short article once a week for The Belleville News. In these articles I will endeavor to give you bits of humor, tragedy, and pathos. Every day strange things happen in this great metropolitan area that furnish news of interest to at least some of the readers of The News.

Bobbie Storey came to America from London in the Fall of 1924, with "Charlot's Revue." Before Bobbie went on the stage she was a barmaid in a famous London tavern. She was a beautiful girl, tall, and soft eyes, and lovely to look upon. More than this, the girl had both a sense of humor and a sense of honor. She was a happy girl, this Bobbie Storey. She had a good job. She had an abundance of health. She had many friends. The horizon of her future was painted a rosy hue. So why shouldn't she be happy? She was only eighteen, you see.

She had had numerous persuasions to go on the stage, but she would decline them all. She said she was happy and that was more than many showgirls could say. She pointed out many cases of suicide, heart-aches and divorces of show folks. "I am afraid," she said, "so many horrible things happen to show girls." But after so many proposals she finally weakened and went on the stage.

One thing that Bobbie wouldn't touch as yet, was hard liquors. It remained for our country to teach her that. Maybe it wasn't America, at that. Maybe it was just the stage. Or perhaps it was just Bobbie Storey and nothing else.

Whatever it was, however, Bobbie was a different girl when "Charlot's Revue" closed on Broadway in the spring of 1925.

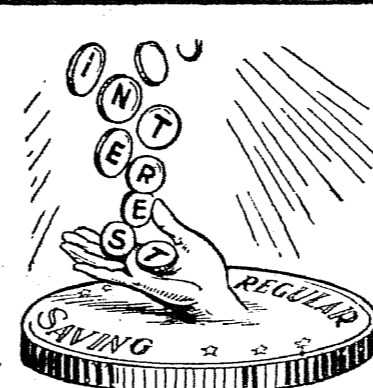

She was a beautiful young woman now. More beautiful than ever before. Men were seeking this English beauty—seeking her with money, jewels and cars and terms of endearment. She went to Palm Beach for a vacation. Flo Ziegfeld saw her one night and signed her for his show "The Palm Beach Girl." Then a year later she was the feature hit in "Rio Rita" when it opened on Broadway.

By this time Bobbie was a heavy drinker. She fell madly in love with a young doctor. The young doctor tried in vain to stop her mad plight. He finally said unless she stopped drinking he would give her up. But Bobbie couldn't stop. She was in too deep. The doctor did as he said he would, he was not at home to her anymore.

Recently newspaper headlines read: "Beauty, Broke, Ends Life in Studio. Bobbie Storey Exits From Life With Nickel in Handbag." Bobbie Storey, the girl who didn't want fame on the stage because she was afraid . . . because she had heard of so many stories of what happens to showgirls.

This Private Telephone System Has 115,000 Calls a Day and Is Unique Among Those of the United States

NEWARK TERMINAL BUILDING TELEPHONE EXCHANGE
(This is the largest in the system and shows a portion of the positions)

THE private telephone system of Public Service, one of the largest of its kind in the United States, handles an average of 115,000 calls a day and has more telephones than two South American countries combined, Bolivia and Paraguay.

Public Service has 165 telephone operators, forty exchanges, 347 central office trunk lines and 160 tie lines. Its telephone exchanges are located in its commercial offices and in important operating centers of the various Public Service companies. The largest of these exchanges is in Newark.

Other large ones are in Paterson, Passaic, Jersey City, Camden and Trenton.

During 1929 an addition of 438 miles of wire and 200 telephones was made to the Public Service system, bringing the total wire mileage up to 3,727 and the total number of telephones up to 3,400. A new exchange has been installed in Camden and the Elizabeth, Hackensack and Passaic exchanges have been enlarged.

The telephone and order file system now in operation at twelve of the larger commercial offices of Public Service proved its value during the past year. Encouragement given to customers to transact business over the telephone resulted in a total of more than a million telephone calls being handled over the telephone tables in the twelve offices. The use of the telephone by the customer seeking gas or electric service was given further impetus by eliminating the requirement of a signature to the service application. Public Service was probably one of the first companies to waive this formality as a prerequisite to service for residential, commercial and small power customers.

March, 1930, at the hour of 8 P. M. in the Town Hall, Belleville, as the time and place when and where said ordinance shall be further considered for final passage by said Board.

JOHN J. DALY,
Town Clerk.

THEREOF ON PROPERTY BENEFIT-ED, APPROPRIATING THEREFOR
THE SUM OF $1,000 THEREFOR, AND AUTH-

Drive which went over the top with a bang. The success of this drive put on a firm financial standing, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, and made possible for us the Community Service Bureau which gives to Belleville one of the most necessary agencies in present day life.

Time To Job

"I have given much personal time to my position, having during the past four years maintained office hours each day of the week, affording opportunity for citizens to get in direct touch with the Board of Commissioners on municipal matters.

"I appreciate that space will not permit for a complete review of my administration, but I feel that in the above remarks I have set forth a record that deserves consideration from the tax-payers.

"However, I am prepared to go one step further and offer a few plans in the interest of the tax-payer in the event that I am re-elected.

"I am fully aware of the fact that the Municipal Tax-payer is over burdened with taxes, but also realize that in the Metropolitan area municipalities either go ahead with their neighbors or slip far behind.

"Every major project in the metropolitan area whether it be transportation, meadow reclamation, regional planning, flood control or water conservation is of vital importance to the future welfare of our community.

His Slogan

"Therefore, in the coming campaign I have adopted the slogan
"Continued Progress with Lower Taxes" and firmly believe that it can be realized.

"During the past four years the points in our tax rate which represent revenue realized for purely municipal purposes has steadily decreased, a total drop of 44 points being made during this period.

"On the other hand the points in our tax rate representing revenue raised for State and County purposes has increased eleven points during the same period.

"The same is true in the revenue raised for school purposes there being an increase of eleven points for the four year period.

"No one questions the economical operation of our schools and I am aware that our citizens demand an education for their children equal to any that may be offered in the state, so that Tax Relief cannot be expected from this source.

Economical

"The present Board of Commissioners is conducting its business in the most economical manner, cutting expenses right to the bone, and yet keeping pace with the progress of our neighbors, so that I am frank to say that little relief can be expected from this source.

"However, I do believe that the time has arrived for the municipalities of this State to call a halt upon the Mandatory Legislation of our State Government.

Mandatory Halt

"Year after year our Legislature enacts laws that forces both the County and Municipal bodies to set up large sums in their budgets for State expenditures.

"Among some of the most flagrant abuses that directly effect municipalities is the State Board Tax and Institution and Agency Tax, which alone represents 15 points increase to the Municipal Tax Pay-er.

"Money required for these purposes should be raised by Bond Issue, affording immediate relief.

