Teachers Protest

Delay In Salaries

Steel Says Schools Have Cut Costs Although More Pupils

A committee of school teachers went before the Board of Commissioners at the conference Tuesday afternoon to enquire about the non-payment of their salaries.

Charles L. Steel, principal of the high school, complained about reports of the last meeting published in a Newark newspaper which stated that the Board of Education received $83,000 from the town this year. Commissioner William H. Williams, director of revenue and finance, explained his statement of last week, saying that the School Board had spent $83,000 of the taxpayers money this year, $51,500 given them by the town and $31,500 left over from last year.

Steel said, "We are complaining that only a small percentage of the 1932 taxes already paid have been turned over to the School Board for the payment of salaries." Williams answered him by saying that the teachers can only be paid in full at the expense of the police and firemen and that the teachers had stated last week that they would not wish to be paid at the expense of these bodies. He asked if Steel had any practical recommendations as to the means of raising funds.

Steel replied that the town should borrow the necessary cash at this time. Williams said that the town was making every possible attempt to borrow but that creditors could not be found. He asked Steel to tell him how the town could borrow more money.

Steel produced charts showing that the school tax rate has dropped 16 1/2 points in the last three years while the municipal rate has risen 58 points in the same time. Williams said that this was false, as the apparent rise in the municipal rate was due to the failure of town officials to make up an honest budget in 1930. Steel's charts also showed an increase in the number of pupils since 1930 and a decrease in the number of teachers. Another chart showed an increase in the school budget until 1930, and after that a decrease. Williams asked if there was any operating cost decrease. He said that operating costs rather than budgets were what counted.

Steel replied that the Board of Education plans to ask for $41,000 less for 1933-34 than was asked for 1932-33. He told Williams that the School Board had told them that there was no assurance of prompt payment of salaries even though they agreed to a 99 per cent. cut in salaries. Williams replied that they had been misled. He stated that three bond houses had told the town that they would do everything possible to help if the expenses of the town were cut.

Steel remarked that doubling up of classes and reducing the number of teachers was evidently of no avail if the teachers did not agree to an arbitrary cut. He said that it was discouraging to economize for three years and then hear that the teachers pay depends upon a ten per cent. cut. He stated that the teachers were embarrassed for lack of money, and that local landlords and merchants were unable to carry them any longer. He asked if there was any promise of relief.

Williams answered, "I can only repeat what I have said before. Tax receipts and the sale of bonds are the town's only sources of income. I hope to confer with the teachers soon and explain the situation fully to them."

Wife Charges Cruelty

In Maintenance Action

Charging August Balseret of town wanted her to go out to work while a housekeeper for whom he evidenced affection kept home. Mrs. Pauline Balseret of 27 Irving street, Newark, has filed suit for separate maintenance on the grounds of cruelty. Vice Chancellor Backes has set alimony at $15 a week pending the suit. Balseret denied his wife's charges.

Mrs. Balseret said she was married in Dusseldorf, Germany, in 1919, and lived happily with Balseret until he came to this country in 1923. She heard from him less and less frequently. Mrs. Balseret stated, until in 1927 she followed him here and found he had a housekeeper. She said she declined to work as he suggested and the housekeeper left. She separated from her husband last August, Mrs. Balseret said.

The committee consists of Miss Mary Glynn, Mrs. William Herkness, Mrs. Isaac Harker, Mrs. George Hacker, Mrs. John Gormley, Mrs. George Glennon, Mrs. Patrick Golsen, Miss Charlotte Gilsider, Mrs. Agnes Garvey, Miss Mae Doyle and Miss Agnes Doyle. The distribution of awards will also take place.

Waters Explains

Judge Appointment

"I Promised Three Old Ladies To Support Abramson"

Interviewed by telephone at his home Tuesday night, Commissioner Patrick A. Waters gave the News a statement on his reasons for backing the appointment of Edward J. Abramson as recorder.

"I am not playing politics," said Waters, "this is no political appointment. Mrs. Paul and two other old ladies from the synagogue came to my office and asked me to support Eddie Abramson and I promised them my support."

"He is just a young man trying to get up in the world and I thought I'd give him a little boost," the commissioner went on. "I've known him for eighteen years and he is a fine young man. Some other social club here in town wrote me a letter in his favor. Don't get me wrong. I'm not playing politics. Why, if this were a political appointment I would have picked a Democrat for the job, instead of a Republican, wouldn't I?"

When Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy was asked for a statement his answer was brief. "No, I don't want to make any statement," said the Mayor. Commissioner William D. Clark also said, "No statement."

Walkathon Dance

Comes To An End

Couple Winning $1,000 On Floor More Than 2,933 Hours

The walkathon dance marathon of Belleville veterans, which began at Riviera Park, July 21, ended at 4:15 A. M. Monday. Walter Smallos of Paterson and Mary Cerpus of Philadelphia won. They survived 2,933 hours and 15 minutes. The contest started with sixty-seven couples.

In compliance with an order by Director Clark of the Department of Public Safety, the veterans did not start a new marathon attraction they had planned to run after the close of the old contest. Efforts of veterans over the week-end to get the commissioners to relent were unsuccessful.

The winning couple were awarded the $1,000 Wednesday night at a dance held at the park for the benefit of the last eight couples who endured the contest. The winners went thirty-one hours in the final grinds, without rest or solid food. Runners were Robert King of Brooklyn and Lee Maeders of Newark, who will receive $900.

Difficulties encountered for the last four months by Belleville veterans with their walkathon dance marathon at Riviera Park reached a climax Thursday night. A conference with the Town Commission, to obtain permission to continue the marathon to help pay off a $5,000 debt for an addition to post headquarters, broke up with hot words of accusation and opposition by three of the five commissioners.

As a result the dance was listed to be closed last week-end by order of Director Clark of the Department of Public Safety. The promoters at once fired forty-seven employees, leaving a dozen in charge. Forty couples gathered for the new affair were told it was off.

Clark sided with Commissioners Waters and Williams, opposed on moral grounds to continuance of the dance. Mayor Kenworthy and Commissioner Carragher were for its continuance.

Teacher Plights Troth

Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Kabachnick of 279 DeWitt avenue have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Estelle G. Kabachnick, and Herman W. Kesner, son of Mrs. Betty Kesner of 1026 Clinton avenue, Irvington. A teacher in the local schools, Miss Kabachnick is a graduate of Belleville High School and of Newark State Normal School. She is president of the Junior League of the Congregation Ahavath Achim Anshe. Mr. Kesner is a graduate of Irvington High School.

Pastor Speaks At

Local Woman's Club

Rev. G. E. Dawkins Talks At Annual Guest Reception

Rev. George Evans Dawkins, pastor of First Baptist Peddie Memorial Church, was guest speaker Friday night at the Woman's Club, when the organization held its annual reception for associate members and friends. His subject was "The Achievement of Longevity." Anson C. Dupue of Belleville, tenor, gave a group of songs, and Dorothy Harper Ludlow of Newark entertained with dramatic readings. The president, Mrs. Charles S. Smith gave greetings. Mrs. Albert S. Blank was in charge of the program.

"We must make an individual approach to the problems of our state, instead of allowing economic and industrial leaders to dominate," said the speaker. "The fault with us is not that we do not know how to stand together, but that we cannot think alone. We allow a few demagogues to think for us. Our American system of government is on trial in the world today. No matter how patriotic you may be, you have no guarantee that our system will last."

Mrs. Dudley Drake, chairman of the hospitality committee, served refreshments. Floater were the Misses Doris Hardman, Frances Dorman, Margaret Haworth, Alice Cornell, Myra Zink, Julie Vessie and Jane Rose.

Regular Republicans

Recommend Keenan

Officers Elected By Local Republican Club

The following official statement is released by the Regular Republican Organization of Belleville:

"In full cognizance of the need for town officers who will rehabilitate the reputation of this town in the county and state by honest and sincere efforts, and in full cognizance of the reputation and personal character of Lawrence Keenan: The Regular Republican Organization of Belleville went on record at their last meeting held Friday, recommending Lawrence Keenan for the position of Recorder when the Board of Commissioners appoints a permanent successor to George H. Fitzsimmons."

"Mr. Keenan did not seek this recommendation but the organization, after taking into consideration the responsibilities of the job, were unanimous in the belief that he would, if appointed, carry on the work with honor and dignity, not only to himself but the town."

"In line with the above it is announced that the organization intends to take a strong part in the election and appointment of officials of this town in the future. People who are known to be of excellent character and spotless reputation only will be recommended to the electorate."

The following officers were elected at the meeting Friday: President, Thomas Berry; first vice president, George Stewart; second vice president, Anna Fleming; second vice president, Julia Alexander; treasurer, Lawrence Keenan; secretary, James Mullen; trustees, Joseph King, William Gagg and Carrie Crisp.

Miss Jessie Smith of Belleville avenue, Bloomfield, entertained Saturday evening for Miss Edith Keller, Dorothy Russell, Gail Cramer, Vincent Pramuk, Herbert Spear, Arthur Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. George Diefenbach of East Orange; John and Frank Jones and Edmund Burke of Newark; and the Misses Florence Fried and Mary Hacker of Belleville. The same group will be guests of Miss Fried Sunday evening.

Joseph Carragher

Backs E. B. Smith

Writes Commissioners Acting Recorder Met Darby's Rules While In Post

Joseph Carragher, son of Commissioner Frank J. Carragher, made public a letter he has sent to Director William D. Clark of the Department of Public Safety. The commissioner's son indorses the appointment of Everett B. Smith, former acting town recorder, for the two-year recordership term beginning December 1.

Carragher's Letter Follows: "Please believe that I am writing you in the spirit of friendliness, with no hidden motives, no axe to grind, but solely in the interest of the people of the town of Belleville."

"After you, as Director of the Department of Public Safety, dismissed George A. Fitzsimmons on charges filed and prosecuted by me as a citizen of the town of Belleville, I felt it was my further duty to lay before you certain recommendations based upon my examination of the police court to correct intolerable and un-American conditions which existed there. I did not make those recommendations because I found that the remedies I had in mind had already been effected by acting recorder Everett Smith. I found that Mr. Smith had complied with all the recommendations contained in the audit of Walter Darby, Commissioner of the Department of Municipal Account, dated August 17, 1932. All moneys received by Smith were promptly and properly accounted for; proper books of account were kept."

Reduction Planned

In Avenue Lights

Davey Calls Sewer Levees Unfair, Others Object

Commissioner William D. Clark, director of public safety, introduced a plan to save $3,940 a year in lighting on Washington avenue at the conference of the Board of Commissioners Tuesday afternoon. He plans to eliminate about sixty lights, which will not be removed but merely cut out of the circuit. A representative of the Public Service, Mr. Stapleton, said that this plan was better than one proposing to change from 400 candlepower lamps to 250 candlepower, as the change would result in heavy expense to the town as the transformers would have to be changed because the lamps would require a different voltage.

A communication was received from four local ministers acting as citizens, who asked an explanation of the appointment of Edward J. Abramson as recorder. There was no comment in this except from Commissioner Patrick A. Waters, who introduced the resolution appointing Abramson. He said that two of the ministers were not fully conversant with local conditions, having been in town only two years.

A hearing was held on the assessments of sections 4A and 4B. K. Davey complained that the assessments were not levied equally on all sections of the town and that the sewer should have been paid for long ago. He stated that money should have been raised for the sinking fund and religiously applied to the amortization of the bonds. Two other property owners objected.

