J. J. Turner Named To Board Of Education Veteran District Clerk Be- comes Trustee Of School System

James J. Turner, who perhaps knows the workings of the Belleville school system better than any man in town after his thirty years association with local school affairs, has been appointed to the board of education by Mayor Kenworthy. He will replace James L. DeRosset February 1. DeRosset has been president of the board the past four years. Turner resigned from his post as district clerk and business manager of the board last year, although he was urged to remain by board members and civic organizations. He stated that was in need of a rest from his arduous duties and perhaps might take a trip abroad. His post was filled by Ruel E. Daniels, board member. Turner was elected a member of the board of education in 1903 and re-elected twice. After that he became district clerk and the title of business manager was given him in 1921. Turner will officially become a board member February 1, but attended the closed meeting of the board on the budget for 1934-35 Wednesday night.

The speaker took each institution as a separate unit and gave a very intimate view of prevailing conditions not only from his standpoint, but from a humanitarian one. Tax Relief Seen In Renewal Of Bonds $120,000 Issue Extended At Interest Rate Of 4 1/2 Per Cent

$120,000 in 4 1/2 per cent general improvement bonds of the town held by the State Sinking Fund Commission were renewed by the board of commissioners at a special meeting called by Finance Director Williams last week. Renewal of the bonds at the low interest rate will afford tax relief, Williams stated. The board authorized the renewal of a $40,000 bond due in 1933, and two other bonds of like amount maturing in 1934 and 1935 respectively, all for three years. Funds to pay off the first bond were appropriated in last year's budget, and the money may not be used to pay other debts. The bonds renewed are part of a $1,998,000 issue sold the Sinking Fund Commission in 1931. The commission also agreed to purchase $10,000 1933 tax revenue bonds. $105,000 in 1932 tax revenue bonds held by the First National Bank at 6 per cent, which were due December 28, 1933, have been renewed for six months, the director stated.

Dog Breaks Up Home; Divorce Is Granted Husband Charges His Wife Left Him When He Com- plained About Poodle

Charging that his wife left him when he complained about the antics of her pet poodle, William V. McClelland of 99 Joralemon street was awarded a divorce on the grounds of desertion by Advisory Master Francis Child last week. McClelland told the court that his wife, Mrs. Elma McClelland, now of 118 Laurel avenue, Irvington, brought the dog home without his consent. He said the dog annoyed him because it was not housebroken. The last straw, according to McClelland, was when his wife took the dog to bed and he awoke to find it around his neck. The Belleville man, represented by Homer D. Smith, asserted that he became "fed up" with the puppy after three days, and told his wife to get rid of it, whereupon she took the dog under one arm and her personal belongings under the other and went to her mother's home. There was no serious difficulty about the "pooch," Mrs. McClelland, represented by William M. Untermyer, stated. She said that she went to her mother's home to have her baby, and McClelland refused to make a home for her after that. Advisory Master Child granted a divorce to the local man, but awarded the custody of the child to Mrs. McClelland, allowing her $9 a week for support of the baby boy.

Police Chief Asks Additional Officers Reports Stolen Property Worth $30,000 Recov- ered In 1933

Police Chief Michael J. Flynn, in a list of recommendations included in his annual report for 1933, read at the meeting of the town commission Tuesday night, asked for three additional patrolmen, two plainclothesmen, a new police car and $300 for expenses for men on special details. The chief explained that in view of the increasing population of Belleville more men are necessary to police it, and since present members of the department were absent from duty 635 days during the past year because of illness, the other officers are overworked. Plainclothesmen are necessary for special investigations in which secrecy is needed, the chief added. According to Flynn, a new car is needed to replace one destroyed in a recent accident, and he recommended one of medium price that would be fitted to stand hard usage. The department made 986 arrests during 1933, the report stated. Of fifty-eight persons reported missing in Belleville last year, all but two were returned to their homes. Stolen property valued at nearly $30,000 was recovered by Belleville police last year. This includes fifty-eight automobiles worth $27,690; a motorcycle, $150; fourteen bicycles, $206; and other stolen goods, $1,836.33. 1,668 homeless men were given a night's lodging during 1933.

Parmer Asks Citizens To Attend Meeting On Survey Report Frank J. Pickell, Member Of School Commission, Will Speak

Editor Belleville News: Governor A. Harry Moore appointed October 25, 1932, a commission on school finance, consisting of laymen and educators, to co-operate in making a survey of New Jersey's educational system. That commission has made its report. It will be of the greatest interest to the citizens and taxpayers of Belleville to know just how this report proposes to reduce local property taxes, which now bear practically the entire burden of the support of schools, and, at the same time, not impair the proper functioning of the schools. At a mass meeting to be held in the high school auditorium Thursday, January 18, at 8 P. M., the citizens of Belleville will have an opportunity to hear this subject discussed fully by a member of the survey commission, Frank J. Pickell. Mr. Pickell is superintendent of the schools of Montclair, and was appointed by Governor Moore to the commission. He is completely familiar with the entire report and will stand ready to answer any questions that may arise concerning it. This meeting is held in co-operation with the Governor's wishes expressed in the press December 13 as follows: "I hope that within the next few weeks every schoolhouse in the State will be lighted for at least one evening for a meeting of citizens to consider this important report." The meeting will substitute for the regular high school Parent-Teacher Association meeting and will be in charge of James M. Lynch, president of that association. Please remember the date, Thursday, January 18. Wayne R. Parmer, Superintendent of Schools

Pickell Will Discuss School Survey Here Montclair Man Was Named Last Year To Study Educational Systems

In accord with the request of Governor Moore for state-wide discussion of the report of the School Survey Commission, the date for the January meeting of the Belleville High School Parent-Teacher Association has been changed from Tuesday, January 16, to Thursday, January 18, when Frank G. Pickell, superintendent of schools in Montclair, will be present to discuss the report of the commission. Mr. Pickell, who is president of the New Jersey Teachers' Association, was one of those appointed last year by the Governor to make a complete study of the educational system of the state. The results of the study, said to be one of the most exhaustive educational surveys ever made, deal with both the professional and financial problems of education, and make important recommendations for the improvement of public schools. Mr. Pickell served actively in the work of the commission and will lead the discussion with a complete analysis of the report. The meeting, which will be opened at 8 o'clock by President James Lynch, is open to the general public. Mr. Pickell will be introduced by Wayne R. Parmer, superintendent of schools in Belleville.

Commission Decides To Continue Salary Cuts of Employees Contract For CWA Materials Awarded Belleville Company

All salary cuts of town employees were continued until further action of the board by a resolution of the board of commissioners at its meeting Tuesday night. Since the cuts were only in effect until December 31, this action was necessary to continue them until the adoption of a budget for 1934. A contract for metal pipe for CWA storm sewer in the northwest section of the town was awarded the Jannarone Contracting Company of Belleville which bid $7,945.35. Issuance of $10,000 in temporary improvement bonds to pay this was authorized. The renewal of $170,000 in 1934 tax revenue bonds and $454,790 temporary improvement bonds, authorized by resolution. The board decided to hold a special meeting to consider the 1934 budget January 20. Finance Director William H. Williams announced that would have all data and comparative figures prepared by that time. Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan announced that Essex County would apply for a writ of mandamus to compel the payment of over county taxes in Trenton Tuesday. The county obtains the writ, the town will be compelled to pay all available cash to the county treasurer.

Liquor Licenses Denied At Commission Meeting

Two applicants were refused licenses for the sale of alcoholic beverages for consumption on the premises at the meeting of the town commission Tuesday night.

Michael Egidio asked permission to establish a tavern at 53 Belmont avenue, but, according to Commissioner William D. Clark, Police Chief Michael J. Flynn was opposed to the granting of a license because of the character of businesses conducted in the building in the past. Commissioner Patrick A. Waters said that the past reputation of the building should not prevent a man from starting a new business there, but the board voted to deny the permit.

The board also denied a license to the Cohen of Bloomfield, who sought to open an establishment at 98 Washington avenue, on the grounds that Cohen only wanted the permit for his sister-in-law, Edith Shapiro, whose application was previously refused because she has not lived five years in the State. The commissioners also felt that there are already enough saloons in that section of town.

