Brooks Case Is Pushed By W. H. Williams Local Lions Big Parade On Schedule For Tomorrow

WILL START OFF WITH A BANG BUSINESS CONFIDENCE WEEK

Merchants And Townspeople To Benefit Without One Cent Of Cost To Anybody But Lions Club

Business Confidence Week in Belleville under the auspices of the Lions Club, as a part of a program throughout the country to stimulate buying, will get under way with a bang tomorrow night when a parade of automobiles will be held.

Merchants are asked to co-operate by having their business cars in the line. All cost as regards expenses of the week are being paid by the Lions Club. Merchants may participate in all activities without one cent of cost. The Lions will pay for posters, banners and supply red flares for the parade. The week is FOR merchants by the club and not for any benefit the club may get.

The parade will start at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at Greylock Parkway to Union avenue to Mill street to starting point via Washington avenue. Some merchants who feel that their delivery work will not be completed by the time the parade starts may ally that fear by parading just the same as the line of march will be traversed on time and as speedily as possible.

There will be a police escort and St. Peter's Five, Drum and Bugle Corps will supply music. The Lions will have a float in the parade, details of which are being handled by Louis Noll and a large committee. Actual celebration of the week will WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY defines "model" as a miniature representation of a thing. The Jackie Coogan Golf Course reflects the same thought—real golf, not obstacle—on a miniature course. A real course for snappy weather. THE JACKIE COOGAN MODEL GOLF COURSE, Union avenue at William street, strget, Belleville.

This newspaper will not solicit any advertising in connection with the plans for the week and will only continue its advertising plan as on ordinary weeks. It is felt that the paper should co-operate to make merchants feel that instead of being asked to spend somebody else will spend for the merchant.

This is just what the Lions Club and the Belleville News are doing. Both desire to see the merchants benefit. There is no catch in this plan, whatever. It is up to the town merchants to do their part by boosting the week and entering the parade which will herald an event such as Belleville has not seen before in the matter of assistance to its business men.

be Monday to next Saturday.

Members of the committees are: George H. Mead, Henry Charrier and Milton Brasher, publicity; Charles Gebhardt, Dr. Daniel Kavanaugh, and George Von Arx, speakers; Charles Klausman, W. George Hunt and Dr. Ernest Rochlin, posters; A. Edward Locher, Louis Noll, James Reilly, John Carrough and Victor Hart, parade. Other members of the club will call at business houses in town to seek support of the merchants and attempt to get them to offer something specially priced as an inducement to greater buying during the week.

Arrangements were made at a meeting Monday afternoon in the office of Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy. The News last week exclusively told the story.

Business Confidence Week, is sponsored to assist the national movement for restoration of prosperity.

The object of the local club is to remedy the business depression by helping to break the "buyers' strike" considered by economic authorities as the root of the trouble.

The Wall street crash last year is believed to have caused people to become timid so that they increased their savings and took money out of circulation. It is the intention of the Lions Club to stimulate buying and the greater circulation of money.

Beginning Monday the stickers will be placed on local automobiles and store windows, while posters will be placed at vantage points in town, in front of the Town Hall and the Washington avenue Fire Headquarters.

Speakers will visit fraternal and civic organizations and the public schools for the purpose of explaining the aims of Business Confidence Week.

The Lions Club has many interesting matters of moment to take care of this year. Yesterday Spaulding Frazer addressed the club on the Regional Plan and next week at a joint meeting of the club with the Rotary Club Senator Pierson will discuss the bond issue at the Elks' Club.

Rotarians Hear Talk By Ensign Of Salvation Army

Clifford Smith Is Named
New Vice President
Of Club

Belleville Rotary was entertained at the Nereid Boat Club Wednesday noon by Ensign S. G. Flaymaker in charge of the Washington street, Newark branch of the Salvation Army, who gave a very interesting talk on the work of the Army.

Ensign Flaymaker has had twenty-three years' experience with the Salvation Army. He called attention to the fact that the Salvation Army never advertises the good it does or exploits the misfortunes and needs of a hard-pressed family, in its appeal for understanding and assistance from the general public.

Salvation Army officers are all experienced, trained men, regardless of how much study or work they have in reference to their particular job, he said.

Results of the Lion-Rotary match at the Jackie Coogan Golf Course were as follows: Rotary—Ternan, 55; Port, 54; Goodman, 47; Irvine, 56; Baker, 60; Kaden, 63; total, 335. Lions—Kenworthy, 62; Hart, 63; Noll, 56; Jefferey, 58; Lyon, 63; Mayer, 64; total, 366.

John DeGraw presided at Wednesday's meeting. Clifford Smith was elected new vice President to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Raymond Mertz.

Knights Of Columbus Plan Big Time At Second Card Party

Regular Meeting Will Be Held At Club House
Monday

The Knights of Columbus of Belleville, will hold their first monthly pay-as-you-enter card party on Wednesday evening, October 22, at the home, 43 Rossmore place.

A real live wire committee, under the supervision of Al Derbyshire is working very hard and promises to surpass the last card party which certainly was a big success.

These card parties are, in the opinion of the members, an ideal way to get acquainted and nowadays everybody is bridge-minded, and then there are the other games.

On Monday, the regular meeting of the Council will be held. The big feature of the evening will be an address by John A. Matthews and he certainly should draw a big crowd.

ATTENTION OF MERCHANTS

Belleville Merchants who have not been in contact with the Lions Club committee which is sponsoring Business Confidence Week may obtain full information by telephoning Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy at the municipal building. An effort has been made to reach each business man, but as is often the case, some may have been missed for various reasons.

Each Sunday night at 7 o'clock the league holds a service which is open to the public. The league membership consists of sixty young folks.

"We want all sixty out plus each and every person who has ever heard or seen Mr. Steele," says the committee.

"We can guarantee you a very interesting and inspiring talk. If you doubt us, come out and hear for yourself."

"Perhaps you may enter our doors feeling like a lonesome stranger, but upon leaving you will be a welcome friend, anxious to return in the very near future. Some member of the Cabinet is always ready to be of assistance to the new comer. Our Cabinet consists of thirteen members. They are: Everett Smith, president; Allan Crisp, Alice Compton, Martha Davenport, John Carrough and Jack Robertson, vice presidents; Horace Baldwin, secretary; Chris Zetterstrom, corresponding president; Ruth Roehm, treasurer; Nancy Campbell, postmaster; Beatrice Robertson, musical director; Bernice Le Compte, publicity manager, and Elmer Hoskin, editor of the league paper."

"Last Sunday night, October 12, Neil P. Horne was the speaker of the evening. We are quite sure that all those present enjoyed his short talk on "Random Thoughts." Neil Horne is the young man who just recently interviewed the best sport in the world, Sir Thomas Lipton, and also Edgar Allan Guest, the poet.

"You will miss the chance of a life time if you fail to come out this coming Sunday evening to hear Mr. Steele. Let's set our attendance mark at 100; and friends, we always try to reach our goal. We are depending on you to help us reach it. So come out and enjoy yourself."

Mayor Issues Proclamation On Business Confidence Program

Belleville Business Confidence Week is part of a nation-wide movement sponsored by the International Association of Lions Clubs to stimulate business, in an effort to move further away from the period of depression that has engulfed our country during the past year.

Believing that Idle Dollars Make Idle Men, the Lions Club of Belleville urges our citizens to buy during the coming week everything they can afford. Let your slogan be: "Do not pass your merchant—buy."

In view of the savings banks reporting greater amounts than in any other period and considering the low cost of merchandise there is no time like the present to buy.

SAMUEL S. KENWORTHY,
President Belleville Lions Club.

Quota Set At Meeting
A quota of $19,400 was set Thursday night by the Welfare Federation for its 1931 Community Chest campaign October 29 to November 10. This is $3,400 more than last year, due to increased needs of participating agencies, two new agencies and the allowance for shrinkage in last year's subscriptions.

The budget committee which recommended adoption comprised Mayor S. S. Kenworthy, Charles Granville Jones, federation president, and John P. Dalley, federation treasurer. William Orchard, industrial division chairman, pointed out the quota can be reached at the rate of eighty cents per capita.

SUSPENDED TAX COLLECTOR IS ASKED TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

If Answers Are Satisfactory He Will Not Be Charged With Dereliction
Of Duty

As a sequel to the commission meeting Tuesday night when the Roy W. Brooks suspension case was discussed Commissioner William H. Williams today has submitted to Mr. Brooks three questions concerning Brooks' conduct of his job.

On the answers hinges whether Brooks will be charged with dereliction of duty or "specification of charges" Williams makes. If a satisfactory answer is given charges will not be preferred. An unsatisfactory answer to Williams means charges.

Here is the commissioner's letter, October 16, 1930.

Mr. Roy T. Brooks,
Belleville, N. J.
Dear Sir:

On September 2, after certain investigations, as Director of the Department of Revenue and Finance, I became convinced that your operation of the position of Tax Collector was such as to require me to suspend you until such time as I could make a complete and extensive investigation. I have completed this investigation and am prepared to submit specification of charges, but before doing so I deemed it better to ask you to answer the following questions:

(a) I want to know why and under what authority you neglected to comply with the obligation you had to hold sales for delinquent and unpaid taxes on real estate.

(b) I want to know why you have not submitted monthly reports of collections made by you to the governing body as required by law.

(c) I want to know why you have not seen to it that all tax bills be mailed promptly and especially why you permitted other persons to send or deliver tax bills when the duty for the delivery of tax bills was wholly upon you.

I am writing you to give you an opportunity of answering these questions and if that explanation is satisfactory to me I will not prefer charges, charging you with dereliction of duty. If the explanation you give me is unsatisfactory or if you fail to reply to this letter within days I will then have served you the specification of the charges I make.

Yours very truly,
W. H. WILLIAMS,
Director of Revenue and Finance

The meeting Tuesday night was stormy. Former Commissioner James Gibson, who had charge of the Department of Revenue and Finance, prior to Williams taking it at last May's election started the ball rolling in "defense" of himself, he said. This dragged the skeleton out of the closet when Gibson referred to former Assessor W. G. Hunt, as a fine fellow, but not qualified for that particular job.

Williams said he was not interested in anything Gibson had said "now or previously." Gibson had before called Williams a "cur" and other epithets. His tone was mild Tuesday.

Aside from Gibson's talk which lasted a long while, the board got into a controversy over sewer assessments, which Williams brought out could have been made as far back as 1925 when the Passaic Valley Tume was finished and "benefits derived" on which hung the basis assessing.

Parents Present Move Machine To School

Program Consisted Of An
Overture By H. S. Orchestra
And Other Events

Exercises were held Thursday night in School 10, in connection with the presentation of a motion picture machine to the school by the Home and School Association. Mrs. George F. Besides Mr. DeRosset, members of the board in attendance were President J. H. Maher, William W. Stewart and Mrs. Judson K. Stickle. Mrs. Beach reviewed the history and aims of the association. Their offer to cooperate with the principal, Miss Gladys McCormick, had been accepted and the association took shape in February of last year. By June the money for the picture machine was raised.

In complimenting the group on the work it is doing, Mr. DeRosset expressed the wish that similar groups might exist in other schools of the town. Mr. Gerard stressed the friendliness of relations among all years for School No. 10.

The program was in charge of Ernest L. Melhaffy. Numbers included vocal solos by Joseph G. Wesley Konrad and Margaret G. Ory, and a recitation by Helen L. enberg, pupils; selections by the School Orchestra, and singing by the school led by Miss Gano. Miss Elie O'Gara was at the piano. A teacher in the school, she is chairman of the reception committee of the Home and School Association.

The picture was taken in Cairo, Egypt, with Miss Moreland camel back.

VOR. Miss Moreland has just returned from a trip around the world and brought back many delightful mementoes to the family. Miss Moreland sailed in January and returned in August. The Hongkong China, Telegraph of April 2 says: Miss Moreland has figured for several years in the broadcasting of 'Main Street Sketches' and is the original 'Aunt Sary.' Before going into broadcasting she played leads throughout the country under the direction of Charles Frohman, David Belasco, Winthrop Ames and Henry Irving.

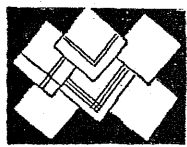

Miss Moreland says: "I liked China and the Chinese people better than others, still when I was in Japan I had a dress made by a Chinese dressmaker, a man you understand, and when I asked him why he was in Japan working he said 'I make more money here.' The dress was a beauty, regular Fifth Avenue style as Miss Moreland wore it the evening he was dinner guest. She spoke enthusiastically of her coolie boy No. 103 and said that at Christmas she was going to send him a few American dollars as that would mean riches to him. Japan came next in her affections, and she says they are going ahead so rapidly that it is fairly miraculous. India, where she remained for two weeks has her sincerest sympathy as conditions are more than pitiful. Her stay was mostly in Gandhi, although she visited Benares, the city of Sacred Cows. While in Japan she stayed for the greater part of the time in Shanghai and Tokio.

Other guests present were Miss C. Gladys Weiss, Miss Bertha Fromm, Miss Loretta and Miss Doris Butler of New York City. Mr. and Mrs. F.

INTROVERSION

Is introversion? You are an extravert or an introvert. An extravert is a person who lives in the world around him, into the world among people and who is active, capable of action. The introvert is a person who naturally lives inwardly, in the world of the unconscious or less aloof cut off and furnished us with certain kinds of ideas, philosophers, discoverers of new worlds.

When speaking of course, there are "introverts" whom we believe to be neither class. We see that if we are to understand ourselves and to understand the world around us, we must take into consideration first, whether we are extraverts or introverts, and second which function plays the dominating part in our mental make-up.

THE "OLE INFERIORITY COMPLEX"

Anyone who neglects to develop a talent or inborn possibility, must sooner or later suffer a nervous trouble. This causes a marked feeling of inferiority complex.

Now who can tell; you may have been born to be an actor, writer, artist. "Break out," get away from the crowd. Do the things you feel bashful about. Life is short; and no matter how you figure it—it's your own life you are leading—and it is what you make of it.

OTHER AND FATHER LOVE

French author states that mother and father love differ in several ways. The mother's love is a love that contends that fathers look upon their children, especially their sons, as a visible proof of their virile power. In their sons they see their own image—the more attractive to them, as they are more egotistical. The weak, infirm or unsuccessful son, however, receives little love at the hands of his father. He is not credit to his progenitor.