A communication was received from Gerald Maorian, favoring the establishment of a bus line between Silver Lake and the center of Belleville. The Board of Public Utility Commissioners reported that they could take no action on the matter, as no application had been received from an operating company.

A communication was received from the Belleville Merchants Association agreeing to accept "baby bonds" in exchange for merchandise, provided the town should decide to issue them to pay employees. They stated that no merchant should accept more bonds than he felt able to carry and stipulated that no more than $30,000 in bonds should be issued.

The issuance of a note for $1,000 for unemployment relief was authorized, and the renewal of $77,000 in temporary improvement bonds was also authorized. A $1,000 tax anticipation bond was issued to John W. Boylan.

ABROMSON'S QUALIFICATIONS TOLD

Because of your standing in the community, your letter of November 16, 1932 relative to the appointment of Edward Abramson to the office of Recorder of the Police Court in Belleville, merits a reply.

Your letter raises two questions of great importance requiring information as to the qualifications of the new recorder. We agree with you as to the vital importance of these questions.

First: It is your wish that you be advised as to the record of unselfish service rendered by any person appointed to this important office, and Second: Will the appointee protect the homes, the children and everything in the community that you hold dear.

Mr. Abramson has grown with this community, having moved to Belleville about twenty-three years ago, when the population of Belleville was about twenty-five per cent of its present population; before the Town Hall, the Library, the bank and other public and quasi-public buildings were erected. He is a graduate of the Belleville grammar school, and high school. Mr. Abramson has been active in civic work since he reached the age of discretion.

The most priceless possession which any community owns, is its children. Moulding the character of children is a service which cannot be repaid. Mr. Abramson has always been interested in activities which make for better citizenship, and which give to the young element during the impressionistic period of childhood, those ideals which, if followed, will make the community a better one in which to live.

He has personally promoted and supervised kiddie outings under the auspices of the Progress Club of Belleville, and has brought sunshine into the hearts of many children, who might in these times, adopt a very bitter attitude toward life. He has always worked among the underprivileged.

He has organized the Inter-County Baseball League, to interest the younger generation in good, clean, wholesome American sports.

As president of the Progress Club of Belleville, he gave his most active support in the promotion of tennis, basketball, and other recreational sports, which have been recognized as character building activities.

The fact that he lives at home with his father and mother and brothers and sisters, and contributes generously toward the maintenance of his father's home, stamps him as one who recognizes the sanctity of the American home.

The charitable activities of the Progress Club in Belleville need no amplification on our part; they have labored diligently to relieve distress and to overcome those forces which tend to disrupt the home. Mr. Abramson has been one of the moving spirits of these charitable activities, and a conversation with any of the members of the Progress Club will substantiate this statement.

As far as his educational background is concerned, besides graduating from the Belleville High School, he is also a graduate of the New Jersey Law School, having received the Degree of "Bachelor of Law." He was admitted as an attorney and a counsellor at law of New Jersey, and enjoys a fine reputation among his fellow members of the Bar in Essex County. He has also given liberally of his legal talent to his fellow men who were not able to pay for services, and has kept the dignity of his profession above the pecuniary benefits to be derived therefrom.

We could elaborate a great deal on his qualifications, but we have no desire to prepare a lengthy document. We know that your request published in the Belleville News was made in good faith, and as American citizens, in the welfare of our community, this reply is made in the same good faith.

Respectfully yours,

HENRY JACOBS.

SAMUEL F. LINDENBAUM.

GEORGE CHERIN.

MICHAEL SMITH.

OTTO SCHANTZ.

Clothing Bureau

Solicits Garments

Citizens Urged To Give Unwanted Garments For Needy

Final plans for the Clothing Bureau have been completed by the Manufacturers' Association Committee in cooperation with the Emergency Relief Administration in Belleville. Notices will be given out to all residents of Belleville requesting contributions of clothing for the needy. A second crew of workers will canvass the town beginning next week soliciting the clothing, and arranging for collection. Warm clothing, outgrown clothing, clothing that needs slight repair, overcoats and suits, in fact everything wearable is needed.

Members of the Clothing Committee are Messrs. George Gerard, George Napier, John Portenstein, William Irvine, Mrs. Florence Estelle, Deputy Relief Administrator, and Arthur H. Jones, Administrator of Relief in Belleville.

Lions To Present

Charity Minstrel

"Lions In Laughland" To Be Given At High School On Friday

"Lions In Laughland," a minstrel being sponsored by the local Lions Club for the benefit of their charity fund, will be presented at the high school auditorium Friday evening, December 2. Rehearsals are being held twice weekly in preparation for the production.

John P. Dailey will serve as inter-locutor, while among the soloists will be such well-known singers as Esther Forbes, Charles Christell, Paul Doves and Dr. D. E. Kavanaugh. The chorus in support of the end-men and soloists contains eighty-five persons, many of them well-known in local amateur theatrical circles.

Tickets for "Lions In Laughland" may be obtained from members of the cast, or members of the Lions Club. Reserved seats are on sale at the Capitol Pharmacy. Dancing will follow the show.

High School Pupils

Assist Unfortunate

Thanksgiving Baskets Are Distributed To The Unemployed

More than 100 poor and needy families of Belleville were made happy this Thanksgiving by the food collected by the pupils of the high school. With more than a ton of food, and the telephone wires and personal calls busy gathering food and information, the faculty and pupils distributed baskets to families ranging from three to a dozen people.

The social agencies, the churches, personal knowledge of the members of the student body and faculty, the ministers, and every available source were sought for information leading to the homes of the needy. Checking carefully this information from the leading sources of the town, the pupils and the faculty members distributed the baskets Wednesday afternoon so that the cheer arrived in time for Thanksgiving morn.

The pupils, under the leadership of the student government, and personal initiative of the individuals of the student group, opened the campaign Tuesday, and by Wednesday sufficient food was gathered to provide for more than a hundred families.

Among the many things given this Thanksgiving were potatoes, sugar, onions, roast pork, five legs of lamb, chickens, pastries, preserves, beef, groceries, and canned goods by the hundred jars and cans. In addition to the food, soap was given for personal and clothing purposes.

The student council has placed boxes in each home room for voluntary contributions to aid the community chest drive. These boxes will be collected December 1. The pupils place money in the boxes when they arrive in the morning, and the spirit has come to such a height of sacrifice that the boys and girls contribute as they go to each class.

Marathon Closing

Troubles Girl Fan

Letter To Commissioners Deplores End Of Show

Dorothy Laurita of Jersey City, who signs herself "A marathon fan of Riviera Park in Belleville," feels that marathon contests are just "ducky" and thinks that the kind manager should be permitted to start a new show. She so expressed herself in a letter to the Board of Commissioners which was read Tuesday night.

Dorothy finds the newspapers unkind to her favorite entertainment. She says, "There are some clippings I have read in the paper and some of them are true and the rest untrue." She feels that anyone who says that the contest was not on the "last marathon was the cleanest and the most enjoyable that I have ever seen," writes Dorothy, "the manager gives the contestants three (3) square meals a day, their beds, cigars and other things. Don't you think this manager who was so kind deserves this Permit? I do and I know you do."

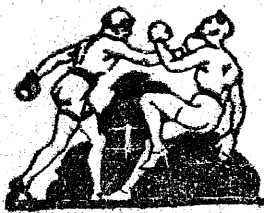

Bond Sale Provides

Town Employees Pay

Tax Anticipation Bonds In Amount Of $55,000 Issued

Sale of $55,000 in tax anticipation bonds to permit payment of two weeks' salary to town and school employees was authorized by the Town Commission at a special session on Thursday night. The checks were distributed Friday, bringing the back salary situation up to October 1. The bonds of one month duration were sold to the Merchants & Newark Trust Co. by Commissioner Williams. The offer of Vincent P. Walsh of 130 Hornblower avenue to donate fourteen George Washington elms to the town for dedication by churches and civic organizations and to hold an open-air showing of a film on Washington's life was referred to Commissioner Carragher for arrangement with Recreation Director Robert Nebrig. Carragher said it was the Shade Tree Commission's job to take care of the trees.

Doings in the Field of Sports

Bell-boys Wind Up Season At Kearny Same Starting Line-up As Against Orange To Be Used

The Belleville High football eleven will ring down the curtain on its 1932 campaign, tomorrow afternoon, as it encounters powerful Kearny High, in the annual Turkey Day classic, at the Kearny Stadium.

Coach "Reds" Buchanan of the locals will probably trot out the same line-up that started in the 13-0 victory over Orange last week. Bill Tully's fine display of ground-gaining gives him another back to depend upon for yardage, along with Artie Leadbeater and Fred McQuilkin, the two mainstays. Joe Morano and "Pop" Jannarone are other backfield men of the first water.

The first string line of Burke, Jockey, Shepherd, Mutch, Vuono, Cocks and Daly from end to end looks good enough to hold Kearny's principal scoring threats. May, Stellatella, Brumback, Terry and Cerami are other linemen sure to see action.

Kearny's big backfield threat all year, and the man for Belleville to watch will likely be Barney Oldfield, who has featured virtually every Kearny contest this season. Pattiwell is another Kearny backfield man of note.

Belleville Deluges Orange In Mud Saturday, 13-0 Locals Completely Outplay Visitors, In Heavy Down-pour

Before a mere handful of fans that braved the rain of last Saturday afternoon, the Belleville High football eleven came out of its prolonged slump long enough to push Orange around in the mud of Clearman Field, 13-0. The locals completely outplayed the visitors at every stage of the game.

The decidedly inclement weather seemed to suit the locals to a "T" as they pranced about the mire, with a speed and surety that left the Benckermen in a complete state of bewilderment and disgust.

It took less than four minutes for the fast-working Bell-boys to consummate the scoring of their first tally. Bill Tully, once again in the starting back-field, was the key-man if this opening tally, stepping around in the best "mudder" fashion.

Ed Mutch, veteran Bell-boy center, started the spree, recovering one of the numerous Orange fumbles on the Orange thirty yard stripe.

With that edge to work on, the Blue and Gold lost little time in ripping the Orange defense to shreds and scoring their first touchdown. Artie Leadbeater, ace local back, went right through the center of the line for ten yards, to start the big advance. Then Joe Morano, Leadbeater and Tully alternating at line plunging for short gains, with Tully finally going over from the four yard mark. Leadbeater hit the center of the Orange line for a successful conversion of the extra point.

Towards the end of the first quarter and at the start of the second the Bell-boys had two more beautiful scoring opportunities, only to lose the pigskin twice on downs on the Orange one yard stripe.

With a minute to go before the end of the half, the visitors opened up with a desperate forward pass attack from deep in their own territory, with Stanziale flipping a final aerial over to the far right side of the field.

Dick Lee, fleet substitute Bell-boy back, intercepted and ran thirty-two yards for the second touchdown without a hand being laid in him. "Fuzzy" Ryder's drop-kick try for the extra point was low.

The locals, in possession of a safe lead, were content to employ "safety first" tactics throughout the entire second half. In the last quarter, Orange made its only scoring threat of the afternoon, featured by Tomaselli's thirty yard sprint around end, only to be topped on the ten yard line. Artie Leadbeater, "Fuzzy" Ryder and Johnnie Daly all took turns punting the elusive pig-skin, with all three showing to advantage.

BY ARTHUR BLOEMERKE

"SINGIN' IN THE RAIN"

REMEMBER the lilting tune of that popular song of several seasons back? Well, your Bell-boy gridders revived the memories of that air in approved aquatic fashion, last Saturday afternoon.

