"To envy anybody, is to confess ourselves inferior."—De Finod.

Is it not true? And has been, our experience from beginning of time to envy persons, for some reason or other. It does not seem quite fair.

The nature of the times, environment, personal temperaments and other instruments bring envy into our souls.

You hear people say: "I just can't go that person," or "She gives me a pain in the neck." It is no doubt true, that certain persons annoy you. You probably annoy them also. But both of you cannot be correct, and so who is wrong?

Our advice to you, would be to avoid such associations. Keep away from persons who annoy you!

People Are Like Animals
"The more I see of some people—the better I like my dog!"

You are probably thinking, and wholly agreeing with us now. Well, we agree with you.

Have you ever noticed the thick bull-like neck of a fat man? He snorts, snorts at times, pushes you in crowded trains or buses, and has the soft boiled, violet blue eye as a rule. Pigs and hogs have thick necks, snore, snort and push each other about.

Mice And Men
Haven't you noticed men with small beady eyes, long noses and sleek soft hair of no particular color and thin claw-like hands. In England, these same types were rent collectors or "Rats of the King," as my good old Irish grandfather would say. Now please do not misinterpret our meaning—this does not apply to every one of such description, but just pause a moment and see if you can't place that character.

Then we have the fellow with long pointed ears slanting upwards, with the curve of a feather! Foxes have ears, like that. People are foxy!

Ears that are large and set below the temples, indicate usually a generous whole-hearted intelligent personality.

Horse traders never would buy a horse, whose ears were on top of its head and close together. No brain space—that's why.

Dreams And "Gyps"
Dreams are the result of a tired mind. Dreams seldom come true. But people believe in dreams. That is why fortune tellers, mind-readers, make a lot of money. What an empty world this would be without our superstitions.

We know several prominent men and women who pay form two to twenty dollars to have their fortunes told by cards.

People with strong minds can't be "hokus-pokused," and if they are not satisfied and tell the fortune telling fakir the reading was all untrue, the seasoned gypsy says—

"You did not concentrate. You resisted me mentally. You have a stronger mind."

If you believe us to be wrong about fortune telling then every one to his "like-ing."

Of course there are "mediums" who cannot recognize a policeman after a seizure?

We all had better stick to the old farmer, who knows when it is going to rain. His prediction is on the level and sincere.

Like the fellow who asked the "mind reader" to tell him what he was thinking about, and she slapped him in the face.

AND SO—
The greatest art of an able man is to know how to conceal his ability.

"It is a terrible thing to be obliged to love by contract."

"The loves of some people are but the result of good suppers."

"Hypocrisy is permanent treason."

—Newspaper Arts Service.

BELLEVILLE BRIDGE RE-OPENED

Professionals Show At Jackie Coogan Model Golf Course

Alex Milne And Son Take Match From O'Connor Brothers

Miniature golf is no longer the pastime for amateurs. Professionals are turning their talents to the "little game." Four of them played to a gallery of 500 at the Jackie Coogan Model Golf Course at Union avenue and William street Friday night, in a two-team, thirty-six hole match.

Alex Milne, designer and builder of the course and his son, George, professional at the Pembroke Country Club won three up and two to go over the brothers, Maurice and Tom O'Connor, pros at the Branch Brook Course.

It was match play, otherwise the O'Connor boys would have won as their combined score was 184 to the combined score of 185 for the Milne team. Low individual score however, was won by the younger Milne with a nice 82.

In the first round his score was forty, two under par, and his second round was just par. His father made 103 for both rounds and the other scores were ninety-three for Maurice and ninety-one for Tom O'Connor.

Prizes were awarded by John F. Coogan, Jr., proprietor, who boasts of having a course that tests actual golfing technique. Yesterday members of the Lions Club invaded the course.

Paving Matter Is Still In The Air

Carragher Again Criticizes Payment To Jannarone For Old Work

Objection to the recent payment to Philip Jannarone of Nutley of $1,000 in retained percentages on sidewalk and curb construction work in several streets, in 1924-25, was reiterated by Commissioner Frank J. Carragher at a Town Commission meeting Tuesday night. The lengthy criticism by the commissioner was described as "a lot of bunk" by Commissioner Patrick A. Waters, director of public works.

Acting Mayor William H. Williams asked Mr. Carragher if he didn't think the board had disposed of the matter in a fair manner, since $400 had been deducted in accordance with findings that the work was ninety-five percent per cent perfect and property owners assessed had not complained during the five years' usage of the walks.

"No, I'll never say the work was done right," Mr. Carragher declared. "You might as well sell a man a pair of shoes with paper soles in them."

Mr. Waters explained Mr. Carragher's objections were based on the idea all paving work should be exactly as called for in specifications and recalled the difference of opinion on the subject between Mr. Carragher, when he was head of the engineering department, and former Assistant Town Engineer Fitzgerald. The latter had held that if a job was ninety-five per cent perfect, it was good work. Mr. Waters added payment was made, however, on a ninety-five per cent basis and the money could not have been withheld.

Several items of the work, which Mr. Carragher characterized as having been "paid over my head," he asked Town Clerk John J. Daly to read. When the latter smiled, Mr. Carragher said: "This is no laughing matter."

It's funny to me," Mr. Daly replied. He recalled after the meeting Mr. Carragher had submitted the items for reading at a mass-meeting of the anti-administration group prior to the May 13 election.

Mr. Carragher was called to order by the acting Mayor. The manner in which Mr. Daly read the items, showing the work and costs on several streets, appeared unsatisfactory to Mr. Carragher.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS FRAUD TALK BY DR. BENJ. F. BATTIN

Embezzlement, Burglary And Forgery Cause Tremendous Losses Each Year, Speaker Outlines At Nereid Club

Belleville Rotarians Wednesday heard an address on "Financial Crime," by Dr. Benjamin F. Battin at a luncheon in the Nereid Boat Club.