A resolution was passed clarifying the temporary licenses, which expire January 31, and making them conform to the State regulations. While the permits were only issued for two months, six months fee had to be paid. Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan announced that he would confer with Beverage Commissioner D. Frederick Burnett on the form of advertising for permanent licenses.

Deposits Insured By Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation At Peoples' Open

By NATHAN H. BERGER,
President, Peoples National Bank

One of the important provisions of the National Banking Act of 1933, which is popularly known as the Glass-Steagall Banking Bill, creates the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation whose function it is to insure the deposits of all banks, which are entitled to the benefits of such insurance. The corporation is managed by the Comptroller of Currency, and two other directors appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. It is mandatory that not more than two members of the board should be of the same political party.

The United States Government made available to the Secretary of the Treasury $150,000,000, with which to pay for capital stock of this corporation, in addition to the stock required to be subscribed for by the Federal Reserve Banks.

The first requisite for a bank to become entitled to the benefits of this insurance, is membership in the Federal Reserve system. Provision has been made, however, for non-member banks, so that they might, by eventually becoming members of the Federal Reserve System, obtain the benefits of the insurance of bank deposits.

Effective on and after July 1, 1934, unless the President should by proclamation, fix an earlier date, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation will insure deposits of all member banks to the extent of the following percentages of the net amount due to depositor, namely:

100 per cent of such net amount not exceeding $10,000; seventy-five per cent of the amount by which such net amount exceeds $10,000, but does not exceed $50,000; fifty per cent of the amount, if any, by which the net amount exceeds $50,000.

In other words, if a depositor has to his credit with a member bank, a deposit of $10,000 his deposit will, after that date be insured in full. If his deposit is $14,000, he will be paid the first $10,000 in full, and seventy-five per cent of the remaining $4,000, or a total of $13,000. If the depositor's account should be $60,000 he would be paid the first $10,000 in full, seventy-five per cent of the next $40,000 or $30,000, and fifty per cent of the next $10,000 or $5,000, so that the total deposit of $60,000 will be insured to the extent of $45,000.

In determining these percentages, there will be added together all amounts belonging to such depositor, regardless of whether or not the deposits stand in his name or in the names of others, for his benefit. This means that a depositor will not be able to create several deposits, by the use of other names than his own, in order to increase the percentage of insurance coverage.

The method of procedure will be for the Federal Reserve Insurance Corporation to organize a new national bank to assume the insured deposit liabilities of any bank that might find itself in difficulties, and by making available to the new bank an amount equal to the insured deposit liabilities of the closed bank, thereby making the funds on deposit available to the depositors of the closed institution without any delay in liquidating assets of the closed institution. Such new bank will be in a position to function immediately, accepting deposits and otherwise performing banking functions.

The corporation will annually make a report of its operations to Congress.

Between January 1 and June 30 the deposit liability to each depositor does not exceed $2,500.

Bangert Re-elected Head Of Craftsman's Club

Frank Bangert Jr. was re-elected president of the Belleville Craftsman's Club at its annual election at the Masonic Temple last Wednesday evening. Other officers re-elected are Elmer Reise, vice president; Alfred Page, financial secretary; and Thomas Hosking, treasurer.

The speaker was County Supervisor Ernest A. Reed, past grand master of the State of New Jersey, who discussed the activities of the Order of DeMolay. Mr. Reed answered the questions of the club members.

Scott D. Coombs, president of the National League of Masons, spoke on the "Penny Fund," league work, the coming convention in Atlantic City and the interclub degree work.

Willis Davis, chairman of the charity committee, reported on the 1933 work of that group. Ray Haythorne, Edward Pratt, George Shaw and Ralph Schauman reported on the work of the entertainment committee.

The refreshments committee, composed of Robert Kidney, Christopher Petersen, Harry Burnett, Ernest Anderson and Robert Gentile, arranged a beestack supper for the meeting. The supper was prepared by "Bernie," Elks' chef.

When I related this to Jim Hoyt he roared so appreciatively that the managing editor came to inquire if anything were wrong. "No, only this man got to Mayor Fittler, something no Times' man has ever before done since we got sour on the Mayor. Heisley found him eating a peach in February."

"Oh, that's easy to understand," said the managing editor, "Heisley is the man whom the Mayor mistake-ly identified as Doctor Tanner—the man who fasted forty days to get up an appetite to eat a peach with!" Well I never covered the Cuban war, nor wrote a book equal to any of those of Richard Harding Davis. Good night!

Roy M. Jacobus Ousted As Boy Scout Leader

Donald Moyer, new chief scout executive of Robert Treat Council, Boy Scouts of America, which has jurisdiction over scouting in Newark, Belleville and Nutley, notified Roy M. Jacobus of Bloomfield, assistant executive, Saturday, that his services were no longer required. It is understood that Moyer plans a shake-up of the entire council.

Moyer has refused to state whether or not he will retain Harvey W. Maden, the other assistant scout executive. It is reported that thirty members of the Pathfinders of the Golden Trail, scouting fraternity, threaten to drop their memberships in the council if Maden is discharged.

Curtis R. Burnett, president of the council, received a petition asking the retention of Maden from members of the fraternity.

At A Bargain Counter

I was standing at a bargain counter in a department store, contemplating the purchase of a handbag, when another bargain hunter edged her way close to me.

"Wonderful bags, aren't they?" she asked.

"I agreed that they were. The bag you've got there is nice," she continued. "Is it for yourself?"

"Yes," I replied. "It seems to me as if it's the prettiest bag on the counter."

She looked at it with critical eyes and picked up another bag for comparison.

"Here's a nice one. I think this has a finer lining than the one you've got in your hand, don't you think?"

And look, it has an extra pocket!"

So it had, but I still thought the bag I held was prettier.

"They have some lovely pocket-books at the other counter," said the woman. And they're only a dollar more than these. I think they're genuine leather too. It pays to buy good stuff, that's what I always say."

"It does, if one can afford it," I replied.

"Well, it pays in the end," she explained. "Buy a good bag and it wears good. Buy a cheap one and the first thing you know you've got to replace it in a month or so. And anyway, I think there's nothing so shabby looking as a cheap bag! It sort of cheapens one's whole ensemble—if you know what I mean."

"I guess you're right about that," I said, "but —"

"Sure I'm right! Buying cheap stuff is like being a penny wise and a pound foolish."

Gingerly I dropped the bag on the counter and began to walk away. I started for the other department, determined to buy a good bag. The woman was right. For an extra dollar I could purchase something that would wear better and last longer. Something more serviceable, something—

Suddenly I heard a scuffle. I turned. There...there was my advisor, and two other women, fighting over the "cheap" bag I had discarded.

First of all do not bathe that new puppy no matter how dirty he is. White dogs can be cleaned with powdered chalk. For other dogs Fuller's earth is a valuable cleaner. Fuller's earth can be rubbed into the coat of the animal and then brushed out, removing odors and dust as well.

Make sure your puppy is started on the proper diet. In order to make sure that he is healthy and may get the proper start in life, take him immediately to a competent veterinarian for examination. Have an analysis made of the stool to determine if there are any worms present and have the puppy treated according to the findings. At the same time have the proper diet prescribed for the puppy depending upon the age and breed. Inoculation for the prevention of distemper is highly advisable because it protects in high degree against the most and fatal of dog diseases—distemper.

Do not take your puppy outside or let him be exposed in any way to chills or draughts. You can provide comfortable sleeping quarters for your pet by providing him with a high box or basket lined with any soft, warm material.

Housebreaking in the winter is more difficult than in the summer and should be commenced immediately on the arrival of the puppy to its new home. Keep the puppy away from the Persian rugs until he is trained to use papers. Spread plenty of papers on the floor near his box so he doesn't have to walk too far. After each feeding place the pup on a paper and he will soon learn to go there by himself. If he misbehaves scold him and place him back on the paper. In this way the little animal will quickly correct his mistakes.

Do not let young children maul the puppy too much. Teach the child to treat him gently and to understand the puppy's frailty. If a child is trained to treat a dog properly it brings out his finer traits and makes him more understanding and considerate of people as well.

Be careful that your puppy does not come in contact with other dogs no matter how healthy they look, and avoid handling other dogs yourself as dog diseases can be carried in this way.

