MANUFACTURERS ELECT OFFICERS

FIRST DINNER OF THE GROUP WAS HELD MONDAY NIGHT

At a meeting held by the Belleville Manufacturers' Association on Tuesday, January 19, the following officers and board of trustees were re-elected for 1932: President, Martin P. Tiernan; vice president, Richard S. Bicknell; treasurer, George J. Nelson; secretary, George Goodman; Trustees, James B. Whitmore, Harry G. Specht, Philip Dettelbach, George F. Napier, and H. Willard Sawyer.

A dinner held last Monday evening at the Yountakah Golf Club, Nutley by the Belleville Manufacturers' Association was a great success both from a social and business standpoint. Some fifty diners, members of the association and their friends dined, sang songs, and listened to some mighty interesting speeches, mostly on local affairs, such as taxes, poor relief, zoning, and need for such an association in all municipalities. Mayor Kenworthy and Commissioners Clark, Carragher and Williams attended the dinner but left before speeches. The Mayor expressing their regret that the regular weekly town meeting was being held Monday night instead of Tuesday; so many from the town hall desiring to attend Governor Moore's inauguration.

Martin Tiernan, chairman, stated that there were now 33 members of the association which included the cream of Belleville's industry. That it was well organized, economically run, and was sure to be successful in its effort to co-operate with the town's officials to the end that the town at large might be benefited.

THE TREE PLANTERS' CLUB

BIG SHOT No. 1, like many another in this town, got that spring fever in his blood, and feeling that houses were too small for his liking for expansion, found for himself a nice SHADE TREE. He likes company, so he wasn't surprised to see a birdy (or was it a Burde?) there? But Big Shot is getting ahead of himself—we'd better start with this thing when it was an acorn (or whatever you can call little POPLARS).

B. S., while taking one of his strolls, came across a card which read to the effect that the Tree Planters' Club was having a meeting—BUT MENTIONING NO PLACE, which left Big Shot up a tree. However, B. S. took a drink and a swallow told him that this gathering of the flock was to take place "somewhere between the earth and sky," which is, after all, a good place to find a birdy.

The Town Hall seemed to fill the above description, so Big Shot glued his ear to the Mayor's door. (Don't look for it, he took it home for its Saturday washing, much needed after this dirt.)

Says the former secretary, Samuel Yeatman, who, by the way, tendered his resignation a few months ago but was prevailed upon by His Honor (can you guess?) to stay—says he.

"Is this meeting under way?"

To which Nick says something to the effect that a meeting at the time doesn't just suit him, on account of a letter which he has written to the Board of Commissioners suggesting that the resignation of William Wells, the forester, be requested.

Messrs. Yeatman and Donnelly (that's Milton, you know) voted that Wells be retained at $1,500 a year with an allowance of $500 for his implements and truck (that's a cut of $700 over last year). When Mr. Burde was asked to vote on the question, he grabbed the Stetson and made a bee-line for the door almost spilling Big Shot.

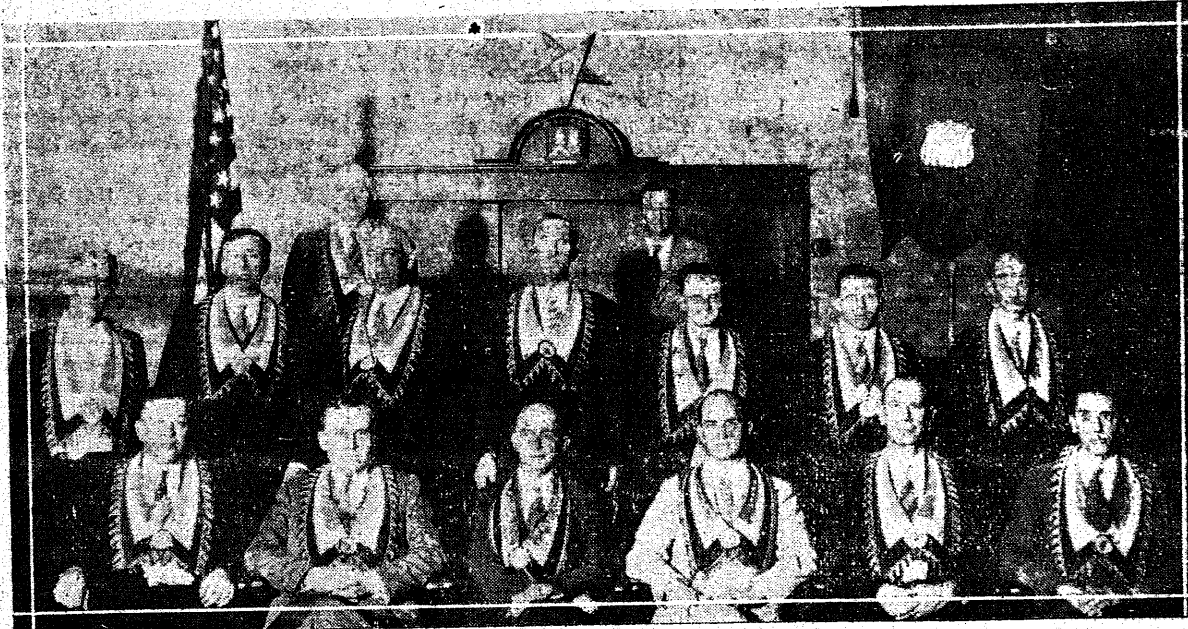

Having saved his ear Big Shot applied it to one of the Telephone Company's receivers only to learn that Belleville 2-3568 (the former Burde-Shade Tree phone) had been discontinued. This may not have been any too soon because the bill up to December 11 aggregated $77.50, whispers among the leaves tell us. (This means 1,989 calls at 5 cents). Wonder if they were planting trees or telephone poles?

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters (if we understand correctly) has just paid a large bill for out of town calls. Big Shot awaits word as regards Mr. Burde's phone with interest. He wonders to what places these calls were made. Shall we see? We shall if itemized bills are submitted.

Big Shot understands that the Honorable S. S. Kenworthy has adopted a hands-off policy in connection with the Shade Tree Commission. This leaves the proposition up to the Shade Tree Commission, responsibility and all. (This means the money, too).

Another set of signals gone awry, which is fortunate for Mr. Wells, who be the way, is a good forester.

Many Improvements Baptist Church Ladies' Auxiliary And Men's Club Are Doing The Work

Extensive improvements are being made in the auditorium of Grace Baptist Church. These include the redecoration of the auditorium, the laying of a new flooring of battle-ship linoleum, the installing of new pews, new wall lights and the rebuilding and electrification of the organ.

These improvements are being presented to the church by the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mrs. George Weirick, president, and the Men's Club, Elmer Hyde, president. The committee directing the work is composed of John Sherwood and Elmer Smith.

Coming Next Week

If you haven't already ordered your paper for next week may we ask that you do so now.

Big Shot No. 1 has a hot story. It regards a woman who broke her arm at the Town Hall and how employees aided, how she saved a baby she was carrying from receiving an injury and a squabble over paying her a doctor bill.

Commissioner Frank J. Carragher has defied the town to take the case to court.

"I'll beat you if you go to court," he has hurled at his colleagues.

"I'm very sorry our Town Clerk was called down for being a real man."

There is a column and one-half to this story. It's all live news. You will read all the details in next week's News.

Belleville Council, No. 163, Jr. O. U. A. M., held its best attended meeting in years on January 12 at which time the following officers were installed: Past counselor, Frank Sophier; counselor, Granville Beams; vice counselor, Herman Marble; treasurer, George Marwede; financial secretary, John Pole; recording secretary, William Crisp; conductor, George Rawcliffe; warden, Benjamin Harrison; Inside Sentinel, Charles Reitzel; outside sentinel, Harry Bradford; trustee, Robert Brinkerhoff; chaplain, Robert Tyler.

The officers were installed by the State Councilor Deputy Gaston A. Hartman of Irvington. After the installation six new candidates were initiated into the council by the degree team of Peter Cooper Council of Newark, who exemplified the work in wonderful fashion.

To use the words of Past State Councilor Frederick Losaw: "The work which I have seen performed this evening in the short form was the best that I have ever seen and I have seen a good many in my travels up and down the state. Peter Cooper Council's degree team is to be commended." After which Belleville Council gave Peter Cooper Council's degree team a rousing vote of thanks.

Past State Councilor Frederick A. Losaw, the newly appointed manager of the American Business Bureau, gave an inspiring talk on the work

Clearing The Notes

Doings at the Town Hall this week were rather quiet. A few of the boys had a vacation Tuesday to go to Trenton to see A. Harry Moore inaugurated as Governor.

So ye scribbler of activities concerning old John Public's pocket-book will refer to a few notes he slipped up on the week previous.

What was news then is news now, so here goes.

Commissioner William H. Williams asked W. D. Clark, director of Public Safety, whether the new fire engine had been out of running order.

"Did the underwriters say vibration was excessive?" he further asked. "Were the suction holes clogged up? Was the speed a little high? Was the engine in any accident?"

"No," replied Mr. Clark. And so another matter has been checked off our notes.

TOWN EMPLOYEES GOT CHECKS FRIDAY--OTHER BILLS TABOO

Unless delinquent tax payers "come across" with money they owe the town, amounting to more than $1,000,000, the town employees February 1 will be paid in scrip, Director William H. Williams of the Department of Revenue and Finance declared Monday night.

Commissioner Williams addressed the Board of Education, asking any further reduction possible to make in its proposed budget, already cut $10,210.25 from 1931-32. The board postponed adoption of the budget until Tuesday night, to check each item again.

Williams said town employees were paid Friday only by his deciding between the $11,000 semi-monthly payroll and bills for January materials. He issued the payroll and withheld the bills, he said.

Scrip, if resorted to, he said, would be redeemable in "thirty days or not till June," depending on collection of taxes for current operating costs.

The director said it was a "harsh order," but he had instructed preparation for tax sales, to liquidate $640,000 of taxes unpaid in 1931, $285,000 in 1930 and $85,000 in 1929. Tax bills for this year he expected will be out soon after May 1, to be paid optionally on a monthly instalment arrangement. Likewise for payment of back taxes, he said.

The question being asked the Town Commission by those who would buy Belleville bonds, Williams said, is: "What is the town doing to get out from under its more than $7,000,000 gross indebtedness with its heavy carrying charges?" The endeavor, he outlined, is to reduce operating expenses $75,000 of $80,000 this year and appropriate an equal amount for reduction of indebtedness, while increasing the 1931 tax rate of $4.34 little if any. He said a ten per cent cut in salaries of town employees agreed on by the Town Commission at the urgency of the bond buyers will save $50,000 to $60,000, including the five to ten per cent saving offered by the police and firemen in their elimination of vacations and the hiring of chancemen and callmen who usually fill in.

While Williams viewed the town's present condition as "critical," he said he felt the citizens were of the class who would "carry on" during two or three years of retrenchment. He intends to chart the town's status and needs and to issue a statement in a few days. He hoped the state would not delay long in paying the School Board's apportionment state school funds amounting $162,000 for the January instalment. Payment is held up due to the town having paid only $200,000, less than

THE "BIG SHOW" AT THE HALL WASN'T WORTH THE ADMISSION

Taxpayers Filled The Seats But They Missed The Best Part Which Occurred At The Conference

It wasn't worth the price to get in Monday at the Town Hall. The commissioners were on their good behavior and the weekly comedy fell flat. It may have been that they were overworked from the dress rehearsal—the afternoon conference—or they may have been too full from a meal in the interim at the Yountakah Country Club, NUTLEY.

At any rate they pushed through their evening session like nobody's business.

But the conference session was anything but a picnic.

Scheduled to start at 5 o'clock this setto got under way promptly at 6 o'clock and the fur flew up the flue so to speak.

Pleased With Result of Ad

Mrs. Lowry, of Hornblower avenue, says: "I was very much pleased with the results which my 'Ad' in your issue of January 15th brought me. I disposed of both articles, each to a separate customer, on the same day that the 'ad' appeared."

It might be well to say at this stage of our dissertation that the garbage contract which was about to be roses for the town has struck a snag and is a chaotic mess.

Belleville is faced with a lawsuit. It seems one of the bidders has found objection to the bid low bidder, Thomas Viola & NUTLEY, whose price was for taking garbage and for town for five years.

The objection is

When the Jam Cupboard Is Bare

By Alice Blake

ALONG about this time of year, after the holiday inroads have depleted the pantry, the supply of jam and jelly is usually very low. But it needn't stay that way, now that science has come to the aid of the housewife. For jam and jelly that is equally as delicious as that made in summer can now be made at any time of the year, from dried or canned fruit, or bottled fruit juices.

And the making of jam and jelly in winter is only the work of a few moments and is economical. For example, just after you have used your canned peaches for cake filling or other dessert, you can make up a few glasses of delicious jelly with the left-over syrup, some sugar and bottled fruit pectin.

If your jam cupboard is getting low, try these recipes:

Jelly from Canned Peach Syrup
 • 2 cups (1 lb.) syrup
 4 cups (1 1/2 lbs.) sugar
 1/2 cup bottled fruit pectin

Drain syrup from canned fruit. Juice of 1 lemon may be added to measure syrup if it lacks flavor or tartness.
 Measure sugar and syrup into large saucepan. Mix and bring to a boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. As soon as mixture boils, add fruit pectin, stirring constantly, and bring to a full rolling boil. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 6 eight-ounce glasses.

Here's another method of securing the valuable nutritive elements that are present in dried apricots.

