Man's Head Found In Passaic River

Police Believe Victim Was Negro Of Large Stature. Skull Battered

A man's head was found Monday morning in the Passaic River at Belleville. The police are investigating with a view to linking it with the discovery of a human leg Saturday in the river at Arlington. The leg, it was believed, was that of a Negro woman. A man's coat stained inside with blood was found June 8 at the foot of Providence street, Newark.

The head, severed at the chin, bore evidence of having been battered in the rear. It was found eight feet from the low tide line, among rocks, near the foot of Academy street.

Police said the head was that of a large stature. It had been in the water about three days. The head was discovered by Elmer Hill of 56 Holmes street. He told Alvin Miller, 249 Main street, and William Murren, 15 Ralph street, both of Belleville, and Ray Miller of Perth Amboy, who were walking nearby, of the discovery.

Hill notified police and Police Sergeant Schurr and Patrolman Anderson were sent to the scene. The head was sent to Newark City Hospital for examination by Medical Examiner Martland.

Select Wilfred Yudin As Ward Chairman

Has Formulated Plan For Unified Working Group

Wilfred Yudin, district leader of the First District, First Ward Republican Club, was unanimously elected chairman of the First Ward, at a meeting of the district leaders of that ward.

Mr. Yudin has announced that he has already formulated plans for a unified working arrangement with all the district leaders of the First Ward, and he welcomes suggestions from any Republican in his ward, with reference to the foregoing.

Mr. Yudin has also announced that he anticipates great aid from the First Ward Republican Club, which assures him of its fullest cooperation.

Mrs. Galinet, the Republican Committee-Woman, in the Fourth District of the First Ward, was unanimously elected vice chairman of the First Ward.

Teachers Seek Pay At Town Hall

No Promise Made; Williams Doing All That Is Possible

A delegation of school teachers representing the Teachers' Association, appeared before the Board of Commissioners, Tuesday night, seeking information on their long over-due salaries. No promise was made as to how or when this condition would be relieved.

Among those present, were members of two home and school association, who acted as spokesmen for the group.

Mrs. Morgan, representing School No. 1, maintained that it was too bad that such a condition should exist. She said that "Belleville is becoming the laughing stock of surrounding municipalities." It was her opinion that town employees should not be paid while the school teachers went without pay. She suggested "the town employees go without salaries for one month and pay the teachers."

She also asked if the teachers' salaries had always been under the jurisdiction of the state. Another sentiment expressed by Mrs. Morgan was that "such conditions are harmful to the town as they keep new residents out and injure the sale of property."

Town Paid Up
Commissioner Williams' answer to these questions and statements was similar to those he has given in the past. He said: "It is fully in order that we get the facts before us before discussing the problem. The

Rally Day Planned By Eastern Star

Affair Will Be Held At Playland And Rye Beach

Thursday, July 14 will be rally day for various Eastern Star Chapters of the state, and the wonderful rally will be held for the benefit of the Eastern Star Home at Bernardsville, N. J. This year an agreeable change has been made and chapters will journey to Rye Beach and the Playland. There will be swimming in both the ocean and pool, toboggans, and special plans have been made to look after the safe and sane amusement for the children. Kiddyland is a special section set aside for the kiddies. J. C. Kroesen is in charge of the showing of the motion pictures in the different chapters. They feature not only Rye Beach but the Eastern Star Home.

Sammy Talks Again

We see by the Mayor Kenworthy's paper he made quite a spiel at Atlantic City last Friday at the annual convention of the New Jersey Taxpayers' Association.

He is said to have made seven suggestions designed, to bring about an "ultimate reduction in taxes." The Mayor, it is said, was called to present the municipality's viewpoint on the existing problem of taxation.

"We have had too many of the beautiful word paintings of the theoretical mind and too little of the practical application of constructive ideas," he is reported to have said.

Oh, ho, hum!
Well, Belleville could stand some practical application of constructive ideas, it seems. It's one thing to have a gift of gab and another to do things—little things like seeing relatives are shoed off the municipal payroll and school teachers get paid and on and on!

Taxes will come down only when the public oust politicians who talk more than they act, and put hard headed business men in office. From what most municipalities are now doing this seems to be what will occur two years hence in Belleville.

Flour For Needy

A freight carload of flour sent by the Federal Farm Board was received in town for distribution to needy families. The flour, put up in 24½-pound bags, has been stored in the three fire houses.

The move to secure the flour was started a couple months ago by Commissioner Frank J. Carragher. It was secured through Andrew L. Boylan, chairman of the Red Cross, at the request of Mrs. Lucy L. Bootes, overseer of the poor. Mrs. Bootes will be in charge of the distribution.

Teacher Asks Aid For Fellow Workers

Commissioner Williams De- plores Scandal Mongers

Mrs. E. Tempest Lowry, English instructor at the high school, appeared before the Board of Commissioners in conference Tuesday afternoon and made an individual plea for aid in securing money for the local school teachers.

Mrs. Lowry outlined the various things a teacher has to do with her salary, resenting the impression of the average citizen that teachers are "footloose and free spinsters." She hinted at the numerous family calls upon most teachers, such as the help given younger brothers and sisters with their education and the aid to their parents. Reference was also made to the personal expenses with which a teacher is confronted.

One incident of particular interest, was that of a local teacher who having a child in need of an operation, applied at a local bank for a small loan. This particular teacher offered the bank real estate as collateral. The bank requested $100 as a bonus on a $500 loan, she said.

Gets Aid In Home Town
The teacher turned away, and going to his home town, secured the loan with a total charge of $25.

Mrs. Lowry also voiced her regret upon hearing the teachers had been ignored, while other town employees were paid.

"Another thing that worries us particularly, is the fact that these hard times and this shortage of money are coming just before the summer vacation period. We have to plan every year, to live three months without salary. How are we going to do it this year?" was an important question raised by Mrs. Lowry.

Mrs. Lowry had no suggestion to submit as to how the money was to be gotten. Her main object was to remind, and if possible, spur the commissioners to greater efforts, to relieve the two hundred hard working teachers.

Commissioner Williams stated that there are only two ways to get the money. "Either collect the taxes or sell bonds," adding "I've been giving every hour to this question. I'm quite disgusted with the entire matter. There are rumors going around that my religion is keeping me from letting the money go. Another is that Mr. Gerard is putting pressure forth and asking me to hold up the school funds. It's a pitiful situation to be dealt with."

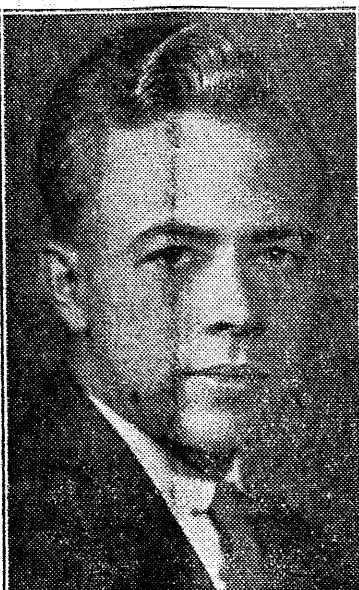

The commissioner added, "It may interest that board to know that these rumor spreaders are educated people who ought to have more common sense. I do not want to get into controversy over this thing. I'm doing all in my power. I'm putting the facts up to the board."

Tipsy Driving Charge

Charged with drunken driving Tuesday night, George Barabas, 26, of 16 Gunther place, Passaic, was arraigned Wednesday before Recorder Fitzsimmons. He was arrested by Patrolmen Gross and Lukowiak and pronounced unfit to drive by Town Physician Vail after his automobile was in collision at Washington avenue and Van Houten place with one driven by Clito Poinani of 161 Parker street, Newark.

To Entertain

Mrs. Helen Feed of Riverdale, will be hostess to members of Belleville Chapter, June 25, when Group 1, headed by Mrs. Elsie Garter, assisted by Mrs. May Post, Mrs. Gertrude Blum, Mrs. Alice Dingwall and Mrs. Arline Bell will hold a wienie roast. Tickets will be fifty cents and the menu will include potato salad, hot dogs, rolls and coffee. There will be golf, swimming, and cards for those who desire these forms of amusement. Members and friends who have no cars please call Mrs. Elsie Carter, Belleville 2-2354, and she will see that transportation is furnished.

Woman's Club Ends Season Monday

Many Are On Committee In Charge Of Affair

The Woman's Club of Belleville, of which Mrs. Charles S. Smith is president, will close their season Monday, June 20, when a card party will be held at the club house, 51 Rossmore place at 2:30. Hostesses are to be Mrs. J. W. Howarth, Mrs. Watson Current, Mrs. Arthur Martin, Mrs. Russell Rose, Mrs. Ira Shattuck and Mrs. Homer Zink. Mrs. Ira Cornell has been card party chairman for the past year and has been assisted by Mrs. A. S. Blank, Mrs. Fred Gillespie, Mrs. J. H. Hardman, Mrs. Herbert Hardman, Mrs. Louis Hodgkinson, Mrs. G. C. Miller, Mrs. John Pole, Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. O. T. Breunlich. These card parties have been most successful the past year and it is hoped that all members will attend the one to be held Monday.

The choral of the club journeyed to the summer home of Mrs. William V. Irvine at Belmar Wednesday, June 15, leaving the club house at 8:30 and spending a most enjoyable day at the shore. Mrs. Le Roy Bunnell had charge of arrangements.

Mrs. A. Newton Streeter, chairman of the Garden Department, has completed arrangements for a colonial garden party to be given by the department at her home, 151 Joralemon street, Wednesday afternoon, June 22, at 1 o'clock. In case of inclement weather it will be postponed till Thursday, June 23. A surprise luncheon is to be brought. All members of the department and other members of the club who have a deep interest in gardens are invited. A program has been arranged for the afternoon. Mrs. Streeter will be assisted by Mrs. T. Russell Sargeant, Mrs. William P. Adams, Mrs. Norman Cooper, Mrs. W. D. Cornish, Mrs. F. K. Mase, Mrs. James G. Shawger and Mrs. Charles S. Smith.

The garden department also made a trip to the home of Mrs. Schuyler Webster, recently. Mrs. Webster resides on Fox Hill road, Mt. Tabor, which was known as the Dickerson Homestead about twelve years ago, and has developed the property herself to such an extent that now it is one of the show places in that section. A rock garden has been made on the side of the hill with a beautiful garden below. The hostess was untiring in her attention to her guests, who appreciated all the information they received about gardens. Those making the trip were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. J. J. Schaffer, Mrs. Charles Kelly, Mrs. Lloyd Nunn, Mrs. W. D. Cornish, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. George Taylor, Mrs. Charles Campbell, Mrs. Fred Packrell, Mrs. Ira Cornell, Mrs. C. G. Miller, Mrs. Shawger and Mrs. Streeter.

This department plans many activities for the fall and any member interested is asked to communicate with Mrs. Streeter.

Legion Team Will Play Newark Post

The Belleville Post, American Legion Junior Baseball Team, will meet Newark Legion Post No. 10 team at Clearman Field, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This game is included in the elimination games, held for the National Junior Championship each year by the American Legion.

Irish-Scotch Night Of Knights Of Columbus

"Minstrels Of Erin" Have Been Engaged For Re- turn Program

Belleville Council Knights of Columbus will hold its final Irish-Scotch night of this season Saturday evening, June 18, at the home, 43 Rossmore place.

The popular WHOM artist, "The Minstrels Of Erin," have again been engaged. These young men have made a host of friends in Belleville and all those who have heard them agree their popularity is deserved. Refreshments will be served as usual on this occasion. Grand Knight Stickney and Grand Knight Elect Herkness will act as reception committee.

The general committee is made up of Daniel L. Gibbons, Andrew Hughes, Phil O'Toole, Gilbert Howley and Matthew Donachie. Tickets may be obtained from the committee or at the home.

Grand Knight Stickney is anxious to have the knowledge of the special reinstatement allowance carried to all former members.

In connection with the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the order a special concession on reinstatements is in force for the month of June. It is very attractive and applies to insurance as well as association members. William F. Herkness is chairman of the reinstatement committee. All former members are urged to get in touch with him, for it is to their advantage. This committee will be very much in evidence at the Irish-Scotch night and will be glad to give any information needed.

Local Man Gets Medical Degree

Trailer Breaks Hydrant

A heavy truck trailer broke from the truck that was towing it in Rutgers street at Washington avenue, Tuesday night, backed down the grade to the Erie Railroad tracks, plunged across and into a water hydrant, snapping it off at its anchorage.

The water flowed for several hours because there was no gate valve near by to cut off the full supply. The truck was driven by Nicholas P. Rosemiller of Philadelphia, for the Miller Transportation Co., Inc., of Pike Slip, N. Y. He had stopped for a red traffic light at Washington avenue and starting up suddenly on the grade, he told the police, caused the trailer to break loose.

