WOMAN STEALS THE THUNDER AWAY FROM TOWN HALLITES

Mrs. Francis Ray Of Davidson Street Ups And Tells The Commissioners What She Thinks Of 'Em

The Town Commission got into some squabbles and some more squabbles Tuesday night.

Mrs. Francis Ray of Davidson street gave the board something to think about and literally stole the show away from the town hall actors.

Well, here's part of the fireworks.

Time and space prohibit use of it all. Director Williams declared that an accusation he had discharged two employees and hired another for political reasons was "an absolute falsehood."

The commissioner told George E. Stewart, Jr., and Edward Nelson, former finance director, both of whom had asked Williams to retain Miss Mary Anderson, a clerk with only her first citizenship papers, that he would "run his department as he saw fit and take dictation from no one."

Williams' replacement of Edward Dougherty, a water meter reader since 1925, by Hugh Clark, effective Tuesday, was cited by Stewart.

"The connection is there as to whom you made the job for," Stewart said.

"That's an absolute falsehood," Williams said. "If some of the scandal mongers were tied in Chief Flynn's Hoosgow Belleville would be better." After the meeting he said Dougherty was not well and was "getting too old for the work."

"The saving idea might listen good," Stewart observed, "but it remains apparent you are making the appointment for an individual who is close to you politically."

Stewart last week presented a petition bearing 700 signatures requesting Williams to retain Miss Anderson because she was an efficient clerk intended to become a citizen, was the support of a disabled father and had two brothers who enlisted for the World War.

Mr. Nelson said: "Yesterday morning I was told by a very reliable person a most amazing tale of low, contemptible, underhanded machinations that some citizen of Belleville would stoop to, to satisfy a personal grudge."

"I cannot believe it was all facts, but after getting confirmation from other sources I am convinced that there is quite some truth in it. I am informed that Mr. Samuel Tiger told Mr. Andrew Anderson that he would use Miss Anderson as a political football against Commissioner Williams."

"Mr. Tiger's reasons for this grudge against Commissioner Williams I do not know; whether it is on account of some pre-election unfulfilled promise or the zoning controversy or any other reason. It does not justify him to jeopardize an innocent person's rights and employment to get square with some other party. In my opinion a person that will stoop to perpetrate a condition of this kind is lower than a snake's hips."

"Commissioner Williams: It is surprising to me and many others that you should require so much time to make a decision in this matter. Are you afraid politically or otherwise to act according to your good business judgment?"

"I understand that Miss Anderson has proven an efficient and willing worker, not a clock watcher, but willing at all times to put in extra hours to clear work in hand, capable to assist in other departments, conscientious and a reliable worker, and, if these are facts, why do you hesitate to tell her that her position will not be jeopardized, as long as her work is satisfactory and the town requires her services and not keep her in suspense indefinitely? In my humble way of looking at this situation, it seems ridiculous for men with executive qualifications not to be able to decide a small matter of this kind and clear the decks for more important work before you. If you are in doubt about your decision in this case for political reasons the petition in Miss Anderson's favor should convince you which way to decide."

"Miss Anderson is dismissed on the technicality of citizenship the campaign slogan of justice and fair play is reversed, and I can assure you if investigations were made as to citizenship, a great many municipal and state employees you would find not only non-citizens but persons having obtained papers not in the legitimate way and this is far worse than not being a citizen. Therefore, I respectfully ask you to inform Miss Anderson that her position is secure."

"If these same influences could have dictated the placing of the insurance and bond business and dictated appointments to the Board of Assessors they wouldn't go out and make things unpleasant, said Williams."

"What's this got to do with the young lady's position?" queried Mr. Nelson.

A resident of Davidson street at this point sidetracked the issue back to the location of a Gimbel distribution station there. He said that trucks would leave New York at midnight or so, arriving in Belleville at from 1 to 5 o'clock in the morning, depending on the business done and the plant would employ workman all night detrimental to the health of the town.

Musical Comedy Plans Of Craftsmen's Club Are Shaping Rapidly

Theme For "Up And Up" Is Centered On North
Pole Trip

The flight of an airship to the North Pole provides the theme for the musical comedy "Up and Up" to be presented by the Craftsmen's Club February 10 and 20 at the high school. The take off from a carnival field, arrival in the Arctic region, where Jonah comes out of the whale to sell oil for refueling and an exhibition of freakish stunts celebrating the return of the aircraft, provide action. Specialties include Hawaiian guitar numbers and a black-face monolog.

Rehearsals for the show are held Sunday afternoons at Masonic Temple and Thursday night at Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, with Ralph Schumann, directing.

WILLIAM F. ENTREKIN WHO BUILT POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENT HAS BEEN LEFT IN THE COLD

Department into the four-hundred class. He doled up the police in navy uniforms that caught the fancy of bigger cities than Belleville. It was class.

What has happened Mr. Clark? Why have you abandoned all these good things Mr. Entekin started? At least half of your force is up a tree, so to speak, it has been told Big Shot.

You know the people of this town want police protection. They don't want a lot of burglaries.

Here is the point Mr. Clark, Bill Entekin, did the job well. He gave up his time free to help this town.

Where has he been for eighteen or twenty weeks? He stays out of Police Headquarters. Why? Have you asked him to? He had things orderly and snappy. What has happened?

Old John Public would like to hear about Mr. Entekin. Old John Public would like to know why all his good plans have been discarded. He would also like to know what has become of the signal system in which it is said $30,000 is invested.

Please, Mr. Clark, won't you try to keep burglars out of Belleville. Bill kept them out.

Put him back on the job with full power or accept his resignation. Why should he take the rap for a condition over which he has no control? If Big Shot got half the abuse Entekin has taken for other people he would have quit long ago and left things as he found them. He resigned once, took up the job again to help out someone and what now?

Out in the cold!

Belleville had some real constructive plans under way when Mr. Entekin had his finger in the pie. He knew his stuff. The men liked him, too, in case somebody's eyes have had the wool pulled over them. And now?

Things are not so hot as regards burglaries, are they Mr. Clark? Right under the nose of Big Shot No. 1 of this office this week a robbery occurred. Big Shot had to laugh.

In the columns of this paper appeared editorials in the days that the men stepped out like soldiers. Remember how proud you were to tell about it Mr. Clark? Ask us now to puff up things, a bit. Don't you need some more cops?

Well, it is not Big Shot's desire to embarrass you too much, but won't you please tell the people whom you would like to have vote for you for Mayor some day (or is Big Shot mistaken about this Mayor thing) why you have tied the hands of Mr. Entekin?

Portrait in Platinum

JEAN HARLOW

NOT the most unfortunate of young ladies is Miss Jean Harlow, she of the platinum top, sterling silver personality, and solid gold movie contract. There is no brass in Miss Harlow's makeup. Slim and dainty, she takes life with a quiet zest, and begins each shining day with a cup of fragrant coffee, as shown in the above diagram. In the trunk space usually reserved by traveling actresses for spangles and sequins, Miss Harlow packs aprons and house dresses, and when she stops at hotels they are apartment hotels with kitchens where she can putter in the pantry. She likes to cook, and it is estimated there are 4,877,883 young men who would like her to cook for them. This is considered to be impossible by Miss Harlow and her mother and father, who travel with her. She particularly likes to make her own coffee because she likes her own coffee.

TWO IN AUTO SNATCH 3 PURSES—NET $11.87

Belleville, Bloomfield And Caldwell Women Are Robbed

A pair of purse-snatchers, traveling in a dark coupe, operated Wednesday night in Belleville, Bloomfield and Caldwell, but their total loot in three thefts was only $11.87.

The purse-snatchers used their automobile to escape after stealing the handbag of Mrs. Elizabeth Herler, of 134 Smallwood avenue, this town. The thieves, both about 25 years old, grabbed the 55-year-old woman's purse containing $11 and knocked her down as they ran to their waiting automobile, which disappeared in the direction of Bloomfield. Patrolman Charles Slater and Emmett Bush heard Mrs. Herler's screams, but the thieves had escaped when they reached her.

A half-hour later they were reported in Bloomfield. Miss Eva Peskin, 16, of 10 Oliver street, Bloomfield, told police she was walking a few doors from her home when a coupe drew up and parked with its lights off. As she passed the car, two men jumped out, pushed her into a snowbank and took her purse containing 59 cents.

Caldwell police learned that another woman had been similarly robbed there of 28 cents by the handbag thieves, a quarter of an hour after the Bloomfield theft.

Woman Steals Board's Thunder

of the residents. He cited the fact that trucks would use Davidson street endangering lives of children during the day.

"Hearing the petition against the distributing plant, it seems to me," said Mr. Nelson, "that the residents of the section do not have the town at heart. The town needs the money business will pay. If we don't want industry our neighbors do."

"There is plenty of property in the valley beside Davidson street," declared the resident.

This matter was sidetracked back to the Williams-Stewart feud at this point. Said Mr. Stewart to Mr. Williams:

"When you refer to 'they' do you mean me or the signers of the petitions?"

"I don't know the purpose of this questioning," said Mr. Williams, but I said I have the utmost respect for the signers. Do you think I am running the job well? Didn't you tell someone in certain respects Williams is a genius. He is doing a good job."

Stewart replied: "I said at some times he soars to great heights and at some times to great depths."

Says Resignation Accepted

"Tiger insulted me," Williams said, "because I voted for factories in the valley section. Believe me, the people there will accept them yet if they want lower taxes. As for Miss Anderson, her resignation has been accepted."

"It wasn't at 5:30 tonight," Nelson interrupted.

"It has been accepted," Williams went on. He declared it appeared that Stewart "and a gentleman who sits in his office in Washington avenue and tries to run my department are endeavoring to place me in a quandary between Tiger and citizens who think it all right to keep Miss Anderson on. I've tried through Representative Hartley and the Naturalization Bureau in Newark to expedite the young lady's papers and it can't be done."

"I'm not trying to run you," Stewart stated. "I'm not as successful as some people in Belleville are."

Miss Anderson is still on the job. She says she has not handed in her resignation and demands a written request from Williams to relinquish the job.