Dried Apricot Jam
 4 cups (2 lbs.) prepared fruit
 7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
 1 bottle fruit pectin

Add 3 1/2 cups water to 1/2 pound dried apricots. Cover, let stand hours or overnight. Then simmer, covered, 30 minutes. Drain, grind or chop fine, and mix with juice.

Measure sugar into large kettle, add prepared fruit, filling up last cup with water if necessary. Mix well, bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Then remove kettle from fire and stir in fruit pectin. Skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.

and Marilyn Jacobson, Steward Lawn, Richard and Alfred Cherin, Hortense and Shirley Forest and Elaine Weinglass. Each of the little guests performed, games were played and awards were presented to all. Upon leaving everyone assured their host that they had had a glorious time.

Mrs. Marie Werwa of 350 DeWitt avenue, is recuperating at the Homeopathic Hospital, East Orange, from a major operation.

Bruce Gilbraith of 15 VanRensselaer place is convalescing from an operation for a ruptured appendix. He is at the Homeopathic Hospital, East Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Frazer are entertaining three tables of bridge on Saturday night. Guests are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richards, Mrs. Elizabeth Kibbe, Miss Jane Stirit, Miss Adele Peck, Donald Frazer and Mr. and Mrs. George Newman.

Mrs. James MacMillan of Mertz avenue, was entertained at luncheon by Mrs. George Endersby of Newark on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Virtue of Mertz avenue will be bridge guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Ross of Irvington, Saturday night.

Mrs. Harry White of Overlook avenue gave a birthday surprise party in her home Saturday night in honor of her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Laird of 301 Stephens street. About twenty guests were present from Belleville and the Oranges. Mrs. Laird received many gifts of gold, as well as other beautiful things. The decorative scheme was carried out in rainbow colors, and delicious refreshments were served. Games and singing passed the evening away pleasantly.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wilson and son Joseph of Union avenue were at their summer home in Indian Lake and were delighted with the beauty of the lake in winter, and "just did not like to return home."

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cornell and daughter Alice, of VanHouten place will week-end with Mr. Cornell's aunt, Mrs. Grace Cornell, at Vine-land, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. William Handley and Mr. and Mrs. William Welthoffer of New street and L. V. Merritt of Nutley, will attend a bridge at the home of Mrs. Lillian McGinley, of East Orange, Saturday evening.

Mrs. L. E. Stanton of DeWitt avenue was hostess to the Rho Gamma Sigma Club Tuesday evening with present the Misses Katherine and Irene Cook of Orange; Misses Nellie and Sadie McKeon of Roseville; Miss Mary Fisher of Newark; Mrs. John Doyle and Mrs. Victor B. Coen of East Orange, and Mrs. Warren Kinn of Belleville. Bridge was played with honor going to Miss Fisher.

Mrs. Robert Louer of Adelaide street will entertain at luncheon on Wednesday for Mrs. Samuel MacInnes, Mrs. Ernest Harris, Mrs. Herbert Ainsworth and Mrs. Julius Schreyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nunn of Garden avenue, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sheard of Hornblower avenue Saturday night, and Thursday night Mr. and Mrs. Nunn were entertained at bridge by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Nunn of Garden avenue, with honors going to Guy Nunn.

Arthur Bennington of Fairway avenue is at Albany, N. Y., where he will remain for the coming few weeks on business.

Depression sweetens the disposition of some of us, as it hardens others. A colored woman called on a prominent Belleville resident where she is employed at times, and talking over the employment situation said, "Well, I have a half day's work, that's all, but I keep a song in my heart just the same."

Mrs. Ada Tansey and Mrs. Laura Walker will hold a card party at Berkeley avenue, Bloomfield, tonight. Refreshments will be served.

Ideal Court, Order of the Amaranth, will meet for installation of officers Monday night at Orange and Broad street, Newark. Many Belleville women are members of the Order and among those from town who will be installed are Mrs. Hazel Tailmadge, Mrs. Kitty Knowles and Mrs. Lu Derrig. Mrs. Roberta Wertz is organist.

Mrs. Dorothea Herrmann, Worthy Matron of Belleville Chapter, O. E. S., will occupy the east at Rutherford Chapter, O. E. S., January 25. Members of Belleville Chapter who expect to attend the reception to Worthy District Deputy Mrs. Oliver at Copstone Temple, Kearny avenue, Kearny, January 27, are Worthy Matron, Mrs. Dorothea Herrmann, Worthy Patron, John Herrmann; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Teresa Mack, and Miss Lillian Harris. Miss Alice Cowburn of Areme Chapter will accompany Miss Harris.

Many members and their friends are planning to attend the card party at Reid's ice cream plant January 27. The bus will leave the Masonic Temple, Joralemon street promptly at 1 P. M.

BELL SOCIALS
 The Junior League of Belleville tendered a card party at the Community Center Monday evening. About thirty tables were in play and the affair was successful in all respects. The entire proceeds are to be used for charitable purposes.

Miss May Parsonnet of Newark was the week-end guest of Miss Estelle Baron, of Belleville.

Newark Art Institute To Open Its Doors To Belleville-Nutley

Under Capable Guidance of Mrs. Klein Great Strides Are Noted

In line with the innovation of many new courses the Newark Art Institute is opening its doors to clubwomen and housewives of Belleville and Nutley. The institute has always been of a more or less private nature since its opening fifty years ago.

Since the installation of Mrs. Klein, former journalist and art critic, as supervisor, the school has progressed rapidly. Courses in cooking, art, literature, interior decorating, economy and speech making are offered to all ladies who realize the good that can come from them.

Comic Pages Educate As Well As Entertain

Newspaper "Funnies" Receiving Serious Study By Teachers

Child entertainment is a subject which is receiving much attention just now from educators and child psychologists. The present trend is to look upon entertainment as of scarcely less importance than proper education. The child's use of spare time, educators agree, demands direction and supervision if it is to be of maximum value in obtaining a well-balanced development.

In this connection, the newspaper comic strips are receiving the serious study of the psychologists. These "funnies" represent for the child what more sophisticated forms of humor represent for the adult. Their purpose is avowedly entertainment. But entertainment may exert either a clean and wholesome influence or it may demoralize.

The most recent trend among the best purveyors of this form of entertainment is toward subjects and treatment that will develop the child's sense of humor and love of fun, rather than stunt the growth of these highly desirable characteristics. The "funnies" in the higher class newspapers — the New York Herald Tribune has been particularly active in this raising of the standards of humor — and their subjects in the daily life of the community, the sort of amusing, sometimes pathetically amusing, things that happen to all of us. The effect of these newer comics on the child, or on the adult reader, is to make him quick to see the amusing side of the world about him and ready to accept with a sense of humor the petty misfortunes of everyday life. The sympathetic treatment of the follies and foibles of average human beings inculcates a breadth of sympathy which ordinarily is looked for only in those of more mature years.

An indication of the appeal of these modernized comics is to be found in the attention which is being given to them by the highest class metropolitan dailies. For example, the New York Herald Tribune has eight of these features every Sunday, each occupying a full page in colors. The artists are among the best known humorous artists in the country, including among them Johnny Gruelle, whose children's books have had an enormous sale; Rea Irvin, Harrison Cady, H. T. Webster and Gene Byrnes.

It happened that two men bearing the same name both lived in the same city. One of them died, and about the same time his neighbor went to southern California. When the latter arrived in California he sent his wife a telegram informing her of his safe journey, but unfortunately it was delivered to the widow of the other man. What was the surprise of the widow when she read:

"Arrived safely—heat terrific."

ORANGE FROSTED SNOW CAKE

It's New! It's Delicious!

The newspaper you read is the window through which you look at the world!

THROUGH smoked glass the world looks gloomy and sordid. (Some newspapers make it look like that.)

Through rose-colored glass the world looks glamorous but unreal. (Some newspapers make it look like that.)

People who look at the world through the New York Herald Tribune see it clearly and without distortion, see it as vital and exciting as it really is.

Your personality, your character depend on what you experience. Your closest view of the life of the world at large is through the newspaper you read every day. You even grow like the paper you read. Isn't it pretty important to choose a paper that will show you life as it is?

Life isn't a lily that needs to be painted. There is plenty of laughter in it, and plenty of tears. Both are in the Herald Tribune—the sidelight that will give you an honest laugh and the human story that will touch your heart. The only thing the Herald Tribune has no time for is dullness. We believe that a fact that is dull means only that a dull mind reported it.

Try the Herald Tribune for a week and see if life isn't more exciting, more amusing and more worth living than you thought it was!

FASHIONS

in

EVERY group of styles seems to have a definite personality, and, because this is true, it's not at all surprising to note that the sartorial ideas of the present are exemplified by gaiety and happiness. Since there is a carefree, happy spirit in the air, our fashions are prone to reflect this same joyous feeling.

This zest is noted in many charming designs. There is, for instance, the slip that boasts of three rows of ruffles at its hemline and is just the thing to wear with long gracious evening gowns, or with semi-formal frocks. (McCall 6615.) Any feminine heart would appreciate its daintiness and gay originality. Then, there is the blouse with swirling scarf collar that uses two and three colors in distinguished harmony. (McCall 6692.) Bows at the cuffs and at the waistline give it chic, while the smartness of its collar treatment assures it of popularity. (By courtesy of The McCall Company.)

Painless Way To Serve Vitamin C, With Grapefruit Ponce de Leon Ate First

The Canned Variety Saves Much Time And Energy

Ponce de Leon, adventurer and discoverer of Florida, may not have the Fountain of Youth as he hoped, but he did start one meritorious practice when he fed his buccaneers on the "pomelo" because he thought it must be good for them. We know how Ponce "built better than he knew," because the pomelo, sweetened, adapted and improved, was the ancestor of our grapefruit, a most valuable source of vitamin C.

The homemaker and menu-planner, knowing that while only small amounts of the "anti-scorbutic" vitamin will keep us from the afflictions resulting from its lack, a large amount is necessary for full health and vigor, will be glad to find she can serve grapefruit painlessly! Experiments have proven that vitamin C in grapefruit is not destroyed by the canning process. Not a segment, not a core, not even a seed to remove!

Canned grapefruit is versatile—serve it as a canape or cocktail for the first course; as a main dish, as a salad for the central course; or as a fruit dessert. And by all means remember it's famous for its "wake-up taste" for breakfast!

Care Of House Plants

By A. C. McLEAN

N. J. Agricultural Extension Service

Many plants, among them Azalea, Heather and Cineraria, are bought from the florist when they are already in bloom. Although these plants are beautiful when they are first brought home they soon seem to droop and lose their freshness.

There are at least two reasons for this reaction, the atmosphere in the house may be too dry or the plants may not have been given enough water. The former condition may be corrected by moistening the air through the use of pans of water heaped upon the radiators. Spraying the leaves with water from an atomizer is also helpful. Flowering plants and practically all plants when they are in full bloom, require lots of water. The florist in the greenhouse will water his lowering stock at least twice a day and sometimes more often when the sun is shining. It is not strange, therefore, that flowers droop in the average house, where they are placed in water for a short time, taken out and then forgotten for twelve hours or more. To rectify this latter condition, then, plants should be watered regularly, but not overwatered. Most flowering plants, if they are kept properly and if the moisture in the room is watched, should last in full bloom for a long time.

If a plant collapses suddenly, gas leaks should be sought, for a plant is much more susceptible than a human being to gas and its unhealthy condition is frequently an indication of gas escaping in the house. Although certain plants, such as the Jerusalem Cherry, are particularly susceptible to gas injury, few plants are resistant to it.

Why Get Up Nights?

Head Nature's Warning. Make this 25c test. Drive out impurities, and excess acids that cause irritation resulting in leg pains, backache, burning and bladder irregularities. Bu-Kets, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., works pleasantly and effectively on the bladder as castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c test box from any druggist. After a few days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

Malonnais dressing
Iceberg lettuce or other green
4 ripe olives or pickled walnuts.
Arrange segments of grapefruit on bed of lettuce to form a star. Lay strips of pimiento between segments. Place a halved ripe olive or slice of pickled walnut at center of star and decorate segments of grapefruit with tiny bits of relish. Serve with plain mayonnaise or any favorite salad dressing. This recipe serves four.

Frosty Fruit Mold

(A Frozen Dessert Salad)

- 1 No. 1 can grapefruit
- 1 No. 2 can mixed fruit
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 1 cup chopped almonds
- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
- 1/2 pkg. pasteurized dates.

Drain canned fruits thoroughly, cut in small pieces, combine the fruits, celery and almonds. Whip cream and add it to mayonnaise. Add cream and mayonnaise to fruit. Pack in trays of mechanical refrigerator or in a tightly sealed mold in a mixture of ice and salt until frozen (about 4 hours). Unmould. Serve in lettuce and garnish with a small amount of cream mayonnaise. Yield, 1 1/2 quarts. (12-14 servings).

Molded Grapefruit With Cream Cheese

(Main Dish Salad)

- 2 tbsps. gelatine
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 No. 1 can grapefruit
- 1/2 cup sugar
- Juice of 1 lemon
- Lettuce
- 1 cream cheese
- 2 doz. canned white cherries
- 2 doz. filberts.

Soak gelatine in cold water five minutes. Cook sugar and juice drained from grapefruit until sugar is dissolved. Add lemon juice and gelatine. Strain. Add grapefruit segments. Fill a cold wet ring mould half full with grapefruit jelly mixture. Let stand in refrigerator until it begins to thicken.