No mother, on the other hand, seems to neglect a cripple or an idiotic child. Be it male or female—it is a human being she can dominate easily. The more neurotic she is—the more she will idolize the ill-fated child.

"GROUCHES"

Being "grouchy," irritable, repulsive way—is a mask of defeat. Such a person is not bothered by the average person.

One type of man is the easiest to defeat in an argument. The reason is, the man has his energy before he starts the time comes, for a victory—it is partially weak. The "punch is lost."

Another type is the easiest person to usually tells you what he is thinking, consequently the cool headed person subject to talk about, and eventually "bite" the "sour ball."

Body Of Suicide Found In Town

Mushroom Picker Makes Discovery At Edge Of Swamp Land

The body of a man believed to be John W. Fechtman of 218 Third street, Ridgefield Park, was found Friday morning at the wooded edge of a swamp in the western part of town by a mushroom picker. An autopsy by County Medical Examiner Marland showed he was a suicide.

The police considered at first that the man might have met with foul play as there was a bruised appearance of the mouth and nose. Dr. Marland said this might be a natural effect of death.

The body was found by Joseph Marlandino of 11 Gless avenue, lying face up at the margin of a foot-courting near Meyer's Grove. The body was found in a swamp area. The body was 200 yards south of Jorale street and over a hill quite a distance from Franklin avenue. The body was found by Joseph Marlandino, Fleishauer's brother responded to Custandino's call giving the man's name, address and telephone number and a recommendation for employment was in a pocket. The recommendation was dated August 12, 1930, on letter-head of the Machenbach Importing Company, 20 East Twentieth street, New York City. It described Fechtman as having been employed twenty-five years as a bookkeeper until the concern went out of business.

A telephone call at the Ridgefield Park address was answered by a woman who hung up the receiver after saying: "You will have to call later." A gold watch, fountain pen, gold cuff links bearing the initials "J. W. F." and a gold ring set with a ruby were found on the body, but no wallet or money. It was clothed in a dark blue suit, gray topcoat and hat and black shoes.

From Friday to Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Harold Neilson of Clinton street were guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Ann Neilson, of Murray Hill. Monday Mr. and Mrs. Chapman and children of Summit were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Neilson.

Group Of Women Have A Delightful Fall Motor Trip

Story Told by Mrs. J. S. Kirkpatrick. Leaving town Saturday morning with Mrs. Weldon Payne at the wheel, her mother, Mrs. John S. Kirkpatrick also of Mt. Prospect avenue, Mrs. Lucy Rogers, Overseer of the poor, her daughter Mrs. Mabel Meibergen, a teacher in No. 2 School, both of DeWitt avenue and Mrs. Alice Young of Little street journeyed to Bear Mountain, along the Salem King Highway to Kings town, N. Y. The foliage was so perfect and the coloring so beautiful that frequent stops were made. The first night was spent in Kluksien, a quaint old fashioned town with the houses flush with the streets, knockers on doors that one felt almost inclined to walk off with, and the old time fan effect over doors. Leaving next morning the group stopped at North Adams, Mass., where oceans of funny happenings came about. The hairpin curve and observatory were both very interesting, as was Mt. Whitecomb 2,200 feet high. The day was a little hazy, but the foliage here, while attractive, was mostly yellow and green, mixed with evergreen trees covered at times with the red and brown of the Virginia Creeper.

The Mohawk Trail, thirty-seven miles in length led into Greenfield, Mass. They met a solid line of cars headed the other way and very thankful they were not to be in that line creeping along at a snail's pace. "Twas told to them that it was almost impossible Saturday night to get a stopping place within twenty miles of Greenfield, Mass.

They returned through Deerfield, Meriden, and the beautiful valley of Naughtnack, Peekskill, to Bear Mountain, and a unique experience in crossing the bridge there was "no lights on the bridge" and it was very dark. One of the interesting sights was a farm house with a porch across the front and around the side filled to the top with golden pumpkins, and another a sign as they entered a town that it was noted for its artesian wells and gold apples. The tobacco was partly gathered but where still in bloom was noticeable for the beautiful orchid and pink tints and the beauty of the leaves. There were apples there too, choice varieties and plentiful. But many times Mrs. Kirkpatrick stressed the beauty of the foliage everywhere.

We are going to tell a little tale of a happening, or will we call it chance that greeted Mrs. Kirkpatrick on her arrival home when she was told she had won the $5 gold piece at the Country Store at the Belleville Woman's Club Bazaar.

Lions International Business Confidence Week

Things Can't Be So Very Bad

When September of 1930 shows a more definite and general improvement in employment than any September for the last three years. No bunk about it, no guessing either for the statement is based on the report of The American Federation of Labor.

—When the savings accounts in banks all over the country show an increase month to month.

—When a dollar will buy more of most anything than at any time of years.

—When you and I can buy a staple such as sugar for five cents a pound and big business can get "call money" for one percent.

—When about all that is needed to make things hum is a little backbone and some good old fashioned courage.

—When to all appearances we have too much of everything, rather than too little.

—When the picture shows are packed, ball parks are filled to overflowing, race tracks jammed, four-somers waiting at every tee, and soda pop and ice cream factories working overtime.

—When around every construction job you'll find good automobiles waiting to transport workmen owners to modern homes.

—When every business is not getting near all the business there is to get out of the business they already have.

—When communities knowingly pass up certain opportunities to increase collective business all because it requires a little initiative, gumption, and some work.

—When people cannot see that the only way to get anywhere is to get together, work together and stick together.

Anyway you want to look at it, we're lucky to be who we are, what we are, and where we are—if you don't believe that, think of having to live in China the rest of your life.

Yes sir, this is a great land when all that is wrong with it is the fact that the people have the "willies" and "hobgoblins of little minds" have scared them into a belief that tomorrow will be the end of everything. The sure way to make things "tougher" is to keep on thinking that they are tough—the sure way to bring about good times is to buy now what you need and haven't been buying—be a wise buyer—do your Christmas shopping NOW.

Mayor Wins Cup At St. Andrew's Indoor Golf Course

Plenty Of Fun Surrounds Playing Of Town Fathers

The opening of the new St. Andrews Model Indoor Golf Course at 258 Washington avenue, Wednesday night, was a huge success with a large crowd in attendance.

Mayor Kenworthy carried off the Commissioners Tourney after a play-off with Commissioner Clark with a score of 47 and was presented a sterling silver cup by the management. Commissioner Williams blew up on eleventh hole when he tired of killing a snake. Commissioner Carragher appeared later in the evening and took an impromptu bath in the lake. The course as open both afternoon and evening.

Community Chest

those of last year, are: Community Service Bureau, $6,470 and $6,500; Boy Scouts, $3,400 and $3,050; Girl Scouts, $1,500 both years; the Red Cross, $1,200 and $2,000; Salvation Army, $2,650 both years; administrative expenses, $800 and $1,000. New agencies are Visiting Nurses Association of Newark, $500, and Silver Lake Social Service Community House, $500. Estimated shrinkage in 1930 subscriptions is $1,600.

Thomas Fleming, Belleville American Legion commander, indorsed the Red Cross increase of $800 as necessary for the aid rendered veterans and their families while government claims are pending. Each chest subscriber becomes a Red Cross member automatically.

It was decided there will be no other authorized solicitation of funds in the town than for the Community Chest. Brigadier General Hoffman of the Salvation Army wrote his organization would restrict its activities to the sale of its publication only.

The nurses association was included because by the end of the year 500 free visits will have been made in Belleville case. The Silver Lake Community House previously has been aided by the Newark Community Chest and other sources and it was explained further needs have arisen for providing recreational facilities for older boys.

Though the holding of a dinner at the Belleville Elks Club on the eve of the campaign last year was said to have received some criticism, due to the cost, it tentatively was decided to have a similar occasion this year because it might help to enlist the needed 200 workers. The cost is $1 a plate.

One day a frail, little woman called at the office. She was past seventy. The deep lines in her face indicated many sorrows and suffering she had experienced.

Her conversation revealed that she had come from the better walks of life. One by one she had lost all who were near or dear to her and she alone remained. Through unfortunate investments, she had lost her savings. For the past few weeks she had been existing by selling choice articles of bric a brac, which had been in her family for years. She was ill and was much alarmed about her condition.

She was examined at a clinic and her surmises were true—she had a cancer. She reports regularly for treatment, but little can be done except ease the pain as much as possible. A plan has been made whereby she is assured of a regular allowance to meet her needs.

She often drops in the office, with a glimmer of a smile breaking through the sad face, remarking "I don't want anything, but its a comfort to stop by when I feel lonely and have no one to tell my troubles to."

BROOKS CASE

pointed out that during the eighteen year period sewers were not assessed the boards could not assess them for thirteen years because "benefits had not been derived."

Because it might have been construed old boards on which the late and honored Mayor John H. Waters served could have assessed it was clearly understood in his period in office no assessment could have been made. Town Clerk John J. Daly made this clear. The late Mayor who was one of the most loved in all Belleville gave Belleville these sewers years ago when Belleville needed them most. His work is recalled by all who knew him, especially that which he did for Greylock section.

Mayor Kenworthy declared in 1926 the last board had its hands tied "for a long time" following the Vermeule situation because the state financial heads stepped in and ordered the town "hands off" on assessment and all other matters. When the state stepped out Gibson set out to clear up the assessments.

This brought Commissioner Frank J. Carragher into the picture, he contending no one knows how much the assessment maps for the sewers cost and that the best plan would have been to hire Frank T. Shepard for $6,000 to do the work.

"Frank Shepard was a political football for Belleville for years," said Waters. "He did his job well, stood all the buffeting about and got fired. Now they come along after doing that years ago and appreciate him."

The 1926 shortage of funds led Williams to rebuke the Mayor. He said: "You have diligently and consistently capitalized on this question and mentioned this man's name. He has paid his debt to society, why don't you leave him alone. Let him go out into the world and make a success."

And then the real storm broke and law books were called into play. Williams insisted that the law says tax bills shall be delivered. He said he had the opinion of a $50,000 corporation counsel that they should be mailed and when, after repeated questioning by Williams Corporation Counsel John B. Brown said his opinion was "mailed" or "otherwise delivered." Williams said, "I am sorry I don't agree with the attorney."

The question of the law was previously debated, some interpreting the law that it is not even necessary to mail the bills. Williams contends they should be mailed, the law is clear on 'delivery of tax bills' and that it is without reason to suppose the officials could hold the bills at the town hall, if they so desired, for property owners to call for them.

Here is the Gibson report: Former Commissioner James Gibson stated "it is necessary for me to come before the board again in answer to some charges made by Commissioner Williams last week."

Gibson said: "When I took hold of this department in the summer of 1927 I was appointed. I went to see Ed Nelson (who had been elected to office and resigned because of ill health) and he told me that one thing he regarded as most important was preparing of bonds and he thought I should get it out as soon as possible. I came down here and went to the Tax Collector and I put the question up to him regarding this permanent bond issue. After conversation with the Tax Collector, and if you will be good enough (turning to commissioners) to correct me, if I need it, or assist me where my memory fails, I shall be personally obliged."

Gibson then asked Town Clerk Daly to tell something of the work connected with gathering material in order that permanent bonds might be issued.

Daly's Report

Daly said: "To the best of my recollection, we started some time in 1928 and ran back through the town share of improvements done as far back as 1916 and 1917; some were small amounts running from $65 to $300. That took in a great many streets that had been paved and improved under the first commission form of government. This necessitated going back and finding ordinances to show authority for the work. In looking over the items there were lists of items which covered about twenty years work and with the limited amount of help at my hands, I had a big job. We had to sweep out the safe to find proof that the issue was a good one. At Mr. Gibson's suggestion I hired two girls, Mrs. Loneragan and Miss Finn. They worked from early in 1928 to the end of the year. At that time we had things in good shape although we had a hard time digging up details. In fact, earlier than 1918 you did not have to put in ordinances. You did not have to put in the limit. You had to spend and then go out and get the money. It took around eight or nine months to get that in shape.

"After I got it in the best possible shape, I took it over to Mr. Washburn who came in to act as our bond attorney. Since that time the work of preparing bonds has not been so great as it meant simply picking up the amounts each year. We had one item which said $65,000. We had been borrowing on that for years. After cleaning up the ordinances we had no appropriation to off-set the amount. It has been a long job and this issue will clean up everything that the town owes since 1914, the inception of commission form of government."

Carragher declared: "It took a lot of time to clean up these bonds. There was nothing to show what the work was for and it was only from the record of newspapers that we could prove the work had been done. Things were in an awful shape."

Gibson then added: "In regard to the interest rate, during 1928 and 1929 the interest rate was sky high. It was out of the question to get low rates. The Commissioners would not have stood for the high interest rate any more than I would have. We would have had to pay 6 percent and even after the crash in 1929, bond prices held well and some cities had to pay these high prices. I said Commissioners, 'do not spend any money that is not necessary,' this is going to last for a year or two and I felt the thing to do was to wait."

Mayor Kenworthy said: "I want to say that all the work was done by Mr. Gibson in connection with funding of these bonds. The Town Clerk has outlined the work 'very well.'"

Sewer Assessments

The following then took place: Gibson: (reading item about non assessment of sewers) "Regarding the sewers, when I came in in the year 1927, nothing had been done, so far as I could find, toward assessment from 1914 to 1928. As soon as I got sufficiently acquainted with the problem, I called a meeting of the Commissioners to consider the matter and we decided to go ahead. It was agreed to have assistance of an engineer. I think it required about seven months to have the engineer prepare the work and while he was preparing his job, we in the department of Revenue and Finance were trying to get the records in such shape as to make assessments. We got the map all right but whenever we found that contracts had been let in one section, we found the same contract in four or five other sections. It was practically impossible to figure the thing out. After struggling with the thing through the late fall of 1927 to 1928, treasurer Sarreant suggested that we would be unable to handle it and suggested that we engage the State Department of Accounts. I brought the matter before the Commissioners and they agreed to the proposition and we engaged the State Department of Accounts and they put Chief Auditor Price on the matter and from that date until the day I left the department, the work has been done under Mr. Price.

