Ben Ross, Master Showman, Added To Crippled Kiddies Benefit At The Capitol

Board May Name Hirdes Full-Time Chief Of Firemen

Carragher Given "Control" Of His Department After Objection

If plans of Commissioner William D. Clark, director of public safety, carry through, Fire Chief William T. Hirdes will be placed on a full time basis, with a salary of $3,250. At present he gets $1,600, for part time.

Mr. Clark will recommend such action at next Tuesday's meeting of the commission.

The only comment was by Commissioner William H. Williams, who said he would "strongly indorse" the move in the interest of proper organization. Mr. Clark said he proposed also to appoint Emerson Bush a third-grade patrolman to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Frederick Gilman.

The board approved the application of the Jersey City & Nutley Bus Co., Inc., to operate buses between Belleville, Kearny and Arlington, with a ten-cent fare.

Permission was given the Elks' Club for performances at the Capitol Theatre Sunday, for benefit of the crippled kiddies' fund.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher objected, at a meeting of the commission Monday night, to the phraseology of the resolution whereby he was given the Department of Parks and Public Property. On his contention he was entitled to "have and exercise control over" that within his department, the same as the other commissioners, instead of have "care and custody" merely, the board passed an amendatory resolution unanimously.

"I didn't think you'd pull that one after I appointed you," the commissioner told Corporation Counsel John B. Brown. "It's not a square deal. This kind of stuff isn't getting anywhere; it only starts fights. According to that, I've got to be a janitor here in the town hall. I have full power in my department anyway, under commission form of government, but I think I'm entitled to the same as the rest of the commissioners."

You may possibly find it necessary to cancel an appointment you made before you knew about the Benefit Show the local Elks are staging for the crippled kiddies at the Capitol Theatre on Sunday.

You can rest assured if you do cancel that appointment and attend the show, you'll have no regrets. If you do not or cannot attend the show, well—it's just too bad and you will be the loser, for it's going to be the greatest array of vaudeville talent ever assembled for any local event. In fact, after you have attended you'll probably be one of the two thousand who will ask the same question: "How did they do it?" And the answer is, to let you in on a well planned conspiracy—cooperation for a deserving and charitable cause. The Elks—those arch conspirators well known for their good fellowship in lending a helping hand for all charities, the stage folk who have no rivals when called on to display their talents in charity's sweet cause and the manager of the local theatre all put their heads together and said "Let's make it big." How well they succeeded will be shown on Sunday at the kiddies' matinee and evening show.

Benny Ross, Vaudeville Headliner, Will Be Present

In addition to the extraordinary all-talking Vitaphone feature "The Benefit," as previously announced through these columns, America's King of Swat, Babe Ruth, will swing into action. Not to be out-done by the popular idol of all baseball fans, Benny Ross, who is without a peer in the East, as a master of ceremony.

Hadley Cup Goes To School No. 5

Bob Anderson Will Present Trophy June 27 To Patrol Boys

A silver cup offered by Albert Hadley of 72 Little street, to the public school patrol winning the most points for efficiency will be awarded to the patrol at School 5, Greylock avenue, June 27 by Safety Officer Robert Anderson.

The trophy must be won two successive years before becoming the permanent possession of any school. Miss Alice McDavitt is principal of School 5. The patrol comprises: Charles Terry, chief; Howard Gorman, assistant chief; Vincent Napapa, John Manger, Gilbert Mott, Robert Findlay, Alfred Adler, Arthur Evers, Leonard Vartan, Carlyle Close, Woodrow Nourse, William Brauer, Peter Grecco, Marcus Wertz and Charles Jencarelli.

ies has signed up on the dotted line to be present and swell the already long list of well known stage celebrities who are giving their services gratis to help the Elks' Crippled Kiddies' Show. The program is chock full of treats and surprises and lists all the "Who's Who" along Broadway and points north, South, East and West. Without a doubt the spacious seating capacity of the local playhouse will be taxed. The audience will also be addressed by former Governor A. Harry Moore, chairman of the Elks' State Crippled Kiddies' Activities. Mr. Moore has endeared himself to all the people of this beautiful state and any event which he graces with his presence is complete in itself.

Although the evening bill will not be presented in its entirety at the matinee, the Elks give the assurance that the kiddies will get more than twice their price of admission in the way of entertainment.

Town Officials Aid Cause

Consistent with their past performances the local town fathers have aided through talks during the week in aid of the benefit performance. The entire proceeds which should border on the Thousand Dollar mark through the kindness of the Capitol's manager and the Stanley Fabian interests will be used for the crippled kiddies. The Elks have always fostered this great work and the local lodge has set its mark for the State Fund at $5,000. Other events are now being planned to help raise this amount and it is safe to assume that the efforts of the committee headed by Joseph Reilly will have little difficulty in making a 100 per cent report. The members of this committee who are all "live wires" have given unsparingly of their time and efforts and this attitude coupled with a fine spirit of cooperation, always spells success.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of Malone avenue entertained Sunday at dinner in honor of their son and daughter-in-law, Lieutenant and Mrs. Norman H. Smith. TEASER HAT

CHICAGO.—Teaser hats are the latest protest against the bobbed hair mode. They permit women whose hair has not been cut, to flaunt their locks in public to the jealous gaze of former votaries of the short-cropped styles which national beauticians in convention here predict are doomed to go.

Decline in popularity of the bob is attributed to a number of causes. For example, none of the 4800 tons of crowning glory estimated to have been snipped from heads of 18,000,000 American women during 1929 had any commercial value. But cattle hair, once regarded as a waste product, is today worth millions of dollars annually, especially in its crinized form which sterilizes it for home use as an insulator against cold and heat, and for ozite with which rugs and other floor coverings are cushioned to absorb shock and wear. Hair dressers and millinery stylists are also said to be against the bob. They claim that only half the amount sheared last year will fall under the clippers during 1930.

With the teaser hat, the hair is customarily worn overhead in the form of a braid with the color of the material contrasting that of the tresses.

CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Is the Universe, including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 22, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: the Lord shall rejoice in his works." (Psalms 104:24, 31).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens: God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else." (Isaiah 45:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity. This divine Principle of all expresses Science and art throughout His creation, and the immortality of man and the universe." (p. 507).

Notes

Sunday, 11 A. M.—A Day's Work—What do You Mean? It seems somewhat of a problem to say in our generation, what constitutes a day's work. However, the pastor of Grace Church will endeavor during the morning hour, to speak from the subject—"A Day's Work."

Summer is here and that means a slowing up of the many activities that engage our thoughts during the rest of the year. Vacation time has become part of our life plan. Many things that we do during the year we feel we can push to one side for a few months in the year. Among the first things to be pushed to one side is church attendance. Why? Emerson says, "It is certain that worship stands in some commanding relationship to the health of man, and to his highest powers, so as to be, in some manner, the source of intellect." Make it a point during these summer months to attend church, at the least, once each Sabbath. The soul needs the inspiration of worship, for its highest development. Wherever you spend your vacation you will find, if you look for it a church near-by.

Saturday afternoon at the Kearny High School Stadium, the United Scottish Clans of New Jersey held their third annual field day. The day was ideal for out door sports, and a large crowd, which almost filled the seating capacity of the stadium was present to witness the games of skill. Racing, jumping, pole vaulting, throwing the hammer, and the tug-of-war, were some of the games that proved of much interest to the on-looker. The bag-pipe competition showed great skill in the use of that wonderful instrument, which so quickly responds to the thought of the player. The famous sword dance brought to the competitors, round after round of applause. It is quite a task to dance around crossed naked swords, without touching the blades. The Highland Fling seemed to be quite a favorite with the crowd, if applause counts for anything.

The Lockiel Pipe Band gave a fine exhibition drill, with their many colored tartans showing against the back ground of the green grass covered stadium, they presented a very pretty picture. Each clan was given a certain color which made it easy for the spectators to follow the movements of the different clans.

Clan Forbes, Newark, red; Clan Drummond, Newark, orange; Clan Gordon, Orange, grey; Clan MacLean, Elizabeth, brown; Clan Campbell, Kearny, pink; Clan Cameron, Montclair, purple; Clan Scott, Passaic, light blue; Clan MacFarlane, Bloomfield, dark blue; Clan Stewart, Belleville, yellow; and Clan Bruce, Hackensack, green.

The national standard of Scotland draped the rail of the stadium, while the banner of St. Andrew was given the position of honor, with the flag of the U. S. A.

The football contest was interesting and at times had many thrills, for the watchers. A goodly number from Belleville was noticed among the crowd, in the stadium.

The Grace Church joins with the churches of the town for Union Services, in the evening during the summer months. Each week the News will give the place for the evening service. For the present Grace Church will have a service in their own building, Greylock avenue, every Sunday morning. The S. S. will also hold their service.

The Grace alleys are still attractive, to the crowd of men that gather each evening for pleasure and entertainment. The alleys are cool and offer fine relaxation to the stress of these hot summer days during business hours.

The bowling tournament of Grace Church is growing in interest. This second week is bringing high averages, as the rule. The tournament will run through the month of June. High scores for the first half of the tournament: Glenck, 208; Fitzherbert, 205; Struble, 203.

High averages for total games are as follows: Fitzherbert, 185; Glenck, 184; Struble, 184; Wilson, 183; Kleibe, 179; and Hunter, 174.

Any man looking for clean wholesome sport will find a welcome at the Grace alleys. The alleys will be kept open all summer, so that the stay at homes may have a place where they can go for relaxation after the day's work. The alleys are cool and clean.

INDIVIDUAL WHO THINKS OF SELF AND NOT OTHERS NO CREDIT TO THE FLAG SAYS REV. E. J. FIELD AT ELKS' AFFAIR

"The individual who thinks much of himself and not much of his fellow citizen is no credit to the flag," said Rev. Edwin J. Field of St. Peter's Church, in a patriotic address at the observance of Flag Day by the Lodge of Elks at their auditorium Saturday night.

