Plans Are Completed For Kiddie Outing Committee Asks Cars To Transport Children To Park

Final plans for the children's outing sponsored by the Local Government League of Belleville were completed at a meeting of the committee at the Elks Club last night.

Although many persons and organizations have contributed funds for the affair, other donations are sought in order that all underprivileged children in town who desire to attend will have a place at the outing, which will be held at Olympic Park, Irvington, Wednesday.

Herbert C. Schmutz, general chairman, has asked all public spirited persons owning cars to contribute them that day to transport the children to the park. Car owners may register by telephoning Louis Noll at Belleville 2-3111. He will remain in his office at 13 Washington avenue all day Monday.

The churches of town have supplied the names of 300 children who would benefit by the outing, and it is hoped to get enough money to accommodate all of these kiddies. ERA Harvests Hay For Western Cattle Feed Will Be Taken From Roadsides, Vacant Farms And Parks

Newark, August 8. — The State ERA today literally "pitched in" to harvest hay for cattle in the drought stricken areas of the middle west.

Along with other state relief administrations New Jersey's has been called upon by Federal relief authorities to assist in providing feed for the large herds recently purchased by the FERA under the drought relief program.

Orders were sent from state relief headquarters to all county relief administrators to immediately organize their "work-for-relief" forces to cut hay on vacant farms, roadsides, parks and other land available to public access. The hay will be stacked at several concentration points within the state and shipped by freight to the middle west.

In the order to his field forces, Col. Joseph H. Bigley, acting deputy state director of the ERA, emphasized that no hay is to be cut on fields suitable for pasture. It is to be retained for grazing the cattle that are to be shipped here from the western herds. In urging local cooperation for speedy completion of this emergency order, Col. Bigley said that the success of the program depends upon the rapidity with which the work can be organized, and baled hay made available for shipment.

E. D. Kelly To Fill Recreation Vacancy Director Gerard Appoints Boy Scout Official To Commission

Edmond D. Kelly, 54, of 12 Fairway avenue, troop committee chairman of Troop 75, Boy Scouts of America, and Cub Pack 4, both sponsored by St. Peter's Church, was appointed a member of the recreation commission to fill the unexpired term of Edward J. Lister by Commissioner George R. Gerard, director of public safety, Monday.

Mr. Kelly will serve on the board until March 31, 1935. Mr. Lister resigned when he became recreation director at the resignation of Edward Nebriq from the latter post.

"Be guided only by your own judgment and your knowledge of the town's finances," wrote Director Gerard in his letter of appointment.

Mr. Kelly has been active in Boy Scout work since moving here seven years ago. He is president of the Belwood Park Improvement Association.

Police Nab Bandits Who Robbed Tavern Trio Confess Holdup Of James Casey; Are Held Without Bail

As a result of the detective work of Chief Michael J. Flynn, Chanceman Edward Fletcher and Patrolman John J. Flynn, three men were arrested Saturday as the bandits who held up James Casey at his tavern in Washington avenue two weeks ago and stole $1,400. The trio confessed the holdup, police say.

The men, Edward Farrell, 26, of 28 Spruce street, Jersey City; Vincent Brown, 24, of 240 Sixth street, Jersey City, and Clement Snyder, 36, of 1304 Bloomfield street, Hoboken, were arraigned before acting Recorder Charles Gebhardt Saturday afternoon. They pleaded guilty to the charges and waived hearing. The court ordered them held without bail to await action of the Grand Jury. All have been on probation for previous offenses.

Casey was taken to Newark police headquarters after the holdup to view rogues' gallery pictures. He identified one of the men and the trio was trailed for a week by Chanceman Fletcher and Patrolman Flynn. Farrell and Snyder were arrested at Farrell's home and Brown was captured later. Belleville police are seeking to link the men with the $2,700 holdup of the Fruit Products Company at 417 Cortland street May 7, 1933. Bergen County and Jersey City police are also trying to connect the trio with robberies there.

Board Of Education Names 3 Teachers Changes Made In Four De- partments At High School

In naming three new teachers for Belleville High School and in transferring another, the board of education made changes in four departments at the high school for the coming school year at a meeting Monday night.

New instructors are Walter A. Hack of Belleville, who will teach science; David S. Fulcomer, Freeburg, Pa., commercial subjects, and Sheldon E. Henry, Margate, manual training. Hugh D. Kittle, former manual training instructor, will teach mathematics next year.

The board accepted the resignations of Miss Eleanor M. Campbell of School No. 5 and Ralph A. Brown of the high school. Miss Marjorie Haslam of Belleville was appointed clerk in the high school to replace Miss Viola Curren, resigned.

Examination Change Suggested
Supervising Principal Wayne R. Parmer suggested that a new plan of examinations, known as the unit system, be substituted for final examinations. He explained that the plan is held by educators to be preferable, since an examination is given at the end of a natural division of a subject, rather than at the close of the course. The plan was referred to the teachers committee for consideration.

Man Felled By Wheel Used As Club By Another

A wire auto wheel used as a club in a street fight in the Silver Lake section Sunday night felled John Di Blasio, 45, of 36 Jeraldo street, who according to bystanders, was struck repeatedly over the head by the improvised weapon.

Friends took the victim to Newark City Hospital, where he was detained for treatment of scalp wounds and a possible concussion of the brain. Belleville and Newark police are seeking the identity of Di Blasio's assailant.

The committee provided supper and upon arrival at the shore, there was a swimming and beach party.

Championship Races Slated At Velodrome Riders Will Try To Break Record For Twenty- Five Miles

Two championship races will be decided at the Nutley Velodrome Sunday night, and next Wednesday night will be "Harold G. Hoffman Night" at the saucer when a gigantic card of races will be run in honor of the motor vehicle commissioner who is a candidate for Governor. Commissioner Hoffman will put up a silver loving cup for the winner of the motor-paced championship race. There will also be a brass band on hand, a quartet of singers, Baby Rose Marie to entertain and Irene Rich, stage, screen and radio star, to start a race.

The big feature Sunday night will be a forty-mile motor-paced championship race, the fifteenth of the series of twenty-five to decide the title. The race will be run by Alfred Letourner of France, Franco Gerogetti of Italy, Gerard Debaets of Belgium; Tino Reboli of Newark, Franz Deulberg of Germany and Charlie Jaeger of Flemington battling it out. These six riders are fighting like mad for the title and with ten races left to decide the championship not a single one can be counted out, but right now it seems as if the fight is between Letourner, Gerogetti and Debaets.

Referee Frank L. Kramer has threatened to suspend Jean Antenucci, the star pacemaker at the Velodrome, if he does not cut out his rough riding. Kramer fined Antenucci $15 last Sunday night and says the next time the penalty will be more drastic.

The second feature Sunday night will be a 25-mile middle distance championship with all the professional riders competing. The race will have twelve pacemakers in it and the boys will go out to break the world's record of 49 minutes 28 3-5 seconds, made by Freddie Spencer at the New York Velodrome August 9, 1929. This should bring about a great fight between Torchy Peden, Ewald Wissel, Cecil Walker, Freddie Spencer, Norman Hill, Charley Ritter and Avanti Martinetti. There will also be a mile match race between Freddie Spencer and George Dempsey, to be decided by the best two in three heats. Two amateur races will complete the card.

Shooting Mystery Probed By Police

Crowd Threatens To Lynch
Alleged Hit-Run Driver,
Nabbed By Patrolman

A shooting, an auto accident and a mob which threatened to lynch a police prisoner caused considerable excitement in the Silver Lake section Sunday afternoon.

Michael Coles, 24, colored, of 80 South Fourteenth street, Newark, who was visiting his sister-in-law, Miss Alto Hayes, at 69 Honiss street, suffered a bullet wound in the thigh when three white men fired into the front door of the house. The men fled, and a crowd gathered.