Form cheese into small balls about 1 inch in diameter. When jelly in mould has begun to set arrange these balls of cheese at regular intervals in the mold. Add the rest of the gelatine mixture and chill until perfectly stiff.

When ready to use, unmould on a bed of lettuce. Pit cherries and stuff with blanched filberts or bits of other nut meats. Fill center of grapefruit mold with cherries. Garnish with mayonnaise. This salad will serve 6 to 8.

Green And Gold Dessert

- 1 pkg. lime gelatin
  - 1 cup boiling water
  - 1 No. 1 can grapefruit
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain juice from can of grapefruit into measuring cup; add sufficient cold water to fill cup. Add grapefruit juice to dissolved gelatin; pour into a rinsed shallow pan. Chill; cut into cubes, and pile in glasses with grapefruit segments.

Radio Garden Club Program

"Planning the Garden," will be the subject of the New Jersey College of Agriculture Radio Garden Club broadcast of next Wednesday, January 20, from WOR, Newark, at 2 P. M.

The speaker, Dr. C. H. Connors, ornamental horticulturist of the New Jersey College of Agriculture and Experiment Station, will discuss the pruning of trees, moving trees and shrubs, plant lists and seed lists, ordering seeds, repairing garden tools and other topics of interest to gardeners.

Next Wednesday's broadcast will be the third in a series which the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station, with the cooperation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is putting on the air each week.

Persons interested may enroll in the Radio Garden Club without the payment of dues or any other assessments. Club members are sent mimeographed digests of the garden broadcasts each week.

AUTHORITY SPEAKS

THE following statement summing up the latest scientific findings about canned foods formed part of an article contributed by Dr. Walter H. Eddy to a recent issue of Good Housekeeping. It answers so many questions on this subject, and clears up so many points upon which all housewives want information, that we applied to the editor of Good Housekeeping for permission to quote it.

"Nutrition experts have advocated a greater consumption of fruits and vegetables, largely because of their vitamin content, their mineral salts, their alkaline residue, and the bulk and roughage they add to the diet. They also contribute some calories, some protein, fat and carbohydrate, but these factors are usually abundantly supplied in other food articles such as meat, cereals, and root vegetables, and we need not be particularly concerned with the effect of canning on these caloric supplies.

"In passing, however, it is worth noting that very little loss of these factors occurs in substituting a canned fruit or a vegetable for a fresh type, especially if we conserve the liquid as well as the solid content of our can."

Dr. Eddy then gives tables which show that fresh and canned products vary only a little in caloric supplies and in mineral salts, and continues:

"Such tables show that while the amounts of nutrients differ slightly in the various forms, the canned products contain all the nutrients present in the fresh article. Canning has not eliminated any food factor contributed by the fresh product. Concentration, as in puréeing, or dilution by can water, may affect the percentages slightly. Research has centered on the effect of canning on factors such as vitamin content, especially when it was learned that some of these food factors are capable of destruction by heat under certain conditions.

"The author of this article and his research colleague, Dr. E. F. Kohlman, have devoted nearly eight years now to the study of this question of whether canning damages the vitamin content of fruits and vegetables. The answer that can be given today rests on an actual measurement of the vitamin content of fruits and vegetables in the raw state, after preparation by the usual home cooking recipes, and after submission to commercial canning procedure. Details of these assays have appeared in scientific literature and are available to those interested. They may be summarized here as follows:

"1. Neither fruits nor vegetables lose appreciable amounts of vitamin A in the home cooking or canning process.

"2. Vitamin B 1 suffers some destruction in both home cooking and in canning, the product, however, remaining after canning or cooking a good source of this factor if it contained it in abundance in the raw state.

"3. Vitamin B 2 or G is little affected by home cooking or canning.

"4. Vitamin C. If we contrast the content of this factor in the fresh fruit or vegetable with the home-cooked or canned product we note usually some loss in the latter. Canned peas, for example, lose about one-third of their raw content, while canned tomatoes lose practically none. If we contrast home-cooked and canned fruits and vegetables we find invariably that the canning process conserves vitamin C better than the ordinary home-cooking methods.

"We now know that vitamin C is destroyed by oxidation, not by heat per se, and that if oxygen is present heating will increase destruction. The reason why canned foods suffer less destruction of this scurvy preventative vitamin is because the process reduces the chances of oxidation. In this connection it is also interesting to find that even fresh fruits and vegetables suffer a progressive loss of this factor of greater or lesser degree with storage or with delay between picking and marketing while there is no evidence of such change in the canned product over long periods of storage.

"We may then accept the canned fruits and vegetables as excellent sources of the vitamins these foods are relied on to supply, and this conclusion is now supported by abundant evidence based on actual assays."

Dr. Eddy then gives a third table illustrating the relation between the vitamin C content of typical canned, home-cooked and raw fruits and vegetables, showing that a lesser amount of canned than of the home-cooked product is necessary to protect test animals against scurvy. He describes the animal tests, and concludes:

"The development of the canning industry, commercial and home, seems by these tests to be more than justified as a means of providing protective foods at all seasons. The effect of the industry on the family budget is true economy since there is no loss of health values in the substitution of the canned product for a more expensive fresh fruit or vegetable. It would be unfortunate if we lost from our markets the fresh products, for much of our happiness at mealtime would suffer if they disappeared, but it is comforting to know that canning saves for us the food values which these protective foods supply."

First of the local speakers was E. A. Rung, vice president, First National Bank and chairman of the nominating committee of the association who reported his committee had decided that all the officers for 1931 be re-elected. William J. Orchard, of Wallace & Tiernan, Inc., spoke on the activities of the association particularly in regard to the zoning question.

H. Willard Sawyer of the Thompson Machine Company, discussed the recent work of Association members in their endeavors to cooperate with the Commissioners on the financial position of the town.

Victor Schleicher, president of the Affiliated Group of Improvement Associations, enlarged on the need and importance of organization.

George R. Gerard, president of the Rotary Club of Belleville and former superintendent of schools, discussed the position of Belleville's Schools in comparison with those of other New Jersey towns.

Principal speaker of the evening was Noel Sargeant, manager of the Industrial Relations Department of the National Association of Manufacturers. The high lights of Mr. Sargeant's speech was the necessity for local associations to join with other similar organizations both in the state and nation; and should hold strongly together in good times as well as bad; that there should be more effort made to create public

One often hears it said these days that it is more dangerous to drive slowly than to drive fast. Like most generalities that statement has some glaring inadequacies. Certainly it is not true that a collision between two slow moving cars is as productive of frightful tragedy as one between vehicles traveling at a high rate of speed.

The truth of the matter undoubtedly is that there is too much fast driving for conditions and quite a bit that is too slow.

"For conditions" should qualify every consideration of the subject of motor car speeds. With that qualification in mind slow driving is revealing the close study of motor vehicle and traffic authorities in all parts of the country. Many profess to see a developing trend toward the imposition of stern penalties for the driver who proceeds at a slow pace when conditions are such as to demand a faster rate.

The significance of the situation appears to be that it forecasts the day when the road hog is going to be put out of business. It is not only his speed that makes the road hog a dangerous nuisance on the modern highway. It is a combination of speed and position. If he keeps in his proper place to the right hand side of the highway a driver's rate of travel does not make so much difference. Most motorists will admit that they have no antipathy for the slow driver provided he does not obstruct the lane in which they normally pass him.

It is this fact that may delay the wholesale enactment of minimum speed limit regulations by the various states.

In this connection it is interesting to note that the State which first considered such legislation still is without any enactment on the subject. But, it is not letting the road hog continue his depredations. On the contrary, it is waging a rigorous campaign against him, one that is based upon the existing regulations providing for the right-lane driving. The opinion of officials in this case is that if drivers can be taught correct position on the highway, the speed aspect of road hogging will take care of itself.

So far, this is the sentiment of the majority of motor vehicle officials on the subject.

A point that motorists should consider is that it should not be necessary either to concentrate traffic law enforcement attention upon road hogging or to pass another law designed to correct it. Primarily it should be regarded as a condition to be corrected by the individual driver.

If, however, the motorist will not reform his practices to make them conform to present laws and to the canons of safe motor vehicle operation then the corrective influence of both vigorous enforcement campaigns and new laws will be invoked. Neither is popular, either with administrative officials or with motor vehicle owners.

But the fact remains that there is a growing sentiment against road hogging as one of traffic's greatest evils. It will be ended, one way or another and 1932 is destined to mark the acceleration of its demise, not only in New Jersey, but in all parts of the country.

B. M. A. And Auxiliary Held Meeting At Elks'

A meeting of the B. M. A. and Auxiliary of the B. P. O. E., was held Monday evening, January 11. About fifty members were present.

Plans have been made for a pig's knuckles and sauerkraut supper to be held February 3 at the Elks' Home.

The auxiliary was organized in 1927.

Baby Girl Dies

Marion Ann Davis, fourteen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Davis of 40 DeWitt avenue, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, Montclair, Tuesday of burns suffered Monday when her mother accidentally spilled boiling water on her. Mrs. Davis tripped over the child when carrying water from the stove to the sink for washing dishes.

Mr. Davis wrapped the child in a blanket, taking her to Dr. Edward A. Flynn. At the hospital she lived eight hours.

Funeral services were held at the home Wednesday. Burial was in Holy Sepulcher Cemetery.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Belleville Girl Scouts held their annual rally and court of awards at the high school gym last Saturday evening before a large gathering of parents and friends.

Commissioner of Girl Scouts, Mrs. William P. Adams, gave a short address of welcome to the assembly. Mayor S. S. Kenworthy spoke to the Girl Scouts, saying he paid his tribute to the work of Scouting and told of the problems they would be called upon to solve. Mr. Wayne R. Farmer, superintendent of schools, told of the joys the Girl Scouts would have and says he is sorry he can't be one, too.

Mrs. William Cornish presented the badges, about 150, to the various members who have earned them. Mrs. Adams awarded the cups, one for window display to Troop No. 7, and one for baseball, to Troop No. 11. A medal for the best camper at the first official Belleville Camp last summer, was presented to Audrey Eppler of Troop No. 6.

The latter part of the program was devoted to a portrayal of the Life of George Washington, in a celebration of the bi-centennial. Troop No. 1 presented a living picture, in different positions of the "Christening of George Washington." The costumes were very colorful and pleasing. Mother, Mary Washington, Ena Holden; father, Augustine Washington, Marion Miller; minister, Ellen Schenck. Other of the troop were guests.

Troop No. 2 portrayed the episode that saved this nation — George Washington as a boy of 15, about to join the British Navy, found his mother in tears and decided to remain home. Mother, Ruth Harris; George Washington, Edna Heyl; Lawrence Washington, Elizabeth Ball; boy, Phyllis Dettelbach. During this pantomime, the story was read by Ellen Cornish.

Troop No. 3 acted out George Washington's wedding to the young widow, Martha Curtis. Scene laid in the small church, wedding guests assembled, and then the wedding procession. Bride, Jessie Redden; groom, Lavina Albrow; minister, May Brown; bride's father, Elsie Brown.

Troop No. 6—Tableau of George Washington Crossing the Delaware." The lights flashed on to see a small boat coming through the icy waters, Ruth Buckley as George Washington in the prow.

This was followed by a presentation showing Washington leading his hastily collected army through the dark woods up to Trenton. Girls from several troops took part in this continental army.

Troop No. 7 showed George Washington and his officers at Valley Forge. This proved a very realistic picture of that bleak and snowy winter. Dolores Sauvan took the part of Washington.

Troop No. 4 displayed the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown. The scene showed a sentinel on guard—a messenger arrived on horseback and whispered to the guard. He immediately carried that message to all parts of the camp. Sentinel, Agnes Gregson; messenger, Jane Warrick.

This was followed by the Spirit of 1776, portrayed by members of the Girl Scout Fife and Drum Corps. Drummers, Ena Holden, Ruth Warner; fifer, Don Luby, flag bearer, Valerie Donnelly.

Troop No. 10 depicted George Washington's Inauguration as first President of the new nation, United States of America. Livingston, who administered the oath of office, Shirley Howell; Alexander Hamilton, who held the Bible, Ellen Hayes; George Washington, Edith Ackerman.

Troop No. 11 gave a resume of Washington's entire life, in verse, recited by five girls, Bertha Wilkes, Edith Plunkett, Juanita Ross, Jessie Bunn, and Leslie Brown. They were dressed as boys in Colonial costumes and each told of a different period—first, as a boy, then as a young man of 21, middle life as a soldier; in the White House; and at the close.

Mrs. May Holden, Director, introduced to the audience every officer, captain and lieutenant of each Troop. Mrs. Adams, commissioner, presented Mrs. Holden with a huge armful of spring flowers from members of the council.

Ruth Warner, Captain of Troop 2 blew the bugle for "assembly," and "taps."

Credit is due to Mrs. William Cornish of the council, Miss Mutch of School No. 10; Mr. Hood, of St. Peter's Fife and Drum Corps, and School No. 9 for their help in preparation of these events.

Beta Holds Regular Semi-Monthly Meet

The next meeting will be held at the home of James J. Casey, Jr. Two ever loyal members of Psi of Bloomfield, Jimmy Brenean and Al Campfield were present.

Girl's Cries On Phone Bring Police To Rescue

Father Faced Court Monday Charged With Row In Home

When her father began to "take the house apart," Sunday night, Rose Lucas of 10 Newark avenue, decided she couldn't cope with the situation alone. So she knocked the receiver from the home telephone and began to scream for help. She got it.