Davidson street residents opposed permitting Gimbel Brothers of New York to locate a parcel distributing plant in the vicinity. They said George Rawcliffe, Republican district leader there, had circulated a petition favoring the plant with the promise that all who signed would be given jobs. Mrs. Ray accused Williams and Mayor Kenworthy of favoring the project despite the residential zone. The Mayor told her the matter would be discussed next week.

Mrs. Ray bombarded the Mayor for fair. When he said the matter would come up at the conference she informed the Mayor "we do not all hold a job like you. We can't all get there at 5 o'clock. Why not discuss the matter at night?"

When the question of what the board would do with the offer of the Belleville News to print advertising for the town free for three months was brought up by a News representative, Mrs. Ray spanked the Mayor again. The Mayor asked the News man where he lived and he was told out of town.

"You don't ask Gimbel where they live, do you Mr. Mayor?" she asked. The legal question is scheduled to be aired again Tuesday at the board conference.

Again during the meeting Mrs. Ray took a shot at the Mayor when he said the board was investigating the Gimbel situation.

"I am not sure whether you are looking out for our interests," she said. "You tell us a lot. It won't be the first time you have told us something and something else happened."

Charles Keir, representing the Hillcrest Taxpayers' Association, recommended further budget reductions by eliminating the plumbing inspector and two town nurses, abolishing the town forester, Building Department clerk and Bureau of Combustibles and cutting the library appropriation and all departmental overhead an additional ten per cent. The following requests were made: That the board submit proposed improvements to representative citizens, place adequate debt service amounts in the budget to cover bond issue interest, base a borrowing limit on assessed values, charge assessment debt arrears to general debt limit, curtail emergency notes and submit proposals for same to citizens, reduce period of carrying tax arrears notes and endeavor to reclaim a portion of exempt ratables. The Valley Improvement Association made similar requests.

The board will consider the recommendations at a budget hearing next Tuesday.

Troop No. 92 held their "Stunt Night" Friday, January 29.

First award went to Frank Chambers who gave a trumpet solo. Second award was won by four boys who gave an exhibition on the apparatus installed at the Recreation House. Other selections were a violin duet, a violin solo, tap dancing, and a first aid play.

Big Shot, Alladin Like, Puts His Hand Over Fire Engine

He Strolls To River And Sees New Apparatus
There On Sunday

There is nary a week rolls by what Big Shot No. 1 does not come across some good material for future stories. This week he snooped out enough notes to fill the front page for another month.

A couple of weeks ago Big Shot got up early on a Sunday morning and hearing the wild waves of the Passaic might talk he ambled on his way to the banks of that river.

He couldn't believe his eyes. There was that new fire engine being inspected.

"What's the idea on a Sunday morning Mr. Clark to look over that machine? Come, come, now!"

"Didn't Commissioner William H. Williams ask you if that machine had been out of order? Didn't you say 'no'?"

"Well—", we will finish this sentence later on when Big Shot tells how he rubbed his hand like Alladin over your new apparatus at Washington avenue, without being observed.

Yes, sir! Big Shot ambled into that headquarters, unobserved, rubbed his hand over the face plate. It didn't look like bronze to him. Bronze does not rust and Big Shot wondered if this one would rust.

He applied a tape measure to the frame of the truck. He measured the tires, he looked over the combination foot and hand brake. This was some time ago. Big Shot is going to sneak back into that building again. Nobody ever sees this phantom. Maybe Clark may place a police cordon about the structure to stop him. But he'll get in. He'll re-measure things again shortly.

Taken For Ride, Outwits Thugs Man Saves $190 from Roll, but Bandits Get $110

Attacked by two men he had befriended in an alleged local speakeasy, who lured him for a ride to Schley street and Keer avenue Tuesday night, Olaf G. Foss, 18 Club street, Bloomfield, outwitted the bandits by holding $190 out of a roll of bills, giving the pair only $110 when they failed to search him.

Foss, with a black eye, went to the home of a Schley street resident and told them of his plight. They called police. Foss told Detectives Kirwan and Schmidt that he had met the bandits and had several drinks with them in a speakeasy in Silver Lake. At their suggestion he accompanied them in an auto to "get something to eat," but instead of going to a restaurant the pair drove to a deserted spot in Schley street and ordered Foss to "hand over his money." Foss put his hand in his pocket and peeled off several bills, which he handed to the bandits. They jumped into their car and drove away.

HILLCREST TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION RECOMMENDATIONS

The proposals presented to the Town Commission Tuesday night by the newly organized Hillcrest Taxpayers' Association outside of budget are as follows:

- 1.—That the Board of Commissioners before increasing any debt improvements or any other purpose submit a report to the citizens on what will mean in the future tax bills.
- 2.—That when a bond issue is approved these shall be budgeted first year an amount equal to the largest annual debt service payment.
- 3.—That the assessed value basis of the preceding year be considered the limit on which money may be borrowed on a bond issue, and the special assessment debt which is in arrears be charged at once to the total debt limit.
- 4.—That the Board of Commissioners endeavor to curtail the issuance of emergency notes. Where the issuance of such notes is necessary a representative group of citizens should be taken into Commissioners' deliberation.
- 5.—That a radical reduction be made in the period over which years of taxes may be carried in the form of tax arrear notes.

As one-quarter of the total ratables of Essex County are exempt from taxation it is recommended that the Board of Commissioners make a full study of all exempt property in an effort to reclaim some proper taxation purpose.

Bandits Rob Four In Local Home

Three men armed with revolvers late Saturday night greeted Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott and their week-end guests, Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. of Paterson, as they were about to enter the Scott home at 150, 8 wood avenue. Ordering the couples into the house the bandits backed them against the wall in the front room. Mrs. Scott was wearing a diamond ring valued at $500 and $200, which she carried in a handbag. Mr. Scott was forced to give up a brief case and $50.

The robbers apparently were interrupted in ransacking the house by the return of the tenants, who had bags wrapped around his head. The men gained entrance through a side window. It is believed they escaped in an auto.

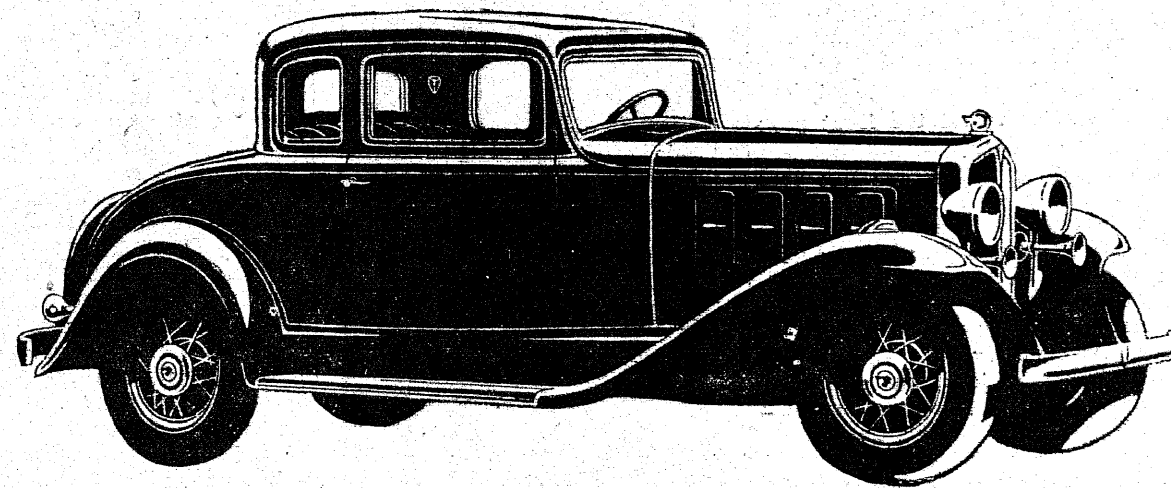

Sergeant Charles Pearl and Officer Scott, Hilton and Demgard are investigating.

School JanitorsProtest Pay Cut*Salaries Protected By Law, Counsel For Group Tells School Board

Protest against a ten per cent reduction in pay, set by the school budget, was made by the twenty janitors of schools at a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night. The janitors were represented by Theodore D. Gottlieb of Newark, who argued the salaries could not be cut, except for dereliction of duty.

The board took the matter under advisement. The pay cut is part of the reduction spread over all non-teaching employees.

The janitors organized two weeks ago. Joseph Armour of the high school is the president; Andrew Lightbody of School 5, secretary, and Eugene Mogul of School 8, treasurer.

Truant Officer Thomas Berry also was present. Counsel said the statute provisions applied to his salary.

The board received notice from the State Department of Public Instruction rating Belleville schools 100 per cent in financial and business conduct, as shown by records of Business Manager James J. Turner. The board complimented the latter, since Belleville is the only district in the county not to have a single deficiency mark.

Immediate repair of the high school fire alarm system was ordered to eliminate grounding of the circuit and prevention of fire drills.

Renovation of a store room in the high school to transform it into a library at a cost not exceeding $175, and installation of dark shades in auditoriums of Schools 1, 9 and 10 were authorized.

The resignation of Miss Margaret D. Crowley as fourth grade teacher at School 10 was accepted, and Mrs. Leona E. Reed was appointed to the place. Miss Ruth B. Robertson was appointed to fill a vacancy at School No. 7.

The Hillcrest Improvement Association wrote thanking the board for cooperation in reducing its budget. Board members urged that more citizens than usual appear, 7 to 9 P. M. February 9, to vote on the budget.

The board reorganized, reelecting James L. DeRosset, president, and Mrs. Porter Sheldon, vice president. She has been reappointed.

G. O. P. Club Meets.

The Belleville Republican Club met Friday and after a very interesting session were addressed by Senator Joseph G. Wolber of Essex. Several important committees were appointed by the president.

Belleville Police Celebrated Anniversary

The Police Department observed its twenty-fifth anniversary with a banquet Monday at the Elks' Home. Seats of honor were occupied by the original members of the department, members of the Township Committee, which authorized organization of the department February 1, 1907, and the present Town Commission, with Town Clerk John J. Daly as toastmaster. The P. B. A. sponsored the fête and the superior officers were invited guests.