"When we got the maps of all sewers it was found that they had been laid on twenty-five foot lots and since the sewer work was done, the Town had been zoned in Class A zones of forty foot lots. You can only charge for one outlet and we found we had to go over the entire town and then fix that map to meet actual conditions. In other words we found in A Zone forty foot, thirty-seven and one-half foot, and thirty-five foot lots and it was one grand and glorious job. We had Mr. Price prepare that map. That was just completed and bills compiled and I worked on that from the day I entered here. I hope that Commissioner Williams will soon have this job done."

Commissioner Williams: "I rise to a point of order. I consider Commissioner Gibson is being deliberately personal."

Mayor Kenworthy: "I think that any citizen has a right to express interest in what any of the Commissioners are doing. Former Commissioner Gibson is a citizen and has said he hopes that this work will soon be done."

Commissioner Williams: "There are other occasions when you do not show so much zeal for what is proper."

Mayor Kenworthy: "Since you have been on this board, Commissioner Williams, I have heard nothing at all about assessments of sanitary sewers."

Personal Taxes

Gibson: "It is quite some job and I have hopes that assessments will soon be made."

Gibson: (Reading article about personal taxes) "In regard to personal taxes I have been trying to recall to my mind all the details of this. The first thing Mr. Brooks (suspended tax assessor) called to my attention was the large amount of uncollected personal taxes. The situation is like this, if you can convince people to come down and pay personal taxes it is paid. That was the situation at that date so I set about to correct it in regard to collection of personal taxes. He went to a number of towns, including Westfield, which is a model town so far as government is concerned. He found the same situation everywhere. Please remember that prior to 1927 not an effort had been made to collect them. The uncollected tax bills were apparently made from the directory—there were vacant lots, people dead and buried, all sorts of uncollectable bills. Collection of personal taxes takes the cooperation of the public and I had to get it across to establish that personal taxes should be paid and if I have done that in any degree, I would say that my administration was a success. We did not have any money in the budget so we picked out a clerk in the Department of Revenue and Finance and we gave him fifty or one hundred bills to collect. He had some success but most of them were uncollectable. In 1928 I thought it was time to come together and get further action on this. Edward Seeley was recommended to me as a good man to put on this job. I got in touch with him and he agreed to take collections on a commission basis. Mr. Seeley made many collections and in one case where a man owed $6,000 personal taxes which could not have been collected unless the man cooperated, convinced him the claim was right and the man was paying a year's taxes every month when I left the Town Hall. Assessments were made so unfairly that it was a big job to collect these old personal taxes. I feel that each apartment house occupant should pay a small personal tax and we have established that principle and I hope it will be carried on.

Rate High in 1927

"In 1927 tax rate was very high. Things were in bad condition and people came in to pay their taxes and we were fortunate if we could find the tax bills. The old administration levied previous taxes. We had three men to form an assessment board: Hunt, Floyd Bragg and DeRossett. They divided the town into sections: De Rossett took Silver Lake, Bragg and Hunt, others. The complaints had been many about assessments and in 1928 the situation was in far better shape than in 1927. The work done by DeRossett and Bragg was well done but I am sorry that I cannot say the same for Mr. Hunt. I am forced to say this—Hunt did not have the necessary qualifications to make assessments and that was the fundamental cause of so many of these items listed by Mr. Williams as being unfairly assessed. I did not interfere with the assessors. The only time was when a citizen came in and I was called upon to hear a complaint. I always did my best to straighten things out fairly and felt that was my duty. I wanted to improve assessment conditions in 1929 so I requested that the Commissioners allow me funds to engage an assessment board of men who were familiar with that work. The Commissioners did not see their way clear to do so and looking back I believe they were probably right. I did insist that the assessors talk things over with the Commissioners as I believe the Commissioners should know something of the land values and assessment problem which are met each year."

Kenworthy: "Mr. Gibson, I would like to say right here that you have never sought public office. You are one of those rare men whom the job sought and no matter what you have done was always with the best interests of Belleville at heart."

The Situation

Gibson: "I want to say that these men (DeRossett and Bragg) gave their services Saturdays and Sundays and worked hard and faithfully. However, in 1929 there were $990,000 remissioners asked for before the Essex County Board. I did not want to dispose of Mr. Hunt as he was one of the most accommodating, good natured fellows ever in the Town Hall but it was necessary. There was only one thing left for me to do and that was to get a man thoroughly familiar with real estate. I tried to get Theodore Sanford and he did not feel strong enough to undertake the job. Mr. Davidson made the 1930 assessment and started in September 1930. He did a good piece of work and if there has been an occasional error he is like everyone else, a human being who occasionally makes mistakes. In regard to charge of $37,000 being billed as $3,750. These people knew that was an error and came in and paid their full taxes. Building at Passaic avenue and Joralemon street assessed at $20,000 and $6,000 the next year. That is easily explained. The $20,000 assessment was too high for an uncompleted building but it was brought to our attention too late for appeal to Essex County Board therefore the fair way was the following year to reduce assessment to even the taxes. This year it has again been assessed at proper value. That was a business give and take wherein no one lost anything. In regard to Main Street Realty where $39,000 assessment was, through error made to read $3,900. I never heard of this before but think Commissioner Williams did perfectly right in putting the Town Counsel on this to collect the money. About the house on Malone avenue, I never heard of this before.

"As for the Commissioner's reference to meeting with the Commission and Assessment Board. If anyone is to blame, I am. I believe it is the duty of each Commissioner to go over the ratables with any assess-

THE TOWN DOCTOR
(The Doctor of Towns)

says

A FEW MORE POINTED PARAGRAPHS

A pretty good slogan for every merchant today is the old one "Don't pass us BUY," and it would be good advice for every consumer, for right now is the best time for everybody to "buy something."

How IS business anyway—your business? Don't give that old worn out stock answer before you think it over, seriously. When you have thought it out on a fair and square basis, then ask yourself this question. "To what extent am I personally responsible for it?"

The biggest three words in 1930 Selling (and everybody is selling you know) are Think, Work and Adaptability.

Never in the life of anyone under fifty has there been the opportunity to "get going to get it" that there is right now. The wise ones are already on their way.

The lights that control the traffic of business are green. They may look red to you, but remember there are lots of people who are color blind and don't know it. Take your foot off the brake and step on the gas. Just because the other fellow can't shift gears is no sign that you have to sit there and watch him, telling the world he is a bum driver. Besides that, you're holding up traffic.

Now is the time to get going to go get it. There never was a better time to lay a foundation for individual and collective business than right now. When things are at their worst they are bound to get better. When people think times will get better they will get better IF they follow through by acting as they think.

This is a good time of year for merchants to re-read the Law of Good Business which says "Business goes where it is invited, and stays and comes back to the place where it is well treated and served best." You can't expect people to do business with you if you do not ask them to—that is just another way of saying "You can't Sell 'em If you Don't Tell 'em."

The housewife who has her own best interests at heart will do well to adhere to a plan of buying her needs from the stores that give her a "reason why" she should buy from them. Price is one thing but quality and price are another.

Ask the merchant to give you a real reason why you should buy from him in preference to his competitor. If he cannot tell you, if he DOES NOT tell you, there can hardly be a reason; and without a reason, how can it be a good place for you to trade?

Watch your newspapers. Read the advertisements and see if the merchants give you a real "reason why" you should trade with them—a reason that is to your advantage. If you cannot find an advertisement of the stores where you have been in the habit of buying it may be because those merchants have no reason; or if, having a reason, they are not interested enough in you to lay that reason before you.

BELLEVILLE NEEDS YOUR HELP

During the next few weeks Belleville, officially and individually will be concerned with the raising of funds for its charitable, protective and health needs. Belleville officially and individually is . . . you.

There is no use of quibbling or scoffing. Your disabled veterans and their families must be cared for; the needy sick must be nursed; the poor must be fed; and that great group of keen minded, healthy, vigorous and clean minded girls and boys will have their chance.

These scouts are our protection against bolshevism and its tendencies to destroy all these things that we hold dear.

It is not enough that you give—as if when you do that you do your share. You must help, help up to the utmost of your ability. Scoffing, finding fault, "letting George do it" and all those other attitudes that creep in to such things as this must give way to a united conscientious endeavor to put across this Community Chest.

Up until the formation of the chest, it seemed that every week brought some collection for something of other. Now we are free from that. We give once . . . certainly we must give freely. If we don't give freely and go over the top then we go back to the old system. If these organizations need a certain amount of money to do a job, unless they get it THEY WILL BE COMPELLED to go back to the solicitation of funds individually.

Community Spirit, Civic Pride and good common business sense demand that we put this across quickly, surely and certainly.

WE MUST NOT AND CANNOT FAIL—LET'S GO.

BUSINESS IMPROVES

Among September business reviews largely pessimistic or non-committal, one by Col. Leonard P. Ayres comes like a breath of fresh air. Col. Ayres is recognized as one of the ablest and most dependable judges of economic conditions in this country. Here is the situation as he sees it:

"Business appears to be turning the corner.

"Industrial activity in some of the most important of the basic lines has been increasing, and to a degree which justifies the hope that the lowest point of the depression has been reached and left behind."

He illustrates with six fundamental facts:

Electric power output has been almost stabilized since the end of July. Freight loadings have been advancing since the second week in August. Coal production has moved up since the middle of August.

Building construction has made a vigorous advance since the first week of August.

Automobile output, very low at the end of July, has doubled.

Steel output has advanced steadily since late in August.

Things certainly are no longer getting worse. From these facts they are evidently getting better. Business has started up.

And this should inspire all Belleville business men to participate in Business Confidence Week planned by the Lions. Business men are not called upon to spend one cent. The Lions are doing it all. Parade tomorrow night and help prosperity on its way back. Start next week to buy.

THE GREAT AIR DISASTER

The disaster which wrecked the largest airship in the world, with its accompanying great loss of precious lives, emphasizes how futile are the works of man when opposed by merciless Nature in raging mood. The R-101, supposed to be the last word in dirigible construction, was but a plaything to the storm. It could not cope with such relentless force.

As time goes by the paramount question of safety in aircraft will come nearer and nearer solution. But there will always be the element of danger. Even today it is ever present, though largely controlled, with steamships and trains, while the automobile menace is, sad to state, largely due to their operators.

Land and water transportation has claimed victims in startling numbers. The pioneers of the air, too, will be called upon for sacrifice. Such is the way of life.

A LOWER LIVING STANDARD?

About 20 years ago James J. Hill delivered his epigram that the trouble with this country was not so much the high cost of living as the cost of living high. Now, in an address before the American Bankers' Association, John W. Barton declares that our standard of living is too high compared with that of other nations and that we shall probably have to adjust ourselves to a lower level.

He continues that two measures which we have adopted, high tariff and restriction of immigration, are artificial and that they will in the long run fail to maintain the isolation from other countries for which they were designed. A standard of living kept high by such props, he contends, is unnatural and therefore must in time be abandoned.

But in our opinion it is very doubtful that either the tariff or immigrant restriction has been a potent force in keeping up our high living standard. There are good economists who believe that our prosperity—when we had it—was achieved not because of the tariff, but in spite of it. The last raise certainly has not helped us much as yet. England for 75 years before the war on a free trade basis enjoyed a higher standard of living than any country except the United States.

As to immigration restriction, setting aside many other good arguments in its favor, it may still be pointed out that this country enjoyed 100 years of unexampled growth and prosperity with a living standard never equalled by any other nation before we passed any restrictive laws. And even now it is impossible to prove that our population would have increased more rapidly in the last 10 years if the immigrant gates had been left wide open.

Great natural resources, good government, an incentive, enterprising and hard-working people are the factors that raise the standard of living. It cannot be raised by edict of Congress.

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

Selecting presidential candidates will be a serious business in 1932, but right now it is just good, clean sport with free admission tickets for everybody.

In Republican ranks, the situation is simple. Unless Mr. Hoover completely astonishes the country by "not choosing to run," his renomination is practically assured. True, the name Dwight Morrow has a powerful appeal, but even Mr. Morrow's most ardent admirers look to 1936 rather than 1932.

In the Democratic garden plot, however, the cultivation of candidates goes on all the way from the East to "way down South." Franklin Roosevelt, Governor of New York and Senator Joseph Robinson of Arkansas head the list. Mr. Roosevelt is perhaps the stronger of the two possibilities, but he must win his re-election as Governor this Fall in order to preserve his presidential prospects. Defeat on that score will throw him out of the picture, while victory will immeasurably strengthen his position. Mr. Robinson, on the other hand, has won a senatorial primary, tantamount to election in Arkansas, and he is regarded with immense favor in Southern strongholds.

Former Senator James Reed of Missouri, fire-eating Democrat, has excited much attention by his recent speeches and political pronouncements, and observers are wondering about the Missouriian's place in the 1932 setting. Governor Albert Ritchie, of Maryland, is also a force to be reckoned with. And Al Smith's defeat in 1928 has evidently not served to eclipse that gentleman's political prestige. It isn't entirely impossible that the next campaign will again see the brown derby in the ring.

BEAUTY COSTS A BILLION

Catering to personal beauty has developed into a relatively "shock proof industry," according to C. C. Concannon, federal commerce expert. The beauty business, although comparatively new, already ranks among the first ten industries in this country with an estimated annual volume of about one billion dollars. That amount represents the value of cosmetics, toilet preparations, personal services in beauty shops, and equipment for enhancing appearances.

Mr. Concannon attributes the industry's remarkable growth to increased consciousness of personal appearance and to successful selling appeal.

About one-tenth of America's women buy approximately fifty per cent of the beauty devices sold annually. Here are some of the items that go to satisfy the craving for beauty in a single year: 2,000 tons of rouge; 4,000 tons of face powder; 6,000 tons of vanishing, nourishing and other facial creams; 9,000 tons of complexion soap; 24,000 tons of skin lotion; and more than 50,000 tons of cold cream. This does not include related products such as containers, compacts, powder puffs and similar articles.

THREE CHEERS FOR THE COLLEGE STUDENT

A defender of the present day college students' conduct has arisen in the person of William John Cooper United States Commissioner of Education. Dr. Cooper takes little stock in the abundance of criticism emanating from press and pulp in regard to the "deplorable morals" of America's young scholars. On the contrary, he holds that college standards, both intellectual and social are constantly improving.

It is unfair to judge modern college students by the traditions of the past, Commissioner Cooper states. People can't forget the ancient atmosphere of religion that was associated with the cathedral school. And they do not always remember that higher education is no longer limited to the "aristocracy" of wealth and family prestige. The universities and colleges of today represent a cross-section of democracy. Because of these things, Dr. Cooper feels that it is wrong to treat the student as a person apart from the world.

