Clark Promises Aid Regards Reservoir

Valley Association Asked His Cooperation In This Respect

A regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Valley Improvement Association was held Thursday evening, at the Essex House. The president, William B. Frey, presided.

In response to a letter written to Commissioner W. D. Clark by John J. Hewitt, secretary, requesting investigation and correction of dangerous conditions existing at the open reservoir, fronting on Main street, adjacent to the present dumping grounds due to lack of protection the secretary received a prompt and courteous reply from Commissioner Clark, indicating his desire to co-operate fully and endeavor to correct the situation.

A committee report of the rally held on May 1, at the Elks' Home, for the voters of the Valley, was received and accorded proper recognition.

The board gave to William Want-house a rising vote of appreciation for his efforts in entertaining the association and friends on May 8, with the sketch, "Hard Times," given by a group of players from Star of Irvington Council, Daughters of America under the direction of Mr. Want-house.

Following the addresses given by Messrs. Victor H. Schleicher, and Joseph W. Steinmetz, representing the Affiliated Improvement Association, the board recommended that application for membership in the Affiliated group be made, and William Tucker was appointed to get together all pertinent information and report back at the next regular meeting.

The board has planned for an intensive campaign for increasing the membership.

The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday evening, June 12, at School No. 1, Cortlandt street.

A debate on the qualifications of each candidate will be held at a meeting of the Belleville Republican Club at the Masonic Temple, June 10. Victor H. Schleicher will speak for Morrow, Lawrence C. Keenan for Frelinghuysen and John Brown for Fort.

Two G. A. R. Vets To March Again On Memorial Day

Thomas W. Fleming, Legion
Head, Is Chairman Of Committee

Two members of the G. A. R., John J. Barrett and Joseph Wells will ride, as every year, once again in tomorrow's Memorial Day parade. They are the last two survivors in Belleville of that great conflict. They have lived to honor their departed comrades year after year and have never missed taking part in services on this day.

Spanish American War and World War Veterans will unite with these two to carry out the day's program which will be featured by the usual services and a parade.

Thomas W. Fleming who has always taken an active part in Memorial Day plans as well as all veteran activities, is chairman of this year's affair. Other members of the committee are Lawrence E. Keenan, treasurer; Edward O'Connor, secretary; Edward Wirtz, George Cole, T. Otto Bruenich, Arthur Christie, George Perks, Richard Planagan and Joseph Delaporte.

Commissioner W. H. Williams will be the principal speaker at a luncheon to be served by the ladies of the G. A. R. at the Reformed church. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, Commissioners Carragher, Waters and Clark will also speak.

New Traffic Lights

Present plans of the county call for a traffic light at Joramaleon street and Union avenue, this town, and Center street and Union avenue, Nutley, Commissioner William D. Clark announced Tuesday at the Commission meeting. He said that an effort had been made to obtain a light at Greylock section but the county would not agree. His explanation followed receipt of a letter from the Hillcrest Improvement Association which asked about the statue of lights.

"Al" Williams' Car Takes A Little Trip

The trail of a driverless automobile Sunday was across the lawn of its owner, over a six-foot stone wall, across Washington avenue through traffic and onto the lawn of Dr. James R. Irwin. The car was said by police to have narrowly missed hitting a man and child on the sidewalk, but made its way through traffic without trouble.

A. B. Williams of 335 Washington avenue, owner, had parked the machine in the driveway of his home. The brakes did not hold on the grade.

TO COLONEL AND MRS. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

On Their First Wedding Anniversary
May 27, 1930.

My dear Colonel Lindbergh, Permit me to say I greet You on this Anniversary Day, Also the Good Lady, who is at your side Since one year ago, she became your Bride.

One year you've been married, So happy and free, One year of adventure, for You and for We. It surely passed quickly, but others will come, I trust they'll be many, three figures the sum.

May the road You travel, be devoid of care, May no harm o'er take Your great flights in the air, May Peace and Prosperity, Your life attend, This with kindest wishes, my Greetings I send.

May God in His wisdom, Direct You each day, As forward and upward You traverse life's way, Your goal must be Heaven, When this life shall end, Colonel Lindbergh, Mrs. Lindbergh, best wishes I send. MYRON W. MORSE.

Art Bloemeke Is Back Although Not Fully Recovered

Many Have Called The News To Find Out
His Condition

Art Bloemeke, our sports writer, although not fully recovered from his recent injuries received in an automobile accident, is writing again.

We know his many friends will be glad to hear this news, just as we are glad.

Probably Art doesn't know just how many friends he has. The Belleville News has learned of many of them. From school circles where Art was class leader, all through, in sporting realm and the town at large, we have received calls as to his well-being.

We all join to wish Art complete restoration of health.

Board Ties Up Bills When Emergency Not Is Not Sanctioned

Kenworthy, Waters And Clark Favor Emergency
But Majority Lacking

A bill of $1,922 presented to Belleville by the Essex County Board of Elections for services of twenty-nine investigators during the May 13 municipal election was declared illegal by Commissioner Frank J. Carragher at a meeting of the town commission Tuesday night. The bill should have named the investigators. Carragher said.

Corporation Counsel John B. Brown ruled the bill "informal, but strictly legal as to form" without the names of the men. Votes of Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and Commissioners Patrick A. Waters and William D. Clark went for passage of the note. Commissioners William H. Williams and Frank J. Carragher voted against it, and as the law requires four votes for an emergency note, some will have to wait for payment of their bills, unless the action is changed.

Suit against the town is the only recourse.

The note covers additional costs of the municipal election and June 17 primaries, for which only 5,000 was appropriated in the budget. Town Clerk John J. Daly said the $5,000 budget item was included, as for the election in 1926, without observing that an emergency note for about $5,200 had been passed at that time to cover all costs. Considering the increase in voting districts, from thirteen to twenty-two, Mayor Kenworthy thought the higher election cost reasonable.

Laid to Agitation
Messrs. Waters and Brown said the extra cost incurred by services of the county board was due to agitation shortly before the election by citizens who claimed there were some 2,000 names illegally on the registry lists. The county board men saw to it that the election was honest, Mr. Waters said.

"What made some people think it wouldn't be honest?" Mr. Carragher asked.

"Because some people said so who think they're the only ones in town who can be right," Mr. Waters replied.

Mr. Carragher shouted: "Well, do you know there's a man working for you for the town who registered a man who lives in Kearny?"

"If there's such a man working for me, why didn't you have him arrested?" queried Mr. Waters. "What is his name? I'll have him arrested. This saying stuff doesn't count a rap. Produce his name."

Withholds Name
Mr. Carragher refused, saying the time would come to "produce things." His objection to paying the county board bill was that town police could have performed the work.

The cost of the commission election May 13 was set at $12,500, with a few odd bills perhaps outstanding, by Town Clerk John J. Daly, Monday. In comparison, the municipal election four years ago cost $9,500, when there were thirteen instead of twenty-two districts.

Mr. Daly said $5,000 was appropriated for the election, the same as in 1926, in which year the balance was raised on an emergency note.

Commissioner Carragher who was elected both years, said an emergency note would be illegal, intimating he would debate the matter at the board meeting.

Mr. Daly issued the statement of expenditures, after returning for a short trip in the South.

An added item of expense, this year, Mr. Daly pointed out, was $1,922 incurred by a complete check of registrations by the county superintendent of elections. Also the polls were covered election day by

CARS COLLIDE AT GRADE CROSSING

One Machine Pushed Over
Tracks Just Before
Train Passes

Whitfield Kimble and his wife, Hazel, of 299 Maryland avenue, Paterson, narrowly escaped death Saturday night when the car in which they were riding was pushed by another car through the gates at the Erie Railroad crossing at Rutgers street.

The car was at a standstill at the bottom of the hill, waiting for a train to pass, when the auto was struck by the machine driven by one F. H. Sharpe, whose address was not revealed, which had skidded on the wet pavement. Kimble's car crashed through both sets of gates a few seconds before the train rushed by. Mrs. Kimble sustained slight bruises about the body.

Kimble filed a complaint of reckless driving against Sharpe, at a hearing before Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons Monday night.

The Frock with a Peplum Boasts of 100 Per Cent Chic-

By Marguerite Herzog

It's modern- It's new- It's ultra-smart for this Spring and Summer! It's the peplum of course that has won for itself this universal popularity! When it becomes necessary for every woman to have at least one example of a certain trend in her wardrobe, then, and then only can you be sure that this trend has become one of the favored notes of the year!

Peplums are modern versions of the ancient Greek mode of costuming! The Greeks were masters at designing gowns of perfect proportion . . . and perhaps this perfection explains why the modern woman is so thoroughly pleased with her peplum frock. The one illustrated is a youthful example with its suggested higher waistline, the original cut of the peplum, and the softly draped and bowed neckline!

THEN AND NOW

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF BELLEVILLE SCHOOLS

This is the first of a series of four articles on Belleville Public Schools covering a period of twenty-five years. The articles are written by one qualified to know.

The writer believes that after a connection of a quarter century with Belleville Public Schools that it is an appropriate time to render an account of what has been wrought during that period. With this thought in mind, it is intended to show in a series of short articles what changes have made between 1905 and 1930, the first of these dealings with the school plant.

In 1905, Belleville's school equipment consisted of four buildings, three of them small and one larger. The latter called No. One, stood at the corner of Academy and Cortlandt streets and was a structure composed of three sections erected at intervals during a period of forty years. Its interior had different floor levels, was two-storied on one end and four-storied on the other, and had no assembly place nor connecting halls. In order to go from one part of it to the other it was necessary to pass through class rooms and coat closets. It contained seventeen rooms, many of which were low ceilinged and ill-lighted, and three of which being immediately under a tin roof were at times unbearable warm, as the windows were small and there was no other way of ventilation.

School No. Two at Soho consisted of four class rooms, three of them occupied, with a large bare room overhead devoid of heat, platform, or seats.

School No. Three, known as the Joram street School, comprised eight rooms with six classes therein and another empty attic overhead.

School Four, at Silver Lake, was a small plain, square building having therein four class rooms and a hallway and nothing else.

As to the school grounds, each building had enough ground to encompass its four walls and not much more.

At No. One, there were the remains of what had once been a pleasant shaded school yard; but in 1905 this had been allowed to deteriorate until there was not much left save crumbling retaining walls on one side and a sand bank towering over it on the other.

The plot at No. Two was 100 feet front with just depth enough to allow for out buildings and one ash-pile.

No. Three stood upon a lot with about 100 feet front on Joram street and 150 feet on Union avenue. The terrace was unimproved and presented a seamed yellow clay surface to the passer-by.

The lot at No. Four was 100 feet wide but the slope was the natural one ending in a swampy marsh. With the exception of No. One, no attempt had been made to level, or otherwise improve the grounds and a little or no walks had been laid to the doorways. In general the scant grounds existed in a state of nature, somewhat lessened by the hand of man.

In 1930, the Belleville Public School system consists of ten fine commodious school houses largely situated in improved grounds of ample size, and an athletic field centrally located and splendidly improved. These buildings are so located that no child below the seventh year is compelled to travel more than a half-mile to his school.

The High School, situated on a commanding site on Washington avenue, is a fire-proof structure containing 26 class rooms, a double gymnasium, an auditorium with a seating capacity of one thousand, two lunch rooms and a kitchen, two laboratories, the offices, and several store rooms. It has a pupil capacity of 960, and with normal future growth is adequate for two of three years to come.

Grammar School No. One at Cortlandt and Rutgers streets is a fine modern structure having eighteen rooms and an assembly hall. The capacity of this building is 700 pupils and with the stable population of this neighborhood should be adequate indefinitely. It is situated in a tract about 200 by 400, part of which is an improved lawn and part a spacious playground.

School No. Two, situated in the Soho section, contains six class rooms and an assembly hall seating 250 persons. Its grounds are about 200 by 400, part of which was recently acquired and will be improved to compare favorably with those at the other schools.