Elks Started Member- ship Drive Monday

Talks On It And Program Given By Some Of Committee

Belleville Elks started their increased membership drive at the regular lodge meeting last Monday evening. William McNair is director of the drive, and Frank Strassburger is secretary. The team captains are:

Joseph Dallanegra, William Abramson, Walter Lowe, James Dunn, Charles Waldie, Thomas McNair, James Crowell, James Ferguson, Al Hadley, John Deeny, Bernard McBride, Frank Strassburger, Robert S. Anderson, Harold Cavanaugh, Frank Bangert, Francis H. Kelly, Francis Carragher, Jr., August Plenge, James J. Reilly, Herbert Schmutz, Frank Fuselle, James Serritella, Angelo Domenick, John T. Manger, Joseph Kaden, Ed. Delaney, Austin Matthews, Thomas Grycka, Henry Charrier, Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy and Commissioner William H. Williams.

Talks on the membership drive and its program were given by Mr. McNair, Commissioner Williams, Past District Deputy of the B. P. O. E. Frank Strassburger and Exalted Ruler Lawrence E. Keenan. The team captained by John Deeny by bringing in three applications for membership on the opening night of the drive went into the lead in the campaign.

The drive will last through the summer months, ending on September 1. The Elks expect to add at least one hundred members to their roster before that time.

G. O. P. Refuse Consolidation Plan

So Decided At Last Meet- ing Of Year On June 8

The Regular Republican Organization of Belleville will discontinue all activities during the summer season. At the last meeting held at the Elks' Club on the evening of June 8, the matter of consolidation with the Belleville Republican Club was disposed of in a very definite manner. The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, that all efforts to effect a consolidation between the Regular Republican Organization of Belleville, N. J., Inc., and the Republican Club of Belleville, N. J., Inc., shall be discontinued."

It is hoped that Republicans in the town will consider it advisable to identify themselves with the Regular Organization so as to present a united front at the fall elections.

The usual outing is expected to be held in the fall prior to the renewal of activities for the Presidential campaign.

Elks Lodge Holds Flag Day Exercises

Frank Strassburger Rend- ered History Of The Flag

The annual Flag Day exercises were held by the Belleville Elks on Tuesday evening, June 14, at the Elks' Home on Washington avenue. The exercises were conducted by Exalted Ruler Lawrence E. Keenan and his staff of officers. Frank Strassburger of Belleville, Past District deputy of the B. P. O. E. rendered the Elks' history of the flag. Music was supplied by Dr. R. L. Gittings and vocal numbers by the Pinedale Trio.

The Elks' committee for Flag Day was headed by Frank Strassburger; other members were: Francis J. Daly, Joseph S. C. Donlin, William H. Williams, Raymond B. Yerg, Milton L. Shifman, Clarence Rothery, Frank J. Carragher, Robert McGough, Joseph Kaden, Charles Kelly, and James M. Lynch.

Battery Difficulties Solved
by Air Cell Equipment in Newest and Finest Models
Exhibited at Chicago Show

"There is the radio that'll keep 'em down on the farm."
That was the comment heard this year at the show of the Radio Manufacturers Association in Chicago on the air cell sets which attracted such favorable attention; in fact, which proved to be a distinct feature of the show.

Beautiful cabinet designs, perfect tone quality, economical operation and modest initial investment—that describes the latest developments in the sets designed for use where electric power is either not available or not desired. Twenty-four manufacturers, many of whom had striking exhibits here, are building receivers to be operated by the air cell A battery, a product of National Carbon Co., which upon its introduction was hailed as the solution of the major difficulties of battery sets.

"These air cell sets are the answer to the problems of the small town and the farm," said an official of National Carbon Co. "Until the long-life battery was conceived, the inconvenience and cost of replenishing this equipment were a formidable drawback.

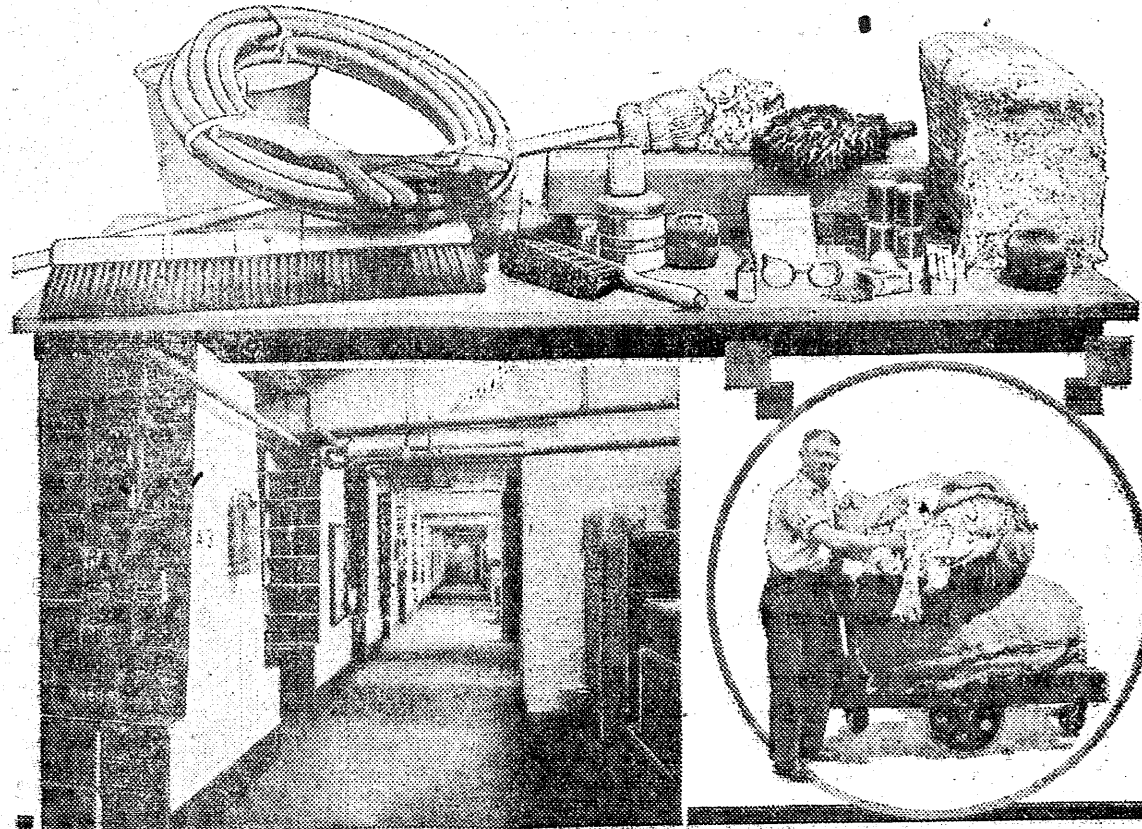

"Program reception, it is recognized, is superior with battery-operated sets, because of the absence of electric hum and other interferences; but the old equipment was bothersome. The new air cell battery overcomes those objections and it is surprising to note the number of urban homes in which they have been installed. Many radio listeners prefer them. However, the small town and farm are our greatest potential markets.

"There is apparent now a marked revival of interest in receivers of this type and unquestionably they are going to be an important part of the radio business this year."

More Than 30,000 Different Articles Needed to Keep Public Service Cars and Buses Going

CAREFULLY packed away on the shelves of Public Service Coordinated Transports' storeroom in Newark are more than 30,000 different articles each of which plays its part in providing street car and bus service. So diversified is the assortment of articles—ranging from car wheels to carpet tacks—that there is a sufficient quantity of materials to stock completely several good sized stationery and hardware stores!

Here are just a few of the articles which are always kept on hand: Car wheels, wire, gold leaf, tickets, muslin, curled hair, garden hose, rubber gloves, charcoal, paper, carpet tacks, bells, needles, cement, flashlight bulbs, bicarbonate of soda, and a host of other items of many shapes and descriptions.

The lowly rag—that indispensable item in every well regulated household—also plays a role of importance in the operation of the street car and bus system. Incredible though it may seem, the company every year purchases approximately 1,000,000 rags to help keep its cars, buses and other equipment free of dust and dirt.

New Tips on What to Serve
With Various Salad Courses

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
Director, Heinz Food Institute

DECIDING what to serve with salad is often a more perplexing problem than choosing the salad. This is a matter that always confronts the hostess, whether the occasion is luncheon, dinner, afternoon or evening party. The accompaniment varies with the type of salad, and the time at which served. Below are listed—according to type of salad—with which they should be served—simple, easily prepared, attractive and flavorful salad accompaniments. The less substantial should be chosen for luncheon or dinner menu and the heartier for party meals in which salad is the main course.

1. Vegetable Salad Accompaniments

- Very crisp crackers, spread with Peanut Butter and bordered with Fresh Cucumber Pickle Relish.
- Rounds of bread, toasted on one side and the untoasted side spread with Sandwich Relish and garnished with strips of pimiento.
- Sandwiches spread with cream cheese combined with Evaporated Horseradish and French dressing. Use white or whole-wheat bread.
- Toasted Cheese Rolls.*

2. Meat or Fish Salad Accompaniments

- Sandwich Relish in Whole Wheat bread sandwiches.
- Lettuce, sliced Stuffed Spanish Olives and Mayonnaise Sandwiches.
- Lettuce, chopped Preserved Sweet Gherkin and Mayonnaise Sandwiches.

3. Fruit Salad Accompaniments

- Sandwiches of Peanut Butter and thinly sliced banana in white bread.
- Sandwiches of Peanut Butter and chopped Dates in white bread.
- Ripe Mission Olive sandwiches.*
- Chopped nut, celery and Mayonnaise sandwiches.
- Peanut Straws.*

Toasted Cheese Rolls: Slice fresh bread thinly, trim crusts and place in a damp tea towel for ½ hour. Spread generously with 1 cup grated American cheese blended with 3 tablespoons Tomato Ketchup. Form into rolls, toast and serve hot.

Ripe Olive Sandwiches: To one cup minced Ripe Mission Olives, add 1 cup diced celery and ½ cup chopped nut meats. Moisten with Salad Cream—spread between slices of buttered bread and cut into small fancy shapes.

Peanut Straws: Roll pie crust to ¼ inch thickness. Spread with layer of Peanut Butter, having Peanut Butter about 1/16 inch thick. Fold all four of outside edges into the center, roll to ½ inch thickness again and cut into strips ½ inch wide and from 4 to 6 inches long. Place in a hot oven (425° F.) and bake until delicately brown.

Entertain With Buffet Supper;
Solves Warm Weather Problems

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
Director, Heinz Food Institute

OF the many types of enjoyable entertaining, there is none that lends itself better to the happy informality of Spring and Summer than does the Buffet Supper. It is a form of entertaining popular with everyone at all times—suitable for the most formal of dances or wedding receptions and the most impromptu of gatherings.

The Buffet Supper menu suggested below is especially suitable for a Spring supper party and will also furnish ideas for serving other similar meals throughout the Summer. Serving meals buffet style is nice on hot evenings when the family will enjoy coming to the dining room, serving themselves and then going to the porch or other cool nook to leisurely enjoy the meal. In planning any buffet meal, include dishes that may be prepared well ahead of time. Casserole dishes are appropriate for the hot course, as they may be assembled in the morning and tucked away in the refrigerator until time to place them in the oven. Salads are always included and these may be prepared in the morning.

Plate of Assorted Appetizers and Relishes*

- Mock Chicken à la King*
- Buttered Rolls
- Platter of Pear Macaroni Salads
- Cup Cakes with Fruit Fluff Frosting
- Coffee or Iced Tea

Assorted Appetizers and Relishes: Place mounds of Sweet Gherkins and Spanish Queen Olives on leaves of lettuce or on sprigs of watercress in the center of an oval platter. Surround with small open sandwiches made by placing on rounds of bread, slices of tomato. Top the tomato with slices of hard cooked egg. Complete by garnishing the egg with a slice of Genuine Dill Pickle from which the center has been removed, using a sharp paring knife, and the pickle stuffed with cream cheese, then chilled and sliced. Have also on the platter crisp saltines spread with Roquefort cheese and sprinkled with Fresh Cucumber Relish.

Mock Chicken à la King: Melt 3 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add 4 tablespoons flour, and when thoroughly blended add 2½ cups milk and cook until thickened, stirring all the time. Season, using salt, pepper, and 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. Cool, the sauce and add 2 hard cooked eggs, sliced, 1 to 2 cups cooked celery, 1 can mushrooms that have been browned in several tablespoons butter, and ½ cup Stuffed Spanish Olives, sliced. Pour into a buttered casserole and sprinkle with ½ cup grated American cheese. Place in refrigerator; thirty minutes before serving time, place in a moderate oven and bake until thoroughly heated.

What 1932 Beach "Lollers" Wear!

SOME prefer a beach wrap of smart, modern terry cloth... others enjoy the color of a slacks outfit. Both will find comfort and fashionable smartness in their beach costumes. The wrap uses vivid stripes at the V neckline and around the hemline. This effects that necessary bit of contrast which all modern costumes stress. (McCall 6903). Caplets and a convenient wrap-around skirt are features of this truly smart bit of beach togethery while red, white and blue makes an effective, colorful picture of it.

A pajama ensemble that uses a red pique for the tiny jacket, a dark blue or white pique for the slacks, and a striped cotton for the folded bandanna top is surely marked 1932! And, if one desires a deep sunburn, the jacket can be discarded, which leaves the entire back uncovered except for the shoulder straps of the bandanna. (McCall 6892 after Mirande). NUTLEY MAKES SPLENDID HEADWAY
IN DELINQUENT TAX COLLECTIONS

Some months ago, Commissioner of Revenue and Finance, Raleigh S. Rife, and Town Clerk, Simon Blum, of Nutley, were confronted with an appalling list of delinquent taxes. The Town of Nutley was the holder of a large number of tax title certificates on property whereon the taxes had not been paid for a period of more than four years. These properties had to be included in the "ratables" despite the fact that they were not producing revenue.