Just as police arrived, Julio Mosco, 11, of 42 Honiss street was struck by a car driven on the outskirts of the crowd by a colored man, who failed to stop. Patrolman Raymond Demgard commanded a car driven by Samuel Mongiell, of 199 North Fifteenth street, Bloomfield, and gave chase.

The officer, after pursuing the other car a mile, captured George Sharp, 26, colored, of 115 Elm street, Union, and brought him back to the scene of the accident. The angry mob of about 500 persons cried, "Lynch him," and threatened to take the prisoner from the officer.

Sharp was taken to the nearby firehouse by Demgard, who telephoned police headquarters for reinforcements. Patrolmen Kenneth Smith, Robert Anderson and Harry Scott arrived and drove Sharp to headquarters, where he was held on charges of failure to stop after an accident and driving without a license.

Young Mosco was critically injured. He was removed to Beth Israel Hospital, Newark, where he was found to be suffering from a broken right leg and a possible skull fracture.

Dr. Samuel Goldberg, who treated Coles, said his wound was not serious. Police are investigating the shooting, which Coles and his friends are unable to explain, except through a case of mistaken identity.

Witnesses report that Coles was attacked and beaten by three men who jumped from a car. He fled to the home of his sister-in-law. The men returned a few minutes later and fired into the home when Miss Hayes opened the door. Coles told police that he had never seen the men before, and other occupants of the house denied knowing them.

The car which bore the gunmen was later abandoned at Bloomfield avenue and North Fifteenth street, Bloomfield.

Recorder Will Address King Association

Recorder Everett B. Smith will be the speaker at a regular meeting of the Joseph King Association to be held tomorrow evening.

Vaccination Ordered For Pupils Entering Belleville Schools

Expense Prohibits Treatment For All Present
Pupils And Teachers

The board of education Monday night ruled that all pupils and teachers entering the school system in the fall must be successfully vaccinated or must produce doctors' certificates stating that they are unfit subjects for vaccination. The move was taken at the recommendation of Health Officer Eugene T. Berry, who stated that more than half of the pupils in Belleville schools have never been vaccinated.

Mr. Berry recommended that vaccination be made compulsory for all in the school system, but the board felt that it could not afford the expense of the treatment at the present time.

The board took no action on the suggestion of Mr. Berry, made some months ago, that all pupils be inoculated against diphtheria. In Nutley all school children have been inoculated, with the result that there were no cases of the disease among children reported there during 1933.

Counterfeits Flood Belleville And Nutley

Many Bogus Bills Received
By Storekeepers
And Banks

Police, banks and storekeepers are being troubled in both Belleville and Nutley by a flood of counterfeit money which has appeared in this section of the country.

Benjamin Kornbluth, proprietor of a store at 161 Franklin street, Silver Lake section of Belleville, received a counterfeit $10 bill from an unidentified man Saturday. He was unable to change it, but Frank Ardito of 60 Florence avenue gave him two $5 bills for it. He later discovered that one of the $5 bills was bogus. Police are seeking the passer of the $10 bill.

Samuel Grier of 43 Ernest street, Nutley, was arrested by Patrolman Frank Shupel Saturday on complaint of W. H. Branswaite, manager of a grocery store at 144 Franklin avenue, Nutley, who said that Grier attempted to pass a counterfeit $10 bill in his store. Grier said he got the bill from George Pasby of 112 Friedland road, who told police that he received it from Sandy Webb of 79 Passaic avenue. Shupel arrested both men.

Clyde Robinson of 18 Passaic avenue said he had seen the bill July 30 when it was in Webb's possession. Pasby and Webb were held for questioning and Grier and Robinson were paroled as material witnesses.

Storekeepers and banks have reported many counterfeit bills in the past two weeks. A local druggist received a bogus $20 bill last week and a saloonkeeper got a counterfeit $10 bill.

Arthur John McMarold Goes Through Town, Hiking Around World In Twenty Years

And Expects To Return There In 1941

A strange figure, draped in police badges and proudly displaying the British Union Jack, passed through Belleville and Nutley Wednesday morning. It was Arthur John McMarold, self-styled world champion walker, on a stage of his tour of the world in twenty years.

McMarold, who served in the 42nd Black Watch Regiment of the Gordon Highlanders and was wounded three times and gassed twice during the World War, left Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1921 and expects to return there in 1941. He is accompanied by his dog "Jack," the third terrier of that name which has accompanied him on his long hike.

More than 9,000 miles afoot and 31,000 miles at sea have been traversed by the Scot on his tour. He has visited Capetown, Ladysmith, Port Said, Buenos Aires, Mexico City and other metropolises, and has crossed the equator twice. He spent last winter in Mexico.

The veteran hikes about nineteen miles a day, he says. More than this is impossible because of his heavy load of knapsack and medals, and because of the dog, McMarold said.

Suffering from ill health because of his experiences in the World War, he undertook the trip to improve his health. The Scot expects to write a book on his travels when he returns to his native heath.

McMarold has worn out 234 pairs of shoes, two dogs and 213 specially made sets of shoes for the dogs since his start from Edinburgh. He carries a pedometer to record his daily progress.

Commenting on general business conditions, McMarold said that Paterson and Passaic appeared to him to be the towns hardest hit by the depression in the United States, among those he had visited. Milwaukee was the most pleasant city he viewed, and business appeared to him to be more normal there than elsewhere.

McMarold was asked where he obtained funds for his tour.

"My clothing and shoes are supplied by manufacturers for the advertising it gives them," he replied. "I get special rates from steamship companies."

"As for money, newspapers are always very kind," said the Scot, with a significant glance at the interviewer.

Puppy Races" Start At Linden Tract

Legalized Mutuels Make
Course A Popular
Resort

Greyhound racing has caught on in New Jersey in such a way as to make it easy of forecast that the sport will reach major proportions before very long. Now there are four tracks operating, with the famous little Linden Course, starting its meeting last Wednesday. And, the game is legal for it was an act of the Legislature which made it so and also permitted the use of the mutuel betting on the results of the races.

It's been many a day since legalized betting was permitted in the state. It's close to forty years ago. But never in those days of granddaddy was the opportunity ever afforded to bet on dog races.

The sport is comparatively new here. Maybe a score of years ago the idea of having a greyhound chase an electrically run rabbit was unknown. It came into being not until last year when at Linden the sport was presented in this section of the country. Then it was at Linden that it was staged and proved a great success. Hundreds of thousands of people assembled during the season and became real dog-race addicts; became so thoroughly imbued with the thrills that the game provides that it was easy of legislation when it was asked at the last session.

Now Linden is all set and in even better shape than ever before for its race meeting. Hundreds of great racing dogs were in training for weeks and now nearly every canine on the ground is fit and ready to give his best.

The very best dogs in the country

"Pay 50¢ for tooth paste?
Let me laugh!"

"I used to think that to get quality in a tooth paste, I had to pay 50¢ or more. Then somebody told me about Listerine Tooth Paste at 25¢. I have had better results than I ever had with other tooth pastes and I save about $5 a year."

Many thousands of men and women have the same idea. Why not try Listerine Tooth Paste yourself? You will be delighted with it. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co.

LISTERINE

have been gathered at the Linden track. They are dogs which won the classics of the sport in other parts of the country and have come here to fight out the issue of the championship for the year.

On these dogs is one named Ben Andrews, which the most expert dogmen say is destined to be the champion of the country. He was a star at Miami Beach last winter and beat the best and now comes for new fields to conquer. He is bound to meet with it here for he has to meet Linden's champion of last year, John J. before he can be hailed as the greatest. There is a score of others and the season which is under way at Linden now promises the greatest dog-race meet in the history of the sport.

