Ice Depot Plan Gets Skids Under It

Ordinance To Obtain Site For Playground Passed By Board

A move to thwart construction of an ice depot, for which a building permit has been issued at William and Clinton street, was made Tuesday night by the Town Commission. It passed on first reading an ordinance authorizing acquisition of the property for playground purposes. The appropriation was $1,500. A similar amount was designated in an Ordinance providing for rounding the corner at the intersection.

The playground ordinance was based on a petition of residents, filed with the board last year, requesting a playground in the section.

The move made Marinus DeJonge, ice distributor from the Erie Railroad's North Newark yards, who attended the meeting, uncertain whether he would press the suit he threatened Saturday because the commissioners ordered police to halt construction. He said he would confer with his attorney, Donald B. Munsick of Newark. The ordinance will come up for hearing in two weeks.

Work on the ice depot was stopped after the board's interpretation of the proposition as an industry rather than a business, which would be permissible in the zone. This interpretation DeJonge stated Saturday he was prepared to fight in court.

The playground ordinance stated the property should be acquired "if not by purchase, then by condemnation." DeJonge said he paid $2,500 for it last spring to an agent who acquired it by paying off town tax liens.

The Board of Trade of Belleville invited the women of our town to meet with them, on the evening of November 24, 1916, to listen to talks given by Miss Josephine Davis and Mrs. A. V. Beeken of Bloomfield and Mrs. George G. Philhower of Nutley regarding the work being done in our neighboring town by their Town Improvement Association. ANENT CLINIC

EDITOR NEWS:
May I be allowed to express my opinion on the Dental Clinic to be forced upon the Board of Education. Why must the expense for all these health improvements be borne of the Board of Education? The heaviest part of the smallpox inoculation is paid by them. The cost of the Dental Clinic is practically saddled on them in full. The Board of Health's annual report is full of the benefit from these activities, but it does not mention that the Board of Education pays the freight. Next will be the eye, the ear, the throat and feet clinics.

Why does not the Board of Health ask the cost of these improvements from our town authorities so that the taxpayers know what their money is spent for, and not camouflage it under school funds. Those things are certainly not educational; they absolutely belong under the health classification.

Why you may as well put the recreation activities under school management, and add its cost to the cost of Education; we might as well relieve the town authorities of this also, and let them brag about how cheap they can run the town, and let the Board of Education be the goat.

All these improvements are absolutely highly beneficial. I favor them as eventually they will be the stepping stone for a local hospital. But let each department take care of its own functions.

Thank you, I am very respectful,
PAUL J. H. HOLLBERG

He says he is going to watch Santa to leave it, for he is afraid at the mice might drag it away.

Christmas has its heart aches as well as its joys. Every year, one has to buy automobile license plates around this time, and what a headache that is. Then there is the mail man, the policeman, the janitor, and a score of other people to whom you must give presents.

It finally concludes, that we forget the ones who are most deserving of a token of some sort, and inevitably those same persons give us a present, that we never expected.

How are we to know just what to give some people for Christmas? especially one who has everything? Some little woman who does the correct thing at the correct time, or at least thinks she does, gives us a hand-made tooth pick holder, built in the lines of King Henry the 8th's period, and makes a long about it. It is of no utter to anybody, so in turn we give to the ice man and tell him it is Chinese ash try. He in turn gives to his kids who take one look at seeing it of no use, heave it into garbage can.

So much money seems to be spent in trash. If people would only give a new ten strainer a garbage can, a new shovel for the furnace, an electric light bulb for the cellar, a dog collar for "Fido," a fifty pound bag of sugar, or a punch on the nose, we would then feel that they are our friends.

We know a great many people who would appreciate other gifts such as being twenty years younger, a new set of bridge work, a new pair of kidneys, a "five buck" raise in pay each week, a nice big roast of beef, a fifty pound turkey or a bowl of the assessments caught up od health and peace of mind got any gift in this man's life beaten by a mile. We hope everybody gets an abundance of these two things.

Be fair and square with the other fellow, drop the grievances you may have against him or her, and if they of the right metal, they will re- you with open arms.

There is something sad and sentimental about yuletide; it is that every year. The present depression makes it seem worse, but what a lot of worrying going to get any us? We have to go through with indications as pointed out by those who know, state that the worst of the depression is over.

Now passing through the reconstruction. Times are up slowly all over the country to reports.

Again this year Public Service commercial offices all over the state will be attractively decorated in holiday attire to celebrate the Christmas and New Year season. Decoration will include wreaths, Christmas trees, streamers, candles and stars, all brilliantly illuminated after night by thousands of many colored electric lamps.

Public Service Coordinated Transport will also celebrate the holiday season by placing Christmas trees outside of its carhouses and garages. These trees will be illuminated by colored lights.

An unusual feature will be added to the decorations on Public Service Terminal, Newark. This will consist of a sound reproducing and amplifying device which will play Christmas carols, chimes and other music during the early evenings of Christmas week.

Decoration of the Terminal Building will be featured by a huge silver star fifteen feet high set in a background formed by a radiant cross of carefully blended colored lights. Above the star and extending across the entire building front in illuminated red letters six feet high will be the words "Season's Greetings."

Across the top of the building a huge garland studded with green lamps and carrying eight huge red Christmas bells, will be placed. Red lamps will be mounted inside of each bell so it will glow at night.

Three colored paintings depicting carol singers, the Three Wise Men, and Bringing in the Yule Log, will be mounted in the large bays at the base of the building. Brilliant lights will illuminate these paintings at night.

At the extreme ends of the building front will be two modernistic Christmas trees containing many colored electric lamps. Huge candles will also rise in steps above the second floor cornice.

Other offices to be decorated are Orange, Montclair, Summit, Morris-town, Elizabeth, New Brunswick, Rahway, Paterson, Passaic, Rutherford, Ridgewood, Perth Amboy, South Amboy, Princeton, West New York, Englewood, Plainfield, Hackensack, Somerville, Bound Brook, Hoboken, Westfield, Pompton Lakes, Burlington, Jersey City, Bayonne, Camden and Trenton.

Patterson, Iron Man, Buzz Saws His Way To Three More Wins

Sammy Warner's young protege, Eddie Patterson, hard hitting little buzz saw, has three more knock-outs to his credit. Warner's man has scored seventeen straight knock-outs.

Thursday night Patterson knocked out Johnny Martin of Jersey City in the second round at the Anchor A. C., Jersey City. Patterson took the fight on seven hours' notice. Martin weighed 123; Patterson, 118.

Patterson then fought at the Monticello Club of New York and knocked out Meyer Cohen in the third round. Patterson's terrific left hook was to much for Cohen's jaw. Patterson floored Cohen in the first for the count of 9. The third round Cohen took the long count. Cohen weighed 122; Patterson, 120.

Monday night Patterson fought a sensational battle at the Fort Erie Club of New York with Johnny Kid Alberts, who once held the bantam-weight championship of Canada. For three rounds Alberts proved too much for Patterson. He had Patterson on the floor three times but couldn't keep the game young lad down.

The fourth round Patterson met Alberts with a terrific left hook that sent Alberts half way out of the ring. Patterson was on top of Alberts with that lightning jab and terrific cross that cut Alberts over his left eye. The fifth round Patterson slugged away at Albert's eye, that had it in a bad fix. The referee stopped the fight and awarded the decision to Patterson on a technical knock-out. Alberts weighed 122; Patterson, 121. Harry Smith, Bruce Flowers, Nick Palmer, Eddie Reed, John Datta and the Girls' Club of Harlem were around the ring side. Warner has eight more fights for Patterson this month.

P. S. Has Installed Industrial Bureau

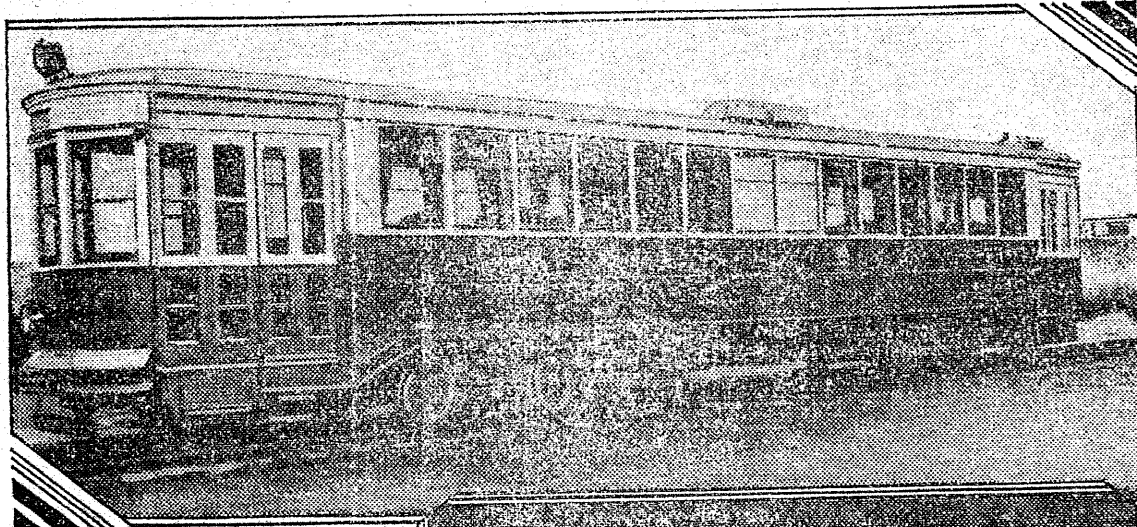

To cooperate with various Chambers of Commerce, other civic organizations and realtors, Public Service Electric and Gas Company has installed an industrial Bureau which encourages industries to locate in New Jersey.

This Industrial Bureau is equipped to make exhaustive surveys of operating costs, labor conditions, markets, sources of raw materials and transportation facilities for the assistance of industrial enterprises.

To industries which desire to establish branch factories within the state, relocate their present factories or select a suitable site for new enterprises, this Bureau furnishes complete information as to the best location from every economic standpoint.

The Department's facilities have already been utilized to advantage by industries in the electro-chemical, paper box, radio, paint and varnish manufacturing industries.

First Gas-Electric Street Car Ever Operated Put Into Regular Service In Central New Jersey

HERE is the first gas-electric street car! Although driven by electricity it operates without the use of overhead wires or a third rail. Entirely self-propelled, its power is derived from two 150 horsepower gasoline engines, placed in the center of the car, each directly connected to an electric generator. When the operator opens the throttle, electricity is generated in the same manner as in a gas-electric motor bus. The current is applied to two electric motors directly connected to the car's wheels, and the vehicle is set in motion.