In this emergency Commissioner Rife and Town Clerk Blum recommended to the Board of Commissioners that expert advice be taken in the matter, and on March 1 of this year the board of Commissioners engaged Louis L. Karkus, of Perth Amboy, who has specialized on a large scale in tax collection problems, to effect the collection of taxes which have been unpaid for over four years and wherein the town is the holder of the tax certificates, authorizing him to engage a solicitor wherever Chancery proceedings were necessary.

Under the supervision of Mr. Karkus approximately $30,000 of these delinquent taxes have since been paid into the town treasury and a very large additional sum will be forthcoming in the near future through the remaining Chancery proceedings. In addition to this substantial sum directly collected through the efforts of Mr. Karkus, the activities in this direction have indirectly resulted in causing owners of property, not yet liable to Chancery action to come forward and pay their arrears.

Those responsible for this work are to be highly commended not only for the actual influx of revenue to the town treasury, but, particularly for the splendid manner in which the work has been handled. These delinquencies have been disposed of entirely without any cost whatsoever to the municipality. While the interests of the town have not been compromised, the greatest leniency and forbearance has been extended to property owners commensurate with the distressing prevalent financial situation. Care has been taken so that no one has been unduly harassed or oppressed. Several other towns in various sections of the state are contemplating similar action.

When final decrees have been obtained in the Court of Chancery, the title to all those of these valuable properties, not redeemed, will be perfected in the town of Nutley. As a result the town will be saved the substantial sum which it has heretofore been compelled to pay on these parcels to the county and the state. After the perfection of the title in this land, the Nutley authorities propose to offer the various parcels for sale to the public. This is expected to add a very considerable sum to the town treasury, and will make heretofore dormant and unproductive land, a valuable revenue producing asset to the municipality.

DESERVING DESSERTS

DESSERT has to do something to justify its existence besides being sweet. It's an integral part of the meal, after all, and ought to contribute its quota of well-being to the partaker. That's just what the following desserts do because they all contain Hawaiian pineapple, a fruit the acids of which turn alkaline in the body, and which contains an enzyme called bromelain which is a powerful aid to digestion. All of which would not be very interesting to a dinner just wanting a tempting dessert, if it didn't taste so good. But, whether you eat it hot or cold, it does.

This Is a Hot One

Steamed Pineapple Pudding: Sift together one and one-half cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one-fourth teaspoon salt. Add three-fourths cup liquid consisting of the syrup from an 8-ounce can of pineapple tidbits and sufficient water to make the required amount. Add two tablespoons melted butter. Beat two egg whites stiff, add three tablespoons sugar and fold into the batter. Fill individual buttered molds half full of the batter, add two or three tidbits from the can to each, and cover with the remaining batter. Steam thirty minutes. This recipe makes from six to eight molds, depending on their size. Serve with the following:

Sauce: Mix one-half cup sugar with two teaspoons flour, and add one and one-third cups water. (Use part canned pineapple syrup if you have any on hand). Boil about five minutes, stirring until smooth. Pour slowly over two slightly-beaten egg yolks, and cook a minute or two longer. Serve hot.

This One is Cool

Pineapple Maple Tapioca Soufflé: Turn the contents of a No. 2 can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple and one-half cup maple syrup into a double boiler, and bring to scalding. Add one-third cup minute tapioca, and cook until transparent. Cool slightly, fold in three stiffly-beaten egg whites, and bake in a slow—325°—oven for twenty minutes, or until set. Cool. This serves eight. Serve with the following sauce:

Maple Custard: Beat two egg yolks slightly, and add one and one-half cups diluted evaporated milk and one-third cup maple syrup. Cook in double boiler, stirring constantly, until the mixture coats a spoon. Cool. Both pudding and sauce can be flavored and colored with maple flavoring, if desired.

This One is Frozen

Frozen Fruit Delight: Bring one-half cup water and one-eighth teaspoon salt to boiling, add two tablespoons minute tapioca, and cook in a double boiler until clear and thick. Add one-third cup sugar and one-fourth cup mint jelly, and continue cooking until the jelly is melted. Cool. Add the contents, both syrup and fruit, of an 8-ounce can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, and the thoroughly mashed contents of an 8-ounce can of peaches, including the syrup, and one-half teaspoon almond flavoring. Freeze to a mush in refrigerator trays or in ice and salt. Stir occasionally. Fold in one cup of beaten cream, and continue freezing. This serves eight.

This One is Whipped

Pineapple Prune Whip: Dissolve one package lemon gelatin in one cup boiling water, then cool. Add the contents of an 8-ounce can of crushed pineapple and one cup chopped stewed prunes, and chill. When the mixture starts to set, fold in four stiffly-beaten egg whites, and pile lightly in glass dessert dishes. Chill. Serve eight. Serve either with cream or with the following:

Sauce: Bring one and one-half cups of liquor in which the prunes were cooked (add water if there is not enough of this juice) and one-third cup sugar to boiling, and pour slowly over three slightly-beaten egg yolks. Cook in a double boiler until the mixture coats a spoon. Flavor with vanilla, and serve cold.

This One's a Cake

Pineapple Russet Shortcake: Place a can of condensed milk in sufficient water to cover it in a closed vessel, and boil steadily for two hours. Put away until ready to use. This can be done days in advance, and always kept on hand. Split pieces of sponge cake, making two layers. Spread the condensed milk mixture thickly between and on top. Then cover with canned crushed pineapple, and garnish with fresh strawberries or maraschino cherries to give it color.*

Outing Postponed

Due to the inclemency of the weather the annual outing of the Missionary Sisters of the Immaculate Conception has been postponed and will be held all day Sunday, June 19, at the Convent Grove, New street, Paterson.

This yearly affair is eagerly looked forward to by the many friends of the sisters, affording local and out-of-town devotees to spend the entire day amidst the beautiful surroundings. Many are expected to take advantage of the spiritual benefits to be had in making the out-door way of the Cross and visit the beautiful shrines on the grounds.

A committee will be ready at 11:30 A. M., with Chef Erlewein again taking charge and luncheon will be available all through the day. Many interesting booths will keep the children merry. A beautiful silk quilt in a delicate daisy design will also be awarded.

Chowder, salads, hot dishes, sandwiches, pastry, hot dogs, ice cream, candy, and so forth, will be for sale all day.

Refreshments will be handled by a committee of men. B. Boncoeur of Garfield, is general chairman, and reports everything ready.

Arrangements have been made to run extra New street buses to the grounds. They will leave the corner of Ellison and Prospect streets during the day on a fifteen-minute schedule.

Pet Rabbit's Tooth Curls Into Its Nose Extraction Causes Animal To Become Very Wild

By J. McELIGOT

Harry W. Chenoweth of 220 Hillside avenue, Nutley, whose pet hobbies are pigeon and rabbit raising, boasts of owning a rabbit which was the victim of one of the strange phenomena of nature.

One of the teeth in the lower jaw of the pet rabbit grew so fast that it found its way out of the mouth and into the lower part of the nose. Last week the elongated molar, which penetrated the nose, was found to have almost sealed the mouth of the rabbit, thus preventing the animal from eating or drinking.

Young Chenoweth, who is a student at New Jersey Law School presented the strange case to Dr. John Lowe of Passaic. After a cursory examination, Dr. Lowe skillfully removed the troublesome molar and the rabbit's dilemma was solved.

Heretofore the rabbit was tame and tamed but since the removal of the large tooth, it has grown practically wild. After the operation the rabbit was given two carrots of which he voraciously disposed.

Chenoweth also owns a pigeon which won notoriety a few months ago by bringing Al Smith's signature to Chenoweth after the former governor had released the bird from his own hands in the Empire State Building.

novelties and beautiful group dances. A few of the thrilling acts to be presented is the marvelous control balancing acrobatic act with Baby Dorothy Liva and her instructor Mr. Cole. At the conclusion of this act Baby Liva mounts a fourteen foot pedestal and dives into her instructor's arms. Next is a nine year old roller skating marvel, Alberta Lennox, who will do a tap and acrobatic dance on roller skates. Then there will be a sensational acrobatic dance by Dorine Cunningham finished with her mounting two chairs doing a control split with one foot on each chair. Then the depression dance which is executed by Helen Burrows and Jacqueline Busch. They are both in one pair of trousers and in this manner do a dance which is very entertaining. These are only a few of the many clever dances originated by Mr. Cole and instead of a dance recital it looks more like a Broadway revue.

Seeking Killers Of Dismembered Man

Police Think Negro Was Slain In Fight—More Parts Of Body Found

Police are seeking the slayers of John Williams, Negro, 50, of 80 Holland street, parts of whose body have been found in the Passaic River in town and Kearny in the last three days. The torso was found at Belleville late Monday. An arm was found at Kearny.

The head, found Monday morning at Belleville, was identified as that of Williams by his wife Lillian, who said he had been missing since last Tuesday. She is being detained at Newark police headquarters. Williams' coat, bloodstained on the inside, was found June 8 on the bank of the river at Providence street. Mrs. Williams identified the coat, but could not identify other articles of clothing discovered nearby.

Sergeant Conlon of the homicide squad said he learned that Williams, who had been arrested several times, frequently got into fights while intoxicated. His theory is that Williams was slain in a brawl and that the slayers, in an attempt to cover up the killing, dismembered the body and threw it into the river.

HOW I BECAME A RADIO STAR

By SINGIN' SAM

GOOD evenin', folks—this is your old friend Singin' Sam. Course, that isn't my real name—Harry Frankel is what my mother christened me—but I've been Singin' Sam to so many people that I'm beginning to feel that's what I should have been christened.

How did I become a radio star? Well, it was just as easy as falling off a log. You see, I'd been hiking all over the country, in minstrel shows, in chateaus, in every kind of show business there is, I guess, except circuses, for years. An old buddy of mine was my partner and we were billed in a blackface act as Frankel and Dumley, the Two Blackbirds. Maybe some of you folks saw the act at some time or other.

Then vaudeville began having difficulties, what with the talking picture competition, and several summers ago I thought I'd look into this radio business and see what opportunities it held for an old minstrel man. Didn't know a soul in broadcasting, of course—but I did have some old buddies who were doing pretty well in a lawn-mower company. I was vacationing in my old home town of Richmond, Indiana, so I looked up these old schoolmates. I told them they ought to go on the air and they said I ought to go on for them. So that was that.

Those things take time, though, so I went out on vaudeville again. Five weeks before my season ran out I got a long distance call in Canton, Ohio. Could I start broadcasting immediately? Well, I could, so a week later I headed for Station WLW to make my debut in radio.

In the sleeper on the train going to Cincinnati I tried to think of a name for this new character I had in mind. "Singin' Sam" just about filled the bill—descriptive, easy to remember—so it was as "Singin' Sam, the Lawnmower Man" that I faced the microphone on April 11, 1929 for my initial radio effort. Mike-fright? Not a bit of it—I'd been making phonograph records too long. Nervous? Yes—I didn't know whether this new venture of mine was going to succeed or fail, and a lot depended on it.

But the folks listening in out beyond seemed to like it; for they started telephoning the minute the program was over, and I want you to know it gave me a mighty fine feeling to know I had a lot of friends in that unseen audience. The station manager told me later that my series drew more mail than any other artist they had.

After three weeks the lawnmower people signed me up for three years, working fourteen weeks during the lawnmower season and getting paid fifty-two weeks. That was to make sure I didn't go back in show business. And then something happened.

Old Singin' Sam got sub-let. A coffee company in Cleveland liked my work so my lawnmower friends farmed me out and I became Singin' Sam, the Coffee Man, over station WTAM.

Then Frank Shields, one of the head men of Barbasol, heard me, and I started my present Monday, Wednesday and Friday CBS network program. Folks seem to like it, and I'm mighty pleased and happy about it.

I'm on another program, you know, under the same sponsorship. Ever listen to the Old Singin' Sam's broadcasts on Sunday nights? Well, I'll let you in on a secret if you haven't already guessed it—Singin' Sam and the Singin' Master are the same person. It's a program a little different from the average, and from the letters I get folks seem to think I'm doing a lot of good. And that means an awful lot. A man who feels that his work is doing somebody something even a little bit of good is going to work three times as hard. Isn't that a fact?

MEN STARVE AMIDST PLenty HERE WHILE RED TAPE DEFEATS RELIEF

STARVATION in the midst of plenty.

Hungry men reaching for food which is held just beyond their reach!

That is the appalling situation in New York today.

And it is being kept beyond their reach because routine has made it impossible for them to get it.

In its series of articles dealing with charity in New York, The GRAPHIC today tells of the deaths of twenty persons in this city from starvation. It tells of an alarming increase in the number of cases of malnutrition in our public schools.

These people died and these children are suffering physical hardship in the wealthiest city in the world, the seat of organizations which control the wealth of a nation.

Why?