Lovely Fifi Loves to Cook

Fascinating Fifi D'Orsay prepares a plump fowl, and samples its gravy before lifting the bird to the fruit-garnished platter resting so invitingly atop the gas range in her kitchen, where she spends much of her leisure time experimenting with exciting new food combinations.

By Mabel Love

"I MAY seem radical in my view," says lovely Fifi D'Orsay, famous screen star, featured recently in "Going Hollywood," "but I see no reason why an actress should suppress her domesticity just because her job is that of entertaining the public."

"I have always taken a great deal of interest in cookery, especially the dishes which I enjoyed in my childhood days spent in Canada, and I still have many of the old family recipes which have been handed down from one generation to another."

"The French Canadians make much of food preparation, many hours being spent in making the food attractive not only to the palate, but the eye as well; for the French have a genuine respect for cookery as an art."

A fruit garnish with the roast is one of Fifi's suggestions, for she believes that many fruit combinations can be used to increase both the eye and appetite appeal of the main dish. Below are two of Fifi's recipes.

Orange Sauce

(For chicken or duck)

6 slices of orange, unpeeled
Juice of two oranges
Grated rind of 1 orange

1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons sherry
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup meat gravy

Add orange juice, sherry flavoring, sugar and salt to gravy and heat. Let orange slices simmer in sauce for five minutes. Arrange slices around roast and garnish with cress.

Another favorite with Miss D'Orsay, which she serves with roast beef, chicken or sliced ham, consists of a prune and pineapple garnish.

Pineapple and Stuffed Prune Garnish

6 slices canned pineapple
1 apple
6 large stewed prunes
5 blanched almonds
1/2 cup pineapple juice

Melt butter, add sugar and saute pineapple slices until delicately brown. Add liquid and simmer until liquid is absorbed. Stuff prunes with almonds, and place one on each slice of pineapple. Arrange around roast or baked sliced ham.

HEISLEY LETTER

Editor of The News:

I have no doubt that when I address you on the topic of "A Needle in a Haystack," you of all men would understand me, though I hope you are dealing now with a different sort of a needle, found largely in Maine—the pine needle. But I allude to the steel needle, and not the brown needles that carpet the floor of a pine forest. Little Bobbie Connors was like a needle in a hay stack, feared to have been kidnapped his likeness turned up in various places. He disappeared from his home on Long Island. Many boys the same age, the same height, or wearing clothes of similar pattern and material, trundled kiddie scooters along every sidewalk, or darted from alley mouths. And strange, cruel men, forced boys just like him along the streets or made them unwillingly mount the steps of automobiles. A lady in Nutley was almost sure she saw him in this town. An Irvington lady was almost certain that the little light complexioned boy who was jammed in between the knees of a dark complexioned man and woman driving an automobile, was the missing Connors child. Looking back over the files of The Sunday Call on another quest sprang a queer sensation, like unto the times of poor little Charlie Ross anent which my brother-in-law figured. In the cute juvenile dress of the time the six-year old boy was sitting on the typical Brooklyn brown stone porch when the searching detectives spotted him.

"My name is not Charlie Ross, but I am William James Henry Stokes," he declared to the badge wearers, and they were mean enough to follow the child upstairs to his bedroom where his mother lay sick, under a nurse's care, to get her verification of her son's statement.

Children are in general so much alike that one is reminded of straws cut the same length. Well the Connor's scare is over. The boy was found near his home. A doctor's examination discloses traces of his diet of grasses and leaves. I dare not include beetles or insects, but children put such strange things into their mouths, which they treat as a sort of rocket. Somehow he kept alive however outraged was his little palate. No doubt he had drunk some stagnant water with its insect and germ infestations. You know the true followers of Gideon didn't worry about the contents of the water they dipped with their hands, crossing that stream while their companions halted on the banks, demanding a chemical analysis before they would do likewise. (It was before the days of Eugene H. Sullivan). It was reported that the victim's condition was worse after several days' treatment, possibly due to over-medication. To put it mildly, it is one device of a time to have a child kidnapped, and then practised upon after his recaption.

It was even a worse time when dear old Judge Post of blessed memory, had the housewives whose home bordered Third River scared over his journalistic sea serpent with its horse's head, exploring the rippling reaches of the winding stream. They feared it would make a landing. Some think I understand my town pretty well. I don't know about that, but I have talked a great deal with Nutley's old timers.

Dodge Dealers' Deliveries Advance Gain To 62.6%

Detroit, Mich., August 8. — Retail deliveries by Dodge dealers continue the rising tendency that has kept the organization's sales curve pointing upward for the greater part of the past thirty weeks.

Figures just given out by A. van Der Zee, general sales manager of Dodge Brothers Corporation and analyzing dealer activities for the period January 1 to July 28 show a reported total of 146,885 sales of new passenger cars and trucks made by Dodge dealers during the first seven months of the present year. This sales yield, compared to 90,334 deliveries recorded for the corresponding period of 1933, marks an increase of 62.6%.

The year-to-date delivery total of 146,885 vehicles accounts for 85.3 Dodge passenger cars and trucks and for 60,947 Plymouths.

Retail deliveries by Dodge for the single week ending July 28—the latest week figuring separately in the tabulation — were 3,168 Dodge passenger cars and trucks and 2,785 Plymouths, or a total of 5,953 vehicles as against 5,764 vehicles sold during the preceding week.

Segregation of truck deliveries from the common total, so far shows sales of 26,281 Dodge commercial cars and trucks, as against 8,575 units sold during the like thirty-weeks period of 1933.

A reassuring detail in Mr. van Der Zee's analysis is the satisfaction with which he regards the fact that the summer drought and other untoward conditions have evidently not tended to curtail car and truck sales to any significant degree.

Household Electric Service On a "5 and 10" Basis

"FRED, I've just read a Public Service ad in the paper which says we pay only $2.80 a month for our electricity."

"I read that ad, too, Mary," replied her husband, "and it didn't say we paid $2.80 but that the average monthly bill of domestic consumers was $2.80. That's different."

Fred's reply to his wife was correct. The average monthly bill paid by approximately 700,000 domestic customers is $2.80—LESS THAN TEN CENTS A DAY.

If $2.80 is the average bill, it naturally follows that many bills are less than $2.80 and others are more than $2.80.

As an illustration, one out of four, or 175,000 domestic consumers, paid in 1933 not more than $1.50 per month for their electricity. THIS IS ONLY FIVE CENTS A DAY.

One out of three, or 233,000 domestic consumers, paid not more than $1.80 per month for their electricity, or SIX CENTS A DAY.

Those who paid more than $2.80 per month enjoyed the use of more labor-saving appliances which in many instances take the place of servants.

Electricity is the best and cheapest servant that any household can have.

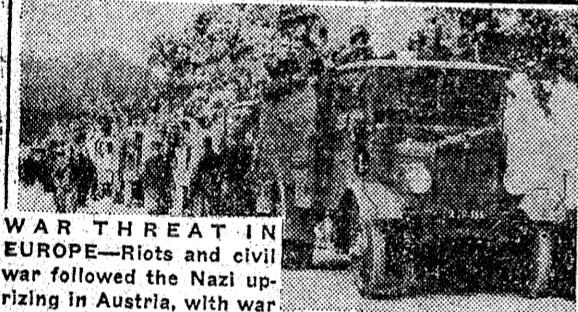

No other item in the household budget offers so much for so little as electricity

WAR THREAT IN EUROPE—Riots and civil war followed the Nazi uprising in Austria, with war rumors shaking all Europe. Photo shows a detachment of Austrian troops which took part in the drive to stamp out Nazi disturbances around Styria.

