S. S. KENWORTHY MADE HEAD OF STATE LEAGUE

Elected To Presidency Of Municipal Organization At Paterson Convention

TAX RELIEF FIGHT PUT MAYOR IN THE LIMELIGHT

For the first time since its organization sixteen years ago the New Jersey State League of Municipalities which comprises 260 municipalities, has 4,500 town and city officials as members and is representative of ninety-five per cent of the population of New Jersey, will have a president who comes from one of the smaller municipalities. Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy was last Thursday night elected to that office at the league's convention in the Alexander Hamilton Hotel, Paterson.

Mayor Kenworthy takes the place of retiring President John J. Morrison of New Brunswick. Before his election to the highest office of the organization he served as chairman of the special Tax Relief Committee and it was mainly through his efforts on this committee that the $100,000,000 bond issue for State roads, grade crossings, water power and institutions was drafted and passed by the

MENACE OF FIRE GREATER, SAYS DIRECTOR CLARK

Public Safety Commissioner Urges Citizens To Take Measures Of Precaution

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK TAKES PLACE OCTOBER 5-11

Fire Prevention Week which takes place this year October 5 to 11, was the cause Tuesday night of Commissioner William D. Clark, director of public safety in Belleville, issuing a warning to residents who are soon to light furnace fires for the first time.

"Soot and erosion taking place in the pipes during the summer months are often the cause of fires," the Commissioner said, explaining that flames going through the pipes sometimes ignite the partitions.

Rags heaped in the cellars, closets and attics should also be cleaned up as spontaneous combustion very often takes place when windows are closed for the cold weather and the amount of fresh air in the home is decreased.

Commissioner Clark said that more fires take place at this time of the year and that they can be easily averted with simple precautionary measures.

Citizen Reading Questions, Asks Commissioner's Answers

Then Clark Says He Has Not Seen One Single Proof Of Charges Made

WILLIAM'S REPLY NEXT WEEK

Indications that the Williams Commission battle over "political tinkering" and "undelivered tax bills" would continue for another few weeks seem certain after events at Tuesday night's Commission meeting in the Town Hall when Charles M. Nutt read an elaborate list of questions which he said he would like to have Williams answer and when Commissioner William D. Clark for the first time since the controversy started, took an active part.

Nutt's questions were supplemented by remarks about one of Williams' outbursts when he called Commissioners Clark and Waters "sweethearts of the Mayor." Williams said he would answer Mr. Nutt at next Tuesday's meeting, then finished by saying that he would sit with any citizen or group who wished verification that he (Williams) "knew whereof he spoke."

Led To Clark Attack

But the attack made by Nutt was only the forerunner of an attack by Commissioner William D. Clark, who said he had been waiting patiently to hear Mr. Williams' charges substantiated and had been, so far, disappointed.

The Commissioner of Revenue and Finance fired back that his subordinates had delivered, during the past three weeks, 660 of the 1284 delinquent tax bills, proving that his department had been operating on an efficiency basis. He said:

"Town employees are charged with rendering the most efficient service of which they are capable—not the least efficient that they can get away with."

Referring to names called to him by Williams, Clark criticized, "Why does the Commissioner take exception to names called to him by a former official and forget all about what he said of Commissioner Waters and myself?"

But Williams answered him by saying, "I was talking to officials of one of the largest bond houses in the country and when they heard that our Commission chambers were crowded and that the officials had differences of opinion on matters of town government, they considered Belleville a safe municipality for the issuance of bonds."

Clark, nevertheless, was not satisfied with Williams' answers. He said that it was not right for Commissioners to act in any way other than as gentlemen. He thought dignified conduct necessary at all times.

The date for a public hearing to decide whether Roy W. Brooks, tax collector, is entitled to retain his job, was not announced by Commissioner Williams but it was revealed that the suspended collector has been receiving his pay since suspension, contrary to a statement made by Williams that he would not be paid.

The Commission passed the resolution, tabled for three weeks, which gave control of two pieces of river front property to the Essex County Park Commission. Commissioner Frank Carragher cast a negative vote.

LOCALS TACKLE FOLEY ELEVEN

Blue and Gold In For Hard Fight With Bloomfield Veteran Backfield

ELEVEN IS NOT DOWNHEARTED

Belleville High eleven will be away from home this Saturday when they meet the Bloomfield eleven at the Bloomfield Athletic Field. Apparently the tornadoes will be in for a tough time. Bloomfield's victory last Saturday over the crack Textile High eleven of New York is proof of this.

According to reports Bloomfield has one of the biggest and most powerful teams in the school's history. The Maroon and Gray have practically a veteran team which includes Captain Frank Schummel, 1929 all-state back.

Coach Bill Foley has also Eddie Berlinski, who plays quarterback. Although only a freshman, Berlinski handles himself like a veteran. The other two members of the

Blames In-Laws as Husband Deserts; Wife Plans Divorce

In-laws are blamed for the marital troubles of Mrs. Nathan Paul of 400 Washington avenue, who Monday morning was deserted by her husband, an employee of the Jacobs Realty Co., 484 Washington avenue.

Events leading up to the end of the Pauls' affection for one another date back three years ago when, according to Mrs. Paul, her husband's sisters succeeded in bringing about an estrangement. Reconciled, they lived together until Monday. But the most recent trouble began Saturday night.

Mr. Paul was due home and expected to take Mrs. Paul to Newark. He failed to arrive and Mrs. Paul, suspecting where he was, went to the home of Mrs. Tillie Schwartz of 82 Little street, his sister. He was sitting in the car with Mrs. Schwartz when Mrs.