Minerals Needed

See to it that the puppy is supplied in some way with minerals that are so essential in the development of the dog and which are more necessary in the winter due to the lack of sunshine and outdoor activity. Minerals can be obtained combined with yeast in powdered form. This also aids the animal's digestion and makes him more hardy. Be sure to include this in your puppy's diet.

If there are any question you would like to ask about the care or treatment of your dog I'll be glad to answer them. Send your letter with a self addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Belleville News.

YOUR PET and ITS CARE

In the last few days many homes have been brightened by Christmas pets and a host of delicate puppies have found themselves in the care of inexperienced and often over-zealous dog lovers. I'm sure that those of you who have not had previous experience with dogs would appreciate a few hints that may save expensive treatments and prevent the loss of pets to which one becomes so quickly and closely attached. To lose a puppy creates a feeling of disappointment and hopelessness for ever raising a pet of any kind.

Had Forgotten George Gore s He Came To Bat For Last Time

Who Recently Died, Was Star Of Yesterday, Who Was First Diamond

Go last May rymple, Fred Flint, Larry Corcoran. The little town of Abby boy who was one of the "seventies". The game him George he was ac- greatest play-

Baseball addicts generation of di- started one September when morning papers tem that George holdout and bat- the National passed away at in Utica, N. Y., ore, the young The oldtimers formation.

In 1878 while playing with New Bedford in the old New England League, he attracted the attention of the Chicago. Near the close of the season he was sold to that outfit. A. G. Spaulding of the Chicago team came East to sign Gore to a contract. The meeting of Gore and Spaulding was a memorable one.

They met each other at a junction railroad station near New Bedford. "How much do you want?" Spaulding asked briskly.

"$25,000 a year," was Gore's start- ling reply. A. G. looked at him in amazement. "Why," he demanded, "are you crazy? Our best stars hardly get that. I'll give you $1,200."

"No," and it was an emphatic "no." Spaulding whistled. Here was a problem he'd never tackled before; and a problem which in later years was to be the bane of all managers and club owners.

Spaulding resumed his angling. "I'll give you $1,500. Come, take that offer. I must catch this train back to Boston."

Gore was obdurate. He refused it flat. Spaulding became furious. "I'll give you $1,500 or nothing," was his final say as the train pulled in. Again Gore refused. Spaulding hopped aboard, storming and fretting. Once in the car and seated at the window he calmed down. As the train started away he yelled at Gore.

"Better think it over. I'll see you in a month."

The train carried the Chicago official away and left on the station platform baseball's first holdout. A month later the pair met again. "I'll take it," said Gore, and in so doing baseball's first holdout came to terms. He joined the Chicago team the following spring and from then on until he was traded to the Giants in 1887 he was one of the idols on the Windy City team. At New York he was a popular favorite too. Fans felt sad when he was forced to give up baseball in '92 because his legs were failing him.

Up until a few weeks before his death Gore was hale and hearty, apparently in fine health. He told the writer a few months ago that he hadn't seen a sick day in seventy-five years. In fact he was actively employed as a night watchman in a nearby factory until a year ago when he retired.

Gore attributed his fine health and his marvellous physique to his ability to keep in shape at all times. He ate three hearty meals a day and his main diversion was a game of pin- nole. He had direct control of his faculties to the day he died. Old age finally overtook him. Gore was a wonderful man. People nowadays don't appreciate him. Upright, in- dustrious and good natured, he pos- sessed that genial and winsome traits which enabled him to make friends wherever he went.

Fame is fleeting, so they say. I saw George Gore last winter huddled in a heavy coat walking slowly down the avenue to his Myrtle avenue home. Nobody, save I, recognized him. In fact few of the neighbors knew him or of his exploits.

And as I saw him saunter into the house I thought of a period thirty- five or forty years from now. Would Babe Ruth, if he were living, be a "forgotten man" in the world of sport like Gore and so many others who survived their halcyon days many, many years ago? I wouldn't ven- ture to say. But remember this. Fame is ephemeral in any sport and fans are fickle.

EAT HEARTILY BUT WISELY, IS DIET ADVICE OF MAX BAER

Heavyweight Contender Finds Canned Pineapple Aid in Keeping Fit.

Max Baer, conqueror of Max Schmeling and challenger of Primo Carnera, does not intend to let himself become an easy mark for the giant Italian. He is taking regular exercise, getting plenty of sleep and watching his diet. "Primo thinks I'll play around in the movies until I get too soft for him," says the Livermore Larruper. However, he let it be known this week that he does not intend to be caught napping.

"Diet is unquestionably the most important consideration I have in the matter of keeping fit," said Max. The brawny Baer, who has recently won new acclaim as a screen actor and radio performer, is a heavy but careful eater.

"Some of my advisers have attempted to persuade me to eat much less than I do," he said, "but I know how much food I need to keep on my toes physically and prefer to control the quality rather than the quantity. Of course, a less active person must be careful not to overeat."

"I eat lots of meat, vegetables and green salads, but watch my desserts carefully. I favor either custards or fruit for dessert, particularly canned pineapple, which combines many diet essentials. I guess I have pineapple almost daily, either as a salad or dessert. These scientific fellows have started recommending this fruit strongly only recently, but it's been a favorite in training camps for many years."

ATHLETICALLY SPEAKING

By PAT McELIGOT

Coach George J. Stanford's Nutley High School basketball team is suffering from some extreme hard luck this season. So far the Maroon court prancers have played three games, all of which they dropped by close margins. The alumni beat the varsity by two points, then Millburn came along to trounce the Nutley boys in a close game, while Caldwell was the third team to chalk up a narrow margin victory.

Better luck should be in store for the Maroon team when it faces Woodbridge tomorrow night. No doubt Stanford will have his charges primed for the important battle with a team now coached by Frank Kirkleski, the Nutley mentor's former star pupil. Woodbridge is said to have a fairly fast array of court talent but I believe Nutley is due.

There have been many brother acts in New Jersey sports history but I doubt if any of them rival the records of the Sentner clan of Nutley and the Barabas boys of Jersey City. Both families boast of five brother athletes all of whom have carved their names in imperishable letters in the athletic annals of their respective institutions.

The five Sentner boys are Ted, Bob, Jim, Bill and Frank. The Barabas are Steve, Johnnie, Charley, Al and Tony. The Jersey City brothers first came into prominence a little over a decade ago when Steve and John formed a brother battery for Dickinson High School's baseball team. John pitched and Steve received his slants. The pair was largely responsible for many noted triumphs, including a few no hit games for Steve.

Along about that time Ted and Bob Sentner started their careers at Nutley. Ted played three sports and Bob, one. Ted was a halfback on the Nutley Wonder Eleven of 1922 and captained the football and baseball teams in his senior year. Jim and Pint came along some three years later to play all three sports as did Charley Barabas who took up where Steve and John left off at Dickinson.

Al was the next brother to win fame at Dickinson where he played three sports equally well. It was Al who was Columbia's Rose Bowl hero a few weeks ago. The Jersey City boy scored the winning touchdown. He was given a rousing reception by the home folks a few days ago.

Then along came Tony, the fifth Barabas, and Frank, the fifth Sentner boy. Both played three sports in high school. Tony is still at Dickinson but cannot play because of ineligibility. Frankie is finishing his career at Nutley. He is due to graduate in January. There's a sixth Sentner brother, George, who's in the grades now but he'll be heard from soon. Watch out for him.

No finer exhibition of remarkable play under fire and extremely handi- capped was ever given in these parts than the performance turned in by Warren Knight, Nutley's aggressive and courageous forward, during the Nutley-Caldwell court tussle Monday afternoon. Few know the inside story of it.

Knight's right knee was injured during the football season. He took an awful beating against Central when he backed up Nutley's tottering forward wall like a Trojan. Seldom have I seen such a display of courage. Barely weighing 130 pounds, Knight fearlessly howled over such heavy- weight 200 pound stalwarts as Mazzie, Gellas, Jackson, and Englert of the Central team.

Knight played the entire game, save one minute. Fans in the stands marvelled as the little fellow waited for the giant Gellas or Mazzie to break through the line so he could topple them. He played an entire season in that game and if he hadn't played again he more than earned his letter in that tussle.

Knight injured his knee and as all athletes will tell you a bad knee is their real bane. Knight played more football and, of course, his knee got no better. When basketball season rolled around he was one of the first to report. His knee immediately gave him trouble.