Three husky police officers rushed to the house when a telephone operator reported the screams coming in over the open phone. The officers subdued the father, Frank Lucas, and took him to police headquarters, where he was booked on a charge of disorderly conduct.

James L. DeRosier, School Board president, replied his board had considered the position of the town in reducing its budget. He was of the opinion no further reduction could be made "except at the expense of the child and our duty to the future citizen." He explained the $667,332.51 total requirements of the board for 1932-33 would have necessitated the raising of $504,342.51 by district tax instead of the proposed $472,831.51 had it not been for unexpended balances on hand which the board intended "draining to the rock bottom."

The school board "hated like the dickens," he said, the possibility of part-time pupils, and would uphold tradition only as a last resort. He said the high school was already overcrowded.

William W. Stewart of the finance committee said it should be understood if further reduction could be made citizens should "stand the responsibility."

of the Bureau in its effort to secure positions for its unemployed members.

The next meeting will be known as past councilor's night, at which time Gustave A. Hartman of Irvington will present to all past councilors of Belleville Council, a silver past councilor jewel. The jewel is a work of art and it behooves every past councilor to be present to receive it.

The good and welfare committee has plenty of entertainment for this night, which will consist of music, favors, vaudeville and plenty of refreshments.

The council hopes to make this a banner night; something that all of our past councilors will remember to the end of their days.

Remember the day and date — Tuesday evening, January 26, at 8 o'clock.

The welfare committee will receive you at the door.

The last meeting was attended by seventy-six members and forty-two visitors.

In the SPOTLIGHT

BY MORRIS UDANSKY

(thanks to William Gray)

This strip is gonna be different this week—I'm gonna give you the true facts about Paul Revere and his famous ride—for 156 years America has believed that the renowned horseman had set out on that historical ride to "—spread the alarm

Through every Middlesex village and farm.

For the country folk to be up and to arm."

but for 156 years America has been all wet—and so was Paul—if this were to be a regular news feature the caption would be: "A SIP THAT MADE A NATION." "How a shot of rum made Paul Revere a Red Hot Fighting Man!"

Mr. Revere set out on his journey to warn Hancock and Adams to duck outta the country or else they would be arrested for being Kibitzers—while he was about it he was supposed to tell the patriots of Middlesex to hide their military supplies or Mr. Redcoat would be after them too—Paul started out and was doing fine but he had the tough luck of runnin' into a couple British horsemen—one of them gave him an awful chase—Paul's chances of gettin' away looked pretty slim only the tea drinker rode into a clay pit and the first American jockey had the Lexington-Concord highway to himself—Paul "Sande" Revere was kinda hot under the collar so he stopped off at the domicile of Isaac Hall—

Isaac who was the first bootlegger saw Paul was het up so like all good hosts offered him a drink—the first shot wasn't so bad—in fact it tasted darned good to Mr. Revere—so Mr. Revere set up his glass for another—he got rid of this in great style and came along for a third—the third led to the fourth and the fourth led to the fifth—Hall had plenty cuz he made it himself and he didn't mind settin' the stuff up—the only hiten in the works though was that Paul couldn't hold his liquor—

After that brief stay the night rider found himself pretty pie-eyed—he set out once more on his journey and like anyone else was pretty hoisterous from the effects of the rum—he had to vent his feelin' somehow—he started to sing "Sweet Adeline" but he couldn't remember the words—then he tried "Barnacle Bill" but that wasn't so good either—his numbed senses dimly re-called the two redcoats he had run into—goldarn that was it he'd take it out on them—

From then on Paul's ride is history—he rode through signal lights as though they weren't there—traffic cops didn't mean a thing to him—keeps in line—not him, he had a grudge against those guys who dressed like Santa Claus—so as he rode he yelled "the British are—hic—coming—the British are—hic—coming—to arms ye braves, to arms!"

The peepul heard him and answered the call—and as the British liked Paul Revere and didn't want to see him get in dutch with the tax payers they came—as you know, they got licked and Paul Revere was the hero of the nation—which all proves that Longfellow might have been o. k. as a poet but he wasn't so hot as a reporter—

TAX RATE CUT DUE TO SCHOOLS

Six-Point Reduction Is Expected From Budget Slash

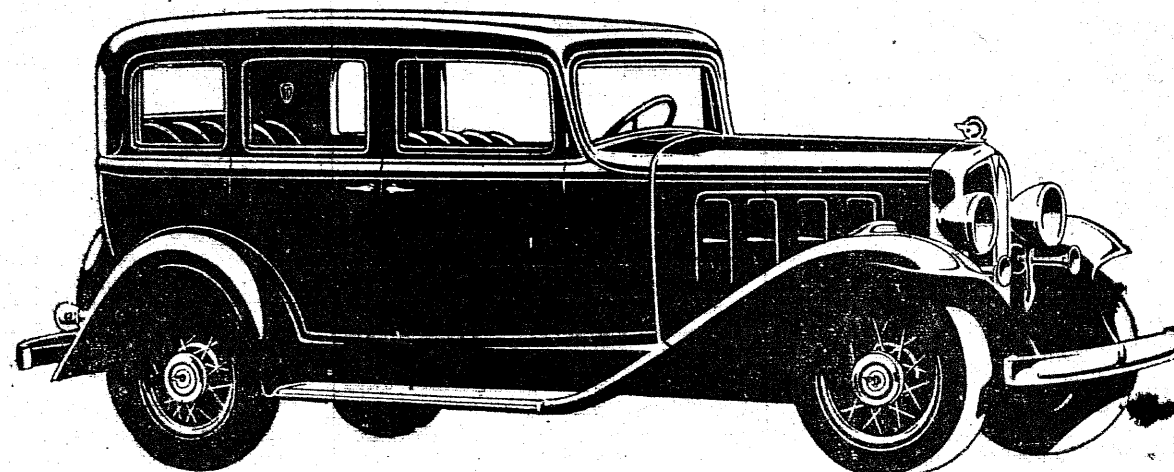

Taxpayers look forward to a six-point reduction in the 1932 tax rate, made possible by drastic slashes in the Board of Education budget adopted Tuesday night. The original budget, showing a reduction of $10,200 in operating expenses, was to have been adopted on Monday night, but following pleas for greater economy made by Commissioner William H. Williams and several taxpayers, that meeting was adjourned and further cuts of $22,900 made.

The reduced budget calls for $449,941.51 to be raised by taxation, as against $482,051.76 raised last year.

Principal cuts made Tuesday night were: One thousand two hundred dollars for a non-teaching clerk appointed last year; elimination of special classes for backward children amounting to a saving of $7,200; reduction of $10,000 in maintenance to buildings account, and $4,000, representing a salary cut of 10 per cent for all non-teaching employees.

Mrs. Mary Porter Sheldon cast the only vote against the reduction budget. She said: "A reduction of over $30,000 is not fair to our children and I can't bear to vote for it." At a previous meeting other members of the board said that drastic reductions could only be made at the expense of the child and disclaimed responsibility for the action.

PONTIAC ANNOUNCES A NEW 6, A NEW V-8

chief of values

Pontiac offers these important developments at no extra cost

- SYNCRO-MESH
- QUIET SECOND
- FREE WHEELING
- RIDE CONTROL
- LONGER WHEELBASE
- INCREASED POWER AND HIGH SPEED
- GREATER ECONOMY
- NEW, ROOMIER FISHER BODIES
- RUBBER CUSHIONING AT 47 CHASSIS POINTS
- ENCLOSED SPRINGS
- RIDING COMFORT
- FULL PRESSURE LUBRICATION

THE NEW PONTIAC SIX Brings the Important Developments of the Year to the Low-Price Field

Value takes on an entirely new meaning with the new Pontiac Six just introduced. Here you'll find real riding comfort, great speed and power, smart styling, at extremely low first-cost and low running cost.

The transmission is Syncro-Mesh for effortless shifting. The new second gear is quiet. Then you have free wheeling... all three of these improvements at no extra cost. There's a big, powerful motor for extra speed extra pick-up, extra stamina.

Comfort is notably advanced—Ride Control to adjust shock absorbers as you drive; long wheelbase; rubber cushioning at 47 chassis points; enclosed springs.

Interiors, too, present unusual values... rich, well-tailored upholstery, easy-reading clock-type instruments, tasteful appointments. See this new Pontiac—ask for a demonstration. You'll agree it is an outstanding General Motors value. G. M. A. C. terms, if you wish.

THE NEW PONTIAC V-8 Offers the Distinction of V-8 Performance at a List Price under $850

Only "luxury" cars have offered the brilliant, reliable V-type motor. Now you can have it in Pontiac V-Eight at a list price below $850!

And with distinctive performance you also get Syncro-Mesh, quiet second gear, free wheeling, Ride Control... Weight and length are what a powerful, fast car requires for fine balance and roominess. Fisher craftsmen have contributed striking body design, rich interior finish.

If you have owned smaller, less capable cars, Pontiac V-Eight will advance all your motoring standards without greatly increasing your expenditure. If you have driven expensive cars, Pontiac V-Eight will give you most of the same advantages at far lower cost.

Let us show you how this remarkable car combines engineering leadership and true riding luxury at a price never before known in automotive history.

CHURCHES

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach, Rector.

Septuagesima Sunday. Holy communion at 7:45.

Morning prayer and sermon at 11 o'clock, topic, "To Whom Shall We Go?"

On Sunday evening the Bishop will be present to administer Confirmation, and will preach. The adults who are to be confirmed, met Mr. Deckenbach at the rectory, for instruction, last evening, and the children's class will meet at the parish house, this afternoon.

On Sunday evening, January 31, there will be a candle light admission service of the Girls' Friendly Society. The Rev. Addison T. Doughty of Bloomfield who is chaplain of the Institutions and Hospitals of Hudson and Essex Counties, will be the preacher on this occasion.

On Monday evening the Branch President of the Girls' Friendly Society, Mrs. George A. Kelsall, accompanied by two of her associates Mrs. Martha Peck and Mrs. Herbert Ainsworth, and three members, the Misses Martha Carswell, Helen Kelsall and Dolores Sanvan, attended an amateur moving picture on Hawaii, given by Mrs. H. M. Shannon, Branch President of Grace Church, Nutley, G. F. S., at St. Agnes' Church, East Orange, for the benefit of the unemployment fund of the Girls' Friendly Society of the Diocese. Mrs. Shannon made the trip to Hawaii and took the pictures herself.

The Altar Guild held its regular monthly meeting in the club room of the parish house on Monday evening. The cabaret supper which was held on Friday evening, proved to be a great success, both socially and financially and Mrs. J. Harry Edwards, directress of the Altar Guild, wishes to thank all those who helped to make it go over so well. It will long be remembered as a most enjoyable affair.

At Monday evening's meeting, Mrs. George A. Kelsall was made an honorary member of the Altar Guild, with annual dues, and it is hoped there are others who feel that they would like to do this, thus having a financial share, in this very important organization.

By special invitation, the Woman's Auxiliary will hold its next meeting at the home of Miss Violet Dwyer, one of its charter members, 22 Essex street. The date is Monday evening, February 1, at 8 o'clock. All members please note.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

Rutherford—Pierpont Avenue.

Passaic—276 Main Street.

Montclair—8 Hillside Avenue.

Newark—65 Roseville Avenue.

"Truth," will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 24, 1932.

The Golden Text is: "God shall send for his mercy and his truth." (Psalms 57: 3).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity." (Luke 13: 11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Principle of healing is proved in the personal experience of any sincere seeker of Truth. Its purpose is good, and its practice is safer and more potent than that of any other sanitary method." (Preface x).

THE FIGHT IS ON HERE BETWEEN RED AND BLUE ARMIES OF GROUP

Red and Blue Armies clashed at the Everyman's Bible Class, Sunday morning session in the Masonic Temple, Joralemon street. The Blue Army led by General Wilson defeated General Kunze and his Red Army. The Blue Army has a slight lead in the attendance contest of ten weeks, total attendance to count.

A class of this kind is representative of good citizenship and should receive the backing of all wide awake men of Belleville.

President William H. Bradshaw, invites those men of Belleville who believe in a high standard of citizenship, those fathers who believe it worth the time and energy to set a high example for their sons and daughters, and those sons who have faith in the boys of today to join one of the Armies, get in the contest and help spread the spirit of good will and good fellowship among men.

All men who are out of work or depressed are invited to attend the sessions of our Class. We want you, not your money!

The entertainment committee headed by Charles Rorbach, is about to make arrangements for an entertainment and smoker. For further announcement watch this newspaper.

Hilaire Belloc Will Appear In Jersey

Is Scheduled At College Of Saint Elizabeth March 18

Hilaire Belloc, noted English author, playwright, and poet, will make his first appearance in New Jersey on his present lecture tour on Friday evening, March 18, at the College of Saint Elizabeth, Convent Station, N. J., it was announced by Sister Marie Jose, dean of the College. Mr. Belloc has not yet disclosed the subject of his lecture.

Why Get Up Nights?

Heed Nature's Warning.
Make this 25c test. Drive out impurities and excess acids that cause irritation resulting in leg pains, backache, burning and bladder irregularities. Bu-Kex, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., works pleasantly and effectively on the bladder as castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c test box from any druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

Bible Printed In 924 Languages; India Alone Has It In 111 Tongues

Although the Bible, or parts of it, have been published in 924 languages, it has not yet been reduced to writing for many peoples, declares J. Frederick Talcott, newly elected president of the American Bible Society. Photograph shows Mr. Talcott (seated) with the Rev. Eric M. North (left) and the Rev. George William Brown, general secretaries of the Society.