The car is an original design of Public Service engineers and was built in the company's Newark Shops. It is the first of three to be put into service on the company's "Fast Line" between Elizabeth and New Brunswick and began operation on December 7. With these self-propelled vehicles in operation it will be possible to take down several miles of overhead trolley wires and poles with a resulting saving in operating costs.

Luxurious equipment features the car's interior. Thirty-two individual type seats upholstered in an attractively decorated velure and equipped with unusually soft cushions and comfortable springs have been installed, with individual lights above each seat. An interesting feature of these seats is that, although single-ended, by means of an ingenious new mechanical device they can be completely swung around whenever the car reaches the end of the line. The interior woodwork has been given a mahogany finish.

Quiet operation is another attractive feature of this gas-electric car.

The trucks are mounted on ball bearings which, with a newly designed worm gear drive, has reduced operating noises to a minimum.

The gasoline engines for the car were built by the General Motors Truck Company, the electric equipment was supplied by the General Electric Company and the car trucks were built by the J. G. Brill Company.

Women Enjoyed District Conference Held In Glen Ridge

ard L. Ridgeway, Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. J. G. Hammer.

Mrs. Cyphers was named to arrange for the holding of meetings in the Town Hall. The secretary was instructed to send notices to the churches of the town, also to the Belleville paper, of a formal organization meeting to be held December 4, 1916, at 3 o'clock.

The Belleville Woman's Club will hold their annual Christmas party at the club house, 51 Rossmore place, the afternoon of December 15, at 2:30. Any person bringing a gift suitable for a child or one for a soldier living at the Soldiers' Home in Kearny will be welcome. It has been suggested that this year a can of vegetables or fruit be brought also, so that those less fortunate than ourselves might enjoy a Christmas dinner a little more through our efforts.

At this party the Drama Department will present a play. Mrs. Harold Nelson is chairman of that department and has selected the short play entitled "Aunt Women Wonderful," by Herbert P. Powell and the cast includes Mrs. A. Fitzherbert, Mrs. James Thetford, Mrs. Herbert Hardman, Mrs. R. H. Smith, and Mrs. Nelson.

Refreshments will be served by the members of the Board of Directors.

Whitfield, president of the club, Mrs. James Thetford, chairman of International Relations Department presented Mrs. W. H. Ihde, who has lived in Japan for quite a few years and has travelled in most every country in the world. Mrs. Ihde took as her topic "Seeing the World Through Eyes of Love" and took the members on an imaginary trip through Japan, China, India, Germany and France, explaining the various customs, religions and songs. The speaker made the afternoon so very enjoyable by playing and singing a song from almost every country she mentioned. Mrs. Ihde also had some beautiful Japanese work on exhibition, orders for which can be filled within four months.

Refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Dudley Drake, who was assisted by Mrs. Russell Sargeant, Mrs. T. C. Stewart, Mrs. R. M. Beck, Mrs. R. J. Stephens, Mrs. J. B. Brown, Mrs. Watson Current and Mrs. L. A. Noll.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

from the BOSTON STORE

THE LARGEST STORE BETWEEN NEWARK AND PASSAIC

(AN EDITORIAL)