The Joram street School, known as No. Three, stands at the corner of Union avenue and Joram street on a fine plot of more than an acre. Being on an elevation with its sloping terraces adorned with shrubbery, it presents a very pleasing appearance. The building itself contains 22 class rooms and an assembly hall seating nearly 500.

The largest of all the schools, No. Four, is on Magnolia street in the Silver Lake section. This building contains 38 class rooms, an assembly hall and suitable office and other administration rooms. The grounds are 200 by 250 feet and run through the block facing on both Magnolia and North Belmont streets.

No. Five, known as the Greycliff School, stands in a beautiful tract 200 feet wide and 700 feet long. It is a handsome building of 21 class rooms including a fine kindergarten, an auditorium seating 425, and an office and other administration rooms.

School No. Seven at Passaic avenue and Joram street has the most spacious grounds of all containing nearly five acres. This school has seventeen class rooms and one of the finest auditoriums in town.

No. Eight on Union avenue is located at the southern end of Clearman Field which it faces, and from which it is separated by a terrace. This fine building contains 21 class rooms, a kindergarten, a physical training room, locker and shower rooms, an auditorium with a capacity of 500, an office, and various other administration rooms. Fronting the athletic field, it presents a handsome appearance to all who pass by it.

School No. Nine is built at the corner of Ralph and Belleville streets, in a fine plot to which an additional purchase of ground has been made. This school house, includes eight fine class rooms, an office and other administration rooms, and an assembly hall with a stage and seats for 275 pupils.

None of the grammar schools are crowded and several have spare rooms awaiting the growing populations of their neighborhoods. Their total seating capacity is approximately 6,400 pupils, and provision has been made for additions at several of them when the need therefore arises. It is our judgement that there will be but little need for further school accommodation in Belleville Grammar Schools at the present rate of growth for several years to come.

Clearman Field, the system's athletic grounds, is centrally located with the main entrance at Holmes street and Union avenue, being easily reached from five of the schools. It is a tract 225 feet wide by 700 feet long, and contains a handsome concrete stadium with seats for 800 people. The field is laid out with a baseball diamond and a football gridiron and it is proposed to shortly place a series of tennis courts at the southern end. The field is surrounded by an ornamental protective fence, and as a whole is a delight to the eye. It is as fine an athletic field as that of any school system in the State, and will provide recreational space and opportunity for Belleville's citizens, both youth and adult, far into the future.

To sum up, the Belleville School plant is ample to house her school population for some time ahead, is geographically well placed, has space for outdoor activities, and is so well constructed architecturally, that it a distinct property asset to the town. All this has been accomplished through the vision and judgment of the school leaders, the members of the Boards of Education during the past twenty years, aided by generous support of the citizens of Belleville.

FAVORITE RECIPES
OF A FAMOUS CHEFAs Told to Anne Baker
By ROGER CRETAUX, Chef,
The Roosevelt, New York City

Savory Brussels Sprouts—Cook one quart of Brussels sprouts in salted water until tender. Drain thoroughly, place in a hot dish and pour over them a sauce which is made as follows: Mix together one teaspoon mustard, three-fourths teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one well-beaten egg, one-half cup vinegar and two tablespoons salad oil. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture thickens. Then add one tablespoon melted butter, one-half teaspoon curry powder, one teaspoon minced parsley, and one-half teaspoon grated onion. Beat thoroughly and pour over the sprouts while both the sprouts and the sauce are still hot.

Tomato Rarebit—Heat one pint of canned tomatoes and add one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, one tablespoon chopped onion, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, and a dash of cayenne. Keep the tomatoes bubbling over the fire, adding gradually one-half pound of cheese cut into small pieces. Stir constantly until the cheese has melted and the mixture is smooth. Then add one teaspoon butter and one well-beaten egg, stirring all the while. Remove from the fire and serve immediately on slices of hot, buttered toast.

Attractions offered are swimming, handicraft, folk dancing, stories and dramatics. Arrangements are being made with proprietors of nearby swimming pools for bathing accommodations for the mornings.

A Dollar Dinner for Four

Would you ever stop to think that the dollar you spend at the restaurant for dinner would provide a dinner for four at home? Well, here is the menu, dietetic and delicious, for only two-bits per person:

Hamburg Steak with Spanish sauce 45¢
Creamed Carrots and Potatoes 17¢
Bread and Butter 8¢
Grape and Lemon Jelly 24¢
Demi-tasse 3¢
Total 97¢

Hamburg Steak with Spanish Sauce: Season one pound of hamburger steak and shape lightly into patties. Fry in pan and remove to hot platter. To the skillet, add one tablespoon fat, one sweet red pepper, chopped, and one onion. Cook for three minutes. Add one 10-ounce can tomatoes and one-half teaspoon marjoram and cook five minutes or until somewhat thickened. Serve over the steak.

Creamed Carrots and Potatoes: Boil one cup diced potatoes until tender, drain and add one 8-ounce can diced carrots. Make a white sauce of one and one-half tablespoons butter, one and one-half tablespoons flour and one cup milk. Season to taste and pour over the mixed vegetables.

Grape and Lemon Jelly: To an 8-ounce can of grapes, add enough water to the syrup to make one cup. Bring to boiling and add one-half package of lemon jelly. Stir until all is dissolved and set away to cool. When about ready to set, add the grapes and pour into individual molds. Chill and when ready to serve, top with one-third cup of whipped cream.*

Corn Concoctions

CITY-BRED folks classify corn as something on the luncheon or dinner menu. But out on the farms they know better. Farmers like corn at any meal in the day, and farm wives have concocted some very delicious breakfast dishes out of this dietetically valuable grain which is good fresh, straight from the can, or in combination with other foods.

A delightful old hotel in South Carolina, famous for its breakfast corn cakes with maple syrup, serves another breakfast corn dish that makes you wonder why you stayed up North so long.

Some Southern Corn Combinations

Here are the directions for emulating:

Breakfast Corn: Chop two large cold boiled potatoes fine, and sauté brown in two tablespoons fat. Add one cup left-over canned corn, and brown again. Season well with salt and pepper. Break in two whole eggs, and scramble lightly together. Serve with broiled bacon.

Charleston Corn Cakes: Beat two eggs well, add one-half cup sour milk, one-fourth teaspoon soda and one cup of canned corn. Sift together one cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder and add. Then add one tablespoon melted butter. Fry in small cakes on a hot griddle. Serve with maple syrup.

Corn Fritters: Make an egg batter as for pancakes, and stir in canned or fresh corn. Fry in butter and serve very hot with broiled breakfast bacon or fried ham.*

Meatless "Oven Dishes"
For These Spring Days

By JOSEPHINE E. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company.

A GOOD cook never likes to heat up a large oven and then bake only one thing, so today I have carefully planned a complete "oven dinner" that will make full use of every bit of the fuel. While the potatoes and the Mince-meat upside-down cake are baking, you can mix the biscuits, and get them ready with the shrimp piquante for their turn in the hot oven. Then you make the vegetable salad, open a jar of sweet mustard pickles and percolate the coffee—and there is your dinner!

The menu given below has several other advantages, too! It is made up of inexpensive, but nourishing foods; and while out-of-the-ordinary, it is not too difficult for even an inexperienced cook to prepare. The whole family also will consider it unusually delicious, without realizing the menu is meatless:

Menu

Shrimp Piquante Baked Potatoes
Sweet Mustard Pickle
Fresh Vegetable Salad
Tomato French Dressing
Hot Biscuits
Mince-meat Upside-Down Cake
Coffee

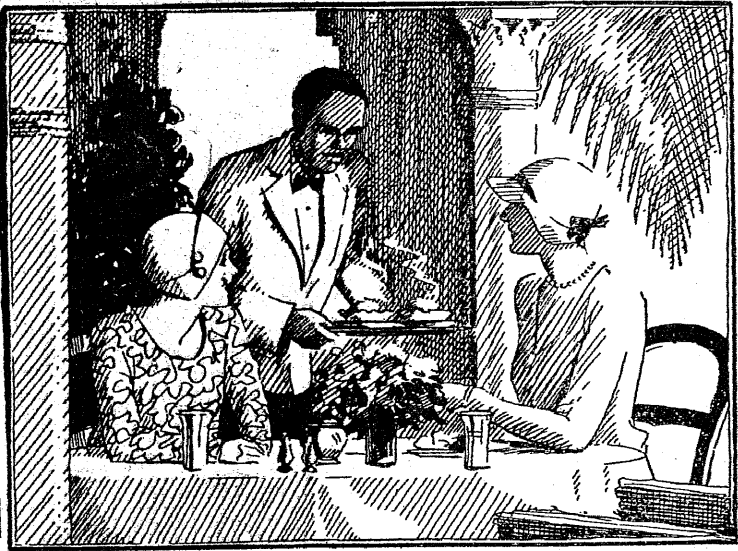

Shrimp Piquante:—Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 tablespoons flour, and stir until well blended. Add 2 cups milk and cook until thick. Add 2 small cans shrimp and 2 pimientos, cut fine. Then add ½ teaspoon salt and a sprinkling of nutmeg, (this may be omitted). Measure 2 cups of Rice Flakes and place a layer of the flakes in a buttered baking dish, add a layer of the shrimp mixture, and keep adding alternate layers of the fish and Rice Flakes until all are used. Sprinkle Rice Flakes on top, and dot over with butter. Brown in a hot oven.

Fresh Vegetable Salad:—A large plate or bowl of salad, with chilled vegetables arranged in mounds on crisp lettuce may be used. Individual salads may be arranged in the same way. A pleasing combination of fresh vegetables for such a salad as this, is a mound of freshly cooked cauliflower, a mound of cooked green peas, one of carrots, and a mound of Fresh Cucumber Relish. All of these should be thoroughly chilled, of course. As a dressing for this salad use:

Tomato French Dressing:—Mix 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon Prepared Mustard, a few drops of onion juice and 2 tablespoons Tomato Ketchup. Add 2 tablespoons Pure Vinegar, and 6 tablespoons Pure Olive Oil. Last add 2 tablespoons Mayonnaise Salad Dressing. Shake very thoroughly in a tightly covered bottle, chill, and serve. This dressing has a rich tomato color and is excellent with vegetable salad.

Mince Meat Upside Down Cake:—Cream 2/3 cup butter and 1/2 cups sugar. Next add 4 well beaten eggs. Add 1 cup milk alternately with 3/4 cups flour sifted with 5 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir until a smooth batter is formed. Next, butter a shallow, oblong cake pan, sprinkle it with 1/4 cup sugar and line with 1 cup Pure Mince-meat. Turn the cake batter into the pan, and bake in a moderately hot oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream, or vanilla or lemon sauce.

Peaches Down Georgia Way

GEORGIA is a land of clay-roads and peaches. But you'll be willing to drive a road, if they lead you to an old Southern Inn for supper—it's always "supper" after 6 P.M. in Georgia. Baked ham and grits, corn bread and country butter and probably a steamed peach pudding for dessert—these things linger longer in memory than nine-course hotel dinners elsewhere.

The above dessert, by the way, is probably the great-grandmother to the new Peach Mousse as they make it in the East, but it is a worthy ancestor. Here are recipes for each of these desserts, and they can be made in April as well as in peach-time.

Two Peachy Desserts

Steamed Peach Pudding, Southern Style. Sift two cups of flour, four teaspoons baking powder and one teaspoon salt. Work in four table-spoons shortening and add seven-eight cups of milk to make a soft dough. Drain one No. 2½ can of peaches well and cut in rather large slices. Put in the bottom of a well-buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with two table-spoons of brown sugar and put the dough on top. Steam one hour, being careful not to lift the cover of the steamer in that time. When done, turn upside-down so that the peaches are on top. Serve with plain cream.