Of course, the song might have been re-titled appropriately enough. "Winning in the rain." For win they did. And after a surprising dearth of victories this past month, considering the highly promising early season start.

Our mud-bespattered youths seemed to delight in the uncomfortable conditions, caused by the mire and water that was Clearman Field. And as for the down-pour that swept the field (?) intermittently all through the duration of the swimming carnival. Well, that just added to the general hilarity of the occasion.

The only disconcerting note was the fact that the Orange visit represented the last home stand the Blue and Gold will be called upon to make this season. That, of course, renders null and void any and all thoughts which might have arisen in some of our more inventive minds, anent the possibilities of keeping the Clearman Field gridiron in a perpetually soaked condition. And, of course, artificial showers at the critical moments might help out no end. Well, perhaps that brilliant idea might survive the rigors of a year, and blossom forth in all its glory, with the advent of the 1933 season.

'One of our more trusting clients (you guessed it, a female) was heard to remark, Saturday, "Oh, what lovely mud-packs. I didn't know those big, strong boys liked them."

Let it rain.

THEY CAN BE STOPPED

THANKSGIVING.—Will the Belleville High Gridders be able to enjoy to the fullest extent tomorrow's holiday of holidays? A clinching victory at Kearny would do the trick. Can it be done? Our only answer: Why not? Of course some of our mail subscribers will get their papers Friday and know the answer. This question is put to those who read us Wednesday.

Belleville of course will dash into the sacred precincts of the West Hudson stadium as decided "under-dogs." The season's record is all Kearny. But the latter eleven is far from unbeatable. And a fighting Bell-boy aggregation, wrought up to the proper mental pitch, might be just the team to accomplish such an event. Why not?

On comparative scores basis (which admittedly oftentimes mean less than nothing) the two elevens are evenly matched. Both whipped Orange rather handily, and disposed of Passaic by a single touchdown.

Incidentally, a win tomorrow would just bring the 1932 record of the golden-jerseyed warriors up to the .500 mark, with five wins as against the same number of losses.

Let's have an extra portion of that gridiron "turkey," known as the winning combination. It can be done.

NICE WORK

ONE of the pleasing features of the "muddy" doings of Saturday last was the ball-packing ability shown by one, Bill Tully.

After some fine backfield work last season, Tully, now a sophomore, was expected to be one of the mainstays of the eleven this year. "Something went wrong somewhere, however, and the youthful ball-carrier couldn't seem to get "clicking."

But last week was a different story. All during the regular scrimmaging days before the game, Tully simply ran wild, running for big gains every time he carried the ball. The form he displayed tempted Coach Buchanan to start him against Orange, and his judgment was more than vindicated.

Tully was a regular bear-cat on the offense against those so-called "Golden Tornadoes." He gained plenty of yardage with his unstoppable line smashing.

Johnnie Daly, at end, also turned in his usual highly efficient game. Several tackles he made were "corkers," as were several made by the ever reliable Ed Mutch, center.

It was a great exhibition, despite the dreary setting.

CLINTONS AT ASBURY PARK

THE Clintons, Belleville's leading senior gridders, are on their way to state-wide recognition among independent grid outfits.

Their latest bid is a trip they will make to the Asbury Park Stadium, Saturday afternoon, to clash with the strong Wanamassa Indians, in a benefit game for the Kiddies' Milk Fund of Asbury Park. The local boys received the invitation to play in this important tilt down in the shore city, because of their fine record against leading elevens in the state (they have lost but one game), this year.

The Wanamassas will likely have many members of former Asbury Park state championship high school elevens in their line-up. Such stellar performers as Goddard, Manchec, Pyle, and even the ace of the present great team, "Butch" Bruno, will likely be included in their number.

Coach Harry Sullivan of the locals will, no doubt bolster up his strong aggregation, somewhat.

Whatever the result, it should be a good game and one that should add much prestige to the Clinton name.

Socialist Card Party

The Belleville branch of the Socialist Party held a card party Monday evening at the Recreation House. About thirty members were present. Refreshments were served. The committee in charge consisted of Charles Longhi, chairman, assisted by Charles Wilson and Lewis Lydicksen.

Tully, Lee. Point after touchdown—Leadbeater. Belleville substitutions: May, Brumback, Terry, Landis, Pascal, McQuilkin, Caruso, Stellatella, Lee, J. Tully, Wertz, Ryder, Cerami, Drake, Dunn. Orange substitutions: Hammond, Monica, Park, Stoppelle. Score by periods:
Belleville.....7 6 0 0—13

Be-Centennial Celebration

The Town Commission and the Recreation Commission held a Joint Washington bi-centennial celebration for the school children and citizens in town, Tuesday afternoon, at the Recreation House.

John J. Daly, Town Clerk, opened up the program in fitting fashion, while Commissioner Frank J. Carragher and Recreation Head Robert A. Nebrig conducted the remainder. The big item of this closing celebration was the dedication of four-teen maple and red oak trees. These trees were received from Washington through the efforts of Vincent Walsh, public-spirited local citizen. A reel of moving picture films, "The Life and Times of George Washington," was also projected.

Capitol Theater Gridders Battle Nutley Cardinals

The Capitol Theater senior football eleven battled the Nutley Cardinals to a 0-0 tie, Sunday afternoon, at the Yanticaw Park gridiron.

A wet field interfered with the offensive tactics of both sides. The Belleville gridders completely outplayed their rivals, but lacked the scoring punch at the critical moments.

Andy Walker and Bob Lonie were the big guns in the Capitol backfield, while Bert Bade and "Red" Wilson contributed the best work on the line.

For A Real Merry Christmas Buy Seals

Christmas seals are here again and 2800 letters containing seals will be mailed this week to all friends in Belleville.

"We need more than ever this year," said Eugene T. Berry, health officer, because our plans include clinics for pneumonia, bronchitis, asthma and other chest conditions, also for the undernourished children that they might be sent to camps.

"We are counting on all our friends and trust that the work we have done in the past year has made us many new ones.

Partly through the sale of seals here and in Nutley, a registered nurse, Miss Elizabeth P. Smith, is maintained in the two towns to look after all the tuberculosis cases.

Miss Smith helps patients if they desire to go to a Sanatorium, attending clinics held twice a month, second and last Mondays, in the Town Hall under Dr. Byron Harmon, superintendent of Essex Mountain Sanatorium, Verona, in cooperation with the Essex County Tuberculosis League. She arranges for undernourished children of contacts to go to camp at Farmingdale.

VINCENT M. E.

Located at Nutley's Center
Rev. Elmer E. Pearce, D. D., Minister.

The World Friendship Guild met recently at the home of Miss Virginia Lee, 590 Bloomfield avenue, with Miss Esther Fruit presiding. Miss M. Newcombe, corresponding secretary, reported a Christmas box mailed to China from the Guild. The club decided to donate a Thanksgiving dinner to some needy family through the Social Service Bureau. Miss Lee presented a short program featuring the second chapter of the study book, "Lady fourth Daughter of China" with the Misses Marjorie Larwill and Eunice Pingree assisting. The remainder of the evening was devoted to making scrap books which are to be donated to a children's hospital. Refreshments were served by the hostess and Miss Fruit. The December meeting will be at the home of Miss Alice Stager, 359 Center street.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society met recently in Philhower Chapel with its president, Mrs. J. C. Fruit presiding. Mrs. Fruit reported the World Friendship Guild making scrap books and preparing two Christmas boxes which will be sent to Miss Edith Fredericks, a missionary in China, and a dinner to the Social Service. Mrs. Roscoe Symonds, chairman of the program committee, announced the December meeting to be a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Louis Allen. Mrs. Fruit announced a missionary study class for Wednesday evenings during January and a dinner in February at which Mrs. William Sites, a missionary, will speak.

Mrs. E. E. Pearce was appointed secretary of stewardship.
Circle One of the Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. M. B. Johnson, leader, has made plans for a Christmas party at Mrs. Charles Kinzel's home in December. Other members who attended a recent meeting were Mrs. L. N. Allen, Mrs. George Kellett, Mrs. C. H. Ball, Mrs. A. P. Felsberg, Mrs. Andrew Kiesel, Mrs. Ethel Sykes, Mrs. E. E. Pearce, Mrs. W. H. DeMott and Mrs. N. O. Lindstrom.

GRACE EPISCOPAL

Rev. C. P. Tinker, D. D., Rector
204 Highfield Lane, Nutley.

The Hospital Unit of the Woman's Guild held its meeting for November on Tuesday from 10 to 4 in the educational room of the church. Members and guests provided their own lunches but were served with tea or coffee from the kitchenette of the church. Sewing was done for Nutley Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The Guild held a card party in the parish house Friday evening, the committee consisting of Mrs. J. M. Mackay, Mrs. F. S. Hunt, Mrs. George Wilner, Mrs. A. F. Beh, Mrs. John Owen, Mrs. R. M. Havell, Miss Mary Nichols, Mrs. H. W. Wills, Mrs. E. P. Bassford, Mrs. G. E. Conover, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. E. C. Miller.

Dr. William R. Ward, medical director of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., traveler, lecturer, educator and leader in the State S. A. R. organization, will be the guest speaker this Friday evening of Grace Church Men's Club. Because of the caliber of the speaker invitations have been sent to other churchmen throughout the town.

Dr. Ward will talk on Russia giving the result of his experiences from several visits to the land of the former Czar Nicholas; visits made both before and after the death of the ruler at the hands of Communists. The medical director had unusual opportunities to observe condition there at close range during his last trip abroad.

The younger members of the Girls' Friendly Society held a dance in the parish house Friday night. Music was furnished by Bob Merton's orchestra and refreshments were served. Mrs. C. George Werner and Mrs. J. Inwright were in charge.

Tuesday at 8 o'clock a jelly making bee was held in the home of Mrs. W. J. Shannon, 66 Elm place, and Thanksgiving baskets were packed. The Church Service League will hold a meeting in the parish house Tuesday, at 2:30. There will be a special speaker.

Unit Four will hold a dessert bridge Friday, December 3, at one o'clock in the parish house. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Howard Pendleton and Mrs. William Docherty, chairmen. Mrs. F. W. Kroust and Mrs. J. F. Gregg were hostesses Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Gregg in Pershing avenue at a dessert bridge for the benefit of Unit Five. There were seven tables in play.

"Gangs Of New York" Is Lecture Subject

Colonel Wallace Winchell Tells Of Reform Of Criminals

Lieutenant Colonel Wallace Winchell, of the Salvation Army, who lives at 288 Little street, lectured on "The Gangs of New York" at Salvation Army headquarters Friday night. Colonel Winchell, known as the Bishop of the Bowery, has spent forty years in work on the lower East Side of New York City. The hall was crowded and the audience was greatly interested in the story of the dives, concert saloons, and criminal gangs that invested Gotham in the old days.

The object of the recital was to show the leavening power of the Gospels in the regeneration of most desperate characters, a number of whom are now in the mission field. One of those mentioned was Walter D. Britt, a university man, who spent 19 years behind the prison bars. He was converted by Colonel Winchell in 1923, and is now superintendent of the New York Gospel Mission.

Colonel Winchell's lecture was illustrated by pictures taken from periodicals of the nineteenth century. The Plug Uglies, the Shirt Tails and other gangs of the old Five Points were shown. They showed the draft rioters of the Civil War; also the crimes committed in the concert saloons of the mauve decade. Pictures were also shown of the lushdivers, the bank robbers, the river rats, and the gangs of the more recent period, the Monk Eastman, Paul Kelly, the Gas House and the Whyos.