Paul arrived. An argument took place and Mr. Paul decided to return with his wife.

But upon the arrival home the argument resumed with the result, according to Mrs. Paul, that she received bruises on the arms requiring medical treatment by Dr. Jeremiah Buckley of Nutley.

Monday morning, bag and baggage, Mr. Paul left home and now his wife contemplates divorce proceedings and has engaged William Figurella of Newark as her counsel. Mrs. Paul says her husband thinks more of his sisters than his one-year-old child.

SHUBERTS TRYING OUT 'SUBURBAN NIGHT' PLAN

The Shuberts made the first test of the new plan to commence performances early in the evening for the benefit of theatregoers residing in the suburbs, Monday evening at the Shubert Theatre, where Ivor Novello, noted English star, is appearing in his own play, "Symphony In Two Flats," and at the Ritz Theatre, where the new all-female comedy "Nine Till Six" opened a week ago.

If these tests prove satisfactory it is planned to enlarge the idea to include all Shubert houses in New York, either where Shubert attractions are playing, or those of other managers. Beginning at 7 p. m., the final curtain on "Symphony In Two Flats" and "Nine Till Six" will come down about 9:30, which gives the audience sufficient time to reach the station after the play.

Reports were obtained from all railroads serving suburban centers near Manhattan. These showed that the greatest number of trains for outlying communities leave between 9:40 and 9:50 p. m.

It is proposed to give the new plan a thorough trial at "Symphony In Two Flats" and "Nine Till Six." These plays were selected after an investigation indicated that they are being attended by more suburban residents than any other productions in the city.

"Suburban Nights" at the theatre have the full co-operation of Frank Gilmore, president of the Actors' Equity Association, and of the police department, who believe it will relieve the Broadway district of considerable traffic at the busiest hour.

Announcement will be made later of the results of this test, and of future dates when "Suburban Nights" will be given.

Legislature. The voters of the State will be asked to endorse November 4, the bond issue that grew out of Mayor Kenworthy's plea for tax relief.

Mayor Kenworthy has been consistent champion of the municipality, asking the Legislature to return a portion of taxes collected from the sale of gasoline to make up for the revenue lost by municipalities when the personal property tax was abolished.

It is believed that his efforts in this cause won for him the election to the presidency of the league which has as prime objects, the protection of municipalities against unfair and mandatory legislation, the study of municipal problems, and the recommendation of improved municipal administration.

POLICE RELEASE TRUCKMAN AFTER FATALITY SATURDAY

The absence of witnesses to the fatal accident at the A. & P. Laundry, 253 Cortlandt street, Saturday, leaves police little authority to take action against the driver of the truck which crushed Fidor Yosyk, thirty-five, of Harrison, against some packing cases.

Consequently Carmelo Bellavia, twenty-four, of Brooklyn, the driver, is at liberty with a technical charge of manslaughter hanging over his head, but no action. The case has not yet been sent to the prosecutor's office.

Yosyk was behind the truck when Bellavia backed into the cases. He uttered no sound and the driver was not aware of the accident until told by other employees at the plant.

two years, the proponents of the $100,000,000 bond issue will have some pertinent questions to answer before women's clubs and the League of Women Voters, all of which are to have speakers on this question before election. Among some of the questions will be: Why not keep the half-mill tax for institutions and agencies? We have been educated to the benefit of this pay-as-you-go method of financing the institutions. Why go back on it? Why adopt so sweeping a policy until we have heard from the Tax Commission and the recommendations of the Abell Survey?
Should we not have a scientific approach to our financial program?
Another pertinent question suggested by Mrs. A. J. Steelman, chairman of Efficiency in Government of the League of Women Voters, is, Will not the $18,000,000 for grade crossings be a duplication of the $4,000,000 already provided by the Davis bill of last year?

On October 24, there will be an all day conference in Morristown, at the Women's Community Club,
under the auspices of the State Committee of Efficiency in Government of the League with the cooperation of the Federated Women's Clubs. The morning session will be given over to discussion for and against this bond issue. Regional planning will also have a place on the morning program. In the afternoon Senator Abell and others will explain and discuss suggested plans for the reorganization of the State government. The meeting will be open to the public.

The state board and staff of the Young Women's Christian Association will meet in Newark on September 30, and has asked the state chairman on Legal-Status of Women of the League of Women voters, Mrs. Channing W. Gilson, to speak on Laws Concerning Women.
The Y. W. has always shown an active interest in laws affecting working women and girls.

PROGRESSIVE SUPPER HELD BY GIRL SCOUTS; TROOP 7 TO DIVIDE INTO GROUPS

The Court of Honor of Girl Scout Troop 7 held a progressive supper last Thursday evening. The repat began with a fruit cocktail at the home of Lieutenant Edith Pesveye of DeWitt avenue. Soup was served by Miss Claramaie Brodhead of Linden avenue; the dinner course by Lieutenant Helen

A business meeting followed at the last mentioned address and officers for the coming year were chairman; Clara Doell, secretary; Catherine Faust, treasurer; Claramaie Brodhead and Valerie Don-new recruits are expected, making the separation advisable.

for a girl scout play called, "The

Myth Exploded

The widely credited possibility of ships becoming embedded in the weeds of the Sargasso sea, and being unable to escape was disproved by the expedition of the Michael Sars under the direction of Sir John Murray in 1910, which found the surface covered with weeds only in patches, not continuously.
The Beebe expedition later verified
this statement.