Peach Mousse: Whip two cups of heavy cream. Drain the juice from a No. 2 can of peaches and mash well, or run through a food chopper. Add to the cream. Add one cup of confectioner's sugar and one-fourth teaspoon of ground cloves, and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites of two eggs. Pack in molds or in the ice-cream container, without the paddle. Surround with salt and ice, using two parts ice to one part salt. Let stand for four hours.

Record In Billing Made By Public Service

A remarkable record for accuracy and bill production has been made by the central billing department of Public Service Electric and Gas Company since the organization of the department in 1924.

During April, which is typical, forty-six young women in this department had a production average of 204.64 bills per hour and an accuracy average of 99.68 per cent—a fraction less than three errors per 1,000 bills. This includes the averages of five who are just learning the process of preparing the bills. The department prepares electric and gas bills on accounting machines for approximately 950,000 customers each month.

After the bills are prepared, they are audited in order to insure absolute accuracy before they are sent to customers. The bills are checked so thoroughly that only one error, affecting the amount of the bill, for every 100,000 meters passes through the department undetected. Each customer therefore, is virtually assured an accurate bill.

Mrs. Esther Lathan, of 20 Grand avenue, Newark, had the highest production average obtained for April by any one operator of the billing machines. Mrs. Lathan prepared 283.78 bills per hour—a total of 29,536 bills for the month with an accuracy record of 99.75 per cent.

The most accurate billing record made by an operator during that month was 99.97 per cent—an almost perfect mark, attained by Miss Dorothy Tuttle, of 9 Highland avenue, Elizabeth, who completed 22,431 bills with a total of only seven errors, an average of only one error for every 3,200 bills.

Roosevelt Club Lost Last Sunday

Sunday afternoon at Capitol Field the Roosevelts lost to the Joe Mullin Association, 10-8. Loose playing caused their defeat. Raylor, on the mound for the Roosevelts, pitched fine ball, striking out ten batters. Captain Fusaro was the hitting hero.

Next Sunday afternoon at Capitol Field the Roosevelts will probably play the Jamaica Cardinals. Manager Distasio will try out a few new players.

Any player seeking a tryout report to the field.

School News

By JAMES REILLY

The faculty play given recently in Belleville High School was successful and received the commendation of most everyone.

G. R. Gerard, superintendent of Belleville Schools said that he could not name any special character for his or her acting, for all were equally good.

A recent visitor to high school, E. Bodison, talked on the interests of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. He told of the new modified number plants which are being constructed to cope with the rising population by using the dial system of telephone. His talk was accompanied with slides.

Senior assembly was carried on by Marguerite Wharton and Alexander Nucl. Miss Wharton led the singing.

Within the first floor corridor is as colorful an art display as one would care to see. There are all sorts from crayon work to charcoal drawings. Miss Walters, in charge of the art class must be justly proud of her art students who have put forth such work.

Louis Perez Travels

"I am here in Milwaukee and will fight soon. Please say 'Hello' to my friends in Belleville," writes Louis Kid Perez.

Last week he was in Florida.

Walter W. Head of Chicago was re-elected president of the Boy Scouts of America for the fifth successive year at the Twentieth Annual Meeting of the National Council of that organization held in the Pennsylvania Hotel last Monday and Tuesday. Other officers and Executive Board members whose terms of office expired were also re-elected. Consuls of twenty-three of the forty-two Scouting nations were guests of honor at a banquet on Monday evening which took the form of a tribute to Daniel Carter Beard, National Scout Commissioner and Chairman of the National Council of Honor, in celebration of his eightieth birthday.

Gifts Toward Fund. Announcement was made at the dinner of preliminary gifts totaling $3,121,160 toward the $10,000,000 fund of the Boy Scouts of America. The most recent, one of $1,000,000 by Edward S. Harkness, financier and philanthropist, is conditional and only effective if the remainder of the $10,000,000 is available before January 1st. Names of other donors, whose gifts exceeded $25,000 were: American Relief Association Children's Fund, Estate of Conrad Hubert, $500,000; Mortimer L. Schiff, $250,000; George F. Baker, Marshall Field, Grace Velle Harris, Clarence H. Howard, George W. Olmstead and George D. Pratt, $100,000; Barron G. Collier, Mrs. Sigmund Eisner and family, Frank G. Hoover and father, $50,000; Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Sniffen, $25,000.

Declaration of Trust

What was said to be a unique feature of the "declaration of trust" creating the $10,000,000 fund is that of changing conditions result in there no longer being a need for Boy Scouts, or in the event that the five-year program shall not justify appropriation of all of the income from the fund, the trustees may divert it to other non-sectarian corporations organized to promote the welfare of the youth of the United States.

Mr. Head said: "The sum of $6,000,000 will be placed in trust. Only two of the five trustees are members of the National Executive Board. About $2,900,000 is required for a pension fund for Scout Executives and $500,000 for a National Training School. The balance will be used as working capital."

Silver Buffalo Awards

The Award of the Silver Buffalo, for distinguished service to boy-hood, was presented to President Hoover, who will accept at a later date; to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor of the State of New York and President of the Boy Scout Foundation of Greater New York, for his work in the interest of boys; to James Austin Wilder, artist, author and pioneer in Scouting who perfected the Pine Tree Patrol system now in use by the Boy Scouts; to Charles L. Sommers, of Minnesota, for his part in giving to the boys of the Northwest better opportunities for Scouting and education; to Charles C. More of San Francisco, one of the founders of the San Francisco Area Council of the Boy Scouts; and for ten years its president, for his contribution to the welfare of Scouting; to Lewis Warrington Baldwin, railroad president, for his interest in youth and for initiating the program of Scouting along the Missouri-Pacific Railroad system, thereby setting a precedent for other railroads of the United States; and to James Earl Russell, dean emeritus of Teachers College, Columbia University, founder of the first university courses for the training of Scoutmasters, and for fourteen years member of the Committee on Education of the Boy Scouts of America, whose early recognition and exposition of the sound educational principles underlying the Scout program led thousands of educators around the world to sense and use its values for character building and citizenship training.

Hoover Citation

The citation which accompanied the award to President Hoover follows: "Herbert Clark Hoover, thirty-first President of the United States, honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America and president of the American Child Health Association. His services to the children of Europe during the World War as chairman of the committee for relief in Belgium, and as organizer of children's relief in Poland, Serbia and Czechoslovakia, have made his name a symbol of intelligent benevolence throughout the world. As president of the American Child Health Association he has constantly brought the needs of American childhood before his countrymen, emphasizing not physical fitness alone but mental and spiritual health as well. As President of the United States he has called a great conference on child health and protection to co-ordinate the efforts of those who would serve American youth. His sympathy with the Scout movement and his intelligent interest in its citizenship and character-building program have given fresh impetus to public interest in Scouting."

James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, reported that the grand total membership of Scouts and Scout officials had reached 1,181,227 during 1929, comprising the greatest organized force of boys in the history of the world.

Dr. John H. Finley was toastmaster at the dinner and one of the principal speakers was United States Attorney Tuttle.

Gifts to Dan Beard. The birthday gifts to Mr. Beard, were handed to him by Dr. George J. Fisher. They included gifts from every part of the nation: a buckskin pouch of gold and also a statuette of a buckaroo in action from the National Council.

Mr. Beard said "as for being 80 years old, all I can say is if you boys and girls will stand by me, I'll live 80 years more and show you a good time."

Another speaker was Dr. Alfred E. Stearns of Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass., who said that while the older generation today has lost poise, "youth is infinitely cleaner, more idealistic and better-behaved than it was in my day."

A congratulatory telegram from Chief Scout Baden-Powell was read, Mortimer L. Schiff welcomed the foreign representatives present.

Entertainment at the banquet included the appearance of a Cub Pack from Brooklyn, N. Y., the first to be registered in the United States. The Cub program is the character building and citizenship training program recently sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America for boys younger than the present Scout age. Scouts from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut took part in the program and Scouts from Newburgh, N. Y., with the Scouts of the National Council staff service group, acted as ushers and orderlies during the two days of meetings.

ST. JOSEPH, MO. SCOUT NOW U. S. CONGRESSMAN

The Boy Scouts of America have the honor of contributing to the Congress of the United States a Congressman who was its youngest member when he was elected last February. He is Hon. David Hopkins of the Fourth Congressional District of Missouri, who registered as one of the first Scouts of St. Joseph, Mo., during 1911.

Mr. Hopkins, who is only 32 years old at present, has had a varied career as athlete, physical training instructor, High School Principal, dean of a college, superintendent of schools and now as United States Congressman. He attended the Twentieth Annual Meeting of the Boy Scouts of America in New York City last week as member of the local Scout Council of St. Joseph, Mo., his home town.

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Unit Boy Scouts was held May 22 in the Town Hall.

The Belleville Court of Honor will be held in the high school on Friday evening, June 6.

Troop 87, the Colored Troop, is meeting regularly on Tuesday evenings in Little Zion U. A. M. E. Church. Mr. J. Ross is Scoutmaster, and Mr. Henry is chairman of the troop committee.

Mr. J. S. Lee who has been acting as Scout Master of Troop 4, owing to his business demands has had to give up the work temporarily and Mr. Harry Brumback has taken over the Scoutmastership of that troop.

Mr. Jack Denike has been appointed as assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 86 to assist Mr. George Buchanan, the Scoutmaster of that troop which meets every Friday evening in the Grace Baptist Church.

Three of our Belleville Troops participated in the Camporee held at the Orange Camp at Livingston Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Arrangements are being made for all the Belleville B. S. Troops to be in the parade on Decoration Day.

Twenty Patrols representing Scout Troops from Newark, Irvington and Belleville camped over the weekend at Camp Livingston, the weekend camp site of the Orange Council. About 160 boys took part in this event. Tents were pitched, and camps set up throughout the woods.

RUST OF HOLLYHOCKS

By R. P. WHITE, Research Specialist, Diseases of Ornamentals.

These articles are not inspired for any commercial reason. They are written by ten experts to further garden study in the state.

Rust is the most common and most serious disease of hollyhocks. It occurs on plants of all ages, and from early spring to late fall. It is not severe, however, during the fall months and in the cooler northern states.

The rust can easily be detected on the young leaves in spring as orange-brown hemi-spherical spore masses, limited largely to the lower surfaces of the leaves. Later in the season, these spores are spread to other developing leaves, and, if conditions favor a heavy infection, the leaves will wither and die. Bloom production is retarded and dwarfed.

Starting from these leaves in the fall, infection again takes place on the newly developed leaves at the crown, and the rust fungus lives in these leaves until the following spring. Its life history is then complete.

Spring is the time to guard against serious infections later in the season. If any orange-brown hemi-spherical spore masses are found on the young leaves now, such leaves should be picked off and destroyed by burning. Throughout the season the plants should be dusted at weekly or ten-day intervals with a finely divided dusting sulfur. In the fall, all old stalks should be cut to the ground and all fallen leaves raked up and burned. Be sure to thoroughly coat the new fall growth at the crown with the dusting sulfur as a means of insuring healthy plants the following year.

New Direct Circuits Speed Telephone Calls

Many new direct circuits to speed telephone calls from northern and central New Jersey points to distant communities to the north, south and west are being opened this month. The faster and more direct service is warranted by the rapidly increasing number of long distance telephone calls New Jersey people are making, it was said recently by C. R. O'Neill, manager for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

Telephone users in Belleville and surrounding communities will be served by these extensive direct circuit additions, since all but a few of them terminate at the long distance switchboard in Newark, the switching point for an increasingly large amount of long distance traffic to and from New Jersey. These new circuits will speed up service and the chance of errors will be reduced, the manager said, by eliminating separate switching steps in every call made from this section to the distant points.

Fourteen of these circuit groups from Newark will be opened by June 1. They will provide direct connections with Cairo, Elmira, Glens Falls, Munter, Utica and Walden, in New York state; Pittsfield, Salem and Great Barrington, in Massachusetts; Norwich, Torrington and Canaan, in Connecticut; Charlotte, N. C., and Portland, Me. Direct circuits will be opened between Newark and St. Louis, Mo., by August 1, and between Newark and Cincinnati, by September 1. A circuit between Fallmouth, Mass., and Newark will be opened about July 1, and Kingston, N. Y. and Paterson will be linked directly together within a month. Recently new circuits were opened linking Newark with Hudson, N. Y., and Richmond, Va.