Roosevelt May Attend State Bal Masque

President-Elect May Be The Guest Of Governor Moore

President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt may be the guest of Governor A. Harry Moore at the State Charity Ball to be given in the Trenton Armory, Wednesday night, December 14. An invitation has been sent to the Governor of New York at the executive mansion in Albany.

The ball committee is ready to make all arrangements for the coming of Mr. Roosevelt to Trenton and his reception by Governor Moore.

The feature of this year's ball will be the contest for awards by those in masque costume. The classification of awards will be in five divisions; original idea, fancy dress, impersonation, comics and clowns. There will be a grand award for the outstanding costume.

This year's event will aid the endowment of a room in Cooper Hospital, Camden, for use of State employees. It will cost $10,000. Similar endowments have been established in McKinley and St. Francis Hospitals, Trenton, and St. James Hospital, Newark, where yearly more than one hundred persons have received free treatment.

Comptroller of the Treasury John McCutcheon is chairman of the ball. David Davies, assistant State Auditor, is treasurer, and Arthur F. McGrath, assistant to Comptroller McCutcheon is director and Secretary.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, De-nounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 27.

The Golden Text is: "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong" (1 Corinthians 16:13). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil" (Ephesians 6:10,11).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil. Clad in the panoply of Love, human hatred cannot reach you" (p. 571).

The Good American Council, Daughters of America, will be the guests of Wesley Church at this evening hour of worship.

Select Composition Of Local Woman For Prize Contest

Mrs. Ada Weigel Powers' "The Shepherd Song" Chosen

The National Federation of Music Clubs has selected Ada Weigel Powers' piano composition, "The Shepherd Song," for the Junior prize contest which will take place in Newark next May. This contest is sponsored by the State Federation of Music Clubs.

MRS. ADA WEIGEL POWERS and Ernest Hutchison, the well known concert pianist, will be the final judge in this contest. Mrs. Powers' compositions include songs, piano and violin music, among them the well known contralto song, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," the violin composition, "Bohemian Serenade" and incidental music to Tennyson's "Eldorado."

Edward Schuberth and Company of New York are Mrs. Powers' publishers.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Henry S. Haffner

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence L. Haffner of 75 Division avenue, who died at her home Saturday morning after an illness of a year, were held at the home Monday night at 8 o'clock. Rev. Paul F. Arndt, pastor of the Redeemer Lutheran Church, of Newark, and Rev. Ferdinand N. Kohler, pastor of the Carlsbad Presbyterian Church, officiated. Burial Tuesday at 2 P. M. was in Hillside Cemetery, Rutherford.

Mrs. Haffner was the wife of Henry S. Haffner, proprietor of a confectionery store at 448 Washington avenue. Born in Carlsbad forty-one years ago, she had lived in Belleville seven years and previously ten years in New York City.

Mrs. Haffner leaves besides her husband three daughters, the Misses Florence, Marguerite and Kathryn Haffner; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Zimmerman of Carlsbad, and four brothers, Adolph and Curtis of Woodbridge and George and John of Carlsbad.

Belleville Taxpayers Demand Repeal Of Unwise Law

The Belleville Tax Payer's Association has taken up the matter of the repeal of the law permitting Towns to borrow on tax anticipation and other notes the moneys paid into Sinking Funds for bond retirement.

The following correspondence is self explanatory.
Hon. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen,
New York City.
My dear Senator:

Knowing that you are greatly interested in the New Jersey Tax Payer's Association, and that the Association have in mind a drive for the repeal of some of the mandatory salary laws applicable to Municipalities in that State when the Legislature meets, I have been delegated by the Belleville Tax Payer's Association to bring to your attention a matter that we consider of almost equal importance—the repeal of the law permitting Towns to borrow Sinking Funds on tax anticipation notes.

By way of example, let me cite the experience of Belleville with one bond issue.

In 1914 an issue of bonds of $200,- 000 was authorized by the Town of Belleville. A sanitary sewer had been built and the construction had been financed by the First National Bank, and in some small part by the contractors. These notes amounted to a total of $207,000. Early in 1915 the bonds were issued and sold (under date of November 24, 1914) at a slight premium, bringing some $202,- 000 and the notes were all retired, the differences being made up out of current funds. These bonds were Refunding Bonds, carrying 3% annual sinking fund provision, and $6,000 a year has been annually included in the Town budget for that purpose.

When the first installment ($60,000)

Essex County Mortgage Totals For October, 1932, Amounted To $4,181,761.68

The compilation of mortgage totals for the month of October as prepared by the Fidelity Union Title & Mortgage Guaranty Company of Newark, New Jersey, shows a grand total of $4,181,761.68, divided as follows:

|------------------------------|---------------------|
| Title Companies | 203,100.00 |

Backs Everett Smith

Belleville News:

The original of the following was sent to Commissioner Clark:

Dear Mr. Clark:

A few months back a man was appointed as acting recorder for the town of Belleville. This man, Everett B. Smith, a qualified and competent attorney, has made a name for himself in the short time he was acting in that capacity. His integrity and virtue, above all was an outstanding factor.

I have been a friend of Mr. Smith for a number of years. I have been proud of that friendship and feel justly proud to know that the both of us are in the same church organization.
That, as president of our Epworth League for the past three years, he has excelled himself in that position to win hosts of friends and admiration from many, and ever keeping the purpose of the League in mind—to help bring to the young people a new outlook on religion.

As the present president of our Epworth League, I fully believe that I speak for everyone affiliated with the League of Wesley Church that Everett B. Smith should be appointed as town recorder, not only for the splendid work he did while in office, but for his record as a man in business, a man in society, and a man in the house of God. Truly, a record any man should be proud of.

Sincerely yours,

Horace D. Baldwin,
President Epworth League,
Wesley Church

Organ Anniversary

The second anniversary of the installation of the organ at Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church will be celebrated with an organ recital Tuesday at 8:15 P. M. by the organist, Mrs. May A. Bregman, assisted by Miss Esther Forbes, Miss Marie Kasper, soloist, and a chorus of women's voices.

The program will be as follows:
Prelude fugue in D minor, Bach; Offertoire in F minor, Salome; Chant du Soir, Bossi; Solo, God is my Shepherd, Dvorak; Communion in E, Flat, Rousseau; Intermezzo, Rhineberger;
Chorus and solo, O God Thou art
Praised in Zion, Sealy; and Toccato, Du Bois.

Sincerely,
W. H. K. Davey

Mr. W. H. K. Davey,

Dear Mr. Davey:

Senator Frelinghuysen was greatly interested in your letter of

Taxpayers To Aid
With Town BudgetsTaxpayers' Association To Aid With School
Budget

The Board of Education Monday night granted the request of the Belleville Taxpayers' Association for a list of school employees and their salaries and of itemized expenditures for the last year. The board granted permission for two members of the taxpayers' budget committee to attend the board's budget conferences.

Gustave Trinkler and Charles Kier made the request for the association.
Kier said the budget committee, comprising himself, W. H. K. Davey, John Reyle, Philip Dettelbach and Arthur Kuzle, would regard the lists as confidential.

Kier said the taxpayers intended to sit in also at the Town Commission budget conferences. Their idea, he said, is to make constructive recommendations for economy before the town and school budgets are made up, and thus forestall occasion for criticism when the budgets come up for adoption.

James L. DeRosset, board president and finance committee head, reported receiving $18,500 from the town for payment of salaries of teachers and other school employees up to September 30. There was no word as to when more funds could be expected.
DeRosset said, and the amount furnished was insufficient to cover pension and annuity payments due.

Permission was granted the Belleville Manufacturers' Association for use of a room at School No. 8 for distribution of shoes and clothing to the needy.

A revised list of rental fees for schools by various groups of the town was adopted. The fees were reduced in most instances, the object being to cover costs of heat, light and janitor service.

WHEN WOMEN TALK OVER THEIR HOUSEHOLD EXPENSES

WHEN women talk over their household expenses the conversation runs to foods, rent, clothes or furniture and even to electric service.

They have no quarrel with the cost of electricity in the home. They know that the FEW CENTS A DAY spent for electric service brings definite returns in convenience and comfort.

They realize the benefits of the vacuum cleaner, the washer, the ironer and other labor savers. They know the value of electric lighting, of electric toilet aids and health appliances.

And the use of these electric appliances for a FEW CENTS A DAY seems to them to be more than justifiable.

THE ABSOLUTE LIMIT

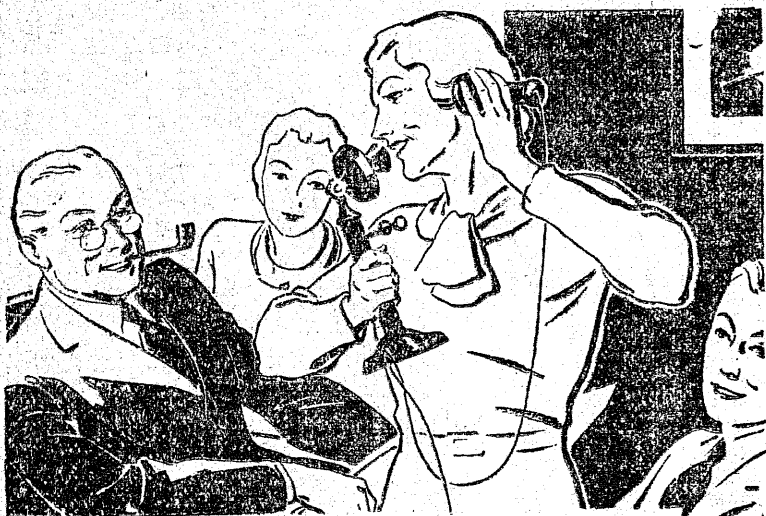

FOR Several months we have been on the watch for the wildest depression-curing suggestion. There has been a wide variety and keen competition, but at last we have found the gem of them all. A society of beauty culturists has offered as a solution the painting of women's lips with a slight upturn at the ends so that a permanent smile would result and improve the general morale. It is almost a sure bet that nobody can beat that one.

CITY DWELLERS SAFE?

THE dire predictions that the next war would result in whole cities being wiped out by poison gas dropped from airplanes, which we have been reading for several years, are silly, according to the official bulletin of the American Institute of Chemistry. All city dwellers would have to do in case of such a bombardment, would be to go up into the high buildings. The gases, even if they could be devised to cover the area of a city, would not rise very high off the ground. And the ventilating and air-conditioning devices in the large cities, could throw them off in the higher buildings.

FRENCH EAT "HOT DOGS"

THE French are being initiated into the succulent flavors of the American institution known as the "hot dog." A year ago, a railroad company installed a hot dog stand on wheels in one of the French railroad stations, and it made such a hit that there are now more than 20 in operation. Originally it was expected that the sandwich would appeal to passengers in the third class, but it has gone over big with the first class passengers as well. There is something universal about that dish.

Items Of Interest Taken From Here And There Outside Of town

The Independent Press (Bloomfield) condemns unfair competition to local merchants.

"Nothing cheapens the appearance of a business center more than the sight of a huge banner obscuring a store window and proclaiming a 'Fire Sale,' a 'Glossing Out Sale,' a 'Bankrupt Sale' or some other kind of sale, all of which have come to be placed in the category of fake sales by most shoppers. There are 'selling out' announcements that are genuine and are found where the store proprietor is actually closing up shop, and of course such store owners are not among the fakers.