NEW YORK.—The Bible or some part of it has appeared in 924 languages and dialects, according to a statement made today by Mr. J. Frederick Talcott, president of the American Bible Society. This figure, in which no duplication of languages or dialects occurs, represents the publications of the three major Bible Societies functioning throughout the world, the American Bible Society, the British and Foreign Bible Society, the National Bible Society of Scotland, as well as some missionary organizations.

The latest edition from the press is the Gospel of St. Mark, in the Daktarkari dialect used by one of the tribes in West Africa. Of the more than 500 languages and dialects spoken in Africa only about 275 have printing characters, while a large percentage of the remaining have not yet been reduced to writing. India has the Scriptures printed in only 111 languages, although there are 179 languages, and hundreds of dialects spoken in this thickly populated land. Millions of Indians throughout South America have no Scriptures in their various dialects. "The New Testament appears in but three of the many Indian tongues."

Mr. Talcott predicts that 1932 will be one of the American Bible Society's most active years. The new president of the Society, a native New Yorker, was graduated from Princeton in 1888, and also studied in Oxford and Berlin. He is president of James Talcott, Inc., and a director in numerous business and financial organizations. His activities in religious and social work are widespread.

Poor Schooling Price Of Further Cuts, Says School Board Pres.

James L. DeRosset Warns
Finance Commissioner

In Response To Plea

What price economy?

"Any further cutting-down of expenses on the 1932 budget will be done at the expense of the children's education," James DeRosset, president of the School Board said at a meeting Monday night.

Urging that the budget be put on a rock-bottom basis, Commissioner Williams told the board that the bankers who hold the town's temporary improvement bonds have promised renewals if municipal expenses are cut to the bone.

"The board took into consideration Belleville's financial condition in preparing the budget," said DeRosset. He pointed to decreases of more than $16,200 from the 1930 school expense schedule.

This year the budget calls for the expenditure of $472,841, of which $388,900 is for salaries. There is a $1,100 decrease in the educational supplies item, a decrease in lumped janitorial salaries of $200, and similar reductions all along the line DeRosset stated.

The constant increase in school enrollment makes the reduction problem a difficult one, he declared. The high school, in particular, he said, was overcrowded, adding that a new building could be used to good advantage.

"Appropriation be cut from $1,000 to $400 and that for Memorial Day from $500 to $250.

The state-aid unemployment relief program for $65,000 and $32,200 for dependency relief, the money to be appropriated as required until June 1, was passed for filing with the state.

A saving of $700 in expenses of Armistice and Memorial Day observances has been recommended to the Town Commission by George A. Younginger Post V. F. W. The post proposes the 1931 appropriations be cut in the 1932 budget from $1,000 to $500 for Armistice Day and from $500 to $300 for Memorial Day.

High score in bridge was made on Monday by Mrs. Leonard Pikaart. Mrs. Pikaart will be one of the players in the finals for the tournament recently started. Mrs. Colfax made high score in pinocle.

Hostesses for the card party to be held on February 1 are: Mrs. George P. Oslin, Mrs. H. E. Hamilton, Mrs. Ira H. Cornell, Mrs. George Cameron and Mrs. Ernest L. Johnson. Play will be started promptly at 2:30.

THE BIG SHOW

points: that Viola did not include a certified check with his bid, drawn on some National Bank or Trust Company; instead he submitted a cashier's check from the Bank of Nutley; the consent given by the Board of Health to dump in the City of Clifton is too indefinite and that the consent of the owner of the property where the dumping is proposed is also indefinite.

Tomorrow the objections go to but before Chief Justice Gummere who will act on a rule to show cause why the action of the board in awarding the contract should not be reviewed. All of which means that if the Chief Justice rules in favor of the objector, Belleville will be faced with a long period of litigation, according to Corporation Counsel John B. Brown, which is just too bad for said contract, inasmuch as Mr. Brown stated that the Chief Justice told Brown's "nothing should be done," at this time.

Corporation Counsel William Gorman of Nutley represented Viola and declared his client would be willing to post a bond, working on a per diem basis, until the courts decide the matter, which would eliminate any collection on Viola's part from the town on the contract if it is eventually signed in his favor and a temporary collector should be engaged meanwhile.

Starts Today

So today Viola starts on the per diem basis.

It seems that the fence of the Kline Building and Construction Company in Belleville Park is another mess.

Some members of the board met with residents of the section recently and thought they had worked out a solution which met with the approval of all concerned. Not so, though. At the conference residents swooped down on the board and told them that something else should be done.

"I've been up there a lot of times," said Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, "and I'm through now. The matter stands as it is."

After another long drawn out discussion the board sat back on its haunches and waited, evidently for some unseen force to solve the perplexing problem of trying to satisfy the residents, as well as the Kline Company.

The residents got no encouragement, except from Commissioner Carragher who said Mr. Brown had written a letter saying the fence should come down and he would stand by the letter.

"I was fooled on my first vote on this," he said.

And that was that.

Success!

A resident of Mitchell street, who has asked for the last three or four years to get a permanent pavement there, finally convinced the board that it should send some unemployed men there to spread ashes provided the resident furnishes ashes.

"11 or 12 Times"

This resident also threw a bombshell into the board especially Commissioner William D. Clark, when he told the commissioner he had to ask him "eleven or twelve times" before he got a street light there.

"That's not so," spoke up Mr. Clark. "Nobody has to ask me more than once. (Page The News economy plan.)"

"Well, I say it is," was the answer he got.

In effect the Mayor warned that arguing should be placed on the taboo list, which sidetracked us from another good yarn and saved the end of our pencil.

"Badly Bent"

"There is no use kidding ourselves," said Director of Revenue and Finance Williams H. Williams, we haven't got the money to pay for any improvements. I had bills and checks in front of me last week. I will tell you if I signed the bills we wouldn't have had enough cash in the banks to pay the checks."

"Is that my fault?" queried the taxpayer. "When the town did have the money and we asked for the paving job we didn't get it."

"My good man," said Mr. Williams. "That is not my fault. We haven't got the money and can't go ahead."

VANISHED COIFFURES

LACQUERED hair is said to be one of the newer vogues of Paris and New York. It's applied with a brush and it makes the coiffure bright and shiny and mirror-like and stiff. It may be removed by a special shampoo and allegedly without damage to the natural beauties of the hair proper.

Somehow, it is difficult to take such a style seriously. It may be all the rage in such obscure spots as Park avenue and the Rue de la Paix, but it's hardly likely to promote anything but masculine rage in more normal and typical localities. Gentlemen of the older generation will tell one that many a style in hair has come and gone in the last one hundred years, but the greatest vogue of all is for hair au naturel.

Consider, for instance, the recent alleged vogue for "platinum blonde" hair. True, platinum blondes became at least endemic in the movies, but they were lacking in Belleville. So it was with the vogue of henna. So it is, or will be no double, with varnished hair. After all, even a somewhat flighty lady who has gone what her husband of brother might call "style crazy" ought to be able to see that a "special shampoo" calculated to remove hair varnish is only masquerading under a euphemism. Call it what they will, it remains a varnish remover.

If the main, however, it is not behooving that mere man should enter the lists against lacquered hair or any other invention of the hairdressers. For the history of styles undoubtedly will show that while the dictators of the vogue can fool some of the women all of the time, and all of the women some of the time, they never yet have fooled all of the women all of the time.

EVERYMAN'S CLASS STANDS OUT

THE Everyman's Bible Class at the present time is in the midst of an attendance contest that appeals to all men of the community—men from all creeds. The class is open to all and is non-sectarian. Its influence in years past has been reflected throughout the community in many ways. Good luck, boys; keep up your fine spirit and work in the interest of things that are decent and clean for all concerned.

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH PROGRESSES

THE Ladies' Auxiliary of Grace Baptist Church have undertaken extensive improvements at that church and from all accounts they are going at the task with a will. The church, nestling in the residential section of Overlook avenue at Bremond street, has been steadily pushing ahead and today represents a bustle of activity that augurs well for its growth and success.

Many Willing hands are helping to push the good work.

FAIR WITH OURSELVES

A GREAT man once referred to Prohibition as a "Noble Experiment." Experiments may be made to prove either the veracity or the fallacy of a certain theory, with or without the prejudice of the tester. However, we may well wonder if, in the case of the Eighteenth Amendment, a real experiment has been made.

What scientist would feel that he had made an exact test, had he assistants who were not only unsympathetic, but interfering. Without materials of fine nature, definite deductions could never be made.

Do law-breakers make good policemen? Should users of alcoholic beverages be employed as dry agents? Many are. Why is it that many admirable men who are in sympathy with Prohibition do not desire this federal position? It may be the attitude of the cheaper metropolitan papers, which speak of such men as "snoopers." A policeman in the pursuit of his duty is not called a "sneak." Very often, although performing some most common petty duty, he is held up as an example of heroism. Seldom does he deal with as dangerous a character as the bootlegger or hi-jacker and when he does, the authorities are not against him. What cooperation can the federal agent expect when some of our very officials are open law-breakers? It is this lack of prestige which has, in many cases, lessened the respect which is due the upholder of the Eighteenth Amendment. As a consequence, undersirable men, many of whom are more interested in the law from the standpoint of the purveyor or consumer have gained the position.

Why can't we be frank with ourselves. Whether we believe in this or not, why not give it a fair chance? If, after a sincere test, it proves to be a failure, let us rectify the error, and not pass it off, with the remark: "Oh yes, we have prohibition. What will you have?"

INERTIA—A PUBLIC SIN

LET us suppose that you are walking along the avenue. Across the way you see a citizen beset upon by a thief. Do you hasten to defend him, or do you continue on your way, pretending that you are unaware of what is occurring? If you pursue the latter course, is your lack of action a sin against society?

When this in mind we shall assume that you reside in a town which has an exceedingly high tax rate; so high, in fact, that to many it is exorbitant. You know of particular instances where public servants are using the government for gain. This may be nothing more than the employing of an experienced relative at a $40 a week job or the presentation for official payment of a very large personal telephone bill—or such things. It may be the form of an official, purchasing inferior equipment because it is made worth-while to him. Let us suppose, we say, that you are aware of such things. Is your suppression of them a sin against society?

Dr. W. Russell Bowie, of New York, speaking on the subject: "Where is Our Public Conscience Today?" says that the exponents of public high finance find their greatest danger in public unconcern rather than open political hostility. He deprecates the lack of "patience to follow the story of evidence slowly accumulated and of revelations which only gradually focus toward startling conclusions."

Why does this condition exist? Only a comparatively few can hope to gain from this squeezing of the public purse. Where are the rest? What are they doing? Many of them belong to organizations. What attempt are these making to purge us of this pestilence?

The local budget is a thing of the near future. To many it is a haze of items and figures. To all it is a matter of grave concern, for therein lies the welfare of Belleville and consequently its citizenry, for Nineteen hundred and thirty-two. W. H. K. Davey, representing a body of prominent town-folk, made suggestions in this connection which are worthy of note. These, if followed carefully, and they are most logical, will make Belleville more politically clean and financially sound.

Why wait until the middle or the end of the year to worry about your tax bill? Why not try "an ounce of prevention" and make a visit to the scene of activity—the Town Hall.

FATHER KELLY AT ST. PETER'S

OF interest to all townspeople and parishioners of St. Peter's Catholic Church, in particular, comes an announcement from Bishop Walsh of the Newark Diocese that he has appointed as rector of that church Rev. Joseph M. Kelly to succeed the late Rev. Edwin J. Field.

Father Kelly was here for two years following his ordination in 1907, being assigned by the late Bishop O'Connor. Father Kelly made a host of friends in his short stay here in the same manner that Father Field and Rev. John Nelligan, the present curate, did. All have worked in the spirit of tolerance for a better understanding among humans. They have carved a niche in the community that connotes the spirit of brotherly love.

Father Kelly, with the able assistance of Father Nelligan, who worked side by side with Father Field, will carry on the good work that St. Peter's Church has been doing. The parish is in capable hands and this paper joins with the community in extending a welcome to Father Kelly.

A WARNING against compelling a left-handed child to write right-handed has been sounded by an optometrist in Philadelphia. He says that eye-sight is commonly stronger in one eye than in the other, and that most children are right-eyed and right-handed. If one is right-eyed and left-handed, he favors an effort to make him right-handed, but the child who is left as to both eye and hand should not be compelled to adopt the right-handed habit.

We do not know enough about eyesight to say whether this is sound or not. Our objection to forcing left-handed writers to become right-handed rests on the broader ground that coercion of this kind is unwarrantable. Because the majority are right-handed, why insist that the minority become so? The Procrustean or conformist spirit, which seems to aim at making everybody like everybody else is indispensable and wicked. Let people have their oddities and eccentricities and their deviations from the normal as long as they do not harm others.

A WONDERFUL THOUGHT

"LEARN to love people." This little sign up on Union avenue at Little street, in front of Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church is a great little sign, we think. It is an inspiration every time we pass and read it.

Maybe some of our readers have seen it, certainly members of Rev. O. Bell Close's church have.

May we suggest that our readers think of that little sign that stands out on the hill like a beacon and carry its thought in their hearts always. The thought is so simple, yet magnanimous, and so easy to remember.

LITTLE TO DO

A DOUGHTY little Commissioner in a suburban town, is renowned for the visits which he makes to the town hall, with the express purpose of ascertaining the number of employees who are doing nothing.

On the occasion of one of these sojourns, our wing-collared friend espied several very unoccupied young men in one of the offices. Calling aside one of his colleagues, the Commissioner said:

"Who are these fellows, and what are they supposed to be doing?" "Oh," came the answer, "they are just a couple of reporters."