Each city reached by one of these circuits is a distributing center for calls, similar to Newark. Charlotte, N. C. will distribute calls to Atlanta, Ga., Raleigh, N. C., and many other points to the south, whereas access to these points previously has been through Washington and Richmond, Va. The New England points have been added to care for a rapidly increasing number of calls which previously have been handled through Boston. The Cincinnati circuits will give a direct routing for calls to Indianapolis, Ind., and Louisville, Ky., as well as other middle western points, while the St. Louis circuit will give quicker access to Kansas City, Oklahoma City and other southwestern middle western cities.

There is about a twenty percent increase each year in the number of long distance telephone calls originating in New Jersey. In Newark alone, there were about 110,000 telephone calls made to distant points outside of a forty mile zone during the month of August, 1929, which was a gain of about 23,700 as compared to the same month the year before.

A dinner dance will be held Thursday evening at Yountakah Country Club. Sport clothes will be in order. Open house will be held Decoration Day with a buffet supper served to midnight.

Transplant Seedlings Now

By A. C. McLEAN
N. J. Agr'l. Extension Service.

Now is the time to transplant seedlings from the seed bed to the garden. Some amateurs wait for a rainy spell before transplanting, which is all right in theory but not good in practice. Working any but a light soil when it is wet is likely to result in puddling, or a hard, baked condition.

In transplanting, the soil must come in direct contact with the roots thus insuring the plant of a water supply. After transplanting, reduce the leaf area. This is advisable because the digging of any plant destroys some of the roots and, in order to maintain the proper balance, the top should likewise be reduced.

By watering after the plants are set, transplanting can be done more successfully during a dry period than when it is wet. The watering will settle the ground around the plants. Cover with dry soil after the water has soaked in.

Set the plants a little deeper than they were in the seedbed, but not deep enough to cover up the growing crown of those which grow close to the surface of the soil. The most successful gardener uses his fingers in transplanting for they can bring the soil in closer contact with the roots and set the plants tighter than is possible with either a dibble or trowel. The objection to using either of these tools is that while the soil is brought in contact with the tops of the roots, the under parts may be left hanging in free air where they will eventually dry out.

Further information on this and other garden flower or agricultural questions may be obtained from the County extension Office, Caldwell, R. E. Harmon, County Agricultural Agent. Telephone 572.

Comparative Report Of Combined Results Of P. S. Corporation

A comparative statement of combined results of operation for the twelve months ending April 30, 1930 issued by Public Service Corporation of New Jersey shows for the corporation and its subsidiary companies gross earnings of $138,876,579.61 as against $128,453,938.21 for the twelve months ending April 30, 1929 an increase of $10,422,641.40.

Operating expenses, maintenance, taxes and depreciation were $7,751,331.90 a decrease of $106,648.87. Net income from operations was $3,586,423.30 an increase over April 1929 of $218,837.58. Other net income showed an increase of $96,666.82 over April 1929 and the total net income was $3,685,090.12 an increase over April 1929 of $309,682.48. Income deductions were $1,321,237.75 or $41,390.41 more than for April 1929 leaving the balance available for dividends and surplus $2,363,852.37 as against $2,085,560.30 for April 1929 an increase of $268,292.07.

Everyman's Outing

Members of Everyman's Bible Class 'donned old clothes last Saturday, and went to Glen Wild Lake for an outing.

They had fun a plenty; not even Mueller, who is nursing a beautiful "shiner" has any regrets for the afternoon's work-out. A foul ball from the bat of a "Blue Army" opponent found a lodging place in his left eye. John B. Brown, Town Counsel and Frank A. Siegler, general of the Blue Army of the class were victors in the three-legged race.

Quoit pitching, canoeing, fishing, swimming and other sports furnished a lively afternoon for everyone.

The game of baseball between the Red and Blue Armies resulted in a score of 9 runs for the latter and 5 for the former. The Reds had 8 hits and 4 errors against 9 hits and 2 errors for their opponents.

Walter Arnold, Major in the Blue Army acted as umpire, while Churchill Broadhead kept score. The score card credits our genial town Counsel with 2 hits for the Blue Team.

MARTIAL MUSIC IN THE CANNERY

The War Department has proposed to replace military bands with canned music issuing from amplifiers mounted on trucks. Doubtless, the idea of troops marching spiritedly behind a machine braying forth The Star Spangled Banner was merely funny to many people. But their mirth was nothing to the despair of music lovers. "Canned music in the home, tin melodies in the theatre, the robot in the dance hall," they wailed, "and now it is proposed to substitute phonograph records for picturesque drum majors and their followers!"

So far, the suggested change is only in the nature of a trial. The Quartermaster General has been authorized to purchase one mechanical musical device for a "service test." No assurance is given that army officials intend to make the scheme effective. Nevertheless, there are already some cynics who suggest the manufacture of canned patriotism. That is the only brand, they claim, which could possibly go along with this inhuman martial instrument. Perhaps when they do away with drum majors and snappy uniforms wars will be fought with "canned" men—tanks and planes controlled by radio-operated robots.

But while we are at it why not "can" was itself?

WHAT CUBA MEANS TO OUR FARMERS

Highly productive American agriculture has for many years looked to Cuba as a nice parking place for surplus farm products. Cuba never failed us. She bought to her utmost ability of our pork, mutton, fresh beef, eggs, butter and innumerable other products of the soil. Occasionally her purchases were necessarily curtailed when her purse went thin as a result of American duties on Cuban sugar, but even then the bulk of the Cuban dollar went into American coffers. Now our long-suffering little ward, emulating her guardian, has levied a few tariffs of her own. And what a bitter dose our own medicine is going to be for American farmers!

Lard, for instance, is one commodity upon which Cuba placed a higher duty. Germany is generally regarded as our important customer for lard, but Cuba buys 40 per cent as much lard from us as Germany does. Exports of eggs from the United States to the Island were valued at $11,700,000 in 1928. Cuba has increased the egg tariff. She has also slapped higher duties on condensed and evaporated milk whose flow to the Cuban isle has long delighted the hearts of our dairymen. And it won't take American hog and sheep raisers long to discover the new Cuban duties on hams, bacon, mutton and other meats. There are further details, but these are illustrative.

This seems a heavy bill to pay for the maintenance of a few cane and beet farmers. Perhaps farmers will not consider it excessive. Perhaps!

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

"Who killed the tariff bill?"

That might seem a queer question to ask before the corpse is cold, ever before the bill has been formally pronounced a corpse. Yet our Congressmen are both asking and answering it, each according to his own reasoning. Senator Furnifold Simmons of North Carolina thinks it is the House Republican leaders who are "somewhat indifferent to its passage." Senator Reed Smoot blames the Senate majority for not allowing Senate conferees to yield on the export duty and flexible tariff provisions. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi states that the Senator from Utah is "the only person in the country" who wants to see the bill pass.

What the other people in the country want is being pretty accurately indicated. Responses to a questionnaire sent by the New York Telegram to all editors of newspapers with circulation exceeding 50,000 showed a three-to-one opposition to Smoot-Hawley. Even those favoring the measure qualified their approval. One paper was non-committal. Another said that it was "not decided as to position on the bill itself!"

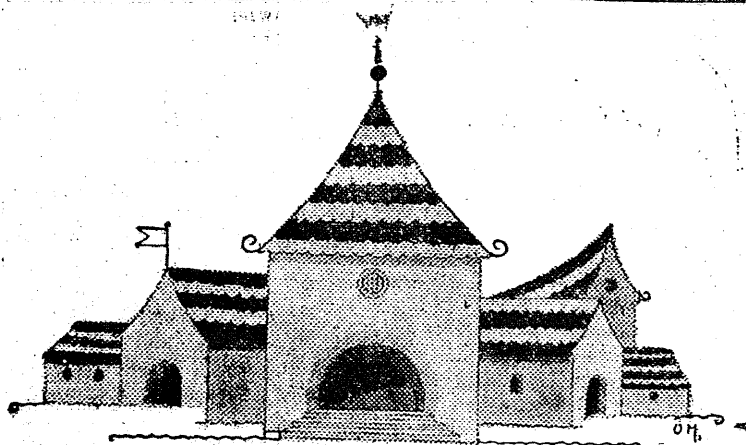

Exactly how the consumer is flicked on the raw by every high duty has been aptly put by an economist, who says: "Imagine a tax collector standing in the store demanding revenue on each article you purchase. A tariff tax may not be so obvious, but that is just how it works in the end."

We wonder how Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania feels when he reflects on his prediction uttered many months ago that the bill was doomed because there would be an unbreakable deadlock in conference. He hasn't yet said, "I told you so,"—but he may say it shortly.

THE LOUDSPEAKER SCHOOL

Will persons who have never seen a railroad train, an automobile or an airplane enjoy the words of a man who has flown over the north and south poles? Can a radio be substituted for the printed page as a means of contact with great minds?

In an attempt to answer such questions, the Federal Office of Education will shortly install a hundred radio sets in isolated mountain homes. Careful note will be made from time to time of the responses of the families to whom the radios are given. Educators are supervising the experiment with no set ideas to con-

Little Theatre For Paris
In Celebrated Latin Quarter

THE Little Theatre movement has spread to Paris. This distinctive American innovation has been introduced to Paris by Helena Rubinstein, who believes that the theatre is one of the world's basic channels of education and recreation.

The New American Theatre, which will seat 550 people will encourage the beginning dramatist and those who, for one reason or another, have not yet made a commercial success. New and unusual plays will be produced with but little reference to their commercial value. If the play contains a real idea, if it provokes thought, then it will have a chance at the New American Theatre.

Madame Rubinstein has already chosen a site for her new project, in the heart of the celebrated Latin Quarter in Paris. She sailed recently to hasten arrangements for the erection of the theatre itself.

firm or refute. They are attracted by the fact that learning was accomplished before the days of printing and even before the days of writing. If education were possible then without any means of communication except from person to person, they reason, why should it not be doubly possible now when it can get broadcast across continents? Several instances have already been brought to the attention of education officials to illustrate the effectiveness of relaying words of wisdom through the air.

The radio sets for the experiment were donated by the Department of the Interior and are being sent to the hundred homes through the Office of Education with the cooperation of certain State universities.

AMERICAN PLAY MAKES AMERICAN MONEY

All work and no play would make fewer American industries, judging by figures on vacation expenditures cited by Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce. The five billions and more dollars spent by American people annually on vacationing constitute the partial or entire support of hotel proprietors and bell-hops, restaurateurs and hot dog vendors, automobile manufacturers and gas station managers and countless others. It has been estimated that between 30 and 40 million Americans stop at summer resorts every year and that each visitor spends an average of ten dollars a day.

The amount spent by Americans traveling in Europe is an important factor in our trade balance and helps the war impoverished countries. Only last year we expended $800,000,000 abroad. How much foreign tourists contribute to United States business is not known, but it is conceded to be far less than our expenditures on European pleasures.

Besides providing a much needed opportunity for consumption to catch up with production, the urge to play reacts favorably on the playboys and their businesses. Eleven months of hard work, one month of glorious relaxation, and the tired business man returns to the "grind" with steady nerves and a willing heart.