"The fakers are sometimes called fly-by-nights on account of their short sojourns in the same store. The appearance of the fly-by-nights in Bloomfield is generally around Easter time, Fourth of July and Christmas. The Broad Street Association of Newark is appealing to the city officials to protect permanent merchants against such fly-by-nights and distress sales, and a similar move might be in order in Bloomfield. In Portland, Ore., a city ordinance defines how long a man must be in business before he can conduct such a sale and how often similar sales ideas may be employed by the same merchant."

The Kearny Observer comments of Thanksgiving Day this year:

Next week will come the annual observance of Thanksgiving Day. To many this year it will seem and in all truth be a poor time for such grace because of the great misery and want throughout the nation. There are, however, some left who are plentifully supplied with the world's goods and a great many more who can spare a little or much and still enjoy the necessary comforts of life. To these is offered a rare opportunity of expressing their gratitude by the generous sharing of their bounty with those less fortunate than themselves. Those who have suffered the pangs of actual need must find courage and inspiration in the memory of the Pilgrim fathers who carried on through hardships even more dire than those of today and who came at last to declare the first Thanksgiving Day."

The Kearny Observer also reports the visit of a "sea monster" to the Passaic river:

"A huge crowd of astonished spectators watched this unusual phenomenon last Friday noon from the Kearny side of the Passaic River just above the new West Arlington underpass. A line of cars extended from Bennett avenue to the underpass on the River road. People lined the banks of the river with some of the more daring clamoring down to the edge of the water in order to get a better view. Explanations and reasons for this unheard of 'visit' flew thick and fast. Most of the watchers were inclined to believe that the recent heavy gales and storms along the coast had carried the 'baby whale' or whatever it was, into Newark Bay and that the 'whale' had been swept up the river with the tide. For nearly an hour the great 'fish' disported itself to the amusement of the steadily increasing crowd. Some were inclined to think the visitor was a black tarpon blown in from the Gulf Stream. 'It wasn't until most of the people had left that the true explanation was discovered. Due to the heavy rainfall, a small brook running into the river from the Belleville side above the dye works, was swollen far beyond natural limits. Pouring into the Passaic with tremendous force, the

"So, if your loved ones brought home a fantastic story about a 'whale' in the Passaic recently, don't blame it on the Election."

The Coast Star (Manasquan) calls a high tax rate the "Best Friend of Hard Times".

"The best friend of 'hard times' is a high tax rate.

"Reasonable taxes encourage the investment of capital, the development and expansion of industry, the employment of labor. They encourage home building, savings and business activity of all kinds.

"Excessive taxes, on the other hand have precisely the opposite effect. They drive money into hoarding or into tax-free government bonds, thus depriving industry of revenue it sorely needs. They make for unemployment and for wide-spread distress. They discourage the home builder. They cause property to be taken over by the county or state for unpaid taxes, where it at once becomes unproductive.

"Make no mstake about it, high taxation, whether by the federal government, or states, counties or municipalities, has had much to do with creating and prolonging hard times. Every business man in the United States knows that. So does every investor. So should every worker. The best influence in favor of good times would be a decisive cut in the cost of government and the elimination of bureaucratic waste, red tape and inefficiency. And the best place to begin is right in your own home town, county or state. The tax bill is fast becoming the barometer of economic conditions.

You've got to be clever If you would endeavor To capture a creature named 'man'. At each nightly session Try using discretion, And act just as sweet as you can.

Don't talk about marriage, Or dare to disparage. Mis relatives, cronies or pet; If he would go walking Refrain, dear, from squawking: 'Cause men are so darned hard to get.

When he comes in snarling, Just smile and say "darling." Then blush like a beautiful rose— Oh, you'll have to please 'em, Caress 'em and tease 'em, To make such a creature propose.

THE PROUDEST MOTHER

THE proudest mother in the nation these days undoubtedly is Mrs. James Roosevelt. To live to see her son elected President of the United States is the rare fortune granted to but few members. In all, only six women in American history have lived to see their boys become Presidents.

Of course, Mrs. Roosevelt has watched her distinguished son win many honors. It must have been a source of tremendous joy to her when he became Governor of New York. But to see her boy elected President of the United States—this must bring the greatest of all thrills to the heart of any mother, rich or poor.

REDUCTION? OF TAX BURDEN VIA SEWER ASSESSMENT.

Granting the advisability of the final disposition of the sanitary sewer bonded indebtedness, there seems to be much righteous indignation at this additional burden upon the property owners at this time when the load is already too heavy.

It seems there will be no reflection in the tax rate for 1933 and there is much scepticism whether it would appear in 1934 due to experience with political promises in the past.

There is no assurance, except eternal vigilance upon the part of the property owners that some major expense will not absorb the contemplated expansion of town credit by this move.

It is said that this expediency to improve the debt situation of the town has its inception in the urge to increase demand for the sale of municipal bonds.

Now that election is over perhaps the recommendations for economy by the long awaited report of the citizens' committee, appointed some time ago by the commissioners, will be forthcoming and let us hope that it will recommend a more equitable distribution of such reduction as it may recommend, than exists among the town employees, including the Board of Education employees.

The time is rapidly approaching when the 1933 budget will be set up and it is not too early to prepare for the job which is more serious and difficult with each year of disappointed hope of financial recovery.

It is not too soon for civic groups to study local conditions and lend a hand to our elected servants, who comprise our governing body, with any constructive assistance they may have, even if it is not accepted, to the end that the town may emerge from the morass of debt we seem to be in.

FASHION SUGGESTIONS FEATURES FOR THE HOME

Winter Care Of Furniture

By MRS. MARION C. BELL,
Extension Service,
N. J. College of Agriculture.

The treasured antique that has been handed down from one generation to another lends added dignity and charm to any room that provides it with the correct background. A piece of furniture bought today may be the cherished "hand-me-down" of tomorrow, if it is well made and well cared for, and the homemaker who takes a few simple precautions with her household furnishings need have no fears for their endurance qualities.

The high degree of heat maintained in many houses during the winter months dries out the wood used in the frame work of most pieces of furniture. This condition is partially remedied, however, if the wood is given a thorough cleaning three or four times between October and May. For this purpose a quart of hot water in which a tablespoon of turpentine and three tablespoons of linseed oil have been folded will be found excellent. After the solution has been stirred, dip a clean, soft cloth in it, wring it as dry as possible, allow it to cool, and use it to clean and rub every section of the wood. When the solution is no longer clean prepare another, and after every piece of furniture in the room has been treated with the liquid rub the wood dry and polish it, using a clean, dry, soft cloth that will not shed lint. Not only does this process benefit the wood but it restores to dark woods their rich appearance and does away with the gray film so frequently found on varnished pieces. Any good floor wax will produce a desirable glow on the surface of woods and it will add too, to the beauty and durability of their finish.

Scratches and white spots should receive attention before the wax is applied. Scratches that are not very deep are usually made inconspicuous by the use of the water, oil and turpentine solution that has been described, and the wax will fill in any slightly uneven places on the surface.

Table tops and other large, flat surfaces requiring polishing present no difficult task to the amateur who knows what to use on them. A quarter of a pound of rottenstone, purchased at the drug store, and some linseed oil are the essentials. Pour a tablespoon of linseed oil on the surface to be polished and on top of the oil place a half teaspoon of the rottenstone. With the oil used as a base the rottenstone will not scratch the wood, and it should be rubbed in with a clean, soft cloth used in a circular motion. After the entire surface has been treated and rubbed clean it should be polished with a clean, dry cloth until the fingers no longer leave their imprint on the wood. When the oil has all been rubbed in or off, the surface may be waxed and rubbed again. Much rubbing and little wax give an attractive finish to the wood.

NEW KITCHEN AID

Homemakers by the thousands are enjoying a new helper in their kitchens—towel for kitchen use are proving a boon because they are so convenient and, at the same time, economical to use.

Introduced after fifteen months of use in test markets, the new paper towel has been proved entirely practical. These towels come in a roll of 150 pure, white, generous sized tissue towels. They are highly absorbent and seem to have an especial affinity for greasy stains. They are used for the hundred and one uses to which you have to put a clean tea towel. As they are just used and then thrown away, laundering of towels is materially reduced.

These towels are more than just a towel for wiping the hands and face. They are used for wiping grease and soot from cooking utensils, for draining grease from fried foods, for polishing silver and glassware, for mopping up spilled liquids and for dozens of other little tasks in the home. The neat towel fixture is offered in jade green or French ivory finish and is put in place very easily.

A Palate-Tickling Bran Bread

By Jane Rogers

Now that recent scientific research has shown bran to be, in addition to a valuable regulatory food, the possessor of hitherto unsuspected health values, it is of all the more interest to the housewife to learn of new and delicious ways of serving it.

Bran has been used as a food for a long time, and for many years it has been known that it provides the bulk necessary for the proper functioning of the system—bulk that is largely lacking in our modern diet of soft and refined foods. What has not been known until very recently is that bran also provides the iron needed for making good red blood, and Vitamin B which is useful in promoting the tone of the intestines.

A truly delicious way of including this valuable food in the family diet is to prepare it in the form of Bran Fig Honey Bread. The very name is "palate-tickling," and the result more than meets the expectations aroused by the name.

Bran Fig Honey Bread.

1 egg; ¼ cup brown sugar; ½ cup honey; 1 tablespoon melted shortening; 1 cup bran; 2½ cups flour; 2 teaspoons baking powder; ¼ cup chopped figs; 1 teaspoon salt; ½ cup chopped pecans; 1 cup chopped figs; 1½ cups milk.

Beat the egg and add the sugar, honey and melted shortening. Mix well. Add the bran. Sift the flour with soda, baking powder and salt. Add the pecans and figs to the flour mixture. Add dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Bake in a greased loaf tin in a moderate oven (375° F.) for one hour and fifteen minutes. This makes one loaf.

Thanksgiving Was Originally A Day of Fasting and Prayer

By DORIS H. TISDALE
Royal Baking Institute

AFTER the first harvest of the New England colonists in 1621, Governor Bradford made provision for a day of thanksgiving and prayer. In 1623 a day of fasting and prayer in the midst of drought was changed into thanksgiving by the coming of rain during the prayers; gradually the custom prevailed of appointing thanksgiving annually after harvest. These appointments were made by proclamation of the Governors of the several New England colonies.

During the Revolution a day of national thanksgiving was annually recommended by Congress. In 1817 New York adopted it as an annual custom, and it spread through many of the states by the middle of the nineteenth century. In 1864 President Lincoln appointed a day of thanksgiving, and since then presidents have issued a Thanksgiving proclamation, generally designating the last Thursday in November.

The original Thanksgiving was a day of prayer and fasting. The modern Thanksgiving is a day of feasting. Here is a recipe for holiday pound cake which will add to the attractiveness of the table:

One cup shortening, one cup powdered sugar, four eggs, two cups flour, two teaspoons cream of tartar baking powder, one teaspoon vanilla extract; one and one-half cups sliced citron; one and one-half cups walnut meats coarsely chopped. Cream shortening; add sugar slowly, beating well after each addition. Add sifted dry ingredients, mixing well. Add citron and nuts. Bake in 1 very large or 2 regular size greased loaf pans in moderate oven at 325° F., about 1 hour.

IN VOGUE TODAY

Prepared for the Essex County Extension Service by Miss Afton Odell, Clothing Specialist.

Many wardrobes this season contain the inevitable "problem coat," a garment in good condition yet too out-of-date to conform to the fashion dictates of 1932. In a year when rigid economy is the common by-word women everywhere are challenged with the problem of refashioning garments on hand—and it is infrequently happens that a bit of planning, snipping, tucking and piecing works a pleasing miracle.