In presenting the subject of Financial crime, Dr. Battin described the origin of the modern surety business and developed the different kinds of financial frauds which are practised by criminals and which are the reason for the existence of the surety business. He estimated the following minimum losses due to crime as follows: Embezzlement, $200,000,000; burglary and similar crimes, $200,000,000; forgery, $175,000,000 to $200,000,000; fraudulent claims for insurance of all kinds including surety and casualty $200,000,000, fraud in connection with real estate, $100,000,000; then three very large items of fraud, the unfair merchandise, $500,000,000, worthless stocks and bonds, $500,000,000 and the largest item of fraud, the fraudulent bankruptcy $750,000,000. There are other financial frauds practiced which add to the cost of crime; for example in the opinion of the leading expert of the country on the subject of drugs and narcotics, the amount of money spent surreptitiously for morphine, cocaine, heroin and other forbidden drugs, amounts to about one billions dollars. These figures are all minimum figures and in every class the actual losses will tend to exceed those figures. Dr. Battin described also the different kinds of bonds and policies which are issued to combat the various crimes and to give salvage to those who are victims of these crimes; and special emphasis was laid on the fact, not always fully realized by business men, that protection against nearly all of these fraudulent practices is afforded by the bonds and policies of the surety companies so as to prevent loss entirely or reduce it to a minimum. The surety and casualty companies in the year 1929 wrote about $800,000,000 in premiums and the coverage amounts to a number of billions of dollars. In describing the work of repressing financial crimes and referring to the legislation adopted by the States, Dr. Battin estimated a minimum total of seven and one-half billion dollars for the direct and indirect cost of financial crimes each year. That means that the individual citizen contributes involuntarily to the cost of crime probably twice as much as he pays for Federal Income Tax. The average citizen must pay involuntarily in the higher cost of rent, fuel, food, clothing, amusements and everything for which he makes outlay a larger item to the cost of financial crime that he pays out for his sport or hobby, for his church or his philanthropy. This makes financial crime one of the most serious and important of domestic problems and it is moreover a problem which "like the poor is always with you." Service club members were urged to do what they can to prevent further financial crime and to hand over financial criminals to the police and the courts in order that justice may be done, and leaving to the courts the problems of mercy and suspended sentences.

BONES

A great many well-meaning folk talk about the good of saving; that's jawbone. Some folks wish they had saved or were saving; that's wishbone. A few people resolve to begin now and do it; that's backbone. —Silent Parnters.

License Fee For Miniature Golf Links Discussed

Matter Held In Abeyance Till Mayor Returns Next Week

Licensing of the three miniature golf courses in town was broached by Commissioner William D. Clark Tuesday. After discussion, it was thought a fee of $150 might be set, the matter to rest for suggestions of Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, in charge of licenses, who will return from Denver this week.

On the phase of regulating hours for the courses and determining whether they should operate Sundays, Commissioner Waters said it would be discriminatory to keep movies closed and not the courses.

On recommendation of the Board of Zoning Adjustment, the commission granted permission to Louis Mutch to build a miniature course at Franklin and Arthur avenues, a residential zone. Mr. Waters objected in the ground the zoning ordinance should be amended. Commissioner Carragher said there was already a business in the section, that of the Branch Brook public golf course.

"If we adopt an ordinance to regulate the courses, we must consider the question of Sunday play," suggested Mr. Waters. "If we continue to allow them to operate on Sunday, I believe we should also permit Sunday movies, for it is discriminatory to let the proprietors profit by the day while theatre managers can not. Real golf courses are open Sunday for those who can afford to play, and I think a person should have the right to play on a small course or go to the movies if he prefers." Other members of the board were hesitant to discuss this contentious feature.

NUTLEY BOY IS TAKEN OFF VESSEL

"Training School" At Boston Harbor Is Raided As Unsanitary

A Nutley boy, Stewart Patton, 17, of 47 High street, was among a group of thirteen youngsters removed from the Schooner Ellen Little, Tuesday, when police and an agent of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children raided the so-called marine training school in Boston Harbor.

Most of the boys did not complain of their treatment, although health officials declared conditions aboard the boat were insanitary. The lads are to be sent home today. They had been drawn to the ship by advertisements offering a two-year training course for officers' berths in the American Merchant Marine and a two weeks' cruise this month.

The participation of Boy Scouts in two important expeditions this summer has been reported to the National Offices of the Boy Scouts of America in New York, according to James E. West, Chief Scout Executive. Mate Max Demorest of the Sea Scout Ship "Cabletown" of Flint, Mich., a sophomore at the University of Michigan, is doing fourteen months of meteorological research on the island of Angmassalik, Greenland. The other Scout scientist is George W. Morrill, Jr., 18, and Eagle Scout of Concord, N. H., who is spending the summer as New Hampshire's representative with the archaeological expedition now exploring the Merrimack river valley for Indian relics.

Lone Pair

Sea Scout Demorest is to be the only companion of William S. Carlson who was for fourteen months in the Arctic regions with the last Hobbs Greenland expedition at the Mt. Evans observatory. The pair will spend the greater part of a year on the eastern coast of Greenland establishing a base on the island, Angmassalik.

The expedition is being sponsored and financed by the Scandinavian-American fellowship, Carnegie Institute and Harry Demorest, father of Max, and Genesee County court stenographer. Meteorological research will include the study of wind velocity, direction and temperature on the eastern coast of the glacial continent. The men will be transported up and down the coast from Angmassalik by dog sleds with Eskimos for guides.

The island is nearly directly west of the most northerly point of Iceland. Animal life consists of caribou, ptarmigan, seal, hare and duck. This will provide a source of fresh meat, but will not be enough for a year's diet. Communication to civilization is provided by the long-wave radio set. The governor is a Danish agent who makes his livelihood by trading furs with the Eskimos.

Demorest and Carlson will conduct the studies he releasing a small balloon inflated with hydrogen and observing its behavior through a telescope measuring instrument. The results of the study will be a check on similar work done on the western coast of Greenland.

Will Chart Glaciers

The study of geological conditions is to include the charting of glaciers hitherto unknown and the collection of plant and bird life which may be found on the continent proper.