The program included a reading, "The History of the Flag," by Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and singing by the Copstone Quartet from Copstone Lodge F. and A. M. of Kearny. The group comprised: John M. Rainie, Newton Young, Thomas Wallwork and James Mackie. Introductory exercises were conducted by Exalted Ruler, Robert S. Anderson and his staff. Past Exalted Ruler, Harry W. Estelle, was program chairman assisted by Raymond Yerg, George F. Pond, T. C. Muller, F. J. Strasburger, Clarence Rothery and F. J. Daly.

Audible Food

Do you know the name of the food which cooks out loud? Popcorn. The good popcorn which emits a rolicking, pappy noise as its hard, golden kernels explode and turn into snowy blossoms under the influence of heat.

Guaranteed to Pop

Does someone say gloomily, "not always"? The comment is now unnecessary. In the past, when it was not clearly understood that the water content of popcorn determined its popping proclivities, the corn sometimes only made a sad plop. But today, popcorn is shelled and then dried to the point where it contains exactly enough water so that when it is heated the liquid will turn to steam and turn the popcorn wrong side out. Then, to be sure that the corn will always keep that water content, the grains are hermetically sealed in tin cans and sent to market. In this way the sellers and the buyers both know that the popcorn in the tin cans will really pop.

The standard method of preparing popcorn is to pop it in one of the commercial poppers then pour salt and melted butter over it, mixing thoroughly, and then eat it. Popcorn balls are easy to make and universally good. To make them, prepare five quarts of popcorn and salt it. Boil one-half cup butter, three cups sugar, one cup corn syrup and one cup of water until it is brittle when tested in cold water (270°). Four syrup over popcorn, stirring constantly, and when cool enough to handle, mold the popcorn into balls.

NOW THE GREEK

The Greek influence, which is the highest of "high fashion" at the moment, is beautifully exemplified in the gown illustrated above. The features which proclaim this dress as definitely classical are the free-flowing bodice drapery, the typical Etruscan motif of the applied bands used for trimming, and the way these bands cross high under the bust in front. The gown is neverthe less fitted about the waist in the modern manner, the whole effect being one of simplicity, formality and dignity. The dress is made up in a soft dull-surfaced semi-sheer material such as the crepe alexandra advocated by Stehl of Paris.

SCHOOLS

Trophy Awards

Trophies for winning in grade school athletics were awarded by John P. Maher, president of the Board of Education assisted by other members of the board, at assemblies in the schools Wednesday morning. Two awards were made at School 7 to the girls' volleyball team and the boys' junior baseball team, and one at School 3 to the boys' senior baseball team.

All the teams won every game they played. The girls' team played eight, the largest number of games, the senior baseball winners having played six and the juniors three.

The presentations at School 7 were at 9 A. M. The baseball team comprised Frank Lowe, captain; Charles D'Elia, Joseph Cerami, William Chl-cowicz, William Ellis, Konstantia Mozeika, Michael Lupo, Tony Dedra-wolski, Morris Sasso, Hurl Vreeland and Sebastian Nicolette. The girls' team comprised: Olga Savage, captain; Jessie Stellatella, Mildred Boschmann, Dorene Smith, Gene-vieve Sasso, Josephine Scatterropta, Sophie Moraski, Geneva Blake, Anna Kull, Betty Racine, Palma Buc-ci, Filomena Izzo, Etta Rin-kert, Leda Kozubovich, Virginia Fernicola and Josephine Prapola.

The presentation at School 3 was at 9:30 A. M. The team comprised: Harry Knab, captain; Frank Calabrese, Henry Coulter, Robert Glynn, Joseph Morano, Donald Gans, Albert Pascal, Nicholas Candura, Robert Conahan, Hugo Schmidt, Nicholas Grande, Sigard Erickson and James Wharton.

A survey of ages of public school students presented to the Board of Education by Supervising Principal George R. Gerard Monday night, shows eighty-six per cent of the total enrollment of 6,150 are not over age and but five per cent are more than one year behind. Mr. Gerard commented:

"When we think of the many causes that tend to prevent promotion, such as late entrance, sickness and quarantine, unnecessary absence and slow minds, this is a very fine showing and is one more tribute to the excellent service of the teachers of Belleville schools."

According to the table, 4,307 pupils or seventy per cent are "at age," 958 or 15.6 per cent are under age, 885 or 14.4 per cent are over age and 311 or 5. per cent are more than one year over age.

Regarding state examinations taken by eighth-grade students last week, Mr. Gerard reported 383 out of 408 passed, giving almost ninety-four per cent. He said all seventy pupils passed at No. 1 School and eighty-four out of eighty-five at No. 3 the eighty-fifth at the latter school being a new student. He did not give results in the other schools because, he said after the meeting, he "didn't want any odds reports to go out." His opinion of the examinations, which required the answering of two questions a minute for two hours, was made confidentially, by his request, to the board.

On Mr. Gerard's recommendation Miss Rose Miller was appointed clerk, who with Miss Edith Otter, will divide the duties at Schools 1, 3, 5 and 8, each to take two schools. Dr. Herbert B. Vail was reappointed as senior school physician and Dr. Daniel Earl Kavanaugh was appointed to fill the vacancy due to the death of Dr. F. S. Bootay. William W. Stewart, chairman of the health committee, recommended the board take under advisement the appointment of a third member to his committee, to serve with him and Mrs. Judson K. Stickle.

Watson Current, building and grounds committee chairman, said plans were prepared for construction of four tennis courts in Clearman Field at a cost not to exceed the appropriated amount of $2,500. The meeting was adjourned until Monday night, when bids will be received for the work.

Wrecking Permits Held Up By Board

The Nutley Town Commission Tuesday night postponed action on permits requested by the S. & B. Auto Wrecking Company, and the Nutley Auto Wrecking Company, to conduct junk yards at 38 Washington avenue and 188 Washington avenue, respectively. A petition signed by forty-three property owners in Washington avenue, Morris place and Hancock avenue requesting the permits be denied, caused the board to decide on an investigation.

The Memorial Parkway committee reported that many Nutley citizens had protested against noisy children in the swimming pool in the park. To remedy the situation, the committee suggested there be no bathing on Sundays and bathing only week-days between 10 and 4, with the age limit at twelve years and with police protection.

THE GARDEN OF THE HEART

When the springtime is advancing
With its warm and growing showers.

When you're planting in your garden
Of various kinds of flowers—
You are careful, oh, so careful
That the seed will surely start,
Just take an extra moment
For the garden of the heart.

Heart-gardens are oftentimes barren
Of sunshine, warmth and cheer,
Just moisten up the calloused places
With a sympathetic tear;
'Twill start the germ of love to growing.

Smother out the hearts that smart,
If you plant a little flower
In the garden of the heart.

BODY OF BOY IS FOUND IN RIVER

The body of Arthur A. Hughes, fourteen, of 79 Main street, missing from home since Monday, was recovered from the Passaic River yesterday morning by Policemen Frank Dalasso and John Stewart of North Arlington. Search for the missing boy, who was said to have been subject to fainting spells, was being conducted through the adjoining municipalities when, at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, Dalasso and Stewart, riding in River road in a police automobile, saw the body floating 100 feet from shore at the foot of Arlington boulevard, North Arlington.

Police were puzzled by a story told by playmates of the drowned boy. Arthur Burges of 79 William street, Clifford Raizell of 120 Ninth street and Robert Cutler of 34 Belleville avenue, who had been in a row boat Wednesday night in a search for the youth, told Belleville police they had seen Hughes at 8 o'clock.

According to their story they were near the North Arlington shore where a group of other boys had a camp fire. Young Hughes, they said, was up a tree and they called to him. He descended, the boys declared, and started to shoot an air-rifle and throw stones at them.

Policeman J. J. Flynn investigated the story and went to the place where the boys said Hughes had been seen. No trace of the rifle was found nor could Flynn connect any other circumstance. In the opinion of the North Arlington police, the body had been in the water two days.

NEW JERSEY BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY
NEW JERSEY INSTITUTION BACKED BY NATIONAL RESOURCES

More than 200,000 seedling trees have been set out this spring by members of the Boy Scouts of America, according to reports already received at the National Offices of that organization in New York City.

The largest single tree-planting project is being carried on at Oshkosh, Wis., where Scouts are planting nearly 50,000 trees at the Twin Lakes Reservation, the Oshkosh Council site. The work is being done under the direction of the Conservation Commission of Wisconsin and each Scout Troop in the city is planting 1,000 trees which vary in height from 3 to 8 inches. The Twin Lakes Reservation contains 384 acres and there are large areas to be reforested as much of the land was cleared and formerly farmed.

Emmett County
At Emmett County, Iowa, rural Scouts, with the aid of school children are planting nut and shade trees along all highways and on public property.