The institution of coeducation, which still alarms many citizens, is viewed philosophically by the Commissioner. He admits that an adjustment must be made by both men and women students, but he does not consider the adjustment difficult. Dr. Cooper also comments on the lack of "freakishness" in college dress today. And he concludes with the observation that, "To those who witness the trend of college education, there is every reason to be optimistic in respect to the student."

SOME LIGHT ON THE PHILIPPINES

Current literature presents a wealth of opinions, but very little concrete information, on the subject of our Philippine wards. For this reason, an article written from first-hand observation is particularly welcome. Sherwood Eddy, Y. M. C. A. Secretary for Asia, who has just returned from the Islands, delivers his impressions "right off the griddle" in the October issue of World's Work. A few excerpts from Mr. Eddy's article make timely reading.

"As I visited the excellent schools of Manila, I felt that the children were getting a better education than I received as a boy in America."

"There are now over a million registered, qualified voters."

"Upon more than 2,000,000 farms are 8,000,000 of the agricultural community constituting the backbone of the population."

"Wages and conditions of labor are better than in any similar country in the Orient."

"Magnificent work has been done in public health, and the death rate has been reduced to 17 per thousand."

"A stable government has been established."

"The character of the people furnishes a good foundation for lasting independence. They are peaceful, law-abiding, loyal, obedient, home-loving, temperate, hospitable, generous, courteous, artistic, and refined in their habits. They are quick to learn, with a restless desire for progress."

TUTORING THE POLICE

Teaching police authorities how to report crime statistics is a task recently assumed by Uncle Sam through his Bureau of Investigation in the Department of Justice. Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Bureau has mailed to all municipal and state police officials a handbook entitled "Uniform Crime Reporting," which will guide authorities in supplying information for an analysis of the crime situation.

This program of instruction is a step toward the crime survey which was authorized by the last Congress. As a matter of fact, an Act of Congress passed in 1870 made it the duty of the Attorney General to collect data on crimes committed under both federal and state laws. Nothing was accomplished because the proper cooperation from states and cities could not be procured.

"Uniform Crime Reporting" is no book for light summer reading. It is a 460-page volume which has been reprinted from a huge treatise prepared some time ago by the International Association of Chiefs of Police. A foreword to the handbook explains its purpose and earnestly requests full cooperation from all "peace officials." The police are reminded that their stake in the game is the greatest since they have "the most to lose from a continuance of our present ignorance of actual conditions and the most to gain from its correction."

EXPORTING VOLSTEADISM

Officially "dry" Uncle Sam ships more than a million dollars worth of his non-intoxicating beverages abroad yearly. The flow of American fruit juices, malt extracts, and mineral waters abroad has increased 300 per cent in seven years, reaching a total of $1,763,121 in 1929. We are not quite so eager to buy these same beverages from other nations, however. Imports during 1929 were valued at $382,153 less than exports.

Many will see irony in the fact that Canada, eagerly visited by Americans of pre-Volsteadian thirst, is the chief purchaser of American ingredients for making pop and soda fountain drinks. Other countries which relish innocent refreshment of this sort include the United Kingdom, South America, New Zealand, Australia and China. Our imports consist largely of ginger ale and ginger beer from the United Kingdom and of lemon, lime and sour orange juices from the West Indies, the United Kingdom and Italy.

However, our contributions to the world's aridity are somewhat offset by our aid to Brittany's wine industry. Grape vines from the United States are being imported into Brittany to give new life to that region's famous wine grapes which have withered under a plant disease. The experiment is said to be highly successful.

COMPENSATION FOR HOMEWORKERS

"Are you safe when you are at home?" the Women's Bureau asks in a recent bulletin on domestic accidents. That the question isn't a foolish one is proved by the Bureau's statements that about 24,000 persons lost their lives in home accidents during the past year. The figures are derived from statistics compiled by a nationally known insurance company.

More than one-third of these home accidents are caused by falls, and more than one-half the falls are suffered by elderly persons. Little children most frequently meet injury or death from burns and scalds. Gas and electricity, twin wizards of modern housekeeping, must be handled carefully. It is important to buy gas fixtures of approved design, to have them installed by competent companies, and to watch unceasingly for leaks and clogged tubes or burners. There is also a word of warning in regard to turning off electric currents and guarding against broken or worn cords and attachments.

Officials of the Women's Bureau feel that workmen's compensation laws should be made to apply to the domestic worker as well as the industrial employee. New Jersey is the only state in the Union which provides for such compensation at present. This situation is partly due to the fact that industrial accidents are more spectacular and therefore attract more attention than home accidents.

Jokes

This is an old one and probably a lie, but it still has its points. A wooden legged gentleman was sitting in a street car beside one of those pests who are always curious about others' affairs and who, after striking up a casual conversation, was desperately trying to bring the subject around to the missing member. At last, failing in this, he came to it point blank.

"How did you come to lose you leg?" he demanded.

"Listen," said the other, "if I tell you, will you promise not to ask me any more questions?"

Yes, yes—I promise. Now tell me how you lost it."

"Well, it was this way. It was chewed off."

"I'm thinking of going to Europe; how much will it cost me?"

"Nothing."

"Nothing?"

"Yes, thinking about it won't cost you anything."

A clergyman prefaced his Sunday sermon by saying: "I am glad to see so many bright and shining faces before me this morning."

At that instant, 87 women produced 87 powder puffs.

An ex-soldier, with a better knowledge of life military than life marital, eventually married, only to discover that peace times don't always mean peaceful times and that duration is an elastic word. When the course of true love began running as smoothly as a West Indian hurricane, he decamped, only to be caught and brought before the court on a charge of wife desertion. The former soldier couldn't understand it at all.

"But, Your Honor," he remonstrated, "I'm no deserter—I'm a refugee!"

Judge—"What is the charge, officer?"

Officer—"Driving while in a state of extreme infatuation."

Fake—"Can you lend me $10?"

"Naw," said Willie, significantly, "pad the pants."

"Why didn't you call her down?"

"Because she wasn't up?"

"Then call her up now, and call her down for not being down when you called her up."

Did you ever stop to think?
by Edson Waite

While visiting San Diego, California, I was reminded that this beautiful community with its close proximity to the Mexican Border and Agua Caliente, was the first city to extensively advertise its advantages in a business-like manner.

This fact was further called to mind in a brief visit with my friend, William F. Raber, vice president and general manager of the San Diego Consolidated Gas and Electric Company, who I discovered was also president of the San Diego-California Club. This organization acts as an advertising agency for the San Diego Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Raber told me that San Diego started advertising in 1919, and that results obtained eliminated any doubt as to the value of such publicity. During the decade just past, San Diego's population has increased 104 per cent, while the National increase is but 20 percent. During this same period tourist travel to San Diego increased 200 per cent.

San Diego has tried out every means of attracting home seekers and tourists in magazines of national repute and circulation, in travel, trade and other publications and in newspapers.

"In checking the actual results," said Mr. Raber, "it has been discovered that the maximum efficiency has been obtained exclusively in newspapers, in advertising supplemented by illustrated articles on the community's attraction and livable conditions the year round. Tourist and business promotion are outstanding among the objectives sought by communities in an effort to increase transient or permanent population. It has become a vital necessity in these modern days for cities to advertise and San Diego is proud of the fact that she was the original community advertiser."

JUST A BOY

(Anon)

Got to understand the lad—
He's not eager to be bad;
If the right he always knew,
He would be as old as you.
Where he now exceeding wise,
He'd be just about your size;
When he does things that annoy,
Don't forget—he's just a boy.

Could he know and understand,
He would need no guiding hand;
But he's young and hasn't learned
How life's corners must be turned.
Doesn't know from day to day
There is more in life than play,
More to face than selfish joy,
Don't forget—he's just a boy.

Being just a boy he'll do
Much you will not want him to;
He'll be careless of his ways,
Have his disobedient days.
Willful, wild and headstrong, t
Things of value he'll destroy,
But reflect—he's just a boy.

Just a boy who needs a friend,
Patient, kindly to the end;
Needs a father who will show
Him the things he wants to know.
Take him with you when you walk,
Listen when he wants to talk,
His companionship enjoy,
Don't forget—He's just a boy!

YOUR CAR and the YOUR MOTOR LAWS

Harold G. Hoffman,
Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

Editor's Note: This is the sixteenth of a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, presented by the News as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the laws which regulate their conduct on the road.

By HAROLD HOFFMAN,
State Comm'r of Motor Vehicles.

XVI.—THE LICENCE LAW. (Part One)

The New Jersey motor vehicle law provides that before a driver's license may be obtained, every applicant must pass an examination to demonstrate his ability to operate a motor vehicle and his knowledge of the laws and ordinary usages of the roads.

New Jersey has been a pioneer in the driver's license law movement. There can no longer be any doubt as to the wisdom of such a law, for it has been adopted in sixteen states and once having adopted it no state has abandoned the plan.

States requiring examinations show a more favorable accident record than the average for all states. The purpose of the law is to make it easy for persons to do what is right and hard to do what is wrong. It is developed on the principle that the license is not merely a registration of the operator, but is granted only on proof of his knowledge of the rules of driving and his ability to drive with reasonable safety.

Examinations are held in thirty centers throughout the State. The chief inspector, or a deputy chief inspector, is in charge, assisted by a number of inspectors who give the examinations. Applicants are required to have a permit, entitling them to drive for three weeks, if accompanied by a licensed driver. Ten days must elapse between the issuing of this permit and the examination. If an applicant holds a license issued by another state after examination, the ten-day waiting period and the road demonstration are waived, but he must demonstrate his knowledge of New Jersey motor vehicle laws.

The inspectors give the road test first, then the eye vision and color test and finally the written test. In the road test, the applicant is accompanied by a motor vehicle inspector, who observes carefully the manner in which the vehicle is operated. In the eye test the applicant must have a specified degree of efficient vision and must prove he is not color blind by distinguishing between the red, green and amber lights used in traffic signals.

The written test usually consists of fifteen questions. Some are designed to draw out the applicant's knowledge of the mechanism of an automobile, others of his knowledge of the law and still others seek to test his general intelligence and judgment.

This test may best be illustrated by giving fifteen sample questions and their answers:

Q.—Two vehicles approach an intersection at right angles. Which has the right of way?

A.—The car approaching from the right.

Q.—What must every automobile be provided with when it has any material extending beyond the length of the car?

A.—Red flag twelve inches square by day; red light by night, on end of projecting material.

Q.—What is the duty of a driver of an automobile overtaken by another car?

A.—Pull as far to right as safety will permit.

Q.—Under what conditions may pass a standing trolley car?

Q.—Why is the use of a badly worn front tire considered dangerous?

A.—May cause blow-outs and loss of control of car.

Q.—How would you drive down a steep hill?

A.—In second gear with clutch engaged.

Q.—What should you do when approaching a flashing signal light?

A.—Slow down and proceed with caution.

Q.—How can you tell from the driver's seat if the engine is missing?

A.—Car jerks at slow speed, overheats, lacks power, has uneven exhaust.

Q.—From what speed gear do you start the car?

A.—First speed.

Q.—When are you allowed to use chains?

A.—When roads are slippery because of rain, snow, ice, oil, or manner of construction.

Q.—Give the meaning of the following lights. Red, Yellow, Green.

A.—Red, stop; Yellow, stop; only pedestrians may move on this light. Green, go for all traffic.

Q.—What is the speed limit on sharp curves?

A.—Fifteen miles an hour.

Q.—What should you do when approaching a railroad crossing?

A.—Stop, look and listen.

Q.—How many days may a car from another state be driven in New Jersey without registering?

A.—Passenger cars, ninety days; commercial cars, fifteen days in any one year.

Q.—What is the penalty for knowingly having in your possession a car that has been stolen?
A.—$5,000 fine and ten years imprisonment.

In order to pass this part of the examination a mark of 70 is required.

If the applicant is unable to read or write more than his signature an oral test may be given. Every person, however, is required to answer the questions satisfactorily and be able to read the highway warning or road signs, and write his name legibly.

New Eight Cylinder Car Is Never Driven

Detroit, Mich.—A brand new motor car, in a modern garage back of a new home built especially for a happy, home-loving family—and not once has the car left the garage or a wheel been turned since its delivery.

Paradoxical as it may seem, this situation actually exists in Cleveland. And Cleveland residents only smile and wax proud when it is mentioned, for the car is a major part of one of the most unique building exhibits ever staged in the United States.

The exhibit, which was three years in the making, is known as "The Home in the Skies," and is under the direction of Vice President S. M. Buckingham of the Building Arts Exhibit, Inc.

This unique display occupies the seventeenth and eighteenth floors of the Builders' Exchange Building, and is so arranged that visitors may inspect every detail. The home is modern in every respect, as is the 100 horsepower 1931 Hupmobile Eight Sedan which graces the garage.

Approximately 40,000 square feet of floor space is devoted to the exhibit which is open to the general public.

The new Hupmobile Eight, for the passage of which special provisions had to be made in the elevator shaft, was furnished by the A. L. Englander Company, Hupmobile distributors in Cleveland for Northern Ohio.

Dividend Notice Of Nash Concern

Kenosha, Wis. — At a Directors' Meeting of the Nash Motors Company held last week at the office at Kenosha, a dividend of $1 per share was declared payable on November 1 to stockholders of record at the close of business October 20.

The balance sheet and earnings statement for the third quarter, which includes June, July, and August, was presented showing cash and Government securities in the Company's treasury amounting to $39,483,952.17. The Company earned during the quarter $1,777,270.35, after deducting all expenses of manufacturing, selling and administration, and providing for depreciation and both state and Federal taxes, and after charging to expense a large sum incurred in the preparation of a complete new line of automobiles.

With regard to present conditions and the future of the Company, it is believed by the Board of Directors that the future of the Company never looked brighter than at the present time.

President Nash, commenting upon the quarter's operations, drew attention to the fact that the Company, in order to place its dealers in a sound and liquid position, had discontinued manufacturing its 1930 line in July, thus giving the dealers ample time to dispose of their 1930 models prior to the introduction of the new 1931 line.