Police Chief Michael J. Flynn and Sergeant Charles Pearl are the original members of the department who are still active, the chief having been appointed to that post when the department was formed. Sergeant Pearl has held his rating nearly fifteen years. William Swinn, another original member, retired in 1912 and is employed in the Department of Public Works. Joseph Hannon, the fourth, died in 1909.

The old Township Committee members who were present are Joseph Joule, Thomas Breen and Joseph Weston. Captain James Flynn, who retired last year, Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons, Probation Officer John Coyle and Thomas McNair, chairman of the Elks house committee, were the only other guests outside the department. The Kingsland Hut Entertainers furnished music and novelty acts.

John Monaghan, president of the P. B. A., was assisted with arrangements by Patrolmen Richard Nourse, Kenneth Smith, Christopher Dotterwich, Robert Anderson and Raymond Demgard.

The department has seen many changes since the days when the four men patrolled the town on bicycles. Today, with modern equipment, it is manned by twenty-four patrolmen and eight officers. Among the old timers who have seen the department grow are Sergeants George Wirtz, William Sullivan and James Hannon. Wirtz rode a motorcycle thirteen years, until 1927.

Commendation of the Department under Chief Flynn was the keynote of speeches at the banquet. Gifts were presented to the chief and Sergeant Charles Pearl by the rest of the department, commemorating the service of the two since the department was formed February 1, 1907.

A diamond ring bearing the emblem of the International Police Chief's Association was presented to Chief Flynn by Director William D. Clark of the Department of Public Safety. A gold watch was presented to Sergeant Pearl by John Monaghan, president of the Belleville P. B. A.

Other speakers were Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, Commissioners William H. Williams, Frank J. Carragher and Patrick A. Waters, Thomas Breen and Joseph Joule of the old Township Committee, which authorized organization of the department; Recorder George A. Fitzsimmons, Probation Officer John Coyle and Police Surgeon H. B. Vail. Town Clerk John J. Daly was toastmaster.

Reminiscences went back to the days when Chief Flynn was a star player on the Woodstocks, championship baseball team of Belleville. He was credited with conducting his office with fairness for members of the department and without toleration of political interference.

Town EmployeesPaid With Checks*Collections Were Enough To Cover Semi-Monthly
Salaries

Checks, instead of scrip, were forthcoming for town employees and school teachers Saturday. Director William H. Williams of the Department of Revenue and Finance, who foresaw the scrip possibility two weeks ago unless delinquent taxpayers came to the rescue, said resulting collections were sufficient to cover the $50,000 semi-monthly salaries item.

The director stated reports circulating that Water Department employees couldn't pay their bills because they hadn't been paid in weeks were false. The weekly wages in this department have "gone through on the dot," he said.

After a variation in style that lasted two weeks, I'm back to the usual random cracks—and in those two weeks I haven't been able to dig up a single dig—so you'll have to bear with me—Sam Yeatman, former secretary of the Shade Tree Commission, named his youngest after the only member of the family who had ever brought fame to the Yeatman tribe—an uncle who was hung for being a horse-thief—no foolin'—

To those in doubt—this is a nuh-papper—any other paper in town is a snooze-papper—in spite of all reports to the contrary published in a Newark paper—Tom Cruthers, Belleville copper, wishes to make it very forcefully known that he never has been a wrassler and never intends being a wrassler—so there—somebody must have been kiddin' us—for two months we all believed that there was a war going on in the Orient—and now the papers and radios report that China is just making plans to declare war—maybe like football and basketball, war has its seasons—and the war association wouldn't let them formally start their mess until the season arrived—

Which brings to mind a story—Will Rogers was going to Asia to get in on the doin's—while on board ship he met up with a Chinaman—and asked how the war was makin' out—The 'yellow skinned gentleman told him that on the first day 120 Chinese and 2 Japanese were killed—on the second day 64 Chinese and 1 Jap—on the third day 194 Chinamen passed away while 3 of the Japs got messed up—on the next day 49 Chinks were annihilated to one Japanese—whereupon Will Rogers interrupted to exclaim—"Good, keep it up and those Japs will soon be wiped out."

Jerry Lilore is the soda jerker at the Moose—he also serves sundaes—honest—Every place anybody from this paper goes he is greeted with the crack—"watch out, here comes Reporter Snoopy"—but everybody is wrong—Harry Metz is he—really— Young Eddy is makin' another come-back in the square circle—hope he makes out OK this time—

Sign in Newark store window—"Slightly used handkerchief for sale, 3 cents."

SPENDING PUBLIC MONEY

THERE is nothing so easy as spending money that belongs to someone else. Probably most of us could do quite well if we had the opportunity but it is doubtful if we could approach the talents of some of those we elect to represent in the Town Hall. At some time or other most of us have amused ourselves with idle speculation concerning how we would spend money if we had great amounts of it but the wildest of our dreams cannot surpass the commissionite ones.

It is well to note, too, that in many cases the gentlemen who are the most extravagant in their proposals to spend public money are the same gentlemen who put their names into headlines by urging economy and efficiency and defending the interests of the people from the robber barons of government and business.

The insurgents would make especially good spenders, if they had their way. Many of their proposals for the good of the people demand huge expenditures of public money.

Out of one side of their mouths some of these Commissioners who sit in the Town Hall tell the town all about the hard times, how taxes are falling, the past administration is weak because it has allowed the town finances to get in such bad shape and how they propose to remove all of the difficulties and bring about the perfect state of conditions. The other side of their mouths they reserve for proposals to spend huge sums of public money. Meanwhile it is fortunate for the town that there are some men in the Town Hall who say very little but who stop the follies of their more talkative brethren and still find time to bring about measures which, while not always as costly, as spectacular and idealistic, are blessed with some common sense.

A WINTER FOE

AS common as colds are and as dangerous as they are, men rarely know very little about them. Despite the advance medical science has made in many directions, it has not made so much progress in combating this prevalent illness. So far the tiny germs believed responsible for the annoying and menacing affliction have succeeded in eluding the most painstaking searches and continues to cause their damage with but slight interference.

Precautions and cures generally recommended by the experts are founded mainly on experience rather than on precise knowledge of the cause and its nature. It is known, for example, that chills, drafts and wet feet are likely to result in colds, but how and why are not so clear. In the old days, when medical knowledge was less than today, there were many "cures," ranging from the placing of a piece of red flannel about the neck to the consumption of great quantities of various home-made brews. Many of the remedies in which so much faith was placed probably had little effect upon the colds, and yet a lot of them are still depended upon in this allegedly enlightened day.

Added to those who place their trust in undeserving cures is that great army which pays scant attention to a cold, regards it as unavoidable and abides by the foolish philosophy that "it must run its course." Considering the opportunity that the cold germ has to choose its victims and then flourish, undisturbed by ridiculous remedies and nonchalant sufferers, there is little wonder that it has earned the label—"the common cold."

Famous will be the men who eventually isolate the cold germ, learn how it works and how it may be exterminated. There is some reason to believe that such a time may not be so far away but in the meantime it is unfortunate that there is not some way of emphasizing to all people the possible dangers that may follow in the wake of colds, the consequent need of taking the necessary precautions against infection and of fighting it with only the best means available. If this were accomplished no one can estimate how much suffering would be relieved and how much economic and social waste would be prevented.

MOST POPULAR SPORT

IT is doubtful that there are many more important issues, even in these days of questions that directly affect the pocketbook and comfort, than the problem of which sport is the most popular in America. There was a time, of course, when baseball ruled undisputed, but that was before millions packed the stadia and chased little white balls over the field. Today there is some question as to which is the Nation's favorite sport.

The Associated Press has attempted to answer it by conducting a poll of sports writers and editors, presuming that these representatives of the various parts of the Country are qualified to voice the opinion of the sport-loving public to which they cater. The poll loyally continues baseball as king, gives football second place, golf third and boxing a poor fourth.

It is too much to expect that the controversy will now cease. Rather there is a distinct possibility that the poll will only agitate it. It is almost as impossible to convince a football fan these days that his favorite sport is not the most popular in the Country as it is to deny to the golfer that golf isn't foremost. And as for the boxing addict! He will not easily accept that fourth place.

Still, it seems that an unbiased judge must agree with the results of the poll and acknowledge baseball as the national game. While with football it attracts old and young, rich and poor, men and women, unlike football its appeal is sustained more highly throughout the year and whereas golf appeals to all ages and both sexes, the hard rubber sphere is not pounded about on city lots and rural fields as the leather one is. Yet despite this conclusive evidence, the devotee of the links and the staunch friend of the gridiron spectacle will not admit inferiority.

THE FORUM

ANENT WASHINGTON
District of Columbia,
January 31, 1932.

To the People of Belleville:

Having had my attention called to an article that appeared in a paper published in Newark, some time ago, I have been the recipient of many letters ever since requesting me to comment on that article which went unchallenged. I waited believing that there would be someone in Belleville to challenge the false statement in defense of Belleville's historical past.

Not a word has been said so far. As I have been asked to challenge this article and also to answer it for Belleville's sake, I undertake the task but only do I in order to comply with the requests of those who have petitioned me to answer this article that discredited Belleville and its history.

The article that appeared over a year ago in the Newark paper read in part: "The first settlers of Belleville were members of the founders of Newark that came from Milford, Conn., in 1666. The Milford settlers were reputed to have come from Suffolk, in England."

Really, who were the first settlers of Belleville? Not English, because history tells us that the first English Settlement of New Jersey, was at Elizabeth in the year of 1664. Belleville was settled long before 1660. The settlers of Newark came to New Jersey and settled in Newark in 1666. But Belleville, then called "Second River," was quite a thriving village far from being newly settled when Robert Treat appeared with his followers and founded the Settlement of Newark in 1666. This tends to prove that Belleville was never founded nor settled by the founders of Newark. But just who were Belleville's first settlers?

The settlement of Belleville was quite evidently distinct for while Newark was settled by the English in 1666, "Second River," now called Belleville, was settled by Holland and French people from New York, Bergen (now Jersey City) and Hackensack.

Another statement which I have been asked to comment on is this which also was in the same paper's article: "It is not known of Washington having set up headquarters in Belleville."