A record of other reforestation projects completed by the Boy Scouts follows: 10,000 pine trees were planted at Paxton, Mass., by the Boy Scouts of Worcester and the surrounding locality under the direction of their Scout Executive Gordon A. Blair; 1,000 pine trees were set out on the borders of Spruce Pond, the Harriman State Park of New York, by Boy Scouts of Brooklyn, N. Y., under the direction of Chief Forester Adolph of the Park Board; 2,000 pine trees were planted in Myrick Park, Spencer, Mass., by the Boy Scouts of that locality, under the direction of Howard E. Hurley and Alfred E. Studley of the town forestry committee; fifty Boy Scouts of Oneonta, N. Y., aided in the work or planting 100,000 seedling trees on land surrounding the reservoir in that vicinity recently. The trees were two and three-year-old transplants from the State Conservation Commission of Saratoga Springs and were planted under the direction of State Conservation officials; Milwaukee, Wis., Boy Scouts planted 10,000 pine trees at the Moon Lake Wild Game Refuge on May 17; 20,000 pine trees were set out in the town forest of Leominster, Mass., by fifty Boy Scouts, under the direction of City Forester David E. Bassett; 2,000 seedlings were planted at Soldiers' Memorial Park at La Porte, Indiana, by the Boy and Girl Scouts under the direction of members of the Hammet-Gray Post of the American Legion. The trees were fir and spruces, two and three years old. More than 4,700 seedlings were planted at the reservation at Camp Russell of the Massillon, Ohio, Boy Scouts, and under the direction of Prof. A. J. Cope of Cornell University a party of Canandaigua, N. Y., Boy Scouts and Scoutmasters set out 3,000 red pine saplings on the reservation at Bristol Hills, N. Y. This planting completed a reforestation program begun by the Canandaigua Scouts in 1922. Since that time 32,000 trees have been planted in the Bristol Hills section.

HELP AT FIRE

One hundred Scouts and their leaders mobilized at Holyoke, Mass., recently when fire threatened their home city. The Scouts, on their own initiative, took over traffic duty and in other ways made themselves useful. David F. Babson, Scout Executive of the Holyoke Council reported to the National Offices of the Boy Scouts of America.

"The Scouts were on duty for three and four hours and received praise from firemen and police officials," Mr. Babson reports. "So far as I know every Scout stuck to his post until he was relieved by the National Guard or reserve police officials."

SCOUTS SERVE

The Apple Blossom Festival, held annually at Winchester, Virginia, is one of the high spots in the life of that community. Each year it attracts many tourists and this year a greater crowd came to witness the festival. As traffic guides, parking directors, sources of information and aides to festival authorities the Boy Scouts of the Shenandoah Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America did exceptional work, bringing high praise from officials. Nelson F. Richards, Director-General of the Festival, in commenting on the work of the Boy Scouts, said, "At a time when the city was full of traffic and thousands of visitors swarmed the streets, the Boy Scouts acted in a most manly manner toward giving aid and information which in the end made the festivities more pleasant for all concerned."

NEW CAMP SITE

A 20-acre tract of land fronting on Ambrose Lake, 12 miles north of West Branch, Michigan, and 400 miles from the city of Dayton, Ohio, has been presented to the Boy Scouts of Dayton by Michael Haley of West Branch, Michigan. The new campsite will make more advanced training possible for the older and more matured Scout campers who have had preliminary camping experience at Cricket Hollow, the Dayton Boy Scout camp.

The property of the new campsite is fairly heavily wooded with numerous small clearings, and is quite accessible by good roads. Ambrose Lake is approximately two miles in length of varying width and is surrounded by state game refuge and forest preserves which furnish protection and cover for all wild life. Deer, fox, partridge and duck are quite plentiful and other nearby lakes furnish excellent fishing for bass, perch and northern pike.

VALUE OF SCOUT TRAINING

When 7-year-old Donald Lee who lives near Paris, Illinois, was painfully burned about his legs after his clothes had ignited at a bon-fire in a field near his home, his older brother, a Scout, administered first aid until a doctor arrived at the scene. The Scout, Paul, did much to alleviate the suffering of his brother.

FIRST AID

Training in first aid enabled Scouts Reachy Hockman and Dennis Hayley of Troop No. 3, Winchester, Va., to save the life of a man who sustained an artery cut in the thigh as a result of an automobile accident. The Scouts quickly applied a tourniquet above the wound and thus stemmed the flow of blood. Scouts Hockman and Hayley rushed the injured man to a hospital where a surgeon took charge of the injured man. The Scouts also rendered first aid to a lady who had been injured in the accident.

ACT AS GUIDES

Boy Scouts in New Hampshire will act as guides this year at the Daniel Webster birthplace in Franklin, from June 30 to September 1 if plans which are now being formulated work out. Secretary of State, Enoch D. Fuller, J. Hamilton Lewis, Executive of the Daniel Webster Council of the Boy Scouts of America and Adjutant Frank N. Sawyer of the New Hampshire department of the American Legion, are cooperating in the matter.

INTERNATIONAL SCOUTS

The Senior and Junior Scout Troops of the Preparatory School of the American University of Beirut, Syria, assisted by the Rover Scouts of the University, were hosts to three Moslem Troops from Damascus and Beirut during the Feast of Bairam, which follows the Ramadan Fast.

Two hundred and fifty Scouts and their leaders gathered on the campus and were addressed by a prominent lawyer, poet and orator from Damascus. The Junior American University of Beirut Troops initiated new members which included a Hebrew, a Palestinian Arab and an Indian awarding Tenderfoot and Second Class insignia. The visiting Scouts introduced a number of games and songs in Arabic.

HUNGARIAN PHEASANTS

Three pair of Hungarian pheasants have been turned loose by the Ohio Fish and Game Association at the bird sanctuary maintained by the Scouts of Cincinnati, Ohio, at their Boy Scouts camp. The Scouts are reforesting the area around their camp this year.

International Relations To Be Discussed At Rotary Gathering

The field of international relations, upon a personal rather than a political basis, is one of the most important elements of the program of the Silver Anniversary Convention of Rotary International which has opened at Chicago. One of the Principal addresses of each day will present, from the viewpoint of a well known international figure, some new aspect of the development of international goodwill.

Besides these outstanding speeches, there will be three business conferences at which the relation of international peace will be discussed informally by the representatives of 3,325 Rotary clubs in sixty-two countries.

The major addresses on international affairs will be by Sir Henry Thornton, American-born British peer who has achieved world wide recognition as a railway administrator; Prince Iyesato Tokugawa, President of the Japanese House of Peers and of many important public organizations in Japan; and Admiral Mark Kerr, noted British naval military and air force officer and author.

Sir Henry will discuss the influence of industry and commerce on international goodwill. Prince Tokugawa will speak on "national aspirations" and their effect upon international relations. Admiral Kerr has for his topic, "the inter-dependence of nations."

The annual message from the founder of Rotary, Paul P. Harris, Chicago lawyer, will be one of the two summaries of Rotary's remarkable growth in the past quarter century.

The record of Rotary's achievements and a glimpse of its future possibilities will be described by Harry H. Rogers, Tulsa, Oklahoma, banker, who was president of Rotary International in 1926-27. He presided over the Rotary Convention at Ostend, Belgium, the first Rotary Convention on the continent of Europe, which was opened by an address of welcome by Albert, King of the Belgians.

The program of formal addresses each morning will be followed by afternoon assemblies where informal discussions will be the rule. These assemblies start today with a series of 100 meetings, each one for Rotarians of the same occupation. All the Rotarians engaged in some branch of the woolen industry, from the sheep raiser to the retail merchant, will meet for the discussion of the inter-related problems of the entire industry.

A conference on business practices which will bring together five Rotarians from each country, to discuss the mechanics of international commerce, is expected to be one of the most fruitful meetings of the convention.

The principal topic of Wednesday is "community service," and the program of the plenary session will be devoted in large part to a "community service clinic" for reports from different parts of the world on activities familiar to almost all communities, such as Community Chest Funds, Crippled Children Work, and boy and girl life surveys. In the afternoon, the group assemblies will discuss informally the same type of community betterment programs.

Thursday and Friday are devoted almost entirely to international service topics. The assemblies of Thursday afternoon will discuss the most suitable ways for the cultivation of personal contacts between Rotarians of different countries and the best way to develop the international viewpoint.

In between these addresses and discussions of international goodwill, will be an address on "Friendship" by one of Rotary's best known orators, the Reverend O. J. Soldan of Santa Monica, California, who was chaplain of Leavenworth prison for many years, and a chaplain in the world war.

Just before the closing formalities of the convention on Friday, there will be a symposium on the Rotary activity in different parts of the world in promoting international understanding and goodwill. Herr W. De Cock Buning of The Hague, Holland, will speak for the Rotarians of Europe. He has taken a very active part in the recent extension of Rotary into eastern Europe. Judge John Wu, former Chief Justice of the Provisional Court at Shanghai, China, and now connected with the Harvard Law School, will be spokesman for the Far East. Peter E. Soudah of Jaffra, Palestine, will speak as the representative of the Near East. Luis Machado, retiring president of the Rotary Club of Havana, Cuba, will be the spokesman of Latin-America.

After this panorama of Rotary at work in all the different parts of the world, the committee in charge of election arrangements will bring in its report of the balloting on officers by the voting delegates on the previous day.

Two candidates, from the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States, have been actively in the field for the presidency of Rotary International for the term beginning July 1, 1930.

They are Raymond J. Knoepfel, New York attorney, and Almon E. Roth of Palo Alto, California, Comptroller of Leland Stanford University. Each one has been president of this club, governor of his Rotary District, and member of the international board of directors.

There are a dozen or more candidates for five places on the board of directors open to Rotarians of the United States. Canadian and Newfoundland Rotarians choose a director from their number, and the same is true of the Rotarians in Great Britain and Ireland.

The retiring board has chosen, in accordance with the constitutional provisions, as three directors representing other major geographical divisions, Luis A. Chavez Velando, of Lima, Peru; S. L. P. Free, of Masterston, New Zealand, and W. de Cock Buning, of The Hague, Holland.

Although hundreds of the convention visitors have been arriving in the City, the accepted signal for the informal opening of the convention has been the arrival on Sunday afternoon of the European delegation, which this year numbers about 175 from Great Britain and Ireland, thirty from Italy, fifteen from Holland, fifteen from Czechoslovakia, five from Austria, and similar delegations from other European countries.

The 75 district governors of Rotary districts all over the world, who will take office on July 1, have been in session in Chicago this past week, studying the administration of international and club affairs to familiarize themselves with the duties which they occupy a large part of their time for the coming year. These district governors are the nominees of their districts in conference this spring, and their selection will be ratified at the convention on Friday.