The small one went on his way, satisfied.

The above, dear readers, was a joke. The young men could well laugh—BUT IT WAS AT OUR EXPENSE. The joke was not on the politician—it was on the citizens of the town which employs these men. HOW MANY OF YOU ARE PAID WHEN THERE IS NO WORK TO DO?

Ability, rather than relationship or friendship with one of the town fathers, should be the primary requisite for such positions. The fact that a man is so-and-so's son, or brother-in-law, or wife's cousin or companion-on-sprees, should not be the deciding factor. It doesn't make for HONEST POLITICS.

When pruning the budget is the order of the day, why not lop some useless branches from the town hall tree?

This comment is written without antipathy and not without the realization that there are many fine, conscientious men employed by the municipal government. To these, we doff our hats. To the others, we can but suggest that they make the best of what may happen, or go from whence they came.

Helping Hand Replies

The replies to the Helping Hand editor have been so numerous that lack of space prevents their being published here in full. Some of these, however, follow:

Case No. 3 Writes: "Mr. — and I don't want anything for ourselves but we would like to have some wearable things for the kiddies. God bless you, and may you be able to continue our good work." (Signed) Mr. — This is your opportunity to do a good deed. The two children are both girls and aged 9 and 11.

ANOTHER LETTER: "Have a few coats for which I have no use. Would be glad to give these and other clothing if someone could call for same." (Signed) Mr. M — Garden avenue. "P. S.—Have also a three-quarter bed and spring."

"Thank you, Mrs. M — for your generous offer. We shall call for the clothing. If any of our readers care to have the bed and spring, and can arrange to call for them, please write the Helping Hand."

A most touching incident occurred at the News office the other day. Mrs. P. of Belleville avenue dropped in and gave $5 to help the cause. Mrs. P. isn't a wealthy woman and her money won't be wasted. A bad case has come to our attention—a father dead—his wife seriously ill—their child to be taken care of. This $5 will do a good work.

A KINDLY LADY January 20, 1932. Editor Belleville News: Sir:

Your Helping Hand Column is a very good medium for getting in touch with those in need. Often times we wondered which was the best way to give our mite and this column just fills a need.

It is to be hoped that everyone who is able will take advantage of it. The present state of affairs is a challenge to us women. (Statistics show we have the handling of most of the money, and our sympathy is supposed to be more easily aroused, unless blunted with too much bridge playing and cigarette smoking). So let us share at least something, for if not we may find ourselves in the same boat. Every little bit helps to pull good times out of the mire. Do not let these unfortunate victims of circumstances, in their despair, think we do not care. Some people will say it is their own fault. Even the most indifferent knows now it is not. I came across a little poem the other day which seems appropriate.

(Note: Use this poem as the slogan of your Helping Hand Column if you think it would help.) If I am weak and you are strong, Why then, why then, To you the braver deeds belong. And so, again, If I have gifts and you have none, If I have shade and you have sun, 'Tis yours with freer hand to give, 'Tis yours with truer grace to live, Than I, who restless, useless stand, With barren lift and hand. —A Supporter of the News.

Meat is of vital importance to our very existence today and it is noteworthy that the firms which are supplying meat to the various homes, restaurants and hotels at the present time are serving a purpose that cannot be denied.

After seven successful years at 475 Washington avenue, Belleville, Eddie's Meat Market, has become an institution in the town which it has served so well. The proprietor, Mr. Eddie Sadlock, has been associated with the activity for fourteen years and is well qualified to render services that are distinctive in every measure.

A full line of the finest meats and groceries is on hand here at all times, always fresh and tempting. Their qualities will appeal to the most fastidious appetite and, as a result, they are brought into the finest homes.

Mr. Sadlock deserves the high esteem which he has gained as a most progressive merchant of Belleville.

He operates one truck and has a fine rapid delivery service.

Mr. Sadlock is an Elk, Moose and a Veteran of the Foreign Wars.

Mr. Sylvester Frazer is one of the foremost realty men in Belleville. Many owners have entrusted their properties to him for rental knowing so well of his reliability and the excellence of his patronage. He has, without doubt, the cream of properties open for rental.

Mr. Frazer has had ten years' experience in this line and there is no better posted man in Belleville on realty value than he. He can tell almost to the dollar the value of a property, and what it is most likely to bring in the event that it is offered for immediate sale. And what is more, he knows just where to find a buyer.

His knowledge of renting values and his success in procuring tenants is but another proof of his efficiency in his chosen field of endeavor, and the wise will save much time, trouble and expense by going straight to Mr. Frazer at 505 Washington avenue, instead of touring town and finally ending up at his office tired and disappointed.

As to his business activities in the realty world, Mr. Frazer has many other interests of importance and far reaching nature, and does a large insurance business.

All the latest improved machinery, appliances and apparatus are to be found at the Colonial Laundry including steam washing machines, irons, dry rooms, and so forth, and everything known to a modern first class laundry. It has been located at 408 Cortlandt street for ten years where the finest laundry work is executed in a prompt and superior manner. Lace curtains, blankets, woolsens, counterpanes, and so forth, are laundered in a skillful manner, and the annoyance of having articles charged for those of others is carefully guarded against while very moderate prices are charged. Several wagons are in constant service and goods are called for and delivered free of charge.

The proprietor, Mr. Vanderplate, has had thirty-two years' training and experience in the laundry business, and has always afforded a service that would give entire and complete satisfaction to the most exacting patrons. It may be taken for granted that Mr. Vanderplate will make the success of the past the foundation upon which to build and plan for still greater activity and achievement in the future.

FIRES

Fire of undetermined origin Tuesday night destroyed an abandoned building at 5 Lake street, Belleville. The building, in the Silver Lake section, until recently had been used as a pool and gambling house. It is alleged.

The Hudson Hat Factory building located at the corner of Park and Washington avenues, Nutley, Tuesday night was also the scene of a fire, which was soon under control. Damage was estimated at $700.

And Is Well Qualified.

To succeed in business a man must understand the art of buying; he must know the science of selling. There is yet another important element in the success of any business venture and that is the character of the man behind the goods. Given these two factors—honest men and honest goods and two-thirds of success has been attained.

This has especially been proven in the case of Victor Hart, a widely known jeweler, with establishment located at 457 Washington avenue, who has been in the business for thirty years.

There is no other business in which the opportunity to deceive a customer is so great as in selling diamonds and jewelry. It is an easy matter for unscrupulous firms to substitute materials. But unscrupulous firms do not last.

Business men need no further recommendation than a satisfied customer, and with hundreds, as in the case of Mr. Hart, he has indeed achieved a thing of which to be proud.

This newspaper wishes to congratulate Mr. Hart upon his success, but wishes to congratulate Belleville far more in having such a man as he in its midst.

For over eight years the enterprise conducted by Mr. Alfred Treche has been identified among the leading factors in the automobile supply trade of Belleville.

Quality of product and quality of service are the elements contributing to secure for Mr. Treche his standing in the auto supply business, and it is merely giving credit where credit is due to say that few concerns in the same line of business hereabouts are more widely or favorably known.

The establishment of Mr. Treche is fitted up with every convenience with a comprehensive and well-supplied stock of general automobile supplies, with shelf and heavy goods and everything in that line. He carries a full and complete line of all standard makes of tires and tubes.

His goods are offered to customers at reasonably low prices and his trade extends throughout Belleville. He has been in the business for 22 years, and those who have dealt with Mr. Treche have had the assurance of knowing that they would be supplied with a high grade article of anything in the auto supply line.

Mr. Treche is a prominent citizen and a member of the B. P. O. E.

The salaries of all town employees with the exception of policemen, firemen and teachers will be cut 10 per cent, for the current year.

The total saving to the town will be more than $10,000. Commissioner Williams estimates. The reduction affects chiefly employees of the Department of Public Works and the Department of Revenue and Finance each of which would have payrolls of about $50,000.

BUNGALOW ROBBED

Theft of miscellaneous articles of jewelry valued at $200 from the bungalow of Mrs. Anna Wiegmann at 119 Malone avenue was discovered when Mrs. Wiegmann returned home early Saturday night. Captain Leighton and Patrolman Demgard found entry had been made through an unlocked rear bedroom window.

Experience is the quality which counts in most lines of endeavor. If one possesses natural business ability plus experience in his field the goal to success is half-way attained at the start.

In citing instances where this fact was very evident we note that the Greylock Garage, situated at 554 Washington avenue, Belleville, has progressed to its present status chiefly through the efforts of its proprietor, Mr. John Schott, who has been actively affiliated with this business for twenty-seven years.

His wide experience has covered every branch of the garage and repair field and he maintains the best business principles to supplement this superior service.

Satisfaction has been the keynote of the firm since its inception. It has retained only the most highly recognized standards in the business and has incorporated features that are known throughout the endeavor as being the best.

Mr. Schott is a member of the National Standard Parts Association and the Master Automobile Repairman's Association.

Many organizations have realized that competition will efface from existence the organization that does not keep abreast of the times, and constantly please its clientele.

Belleville has been the recipient for four years of the services of the Hammell Woodworking Company, with commodious and well equipped quarters at 92-94 Stephens street. The firm has one of the most all-inclusive services in the area specializing in millwork of various types, the manufacture of screens and so forth.

Messrs. Stacy Hammell and Battista Salusola, the proprietors, have had many years' experience in this field.

"The best at all time," is a motto which has been carefully followed by the executive personnel of the organization since its inception. It has adhered to policies which brought the best in materials and workmanship to its clients and made a name for itself as only a few firms have ever done in this crowded pursuit.

One of the best known localities where truck farming was once a foremost pursuit is Belleville, but there is just one truck farm here at the present time. It is operated by Mr. Gus Plenge, who adheres to the principles and traditions of agricultural pursuits.

Mr. Plenge has one of the finest farms in the state and takes pride in the wide distribution which his products have enjoyed for the past twenty-seven years. They market their produce in New York, Brooklyn, and Newark, and deliver it with their own trucks.

There is another element connected with this name which is noteworthy. Each year the families of Plenge and Schumacher, of Belleville and Brooklyn, play a game of football. It has been a major event for many years and still attracts wide attention. These two families have met on the gridiron with fire in their eyes and a determination to win. The rival factions are known for their ability. They are big, husky fellows who understand the game and play for all they are worth.

Banks and the essentials of business existence and prosperity in a community must go hand in hand. The evidence of this was brought to the attention of this newspaper by the fact that the Bank of Nutley has administered to the business men and the depositors in times of stress and enabled many a business to again be put on a paying basis through conscientious interest and the offering of advice when requested.

The Bank of Nutley established in 1905, is one of the foremost institutions in North Jersey and has brought to the town which it serves so faithfully and well a full and all-inclusive banking service that cannot be denied.

A stability exists here that sets the bank above the average and makes it a leader in the field.

The executive personnel is composed of men of long affiliation and deep interest in the field. The officers are: Albert E. Howe, president; Percival S. Hill, vice president and cashier; William A. Lambert, vice president; Walter D. Moore, Jr., assistant cashier; Archie C. Barabata, assistant cashier, and Raymond Pfaffner, assistant trust officer.

The Board of Directors is composed of the leading business and professional men of the area. They are: Harry O. Coughlan, Percival S. Hill, Albert E. Howe, William A. Lambert, Alfred B. Sturges, Emil C. Miller, Frank B. Miller, Thomas J. O'Neil, Jr., and Henry T. Letters.

The Quality Bakery, Inc., of 382 Washington avenue is one of the best known baking firms in the district. Its products have found a ready market for six years and housewives have found it more profitable to buy these excellent foods than to bake them at home.

The Quality Bakery has made sanitation one of its best advertisements and the testimony of its honest efforts to make its establishment superior in this respect is found in the fact that an inspection of the establishment is welcomed at any time.

Mr. George Miller, the head of the firm, has been in the business for the past 20 years and hence is experienced.

The best ingredients are employed in manufacturing the complete line of cakes, pies and pastries that have won such high approval. The best in breads is found here at all times, always fresh and with an even brown crust that will appeal to any appetite.

Quality Bakery, Incorporated, has become an institution in Belleville and justly so, for its many attributes are deserving of the best patronage.

Being a member of the Bakcrofters of America, Mr. George Miller is not allowed to use any substitutes in his business. Only the best quality of ingredients are used at all times. Members are supplied with new recipes from time to time. Such recipes are not obtainable except from members of this organization. This protection has been appreciated by Mr. Miller's trade and he is building a fine business here.

Plumbing firms are rather numerous in and about Belleville but the services extended by Mr. Everett A. Hicks, Sr., situated at 198 Little street, have retained a clientele through the years in the face of competition and the many other obstacles which beset firms in this field.

Probably one of the most interesting and important features of this business has been the emergency service which the organization has made it a point to extend. At any hour, when a break appears in a pipe or something else goes amiss with the plumbing instant attention is given the task by the firm. If the flow of water is sluggish Mr. Hicks has a new method for installing new pipe.

Mr. Hicks is thoroughly versed in the field and has had 35 years of practical experience that sets his mechanical ability above average. Everett A. Hicks, Jr., is connected in the business.

Merz. He has enjoyed an association of nine years' standing with the activity and maintained a position that is comparable to the efforts which he has expended.

A full line of the finest patent medicines, toilet articles, perfumes and so forth, is always on the freshly stocked shelves and are dispensed to the clientele at the lowest consistent rates.

Mr. Merz makes a specialty of compounding physicians' prescriptions and family receipts and all orders are promptly and accurately filled.