Eagle Scout Morrill will work under Prof. Warren K. Moorehead of Phillips Andover Academy and Prof. Percy Hodges of Harvard, in searching for relics of aboriginal life in the Merrimack River Valley and vicinity. The relics found will be turned over to the New Hampshire Historical Society.

TRAFFIC SURVEY

During the past four years Boy Scouts of Pittsburgh, Pa., have co-operated with the Bureau of Traffic Planning to make surveys and studies for the betterment of traffic conditions in Pittsburgh. The Pittsburgh Bureau of Traffic Planning has developed a system of staggering Stop and Go lights which are unique in that since their development in Pittsburgh, they have won popular approval and adoption throughout the country.

Starting on May 22 of this year, 1,400 Pittsburgh Scouts participated in a country-wide traffic check. These Scouts were trained for their duties in three practice sessions held on three successive Saturday mornings before the check took place. The check included all types of vehicular traffic, pedestrian traffic, study of parking conditions, and so forth.

According to traffic engineers in the city of Pittsburgh the count was made with less than 4 per cent error which is considered unusually good.

Mr. Frank L. Dugan, President of the Better Traffic Committee of the City of Pittsburgh, in addressing the Council-wide Court of Honor recently paid special tribute to the Scouts who participated. He said, in part, that the results obtained through the co-operation of the Boy Scouts would have been impossible by any other means because of the prohibitive cost and that the new plan of traffic controls now in the city of Pittsburgh stands as a tribute to the splendid work done by the Boy Scouts.

NEW WEEK-END CAMP

The gift of a new week-end campsite to the Boy Scouts of Long Beach in California, has been announced by the Long Beach Boy Scout Council. The new camp-site, the gift of William B. Miller, is about three miles beyond the Orange County Park and is about one hour's drive from Long Beach.

The site will include several acres for camping and the scouts will be permitted to utilize surrounding woodland for hiking and Scouting pursuits.

President Hoover To Review Troops At Vets Convention

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 12—For the first time in its more than thirty years of existence, a president of the United States is scheduled to review marching state delegations at a national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. when the thirty-first national encampment of this organization convenes in Baltimore, Md., August 31 to September 5.

Virtual assurance of President Hoover's plans to make the short trip to Baltimore from Washington, D. C., on September 2, when the annual military parade will be staged, have been conveyed to national headquarters of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. by members of the national convention committee and arrangements are being made accordingly for the visit of the nation's chief executive during the veterans' reunion.

In anticipation of the presence of President Hoover in the reviewing stand, accompanied by Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, a past senior vice commander-in-chief of the V. F. W., and Charles F. Adams, Secretary of the Navy, plans have been laid for the most colorful and glamorous military spectacle in the history of Maryland.

In the military escort for the veterans of '98 and '17 there will be represented every branch of the military service. Units of cavalry from Fort Myer, Virginia, artillery from Fort Myer, Md.; marines from Quantico Barracks, Va.; Coast Guards from Curtis Bay Coast Guard Depot, Md., and blue jackets from the U. S. S. Florida will appear in the line of march. The Florida has been detailed to Baltimore for the week of the encampment, according to advice received by the encampment committee from the navy department.

A note of international flavor will be introduced in the 1930 military parade, the committee in charge announced, with uniformed delegations in line representing the various allied armies of the nationals that fought side by side with America in the world war.

Substantial prizes for drum and bugle corps and bands within the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. assure the presence of a record number of these musical units at the Baltimore encampment.

Outstanding among these will be the 116-piece band and drum and bugle corps of the Department of the District of Columbia, V. F. W., state championship drum and bugle corps from Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Indiana, according to present reports, and a number of other contenders for national honors representing posts in various sections of the country.

Solve Mystery Of Blood-Stained Car

Nutley Police Learn Owner, Rutherford Man, Was In Accident

Tracing of a 1929 Bergen County automobile license plate by Nutley police Sunday, disclosed the story of an accident and ended a mystery surrounding an abandoned auto, stained with blood, found Saturday morning. Captain John Jameson of Nutley was notified Saturday morning by Jack Beckett, a professional golfer at the Yountakah Country Club, Nutley, a small green coupe had been abandoned on an unfrequented stretch of River road, Nutley, near the club grounds.

Captain Jameson, Patrolman Rummel and Harry Hoonan, superintendent of roads in Nutley, opened the tool compartment and found a Bergen County license plate 5-63571. Captain Jameson communicated with motor vehicle officials in Trenton and found the plate had been issued to Fred Buck of 591 Smythesant avenue, Rutherford.

Rutherford police were requested to locate Buck. He was found and was told to report at Nutley police headquarters. He appeared and said he was driving along River road shortly before 1 Saturday morning when he was blinded by the headlights of an approaching car, causing him to lose control of his machine. His car left the road, struck two trees and turned over.

He said he suffered a cut on the left leg below the knee, a gash under the left eye and bruises on the right arm. He climbed from the car and went to his wife's home at 3 Main street, Belleville, for treatment. He said he removed the license plates from the car and told his wife he intended selling it to an auto junking concern.

Neither Mr. Buck nor Nutley police were able to learn why the car was upright when discovered. The owner said when he left the car was overturned.

Steuben Society Visit To Germany Told By Mrs. Luhr's Mother

German People Proud Of Many Of Their Leaders In This Country

Mrs. Katherine Krueger of Jersey City, mother of Mrs. Rudolph Luhrs of Forest street who is visiting her sisters in Germany, has sent a clipping from the daily newspaper, "Bremer-Nachrichten" giving an account of the reception in Bremen to the members of the Steuben Society who are taking a trip to Europe this summer to commemorate the two hundredth birthday anniversary of General von Steuben.