SUNBEAM JUNIORS CLOSE SEASON

The Sunbeam Juniors held their last meeting of the season, Thursday, at the home of the president, Helen Ruff, 31 Bell street. Plans were made for the annual picnic to be held Saturday, June 21, at Belleville Park. All members are asked to meet at the corner of Overlook avenue and Bell street, at 11 o'clock, bringing their lunch. Mr. and Mrs. F. Littell have kindly consented to help the children with the Maypole and other games.

After all business of the day was finished refreshments were served, and bouquets of flowers were presented to the officers. A bouquet was also presented to Mrs. Alfred Adler in appreciation of her help throughout the year.

The president, Helen Ruff, wishes at this time to thank everyone who has helped the children carry on this year.

HATLESS MAN ADMITS HE'S LICKED AND BEGS FOR FULLER'S EARTH-WHEREBY LAWYER HEISLEY'S HEDGE IS SPARED

A Play, "Aunt Sophronia At College" Will Be a Feature Of Exercises This Thursday At Park School

Editor The News:

As the summer opens the number of hatless heads amongst men increases. A trained observer can discern the total abstainers from the partial course men. It is not enough that a new accession to the ranks of the hatless should stain his forehead and neck to a ripe merschaum, he must achieve that steadfastness of eye that doesn't blink at the sun's ray, and utterly suppress the tendency to be self conscious. Of course, the druggists stain removes the bad circumstance of a pale brown, or blistering neck, and so far simplifies the achievement of a deception.

Occasionally there is a new accession to the ranks of the hatless, who accedes frankly, unfeignedly and without any attempt at deception, lumbering through the dreadful ordeal of the sunburn on his neck with only such reliefs as witch hazel, bay rum or other innocent lotions may afford. "Take me," he says, "with my skin peel, white blisters and all that goes with sunburn, or leave me. Danged if I'll doll up with beauty parlor devices. Go to Rusby Pond or the new Plaza with your darned friendships, if you can't recognize an honest man!" Really, though, isn't such a man of the right sort? No living lie, no painted cigar store Indian—a man and not a thing, is he! However the evolutionist may hold him in theory to be descended from the jelly fish, in fact he isn't.

Now I don't like hatless men nor any other men who canlick me out on anything. I am egotistic enough to want to be the whole thing myself. And although I don't like to be called Reginald, nevertheless I'm a trifle lady like when rigorous things, like staring the sun out of countenance are concerned. I, furthermore do not like hatless men, because they are arrogant. That same impudent homo genus who spelled me down in the spelling bee, met me on the street the day following his signal victory. Of course, being a pushing fellow he had to have for his companion the belle of the town (she having hit on a blend of the rouge that was safely enough natural as to be incapable of detection by the eye, and her cheek too wary to suffer the detection of taste on petting parties) with him. He gloated in his triumph as my elbow bent to doff my hat, whereas he wore nothing to be doffed. Accordingly his elbow remained rigid. Moreover this same scamp had confronted me draped in a long ulsterine overcoat one cold winter's day while his high Pompadour bristled tauntingly, as he almost stuck his prognathous jaw in my face, uttering words of mere commonplace courtesy. He said one thing by gesture and other things by word of mouth. It was what was said by gesture that hurt, and the bruises upon the bare back of my pride were not healed by the salt that his conventional words tried to manufacture. Like the salt of the Hindoo's manufacture, it was not marketable! I could give you other instances of the gall and brass of hatless men, but the case of the victor in the spelling bee is typical enough.

I was leading up to an interesting occurrence when I got side-tracked by that spelling bee nuisance. An occurrence that gave me an experience with the really honest hat abstainer—in truth a painful experience—as so many honest roses shun Burbank and sport spiky thorns, as though it were any gain to escape the serpent's coils by falling as a prey to the teeth of the lion, who sports a thundrous growl!

The other day a hatless man was working his way down Centre street. My attention was attracted to him partly because of the curious instrument he manipulated, and partly because he was hatless. Some things in his demeanor indicated that he was a surveyor; yet he had no chain bearer. At length I concluded that he was using a camera of the old fashioned type. Every fifty feet he stopped and snapped his camera. I was close enough finally to observe that his neck was badly sun pealed and blistered, in fact checking and scaling as badly as the paint coat on some of the houses he was photographing. I proffered him our can of Fuller's Earth. An abrupt twist of his rude forearm sent the can clattering upon the Macadam.

I glared at him angrily until I perceived that this fellow was as brawny as our own Eddie Nugent, then remarked revengefully that it was his first day without a hat, to which he rejoined that it would be his last day minding other people's business. I perceived that if he got physically active with me that he'd leave me "all seat up" as they remark in Cornwall. I retired to the security of my own home wondering if, in view of his scaly appearance, he could be nicknamed "Barnacle Bill The Sailor." I peaked down the street behind the window shade and saw him talking with a policeman. This conversation ended by his parking his camera and turning up the street in our direction. Before entering the house—I was standing at the window petrified by terror—he went out into the roadway and retrieved the nearly empty can of Fuller's Earth, and carrying it he approached the house and pushed the button. I put on a bold front—it was merely a piece of acting—to meet him. He met my frown with a smile of blandishment.

"The cop told me a great story about your fighting some strikers hard to hand on a trolley car back in 1919, but I haven't the least doubt I could lick you," he observed.

"Look here, young man, you're in luck," I said. "I've too fine a hedge around this place to ruin by throwing you through it," I bluffed, "I trim it myself, too."

"Of course, if-if it that should happen—well I-I was going to say, if that—I was frozen with fear.

"Nonsense. There won't be any fight because I'm licked all ready. That neck of mine began to smart like the deuce when I got mad out there on the street, and I need your Fuller's Earth, now. May I keep it? And say, have you any old hat you could give me to get home?" I had, and we parted the best of friends. FREDERICK A. HEISLEY.

FATHER FIELD'S ANNIVERSARY

Twenty-five years ago Rev. E. J. Field, rector of St. Peter's Church, was ordained a priest. During this period and for some years prior thereto Father Field busied himself with thoughts pertaining to the other fellow, aside from his official capacity in the church where his good work speaks for itself.

And what is more fitting than the silver anniversary ceremonies planned for Monday at the church where a solemn mass of Thanksgiving will be observed at 10 o'clock. There will be a testimonial dinner for Father Field, also, which will be attended by clergy high in the church who will pay tribute to him.

In the selfish rush of things today and the fight for the dollar that seems to be the God of some, it is indeed refreshing to find, working in a quiet unassuming way for others, a friend like Father Field and when we say friend we mean it, for his kindness and generosity have reached out in whatever community he has been located for many years to all sects, to all classes and all kinds. He has ever had a helping hand for the deserving.

His friends number countless among Catholics, Protestants, Jews and gentiles, alike, from every walk of life, from the little fellow to the greatest dignitaries in the country, all regarding him as the perfect mannered gentleman and scholar.

He has kept himself aloof of all pettiness, no matter under what circumstances, and he stands out as colossal, as one of vision who has never overstepped the bounds, however, of being able and willing to sit with the humblest and share their troubles. His shoulders and heart, we are sure, bear many another's burden.

Speaking is an art when one is able, without preparation, to make an address on any topic. This is one of the gifts with which he has been endowed. He never prepares a sermon or address. This accomplished priest, in Belleville's midst today, is here to do good for all.

We share with the community the wish that Father Field's anniversary will be overjoyous and trust that he will enjoy many more anniversaries in his chosen field—the spiritual well-being of all.

ANOTHER GOOD CLARK MOVE

The decision of Director of Public Safety William D. Clark to make William T. Hirdes a full time fire chief, instead of part time, is a move that will not meet with much opposition.

Belleville is out of the "hick" town class and needs a full time chief. Mr. Hirdes has been part time chief for a number of years. When the time came for a full time chief the logical selection fell on Mr. Hirdes.

This is just another of the progressive steps Commissioner Clark has taken to make Belleville's fire department second to none and on a par with nearby places—which means only one thing—on a par with Newark and the entire metropolitan section, comparatively speaking.

TELEVISION DEVELOPMENTS

The progress which has been made in television is one of the outstanding achievements of the year. Dr. Alexanderson, one of the experts who has been working on this development, was able a few months ago to transmit images by radio and exhibit them on a fourteen inch screen at his laboratory at Schenectady. The other day this same thing was done on a screen six feet square. The faces and movements of entertainers who were performing a mile and a half away were distinctly shown on this screen and their voices, synchronized perfectly with the actions of the singers and dancers, were heard distinctly as they ordinarily would be when a radio was used alone.

This does not mean that within a few months the radios now in common use will be discarded and replaced by other machines which will not only carry the voices and the music but the vision of those who speak, sing or play, but that this improvement will shortly be made possible there is now no doubt.

The costs of television are now excessive. It seems probable that as they are reduced by further improvements there will first be television entertainments given in theatres. After this there will come machines which will be so inexpensive that people may have them in their homes to replace the radios they now use. When this occurs we will be able to remain at home and see and hear all that takes place on the baseball or football field, and will be able to enjoy theatrical productions given many miles away or "tune in" to see a distinguished speaker as well as hear what he says.

There are countless uses to which television may be adapted when the scientists have fully developed it. In recent years we have witnessed many wonderful things but there is nothing which will have a greater effect in revolutionizing our lives than will this great invention.

SELLING AMERICAN AIRPLANES ABROAD

Up to this time few American made airplanes have been sold in foreign countries. Because of restrictions imposed by some governments it has been difficult for American manufacturers to dispose of airplanes in Europe or elsewhere. A mission, composed of James H. Doolittle, one of America's best known fliers, with two army pilots who have obtained a leave of absence for the purpose, has recently sailed for Europe to exhibit planes made by the Curtiss-Wright organization to several governments. They hope to open a market for some of our airplanes in Europe in this way and may be able to sell some planes to the governments who have signified a willingness to see what Yankee made planes can do. But it is considered doubtful about getting as wide a market in Europe for this American product as our automobiles now enjoy because of the jealousy of foreign governments and manufacturers.