"In 1927 the Legislature passed an act eliminating Personal Property Tax on Automobiles and then very graciously gave to the automobile owner a two-cent tax on gasoline.

Wrong In Principle

"This was absolutely wrong in principle and imposed a State Tax in lieu of Municipal Tax, which merely shifted the burden from the automobile user to the already overburdened real estate.

"This act alone represented one million dollars loss in rates to the Town of Belleville.

"As a member of the Executive Committee of the New Jersey League of Municipalities, and Chairman of the Special Committee on Tax Relief, I am endeavoring to right these conditions.

"After several months of effort this committee has convinced the leaders of the Legislature that some relief must be given to the Municipalities, with the result that Senator Arthur Pierson has presented plans for a $100,000,000 Bond Issue which will give some returns.

Opposes Move

"However, they have coupled with this legislation another increase in the Gas Tax. This I am unalterably opposed to and feel that it is absolutely unnecessary. The League of Municipalities Committee on Tax Relief feels that a $135,000,000 Bond Issue will eliminate the State Road Institution and Agency Taxes and give immediate relief to the extent of 15 points drop in Municipal Tax rate without any necessity for further tax increases to the automobilist.

"We have in the Town of Belleville over 2,000 acres of land. During the last few years about 250 acres of our total has been acquired for County purposes.

Wants Relief
"This has resulted in a loss of one eighth of our total area from our taxable property. I contend that in as much as this County property is used by the other twenty-one municipalities in the County some relief should come to us for the loss of these very valuable ratables.

"Over 150 acres of this land is used for a golf course and while county residents are entitled to its use a fee is charged. Considerable revenue is coming to the Essex County Park Commission from this source, and I feel that as revenue producing property it should pay taxation in some form to the Town of Belleville.

"Such relief requires state legislation and at the present time Secau-cus and Cedar Grove are receiving a rebate from the County to effect their losses under similar conditions.

"This year I have placed before the legislative through Assemblyman Zink an act that would give Belleville a rebate similar to the above.
However, it is opposed in its present form, and relief this year seems impossible.

Others Interested
"Many municipalities in the State are affected by a similar condition and I intend during the ensuing year to interest all such places in this problem with the expectation that by the opening of the next legislature we will be able to offer some constructive program for its consideration.

"Such a program, however, requires the prestige of a Municipal Official who has the whole hearted support of his townspeople, and it is with this in mind that I am again offering my services to the voters of the town of Belleville.

"I pledge myself to endeavor during the next four years to fully live up to my slogan, "Continued Progress with Lower Taxes" and honestly believe that this can be accomplished with my re-election and the co-operation of my colleagues.

FEWSMITH CHURCH

Rev. O. Bell Close

Sunday morning, 11 A. M.—"The Life God Planned."

Sunday evening, 8 P. M.—"The World's Biggest Business."

Christian Endeavor service in charge of Mr. Joseph Kirm's Senior Class. Dr. O. Bell Close, pastor.

Next Sunday morning, stewardship and the fruits of loyalty, will be the theme of Dr. Close's sermon. Members of the Fewsmith Church will receive cards from members of the Every Member Canvass at the morning service. A committee of men will call on families not represented at the morning service as is the custom on the day set aside for the "Every Member Canvass."

The gratifying response to the Loyalty Crusade undoubtedly finds Fewsmith with the largest congregation it has yet had on Sunday morning.

Sunday evening is Missions Night and we will think on the responsibility of carrying the Gospel to others. The service will be in charge of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Annual Bazaar

Despite the financial depression which has been felt by people in many lines of business, the Bazaar held last Thursday and Friday was the most successful since the organization of Fewsmith Church. Chairman of booths all report amounts far in excess of any previous year and while returns are not all available, exceptions are that the final amount will be several hundred dollars more than bazaar of other years. Over 500 dinners were served and smoothly working organization of kitchen and dining room workers resulted in quick and efficient services. Much credit is due all those connected with the successful event.

Fellowship Circle

Members of the Fellowship Circle entertained the Missionary Society at the home of Mrs. James Gibson, 272 Holmes street, last Tuesday evening. This was the first time the Fellowship Circle had acted as hostesses to another group and a delightful and educational evening was spent. Miss Margaret Main of Newark spoke on the value of missionary work among young women.

Fewsmith Collegiates

Tonight, members of the Collegiates will meet at the home of Miss Dorothy Boyd, 171 Joralemon street. There will be an election of officers.

Notes

Sunday, 11 A. M.—Mr. McCombe will speak at Grace Church and his subject will be "Stumbling Blocks."

Sunday, 7:45 P. M.—There will be the usual service after which the pastor of Grace Church will discuss "Substitutes." During the Civil War if a man dreaded going to war and had a little money he could hire a substitute. When the World War needed men; and America took her place with the nations of the world; when Uncle Sam drafted a man to uphold the honor of the Republic. He had to go. No one could take his place. In the year of our Lord 1930 there are—but if you want to hear the rest you will have to come to Grace Church next Sunday evening. This service might well be termed "The Happy Hour Service."

Philip Brooks says, "No man has come to true greatness who has not felt in some degree that his life belongs to the race, and that what God gives him He gives him for mankind." Do you know the joy of making some one happy? It is an investment that pays. Try it.

Monday evening the World Wide Guild, Sunshine Chapter of Grace Church journeyed to the nearby town of Nutley, where they were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Kenneth Cooke, at her comfortable home on Oak Ridge avenue. The ladies passed a pleasant evening and at a late hour returned to their homes with pleasant memories of their delightful hostess.

The children of Grace Church had a party Monday evening in honor of Saint Patrick, and what a party! Donney Brook was nothing in comparison to it. Games were played and refreshments served. As the hour of nine approached those in charge had a difficult task in driving the happy youngsters to their homes. Miss Heustis was in general charge and had many surprises planned for the entertainment of the children during the evening.

Tuesday evening, the pastor of Grace Church at the "Fellowship" service resumed the study of great thoughts from great books. Any one who is willing to think for themselves and not afraid of the truth will find the service helpful and inspiring. Anyone coming to this service will find a hearty welcome awaiting them.

Wednesday and Thursday evenings the minisrels were the attraction at Grace Church. Much work and hard practice has been the rule for the past few weeks; and Mr. Ransom deserves much credit for his efforts to provide an entertainment worth while. Mr. Ransom does the work because he believes that Grace Church has a place in the community and desires to lighten the burden, which Grace Church assumes in order to make the community a better place to live in. Mr. Ransom receives no compensation for his work, other than the thought that he is helping a worthy cause. He believes that every public-spirited citizen should get behind the work of the churches in their community, as it means much to have a strong church in the community, that it may mould the life and spirit of the next generation.

Friday evening, the Trustees of Grace Church met for the transaction of such business that demanded their attention.