MOST FAMOUS FICTION CHARACTER—Scattergood Baines, created by Clarence Buddington Kelland several years ago for a series of short stories has become the most popular character in American fiction, hero of 100 tales of homely heart appeal and humor. Now for the first time Kelland has put Scattergood into a full-length novel, running in the American Magazine as a serial "The Closed Room."

COSTLIEST DOG GRAVE—Thirteen thousand dollars was the cost of this mausoleum for two dogs, the most expensive dog grave in the world. It is located in the unique Hartsdale (N. Y.) Canine Cemetery, set aside for tombs of pet animals.

MIDGET TACKLES GIANT BOTTLE—The midget and the giant got their bottles mixed recently when they went on a little beer drinking tour. Vance Swift, America's smallest man who stands 27 inches, obtained the aid of Christine Willard, Spanish dancer, when he tackled the big bottle. Capt. Gilbert Reichert, 8-foot Clevelandian, expected to see the midget drown under the giant bottle which is part of the glass container exhibit at the Owens-Illinois glass block building at the World's Fair in Chicago.

MAY WIN SCHOLARSHIP—William S. McLean, secretary of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, supervises the unpacking of the first miniature Napoleonic coach to be submitted for judging in the competition for which 24 university scholarships worth $51,000 will be awarded. Boys from all over the country build the coaches, which will be judged at the Century of Progress Exposition.

TAILORED PRINT FOR FORMAL FROCK—Once no one would have thought of wearing a tailored print dress after dark, but now it's quite the thing, according to Constance Cummings, noted picture star. Her latest evening gown is fashioned of black and white pin check silk. A snappy, little box jacket completes the evening ensemble.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grouchy and no good for anything. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 1/2 of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped tomcat, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—24¢. ©1934, C.M. Co.

saying, Not by might, nor by power, but by spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (Zechariah 4:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now the Lord is that Spirit; and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (II Corinthians 3:17, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Beyond the frail premises of human beliefs, above the loosening grasp of creeds, the demonstration of Christian Mind-healing stands a revealed and practical Science. It is imperious throughout all ages as Christ's revelation of Truth, of Life, and of Love, which remains inviolate for every man to understand and to practise" (p. 98).

Famous French Chef Reveals His Method of Fixing a Brand New Summer Salad

By Theophile Kieffer
Maitre de Cuisine
Sherry Netherland Hotel

THERE are many who think that the creation of a brand new dish by the chef de cuisine at a well-known hotel is a casual and routine matter. Let me assure you that this is not so.

Visiting diplomats and smart families throughout the country are accustomed to find here a cuisine of surpassing and distinctive excellence. Thus, I find it necessary to experiment constantly, not only with new dishes, but with basic new food ingredients with which to prepare tempting new dishes.

Follows Laws of French Cuisine

These experiments are guided by laws which govern the highest French cuisine. They require a basic knowledge of food chemistry. They also draw heavily upon a chef's experience in combining one food with another. They take into most careful consideration the nutritional elements of each food and pay particular attention to the balanced nutritional properties of the finished dish.

I selected Brazil Nuts for these experiments because of their general popularity and because their use promised to add desirable "chewiness" to any dish in which they were used. I found the nuts rich in oil. Thus it was unnecessary to consider the further use of oil in preparing the dressing.

Flavor Blending Important

To realize fully upon the flavor of these popular nuts, I selected pineapple as the chief complementary ingredient. The blending was pleasant, particularly when the nuts were shredded and the pineapple prepared in julienne.

The final result is a truly distinctive dish with a flavor entirely its own. It is pleasing and cool to the taste. It arouses the sluggish palate with a flavor not soon to be forgotten.

Before presenting this dish for service, I had every one of my expert assistants sample the flavor and express his opinion thereof. Then came the final endorsement—the critical judgment of Joseph, maitre de hotel. Ha Ha—Joseph knows his food like a book. When he smacked his lips and came back for two, three more forksful, I knew that Brazil Nut Salad was off to a flying start.

My own original recipe follows:

Brazil Nut Salad Theophile

1/2 pound Brazil Nuts
1 lemon
Pinch salt
1/2 pint heavy cream
1 small pineapple
Curry powder
2 hard-boiled eggs

For a dish for four persons, first shred one-half pound of Brazil Nuts. Now cut up a small pineapple in julienne; that is to say, in lengths of an inch or more, sliced into fine strips. Next cut up some pimento in large dices, add a dash of curry powder—no more than can be put on the tip of the blade of a pocket knife—and add the juice of a lemon, a pinch of salt and one-quarter pint of heavy cream. Mix well. Dress in a salad bowl with the leaves from a heart of small crisp lettuce, and decorate with pimentos in cubes, slices of two hard-boiled eggs, and Brazil Nuts cut in half lengthwise.

Wednesday nights was established. On Wednesday, there was a hike from the camp.

Those in the party were Edward Dunham, William Fehon, William Holmes, Harvey Mumford, Donald Richards and Alfred Walker. The scouts reached home late yesterday afternoon.

Two other member of Troop 88, Joseph Caskey and John Idenden, left Saturday for a week at Camp Mohican, Newtown.

Yawn and The World Yawns With You

LOOK at the baby in this picture. You yawned didn't you? Why? Simply because one good yawn deserves another. Or if you prefer to be psychological, it's a reflex action.

At any rate, when the baby in this picture made his debut on a car card in New York's crowded subways in behalf of a well-known 99.44 per cent pure soap, it was remarked in an equally well-known newspaper column that everyone who looked at the baby yawned. And if you don't care to take the columnist's word for it, try it on your friends.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

The Department of Public Welfare of New York is subsidizing groups of unemployed actors and actresses, who are providing open-air drama for the masses. But the vehicle selected is the good old show "Uncle Tom's Cabin." All the groups are using the same play.

It is remarkable the life there is in this great old show. The New York audiences receive it with the greatest enthusiasm. It seems as fresh and alive today as a generation or more ago.

That this ancient play is still so popular is a sure sign that the old time dramas, while they may be outmoded, are still full of the sort of dramatic entertainment the masses of people enjoy.

COOLING THE MINES

In less than a week attention has been called to two scientific accomplishments beyond, even, the ken of man's most ambitious dreams of past eras. In South Africa it was announced that man had at last found a way to reach gold deposits hitherto barred to him by the terrific heat and deadening humidity below a certain level in the earth's crust. At South Dartmouth a fog bank was dissipated.

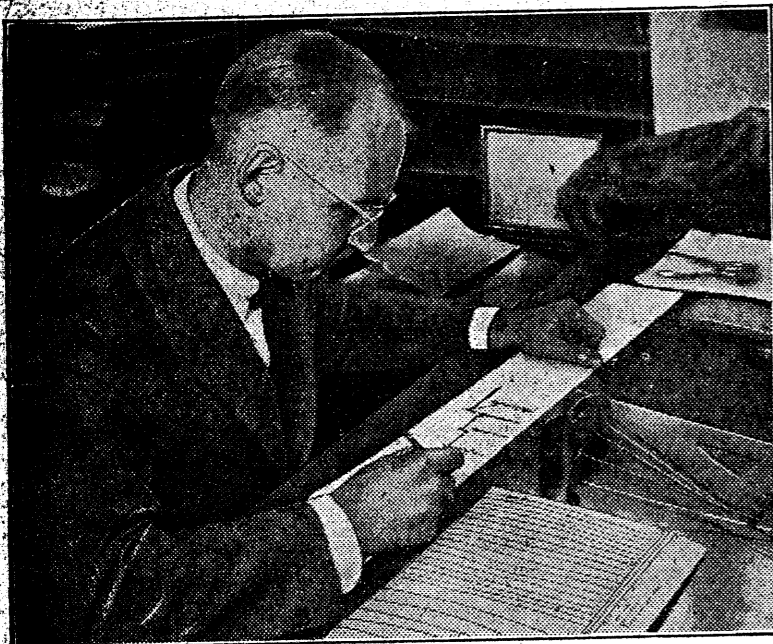

Steps are being taken to air conditions in the gold mines, enabling man to burrow deeper than ever before into the earth. His battle with fog, an enemy since he first began to fly, may be won or at least made more favorable by the experiment at Round Hill. Even in years of topsy-turvy economic conditions, science forges its way forward.