He also pointed out that during the quarter there was a period of more than six weeks during which there was not an automobile shipped from the Kenosha or Milwaukee factories; and while this worked a serious financial hardship on the company, nevertheless, it is the belief of the management that it placed its dealers in a very enviable position to be ready to take advantage of the new line announced Thursday, October 9. The management recognizes that its dealers are the backbone of the Company.

LOUISIANA SHOWS HOW TO UTILIZE STATE RESOURCES

Plans To Spend $100,000,000
On Rural Pavements And
Other Needs

By E. E. DUFFY

What to do with a hundred million dollars is a problem that would puzzle the average individual, but the state of Louisiana, possessing a hundred million "spendable" dollars has volunteered an answer.

Disregarding the rumor that all is not well with business, Louisiana has laid plans to buy $100,000,000 worth of public improvements. Ordinarily it would not be expected that Louisiana, or any state of similar population and wealth, would blandly announce to the world, in time of alleged depression, a construction plan so broad. Louisiana, however, has clearly determined that the time to build is when costs are low, the values high and labor efficient.

Foremost among the projects confronting Louisiana is the building of no less than 3,000 miles of concrete rural pavements. According to the Louisiana plan, which recognizes that local roads can be sufficiently improved only after the busy main arteries are adequately surfaced, the pavement program will stimulate and make possible local road development.

Further, Louisiana plans to build a public Belt Bridge at New Orleans to better cargo handling facilities—at a cost of $19,000,000.

The public markets in New Orleans are to be rehabilitated—at a cost of $1,000,000.

Another million is to be spent in the building of an airport along New Orleans' lake front.

A new state capitol, "to serve as a worthy symbol of Louisiana's pride in their state," is to cost $5,000,000.

Seven million dollars will be required in the refinancing of the Port of New Orleans and the Port of Lake Charles, and in building new schools.

A tick eradication program and the early completion of the Intercoastal Canal are soon to be taken in hand.

These eight items represent investments that will increase Louisiana's earning power; the complete governmental program will stimulate private enterprise. Louisiana is assuring herself of activity during the next few years, the sort of activity that means well being. And as for the hundred millions that will be spent, most of it is going to labor that needs it for spending.

Last Friday evening the Belleville Board of Review met at the Town Hall and numerous tests were passed by a group of between twenty and twenty-five Scouts. Harvey Brumbach, Deputy Commissioner of Belleville, presided and Roy Jacobus, Assistant Scout Executive of Newark Council, was also present. Scoutmasters in attendance and Assistants were: Ira Shattuck, Scoutmaster of Troop 88; Frank Holmes, Troop 89; and Assistant, Elmer Sewell; Merton Leach, Troop 4; Joseph Cece, Troop 92; Frank Moore and Assistant, Hugh Kittle, Troop 90; Lindley Graves and Assistant Carl Hack of Troop 50 and Daniel Spillane, Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 75.

Scouts passing tests and kind passed were: Roy Gorski, George Paganelli and Herbert Bush completed requirements for Second Class; Jim Crawford passed tests for Fireman's Merit Badge; Edwin Woods was first Star Scout in Troop 89, passed Swimming and First Aid to Animals Merit Badges; James Campbell passed Signalling test, which was last requirement to become a First Class Scout; Anthony Turturiello, who joined Troop 92 a week ago and passed Tenderfoot test at the time, started at this meeting to take tests for Second Class Scout which shows that he means business.

The Belleville Court of Honor will be held one week from tonight at the High School. Each Troop will march from Troop Headquarters to the Auditorium in a body. Four prizes are to be awarded this time and lucky is the Troop that captures any one. Most of the Scoutmasters have their eye on more than one.

One week from tomorrow, Saturday, October 25, is the day set aside for the Roosevelt Pilgrimage by all those wishing to participate. It is anticipated this year that a large delegation will represent Belleville and it is probable from the enthusiasm shown thus far and with added momentum as the day approaches that it may be necessary to detail one of the large deluxe buses to this town to take care of the number who will take this unique trip. All going must take note that all tickets must be spoken for at Newark Council through the Scoutmaster by this Thursday, October 23. The trip to Oyster Bay comes once a year at this time, the tickets are only $1.75 for the round trip and each Scout is urged to go if he possibly can.

Troop 89 Notes

Before one enters the Troop room he is confronted with a stained cross-section of an oak on which the following verse appears.

The Intel low enough,
To shut out pomp and pride;
The threshold high enough
To turn deceit aside;
The door band strong enough
From robbers to defend.
This door shall open at a touch
TO WELCOME EVERY FRIEND.

The name of the poet was not included so we cannot tell who wrote the verse but it struck us as a warm introduction to all who came in contact with the Troop. Mr. Cece made the friendly ornament as well as several exhibition boards and charts in the Troop room. The chart spoken of is made to look like flames in the interior of a large boiler and indicates the steps necessary to become a first class Scout together with several Merit Badges and the "flame" is short or long as the Scout progresses.

The Troop is now in the midst of a membership drive which should bring the attendance up to a full Troop.

Troop 50

The regular weekly meeting scheduled for last Monday evening was postponed due to the holiday.

Many of the group from the Belleville Troops on the Roosevelt Pilgrimage will come from this Troop according to present anticipations.

Troop 90

Scoutmaster Frank Moore who has recently taken up these duties states that there are now 22 active members of the Troop and that all but two or three possess uniforms. Mr. Moore has been in Scouting for 13 years, coming to Belleville from Troop 9 in Montclair where he was Assistant Scoutmaster for two years. Mr. Hugh Kittle, Assistant Scoutmaster is a member of the High School faculty where he teaches mathematics and mechanical drawing. He is connected also with the Newark Council where he holds the position of Examiner of Athletics.

This Troop has big plans under way for the coming Court of Honor.

Troop 4

According to the records of this Troop, which is now the oldest in point of existence, William Brumbach, Robert Dussler and Harold Bade are Eagle Scouts, the highest honor a Scout can have. This means that each has passed ten specified Merit Badge examinations and eleven others of their own selection, making a total of 21.

A good proportion of the Troop is expected to go on the Roosevelt Pilgrimage next Saturday, according to Scoutmaster Leach.

Troop 89

There is considerable activity in preparation for the Court of Honor next Friday evening. Much competition is expected from this quarter.

SCHOOLS

By JIM REILLY

N. B. Thompson, representative of the American Sugar Refining Company, gave the story of sugar by means of pictures to the assembled school body.

Mr. Thompson said that the majority of families consume more sugar in the home than any other food. The time before the coming of the Lord, sugar was known as the honey berry reed.

Sugar was first cultivated on the island of Santo Domingo in the year 1791 and in 1917 the first electrically operated plant was formed in Canagua.

Our country consumes 5,000,000 tons of sugar each year. A sugar refinery uses enough power, light and energy to serve a small city. As shown by the pictures the process is very long and thoroughly clean in its progress.

Junior assembly was conducted by Margaret Spaulding and Leonard Hodgkinson. The program was made complete by the solo played by Vincent Mantegna on his violin and who was accompanied by Miss Waters at the piano.

AREME CHAPTER, O. E. S.

There will be a meeting of the Sunshine committee at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Sadie Young, of 175 Washington avenue on Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Rehearsals for the minstrel "Turkish Delights" will be held at Christ Episcopal church tonight, but the following Tuesday night it will be held at Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian church on account of the Episcopal bazaar preparations, and erection of booths. The following Friday night, October 24 the rehearsal will go back to the Episcopal Guild Room.

Folks, just remember the card party to be held at the home of Mrs. Annie Nelson, 183 West street on October 29, with Mrs. Georgina Edwards as co-hostess. The affair will be in the afternoon.

The next meeting of Areme Chapter on October 27 will be featured by the celebration of its sixteenth birthday.

The high school orchestra has had an addition of six members. The total at the present time numbers thirty. George Price, saxophone player recently tried playing a clarinet and did very well. George Barnes the trumpet player, has been working on the French horn and is coming along nicely.

The glee clubs have responded splendidly this year and are overcrowded. The boys' chorus numbers forty-two and has to come down to thirty-six. The girls' club has a grand total of ninety-six and will be reduced through the inattention of members.

As most readers do not know Miss Walters recently acquired a Buick roadster and confessed, after having been stuck one morning, that she didn't know automobile batteries needed water. Oh, well, experience is great stuff.

And another thing Miss Walters let us in on was the fact that in all probability her roadster was going to be washed within the week for the first time since it came into her possession. That is something to look forward to as the person with the seven years' itch, said.

With Junior Past Matron Mrs. Alice Pelz in charge.

The Ways and Means committee of Areme Chapter, O. E. S. with Mrs. Lillian Pratt chairman, and Mrs. Georgina Edwards in charge of publicity, announces the entire committee as follows: Mrs. Minetta Adams, Mrs. Mildred Bangert, Mrs. Ida Davis, Mrs. Elizabeth DeGroat, Mrs. Ella Dodd, Mrs. Katherine Eska, Mrs. Ida Foley, Mrs. Madeline Farrington, Mrs. Laura Fitzherbert, Mrs. Elizabeth Haythorn, Mrs. Margaret Hodgson, Mrs. Emma Irvine, Mrs. Florence Lemon, Mrs. Marjorie Lemmon, Mrs. Lucy Manger, Mrs. Sadie Mathes, Mrs. Annie Nelson, Junior Past Matron; Mrs. Alice Pelz, Junior Past Matron; Mrs. Mary Page, Mrs. Agnes Raine, Mrs. Lolita Rawcliffe, Mrs. Ethel Smith and Miss Lucy Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Schick of Hornblower avenue entertained Dr. and Mrs. Franklin Hazelhurst of Catonsville, Md., recently.

Prominent Jersey Penologist Returns To America

Edward R. Johnstone, director of The Training School at Vineland, returned Monday with Mrs. Johnstone after spending several weeks in Europe, where he attended as a Federal delegate, the International Prison Congress, which met at Prague, August 26 to 29.

Upon his arrival Mr. Johnstone stated that he was impressed with the fact that the penal program which has been developed in the State of New Jersey in the past fifteen years is in complete accord with the general sentiment expressed at the International Prison Congress, for improving prison conditions throughout the world, and tending toward a more intelligent control of crime in this country. The new Jersey State program was initiated by the Prison Inquiry Commission, of which Mr. Dwight W. Morrow was chairman.

Mr. Johnstone is well known in this country as an authority on mental deficiency. His work at The Training School at Vineland, an institution for those whose minds have not developed normally, and of which he has been director for thirty-two years, has attracted world-wide attention. This is an institution, owned and controlled by an association of interested citizens throughout the country, and where children from every county in New Jersey, from twenty-eight states, and from five foreign countries are at present receiving care and training, and the causes of their conditions being studied, with the hopes of alleviating this menace to society in the future.

In addition to his Directorship of the school, Mr. Johnstone serves as President of the State Prison Board, as consultant to the Department of Institutions and Agencies, and as advisor to many other state boards and committees.

Miss Elizabeth Fallon, business manager of The Training School, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone on their trip through Europe.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Doctrine of Atonement" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 19, 1930.

The Golden Text is: "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous; and his is the propitiation for our sins; and not for our's only, but also for the sins of the whole world." (1 John 2: 1, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I delight to do thy will, O my God; yea, thy law is within my heart." (Psalms 40: 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The scientific unity which exists between God and man must be wrought out in life-practice, and God's will must be universally done." (p. 202.)

GRACE EPISCOPAL
Rev. C. P. Tinker

Sunday, 11 A. M.—"Forgetting Disciples."
Sunday, 7:45 P. M.—"Unruly Neighbors."

It makes little difference how old we are. The boy at school wants to play, he forgets that he has home work to do. The teacher next morning asks for the unfinished work, to be met with the reply "I forgot all about it."

The politician before election makes many promises; but after he is in office seems to have forgotten all about the great things he was going to do, for the benefit of the community. Forgetting seems to be common in all walks of life. The pastor of Grace Church will speak during the morning service, having as his subject "The Forgetting Disciples."

Sunday evening at 7:45 P. M. there will be the usual song service that the people of Grace Church enjoy so much. Do you enjoy singing? Come and have a good time, with a good crowd and fine fellowship. At this service Mr. McCombe will speak about some "Unruly Neighbors" that made life miserable for one man. Come and hear how he made out.

The story of "Uncle Abe and David" coming over the radio, every Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 6:45 through station WJZ, is refreshing and instructive, amid all the Jazz that is fed to us each day. These old Yanks from Maine weave into their story, in a quaint way, all the pathos, tragedy and humor of real life. These old store keepers of Skowhegan, Maine, are putting over a fine piece of work.

The Fellowship Service at Grace Church every Tuesday evening is meeting a real need, in the lives of those who attend this service. The study of the Gospel of John taken from all angles is instructive. Have you sometimes wondered what a special word or passage meant? Lacking the proper references you have felt puzzled and many times have come to a conclusion, that was entirely different from what the writer or author had in mind. At this service we take time to consider any question that may be asked, and with the aid of many minds and difference in degree of thought seek a conclusion, that helps to throw light on some perplexing problem. Have you a question that is troubling you? Bring it to the Fellowship service Tuesday evening, and we will talk about it and seek some conclusion that may be helpful. We want to make this service a real Fellowship meeting. You can help.

The struggle for supremacy in the field of base ball has ended for another year. Over 200,000 people left their business to witness the struggle, between the two leading teams of the season. The President of the United States was present and stayed throughout the entire game, at the beginning of the series. This so-called world series is a money making proposition. In addition to their regular salaries the players of both teams will have divided among them $223,875.50 as a bonus. It is estimated that the gate receipts for the six games will amount to $952,575.00. No small amount to be spent for a week's pleasure, in the midst of the so-called industrial depression. Base ball has become a game of science. Many a game develops into a pitchers' battle. We are thrilled at times at the marvellous control which the pitcher has over the ball, yet with all the science displayed, by the highly trained teams, we confess that the old game on a vacant lot, brings to us more pleasure and real enjoyment.

Got the habit of attending the services at Grace Church. Here you will find real fellowship. Here you will find a simple but a helpful service, without formality, or frills, a real people's service. We seek not to bring the Christ down to the level of man; but we do seek to bring man up to the standard of the Christ. If you want entertainment, the movies are in a better position to furnish it to you. If you want help to fight bravely the battle of life, come to the service at Grace Church.