Everything about the church is calculated to inspire right thinking. The most practical way of supporting Grace Church is by regular attendance. Meet your old friend at Grace Church next Sunday.

Members of the choir were tendered a testimonial banquet last Saturday evening by the Official Board of the Church. More than half a hundred persons, comprising the choir, members of the board and their wives were in the gathering.

The collation was served by Toni the well known Newark caterer.

The entertainment included music, both vocal and instrumental and speeches which furnished opportunity for those taking part to make wits with one another as well as to give expression of appreciation for the faithful and splendid work of the choir.

The usual service will be held next Sunday. Preaching by the pastor, Rev. Edgar M. Compton, at 10:45 A. M. and 7:45 P. M.

Sunday School at 12 noon and Epworth League Devotional Services at 7 P. M.

Junior League on Wednesday afternoons at 3:30 in the chapel and Mid-Week Prayer Service on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock.

The Sunday School Board held its Annual Meeting on Thursday evening in the church dining room, dinner being served to all the members. An inspirational program followed.

Rev. Edgar Compton is attending the annual conference of Methodist Episcopal Churches, which began today, in St. Luke's M. E. Church, in Newark.

A good time is in prospect for the members of the Young Woman's Auxiliary and their friends, at an April Fool party to be given on Tuesday evening, April 1, in the Sunday School rooms of the church. A short business meeting and election of officers will precede the jollifications. Mrs. J. V. Thetford is chairman.

The Epworth League held its annual election of officers Monday evening. The new cabinet consists of Everett B. Smith, president; Allan Crisp, first vice president; Alice Compton, Martha Davenport, Jack Robertson, second, third and fourth vice presidents respectively. John Carlough, assistant fourth vice president; Horace Baldwin, secretary; Christine Zetterstrom, corresponding secretary; Ruth Roehm, treasurer; Mrs. J. Robertson, musical director, and Dorothy Patton, publicity director.

Last Sunday evening the Leaguers enjoyed a most interesting talk on "Faith" given by Mr. H. H. Brumbach. This Sunday Mr. Robert Conklin will be the speaker and each leaguer has promised to bring a friend. Some very enjoyable programs are being planned for the coming weeks.

Tonight, the League will present an "Amateur Nite." There will be a one-act play and a number of special features. Refreshments will be served after the performance. Tickets are on sale by all members and are but 25 cents. Come and bring the family.

The first general meeting of the Mount Carmel Guild, a Diocesan organization of which Right Rev. Thomas J. Walsh of Newark, is the founder and the Supreme President, was held in St. Patrick's Cathedral School Hall, Newark, on Saturday afternoon, March 15, about 600 representatives of the twenty-six centers of the Guild throughout the Newark Diocese being present. The Right Rev. Monsignor John A. Duffy, Vicar General of the Diocese and Director General of the Guild presided.

Bishop Walsh explained that the work of the Guild is to be religious, cultural and charitable and said that the program will offer an opportunity to every Catholic woman to express the charitable impulses in her soul.

Representatives of the Trenton Guild, which was organized there by Bishop Walsh more than ten years ago, outlined briefly the work of the various departments. Other speakers were John A. Cullen, executive secretary of the Diocesan Charities; Rev. Dr. Ralph J. Glover, sociological expert assigned to the Diocesan Charities, and the Right Rev. Monsignor Maurice R. Spillane, Moderator of the Trenton Guild.

The district comprising Bloomfield, Belleville and Nutley was represented by the Right Rev. Monsignor T. M. Donovan of Bloomfield and the Rev. E. J. Field of Belleville, together with the officers appointed from each parish.

In accordance with the wishes of Pope Pius, Bishop Walsh ordered all parishes in the diocese to participate in the world-wide Day of Intercession last Wednesday, the Feast of St. Joseph. St. Joseph, foster father of Christ, is the patron of the Universal Church. Special mass was celebrated in every Catholic church in the world on Wednesday morning and prayers were offered for the relief of sufferers of religious persecution in Russia, where the Soviet has embarked on a systematic campaign of obliterating every vestige of religion, including the destruction of churches and the suppression of religious orders.

The program arranged at St. Patrick's Cathedral was duplicated in every church in the diocese. Monsignor Quirk celebrated mass, assisted by Father Lenahan and Rev. John H. Weisbrod, as deacon and sub-deacon. Following mass, the Litany of the Saints was recited and the Blessed Sacrament was exposed during the day.

No sermon was preached and there was no discussion of the situation in Russia, the services being confined to prayer for divine intercession. Benediction and prayers were offered in the evening.

Bishop Walsh presided at the St. Joseph's Day mass celebrated at St. John Hall College.

Letter Read at Masses
Instructions for St. Joseph's Day services were contained in a letter from Bishop Walsh which was read in all masses in the diocese Sunday. After referring to the letter written by Pope Pius to the Cardinal Vicar of Rome calling attention to conditions in Russia, Bishop Walsh wrote:

"A spirit of Atheism unparalleled in the history of mankind has invaded the nations under Soviet control. A malignantly conceived program aiming at the utter extirpation of religion has been applied throughout the length and breadth of Russia. Promotion of practical Atheism is a Soviet governmental program. Official encouragement is extended to every act of hatred against religion, and government support and approval, even to the extent of using the military forces of the land, are employed in the actual destruction of time-honored churches, holy shrines of greatest antiquity, and the sacred images of the Saviour, His Blessed Mother, and the Saints.

"In this terrible crisis, so awful to contemplate, His Holiness, the Pope, lifts his voice in vehement protest to the entire world, appealing not alone to Christian faith, but also to human nature itself, and to the common decencies inherent in the human heart. Fixing the Feast of St. Joseph, March 19, as a day of universal prayer, sacrifice and expiation, for the suffering Church of Russia His Holiness implores humanity to raise uplifted arms in prayer and expiation. That the diocese of Newark may raise minds and hearts to God in prayer on the venerable Feast of St. Joseph, I hereby direct that that day be made one of special religious observance in every church and public chapel throughout the diocese."

Nine women of Christ Church, joined with twenty-two women members of Unit Two, from Grace Church of Nutley, in a trip to visit the Seamen's Church Institute of New York on Monday. The Institute is a home, hotel and club for seamen of the world (all ratings.) It is located on the East River waterfront, corner of South street, and Counties Slip, three blocks east of South Ferry. It is a home for active seamen and boatmen of all lands and of all ratings, and provides them with comfort, cleanliness, privacy and protection while in port. It is a city in itself, maintaining a U. S. Government Post Office, where the seaman's mail is held for him for six months. There are accommodations for 1,500 seamen, with shower baths on every floor, window and electric light in every room. Some new rooms with hot and cold running water. Clean linen on every bed, every day. Rates are most reasonable. Officers' rooms ranging from $1 to $1.50 per night; seamen's rooms from 60 cents to $1, and dormitory beds with private locker at 35 cents per night. Restaurant and cafeteria, soda fountain and cigar stand, a banking department, a dunnage room, where baggage is cared for, a clinic, merchant marine school, and a lobby for games and recreation.