Creosote Not Necessary

There is no necessity for creosoting the wood used in airplanes.
It is done only when the wood is in contact with the ground or actually placed in the ground. The objection to using creosote on wood for airplanes is that it prevents the satisfactory application of paint and also adds unnecessarily to the weight of the machine.

SLOW DRIVING, A MENACE

"Contrary to popular belief, the slow driver on the open highway is a greater menace to safety than the motorist who drives along at a speed warranted by the condition of the road and the volume of traffic."

That is the opinion of the Keystone Automobile Club of New Jersey, which points to the hazard created for other drivers by slow-moving vehicles, particularly at peak traffic periods on Saturdays and Sundays.

"Many drivers seem to think they are playing it safe by creeping along the highways at a fifteen to twenty mile rate," says a safety bulletin of the club. "As a matter of fact, they are making a contribution to accidents comparable to that of the reckless speedster."

"Most motorists have a destination, and feel they have a right to get there in reasonable time. New Jersey and Pennsylvania permit a maximum speed of forty miles an hour on the open road. The average motorist is satisfied to keep within the legal limit, but when he is constantly held up by the dawdling driver it is hard to resist the temptation to make up lost time by "speeding."

A SLIGHTLY NEW VIEWPOINT

It is an indication of popular interest in intelligence for itself alone, and therefore an indication of a slight advance in our civilization, that an author attempts to outline the characteristics of a "highly intelligent person" instead of the usually "successful" person, as Professor Snitkin does in his book which was published this week. His characteristics, says the professor are:

Lively curiosity toward many matters.

A desire to investigate some of these matters for one's self.

Strong trend to analyze whatever one thinks about and, as a result, to perceive the factors of the matter in their interrelations.

Fairly active imagination, at least in some subjects.

Unusually even performance over long periods; little tendency to deviate much from one's usual level of skill.

Clear understanding of one's chief desires and aspirations; hence concentration on dominant interest.

Memory somewhat better than average and decidedly selective.

Patience with details, based on a grasp of their importance.

Interest in reflection and observation much stronger than interest in handling things or managing people.

Distinctly modest self-appraisal, often even to the point of belittling one's self.

There have been no end of formulas for success, which always meant making a lot of money, but here is one indicating intelligence as something entirely aside from the money touch. It is an attempt, in a small way, to set up as a desirable goal something besides a big checking account. It outlines the way to be or recognize an interesting companion, a useful human being, instead of a boor who can't be ignored by worthier men who simply are not equipped with that sixth sense which often brings inferior people great wealth.

TOLERANCE TURNS TO ANGER

The criminals and hoodlums who were set up in business by the Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead Law have deliberately killed a law enforcement officer and it is said that they are now rather alarmed and watching for the public's "reaction." They realize that hundreds of thousands of law-abiding people sympathized with them in their efforts to outwit an unpopular law, but that this sympathy turned to indignation when they openly defied the law. Killing members of their own kind has even been viewed somewhat tolerantly, but killing decent people, even when enforcing a popular law is something else.

Unfortunately the public's reaction isn't likely to bother the criminal element much, for it can be quite accurately predicted. It will mean that many who would not lift a hand to aid a prohibition officer in the past will now lend their aid, at least as long as they remember his killing. But they will not do the only thing which really would bother the bootlegger—stop buying his booze or beer.

NOT ENTITLED TO SYMPATHY

A former State Senator who absconded with $60,000 from a building and loan association in Trenton has been caught in Albany, after seven years of dodging the law, which he says was worse than any penalty which could have been imposed by a court. This seems doubtful, and even if it could be proved it would not entitle such a man to sympathy or leniency. Stealing is more detestable in some cases than in others, no matter what the law may say, and a man who wrecks the hopes and often the lives of those who use such organizations as building and loan associations should be made an example for all other wavering men in a position to do similar harm.

ATE POEM AFTER DEFEAT IN GOLF

Says Professor William Lyons Phelps, Writing On 'Rotarian'

NARRATING UNIQUE WAGER

A golf story that promises to become a classic in the annals of the ancient Scotch pastime, is told by Professor William Lyons Phelps in the September "Rotarian," under the facetious caption "Thirty Years of Looking Up."

A Professorial friend growing bold, one day challenged Mr. Phelps to a 36-hole match, offering, if he was defeated, to eat and swallow "Tennyson's poem 'Crossing the Bar'."

"Why," comments Professor Phelps, "he selected this particular lyric I cannot say, except that it is a poem of death."

"Well, I defeated him; he left town immediately. But learning his address, I sent him a mutilated copy of Tennyson's complete works, where many passages had been cut out, but where 'Crossing the Bar' remained. It was a copy from which I had cut extracts to use on examination papers. I sent a letter with the volume, telling him he must eat his poem, and that the other missing poems had been eaten by other persons whom I had defeated."

"He now has Tennyson in his system; for like a good sportsman, he did eat and swallow and somehow digest 'Crossing the Bar,' sending me an affidavit signed by President Paul Moody of Middlebury College, son of the famous evangelist."

Drawing Small Corks

It is awkward to draw corks with an ordinary corkscrew, and in any case the cork is incapacitated for further service. When a cork is to be replaced in the bottle it is a good plan to screw into it one of the small screw-eyes used in picture hanging. This can be left in the cork, and gives a grip for drawing it when required.

Head Spins and Spins While Small Boat Heaves in Sea

Town Forester William Wells Finds Appetite Did Not Have To Be Satisfied

REMEMBRANCE OF TRIP VAGUE

It may be fortunate that Town Forester William Wells forgot his lunch Monday. He was the only one of a party of eight who did forget it and he was the only one of eight who found himself divorced of any desire to eat when the regular time for lunch rolled around.