Wheat in huge quantities is available to be GIVEN AWAY by the United States. It is wheat that was purchased by the government to relieve farmers. The price sagged so much directly after its purchase that the government lost millions of dollars. It could not be sold without a great loss. And it was GIVEN by an act of Congress to the people who may want food.

Many communities all over the United States have already had theirs. Authorities agree that New York can have its proportionate share. The Red Cross was the agency chosen to distribute it.

In some way the local Red Cross officials passed the wheat along to one of the local distribution agencies. And that apparently is as far as it has gone.

In New York it is harder to give things away than it is to sell them. In New York many people wouldn't know what to do with wheat if it were given to them in its raw state.

In New York the wheat would have to be ground into flour, which costs something, baked or cooked into various food forms, which costs more, and then distributed only to those who really need it, to determine which costs still more. Somebody must pay for this.

In the act of Congress which deals with the giving away of the wheat it is specifically stipulated that no charge shall be made for the wheat. So that, even if it were possible to get millers and bakers to prepare the food at cost, it is still impossible to charge even the fractional price that the finished product would cost.

So men are starving in the midst of plenty.

Officials who should know more about relief work than we do have decided that certain simple and cheap ways of preparing wheat cannot be undertaken. We do not understand all of their reasons for saying this. But, as we said before, they SHOULD know more about it than we do.

And, knowing more about it than we do, they should wave aside petty objections, routine difficulties and feed people who are starving.

While they are arguing and objecting and being defeated by details, the wheat will sprout and then there'll be no use arguing any more, because it will no longer be food. And people will just go on starving.

There are twenty known cases of death resulting from actual starvation. How many more licked by the fact they were hungry, went to suicide's graves? How many more because their vitality was low went down before the ravages of sickness? Those figures do not show in Health Department reports. There must be many whose deaths were ascribed to other causes who were really victims of starvation.

When war came we didn't ask questions. Nobody set up any silly formalities. There were no tedious routine technicalities in the way.

Everything was set aside so that this country could go into the war and win it. It didn't matter if one expert thought certain types of guns were better than others. Guns were put in the hands of the fighting men, objections or no objections.

Food was shipped to them. If one dietitian thought there was a better way in which they might have been fed, that didn't stop the shipments. The food went on.

Why should we be defeated now?

Gen. Pershing has likened the depression to a war. Why should it not be fought with the same degree of efficiency? President Hoover made a reputation for himself by feeding starving Russians and Belgians. He is still held in high esteem by men and women who might have died had it not been for his superhuman efforts.

WHY IS THERE NO HOOVER TO STOP THE DEATHS OF STARVING NEW YORKERS?

Why don't Americans take seriously to heart the adage that "charity begins at home"? Many of the people who now know, of the people who now know, physical want may have made contributions to the cause of those other unfortunates in Europe who were caught in the hectic days of the war.

What must be their feelings now?

Starvation hasn't any conscience.

The only rule it fully understands is that food is necessary for life. How it is secured is a matter of small moment. The American people have been well behaved. They have not rioted in any appreciable numbers because they were hungry.

Men who have gone without food for days pass restaurant windows filled with delicious edibles. There haven't been any window smashings.

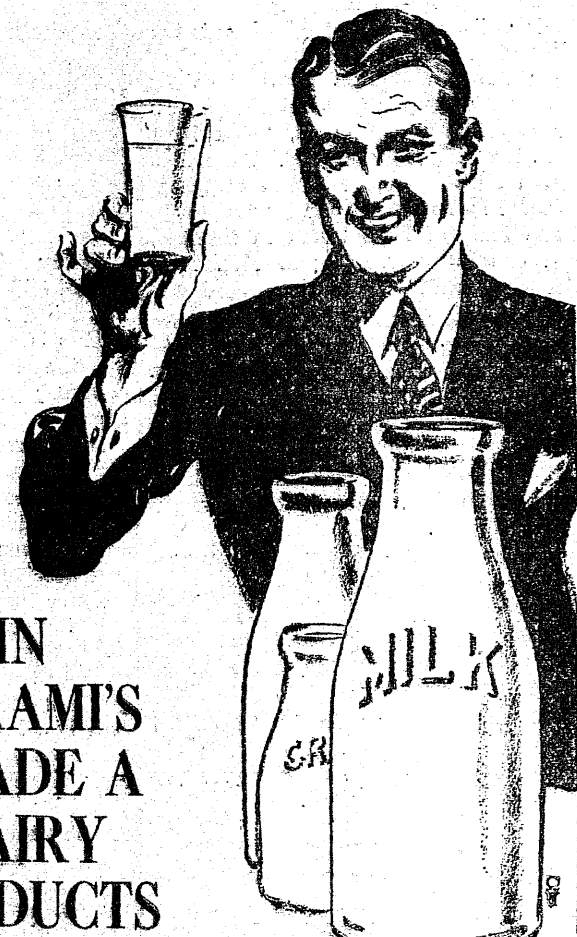

It is to the credit of New York's suffering men and women that there has been no violence.

But that fact should not mislead the men responsible for relief into a false appraisal of the situation. Starvation exists. It is inexcusable. It must be stopped. The wealthiest city in the world has the machinery and the means with which to do it, even if it did not avail itself of one simple method which could adequately feed and nourish people at a small cost. And it must be done!

New Turbine Generator
Put Into Use By
P. S. At KearnyIs Largest Electric Power
Generating Unit In The State

A 75,000 kilowatt turbine generator, the largest electric power generating unit in New Jersey, was put into preliminary operation June 15 by Public Service Electric and Gas Company at its Kearny Generating Station. The new unit will increase the capacity of Kearny Station from 214,500 to 289,500 kilowatts.

Some idea of the huge size of this machine can be had from the fact that it will generate more than twice as much electricity as could be produced by all the machines in the fourteen generating stations of the Public Service electric system in 1903, when the corporation was organized. It is large enough, moreover, to supply sufficient electricity for lighting 1,500,000 ordinary 60-watt lamps.

The turbine generator with its auxiliary equipment is housed in an extension, recently completed, to the existing turbine room at Kearny. Because of recent advancement made in turbine generator design the new unit will occupy no more space than other generating units at Kearny which have considerably less capacity.

To provide for additional steam needed to operate the new turbine, important improvements have been made to twelve of the Kearny station boilers during the past twelve months. The firebrick walls of each boiler have been partially replaced, and the rear walls wholly replaced by water tube walls. In this way the boilers have been made to operate at higher capacities and thus generate the additional quantities of steam needed for operation of the 75,000 kilowatt machine. When operating under full load the turbine will require 780,000 pounds of steam per hour.

Another feature of the equipment installed at Kearny is the huge welded steel condenser used with the new turbine generator. Weighing more than sixteen and one-half tons and containing 11,900 brass tubes, each twenty-four feet long, the condenser is the largest of its kind ever built. When in full operation, water will be pumped through it at the rate of approximately 105,000 gallons per minute.

Supreme Court
Upholds OrphanageOrders Taxes And Sale Of Property Set Aside In Legal Battle

The Supreme Court has set aside the assessments levied by Nutley for five years on the property owned by the Orphan Asylum of the Grand Lodge of the State of New Jersey, Order Sons of Italy in America, on Washington avenue at Howe avenue. The assessment covered a period from 1925 to 1929 and the court ordered the taxes and the sale of the property set aside because the institution is said to be exempt according to the exempt provision of the tax act.

The organization was chartered in 1920 and maintains the orphanage for children of its members. An assessment levied against the property in 1924 was cancelled. The organization contends that it had no knowledge of the assessments until last July when it learned that the property was to be sold for taxes.

At Town Hall

town has paid not only all the money due the Board of Education, but about $30,000 in excess of the required amount. The town clerk and I have requested the county officials to advance money to the school board, they replied that such action could not be taken. The town cannot let its interest charges and other necessary expenses, such as bond payments, go. We are not in any position to pay the county any portion of the monies due. Now, the question of paying the town employees is under a different head than the school teachers. We have a semi-monthly payroll of $9,000. If we took and divided this amount among the town employees and the Board of Education employees, no one would receive much money. When the taxpayers of Belleville turn over enough money for us to meet our bills and cover other expenses, we can pay the county and loosen up the funds they hold."

Much Owed
The commissioner also pointed out that many citizens still owe 1931 town's non-payment of the state's taxes, wherein lies the cause of the share. He added, "The present condition is for the interest of Belleville, because it tends to show the taxpayer that over-due taxes are the cause of the shortage which keeps our teachers from being paid."

The representative of School No. 10 stated: "The teachers cannot do our children justice if they are continually worried over debts and the lack of money to meet them. Can't the teachers be given preference for one month?"

Commissioner Williams stated that every effort was being made to relieve the existing condition. "I am giving all my time to the problem that confronts us. I can do no more. At present we are providing for the funding of bonds on eight and ten year terms. We can do no more than hope they will be purchased," he said.

Charles Longhi asked the board if they knew whether or not the teachers would be paid next year, if they couldn't be paid now. He informed the commissioners that the railroads have served notice of their inability to meet this year's taxes in full. "Is the state, county and town preparing for this known shortage in revenue, or will they do as has been their habit in the past—wait until the thing is right on them before taking action? Now is the time to act, not next year," stated Mr. Longhi. Loud applause from the spectators greeted this and the mayor was forced to rap sharply for order.

Banks Rapped
Mr. Longhi also pointed out the bare fact that the bankers were keeping the government in distress by charging six per cent interest on all public loans. He said, "You have cut the budget by $60,000. There has been about $800,000 worth of bonds issued so far this year by the town. The bankers have taken in interest, in one swipe, what you men have tried to save."

Commissioner Carragher told those present that the town was not in bad shape and that Commissioner Williams should be respected for what he has been doing. "This man is the best revenue and finance director the town ever had," was his emphatic statement in behalf of Commissioner Williams.

In connection with the cancellation of over $6,000 in delinquent taxes, Commissioner Williams informed those present that "that is the cause of a lot of our trouble, but such action is necessary."

An emergency note for $3,000 for dependency relief and one for unemployment relief amounting to $4,000 was ordered issued.

Piano Recital

A large and appreciative audience attended the annual piano recital given by the pupils of Amy G. Stratton, at the Masonic Temple, Belleville, on Friday evening, June 10.

The program consisted of numbers by well-known composers as Mozart, Heller, Spaulding, Adair, Mac Lachlan, Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Godard and Bach.

Jean Baille who was awarded the bronze medal in the New Jersey Music Contest League of 1932, played a very fine interpretation of a hymn by Bach.

A two piano composition, Sonatina in F was played by Eleanor Plenge and Miss Stratton.

Joe Miller was given the class pin for 1932, having had the highest average of both New York and New Jersey students. The other honor pupils were: Paul Thompson, Flora May Davis, Arthur Lackner, Watson Stewart and Lella Jane Manley. Performers who played were: Betty Lewis, William Vogel, Ruth O'Neil, Mary Cataldi, Bill Farmer, Shirley Nutt and Eleanor Plenge.

The program was assisted by dramatic readings given by pupils of Miss Lena Dunlap and very much enjoyed by the audience. Those taking part in readings were: Ruth Vessie, Evelyn Squier, Alma Robinson, Jane Dixon, Olga Stickle, Jane Warrick, Jean Rowley, Gertrude Newberry, Doris Geiger, Ruth Maguire and Dorothy Gardner.

The pupils presented Miss Stratton with a beautiful basket of flowers.

Library News

Read before you travel, might well be the heading of this week's column.

Two travel books of Europe in general are, "Doing Europe and Vice Versa," Harold; "Tourist in Spite of Himself," Newton.

For a more detail study of the different countries we have for England, "Hills and the Sea," Belloc, and "Seeing London," Newman. Places of interest in France are brought to notice in "Undiscovered France," Williams, and "Seeing Paris," Newman. "Blue-Rhine—Black Forest," Untermyer, is a very good book on Germany. Travel books of some of the other countries are: "Meet the Spaniards," Phillips; "In the Land of Art," Ibancz; "Holland," Jungman; "Switzerland," Guiton; "Present Day Russia," Lee, and "Greece and the Greeks," Ferriman.

Of course, we have many more travel books of these and other countries but they are too numerous to mention.

Summer Hours at the Library
During July, August, and the first week in September, the hours will be as follows: 9 to 5:30; Friday, 9 to 9; Saturday, 9 to 12 M.

GIRL SCOUT
NEWS

Today (Friday) Belleville Girl Scouts will hold the Court of Awards and Field Day at Belleville Park.

This is an annual affair and winds up the scheduled events of Girl Scouting prior to the summer vacation.

It is second only in importance and interest to the annual indoor rally held earlier in the year.

Girls who have completed work for the various badges since the rally will receive their awards today. After the formal awards have been made, scout games will be engaged in; afterwards will come the "eats" so dear to every hungry scout. Each girl has been instructed to bring her own box lunch for the joint supper. The events will be in charge of Mrs. May T. Holden, local director, assisted by the captain and lieutenants of the various troops.

Spaghetti Supper
On Saturday evening, June 11, the Girl Scouts of Troop 4 gave a spaghetti supper in the parish house of Christ Church, to which the parents of members of the troop were invited.

Everything was served in Italian style and the cooking and serving was all done by the scouts themselves. Over sixty were present.