WRITER

J. S. Fletcher, one of the most prolific writers in the world, told some interesting facts in England the other day about his career. He is well over 70 years old, and he has turned out 240 novels and 700 short stories.

He writes as fast as his pen will travel over the paper, and he never has an idea when he starts a book what the ending will be. He has been writing crime fiction since the World War, and finds that it is much simpler to write than romance. He finds that a love story requires more brain work than the most intricate detective problem. Other folks, too, find love a problem.

Dr. Laird coding a sleep record to show what movements are represented by the variations in the sleep line. During his recent sleep investigation, a device known as the somnokinograph registered on a strip like this every movement made by the subjects while in bed.

Hamilton, N. Y., August—There is probably a direct relationship between heat, sleep and diet, and a wisely selected diet should contribute materially to the relief of those who lose sleep or sleep restlessly during hot weather, according to Dr. Donald A. Laird, director of the Colgate University psychological laboratory, and probably the country's foremost authority on sleep.

If you take Dr. Laird's advice you will limit your summer diet to the foods that do not tend to produce excess body heat and that make the least demands upon the digestive system. The dairy foods, fresh fruits and vegetables, and the ready-to-eat cereals such as corn flakes and the rice and wheat varieties, are cited by Dr. Laird as familiar examples.

A sleep investigation recently completed by Dr. Laird at Colgate showed that, leaving aside the markedly hard to digest foods, the foods eaten before retiring have a strong influence upon sleep. The sleep of children was improved 14 per cent by substituting for their regular supper a supper of light foods in which a bowl of corn flakes and milk was the principal dish.

"The heating, less easily digested foods, and high external temperatures both tend to cause lack of sleep or restlessness during the night," Dr. Laird says. "By a wisely selected diet at least one of these causes should be minimized."

Dr. Laird points out that since poor sleep is probably at the bottom of the lack of energy that afflicts many people during hot weather, anything that contributes to better sleep also contributes directly to the preservation of health and efficiency.

HOW TO MAKE A WILD WOMAN

Factfully Yours

— LILLIAN THOMAS —

A doctor, with whom I talked this past week, obliged me with some interesting facts pertaining to properties of water, and healing by water.

Water is a valuable agent in treating body ills. Its use in the treatment of disease was practiced by the most skilled of all the Greek physicians, Hippocrates, 400 years before the time of Christ. Water cures were very extensively used by the Romans at the time of their highest development. Dr. James Currie, who practiced in Liverpool from 1780 to 1805, was the most prominent advocate of hydrotherapy (healing by water) during the eighteenth century. But it was a German farmer, named Preissnitz, who must be called the founder of modern hydrotherapy.

In the year 1840, nearly sixteen hundred persons visited Graefenberg to be treated by him. His patients came from all parts of the world, and when cured they became missionaries of the new treatment. Schools were started not only in Europe, but in this country also. Today, the water treatment has a permanent place among the remedies used in combating disease.

Hydrotherapy includes the application of water, internally and externally, in any form and at any temperature. It may vary from solid or fluid to vapor; from ice to steam!

The most important means employed in hydrotherapy is the application of water to the skin. But beneficial results depend upon the water's degree of temperature, the length of time it is allowed to act and the measure in which it is applied. For instance: Water of 50 or 65 degrees, poured over the head and shoulders while sitting in a tub, acts as a stimulant; but the stimulation will vary with the temperature of the water and the height from which it is poured over the patient. If the patient's case is "acute," he will be made to sit in the tub; if it's "chronic" he will be made to stand!

A bath where the water covers the hips and limbs will remedy one ailment; a bath where the water covers the abdomen and chest will remedy another.

Drinking cold water will slow the pulse and make it stronger and fuller. Drinking hot water weakens the pulse and makes it rapid.

Applications to the skin of water at varying temperatures will increase or decrease one's breathing. It can send more blood to one's brain, thus securing greater mental activity; or it can be employed so as to send less blood to the brain, thus securing sleep for the patient.

And did you know that one pound of water will absorb eight times as much heat as one pound of iron and not be any hotter than the iron?

Purely Personal

By LILLIAN THOMAS

PURELY personal That elm tree in Fort McHenry, Md., is a grand-parent of the tree under which Washington first took command of the American Army.

Righteousness is lost among mankind. Today man lies in wait for blood and money. And half of this world hunts the other half with a net.

Generally, the man who stands at the top rung of the ladder asks for his reward, and the man at the bottom, who seeks to fulfill a mischievous desire, pays! The two get together and wrap up a bargain.

In the town-hall of Provincetown, Mass., hangs a picture—the dream of a civic-minded citizen of that little fishing village.

The picture is a portrayal of Provincetown, with leafy trees shading the streets, and great wharves, where mammoth ocean liners may come to dock. It depicts beautiful homes, landscaped parks, and grass-fringed walks leading to the waters' edge. But in reality, Provincetown is just a smelly little place, with a terrible fishy smell at that. Its wharves are dilapidated, and ancient looking fishing smacks and trawlers drop anchor here. The houses are unpainted. There are no parks. There are few trees. And yet, artists and writers make Provincetown their headquarters during the summer months. For all its repellent poverty, Provincetown has a strange allure, a quiet dignity all its own. It's a fishing village like no other fishing village on this coast. It's the kind of place where a city-bred person, spending a summer there would find plenty to write home about.

"Dolores," the beauty who inspired Jacob Epstein and other London sculptors, has this to say of men and women:

"Men, the world over, divide women into two classes: those whom they marry, whom they put at the head of their homes and by whom they have children—and those for whom they have their ephemeral passions.

"The first of these categories of women is she who will never raise a man to the highest transports of joy, who will never succeed in making him forget all else save that he is in her arms. He does not live with her in the truest, fullest sense of the word. But this existence with her is what man seeks eventually, peace, tranquillity, safety."

Well done, "Dolores," VERY well done!

Series With Leafs

Real Test For Bears

Manager Bob Shawkey Tells Of Thrills Of Former Years

As the league leading Bears prowl around the northern cities on their last long road trip of the campaign, they know they have plenty of obstacles to hurdle. Toronto and Rochester are their most deadly rivals and as both of these teams are getting new help, the Bears figure either one or both might seriously cut into the lead they now hold. Neither manager like Boone of Toronto nor George Toporcer, boss of Rochester, have conceded the flag to the Bears, for both believe they have better outfits than the Bruins and in the drive down the stretch they expect to see the Newark club falter.

The Bruins meet their first real acid test of the campaign, beginning today when they start a four-game series with the Toronto Leafs. A doubleheader is listed for tomorrow, and a single game Monday. Sunday is an off day. As the huddling staff is in shape and the Bears are again stugging, the Bruins are confident of making the Leafs wilt. Leaving Toronto the Bears will go to Montreal to play five games, including the one which was washed out in Newark last week, against the Royals.

Before departing on the road trip, Manager Bob Shawkey of the Bears was optimistic and after declaring his Bears should win, barring accidents he fell into a reminiscent mood. He told of some of the thrills he experienced as a player while in the big league. A play which he says he will always remember occurred in 1913 while with the Athletics. It was in the ninth inning, one down and the tying run on third and the winning run on second. The squeeze was put on. The man bunted safely and Walter Johnson was pitching for Washington. Walter fielded the ball and threw home. Johnson, however, threw with such speed that it went right through the catcher and the man from second scored. Another stirring play he likes to talk about happened in the world series of 1923 between the Giants and the Yankees. Roney Ryan was pitching for the Giants and although there was one out in the ninth he succeeded in fanning the mighty Babe Ruth. It was then Bob Mousel came up and delivered a double which gave the Yanks the game and series.