The woman who sews finds this remodeling process a simple and a fascinating one. It she is wise, however, she will first make a careful study of the new coats as they are shown in the fashion magazines and the shop windows. What, she asks, are the significant points of difference between this year's coats and clothes that have been worn in former years? Most of the out-of-date coats feature long, surplice, shawl collars of fur, fastening with a large button below the waist line. They fit loosely about the waist and usually their underarm seams are not curved to conform to the line of the figure. The sleeves are apt to be cut straight and wide at the wrist, with a fur cuff trimming, and the hem line is frequently too short.

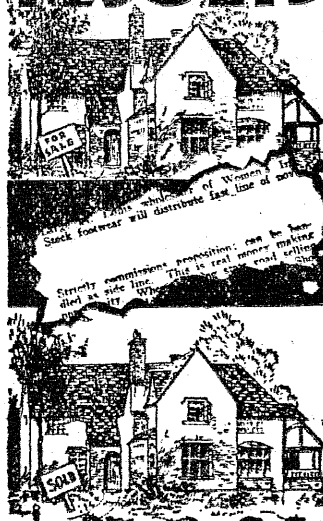

The woman whose wardrobe includes such a coat need not despair, however, for it can be made to wrap closely around the figure and button or tie at the waist line. The collar, too, can be transformed and the sleeves given a fur trim or fullness near the elbow. The fur collar is easily folded over to make the coat close higher at the neck. The collar ends are cut off so that they do not extend below the waist line. If there are fastening loops on the coat they may be moved up to the waist line, but if button holes have been used an additional number of them may have to be made to give the desired high line.

Curve the underarm seams in to fit the waist line. Darts stitched on the wrong side of the material and extending from a few inches above the waist line down to the hip line will take care of the extra fullness. If the sleeves are reshaped from the elbow to the wrist they can be given extra fullness in the upper part and made to fit snugly at the lower. Fur cuffs that are not badly worn may be placed in a spiral or straight line near the elbow, but if they add too much width to the figure it would be well to eliminate them entirely.

Most of the new coats close with small ties, easily made from the belt of the old coat. A belt extending from either side seam and tying in front offers another possibility for fastening.

If there is not a sufficient hem allowance to permit lengthening the coat, it may be advisable to insert a strip of the coat material at the waist line or through the bottom part of the skirt. The underfacing of the lapels will furnish the necessary material for this piecing and if it is placed to conform to the lines of the original design. A diagonal piecing is generally more becoming than a straight one. This season the lengthening of coats does not present a great problem, for ¾ and ¾ length coats are decidedly smart. The wearability of these coats is somewhat limited, however, since they require a dress or skirt of matching or harmonizing color to complete the ensemble. The dress presenting a decided color contrast should be chosen for wear with the full length coat.

PORK possesses a triple advantage for the family menu. It is inexpensive. It is delicious when properly prepared. It lends itself to preparation in a wide variety of appetizing ways.

The most important secrets of pork cookery are to cook slowly and season wisely. In the latter connection, a small amount of sugar, usually used in combination with the salt, pepper and other seasonings, is of special value. In addition to developing the flavor of the meat, it forms a succulent, crisp crust that adds greatly to the appetite appeal of the dish.

The best pork comes from young porkers. The flesh is a grayish white, fairly firm and velvety in texture, and with a fine smooth grain. It should appear juicy, but not wet or watery, and should be well marbled and covered with a white, smooth, firm fat, free from fibrous. In the older animals, the flesh turns to a delicate rose color.

Deviled Pork Chops

Mix together 1 tablespoonful of chili sauce, 1 tablespoonful of sugar, ½ teaspoonful of dry mustard, ¼ teaspoonful of paprika, a teaspoonful of salt and 1 tablespoonful of lemon juice. Add if liked, a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Pan broil lean pork chops on one side only, then gash them slightly on both sides and cover with the sauce. Cover and finish cooking, turning now and then. Make a mound of mashed potatoes and arrange the chops in pyramid form about them. Serve very hot with the sauce poured

By HAROLD G. HOFFMAN,
State Comm'r. of Motor Vehicles.

SPEED EMPHASIS.

I have never been one of the "Nervous Nellies" who attribute all our accident horrors to speed. But enough is enough. There is a great conflict of opinion upon those favoring the establishment and retention of maximum speed limits and those who are opposed to such a limitation, but in this controversy everyone seems to be in agreement with the thought "the greater the speed the worse the accident." Our magazines and periodicals are flooded with statements that certain automobiles are made to deliver "speed . . . far in excess of all reasonable demands," "70 to 80 miles an hour;" that "80 miles an hour seems like 50," that "60 miles an hour around a curve is accomplished with a greater feeling of safety and security than 40 miles an hour in other cars."

These quotations are exact; taken from advertisements appearing in a single issue of one of our national weeklies in May 1932. As I run over the pages I pick from other automobile advertisements these statements: "Top speed between 70 and 80 miles an hour;" ". . . in curves at 50, out at 60 . . ."; ". . . you can travel mile after mile at higher than average speeds . . ."; "85 miles an hour with ease and smoothness."

Undeniably, here is high-powered salesmanship intended to sell automobiles to the general public because of the fact that certain cars can be driven at rates of speed which under normal operating conditions cannot be considered as otherwise than excessive.

They cannot help draw expressions of regret from those of us who feel a sense of responsibility in attempts to reduce highway accidents. This propaganda, carried to these extravagant lengths, is diametrically opposed to the simple principles of safety taught us by hard facts.

One of the greatest standards for the safe control of modern traffic is the Model Municipal traffic ordinance developed by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, into which has gone the best judgment and experience of many persons and organizations which have devoted years to the study of automobile accidents.

This code, referring to speed, says: "No person shall drive a vehicle upon a highway at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent, having due regard to the traffic, surface and width of highway and the hazard at intersections and any other conditions then existing. Nor shall any person drive at a speed which is greater than will permit the driver to exercise proper control of the vehicle and to decrease speed or to stop as may be necessary to avoid colliding with any person, vehicle or other conveyance."

How can this expression be reconciled with the statements in automobile advertisements? Stretches of public roadway where consistently high speeds are safe represent a very small percentage of the country's total paved highways. If they exist they are in the far West or in sparsely inhabited tracts. But these advertisements are not territorially restricted. They are read by the New Jerseyman and the Californian alike, by the urban dweller and the rural dweller, by the child and the adult.

When a man's decision to purchase an automobile is determined by the argument that it can do "80 miles an hour like 50" will he not be tempted to prove for himself that the claim of the manufacturer is true? If Dad does not test the top speed of his new car, his son or daughter undoubtedly will. If the car will take a curve at sixty miles an hour cannot they, with their "superior skill" do it at seventy?

The high speed slogans of the automobile manufacturers are exerting a dangerous psychological influence on the minds of the American public, young and old, which is certainly not helpful to the efforts which are being made by thousands of intelligent people toward bringing greater safety to our streets and highways.

Some of our most tragic automobile accidents involve brand new "high speed" motor cars. They are occurring on our newest, straightest and widest highways, happen in spite of clever traffic signals and adequate police protection, take place in fine weather and during daylight hours. The nature of the injury and damage is invariably so severe that the underlying cause of these accidents is patently evident; lack of control or driving too fast for existing conditions.

The Vigilantes Again A Fighting Force Captain Page Gaston Leads War Against Gangsters

New York—(Special)—“A unity of all races for American law enforcement” is the slogan involved in the recent arrival in New York of Captain Edward Page Gaston, F. R. G. S., the London-American business man who has traveled extensively about the world investigating crime while European manager of the Funk & Wagnalls publishing company of New York, and in other capacities.

“It has been said that ‘As America goes, so goes the world,’” said Captain Gaston in his office at 45 West Forty-fifth street, New York, to a press representative recently; “but many people are fearful that law and order may ultimately collapse through non-enforcement. I have been influentially invited, therefore, to return home from abroad to help prevent such a debacle. What America needs today is law with spurs on.”

“So there has been founded a fresh fighting unit called the New Vigilantes of America, in which I have accepted the post of Commander. This is a revival of the militant spirit of our early times. The new Vigilantes challenge the power of the gangsters of New York and throughout the country, and we expect to place hundreds of them, as well as corrupt public and police officials, behind the bars. I am a western man, and my early life along the Mexican border taught boys and frontiersmen. Now we are the direct methods used by cow-out to enlist a quarter million or so of nervous Americans to suppress the blighting curse of lawlessness.”

“I am not at liberty to divulge the immediate plan, but our services have been offered without charge to the Department of Justice at Washington. High Federal and secret service officials there and elsewhere have personally endorsed the scheme and have made suggestions for official co-operation throughout the country. Our collected evidence will thus be available for Federal Judges and United States taken from the control of local politicians, police grafters and ‘tied’ judges.”

The Secret Six
“I have laid our plans before President-elect Roosevelt, and also President Hoover, with whom I served in London as a member of the American War Relief committee in 1914. Their advice and co-operation have been solicited. All state Governors have been invited to act as High Commissioners for their jurisdictions. I am planning an early aeroplane organizing tour covering the country, addressing a number of state legislatures, leading commercial bodies, and so forth. Garrisons of New Vigilantes (who operate on a military basis) will be planted throughout the Union, offered as largely as possible by resourceful ex-service men. The assistance of the American Legion has been sought in selecting this personnel.”

“When at Chicago recently, I had repeated consultations with Colonel Robert Isham Randolph (head of the famous ‘Secret Six’ of the Association of Commerce), and with Federal Judge George E. Q. Johnson, who together sent Al Capone and other racketeers to the penitentiary. I have also taken counsel there and in New York with leading Federal officials and undercover men and women. We are open to work in any part of the country with Chambers of Commerce and other organizations seeking experienced help in clearing up corrupt local conditions. Valued suggestions have been made to me by Judge Samuel Seabury, who conducted the recent Roosevelt investigations into the astounding official rottenness in New York.”

“We are specially after Vigilantes recruits among the splendid young University and College men and women—and in fact anyone who is willing to ‘live dangerously’ by doing detective work and pushing legal prosecutions without pay. We have no salaried officials. Fearless bands of men and women are to act against law-breakers of whatever kind in their own communities, and on the evidence thus secured these, with their corrupt official and police protectors, should receive stiff prison sentences without undue delay. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other young people can oftentimes give valuable clues, through their officers and parents.”

“Anyone having authentic evidence of corruption anywhere is invited to communicate it as the basis of further independent detective work on our part. Such communications are treated in strict confidence, and letters are promptly burned after noting their contents, when so requested. Our secret telegraphic codes will also be changed frequently, to prevent leakage. We wish to enlist several thousand patriotic lawyers willing to conduct Vigilantes court cases and advise legally without charge. The American Bar Association has been asked to assist in this direction.”

The Murderous Mafia in America
“We are enlisting all races and creeds. There are immense reservoirs of untapped patriotism among our great foreign-born populations. I saw this when connected with the New York Mayor’s Committee on National Defense during the late war, when Henry MacDonald (LL.B., Yale), a brilliant young lawyer, directed two thousand of ‘dollar-a-year men’ in operating the draft and the Federal war program generally. One feature of our committee activities was a gigantic demonstration, when more than a hundred thousand organized

Science Stamps Carbonated Beverages As a Real Aid to Vivacity and Pep

Colgate Investigators Reveal Results of Laboratory Tests

CLEVELAND, Ohio—A close parallel between the average American pep and vivacity and the annual consumption of carbonated beverages, was drawn by Dr. Donald A. Laird, Director of the Colgate University Psychological Laboratory in an address before the annual convention of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages Association.