WHAT GUIDE BOOKS DON'T TELL

People who follow the beaten tracks through Europe have interesting tales to tell when they return. But how much more interesting the narratives of those who stray into the small, unexpected bypaths! Over 700 chatty descriptions of trips abroad as told by Edwin Robert Petre, a seasoned traveler, have been published recently in his book "My European Excursions." Stay-at-homes who weary of the same old accounts given by the casual tourist will be delighted by the author's attitude as expressed in his preface:

"I am one of those who believe that the charm of travel in Europe is best enhanced by the observation of little things, such as the birds who fed at my table at Lange Linie in Denmark, or the old man who gave wine at Asolo and told me of Browning. Visiting cathedrals and castles can become very tiresome, but enjoying 'melody, magic and a meerschau' in the lanterned twilight outside Heidelberg's castle changes mere travel into the tapestried beauty of unforgettable experience. Europe is full of such delights of and on the tourist tracks and any pleasure which my readers have found in these random impressions is doubtless due to this fact."

A BELLEVILLE PROBLEM

Why not a taxpayers' association in Belleville to watch the expenditure of the peoples' money as authorized by the commissioners? The election is over and evidently the choice of the majority are in office for the next four years, but the tax problem is still squarely before us.

Why not merge the many improvement association in town into one, with the future of the whole town in mind instead of localities, and often influenced by town officials or employees.

The deterrent power of such an organization, closely watching the acts of the board of commissioners seems to the writer of much value, so preventing possible extravagance by protest and publicity. The tax of $200 and over on ordinary six room houses is entirely too high, and unless some protest of an organized nature is brought to bear, will not stop there.

It is difficult to attract home-owners or desirable manufacturers to a town where rates and taxes are so high that the expense of housing workers becomes prohibitive and the future growth of Belleville seriously retarded.

We are geographically situated to receive the only logical trend of growth from Newark and should capitalize on this condition. Our commissioners and business men should give serious consideration to any ways or means to stop or retard this ever growing tax burden. Each year in the past six having brought an increase in the tax bill at least in the writer's case, which certainly has been duplicated in many cases. The excitement and flurry incident to the campaign having subsided the way lies plain for some constructive deliberation for the future. What are you going to do about it?

FRED FISHER,
33 Oak street, Belleville.

Good-bye Stained Teeth New Safe Treatment Bleaches Dark Teeth in Three Minutes

Dentists have discovered a new safe treatment which bleaches stains from teeth, giving yellow discolored teeth a beautiful shining whiteness. It is called Bleachodent Combination, and consists of a remarkable liquid which cures or softens the stains—and a new kind of paste, which instantly removes the softened stains, and prevents new stains from forming. Simply brush the teeth with a few drops of the liquid—then use the paste—and even the duldest teeth are quickly whitened. Tobacco stains disappear after a few applications. Bleachodent Combination was first made for children's teeth to avoid the use of harsh gritty pastes which are so harmful to children's soft sensitive teeth. While Bleachodent Combination will instantly remove surface stains, do not expect it to remove stains caused by silver fillings, as these are below the enamel, and Bleachodent Combination is not intended to act on the enamel in any way. Fine for the gums. Bleachodent Combination is widely used and recommended. Costs just a few cents, and money back if not delighted. Get it today at all good dealers, such as:

When Northern Jersey has 5,000,000 Telephones

The modified telephone-number plan that takes effect June 7th prepares for many years of growth in Metropolitan Northern New Jersey.

It paves the way for a telephone system, largely dial, that can serve 5,000,000 telephones—ten times the total in service now in this large area.

It retains present Central Office names that are also community names. It avoids a long series of telephone number changes as new central offices are opened. It does its part in assuring a telephone service increasingly fast, convenient and dependable.

One of the great residential and business areas of the nation is moving swiftly toward a greater destiny. The telephone will keep pace with and aid this growth.

The change is slight—

Beginning Midnight Saturday, June 7th, a Central Office numeral will be part of every telephone number in Metropolitan Northern New Jersey.

"Orange 1234" will become "OR ange 3—1234" for example, which you will call as "Orange-three (pause) one-two—three-four".

Numbers under "1000" will have zeros prefixed to give them the necessary four figures, "Bloomfield 99", for instance, becoming "BL oomfield 2—0099".

Belleville Takes 1-0 Battle From Hackensack High

Mac Lamb, Winning Pitcher, Scores Lone Run By Homer

Belleville High School won from Hackensack High, 1 to 0, Saturday afternoon at Clearman Field, Belleville played errorless ball, while Hackensack made only one error.

The game was a pitchers' battle. Belleville's pitcher, "Mac" Lamb, besides twirling a shutout performance came through in the eighth inning with a home run, winning his own game.

Charley Christell was the only Belleville man to get a double. No Hackensack man got an extra base hit.

UNIONS RECORDED UPSET IN LEAGUE

Surprised Vaunted Cardinals By Eking Out 3-2 Decision

The Unions recorded a decided upset in the American Legion Junior League Saturday afternoon at Clearman Field by eking out a close 3-2 decision over the vaunted Cardinals.

Andy Colaninno, on the mound for the winners, held the hard-hitting Cardinals to six safe wallops and was seldom in danger. His opponent on the hillcock, "Pat" Dunn, was also in rare form, allowing the Unions a meager six hits, but poor support on the part of his mates cost him the decision.

The Unions got off on the right foot by countering once in the very first inning. Del Grosso was hit by a pitched ball to start matters, reached third on Bokavan's single to right and tallied on Paul's long sacrifice fly to center. Danny Dunn, Cardinal outfielder, made a fine return after the catch, but Del Grosso beat it by inches.

While the Cardinals were being turned back unless the Unions tallied twice more in the third. Christell's error gave Innicelli a life and he was promptly sacrificed to second on Costa's nice bunt. Del Grosso then reached first on a Cardinal error and both runners tallied on Paul's long double over the fence. That was the extent of the Union's scoring for the day.

Two Union errors allowed the Cardinals to tally their initial run in the fourth. Lamb opened with a clean single and went all the way around on a pair of Union miscues.

In the sixth Christell's double to right and a pair of infield outs accounted for the second and final Cardinal tally.

Charley Christell with a double and single and Buddy Ryan with a brace of singles defeated the Cardinal attack, while Paul got two of the four hits the Unions were able to account for.

Weehawken Defeats Blue And Gold Team

Seven Inning Fracas Ends With Locals On Short End of 8-5 Score

Belleville High's baseball nine travelled to Weehawken, Friday afternoon, and received an 8-5 setback at the hands of that high school in an abbreviated seven inning tilt.

The Bell-boys outthrew the homestays ten to eight but simply could not get going with runners on the basepaths, while on the other hand the Weehawkenites made the eight hits they garnered from the offering of Casale count for as many runs.

Before we delve into the why and whereof of the defeat, we must comment on the highly effective clouting of Eddie O'Neil, brilliant first sacker. Ennie slammed out three clean hits during the course of the afternoon and was a fielding demon at the initial hassock.

Weehawken drew first blood, scoring one run in the initial inning blanking the locals in their half. Christell's error, a sacrifice fly and Hammer's single tells the story of that first run. Again in the second inning the homestays tallied, while the Blue and Gold's attack was still dormant. This time singles by Knoll and Carpenter, sandwiched in with an infield out provided the scoring punch.

The Weehawkenites, practically clinched the contest in the very next frame denting the rubber a quartet of times to bring their total to six, while Belleville was still scoreless. Hammer's one-play wallop and successive doubles by Bayceich and Bruggerman were slugging highlights in this canto.

After being held scoreless for the first three innings, the Bell-boy stick wielders finally found themselves in the fourth inning and batted in their initial run. O'Neil singled as a starter, but was retired on Christell's fielder's choice. DeJura walked and then Casale came through in the pinch with a single to left tallying Christell.

Weehawken was blanked in its half of the same inning. Now that the ice had been broken the locals came back in the fifth and countered an additional trio of times to bring the count to 6-4. The slugging spree goes something like this: Lamb singled, Jerry Bonavita tripled, scoring Lamb. O'Neil singled tallying Bonavita, DeJura sacrificed and Jimmie Byrnes slammed out a double registering the third and final run.

Weehawken, however, not to be outdone, accounted for two unnecessary runs by the efficient method of poling out two successive homers. Bruggerman and Knoll were the miscreants.

The Bell-boys as a final but futile gesture pushed over their fifth run in the sixth without the aid of a hit. Nick Bonavita and Riccio worked the Weehawken pitcher for free tickets to start the ball rolling. Then a fielder's choice and Jerry Bonavita's long sacrifice fly to left brought Riccio across with the final run of the game.

In addition to the above-mentioned O'Neil, Jerry Bonavita and Ralph Casale featured the Bell-boys' ten hit attack with two bingles apiece while Turk Byrnes banged out a double in his only appearance at the platter.

Hammer, Bruggerman and Knoll were the most effective members with the stick of the Weehawken cast.

Teddy Coeyman Leads A. A. Squad To Win

His Steady Southpaw Slants Prove Too Much For Park A. C.

Behind the steady, effective twirling of their southpaw ace, Teddy Coeyman, the Belleville A. A. chalked up an easy 5-1 victory over the Park A. C., Thursday night, in a Belleville Legion League game at Clearman Field.

The Parks combed the offerings of Coeyman for eight safe wallops, but could never seem to supply the necessary punch when hits meant runs.

The opposite was true of the winning Belleville A. A. nine. Noonan's charges could nick Seibert, Park twirler for a meager trio of safeties, but everyone of them figured in the scoring.

The Parks were first to score, tallying their lone run in the second frame, after both sides had been blanked in the first. Cavallo, Park first sacker, opened with a single, went all the way to third on some loose fielding on the part of the A. A. and jogged across the plate on Mitschke's clean single over second.

The winners got busy in the very next canto denting the rubber three times on but two hits. Buchanan touched off the fireworks with a single to right and went all the way home on two successive Park miscues. Then with the runners on the basepaths, "Mac" Lamb promptly slammed out sizzling single to center, scoring both.

The fourth witnessed the end of the day's scoring as the Belleville A. A. pushed its final two runs, this time utilizing but one hit. Watters and Hahn both reached first safely on Park errors and set the stage for Kiss, the winners' backstop, who stepped up and cleared the bases with a sharp bingle to right center.

Thereafter the scoring was nil as both pitchers settled down to their tasks with a vengeance. The Parks, however, did threaten in the final frame, after Coeyman had struck out the first two batters. Mitschke and Seibert the next two batters each singled, but Coeyman was equal to the occasion and fanned Vogel for the final out.

Lamb and Kiss were the most effective swatsmiths for the winners, each batting in two runs with timely bingles. Billy Mitschke, Park catcher, led his mates with the willow with two of his side's eight hits.

Bill Murphy, center gardener of the losers, pulled the fielding gem, when he made a sensational running catch of Coeyman's long drive in the fourth and converted it into a double play.

Nereid Club Starts Tomorrow On Harlem-Active Year Ahead

The Nereid Boat club has entered four events in the Harlem Regatta, under the auspices of the New York Rowing Association, tomorrow, on the Harlem River.

This is the third year that the local Club has entered the regatta. Last year the club's squad shell was nosed out for first place by New Rochelle.

All the members of the club are in the junior class. Those entered in the Harlem regatta include junior single gig, Roxbury (Doc) McCormack; junior double gig, Arthur Dalphond and Gerard Rhodes; junior quad, William Bennett, Joe Degelo, Stephen Dingle and Jack Hicks; intermediate double shell, Burton Stanier and Kenneth Hardman.

This representation is a small number of those actively engaged in rowing in the club. Others include Ralph and Fred VanDuyne of Newark, Chris Englebeck, Irvington; Frank Menne, Bloomfield, formerly of Nassau Boat Club, New York; Louis Galluba, Stanley Goodrich, Robert C. Geller, Harry Weeks, Horace Mason, George "Brud" Worthington and Harry Suderley from Belleville.

Besides the Harlem Regatta, the Nereid Club has mapped out an active program. A dual meet with the Active Boat Club of Edgewater will be held June 23 on the Passaic River. This annual meet was won last year by the Belleville Club. The president and coach of the Edgewater team is August Eggering of that town. Between the boat races in this meet, the Tuscarora Canoe Club will entertain with intra-club canoe races.