Upon arriving at Bremen July 14 the party went directly to the North German Lloyd building where they were welcomed by Dr. Stimming, in behalf of the North German Lloyd and the Karl Schurz Association. In his speech he points out that in the choosing of the name "Steuben" they showed themselves proud of their nationality and the German people are in turn proud that so many of our heroes and statesmen are of German descent. He also advised them that during their stay in Germany the Karl Schurz Association would be their guide and host. Theodore H. Hoffman, president of the arrangements committee acknowledged the greeting, and after inspecting the Lloyd building the group left in cars for the Rathaus where they were welcomed in the Senate Chamber by Dr. Spitta of the senate. This chamber has been the gathering place for nearly half a century for many great occasions. Dr. Spitta points out in his speech that it is necessary to visit a country and learn its customs and occupations of the land and people, learn the geographic, political and religious views of the country in order to really appreciate the nation. He also repeats Dr. Stimming's thought

"Tom" Byrnes Leads Clintons To Victory

Bests Andy Colannino In Local Junior Legion League Game

"Tom" Byrnes and the Clintons bested Andy Colannino and the Unions in a tight pitchers' duel, 4-1, at Belleville Park, Monday night in the local American Legion league.

Byrnes, easily the outstanding twirler in the younger circuit, permitted the Unions but 1 hit throughout the six innings of play, a single by DiGiovanni in the second. The lone run that the Unions were able to get from his delivery resulted from a momentary streak of wildness on his part in the very cant when he walked the first three batters to face him and made a wild pitch. He then recovered himself in time to whiff the next three batters. These three strike-outs started him on his way to a fourteen strike-out total before the six innings had passed.

Colannino, who recently turned to the Cardinals, was also in fine form, allowing the hard-hitting Clintons but three hits. All three hits, however, were of the extra base variety and all figured in the Clinton run-scoring.

Dbrowski, flashy young short stop of the league leaders, started all the rumpus with a homer to deep left center on the second ball that Colannino pitched.

Byrnes personally accounted for the second Clinton tally with a hard-hit double to left field.

In the fifth frame the Clintons scored their final two runs to bring their total to four mainly due to Manning's triple to left with one on. Manning later scored on a Union misplay.

Herman Paul, youthful third-sacker of the Unions, fielded in big league style for the losers with at least four fine stops and throws of hard-hit balls down his alley.

Pitchers' Battle Is Feature Of Game

Clinton's Win Hectic 1-0 Tilt From St. Anthony Juniors

In a real, old-fashioned pitchers' battle, Saturday afternoon, at Clearman Field, the Clintons nosed out the St. Anthony Jrs. 1-0. The win sent the Clintons into undisputed possession of first place in the local American Legion Junior League race and made them popular choices for the championship.

"Tommy" Byrnes, premier pitcher of the Junior loop, graced the mound for the Clintons and twirled his third straight shut-out win. The Saints never threatened to score against the twirling fast ball of Byrnes, their only two hits being wasted as fast Clinton fielding stopped them on the base lines. The southpaw wizard of the league-leaders also whiffed seven and walked but one batter.

American Legion Nine Wins From White Eagles, 5-4

A local American Legion nine that knew no defeat fought its way through seventeen innings of fast and furious play against the White Eagles to come out finally on the long end of a 5-4 count. Saturday afternoon, at Clearman Field. The game, which was played on one of the hottest days of the year, consumed four hours.

With the count 4-all going into the last half of the seventeenth inning, "Tommy" Dunn, after going hitless all afternoon, rose to the heights and laced the ball on the line against the left field fence, bringing home Gelschen with the winning run. Gelschen had previously singled and stole second to set the stage for Dunn.

The game, a nip and tuck affair throughout, was won and lost no less than three times, with the locals coming through sensationally and knotting the count in the fourteenth after the Bloomfieldites had forged to the front in their half of the same stanza.

Get the picture: Ungemah of the visitors sent Zega home with what appeared to be the winning run in the fourteenth with his fourth hit of the day. In the home half, Kastner, first up, grounded out and half the good-sized crowd in the stands began to leave. Artie Lamb then halted them in their tracks with a line single to center, following it by stealing second and third in rapid succession. It looked like only a flash in the pan, though, as "Biddy" Carragher made it two down on a short pop-up. Johnny Johnston then proceeded to knot the count and sent the fans scurrying back into the stands with a line drive to center, tallying Lamb with the tying marker.

The Bell-boys made hay in the early innings, denting the rubber three times in the first three innings before "Pat" Renner, ace of the visitors, could get his bearings. Successive bingles by Johnny Lawlor and "Butch" Kastner in the first got the Legion off to a good start.

Some high class bunting on the part of Messrs. Lawlor, Kastner, and Lamb was mainly responsible for the other two in the third. Singles by the Mallow brothers, John and Jim were also of prime importance.

Then, for the next ten innings or up to the fourteenth frame, Renner reached his peak and held the locals hitless and runless for that stretch.

In the meanwhile, Jim Mallow, who pitched splendid ball all the way for the Legion, was being nipped hard by the White Eagles sluggers, but, was superlative in the pinches, aided and abetted by some timely defensive work on the part of his mates. His effectiveness in the pinches was that in all but one of the first nine innings he was found for at least one hit, but scored on only three times all the while. The en-

Belleville Post representatives in the Essex County American Legion Junior tourney won their third straight tilt, Saturday afternoon, this time taking Montclair into camp at the latter's field.

Catalano, local mound ace, shut-out the Montclairites for the first six frames, but eased up in the seventh to allow the losers their lone run of the afternoon. He turned back seven on strikes during the course of the game.

A. A. Pulls Surprise By Win From Elks

Thoroughly Troughed Antlers By 15-5 Score At Local Field

The Belleville A. A. again pulled the unexpected as they have been doing all season by thoroughly trouncing the heavy-hitting Elks, 15-5, at Clearman Field, Wednesday afternoon, to further strengthen their hold on first place in the local American Legion League and to send the Elks out of the running for the time being.

"Teddy" Coeyman, the ace of aces among the league's boxmen, held the among hard-hitting Elks' batsmen to three scattered bingles and whiffed six. With the exception of the second and third rounds when no less than five errors on the part of his mates proved a big factor in the scoring of all of the Elks markers, lanky Teddy was invincible.