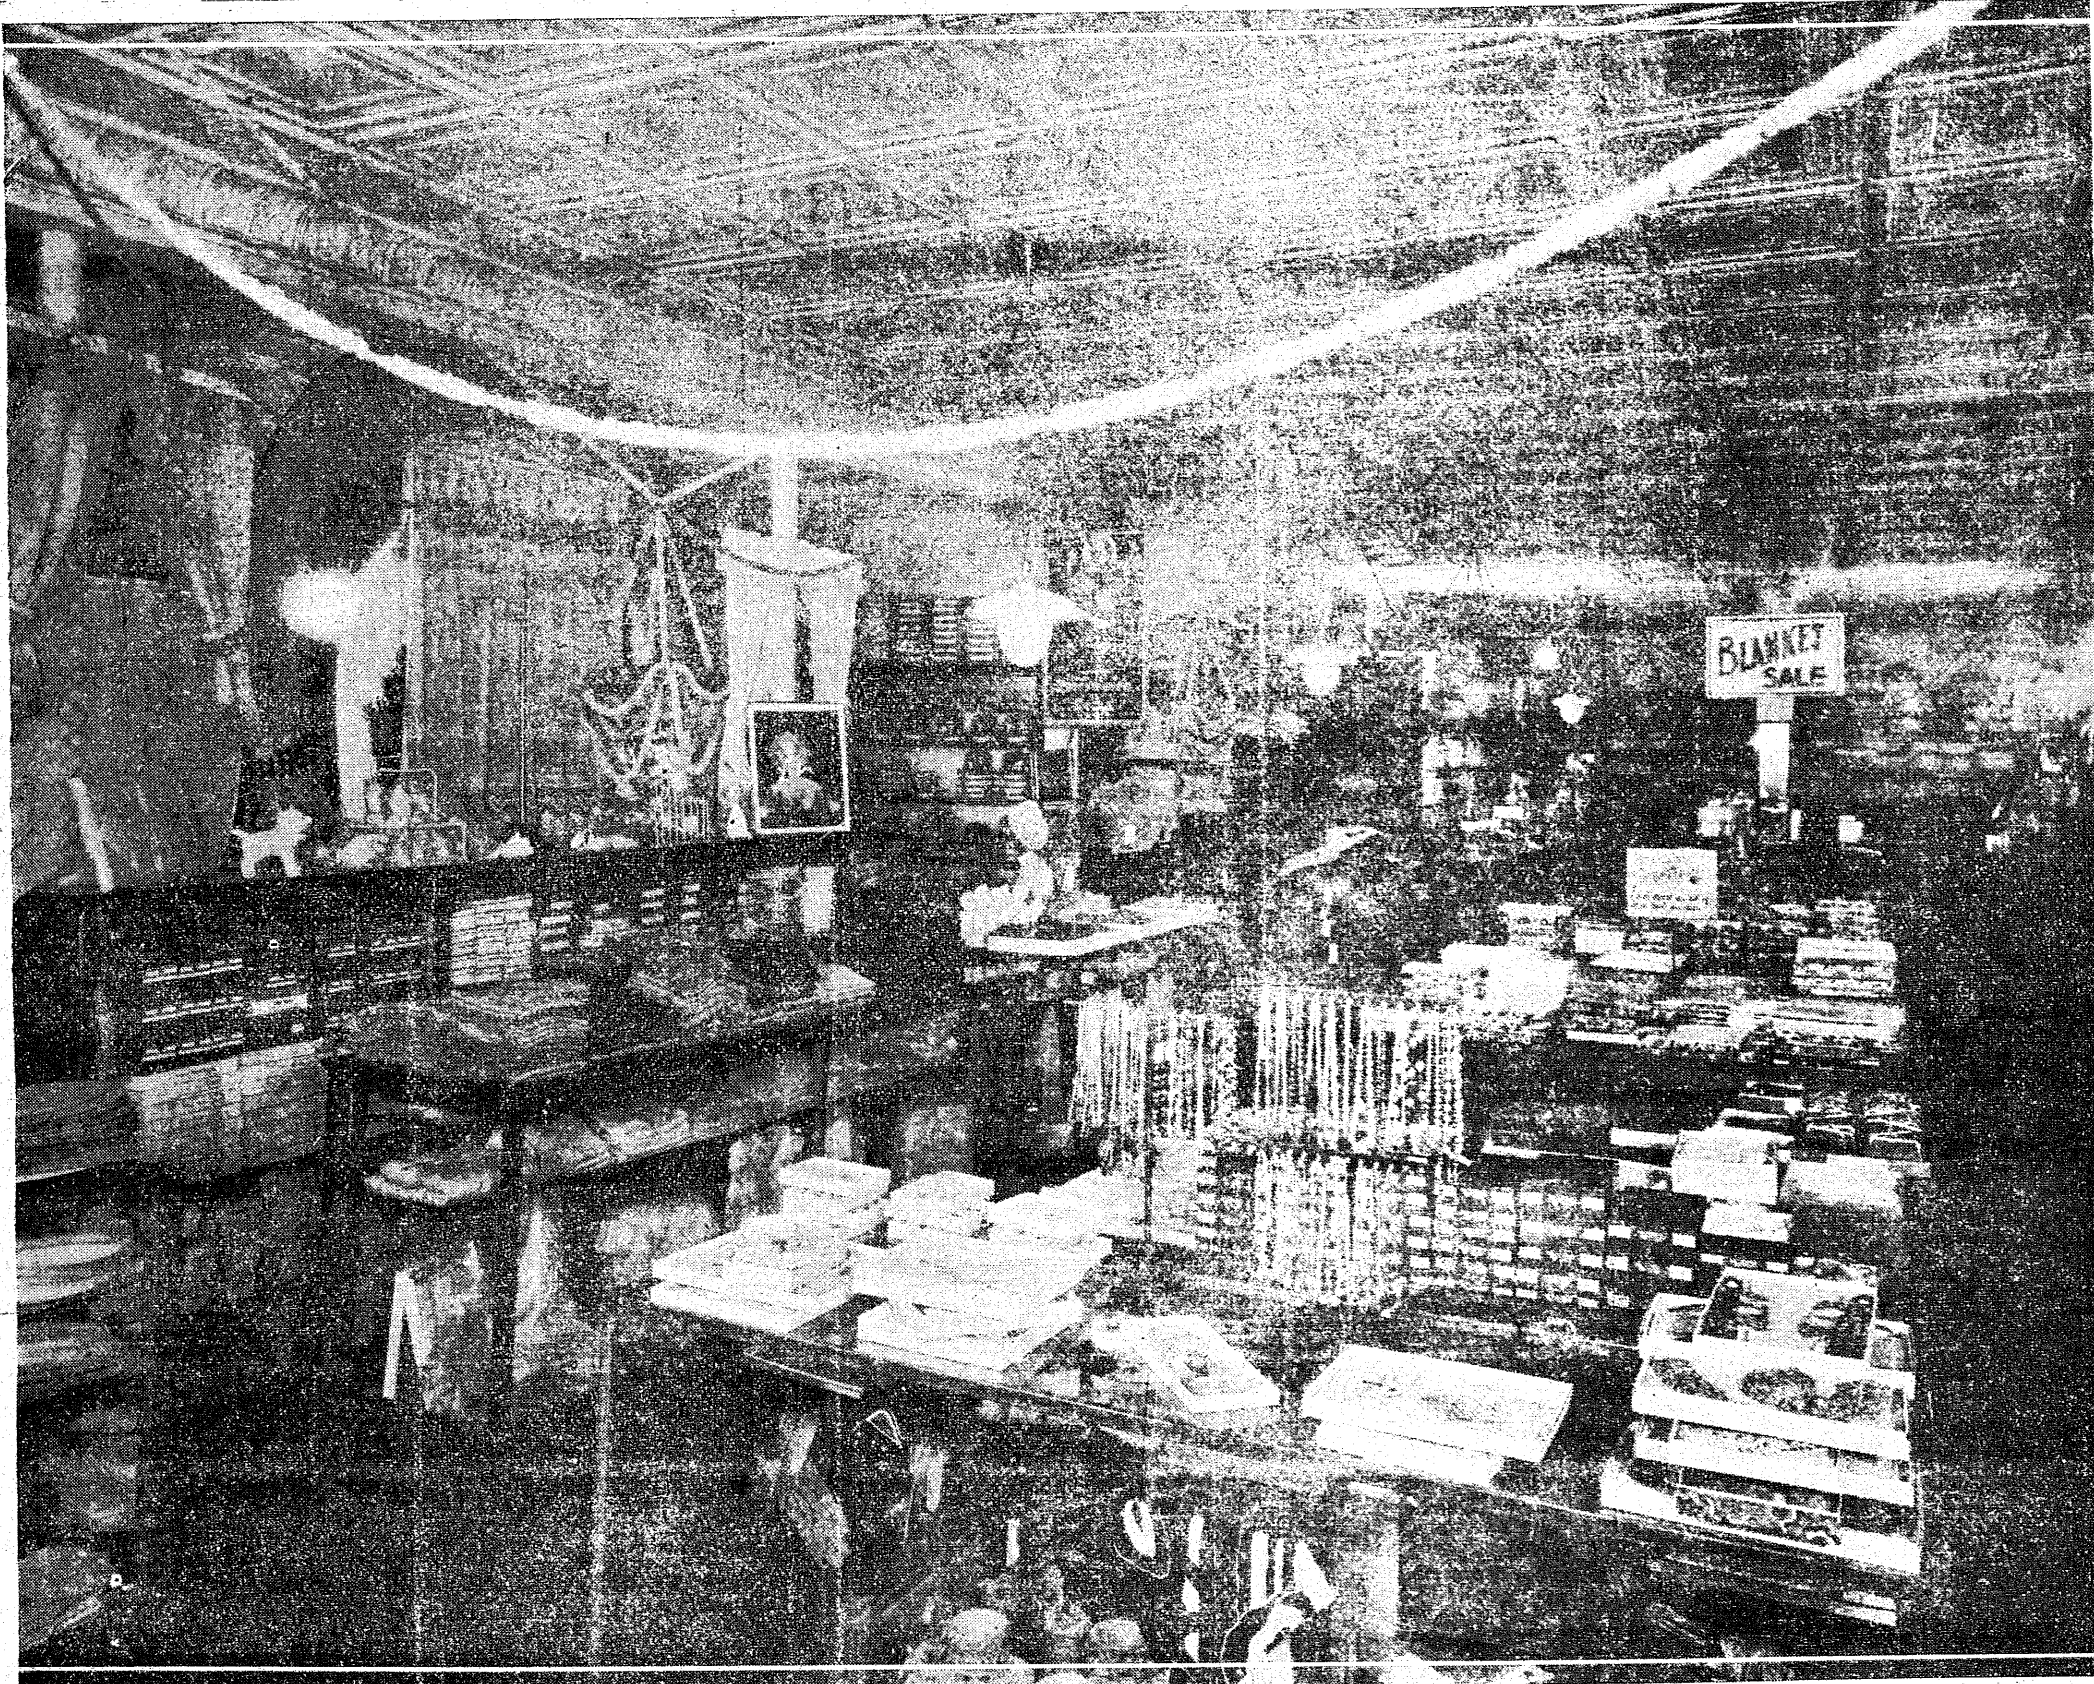

By A. ATKINS

A campaign which has for its purpose influencing the people to "buy now" in order to promote prosperity, is going on all-over the country. It is based on the theory that although the prices of a great many things the people customarily buy at this time of year are low, there appears to be a fear on the part of some that their jobs are likely to be taken away from them and that they will later need all their money to supply them with necessities, and so they are refraining from purchasing many things which they want.

This general effort to remove this fear from the minds of the people is having a good effect and more buying is now going on with the result that business is improving, some manufacturers whose plants have been idle or running on reduced schedules are now getting more orders for their products and unemployment is being steadily reduced.

But coupled with the campaign, so far as Belleville is concerned, is the thought to influence our people to patronize their own merchants rather than those in the cities nearby.

As a general thing the goods which the local merchants offer for sale are priced no higher than are those which are being offered by merchants in the big cities. The local merchants do not have the heavy overhead to carry that those in the cities are confronted with. Their rents are lower; their advertising expense is much less and their cost of business is far below that of the big city merchants.

Somehow, many people get the impression that the merchants in the big cities are offering great bargains, and that the purchaser's dollar will go farther if it is spent in Newark, Passaic, Paterson or New York than it will if it is spent at home. A comparison of prices and values will prove to anyone who takes the pains to study the question that the best market in which to spend the individual's dollar is home.

Moreover, local merchants are spending a considerable part of the money they receive in their communities. They are helping to support the institutions which take care of the poor and unfortunate. It is decidedly unfair to overlook their goods when purchases when their values are fully as good, and frequently better in every way than the offerings in the big cities.

At least, the local merchant is entitled to a chance to convince prospective buyers that they can get as well by them as can elsewhere. By buying, Belleville people give Belleville merchants some consideration. In these times of economic depression, it is incumbent upon the citizens of our community to help make business point to keep our money at home so far as we are able to do so, and be helping ourselves during this temporary depression, with the result that we may not be far away from more buying in any other season of the year. These are things Belleville people should keep in mind.

FITZSIMMONS, ABLE AND FEARLESS

When the town commission re-appointed Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons it did itself proud. Recorder Fitzsimmons, to our mind, has no peer among recorders any where in the state, so far as putting a stamp on crime is concerned. In fact we doubt if he has a peer anywhere in the matter of fearlessness, justice and clear thinking in court affairs.

Mr. Fitzsimmons is not a lawyer by profession but his knowledge of law would shame some professionals whom we know.

Many a matter of ill in the town has been carefully handled by the recorder, he has adjusted many family disputes, he has spent untold hours of his own time in behalf of the town. He is alert and on the job, and the commissioners have made no mistake in re-appointing him, and judging from past performances his next term of office should prove a thorn in the side of those who go contrary to law and order.

PENMANSHIP

The old-fashioned "penmanship" of our childhood is passing out of the picture, according to a survey by the Federal Bureau of Education. The beautiful, well-rounded Spencerian handwriting, with an occasional flourish added for good measure, will soon become a thing of the past. Statistics from 15 States show that only 5 per cent of school instruction time is given up to writing. At that the once admired hand is passing. Scholars are not required to write all alike, but are allowed a little play for individuality.

Do we not remember the writing book of other days, oblong in shape and paper covered? At the top of each primly ruled page was some such motto as "Evil Communications Corrupt Good Manners," which had to be copied in the style in which it was written 24 times or so. They don't do that now. Good handwriting is plain and legible and reflects something of the character of the writer. Who shall say that this is not the better way?

INSTALMENT FAILURES

It may be recalled that several years ago when instalment buying, especially of automobiles, first assumed very large proportions there were all sorts of dire prophecies when the first depression came along. The payments would not or could not be made, it was claimed, hundreds of thousands would be ruined and dealers everywhere would be overwhelmed with repossessed machines.

Now the depression has come and it has been more severe than the most pessimistic anticipated. But, what of the instalment failures?

During the first six months of 1930 the four largest financing companies in the United States report the amount of repossessions did increase over the first half of 1929. But overdue notes on June 30 amounted to $1,616,000 or less than one-third of one per cent of the total of $538,040,000 outstanding. In the corresponding date in 1929 there were overdue notes amounting to $1,094,000 on a total of $539,575,000.

Of course, the depression caused some increase in failures to pay, but compared with the volume of business these failures are insignificant.

IS FOOTBALL A "RACKET?"

Respect increases for the views of President Day of Union College and others who have voiced adverse opinions to huge arctic spectacles in the name of college football after the findings of the University of Pennsylvania's alumni report which calls the game a "racket."

College football—and this applies the more to large institutions, we suppose—"is no longer the player's game," the report says, "but it is a struggle between sagacious and clever coaches, a match between press-agented systems."

Danger of professionalism, that is the direct or indirect remuneration of athletic students who are subsidized by colleges, is less a menace, this report finds, than the danger of handing a whole institution over to a football coach whose personal fortune depends upon the winning prowess of the team. The interest of alumni in winning teams is conceded to be less than used to be represented. Furthermore, a study of recent college enrollments by a football authority shows that the popularity and size of colleges are not effected by the number of touchdowns their respective teams make. Yearly accessions of freshmen do not vary in direct proportion to the winning streaks of the teams.

A large share of this, of course, may be due to the faculty of the average college which gradually, we hope, is retrieving control of the situation to the point at which it determines the size and quality of the student body, and not the football coach. Colleges suffered, we fancy, from the inundation of thousands of youths who labored under the idea that the road to success lay through a college degree and prowess at football. When alumni themselves begin to show signs of sanity, when they resent having "rackets" fastened to their alma mater, when scholarship reasserts itself, there will be restored a sense of values and a sense of proportion that have been obscured for a decade.

A NEW USE FOR PINE

The discovery that newsprint pulp can be made from slash pine the product of the flatwoods and the swamps of Georgia and other South-eastern states, instead of meaning that the naval stores business is likely to be hurt, probably will be a boon to these producers of turpentine and rosin. Making paper pulp from pine will give these timberland owners a diversified market, and every farmer knows how helpful it is to have more than one set of buyers bidding for his crop.

Once 5,000,000 acres of forest area in Georgia alone were covered with pine. The pioneers used what they needed and cut down and burned up great piles of trees in order to get the needed land for crops. Cattle feeders for years have burned the woods in order to get a stand of grass. Lumbermen did their part in denuding the flatwoods. Turpentine operators then came in and gashed trees of all sizes—gashed them recklessly and deep. Soon the pine was about gone.

Under a system of reforestation, established by the Georgia Forest Service and aided by the Federal Government, almost a million acres are under fire protection, protected from cattle by law compelling fencing, and encouraged by education against burning and the more advanced methods of turpentine and lumbermen.

If naval stores are low in price, crops of pine can be cut for pulp or for saw timber, since a system of rotation has been put into effect by timberland owners. Under favorable conditions, saplings can attain a diameter of five inches and a height of 12 or 15 feet in seven or eight years.