Several fond mothers, who never before had realized how handy their young daughters were about the kitchen, made a mental note that such talents should not be wasted in the future about the home.

Troop 10 Presents Flag
On the occasion of Flag Day, June 14, Troop 10 of Belleville Girl Scouts presented two silk flags to the Sedgwick Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R.

The presentation was made by the following members of Troop 10: Edith Ackerman, Shirley Howell and Betty Gibson, assisted by Mrs. May T. Holden, local director.

Eleven girls from Troop 5 hiked to South Mountain Reservation last Saturday, enjoying the out of doors and improving their nature work.

THE NEW TAX BILL

AFTER laboring and groaning for over six months, the Senate has passed the revenue raising bill which the experts concede will practically balance the government budget. The measure has come out of conference with no material changes made in the schedules and Mr. Citizen may now look it over and figure as near as may be what the cost to him individually will be. This will not be a cheerful undertaking for a casual study of the proposed law will reveal that even that man of modest income will during the next year be mulcted of his cash earnings by a very substantial sum—a total never known before in his experience.

In the first place he will find that after July 1 when he goes to the post-office to deposit a letter the family has given him to mail, that stamps have been marked up from two cents to three. He paid the latter price during the war, but then there was hope that the war eventually would end. There's no telling when the law will not be needed.

The law abounds in excise taxes and all or the most of them will draw on his pocketbook. One may own a radio, phonograph or mechanical refrigerator and if so need not worry about the five per cent tax on these commodities. On cosmetics, jewelry, sporting goods, cameras, firearms and furs there is a tax of ten per cent. Here also the thrifty may get by without substantial addition to his budget, unless perchance he needs a new fish line or golf sticks. Automobiles are taxed three cents and he will get by that if he can manage to make the old bus go awhile longer. The two per cent tax on accessories will touch him a bit, unless the dealer or manufacturer absorbs the same as may be done. But the four cents a gallon on oil and one cent a gallon on gas will come to him if he drives an automotive conveyance as almost everyone does. The two per cent tax on candy, chewing gum and soft drinks will touch the nursery, so that none may escape.

Under the division "miscellaneous" Mr. Citizen will find other items of interest. If he goes to a show there is ten cents more on tickets costing over 40 cents, 10 to 20 cents on telephone messages costing over 50 cents, five per cent on telegrams, ten cents on cablegrams which won't worry many, two cents on bank checks, little, or big, or rubber, another reminder of the war and ten per cent on safety deposit boxes, that is if he has anything left worth depositing in a safe.

The taxes on electric utilities, and on imported oil, coal, copper and lumber may be ignored. They'll have to be paid, but will be passed on indirectly.

Then income tax rates are four per cent on the first $4,000; eight per cent above that with a graduated surtax beginning at one per cent above $6,000. Exemptions are $2,500 for married persons, $1,000 for single, in addition to the present $3,500 and $1,500. The married person exemption is increased to $2,000 for those making more than $5,000.

Net effect is that a married person with no dependents will pay $20 on $3,000; $60 on $4,000 and $100 on $5,000. The exemption for dependents stands as at present at $400 each.

From the foregoing it will be seen that paying an income tax will no longer stand as a symbol of exceptional prosperity.

It is not going to be at all nice—all this—but there will be but one thing to do which is to pay and hope for the best.

The Heritage American Room

No. 8—Grouping

By CARL HECK

Consulting Art Director, Bigelow Weavers

NOTHING adds more charm to a room than the proper grouping of its furnishings for easy sociability. You see many charming rooms in which no individual piece has any exceptional merit. It is the general harmony of these rooms, their air of convenient comfort and liveliness which gives them their quality of charm.

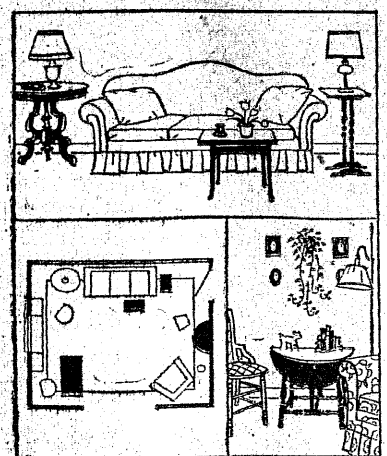

No room can be charming if, when friends are present, the furniture must be rearranged before all can talk easily together. Our old room,

In our new Heritage American room the table, rocker and lamp have already been removed from the center of the room leaving that space free. Now we must set about creating integral groups in different parts of the room. Each of these groups is tied to every other by the color scheme, blue-green and terra cotta, which makes every piece of furniture relate to the rug and to some other piece.

Three Major Groups

The most important group consists of the sofa and three tables, the old marble-top table to the sofa's right, the low coffee table in front and the end table to the left. The sofa has been taken out of its corner and placed against the center of the wall between the two windows to form this new group. Another group is formed by the rocker, the writing desk and the occasional chair near the focal group created by the bookshelves and windows. The low armed rocker bridges the gap between these two groups when placed near the window. The third group is formed by the easy chair, the drop-leaf table, a bridge lamp and the small refinished occasional chair near the right wall. Here we have a harmonious group of units which can accommodate several people, all near enough for easy conversation, with tables to hold their books and purses or tea things.

If there is a fireplace in the living room it becomes the center of a group of its own, the focal point of the room. To keep this in harmony with the rest of the room, the mantel should be painted the same color as the window trim. It is customary to paint bookshelves and mantels the same color as the other woodwork. With all our furniture properly grouped for maximum comfort and charm, we are now ready to consider the lamps and lighting which form the subject of our next article.

Two important groups in the new room. The black figures on the plan show the new tables in relation to their groups.

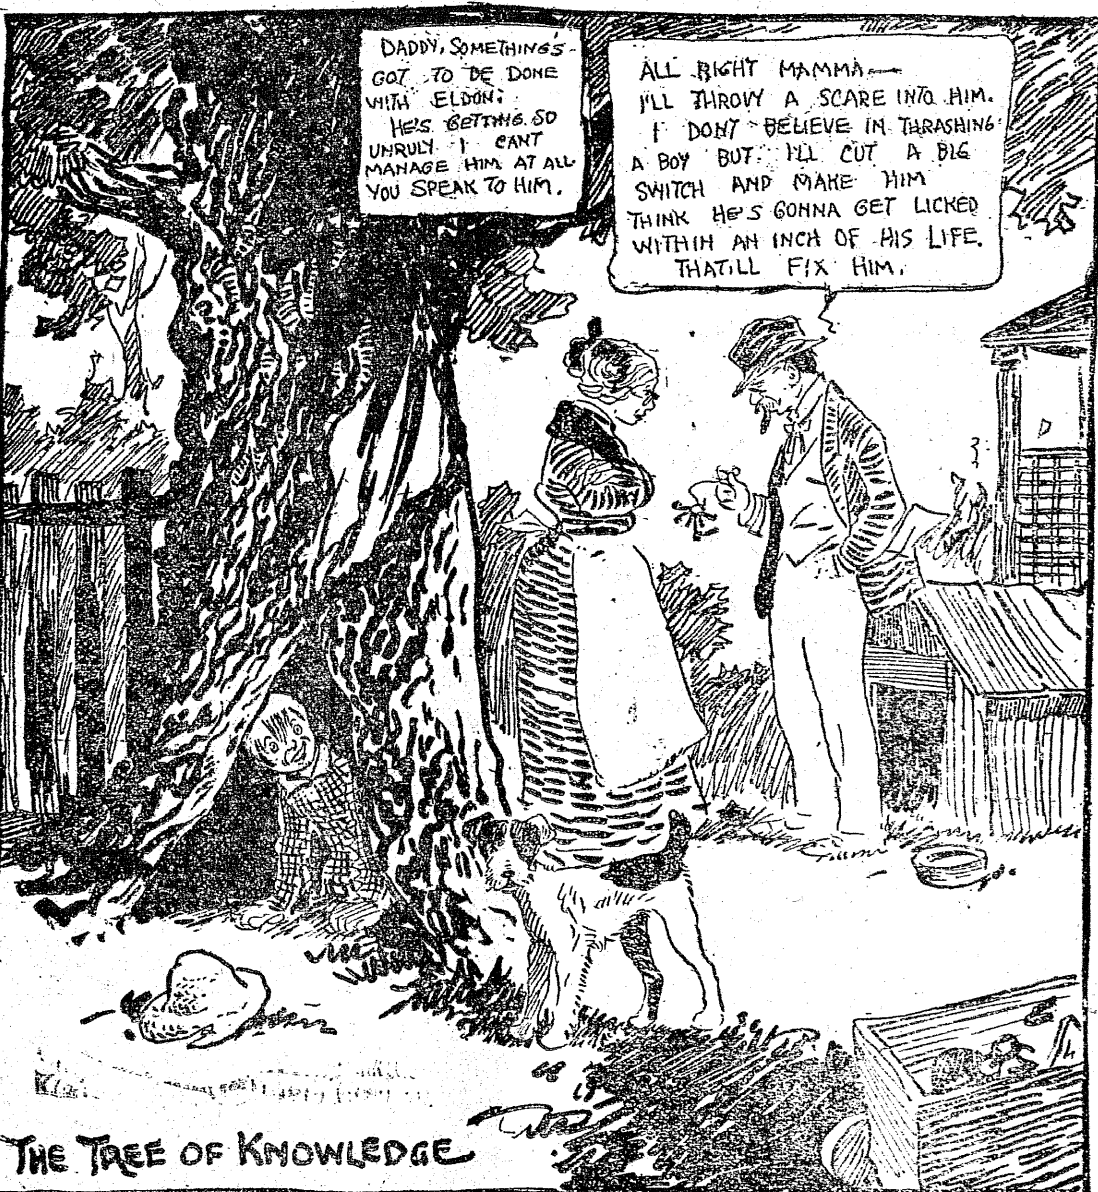

you will remember, is a typical case in point. The sofa stands in one corner, and the overstuffed chair in another, with occasional chairs in the other two corners and a table, lamp, and rocker blocking the center of the room. Each piece is separated from every other and there is no grouping which renders conversation easy.

SCHOOL DAYS

By DWIG

ALWAYS important, the problem of proper use of spare time in America is more so today than ever. Never before has the Country had so much extra time on its hands. Today there are many who are not working and many who are only working part-time. The simplification of household duties, by the trend toward apartments and smaller homes, and the many mechanical appliances available for the use of the housekeeper, has shortened the working day of the housewife. Nearly all of us have more leisure time than those who lived 50 years ago.

It is impossible to fully estimate the value of proper use of time and the danger of its misuse. Few of us know how to direct our daily lives and the consequence is that most of us are stumbling along through life, missing much that we might have, and erring considerably more than we would had we been taught how to live. Many are those doomed as failures who might have made better use of talents and energies had they been more efficiently expended. Many are those in graves, in jails because the time at their disposal was improperly used. How much the world has lost and suffered because its inhabitants have never mastered the art of making the best use of time.

YOUR TEETH

Their Relation to Your General Health

By the Educational Committee of the American Dental Association

POOR TEETH MAKE POOR STUDENTS

Good teeth may not necessarily make good scholars, but bad teeth often cause a child to fall behind his grade.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools in Atlanta, Ga., and an outstanding advocate of mouth hygiene, has a story that proves this. Superintendent Sutton never believes in expelling a student unless it is absolutely necessary. A few years ago a high school boy was so rebellious that six teachers recommended that the student be dismissed.

Mr. Sutton called the boy to his office. The student was not only failing; he was causing disturbances in almost every class he attended. He simply would not behave. Yet when Mr. Sutton told the student that he was going to be dismissed, the boy, though seventeen years old, burst into tears. It was then that the superintendent noticed that the student had bad teeth.

Anxious to give the boy one more chance, Mr. Sutton sent him to a dentist and had his mouth overhauled. In a few weeks, the bad student came back to classes. His grades immediately improved. His deportment became excellent, and his health changed markedly for the better.

That is the way the Atlanta plan for mouth hygiene was begun. So fine had been the results of cleaning up one boy's mouth, that Superintendent Sutton undertook to clean up the mouths of all children in Atlanta schools. At the end of a five-year program, this was done. The result was great saving to the taxpayer, in cutting down in the number of poor students who had to repeat a year of study, and an even greater saving to students themselves. Mr. Sutton adds:

"According to one of the most eminent physicians of America, such a program as that which we are conducting in Atlanta will add five years to the life of each child. If this is true, we estimate that in a single generation we will save five times these fifty thousand—there are fifty thousand children in Atlanta schools. That means 250,000 years of living added to the lives of Atlanta children."

Good teeth are a saving to both the individual child and the community as a whole.

(This newspaper will be glad to receive questions from readers about teeth, mouth hygiene or dental health. The questions will be answered authoritatively but anonymously by outstanding dentists selected by the American Dental Association. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for reply.)

FLOWERS AND BULBS

MIGNONETTE is perhaps the most fragrant of all the annuals. As it does not transplant well it is best to sow the seeds where you want them. Plant in a light soil not too heavily fed as heavy fertilization diminishes the natural fragrance.

IN SETTING out evergreens, keep in mind that they will grow from year to year. A first year's planting can readily be too high and too heavy the second year and impossible by the third year.