On the other hand, Jim Mallow, the Elk ace, was hit hard and often by the A. A. who collected twelve hits of varying dimensions, from his shoots.

"Teddy" Skidmore, veteran leader of the A. A., had a hand in both of the early Belleville A. A. rallies in the first and second cantos, which got the winners off to a 6-1 start. He led off the game with a double over the left field fence. Singles by McDaniel and "Mac" Lamb, a short while later, countered the A. A.'s first trio of markers.

Three hits in the second brought the winners' total to six and provided their winning margin. The Belleville A. A. were not satisfied with that, however, and completed their scoring with dribbles of four in the fourth, one in the fifth and another lot of four in the sixth.

In the meanwhile the Elks were practically helpless before the southpaw slants of the veteran Coeyman, though Jimmie Dunn's single in the third with two aboard climaxed a four run rally by the Elks and kept them in the game for the time being.

Of the twelve hits that the Belleville A. A. collected, two each went the way of Teddy Skidmore, Johnny Lawlor, "Mac" McDaniel, and Charley Schlecker. Jimmie Dunn's one-ply blow in the third was the Elks' most effective bingle.

St. Peter's Further Muddled Up Legion League Race

St. Peter's further muddled up the race for first place in the local Legion League by nailing out the Belleville A. A., 2-1, Friday night at Clearman Field. The win sent the Saints into a tie for first place with the A. A., with the Elks but a step behind and it looks like anybody's chance for the pennant.

Ketchell, understudy of Coeyman, who needed the rest, performed fully as capably as the lanky Ted, but he didn't get the breaks. He held the Saints to five scattered hits and two unearned runs.

"Rat" Flynn, the St. Peter ace, was also in brilliant form and certainly deserved to win if anybody did. He allotted the losers but four hits, scattered over as many innings and got six of their sluggers on strikes.

Liguori And J. Tuozzolo Star At Bat For The Intertowns

The Intertowns won a double-header Sunday by defeating the Aurora B. B. C. at Branch Brook Park, in the morning, and the Roosevelt A. C. at Capitol Field, in the afternoon for their twelfth and thirteenth victories.

The Intertowns had a slugging match with the Auroras to win, 20-19. The Intertowns collected nineteen hits through the offerings of Hoop, and the opponents, fifteen hits, from Natale and Tuozzolo. The lead was transferred several times during the game but a four-run rally in the eighth by the Auroras made the fans think the game was sewed up. The Intertown heavy battery set right after the Auroras to score five runs in their half of the last frame to take the lead as Tuozzolo struck out the first two batters to face him and forced the last of the Auroras to pop up.

Zampano and Cohen starred for the Auroras and Liguori, Tuozzolo, Ricciardi, Luzzo and Natale hit hard for the Intertowns. Liguori drove three runs across the plate, scoring three himself and also tied the score twice. Zampano, who was behind the bat, caught his first game for the Ints and proved useful. Tuozzolo also pitched his first game and with F. Zampano proved a successful battery.

Afternoon Game
In the afternoon the Intertowns travelled to Capitol Field to defeat the Roosevelt A. C. of Belleville, 10-7, in a ten-inning game which had many surprises and good plays. The Intertowns took the lead to hold the Roosevelt's scoreless till the third inning. A six-run rally on four walks and two hits from Cappy gave the Intertowns a 9-4 lead.

After each side had been blanked in the first, St. Peter's accounted for their lone two runs of the game in the second. Marty Mallack started things by working Ketchell for a free ticket. McAvoy's sacrifice bunt sent him to second and another sacrifice this time by Parcells advanced both runners. Clancy, the next batter up then walked to fill the hassocks with but one out. At this crucial moment Freddy Polisch unleashed a wild heave in trying to pick Mallack off third and both Mallack and McAvoy scored with what later proved to be the winning markers.

In the fourth Lawlor led off with a walk, stole second and tallied on Polisch's single to center for the lone Belleville A. A. marker.

The winners threatened to add to their slim margin in both the fifth and sixth frames. Joey Curran led off the inning with a single to right and "Sug" Flynn, next up, slammed the ball on a line straight for third base. Johnny Leonard, brilliant young infielder leaped in the way of the flying pellet and converted it into a double play. It was one of the most remarkable plays seen at the local diamond in some time. With two out in the sixth they again threatened on McAvoy's single and Parcells' double. Ketchell rose to the occasion, however, by whiffing Clancy for the third out.

Freddy Polisch connected for half of the A. A.'s four hits total to lead them with the stick, while McAvoy, making his first appearance for the winners got two out of two.

Johnny Leonard's marvelous fielding was easily the highlight of both team's defensive play.

Last Minute Rally Gives League Leaders Win Over Anthony's

Teddy Coeyman Again Goes Great Guns Although Nicked Three Times

In spite of a great last minute rally on the part of St. Anthony's, the league-leading Belleville A. A. nine managed to nose out the Silver Lakers, 4-3, at Clearman Field, Monday night.

After Teddy Coeyman, the league's leading hurler, had shut out the Saints for the first four innings, they suddenly got to his assortment of curves and carved out three runs to almost knot the count before darkness ended the tilt at the end of the sixth. "Tony" Biase's long homer to right field with one on in the sixth climaxed this great last minute spurt.

Though the Belleville A. A. was out-hit, by a 10-7 margin, the losers could do nothing with the slants of the "Old Master," Teddy Coeyman, in the pinches. A fine example of his fine twirling under stress was his performance in both the first and third rounds. In both these cantos, "Champ" Juliano, making a return appearance with the Saints, slammed the pellet to the wide open spaces in deep center. He got two bases on his first clout and three on his second and each time with but one out, but Coeyman was "there" and the next two batters in both instances were easy outs.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemke

The Belleville American Legion all-star nine never won a sweeter game than that 5-4 win of theirs last Saturday. In baseball parlance it was nothing short of a "honey."