Once in a while we hear some men speak of the church as if it amounted to little or nothing, in the national life. They fail to realize how important a place it has in the activities of the Republic. Millions of dollars have been invested in property for religious purposes. Taking the following figures into consideration, it would seem as if some of our citizens believed in the work of the church. According to the figures published by the United States Census Bureau, of the ten leading denominations of the country we have something for the anti-church man to think about. The value of the property held by the ten leading denominations is as follows:

Methodists $654,736,000
Baptists 469,825,000
Presbyterian 443,572,000
Protestant Epis. 314,596,000
Lutheran 273,499,000
Congregational 164,212,000
Disciples of Christ 114,850,000
Christian Science 69,416,000
Unitarians 27,713,000
Universalists 15,826,000

Add to this the Hebrew congregations, $100,000,000, and the Roman Catholics, $837,271,000. We have a total of something like $3,486,326,000. This body is but a small part of the religious bodies of the country; which number about 213 groups, if we are to give the property of all 213 bodies, it would make quite a different grand total compared to the above figures. Let the man who is inclined to decry the church ponder on these figures, before he utters his destructive criticism.

Remember that this coming Saturday the young women of the World Wide Guild are to hold their food sale at the church. The entrance on Bremond street will be used.

October 30 at 7 P. M. the Men's Club of Grace Baptist Church will give a Turkey dinner for men only in the social hall of the church, and oh, how badly the ladies are feeling over their exclusion. An interesting speaker, Judge Van Riper of Newark will be present. Elmer Hyde will be toastmaster, and Charles Thomson, president of the club in charge of arrangements.

Kerosene or Water?

KEROSENE or water—it looked the same to the baby, who took a big drink and went into convulsions. The mother telephoned her doctor's office, but it was Rose Roberts, in charge at the Paulsboro Central Office, who, when they found not only that doctor, but every other in town unavailable, got in touch with the first doctor's wife and learned the proper antidote for kerosene—reasoning that a doctor's wife may have no diploma, but has a practical knowledge of medicine just the same!

Whether you give a number vocally to an operator, or dial it directly to the equipment in the central office, the New Jersey telephone people behind the mechanism have a part in your call—an increasingly important part in time of unusual need such as this mother knew.

Belleville Drops Third Football Game To Passaic High

Trojans And Ints Win Over Cubs And Middletown Players

Trojans Lead League With Three Wins And No Losses Chalked Up

The Intertown A. C. who were tied for the cellar position jumped to second place, in the Nutley Junior Football League, by virtue of a 13-0 win over the heavier Middletown P. C.

The Ints showed little chance for first honors in the League until Sunday.

The Ints showed plenty of strength and ability in the first half of the game as a complete Intertown line ripped open large holes for the backs. Substitutions in the last half weakened the team considerably as the Middies threatened to score for the first time but a bracing up of the Ints' line held back their strong attack and the Ints were on their way for another score when the game ended.

Brilliant end runs by Jack Tuozolo featured the game. The presence of R. Longo in the Intertown line-up was felt considerably as he sent many a Middle back for losses.

Vitello also got off good punts which helped the Ints' plenty. Stefanelli and "Tubby" showed up best for the Middies.

Next Sunday the Ints will have a strong team out to play the Cubs who tied the Ints in the first game. Zampano and Grantonelli who were ill, will also be in the line-up.

The Cubs and Trojans engaged in a hotly contested game with the Trojans victors, 13-6. Juliano and Babbit played well for the Cubs. H. Janarone starred for the Trojans.

Next Sunday's Games:
Intertowns vs. Cubs.
Trojans vs. Middletowns.

Tuscans In Scoreless Tie With Collegiates At Olympic Park

Dairymen Were In Scoring Way On Many Occasions

The Tuscan Farmers opened their football season Sunday morning by holding the Nutley Collegiates to a scoreless tie at Olympic Park Stadium. The Campdowners showed up to advantage and with a little seasoning Coach Andy Watt's boys should be heard from in the future.

The Dairymen were in the dominating position throughout the game and threatened to score on numerous occasions. The first half ended with the ball in Tuscan possession on the opposing 10-yard with three downs to go. The Irvington eleven played a bang-up game on the defense holding the Nutleyites to three first downs while they had seven.

In the third canto the visitors threatened to score. A series of line bucks, an end run and a forward pass brought the pigskin to the Tuscan 10-yard stripe, where the final punch was lacking. Baker's 50-yard run was the feature of the game. Whitey Stager and Sarah Jones starred for the visitors.

This Whirl Of Sport

By Arthur Bloemke

"BREAKS" AND OFFICIALS

When two evenly matched teams in any field of sport engage each other the result one way or the other must of necessity result from the so-called "breaks" of the game. Even when one of the pair is superior to a more or less extent the "breaks" may decide it in favor of the inferior team.

Such was the case, Saturday, in Belleville's 13-7 loss at the hands of Passaic. Some say that the winners make these "breaks." True it is that Passaic took advantage of a pair of them to score their winning touch-downs, but what about the third and most important?

All afternoon the Blue and Gold of Belleville High played their heads off and were trimming Passaic unmercifully. Passaic went through the entire first half without scoring a first down, in fact it was late in the third quarter before a seemingly illegal lateral pass gave them their first one.

A blocked kick in the opening minutes of play had given Passaic an early 6-0 lead, which was later equalled and overcome by a seven point barrage on the part of one "Mac" Lamb, one of the Belleville mainstays of the afternoon.

After Passaic had accumulated its final score early in the last quarter, Belleville made a last minute march down the field, culminated by a brilliant forty yard dash on the part of Lamb. But here came the worst "break" of the affair.

Umpire Campton, one of the officials, raced over from the other side of the field and cut Lamb's dash in half, claiming that he stepped out of bounds on the thirty yard mark. This official was the only person in the whole stadium seeing the "stepping out of bounds," some of the Passaic partisans admitting his mistake.

Then to further heighten their "glorious triumph," a pair of Passaic policemen, led an officious, madly-gesticulating combination trainer and grounds-keeper, escorted two local newsmen, including the writer, off the field, for daring to express an opinion.

Several times previously the officials had erred in allowing a seemingly illegal lateral pass, which resulted in the deciding touch down, and in permitting Passaic players to lengthen their time-outs to their own convenience.

The writer absolutely fails to see why a team of high school players, fighting hard all day in the face of a summer sun and easily out-playing the opposing team as well should be robbed of a game by such openly biased officiating. Those boys, Saturday, played the games of their lives and deserved to win if any team ever did. Such officials as these ought to be ostracized from further attempts at arbitration for the locals in their future games if that is at all possible.

LOYALTY PLUS

Many have been the paeons of praise, directed to the heroes of the grid-iron. Many have been the songs of encouragement for the stars of the football firmament.

But what about the lowly "chub." he has no extraordinary talents to make him the toast of the "fans." His is not the hero's lot. He must content himself with being scrimmaged against for five days of the week and then sit back on the bench and watch others get the cheers on the sixth.

Even at that most of the second-stringers are happy in their fond hopes for the future. They may warm the bench today, but tomorrow with graduation and other events taking its toll, they will get their chance.

Jack Maher's case, however, is different. For four years or through his entire high school term, Maher has been out for the local high school team.

In this, his fourth year, he is still a member of the "scrubs." A less stout-hearted individual would have probably given up before this but not Johnny, who certainly deserves all the credit in the world for his fine spirit.

It is that kind of spirit that gives Belleville High a firm foundation. Loyalty in a high school student was never more finely exemplified than in this youth, who has never stopped trying, though never having success crown his efforts.

PARILLO AND MUHLBERG

Mr. and Mrs. George Riggs and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ziegler recently made a trip to Easton to see the Muhlenberg-Lafayette grid game and came back with glowing reports about "Tony" Parillo, erstwhile Blue and Gold football luminary.

They tell that Parillo is making good with a "bang" out there, heading a brilliant line that has been wreaking havoc against opposing backfields this year.

In the Lafayette game, which Muhlenberg incidentally lost by a 14-0 count, Parillo played guard almost the entire game and covered himself with glory with his brilliant line play.

Blue And Gold Outplayed Rivals Consistently But "Umps" Were Off Color

Some people call it the "breaks."

Others, "hard luck." But whatever the reason the golden-jerseyed grid warriors of Belleville High dropped another, this time to Passaic, 13-7, Saturday afternoon, at the new Passaic Stadium.

The Blue and Gold horde, led by an inspired "Mac" Lamb, playing his first game, and an equally unstoppable Tony Biase, out-played the Passaicites consistently. The Belleville boys gained well over 200 yards from scrimmage during the afternoon to out-distance their hosts 4 to 1. But to what avail?

Passaic took advantage of two of the few bad plays to mar the fine Belleville showing and on both occasions scored touch-downs, enough to give them the game. This wasn't sufficient, but late in the final quarter the locals made a final brilliant spurt that had touch down spelled all over it.

Color Blind Or Something

An "eagle-eyed" official, however, with unexcelled flagrancy, detected the fact that "Mac" Lamb, who carried the ball, had stepped out of bounds twenty yards before he actually did. This official, Compton, by name, who was at the time on the other side of the field, was the only one of the 4,000 odd people who witnessed the out-of-bounds stepping. This poor officiating cost Belleville a touch down and the game.

Passaic was given a 6-0 handicap in the opening minutes of play due to Belleville's safety man musing up a punt in his direction. Captain Galluba kicked off for Belleville, Passaic returning the pig-skin to the thirty-eight yard stripe. The home-sters could do absolutely nothing with that formidable Blue and Gold line and were forced to punt. An ordinary kick which followed was handled badly by Belleville, giving the locals the ball on their own twelve yard mark. After failing to deny the Passaic line with a plunge, Fritz Plenge kicked or at least attempted to. An alert Passaic line-man, however, broke through, blocked the attempt and recovered the oval on Belleville's two yard line.

Wassilewski went off tackle for the six-pointer on the second down, but his place kick for the extra point was blocked by Casale of the locals.

Following this "break" the Erickson-coached boys out-manuevered and out-played the boys from Passaic for the remainder of the quarter. After Biase had run back the net kick-off to the thirty-five yard mark, Fritz Plenge skirted right end for eleven yards on the first play. Two ensuing plays, failed, and Roberti, the Belleville quarter, elected to play the safe game. Passaic ran back Biase's punt to their own thirty-five yard line.

With the Blue and Gold wall immovable the Passaic attempts at ground-gaining were futile and the kick which followed was poor, giving the locals the ball in mid-field.

"Tony" Biase, Belleville's bundle of T. N. T., rocked the Passaic ends for twenty-two yards on two successive trips with the oval. A fifteen yard penalty for hold, inflicted on the locals, cut Biase's fine ground-gaining down to a mere seven. Two thrusts at the Passaic line for the needed three yards yielded the Belleville boys two, so they, or rather Biase, kicked. Passaic managed to return the kick to their own twenty-five yarder and things took on a decided Blue and Gold hue.

Wassilewski's fine return punt, however, brought the ball rather deep into Belleville territory, their thirty-two yard line to be exact. Belleville failed to pierce the Passaic line and Plenge again kicked.

The quarter ended after Passaic had made two fruitless line plunges, leaving the oval in their possession on their own thirty-nine yard stripe.

For almost half of the second quarter both teams occupied themselves with punting back and forth with neither showing a decided edge. During the interim following one of these numerous punting duels, Santamasmo, another of Belleville's rather numerous quarter-backs, replaced Roberti, and seemed to be the much needed "spark" of the Blue and Gold offensive.

With Belleville in possession of the ball on their twenty-nine yarder, Biase made a beautiful plunge off tackle good for ten yards and a first down. Then the Blue and Gold opened up an aerial attack, but a pair of passes, flipped by Fritz Plenge went awry. Punting out of danger was the thing now, so Plenge took care of that end by kicking to Passaic's thirty-seven yard mark.

On the first play of the home-sters, Wassilewski fumbled a bad pass from center, losing fifteen yards on the play and bringing the ball back to their twenty-two yard mark. In desperation Passaic went to the air, but "Mac" Lamb, ever on the alert, plucked their first heave out of the air and ran twenty yards to the six yard mark before being downed. "Tony" Biase could gain but two yards on a pair of off tackle plunges so Lamb again took command of the situation and circled left end for the needed yardage and Belleville's first touch-down of the season. Not content with that, Lamb again took the ball off tackle for the extra point on a fake kick formation.

On the next kick-off Lamb made a fine run-back of twenty yards, but the whistle cut matters short with the ball in mid-field at the half. Belleville led, 7-6, and seemed victory-bound.

Minutes were getting precious and that 7-6 margin was looking more and more secure as the third quarter progressed, but towards the end of the period, Passaic again took advantage of a "break" and in a second the whole complexion of matters had changed.

The play for the major part of the third quarter was in Belleville territory, not due to any brilliant Passaic ball-carrying exploits, as they had yet to make their initial first down. The cause lay primarily in Belleville's rather shoddy handling of punts, but despite this the locals' goal line was never endangered, with the educated toes of Biase and Fritz Plenge working over-time to insure this.

A final kick, however, on the part of the diligent Biase, was not up to his usual standard and some nice running back of it by Passaic gave them the oval on Belleville's twenty yarder. Two thrusts off tackle netted them but three yards, but on the next play, Wassilewski received a lateral pass and raced to Belleville's five yard line before he was stopped, for Passaic's opening first down of the afternoon.

In sheer desperation the Blue and Gold line, with their backs to the wall fought to stave off defeat. Two off-tackle slants by Passaic brought them four yards of the distance just before the third quarter ended.

A third try, this time one of the best in history, would not give an inch. With less than a yard to go, the locals could not prevent the inevitable and Wassilewski finally went over for the score on the last down. Wassilewski heaved a forward pass for the extra point, making the score 13-7, where it rested at the game's finish.

Belleville threatened to tally once more, immediately following the kick off, when the hard running Biase skirted the ends for jaunts of fifteen and thirty-two yards to bring the pig-skin to Passaic's eleven yard marker. A bad pass from center on the first play, however, cost the locals four of their hard earned yardage.

On the second play, an end run, Nick Bonavita netted five yards but Lamb was stopped on the third and a forward Biase to Santamasmo was grounded, over the goal line. Giving Passaic the ball on their own twenty yard stripe, Passaic promptly kicked out of danger and Belleville, unable to gain, promptly returned the compliment, Biase kicking to Passaic's fourteen yard mark. Jerry Bonavita smeared the Passaic back for a three yard loss on the first play, so it meant kick again for the home-sters, Santamasmo receiving the punt on his own forty-eight yard stripe.