In some respects, so our experts say, the American planes are superior to European made machines. Our motors, for one thing, are believed to be equal to if not superior to many foreign made motors. But unless a marked superiority can be shown in our airplane performances it seems to be generally felt that the Doolittle expedition will not meet with much success.

"Of course."
"Why I thought Mary was one of those modern girls who didn't believe in marriage."
"Well, that's what Jack thought, too."

"Mon," said little Willie, bursting into the house all out of breath, "there's going to be trouble down at the druggist's. His wife has got a baby girl, and he's had a 'Boy Wanted' sign in his window for a week."

Pretty Saleswoman—"Don't you want a talking machine in your home?"
He—"My dear, this is so sudden."

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

We may have to wait until the general elections in the Fall to get a clear-cut reaction from voters on the tariff-of-a-thousand-trades. So far, the primaries have yielded practically nothing. Where the issue was not carefully avoided, it was overshadowed, it was overshadowed by other political factors. Protectionists are claiming that the victory of Representative Dickinson of Iowa in the Republican senatorial primary has deep significance, because Mr. Dickinson voted for the bill in the House, while his opponent spoke against it on the stump. They prefer to forget that Mr. Dickinson is an ardent supporter of the debenture and that the House was so "bound and gagged," that it was almost impossible to fall out of step with the regular machine. Also, Mr. Dickinson had the warm advocacy of Senator Smith Brookhart of Iowa, an enemy of the Grundy tariff rates if ever there were one. Senator Daniel Steck of Iowa, a "protection Democrat" who will run against Mr. Dickinson for re-election, promptly delivered a blasting repudiation of the bill. Surely, Mr. Steck was well informed of his constituents' sentiments before he spoke. That, in itself, should throw the protectionist arguments into a cocked hat.

But why waste time wondering what the country thinks about the bill when the populace sends up an unrelenting howl every day against the Grundy iniquities? Senator Royal Copeland of New York remarked recently in the course of debate that he had received 5,000 telegrams in one day urging him to vote against the tariff bill. How many protests have been received by other legislators was not announced, but judging from the signs of wavering all must be almost irresistible. It is a matter of common knowledge that President Hoover is being subjected to heavy persuasion from all sources. Mr. Hoover states that his mind is still open on the subject. Let the consumer take note of that attitude—and make the most of it while he can.

HOUSE CUTS PASSPORT FEE

Americans who visit across the sea are the beneficiaries of a recent vote of the House of Representatives. Passports, originally costing ten dollars, were reduced to five dollars, by action of the House, and the limit to which they may be extended was lengthened from two to six years.

United States citizens have been aided in their pleasure jaunts abroad by governments other than their own. Visa fees, also, have exhibited a shrinking tendency during recent years. While England still requires a visa fee of ten dollars, as does Japan from the American who prolongs his stay in that country, several countries have cut their fees to a minimum or even abolished them altogether. Some time ago, France reduced hers from ten to two dollars.

Even before the boys of the A. E. F. learned to speak doughboy French it was "gay Paree" more than any other place on the globe that lured the American tourist. Since the war not only the alluring French capital, but the solemn beauty of the American cemeteries draw many hundreds of Americans annually.

NEW JOBS FOR OLD

What the machine age has taken away it has given back with interest. Those who revile the "iron man" base their lamentations on the fact that 2,000,000 jobs were lost during the 1920-27 period because of the robot's advent. But statistics tell a more hopeful story. Two million jobs might have been lost—but 2,000,000 were gained during the same period! And the gain was almost due to increased use of machines.

In the radio industry, for example, there are 150,000 workers today as compared with 25,000 seven years ago. Electric refrigeration, almost unknown in 1920, now gives employment to 40,000 people. Oil heating has created 30,000 new jobs. And our leading entertainment, the motion picture, figures as an economic factor of benefit to 350,000 employees.

It must not be forgotten, however, that numerous workers displaced by machinery, have been unable to find any place for their abilities. Some of them are uneducated, others illiterate. A number have been trained to do work that has no particular value today. Our Federal Board for Vocational Education has cases of this kind under its advisement, and is doing everything possible to help these misfits adapt themselves to changed conditions. Careful planning, training and education, are the main ingredients of the proposed remedy.

CUTTING OFF OUR NOSES

If you did business with a number of people who all owed you money, would you expect to hasten or retard the payments by refusing to buy their goods?

Translating individuals into nations, this is exactly the question confronting the United States in respect to its tariff policies. Eighteen foreign governments now owe us more than a total of 11 billions of dollars in war debts with an accumulated interest of more than $800,000,000. Huge as this sum is, payment of it would not be impossible under normal trade conditions. But trade conditions may be so severely wrenched out of joint if the Grundy tariff rates become law, that an absolute cancellation of these debts may be necessary according to many economists. Almost all of our eighteen debtors are hard hit by the 1930 schedules. France, Great Britain, and Belgium will be among the greatest sufferers from our pending duties.

And that isn't all. Our investments abroad will amount to about $19,000,000 by the end of 1930. Even a five per cent return on these investments and the war debts combined will come to approximately one and one-half billion dollars this year. We are supposed to collect this tremendous sum of money from nations that must obtain it by selling their goods.

LABOR MAY CHOOSE WOMAN

The nomination of James J. Davis, present Secretary of Labor, for the Senate will create a vacancy in that department when "Puddler Jim" forsakes the Cabinet next fall, and among the candidates prominently mentioned to succeed him is Miss Grace Abbott who for nine years has served in the Department of Labor as Chief of the Children's Bureau.

Those who are urging the appointment of Miss Abbott do so not because she is a woman but because she is exceptionally well qualified for this particular job. Her chief support comes from labor groups. It goes without saying that she is thoroughly familiar with the activities of her own bureau and of the Women's Bureau, with which she works in close cooperation.

One of the most important bureaus in the Labor Department, is the Bureau of Immigration. Miss Abbott first attained national prominence in this field. In 1909 she became director of the Immigrants' Protective League and went to live at Hull House in Chicago. Later she became Executive Secretary of the State Immigration Commission of Massachusetts, but when Illinois created a State Immigration Commission she returned there as its first executive. In both states she directed comprehensive investigations on the adjustment of the immigrant to his environment; was responsible for the prosecution of several fraudulent labor agents and obtained a law for the regulation of employment agencies in Illinois.

In 1917 Miss Abbott was named director of the child labor division of the Children's Bureau and administered the first Federal child labor law until it was declared unconstitutional. She was also an advisor on the War Labor Policies Board during the World War and has held many other important posts.

Born in Grand Island, Nebraska, where her parents, numbered among the State's pioneers, still live, Miss Abbott graduated from Grand Island College, did post graduate work at the University of Nebraska, taught school, studied law, and obtained her Master's degree from Chicago University. She holds a labor union card as a member of the Federal Employees' Union which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Miss Abbott has always had the support of the labor groups in her work as chief of the Children's Bureau which has given her deep insight into the problems of the homes of the wage-earning classes all over the country.

SHALL WE FREE THEM?

A mighty tussle in the Senate is forecast for the day when debate begins on the Hawes Bill for Philippine independence which was recently reported out of the Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs. [Yet, the measure does not appear particularly drastic. Broadly, it provides for adoption of a Philippine constitution, a test period of five years of independence, and final independence to be decided by a vote of the Philippines.

Nevertheless, this latest proposal regarding the Islands is sure to act as a spark to stored gunpowder. Senators given to powerful oratory concerning our "obligations to protect and help weaker peoples" by ruling them will give full play to their sentiments. Even though the subject has been before us for long years, and extensive hearings preceded the committee's favorable report, there will be opposition to "hasty consideration." Then there will be fierce rebuttal from the advocates of independence. That we have promised the Filipinos their independence and that they are thirsty for freedom are appealing arguments. Also, many legislators recognize the damage being done Philippine economic prospects by the political uncertainty.

Farmers who have to compete with duty free products from the Islands should welcome the fiscal provisions in the bill. Twenty-five percent of existing duties would be applied to Philippine commodities during the first year of the test, with an increased 25 per cent each successive year, until trade relations are on the same basis as with foreign nations.

Eyes Tired? A Lotion Will Soothe And Rest Them

SOMEONE once said "the eyes are the windows of the soul." But I should like to have you think of them as the windows of a woman's beauty—for they are just that. Eyes reveal a woman's personality more than any other part of the face. Tired eyes always make a woman look tired, though she may have rouged her cheeks carefully to a natural glow, and put on her most attractive frock. But if you get enough sleep, and keep your health up to par, your eyes usually will be bright and clear. If they still seem dull, however, here is a simple, easy remedy: Use a good eye lotion at least once a day without fail. This will take away any small bits of dust or grime that may have lodged in your eyes, and will leave them clear, brilliant and soothed. And you will find it makes a great improvement in your appearance if you use an eye lotion before going out to a party.

Always remember to apply a tiny bit of tissue cream or skin food to your eyelids before you powder and rouge your face. Wipe off most of this cream, but leave on enough of it to give your eyelids a soft, rather moist look.

The result is far from artificial—it is exactly the way your eyes should look in their natural state. And if you are tired, the cream will take away that hard, drawn look from around your eyes.

Perhaps you have noticed unattractive little wrinkles forming around your eyes. Unless they appear with quite advanced age, these lines may be smoothed away very safely and easily. First, of course, your skin must be thoroughly cleansed with a good cleansing cream. Then apply either skin food or a tissue cream generously all around your eyes. If your skin is normal or inclined to be oily, use tissue cream. But if your skin is very dry, I recommend skin food.