This statement has led many to the belief that Washington was therefore never in Belleville. This was the impression as was conveyed to me by the numerous letters as came to me. For the benefit of those who might have been led to the belief that Washington never appeared in Belleville, it is but sufficient for me to say that General George Washington was in Belleville in the year of 1776. Did he set up headquarters in Belleville?

As Washington remained in Belleville but for one night it does not necessarily imply that headquarters had to be established, when he rested his weary troops in Belleville during their retreat from the British. I'll explain this briefly by saying this: Headquarters in the military sense means but this, the quarters of a commanding officer; the chief seat of authority; or the quarters of the head of an organization. So, therefore, if Washington camped his entire troops in the vicinity of Belleville and if Washington, himself, stood in Belleville for a night, it is most plain that where ever Washington stood, there was headquarters.

General George Washington as is authentically known, did appear in Belleville during the November of 1776, when he was retreating across New Jersey. Too, Washington, himself, rested in the Van Cortlandt Mansion where he dined, was entertained and had lodgings for the night. The Van Cortlandt's Mansion is better known to the Belleville people as the "Belleville Hotel." This historic Mansion was destroyed (because of Belleville's lack of Civic Pride in its historic places), in April, 1930.

Belleville will once more see the troops of Washington as they appeared in 1776 marching along Main street. This historic scene of Washington's retreat through New Jersey is to be reenacted by the City of Newark this November. It will start at the Belleville Bridge, Rutgers and Main streets, and continue on to Newark. This is Newark's part in celebrating the Washington Bicentennial.

I trust that this will satisfy those who requested me to challenge and answer the article that appeared in the Newark paper. It is hoped that the facts as are given will suffice. It would be appropriate if the Belleville people will bring the above to the attention of the boys and girls in our schools.

If there are any individuals who may wish to know more about Belleville and its historic places, ever will they find me most willing to co-operate.

Sincerely yours,
VINCENT WALSH.1323 M. N. W.,
Washington, D. C.

ASKS AID FOR NEEDY

Dear Sir—Kindly place this in a conspicuous place in your paper if possible. There is a group of women in town who for the past year or two have helped to relieve conditions in several ways. They have co-operated with poor department by collecting old clothes, selling them for a mere trifle giving entire proceeds for food for the poor at Thanksgiving. They have co-operated with child welfare nurses in town by collecting layettes for expectant mothers who had no means with which to provide these necessities, giving clothing to poor, also supplied clothing to school children as occasion arose. Now they have a new idea. Below is a letter from this group.

"Food Shower for Unemployed," "Help Wanted."

To People of Belleville:
We feel that there are hundreds of people in town who are distressed because they can not lend a helping hand to the unemployed; because of their own circumstances.

With the plan we have outlined we feel that even these people can help. We are asking every person in Belleville, who can, to donate just one of the following articles.

Five pounds of sugar, 1 pound of butter, 1 pound of coffee, 1 can evaporated milk, 1 can condensed milk, 1 can soup, half dozen eggs, half pound bacon, 1 box cereal, 1 pound dried peas or beans, 1 pound prunes, 1 can corn, peas, beans, tomatoes; 5 pounds of potatoes, onions, cabbage or turnips.

We would like the merchants in Belleville, who can, to make small donations of inexpensive cuts of meat, small quantities of vegetables or groceries. All these donations will be placed in baskets and given to people in town who are deserving. Remember no donation is too small. Call any of following members and arrangements will be made for collection.

Mrs. J. R. Kilpatrick, phone Belleville 2-1624; Mrs. J. P. Brohal, phone Belleville 2-1274; Mrs. J. P. Baker, phone Belleville 2-1824; Mrs. E. A. Flynn, phone Belleville 2-2041; Mrs. H. Moore, phone Belleville 2-1908; Mrs. S. Donaldson, phone Belleville 2-1953; Mrs. G. A. Fitzsimmons, phone Belleville 2-2266.

Thank you,
Signed Mrs. G. A. Fitzsimmons.

PUBLIC HEALTH

by Dr. Edwin F. Hahn

STYES
"Doctor, I have had styes on my eyes for several weeks, what am I going to do about them?" One of the most frequent questions patients coming to our office will ask us. Of course, we know that styes are due to many conditions, chief of which is a deficiency of calcium in the blood and secondarily to eye-strain. After telling the patient to have his eyes examined and prescribing some form of calcium and perhaps Cod Liver Oil or Iroh as the case may be, have him bathe his eyes with equal parts of camphor and water and solution of Boric acid, apply warm, using an eye cup several times a day, and anointing the lids with yellow oxide or mercury ointment every night.

A sty corresponds to a pimple on any part of the skin, but because of its location on the eye-lid, it gives rise to pain and discomfort, and interferes with the proper function of the eye out of all proportion to its relative importance. This sty shortens the duration of the condition by many days. One other important point of the treatment is the use of antiseptic instilled into the eye to prevent the pus from entering the pores of other glands not yet affected. If this is not done, a succession of crops will ensue, keeping the patient in misery for many weeks.

One of the most important causes of styes generally overlooked is eye-strain. The patient with a refractive error, such as far-sightedness or a stigmatism, forces the eye muscles to come to a perfect focus. In doing this more blood is brought to the eye and the adjacent organs, such as the lids, and localized areas finally become inflamed; therefore a person constantly affected with styes may be cured of this condition permanently by having glasses fit properly.

Health questions will be answered by Dr. Hahn. Write him in care of this paper. The answer will be published in our next issue.

Question:
Please give me advice. Have been cutting my toe-nails of late too short. It seems to me the toe nails are growing into the flesh, am suffering terribly. My right size of shoe is 6-7, but my second toe is about half-inch larger than my big toe, am wearing a size 8. Do you advise me to get a 9, hardly can walk sometimes with pain of my toes.
M. J. V.

Answer:
Your toes are probably infected, else the flesh would not grow over the nails. Cut the nail towards the lower seat of infection, turn the nail over in the same direction and try and pull it out. Touch the parts where the nail was with a caustic pencil obtained from your druggist. I would advise you to consult a competent chiropodist, who could best tell you the proper shoes to purchase.
EDWIN F. HAHN, M.D.

Question?
I am a girl of 23, had an operation seven months ago and now the incision pains me a lot. What is the cause. Do cysts come back after it has been operated on. What is meant by pus in the urine.
A Reader.

Answer:
If incision is not inflamed or swollen and you are not running any temperature the pain would be caused by contraction of the scar tissue. Cyst could come back if not properly removed or you may have another, unless these are symptoms of kidney or bladder disease. Few pus cells in the urine are of concern.
EDWIN F. HAHN, M.D.

Question:
From Mrs. M. B. B.
Answer:
You are the nervous type. If your weight is over 165 lbs. you should eat sparingly of the fat-forming foods, which are starches, sugars and fats. Cut out altogether candy, cake, cream, sweet fruits, all bread, except whole wheat, rice, tapioca, beans, sparingly of tea and coffee. Keep bowels active with a good preparation of mineral oil and agar. Exercise in the open air short of fatigue. Sleep 8 hours. Forget about strokes and blood pressure. Remember worry is the worst enemy of health and well-being, so why worry. Wear an elastic abdominal support and be happy.
EDWIN F. HAHN, M.D.

Question:
50 years old. Several years have weak spells, fall unconscious for 5 to 20 minutes. I imagine it is epilepsy. Had all my teeth extracted. Three months had no spell, now spells every day. I read the Great answers. Have read the good advice you give. Hope you can help me.
MRS. A. B.

Answer:
Different form of epilepsy, one loss of consciousness, no convulsions. Other form having both. Preceding the fit there are certain sensations or warnings. Patient falls quickly, loss of speech, chokes, foam issues from the mouth. Loss of bladder control, attack lasts a few minutes after which you are asleep. Cases starting after 35. Outlook is good where there is no organic disease. Your condition requires personal care. Would advise you to go to a clinic where you will find competent physicians to care for you and diagnose case properly.
EDWIN F. HAHN, M.D.

"Spirit" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 7, 1932.

The Golden Text is: "We have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God." (I Corinthians 2:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit." (I Corinthians 12:4, 13).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The three great varieties of Spirit, omnipotence, omniscience, omnibenevolence, — Spirit possessing all power, filling all space, constituting all Science, — contradict forever the belief that matter can be actual." Bethany Ev. Lutheran Church
Rev. Harry Pfunk, Pastor
Meets in Masonic Temple,
Belleville, N. J.

Rev. Harry Pfunk was installed as pastor of Bethany Evangelical Lutheran Church, Sunday afternoon at Masonic Temple, where the congregation worships. Rev. Dr. Samuel Trexler, president of the Synod of New York of the United Lutheran Church in America, officiated and gave the charge to the congregation. Rev. Adolph Holtzhusen of Emanuel Lutheran Church, New Brunswick, gave the charge to the pastor, Rev. Henry Berkobin of Holy Trinity Church, Nutley, read the service.

Growth in the knowledge of Christ and in ideals of service on the part of pastor and people was stressed by Dr. Trexler as essential for a successful church. Dr. Holtzhusen also pointed to the path of service. President of Wagner College, Staten Island, during Mr. Pfunk's student days, Mr. Holtzhusen lauded his record and congratulated the congregation on the selection of a man who gave "full power to every task."

Street Cars and Buses, Like Your Sunday Suit, Make Regular Trips to the Dry Cleaners

Public Service bus being cleaned without soap and water at the company's Orange-Passaic Valley Garage.

WHO would have thought that "dry cleaning" would ever replace soap and water as a means of removing quantities of dust, dirt, and grime that collect every day on the bodies of Public Service street cars and buses?

Yet, a new method of dry cleaning, first tried out a few months ago, has proved so successful, that it has been generally adopted at all of the company's carhouses and garages.

The new cleaning process is simple. A cleaning paste is first applied by brush. The paste is then rubbed off and with it comes all the dirt and grease on the sides. After this, a body polish is applied. Some soap and water is still used, however, in cleaning grease and oil from the chassis.