ALL STATES NEWS

POLITICS AND PERSONALITIES

If an extra session of Congress is averted, it will probably amaze every congressional leader who is now declaring that an extra session is unthinkable. Consider the situation. Within approximately ten weeks, this Congress must dispose of pending measures involving such controversial matters as labor injunction, power regulation, and unemployment relief. It must pass appropriation bills, consider and take action on at least a half-dozen congressional investigations, confirm numerous executive appointments, debate the plan for United States adherence to the World Court, and delve into hundreds of incidental subjects.

The situation would be less acute if Congress hadn't come together with the order or gunpowder from the November 4 battlefields still in its nostrils. It would also be less acute if practically every piece of proposed legislation didn't offer glorious opportunities for political jockeying. Some debate will undoubtedly precede the confirmation or rejection of William Doak as Secretary of Labor; of Eugene Meyer, Jr., as governor of the Federal Reserve Board; of Henry P. Fletcher as Chairman of the Tariff Commission; and of various appointments to the Federal Power Commission. Think of the probable uproar that Congressman Hamilton Fish's discovery of a "Red menace" in America will evoke. And imagine the tongue-wagging that the very mention of prohibition will call forth.

Then consider the hours that will be consumed by our congressional playboys, blusterers and demagogues who have nothing to say but who must say it notwithstanding. This session of Congress promises to be the fullest and most interesting in many years. But we predict that it will not be the last one to meet before December, 1931.

BIRD'S-EYE-ING ANCIENT CITIES

To pry from the mountain-locked land behind the Peruvian Andes secrets that have remained hidden for centuries is the purpose of five young American explorers who departed in planes for Peru on December 5. These secrets of archeological, geographic and geological importance they plan to unearth by camera from the air. Heading the expedition is George R. Johnson, fellow of the American Geographical Society and chief photographer of the Peruvian Naval Air Service. His partner is Robert Shippee, geologist, historian and second pilot.

Two monoplanes, the "Washington" and the "Lima" are carrying the explorers. The planes were christened by Senora Juan Mendoza, wife of the Secretary of the Peruvian Embassy, at a ceremony at Bolling Field, near Washington, attended by Senor Manuel de Freyre Santander, the Peruvian ambassador, and officials of the State, War and Navy Departments. There were also present officials of the American Geographical and Harvard Geological Societies which are cooperating in the expedition.

REMEMBERING OUR FRENCH FOREFATHERS

Founded four years ago to further friendship between the United States and France, L'Institute Francaise de Washington was recently awarded a diploma by the famous French Academy in recognition of the organization's outstanding services. The award was specifically given for the Institute's series of publications bearing on contributions made by the French race to early American civilization. It was officially presented by M. Andre Chevrillon, member of the French Academy at the Institute's fifth annual meeting. General John Pershing, honorary President of the organization, Ambassador Paul Claudel of France, and numerous diplomats, officials and social leaders witnessed the ceremony.

Special decorations of the French Legion of Honor were given by Ambassador Claudel, on behalf of the French government, to Dr. James Brown Scott, President of the Institute, and Reverend Jules Haimee, Secretary, for their work in promoting friendly and intellectual relations between France and this country. Dr. Scott was made a commander of the Legion and Father Baisnee was made a chevalier.

L'Institute Francaise is giving special attention to the history of Louisiana, the St. Lawrence, Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and to the history of the Huguenot refugees who settled in New England, New York, Virginia and the Carolinas. One of the recent publications of the society contains much hitherto unpublished material on Major L'Enfant, whose architectural plans for the city of Washington are now being carried out as far as possible.

BOOKS AND CHILD WELFARE

That "civilized man cannot live without books" is more poetry than truth seems evident from a report of the recent White House Conference on Child Welfare which states that the average American buys only two books a year. This "average American" spends more on greeting cards than on books, according to the Conference estimates.

It is true that we read more books than we buy. However, public library facilities fail to reach 54,000,000 people, of whom 20,000,000 are children. The small circulation of both books and children among adolescents is most striking. Only nine percent of the 10,187 new titles or editions of books published last year were for children, although this represents a marked increase during the past ten years. Fourteen magazines with a total circulation of 2,094,578 for boys and girls are published.

Town and county units are helping to establish library facilities in rural areas. In 37 states, books are distributed by mail from central libraries, and in some areas the automobile is used as a "library on wheels."

WIRES AROUND THE WORLD

When an American telephone company recently made arrangements to establish radio telephone communications between this country and Hawaii, another chapter was added to the romantic story of international communications as they have developed during the past ten years.

The North and South American continents were first brought into radio telephonic communication on a two-way circuit in April, 1930. This circuit covered 6,000 miles, linking almost 300,000 telephones in Argentina, Chile and Uruguay with more than 21,500,000 phones in the United States, Canada, Cuba and Mexico. Messages travel by radio to Buenos Aires and are then transmitted by land lanes to the other South American countries. There are now four two-way circuits operated between New York and London and a fifth circuit is in preparation, as well as a submarine telephone cable.

Through radio telegraphy, the United States is connected with 45 to 50 countries by direct air channels. Thirteen go from New York to points in Europe and Asia, one crosses the South Atlantic to Africa, and seventeen circuits link the United States with South and Central American countries. Six run across the Pacific to the Far East and numerous shorter ones connect San Francisco and Honolulu.

Today, the Atlantic Ocean is spanned by 21 cables, the Pacific by three, the Indian Ocean by eight, and the Caribbean by three. Complicated networks run back and forth across the Mediterranean and the Red Sea.

UNCLE SAM'S XMAS LIST

If you don't know what to give Aunt Mary or Uncle John for Christmas, consult the Department of Commerce at Washington. A booklet entitled, "It's a Gift," issued by the textile division of the Department suggests about 200 articles that will appropriately fit into Christmas stockings. Although all the proposed gifts derive from the textile world, a remarkable variety characterizes the list. Included in the suggestions are powder puffs, ensemble bathroom sets, gift boxes of bed sheets, flat tents and duffle bags.

The booklet, which was compiled at the direction of Congress to find new uses for cotton, suggests that more homely necessities should not be used as Christmas gifts but should instead, be purchased from time to time as needed. By this method, the department states "the joy and spirit of Christmas will be measurably increased and perhaps, more important, shared with those who so sorely need the employment which general buying of necessities assures."

JUST ANOTHER NATIONAL PROBLEM

Vigorous demonstrations of state pride are being staged by state representatives in regard to naming an avenue that will be cut as part of the Capitol building program. Two thoroughfares, Ohio avenue and Maine avenue, must be abolished to make way for this one new street. Ohio representatives think "Ohio avenue" would be the correct designation. Maine representatives hold that "Maine avenue" would be more fitting.

To complicate matters, Senators Broussard and Ransdell, both of Louisiana, contend that the new avenue should be named for the Pelican State since the existing Louisiana avenue is being cut to two blocks. California has jumped into the fray with a demand that the street bear the Golden State's name. However, there is already a California avenue, and it isn't likely that even the name of the President's state will grace two thoroughfares in the same city.

Another suggestion is to call the street by some general name like "Memorial Avenue" or "Columbus Avenue." The decision is up to the commission on enlarging the Capitol grounds, which includes Vice President Curtis (chairman), Speaker of the House Nicholas Longworth, and numerous House and Senate members, and Capitol Architect David Lynn. Mr. Lynn, unburdened by the duty of representing any state, will probably be the deciding influence.

Joke

An old farmer couldn't believe that people miles apart could converse by telephone. One day his ill-tempered wife went to visit a distant relative. That afternoon the farmer sought shelter at a neighbor's house from a sudden thunderstorm. This neighbor, who possessed a phone, persuaded the farmer to call up his wife as a little surprise.

Following instructions the farmer put the receiver to his ear and, after the usual preliminaries, shouted: "Halloe, Jane!"

Just then a flash of lightning struck the wire and the farmer was thrown to the floor by the shock. Rising to his feet and shaking his head wisely he remarked: "It's wonderful! That was Jane right enough!"

"Poor old Bill fell off the roof of the Second National Bank Building a couple of hours ago."

"Heavens! Was he killed?" "Well, I don't know, but I heard the insurance company handed him his check as he passed the seventeenth floor."

The telephone dozing in church. As the minister exhorted: "Call on Heaven with trouble, brethren, call on 'Drop our nickel, please, my advice, the young lady who is not full grown."

"I'd like a bite to eat, mum," the tram to the lady of the house. "Just sit down, my dear, and said the kindly old soul, 'and you eat a small chicken today?'"

"I sure could, mum."

"And what would you do with it," asked the lady of the house.

"Please, mum, I would stuffed with another chicken, answered the knight of the road."

She: "When I married I thought you were a brave man."

He: "So did everybody else."

"I lost my wife while on the in Florida."

"My poor man, was she carried away by a wave?"

"No, a life guard."

Hill-Top Listens To Debate

At a regular meeting held December 4, at Recreation House, members of the Hill-Top Improvement Association considered many questions which are important to the community. The delay in placing a dead end street marker at the northern end of Perry street was again criticized. If this delay is prolonged an accident will occur at the southern end, it was declared.

Mr. Thornton is completing arrangements to have present at the January 15 meeting, Frank Morton of East Orange. He shall speak on the topic, "General Community Welfare."

The members listened to a debate on "Is Prohibition Beneficial to Mankind?" Thaddeus Thornton, was captain of the affirmative, and Charles Longhi, the negative. The affirmative emphasized that many organizations did not permit their personnel to drink alcoholic beverages before prohibition. A mind is stained, health is injured and degeneracy prevails when alcohol is indulged in.

Mr. Thornton had authoritative data stating that prohibition has aided our citizenry. Banks are recording larger numbers of savings, building and loan associations are doing bigger business, average citizen are investing their earnings in stocks and bonds, and best of all more people are buying their own homes. Slum sections have practically disappeared. There are fewer people in the almshouses. In the summing up, Prohibition has strengthened the moral, physical, financial and spiritual fibre of our national life.

Mr. Longhi said prohibition, in its present condition, is a menace to our social and human life. Idealists have never imposed their ideals on any nation or race and the Volstead Act cannot be enforced against the will power of the masses. History proves that kings, dictators, nations and religions have tottered one after the other.

Prohibition is not an exception. Canada and Sweden have found it a failure and they have intelligence to equal ours. Over indulgence has brought on prohibition, yet over-eating, which is more harmful, has not been curtailed by legislation. Moderate alcohol beverage production would supply enormous employment and assist this nation to again enjoy prosperity.

After rebuttal both Mr. Thornton and Mr. Longhi were applauded. Decision as to the winner was destined to the minds of those present.