It seems that Mr. Wells went on a fishing trip with Mayor Samuel Kenworthy, Frank Fuselli, G. Milton Donnelly, Frank Lloyd, Jerry Triano, William Harrison and George Brooks. The party embarked at Sheepshead Bay and cruised out to a place off Seabright.

Mr. Wells was remembering Coleridge's poem about the Ancient Mariner and quietly quoting lines of it while the rocking, heaving domains of King Neptune kept growing more vast and vast. The poem was soothing and Mr. Wells, for a time, thought he would like to be an Ancient Mariner. But time changes conditions, alters ideas, batters down prejudices.

Mr. Wells' head began to feel lighter. This was attended by a spinning sensation that grew in intensity with each determined chug of the power boat. The sea came up and the sea went down and Mr. Wells was sick—just plain seasick.

It occurred to Mr. Wells that the sea was not important to him as a thing of life. He found himself forgetting his speculations about the number of fish he would catch. In short, he forgot everything but that his head was spinning, spinning, spinning.

Mr. Wells of Quinton street is at home recuperating from a fishing trip off Seabright Monday. Companions were? Number of fish caught? Number of hours on the boat were? Description of the sea was? Mr. Wells just doesn't remember.

Historic Grecian Town

Kastoria, old Macedonian city, is the seat of an Orthodox archbishop. It is usually identified with the ancient Celestrum, captured by the Romans under Sulpicius, during the first Macedonian campaign, about 200 B. C., and better known for the defense maintained by Bryennius against Alexis I in 1084. A Byzantine wall with round towers runs across the peninsula.

Matter of Safety

A diplomat is a young man who, when he gives his girl a diamond, says, "Of course it isn't nearly as large as I wanted to get, but there are so many robberies nowadays that I didn't think it safe to get you a big stone until after we're married, when I'll be around to protect you."

BERNARD CLOSE WINS SCHOLARSHIP AT FRIENDS SEMINARY IN N. Y. C.

Bernard Close, son of Dr. and Mrs. O. Bell Close, has entered Friends Seminary in New York City. He has been granted a scholarship of $400 a year on his showing in an "interview" designed to gauge his personality and intelligence. This is the first time so large a scholarship has been granted on that basis.

Friends Seminary is one of the oldest preparatory schools in New York, having been founded in 1860. Dr. W. Carson Ryan, Professor of Education at Swarthmore College, said recently that Friends Seminary represents one of the best possible examples of a modern policy. Dr. Ryan commented particularly on the important step taken by the school in employing a trained psychologist. The psychologist works with teachers constantly and this is only one of the ways in which the school helps develop its pupils for higher education.

Bernard was a junior in Belleville High School.

All of the bonds will be dated October 1, 1930 and will be coupon bonds, registrable at the option of the holder as to principal only or as to both principal and interest. All of the bonds will be of the denomination of $1,000 each. Interest will be payable semi-annually April 1st and October 1st, in each year. The principal and interest of the bonds will be payable at The First National Bank, in Belleville, New Jersey, in gold coin of the United States of the Standard of weight and fineness existing on October 1, 1930.

The bonds will bear interest at one of the following rates, viz: 4 per cent, 4½ per cent, 4¾ per cent or 4¾ per cent. Each proposal must name the rate of interest desired and must name the same rate for all of the bonds of each issue. In awarding each issue of bonds, only proposals naming the lowest rate named in any proposal for such issue of bonds will be considered.

The amounts necessary to be raised by the sale of the two bond issues are as follows: Water bonds, $268,000. General Improvement bonds $830,000. No more bonds of either issue will be sold than will produce the amount necessary to be raised by the sale of such issue and an additional sum of less than $1,000 for such issue (exclusive of the amount of any interest accrued on the bonds.) If less than the maximum authorized amount of either issue is sold the unsold bonds of such issue will be those last maturing. The bonds of each issue will, unless all bids therefor are rejected, be sold to the bidder or bidders complying with the terms of sale and offering to pay not less than the amount necessary to be raised by the sale of such issue, and to take therefor the least amount of bonds of such issue, commencing with the first maturity, and if two or more bidders offer to take the same amount of bonds of the same issue, then the bonds of that issue will be sold to the bidder or bidders offering to pay therefor the highest additional price. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The right is reserved to reject all bids.

Any bidder may condition his bid on the award to him of the two issues of bonds, but in that case, if there is a more favorable bid for one of the issues for which he bids, his bid will be rejected.

Proposals should be addressed to the undersigned Town Clerk of the Town of Belleville, in the County of Essex, New Jersey, and enclosed in a sealed envelope marked on the outside "Proposal for bonds." Bidders must at the time of making their bids deposit a certified check for 2% of the face amount of the bonds bid for, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of the Town of Belleville, in the County of Essex, to secure the Town against any loss resulting from a failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds.

The successful bidder will be furnished with the opinion of Messrs. Reed, Hoyt & Washburn of New York City, that the bonds are valid and binding obligations of the Town of Belleville, in the County of Essex.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.
Dated: September 30, 1930.

JOHN J. DALY, Town Clerk.

Gas Runs this Noiseless Refrigerator

THE ELECTROLUX gas refrigerator has the simplest kind of mechanism. A gas flame, a trickle of water and a refrigerating liquid hermetically sealed, do the work. There's no machinery to cause vibration, to make a noise or to wear out.