Shoes are probably the most important part of our attire from many standpoints. A new suit or hat is never attractive if the shoes worn are not in keeping with its appearance. Shoes that are comfortable help us along our way, literally and figuratively so that it is important to purchase shoes that fit and will provide the utmost in comfort and wear.

Under the capable direction of Mr. M. Goldberg the Belleville Bootery, located at 544 Washington avenue, has won a distinction that is unique in its field. Maintaining the best in shoes at all times and having rendered a service that featured courtesy and satisfaction at all times the shop has become one of the best known in this area.

They specialize in the correct fitting of children's feet and carry a complete line of women's, men's and children's shoes.

Such satisfaction cannot go unwarded and the position and prestige of Mr. M. Goldberg has been one of the outstanding characteristics of the business life of this community for the past ten years.

Budget Listed For The Local Schools

Tax Figure $10,210 Lower Than a Last Year, Though Total Requirement Is Higher

Tentative appropriations for the 1932-33 school budget show $472,541.51 to be raised by district tax, compared to $483,051.76 for 1931-32. Total requirements are $667,332.51 as against $662,543.60 for 1931-32, and the anticipated state apportionment $176,491, against $179,491.84. The need, accordingly, is for $7,789.75 more funds, but the tax will be reduced $10,210.25 by utilizing $18,000 in unexpended balances.

The board met in the high school auditorium Friday night to hear comments of citizens before adoption of the budget Monday night. Forty persons, including several teachers, attended. W. H. K. Davey made general objections to the high cost of education, advocating the increase of the average class of twenty-five students to around forty-five, with resultant saving in the number of teachers.

No allowance is made in the budget for raising teachers' salaries and no objection was heard.

James L. DeRosset, president of the board, pointed out the normal increase in school budgets has been, prior to last year, an average of $42,000. For 1930-31 the amount to be raised was $489,367.73, he noted. The school tax rate of 1.46 for this year will be reduced three points but because of the drain on unexpended balances it is likely a seven-point increase will be forthcoming for 1933-34.

The debt service item for 1932-33 is $153,063.51, compared to $155,551.76 for 1931-32. Maintenance is $26,000, compared to $16,000, the increase being needed for equipment in the new buildings.

The total current expense is $488,269, as against $490,991.84 for 1931-32. Included in this the teachers' salaries item is $388,900, against $396,832 in the last budget, but two additional needed teachers may be appointed through having a $12,000 unexpended balance in the account. Other items vary but little.

Sewer Assessment Matter Is Considered From Law Viewpoint

Legislation Looked For To Clear Up Local Muddle

The question of obtaining legislation to permit the levying of the town's $600,000 outstanding sanitary sewer assessments was taken under advisement last week by Senators Arthur N. Pierson and Joseph G. Wolber, who conferred with Commissioner Walter R. Darby of the State Department of Municipal Accounts, the Town Commission and the Board of Assessment commissioners.

Legislation is sought to permit levying the assessments in the town at large, excluding the Silver Lake section, which paid its portion in 1915 when its sewers were connected with Newark's trunk system. The sewers in the remainder of the town were not completely connected with a trunk line following the Passaic River until a decade later.

A SEQUEL

Sometimes we have a story with the sequel unknown, but this is not the case with our story last week entitled: "A Nice Little Boy," given us by Mrs. H. E. Wilson of Union Avenue. The boy in question saw the write-up in the Belleville News asking him to make himself known. He called on Mrs. Wilson Saturday morning and said his name was Robert Bangert. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bangert of Cedarhill Avenue. The parents are so pleased to find Robert was such a little gentleman when away from home.

Robert attends Sunday School at Pewsmith, has his gold pin for attendance and in two weeks will have the wreath added. He is also a fine pianist and enjoys his school work.

Mrs. Bangert is an active member of Arace Chapter, O. E. S., and Mr. Bangert is vice president of the Belleville Craftsman's Club.

We compliment you, Mr. and Mrs. Bangert, on the way in which you have brought up your son.

One Of Most Active Groups In Scoutdom Is Local Troop 92

Boys Have Accomplished A Great Deal Under Good Leadership

One of the most active groups in Scoutdom is Troop 92, which meets every Friday evening at the Recreation House. Under the efficient leadership of Mr. Pearson Kane, the boys have successfully conducted many activities.

This Troop has for its Trustees, Messrs. Joseph Cech, Robert Mayers, Robert Nebring, Harold Ross, George Schneider and Thaddeus Thorton. These men, sincerely interested, are ever available for advice and co-operation.

In addition to their regular work an interesting event of the last meeting was a wrestling match between Steven and Richard Lukowiak, cousins, the latter being the victor. Steven was given a consolation award.

Mr. Robert Mayers, noted swimmer, is giving his services to prepare the fellows to pass their swimming tests. The Troop is indeed fortunate to have Mr. Mayers, who is known throughout the east for his aquatic ability. Consequently, one of the most happily anticipated coming events is the series of sessions to be held in a nearby pool.

Vacations Denied Firemen And Police

No Chancemen Will Be Employed In Clark's Department

Measures to save $9,600 in salaries of police and $6,500 in the salaries of firemen, principally by the surrender of vacations this year, were agreed to last week when the need for reducing his budget was pointed out to members of the departments by Director William D. Clark of the Department of Public Safety.

The men were advised by Clark he could not legally cut salaries, although he was faced with the prospect of a smaller appropriation than last year. The men are now donating two per cent of their pay to the town's unemployment relief fund.

Clark suggested the men give up their vacations to eliminate the expense of using chancemen during the usual vacations of the thirty-two members of the Police Department and twenty-two members of the Fire Department. No chancemen will be employed and thirty-five callmen will receive only $60 instead of $120 for answering seventy-five per cent of fires.

Storekeeper Chases Trio After Robbery

Although he chased them for several blocks, Herbert C. Haas, proprietor of a delicatessen store at 541 Union Avenue, was unsuccessful. Monday afternoon, in preventing the precipitate departure of three youths with $6 from the store's cash register. The three bandits were caught.

Seeks Better Transit

Improvement Group Will Send Delegation To Request Bus Line To North Newark

The Valley Improvement Association decided to have a delegation of women appear before the Public Utilities Commission to request transportation to North Newark for the section. Because the railroad crossing at Greylock Avenue is closed to pedestrians as well as to vehicular traffic, residents of the Northernly section of the valley must make a long detour to reach bus or trolley in Washington Avenue.

John Polcastro of the Belleville & Lyndhurst Bus Co., appearing before the group, said an application of his company to operate a bus in the valley from North Newark had been passed on favorably and later denied by the commission.

The company made application last week for rehearing, he said, and the matter is pending. The delegation of women is to be present when the application is acted upon.

The route proposed by the company is: North Newark to Mill street to Main street to Rutgers street to Stephens street to East Overlook Avenue to Roosevelt Avenue to Main street. The fare would be five cents.

John Hewitt, secretary, said the association wanted transportation irrespective of who provides it. Women will represent the association because they suffer most from the hardship entailed by the present inaccessibility to means of transportation, he said.

A membership contest has been planned with men and women on opposing teams. The winning side will be given a dinner by the losers. New officers were installed. William Want-house presided. A supper for members followed the session.

The "News" Travels Far And Is Topic For Asbury Discussion

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Ridgway of Little street who were at Asbury Park and Interlaken over the weekend were guests at Winsor Hotel. They took along with them several copies of the Belleville News on account of the write-up last week on Pudelger Company and Winsor Hotel and were delighted at the reception accorded the paper. Mr. and Mrs. Crelin of the Winsor Hotel said "it is one of the finest papers, with the most diversified news of any local paper they have ever read," and many were the favorable comments around the lobby Saturday evening as one after another avidly read the News.

Pudelger Company also praised the paper and were delighted with the news.

In the Field of Sports

..This Whirl Of Sport..

BY ARTHUR BLOEMEKE

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE FAN'S ATTITUDE

THOUGH the football season has long since passed into oblivion, the ways of the gridiron are very often applicable to all sports.

At a recent informal talk given before the members of the Young People's Fellowship of the Christ Episcopal Church, Coach Erikson of the local high school football team brought out some salient points on sports that are worth-while repeating.

Few of the many who witness the games played by the local exponents of high school football realize the importance of the part they play in the general schemes of things. The fan has as definite a part to perform as any of the members of the competing teams.

His is the background of the game, not only football, but any competitive sport. Upon his actions and conduct more than anything else, depend the opinion formed by an outsider, or the visiting contingent.

The players may play the cleanest sort of game. Conduct on the field may be of the most sportsmanlike. But yet the team and the school may get a reputation for unfair tactics, that it hardly warrants. Of course, this is the direct result of the actions of the fan or by-stander, who must win at any cost.

Some of us may not know that several high schools in the vicinity will not book Belleville High in athletic contests because of this very reason. The rule, too, works both ways. Belleville High avoids some other schools on the same grounds.

But the fact remains that the fans help or hinder a school's reputation for fair and clean play. There is an important position, infinitely more important than many think. And this holds just as true in sports, outside the four walls of the classroom.

The Golden Rule, "Do unto others, as you would have them do unto you," should never be taken too lightly by fan or player.

A GREAT ATHLETE

FEW athletes that have worn the Blue and Gold of Belleville High may boast of the many splendid performances that have been turned in by "Mac" Lamb, the present captain and key-man of the splendid high school court team.

Lamb is how a senior and nearing the sunset of his career on Belleville High athletic teams. A three-letter man, Lamb saw service for two years on the gridiron and four each on the basketball and baseball teams. As a freshman he easily made the baseball varsity, and as a sophomore, the basketball, although he was more or less of a regular in basketball during his "fresh" year.

This season is his second as captain of the court five. Probably his greatest feat was the captaincy of that great basketball team of last season's, that won seventeen out of nineteen games. The present five, bids fair to equal it.

Lamb will also captain the baseball nine this spring. He has been a mainstay on the diamond for three years, the coming season, which will wind up his athletic career, making him a regular of four years' standing.

It will certainly feel strange to read a Belleville High sports line-up next year without seeing Lamb in the cast.

Elks Continue In Fourth Place Notch In M. and E. Loop

Local Bowlers Lose Twice To Maplewood Thursday At Maplewood

The Belleville Elks pin-knights, despite a two out of three defeat at the hands of Maplewood Thursday night at Maplewood, held on to their position in the Morris and Essex league, but four games behind the leading Chatham.

The Elks' brilliant 235 and practically won the league, as they dropped to 235, incidentally, in the final of the three individual score of 235.

Unemployed Venture

House-to-house canvassing to find work for the unemployed in Belleville was advocated by 100 who met at the Town Hall Friday night. Daniel Spillane, who presided, will request Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy to appoint six men at $4 a day each to find odd jobs in this way. The men hoped each canvasser might find $50 worth of work a day.

Middletowns, Ajax, Comets, Court Feature

Three Win Recreation Loop Encounters Last Thursday

The Middletowns, Ajax, A. C., and the Comets won the opening skirmishes of the Recreation Junior Basketball League, held at the Moose Court, Thursday afternoon.

Amelio Christian starred for the Middletowns, as they trounced the Unknowns, 17-3, in the first tilt. The two other contests were much closer, the Ajax boys defeating the Bell-Comets, 15-12 in the second, and the Comets turning in a like feat against the Texans, 17-15.

Woods, Meehan and Williams collaborated in bringing about the Ajax victory, with Tenbroeck's six points featuring for the losing Bell-boys. Percy, with nine points for the Comets, and Schmeltz, with a like number for the Texans, stood out in the final setto.

Clinton and Williams Court Fives Win Game

Two Leading Teams In Easy Municipal League Wins, Wednesday

The Clintons and the W. H. Williams Association basketball fives, the two leading fives of the first half of the Municipal League season, opened the second half of the split season, with easy wins, Wednesday night, at the high school gym.

The Williams' club drubbed St. Anthony's, 24 to 8, in the first game of the night, while the Clintons, winners of the championship of the first half, trounced the Second Ward Political Club five, 49 to 12, in the final. The third scheduled contest of the evening was awarded to the Panthers on forfeit, as the Panthers failed to put in an appearance.

Herb Mayes and El Stratton collected ten and seven points, respectively, in the Williams' win over St. Anthony's. Johnnie McGuire and Pat Dunn were the big scorers for the Clintons in their rout of the Second Warders. McGuire added to his already high point total, with an eighteen point aggregate. Dunn was a close second with fifteen.

Ravens, Iron Dukes And Valleys in Wins

Trio Feature In The Junior Recreation Basketball League

The Ravens, Iron Dukes and Valleys were returned easy victors in the opening games of the Junior Recreation Basketball League, Friday afternoon, at the Moose court. The X Club, the Unknowns and the Blue Royals were the victims of the trio of overwhelming triumphs.

The first game, in which the Ravens dealt out a 38-12 beating to the Unknowns, was all Raven, as Catalano and Pico went on scoring sprees for them. In the Iron Dukes' 20-10 victory over the X Club, Shelley and Shanahan got in the most effective work. The entire Valley five broke into the scoring column, as the Blue Royals succumbed, 34-14, in the final game. Smith, with nine points, and Kieferdorf, with eight, led the concentrated Valley attack.

Oldhams Gain Game On Leading El Club

American Legion Bowling
Race Gets Closer,
Monday

In spite of the unexpected loss of one of their games with the lowly Bachelors, the Oldham bowlers gained a lap on the leading El Club in the race for first place in the American Legion Bowling circuit, Monday night, at Ferrara's. The Belleville A. A. defeated the El Club in two out of three games to give the Oldhams their chance to advance.