In the seventeen innings of play that the tilt consumed, there was crammed more thrills, more drama, more action, more fine playing, than any game that Clearman Field has ever witnessed in the rather short span of its existence.

This game had everything. Plenty of hitting: twenty-seven hits for both teams. Sensational pitching; brilliant twirling in the pinches, aided by sixteen strike-outs, by Jim Mallack and a ten-inning stretch of no-hit, no-run hurling for Renner of the visitors. Brilliant fielding: two fine plays started by Gene Gelsen which resulted in runners being picked off both first and third base, as well as at least four remarkable catches turned in by the White Eagle outfield. Suspense and action galore: the superb way in which the locals rose to the heights in the fourteenth and seventeenth frames to first knot the count and to finally win out.

Other arguments could be advanced with ease and we think it will be some time before the good-sized crowd that witnessed the tilt will find another to equal it. Towards the end of the game Empire "Bun" Derbyshire announced that the Legion desired to know whether the fans preferred the White Eagles for the attraction on Labor Day. He received absolute acquiescence on the part of the fans.

The locals, with but one defeat and seven wins as their season's record, are certainly the equal of most of the semi-pro nines in the state. Their win over the White Eagles, by the way, snapped that team's splendid record of twenty-five straight wins. Tomorrow afternoon, the Legion will encounter the well-known Pascale Public Service team. Many fans, remembering the superlative playing of the Paterson Public Service, when they easily trounced last year's local representatives, have been clamoring for that team all this season. They want to find out just how this year's American Legion nine, which has been faring so much better than that of last year's, stacks up against the powerful Paterson combine.

Manager Lawlor had some difficulty booking this squad, but he went one better. He booked the team that is considered the Paterson squad's superior, the Public Service nine of Passaic.

Such teams as these require large flat guarantees that make their booking sometimes hazardous. The Legion, however, is only interested in giving the fans what they want and to that end they stop at nothing. Because of this we believe with a large majority of the fans that they deserve the unstinted support of all.

The attraction will be the best that has ever been booked for the local diamond and they will face the best team that has ever worn the local insignia. Unstinted backing by the fans is all that is requisite to complete success for all. Let's go, Belleville!

In a recent conversation with one of the prominent figures behind the local Legion baseball movement, the writer was caught quite unaware when he was flatly asked the opinion as to the best player in the league. After quite some hemming and hawing, the question was given up in despair and the questioner queried as to his selection.

He promptly and without any hesitation announced that man as Joey Curran of the league-leading St. Peter nine. The writer was a little dubious at first, but then the arguments in Curran's favor as expressed by his enthusiastic rooter were sufficiently convincing to prove the worth of the likable Curran.

While other players are basking in the spot-light one minute and in the gloom the next, Joey steadily keeps at his task of manufacturing base-hits for Sugar Flynn and St. Peter's. Always a .300 hitter, he is most reliable with men on bases and when runs are needed.

As a defensive player he ranks with the best, whether it be in the infield or the outfield in which he is stationed. He seldom errs and rises to every important occasion. Yes, we are convinced. Curran is one of the most valuable players in the league.

This Legion man's second choice was "Tommy" Dunn, irrepressible leader of the Elks, and we agreed on the spot. "Tommy's" worth to the Elks both as a leader and as a player is appreciated by fans and players alike.

As the local Legion League race narrows down to a three-cornered one the playing of the Belleville A. A. continues to be the surprise of the league. Their latest feat in turning back the Elks by a 15-5 could seem almost incredible. Who would ever have thought that the team that won that clonish 15-5 exhibition over the Giants on opening day would jump into the league lead and stay there?

But, let's take the team apart and see what makes it tick. After all, the team that played that opening game was hardly the same that so recently trounced the Elks. Of the original nine, only "Mac" Lamb, "Teddy" Skidmore and Bobby Andrews remain. After their hardly commendable performance against the lowly Giants and a defeat at the hands of the Bachelors, the A. A. went about the process of rebuilding.

Manager "Spivots" Noonan's first move was to secure the present premier battery of the league, "Teddy" Coeyman, on the firing end, and "Freddy" Polisch on the receiving end. The wisdom of his selection may be deduced from the fact that "Teddy" has yet to lose his first game, while "Freddy's" master-minding behind the plate has been one of the prime factors in the team's success. Many of the fans credit him with just about making Coeyman.

Third base and first base also seemed to require bolstering so the A. A. acquired Johnny Leonard, crack young third-sacker, and Charley Schleckser, formerly the Elks' first base regular. With the Belleville A. A. Johnny Leonard has developed into the best third baseman in the loop. He is hitting close to the .400 mark and hasn't made an error to date at the "hot corner," while electrifying the fans with brilliant plays around his bag.

The present Belleville A. A. cast was then completed with the acquisition of Johnny Lawlor of the Bachelors and "Mac" McDaniels, one of the leading batters in the loop. Johnny Lawlor is playing some of the best ball of his long and illustrious career right now and McDaniels' hitting has been hard and timely.

They certainly have a fine combination that is going to be hard to beat.

ls to be condemned because we are filled with ment these long, hot days? It is an effort ank seriously on a single subject. Are we too much at fault if we long for a hammock on the beach with absolutely nothing to do until tomorrow? Perhaps this feeling of inertia is a very necessary relaxation from the hurried life of the cooler months. Perhaps it is only the Great Outdoors. At any rate most of us agree with the woman who wrote

"I wish I was a little rock, A-setting on a hill,
A-doing nothing all the day, But just a-setting still,
I wouldn't think, I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't even wash,
I'd just sit still a thousand years, and rest myself, B' Gosh!"

WHY NOT?

The Washington Heights health unit of New York iCity is now trying out a significant experiment. Acting upon the suggestions of Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, health commissioner of the city, a number of reputable physicians have established fixed fees for certain preventive medical attentions and have advertised them. Thus, routine periodic examinations, vaccinations and Schick tests will be done for $2; tuberculosis tests and X-rays for $3, and diphtheria prevention service and pre-school and school examination for $5.