Shawkey recalled many instances until the name of Elmer Smith, the former Cleveland outfielder, was mentioned. Then Bob was almost wilted. He frankly admitted Smith was poison to him. Try as he might he was never successful against Smith, notwithstanding he knew all of the Cleveland player's weaknesses. Once in New York, Shawkey was pitching against Cleveland, with two down, and the Yankees were leading 2 to 0. A storm was rapidly approaching. Shawkey managed to get two strikes on his rival. Then Smith began to foul them off and he fouled so many that the storm broke and Shawkey lost a 2 to 0 game, as the required 4½ innings had not been completed.

The boss of the Bears says he had the satisfaction of playing for the two greatest managers baseball ever knew, the late Miller Huggins and Connie Mack. Shawkey feels as the years go by, Huggins will be recognized as the greatest manager the game has ever produced.

Danny Dunn, winning pitcher, reached his peak in the fourth inning, when he retired the side on strikes. Chick Wahlforth starred at bat or the losers, rapping out a double and a pair of singles.

Wilt

The Oldham Association put a further clincher on their claims to the Belleville American Legion Twilight League diadem, last week, at Clearman Field, as they pounded the maltreated El Club, 11-1.

The veteran right-hander, Oskey Lawson, added another victory to his big string, as he doled out six scattered hits to the Lawlormen, holding them scoreless until the last inning.

The game was decided as early as the first canto, however, when successive singles by Johnnie Wengel and Will Ungemah, coupled with some erratic El Club infield play, gave the Oldhams two runs.

The half-way mark in the second half of the Essex County League was reached Sunday with Verona out in front a full game over Montclair and three games in advance of the next four clubs who are tied. The leaders had another easy time with the opposing twirlers in Sunday's game against Bloomfield, getting to Nurkowski for thirteen safeties and winning, 11 to 4. Lefty Burkhardt, limited Bloomfield to six blows.

Ace Miller pitched and batted Caldwell to a 5 to 3 victory over Glen Ridge, the losers' third straight defeat. Miller allowed eight hits, and while at the bat, doubled in the first to rap in a run and in the third hit a long homer over the center fielder's head with two men on.

Glen Ridge had numerous chances to score but could not get hits when they were most needed, nine men being left on bases.

Mike Hanley went down to his first league defeat when Montclair defeated Belleville 8 to 3 in a hotly contested game for seven innings. The Mountaineers put the game away in the eighth when they got to Hanley for four hits and three runs. Bill Kearny with a single, double and triple was the heavy batter of the game. Eddie O'Neill hit for the circuit.

Nereids Travel To Hudson River To Meet Verona B. C.

Dual Regatta Is Scheduled For Sunday, August 19

The Nereid Boat Club of Belleville will send seven crews of their best oarsmen to the Hudson River course of the Verona B. C. of Edgewater, Sunday, August 19, to compete in a dual regatta. This regatta represents another milestone in the club's progress in recent years, and is another big event of the present season, probably the busiest in years.

Coach C. Leverich Brett of the local club has already announced the crews he will use in the five events which will take place to decide possession of the beautiful point trophy which has been donated. Medals will also be awarded the individual members of the winning crews.

Stan Goodrich, big six-footer, fresh from college, will stroke the club single for the Nereids, with the fine senior double gig combination of Bill Bennett and Les "Babe" Burnley handling the oars in that event.

The club quadruple shell will include Irving Butler, Bill Herkness, Gerard Rhoades and Howard McMaster. The latter will also compete in the junior single gig event. The fifth and last race for the point trophy, the novice single gig, will include either Joe Whitehorn or Walter Nicol as Nereid representation.

In addition, there will be two other races for medals between crews of the two clubs.

Frank Brandenburg and George Paganelli will team up in a novice double gig against the Veronas. An eight-oared shell race will also be held, with the Nereid crew yet to be selected by Coach Brett.

All events will be over a half mile course, which is located on the Hudson River near the 125th Street Ferry.

The officials will include Lon Reinert, Active B. C., referee and starter; John Kraft, Nonpareil B. C., George Eggerling, Active B. C.; John P. Dailey, Nereid B. C.; Herbert V. Hardman, Nereid B. C., judges. There will also be two judges representing the competing Verona B. C.

Woodhouse Tossers Down Williamsmen

The Woodhouse Association scored an easy 9-1 victory over the W. H. Williams Association Monday night at Clearman Field, in a Belleville American Legion League tussle.

Six runs in the first inning on four hits cinched the game early for the Woodhouse club. Three Williams' errors aided in their downfall.

John "Fuzzy" Ryder, Woodhouse pitcher, permitted his opponents six hits. A homer with one on in the fourth by Harry Jacques, Woodhouse center fielder, was the best hit of the game. Jerry Bonavita connected safely twice for the losers.

Lamb Twirls Bell-boys To Easy Win In County Loop

There seems to be no stopping the Verona ball-tossers in the Essex County League. They captured the first-half championship and appear to be well on their way to the second-half crown.

Verona gave a good exhibition of its batting strength Saturday in one of the league contests by trouncing the Orange outfit, 14 to 3, at the Orange Playground. The victors have dropped but one of six games played in the second-half series. Montclair holds second place, with three teams tied for third.

Bloomfield found all three pitchers used by Glen Ridge to their liking and pounded out twenty hits to win, 11 to 5.

Jack McHugh hurled Montclair to a 5 to 2 victory over Caldwell.

Mack Lamb occupied the mound for Belleville against Nutley and gained a 6 to 2 victory. The Belleville manager was given wonderful support by his teammates. Johnny Yuhasz, East Rutherford all-state shortstop, made five difficult stops and throws, each one from out of position.

Mike Dunn, the latest contribution of the Dunn family to Belleville's nine, connected for four hits, including two doubles. Blasi, with two doubles and a single, led the Nutley batters. Sullivan's homer was the longest hit.

"THE NEWS"

Saucer Splinters

From all outward appearances it seems that a new feud has sprung up to replace the one of last year between Alfred Letourner and Gerard Debaets.

With the running off of the 62½ mile motor paced race Sunday night at the Velodrome, the impression was general that a feud exists between Alfred Letourner, present motor-paced champion, and Franco Georgetti, premier Italian choo-choo follower.

It all started at about the twenty-fifth mile when Jean Antenucci, totting Georgetti, attempted to pass Letourner to gain third position. Charlie Stein, pacing Letourner, sensing that the Italian was about to gain his goal, suddenly shot up close to Georgetti. This race was enough to scare off Georgetti, since it is a known fact that the Italian would rather break from his motorcycle than take a chance injuring his valuable legs in a squeeze play.

About six laps later, Antenucci pulled Georgetti up to Letourner, and then suddenly brushed alongside the Frenchman, who resented Antenucci's tactics, and made a pass at him. Then it seems that both pace-makers were poking at each other, and both Letourner and Georgetti were unable to follow their pacing machines. But Georgetti regained his machine first and shot into second place, trailing Tino Reboli, the leader.

Georgetti never made a serious attempt to get around Reboli, but appeared satisfied to trail along and wait for Letourner's rushes and fight him off. This happened time and again with the Frenchman getting the worse of it.

At the fiftieth milestone Georgetti changed bikes on account of a flat tire and was penalized a lap. He succeeded in regaining his lost lap, but Tino Reboli who had been leading the pack for fifty miles, breezed in first. Letourner, second; Georgetti, a close third; Gerard Debaets, fourth; Franz Deulberg, fifth, and Charlie Jaeger, sixth.