Because of its silent operation the ELECTROLUX is particularly desirable in small houses and apartments. Once the gas is lighted the refrigerating process starts and no work is required. Dry cold is furnished in the cold storage compartment and in the trays there is a temperature which makes ice cubes or freezes desserts.

You can buy an ELECTROLUX for as little as $195 cash. You can operate it for a small sum each week. Why not call at the nearest Public Service store and see the different ELECTROLUX cabinets? Learn about our easy payment plan and other advantages we offer.

Major Freelance's Column

By Frank G. Andrews

One thing may be said in favor of the woman driver—she knows when she's licked.

We know of a half dozen women who have qualified as drivers only to meet with an accident the very first week. One smashup generally cures them and they quit.

Occasionally you will find a man of the same makeup but the general rule is that men will stick to the ship as long as the machine holds together.

We found a fellow the other day who confessed his shortcomings as a driver. He freely admits that he is not of mechanical bent. When he sees a cow in the road he knows that it is not the proper thing to hit the cow but that is about the extent of his knowledge of driving. He doesn't even know why it is that the wheels go 'round.

This man bought his first automobile about twelve years ago. How he got a driver's license is a mystery to this day but the chances are he slugged one of the department's agents and stole a card out of his pocket. He personally admits that he was, and still is, just about the world's worst driver.

Let him tell his story in his own words:

"When I bought my first car the agent went out with me for a test. I landed in the gutter three times but each time the agent got the car out again by grabbing the steering wheel. The agent saw that I was terrible but he was a good friend of the family and I got my license all right. The agent said to me: 'You're terrible but I'm putting you through. But don't tell anybody because it will put me in bad if you kill somebody.'

"On the first trip out in my new car I took along as guests a neighboring family. Nothing happened for the first five miles. Then we came to a hill. Some cows were going up the hill and in an effort to avoid the cows I stalled the car. When I started up again there was no power although the motor was running. The car started backward down the hill. I forgot to use the brakes and, in order to get the car stopped and save the lives of the passengers, I steered it into the curb. Everybody got a good shaking up and the car was pretty well damaged.

"What worried me was why the motor kept running while I couldn't make the car move. I went to the nearest garage and got a mechanic. He got in, tried it and laughed. 'You chump, you've got it in neutral; that's why your car didn't run,' he said.

"That cured me for the time being. I sold the car for half what I paid for it and quit the game. It was too dangerous.

"A few years later I got the fever again and bought a new car. It puzzled me how to get up a very steep hill. I asked a garage man how to do it. He told me the safest way for a green driver was to stop at the foot of the hill, throw into second gear and come up that way.

"I did this. I came to a full stop at the foot of the hill, threw into second and started up the hill. The motor didn't seem to work right. It labored and knocked and finally began to bang and smoke. By the time I got to the top of the long steep hill it was steaming like a locomotive. But I didn't dare stop on the hill so I fed all the gas she would take, regardless of what might happen just so we didn't stop.

"When we reached the top of the hill we got out to see what was burning. Another automobile stopped to see what the trouble was. One of the men in the other car began laughing. 'Why, you've driven all the way up that hill with your emergency brake on,' he said.

"That convinced me I would never make a driver and shortly after that I sold the car at a sacrifice and for the second time gave it up as a bad job."

This man seems to be game, though. He is now planning to purchase a third car and try his luck again.

I said to him: "How are you going to work it to get a driver's license? You're such a poor driver you will never pass an examination."

"Oh, that will be all right," he replied. "I've had my license renewed every year since I first took one out twelve years ago. I knew I would never be able to pass an examination again, so I took no chances. Every year I take out a driver's license whether I've got a car or not."

The little red school house is slipping and few are left. The rural school is gradually being absorbed by the central school.

In a remote section in northern New Jersey—at Calno, Pahaquarry township, Warren county, which once boasted of a voting population of twenty-four, all Democrats—there is a typical rural school. The district is so remote that a central school is out of the question so permission has been secured to give the little old building an overhauling and permit it to continue, even though there is at present an enrollment of only five children.

This township has the lowest rating of the 512 school districts in New Jersey, its rating being 17.7 per cent. The 1927 survey showed that the Calno school met state requirements in only one respect—that was in the height of the ceilings, which met the specifications.

Once there were three schools in the township, with about 100 pupils. Now there is only one school with an enrollment of five pupils. But these five little ones are happy in the knowledge that not only is the school building going to be remodeled, but the old wood-burner is to be replaced by a regular coal stove. Nothing will be the same except the American flag that is draped across the sidewalks.

Speaking of little things, the General Electric Company has devised a vacuum tube that will measure 000000000000000001 of an ampere, which would be about the same as one drop of water in the annual flow over Niagara Falls. You can get the idea better when you understand that it is 19,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles across the universe.

When it comes to juggling figures, though, we would rather have that simple two million dollars in gold that France has got stored up for the next war.

Filling stations are going to play a big part in the nation's business before long.

You drive your car into a modern filling station now and put in ten gallons of gas. An accommodating attendant changes your oil in the crankcase, greases the chassis, sprays the springs, puts water in the radiator, and air in the tires and if you have a flat he fixes that or sells you a new tire.

That would appear to be enough but new things are in store. The latest is a telegraph counter. Various oil companies have just entered into an agreement with the Postal Telegraph and Western Union to use their filling stations as public telegraph offices.

By and by we will be getting our butter and eggs at the filling station.

Congressman Eaton, up for reelection, comes out as a wet and then spoils it all by saying that Prohibition is safe for the next seventy-five years, at least.