IN APRIL uncover the bulb beds and remove the protection from the roses and other shrubs. This should be done gradually so that the plants and bulbs are not subjected to a sudden change.

THE hybrid tea rose which is especially adapted to producing cutting roses over a long season, was originated by crossing the beautiful but tender tea roses with the hardier hybrid perpetuals.

GLADIOLI bulbs may be planted early, but the planting of dahlias may well be delayed until the middle or last of May.

DO NOT time your soil unless it needs it. Lime is not a fertilizer and the main object in its use is to sweeten soil that is sour.

DAHLIAS should be grown in a soil that is rather light, well drained and moderately rich. Dig or plow soil to depth of one foot, breaking it up and smoothing it out with a rake or harrow. Before digging, however, thoroughly mix into the soil a reliable garden fertilizer. A good handful of fertilizer is sufficient for each dahlia.

AROUND New York dahlias can be planted about the middle of April in favorable seasons and planting may be continued up to the middle of June or even later. Local conditions of soil and weather will determine the exact planting time. As a general rule, early planting is advisable.

ANNUALS attain full growth from seed, flower and die in one year. Biennials grow from seed one year, bloom and die the next, though some varieties will bloom the first year when sown early. Perennials last for several years, blooming annually.

Dear Foreign Cousins: Don't embark on any dream-ship 'cause we're all sold out here and there's standing room only.

You may not care to stand for some of the things we're standing for and your dream-ship would turn out to be a nightmare.

Of course this is still the best country in the world except that we have more confidence men than CONFIDENCE!

It might interest you to know that our politicians are now looking for a new platform plank. There's a good plank in the corner saloon, but gosh darn 'em they won't go that far.

Senator Borah, for instance, is getting gray worrying 'bout what'll happen to New York if they repeal prohibition. The old boy comes from Idaho and what he doesn't know is that there are more open places in Idaho than there are in New York.

And while we think of it, The U. S. says it absolutely won't cancel war debts, so now you know who won the war.

You'd laugh to know how many men go to beauty parlors to have their hair "touched up," but Harry Spiro says they don't DYE for love.

NOT ON THE AIR

by JERRY WALD

I Still Call It Madness,
And You.....???

In one of the night spots of a Western city sang a sweet young girl. Her beauty and personality made up for any lack of talent. Beginning as a tossed-around cigarette girl, she soon graduated into the floor show and finally reached that cherished climax, when she was given a solo, with which she upped and stopped the show cold. It was the raise of her eyebrow and the shrug of her shoulder at a propitious moment in her song which endeared her to the covert customers, and, to curtail the tale of her arrival, she just clicked and was sitting pretty. There followed other and better night clubs until finally there came that letter from the great American-girl glorifier to come east. Just the thing she had dreamed of—the goal of her hopes and desires. So she packed and went scurrying East. She continued to click with every one except a brazen little orchestra leader in the show who never paid her the homage she felt she rated. So what does this Sal of the West do but ups to the Big Producer himself and begins squawking about the music as rendered by the Band Boy, whose face wore a grin for his audience, but which seemed to have a meaning all of its own for the "burnt-up" singer when the producer heard of it he did just what you or I would do to two disgracing folks, both of whom were making money for us. The glorifier appeased the singer and with her approach and asked the stick-waver why he smiled one way at the audience and another at the warbler. With his open frankness and sincerity, the leader confessed that it wasn't irony in his smile, but admiration. And do you need us to tell you that that did the trick? Soon they were going places together and the Broadway column scribbler was running lines about their carrying the torch, so it was just a matter of time before those two became one!

Still they continued in the show that had thrown them together, and when it closed they both joined another "hit" musical. Finally both of them were such attractions in their own names that they toured the better vaudeville houses (or can't you remember that far back?), and after a very successful season they came back to the Big Town. But things were changed. Before they had left radio was just another form of entertainment, which the better singers and performers didn't take so seriously, but that was all over now. Everybody was trying every which way to get "on the air."

Following the routine made famous by sheep, they followed the others and started the repetitious practice of giving auditions. The band did the well known "click, click" and could have been signed up for four different programs, but he wanted his wife on the air. Finally, one sponsor, endeavoring to get his topnotch music-making crew, also accepted his singing mate!

Now, "also accepted" may sound a bit peculiar, because she had her own on the stage, dividing honors equally with her maestro hubby. But on the air it seemed she lacked some vital something! And the funny part of her performance was the fact that to the folks in the broadcasting studio she always sounded great, but to the dial-twisters she was a signal to tune out. The sponsors after a while got wise to this, so they kept clamoring for fewer numbers from her and more from the orchestra.

From four numbers she dropped to three, and when they cut her down to two she began accusing her husband of trying to hog the air show. For their domestic peace, he saw the only way out was to insist on more numbers for his wife to microphone or else ask for a release of contract. The sponsors pleaded with him and insisted that he would regret the move, and, as for giving her any more songs to sing, they had just decided to cut her down to one introduction and one chorus. So both of them quit radio and left for Europe, and isn't that what they all do?

In London they went into a musical revue and again began enjoying the popularity which was theirs before going radio. His band was great and her singing exceptional, and soon the unhappy experiences of radio became like a forgotten nightmare. That is, he had forgotten it, but to her it was a thing she wanted above everything else. So a woman with wiles soon has her way, and they left the revue at the height of its run to return to New York. She figured that their success in London certainly must have been heard around the town and perhaps now she would be accepted as a star on the air. But coming into the city, she soon realized that London and her success there meant little to the people who used the air-waves in order to get coffee or cigarettes. They wanted some one to deliver! Her hubby could do that with his orchestra, but she was the proverbial fly in the ointment.

Needless to say, she went into just as ugly a rage as he, shouting that he was interested only in his own glorification and didn't care about her, but she'd shush him. As far as she was concerned, it had been herself who had been making the sacrifices by being tied up with him. Now he could go out and get anything he liked and she was going out on the air as a single. And just at the point where it seemed that another couple in the vessel of domesticity had been thrown on the rugged rocks of separation, she fell in a faint, and a few days later she gave birth to a baby boy!

Now, realizing that she had hid the fact so that she might be considered available for singing on the air until the last minutes, she felt that he had been terribly brutal to her and vowed that he would see that she got her spot on the air. Yes, by his new-born baby he swore it, and she, too, forgot and forgave. What did anything matter as long as she would be allowed to sing on the air? Meanwhile, however, they had to have money, so she consented to his taking a job on the air alone for a short contract. Just long enough until she would be well and could turn the care of the baby over to a maid. He got the job and, as was expected by every one who had heard him, he and his orchestra became the talk of the nation. He kept building a large radio following until finally, at the very peak of his popularity, his contract expired!

It was very easy for him then to get another program and ring in his wife, and that's just what he did. Thus, it had been troublesome, but he had only asked that they be together for two weeks and he was willing to go by the critics as the last word. The sponsors agreed and he immediately set to work to keep them both he had taken on his own precious child. He became very tough and threatened every radio columnist if they ran one mean, adverse line about her!

Yesterday we got a call as we entered the office. It was he and—well, here's what he said: "Jerry, the two weeks are up; I've got the new contract here in front of me. If I don't sign it—well, you know how scarce commercial and operators are today. But if I sign it—it means sure divorce, 'cause, as you must know, they've zipped her from the program. What the hell shall I do?"

Do You Know What Love Is?

By ELITA WILSON

Has love brought you unhappiness? Have you known the torture of watching love die, feeling helpless to save it? Is your marriage going on the rocks? Then write Elita Wilson and she will help you.

Do you feel that your husband is lacking in stability? Is he irresponsible? More like a child than a full-grown man?

There are many such husbands, according to Dr. Will Durant, the author of "The Story of Philosophy" and other best sellers, and Dr. Durant claims that most men never really become men until they become fathers.

"Even in hard times," advises Dr. Durant, "I advise young married people to have a baby right away. If motherhood makes a woman out of a girl, why shouldn't fatherhood make a man out of a boy? It does! He has a new respect for himself, a stronger incentive than ever before; often for the first time in his life he has an inspiration."

"I have met, during the course of my life, many married couples who insisted that children came between husband and wife—not seriously—not even so they realize it. They have told me that the change is a subtle one; a gradual drifting apart because the wife's interests are usually wrapped up in the children. "I disagree with this. Parenthood, accompanied by romantic love, only makes love more profound, deeper."

ANOTHER LITTLE BARRYMORE
This Saturday is the date set by the doctor for the arrival of the second child of John Barrymore and his wife, Dolores Costello. It must be love—and then some—when a popular movie star thinks enough of her husband to abandon her career and settle down to the serious business of wifehood and motherhood.

But handsome John seems to be more than keeping up his end. Reports have it that his devotion to beautiful Dolores is so great that he has even moved into the hospital with her, where she is awaiting the arrival of the baby.

Nice for Dolores. Nice for John. But I wonder just how pleased the hospital authorities are? A nurse once told me that the anxious prospective father is often more trouble to the hospital staff than both mother and baby.

ABOUT OLDER WOMEN

Benjamin Franklin once said, when asked for his opinion on a young man marrying an older woman:

"Older women have more knowledge of the world. Their minds are better stored with observations, their conversation is more improving and more lastingly agreeable. Because when women cease to be handsome they study to be good. They learn to do a thousand services, small and great, and are the most tender and useful of friends when you are sick. Because, through experience, they are more prudent and discreet. And, lastly, because they are more grateful."

Yes—the French they are a funny race.

The will of a Paris business man, Gaston Parent, left 500 bottles of rare old wines to his mistress, and only the belief that his son would look after her—to his wife.

FROM DARKEST RUSSIA

One of the blackest tales that has ever come out of Russia is found in a new book—"Women Are Devils," by Nat J. Ferber.

Mr. Ferber tells of a peasant community in the interior where for forty years the women poisoned their husbands and children when they no longer wanted them. This is fact, not fiction.

SCHOOLS

By WILLIAM GRAY

"The Bronzemen," a group of colored high school pupils, took over the assembly last Friday morning. In addition to the usual Bible reading and prayer, these pupils presented an interesting program.

Floyd Holmes, opened the program by delivering a short talk, in which he explained the purpose of the organization. He said, "The first purpose of our organization is to create a friendlier feeling between the students of the different races. Secondly, it is to guide new-comers of our race. The last and most important reason for this club, is to encourage students of our race to continue their education."

This program as stated by Floyd, is "to show the other races the progress we have made under the difficulties that we have encountered and partly overcome."

Following his talk, Floyd attempted to dramatize "The Man With The Hoe." He was aided in this sketch by Clauselle Wilson. The dramatic recitation of this touching poem was well carried out and the assembly was well impressed.

This was followed by a selection by the group, entitled "Shine." Martha Glenn and Madera Bennett led this number. The Diamond Jubilee Quartet, consisting of James Rock, Clauselle Wilson, Elisha Barrett and Walter Barnett, rendered several selections to the satisfaction of those present.

A solo by six year old Josephine Wilkes, entitled "Curly Headed Baby's Paradise," was well done and the pupils gave her a big hand.

A selection by the group entitled "Witness," followed the child soloist. This in turn was followed by a recitation.

Sailing next Saturday on the S. S. Dootinholm is Mrs. Judith Goertz-Martinson, the wife of Captain G. Goertz, of 39 Van Houten place.

Mrs. Goertz will visit her parents in Sweden for a three month period. Last Saturday members of Martha Chapter, No. 85, of Eastern Star, paid her a surprise visit to wish her "bon voyage." Among them were: W. Grand Alva, Mrs. F. Selb, P. M. Mrs. Frank Selb; P. Miss D. Springer; F. M., Mrs. A. Schurr, P. M. Mr. and Mrs. Schaffstahl, Miss M. Loose. All wished her a pleasant trip and safe return.

Mother Amends Story Of Local Hiker

Mrs. Jennie Sachetti of 60 Mt. Prospect avenue, contradicts her son, William, 21, who is hitch-hiking with his bride, 18, through the forty-eight states.

"I don't know what made him say he had no money, as he has some of his own and I gave him some more," she said. "And I don't know what he means by saying he is going to shine shoes to finance the trip. He doesn't even know how to shine his own shoes and didn't have any shoeshining equipment with him."

She said her son, instead of being a former bootblack, was a jewelry designer, formerly employed by Tiffany & Co., of Newark.

William made the statements with which his mother disagrees Friday morning at the Town Hall before starting his trip.

Most Interviewed Marine Makes Home In Nutley. Circled Globe Five Times

Gunnery Sergeant John L. Prater Was The Body Guard For Presidents Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson. Has Seen Every Country

On Memorial Day, as the parade moved past the Commissioners' reviewing stand on Chestnut street, the next port-of-call, but at Gibraltar the big Marine at the head of the column. He is known by name to some—he was recognized by many; yet perhaps few persons knew that Gunnery Sergeant John L. Prater had trod the streets of almost every country on the face of the globe, that he had been interviewed by newspaper men of every nationality or that he had been selected by three Presidents of the United States as their personal body-guard.

Despite the fact that Sergeant Prater, because of his personal visitations to distant corners of the earth, has had opportunities to make his permanent home in the romantic east, the picturesque west—the arctic and the tropics, he selected Nutley in which to spend the days of his retirement.