One the next play, "Mac" Lamb, with a brilliant exhibition of broken field running ran around left end for forty yards, being thrown out of bounds on the Passaic ten yard stripe. That over zealous official, however, claimed Lamb stepped out on the thirty and brought the ball back to that mark. That "break" cost Belleville a touch-down and the game, as Passaic got the ball on downs and managed to keep out of danger for the remaining few minutes.

All of this despite a brilliant last minute effort on the part of the hard working Biase, who stepped around end for twenty-five yards, seconds before the final whistle.

Belleville Elks' Bowlers In Last Lap Of Tourney

"Tom" Mac Nair Continues To Hold Slim Lead In Competition

The Belleville Elks' pin champions entered their last lap, Monday night, and with it "Tom" MacNair, the 1929 winner, continued to cling to a slim lead in the individual standings. The race for the honors has now been narrowed down to MacNair and Waldie.

At present MacNair, veteran of many a hard fought Elk bowling victory in the past, stands a splendid chance of retaining his championship laurels, with seventeen wins out of a possible twenty-four games. Charley Waldie, another previous "champ" is pressing him hard, however, with the same number of losses, seven, but with three less pins to his credit. The remainder of the even dozen entered are out of the running at present for the title.

Waldie climbed up to his runner-up position by taking two of three MacNair, himself, for one of the few sets "Tom" has dropped since the start of the twelve man pin marathon. This happened on Wednesday, but during the same night MacNair came back strong with successive tallies of 235, 228 and 212 to sweep a series with Bill Buttons. This fine rolling constituted one of the best bowled matches of the competition.

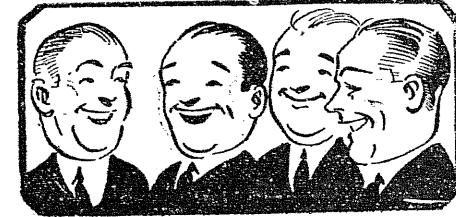

On the following Thursday, Charley Waldie equalled MacNair's high individual mark of 246 in the last game of his match with Faust, in which he won two. "Dutch" Faust also compiled a sizzling 243 in this same match to cop the second game.

In Wednesday's matches, Billy Bechtoldt and Tommie Dunn rolled one of the closest contests of the entire affair. After Bechtoldt had taken the opener, 204 to 197, Dunn came back strong in the final two to cop both by slim margins. The second game was one of the best rolled of them all. "Tommie" Dunn out-shot Bechtoldt by a mere two pins, with the final count reading, 222 to 220.

Following MacNair and Waldie in the present standings are "Butch" Kastner, Bob Brogan, Bill Buttons, "Dutch" Faust, L. R. Brogan, Seibert, "Tommie" Dunn, Art Mayer, Bechtoldt and Billie Bechtoldt in that order. The latter two, who have been two of the Elks' mainstays on the alleys for the past few years, have entered the tourney for the sole purpose of getting back into shape for the hard winter campaign. This is their first attempt at bowling 'em over this year.

Bill Buttons and "Dutch" Faust have been creating some fine marks in the tournament so far, but they seem to catch their opponents on their good nights, which accounts for their present ratings.

Individual Standings		W.	L.
Mac Nair	17	7
Waldie	14	7
Kastner	8	7
R. Brogan	8	7
Buttons	11	10
Faust	12	12

Elks' Pin Knights Demonstrate Ability In Ridgewood Fracas

Second Exhibition Match Win Is Recorded By Locals

The local Elks' pin-knights again again demonstrated their superiority on their alleys, Thursday night. It was the second successive exhibition match victory for the locals over their rivals, who are one of the leading entrants in the Bergen County Elks' League, in which the local rollers are also entered.

The Belleville Hello Bills had their hands full all the way with the Ridgewooders, who offered stubborn opposition before going down to defeat. The match, which was about as close as it is bowlingly possible to be, gave the Belleville boys a three pin margin in the first, the home-sters a seven pin one in the second and the locals a final nine pin victory in the last game of the match.

The score totals for both teams follows:

Ridgewood Elks	957	969	901
Ridgewood Elks	967	969	901
The winning line-up of Faust, Waldie, Kastner, Whitten, MacNair and Dunn worked together in fine style all night with all of them hovering close to the double century mark during the three games. Charley Waldie led the pack in individual high scoring stuff with a fine 226 mark in the second game. "Dutch" Faust's 216, Bob Whitten's 215 and "Tom" MacNair's 208 were other high water marks for the heavily scoring Bellevillites. "Butch" Kastner averaged around the 190 mark for the three games in this, his first match with the locals.

It remained for one of the losing pinmen to record the outstanding individual performance of the evening. R. Votz of the Ridgewood five turned in a record-breaking 266 for one of his three scores, and further added to this brilliant pin toppling with a 216 in another.

Martin-Dennis jumped into the Belleville Manufacturers' League lead, with International Ticket, Friday night, at Ferrara's in the circuit's second night of play.

A clean sweep of their three game match with the tail-end Hoyt Bros. five, the only triple win of the night, permitted the Martin-Dennis boys to esconce themselves on the top rung with the ticket-makers. Jeffery-Mayer, managing to take but one game out of the three from Wallace & Tiernan, was ousted from the top and dropped to a tie for second place with the championship Tiffany quintet. Tiffany's, by the way, showed a return to their last year's pennant-winning form, in their two out of three triumph over the strong Hanlon & Goodman squad. Their 1930 score in the first game was easily the best team tally of the season thus far.

In the other three matches of the night, the Atlas Pencers copied two of the trio from Federal Leather, despite a fine 874 team total by the leather-makers in the final set-to. Thomson's dropped two to Eweency's though coming back strong to win the final with an 877, and International Ticket won two out of three from Sonneborn's third place quintet.

R. Hopler, of the league-leading Martin-Dennis team, took the individual high scoring prize of the night with a fine 224 count in the second game of the Dennis' match

Patterson Hangs Up Seventh Straight Win

Knocks Out Zazzarino In The First Round Of Their Mix-up

Eddie Patterson, Belleville's little fighting flash, who carries the kick of a mule in his gloves, scored his seventh straight knock-out over Joey Zazzarino in the first round.

Zazzarino rushed from his corner but Patterson only side-stepped and caught him with a hard left hook. Zazzarino came back with rights and left to the body. Patterson, quick as a flash came back with his own lefts and rights to Zazzarino's jaw that rocked Zazzarino all over the ring. Zazzarino led with a left jab and Patterson blocked it and caught Zazzarino with a hard left hook to the jaw that dropped him for a long count. Zazzarino was out cold for seven minutes and twenty seconds. Patterson took the fight on a three-day notice. Patterson weighed 121, and Zazzarino, 124. Patterson left the ring with 5,000 cheering him.

Patterson is managed and handled by the well-known Sammy Wanner, also of Belleville. Wanner says his charge will be meeting some of New Jersey's stars very soon. Wanner thinks a lot of his young protegee. Patterson is billed to fight Thursday in New York.

Legion Takes Over Reins Of Defunct Recreation League

"Tom" Fleming Sponsors Taking Over Of Activities

The Belleville American Legion officially took over the reins of the now defunct Recreation Basketball League, at a meeting held at the Town Hall, Tuesday evening.

Thomas W. Fleming, commander of the local post, American Legion, sponsored the local Legion's taking over of basketball activities this winter and presided over the meeting.

He announced to the representatives of the team that a committee of American Legion men would head the affair of the circuit, settling all disputes, and so forth.

On Tuesday only the Bachelors, Unions and Valleys of the teams that participated in last year's recreation League were represented. President Fleming requests that the Wesleys, Panthers, Community Aces and Garnets of last year's entrants send a representative to the next meeting of the league, Tuesday night, at the Town Hall.

At this meeting, selection of referees, questions of eligibility of players, schedule matters, rules and regulations, and other matters necessary to the formation of the league will be discussed. All basketball team managers, other than those of the Recreation League of last year, who are desirous of entering their squads in the circuit are requested to put in an appearance at the Town Hall, Tuesday.

The session will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Belleville Royals Organize A Junior Basketball Outfit

The Belleville Royals have organized a light junior basketball team, which is at present arranging games with some of the leading court squads in their class in this section.

Among the youthful stars who have already camped under the Royal banner for the coming season are Jannarone, star forward of the Memphis A. C., Nutley junior champions of last year; Leadbeater of the Falcons, F. Pascale, a former Rebel performer, Art Knab, Morano, Harry Knab, A. Pascale and A. Walker. The latter five played with the Pioneer A. C. last year.

The Royals would like to play all light junior teams having home courts. They are willing to travel to any part of the state. For games write to R. Jannarone, 225 Passaic avenue. Phone Belleville 2-1568.

S. B. E. Grid Squad Loses To Curtis, 12-0

The S. B. E. grid eleven dropped a 12-0 decision to a Curtis High alumni team of Staten Island, Columbus Day, at Clearman Field.

The visitors were supreme at all stages of play, completely smothering the "Frat" boys with a brilliant forward passing attack.

They also displayed a much better brand of team-work than the locals, who due to lack of practice, played ragged football during most of the game.

The Moniot brothers, George and Ed, were the only bright spots in the locals' performance.

Valley Association Holds Golf Tourney

Counsel Max N. Schwartz Gives Report On Sewerage Interview

A regular meeting of the Valley Improvement Association was held in Essex House, Stephens street last Thursday. President W. B. Frey, presided.

Chairman William Wanhouse was in charge of the miniature golf tournament held Wednesday evening, at the Tiny Tot Golf Course, Washington avenue at Essex street, for all members and friends. Other committee members were Mrs. C. Hanrahan, Mrs. J. Tiger, and Messrs. F. Sopher, O. Streib, A. Baker, E. Galvin and C. Natale. Town Commissioners and Representative F. A. Hartley, Jr., attended.

Counsel Max N. Schwartz reported on an interview with members of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission and in conjunction with committee report to be rendered by Messrs. W. Owens and W. Cassidy, concerning alleged pollution of the Passaic River, which will be taken by that body to avert this pollution.

The association received a letter from Commissioner W. D. Clark advising that remedial steps would be taken to have garbage wagons covered on trips to the town dumps to avert promiscuous distribution of the garbage from uncovered wagons, and that a meeting of representatives of the various improvement associations in the town would soon be called to devise ways and means to end the unpleasant garbage situation.

Belleville Clintons To Play Bloomfield Grid Squad Sunday

After Two Weeks Lay Off Locals To Limber Up Again

The Belleville Clintons, after two weeks' lay-off, will take on the Bloomfield Social Club grid squad, Sunday afternoon, at Belleville Park.

Practically the same team that experienced so little difficulty in taking the Anokas into camp, 26-0, in the first tilt of the season, will be on hand for the locals against their neighboring rivals.

Manager Andy Monahan of the locals has been after the Clearman Field location for some time for this all-important match and has at last secured it. This game will, in a way, revive much of that familiar old-time Nutley-Belleville grid iron rivalry that has been permitted to die during the past few years. A goodly crowd of fans is expected from both towns for this set-to, which will be the season's climax for both squads.

Outside of this November 8 game, which will be played at Clearman Field, the Clintons have booked strong neighboring football squads for every Sunday for the remainder of the season at Belleville Park.

The schedule follows:

October 19—Bloomfield S. C. at Belleville Park.

October 26—Newark Trojans at Belleville Park.

November 2—Grove A. A. of Kearny at Belleville Park.

November 8—Nutley Comets at Clearman Field.

November 9—Union A. A. of Arlington at Belleville Park.

November 16—Pinecrest Club of West Orange at Belleville Park.

November 23—Bloomfield Originals at Belleville Park.

Business Men To See Schwieker In Action Again

A delegation of local business men headed by Henry Haffner, Herman Schwieker, and John Daley, will travel to Ohio Field, New York, Saturday morning to witness the Dean Academy-N. Y. U. Freshman football game.

Paul Schwieker, talented luminary of last year's highly successful Blue and Gold combine, will be in the line-up of the Dean Academy eleven when they take the field. In several previous games the husky Paul has shown well and bids fair to make a name for himself in "prep" school and collegiate football as he did in high school.

The party will meet at Haffner's at 8:30 tomorrow morning and will return in time to see the Belleville-Roselle Park game in the afternoon.

Don't Forget Fans—Phil Taylor Plans Atlantic City Trip

Football fans desirous of witnessing the Belleville-Atlantic City gridiron struggle, November 8, and without any visible means of transportation are again reminded to get in touch with "Phil" Taylor at Clearman Field, the stamping ground of the locals.

The genial Phil has hired a bus or buses according to requirements for the trip. He announces that the price has been fixed at $3.00 round trip.

All fans expecting to make the trip are requested to get their tickets early and make sure of them as they are going fast. The meeting place will be Clearman Field at 8 o'clock the morning of November 8.

American Legion League Bowlers Find Two Tied For First Place Honors

El Club	1	2	.333
Belleville Elks	1	2	.333
Junior Order	0	3	.000
Vets. For. Wars	0	3	.000

The Belleville American Legion League opened its second bowling season, Monday night, at Ferrara's with the newly entered Republican Club and the youthful St. Peter aggregation going into a tie for first place in the standings. Both swept three game series, the former making the Junior Order their victims a trio of times, while the Saints took three from the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The "Joe" Williams circuit picked up from where it left off last season, with most of the teams being matched against their closest rivals.

The Elks-Hoopie Club match was one of the real "thrillers" of the evening with both rival factions cheering away for their respective favorites. The Hoopies won two of the three matches from last year's "champs," who dropped the deciding game after rising to the heights in the second with a brilliant 965 team score. Tommie Dunn's 226 tally, followed by Kastner's 208 and Klemz's 201 were the big individual features of this 965, which was the high team score of the night.

Another event of note in this match was James's brilliant 233 in the first game for the Hoopies, the second best individual mark of the evening. Charley Schlecker of the Belleville A. A. copied first honors with his 236 against the Moose. "Butch" Kastner took all prizes for consistency for the Hello Bills with successive marks of 206, 208 and 203. Another "grudge" fight was the battle between the Bachelors and the Parks. The latter team managed to eke out a two to one margin, after a real close battle. Less than twenty pins was the margin of victory for either side in these hotly contested games.