What puzzles us is how these fellows who attend clambers out in the country manage to get home safely over the narrow roads.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Hoffman keeps his publicity department pounding away about driving violations but it is like Mark Twain's comment on the weather—nobody seems to be doing anything about it.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Have you been visited by "Peeping Toms" or have you seen "Night Prowlers" on the premises? If you have then the brown Oriental Garden Beetle is at work on your premises.

These beetles, which feed at night, are attracted by any bright lights which may be burning on the porch or in one of the rooms in the house. They would be observed climbing up the screen door, window screens or sides of the house if they were on the premises and the attracting light was of sufficient strength.

This "cousin" of the Japanese beetle has become pretty well established in all parts of Essex County and the time will come (about next summer), when we shall have to do something about it. The grubs injure lawns and the adults feed upon the flowers and foliage of many favorite plants. This summer they did a lot of damage to rose, dahlia and zinnia blooms.

There is no other all-brown insect nearly the size of the rose-bug so that identification is not difficult. The life-history is identical to that of the green-bronzy Japanese beetle except that the latter feeds by day.

FALL PLANTING OF TULIPS

BY A. C. MCLEAN
N. J. Agricultural Extension Serv.

The delivery of bulb catalogues should serve as a reminder that the time has arrived to order bulbs, especially tulips and narcissus. For best results, tulip bulbs may be planted anytime in October. large-flowering, American blooming tulips so frequently seen in New Jersey parks and gardens.

The tulip, while not exacting in its soil requirements, prefers a soil that is moderately rich in plant-food. Often the tulip grows better on a heavy soil than on a very light one.

When bulbs are not obtained early, they may be planted later and mulched rather heavily with peat moss to keep the frost out as late as possible. This allows some root development before winter sets in.

PRICE OF BREAD DROPS IN A. & P. STORES; AIM TO USE SURPLUS WHEAT

Officials of the Eastern Division, Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., announce today that the special retail price of 7c. for Grandmother's white bread, standard 20-oz. loaf, would be continued for another week.

This decision was made as a result of the tremendous increase in sales of bread at the lower retail and the officials of the company, realizing the big surplus of wheat in the United States, decided to sacrifice some profit to help absorb some of the surplus of wheat, to increase consumption of bread and at the same time give to the public an opportunity to enjoy a saving in the cost of bread, with the idea of improving business conditions in general.

The present situation with regard to the wheat surplus in this country and the devastating effect upon the farmer's income is a condition which will have a detrimental effect on business in other lines, because if the farmer is unable to market his crops at a profit to him, it will curtail the farmer's purchasing power, which, of course, will be reflected throughout many other industries.

It is felt that the American people can render a patriotic service to the country by eating more white bread, which is, and always has been, a very important part of the diet and the cheapest food on the market today.

Instructor's Absence Delays Formation of Glider Club

A telegram from Baron Von Freilitzsch, technical advisor and instructor of the Nutley Glider Club stating that he had been called to a glider contest at Elmira, N. Y., and would not be able to be present at the organization meeting Tuesday in the home of Lou Bansemer, 394 Chestnut street, caused the postponement until next Tuesday night.

Bansemer and C. Lloyd Smith Jr., organizers of the club, said yesterday that it might be necessary to delay the meeting until Friday, if they were not able to get in touch with Von Freilitzsch Sunday when he is expected to be back at home, 235 Lincoln place, Irvington, as they must rely on him to formulate plans for the purchase of a glider.

Tentative ideas advanced by Bansemer include the purchase of a secondary training glider, having a thirty-six-foot wing spread and an eighteen-foot fuselage. This model can climb to a height of 250 or 300 feet and sail many miles. Following a required number of hours training, members of the club should be well equipped to take power plane instructions, Bansemer said.

Keep It In Garage

Smith will keep the glider in his garage in the rear of his home, 200 Bloomfield avenue, until finances of the club will permit the erection of a hangar. At present, initiation fees which will go toward the purchase and upkeep of the glider, are expected to be $25 and dues $15 a year.

So far, only five have signified their desire to join. They are Robert Avedisian, fifteen, of 110 Elm place; Fred and Thomas Pal-kow, of 329 Franklin avenue, Bloomfield; Joseph Jirovec of Gar-field; and J. J. Kelly, 394 Centre street.

The idea of forming a glider club was first conceived by Bansemer who met Smith after he had watched the latter flying over Nutley in an aeroplane. The two talked about the thrills of flying and Smith arranged to take Bansemer for a trip from Curtis Field near Caldwell.

Home-made Machine

The experience was full of impressions in his memory for several weeks. On a trip to Sussex soon after the aeroplane flight, he noticed a man flying a home-made glider.

Investigating, he learned that it would be possible to glide with very little expense and practically no lost time while taking instructions from a pilot. The idea was appealing and he went back to Nutley with an idea that has matured in the formation of the Glider Club.

backfield, Bob White and Jack Davis are veterans from last season. A strong line completes the team.

However, the Belleville boys are undaunted by the reputation of their neighbors. They are still smarting from their 19 to 0 defeat last Saturday and they will be out to show Belleville fans that reputations do not mean much. This Belleville eleven is a scrappy outfit and it would not be at all surprising if an upset was scored. "Pop" Erikson has ironed out some of the rough spots which were noticeable in Saturday's game and a much improved team is expected to take the field.

LEN HARMON KAYOS SILVER LAKE BOY IN TWO ROUNDS; BROTHER WINS AT NEWARK

Len Harmon, Belleville lightweight, scored a two-round technical knockout over Joey Masters of Silver Lake last Thursday night at the Empire A. C. in Newark.