The bronzed, six-foot Marine was born in Oklahoma and is descended from a long line of military forebears. Life on a ranch in those days was strenuous. There was plenty to be done and the work hardened the young muscles and moulded the body that was to win the admiring glances of President Roosevelt, himself an adopted son of the plains.

It was with some misgivings that we approached Prater and asked for an interview. He walks with the long measured tread that comes with years of service with the colors, his jaw is heavy and appears set and his eyes have a habit of narrowing and burrowing into one's mind. He answers questions almost before they are asked which is not unusual or unexpected considering that as a President's body-guard it has been his job to "get a man's range" without hesitation.

But Prater is nothing if not genial and his ready smile is disarming and inviting. "Tell us something about life with the Marines," we asked.

"Well," he began, "when I look back to my travels about the world, they appear more like an exaggerated tale from the Arabian Nights than real incidents of my every-day life. Yet it is pleasant to recall that they are facts, not fiction."

"My travels with the Marines began in 1903 and from then until I retired, nine years ago, I think I had visited every port in the world in which a ship could find anchorage. I have been in countries seldom visited by white men; I have sailed over smooth tropical seas. I have travelled on vessels that have had to break their ways through ice-blocked harbors. I have seen the glory of Mount Fujiyama in Japan and marvelled at the diamond mines of South Africa."

Prater was the first Oklahoman to enter the service of the United States Marines, also known as "Leathernecks." He was assigned to duty on the U. S. S. Brooklyn, and his adventures began when the ship weighed anchor and steamed for the West Indies, the Bermudas and the blue waters of the Caribbean. Through the canal he went and then eastward to the west coast of Africa, touching at Cape Town enroute. The little-

Local Man To Be Honored

J. S. Lee To Receive Revived Purple Heart

James S. Lee, of 32 Bayard street, has been notified by the War Department that he is due to receive the ancient Order of the Purple Heart, as a reward for his meritorious service in the World War.

The Purple Heart is one of the oldest awards in this country. It was originated by George Washington, during the Revolution as a reward for valor. It was revived by the War Department in honor of the bi-centennial celebration.

Mr. Lee was wounded in the fall of 1918, during the American drive through the Meuse-Argonne forest. He, as sergeant of Company B, 312th Infantry, was ordered to capture a German machine gun nest. As his little group was working its way toward the enemy position, he was severely wounded in the knee and was forced to turn the detail over to the corporal. For this brave attempt to serve his country, Lee is to be decorated with the ancient and honorable purple heart.

Lee is a member of the local V. F. W. He is employed in the water department at the town hall and is a chanceman on the police force.

Suicide By Hanging

Harry Coeyman, 50, who lived in the rear of 492 Joralemon street, committed suicide Friday night by hanging. His body was found suspended from the rafters of a tool shed in which he lived in the rear of the home of William B. Morgan.

Dr. Herbert B. Vail pronounced him dead and Assistant County Medical Examiner Berardinelli called it suicide.

Coeyman had had no regular employment for some time, but served in the capacity of a caretaker on the Morgan property. He leaves a divorced wife, Mrs. Grace Matthews of Newark; a daughter Hester, and two sisters, Jennie A. and Mary L. Coeyman, all of 500 Joralemon street. Funeral services were held Monday evening at the Reformed Church.

ty of the President.

Prater saw service in many lands and during the World War, and was afterward assigned to the "Roving Marines." Eventually he was given charge of the Newark recruiting office on Market street.

Came the day in 1923 when his twentieth year in active service was drawing to a close. The Marine had visions of a quiet little home where, in the cool of the evening, he might sit under the trees and dream of his adventures and his many acquaintances among whom he numbers Richard Harding Davis, the war correspondent and novelist, Jack London and those journalists of more recent fame, Lowell Thomas and Floyd Gibbons.

In August 1917, he met the girl whom, a year later, became Mrs. Prater and the couple built the home at Franklin avenue and Glendale street which stands, fort-like, on high ground and was built according to Navy specifications. Two steel helmets worn by Prater and his brother and two rifles with bayonets fixed, ornament the field stone columns which guard the entrance to the house. A large American flag covers the door and is never removed. The couple have a daughter, Priscilla, who graduated this year from Junior school.

Prater's globe-trotting days are over. He recalls his experiences with smiles, but perhaps the measure of the man is best taken when, in his gardening duds, he gets close to nature. Prater is an ardent gardener and takes great pride in his perennials and shrubs which enclose his place. "And," he will tell you, with the soft accent of the southwest, "I've a birchhouse in every one of these hyah trees and there are nineteen squirrels living on the property." Then he breathes a sigh of satisfaction that comes with having done a job and done it well. "It's great to be home." And you may tell that to the Marines.

JEAN HENRY, PURSER, TO SERVE ON NEW SHIP

Appointment of Jean Henry to be purser of the new crack cabin liner Champlain has been announced by the French Line's New York offices.

JEAN HENRY

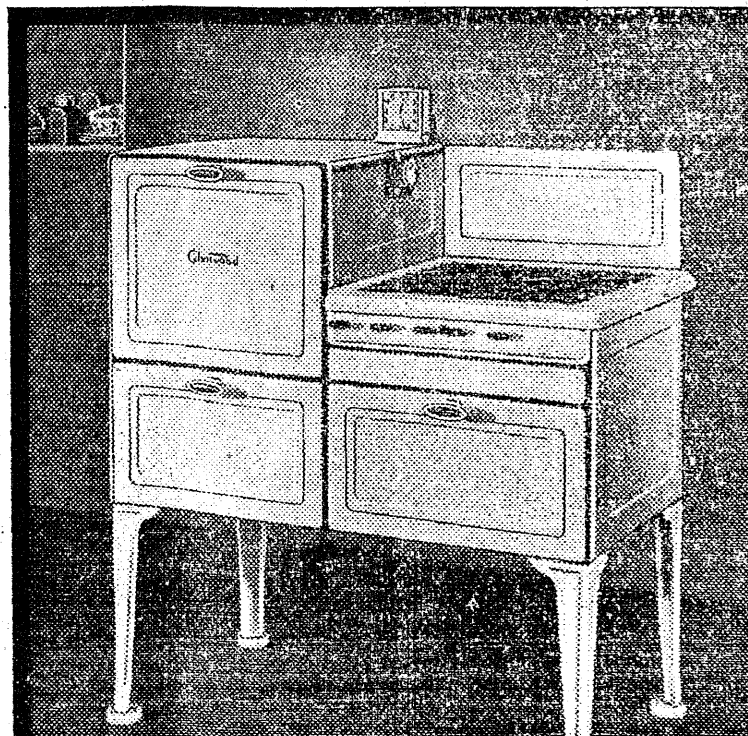

The Champlain, largest cabin boat ever built, with a gross tonnage of 30,000 tons, will make her maiden voyage to New York this summer. In her trial runs off the coast of France recently she developed 13.8 knots an hour, which makes her one of the fastest as well as the largest boat of her type afloat.

The purser of the new ship, Jean Henry, is widely known to ocean travelers, and is one of the most popular ship officers in trans-Atlantic service. He will bring with him on the Champlain 126 of his famous herd of 300 elephants—miniature pachyderms presented to him by passengers wishing to show their appreciation for his many courtesies during their voyages.

The gem of his collection is a group of seven perfectly carved elephants contained in a cubical box a quarter of an inch in size. A magnifying glass is needed to prove to sceptics that the box actually contains seven elephants. Others in his collection range from an inch to six inches in size, and are of jade, ivory, ebony, bronze, crystal and sandstone.

Jean Henry has been in French Line service for eleven years. He was twice wounded during the war, at Verdun and Soissons, and holds the Croix de Guerre for bravery in action.

Orange Junior High School that evening. John E. Meyler of Newark Post 10 is ceremonial director. Cups for the competitions as well as parade and convention representation will be awarded. The South Orange Village Board of Trustees, South Orange Order of Elks and the Essex County American Legion Committee have already donated cups. Mrs. Walter G. H. Ryan, county president of the auxiliary and Mrs. Alexander Maebert of South Orange are attending the meetings.

The Glenwood Gas Range Now Has a Remarkable Clock

Now the family can sit down to a hot dinner, cooked deliciously and right on time, even if the home-maker hasn't looked in the kitchen, let alone the oven, all day. At the time most convenient to her, the home-maker places the dinner in the oven—meat, vegetables, dessert—then sets the oven heat regulator and then the clock. When it is time for cooking to commence, the clock turns on the heat, when the food is ready the clock turns it off. The food keeps hot and juicy in the well-insulated Glenwood oven.

Glenwood Gas Range S-31-216-ETK-6 has the clock that makes automatic cooking possible. The top burners light automatically, also. Fully insulated semi-console model finished in gray and white vari-tone with black trim.

Special cash price with $10 allowance for your old range—$124.85 cash connected, instead of $148.75—a little higher when you buy on terms of

$5 down and $7.35 a month

Same range without automatic clock and including the $10 allowance for your old stove—only $77.35.

NEW MEDICINE WORKING WONDERS CONQUERS CONSTIPATION

It is often very difficult to recognize constipation. You may be having regular bowel movements but they may not be thorough. Self-poisoning might occur, which is the absorption into the blood of poisons from accumulating waste matter in the intestines. The blood saturates the body daily with these poisons. Results are often serious. From the continued attack of intestinal poisons some vital organ eventually breaks down and chronic invalidism and shortened life results.

For your guidance in recognizing and hence over-coming constipation (and its dread results, we are listing below some of the symptoms by which physicians recognize the presence of constipation.

If you are often subject to one or more of these disorders, constipation is very probably the cause.

Headache, Abdominal Tenderness, Belching, Lack of Appetite, Bad Breath, Insatiable Hunger, Dizziness, Nausea (1-3 Hrs. After Eating), Coated Tongue, Flatulence, So-called Rheumatism, Insomnia, Sleeplessness, Biliousness, High-Blood Pressure, Constipation, Auto-intoxication, Pimples, Springtime Weakness, Hemorrhoids, (Piles).

Unfortunately, up to within recent years it was difficult if not impossible to secure efficient evacuation of the bowel contents. It cannot be accomplished by the use of drugs commonly known as purgatives, cathartics, or laxatives, such as castor oil, pills, salts, mineral water and the like. These disturb and irritate the stomach and often affect the kidneys. Only through the principle of lubrication as embodied in Alagar can regular thorough elimination of waste matter be harmlessly accomplished.

Alagar is an emulsion of Russian Mineral Oil with Agar Agar and the well-known intestinal antiseptic Phenolphthalein. Its distinct Maple Flavor makes it very pleasant and palatable.

This product, Alagar, which contains pure ingredients, is a finely emulsified preparation of a pinkish color and is prepared with special care by our chemists in our own laboratory. It is regularly prescribed by leading physicians in their daily practice and in hospitals.

Look for the Two Red Diamonds on the Label. The sign of the genuineness.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed
in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

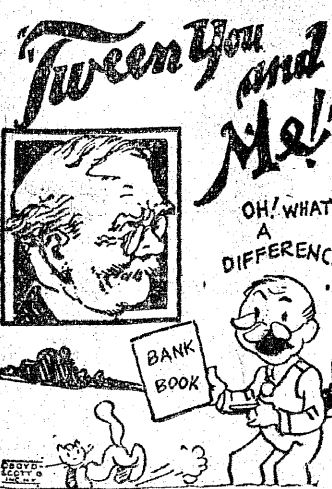

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name-Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Reject a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

Trim Englewood High

Bell-boys Triumph, 4-1 At Englewood, Friday Afternoon

Englewood High's tennis squad proved just another stepping stone for the rampaging Belleville contingent, Friday afternoon, at the Winton White Stadium tennis courts of Englewood, as the Bell-boys shellacked their opponents, 4-1.

In the four matches won by the locals, all were accomplished in straight-set fashion. Ray Smith and Billy Caldwell continued their singles conquests of late in turning back Puchik and Ris, respectively, of Englewood. Smith won his match, 6-4, 6-0, while Caldwell came through in 6-2, 6-4 fashion.

This Smith-Caldwell pair then teamed up in the doubles for another straight set victory. The duo of Ruhle and Cornwallis were their victims, 6-4, 9-7. The doubles combine of Leadbeater and Manger made it four for Belleville in copping the other two-man match, 6-4, 6-3.

The Englewood No. 1 man, Ruhle, won the only match for his team, defeating the Belleville ace, George Andersen, 6-4, 6-3, in the first singles match.

Bell-boy Tennis Team

Caldwell And Smith Double

Winners In 4-1

Triumph

Playing in almost invincible form, the Belleville High tennis team was entirely too much for Lyndhurst, Wednesday afternoon, at the Clearman Field clay courts, and swamped its Bergen County rivals, 4-1.

The Bell-boy netsters captured both doubles displays in brilliant fashion. Manger and Gauss teamed up to down Lilly and Earl of the visitors, 6-1, 1-6, 6-4, in the first, while Bill Caldwell and Ray Smith contributed a like feat over Snyder and Falconer of Lyndhurst, 6-2, 6-4.

Ray Smith and Billy Caldwell were both straight set victors in two of the three singles matches, Smith downing Gibbs, 6-2, 6-1, and Caldwell turning back Hixson, 6-2, 6-3. George Andersen dropped Belleville's only match, losing to the Lyndhurst ace, Ed Lilly, 3-6, 3-6.