The religious and social service department is in charge of chaplains and other men and women of the staff, who extend a friendly welcome and make a sincere effort to help self-respecting seamen with any problem. Upon arrival our party was greeted and welcomed by Rev. Douglass Matthews, Senior Chaplain of the Religious and Social Service Department, and by Miss Clara M. Dibble, secretary. Rev. Douglass Matthews was a former rector of Grace Church, Nutley. A most interesting tour of the building was made, and then luncheon was served in the Apprentice Room. The Rev. A. R. Mansfield, who has been superintendent of the Seamen's Church Institute for 34 years, came in, as luncheon was concluded, and gave a most illuminating talk on the S. C. I. A few of the many interesting facts are the following:

Atop the thirteen story building is a large electrically lighted cross, signifying the religious side of the Institute. The Titanic Memorial Tower is dedicated to the passengers and crew who were lost on the "Titanic." Its green light, used by the U. S. Government as a landmark, shines far out at sea, bidding returning sailor lads, "Welcome Home!" This and the lighted cross may be seen at the turn of Sandy Hook. The traffic of men through the open doorways is from 7,000 to 12,000 a day, 2,500,000 in a year. 1,500 men sleep here every night. They may receive medical treatment every day. There are eighteen workers, three clergymen, in charge of the religious and social service department, and three services a week are being held. 4,000 missing men have been located since 1921.

LOYALTY CRUSADE

With congregations aroused through the Church Loyalty Crusade, and with interest gaining momentum steadily, "Stewardship Day" will be observed next Sunday, March 23, as the fourth of the eight weeks' program.

The theme "The Fruits of Loyalty" will be emphasized as congregations visualize their obligations to Christ and His Church. Many of the pastors will concentrate sermon topics about the subject "The Life God Planned." In many of the 91 churches of the Newark and Morris-Orange region, which are cooperating in this united spiritual movement, the annual Every Member Canvass will occur. Committees have been working zealously during the past weeks to perfect plans for the best results ever obtained.

"Missions Night" will be featured at evening services of worship, with the general theme "The World's Biggest Business." Members of Women's Missionary Societies will take an active part in the promotion and program for this service, when many interesting programs have been arranged.

Next week, three important Crusade Conferences will be featured. Dr. George G. Dowey, general director of the Crusade will address nearly a thousand Sunday School superintendents and teachers of the Newark-Morris-Orange Presbyteries at three dinner-conferences on the subject "The Teacher, His Make-Up and Method." Teachers desirous of making their teaching more attractive and teaching qualities better, of developing, teaching personality, of holding the attention of the pupil and making pupil anxious to come to Sunday School, those who would know more of the art of story-telling will be greatly interested and benefited by attending the lectures.

For the eastern district of Morris-Orange Presbytery, the dinner conference will be held next Monday evening, March 24, at the First Presbyterian Church, South Orange. GOSPEL TABERNACLE

The Newark Gospel Tabernacle opened a drive against Atheism at the initial meeting of the People's Bible Night, which is held every Friday night in the Tabernacle, on the corner of Bloomfield avenue and Tenth street. Edmont Haines, the founder and evangelist of the Tabernacle, is presenting a course in the Bible, and Mr. Haines claims that the inspiration of the Bible can be proved from the contents themselves by internal evidence. There are large charts used in connection with the course and a page in the Tabernacle News, a publication of the Tabernacle is devoted to the course every two weeks. There is no admission to the course and it is open to all classes of people. Beginning this Friday night the choir will assist on Bible Night. Mr. Haines will preach at both services this Sunday afternoon and evening.

At the cafeteria lunch which is served every Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock to accommodate visitors from other towns and cities, Mr. John A. Scott, the Happy Hour Man of Station WAAM, will sing "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen, the City Four Square, Religious Words to Mother Macree and whatever selections the people call for.

On Monday night Arthur Stiles, a converted drunkard and gambler will celebrate his twelfth spiritual anniversary. He will have with him many of his old friends who are likewise converted from a life of sin. Mr. Stiles will give his life story. Mr. Haines will give a brief address.

The Blues Lose At Everyman's Class

Last Sunday morning with a larger attendance than the surprising number that were present on the previous Sunday, the Red Army routed the Blues, and consequently the latter had to do "K. P." duty at the sociable held in Wesley M. E. Church last evening.

The local class is running away with the informal contest which they are engaged in with the Montclair Class.

Belleville added a large number of recruits at the last meeting of the class.

"ON WITH THE SHOW" is the first 100% natural color, Vitaphone picture. It is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Willie Durant is a famous New French, an actress in a musical show, but refuses to put up with money. Jerry Connolly, the manager, accuses Durant of being untrue to Kitty, the stage-struck check room girl, and inducing her father, Dad Malone, and his secret heart, Jimmy, to invest their savings to gain a hold over her. The box-office is robbed and Jerry and Jimmy are suspected. Nita refuses to finish the performance unless she gets her salary, but Kitty goes on in her part. Jimmy in forms Nita of Jerry's accusations against Durant and the actress is furious. Then Dad Malone confesses to robbing the box-office.

Joe's mouth fell open, his eyes popped. The manager and the usher stared dubiously at Bloom. Kitty gasped.

"Well, who the Sam Hill is he. Don't keep us in suspense. Where'd you catch him? How do you know he's the real thief? I ain't gonna believe it till I get a signed confession. Do we know him?"

"Now don't everybody try to talk at once," Sam interrupted the confusion of voices.

"And it's not me, is it?" Jerry cried, in grinning.

"Nope," Sam shook his head. "Too bad," the manager chuckled.

CHAPTER XVI.
There was a moment of strange suspense. Not one of the five, with the exception of Sam, knew what to expect. The fact of the matter was they were all waiting for it as they might have been had they known what was about to happen. They had the money, and that was the important item—that and the fact that they were all cleared from suspicion with the finding of the real thief. And then a startled cry from Kitty broke the silence. The carpenter was leading in Dad Malone.

"Dad! The thief!" Jerry stared at Kitty's father, shaking his head, unable to believe his eyes.

"I didn't know they were trying to hang it on you, Jerry, or I'd have confessed before." Dad explained gravely, standing where he was, making no attempt to move.

"Oh, Dad, Dad! It wasn't you. Dad! Tell me it wasn't!" Kitty rushed to her father, clinging to him, unable to believe his eyes.

"You couldn't! You couldn't!" she sobbed.

"Dere ain't nuthin' lef' to happen around here 'cept an othquake," Pete scratched his grizzled head.