Against Millburn Coach Stanford withdrew him before the close of the first half. On Monday, with his injured leg firmly bandaged up, Knight limped out on the floor to play one of the most sterling games of his entire career. He pranced around, almost entirely forgetful of his hurt, and his individual play almost brought about a Maroon triumph. But he was a hero in defeat.

Coach Stanford Gets Teams Under Way

Chief Back In 1930 Put Real Spirit In Nutley

Players

(Editor's Note—This is the second of a series of articles dealing with Coach George Stanford's fifteen years at Nutley. The third, dealing with the 1921-22 year, will be published next week.)

By PAT McELIGOT

When Coach George J. Stanford issued the first call for varsity football candidates in September, 1920, there was a more enthusiastic gathering of recruits to report for incipient workouts. Why? Because Coach Stanford had instilled a spirit in the group which was to carry through for fifteen years.

Phil Redmond was again the foremost of the candidates. So great was Redmond that Frank Kirkleski was still in the background. When the season started, Coach Stanford's backfield included Redmond, Kirkleski, Bill Buckley and Webb Curtis.

On the line were the famous Reade brothers, Ken and Dick, Jack Speary, Ernie Ellison, Ray DeVrie, George Chatfield, and Bill Dobbs. Redmond was the ace of the ball carrier while the work of the husky Dick Reade and Ray DeVries stood out prominently in the line.

Stanford, showing the genius of a real football master, placed Nutley permanently on the grid map of New Jersey. The Stanfordian charges won eight games and dropped but two decisions. The defeats were suffered at the hands of Cliffside, 3-0, and Englewood, 18-14. Victories were registered over Neptune, Bayonne, Irvington, Lincoln, Hackensack, Paterson, Rahway and West Orange.

The most thrilling triumph of the season was chalked up against the Paterson team. Going into the fourth quarter Nutley was trailing 21-7. Defeat seemed almost certain. But Paterson had to reckon with a combination which wouldn't concede defeat.

Captain Redmond rallied his men. Into that fourth quarter the Maroon team went with only victory as their goal. Redmond was glorious that day, especially in that last period when he scored two of Nutley's three touchdowns over the Paterson invaders. Spectators who witnessed that game contend that it will always live in their memories as one of the most exciting happenings ever staged on the Park Oval.

With football over, Stanford called for varsity basketball candidates and again the bulwarks of the quintet were Redmond, Kirkleski and Speary. During the season Nutley won nine of fourteen games. Redmond occupied the spotlight as Nutley's pivot man while Jack Speary finished the season as high scorer.

Then the baseball season rolled around. Stanford developed a team which won thirteen games out of sixteen starts. Oddly enough, the three games lost were all extra inning affairs. Jack Speary and the formidable Redmond shared the pitching burden during the season with Kirkleski making his debut as varsity catcher.

Redmond's work featured the season. His left handed whip hurled Nutley to many well earned triumphs and his bat produced many bingles which aided in run manufacturing. And when the season was over, the great Redmond was through as a Nutley High School athlete. He was graduated in June of 1921 and when he was awarded his diploma, Nutley High School lost who many consider its greatest all around athlete. Redmond was only a kid of seventeen when he finished up at Nutley, an age when most high school athletes are just entering the spotlight.

If he wants to, Coach Stanford can look back with pride on that 1920-21 campaign. There were barely 300 students in the school at the time yet Stanford developed teams which extended the most formidable and outstanding schools in the State.

At the loss of the 1921 baseball team Coach Stanford had embedded his name imperishably in Nutley's sport annals. But wait! The best is yet to come.

Seventeen Years Of Hard, Active Football Sees Kirkleski Still At Top Of The He

Frank Started Back In 1917 As Quarterback On Grammar School Team And Rose To

Great Heights

Seventeen years of hard, active football has not lessened the interest that Frank Kirkleski, former Lafayette College grid ace, first had when he launched his playing career back in the fall of 1917 as quarterback on the grammar school team of Nutley. Since that time he has risen in the ranks and has rubbed elbows with All Americans and has been considered by some an All American ace himself.

Frank Kirkleski, in his seventeen years of football, has never been seriously injured enough to warrant his not playing the following game. His name has always appeared in the lineup of every team of which he was a member since his gridiron initiation seventeen years ago.

In this, his seventeenth year, Kirkleski is playing a bangup game with the Passaic Red Devils of the Inter State League. He harbors no thoughts of retiring until he has completed twenty full seasons of active play. He is coach and active half-back of the Red Devil outfit and is always one of the first to enter the fray every Sunday.

Kirkleski is 29 years old now and has lost some of his old dash, speed and elusiveness which characterized his work on college and pro gridirons a few years back. But he can still whip a forward pass, one of short or long distance, with uncanny accuracy.

Pro football, according to Kirk, is just recreation to him. It steadies his nerves after a week in the classroom and on the football field with his high school youngsters. Kirkleski is head football coach and teacher of history at Woodbridge High School. He is in his second season there.

It was back in the fall of '17, when the boys were going overseas in droves, that Kirkleski, a husky kid of twelve, piloted the Nutley grammar school team to a county championship. He repeated again in 1918 then followed four full seasons' quarterback ace at Nutley School.

In 1922, Kirkleski led the Nutley Wonder Eleven of that year to a defeated, unscored upon, and season. The Nutley team scored points while holding every opponent scoreless. In a post season for the State title Nutley lost heavier and more experienced effort team.

Then followed four seasons' Lafayette where Kirk made the in his freshman year and distinguished himself as a yearling by a touchdown against Washington Jefferson at the Polo Grounds. Lafayette a 6-6 tie with the dents.

Three years later, as captain of Lafayette team of 1920, Kirkward passed his team to an defeated season. He was named several All American elevens. Lafayette team was rated as the strongest in the country. In college, Kirk's two ter wingmen were Frank Grub Charlie Berry, who are now mate catchers for the Chicago Sox.

Following his graduation from Lafayette, where he also played years of varsity baseball, Kirk to play with the Pottsville M of the National League. He with that outfit for two seasons then cast his fortunes with of the same league and for a was with the Brooklyn Dodgers outfit. Three years ago, Passaic as captain, coach

Local Mentor And Protege To Display Basketball Squads

When the Nutley High School courtmen face Woodbridge at the school gymnasium here tomorrow night, it will mark the first meeting of George J. Stanford and Frank Kirkleski as rival coaches. Nutley fans will never forget when Kirkleski was Stanford's star pupil at Nutley more than a decade ago.

Now Kirkleski, after a varied high school and college career, is climbing the ranks and he will make his Nutley debut in coaching capacity tomorrow. Kirk, like Stanford, coaches three sports at Woodbridge High and he has been more than successful in each enterprise.

Advance reports indicate that Kirkleski will bring a formidable squad of basketeers here tomorrow to challenge Nutley's supremacy. There is some sentiment concerning the game too because it is hard to choose between Stanford and Kirkleski. Both have done so much for Nutley.

But now with Kirkleski in a rival capacity, red blooded Nutley fans are shouting for a Maroon victory.

Denies That CWA

Trucks Would Strike

Commissioner Frederick H. Young stated at the commission meeting Monday that he had not made any statements to the daily press about the CWA trucks that were working on projects in Nutley.

The article in the daily press said that the CWA trucks or those that were working on CWA projects were going to strike unless they received a raise in their weekly rental rate. The story went on to tell how these truckers said that they were being paid less than the prevailing rate of Newark and adjoining towns and that they had laid their claims before Commissioner Young.

Young also denied the statement in the newspaper that he said that the claims were fair and he would do whatever he could for truckers.

300 Guests Attended Contemporary Tea

"Know Your Neighbors" Exhibit Was Officially Opened

About 300 invited guests attended the tea on Thursday, January 4, which officially opened the "Know Your Neighbors" exhibit in the galleries of the Contemporary Club at 605 Broad street, Newark. Exhibiting artists were guests of honor and trustees of the club together with art chairmen from the woman's clubs in the towns represented, presided at the tea tables. Mrs. William Cornish of Belleville was one of the hostesses. During the tea, Edgar Volke spoke on the commercial art of today, and pupils from the Joan Voorhees Studio of Dancing in East Orange entertained with modernistic dances. A number of drawings executed by Everett Taylor Smith of 37 Van Housen place, Belleville, occupy one room of the galleries. The subjects are for the most part land marks of Belleville and are done with a fine discrimination for detail that adds much to the enjoyment of the pictures. Among those receiving particular comment are "Rose Cottage" and "Old Stone House." The drawing of "First Reformed Church" and painting of "Christ Episcopal Church" are also outstanding examples of the artist's work. Mr. Smith received his art talent from his father, his great grandfather, James Scott Taylor, being an artist of note. As chairman of the art hobby group of the Newark Museum, Mr. Smith has had an opportunity to develop a technique that promises well for the future. The exhibit which includes the work of a number of prominent artists will remain on view until February 1.