There are several important advantages in using dry cleaning instead of soap and water; every car or bus can now be cleaned wherever it happens to stand, thus eliminating the work of shifting vehicles to and from the washing stands; dry cleaning is also less wearing on paint and varnish; water, moreover, has a tendency to get into crevices and rot body materials; in addition, dry cleaning gives the body a smooth finish which protects it and makes more difficult the collection of dust and dirt.

Keeping clean the Public Service fleet of some 2,400 buses and 1,500 street cars is a real undertaking. A small army of 350 cleaners is steadily employed night and day, sweeping, cleaning, washing, and fumigating so that these Public Service street cars and buses will be kept clean both inside and out.

SALVATION ARMY

Mr. Harry Krohne at the age of fourteen years had started a life of crime. With many "jobs" to his credit before his defection and incarceration, and at the age of eighteen he was sentenced and commenced his first term for five years in the New York Reformatory.

Mr. Krohne does not think prison treatment accomplishes its reform purpose, as many times the discharged prisoner—not reached by religious help—unable to make new associations, drifts back to his former bad habits.

This was Harry Krohne's experience, he became a burglar, a safecracker, a second story man, an embezzler, a bar room bully, a Bowery tough. He has served terms in seven jails and penitentiaries, being discharged with just as bad heart as ever continuing in a life of crime.

Some twelve years ago the Salvation Army heard and became interested in this family, soon Mr. Krohne became curious and attended one of the services. Heard the simple gospel message and was soon convinced that he could be freed from the chains of sin that had him bound for so many years. Today he holds a good position with the Standard Oil Co. Is a very active worker of the Salvation Army. And a very successful jail worker visiting jails and pen-

Dates for the performance are: Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, February 10, 11, and 12.

Each student was given four tickets to sell last week and if everyone does his duty, a complete sell-out will be the result.

Miss Kietzman's sophomore home room was in charge of the assembly Tuesday morning.

The following students were presented in the musical program offered by the group: William Ellis, Frances Dorman and Mildred Drentlan. "Bill" Ellis rendered two vocal and guitar solos, while the Misses Drentlan and Dorman presented a piano duet.

Catherine Faust read a passage from the Bible and led the students in prayer. Edward Garvey was master of ceremonies and made the necessary announcements.

Tickets for the Varsity Club Dance are going like a "forest fire" according to the latest reports and a large attendance is expected.

Open Letter To Taxpayers Of Belleville

OPEN LETTER TO TAXPAYERS OF BELLEVILLE.

The following figures are presented to the taxpayers of this town to show you how the political leaders throughout the nation have managed the business affairs of country, state, town and village, since 1913.

Federal Taxes.
1931	$4,220,000,000
1913	749,000,000
Increase	3,471,000,000
State Taxes.
1931	$2,500,000,000
1913	383,000,000
Increase	2,117,000,000
Local Taxes.
1931	$7,280,000,000
1913	1,844,000,000
Increase	5,436,000,000

Assuming the World War and this speculation period accounts for the Federal tax increase and improved roads, etc., takes care of the increase of state taxes, what is the answer to the tremendous increase in local taxes. Figure it out for yourselves. Do you realize that if this progressive rising of taxes does not stop, it means confiscation of your property.

If you read and understood the last sentence you will want to do something. You will ask yourself: How can I help myself? The answer is organize. Forget your political differences with your neighbor and for a common cause join a non-partisan taxpayers association affiliated with the State of New Jersey Taxpayers League. Be sure and investigate and know what you are joining. Go to their meetings, understand their purposes. See that they find out what you are getting for your tax receipts. Do it now, you cannot afford to wait. Next year may be too late.

The figures quoted in this letter in part of a study furnished by one of the largest business service houses in the country and are considered very authentic.

Identitaries preaching the gospel and its power to save.

Hear Sergeant Major H. Krohne in person on Sunday night February 7th, at 8 P. M. at the Salvation Army, 94 Washington Ave.

Young People Held Social Last Friday

Parmer Speaker at Weekly Meeting
Sunday

The Young Peoples Fellowship of the Christ Episcopal Church held a social, Friday night, at the chapel, with many of the members of the fellowship and their friends in attendance.

Refreshments were served and general good time was had by all. The officers of the fellowship are planning on continuing these socials at irregular intervals.

Wayne R. Parmer, superintendent of schools, spoke to the members of the Fellowship at their weekly meeting, Sunday night, at 7:00 in the chapel. The forming of habits and the law of cause and effect, as pertaining to our every-day life, were subjects delved into by Mr. Parmer in his highly interesting and illuminating chat.

The Fellowship will hold one of its periodic admission services, Sunday night, at which Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach will officiate. This service will be held expressly for the purpose of admitting new members into the Fellowship.

PUBLIC SERVICE

COMMUNITY SERVICE REPORT

The annual meeting of the Belleville Community Service Bureau was held at the Woman's Club, the evening of January 21, 1932. Philip Dettelbach, president, presided. In his introductory remarks he emphasized the importance of co-operation of all existing agencies; that there should be a clearing house for all organization, that duplication of time, money and effort be avoided.

Lester T. Swander, of the State Emergency Relief Administration, gave an interesting talk on the "Relationship Between Private and Public Agencies." He outlined the historical background of each and pointed out how each was necessary to the social program of a community. There were certain types of cases such as the chronically sick, and old age that were definitely the town's responsibility, while the other types which are amenable to treatment should be referred to the private agencies, who by their training, experience and restricted case load are equipped to handle them more effectively.

Mr. Swander also emphasized the necessity of co-operation between the private and public agencies. There should be a definite division of work to avoid duplication and overlapping, in order to carry out a constructive social program.

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy outlined the unemployment situation in Belleville. To adequately care for the unemployed which now numbered 1600, was an enormous job and should be financed by taxation. He also emphasized the importance of keeping up the morale of these men, who had been for months without regular employment.

Miss Kline, executive secretary of the Community Service Bureau, gave a financial report of the relief expenditure for the year, also an outline of the various problems referred to the Bureau and how they were treated.

ANNUAL REPORT

January 1, 1931 to January 1, 1932. Since January 1, 1931 the Bureau has contacted 268 families. Of this number 176 families have received service of some kind.

These 176 families represent 944 individuals, 328 adults and 616 children. Three-fourths of them were Americans and Italians, there being about an equal number of each nationality, while one-fourth represents the other nationalities including German, English, Negro, Irish, Jewish, Polish, Scotch, Hungarian, Czechoslovakian, Norwegian, Finnish and Canadian.

There were 1,297 visits made—805 to the homes and 492 in behalf of families. There were also 1,442 office interviews.

The problems which these families present are many and varied. Of sixty-seven, unemployment was the main difficulty.

Four full time jobs were secured for men with local industries and two full time jobs for women as janitresses. Ninety-five men and women were assisted in securing odd jobs. In three instances it was practical nursing and lasted for a period of several months. Many of the jobs for the day work have developed into regular places, where the women go each week.

Food, clothing, furniture and bedding have been provided for the unemployed. During November and December, twenty-six pairs of new shoes were given to the school children of these families. In addition to the material relief many adjustments were made regarding insurance premiums, and with various building and loan associations. Connections with the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts were made. Relationships with relatives and churches were strengthened.

Material relief is not the only problem of the unemployed. Wives become discontented and nagging. It is difficult for them to believe their husbands are unable to get work, when they have always had work in the past. Many a one will say: "John is getting shiftless and lazy. I'm sure he isn't trying to get work." All of this doesn't help John's morale when he comes home footsore and weary from walking all day in search of a job.

As a result there is quarrelling and discord in families where formerly there was peace and harmony. The eldest boy who has just finished school and is waiting for his job gets into the habit of loafing. He forms undesirable acquaintances and soon drifts in the downward path. The daughter becomes dissatisfied at being obliged to wear shabby clothes.

You see that the financial needs form only a very small part of the problem. It is equally important that the wife is convinced that John is doing his best to find a job—and there just isn't such a thing and it is discouraging enough for him to be obliged to report failure each night, without her adding coals to the fire. Recreational outlets must be found for the girl and boy to occupy their time and keep them interested. Whenever possible encourage them to seize this opportunity to get more education or to learn a trade. The health of the family must also be closely guarded, otherwise by the time work is secured the family will be wrecked beyond repair.

In one family the man, who was a skilled mechanic had been out of work for months. The eldest daughter, the only child of working age, had been laid off. They were about to lose their home, which represented the savings of his best working years. The building and loan refused to carry them any longer unless the taxes were paid.

Finally after visiting the tax collector and the building and loan association, they agreed to carry them. If the delinquent taxes were paid within the next few months, by paying the interest each month. This amounted to less than the family would have had to pay for rent. The company for which the man had worked was interviewed and they agreed to pay the interest from their unemployment fund.

We were able to get the woman a job as practical nurse, while the eldest daughter cared for the younger children at home. This together with odd jobs the man had, enabled them to pay the taxes and the home was saved. We also secured medical and dental treatment for the children. It was suggested that the family renew their interest in their church and it has not only provided for their spiritual needs but has been a recreational source for the whole family. Very little financial assistance from the Bureau has been necessary, in this case, but it represents hours of service.

Next to the problem of unemployment is the problem of the physically and mentally handicapped.

There were twenty-five suffering from physical disability, including tuberculosis, cancer, asthma, anemia, who were treated by private physicians. Medical treatment was secured for forty-five, most of whom were children at clinics. Hospitalization was secured for fifteen; Tonillietomies for six children; Dental care, by local dentists, was given to ten children; glasses and other medical appliances secured for nine.

There were twenty-four suffering from mental diseases; seventeen of these have been treated at the Psychiatric Clinic and six were committed to institutions.

Seven, whose difficulty is old age are already listed with the Bureau and we will assist them in making application for the old age pension.

Other problems are: Unmarried mothers, four; widows with dependent children, 11; domestic trouble or non support, 6; (in four of these cases the families have been reunited); imprisonment, 4; alcoholism, 2.

In four cases an adjustment was made for State Aid, insurance, support through the court and industrial compensation.

In one case, by explaining a family's financial condition to his employers, he was shifted to another department with an increase in salary, bringing his income up to budget.

A boarding home was secured for children and a permanent home with relatives was secured for one.