DEFINITE PLANS MADE BY OARSMEN FOR JOINT REGATTA ON JUNE 28

Definite plans were made last night at the Nereid Club of Belleville looking to a joint regatta on the Passaic River in conjunction with the Active Boat Club of Edgewater and the Tuscarora Canoe Club of Belleville. June 28 is the date set.

C. L. Brett, the diminutive coach of the Nereids, was appointed temporary chairman while Al Lang of the Tuscaroras was selected as Secretary and John Dailey also of the Nereids was designated as Treasurer.

Efforts are to be made to secure entries from the leading New York Rowing Clubs, as well as from the canoe organizations of the Middle-States Canoe Racing Association. When the list is completed it will tend to place the regatta on a plane with the races held annually on the Schuylkill River at Philadelphia.

The Passaic has shown no signs of late of becoming polluted as in past years and as a result the various oarsmen and canoeists have large crews out every night training for what appears to be a very active season.

It is also felt that the improvements now being made along the River by the State Highway Commission as well as those planned by the Essex County Park Commission will tend to bring back boating and aquatic sports to the same popularity they held years ago.

The general committee consists of the following, all of whom have been active in boating for some time: Assemblyman Homer C. Zink; vice president, Edmund Rung, president of the First National Bank of Belleville; secretary, John P. Dailey, cashier of that bank and treasurer, Russell K. Rose, vice president of the People's National Bank of Belleville.

Belleville Comets Hold An Election

The Belleville Comet Club held an election of officers recently at the club house as follows: Dan Vreeland, manager; Dave Aker, captain; and Chester Day, business manager. Tunis Vreeland will be coach.

The Comets wish to express their appreciation for the way Mr. Vreeland has stuck by them in baseball as well as basketball. The Comets entered the Recreation League and dropped the first game. The score was 2-0.

Dave Aker pitched a fine game. Dan Vreeland is expected to be in the box on Wednesday when they play the Cardinals, at Belleville Park in their second league game. The results of the game will be announced next week.

For games please get in touch with Chester Day, 368 Greylock Parkway, telephone Bell. 1694-W. The team will feel the loss of its left fielder, Joe Punko, who dislocated his finger in a game Sunday. Joe is a good fielder and a heavy hitter.

Kearny High Ekes Out 5-3 Victory Over Blue And Gold

In a pitching duel between Al Gaul, no-hit, no-run star of Kearny High, and Jerry Bonavita, ace of the locals, Belleville emerged second best, Tuesday afternoon, at Kearny and were forced to take the short end of a 5-3 decision.

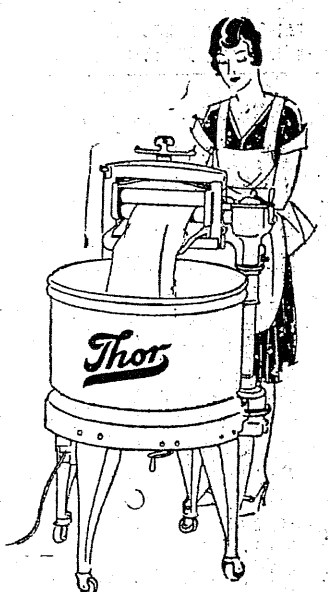

To say it was a pitchers' duel between these two moundmen is the gospel truth, as each twirler starred with the willow, as well as on the mound. In the very first inning Bonavita slammed out a long homer to deep center for the locals, second run of the inning. He also garnered a single later to give him two of his side's five hits. Gaul collected a trio of safe bingles from the offerings of Bonavita and personally accounted for the winning runs when he banged out a single in the seventh with two on board.

The other Belleville run in the first, besides Bonavita's homer came as a result of some weird fielding on the part of the homestays. "Mac" Lamb sent a hot grounder to the third baseman, who scooped it up and threw wildly to first. Then followed a comedy of errors which Lamb went all the way around the bases for a counter.

The fielding features were provided by Jay Suderley, Herb Otto and Eddie O'Neil. Faith did most of the Nutley boys' clouting. Memorial Day the Panthers will travel to Branch Brook Park to engage the Starlings in a Davega League tilt, while Sunday afternoon they will encounter the Pontiacs at Belleville Park in another league affair.

Positions of Hands and Feet

PROPER driving posture is an important thing frequently left unlearned. Fatigue can be avoided by assuming a comfortable position. This is important and should receive due consideration from the student driver.

The position of the hands on the steering wheel is perhaps one of the things that rarely receives any particular attention. Good drivers declare that holding the hands in a position similar to the hands on a clock when it is twenty minutes past ten is the most advantageous position in so far as comfort and possible emergency necessity are concerned. The position of the feet is another matter that deserves consideration. Until a driver is sure he can find the brake pedal quickly without looking, his right foot should be in the immediate vicinity of the brake pedal while driving.

It is not good practice, however, to keep the right foot on the clutch pedal, as this causes slippage of the clutch and premature and unnecessary wear and tear.

In driving down steep hills, it is the accepted practice to use second gear and press the brake pedal only intermittently. Constant use of the brakes on long steep hills frequently causes them to burn out on many of the popular priced cars. The use of second gear, however, acts as a brake and precludes the necessity of constant pressure on the brake pedal.

Motorists who form these habits while they are learning to drive will continue them naturally as they become more expert. The result is fewer repair bills, increased safety and less driving strain.

Before the advent of the all-steel, full vision automobile of today, driving was a strain on the nervous system. However, the modern automobile if properly driven can be as comfortable and delightful for the driver as it is for the rest of the passengers.

And speaking of nerves, you will find that most racing drivers travel from town to town at an even, steady pace of between twenty-five and thirty-five miles an hour, which they can maintain hour in and hour out, uphill and down dale, in traffic and on open highways. This produces greater safety, much less fatigue and nerve strain, and, in the course of a day's journey much greater mileage than the habit most people have of driving in fits and starts, fifty miles at times then slowing down to ten or twelve when traffic forms an obstacle to speed.

HURT WHEN AUTO HITS PARKED CAR

Hurled from an automobile by the impact of a collision with another car parked at Mill and Dow streets Friday night, William McCoy of 160 Mill street, suffered laceration of the head. Three stitches were taken in the wound by Dr. E. A. Flynn.

John Kundson of 282 Cortlandt street, driver of the car, was examined by the doctor, who said he had been drinking, but was not intoxicated, according to the report of Patrolman Smith. The parked car, which was damaged, is owned by John Lehminger of 119 Main street.

Henry Roth of 970 East Forty-second street, Brooklyn, sustained a cut on his right leg when the automobile in which he was riding overturned in a collision with another car which also overturned at Rutgers street and Washington avenue, at 7 A. M. Saturday. Joseph Homigman of 970 East Forty-second street, Brooklyn, and Joseph Bena of 215 Park avenue, Nutley, the drivers, were unhurt.

Gangsters—Notice

Chicago gangsters and other thugs will have to watch their step if they intend invading Gary, Ind., according to word from police officials of the latter city. The reason? The police department of Gary has just received a new armoured Hupmobile straight eight phaeton which was designed especially for the pursuit of criminals.

The new car, which was delivered last week, boasts plenty of speed and power with which to make things hot for fleeing criminals. It is powered by the 133 horse-power engine with radiator-cooled oil, which Hupmobile introduced at the New York Automobile Show in January. It has a speed of 90 miles an hour and an acceleration that is admirably adapted to police work. In addition, several unique features fit this car for its special work.

It is a seven passenger phaeton built on the standard Model "H" chassis, but specially equipped throughout. The windshield and windshield wings are of laminated, bullet-proof glass, more than an inch thick. Through the right side of the windshield is a gun port which will accommodate the barrels of every kind of a fire arm up to a riot gun. A rubber liner in the port steadies the weapon when the car is being driven at high speed. About the windshield is a special steel liner which encases the entire glass, preventing bullets from passing through the windshield frame.

Another outstanding feature of the car is the bullet proof sheet metal guards used over the front end of the car. Two steel plates encase the radiator. The top plate overlaps the lower plate, leaving a gap across the front through which air can reach the radiator for cooling purposes. Both front and rear tires are protected from gun fire from the front. An angled guard is built over both front wheels and is attached at its upper end to the front fender. These guards cover the front tires completely with the exception of a small space at the bottom of the wheel which is left for road clearance. Missiles hitting the tire at this point would strike on such an oblique angle that they will ricochet without

NOTICE
PUBLIC NOTICE HEREBY GIVEN that the following proposed ordinance was introduced and passed on first reading at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville held Tuesday evening, May 20th, 1930, and further notice hereby given that second and third readings of said ordinance will be considered by said board at a meeting to be held at the Town Hall, Washington Avenue and Belleville Avenue, Tuesday evening, June 2nd, 1930, at 8 o'clock P. M. when all objections to the passing of the same will be heard and considered.

JOHN J. DAILY
Town Clerk.
AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO SALARIES OF THE MAYOR AND COMMISSIONERS OF THE TOWN OF BELLEVILLE.

The Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville do ordain:
1.—That pursuant to Chapter 221 of the Laws of 1911 and the amendments and supplements thereof the annual salary of the Mayor of the Town of Belleville is hereby fixed at $2,250 and the annual salary of each member of the Board of Commissioners is hereby fixed at $1,250. These salaries shall be payable semi-monthly in the same manner as the salaries of officials of the Town of Belleville are paid.
2.—All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.
3.—This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY
By virtue of an Order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day of the date hereof, in a cause wherein Essex Mortgage and Investment Company, a corporation, is complainant, and you and others are defendants, you are required to appear and answer or plead to the bill of said complaint, on or before the fourteenth day of July, next, or the bill will be taken as confessed against you.

The said bill is filed to foreclose a mortgage given by you, Charles V. Meehan and Alice Elizabeth Meehan, your wife, to complainant, dated July 26, 1928, on lands in the Town of Belleville, Essex County, New Jersey, and you, Charles V. Meehan, are made a party defendant because you, together with your wife, executed said mortgage and the bond accompanying same and because you are the husband of the said Alice Elizabeth Meehan, and therefore have some interest in said lands and premises.

ADVERTISING GOT THE GRASSHOPPERS

An Advertising Salesman bet a man that He could insert a one-inch advertisement in the most inconspicuous corner of the paper, offering a prize to the boy or girl who brought in the most grasshoppers on a certain day and get results that would surprise one. The man agreed that if there was a good response he would be sure that people were readers of papers and would become an advertising customer.

"The ad was inserted and a certain day specified. Before daylight boys and girls by the score swarmed around the office. An hour later they grew thicker. There were grasshoppers of every description, big, and little. They swarmed over tables and chairs and all the while the doubtful merchant became more astonished and convinced. He is now one of the biggest advertisers."

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE

That must have been an impressive and touching scene at the Suresnes Cemetery just outside Paris, when the first delegation of American Gold Star mothers went to pray at the burial places of their sons and to lay their flowering tributes of loving memory against the marble stones telling of the great sacrifice. It is certain that nothing just like it has ever occurred in the world before. No nation has ever had the thought to send its bereaved mothers to the last resting places of their boys, meeting all the expense and even furnishing the wreaths which they placed at the graves of their sons, as well as at those of the unidentified dead in the Suresnes.

This journey is something that those who were able to take it will never forget. The different scenes; the knowledge that in a foreign land is a bit of the soil of the United States; the sight of the flag floating over the remains of their heroic dead. And then, when their devotions are over, the reversion to more cheerful thoughts and the enjoyment of sight-seeing.

When these women come back to America, they will have a new concept of the power and majesty of their country and of its appreciative interest in their behalf. Whoever was the first to devise these trips deserves a memorial himself.

And, lest we forget, tomorrow is Memorial Day, a day for revering the dead—not another holiday as some would have it. Let us think, too, of these mothers on that day.

A NEW COLLEGE FAD

Another fad, far more widespread than the sporadic "shorts" crusade, is sweeping the colleges. The "crew haircut" is all the rage now. This consists of a liberal use of the clipper, leaving just a tuft of hair on the top of the head. Crew men have for some years kept their heads closely cut during the training season, but now the non-athletes at the various colleges and preparatory schools are falling in line. The completed job on the hair is reminiscent of the close-cropped heads of the German soldiers in the movie films.