Probation Officers Assigned Town

Recorder Sees It A Means Of Solving Some Social Problems Of Court

Beginning this week Belleville has had a probation officer assigned from the Essex County Probation Department, to relieve the recorder's court and police of investigations and complaints connected with probation cases. Philip E. Heery, supervisor of the suburban staff of probation officers, has been assigned temporarily to the town by Chief Probation Officer Joseph P. Murphy.

The assignment results from a conference of county magistrates November 25, at which Mr. Murphy declared willingness to cooperate with municipalities.

Mr. Heery will take over the fifteen probation cases now in Belleville and the probationers will report to him at times designated.

Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons, speaking of the move, said, "I look upon it as a step forward relieving overcrowded jail conditions and as a means for presenting through proper investigation facts on social problems which confront the Police Court. I have been an advocate of the probation system more than three years. Application of it has been especially effective in dealing with habitual offenders."

SCHOOLS

Belleville High School, class of 1931, is presenting as their class play a different type of entertainment performance from that offered by preceding senior classes. A mystery melodrama "In The Next Room" will be given Friday and Saturday nights, December 12 and 13.

A different cast will play each night with but two exceptions. Hylaud McVain as Mr. Valentine the elderly uncle, and Tony Giordano, as Simmonds, the detective, will play both nights.

The other characters and their counterparts are as follows: Friday and Saturday casts respectively—Charles Perry and Alfred Cocks as the hero, Jim Godfrey; Norma Byles and Jeannette Grannatelli as Lorna Webster, the heroine; Willard Wharton and Gilbert Freeman as the villain, Armand; Joe Tambora and Fred Ford as the chief detective, Grady; Frances Gibson and Matilda De Nave, as the countess, Madame de Charrier; Filomena Callicio and Assunta Pomponio, as Madame's maid, Julia; James Kerr and Charles Cummings as the butler, Park; Gordon Brown and Wallace Winchell as Rogers, the footman.

The action is supposed to take place in New York city, at the present time. The baffling part of the play is the mysterious murders. An exceedingly clever villain keeps the plot moving rapidly and often disastrously, and a typical English butler provokes roar after roar of laughter. A pompous detective and a young reporter-hero manage to keep one another hopping. A heroine whose part affords more and better action than do most heroines and the energetic reporter, who finally nails the villain, furnish an amusing love scene. A final touch toward perfection is the fact that the entire cast is under the able tutelage of Mrs. E. Tempest Lowry. To those who may come we promise a thrilling and enjoyable evening and the time is 8:15 o'clock.

As is the case with all productions of this sort there are many committees and these committees with the aid of certain members of the faculty are working diligently. We take it that the reason the ticket committee is meeting with many discouragements is because of the present day conditions.

The high school's most recent visitor was L. G. Kelly of Pace Institute. Mr. Kelly gave a brief talk in which much instructive information as was his address of last year. Mr. Kelly has come to Belleville High School for a number of years and is a most welcome visitor.

As we all know the Belleville-Nutley football game is over and so much for that, but we still maintain that we had the best cheering section and the best band and shall we say the best team? It certainly was glorious the way the boys held them at the line, not once, but three times. The Belleville stands showed more spirit than is their want at the other games.

Senior assembly was conducted by Gilbert Freeman, Jean Tallman played a violin solo and was accompanied by Norma Byles at the piano.

Editor's Note: This is the twenty-fourth of a series of articles by the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles presented by the News as its part in the campaign of education to familiarize motorists with the regulations which govern their conduct on the road.

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN,
State Comm'r. of Motor Vehicles

XXIV.—CARRYING PASSENGERS

A recent case before the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners which received considerable attention in the newspapers concerned the practice of an automobile owner who took a party of neighbors to work daily, charging them fare. Of course, the board ordered him to cease the practice forthwith, inasmuch as he had not received permission to operate a public carrier.

It should be pointed out for the benefit of other motorists who may have been accepting compensation for transporting fellow-workers or friends or neighbors that such an act also violates the motor vehicle laws, and renders the owner of the vehicle liable to revocation of his driver's license.

The motor vehicle law makes it mandatory that the owner of every vehicle used as an omnibus for the transportation of passengers for hire pay an annual fee of $15 for vehicles having a carrying capacity of five passengers or less; $17.50 for vehicles carrying from six to eight passengers; $20 for vehicles carrying from nine to twelve, and a fixed scale for larger conveyances, the fees being limited only by the size of the vehicle.

Evasion of this tax is a serious offense, and the practice of illegally transporting passengers for hire is grossly unfair competition with established transportation companies which not only have heavy investments in their lines, but, what is more important from the standpoint of this Department and of the State, yield heavy revenue in taxes and fees which are promptly and conscientiously paid.

It is a violation of the Traffic Act of 1928 for any person to stand in a roadway to solicit a ride from the operator of any private motor vehicle. This provision of course, places no responsibility upon the motorist if he chooses to grant the request, but the solicitor is liable to a fine of $50 or imprisonment for five days or both.

Although the motorist is in no danger of punishment in this connection, he is liable under the New Jersey laws for any injuries his guest may receive while riding with him, and for this reason many an automobile owner has rued the day he stopped at the thumb-wagging signal of a roadside hitch-hiker.

Aside from the question of legal responsibility for the safety of his passengers, the motorist runs the still greater danger of personal injury or loss of property by picking up strangers.

As a bulletin recently issued by a motorist organization said, "It may seem callous to urge motorists to reject the overtures of walkers for free rides, especially in cold and inclement weather. Doubtless there are many deserving persons to whom a lift would be an act of charity, but unfortunately the motorist is in no position to judge the character of walkers who hail him, with the result that many kind-hearted drivers are attacked and robbed by pedestrians they have befriended. The practice of robbing motorists is becoming increasingly prevalent."

The club rightly feels it is its duty to warn motorists of this danger and I desire to add my own word of caution to unwary drivers whose sympathies may be won by a forlorn fellow, wistfully begging a ride. He may not be forlorn at all, and his wistfulness may conceal a sinister determination to reward his benefactor with a slug over the head, the loss of personal valuables, or perhaps even the theft of his car.

These two points may thus be summarized:

1. Ignore hitch-hikers.
2. Don't accept compensation for "lifts."

Tire Dealers Plan To Organize Against Inroads Of Trade

Automobile tire dealers from New York State, New Jersey and Connecticut will be organized on January 7 at a meeting in the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, to protest against the competition they are receiving from gasoline stations selling tires and those tire manufacturers operating their own retail outlets. The Greater New York Tire Dealers' Association is sponsoring this Tri-State tire dealers' convention and has been assured that close to 1,000 independent tire merchants will be in attendance.

Competition from gasoline filling stations and chain stores, particularly in the smaller communities has proven a serious factor to the retail tire dealer and it is announced that the purpose of the January convention is to determine upon some co-operative measures being adopted by independents to protect their business interests.

L. A. Brown, president of the New York Tire Dealers' Association and a director in the National Tire Dealers' Association, declares that some concerted action must be taken by the independent retail tire man if he expects to make any worthwhile profits through his 1931 operations. "Not only are the tire dealers in three states handicapped because of intense competition from sources which a few years ago were foreign to the tire business," he said, "but there are quite a few trade practices in the tire industry which have done much to make the tire business less attractive to a real merchandiser. It is the purpose of our convention to bring out sentiment of the tire dealers in this section of the country towards various trade practices that have been harmful to their interests."

"Talks will be made by leading tire executives who have made a study of present day tire merchandising practices and who are in a position to understand our status in the industry. Aside from the question of competition, the delegates to the convention will consider the advantages of elaborating on their activities to provide for a more diversified service to the motoring public."

Phil Murray's Plant Nets Thieves About $4,000 Worth Of Hides

Seventy-five dozen cured and finished patent leather sides, worth $4,000 were stolen from the Philip J. Murray Company plant in East Center street, Nutley, the night of November 25.

Although Patrolman Charles Rummel has been investigating the robbery since then Nutley police kept it secret until Thursday.

Philip J. Murray, president of the company, believes the robbery an inside job. The thieves backed a truck up to the Erie tracks alongside the plant, broke through a board fence and carried out the leather through an open doorway. They apparently waited until James Lackie, watchman for twenty-five years, was at the other end of the plant.

THANKS

EDITOR NEWS:

Let me thank you most heartily for your gracious editorial about our Everyman's Bible Class in your issue of December 5.

There is nothing that could be done in the community that would so help our class as such an editorial is sure to help. Everybody knows that the press makes public sentiment.

As teacher of the class I am trying to present the philosophy of Jesus and Galilee in such a way as to be attractive to all men, Christians, Jews, Protestants, Catholics, Non-Church men, and all. And if I can't do that it simply means that I have a very small comprehension of that philosophy.

And of course that philosophy has its ramifications in the home as well as in the heart; in politics and business and industry as well as in the building of personal character.

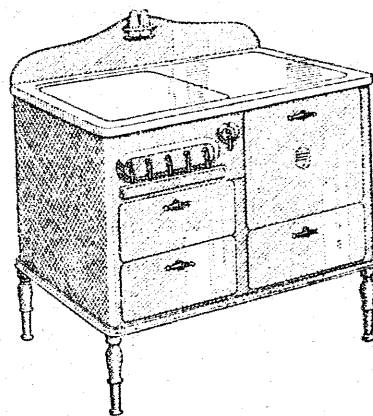

Thanks again and may I have the pleasure of meeting you soon. Drop around at the Class some Sunday morning and let me shake your hand.

Gladly,
ALEXANDER CAIRNS.

Practical Gifts are in Fashion This Christmas

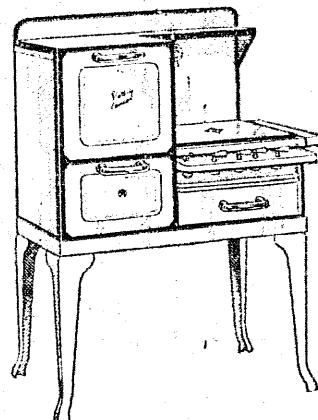

EVERY woman who likes to cook, who is proud of her culinary masterpieces, wants a fine, up-to-date range to cook on, and here are two fine examples.

This is the Model K Estate, a gas range, cupboard and kitchen table, all in one. The legs of the range can be adjusted to suit the height of the woman who cooks.

One turn of the Thermostate (oven heat regulator) lever lights the oven and sets the temperature at the degree wanted. Model K has the Fresh Air Bake Oven, with uniform heat throughout, and an adjustable Rigid-draw Broiler that looks like a cabinet drawer and slides in and out as easily.