MANY BOY SCOUT JOURNALISTS ATTEND NEW YORK CONVENTION; HEAR PROMINENT SPEAKERS

National Boy Scout Press Association Held Annual Convention At Columbia University March 14th and 15th

Members of the National Boy Scout Press Association, student journalists from many parts of the country, will come to New York for the annual meeting of their organization which will be held in conjunction with the Columbia Intercollegiate Press Association Convention at Columbia University, next Friday and Saturday, according to an announcement from the National Office of the Boy Scouts of America in New York. Prominent newspaper men will be the speakers at the banquet of the association which will be held at the Hotel Wolcott on Saturday night.

Visit Newspapers
The convention will last for two days and in addition to the routine business of the association the Boy Scout journalists will make a tour of inspection of the New York Times, the New York Daily News, and the National Broadcasting Company. Business sessions of the convention will be held at Columbia University and will be presided over by Lawrence J. Miron of Worcester, Mass., president of the National Boy Scout Press Association.

Most of the sessions of the convention will be chairmaned by Boy Scout members of the association from many parts of the United States, but several prominent journalists will be on the program. Acceptances have already been received from the Associated Press, which will be represented by Norris A. Huse, from the United Press Associations and from Editor and Publisher, whose president, James W. Brown, will be a guest.

The program will be further enlightened by the presence of Uncle Bob Sherwood, world famous radio star of Barnum and Bailey Circus fame, and the toastmaster of the banquet will be Francis J. Rigney, humorist and art editor of Boys' Life, the magazine for all boys published by the Boy Scouts of America. The National Staff of the Boy Scouts will be represented by Dr. George J. Fisher, Deputy Chief Scout Executive, and by the sponsoring committee of the National Boy Scout Press Association made up of Edgar S. Martin, Director of the Editorial Department, Oscar H. Benson, Director of the Rural Scout Department, and by Frank W. Robinson, Director of Publicity.

Boy speakers on the program will include Edward S. Mokray, Eagle Scout of Orlando, Florida, boy interviewer of famous people, who the day after the convention will start on a two years' tour of the world to interview world notables; Chester Eaton, President of the Worcester Boy Scout Press Club, and William L. Brady, of Atlanta, Ga., Scout Editor of the Atlanta American.

Moving Pictures.
Moving pictures of the World Scout Jamboree will be shown at the afternoon session. The news of the Jamboree was "covered" for many American newspapers and several of the press associations by members of the National Boy Scout Press Association who attended.

Membership in the National Boy Scout Press Association is open to all members of the Boy Scouts of America who have earned the Merit Badge in Journalism, the Gold Quill of the Lone Scouts, or who are editors of Chartered Amateur Publications of the Boy Scout Movement. Delegations will be present from the Press Clubs of Bridgeport, Conn., Worcester, Mass., Brooklyn and Manhattan, N. Y.

The Boys' Life Award in Journalism to the Scout journalist doing the outstanding single piece of work during the year 1929 will be made at the convention.

FIND LOST MAN

When 29-year-old Dr. Nelson D. Wilbur, a civil war veteran of Syracuse, N. Y., disappeared from his home recently and was lost for five hours, Boy Scouts were called to assist in the search for him and soon located the aged man. Dr. Wilbur was discovered lost among a grove of trees on the Hunt farm, two miles from Fayetteville, N. Y., by the Boy Scout Patrol headed by Senior Patrol Leader Victor Vernon, Jr.

The Scouts carried the aged man to his home at 206 East Genesee Street, Fayetteville, where he resides with his daughter, Mrs. M. J. Greeley. He was attended by Dr. Samuel Belkowitz. It was stated by state police that the aged man was suffering from exposure and chills.

The Boy Scouts were told that Dr.

Wilbur goes to a cemetery near his home daily, weather permitting, to visit the grave of his wife who died several years ago. He was lost in going to the cemetery.

The daughter of the missing man had the local radio station broadcast a description of the missing man. Earl Frost, a Patrol Leader of Boy Scout Troop No. 51, of Fayetteville, heard the broadcast and immediately notified Mr. Vernon, Senior Patrol Leader, who organized the posse of Scouts. The Scouts under the direction of Vernon started their search at 7 o'clock in the evening and a short time later picked up Dr. Wilbur's trail of footprints and cane prints near the cemetery. The old man had walked in circles. With the aid of flashlights the searchers found him about a mile from the cemetery. He was near collapse when found.

BRITISH SCOUTS HEROISM

During the hurricane in the Bahamas last October, Scout Gordon O'Brien, who belongs to the 2nd Bahamas Troop of Boy Scouts, swam out to the S. S. "Priscilla" in distress, carrying a lifeline. In spite of a 150-160 miles an hour wind, and after several rescuing boats had been overturned and hurled back to shore, Scout O'Brien, at one moment swallowed up in the trough of the waves and at another lost amidst the foam, reached the distressed vessel. Having succeeded in making fast his line, the Scout with assistance from other helpers, pulled an open boat along his line, and so landed the whole of the passengers, numbering 12 women and children, in safety. His action has been rewarded by the Chief Scout (Lord Baden-Powell) who has sent the bronze cross of the Boy Scouts Association for presentation to Scout O'Brien.

COASTING HILLS

Working with the Mayor and City Council of Clinton, Iowa, the Boy Scouts of that city assisted in the acting as guards to keep order among laying out of coasting hills and in the coasters and to prevent accidents.

SCOUT SERVICE

Scouts from the Apache and Roosevelt Councils in Arizona, 125 of them, acted as ushers, parked cars and directed traffic and later served luncheon to the guests of honor at the dedication of the new Coolidge Dam, according to advices received from Scout Executive George F. Miller, of Phoenix, Arizona. The Scouts were personally commended for their work by ex-President Coolidge. Many of the Scouts had an opportunity, too, of talking with Will Rogers, world famous cowboy humorist and diplomat.

NEW CAMP SITE

Four acres of ground in Rocky Ridge, Bethel Township, in Pennsylvania, will be turned over to the Boy Scouts of Mt. Lebanon for their ownership, it was announced by Ira H. Edmundson, chairman of the Boy Scout committee of the Lions Club of Mt. Lebanon.

George Columbus, real estate operator of the South Side of Pittsburgh and Mt. Lebanon, is the donor. The boys will use the grounds for their Scout activities.

Monday evening March 24 will be a banner night for the Scouts of Belleville. Through the courtesy of the Public Service Corp. E. H. Robnett will give an excellent movie entertainment on the "Public Servant of a Great State." All scouts are invited. It will be given at the home of Troop 50 and all the Scouts from other troops will be their guests. The entertainment will be at 8, at the Fawcett Church.

On Tuesday evening, Troops 89, 88, and 50 were on hand at the re-

Troop 75 Goes On Hike
The members of Troop 75, Boy Scouts, went hiking through the Orange Mountains on Sunday, thirty boys taking part. A number of tests were passed and the boys had a good all-around time. Assistant Scoutmaster Daniel Spillane and Scout Joe Monaghan were in charge.