Antenucci was fined $15 for his part in the fracas, and the fans gave him a lusty "Bronx cheer."

Cecil Walker, one-time American sprint and all-around champion, won the three-cornered, ten-mile tandem paced race from Torchy Peden and Ewald Wissel. By a great burst of speed in the last mile, Walker was able to open a gap which Peden and Wissel found difficult to close.

In the two-mile tandem race, Charlie Ritter and Tom Saetta won a popular victory over Joe DeVito and El Ammann. Freddy Spencer and Jimmy Walthour won third place; Paul Van Ness and Willie Unkert, fourth; George Dempsey and Norman Hill, fifth, and Roy Garrison and Bob Silver, sixth.

The fifty-mile motor-paced race, the fourteenth of the series run Wednesday night, was a humdinger and a thriller. With the bark of the gun the fireworks began. First one rider and then another would stir up a serenity of the Velodrome. It was a real give and take affair—permit a rider to go by and when settled in his new position, ride around him.

Without any doubt Franz Deulberg rode his strongest race of the season. He held the lead most of the distance and despite the repeated attempts of the other riders to oust him from the lead he was unbeatable.

At the forty-fifth mile, the riders began fighting for positions. Debaets, in third place, tried to pass Letourner who was in second, and failed. Then Charlie Jaeger made a try at him and also failed, falling in third place. At this stage Georgetti, who was in fifth place, decided to make his bid and after a four-lap battle, succeeded in getting around Letourner but was not able to pull up to Deulberg.

The finish of the race: Deulberg, first; Georgetti, second; Letourner, third; Jaeger, fourth; Debaets, fifth, and Reboli, sixth.

Present point standing: Letourner, 35; Georgetti, 30; Debaets, 26; Deulberg, 25; Reboli, 21 and Jaeger, 19.

The feature of next importance was the ten-mile tandem-paced race between Cecil Walker, Torchy Peden and Ewald Wissel. These riders met in a similar race Sunday night which Walker won. Peden came second, and Wissel third. Feeling that he had not done his best, Wissel asked Manager Harry Mendel to match the trio again, with the result that the race was put on Wednesday night's card. And what a race!

After the fifth mile when things were a little quiet, Wissel's pace-makers suddenly began pulling away and opened a gap, but due to faulty pick-ups the gap was soon closed. At two miles to go Wissel hauled in the anchor and set sail. The going got so hot that Walker and Peden were on and off their tandems trying to catch Wissel. But Wissel was too fast and won with plenty of yardage to spare. Peden took second place and Walker, third.

Charlie Ritter and Tom Saetta, the two-mile tandem race, professional, from a crack field of thirty teams. Coming from the rear at five laps to go they rode around the field and won by several lengths. Ricci and Mario Rossi were second; Paul Van Ness and Willie Unkert, third; Kugler and Jimmy Coreoran, fourth; Marcel Boogman and George C. fifth, and Otto Petri and Tony Bauman, sixth.

Business Shows Gain, Say Food Center Merchants

Business is showing a decided turn for the better, say the merchants who operate the Washington Food Center at 522-526 Washington avenue, Belleville. Sales at the large market have increased more than 50 per cent since its opening.

The merchants at the Washington Food Center are in a position to judge business recovery, for their merchandise includes groceries, meats, vegetables and dairy products, and they are able to see improvement in all lines of the retail food trade.

According to the dealers, local people have been able to secure a higher quality of food at lower prices since the opening of their market, which accounts for the increase in sales and the larger number of customers that patronize the establishment.

Dr. Harry M. Rosen Is Graduate Optometrist

Dr. Harry M. Rosen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rosen of 344 Cortlandt street, has been advised by Dr. Louis A. Rochat, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Board of Optometrists, that he has successfully passed the state board examinations recently held at Trenton.

Dr. Rosen studied for his profession at the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry, in Philadelphia, which is regarded as one of the foremost institutions of its kind. On the faculty of the college are found many optometric educators of national and international repute.

At the clinics of the college, Dr. Rosen gained wide practical experience during his year of clinical internship. This clinic is probably one of the largest in the country; handling more than 25,000 patients yearly. Before attending the Pennsylvania State College of Optometry, Dr. Rosen attended the Newark Preparatory School.

Belleville Family Visits Cape Cod Lighthouse

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Mumford and family are home from Cape Cod, where they occupied a cottage at South Yarmouth. During their stay they visited Highland Light at North Truro, and Provincetown.

Highland Light is second in power and importance on the whole Atlantic sea coast, the one ranking first being located at Navesink Highlands. The beam from Highland Light, equal to 4,000,000 candlepower, may be seen twenty miles at sea, while its reflection has been picked up seventy-five miles off shore.

Navesink Light is equal to 5,000,000 candlepower. The light is furnished by a 1,000 watt incandescent bulb, good for 750 hours, but, to take no chances, a new one is put in every 700 hours. The lighthouse has its own power plant. The lenses are composed of innumerable prisms, with bulls eyes so placed as to cause the flashes which identifies this light to mariners. The revolving portion is set in a bed of mercury to prevent friction, and can be moved by the touch of a finger, although weighing four tons. The lenses were made in Paris, thirty-six years ago, and assembled at the light by French experts.

Provincetown is near the tip of the Cape, and is known as the "Paradise of Artists, who may be seen sitting in the narrow streets, at their easels, painting and sketching the quaint landscapes.

Miss Eileen Mueller and her brother Harry Mueller, Jr., of 44 Mertz avenue have returned home after spending two weeks with their aunt, Mrs. Louis Purdy, at her home at Glendola, near Belmar.

Buying Suggestions That Take Guesswork Out of Canteloupes

Ripe Fruit Can Be Selected Every Time by Application of A Few Simple Rules

By FRED W. JACKSON
Director, Division of Consumer Information
Department of Agriculture, Trenton, N. J.

WITH but a few scattering crops of New Jersey peaches this season there has been quite a trend to canteloupes as a substitute. In fact, many New Jersey farmers anticipated this demand for canteloupes and planted a considerable acreage of choice varieties. These canteloupes from South Jersey and neighboring states, because of being grown nearby, can be permitted to reach a fuller degree of ripeness on the vines. That, in addition to a very favorable growing season, accounts for their superior flavor.

How To Select Them

Housewives frankly confess that canteloupes are one of the most difficult fruits to buy. Complaints of a too green or too ripe condition are frequent. Many delegate the task to the merchants but even then results are often uncertain. Selecting ripe, full flavored canteloupes is conceded to be no easy task. However, the following are some suggested points to observe:

For home use canteloupes of about 5 inches in diameter are in most demand. Shape is not important but the oval types are preferred. Pink fleshed varieties are most popular but the green tinted or golden flesh types are equally good when ripe. Quality in canteloupes is usually associated with an abundant and prominent netting which is the cork-like veining on the outer surface. One of the best means to determine ripeness when buying local canteloupes is to examine the end at which the canteloupe was attached to the vine. If the scar on this stem end is clean, perhaps sunken and smooth or calloused, then the fruit was ripe when picked. On fruit green and immature when picked, the stem scar is torn, green, or often bears a portion of the stem. Now take the canteloupe in your hand. If ripe then the blossom end will be softened a little and yield at that point to slight pressure of the hand but otherwise be fairly firm. Color and scent are factors, too. A change of the ground color of the rind from dark green to a more or less yellowish tinge is a sign of ripeness, which is also indicated by the rich, melon aroma as it becomes stronger and more perceptible.

What To Avoid
Avoid soft, very yellow canteloupes which are usually over-ripe of insipid flavor and watery. Steer clear of bruised or spotted canteloupes because the flesh is usually very soft and spongy.