In the way of "up-sets," more or less, may be listed the fine performance of the Moose in taking two out of three from the vaunted Belleville A. A. quintet. The winners hit the 900 team mark in the second game with a fine 906. Another "surprise" was the three straight defeat of the "Vets" at the hands of "Sugar" Flynn's St. Peter five. The winning team is composed entirely of youthful performers, easily the youngest in the circuit.

The closest game of the night was played between the Knights of Columbus and the El Club in the opening tilt of their match. The Knights nosed out the slimmest of margins with their 861 to 860 win, a difference of but a single pin. The two teams split the remaining pair of games to give the Knights a two out of three edge.

Double century scores for the participants as a whole were plentiful, with the league's personnel taking on more and more of a formidable appearance every day. The G. O. P. team in particular looked good and should be a real contender for the crown all of the way.

Other 200 bowling ball wielders include Tate of the G. O. P., 204; Van Riper and Lamb of the Junior Order with 204 and 212 respectively, De Carlo of the Moose with 206, Comesky of St. Peter's with 201, Bill Byrnes, St. of K. of C. with a pair of 203's, Klemz of the Elks' with 201, G. Derbyshire of the Hoopies with 209 and W. Williams of the same Hoopie Club with a 209 and a 215.

LOCAL LEGION BOWLING

The local Legion bowling league opened wide its portals, Monday night, at Ferrara's and uncovered one of the finest lots of pin teams that one has ever been able to accumulate.

It seems that all of the eleven teams that have re-entered this year after last year's successful campaign have been strengthened this season, and the new team, the Republican Club, well, they look like the goods.

When members of the Republican Club were commended on Tuesday for the clean sweep the G. O. P. made the previous Monday, they hastened to add that that was only their second team. And another thing, they said, their regulars will carry on for the remainder of the season. Looks bad for the rest of the league!

But, still in all, they won't have to look far for some real opposition.

The second place Hoopie Club of last year demonstrated conclusively in their two out of three win over the championship Elks' quintet that they have the "goods" for a pennant contender and that they will be in the race for the bunting all the way through.

The youthful St. Peter's aggregation was also an impressive appearing team out there, Monday, tying with the Republicans for the league lead, while the Moose rolled well to cop two from the Belleville A. A.

The league opening was certainly a nausupicious event in local bowling, an auspicious event in local bowling, a year has taken its stand as just about the strongest hereabouts. With President "Joe" Williams again at the helm and with the brand of play so markedly improved, well, a completely successful season is bound to result.

FOOTBALL INJURIES

Probably one of the few drawbacks the good ol' collegiate sport of football may have is the fact that injuries are always imminent to mar successful football seasons. A team may be the best in the world but their plans may be up-set with dispatch by injuries, which naturally occur with frequency, to one or more of the valuable members of the eleven.

A high injury to "Butter" Brand, elongated star center of the Blue and Gold varsity, robbed them of his services shortly after the first game. He has not been able to get into scrimmage as yet. After the Bloomfield game youthful Harvey Brumbach, who started at tackle, came out with a broken ankle. He will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. These two injuries to regulars certainly don't give Belleville High a better out-look for their future games.

Outside of local scholastic ranks comes the word that Paul Short, last year's high school grid captain and this year's star full-back for the Lehigh Freshman eleven will be out of the game for a while due to injuries. Short had been playing a bang-up game with his college mates and his presence will certainly be missed by the Lehigh boys in their next few games.

Roselle Park Visits Belleville Tomorrow

Last Year Blue And Gold Won From This Team By 19-7 Count

The Belleville High gridders will once more attempt to break into the win column, tomorrow afternoon, this time against Roselle Park, at Clearman Field. Last year, the Blue and Gold came out on the long end of a 19-7 count.

Coach Erickson is expected to use practically the same line-up that so out-played Passaic, Saturday, in spite of the loss.

He believes with most of the fans that once the team gets a win under its belt, it will be a hard, a very hard aggregation to stop. Taken man for man the Bell-boys seem to have the edge and should work their way into the win column for the first time. If they do, the rest of the season may yet be a success.

In "Mac" Lamb, who exhibited his ball-carrying wares against Passaic, Erickson has uncovered what he has long needed, a back who gains ground. With "Tony" Biase back in form, he ought to be doubly fortified along those lines.

Dig Gladiolus Bulbs Now

By A. C. McLEAN,
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Gladiolus corms that are not allowed to ripen too much before harvesting seem to have more vigor the following year. This explains why October is one of the best months for harvesting the corms of this flower. The corms are ready for digging five to six weeks after the plant bloom.

Immediately after digging the gladiolus, cut the tops off close to the bulbs, which should be thoroughly dried before storing for winter. This drying of the bulbs is best done in a well-ventilated place where there will be no prolonged exposure to the sun's rays.

In about two weeks the bulbs should be dry to the touch, which indicates that they are ready for winter storage. Before being stored, however, the bulbs should be cleaned. The old roots and old bulbs are easily removed if the drying has been thorough.

The winter storage should be dry, cool, and well-ventilated. A temperature range of from 35 to 40 degrees Fahrenheit is preferred, since in a warmer storage the bulbs tend to dry-out too much, and lose their vitality.

The bulbs of the different varieties may be kept separate by using a paper bag for each group. Label each bag with the variety name and store from 25 to 50 bulbs in a bag. Lice or mealy bugs can be repelled from the stored gladiolus by putting a small amount of tobacco dust in bag.

The Hardy Primroses

By A. C. McLEAN,
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Our home gardeners should grow more of the hardy primroses or primulas, which are among the most satisfactory of the early, spring-blooming plants. The common varieties are hardy in our climate, and, when planted in a partially shaded place, they live for years.

The hardy primroses grow best in cool weather, and October is one of the best months for planting them. If plants or divisions are set out now, they will bloom well next spring. They also may be grown from seed, but a year's growth is required before satisfactory blooming is obtained. When hardy primroses are transplanted in the spring they do not develop as well as those planted in the fall and allowed to become more firmly established. They are not very particular in their soil requirements and will grow in any good garden soil that is partially shaded.

The American primroses and polyanthus, or bunch primroses, are probably the most satisfactory for New Jersey conditions. Good results may also be obtained with cashmiriana and pulvirentia, as well as jaonica, all of which come from Europe. They need very little winter protection; simply enough cover to keep the ground from freezing and thawing, and protection from the sun's rays when the foliage is in an exposed position.

Plant Narcissus In October

By A. C. McLEAN,
N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Plant narcissus or daffodils in October. All available bulbs of these plants are now American-grown, since the importation of bulbs from foreign countries is prohibited by quarantine regulation. When once planted, narcissus may be left in the soil with good results for from four to five years, or until the bulbs make large clumps and crowd one another.

The narcissus do best on a well-drained, fairly heavy soil of medium acidity. The richer the soil the better will be the flowers the following spring. For best results, plant most narcissus bulbs about 4 to 5 inches deep. They are all hardy in this climate except the bunch flowered narcissus, examples of which are paper white, and the Chinese sacred lily.

The colors shown in seed catalogues may be taken as a satisfactory guide in selecting narcissus varieties, because most of those listed usually give good results. Among Emperor and King Alfred are recommended the large, yellow trumpet daffodils mentioned. The Empress is suggested

IN VOGUE TODAY

Style Notes Prepared for the Essex County Extension Service
By CATHERINE GRIEBEL,
Clothing Specialist

Two very large, plump women attracted my attention one day this week while I was lunching in a restaurant. One of the women wore a bright green gown that would be noticed no matter who wore it. The other woman wore a large patterned affair with much less lace at the neck and several strings of pearls draped over her bosom.

I wish someone could explain to me why large women do not realize that high colors and large patterns are not for them. There are lovely materials in darker tones and, if one must have patterned stuff, there are small, inconspicuous designs. Perhaps you recall the advice of a world-famous couturier to a stout woman who had come to him for help: "When God made the butterflies He dressed them in gorgeous colors but when He made the elephant He gave him a coat of neutral gray."

Gay colors stand out—one looks the second and third time. The silhouette is noticeable and, in the case of some advancing colors, it appears larger than it really is. This is all right if you happen to be a "butterfly." But the lady in the green dress was not, by any stretch of the imagination, a butterfly, and she showed lack of good taste in selecting such a costume.

Colors are delightful this fall and the darker the green, or wine, or brown you choose, the smarter you will be. Black is better than ever before. The report of a large silk house shows that sales of black outnumber sales of all other colors put together.

Short skirts still are noticeable. There was an excuse for them last fall when the longer skirts unexpectedly came into vogue, but after a year it does seem as though hems should come well down on the calf. A woman with any ingenuity should be able to "let down" and bring up-to-date last season's dresses. How this may be done was explained in one of my articles of a few weeks ago. If you make your own clothes you have the advantage of left-over pieces, and you need not go to the expense of having the work done.

Harmony To Install

sugar, and 2 beaten yolks. Stir well. Pour into a buttered baking dish and cover with a meringue made of 2 egg whites, beaten stiff, into which have been folded 4 tablespoons of sugar. Spread lightly over the apple mixture and bake in a moderately hot oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve cold.

Baked apples and sweet potatoes are especially tasty served with ham. Slice 4 tart apples and take 3 cups of sliced cooked sweet potato. Butter a baking dish and arrange in it alternate layers of sliced apple and cooked sweet potato. Sprinkle each layer with sugar and dot with butter. Bake 30 minutes or until the apples are done. Serve hot.

To make apple rings with sausage, wash and core 5 tart apples, and then slice them in rings one-half inch thick. Make a syrup of 1 cupful of water and one-quarter cupful of sugar. Cook the apples in the syrup, being careful to keep the rings whole. Shape the sausage into flat cakes and cook in a hot frying pan. Drain the apples and arrange around the sausage in the center of the platter.

Fruit Soups Are Refreshing

By JOSEPH BOGGIA, Chef

Chef Boggia

In the eyes of thousands who have been brought up in the sound old traditions of American cooking, a dinner without soup is no dinner at all. Summer and winter, whether the mercury hovers in the eighties or the twenties, they demand their soup and refuse to be satisfied without it. They are rapidly learning to demand a cold soup in summer and a hot soup in winter, but one and all demand their soup.

Jellied bouillon and consommés are, of course, the familiar types of cold soups, but there is no reason why we should be restricted to these. In Norway, Germany and many other countries of Europe, cold fruit soups are widely enjoyed for their delicacy of flavor and refreshing qualities. There seems to be no good reason why we in this country should not seize the opportunity to add variety to this part of our menu.

Iced Fruit Soup—Mix and let stand in the refrigerator overnight. one cup orange juice, three-fourths cup grapefruit juice, five cloves and a two-inch strip of cinnamon. Bring to the boiling point one cup of the syrup drained from a can of raspberries. Add a teaspoon of cornstarch mixed with cold water. Cook three minutes and add one-fourth cup sugar and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Add fruit juices, strain and place in refrigerator until very cold. Serve with shaved ice.

Grape Soup—Add one-half cup sugar to a half-pint of water and simmer until clear. Add one pint of juice pressed from ripe grapes, and the juice of one-half lemon. Add a half tablespoon of softened tapioca and again simmer until clear. Keep in refrigerator until very cold and serve with shaved ice.

Raspberry Soup—Let stand for one hour, one quart of mashed raspberries thoroughly mixed with one-half pound of sugar. Press through sieve. Heat slowly, stirring all the time. When boiling point is reached add one tablespoon cornstarch dissolved in cold water. When clear and smooth, add one-fourth cup non-alcoholic sherry. Remove and keep in refrigerator until well chilled. Serve with shaved ice.

Coat Dress Figures Prominently In Smart Autumn Wardrobes

So important is the frock that one can wear without a coat on the first Autumn days that Paris is turning her attention to the creation of special designs for this purpose. These designs incorporate the newest feminine ideas in their smartly tailored lines in an irresistible fashion. The model illustrated conveys the impression of completeness that is so essential to the successful coat frock; it appears to excellent advantage in indoor as well as street surroundings. It is fashioned of one of the new interestingly woven wools in a rich dark green with flattering touches of white at the neckline and sleeves. A black felt hat, black suede bag and black suede opera pumps with the built-up leather heel complete the fashionable effect of this costume.

KNOW YOUR CHILD

SHE QUESTIONS EVERY COMMAND

By EDITH D. DIXON,
Extension Service,
N. J. College of Agriculture.

"Everytime I tell my child to do something she asks—why? Is it necessary for me to tell her why?" questions a worried mother.

No, it is not necessary to give the child the reason for everything you ask her to do. There are things that children should learn to do without question. Those things, however, pertain to daily routine habits such as dressing, eating, and sleeping. Why do I have to go to bed? why must I eat these vegetables? are not appropriate questions. Children should have regular bed times and should learn to eat what is put before them. When they are conforming to a routine, they are obeying the laws of health and that is the duty of every person large or small.

But a child cannot be expected to conform in this fashion to all requests. If he did he would be no more intelligent than a trained animal. The parent who says, "You do this because I say so," or, "Now, don't argue, mother knows best," can expect resistance if the child has any initiative or spirit at all. Such parents usually do not discuss plans with the child. They even feel that it is undesirable to permit the child to share in making decisions. The only means that the child has of asserting himself is by questioning the parent's procedure. This questioning, to such a parent, is exceedingly annoying. When the child realizes that he can be thus annoying, he is tempted to continue, since it gives him a certain sense of power and control over the situation. How much wiser it would be if the parent would anticipate this possibility by giving the reason with the command, "Now this morning you are going to the store right after breakfast for some butter so that I can get this cake made before 10 o'clock." The child then has no occasion for asking a question.

The child then has no occasion for asking a question.

But a child cannot be expected to conform in this fashion to all requests. If he did he would be no more intelligent than a trained animal. The parent who says, "You do this because I say so," or, "Now, don't argue, mother knows best," can expect resistance if the child has any initiative or spirit at all. Such parents usually do not discuss plans with the child. They even feel that it is undesirable to permit the child to share in making decisions. The only means that the child has of asserting himself is by questioning the parent's procedure. This questioning, to such a parent, is exceedingly annoying. When the child realizes that he can be thus annoying, he is tempted to continue, since it gives him a certain sense of power and control over the situation. How much wiser it would be if the parent would anticipate this possibility by giving the reason with the command, "Now this morning you are going to the store right after breakfast for some butter so that I can get this cake made before 10 o'clock." The child then has no occasion for asking a question.