Many On Sick List In Police Department

Many members of the Belleville Police Department have been confined to their homes with injuries or illness recently. Patrolman Frederick McArt is recovering from an attack of pleurisy, but Patrolman Joseph Gorman is still confined to his home under a doctor's care. Patrolman LeRoy Hilton, whose finger was severely cut while arresting an intoxicated man last week, is still unable to use his hand. Patrolman Thomas Cruthers has returned to duty after several days illness.

Crescents Travel To Plainfield Tomorrow

The Belleville Crescents will migrate to Plainfield, tomorrow night to stack up against the Plainfield Americans, a team composed of former college and high school stars. Manager "Mac" Lamb will present Hen Bohrer, Bob Mericle, Ted McKelvey, Al Culkin, Pat Dunn, Eddie Berliuzzi, besides himself. Two new additions, Eddie O'Neil and Nick Bonavita, ex-Belleville High stars, will also be on hand.

ALL STAR TEAM

Sports Editor: With the thought that you would like an all-star semi-pro football team for publication in your paper I am sending in the following one. I have seen most of the semi-pro teams in action and believe that my selection will be approved by any football fan who has seen these players in action. All-star Semi-Pro—Left end, Horton, Camptowners, Irvington; left tackle, Steckroth, Toreadors, Kearny; left guard, Pines, Camptowners; center, Rodgers, Cyclones, Newark; right guard, Moseconi, Cyclones; right tackle, Sheps, Troquois, Newark; right end, Kellett, Varsity, Nutley; quarterback, Taback, Camptowners; left halfback, Byron, West Ends, Newark; right halfback, Conlan, Clintons, Belleville; fullback, Gorman, Varsity. Johnny Conlan and Bungo Gorman, two Belleville boys on this team, need no introduction to football fans as they have always played great football for the Clintons during their team's travel throughout the state. Bungo Gorman is well known for his line-crashing and kicking, while Conlan is equally known for his off tackle smashes, end runs and broken field running. I am sure these two players could improve any team they play with. Wishing you a prosperous New Year and hoping for the same in sports, I remain, W. J. WILSON.

SOME SPORT FLASHES

CHRIST Episcopal's bowlers accounted for a team score of 1038 in a match at the Fewsmith alleys, last week, against the Men's Club.... Said game represents the highest team score ever bowled on the tough church alleys since the start of the church loop eight years ago.... Jerry Sawyer's 245 was high in this record game, followed by Mayer's 226. Two members of Belleville's first place club in the Essex County Basketball League accounted for outstanding performances on the outside over the week-end.... Johnnie McGuire's twenty points in the Bankers' Indemnity tossers' fifth straight victory in the Newark Banking and Insurance League was the best individual performance of the year.... Bill Levine collected thirteen points, as the South Side Stars nosed out the Horowitz All Stars in a top-flight Y. M. H. A. battle.... The latter also got his first taste of American League warfare, Sunday night, playing against the Union City Reds for the Newark Joe Fays. Back to bowling.... Bob Witten continues to be the big sensation of the local season.... Three double century marks in American Legion League competition, Monday night, enabled him to strengthen his hold on first place in the individual averages, and his 192.15 average is among the elite in the Morris and Essex loop.

Crescents Win And Lose Over Week-end Host To Passaic Today

Lamb's Quintet In Impressive Victory Over Polish Falcons

"Mac" Lamb's Belleville Crescents won and lost over the week-end recording a notable 37-34 victory over the strong Polish Falcons of Newark, Sunday night, to offset a 21-20 defeat at the hands of the Mohawk A. A., Thursday, at the local high school gym. The win over the Falcons on their New National Home court was a really notable triumph for the Crescents, as the Polish lads are rated almost invincible on their home stamping grounds. Hen Bohrer, lanky Belleville pivot man, and Bob Mericle, hustling forward, both of the Pru squad, were the big guns in the offensive drive of the Crescents. Bohrer led the parade with twelve points, while Mericle contributed ten. The home debut of the Crescents at the high school gym against the Mohawks, though not productive of victory provided a real thriller. The local squad took an early lead and led throughout most of the first three quarters. Some fast pass-work on the part of the visitors, however, enabled them to turn the tide and go on to nose out the Crescents after some hard battling. Scoring was fairly evenly divided in this one, with Bohrer's five markers shaping up best. The scores:

Belleville Wins Twice In County League

Garfield Hands Local Netsters Second Defeat Of Season

Van Dermark Stars As The Locals Drop 23-15 Decision

"Where's Elmer?" "Why, Elmer was there all right. But where was the rest of his team?" And such a conversational analysis forms a fitting beginning for the relating of how, why, when and where Belleville High School's basketball quintet lost its second game of the season to the Garfield High five, 23 to 15, Friday night, at the local court.

Elmer "Red" Van Dermark, fleet Bell-boy forward, did his "darnedest" to lead his team out of its flat-footed doldrums, but, though he tallied nine of the fifteen points, his team was still far "in the red" at the game's conclusion.

Garfield, presenting a fast, well co-ordinated passing attack that just refused to be bottled up, took the lead in the early minutes of the first quarter, and never gave it up thereafter.

Belleville's lone threat, if such it might be called, occurred at the start of the third quarter, after the Bell-boys had trailed 12-4, at half time. Van Dermark manfully came through with five points in succession at the start of the quarter, to bring the score up to 12-9, but that was all. Garfield then found themselves again, topped the one-man attack, and went on to win handsily.

Shando, Hinterberger and Sucorowski evenly split up eighteen of the winners' point score.

The Garfield coach, Art Argauer, Belleville resident by the bye, used no less than fourteen members of his reserve squad to subdue the Belleville Jayvees, 23-15, in a preliminary tussle.

By ARTHUR BLOEMEKE

SUNDAY BASEBALL?

WHAT'S that? Baseball? Brrrrrr! It does seem a bit out of season to be talking about baseball, engulfed as we are in mid-winter and all its trappings.

Yet for all you "hot stove and radiator leaguers" something new and very interesting looms on the local baseball front.

Sunday baseball, with a first-class professional nine representing your town and mine, has reached at least the possibility stage. And it's still many months before the first horseshoe cover will be caressed by a wooden mace.

Where can it be played, with Clearman Field out of the picture? Well, from quite a reliable source, comes the information that for many months the Recreation Commission, as embodied in Edward Lister, has been inspecting some extremely desirable grounds on Columbus avenue, just north of Belleville Park off Belleville avenue.

The property, which would make not only an ideal baseball park, but a real athletic field for football, and all sports, is now owned by the City of Newark. Though negotiations between the two interested parties have not yet passed the preliminary stages, it should furnish more than a topic of conversation ere long.

How would the fans of Belleville "take" to a Sunday afternoon baseball proposition, as embodied in a good, strong professional team? That, of course, is the question.

But one has but to point to the success of the American Legion Twilight League during the last five parlous years, to show that fans will support any well-organized baseball venture. Of course, the Sunday angle is a new one, but from what little we've heard, it should be highly acceptable to most of the fans.

Riviera Park's grounds are named as another choice for the site of such a venture, but must be second-rated to that highly desirable Columbus avenue sector.

But enough of baseball. Let's get back to something a bit more seasonal.

"MAC" LAMB, SUCCESSFUL PROMOTER

FICKLE Fortune most certainly smiled in her sweetest manner on "Mac" Lamb and his first local promotorial venture, last week at the high school gym.

The big turnout that greeted his initial Thursday night basketball-and-dance program at the gym was a revelation, and in a measure compensated for the "bad breaks" Lamb, and his team, encountered up in Orange.