At the turn of a handle, the broiler pan can be adjusted to any thickness of meat or fish. The top burners on Model K light as the gas is turned on. Kitchen utensils and seasoning containers come with the range, and drawer space is specially designed for them. Price $169.50 cash connected, or $188 on terms of $5 down and 18 months to pay balance.

More conservative in design is the Economic—a smart compact gas range finished in enamel inside and out. It has many conveniences including top burner lighter and oven heat regulator. Cash price $63.10 connected or $67.40 on terms of $5 down and $5.20 a month.

The High School Football Team Wins With Grads

Friday, December 19

Belleville High school squad won its 1930-31 campaign on Friday, December 19, opposing the Alumni team at the local school gym.

The practice indulged in has been too little to enable McBride to get a fair line on the quality of his players, a tentative line-up for the Blue and Gold might be hazarded. "Mac" Lamb, Stan Goodrich, Nick Bonavita, Ralph Casale and Jerry Bonavita look like the starting five, with Ray Smith, Ed Mutch, Lou Westra and Fred Pascal almost certain to edge their way into the lineup. It is generally felt that McBride will use as many men as possible against the "grads," to get a line on their respective capabilities.

The Bell-boys may expect plenty of opposition from the Alumni, which put an experienced outfit on the floor to oppose them. Most of the players for the Alumni squad have been actively engaged in the court game for years and should test the caliber of the school boys to the utmost.

Harold "Dolly" Fobert, '27; Bob Mutch, '25; Les Armour, '29; Harry Metz, '25, and "Tony" Pascal, '25, will form the starting line-up for the "old grads."

Thirty-seven aspirants answered Coach Albert K. McBride's first call for basketball practice, Monday afternoon at the high school gym, in preparation for the Bell-boys' court schedule.

With four letter-men back from last year as a nucleus Coach McBride seems well fortified with good material and is looking forward to a highly successful season.

"Mac" Lamb, Stan Goodrich, Nick Bonavita are still returning players of the big "B." In the practices early this week McBride added Ray Smith, Ralph Casale, Eddie Mutch, Lou Westra and Fred Pascale to the above quartet as tentative first string squad.

Most of the practice on Monday and Tuesday was made up of drilling in passing and handling the ball and a general slogging up of the large squad. Some pruning may be expected in another week or two.

With the practice sessions still in the infant stage, the coach is already building for the future. As his second team, he picked a quintet composed entirely of tall men all of whom are in their sophomore or junior years. He also called a turn by senior players that did not stand a chance of making the first two teams off the squad.

The squad of thirty-seven consists of: Coach McBride, Joe Roberts, George Marten, Ray Smith, Eugene Dacey, Charlie Christell, Len Hodgkinson, Mutch, Lou Westra, John Dwyer, Glenn, Henry Bohrer, Milton

Wetzel, Ambrose Culkin, Ralph Malone, Robert Cocks, Albert

Wetzel, Fred Pascale, Fred McJill, Harry Knab, Jerry Bonavita, Brown, Lawrence Brooks, Dave

Bill Griffin, Ed O'Neill, Nick Bonavita, Ed Burke, Tom Patterson, Goodrich, Nick Bonavita, Ralph ale, "Mac" Lamb, Homer Estelle, Galluba, Lou Westra, and Jerry Bonavita.

Legion League Teams In Exciting Games At High School Court

The Valleys, Bachelors and the Unions emerged triumphant in the court games staged by the local American Legion Basketball League at the high school gym, Tuesday night.

The Valleys showed pass-work to perfection in snowing under the Panthers to the tune of 35-4. Every member of the winning squad broke into the scoring column, with "Dolly" Fobert's ten points and Herb Otto's nine leading the individual efforts. Herb Mayes also contributed eight. Bill Schenck, captain of the losers, tallied four of their five points.

The championship Bachelors club also worked splendidly in taking over the Clintons by a 37-16 count. Johnny Johnston, high scoring forward of the "champs" ran wild with fifteen points, the high water mark individually of the night.

"Mac" McGuire gave him a close battle for the honors with an eleven point aggregate. Halpin stuck in seven markers for the Clintons.

In the final game of the evening the Unions upset the newly entered St. Anthony Jr. five in easy 35-18 fashion. Beyer, husky Union forward, amassed eleven points for his victorious gang. Baisden and Bakanau each got eight. Domenick's eight points stood out in the St. Anthony offensive.

Belleville Elks Take Three Games From Maplewood

The Belleville Elks' pin toppers travelled to Maplewood Thursday night to administer a three straight drubbing to the Maplewood C. C. in a Morris and Essex League match.

Three fine scores, all above the coveted 900 mark, were sufficient to cope with the high brand of bowling exhibited by the home club.

233 seemed to be the key-note of the superlative bowling turned in by the locals. "Dutch" Faust and Bob Whitten each turned in that remarkably high tally in the first game, in which the Elks went wild with a team total of 1003. Whitten then turned right around and scored his second 233 in the final game for easily the best individual performance of the night.

The Hello Bills needed all the bowling art they commanded to conquer the first one, the Mapes' brilliant 993 tally, giving them but a five pin margin, even with their thousand score.

"Dutch" Faust ran Whitten a close second with a 227 in the second to place alongside his 233 in the first. "Tom" MacNair looked good with a 210 in the first.

Barclay's 247 in the opener kept the homesters in the running.

SHADOWS LENGTHEN WITH SCORE KNOTTED AND THEN NUTLEY TAKES GAME OUT OF FIRE WITH BELLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

Nutley Team Nails Belleville Player In End Zone After He Had Caught Pass And Safety Results

The shadows at Park Oval were lengthening, the crowd of 5,000 partisan football fans were leaning forward expectantly, that 0-0 score, with more than three quarters of the game completed, was beginning to look more and more like the final result of the 1930 edition of the Belleville-Nutley high school grid series.

Four Nutley boys, all under sixteen, became so enthused over Nutley's football victory they decided a bonfire was in order. With a ticket stand and straw from the field for fuel they started a blaze on Park Oval. Police Officers Kirk and Shupel put out the fire and took the boys to headquarters, where they were warned to confine their enthusiasm to less dangerous means of expression in the future.

Nutley was threatening the Belleville goal line for the final of its long line of scoring threats and seemed doomed once more to be repulsed by a fighting-mad Blue and Gold defensive machine. As a last resort Sherwood, the big Nutley full-back, stepped back to flip a pass. Suddenly out of nowhere a Golden-clad figure bolted to intercept the pass but he was not quite fast enough. Struble and Kellett were on him in a split second before he could break away, tackling him in the end zone, back of the Belleville goal line for a safety and all-important pair of points, which proved to be the deciding margin, with the end of the game a minute later.

And thus ended one of the most stirring Belleville-Nutley struggles of them all. At least four times previously, a Nutley attack, that kept the ball in Belleville territory almost the entire game, threatened the Blue and Gold up-rights. On each and every occasion they were repulsed by a determined Bell-boy eleven that asked and gave no quarter.

At one time, Bade, Brand, Estelle, Casale, Galluba and company, completely smothered the Maroon and Gray offensive, which had three downs in which to make three yards and the ball-carrying of Blasi and Connors were the spear heads of the highly potent Nutley attack on each march down the field.

Using fake reverse, involving sometimes, double, some times triple passes, Nutley's Maroon and Gray out-drove the Blue and Gold of Belleville to the tune of six first downs to three in the first half. Bell-boys' sturdy forward wall however, presented an unsolvable puzzle when ground gaining meant touch-downs.

With the diminutive, fighting Blasi lugging the pig-skin Nutley started an advance with the opening kick-off that carried to Belleville's thirty-nine yard line, before a fumble stopped them. Using exclusively their highly effective fake reversing with wide sweeps around end, the home-ers amassed two first downs in succession, before Estelle of Belleville pounced on the fumbled pig-skin.

Then Belleville essayed some line plunging which brought them a first down in mid-field, before calling on the trusty toe of their punter, Fritz Plange, as the Nutley line held. Plange's kick was not so good, being brought back to the Nutley forty-yard line, but a fifteen yard penalty on Nutley for holding helped matters considerably for the Blue and Gold.

Deep in their own territory, Nutley again attempted some fake reversing, but this time they couldn't gain an inch on two tries.

Sherwood, who did a whale of a punting job for the home boys all afternoon, was plenty effective on his first assignment, Lou Westra, the Belleville safety man, finally getting his hands on the oval on his own twenty-three yard line, only to slip, as he attempted to return it.

Nothing daunted by this turn of events, Belleville on four-off tackle thrusts got a first down on their own thirty-five yard stripe. Jerry Bonavita did some nice plunging in the attack, with Westra making first down with a nicely executed delayed sneak from his quarter-back position.

A miserable kick by Plange that went out-side three yards from the line of scrimmage, gave Nutley a flying start, after Belleville had failed at gaining through the line.

In possession of the ball on Belleville's forty-two yard line, Nutley opened up with its first and highly successful aerial attack. Sherwood got two through center as a starter, and then he stepped way back and heaved a long forward in the general direction of Kellett, his intended receiver. Kestra, the visitors' quarter-back, jumped up and seemingly blocked the pass, but it bounced off him into the waiting arms of Kellett, who raced goal-ward to the five yard line, before he was stopped.

Here Belleville was impene-trable, driving Nutley back to the nine yard line on two plays, as lankily "Butter" Brand at center broke through on both occasions to spill Nutley backs, only to be thrown back of his own goal line for a safety and the two points, which decided the game in Nutley's favor.

With but a minute left to play, Coach Erickson of Belleville sent in one of his forward pass sharp-shooters in the person of "Fuzzy" Ryder, but Sherwood intercepted Ryder's first heave to carry the ball to Belleville's twenty yard line before being tackled. Three more plays brought the oval to the thirteen yarder, just before the final whistle.

The line-up:

Nutley High	Belleville High
Luzzi	L. E. C. Plenge
Lang	L. T. Galluba (C)
Hagerman	L. G. McMaster
VanHorn (C)	C. Brand
Mackenzie	R. G. Bade
Brown	R. T. Estelle
Kellett	R. E. Casale
Connors	Q. B. Westra
Blasi	L. H. B. F. Plenge
Hohenstein	R. H. B. Lamb
Sherwood	F. B. J. Bonavita

Scoring: Nutley—Safety, Struble (Santamasemo).

Substitutions: Belleville—Daly for Estelle, Goodrich for C. Plenge, Estelle for Daly, Santamasemo for F. Plenge, Ugdansky for McMaster, Ryder for Westra, Mutch for Brand, Nutley—Struble for Connors.

Officials: Referee—Gaynor, Lafayette, Umpire—Bauman, Springfield, Head Linesman—Fitzsimmons, N. Y. U.