His statements were based on results obtained during six years of experimenting in the Colgate Laboratories to discover the effect of certain foods and beverages on work power and personality.

The data he said, clearly indicates that carbohydrates, especially sugar, are by far the most effective of all foods in offsetting fatigue and relieving muscular tension. They are also valuable, he added, as an aid to digestion because of their stimulating influence on the flow of gastric juices.

Fed Sweetened Drinks

The large amount of sugar used in carbonated beverages, Dr. Laird said, made them a palatable and popular form for “refueling” when the natural energy supply in the body reached a low ebb.

Describing the Colgate tests on which his conclusions were based, Dr. Laird told the Bottlers that groups of “human guinea pigs” selected from the student body were subjected to various forms of fatigue producing exercise.

DR. DONALD A. LAIRD

Some of the groups were given drinks sweetened with ordinary cane sugar while others were given drinks flavored with saccharine. The taste is about the same but the saccharine has no energy or food value.

In every case, the students who had the sugar were able to recover from muscular fatigue much more rapidly than the others. Muscular and mental coordination were also benefited by the sugar sweetened drink.

“Tired workers” Dr. Laird said, “are usually poor and erratic workers. The most efficient stenographer will make mistakes when laboring under muscular strain produced by both mental and muscular fatigue. This condition reaches its peak about 4 P.M., a time of the day when office demands are greatest.”

“If more employers realized this they would be less critical of the girl who slips out to the corner soda fountain for a sparkling beverage because she is doing them a real favor. They might do well to follow her example because a sweetened drink, taken at this time of the day will go a long way toward restoring work power and relieving muscular tension produced by fatigue.”

The increasing amount of carbonated beverages consumed by the American people, Dr. Laird believes, has aided in obtaining for this country the reputation of being a nation of “go-getters.”

“In the case of the United States,” he said, “we may find some parallel between the general hustle activity and pep and the increase in the consumption of carbohydrates such as are palatably supplied by most sparkling beverages.”

Aid to Digestion

Commenting on the value of a sweetened drink, taken about one hour after dinner, Dr. Laird described a series of complicated tests during which the flow of gastric juices was measured at various stages of the meal. It was found, he said, that the flow reached its peak midway through the meal and almost disappeared at its conclusion. Salt, sour, sweet and bitter tastes were tried in an effort to restore the gastric juice flow and of these four, the sweet taste was by far the most effective. “It is therefore fair to conclude,” he said, “that a sweetened drink taken about one hour after dinner, is not only a pleasant aftermath but is helpful in insuring perfect digestion.”

members of foreign-born groups, marched up Fifth avenue on Independence Day, 1918, with imposing floats, cauldrons and other colorful evidences of loyalty to their adopted land. The same spirit prevails today, when the foreign colonies wish to clear out their own unlawful elements. Special attention is being given to this factor in which various of the foreign-born leaders are still advising me. As Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy stamped out Sicilian outlaws, his personal suggestions on now clearing out the murderous Mafia from America have been sought.

“When attached to the American Embassies in Mexico and Germany, I was enabled to specially investigate methods of espionage in those countries, and the same has been done elsewhere. The British Scotland Yard system is undoubtedly the most effective secret service in the world, and some of its quietly efficient English methods are being adapted to the New Vigilantes. I have consulted famous criminologists abroad, including the late Sir Robert Anderson, head of the British criminal investigation department; and recently Sir Henry Fielding Dickens (son of the famous novelist Charles Dickens) of the Old Bailey criminal court in London, with whom I hold advanced views on severe punishment for hardened criminals.

“A national conference is being arranged at Washington, to which will be invited the heads of all great patriotic and service organizations. Those willing to work with the Vigilantes can hereafter use us as a clearing house for the criminal prosecutions which their members might otherwise be unwilling or unable to undertake. A strong national advisory council will be named.

Wiping Out the Jesse James Gang
“The idea underlying the Vigilantes is not a new one. In 1774 the New York State assembly appointed a Vigilantes Committee ‘for freedom of self-government.’ In the 1850’s the Vigilantes of California cleaned up that outlaw-ridden state from its ‘six-notch’ gun-men and other desperadoes. Equally swift action was taken later by the Vigilantes (or similar bodies) in Montana, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, Texas, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and elsewhere. Bancroft, the historian, pronounced the western Vigilantes to be ‘the most perfect and powerful organization hitherto established in any country for the guarding of the public weal.’ The same description should apply to our New Vigilantes.”

“The last big clean-up of earlier days was that of the Jesse James gang of Missouri in 1882. Now we are ready in 1932 for another and greater country-wide purge to stop the creeping moral paralysis and spirit of defeatism which today afflicts America. We are living in the Augustan age of murder. The dreaded Venetian Secret Conclave of the middle ages had nothing on American gangdom today in its inexorable decree of violence and death. We propose promptly offering substantial rewards in future outstanding murder cases.

“A year of real fighting for crime suppression now will accomplish wonders in our American commonwealth. A dozen determined Vigilantes can clean up any community. Battle-minded ministers can lead a flying wedge of their church members very effectively. The rank and file of vigilantes should not carry arms, unless officially authorized to do so on special occasions. Let the enemy do the most of the shooting, and pay the penalty. A few killings of Vigilantes would arouse the Nation and sweep away today’s monstrous outlawry forever.

“Before the end of our proposed ‘Vigilantes Five-Year Plan’ (which includes reconstructive citizenship as well as punitive measures) we should have a nation again to be proud of in every way. In our national life we are not watching a sunset—we are witnessing a dawn!” concluded Captain Gaston.

“Who’s Who in America” indicates that, in recognition of his varied activities, Mr. Gaston (who is a native Illinoisan) has received personal gifts and decorations of honor from the principal rulers of the world. At the outbreak of war in 1914 he was the first neutral volunteer to penetrate

Motorists Get Pay Check From Improved Roads

By E. E. DUFFY

It isn’t all outgo when the motorist plays his license fee and gasoline tax.

Authoritative statements from various state highway departments say that the motorist comes out on the long end of the deal. The building of improved roads, it is shown, reduces car operating costs and from that one point alone the motorist gets back more than he pays out.

The state highway commission of Missouri fathers the statement that the average motorist in that state is saved $30 a year over and above his license fee and gas tax payments. On that basis the roads on the Missouri state system, which includes 3,100 miles of concrete, are returning $22,500,000 a year to the state’s road users. The total saving during the last eleven years, after deducting all tax costs, is held at $100,000,000.

Although California is humorously thought of as a state of somewhat extravagant claims, there is no exaggeration in the state’s announcement that her good highways, up to the middle of 1930, saved $54,000,000 to motorists.

California’s state highway department calculates per mile savings in car operating costs over improved roads on a very conservative basis, and then cut the whole total in two. California has 1,900 miles of concrete. Frank T. Sheets, chief engineer of the Illinois state highway department relates that Illinois’ state highway system, nearly all concrete paved, reduces car operating costs $73,000,000 a year. This is $25,000,000 more than motor car users pay out in taxes.

Such facts as these compose irrefutable evidence that highways are self-supporting, road authorities claim. The large savings due to good roads lift highways out of the class of most government activities in that the individual is directly benefited. There is a growing recognition that the license fee as well as the gasoline tax is not a tax in the ordinary sense, but rather a charge for service. The individual doesn’t pay these charges unless he uses the roads. When he travels the always more or less expensive cost of motor improved travelways made possible by the license fee and the gasoline toll.

Nash Prepares For Early '33 Production

New Material Is Flowing Into Nash Factories Week

Kenosha, Wis. — (Special)—New material sufficient for the first production of new Nash cars is flowing into Nash factories this week, and the big manufacturing organization is preparing for the early production of its 1933 models, it was announced here.

In the past few weeks, officials added, approximately $200,000 worth of new tool equipment has been installed in the Nash plants, preparatory to the speeding up of production schedules for the announcement in January of the company's new 1933 line.

No official statement concerning the new models has been made, but it is indicated that Nash is preparing to introduce a complete new line of cars whose substantial values promise domination of today's thrift market.

Walkathon Dance Comes To An End

Couple Winning $1,000 On Floor More Than 2,933 Hours

tinuing if Clark had been.

The conference had been adjourned from Wednesday. Commissioners had advised veterans to arrive at a definite proposition with the dance promoters so that the board might consider how the veterans would be assured of profit in the affair were permitted to run until New Year's.

Although the veterans presented two plans they believed assured $2,000 by January 1, Waters and Williams cited instances which convinced them the dance "should have been stopped by Clark long ago."

"You have a condition," Williams said, "of youths of our town being solicited by girls from that place, of young girls in with men taking shower baths, of guns being drawn, of social diseases and of racketeering by the veterans on each other—though it may be political poison for me to say it. Our only motive in permitting the thing was to help the veterans."

"They have not helped themselves. I'm willing to do anything else, even recommend putting something, say $1,200 in the budget, to rehabilitate the veterans. The police know conditions at the dance but have not closed it. If nothing is done by next Tuesday I'll ask the recorder to take whatever action rests in his power."

"I'd sooner put $5,000 in the budget for the veterans' building, or I'll buy it," Waters said. "People of the town are sick and disgusted. I think Clark should close the place tonight. He's been on the verge of it before. I can prove stuff about the marathon."

"Well, you can put me on record as against putting the taxpayers' money in the budget," the mayor announced.

Old Buck Passing

"Good," shouted Williams. "You're back at the old buck passing. Why the hell didn't you do your duty as mayor and close that place up? You knew the conditions."

Oh, Oh!

"I've seen nothing going on there that I haven't seen at the average baseball or football game," the mayor replied, asking, "why the hell didn't you close it up if you knew what was going on?"

"I didn't have the facts till tonight," Williams said. "Representative citizens are objecting almost en masse."

Williams also stated that there were saloons in Belleville where women are admitted. "If these aren't closed up," he said, "I'll ask the recorder to take action."

"It's hearsay about immoral conditions," Herbert Scott, commander of the veterans' George A. Younginger Post, declared. "There's a certain man in this town who made a crack and now the thing's happened. The cards are stacked against us. The time's coming when I'll come out in the press. I'll back it with affidavits. Who was to your house between Saturday night and last night?" Scott asked Waters.

"No one but John Morgan (of the veterans' marathon committee)," Waters said. "What are you driving at? If you've got anything on me, put it out. If you're insinuating against me, you're a liar. I'm more respect for myself than to dicker on anything like this."

Who Brought It Up

"Who brought this idea of a marathon up?" Scott and other veterans asked Waters.

"It was one of your great friends, who double-crossed us," Scott asserted.

Christmas Seal Campaign Opens

Edward F. Volkman, a young Weehawken artist, painted a picture more than a year ago, showing his children Crol, 7, and George, 3, singing at the top of their lungs from a huge book held between them.

By next week that picture will be familiar to every resident of Belleville and Nutley—in fact almost every resident of the United States. Many residents of Belleville and Nutley will receive copies of the picture in Friday morning's mail because 1,667,675,000 will be delivered throughout the nation that morning.

In addition the picture will appear on billboards, posters, car cards and letterheads because it is the design

"No more my friend than you are," Waters snapped back. "Fitzsimmons (George A. Fitzsimmons, former town recorder and commander of the Younginger post), you mean. You went and built your building before the marathon came up. Someone was looking for the marathon before you were. We gave it to the vets."