On Thursday evening the members of Troop 75 served refreshments to the members of the Holy Name Society after their regular meeting and also surprised the members of the Social Society by bringing to them "hot dogs and hay."

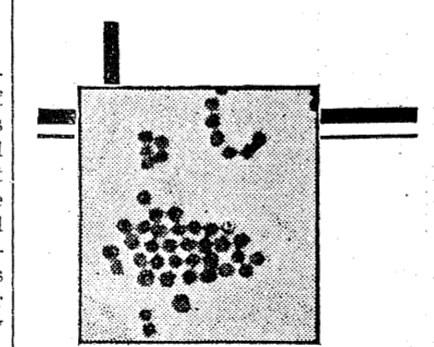

Senior Patrol Leader James attended the third annual Boy Scout Press Convention Friday, March 14, when he was presented with a knot and neckerchief by James E. West. The Belleville Unit is anxious to form a press unit, and scouts desiring information on this subject may check up with Mr. Hood of Troop 75.

Courtesy Demanded Of P. S. Operators

Operators of Public Service street cars and buses are expected to be courteous not only to their passengers but also to drivers of other vehicles using the streets and highways. They are reminded of this in an executive bulletin by vice-president Matthew R. Boylan.

"Cooperation and consideration on the part of motor operators will make it easier for everybody and this company wants you to set an example of 'road' courtesy," Mr. Boylan says: annual convention of the N. E. L. "It is important for you to get your bus through in time—to maintain your schedule—but it is just as important that you obey the rules of the road and to earn for yourself and this company the good will of other drivers," he continues.

"If you see a motorist in trouble—especially on country road—do what you can to assist him. Carry his request for help to the next garage, if he wants you to, and in any other way, that does not unreasonably interfere with your duties, help him out. "Courtesy pays as much when exercised in driving a bus as it does anywhere else."

Erie Repair Shops Put In Operation

The Erie Railroad's new coach repair shops located at Susquehanna, Pa., which in the future will take care of all passenger, baggage and express car reconconditioning work for the entire system, were put in operation this week. The opening of the Susquehanna shops will concentrate under one unit, work which had previously been handled in three different locations.

A group of several large buildings which prior to the concentration some time ago of the Erie's locomotive repair shops at Hornell, N. Y., and Meadville, Pa., had been in use for many years as locomotive shops, have been converted to their new use as car shops. Provisions have been made to take care of between forty and fifty cars within the buildings at one time with facilities for all necessary work.

NUTLEY-BELLEVILLE FRACAS SET FOR SATURDAY, MARCH 29

The Bachelor club, winners of the Belleville Recreation Basketball League, will meet the representatives of St. Mary's Church, Nutley, Saturday evening, March 29, at the Belleville High court. St. Mary's recently clinched the championship of the Nutley Church League and a fast and brilliantly contested game is expected.

The Bachelors, easily Belleville's outstanding basketball quintet, will depend on the same team which enabled them to go through the entire Recreation League season undefeated. Johnny Johnston, leading scorer of the loop, will be at one of the forward positions and his partner at the other forward post will be "Wink" Wengel, one of the shiftest floor men in the circuit. The pivot position will be ably taken care of by "Pat" Dunn, a good "shot" and one of the best defensive players hereabouts.

Joe Parcells, who was undoubtedly the best defensive man in the league, will be at one of the guard positions and "Mac" McGuire, who is looked upon as one of Belleville's future court stars, will be at the other. Jim McCabe, flashy forward of the local combine, is a sure bet to see service at some stage of the game. His remarkable ability is expected to show to good advantage against the Nutleyites.

The Nutley organization will have

Inter-room Tourney Enters Final Round

Second And Third Rounds Were Staged Monday And Tuesday

The Belleville High inter-room basketball tournament entered the final round of play, Tuesday afternoon, after a most exciting series of second and third round matches on both Monday and Tuesday.

In the second round games, Room 22 and Room 6 found the going comparatively easy in their quest for entrance into the third round. Room 22 trounced Room 20, 20-4, while Room 6 was almost as successful against Room 7, winning out 20-5. Federici, scintillating forward for Room 22, stood out for his side, accounting for eleven points. Riccio, Chuck Plenge and "Fuzzy" Ryder were the mainstays of the Room 6 attack in their victory.

In the second round tilts, Room 2 had its hands full beating opt Room 3, 15-11; Room 16 whipped Room 17 quite handily, 15-6; and Room 29 nosed out Room 26, 13-11.

Tuesday witnessed the playing of two of the third round contests, with Room 6 and Room 16 copping the honors to win their way to the finals.

Room 6 won just about as it pleased over Room 2, the final tally giving them a 16-4 edge. Room 16's victory over Room 12, however, was a different story. Both sides battled on even terms for the better part of this interesting match, with Room 16 finally gaining the slim but deciding margin of 13-12. Miller was the hero of Room 16's victory with eight of his side's thirteen points.

Winter Menus Should Provide Place For Many Different Kinds of Salads

By CHARLES SCOTTO, Chef, Ambassador Hotel, Park Avenue, New York City

DURING the winter months, hot dishes naturally hold the chief place on the menu. Cold meats and cold soups give way to steaming roasts and soups that provide warmth as well as satisfaction for the demands of the appetite. The salad is the one cold dish that holds, or should hold, its own when icy blasts are substituted for the torrid breezes of the dog days.

The reasons for the never-failing popularity of the salad are not far to seek. With fresh vegetables scarce and expensive, salads are an important source of the mineral salts and vitamins which are essential to good health. Further, the salad never becomes monotonous, for an easily achieved variation in the dressing is all that is required to give it a new and pleasing flavor that will appeal to the most exacting epicure.