Scheduled for four rounds, Harmon's powerful right hands to the less experienced Masters' face cut the bout short. The winner was brilliant in the first round, slugging away with all his strength.

On the same card another Silver Lake, Tony Greb, met defeat. The junior welterweight was technically knocked out in the second round by Benny Goldberg from the Irvington A. C. Greb landed one solid blow in the first round and was completely outboxed thereafter.

Goldberg, recent amateur champ, floored Greb three times before the referee stopped the bout. Weights were: Greb 142; Goldberg 138.

Eddie Harmon, brother of Len, scored a victory when he beat Young Mickey Moran of Newark in the novice bout. Eddie made a punching bag out of the Newarker, landing tons of leather on his face.

OUTPLAY VISITORS UNTIL LAST MINUTES OF THE LAST QUARTER

Then Bad Pass From Center On Fourth Down Paves Way For Central Touchdown

TWO FORWARDS INTERCEPTED

A crowd of 3,800 fans saw Central High of Newark take Belleville High into camp by a 19 to 0 score Saturday afternoon at Clearman Field. It was a heartbreaking game for the Blue and Gold to lose.

The locals outplayed their opponents during the first, second and third quarters, but went to pieces in the fourth quarter.

A bad pass from center on a kick formation gave Central the ball on Belleville's fifteen-yard line. A couple of line bucks and then a terrific line plunge off tackle by Len Kachel resulted in the first touchdown of the game. Previous to this, Coach Schneider's clan had been held to one first down, the result of a forward pass from Naparano to Bolden.

Belleville in the meantime had helped themselves to seven first downs. They had several opportunities to score but spoiled their chances with fumbles.

After Kachel scored the first time, Gainous intercepted a pass thrown deep in Belleville's own territory and raced to the five-yard line. Naparano then carried it over, sending the score up to 13 to 0.

The third Central touchdown similarly was the result of an intercepted pass. It was Ellinger this time who reached up and took a Belleville pass out of the air. He was downed on the twenty-five-yard mark and then Kachel brought the ball to the five-yard line with three successive passes. Naparano then darted to another score. The try for the extra point failed.

Hard and furious tackling kept the fans interested even if the game was not spectacular in other ways. The Blue and Gold generally looked good and the line lived up to predictions. Central could not get through nor could they make any appreciable gains with an air attack.

One youngster who stood out on the Belleville team was Harold Bade. This husky guard was in on every play and made several sensational tackles. Captain Lou Galluba played a steady game. Nick Bonavita and Fritz Plenge were the mainstays of the Belleville backfield, while Bill Daly, a newcomer, surprised fans with his good defensive work.

PLAY BY PLAY

First Quarter

Central won the toss and elected to kick. Naparano booted over the goal line and it was Belleville's ball on the 20-yard line. Biase tore around right end for six yards and Fritz Plenge added two more on an off-tackle play. Biase fumbled and it was Central's ball on the twenty-four yard mark.

An off-tackle smash netted but a yard and an end run netted the same total. Another end run was good for six yards, making it fourth down and two yards to go for a first down. Belleville held on the fourth down and took possession of the ball on the fifteen-yard line.

On a fake kick formation Jerry Bonavita gained four yards. Ryder added a yard off left guard. Fritz Plenge made it first down with a nine-yard gain around left end.

Another First Down

Ryder lost two yards on an end run, but Nick Bonavita skirted left end for eight yards. Biase made it first down on an off-tackle smash. The ball was now on Belleville's forty-yard line. Biase failed to gain, but Ryder went for seven yards off right tackle. Ryder fumbled and it was Central's ball on the forty-nine-yard line.

Kachel and Naparano both played brilliant games for the Central eleven. In the last quarter Kachel played like one inspired and tore through Belleville at will. Naparano handled his team well and took advantage of every break.

This game was the first meeting between the Blue and White and the Blue and Gold in any kind of sport and a large crowd of Central rooters helped cheer their team to victory.

RATNER GIVES FANS SURPRISE

Decisively Beats Veteran Mickey O'Day Friday At Clarke's Auditorium

HAD CLOSE CALL IN THIRD

Ernie Ratner, Silver Lake featherweight, scored the greatest surprise ever seen in Newark rings when he gave Mickey O'Day of the Ironbound a sound thrashing last Friday night at Clarke's auditorium. Ratner kept plugging with both hands, to face and stomach, putting O'Day in a bad way.

Mickey hit Ratner with a terrific right to the jaw in the third round and had the fans in an uproar thinking Ernie would go down for the count. But the Silver Lake boy held on and came back to take the fight with ease. O'Day, who was highly favored to win, received the worst beating of his five-year career.

Ratner, who is only eighteen years old, has been in forty fights. His showing Friday brought offers from promoters in all parts of the east, but Ratner has one more assignment to fulfill at the Elizabeth Armory.

He will fight Berth Isner of Elizabeth next Tuesday. This will be the fourth meeting of the pair. Both have won once and there has been a draw. Isner's decision over Ratner is the only one of his career.

LEGION BOARD FACES PROBLEM

Must Decide Which Team To Take Of Three Applying To Pin League

MUST FILL CAPITOL VACANCY

Although the American Legion bowling league is only a year old there can be no doubt that it is a popular circuit. When it was announced that there might be an opening this year three new teams sent in applications. This creates a unique situation for the executive board to solve. It must decide by next Tuesday night what team is to take the place of the Capitols.