Next, dip your middle and index fingers into muscle oil. You can feel how rich and stimulating this oil is the moment your fingers touch it. Then with gentle, rhythmic movements move your finger tips around and around your eyes. Begin at the bridge of your nose, and laying your index and middle fingers on each side of your nose, move your fingers upward, across your eyebrows, down across your temples, and lightly back across your cheeks to your nose again.

Repeat this movement at least ten times, and make it rhythmic, not jerky. The little lines will be smoothed away gradually, and if you are faithful in this treatment, they will not come back.

Did you ever stop to think?

by Edson Waite

This is written on the fast daylight coast train between San Francisco and Los Angeles, a trip well worth taking. We passed through Palo Alto, the home of President Hoover, and in the distance could be seen the buildings of Stanford University. In a few short minutes we were in San Jose, the largest city in the Santa Clara Valley.

The next city that attracted everyone's attention was Salinas, a beautiful city located in the heart of a rich dairy and farming section. Salinas is a modern, up-to-date little city—clean streets, fine business houses, and with a residential richness that is very noticeable. At Salinas a Rodeo is held every year, which receives national attention. The Daily Index Journal of Salinas is an exceptionally good newspaper and has done much in the upbuilding of this city.

Then through Paso Robles, a district noted for its apple and almond culture. Our train stopped for ten minutes at San Luis Obispo, the home of the State Polytechnic school.

From Santa Barbara we went south through a beautiful country. To the right at Carpinteria could be seen the bathing beaches. Then through Ventura, Oxnard and Moorpark, all well worth visit. From Zelzah could be seen the famous San Fernando Valley. In this valley is San Fernando, one of the most beautiful and progressive little cities in Southern California.

We are passing through Glendale and nearing Los Angeles. My eyes are tired. I have seen so much today.

Here in California everyone seems to be able to luxuriate in the out-of-doors amid beautiful surroundings. Its citizens seem to be a happy people reveling in this restful country. The visitors seem to be enjoying themselves, glad they came and want to come again.

Citizen Cites

If kind deeds were withheld in the same proportion as they are soon forgotten the world would be an intolerable place to live in.

When an air plane falls, the last few feet are the hardest.

You may turn a corner on two wheels but four are better.

Of Interest To Motorists

You, Your Car and the Motor Laws

Harold G. Hoffman,
Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

New Jersey's decision to remove the mechanically unsafe automobile from its highways is directly in line with the most advanced safety thought of the country. It is intended to work injustice upon no motor car owner or class of owners. Primarily it recognizes that the public welfare is the first consideration and that the motorist who refuses to abide by the requirements of safety is unworthy of the privilege of owning and operating an automobile in the State.

It is within the province of every motor car owner to become acquainted with the requirements of mechanical safety and to see that his car meets the specifications through intelligent maintenance. If the car, as a result of age or use or any other condition, cannot be made safe then it has no place on the highways of New Jersey or any other State.

Until recently, the precise role of the mechanically unfit car in street and highway accidents had not been defined. Now it is known to be a factor in 15 per cent of the accidents. That figure, in the opinion of virtually every traffic and safety authority, is too significant to be ignored. In any sound program of motor vehicle regulation it can only mean that such cars must be made safe or made harmless through the revocation of their registrations.

Ignorance of what constitutes mechanical safety on the part of the individual car owner can no longer be accepted as an excuse for indifferent maintenance. There is too much at stake.

Therefore, it is distinctly up to the individual to overcome any ignorance that he may possess on the subject. He must learn what constitutes safe braking efficiency, safe headlights, warning signals, steering, tire equipment, and accessories that contribute to the diminution of danger.

The National Conference on Street and Highway Safety has provided the individual car owner with a set of safety specifications that all should know. This group sets forth, for instance, that foot brakes or service brakes on all cars, under the present code, should be capable of stopping a car from a speed of 20 miles an hour within a distance of 50 feet.

The code, however, was adopted in the days of two-wheel brakes. Many think it inadequate. Certain it is that the modern four-wheel brake system, in good condition, will far exceed the 50-foot requirement. As a matter of fact, the committee believes that a stopping distance of 35 feet, from a speed of 20 miles an hour can reasonably be required from cars with four-wheel brakes. Further, many safety and engineering experts point out that the two-wheel brake system, properly maintained, will exceed the 50-foot requirement. Those figures provide the average car owner with a guide to what constitutes safe brakes.

With regard to headlights, the motorist may be sure his maintenance meets requirements if he sees that the reflectors always are in good condition and equipped with proper bulbs; that the lamps are aimed so that the upper beam is horizontal and not more than three and one-half feet from the ground at a distance in front of the car when the vehicle is empty.

There are other safety features beyond the brakes and lights which require regular maintenance. The Conference recommends, for instance, that a qualified service station should be given a chance to check the steering mechanism of every car at least every six months. It sets forth that horns should be capable of being heard under normal conditions at a distance of 200 feet and kept in good operating condition at all times.

Another point the Conference makes that should be of vital interest to every motorist interested in keeping his car mechanically safe is that tires worn down to the fabric present a constant hazard.

As to windshield wipers, it is agreed that they should be inspected at least every six months and wiper blades replaced the moment they should become ineffective.

It is not necessary for the motorist

Backing and Parking

BACKING and parking are really easy if done properly. I have seen so many motorists experience difficulty with these two simple driving practices that I am impelled to go into them here at some length. Likewise the turn that involves backing, approach the right

On approaching a turn that involves backing, approach the right side of the road slowly. Give the proper signal and turn the wheel to the left. Gradually slow down as you reach the left side of the road but before you stop swing the wheel to the right while the car is moving slowly. Stop. Put the car in reverse without moving the wheel. This permits all your attention to be concentrated on direction and speed.

As you slow the car down prior to stopping, again swing the wheel full left. The motorist will find this an easy way to accomplish this difficult feat. Personally I find it much easier to drive around the block to accomplish the same thing.

To park is so simple that I cannot believe my eyes when I see a driver going about it in the wrong way. Time and again I have seen belts that I couldn't park against the curb where there was only two feet more space than the length of the car and bumpers. This can be done in one movement, with practice.

Drive past and parallel the car in front of where you want to park. Stop with your car slightly ahead of the inside car. This is judged by the turning angle of your car. Reverse, turning the wheel full right until half way into the curb. Then turn the wheel full left as you slowly back in. It is necessary to be careful to avoid hooking your right fender or bumper in the rear of the car in front of you.

But while you are learning these lessons of driving, don't lose sight of some of the suggestions I gave you earlier in this series. Particularly do I refer to the one involving the use of the proper grade of gasoline and oil, and proper lubrication.

to acquaint himself with a great deal of legal verbiage relating to what constitutes a safe car. Acquaintance with a few clearly stated requirements relating to a few of the constantly used features of the car is all that is essential.

Beyond knowing this, it is a matter of doing. The State has no desire to compel the individual car owner to do what much knowledge and common sense should suggest that he do. It will step in, only when he fails to act and, then, only in the interest of the larger group of street and highway users.

After the First

Twenty-five Thousand Miles

THE VALUE of sound design, good materials and careful craftsmanship is especially apparent in the new Ford after the first twenty-five thousand miles. Long, continuous service emphasizes its mechanical reliability and economy of operation and up-keep.

As you drive the Ford through many months and years you will develop an increasing pride in its appearance and a growing respect for the substantial worth that has been built into it. From every standpoint—in everything that goes to make a good automobile—you will know that you have made a far-seeing, satisfactory purchase.

Wherever you go, you hear enthusiastic praise of the car and this significant, oft-repeated phrase—"I'm glad I bought a Ford."

A FORD owner in New York tells of a 13,000-mile trip across the United States and back in sixty days and says "the car was extremely economical to operate, comfortable and speedy." A grateful father tells how the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield saved his wife and children from serious injury.

To test tires, a large company drove a new Ford day and night, for an average of 500 miles every twenty-four hours. It was still giving satisfactory service after 105,000 miles.

A Ford car that had fallen into Fernan Lake was submerged for twelve days before being raised. After a new battery and carburetor bowl were installed, it was driven back to Spokane under its own power.

Many police departments have written of the special advantages of the Ford in crowded traffic because of its alert speed, acceleration, and ease of control. An increasing number of fleet owners are also purchasing the Ford because their cost figures have given conclusive proof of its economy of operation and up-keep.

In addition to important triumphs in Germany, France and Italy, the Ford won six out of seven leading places in a contest in Finland, first and second in the Rafaela races in Argentina, first and second in the run from Copenhagen-to-Paris-to-Copenhagen, three gold medals in England, first ranking in the durability test over the tortuous Amancas road in Peru, and first place in the 1930 reliability run conducted by the Royal Automobile Club of Sweden.

This contest was an exceptionally severe test of endurance and sturdy construction because it was held in the dead of winter and covered 600 miles of steady running over snow-covered country roads and mountainous hills.

Long-Spurred Columbine

By A. C. McLEAN,
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

The aquilegia or long-spurred columbine which are now in bloom generally create much interest among garden lovers. This flower, propagated almost entirely from seed, hybridizes very freely and heretofore does not run true to color. This explains why orders for long-spurred columbine seed frequently do not produce the color or colors desired by the gardener.

Seed from choice-colored plants may be obtained by bagging the flowers to keep the bees from crossing them, and then shaking the individual flowers to make them set seed. An alternative is to pollinate them with a camel's hair brush. By doing this now, the chances of getting seed that will produce flowers of the desired colors are much better than if seeds or plants are purchased. If the seed is sown when ripe, the young plants will bloom next year. Then the off-colors can be weeded out, and the plants set in permanent beds.