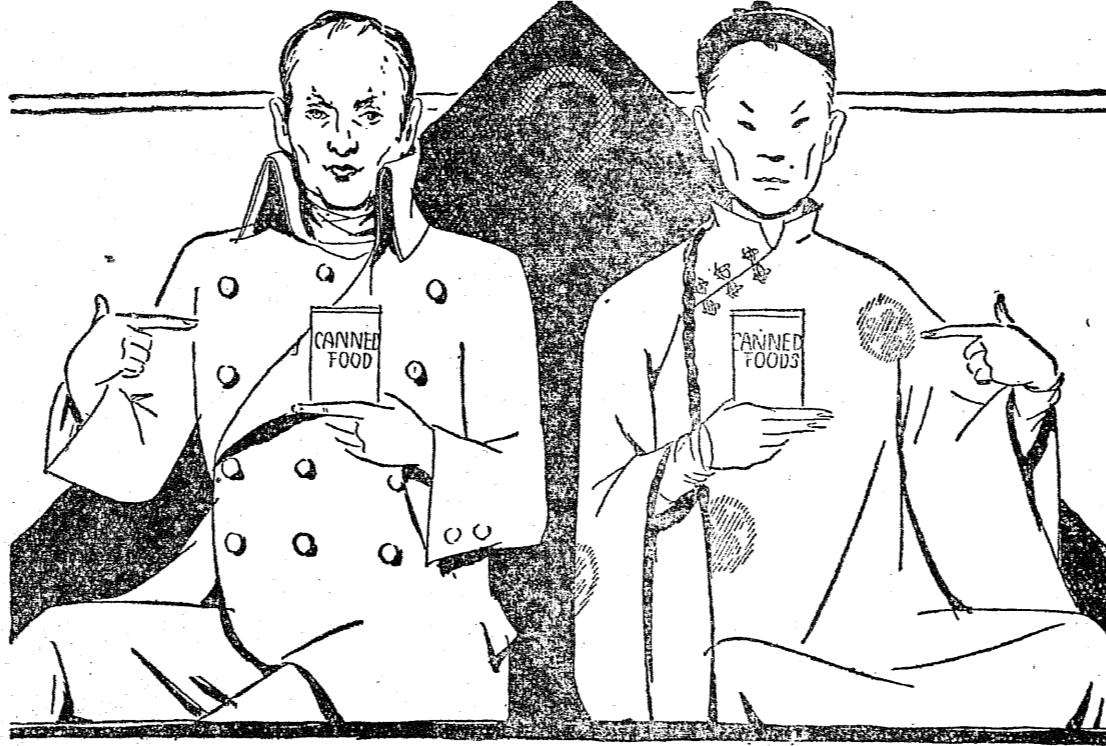

CHEF SCOTTO

Roquefort Dressing is a delightful departure from the usual, and is delicious on firm heads of lettuce, quartered or cut in eighths according to size. Mix together six tablespoons olive oil, two tablespoons vinegar, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper, a dash of sugar and cayenne, and one-quarter cup of crumbled Roquefort cheese. Beat until entirely smooth.

Sour Cream Dressing — Mix together one tablespoon flour, one-half teaspoon dry mustard, one tablespoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, and one-half cup vinegar. Stir until smooth. Add one cup sour cream. Place over fire in a double boiler and stir until it begins to boil. Then remove from the fire immediately. Milk may be used instead of cream, in which case add two tablespoons of olive oil. This makes a very good dressing for cabbage or cucumbers.

Spicy Salad Dressing — Mix together one-half cup vinegar, two tablespoons olive oil, one-half cup sugar, one teaspoon salt, a dash of paprika, one teaspoon minced onion, two tablespoons minced celery and two tablespoons minced sweet pepper. Chill for several hours. Then beat thoroughly and serve with lettuce in a bowl which has been lightly rubbed with garlic.

CHINESE OR FRENCH?

THINGS are getting to the place where no one can claim credit for anything without a voice piping up and saying meekly, "The Chinese knew it, thousands of years ago." The latest occurrence of this kind concerns the canning trade. The general opinion is that Nicholas Appert, who was born in 1750, was the father of modern canning. But according to The Canning Trade, "Centuries earlier the Chinese possessed this secret, but the world had long forgotten, so the Frenchman was justly hailed as the discoverer."

War and Romance

The story of how Appert made his discovery is true romance. During the latter part of the eighteenth century France was indulging in the Napoleonic wars. Sailors were inefficient because of lack of fresh food. Accordingly, Napoleon offered a prize to anyone who would find a way to supply these sailors with healthful food.

And Nicholas Appert, in 1809, was awarded the prize for his convincing and lucid statement that food in air-tight packages could be sterilized by heat, and for the actual demonstration of foods so processed. Although Appert used glass instead of the modern tin, his process was so sound that it is still the basis on which all modern canning rests.

To be sure, new methods of reaching higher temperatures have been devised, making complete sterilization sure where once it was not.

Later, it was found that tin containers would stand up under the processing and shipping most efficiently. However, the original use of tin containers was not encouraged; in fact it roused so much criticism that for a time their use was abandoned. It wasn't until 1872 that the first can opener was put on the market.

Among the earlier canners in the United States, the names of William Underwood, Thomas Kensett and Ezra Dagget stand out. They were canning foods in the period around 1820-30.

War Stimulation

Until the Civil War, canning was a small business; the products were expensive and did not always keep due to careless handling and ignorance of basic safety methods. But, with the beginning of the war, the demand for the canned foods increased to what was then a stupendous extent, although today it would be considered nothing. Indeed, in 1870, after the war increased, the total output was only thirty million cans—not so much as our modern cherry output.

After the war, the passing of hand-work in the canneries began, for machines were slowly invented which would make the processes quicker, more reliable and cheaper. Other inventions, having to do with sterilization were made, too, and from that time, the modern canning trade developed.

Vegetables All the Year

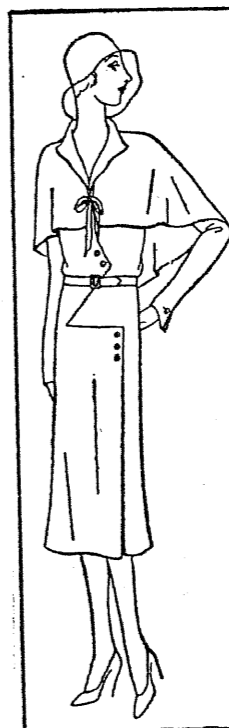

Today, canned foods are taken as a matter of course and as a basic necessity. To return to the medieval winter diet of root vegetables and meat would be unthinkable, yet that is what would happen to the large majority of people if the canned foods were abolished. The cost of fresh vegetables, especially in the winter, would rise to great heights, and even at that, the supply would necessarily be limited.

Such a condition is unthinkable. It is a simple matter for the modern housewife to have, on her own kitchen shelf the equivalent of a garden which combines all climates, from that of the tropical pineapple to that of the northern loganberry. Olives, peas, peppers, squash, artichokes, figs, strawberries, apples, these are only a few of the fruits and vegetables which may be found on the American table the year around, thanks to the basic discovery, a hundred and twenty-five years ago, of Nicholas Appert. Or was it the Chinese?

The Cape—A New And Popular Style Note!

As this charming model so effectively incorporates the new and interesting cape, you can be sure that it is one of the season's chic models. Trigs are they not, these dainty slightly military little shoulder ones? Interest too, is added by the novel treatment of the neckline and the pert little bow that terminates it at the point of the V.

The tailored note is carried further in the dress, noticed in the novel diagonal seaming which cut the frock into interesting proportions. Buttons are a final item on bodice, skirt and sleeves. One of the new soft tweeds would be ideal for a Spring frock that will be just the thing to wear without a coat, and still keep one comfortably warm, and one can even discard the cape on very hot days.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

A LITTLE raw tomato juice is excellent for removing unsightly stains from the hands, caused by paring vegetables. Lemon juice can be used for the same purpose.