Clark Spotter By Colleagues
"This marathon," said Clark, "has been run as clean as any marathon ever was, under police and health supervision. You'll find lewd runners in every gathering. I've been loaded with criticism. I voted against a marathon at the outset, but co-operated against my better judgment for the veterans. The thing has reached a point now where I won't go along any longer unless the whole board would. The board won't, so I'm through."

Clark modified his decision to instruct Police Chief Flynn to stop the dance Saturday night when Morgan explained that the final elimination grind for two remaining couples would start Friday, and it was expected the end would not be beyond Sunday. Clark agreed to permit the completion of the contest on that understanding.

The veterans met Friday to consider turning their post headquarters' property, previously used as a firehouse and held now by the town on tax title liens, back to the town. The veterans' addition carries encumbrances of $4,500, with more bills coming in and judgments being sought for the building material purchased by Fitzsimmons when he was commander.

"The police have been charged both by Commissioner Clark and myself to guard against immoral conditions," said Police Chief Flynn. "Performances have been stopped twice when they appeared to be going too far. A strict watch has been kept both inside and outside of the dance hall. I don't approve of marathons but this one has been run the cleanest of any in the country. Commissioner Williams has been misinformed, without taking the trouble to find out the truth."

of the 1932 tuberculosis Christmas seal, sold for the support of public health organizations.
In the picture above, Mr. Volkman (at left) is showing his original Christmas seal poster to Ernest D. Easton of Maplewood, executive secretary of the New Jersey Tuberculosis League, and to Miss Adelaide Henderson of East Orange, office secretary of the Essex County Tuberculosis League, which is distributing seals to 5,500 residents of these towns with Health Officer Eugene Berry of Belleville and Mayor Walter F. Reinheimer of Nutley as Christmas seal chairman. Inset shows the 1932 Christmas seal.

Denison—Wadsworth
Palms and chrysanthemums decorated the altar of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, Friday night for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Margaret Wadsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wadsworth of 14 Bell street, and Sylvester P. Denison, son of Mrs. Maude Denison of 291 Union avenue. The ceremony, at 8 o'clock, was performed by Rev. Edgar M. Compton, pastor of the church, and Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach of Christ Episcopal Church. Henry A. Cox, organist of Grace Episcopal Church, Nutley, played and Mrs. Edgar M. Compton sang.
Miss Wadsworth, who was given in marriage by her father, had as matron and maid of honor, Mrs. Frederick Schofield of Belleville, a sister, and Miss Miriam J. Brauer of Hackensack. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lester Messeroll of Bloomfield, and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Harold E. Crane of Belleville. Philip U. Denison of Hamden, Conn., twin brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Henry L. and Charles F. Denison, also brothers of the bridegroom, Frederick Schofield and Harold E. Crane ushered.
The bride wore a gown of pastel pink bridal satin made princess style with court train, over which fell a long tulle veil showered with orange blossoms. She carried chrysanthemums. The attendants were attired in pastel shades of hammered satin and carried chrysanthemums.
The bride's mother wore black chiffon and lace with a corsage of tea roses and the bridegroom's mother wore a black chiffon velvet dress trimmed with Spanish lace, with corsage of gardenias.
After a week's automobile trip the couple will reside at 325 Union avenue. Both are graduates of Belleville High School. The bride also is a graduate of Newark State Normal School. She is active in the Wm. C. Dramatic Club of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church. The bridegroom is a son of the late Lyman Denison, a former mayor.

Trabucchi—Gardi
Anthony Trabucchi, Jr., and Miss Frances Gardi were married in St. Peter's Church Sunday afternoon at 4:30. About 200 guests were present at the wedding. The ceremony was performed by Father Nelligan.
Mr. Trabucchi is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Trabucchi of Belleville and Miss Gardi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gardi of 61 Little street. The bride was dressed entirely in white and wore a gown of eggshell silk. She carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley.
Miss Margaret Bufalo of North Arlington was the maid of honor. She wore a pink gown and carried pink roses. Michael Maglio of Belleville was the best man.
On their return from a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Trabucchi will be at home at 42 Gerardi street.

Boy Scout News
On Tuesday evening Troop 88, Boy Scouts, was re-organized, under Scoutmaster H. F. Brumbach of 100 Little street and Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Raymond H. Patrick of 26 Tappan avenue, who is to be advanced to the position of Assistant Scoutmaster. The re-organization took place at Christ Church parish house, and weekly meetings will be held there on Tuesday evenings. The boys are full of enthusiasm, and are looking forward to a busy season of varied activities and progress in scouting and scout craft. Old and new members are urged to join and build up Troop 88!

Wake Up Your Liver Bile
—Without Calomel
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
It takes the good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, acting when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Recent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931, C. M. Co.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

Mississippi, "Father of Waters," Is Locale of Musical Romance

THE old Mississippi, venerable "Father of Waters," has its bright place in the story of the romance and glamour of American life. Its towns, its river folk, and its picturesque rural customs have long captivated authors, playwrights, and song writers.
Now its elusive charm has been brought to the radio. This time a venerable old show boat, one of the oldest forms of entertainment and popularized by Charles Winninger, Broadway comedian who once worked on Captain Adams' original "Cotton Blossom" show boat, is sailing over the nation's air waves in a nation-wide NBC hook-up every Thursday night. It stops at 52 of the country's principal ports of call in one evening, and, once landed, to the nation's receiving sets, presents a full hour of music and song, interspersed with good comedy relief.
The sentimental journey, known as "Captain Henry's Show Boat," takes millions of listeners, revolve around a love affair between Lanny Ross, handsome tenor, and Audrey Marsh, a pretty blonde soprano of 21 summers who sings sweetly as Mary Lou, his sweetheart. Lanny is forever torn between his ambition for fame on Broadway and his love for his sweetheart of the river.
"Captain Henry's Show Boat" presents, in the words of its white-haired skipper, "the finest show ever sent down the river." When Lanny and Mary Lou are not pleading their love in tender ballads, there is the Hall Johnson chorus of twenty voices chanting the spirituals and work songs of their people, and Jules Bledsoe, baritone, to entertain the show boat audience. They are well assisted by little Annette Hanshaw, blues singer, and Molasses, 'n' January, employed by Captain Henry, to amuse the guests.

Citizens' Relief Committee To Cooperate With The State Relief Commission

Mrs. Charles Smith, Chairman Of The Volunteer Workers' Committee, Reports Willingness Of Many From Woman's Club To Help.

The Citizens Relief Committee at its regular meeting Thursday in the administration relief office proceeded to move forward in actively carrying out the objectives outlined to assist and cooperate with the State Relief Administration of the Town. . . .
The favorable attitude of the voters Election Day toward the referendum assured the relief administration of sufficient funds to carry on the work of sustaining the many destitute and unemployed members of the community.

Mrs. Charles Smith, chairman of the Volunteer Workers' Committee, reported the willingness of the following members of the Woman's Club to serve in relief work: Mrs. William B. Adams, Mrs. Charles Kelley, Mrs. William V. Irvine, Mrs. W. D. Cornish, Mrs. William Engleman, Mrs. George Fralley, Mrs. E. J. Mutch and Mrs. Harvey Mumford.

Andrew Boylan, of the Red Cross, reported that 12,000 yards of cloth were being made ready for distribution among volunteer members of the various organizations of the town for final sewing and finishing, thus providing a supply of clothing for the needy.

The report of the Manufacturers' Association through Mr. Portenstine showed the great effort which is being put forth to complete the necessary work on the rehabilitation center prior to its opening which will go into operation in a short space of time. Gerald Mairan reported success in obtaining a center for distribution of clothing, furniture and so forth, in the Silver Lake section. The committee unanimously endorsed the system in caring for the relief cases of the town, by the relief administration for Belleville.

Home And School Meeting

The Home and School Association of School No. One will hold its regular meeting in the school auditorium Wednesday evening. The speaker will be Frank J. Raymond, who is sent by the Kresge Department Store. Mr. Raymond will speak on "The Spirit of 1933." A Thanksgiving play will be presented by the children of the sixth grade, under the direction of Miss Isabel Abbot. Mrs. Ernest Brown will be in charge of refreshments.

and regular reports to the proper authorities were made. I found further that Smith was absolutely fearless and honest in his conduct of the court; he did not deny any constitutional right to defendants appearing before him; he listened patiently to their stories and judged them fairly; they were treated like human beings rather than like so many cattle; and most important of all, there was no fixing of cases by petty politicians. "The evidence upon which you based your removal of Fitzsimmons must have demonstrated to you the importance of having a proper man exercise the duties of recorder. I do not doubt for a moment the ability of Mr. Abromson, or any of the other candidates for recorder, to properly and honestly perform the duties required in that office, but I do feel that, Mr. Smith having demonstrated his ability, it would be for the best interest of the town to allow him to further carry into effect the reforms which he has initiated.

"Mr. Smith means nothing to me personally, and as a matter of fact there are other candidates for the office who are closer friends of mine than he is, but I feel it is my duty to lay before you the reasons why I believe Mr. Smith should be retained, just as it was my duty to lay before you the reasons why I thought Fitzsimmons should be removed.

"Mr. Smith is a young man born and raised in Belleville and educated in its public schools. He is an attorney at law and bears a high reputation for honesty and integrity. He is the son of one Brandt Smith who, as you know, has faithfully served the town of Belleville for a great number of years, and whose name in Belleville stands for fair and honest dealing.

"Under the law, the power to make this appointment rests solely in you as head of the Department of Public Safety. I feel that you will welcome a letter from me, or from any other citizen of the town, in reference to this or any other appointment. I realize that the responsibility of this appointment is yours and that you must be guided by your own judgment and conscience, and I write this letter not in the spirit of telling you what you should do, but rather in the spirit of helpfulness so that you may have all the facts before you in selecting a man for full term.

"You had the courage to remove one man from the office of recorder because you believed that he was not properly carrying out his duties, and I believe that you are big enough to have an open mind in this matter and to appoint Mr. Smith for a full term if you feel that he is entitled to that appointment.

"I think it would be in keeping with the best American traditions if the stamp 'Well done my good and faithful servant' be placed upon Mr. Smith.

Edward J. Abromson was appointed by four of the five town commissioners last week to fill the unexpired term of George A. Fitzsimmons, who was dismissed by Clark last month on misconduct charges preferred by Joseph Carragher. Commissioner Carragher refused to vote, claiming the appointment was the result of a political deal.

These facts and figures have been secured and compiled by Town Clerk John J. Daly, under the supervision of the Board of Commissioners of Belleville, with the idea of informing the citizens of Belleville as to the official family of the Town Government and some of the past history of the Town.

To those outside of Belleville whom this may reach, Belleville is located outside of Newark, New Jersey, and is surrounded by other beautiful towns such as Rossmore, Greystock, and is bounded on its eastern side by the Passaic River. It is partly industrial and residential, being fortunate in having many sites still open for desirable industry to locate. The residential sections are of high type and are protected by a zone ordinance.

These men have served Belleville as Mayors since that office was instituted, as follows:
C. LYMAN DENISON, 1912-1914.
JOHN C. L. FUCHSBERG, January, 1914 to November, 1914.
JOHN H. WATERS, November, 1914, to January, 1925 (Died in office).
JOHN DE GRAW, January 1925, to May, 1926.
SAMUEL S. KENWORTHY, 1926-1930; 1930 to present.