The columbine is a long-lived plant, and once established it will grow and bloom for years, provided it is set in a well drained soil, fed well, and given a moderate amount of lime. Do not divide this plant as cutting the main root stalk lays it open to decay. Gardeners who cannot save their own seed are advised to purchase some and plant it soon. They may then expect to have blooming plants next year.

Income deductions were $1,331,284.69 or $3,263.12 less than for May 1929, leaving the balance available for dividends and surplus $2,092,957.50 as against $2,328,748.72 for May 1929, a decrease of $235,791.22.

Annals For Late Sowing

By A. C. McLEAN,
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

While there is still time to sow most annuals for satisfactory summer bloom, gardeners should not plant the kinds which have been found unsatisfactory because of the hot weather of our eastern summers. It is getting rather late to sow such annuals as corn flowers, calendulas, and annual larkspur, as these plants do better in the cool weather of spring or fall. Should you wish to plant any of these, you had better wait until the latter part of July or early in August so that they will grow during the cool weather and make some bloom.

If you want to cover your ground with quick growing annuals that can be sown now or even as late as June 15, and that will stand our hot summers and considerable drought, I suggest portulaca, annual phlox, nasturtium, gaillardias, and the smaller type of zinnias, which bloom more quickly than the larger types. These annuals should carry flowers until freezing weather. They may be sown directly in the flower bed. The main thing in sowing seeds at this time of the year is to keep the soil-surface damp or moist until the seeds germinate.

Some Good Scores Turned In Friday By Local Golfers

Town officials and citizens golfed Friday on the Forest Hill golf links. Almost every player captured some sort of memorial trophy. The prizes ran the gamut from a trophy contributed by Mayor Samuel S. Kentworthy and Commissioners William D. Clark and William H. Williams to golf balls, wallets, and a brief case presented by Assemblyman Homer C. Zink. The affair was sponsored by the Republican Club.

The winner last year, Plumbing Inspector Edward O'Connor, repeated his performance, with many magical twists of the club for pars and birdies. Corporation Counsel John B. Brown, who won the tournament three years ago in the first game he ever played, wound up last this time.

Net scores were: O'Connor, 69; Anthony Micone, 70; Eugene T. Berry, 73; Louis Knowle, 76; Milton Brasher, 77; William Barge, 80; Mayor Kenworthy, 83; Commissioner Williams, 83; Victor H. The membership committee has been doing excellent work since its appointment. Different neighborhood problems were discussed among which was the renaming of that part of Wilber street, which is south of Joralemon, to avoid confusion with the house formerly Hill street, to South Wilber numbers at the present Wilber street. Several new members were accepted.

The Entertaining Committee is arranging a card party for June 27 at the Recreation house. A considerable number of valuable awards will be made. This will be the last card party before fall and a record attendance is anticipated.

Alexander Baykowski, former Nutley High School pitcher, was on the mound. John Bresnahan and Arch Barbata drove out timely hits for the winners.

The feature was a triple play by the Belleville team in the third inning. With Nutley base runners on first and second, Miller, playing left field, made a spectacular bare-hand catch. He threw to second and the second baseman tossed to first, completing a triple killing.

Belleville A. A. Hands Bell-Nuts A Reverse

Record 8-4 Victory In Tilt Staged Thursday At Clearman Field

The fast-stepping Belleville A. A. combination continued its winning ways at the expense of the Bell-Nuts Friday night, at Clearman Field, by recording an 8-4 victory. The game which was a Legion League tilt, was featured for the most part by hard and timely slugging on the part of both teams.

Ketchell, Belleville A. A. hurler, had but one bad inning, the fourth when the Bell-Nuts bunched five of their nine hits for their four run total. During the remaining six innings Ketchell was supreme, wielding the whitewash brush in effective fashion. Moniot, ace twirler of the Bell-Nuts, had an off-night and the ADD—Belleville A. A. slammed his offerings for thirteen safe wallops in registering their eight run total.

The slugging honors for the winners, was fairly evenly distributed down the line-up with Lamb, Polifsch, McDaniels, and Leonard each coming through with a pair of safeties. "Mac" Lamb also played a fine fielding game, several of his stops and throws drawing rounds of applause from the crowd. McDaniels, a new-comer, to league ranks, looked good in his initial appearance and showed lot of ability in caressing the "ol apple."

"Pint" Sentner and Bill Kearny were the leading stick-wielders for the Bell-Nuts, each accounting for a brace of wallops.

The Joy of Being The Editor

Getting out this paper is no picnic. If we print jokes, people will say we are silly; If we don't, they say we are too serious. If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves. If we don't we are stuck on our own stuff. If we stick close to the job all day, we ought to be out hunting up news. If we go out and try to hustle, we ought to be on the job in the office. If we don't print contributions, we don't appreciate genius; And if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk. If we make a change in the other fellow's write-up, we are too critical. If we don't we are asleep. Now like as not some guy will say we swiped this from some magazine. We did.—Exchange.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemke.

With the American Legion League campaign about a third under way, the big feature so far has been the superlative twirling of Teddy Coeyman, that long, lanky southpaw of the Belleville A. A.

Not so long ago Teddy was mainly instrumental in that surprising 3-3 tie game the A. A. engaged in with the strong Elk combine. As if that was not enough Coeyman topped that off last Monday night by beating out St. Peter's, 6-5. This victory was all the more tasty and impressive when it is considered that the Saints got off to a five run lead right at the outset. He got stronger as the game got longer however, and in the last four innings mowed down the Saints with monotonous regularity, climaxing his masterful exhibition by striking out Buttons, Parcels, Lilori, Ryan and Pascale in succession in the last two frames. And all this after fans had called him "about through" several years ago.

Yessir, we doff our sombreros to Coeyman, who seems to improve with age, and seems destined to take his place as one of the league's leading hurlers; if not the league-leader.

Probably no keener baseball rivalry locally exists than that between the Belleville Cardinals and the Belleville Clintons.

Both of these junior nines are right up there in the Legion Junior League standings and that only serves to enhance the keen rivalry that already exists between these two neighborhood teams.

A week ago Wednesday the Cards and the Clintons battled to a scoreless tie for eight innings in the Legion Junior League when the game was called on account of darkness. Then to cap the climax they went eighteen innings against each other, Sunday morning and afternoon at Belleville Park, before the Clintons managed to eke out a 9-7 margin. Just think of it—twenty-five consecutive innings of even play within a week before finally coming to a decision.

If that isn't close play, we would like to know what is. They are about as evenly matched as it is possible for two ball aggregations to be and they are both eagerly looking forward to their next game in the league.

St. Anthonys Score Win Over St. Peter's

Losers, However, Make It Known They Played Under Protest

Performing like champions behind the five hit pitching of Roy Snell, St. Anthonys scored a Legion League up-set Thursday night at Clearman Field by nosing out the vaunted St. Peter nine, 3-1. During the course of the game, however, St. Peter's announced the game was being played under protest because the St. Anthony line-up contained five out-of-townners in violation of a league ruling.

Langdon, a new-comer, toed the slab for the William Street boys and while extremely stingy with his hits, allowing four, had several wild streaks. These and some untimely St. Peter miscues made it easy for the Silver Lakers.

St. Anthonys got to business right off the bat, tallying twice in the very first inning and winning the ball game right then and there. The first six men to face Langdon got on base safely, with only one hit being included among them. Three walks, two St. Peter errors and a long double by Moran was the extent of the damage and but for some crazy St. Anthony base running the spurge might have been more productive.

While Snell was pitching shut-out ball, the Silver Lake boys brought the count to 3-0 in the fifth, denting the bubble once without the aid of a hit. Two errors turned the trick.

The lone St. Peter tally that enabled them to escape the whitewash brush came in the sixth. Marty Mallack reached first when short-stop erred, stole second and third and arrived home safe on Lilori's clean shot to center.

Snell's mound performance was a classic and he certainly deserved to win. He scattered the five bingles he allowed over as many innings and walked but a single batter.

Jerry Lilori was the batting star for the St. Peter bunch, reaching base every time he was up, twice on

Snappy Brand Of Ball Is Displayed By Two Teams

The Belleville American Legion all-star team auspiciously opened its campaign Saturday afternoon at Clearman Field, by downing the strong Greater Newark A. A., 4-1, in a fast, well-played game. The game itself took little more than an hour and a half to play, as each team played a snappy brand of ball.

Jim Mallack graced the hillock for the locals and set down the Greater Newark with six well scattered hits, while whiffing ten. His opponent, "Fat" Allen was slapped to all corners of the lot by the Legion swat-smiths, who accounted for ten solid wallops from his delivery.

The Legion was first to score, ringing the register twice in the second on three hits, after wasting two bingles in the first. Joe Curran led off this frame with a triple and was an early scorer on Lilori's ensuing double. Then Gelsen made it three in a row with a line single over second to score Jerry.

The visitors got one back in the fourth on a brace of singles by Lawson and Stevens and an infield out. This ended their scoring proclivities for the day, as during the remaining five innings they were shut-out with but two hits by Jim Mallack who seemed to get better as the game progressed.

The homesters added to their advantage in the sixth with another well-earned run. This time Johnny Mallack's long double and Curran's single to right turned the trick. In the next frame, the seventh, the locals put across their final tally to bring the count to 4-1, where it remained till the game's end. Johnny Lawlor's timely single accounted for this one.

Jerry Lilori and Joe Curran were the slugging fools for the Legion, the former accounting for a double and single, while Curran complied with a triple and single. Johnny Lawlor starred around the keystone sack accepting eleven chances with but one error.

Dick Veasey and Stevens each solved Mallack's delivery, for two hits to feature for the Greater Newark.

If Saturday's game may be taken as a criterion the local team is going to raise havoc in semi-pro ranks this summer, as they played a high class brand of ball throughout.

Panthers Annex First League Win

Trip Up Comet Ball Club 7-4 In Game Played At Clearman Field

Staging two fine rallies in the closing innings the Panthers won their first Junior League victory, Saturday afternoon at Clearman Field, defeating the Comets, 7-4.