If your gravies refuse to brown properly, add a teaspoon of burnt sugar diluted in a tablespoon of cold water. You'll be surprised by the delightful golden brown color, and the flavor will be improved, too.

No medicine can take the place of water in its healthful effect upon the human system. At least one glass of water for every fifteen pounds in weight should be drunk by every adult every day.

FINDS STATE BANKS WELL SUPERVISED

Bankers Body Sees Less Politics in Banking Departments With Better Facilities in the Hands of the Responsible Officials.

A survey of state banking departments by the State Bank Division, American Bankers Association, discloses a distinct tendency the past five years to take bank supervision out of politics, to increase the discretionary powers of bank commissioners, to lengthen their terms of office, to supply them with adequate forces of qualified examiners and to relieve banking departments of duties foreign to banking, says a recent statement issued by the association.

"We have consistently urged that the office of bank commissioner be as free from partisan politics as the judiciary itself and that it be divorced from all other functions of state government," the statement says. "Further, that his term of office be made more secure and lasting, with sufficient salary and power granted to attract and retain the services of men of outstanding executive ability, courage, resourcefulness and successful banking experience."

"Five years ago the first survey of state banking departments by the division demonstrated the need for improvements. On the basis of data now in hand it is evident that, through the revision of statutes in many states, rapid steps are being taken in the right direction. One by one the states are coming to recognize the primary importance of strong, competent banking departments. The demand for increasing the effectiveness of banking departments is beginning to be met."

How Bank Commissioners Are Chosen

The office of bank commissioner is now operated as an independent department of state government in thirty-four states, the bankers find. In two states the bank commissioner is elected at general elections; in one he is appointed from eligible lists of the civil service and in another he is selected by the banks. In one state the bankers' association elects a list of five names from which the governor appoints one as superintendent of banks; in another he is appointed by the State Corporation Commission and in another by the State Banking Board.

"Terms of office of bank commissioners have been lengthened in several states during the last five years," the report says. "In 23 states the term is four years, in one, five years, and in three it is six years and in some the term is indefinite. A short term is condemned on the grounds that the commissioner has insufficient time to become thoroughly conversant with his field work. A longer term permits his rendering useful service through capitalizing his experience. Five years ago the average length of service was less than three years, while now it has risen to five years."

Higher Standards Required

"Signs of an awakening to the necessity of making successful banking experience a qualification for bank commissioner are evident. While eleven states report no banking experience necessary, the majority require experience of this sort, ranging from two to five years. Twelve states now have banking boards, with powers ranging from acting in an advisory capacity to full power over all state banks to issue and reject charters.

"A healthy sign is the number of reports which disclose that the commissioners have full power to appoint bank examiners or that these appointments are made from civil service lists. This power is now granted to the commissioner by twenty-seven states. Three require that selection be from civil service lists. Complaints are still made in a few states of political pressure in the appointment of examiners, but the contrary seems to be true in a growing number of states. The most capable commissioner cannot successfully perform his duties unless he is able to command the services of efficient, honest examiners. The safety of depositors is dependent on their work, and their appointment, fitness and compensation are highly important. The number of examiners has increased 27 per cent in the last five years."

BANKERS TO HOLD GREAT CONVENTION

Cleveland, Ohio, has been designated for the 1930 annual convention of the American Bankers Association. This organization, which numbers about 20,000 banks with $65,000,000,000 in assets, is annually the nation's most important financial event. The attendance ranges between five and ten thousand.

Cleveland is especially significant in the history of the Association's educational traditions since it was in this city, when the organization last met there in the year 1899, that the original resolution was presented looking to the formation of an educational section. This subsequently resulted in the American Institute of Banking in which are now enrolled 55,000 bank men and women engaged in the study of the technical and scientific phases of the business.

Fashion Puts on Spring Furs: Latest Style Note From Paris

Fashion may be fickle—and feminine furbelows that flourish today may be flown by tomorrow! But there's one mode that has endured from Neanderthal days when lovely women graduated from fig-leaves to leopard-skins.

It's the fashion of furs! Furs for adornment, the oldest known fashion, are the latest command of Paris for the smartly turned out woman this spring.

Whether for spring, summer, fall, or winter—furs are fashionable all the year round. They constitute the most constant wearing apparel demand of women the world over, according to Don L. Omo president of A. B. Shubert, Inc., largest house in the world dealing exclusively in American raw furs.

"Each season has its own specially adapted furs, ideal for trimmings on the smartest garments of the season," Mr. Omo said at a fur style show in Chicago recently. Furs are just as fashionable for summer as for winter, and as sensible.

"This year for example, coyote, badger, and fox are the mode. Style centers of the world are demanding these pelts in greater quantities than ever before.

The fur-fashion trend in the springtime is always towards the lighter furs. This year, with the advent of new lines and fabrics in feminine fashions, wolf, badger, and fox seem particularly adapted to the style trend.

"The demand for these furs as trimmings for spring coats and suits is good news to the American trapper whose annual catch includes many thousands of wolf or coyote skins, badger, and fox.

"Furs are not necessarily wintry in aspect or weight, as the new fashions show. The long-haired, cool gray wolf (the coyote of our western states), and badger, with its silvery tones, are as springlike as the gay tweed weaves which they adorn. "Fox, always so popular as a separate neck-piece, is increasingly fashionable this spring. The soft flattering qualities of our American red, and silver foxes, and the rare beauty of the cross fox, makes them ideal for spring wear."

Paris Sponsors the Wolf-Trimmed Coat.

This Cheese Country

CHEESE-MAKING is not a new industry in the United States, the first factory having been started in New York State in 1851, but a realization of its importance has but recently struck the average American. Part of this sudden comprehension comes from ready production figures—some 30,000,000 pounds having been manufactured in this country in 1927. Another cause is increased knowledge of the wide variety of cheeses produced in America.

Limburger cheese, beloved of all connoisseurs, is now made here in such a way that its characteristic texture and flavor is attained, but most of its odor is deleted. Roquefort cheese, which has been made only in a small district in southern France for over 800 years is now being made in this country; and through the absolute control of moisture and temperature in the air and by special processing devices, the resultant cheese is so good that even a connoisseur cannot give its origin. Swiss cheese is another which can be produced here; and there are others.

Quite aside from its delicious flavor, consumers like American cheese because of the sanitary methods of manufacture which prevail in modern factories and because of the methods of packaging. Tinfoil wrappers are the most common way of protecting small cheeses, but cheese of many varieties is also put up in hermetically sealed tin cans. Canned cheese can be kept in hours-long storage indefinitely and will always be at hand for the housewife to use in making any of the numerous cheese dishes which add high food value and delicious flavor to the day's menu.