It is of great help to people of moderate means to know in advance just what some medical services will cost. Nor is it unethical to let them know. Many a person has hesitated to have examinations made because of the fear that they will be a burden on the purse. As Dr. Wynne puts it, "here is no reason why the fees for certain preventive services should not be known in advance, as a woman knows in advance the price of a hat when she goes into a department store." It may cause a shudder to creep up and down the spine of some good physicians to read of medical services and hats in the same campaign. But, really, people are buying both of them, and are entitled to know their price before they clinch the bargain.

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

A congressman who limits his activities to the demands of his own constituency can, under ordinary circumstances, expect re-election without undue trouble. But let him extend his interests beyond the bounds of his immediate electorate to serve the entire nation, and he endangers his political life. If, in addition to his years of service, he possesses the qualities of honesty, courage, and uncompromising opposition to corruption, his enemies may equal or outnumber his friends. This, in brief, explains the incredible fact that Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska must put up a fight to hold his place in the Senate.

Norris long ago won the title of "the most honest man in the Senate." Without bombast, without demagoguery, with no thought of political gain, he has most consistently fought the fight of the people. Against discriminating tariffs, the power trust, monopolies, the oppression of labor, corrupt party machinery and similar earmarks of unrepresentative government his voice and vote have been pitted in untiring opposition. His own party is most often a prime target for his well aimed shot. It is almost absurd to tag him with a party label. His friends call him a liberal, his foes a "radical." Although he bears officially the designation of Senior Senator from Nebraska, Norris has as much claim as anyone in the State to that almost obsolete title, "Senator of the United States."

BURNING UP OUR FORESTS

Extinguishing a cigarette is far simpler than extinguishing a forest fire, but to make smokers realize this salient fact is a problem that has long harried members of the United States Forest Service. "Smoker fires" during 1929 burned over 809,340 acres of woodland, cigarettes being the largest single source of forest fire destruction.

Schemes for combating this fire menace have taxed the ingenuity of federal officials. It has been suggested that cigarette companies place a slip with a printed fire warning in the top of each package of cigarettes. Another proposal has been to treat the tobacco in the stub with a liquid that will prevent burning, but the problem there is to find a liquid not unpleasant to the taste when in contact with fire. The most recently developed method provides for a tip on the cigarette which causes the fire to go out when the stub is discarded.

Added cost is the outstanding argument against all suggested remedies. About a year ago, an effort was made to call a conference of cigarette manufacturers and enlist their cooperation, but the response was so unsatisfactory that the plan was abandoned.

THE TARIFF-IED TOMATO

With every little backyard plot yielding its wealth of tomatoes and peas and "corn on the cob" the great American family feasts in lordly fashion these days. The winter-time of frozen vegetation and snow covered ground seems far away. Yet doctors and earnest housewives are already worrying about the probable scarcity of health giving vegetables during the cold months.

The situation this year differs from that which existed in 1929 and for many years previous. Then, the green vegetables that America herself could not produce in abundance were amply supplied by Cuba, the Bahamas, Mexico and Bermuda. But the 1930 Tariff Act contains additional duties on vegetables which may destroy all profit to their growers. The tariff on tomatoes, for instance, has been increased 600 per cent! Even if the growers in Cuba do continue in business, how can they find a market for their produce at such prices?

Our increased demand for Cuban vegetables is shown by the fact that in 1929-30 Cuba shipped us 1,250,000 packages of vegetables as contrasted with 800,000 in 1928-1929. These high tariffs were demanded and obtained for the benefit of vegetable producers who are experimenting with vegetable production in this country during winter months. Climatic conditions, plant diseases and pests, and other natural handicaps are damaging their business. Still they raise the cry of "foreign competition" to obtain high duties—and the consumer suffers accordingly.

American investors in Caribbean vegetable growing may ask the aid of the flexible tariff provisions to lower the Hawley-Smoot rates which shut them out of our winter markets.

JUST THE SAME OLD WORLD

Every now and then somebody starts a rumor that the world is becoming warmer—or colder—every year, and eventually we shall either be burned to a crisp or frozen stiff. People who hearken to these words of doom will be encouraged by the statement of Dr. C. F. Marvin, Chief of the Federal Weather Bureau, that the vagaries that sometimes seize Mother Earth, in the long run, "the weather straightens out the kinks." Dr. Marvin assures us.

As a matter of fact, the world's climate may have remained unchanged for some scores of centuries. There simply isn't any way of knowing. The thermometer is only 200 years old, and records dating back as far as the 19th Century yield very little information. Scattered bits of evidence, such as river stages, floods, heavy freezes, crop failures, famines and other episodes that flavor history are more picturesque than practical in throwing light on the subject.

However, average consistency over a long period of time does not necessarily indicate consistency from year to year. For instance, the records show a series of rainfalls over a period of years followed by a series in which rainfall was below normal. Winter before last was the coldest known to modern Europe; and the Weather Bureau now announces that the past July was the hottest month in our weather history.

WE CAN'T STAY OUT

America's hands-off policy in respect to the League of Nations is far from shared by all American citizens, judging from a booklet recently issued by the American League of Nations Association. Wholehearted cooperation with League aims was expressed financially by private citizens of the United States in gifts and pledges totaling nearly $8,000,000 since the League was established. The largest single gift came from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who donated $2,000,000 for the construction and endowment of the League library.

But American cooperation did not stop with financial aid. The booklet lists 341 citizens and 172 organizations that have actively helped in some way to further the good business of internationalism through the League. Seven United States citizens are now on the secretariat staff and two more on the International Labor Office staff. Furthermore, we were officially represented at 24 League meetings or conferences, and represented by an observer or consultant at 20 others. American government officials attended 31 conferences and meetings, though not at orders from Washington. And the which it enjoyed representation, to United States government itself contributed about $25,000 toward the expenses of those conferences at say nothing of the $4,277 that the Philippine government contributed to the League's Far Eastern Health Bureau. Who said that we had "nothing to do with the League of Nations?"