While each of the foregoing points is important the selection of canteloupes cannot be based on any single sign. No one indication is infallible. Rather, one must consider them collectively and in combination. In conclusion the factors that really determine quality are sweetness, fine texture and full flavor of the flesh; one can expect to find them only in fully ripened canteloupes.

Next week Mr. Jackson will discuss buying and selecting potatoes.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

THIS week and next yellow Elberta peaches will be at the height of their season and the price is moderate. Since late peaches will be scarce and high, now is the time to do canning and preserving. Thompson seedless and Malaga grapes are plentiful and reasonable. Cantaloupes are good and attractively priced, and honeydew melons are fine but expensive.

Tomatoes, lettuce, celery, cucumbers and cabbage, together with beets and carrots, are plentiful and cheap. These vegetables help to make summer salads and cold plates the appetizing things they are.

Meats in general are a little cheaper for no more expensive—which is good news.

The Quaker Maid suggests the following menus:

Low Cost Dinner

Braised Beef Round Mashed Potatoes
Glazed Onions
Bread and Butter
Sliced Peaches
Tea and Coffee — Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Roast Lamb Browned Potatoes
Green Beans
Bread and Butter
Green Grapes in Jelly
Tea and Coffee — Milk

Very Special Dinner

Broiled Chicken and Corn Fritters
Buttered Broccoli
Sliced Tomato Salad
Rolls and Butter
Fresh Peach Ice Cream Sponge Cake
Coffee (hot or iced) — Milk

Newark Legion To Sponsor Constitution Day Parade

Post 10, American Legion, for a Constitution Day parade, will participate in the parade. County commanders and auxiliary presidents of this county are advised to file their intentions with William J. Doyle, general chairman, 56 Commonwealth avenue, Newark. Post 10, American Legion, will appear in costumes.

Food Market Advice

ALL meats are, temporarily at least, either stationary in price or a little lower. LAMB is noticeably cheaper, BEEF a trifle cheaper. VEAL and PORK unchanged, and SMOKED MEATS either no higher or possibly a little less expensive. BOLOGNAS and FRANKFURTS are somewhat lower, also.

BROILERS are attractively priced and FOWL are down a cent a pound wholesale. Broiled chicken, jellied chicken and chicken salad are favorite hot weather dishes.

The importance of refrigeration cannot be overestimated at this season. It has been fully recognized in the handling of meat, poultry, fish, and dairy products and is now being applied to fruits and vegetables. Berries, chilled as soon as picked, carry to market without molding or crushing. Chilled corn and peas keep their sweetness, vine-ripened melons when thoroughly chilled arrive in market in first-class condition tender, sweet and full of flavor. Lettuce has a long journey from the west coast but arrives crisp and fresh due to thorough icing and refrigerated cars. Equal care of food must be taken in the home if foods are to appear on the table at their best. Ice, gas, and electric current are all cheaper than foods discarded because of spoilage.

Peaches Good This Week

BLUEBERRIES are the most plentiful berry available. Georgia yellow Elberta PEACHES are arriving in quantity and, in addition, some early white peaches from more northerly points. This week and next will be the best this season for canning peaches at home. The Georgia crop is large and fine and is being shipped now. Most northerly peach orchards suffered from last winter's low temperatures, which will mean a shortage later in the season.

WATERMELONS are higher as the peak of the season passes. CANTALOUPEs are plentiful and cheap. HONEYDEW's are fine but expensive. GRAPES, including Thompson seedless and the Malagas, are plentiful and moderately priced. BANANAS are somewhat more plentiful but little change in price is expected. PEARS, PLUMS, and GRAPES help to make an attractive bowl of fruit for combined service and table decoration. GREEN APPLES are not cheap and probably will not be this season, but a green apple pie is worth its cost in time and labor.

Vine-ripened Tomatoes

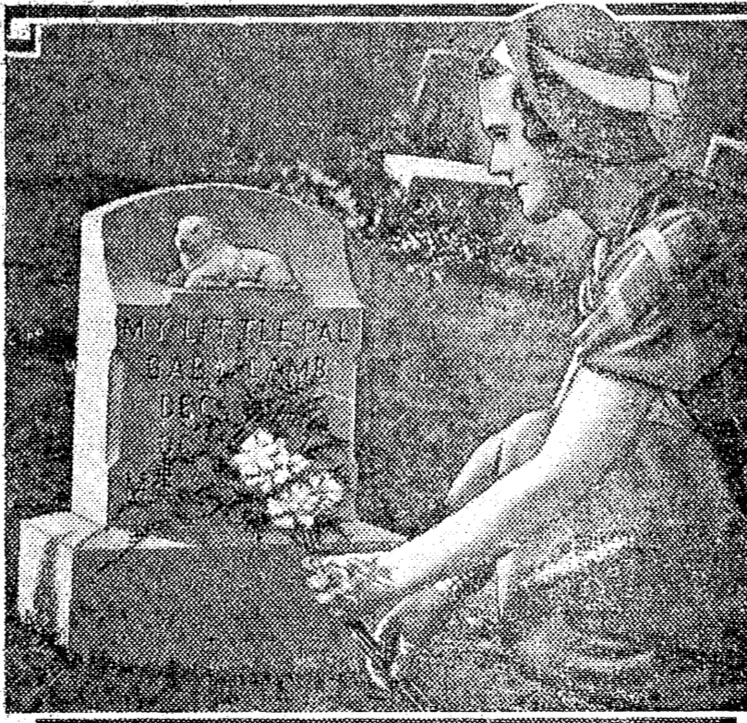

Vine-ripened home-grown TOMATOES are very cheap and they are so sweet, red and meaty that they should be enjoyed often while they last. BEETS and CARROTS are very cheap and still young and sweet. CABBAGE is somewhat higher but still an inexpensive vegetable. Cole slaw and its variations are a well-liked accompaniment to cold plates. NEW RUTABAGA TURNIPS are in market. SWEET CORN is now generally available at moderate prices. LIMA BEANS are scarce and high so that succotash is not an economical dish at present. Skillet-fried vegetable fritters of CORN, SUMMER SQUASH or cooked CUCUMBERS are good for luncheon or supper with bacon or cheese sauce. Uncooked, fried EGGPLANT is also a cheap and seasonable dish.

Here is a supper menu* made up from foods our experts consider seasonable.

Crisp Bacon Corn Fritters
Tomato and Lettuce Salad
Cheese Muffins Butter
Sliced Peaches Cup Cakes
Tea (hot or iced) Milk

Marble Monuments Mark Graves In Cemetery for Cats and Dogs

One of the many memorials in an unusual burial ground. This is a typical scene on Memorial Day.

A CEMETERY for dogs and cats and other pets with real marble monuments is situated just outside Philadelphia. Unlike many animal burial grounds, this one is maintained as a modern cemetery and the urns of flowers on the graves attest the frequent visits of those whose pets are buried there.

A part of the Francisville Home for Smaller Animals, it was founded 27 years ago by the late Mrs. George McClellan in memory of Francis, a stray dog. Since then some 3,000 pets, most of them dogs, but including cats, monkeys, canaries, parrots, a horse and even a lion, have been buried there.

On the graves of dogs and cats are marble monuments, some of them more pretentious than those erected in memory of human beings. And the inscriptions on them bespeak the strong bonds of affection that bound dumb animal to his master or mistress.

"In the hope of a blessed immortality. Prince, dearly beloved and faithful friend," reads one inscription.

"Our Darling Snookie, Fell Asleep October 20, 1927, aged 14 years, 3 months—Till we meet again," reads another.

Memorials on the graves of Vesle and Jack, two dog mascots buried with military honors, record that they "served their country in the World War," while another monument says the dog that lies beneath it sold Liberty Bonds.