The league will open its season on either Monday or Tuesday, October 13 or 14. Joe Williams, who successfully piloted the baseball league during the past season, will again be in charge.

The following eleven teams will again be in competition: Burke's Colts, Hoople Club, Belleville A. A., St. Peter's, Knights of Columbus, Loyal Order of Moose, El Club, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Parks, Bachelors and Junior Order. The three new teams making application are the Republican Club, Wednesday Night Club and the Lamb Family.

Here and There

By Harry Metz

Football is like any other game. The smart team wins. Breaks happen in every game but it remains for the brainy team to take advantage of them.

The bowling season is rapidly approaching. Some leagues are already under way. The Elks have started one tournament and will start in the Morris and Essex and Bergen County Leagues later. The Manufacturers League gets under way tomorrow night and the Legion League will soon start the ball rolling.

It is still early for basketball, but some of the teams down Newark way have already begun the season. There is some talk of the American Legion running a basketball league. It will be practically the same as the Recreation League of last season but somewhat stronger.

Dame Rumor has also whispered that the Bachelors, champions of the Recreation League, are to represent the Knights of Columbus this year. The Knights are said to be negotiating for the high school gym to stage weekly games and

NEWARK-ORANGE PRO TEAM WITH KIRKLESKI OF NUTLEY PLAYING HEAVY SCHEDULE

The Greater Newark pro football club, formerly the Orange A. C., are having a busy time this week starting last night when they played the Stapleton team from Staten Island at City Field. They will take on the Frankford Yellow Jackets at Frankford, Pa., Saturday afternoon and the next day hop to Providence, R. I., where they will play the Providence Steamrollers. Next Wednesday night they play the famous Chicago Cardinals at City Field, Newark.

In order to meet all of this strong competition and register wins in the National League race the management of the Newark-Orange team has strengthened its roster considerably. Frank Kirkleski, former Nutley High star and Lafayette College captain, played against Stapleton last night, along with Bernie Finn and Tony Manfreda of Fordham.

The five newcomers are Martin-Dennis, Jeffery-Mayer, Atlas Fence, Sweeney Lithograph, and Hoyt Brothers. LaMontes is the only team from last season not playing this year.

Secretary Bill Weyland announces that the prizes this season will surpass those of last season, both in quantity and quality.

The first four teams in the standing at the end of the season will receive silver cups, varying in size according to their respective position in the league. A cup will be awarded for high team score. Individual prizes will include bowling balls for the two highest individual averages, and bowling balls for the two highest individual scores. There will also be a weekly high score prize and a "blind" score competition.

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

COMMUNITIES DO NOT "JUST GROW" ANY MORE

Whenever you hear of a town that has really "got somewhere," you may put it down in your mental note book that there was a reason for it.

Communities do not "just grow" anymore. They never did for that matter. There is, and was, a reason for every town and community, but in the past the founding or beginning of a community was due to natural reasons. The present industrial centers grew into what they are, and to the size they are, chiefly because their location, originally, was an accessible one which, as applies to our largest centers, was water—navigation. Water not only meant transportation, but it meant power; therefore our largest cities grew up where power was possible, to run the factories, and where there was means of bringing raw materials in and taking finished products out.

Railroads altered this somewhat. Raw materials were not always where there was the best power and transportation. Railroads made the hook-up between power and raw material, and at the same time MADE inland towns. But even with this combination, manufacturing had to go where the power was.

Just when the time arrived that the natural reasons for the location or continued progress and prosperity of a community were secondary, is not recorded by a date. It occurred, or occurs, at the time when the taking of power to the factory is possible, and preferable to taking the factory to the power. Perhaps it would be better here to say "industry" in place of "factory." Factories do not make towns; people make towns, but it is not much of a town if the people are not employed, and employment of the people is industry. When the natural reasons for a town's existence cease, the town usually ceases. That is the rule, not the exception. The natural reason usually does cease, for few of our great centers are now what they started out to be—or only what they started out to be.

Something peculiar about that. It appears as though nature gives man something to start on—stakes him, so to speak—but if man doesn't improve the gift and make something more out of it, nature withdraws the partnership and leaves man to sink, float or swim.

There are not many new towns coming into being today. A few, that's true, but they will take care of themselves; for a group of men who are big enough to locate a new town, are men of enough wisdom to profit by the experience of the years gone by.

No, towns do not just grow any more—they have to be made to grow. Natural reasons are not enough.

To make a town grow means steady, consistent, persistent work, plus brains, initiative, reasoning, common sense, and enough originality on the part of somebody or group of somebodies to recognize that this is 1930.

Peace Portal

The Portal of Peace is a massive concrete structure in the form of a gateway. It is located at Blaine, Wash., and was dedicated September 5, 1921, in honor of the peace between the United States and Canada, which had lasted for more than 100 years without a break. The memorial, which cost $40,000, stands 100 yards from the international boundary, where the forty-ninth parallel meets Boundary bay.

Pleasure in Agriculture

In order to enjoy agriculture, you do not want too much of it, and you want to be poor enough to have a little inducement to work moderately yourself. Hoe while it is spring, and enjoy the best anticipations. It does not much matter if things do not turn out well.—Charles Dudley Warner.

That Third Eye

New Zealand has a lizard, the tuatara, which still possesses a third eye, though this has no longer power of vision. Millions of years ago man is also said to have had three eyes, the third being in the back of his neck. It was perhaps useful to warn him of the approach of pterodactyls or other flying dragons.

No man is happy. Man strives all his life through for imaginary happiness, which he seldom attains, and if he does, it is only to be disillusioned.—Schopenhauer.