Lamb fairly radiated enthusiasm as he told us "fourth estaters" of the way he is going to try to please Belleville fans in response to their wonderful support.

Though his team lost the nip-and-tuck battle by a one-point margin, and though it lacked the polish and finesse of Manager Kenny's local successful Essex County Leaguers, the game was crammed with plenty of intense and heated action, both in a basketball way and otherwise.

The great last minute stand of the Lambian Crescents that almost permitted them to snatch the game from their unsuspecting rivals had the boys and girls on the sidelines keyed up plenty.

They say a good beginning means everything. Well, the Crescents certainly got the start.

BELLEVILLE-BLOOMFIELD FOR LEAD

ESSEX County Basketball League followers will have an opportunity to witness what should easily prove to be the best game of the season thus far, tomorrow night, as Belleville travels to Bloomfield's home lair. This game between the co-holders of first position should be a "hum-dinger" if ever there was one.

The Bell-boys, who won their first game of this series at the local court, in a breath-taking finish, will have their regular cast in action. Such was not the case in the previous skirmish, as they were missing their scoring ace, Bill Levine. Bloomfield will also be strengthened with the addition of Lute Share.

The Lycum boys are always dangerous on their home court, and it will take all the wiles and foibles that the Kennymen possess to walk off with a verdict.

DEFENSIVE WORK AT ITS BEST

IN Belleville's league victories to date, many have been the comments to the effect that the local captain, Joe Parsells, loses much of his value because of his seeming unwillingness to "shoot" more at the basket. In fact, the writer has been guilty himself of just such utterances.

Be that as it may, we have yet to see a better defensive performer on suburban courts. In that fourth quarter against Montclair, Saturday, when the going was the toughest, he proved his exceptional worth once more.

Maybe he doesn't bulge out the scoring column, but just don't forget he more than makes up for it, with his canny defensive and passing operations.

Local Basketeers In Essex County League Win Two More Tilts

Co-League Leaders Score Over Glen Ridge And Montclair

Belleville's great representatives in the Essex County Basketball League finished their hard week-end schedule still tied for first place with their doughty Bloomfield rivals, after victories both Friday and Saturday nights.

At Glen Ridge, Friday, an easy 43-28 conquest was recorded, but down here in Belleville on the local court, Saturday night, Montclair was not quite so easy a victim, but finally bowed by a 20-24 count.

Johnnie Gunzelman, hard-working Bell-boy center, was the chief point-getter of the Glen Ridge fracas, winding up his evening's activities with no less than sixteen of the coveted markers to his credit.

Other Bell-boy performers were almost equally prominent in the point-tallying column, although the game started out in none too impressive scoring fashion. At the end of the first quarter, Belleville held a 3-2 edge. Imagine!

But the second quarter found both teams acclimated, with Belleville adding to its margin, and showing an 18-12 advantage at half time. The second half was a complete repetition of the second quarter, with the Kennymen always increasing their lead.

Johnnie McGuire, Vic Di Fillippo and Hen Bohrer aided Gunzelman in the scoring column, while Bill Greville's thirteen points represented almost half of Glen Ridge's total.

The win over Montclair was one of those thrilling, last-minute victories that taste so sweet.

Right from the start the Bell-boys knew they were in for a real fight, and though they continually held the lead for the first three quarters, Montclair was always right in the running. Towards the close of the third quarter, the fighting "Monties" even went so far as to knot the count 19-19, as the whistle blew.

Keyed up with the possibilities of upsetting the dope bucket, Montclair took but the opening few minutes of the fourth quarter to tally five times and take quite a commanding lead of 24-19, and closely guarded it until the last four minutes of play.

That great guard, Joe Parsells, suddenly broke the scoring ice with a clean free throw to make it 24-20, and Johnnie Gunzelman then came through with two more foul heaves, making it 24-22, and setting the stage for a shot under the basket by Johnnie Gunzelman that tied it up 24-24.

At this critical stage, Rush, the big Montclair center, and keyman of their offense was ruled out on personals. Unfortunately for the visitors they had none but ineligible men on the side-lines, and had to finish the game with but four men.

A successful free throw by Vic Di Fillippo, his tenth point of the game, another field goal by Gunzelman, and a long one by Johnnie McGuire were then recorded in quick succession to sew up the pastime.

Di Fillippo's ten points led the local scoring parade, while Menzel, Montclair guard, got nine for his side.

THE GREAT PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION

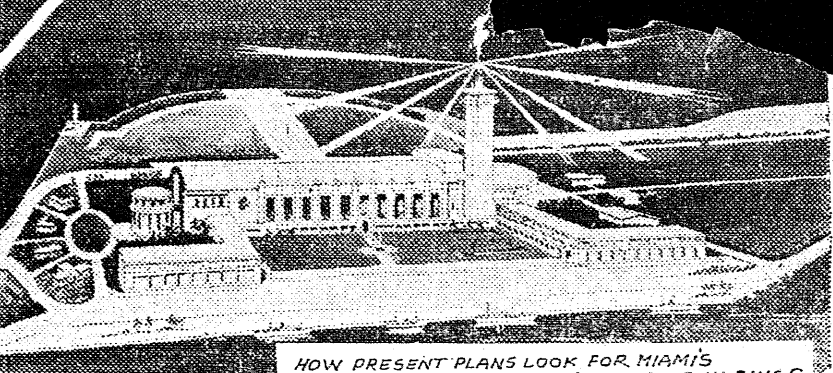

THE LURE OF MIAMI WILL ATTRACT THOUSANDS TO THE EXPOSITION

MIAMI MAGIC CITY OF THE SOUTH

MIAMI BEAUTIES SET THE BEACH STYLE FASHIONS FOR THE ENTIRE NATION

HOW PRESENT PLANS LOOK FOR MIAMI'S GREAT PAN-AMERICAN EXPOSITION BUILDINGS

To Carry Forward President Roosevelt's Doctrine of "The Helping Hand."

MIAMI, FLA.:—In recognition of the improved communications due to air transport and to assist the doctrine of "THE HELPING HAND," proclaimed by President Roosevelt to the countries of Latin America, the City of Miami, through Mayor E. G. Sewell, this week formally announced its plans for a permanent Pan American Exposition to foster mutual trade and friendly intercourse between the United States and its Southern neighbors.

Miami's energetic and business-like Mayor is now advocating the project with characteristic force. He foresees a permanent bond of sympathy, enlightenment and commercial profit between America and her neighbors to the south. He was the first to advocate the dredging of Miami harbor, which turned Miami from a shallow inland port to a first-class sea terminal.

He is also backing the development of Miami as an international air traffic terminal. The new terminus now under construction by Pan-American Airways on Miami's waterfront will be the most modern station yet conceived.

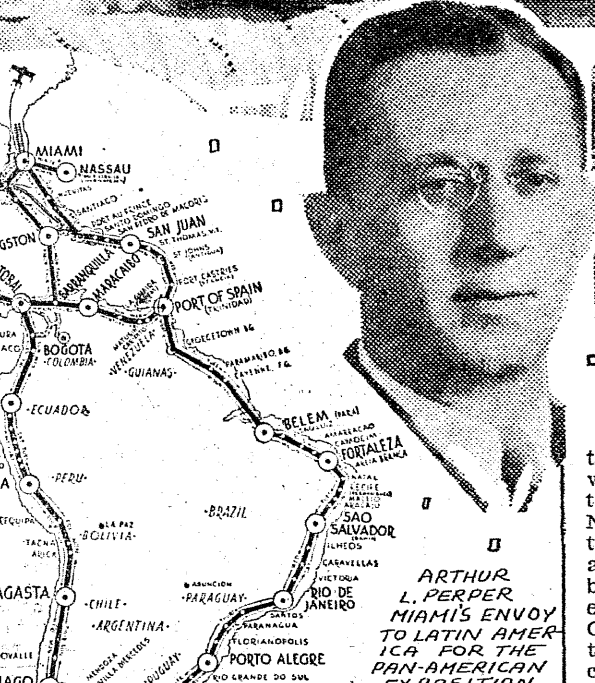

The exposition, it is announced, will be a great supply depot wherein materials and manufactures of the United States and Latin-American countries will be displayed, and the basis of which orders can be placed by air mail, radio, or cable and by air service or steamer in a fraction of the time that they would be supplied from Europe or elsewhere. Miami will thus become the nation's an effective exchange house, creating new business which every part of the U. S. has opportunity to share.