A few weeks ago we received word that a woman had been committed to Overbrook, leaving two small children, one about two years of age and the other eight months. The man had been arrested for drunkenness and non support. The children must be placed at once. A boarding home was found. The father was ordered by court to pay part of the cost and the balance was paid by the bureau. When we called for the children, they had no clothing. A neighbor loaned us some until clothing could be purchased.

Upon investigation we learned that the parents were legal residents of Bloomfield and were known to the Social Service Bureau there. They left the children under our supervision but reimbursed us for the expense until arrangements were made to place them with relatives in Bloomfield.

Another was a case of a Polish child. Its parents were separated. The father paid a certain amount each week into the court for the child's support. The mother was an unreliable, irresponsible sort, who went around telling hard luck stories, soliciting much sympathy for herself but little for her husband.

The case was brought to our attention by the woman, with whom the child was boarded, asking our assistance in getting her pay. The child's mother was several weeks in arrears because she had claimed the child's father had failed to pay into the court. We interviewed the Probation Officer and learned that the man had paid regularly. The baby was in a frightful condition. It had been placed wherever board could be secured at the least expense, regardless of its care. We sent it to the clinic at the Babies' Hospital.

In the meantime, we looked up the father. At first, he was very unfriendly. He thought we had been prejudiced by his wife's stories but when he was assured that we realized there were two sides to every story and we were interested in knowing his side and in doing anything we could to help him, his attitude changed. The man had never seen the baby since it was born. We arranged for him to visit it. To help regain his self-respect arrangements were made for him to pay for the child's care direct to the boarding mother. Instead of going through the court. The outcome was that the man's mother took the child, where it has a good home with its father.

In nine cases assistance was secured for relatives. In two of these cases full support was obtained.

Four families were returned to their legal residence and eleven were referred to other agencies.

At the request of the Board of Education, the Bureau is making the social investigation of pupils applying for working papers. Since the opening of school in September to January 1, we have made twenty-seven such investigations. In each case the home was visited and the employer interviewed. Eleven of these children were returned to school. Oftentimes we found the financial conditions in the home warranted the child leaving school and going to work—but the working conditions were precarious to either the health or morals of the child. In those cases the child was retained in school until a more desirable job could be secured. We also had some assurance from the employer as to his permanency. In the case of one boy, the parents were willing for him to stay in school, if he could earn his own clothing and it was arranged with the employer to give him work Saturdays.

One bright, little girl was very unhappy that her mother insisted on her leaving school to assist her in the home. The woman could well afford to keep the child in school, but she was ignorant and illiterate and thought the child might better be helping her with the household work than running off to school. After many discussions regarding the importance of an education and the mother was assured of her assistance after school and Saturdays, the child was allowed to return.

Those who had finished eighth grade and were not interested in continuing school or were not mentally equipped to do high school work were sent to the Vocational School where they are learning trades along the lines for which they are best fitted. This is the most critical period of a child's life and his whole future depends on his training or the type of work he takes up. And if he is permitted to leave school without a permanent job, which interests him he becomes restless and dissatisfied and in many cases becomes a delinquent. I feel that this is not only a preventative work but is one of the most constructive ways that we can serve the community.

Perhaps one of the Bureau's biggest achievements for the year is its admission to the Family Welfare Association of America. This is a federation of 240 family welfare agencies, throughout the United States, who have organized for the purpose of maintaining standards and determining policies. Each of these agencies—no matter how small has the benefit of the advice and experience of the leading Social Workers of the country. Admission to this association is an acknowledgment that the Bureau is maintaining the standard of work prescribed and has recognition in its professional group.

John Wanamaker of New York contributed 1 per cent of its audited sales for the months of November and December to charity. He requested that the distribution of this money in New Jersey be through the member societies of the Family Welfare Association of America in Union, Essex and Bergen Counties. For New Jersey this amounted to $9,689.81. Only this morning I received a check of $281.75—Belleville's quota.

I wish at this time to thank the organizations and individuals for their generous support.

Last summer, through the contributions of the Ladies' Aid of the Dutch Reformed Church and the Eastern Star to the Essex County Christian Endeavor Camp, we were able to send seventeen children to camp. The donations of canned goods from the Girl Scouts, Christmas baskets from the Elks, Salvation Army and from the employees of Wallace and Tiernan and the Prudential Insurance Company and the toys from the firemen, besides the many donations of food and money from individuals brought Christmas cheer to many of our families.

A donation of $50 worth of shoes made it possible to supply new shoes for children. Many other new articles of clothing were bought with the $45.50 donated in money.

TO CLUB PRESS CHAIRMEN

By HOWARD WHITE.

Society Editor, N. Y. Herald Tribune

Club notices sent to newspapers for publication should not be directed to the readers. The press chairman is not writing the minutes of a meeting for the club but a newspaper notice to be read by many others than their own club members. Therefore, the impersonal stand must be taken.

In regard to the impersonal stand of newspaper items they must NOT include editorial matter; that is, they should not include the thoughts or opinions of the writer. Each statement must be accredited to its source. It is improper, and will only be stricken from the copy, to use such statements as "The need of the club women today is greater co-operation." The question immediately arises, "Who said so?" This should be stated—"Mrs. Dean stressed the fact that the need, etc." Another example is the first person description such as, "We are doing great work for the blind" instead of "The Auxiliary is doing."

All sentences should be complete. Such items as "Meeting 1 P. M." and "Discussion 3 P. M." are incomplete and require many hours of labor for the editor in filling in the missing words. Another prevalent error in club copy is that direct command in second person, such as "notify your chairman if you are to attend our meeting." Such sentences should be written in third person, as "Members have been asked to notify their club chairman if they will attend the meeting," thus eliminating the "you" and "our."

One of the most important rules of club notices is the most neglected. FULL NAMES of the members, at least the first time they are mentioned in the story, MUST BE GIVEN. The individuality of every person is based directly on his or her name. Suppose the wife of the former governor of New York were described "Mrs. A. Smith" would you know who was meant? So, if the president with the employer to give him work Saturdays.

One bright, little girl was very unhappy that her mother insisted on her leaving school to assist her in the home. The woman could well afford to keep the child in school, but she was ignorant and illiterate and thought the child might better be helping her with the household work than running off to school. BERTH... Secretary.

of each club can have her full name given, why not the other members? Why should the hostesses be mentioned as the Mmes. Smith, Jones, Brown and White? If they are of enough importance to be named in the news story, they are of enough importance to have their full names included. SPELL NAMES CORRECTLY!

Punctuation, if any, is very poor in most copy largely due to negligence. There was at one time a reporter on the Herald Tribune cursed with the comma evil. When in doubt he put in a comma. When the copy-readers had withstood it for months, and there was no improvement they broke into his desk and filed the comma off his typewriter. But habit was too strong—he handed in stories with black smudges where the commas would have been. Please omit smudges also.

For those clubs seeking publicity in newspapers, one rule should be emblazoned over every press chairman's desk. THE BETTER the condition of the copy handed to the editor, the BETTER the chance it has of getting into print. When a club notice comes in written on miniature stationery, written in long hand in a manner that is almost impossible to read, with no margin for corrections—it is very probable that the copyreader is forced to throw it in to the wastebasket. Club notices in a paper baller are of no value and a waste of time. Write clearly, typewritten if possible, on regulation size business stationery, with room between the lines and on the margins. Get the notices to the paper as early in the week as possible—the last club notices for Sunday are edited on Thursday.

The best possible training for a press chairman actually interested in results should be that used by reporters. Save a copy of the notice as you have written it then watch the item as it is printed in the paper. Notice word for word what changes have been made by the editor. Let the editor's style be your style.

Club notices which do not get into print are left out for one of TWO reasons—the lack of space or because there is something wrong with them. There are always several disappointed press chairmen because their notices were left out. The reason, to the editor, is too obvious. Of what value is a notice telling what a glorious opening session the club will have, what a fine program has been prepared, long descriptions of refreshments and decorations—and have the date of the meeting and the place it is to be held, left out of the story? The editor cannot call hundreds of people to ask about the important details of a story. That is the duty of the press chairman, and an important duty it is in regard to the successful publicity of each club.

State Orders $25,000 Paid For Paving

Payment to Belleville of $25,000 by the State Highway Commission for the state's share in the paving of Joralemon street has been ordered, the check to follow soon, according to word received by Town Clerk John J. Daly from J. L. Bauer, state highway engineer. The total cost of the work was $61,288.73 and the balance of $36,288.73 is the town's share, to be assessed according to benefits received.

Druggist Robbed

William Rivola, druggist, of 323 Union avenue, was backed into the prescription room at the rear of his store by two young armed bandits Monday night and robbed of $200 from his pockets and cash register. A customer who entered the store during the hold-up and whose name was not learned was ordered into the rear room but not robbed.

Playing The Game

(Author's name not known)
Life is a game with a glorious prize.
If we can only play it right.
It is give and take, build and break.
And often it ends in a fight.
But he surely wins who honestly tries
(Regardless of wealth or fame).
He can never despair who plays it fair—
How are you playing the game?
Do you wilt and whine, if you fail to win
In the manner you think your due?
Do you sneer at the man in case that he can
And does, do better than you?
Do you take your rebuffs with a knowing grin?
Do you laugh tho' you pull up lame?
Does your faith hold true when the whole world's blue?
How are you playing the game?
Get into the thick of it—wade in,
boys—
Whatever your cherished goal:
Brace up your will till your pulses thrill.
And you dare—to your very soul!
Do something more than make a noise:
Let your purpose leap into flame
As you plunge with a cry, "I shall do or die."
Then you will be playing the game.

Board of Assessment Commissioners of Belleville as the idea of informing the citizens of Belleville as to the official family of the Town Government and some of the past history of the Town.

To those outside of Belleville whom this may reach, Belleville is located outside of Newark, between it and Paterson, ten miles from New York City, surrounded by beautiful towns such as Bloomfield and Nutley, and is bounded on its eastern side by the Passaic River. It is partly industrial and residential, being fortunate in having many sites still left for desirable industry to locate. The residential sections are of high type and are protected by a zone ordinance.

SIDNEY A. SILBERMAN
A Chronology of Men Who Have Achieved Success

Otis & Otis, Noted Hospital Furnishers Belleville Quite Proud Of Achievements Of Local Firm.