The fast-stepping Moose pinners continued their threatening gestures as they downed the Parks three in easy fashion. The Moose are now tied with the Oldhams for second place.

Elks Lodge Sponsors Dance, January 30

This Affair Will Be Like
The One Held Last
June

The local lodge, B. P. O. E., is sponsoring a dance to be held at the home on Washington avenue, Saturday, January 30.

This affair, will be similar to the one held June 17, last, under the guise of an ocean trip. The June affair was known as "A Trip to Bermuda." It was well attended and the entertainment was unusual.

A mid-winter trip to the Orient will be the unique offering of the lodge this month. The lodge rooms will take on an oriental atmosphere and Harry Garrison, master of ceremonies, will appear in the role of a Chinese mandarin, "Hop Sing."

Harry has arranged to secure several members of the Follies to keep things lively while the good ship "Belleville" is under way and stops have been planned at various slumming places in China, Japan and the Philippines.

Oriental costumes are not necessary, but the committee is encouraging the idea.

Seventy-five cents will take you on a round-trip to the Orient and a pleasing evening is promised everyone. You will meet many old friends and make many new ones on this latest joy excursion sponsored by the "Hello Bills."

Wesleys, Bankers And St. Anthony All Win

Feature Municipal Court
League Monday Night

The Wesleys, First National Bank and St. Anthony's were all winners in games of the Municipal Basketball League, Monday night, at the high school gym.

The Wesleys, led by Elmer Hosking, found the Progress Club easy, to a 30-6 tune. The Bankers defeated the Young Peoples Fellowship, by a 28-22 score, and the Stuywards lost a hard-fought 11-9 decision to St. Anthony's in the O. C. contests. Zeigler of the Y. P. F. was the big scorer of the latter two losses, coming through with twelve points.

Granted Judgment

Mrs. E. Theismir of Red Bank, was granted a judgment of $113.95 against Wayne R. Farmer and the Board of Education in Judge Marcus A. Rubin's small cause court Monday.

The case was the outcome of an accident that occurred October 27, 1931 at the intersection of Washington and Belleville avenue, in which Mr. Farmer's car struck that of Mrs. Theismir.

The jury debated the question for an hour and a quarter before bringing in a verdict favoring Mrs. Theismir.

Ice Hockey Is Fastest and Most Thrilling Sport

MILE-A-MINUTE SPEED KEEPS SPECTATORS ON EDGE

NEW YORK: Ice hockey is the fastest game played, say sports experts. And being that and nothing more it is enjoying a wave of popularity unparalleled in indoor sports history. Only a champion fight, according to gate receipts at the Garden. Wrestling, tennis, dog, cat and flower shows and even the annual spring circus and rodeos have to take a back seat when crowd volume is considered.

Three nights weekly Madison Square Garden is filled almost to capacity as the Rangers and the Americans, the New York teams, engage their rivals in major league hockey games.

Radio sports announcers say their biggest thrills have come from the hockey games which are broadcast from the Garden under the auspices of Adam Hat Sports Broadcasts over Station WMCA.

Hockey is a clean game, but in the heat of action, players sometimes instinctively resent what they consider unnecessary roughness with a swing of the stick on the offender. The referee must be constantly on the alert to distinguish between accidental and deliberate "backswings."

When penalties are inflicted, the offending player is retired from the game for a number of minutes corresponding to the seriousness of the infraction. When a team is thus deprived of part of its manpower, the opponents invariably stage a rally in an attempt to score against the weakened team. The penalized team, in an effort to offset the odds, skates faster and fights harder.

Sometimes it fights in the literal sense, and often the battling becomes general. Then left hooks and roundhouse swings are even more prevalent than in the boxing matches that are staged in this same Garden Arena.

The speed of play is nothing less than startling. It requires the most concentrated effort of an untrained eye to follow the puck as it whizzes over the ice. The players themselves have often been known to reach momentary dashes of sixty miles an hour—an almost unheard-of speed for any type of sport dependent entirely on physical exertion. So fast is the action that players are allowed to stay in the game for only four and five minutes at a time, substitutions being constant.

High School Netsters Lose To W. Orange

Drop 13-9 Decision Tuesday
As Pass Work
Fails

The Belleville High court five, completely off form in both its passing and shooting game, struck an unexpected snag at West Orange, Tuesday afternoon, coming out on the small end of a 13-9 verdict.

Ray Smith, Bell-boy center, was the only member of the Blue and Gold cast up to snuff, leading the scorers with a meager four point total. Bruno and Torlucci played best for the West Orangettes.

At half time the Blue and Gold managed to hold their opponents to a 5-5 draw, but in the final semester the homesters drew away from the locals, to hold their margin at the end of the low-scoring tussle.

Gene Dacey led the Belleville second team contingent to an easy 26-12 win over the West Orange Jayvees in a preliminary tussle. Schwab, Jannarone, Culklin and Wittish were others to perform in fine fashion for the local seconds.

By WILLIAM GRAY

Every local school was the recipient of framed copies of the most important national documents last week.

The Lions' Club, in connection with its "Americanization of the child" program, was the donor of These presents. The documents distributed are the Constitution of the United States, the Declaration of Independence, and the American Creed. In addition to these, several pamphlets were given. They are: "Inaugural Address of John Adams," "The Sayings of Poor Richard," "Woodrow Wilson, Franklin K. Lane, and Theodore Roosevelt on 'Americanism,'" "A Message to Garcia," by Elbert Hubbard; "The Man Without a Country;" "The Monroe Doctrine;" "Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address," and "The Autobiography of Abraham Lincoln."

"Epaminondas," was the title of a puppet show presented at the high school by Miss Knox's sophomore home room, Tuesday morning. The cast was as follows: Puppeteers, Mummy, Viola Jacobs; Epaminondas, Catherine Hollweg; clown, Marie Gunderman. Speaking parts, Sweetenings.

Principal Charles L. Steel, Jr., of the high school, announced at a special assembly at the school, Wednesday afternoon, that a new plan was to be put into effect during the mid-year examinations, which started yesterday.

udent will be required to put in at least eight hours at the school during the examination period. That is, if a pupil is not scheduled to take an "exam" on a certain day, he will be excused for that session. As two hours is the minimum time allowed for a subject and the average pupil carries four subjects, eight hours' attendance is all that will be demanded of a student.

Mr. Steel said: "If you hang around the building, or in any manner disturb other students, the privilege will be discontinued." He also warned the students of gathering around the various grammar school

Woman President

To the Editor of the News:
Sir—I think it would be a splendid idea for the two major political parties to nominate women as candidates for President of the United States. Some of the most famous rulers in the world have been women, Queen Mary of Scotland, Elizabeth of England and Catherine the Great of Russia.
Women for centuries have been considered inferior to men. They should in this enlightened age take their rightful place in the world. "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Let us then honor motherhood and give them the honor due them. Elect a woman President of the United States.

Against Wage Cuts

To the Editor of the News:
Sir—I have been a reader of the News since it was started and am interested in the wage problem of the present time, as I have spent six years of my time as business agent of a labor organization.
If I had to work for the wage proposed by many employers I could not have the car and electric radio which I now enjoy and could not have employed a carpenter who was out of work and paid him $300 for repairing the roof of my house last fall. Someone had a job while building that car and radio also.
I once asked the president of a large company what in his estimation would be the result if all employers were to double the wage of their employees. He said: "There would be so much business that industry could not take care of it."
There is the key to the situation. Reduce no salary where less than $3,000 per year is paid. Make conditions impossible where one man can earn a million dollars while hundreds around him are living on charity and prosperity will return more quickly.

AN EXAMPLE

January 18, 1932.
Editor Belleville News:
As an example of the benefit of passing a word of truth along to others, I recently asked a friend whether or not she had appreciated reading the Belleville News. Her reply was that she had and had decided to subscribe for it saying to me: "I'm passing the good news along to others."
There is a great need of honest newspapers today, especially in the suburbs, and there are many people who are glad for an opportunity to subscribe to the Belleville News. It is indeed open and does not lower the standard for the benefit of filling white space. Where we find honest-to-goodness reading, we shall find honest-to-goodness citizens; and a progressive town, and those citizens who are not ashamed to call it "our town paper."

Our children have a right to fairness and truth regarding all situations, and I refuse to bring into the home, less than fairest clean reading.
AN AMERICAN CITIZEN.

Pie Profitteering

Editor of the News:
One tin of canned blueberries costs, retail, 12 and one-half cents and the two pies that the berries fill are sold in local eating places for $1.40. That's about 1,000 per cent. gross profit, nearly if not quite. Who would think of paying 70 cents for one pie? Yet, that is the cost to consumers where pies are cut into seven wedges at 10 cents each. Other profiteers serve it in six pieces at a dime each and if they sold all their food at the same ratio and had business enough, they'd become millionaires quickly.

Isn't it time we pie-eaters went on a strike until we get five cuts to a pie when even four would yield about 400 per cent? Figure the cost of a seventh of a squash pie with filling at two cents retail. They are less than an inch thick and look like an elephant had stepped on them. With due allowance for crust, cooking, labor and a share of "overhead" of the establishment, the price is decidedly "overhead," at 70 cents per pie. Pieless Belleville for a few days might bring about a drastic cut in pie prices where they are manifestly exorbitant just now.

PASTRY PROTEST.

Editor News:
When the six days of creation were ended we are told God looked upon the work and saw that it was good. Then the seventh day—the number of hours that day contained we have never been told; but after that, we hear of His decision that it was not well for one man to have all the say; so there is brought forth another human, under a different name but whose interests should be identical with the first.

When our ancestors fought to make this an independent nation, and for the sincerity of that desire and remembrance of kinship, we became an off-spring of a great nation to become a greater one.
When our constitution and laws were produced the framers looked upon them and said they were good. But they, too, felt it unsafe to leave the fulfilling of them in the keeping of a single faction and we can picture them smilingly, good-naturedly choosing names that differentiate the factions, yet unmistakably announce the principles upon which this new government stands. George Washington and John Adams attached themselves as Federalists; but that was in the formative days and we could trust both of them under any name; even that suggested our intent; after them, the name Republican or Democrat has been the successful party names with the exception of William Henry Harrison, who forty-one years later "cut" in with "Whig" and lasted one month.

The next, Zachary Taylor, tackled the same appendage, thinking his digestive organs were good and he after about sixteen months passed the buck to Millard Fillmore, who finished out the term and was the last man to be called other than Republican or Democrat.

The allusion to the Whig candidates who were elected is not to criticize the men but to be a reminder that we don't believe any "Bull Moose" or "Cow Elephants" are necessary in our party names now.

Democratic sounds very appropriate in principle; of the kinship of the poor in government and their right to representation which was also cherished and protected by the Republican party and will be the case again when the party has become rid of Marplots who are not satisfied with the evil they have caused in the past but are now endeavoring to stir up sectional animosity that they hope will insure the nomination of candidates that can be held under the same diabolical weight that is responsible for the present predicament. We realize character inferiority has played a disastrous part in changing party personnel.

Being human only, has not given many the power to say get behind Satan and the devilish influence has made so many Judas Iscariots in the Republican party that it is ruined, until they all come out and hang themselves. The thirty pieces of silver has played its part, when you find a party so over-crowded with apostates it is usually greed that is the price of their apostasy.

We have no intention and will not be drawn into any sectional controversy but we do know this land of the Democratic and once fit to be proud of Republican party has had those who have misguided others who should have known better.

We stack the records of these "Sloppy-Minded Easy-Going Southerners" and that made by any other men from any section without fear as to the showing, and we promise The Evening Post (N. Y.) a rousing reception for their Sherlock Holmes, when the ballots are counted one of the "Sloppy-Minded Easy-Going Southerners" is elected president.

Take notice, these fellows are not all down south—they are scattered all over this country and are making good report.

If one of them gets to be President Wall street will be reminded of and sympathize with the money-changers in the temple when the "Great Democrat" paid them a visit.

Republicans, come over into Macedonia and help us re-establish the principles of the founders of both parties that we may be reasonably sure that neither our nor the coming generation's bread shall be taken nor blood spilled to satisfy the money lenders' chagrin and disappointment—that—because Europe has no "Sloppy-Minded, Easy-Going Southerners."

JUNKETING PARTY

Belleville, N. J.
January 20, 1932.
Editor Belleville News:
While a protest against political smugness is usually of no avail, it at least helps to carry off some of the annoyance caused by total indifference to the welfare of the long-suffering citizen.

As an instance of the extreme consideration shown the average Belleville citizen, may I cite an occurrence of January 19. The writer was aboard a Broad car bound for Newark, with ample time to catch a train from the New Jersey Central Station. When the car reached the town hall it stopped and waited for the car ahead to proceed. After a wait of twelve minutes several of the passengers alighted to ascertain the reason for the delay and found the forward car to be a trolley chartered by a group of Belleville politicians enroute to the inaugural of A. Harry Moore in Trenton. Instead of boarding the car, these busy torch-bearers tarried about the Town Hall and finally boarded the car in a very deliberate manner.
Unfortunately, many of the passengers kept waiting were also commuters who were unable to reach their respective destinations in time for work. The writer had to take a cab and then only arrived at the station in the nick of time.

In precarious times like the present, it does not require much in the form of tardiness to warrant losing one's position. It is quite a different matter when one is a political employee of the town, with plenty of leisure to attend junketing parties. However, one can always keep occurrences like the above in mind when visiting the polls.