Miami Has Given Site.

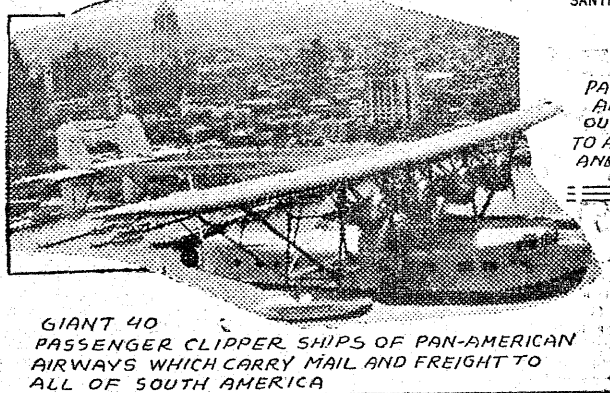

The Pan American Exposition, the announcement says, is planned as order to carry out its plans for the exposition as a great friendly project to be mutually undertaken by the countries of the Northern and Southern continents. It is confidently believed that the Government will officially cooperate in a self-liquidating plan offered by the city to speed the enterprise.

A personal invitation to join the Pan-American Exposition will be extended by Arthur L. Perper, who is about to tour Latin America as an official delegate from the City of Miami. Mr. Perper carries credentials from the Secretary of State, Cordell Hull, the Pan-American Union, and Latin-American ambassadors in Washington. His mission will bring him into intimate contact with governmental and business leaders in every country.

The total cost of the exposition when fully completed including the site may reach $6,000,000. To carry this work forward the City of Miami has applied to the government for a grant of $500,000 and a self-liquidating loan of $1,500,000.

Under direction of the City of Miami, preliminary sketches have been drawn by the Association of Architects of Miami for the main Pan-American Exposition Building.

the exposition is open during the winter season this space will be taken by industrial organizations of North and South America. In other times of the year it will be used for amusements and conventions. A broadcasting station will be stationed in the building and contact with Central and South American countries will be made through broadcasts in Spanish, while Spanish broadcasts translated into English will be received from the Latin-American countries. This service is already established in Miami through broadcasts in Spanish over WIOD and WQAM. The Pan-American Exposition will be open three months each winter, January, February and March, and it is planned to hold many observances, fetes, celebrations, broadcasts, lectures, concerts and motion pictures during those months to carry forward the friendly objects of the exposition.

Mayor E. G. Sewell of Miami outlined the giant project at his Miami office this week. "Few realize," he stated, "the tremendous strides that have been made in airplane communication between Miami and South American countries in the past few years. With the swift and secure system of the Pan-American Airways, Havana is but two hours away, Central America but two days, Peru only four days distant and Buenos Aires, Montevideo and Rio de Janeiro only a week's trip from Miami.

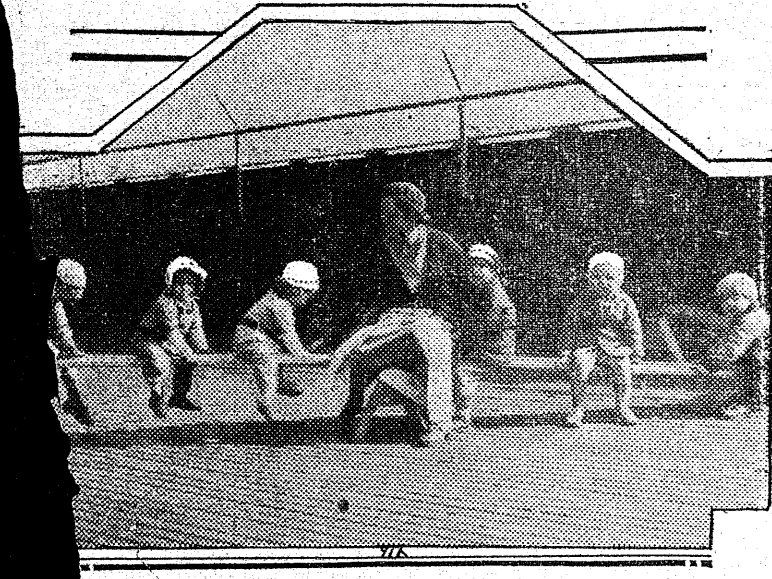

and eight thousand pounds of incoming air express matter. Since the first of the year business houses of the United States have sent by air mail through Miami more than two million business letters into the Caribbean countries alone. In the same time they have received from this same region over one million air mail letters.

Colossal 17-ton giants of the Pan-American Airways, driven by more power than an ordinary locomotive, and carrying 44 passengers and a ton of express and United States mail, will soon reduce to a few hours the long-distance journeys which once required days and weeks.

"A network of cable and radio stations throughout Latin-America, connecting with Miami, steamer services calling at the Miami harbor terminals of railroads to the North, fast plane service to northern and middle west points and reaching New York in a single day during winter months are phases of the up-to-date system of communications with Miami as the transfer point between Latin-America and the United States."

Pointing out Miami's strategic location with respect to South American trade, Mayor Sewell concluded: "Miami is now served by four steamer lines running between North American points, the West Indies and Texas. Miami's new facilities will make her a first class port. The fact that the government has appropriated money for this purpose is government recognition of the part Miami is destined to play in the future of our South American Commerce which even now amounts annually to almost a half of our annual trade with Europe."

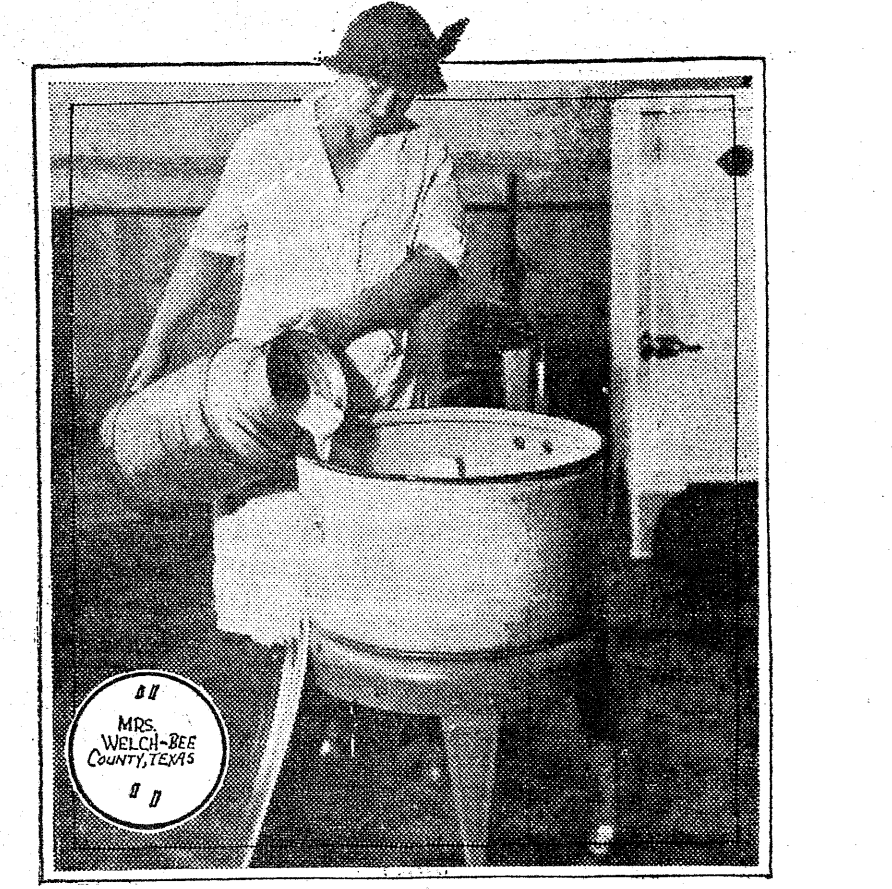

College Professors and Their Wives Put New Methods Into Housekeeping

Members of these children are busy with tasks or diversions, happily that the youngsters are safe under the care of the mother shown in an interesting picture and more interesting idea, isn't it? Columbia University professor and their wives agreed that keeping has not kept pace with changes in shops and factories and producing machine age methods in homes without interfering with regular family relationship and apartment building near the city in New York City the roof space with a "climb-proof" terrace. There are an indoor playroom, a "study room" and a night nursery, where children can be left while the parents are out for the evening.