One of the outstanding furnishers of hospitals in the entire State of New Jersey. This is the proud place to which in nine short years a merited Belleville firm, Mr. and Mrs. Otis, trading as Otis and Otis, 91 Forest street, has achieved.

Among the outstanding jobs which have come to this firm, and in which their distinguished service has won them universal recognition, are the Orange Memorial Hospital, the Mountain Side Hospital, the Essex County Isolation Hospital, and several others, equally well known.

The record of Otis and Otis is indeed one of which Belleville may be proud, nor can it be considered a mere skyrocket manifestation, but rather, it has the solid backing of more than twenty-four years of experience in the furnishing business, all of which is available to Belleville residents not only for the interior decorations, but for the furnishing of their own homes.

Nor do the services of Otis and Otis end with the decorating field, but in addition (and here is where the Belleville citizen of moderate income is able to derive direct and material benefit) Otis and Otis by reason of unusual buying power, and wide patronage, is able to offer a full line of modern, up-to-date house furnishings at rock-bottom, wholesale prices.

P. ABATO

Good groceries mean good people, and good people means a great nation. So, P. Abato, whose Italian-American Grocery at 116 Franklin street, Silver Lake Section of Belleville, has achieved such wide prominence for the notable line of smoked meats, cigars, cigarettes, candy and ice cream, in addition to a full line of groceries, offered there, deserves the commendation of his fellow townsmen in no small measure.

Especially is Mr. Abato to be congratulated for the wonderful work he is doing in service of those thousands of new Americans who have brought such a rich share of Italian tradition as their contribution to the United States that are to be. Mr. Abato, while encouraging always a true spirit of patriotism in his adopted land, and to the sovereign state of New Jersey, has very properly made it his specialty to provide in full measure the toothsome delicacies of the home-land for his compatriots from Italy, so that they will not feel too homesick in this new world of rush and worry.

ROBERT H. HOLST

Interior Decorator Has Fur- nished Homes Throughout The Country.

The magnificent strides which have been made in recent years in adding taste and distinction to the interiors of American homes have brought about a veritable transformation from ugliness to beauty.

The part which men of intelligence and artistic ability in the interior decorating field have played in bringing about this transformation is a notable one.

To Belleville belongs the distinction of having in its midst one of the foremost pioneers in this field, a man whose name is known throughout the nation wherever fine interiors are discussed, and who has been abroad a number of times to get interior ideas of distinction for introduction here.

This expert in his field is Mr. Robert H. Holst, located at 278 Washington avenue. No matter what the plan of the home may be, Mr. Holst has proven to the satisfaction of families of prominence in Belleville and in other parts of the country over a period of twenty years that he has been in this business, that he can install just the right arrangement of furnishings to set the home off at its best, and lend the proper atmosphere of cultivated charm which is so necessary for pleasant living and fine entertaining. In addition, Mr. Holst has reproduced many pieces of furniture that are on exhibition in the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, and the Metropolitan Museum in New York City.

Vernon G. Graham Washington Avenue Auto Repairman, Garage-own- er, popular.

How wonderfully the individuals in a community such as Belleville are knit together by bonds of common interest and mutual advantage into a marvelous pattern of civilization!

This thought especially appeals to one after observing the splendid spirit of co-operation and helpfulness which characterizes the work of Vernon G. Graham, genial garage owner and automobile repair specialist at 320 Washington avenue, here.

For nine years Mr. Graham has gradually won the deepening respect and appreciation of Belleville citizens for his competent services in repairing auto bodies and fenders, painting and welding, brake adjusting and battery and ignition work.

And as, one by one, Belleville citizens learn of the reliable and painstaking efforts Mr. Graham devotes to every task, and how he brings the full skill of his fifteen years of experience to bear upon each undertaking, they also find with pleasure that he is unhesitating in returning their patronage, thus building up that mutual give and take which is the essence of community prosperity.

So Mr. Graham has prospered, and his property is reflected in his large, modernly equipped establishment, especially in that department devoted to cylinder grinding, and motor rebuilding, and the cycle of all around improvement continues unceasingly to the betterment of Belleville.

A particular source of satisfaction to both Mr. Graham and his customers is the fact that he handles the dependable line of Sunoco gas and oil, which add so much to the performance of automobiles, at such reasonable prices.

Yudin's Paint Store.

Washington Avenue Glass, Wall-Paper, and Paint Store Merited.

Take paint, wall-paper, and glass away from the modern home and there would not be much left to make it livable and comfortable.

One who supplies those accessories to the home therefore truly performs a meritorious service in his community.

To have maintained an establishment of this estimable nature over a period of twenty-three years, while at the same time taking an active part in community social and welfare enterprises such as the Belleville Elks, the Congregation A. A. of Belleville, and the Belleville Progress Club, is the noteworthy record of Mr. Yudin, proprietor of the Yudin's Paint Store, 114 Washington Avenue.

Mr. Yudin's record in this respect is rendered more unique, however, by the fact that not only are the paints, wall-paper, and window glass available at his meritorious establishment of the highest quality, and standard makes, which assure a dependable product, but they are priced on a scale conformable to even the moderate family purse. A free delivery service also is available at Yudin's Paint Store, which is a great convenience in transporting glass and wall-paper, especially.

It is no wonder then that artisans in the paint, wall-paper and glass fields as well as home owners of prominence, have come to rely exclusively upon Mr. Yudin for their supplies of these articles.

Microne Hardware Co.

Washington Avenue Firm Has Full Line. Invites In- spection.

Concerns of standard reliability such as the Microne Hardware Co., located at 29 Washington avenue, here, are undoubtedly of great value in developing and promoting the general business and resources of our community, and deserve the highest praise for the useful activity and influence which they exert in their special department of trade pursuits, notably the furnishing of a complete line of hardware, factory and mill supplies.

The Microne Hardware Co. has followed this line of business for many years past, and have invariably made it a point to enforce those commercial policies and principles which would safeguard and promote the interests of those who avail themselves of the excellence and high quality of their trade service, and it is merely giving credit where credit is due to say that they have met with success by honestly deserving it.

Griffith Piano Co.

Locates In Nutley

This Is In Line With The Marked Progress Of Last Few Years

In line with their marked progress of the last few years, Griffith Piano Company, has chosen Nutley as the ideal location for the opening of their newest store.

The store is located on 341 Franklin street and is under the very capable and courteous management of Arthur Greene.

Equipped with the very latest and most complete line of radios, this store will prove a boon to local shoppers who are so tired of traveling to Newark for their purchases.

Before deciding upon Nutley as the spot for their latest enterprise, executives of the company studied the business possibilities of several suburban municipalities and arrived at the conclusion that this section would be the one best suited for their and the people's needs.

Store Advertising

As Style Authority

Daily Newspapers Keep The Women Posted On Prices, Too

What constitutes style authority in America? Is it the movies or the shop windows or advertising?

The question is raised by a current advertisement prepared by the New York Herald Tribune, which gives at least a considerable part of the credit to the advertising of department stores and style shops in the daily newspapers.

The fact that a newspaper is published daily makes possible immediate presentation of the latest creations of the designer. Styles, like reports or happenings all over the world, reach the public while they are news.

Not only can the woman obtain the latest styles through this means; she learns the latest prices as well—a matter of large importance to her in these days of readjustments. Equipped with this style and price information she can buy clothes for herself and family and furnishings for her home with a full knowledge of actual market conditions. She saves many hours of wearisome shopping and is able to make the most of a restricted income.

Clintons Still Lead in Municipal League

Williams' Five Also Win To Take Second Place

The Clintons continued to hold undisputed sway in the Municipal Basketball League ranks, Wednesday night, at the high school gym by overwhelming the Panthers, 32-11.

The William H. Williams Association five, losers to the Clintons by a one-point margin but a week ago, came back to take the same sort of a decision from the Second Ward Political Club, whom they defeated, 19-18. The Williams club is now in second place in the standings. The Holy Name club of Silver Lake defeated the Panthers, 22-14, in the other game of the evening.

McGuire of the Clintons, Kennedy of the Holy Name club, Owens of the Second Warders, and Matthews of the Williams quintet took high scoring honors in the various contests.

Doings in the Field of Sports

..This Whirl Of Sport..

BY ARTHUR BLOEMER

THE TRAIL TO SUCCESS

WHILE watching with interest the fluctuating successes of our high school basketball team, one cannot help but note the uniformly high grade performances being turned in by the second team.

The second-stringers have a record of which any team might well be proud. Six wins in seven starts (up to Tuesday). The only defeat received was at the hands of Passaic's powerful five. Many of the wins were recorded by top-sided margins; that indicated class, and plenty of it.

Perhaps, we might even go so far as to draw a parallel with Passaic, that perennial hot-bed of things of a basketball trend. With the creation of their many "Wonder Fives" and state championship teams, the fact is often over-shadowed that their second teams are always winners.

The present edition of these fine young Jayvees, the same ones who handed the Bell-boys their lone defeat of the campaign in a close battle, have been undefeated for several seasons.

The second-stringers of today are the varsity players of tomorrow. And along the same line of reasoning, the better the second team of today, the better prospects for tomorrow's varsity.

Another activity that should undoubtedly aid greatly in the production of court teams of the superior type in the future is the Recreation Commission work, under the capable supervision of its director, Mr. Nebrigg.

The younger basketball player is almost daily finding outlet for his talent in the four six-team junior leagues, sponsored by the Recreation Commission.

All of this preparation of the youths of the town in the ins-and-outs of the court game should follow but one road, the trail to success in basketball.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL ACE

THOUGH the football season has been relegated to the side-lines for quite some time, the awarding of major numerals to freshman football players by the authorities at New York University recently commanded the attention of many local fans.

Among the recipients of this coveted recognition was Howard McMaster, one of the steadiest linemen on Belleville High's grid teams of two and three years ago.

The making of N. Y. U.'s varsity, a difficult task at best, is McMaster's assignment, and we feel, as do many others, that he is equal to the task.