Another play failed for Belleville, so Bonavita kicked to Nutley's thirty-six yard stripe.

Devoting themselves to straight line plunging, Nutley accounted for first down in mid-field on the next series of plays, but could get no further, before a determined Blue and Gold stand. Sherwood made a beautiful kick on fourth down, the oval rolling out of bounds on Belleville's two yard stripe, to once more place them in danger.

Bonavita coolly stepped back for the Bell-boys on the first play, however, and returned the ball to Blasi on Belleville's thirty-eight yard line. The Maroon and Gray back was stopped dead by the Belleville ends, "Chuck" Plenge and Casale, but Plenge was laid out on the play and helped off the field.

And then Sherwood, with seconds left of play, opened up with his forwards, but Belleville's defense against this form of attack was effective. Four successive unsuccessful passes gave Belleville the ball on her own forty-five yard line.

In possession of the ball once more the Bell-boys tried their hand at the passing game, their first, F. Plenge to Westra, netting nine yards, only to lose that and more with the infliction of a fifteen yard penalty for clipping, as the half ended.

Play was kept in Belleville territory for most of the third quarter, with Nutley once more seriously threatening Belleville's goal with the quarter's close.

The game evolved itself into a punting duel between Sherwood of Nutley and Bonavita of Belleville at the start of the second half, with honors about even. After a twelve yard off-tackle smash by Hohenstein had brought the ball to Belleville's forty yard line, Sherwood kicked out-side on the twelve, only to have Bonavita return the compliment with a beautiful boot to the Nutley thirty-yard line.

Following a couple more kicks, Nutley finally gained possession of the pig-skin on her own forty. On the second play a heave, Sherwood to Luzzi, was good for eighteen yards. This pass was peculiar in that Bonavita of Belleville caught it with Luzzi, both men falling to earth, clutching the precious oval. The referee finally awarded the ball to Luzzi.

Unable to gain through Belleville's sturdy forward wall, Sherwood was forced to kick, but the Bell-boys were found to be holding on the play, the ball being awarded to Nutley on Belleville's twenty-two yard line.

Connors, Sherwood and Blasi then alternated at line plunging, a dash off right tackle by Blasi netting ten yards on fourth down to carry the ball to Belleville's six yard line. Connors went through center for three of those yards just before the whistle ending the quarter.

With three downs in which to make the necessary three yards, Nutley failed completely, before a fighting Belleville line that held to the last ditch. Sherwood netted but one through center, and Blasi nothing around end, to force Connors to attempt to place kick for a field goal on fourth down. He missed his try to give that fighting Blue and Gold band the ball on her own twenty yarder. Two successive off tackle smashes by that Bell-boy battering ram, Jerry Bonavita, netted twelve yards and first down on the thirty-two, but another major penalty on Belleville for holding nullified everything.

Forced to kick Bonavita booted to the forty-two yard line, from where Sherwood unleashed a final aerial drive. A long heave from his hip was intercepted by Lou Westra, the Belleville signal-caller on his own twelve yard line.

Bonavita, who had been playing a fine game for the Blue and Gold all the way through, suddenly fumbled on the first play, Brown recovering for Nutley on the Belleville twelve yard line. On the second play Sherwood attempted a forward pass, but Santamasemo intercepted for Belle-

Lou Jannarone And
His Cousin Battled
It Out Mentally

Few of the 5,000 spectators who witnessed the Belleville-Nutley high school grid struggle, Saturday, were aware of a little battle, strictly mental, going on at the tilt.

All during the season Manager Louis Jannarone of the local grid-ders had been hoping for a game with Nutley and when the contest materialized, his sole ambition was to out-manuever his cousin, the manager of the Nutley squad.

Throughout the game one or the other would throw covert glances across the field of battle in anticipation. Every Belleville rally brought a triumphant gleam into Lou's eyes, every Nutley forward march a similar glow of ecstasy to his "coz."

With the contest entering the final quarter and a scoreless tie seemingly inevitable, they each seemed to grow more nervously expectant, expecting a "break" either way.

And when it came with that safety—Lous was not alone in his cousin's—need we

Hello Louis

THE MONTICELLO HOTEL,
Miami, Fla.
December 4, 1930.

Dear Friends:
I am writing these lines, just to tell you how I have been doing since I left Belleville. I have had 4 fights, of which I lost one and won the rest by K. O's. Tomorrow I am leaving for Boston where I will fight and then I am going to Erie, Pa. I will appreciate it very much if you will say something in the News about me, and say "Hello?" to everybody for me. Well, I got to go because I can't write any more English.
Sincerely yours,
LOUIS "KID" JANNARONE

This Whirl of Sport

By ARTHUR BLOEMEKE

DO RULES MEAN ANYTHING

Football rules have been known or said to be intricate. Hardly a year passes when some change isn't made in the playing of the grid game. This makes certain rulings on plays rather hazy and undefinable to many of the football fans. But what about the officials of the game, who get paid for knowing the rules? Should not they abide by the rulings in the book, especially when the result of a game hangs in the balance?

Evidently, Officials Gaylor, Bauman and Pittsimmons are not aware of this latter, self evident fact. These arbitrators succeeded in converting a 0-0 tie game into a 2-0 victory for Nutley over Belleville, Saturday, by a gross mis-interpretation of the football code.

Let us explain our meaning. The official Football Rule Book specifically states that what a referee termed a safety for Nutley, Saturday, was a touch-back and not a safety, making the score 0-0, and not 2-0.

We quote verbatim from Rule 3, Section 26, the definition of a safety:

"A safety is made when a free ball or a ball legally in possession of a player guarding his goal becomes dead, any part of it being on, above or behind the goal line, PROVIDED THE IMPETUS WHICH SENT IT TO OR ACROSS THE GOAL LINE WAS GIVEN BY A PLAYER OF HIS OWN TEAM."

The same rule, Section 34, tells us: "A touch-back is made when a free ball or a ball legally in possession of a player guarding his own goal becomes dead, any part of it being on, above or behind the goal line, PROVIDED THE IMPETUS WHICH SENT IT TO OR ACROSS THE LINE WAS GIVEN BY AN OPPONENT."

Then getting down to the specific case in question, an approved ruling of the rules committee, under Rule 9, Section 6, Article 9, states:

"Team A throws forward pass from field into end zone, which is caught by player of team B, who attempts to run, then is tackled and downed in end zone. The captain of team A claims safety. Ruling—touch-back."

Of course that latter ruling fits the case in question perfectly and proves conclusively that the incompetency of the officials on that particular play cost Belleville the game. The football season's over. Games won or lost have been thrown into the darkened portals of the past. We have no hankering to be "cry-babies." But as Burns, remodelled, would say, "A game's a game for a' that." A tie game would certainly not have ranked so much as an unjustified defeat.

AH! SOME ROOTING

Through all ten of the regularly scheduled games this season the writer, along with most of the local high school grid-supporters, has been unable to detect much unity or vociferousness in the Blue and Gold cheering section.

Saturday, however, all was changed and strictly for the better. Those Belleville High yell producers simply out-did themselves in support of their team and easily paralled any high school cheering in this vicinity. It must have sounded good to the boys out on the field.

THE GAME ITSELF

That 2-0 dose of Nutley defeat was rather bitter for the hard fighting locals to take in the Belleville-Nutley charity tilt, Saturday, after the Blue and Gold had made such a splendid up-hill battle of it.

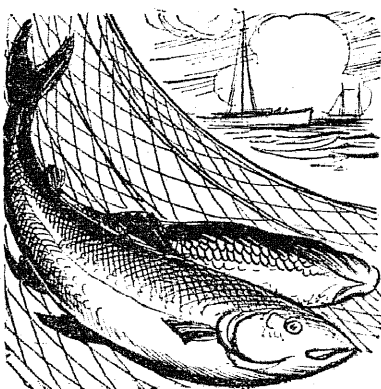

All through the stirring battle Nutley out-plunged and out-drove Belleville consistently, but everytime our neighbors needed that drive to push over a score, eleven fighting, rampantly defiant sons of Belleville High blocked their every move.

And then, with every indication pointing to a scoreless deadlock, as the fourth period was waning, Sherwood's much vaunted forward passing finally panned out, although hardly in the manner intended.

An intercepted pass, a tackle behind the line, and all was lost.

Of course, there may be those who will shout, "Well, Nutley out-played Belleville and deserved to win." But did they out-play the Bell-boys? Speaking strictly in a football sense, they may have out-rushed them, but Nutley also was aided by the infliction of numerous penalties on the locals some deserved, most of them undeserved.

Elks' Bouts Prove To Be InterestingEd Andahazy, Headliner,
All But Knocked Out
Frankie Sitek

Ed Andahazy, the 160-pound headliner of the local Elks' charity fisticard, held at their home, on Friday night, all but knocked out Frankie Sitek of Newark in their three-round "special." The National Turner lad, who is rated one of the best amateur prospects hereabouts, gave Sitek a boxing lesson in all three rounds decisively and but for the latter's gameness would have recorded a knock-out.

Bill Jackson, colored, of the Bayonne A. C., won the final in the 147 pound division by out-punching Larry Franks of Newark in four rounds of milling. The first three rounds were even to necessitate the staging of an extra round to make possible a decision. Franks, who previously kayoed Bill Asi of the Elizabeth "Y," in the first, started off with a bang in the Jackson tilt to take the initial round with plenty to spare. The colored lad made a fine come-back in the final three, however, to cop the decision. Jackson had won his right to appear in the finals by knocking out Jim Marion, a southpaw from Union, in the first round. A right cross under the heart finished Marion, after plenty of fast mixing and hard milling.

"Bob" Vaughn, another fine prospect from the National Turners, rather easily won the 138 pound class with twin victories over Joe Barese of Bayonne and Pete Sugges of the Turners, eliminating the latter in the finals.

Vaughn, a splendid boxer, spent the first two rounds of the Barese match, trying to solve the peculiar style of the short, rugged Bayonne third, however, spilling him for the third. He caught on in the count with a long left hook to the jaw. In the final against Sugges, Vaughn won about as he pleased in a rather slow and uninteresting shindig. He dropped Sugges for the count of nine in the second. Sugges had won his right to face Vaughn by winning all three rounds against Sonny Vitiello, of Newark.

The 128-pound class was productive of plenty of action and excitement with Matty Tillman of Newark finally winning out. Tillman was pressed plenty to get in the final, being held even by Jack Scilhim of Newark in the first three rounds of the opening "mix." He won the extra round with plenty to spare. This Tillman-Scilhim bout was a hum-dinger for action and knock-downs. Scilhim, a south-paw with a long left, dropped Tillman for a nine count in the first round, but Tillman more than evened matters, by knocking down his opponent three times for nine counts in the same number of rounds.