Jay Suderley, Panther slasher, held the Comets to but three hits and but one earned run during the seven innings of play, but several streaks of wildness cost him the other three runs and made the game a close one.

For the first four innings, Cullen, ace Comet twirler, shut-out the Panthers with but one hit. In the meanwhile the Comets were coming Suderley's offerings for their four run total.

However, with the score 4-0 against them, the Panthers suddenly got to Cullen and promptly knotted the count at 4-all in the fifth with a fine rally. Singles by Bruegman and Byrnes and Ev Burden's homer over the center field fence with one aboard were features of this comeback. Not satisfied with this the Panthers stepped out and won the contest in the next frame with three more tallies.

Diemark, Comet left-fielder, provided the fielding feature of the afternoon, a fine catch of a sizzling liner off Bruegman's bat in the second, converting it into a fast double play. Phelps took care of the batting fireworks slapping out a pair of safe wallops for the Panthers.

Belleville A. A. Adds St. Peter's To Wins

Bags 6-5 Victory Monday Night At Clearman Field

Continuing their dope-upsetting ways of the past few weeks the surprising Belleville A. A. combination nosed out the strong St. Peter combine, 6-5, Monday night at Clearman Field in the local Legion league.

Teddy Coeyman, the A. A.'s ace of aces, toed the slab for the winners and pitched a fine, heady game that was not to be beaten. Teddy seemed to get better as the game progressed and after allowing the Saints five runs on four hits in the first three innings settled down and twirled two hit, shut-out ball the rest of the way. During the course of the seven innings Coeyman got nine of the William street boys on strikes, retiring five of the last six batters to face him by that method.

His opponent on the mound, the youthful Tommie Byrnes, got off to a brilliant start and shut out the winners with but one hit for the first three innings. They got to him, however, in the next two and tied the score on four hits. "Rat" Flynn went to his rescue in the sixth, but became the losing hurler when a St. Peter miscue, following two Belleville A. A. safeties allowed Skidmore to romp home with the winning tally.

Freddy Polfisch, hard-hitting receiver of the winners, was the only man on either side to get two hits. His second in the seventh figured in the scoring of the winning run. "Rosy" Ryan, Marty Mallack and Osky Lawson featured for the losers.

Belleville Panthers Lose To Newarkers

Sunday Afternoon Battle Ends 9-7 Against Local Nine

The Belleville Panthers dropped a close 9-7 decision to the strong West Side Cardinals at Vailsburgh Park Sunday afternoon, in a stirring battle for first place in the Davega League.

Herb Otto performed the honors on the hill for the Panthers and twirled a strong game most of the way. Several lapses, however, coupled with errors by his teammates ruined his splendid efforts. Santora, the winning pitcher was hit rather freely by the Bellevillites, but managed to twirl his best ball in the pinches, when hits meant runs.

For eight innings, the Cardinals reigned supreme, holding a convincing 9-3 margin over their rivals. In their half of the ninth, however, the locals staged a fine rally that just missed tying the count. In this frame Crowning led off with a walk and then Suderley and Schenck singled in quick succession, the latter's drive knocking in a pair. Otto walked and then with two out Lamb came through with a beauty to center to score two more. After that Santora bore down and ended the rally and the game.

"Mac" Lamb, sterling infielder of the Panthers, led his side with the willow with a double and a pair of singles. Delia, Cardinal back-stop, was the winners' best.

St. Anthony's Juniors And Cardinals Tie

Belleville Legion Junior League Fracas Ends At 9 All

St. Anthony Juniors and the Cardinals battled to a 9-9 tie Monday night at Belleville Park in a Belleville Legion Junior League game.

Staging wild scoring sprees in the very first inning, each team got off to a five run start. Byrnes' homer in this frame with two aboard was the big feature of the Cardinal five run, four hit splurge, while doubles by the Domenick brothers featured for the St. Anthony crew.

In the third frame the Saints garnered their final four with the aid of three timely hits. From thereon, "Pat" Dunn, who relieved Ashworth on the mound for the Cardinals, pitched no hit no run ball.

Three runs in the third and a final single tally in the fifth was sufficient to insure the Cards of a tie game.

Bill Byrnes, husky first-sacker for the Cards, was the big gun of their attack, coming through with a homer and a triple to feature both of their big innings. Ryan, Sullivan and Christell also got two safe wallops for the Cardinals.

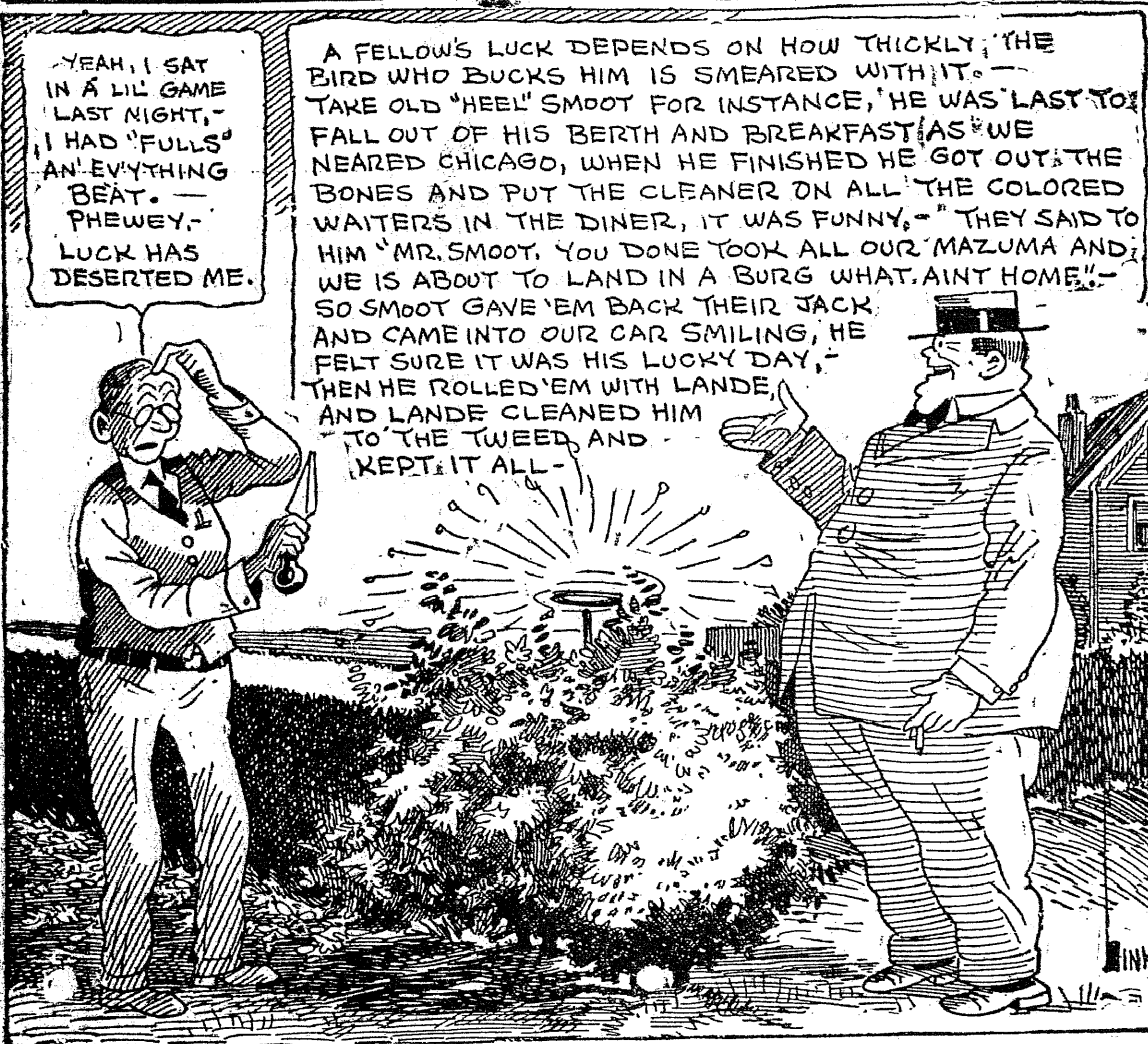

The Domenick brothers, Bill and Andy, each contributed two doubles to the St. Anthony cause, while Nick Bonavita chimed in with a triple and single.

Junior Teams Battle Eighteen Innings, Clintons Winning 9-7

Cardinals Were Opponents In Fracas That Will Undoubtedly Be Premier Of The Season

In what will undoubtedly go down in the records as the premier junior game of the season, the Cardinals and the Clintons continued where they left off the previous Wednesday and battled eighteen innings before the Clintons finally won out, 9-7, Sunday morning at Belleville Park.

The two teams, which are about as evenly matched as two teams possibly can be, put on an exhibition of baseball that would be worthy of many a pair of semi-pro aggregations and had the sizeable crowd present on their toes throughout the entire four hours of play.

Pat Hannan went the whole eighteen innings for the Clintons and certainly earned the decision which he finally received. Pat Dunn and Mac Lamb, divided the hurling honors for the Cardinals.

Johnny Travers, who had been the goat in several previous games, was the hero of the Clinton victory coming through with a timely triple in the eighteenth to score Drowski with the winning run. He later scored on an infield out to make the final count, 9-7.

"Mac" Lamb, though charged with the defeat, was nevertheless the hero of the game to the Cardinals. In the ninth inning with the score tied at seven-all "Pat" Dunn, starting Cardinal hurler, started to get wobbly and the first three men to face him in this frame got on base. Lamb was then sent to the mound, with none out and the bases loaded, about as tight a place as a pitcher could desire. Lamb calmly retired the side, however, and sent the game into extra innings.