The "crew haircut" is not likely to improve the appearance of the average young man, but is certainly to be preferred to the sleek and oily movie sheik style of the past two years.

A POTATO PROBLEM

A correspondent of the News brings up an important point. An authority on etiquette has assured him that it is unmanly to mash any food on his plate. And he wants to know what he is to do when he is confronted with a baked potato.

There are people who cannot get interested in the tariff or in disarmament, or even in prohibition. But here is a real problem that concerns all of us. We surmise that here is one point where the authority on etiquette has slipped. If you do not mash a baked potato, what do you do with it?

A BIT MIXED

Judging by the photographs, these college youths who have taken to "shorts" are a bit ignorant of the style in "shorts." The "shorts" the college boys are wearing are, in most cases, just white running pants. The real "shorts" are designed to just reach the knees and they are worn with golf stockings rolled up to just below the knee. This makes a rather sensible, attractive outfit or sport costume. But the pictures of the college "shorts" wearers look like young fellows at large in their summer underwear, making a slightly ridiculous ensemble.

GETTING RID OF DATES

Education nowadays is full of innovations, most of them resented by parents and children. But the experiment which New York is to make next fall in teaching history will be welcomed more enthusiastically than most of the new things in education.

The outstanding feature of this is the elimination, as far as it is possible, of dates. History will be taught in sequence, but pupils will not be expected to memorize long lists of dates which are important enough to adults, but which cannot be otherwise than meaningless to a child. History should be the most interesting and the most stimulating of all studies, but it is often the most dreary. A good deal of that unfortunate condition is attributable to this emphasis on dates. The New York experiment appears to be one that is moving in the right direction.

BARGAIN DAYS?

A bill just passed by the House and Senate may make plenty of work for some postmasters. It provides that, where parcel post packages containing perishable goods cannot be delivered immediately, the postmaster has the authority to sell the goods to the best advantage and return the amount received, less 10 per cent for charges, to the addressee. If there happened to be much of this sort of mail the various postoffices might stage some bargain sales.

EUROPEAN PRICES FALLING

Statistics indicate that the tourist rush to Europe this year is to be considerably smaller than that of 1929. But those who do go will have some luck which results from the misfortunes of others. The business depression here, which has made so many people decide to stay at home this summer, is felt all over Europe. Even in France, where there is no unemployment, prices are falling from the high levels reached last year. The same is true in other nations is even more pronounced. Tourists who keep away from hotels and shops run especially for American patronage should have a good time. Wholesale prices in Italy, for example, are now lower than they have been since 1921.

Jokes.

Willie—"I have an awful tooth-ache."
Tommy—"I'd have it taken out if it was mine."
Willie—"Yeah—"If it was yours, I would, too."

When the report went around that Rudyard Kipling was getting a shilling a word for something he was writing, some Oxford students set about "ragging" him. Wiring Kipling a shilling, they said: "Please send us one of your words."
And right back came the answer: "Thanks."

Proud mother (holding up baby): "Everybody says she resembles me so much. Just look at our faces side by side."

Caller: "Oh, yes, you're right. Nothing could be plainer."

"Pat," said Mrs. Maloney, "that bye Diddy av ours is getting to be such a dude, ye'll soon have to buy him a monocle."
"A monocle is it?" agreed Pat. "Sure he'd be too lazy ever to learn to ride it."

Traveler—"Did you find a roll containing $50 under my pillow?"
Pullman Porter—"Yes, thanks!"

Boss—"Why did you spell pneumatic 'newmatic'?"
Dumb Stenog—"The 'k' on my typewriter is not working."

Casey met Kelly attired in his Sunday clothes.

"Are you wurkin' today?" queried Casey.

"No," said Kelly. "We declared a strike yesterday."

"For more pay?"

"No. For shorter hours."
"Oi don't blame ye! Oi always maintained that sixty minutes wuz much too much for an hour—an Oi hopes ye wins!"

"I suppose," a father remarked, "now that your boy is out of college, he expects to set the world on fire."

"No," the second father differed gloomily. "From all indications I believe he's going to be perfectly satisfied with just warming a chair."

At a concert in Detroit, quarters were decidedly cramped and Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the soloist, had to make her entrance from the rear, down through the orchestra with its maze of music stands. All went well till she came to the orchestra where her familiar large proportions began knocking over music racks.

"Go sideways, Madame," hissed Conductor Gabrilowitsch in an excited stage whisper.

Ernestine wrinkled her brow, gave a puzzled look from right to left and called back to the conductor in a horse whisper, "Mein Gott, I have no sideways!"

Citizen Cites

Service is what we all demand and few get.

The right use of leisure is the key to happiness.

It is easier for an overworked man to do a little more than for a lazy one to get up steam.

Strange that a man of letters is never a capitalist.

Poverty though not a crime is subject to the penalty of hard labor.

It pays to be straight which may explain the popularity of the letter I.

When the meek inherit the earth they'll probably turn it into cash and buy swell cars.

A hick town is a place where the rich tourist fined for speeding departs amid a chorus of snickers.

At least in throwing out the first baseball, executives take no responsibility.

The man who has never made a fool of himself lacks something that makes him kin to his brethren.

Too many things are done well that are not worth doing at all.

A business barren of sentiment stifles loyalty, which is one of the greatest factors of success.

Detours take a lot of fun out of "de" tours.

As a rule dreamers find it isn't so when they wake up.

J. A. Graves president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Los Angeles, says:

"That in my long business experience I find that success depends upon close attention to whatever industry one is engaged in, coupled with hard labor."

"Things do not just come to the wealthy men of this nation. If you will study their history you will find that, in most instances, their beginnings were humble, their rise in the world slow, and when success came to them it was merited. Honesty toward one's fellow creatures is an attribute that has contributed to the success of many. Our great philanthropists, as a rule, have been self-made men. Having themselves suffered from poverty, they can understand the wants of their fellow men and know better how to assist them."

"Nature has been kind to America in many ways. It vested her with more natural resources than any spot on the face of the globe except Russia. Unlike Russia, the American people have, up to the present time, maintained a sensible course, politically, not always free from corruption, but better by far than that of many nations. Vigilance against Red agitators and Communists who, in the past, have not hesitated to commit any sort of a dastardly outrage to accomplish some purpose dear to their hearts, is necessary, if we would forever keep our free institutions unhampered as they left the hands of the founders of our government."

"We should avoid too much frivolity, such as professional baseball and football, golf and kindred sports, when they interfere with the orderly conduct of our affairs. Gambling is an evil which, whether practiced on the stock market or at the card table, has ruined many a man whose abilities were great and prospects bright."

This is a good old world for those who will treat it properly. Years ago Juvenal wrote: 'We call on Fortune and her implore, when Prudence is the Goddess to adore.'

"Waiving aside Prudence and trusting to Fortune has cost many a man the accumulations of years of honest toil. No man should expect too much in this busy world. He should desire that, and that only, which honest industry entitles him to."

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

By BOYCE BROGDON

The other day, by appointment, I visited my dentist.

When I say "my dentist," I do not mean to convey that I engage his exclusive services. We get into the habit of speaking of "my dentist," "my doctor," "my lawyer," without intending to use the possessive pronoun "my" in a proprietary sense.

Having made myself clear on this point, we will proceed to take up the thread of this narrative where we dropped it, provided we can recall what we were writing about.

I have often had a conviction I could get somewhere in the writing profession and occasionally carry a premise to its logical conclusion, if it were not for the disconcerting and interruptive bypaths I am obliged to take in order to explain certain words or statements for the benefit of certain readers who possess only a modicum of intelligence and must needs have everything blue-printed so that it may register on what they flatteringly term their "brains."

After having wandered off on one of these detours and returned at last to the main road, the chances are that I have forgotten my destination or objective, as in this case.

What did I start out to write about, if anything? Ah!—now I remember,—my visit to the dentist.

Yes, I make it a rule to visit my dentist at least twice per annum; not because I necessarily need any work done, but merely to check up on my gnawing system.

As frequently happens on these visits, the dentist merely looks at my teeth, tells me how old I am, charges me a nominal fee, and I blithely depart. Thus I am kept informed of my age, without bothering to keep track of my birthdays.

When I entered the waiting room, I found one patient ahead of me—a gentleman who sat on the edge of a chair as if gathering himself for a leap into space. His eyes had a wild glazed look, and his face was pale and troubled. From time to time, his hair would automatically erect itself and he would clap his hand to his jaw.

"Toothache?" I questioned sympathetically. He gave me a look of pity and replied shortly:

"Of course not—appendicitis."
"Then you have come to the wrong place, my friend—this is a dentist's office."

"Don't you suppose I know it!" he said wistfully. "You see me holding my jaw and writhing in pain, and then have nerve enough to ask me such a perfectly superfluous question as to 'whether I have a toothache!'"

You're tootin' right, I have the toothache; and when the dentist gets thru with the patient in there, I'm gonna have the thing pulled out, root and branch!"

"Bully for you—I glory in your spunk. It takes courage to have a tooth pulled."

"Bah! not for a brave man who can lick his weight in wildcats, it doesn't. Say, listen—when I climb into that chair and Doc starts to give me that silly laughin' gas, do you know what I'm gonna say to him?"

"Ask him to give you a double dose, probably."
"I will not—I'll tell him to go ahead and yank without any artificial pain-killers, so I'll get the full benefit of the agony. Me?—I'm a glutton for punishment."

At that instant, there was a low sobbing moan leaked thru the door of the operating room.

"Wot was that?" asked the glutton for punishment.

"Oh, nothing, probably, but a distress signal from some poor guy who is having a molar lifted. Not everybody is a stoic like you are. Some people, like that poor weakling in there for instance, cannot repress their emotions under pain—they cry out like babies."

A muffled shriek oozed through the keyhole.

The brave patient, who was impatiently waiting for the zero hour to go over the top, batted his eyes and cocked his ear toward the operating room door.

"It won't be long, now," I suggested.

"What do you mean by that?"

"Presently that door will open, and you will have an opportunity to rush in and have that old pest of a tooth out."

"By the way," he said eagerly, "are you in a hurry?"

"Yes—because if you are, you can have my turn, and I'll wait until Doc is thru with you—I have all kinds of time—you go ahead first."

"I appreciate your self-sacrifice and kindness, but I couldn't think of doing that. Do you suppose I would push in ahead of you and let you sit here and suffer?"

"It's a funny thing," he said, "but I'm hardly suffering at all, at the present moment—that tooth of mine has what you might say practically stopped aching altogether. Say, it might be a big mistake for me to have that tooth out, after all. It's really a pretty good tooth and might be worth saving. I've known people, who had their teeth pulled on the spur of the moment, to regret it. On second thought, I believe I'll wait a few days."

So saying, he arose and started out of the office. At the door he turned and said, "Glad to have met you."

At the instant, the operating door opened and the dentist emerged. Fixing his eye on the man at the door he said, "Did you wish to see me?"

"No, sir," said the glutton for punishment with a sickly smile, "I guess I got into the wrong office by mistake, sir."

He closed the door softly behind him, going out.

Sunday after Ascension. Holy Communion and sermon at 11 o'clock. Mr. Deckenbach's sermon topic will be: "Why Did Jesus Die?" Evening prayer and sermon at 7:45, topic, "A Character Study." Young People's Fellowship at 7 o'clock, every Sunday evening.

Sunday school at 9:45 every Sunday morning.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Guild was held yesterday afternoon, at the parish house. The president, Mrs. Mary J. Lloyd presided. Reports of the May Committee luncheon and card party, which took place on Wednesday, were received. The June Committee has decided upon an evening card party to be held on Friday, June 20. Mrs. Lloyd Munn is general chairman, assisted by Mrs. E. E. Mac Nary, Mrs. M. E. Madison, Mrs. Herbert Mayes, Mrs. Arthur McCluskey, Mrs. Sue Metz, Mrs. Frank G. Miller, Mrs. H. A. Miller, Miss Marie Minion, Mrs. William A. Moore and Mrs. Edward Nelson.