Lois Albey Winner At Iceland Rink

12-Year-Old Local Girl Places First In Juvenile Race

Lois Albey, twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morrell C. Albey of 44 Malone avenue, won her first major ice-skating race, Saturday night, at Iceland, New York City, in placing first in the 110-yard Juvenile competition. Her time in covering the distance was 17 seconds which is considered very good speed for a juvenile competitor.

Miss Albey, whose brother, Clark, has also finished among the first three at a number of races at Iceland, has been ice-skating but a year, to make her feat all the more extraordinary.

Moose Court Team to Meet Passaic Colonials

The Belleville Moose court five will entertain the Passaic Colonials, one of the leading basketball units of the Woolen City, tomorrow night, at their Washington avenue court.

The usual Moose starting five, captained by Harry Metz at guard, will take the floor for the locals in an effort to get back in the win column, after Saturday's unexpected halt of their winning streak.

"Jitty" Wishnevsky, high scoring hero of the Moose quintet all season, will start at a forward post, with Ray Englant, expert dribbler. "Whitey" Huebner will likely jump center, with Artie Dunn, Joe Parsells, and Pat Dunn in line for guard duty with Metz.

AGAINST THE GRAIN

Caller—I wish to see Miss Jones.
Maid—I'm sorry to say she's not in.
Caller—Why are you sorry to say it?
Maid—Because it hurts my conscience to tell lies.

GETTING ALONG

"I think we could get along fine together."
"Well, it's certainly time you were getting along. It's eleven o'clock."

SURE OF MUSHROOMS

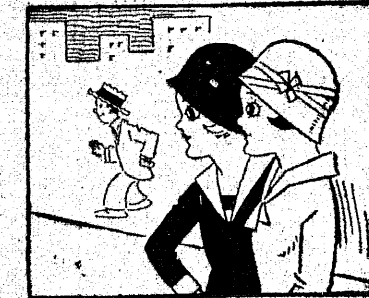

Hostess—Will you have some fresh mushrooms?
Guest—Yes, if you're quite sure they're mushrooms and not toadstools.
Hostess—Oh, I'm quite sure. I opened the can myself.

MATCHED HER DRESS

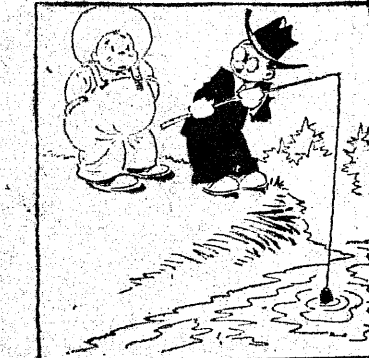

Ryters Klump—I saw Miss Mill-yuns buying my new book yesterday.
Clerk—Yes, she said the color of the binding just matched her new lounging robe.

THE SYMPTOMS

"He speaks of the warmth of his affection."
"Does he?"
"Yes, and then he says I cast a chill over his existence."
"Are you sure it is love he is describing and not malaria?"

NATURAL WONDER

"Is the fishin' good, sir?"
"Not very. But why do you ask?"
"Well, you see, there hasn't been a drop of water in this creek all summer until the rain last night and I just wondered."

GIRL SCOUT BETTY—Greetings, Boy Scouts!—By Montfort Amory

Returning from school, Betty and Mary met Betty's cousin, Bob, a Boy Scout. The girls learned that the following week was Boy Scout Birthday Week.

They decided to give Bob and his troop mates a surprise, so they went industriously at the task of baking a birthday cake, both girls having earned their cook's proficiency badge.

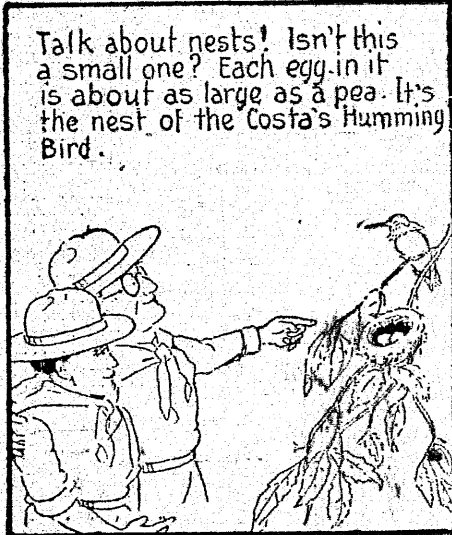

They had planned to climb through the window of the Boy Scout troop house, and to leave the cake with a greeting for the boys, but they were caught in the act by the early arrival of Bob and his friends.

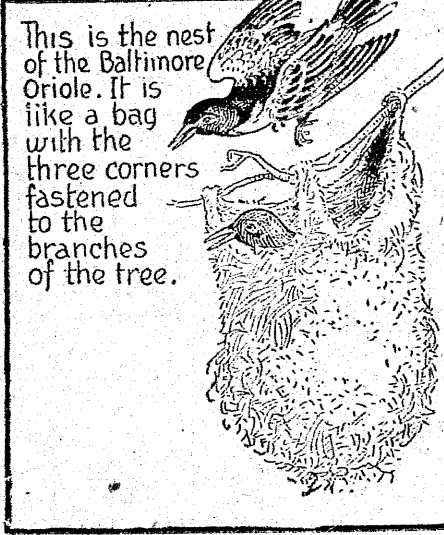

Discovering their intention, the boys admitted them to the troop house in courtly fashion, while Betty proudly carried in the birthday cake with twenty-two candles.

DAD AND I

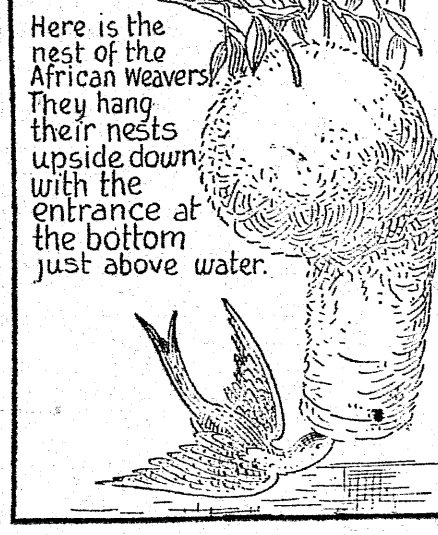

Talk about nests! Isn't this a small one? Each egg in it is about as large as a pea. It's the nest of the Costa's Humming Bird.

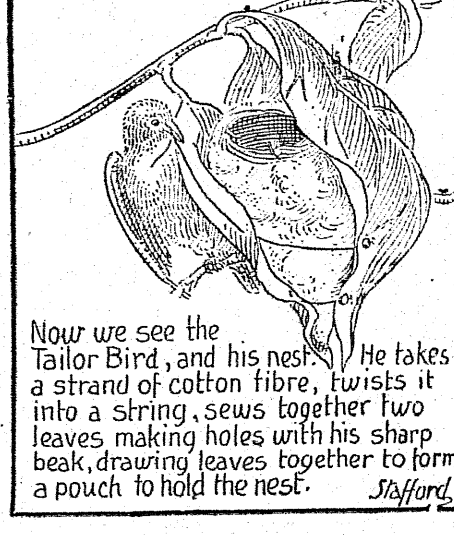

This is the nest of the Baltimore Oriole. It is like a bag with the three corners fastened to the branches of the tree.

Isn't this a strange nest? The birds that built it are called long-tailed titmice. They live in Europe.

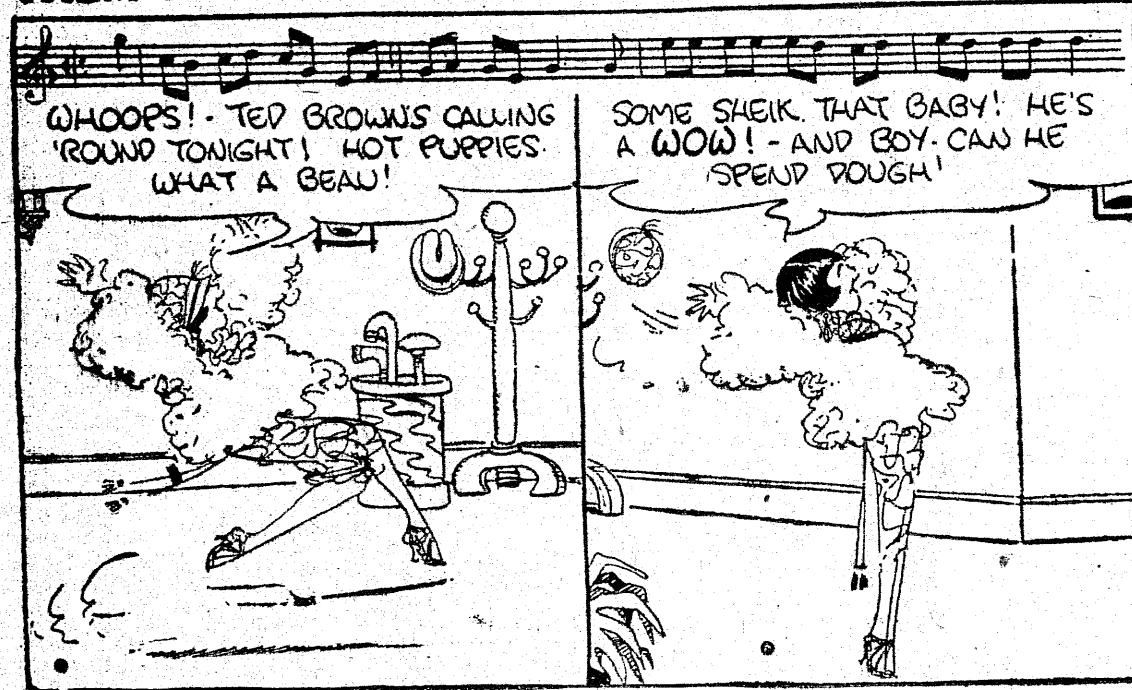

Here is the nest of the African Weavers. They hang their nests upside down with the entrance at the bottom just above water.

Now we see the Tailor Bird, and his nest. He takes a strand of cotton fibre, twists it into a string, sews together two leaves making holes with his sharp beak, drawing leaves together to form a pouch to hold the nest.