Bell-boy Golfers Win

Sixth Straight Game

Beat Clifton, Passaic County Champion, 3-0 At Wayne

The brilliant, undefeated Belleville High golf team used the Passaic County champions, Clifton, as their sixth consecutive victims, Monday afternoon, winning 3-0, at the Passaic County Golf Course in Wayne. This marked the first down-fall of the season for the Cliftonites, who are rated as one of the best golfing combines in the state.

Nick Guardabosco of the Bell-boys came through with the low score of the match, with a sensational 76 tally. Domenick Morano's 79 and brother Mario's 80 were other fine games turned in by the local club-wielders.

The scores:

Belleville High Ends

Successful Season

Lamb And Schwab Emerge

Batting Stars Of Campaign

Led by co-captains "Mac" Lamb and Eddie O'Neil, the Belleville High varsity baseball nine completed a successful season, in Friday's victory over Bayonne, the last game of the season.

With Coach Spotts at the helm for the second year in a row, the Bell-boys won ten games, while losing six to the best nines in this section of the state.

"Mac" Lamb finished the campaign with the best batting average, a cool .509. Johnnie Schwab, hard-hitting center-fielder, however, garnered the most hits, twenty-nine, and also the most homers, two. He finished second in the averages with a big .460 mark.

Both Schwab in center-field and Reynolds Golden in right field played errorless ball all spring. Eddie O'Neil, graceful first baseman, was the most efficient infielder, with a fielding mark of .967.

The final batting averages: Lamb, .509; Schwab .460; O'Neil .430; Christell .388; Knight .377; Golden .359; Catalano .315; Vitello .270; Ruzinski, .222; Daly .204 and Dunn .176.

Rossi Turns Back

Moose, 5-1 Tuesday

St. Anthony Mound Ace All-But Five Hits; Whiffs Seven

Fortified with a fine, five-hit pitching performance turned in by their ace flinger, "Slim" Rossi, St. Anthony's whipped the Moose, 5-1, on Tuesday night, at Clearman Field, in the local American Legion Twilight ball game.

The lone counter of the Moose from the slants of Rossi, came about in the third inning of a St. Anthony error, Russ Stout's Clean single to left and an infield out. Seven of the Moose batsmen swung futilely at third strikes, in the bargain.

Two big innings against Tom Byrnes, who started on the slab, for the Moose, gave the Saints all their tallies. Jack McHugh relieved Byrnes with two out and the bases full in the third and retired the side in 1-2-3 order for the balance of the seven inning game.

Marty Mallack, patrolling center field regularly for the Moose, for the first time, had a field day at bat, with a double and two singles. These bingles represented over a half of his team's total. Freddy Riccio, the young St. Anthony out-gardener, featured both of his team's big run-getting innings, with singles in the first and third.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
Rutherford—Pierpont Avenue.
Passaic—276 Main Street.
Montclair—8 Hillside Avenue.
Newark—65 Roseville Avenue.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
"Is The Universe, Including Man, Evolved By Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ. Scientist, on Sunday, June 19, 1932.

The Golden Text is: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handiwork." (Psalms 19:1).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Give unto the Lord, ye kindreds of the people, give unto the Lord—glory and strength. Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice; and let men say among the nations, The Lord reigneth." (I Chronicles, 16:28,31).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The universe reflects and expresses the divine substance or Mind; therefore God is seen only in the spiritual universe and spiritual man, as the sun is seen in the ray of light which goes out from it." (p. 300).

BELLEVILLE REFORMED

Sunday, June 19—

Parish News
Children's Day saw Montgomery Church filled to capacity with 354 people witnessing the exercises of songs and recitations from boys and girls of all ages. Special music was presented by both junior and senior choir. Miss E. Struble was the soloist and contributed greatly to the day's success. We also enjoyed a beautiful auditorium decorated with palms of florist Harter and flowers and birds from many people. The decorations were made under the supervision of Miss Ethel H. Young.

The best part of the program was the baptismal service. Twenty babies were christened. Their names are: Dorothy Evelyn Chown, Constance Maria Della Bada, Adele Janet Grinnell, Elsie Jean MacKenzie, Edna Ann Riepe, Helmut Karl Klemm, Betty Jane Jewell, Robert Bruce Saville, Janet Dorothea Gerber, Edward Lloyd Rankin, Dorene Elizabeth Hauptli, George Edwin Crue, Elizabeth Ruth Crue, Alfred John Henry Crue, Phyllis Salisbury, Laverne Mary Kuhl, Richard Lewis Kuhl, Arthur C. Charles Melchoir, Robert Karl Adams, Stuart John Schulhaus.

The annual Sunday School picnic will be held at New Fernwood. Buses and cars will leave the church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Annual Sunday School picnic in special trolley cars, to Olympic Park, Irvington, on Friday, July 1. If rainy the picnic will be postponed until the following Tuesday, July 5.

The last meeting of the season, of the Altar Guild, will be held in the club room of the parish house, on Monday evening. The directress Mrs. J. Harry Edwards, will preside.

The progressive card party, for the benefit of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held at the rectory, next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This bids fair to be a largely attended affair, with an overflow of tables out on the lawn. Rev. and Mrs. Deckenbach are host and hostess, assisted by Mrs. Frederick Idenden, acting president of the Auxiliary, and a number of members of the organization. Everybody welcome. Let's make this a huge success!

The Vestry will hold its regular monthly meeting in the parish house this evening.

The closing party of the Girls' Friendly Society took place on Wednesday evening. The program was in charge of Mrs. Frederick K. Sedgwick, her deputy Miss Elsie Walker and the group comprising Mildred Adelman, Helene Ainsworth, Lillian Cook, Doris Seeley, and Mary Walker. Guests included Rev. and Mrs. Peter R. Deckenbach and Mrs. Deckenbach's mother, Mrs. Emma Conover, and Honorary Associates, Mrs. Walter Coups, Mrs. Frederick Idenden, Mrs. Mary J. Lloyd, Mrs. Florence R. Smith and Miss Mary Stanier. Following is the program:

I. Juggling act, Fish and Chips Brothers (Margaret Miller and Isabella Wilson); II, Famous Personage, Fanny Brice, (June Ellison); III, Dance Team, Maybe and Whynot, (Alice Miller and Ruth Williamson); IV, Madame Moco de Polka, Prima-donna in "Cleo & Pat" (Marie Gundersman); Page, Verna Lyons; V, Skit, "Modern Life," Helen Kelsall, mother, and Bessie Reitzel, father; VII, Circus, featuring the Pairs of Sisters; Ring Master, Marion Ainsworth; Clowns, Helene Ainsworth and Scholtz sisters, Janet and Irene; Bareback Rider, Lois Millen, and (horse) Spark Plug, Helen Kelsall.

Bearded Lady, Verna Lyons; Tight rope walkers, Hoffer sisters, Florence and Margaret; Elephant, Williamson sisters, Frances and Ruth; Tamer and keeper, Miller sisters, Nancy and Alice; Pink Lemonade and peanut vender, Helene Ainsworth; Announcer and Mistress of Ceremonies, Miss Elsie Walker.

Following this program, Miss Bertha R. Mumford led the Misses Miller, Williamson, Ainsworth, Walker and Lyons in an appreciation cheer for Mrs. George A. Kelsall, the outgoing president, and a welcome cheer for Mrs. Herbert Ainsworth, the incoming president. Bouquets of flowers from the gardens of members of the Society were then presented to Mrs. Kelsall, Mrs. Ainsworth and Mrs. Martha Peck, the first president. Refreshments were served, and so ended another busy season of the Girls' Friendly Society.

Those members of the Girls' Friendly Society who have made reservations to spend vacations at the Holiday House at Delaware, N. J., so far are: The Misses Ellinor Apgar, June Ellison, Florence and Margaret Haffner, Helen Kelsall and Lois Millen.

The Misses Frances M. and Ruth L. Williamson will be Councillors there, as they were last year.

7 P. M.—Sunday, Epworth League.
7:45 P. M. Sunday, Evening worship.

Mid-week prayer and praise service Wednesday at 8 P. M.

At the Children's Day service last Sunday, the following children were baptized by the pastor, assisted by J. H. Stier and Mrs. John Thompson: Richard Paul Baumgarten, William Darrow Baumgarten, Joan Constance Cullen, William Hugo Enders, Mildred Ruth Faise, Cynthia Jane Jacobson, Richard James Mackie, Robert Harry Reynolds, Richard Lyman Shore, Joyce Ellen Teich, Shirley Roberta Conklin and Joan Marilyn Transue.

A program by the Beginners' and Primary Department followed. Mrs. J. Ellsworth Akers, in behalf of the Primary Department presented a check for seventy dollars for the organ fund. This amount represented the profit made on the play "Timothy Tackhammer's Toy Shop" given several weeks ago by that department.

In the evening, the other departments presented a dramatization "Any Child," which compared the modern methods of teaching with those in vogue sixty years ago.

The Junior Choir rendered several hymns, sung in two parts, led by Mrs. Le Roy Bunnell the choir leader and director. Merit pins for attendance were awarded to the members of the choir by J. H. Stier.

For both services the church was beautifully decorated with millions of daisies and green trailing vines. The credit for the artistic arrangement goes to Mrs. E. Compton, Ruth Compton, Mrs. Y. Bregmann, J. Henry Stier and John H. Boice.

A memorial bouquet was placed by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Boice in loving memory of their daughter, Elsie, who if living, would be eighteen years old.

Tonight at 8:15 o'clock, Marion Ainsworth Jones and her pupils, assisted by Gertrude Hewitt, soprano, will present "Ye Olde Time Concert," for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid organ fund. The scene of the concert is laid in an aristocratic home in New York City during George Washington's second inauguration as president. The music will be early American. The costumes will be colonial.

The program will be as follows: Prologue, Georgianna Hankins; Mistress Mary, a young widow, Mary E. Compton; Master Spencer, her son, Spencer H. Jones, Jr.; Arabella, a serving maid, Georgianna Hankins; Mistress Margaret, an aristocratic young lady, Margaret H. Jones; Mistress Helen, a charming gossip, Helen Freid; Mistress Ruth, a vivacious young girl, Ruth Compton; Mistress Eleanor, an outspoken young lady, Eleanor Mooney Mne. Van Hagen, music teacher, Miss Jones, Annabelle Van Hagen, her young daughter, Frances Jones; Walter Van Hagen, her son, Walter Johnson.

The vocal numbers to be given by Miss Hewitt are: "Enraptured I Gazed," by Francis Hopkinson, first American song-composer; "Passing By," Edward Purcell; "Philis Has Such Charming Graces," Anthony Young; "Voi che sapete," Mozart; "The Lass with the Delicate Air," Michael Arne. Miss Jones will play "Allegro Con Brio," by Josef Haydn.

An instrumental trio will render selections from the Magic Flute of Mozart's. The trio consists of Miss Jones, Eleanor Mooney and Mary Elizabeth Compton.

The Epilogue will be given by Georgianna Hankins.

The whole cast will dance the minuet as a grand finale. Tickets may be obtained from any member taking part in the recital, or may be purchased at the door.

The new equipment committee of the Ladies' Aid Society, with Mrs. J. J. Schaffer, chairman, have purchased from the proceeds of the rummage sale several pieces of maple furniture for the room off the pulpit, known as the pastor's study. It was in use for the first time last Sunday.

There will be two more Sunday School sessions, June 19 and 26 before the school closes for the months of July and August.

Society Would Obtain Family Bible Records

Genealogical Records Are Needed For Use In Magazine

The Genealogical Society of New Jersey, 33 Lombardy street, Newark, wishes to obtain old family Bible records of old New Jersey families for the purpose of increasing its records, and for printing in its Genealogical Magazine as many of such records as are considered available and its resources will permit, thus preserving for all time these precious records. This is especially important in New Jersey where a few individual family genealogical records have been published and where few general works on the subject are available, other than that contained in the county records of Wills, Deeds and Marriages. New Jersey is far behind some of the other states in these matters.

Send all data to the above address after copying and comparing the same carefully.

Manuscript copies of family records are also desired. If requested, The Genealogical Society will copy same and return the original in good order, in some cases it will print them and thus preserve them for all time.

The Genealogical Society of New Jersey is doing this work at this time as its share in the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington.

The New Hoover Gives You More for Your Money

Hoover No. 425 costs only $59.50 cash and it has the special Hoover cleaning feature—"Positive Agitation." This is the cleaning method that loosens and takes up the ground-in dirt. It is a combination of heating, sweeping and suction cleaning.

Now's the time to buy a Hoover. The prices have never been so low—the terms more generous or the trade-in allowance worth so much. Just telephone and we will demonstrate the use of this new Hoover on your own rugs. At the same time, you can have your old electric cleaner appraised by our representative and learn how much we can allow you for it on the price of a new Hoover. Our trade-in allowances run from $4.50 to $17.50—a big consideration when the Hoover is so low priced.

$59.50 cash and $62.85 on terms of
$3.50 down and $3.30 monthly

The Two-Speed and Gold Chevron Hoover models have additional cleaning features that are worth your investigation.