SILVER INDUSTRY HAS A CHAMPION

Senator Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada, large silver producing state, is trying to "sell" the government an idea for popularizing silver coins. His suggestion is that silver dollars be reduced almost to the present half-dollar size and half-dollars be made one-fourth smaller. This would cause an increased use of coins instead of paper bills and an increased demand for the metal. A silver dollar in the United States is worth about thirty cents.

Of course, as the senator carefully points out, his plan is designed to help the government also. Upkeep on paper dollar bills is estimated at about two per cent annually on each is practically nothing. Senator Oddie has asked the Department of Commerce to call a national silver conference in December to meet in Washington. He is also urging the Bureau of Mines and the Bureau of Standards to conduct research work with the purpose of discovering new uses for silver.

There is a distinct prejudice in the East against "cartwheel," as silver dollars are sometimes dubbed, but Westerners prefer them to the paper bills. In 1890 there were more than 570,000,000 cartwheels rolling about pockets and purses. Now there are but 38,628,669.

Pay telephones, chewing gum vendors, and coin boxes of various kinds have popularized quarters, nickels and dimes but have made the bulkier coins even more unpopular.

POSTAGE STAMPS MAKE HISTORY

If you really want to see a colorful pattern of American history without wandering through historical museums, gather together all the postage stamps issued by the Post Office Department in commemoration of outstanding national events. From the landing of Columbus to the Lindbergh flight, these stamps tell in chronological order our development from an unexplored tract of land to our modern industrial civilization.

It is impossible to list the variety and range of historical subjects to whose importance the Post Office Department has paid tribute. They include such events as the Louisiana purchase, the founding of Jamestown, the Revolution, the discovery and navigation of the Hudson River, the opening of the Panama Canal and the close of the World War. The figures of Pierre Marquette, Molly Pitcher, Robert Livingston, George Rogers Clark, Thomas Edison and Colonel Lindbergh are among those in the pictorial array.

At present the stamps are issued as soon as possible after the occurrence of the event to be commemorated, but this is by no means true of the past. Columbus' voyage was embodied in a postage stamp design in 1893, and the Jamestown Series were issued in 1907. That we are still closing gaps in our historical stamp narrative is shown by a recent issue commemorating the first arrival of immigrants to the United States from Norway, in 1895.

Citizen Cites

The line of least resistance never sells a line of goods.

A young man with a sport roadster has the inside track with the average girl.

Probably the same fellow who originated the humorous term "painless dentist" also invented the expression "easy payments."

Instalment payments are flies in the ointment.

Tell your wife you love her—not because she doesn't know it, but because she likes to hear it.

If you like peace and silence stay at home on Sunday afternoon. Everybody else is gone.

To understand a modern young woman's vocabulary it is necessary to know that "cute" may describe a sports roadster, a bridge prize, a dance step, a baby, a dog or Rudy Vallee.

Good goods come in small packages and the best resolutions are the most fragile.

It's a waste of time to tell the man who suffers from chronic thirst to dry up.

The difference between money and happiness is this—money can be inherited.

Some folks fail to make the grade because they get in high-living gear and can't shift.

The love that makes the world go round often prevents the income from going more than half way.

One way to save money is to be so busy earning it that you haven't time to spend it.

Jokes

Autoist—"I haven't paid a cent for repairs on my machine all the ten months I have had it."
Friend—"So the man who did the repairs told me."

"Dad, gimme a penny?"
"Son, don't you think you're getting pretty big to be asking for pennies continually?"
"Well, I guess you're right, dad; gimme a dollar!"

A new brakeman of Celtic origin was informed that his pay would be allowed at a certain rate per mile while on the road.

The next day he was on an extra freight, which broke in two on a grade, and the rear end started down the hill with Pat on top of one of the cars. The conductor yelled at him to jump. By this time the cars had attained considerable speed.

Pat replied: "Jump? Not when Oi'm makin' money as fast as this."

Mother: "Now remember, Willie, there's a ghost in that dark cupboard where I keep the cake."

Willie: "It's funny you never blame the ghost when some of the cake goes. Then it is always me."

"Mother, aren't you my nearest relative?"

"Yes, dear, and your father is the closest."

Aunt Agatha was recovering from an attack of flu, and was somewhat upset to have well-meaning but tactless visitors tell her how ill she still looked.

Her nephew, a sympathetic little lad, was doing his best to comfort her.

"Don't you let 'em make you feel bad, auntie," he said, "I don't think you look a bit worse than you always do."

Welfare worker (at insane asylum): "And how did you get in here, my poor man?"

Inmate: "It was because of a difference of opinion, lady. I said the world was crazy and the world said I was crazy, and the majority won."

"I don't see why you call your place a bungalow," said Smith to his neighbor.

"Well, if it isn't a bungalow, what is it?" said the neighbor. "The job was a bungle and I still owe for it."

In a little Scotch village there lived a simple-minded old man by the name of Andy.

The villagers took keen delight in showing Andy off to visitors by offering him two coins—a big copper penny and a little silver six-pence.

The point to the performance was the fact that Andy always took the penny.

"Don't you know the difference between a penny and a sixpence?" asked a curious American traveler one day.

"Aye, surely I ker; the difference between the penny and the sixpence," said Andy, "but if I took the sixpence once they'd never offer me either again. So I keep right on taking the penny."

Father—I got a note from your teacher today.

Son—That's all right, Dad. I'll keep it quiet.

Did you ever stop to think?

by Edson Waite

E. E. Loomis, President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, says:

That our property is "pegged" upon fast and dependable transportation. The kind of transportation the country will get in the future will depend largely upon the condition of the railroads and that will depend mainly on the treatment they are accorded.

The immediate future of the railroads, in this respect, rests largely with Washington. We are fortunate in the character of administration we are promised for the next four years, but experience has led to a natural feeling of hesitation when Congress is in session.

Among the possibilities we have to fear might be listed:

Regional representation in the membership of the Interstate Commerce Commission, or continued senatorial application of political tests to men named by the president for that body, either of which would seriously endangered his integrity.