Last Thursday evening a game of baseball was played on the lawn in front of the parish house. Members of the girls' choir played against members of the men's choir, the result being a victory for the men in a score of 9 to 7.

The line-up was as follows: Girls' choir, the Misses Helen Peck, Matilda Lankowski, Phoebe Spencer, Grace Ten Broeck, Dorothy Westra, Frances and Ruth Williamson; men's choir—Charles and William Beer, Daniel Donnelly, Wellesley Earl, Walter Gilby, John Hewitt and Theodore Miller. Mr. Deckenbach acted as umpire.

Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society there was a demonstration lecturer from the Castle Ice Cream Co., whose interesting talk was greatly enjoyed. The remaining activities for this season are as follows: Next Wednesday evening, business meeting to perfect plans for the coming dance on June 6 and the closing party on June 11. Tickets for the dance are now on sale for thirty-five cents and music will be furnished by the Nightingale Orchestra.

The proceeds of the dance are to be used for the Society's pledge for the Holiday House at Delaware, N. J. On Sunday evening, June 8, there will be an Admission Service, at which time Mrs. Herbert Ainsworth and Mrs. Frederick Sedgwick will be admitted as associates, and a class of nine girls will be admitted as members. The closing party for the candidates took place on Monday afternoon. Games were played, prizes awarded and birthday remembrances given to those girls whose birthdays occur in May and June. Miss Frances Williamson was in charge, assisted by the Branch President, Mrs. George A. Kelsall, Mrs. J. Harry Edwards and Mrs. Herbert Ainsworth. Refreshments were served. More than forty went by special bus to Grace Church, Orange, on Saturday afternoon, to attend the Annual Diocesan service and party for candidates. The Kites' Orches-

Notes

Sunday, 11 A. M.—"The bread," we shall dwell upon during the morning service, meditating on the staff of life, but after all is said, is there nothing more to life than to eat, work and sleep? During the morning service, communion will be served.

Sunday, 7:45 P. M.—"By The Brook." We are lovers of the running brook. Who of us has not felt refreshed, as wandering through the woods, on a hot summer's day, we have come upon a brook, with its cool and inviting waters. We kneel and drink and are refreshed. Have you ever thought of what stories that brook could tell if it had the power to speak? Perhaps it is just as well for some people that the brook cannot speak. It might say some thing that some people would not want to hear. The subject at Grace Sunday evening will be "By The Brook."

It was a happy but tired crowd that returned to their homes, Saturday, after an outing under the management of the Good Will Chapter of the World Wide Guild, of Grace Church. Leaving the church at 2:30 P. M. by autos the party went to Surprise Lake, in Union County, where games were played and bathing and boating were enjoyed. After an afternoon of pleasure and sport the party returned to Belleville about 9 P. M. In the party were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Torrey, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Russey, Jr., Master Irving Russell, 3d, Mrs. H. Russell, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Russell, Miss Jean Russell, Miss Helen Colehamer, Miss Doris Colehamer, Mrs. W. D. Clark, Jr., Miss Jessie Kreautler, Miss Alma Baxter, Miss Catherine Faust, Miss Dorothy Carr, Miss Irene Eller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomson, Mrs. Ethel Prager, Miss Edna Prager, Miss Grace Eller, Mrs. Meyers, Sr., Mr. A. Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. L. Turner, Mrs. Mac Fagen, Miss Elizabeth Mac Faden, Master Robert Atwood, Rev. and Mrs. McCombe, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hyde, James Irwin Hyde, Margo Hyde, Judith Hyde, Annadel Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sherwood, Mr. Carlton Smith, Mr. M. Rossman, Miss Margaret Tomshaw, Miss Mildred Drentlau, Miss Mildred Smith, Mr. Elmer Smith, Miss Edith Pesvey, Miss Jane Babban, Miss Ida Bruegman, Mrs. Willard Wharton, Mr. Raymon Thatcher, Mr. Robert Holden, Miss Claraaie Brodhead, Miss Virginia Holland, Mrs. Anna Karrer, Mr. Willard Thatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Blair, Master Blair, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George Karrer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ryer, Mr. Robert Ryer, Miss Clara Doell, Miss Ethel Bryaan, Miss Edith Hueston, Miss Jessie Nolan, Mrs. Elmer Smith.

The sack race was won by Mr. Rossman. The ladies' sack race by Mrs. Charles Thomson; the peanut race, by Howard Ryer; tug of war, fat men against the lean. This race was won by the lean, showing that beef does not always count. Everybody was loud in their praise of the carefully made plans for their comfort, and all are waiting for the next outing. Much credit is due Mrs. Jessie Hyde for the success of the event.

The Good Will Chapter of the World Wide Guild met Monday evening at the home of Miss Ethel Bryan, Union avenue. An interesting program was carried out, after which games were played and refreshments served.

Robert Ingersoll pays a beautiful tribute to the men of the 60's when he said: "These heroes are dead. They died for liberty—they died for us. They are at rest. They sleep in the land they made free, under the flag. The flag they rendered stainless, under the solemn pines, the sad hemlocks, the tearful willows and the embracing vines. They sleep beneath the shadows of the clouds, careless alike of sunshine or of the storm, each in the windowless palace of rest. Earth may run red with other wars; they are at peace. In the midst of battle, in the roar of conflict, they found the serenity of death. I have but one sentiment for soldiers living and dead: Cheers for the living; tears for the dead."

Tuesday evening proved indeed a true fellowship meeting. Those present at these services are finding real help, as their thought is guided into the right channels. The linking up of the past with current events gives times, men and events a different view point. The young people also find that ancient history is not a bore, but is full of interest and that presents events can be right-ly understood without a clear knowledge of the past. They see that ancient history lays the foundation for the true appreciation of modern history.

Wednesday evening a good crowd during the afternoon and early evening enjoyed themselves at the strawberry festival, on the parsonage lawn. Friends of former years met each other and chatted about the times that used to be. Mrs. H. Russell had made careful plans and assisted by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary made everyone feel at home. Strawberries, cake and Ice Cream, with the delightful view from "Paradise Hill," made it worth the while for all who were present.

The popular pastime of bowling is taking on new life, among the men of the community. Groups of men may be seen each evening enjoying good exercise, after a hard day's work. The Grace Church alleys are proving a needed help to the men of the community in keeping them fit for the hard struggle of daily existence. Any man irrespective of creed that is looking for clean sport and good fellowship will find what they are seeking at the Grace alleys.

Memorial Day is with us once more. The day that the older generation knew is slowly but surely departing from us. In the very near future the last survivor of those who risked their lives to keep our Republic a United Country will have passed into eternal silence.

Their names will be all that is left to remind us of a great struggle, in a divided nation. Other wars have cast their shadows, over the terrible conflict of the Civil War. Growth of population and the development of our rich resources have pushed aside much of the glorious inheritance of the past. Let us pay tribute to the men of later wars. The men who fought for the freedom of the world. The men who have kept our flag stainless. But do not forget the men who made possible our present greatness. South and North we greet thee, on this Memorial Day. Each of you fought for home and loved ones. North and South, in token of your sacrifice; we pause, on this hallowed day, to give to thee the homage of grateful hearts. You preferred death on the battlefield to dishonor at home. May the spirit of sacrifice that inspired you be our heritage; that America may continue to lead in worth-while things the nations of the world.

The Senior World Wide Guild will hold a candle light service and initiation in June. This will take the place of the regular evening service.

At the invitation of the Catholic Daughters of America connected with the Sacred Heart Church of Bloomfield, last Monday night, the members of St. Peter's Social Society presented their one act comedy "The Posers," which was one of the features of the recent spring carnival of the society. The performance was for the entertainment of the members of the Court, after which the cast entertained at a reception which included refreshments and dancing.

C. D. A. Meeting

On Tuesday, June 3, Court Santa Maria, No. 61, Catholic Daughters of America, will meet in the annex for their regular meeting.

About 50 of the daughters journeyed to Court Cecilia, Kearny, Friday evening, and witnessed initiation ceremonies conferred on a large class of candidates. The sketch recently played by St. Peter's Social Society, the "Posers," was played for Court Caritas, Bloomfield, Monday evening. About 75 member of the local court attended, and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

Rev. Edgar M. Compton

Those who served on the hospital-ity committee last Sunday were Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Christian Hansen and Mrs. John Pole. The latter has been chairman for the month of May, and those who served with her were members of the Young Woman's Auxiliary.

The Young Woman's Auxiliary will meet next Tuesday, June 3, at the home of Mrs. Christian Hansen, 230 New Street, with Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. H. Box and Mrs. W. Budd co-hostesses. This will be the last meeting of the season.

The speaker at the Epworth League service last Sunday evening was Mrs. Edgar M. Compton. The League held a short business meeting Monday, followed by a social hour. The Junior League held its last meeting of the season last Tuesday. The social hour took the form of a May Party and all the members had an unusually good time.

Clinton N. Howard, chairman of the National United Committee for Law Enforcement made an address Wednesday at a mass meeting in defense of the Constitution, at the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Clinton N. Howard is an international figure. For four years after the War he served as chairman of the World's Peace Commission advocating a world peace pact, with arbitration as a substitute for armed force, and international disarmament as the only insurance against war.

His lecture "The World on Fire," was printed by order of Congress as a public document. Over a million copies were sold. The Washington office of the National Red Cross announced him as the "greatest speaker we have ever heard." He is said to have addressed a larger number of persons during the thirty years of his platform career than any living man. William Jennings Bryan said, "I hope the world can hear this modern apostle."

The National United Committee of which Mr. Howard is chairman, is a federated body representing twenty national and state organizations through their executive heads, and members at large from the several states. It was organized five years ago at Washington with Mr. Howard as chairman and has since conducted campaigns in defense of the Constitution in thirty-eight states under his administration.

Mr. Howard delivered one hundred consecutive lectures in Philadelphia and Washington in 1929, addressing over 100,000 persons face to face.

A greater New York campaign was launched in September where Mr. Howard has delivered over 150 lectures in the principal churches and clubs. He gave in Belleville his famous lecture on "The Glory of the American Constitution." The meeting was held at the Methodist church at 8 P. M.

Next Sunday will be Communion Sunday. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered and new members received.

The annual Children's Day exercises are announced for Sunday, June 8. There will be special programs for both morning and evening services.

A musical under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Society will take place Thursday evening, June 5, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. Campbell, 49 Rossmore place. Refreshments will be served. Bring a friend.

Many Women Attend Court Santa Maria's Communion Breakfast

About 150 women attended the second annual communion breakfast of Court Santa Maria, No. 61, Catholic Daughters of America, which was held in St. Peter's Auditorium last Sunday morning following the reception of Holy Communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass in St. Peter's Church.

The table decorations were purple and gold colored flowers, which are the colors of the order. The Hon. Thomas M. Kane of Newark and the Rev. E. J. Field, Chaplain of the Court, were the speakers. Miss Elizabeth V. Cousins, Grand Regent, acted as toastmistress. During the breakfast the Maplecrest Orchestra of Newark played both popular and old time songs. The soloists were Mrs. William Sullivan, Mrs. William Herkness, Miss Katherine Smith, Miss Anita Reilly, Mrs. George Longergan and Mrs. Julia Maher Davis. Mrs. George Longergan was accompanist.

The committee of arrangements included the Misses Helen and Regina Cogan, Miss Helen Lukowiak, Miss Veronica Barnes, the Misses Bridget and Mary Ford, Miss Agnes Doyle, Miss Teresa Salmon, Mrs. George Hacker and Miss Elizabeth V. Cousins, Grand Regent, ex-officio.

CLAN STEWART, No. 273.