John Stopes, a short, stolid Englishman, stopped Jim Harrison, colored, of Newark, in the second round to win his way to the finals. A short left to the jaw turned the trick for Stopes after having Harrison on the floor for the count of nine a minute before.

Tillman simply left jabbed Stopes to death in the final of the division to win the championship with ease. Anlos Logindice of the National Turners copped the watch in the 118 pound division through default on the part of Jack Nolan of Belleville, whom he was scheduled to meet in the final. Nolan was forced out because of a back injury.

The Auburn haired Logindice had previously won his right to appear in the finals by kayoing Joe Brown of Newark in the third round. Brown first two rounds doing all the lead-outpunching the winner easily in the ing, but he succumbed to an opportunity left hook on the part of Logindice in the third.

In one of the best fights of the night the Belleville lad, Nolan, defeated Bill Austin, colored, of Union, in an extra round of milling, after each of the first three rounds had been declared even. Both boxers were out on their feet, after some fast and furious action in the first trio of rounds, when Leo Lloyd, the referee, awarded the fight to Nolan, because of Austin's continued pushing tactics.

In the remaining bout of the program, a 115 pound "special" Teddy

MUCH THE LILIES

By A. C. McLEAN

N. J. Agricultural Experiment Sta.

Lilies set out this fall should be heavily mulched to protect them from frost. A number of lilies are hardy, but all of them will do much better if the soil in which they are planted is mulched to prevent freezing.

Using paper or some other material will shed water also. Do not place over lilies, especially Japanese varieties. This prevents keeping excessive amounts of water off them, and thus eliminates the chief causes of winter damage.

Gardeners who are able to obtain lily bulbs of the Japanese gold-banded lilies (Lilium auratum) should plant them this fall, making precautions to protect them from frost and water. Plant at least 6 inches deep in a soil that does not contain too much lime. Under such conditions this lily should grow in the winter in good condition and be ready to make a good start next spring. If the soil in the lilies are to be grown in heavy clay, add sand or sifted coal to lighten its texture.

Further information on this and other garden, flower or agricultural questions may be obtained from the County Extension Office, R. E. Harman, County Agricultural Agent, Caldwell. (Phone Caldwell 6-0572).

Fall Pruning Of Shrubs

WHO LIKES CANDY? YOU, AND YOU!

(Note: This is the first of two articles on Candy-Making)

Talk about the proverbial "sweet tooth"—most of us have not one, but 32 of them, which nothing pleases more than candy! The very word sets the palate tingling, and since the dieticians tell us that candy is a valuable food food with a legitimate place in the diet, if eaten with moderation and intelligence, we may welcome the approaching holidays with gladness!

When our grandmothers made only "pull candy" and carried home a "little" of sweets when the weekly bill was paid, candy was a rarity and a luxury. Now it is cheap to make and to buy. The purchased candy is now made under the most sanitary conditions, from the wholesome ingredients we use in our kitchens, corn syrup and sugar, the best chocolate, fruit, nuts and cocoanut.

To the possessor of a knowing sweet tooth, however, there's nothing so satisfying as the home-made variety. It's the first thing the future cook wants to make, and the one delicacy that Dad and Brother will attempt. The secret of candy making consists mainly of following the recipe to the letter and of choosing the ingredients with an eye to cost, flavor, healthfulness and appearance.

How To Avoid "Sugaring"

The great fear of amateurs is that their candies will "turn to sugar." To avoid this, to keep them from becoming coarse or grainy, use corn syrup in all recipes in which it is appropriate. It is a bit of failure insurance, which coupled with the use of a candy thermometer, insures complete success. Too, corn syrup is healthful being a mixture of pure carbohydrates, half of which are in the form of dextrin, the most easily assimilated of all. A thorough beating of creamy fudges is another factor of success.

Creamy Fudge

3 cups sugar
1 1/2 cup of dark corn syrup
1/2 cup milk
2 squares chocolate
2 tbsps. cooking oil
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla.

Place sugar, syrup, milk and the chocolate cut in seven or eight pieces in a heavy saucepan and stir over fire until sugar is dissolved and chocolate is melted. Let come to a boil and cover one minute. Remove cover and cook without stirring until syrup will form a soft ball when tried in cold water, (238 degrees F.). Remove from fire, stir in quickly oil, salt and vanilla. Set in cold water and cool until mixture is thick and feels barely warm when touched with the finger. Stir until mixture loses its shiny look and is creamy. Do not put into pan before this point no matter how thick fudge seems. Pour into oiled pan and when cool, cut in squares.

English Toffee

2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups light corn syrup
1 1/2 cups thin cream
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. corn oil
1 tsp. vanilla.

Put sugar, syrup, cream, and salt into saucepan and stir over fire until sugar is dissolved. Cook to temperature, 250 degrees F. or until a firm ball will form in cold water. Stir quite often as it scorches easily. Add oil and cook a little longer, to temperature 260 degrees F. When a hard ball will form, add vanilla and pour in thin layer on oiled slab or baking sheet. When cold, break in pieces. Yield: about 2 pounds.

Fondant

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup water
2 tbsps. light corn syrup.
1 tsp. vanilla.

Put sugar, water and syrup into saucepan and cook, stirring constantly until sugar is dissolved. Remove spoon and do not stir candy again during cooking. When candy begins to boil, cover saucepan and cook for three minutes. Remove cover, continue cooking, until temperature of 238 degrees F. is reached, or soft ball stage. Remove from fire and pour at once on cold wet platter. Cool. Beat with spatula until creamy. Add vanilla and knead until smooth. Put away to ripen.

Fancy Caramels

2 cups sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup cream
2 cups milk
1/2 cup butter
2 tbsps. vanilla
1 pkg. dates, sliced.

Put all the ingredients, except vanilla into a saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, over a low flame until candy forms ball in water (246 degrees F.). IN VOGUE

Style Notes Prepared for the Essex County Extension Service by CATHERINE GRIEBEL, Clothing Specialist

There has never been a time in my recollections when renovations of women's clothing were more interesting and more possible than they are right now. With fashions offering so many suggestions for made-over, it should be easy for women to make their clothing allowances go a long way.

One woman had four yards of flat crepe in the house that was perfectly good but the color of which was not particularly suited to her. First she looked through her fashion books for patterns with three things in mind: the amount of material required must not exceed four yards; the design must suit her figure; and she must find some way of introducing a becoming color at wrists and neckline.

It was not a hopeless task but it took time and perseverance. The result was a charming frock for the cost of one spool of sewing silk and one yard of flesh-colored chiffon, which was used at the wrists and neck to prevent the unbecoming color of the garment from coming next to her skin.

This same woman had a last year's dress of pure-dye Canton crepe that was soiled and faded but that seemed to be worth dyeing. She ripped it apart then decided to have it dyed a dark green. This cost $5. It may be that you have luck in dyeing things yourself—many women do. But I would not venture good material unless I were perfectly sure of results for once streaked, even a professional can do nothing with it.

Usually a made-over is much more difficult than a new dress but this one was not. The body of the garment was re-cut by a pattern to give it the right lines, the low-set skirt section was attached much as it had been in the original dress except that it was set lower to add length. The sleeves had shrunk some in dyeing and were too short. There are so many ways of lengthening them. The one selected was a cap added to the top of the sleeve, as the wrists fitted beautifully and already had crocheted loops for buttoning. In the scarf-like collar of the original dress there was plenty of material for these caps, which came half way to the elbows with their lower edges bound.

The neckline was a shallow V but this was cut deeper, rounded, and a pleated ruching of off-white with a lace vestee added to complete the dress. It is a good-looking costume and the entire cost was less than $7.

All skirts may be lengthened from the top by adding yokes. With the popular tunic blouses which most women are wearing the piecing down will never show. Very often an old dress that has no possibilities for an entire costume may be utilized for a blouse.

Rotarians Guests

Officers, directors and committee heads of Rotary Club met Thursday night with John DeGraw of 207 Washington avenue for "club assembly." Refreshments were served by Mrs. John DeGraw at the close of the meeting. The officers are: President Mr. DeGraw; vice president, Clifton Smith; secretary, Patrick A. Mrs. Catherine Stefanelli

A solemn high mass of requiem was conducted at St. Anthony's Church, Silver Lake section, at 9 A. M. Saturday for Mrs. Catherine Stefanelli of 85 Franklin street, Silver Lake, who died at her home Wednesday at the age of sixty-four. Burial was in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

Born in Italy, Mrs. Stefanelli had lived in the Silver Lake section half a century.

Surviving Mrs. Stefanelli are eight children, Louis, Joseph, Alfred, Ernest, Anthony, Arthur, Albina and Mrs. Ella DeRigatis, the first of whom lives in Newark and the rest in Belleville.

Home Made Christmas Gifts

By EDITH DIXON
Extension Service,
N. J. College of Agriculture

Do you allow your children to make their own Christmas presents? Some parents cannot bring themselves to permit a child to present to others the crude and often absurd things which children decide upon when they do their own planning and making.

But in placing more value on the gift, rather than the spirit of the giver, are we not losing sight of the real significance of Christmas for the child? Because it is the time and effort that he puts into the making of his gifts that really count rather than the intrinsic value of those gifts.

Why not let the child take his allowance, or such money as you are willing to give him, and plan his expenditure? For some persons he may wish to buy outright; for others he can buy materials and make his gifts.

What can he make? You may be tired of the perennial calendar and blotter upon which is pasted a snapshot, taken as a surprise for father. Yet these are simple and practical presents and new ones are needed at least once a year.

The child who has access to firing facilities, can make attractive and inexpensive gifts of such forms of pottery as inkwells and candlesticks. The child with a jig saw of coping saw can cut animals and other toys from thin wood or heavier board and paint them bright colors for the young children. Bean bags, iron holders, and pen wipers offer opportunities to the child who can handle a needle.

One child made attractive gifts by covering safety match boxes with fancy wallpapers. Another shellacked round powder boxes and tin coffee cans, and filled them with Christmas cookies and candies.

Children should be allowed to make the trimmings for the tree and the table. This is an excellent way of exercising their taste for color and arrangement. They learn not only to appreciate, but also to create artistic effects. They pass from the desire to put anything and everything on a Christmas tree to producing a beautiful effect by confining the decoration to tinsel thread strung vertically and lighted with white candles or tiny electric bulbs.

In ways such as these the child is getting a joy and satisfaction in connection with Christmas which he cannot experience through merely receiving gifts, no matter how beautiful or how much desired they may be.