Dairymen's Strikes Do Not Bother These Quick-Witted Country Women

Farmers' wives who own power washing machines are putting them to a new use in the milk strikes reported from various sections of the country. When there is a surplus of cream they use the machines as churns. There is a special accessory for the purpose but in many cases the churning is being done with the regulation washer agitator.

In New Richmond, Wis., a woman churned 100 pounds of butter in that manner in one day. A farmer's wife near Dallas, Wis., made thirty pounds by giving the family washer a thorough scrubbing, pouring in the milk

Children's Hour Stars Pineapple

During that hungry after-school hour—"between the dark and the daylight"—it's tea-time for all the rest of the world!

But for Miss and Master Five to Eleven Years, it's pineapple-cup time. The popular new dish for children between meals and everyday, is a heaped up cup of crushed pineapple or tid-bits, topped with rosy candied cherries or frosty glazed orange peeling. It is magically satisfying to youthful appetites, and gloriously healthful.

Dietetic advice points to canned pineapple as an important daily source of many of those vitamins and minerals essential to glowing health. So mothers everywhere are trading on childish delight in imitating grown-ups and making the pineapple cup a daily health habit for the children.

In addition to its high dietetic values, this children's "between meals" delicacy has a tempting color and flavor which put it definitely in the class of fairy tale foods—something worth running all the way home from school for!

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

You'll Jump Out of Bed Morning Rin' to Go

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a certificate, 25¢ at drug stores.

Food Market Advice

By ANN PAGE

THE passing of New Year's Day brings us to the long stretch of winter which used to result in spring fever, due to the limited amount of sunshine, fruits and vegetables available. It is still the time when most work is accomplished in schools and therefore when children's diets should be most carefully planned.

Milk, of course, is a very important food in the child's diet. It need not be drunk by the older child but can be served him in soups, as cocoa, with vegetables or in desserts. For these dishes either fresh or evaporated milk may be used.

Citrus fruits are unusually good, plentiful and cheap and these together with canned tomatoes or tomato juice are particularly valuable foods for maintaining health and guarding against colds. Fresh tomatoes are equally healthful but at this season they are none too plentiful. They are, however, moderate in price considering the season.

Green, yellow and red vegetables also serve as cold preventives together with milk, cream, butter and eggs. Among the green vegetables which are plentiful at this season are to be found Brussels sprouts, broccoli, new and old cabbage, green beans, peas and spinach. The seasonable yellow vegetables are carrots, winter squash, rutabaga turnips and sweet potatoes. Beets, red cabbage and tomatoes are the commonest of the red vegetables.

All vegetables have healthful qualities so we do not want to forget cauliflower, onions, parsnips and potatoes as each is valuable in its own way, including the fact that they add variety to our menus.

Two inexpensive vegetables to be found in most markets but rarely seen on the average menu are the vegetables celery root and oyster plant or salsify. The Quaker Maid suggests preparing them as follows: Scrub or peel them, put into cold water containing a little vinegar and cook until tender in boiling salted water. Serve with butter, white sauce or mock Hollandaise.

Several salad plants are available besides the usual lettuce and celery, including watercress and endive. A mixture of greens with French dressing makes an interesting dinner salad. Shredded cabbage with shredded raw carrots or beets also make attractive and inexpensive salads or relishes.

After the final holiday feast steaks and chops will be especially welcome. Round steak cut thin and pan-broiled, minute style, is a flavorful and inexpensive dish even when accompanied by mushrooms. Roast steak cut into small squares, filled with a savory stuffing and braised is delicious. No words of mine can enhance the charm a thick broiled sirloin steak has for most people. Chops are also popular and you will find that shoulder chops offer more food for less money than the more popular loin and rib chops.

For your next roast a standing or rolled rib roast of beef, rare, medium or well done according to your family's taste, should prove popular. In spite of the interference of holidays and bad weather with the activities of the fishing fleet, there will be halibut steaks, fish fillets, southern-caught bluefish, Spanish and King mackerel, trout, sea bass, croakers and shrimp available at low or moderate prices. Oysters will be popular for New Year's festivities as well as for their own widespread appeal on any and every occasion.

Gleanings From State News

Items Of Interest Taken From Here And There Outside Of Town

The Bloomfield Independent Press asks adequate protection for CWA workers on cold days:

"Bloomfielders were shocked to observe CWA workers out on their jobs with the temperature below zero. Very likely suffering from inadequate nourishment and inadequate clothing, they were made to report for work as usual through the severest weather in years. The local Relief Office had no authority to call them off their jobs, it was said, because the order from Washington had been that they were to work right through the winter, if they were to get paid. The red tape of governmental projects does not allow in time for exercise of ordinary human judgment. Not only does it seem to us to have been inhumane to have kept men at outdoor work in such weather but useless, because little grading of new streets or other projects under way could be accomplished with the ground frozen as hard as rock.

"Now that the worst weather is over, State Administrator Colt has wired county directors to report the quota of winter underwear, work shirts, windbreakers, shoes, gloves and winter hats needed to outfit the employees. It will be supplied by the federal administration. The state office has also authorized county directors to grant extra supplies of food and fuel where, in the discretion of the directors, additional quantities may be judged necessary. Which sounds a great deal more humane than the procedure of keeping men at work all through last week's bitter weather."

The Ridgewood News urges that sidewalks be kept clean: "There are plenty of horrible examples about the village which tag property owners as being shiftless or lazy or both. We mean uncleared sidewalks.

"There is some excuse for a busy man or commuter not getting the snow off his sidewalk immediately following a storm such as we had last week. But there is no excuse for the snow to remain on the sidewalk permanently, particularly with a Sunday and holiday following close upon the heels of the storm. The warm spell Monday turned the packed snow and ice to slush. Sidewalks could have been cleaned with a modicum of labor. Uncleared sidewalks as a result of neglect were covered with ice on Tuesday morning, furnishing a dangerous hazard for pedestrians.

"There is a village ordinance covering the immediate cleaning of sidewalks following snowstorms. It should be enforced. There is also a possibility of damage suits against property owners for injuries caused by falling on uncleared sidewalks. Owners of vacant property are just as liable as those on occupied property.

"After the next storm, clean sidewalks."

The motorist is "getting to the came popular, shortly following the war, it had an excellent argument to recommend it: That the motorist should pay a fair share of the cost of building and maintaining the highways over which he drives.

"That's still an excellent argument for a reasonable gas tax. But the motorist has been getting it in the neck to a constantly increasing degree. He's buying highways he never gets. He's maintaining others that don't exist. Only 70 per cent of the income from these special additional road taxes was actually used for roads—the rest going for other purposes.

"There are signs that worm motorist is turning. He's learned that so long as he keeps quiet he's going to be in for more and more unjust discrimination. And he'd better turn fast if he is to keep the cost of running his car from become even more prohibitive than it is at present."

"THE FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER"

Scientists say that man has been on the earth hundreds of thousands of years. But we haven't yet found out how to pull together.

"Character is the basis of credit"—but most bankers like collateral.

The Liberty Bell proclaimed "liberty throughout all the land" and then, somehow, it got cracked.

Modern invention hasn't found out how to improve on the "square deal."

Truth-telling as a habit is a lot of fun—especially when folks don't believe you.

Vey Appointed At National Conference Engineer To Attend Street And Highway Safety Discussion

Arnold H. Vey, Traffic Engineer, Motor Vehicle Department, received word last week from Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper of his appointment to the Committee in Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety.

The first meeting of the Committee will be held in Washington January 17-18.

In his letter to Mr. Vey, Secretary Roper stated that the Uniform Vehicle Code and Model Municipal Traffic Ordinance recommended by the National Conference several years ago and which have served as the basis for traffic laws and ordinances in many states and municipalities are in need of numerous changes in the light of recent experience.

George Wellington, of the Rhode Island Motor Vehicle Department, is chairman of the newly-created committee.

Mr. Vey who resides in Caldwell is engaged in similar work as chairman of the Committee on Uniformity of the Street and Highway Traffic Section of the National Safety Council.
