

Jewry Prepares For Purim Festival

Rabbi Tells Significance Of Annual Feast Of Lots

Congregation Ahavas Achim Anshe of Belleville will mark the annual Purim festival, which will begin next Wednesday night and continue until the evening of the next day, by a series of observances at the synagogue, 317 Washington avenue. Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, spiritual leader of the congregation, explains the significance of the celebration as follows: "Purim, or the Feast of Lots, marks the historic episode that occurred during the reign of Ataxerxes II in the eastern provinces of Syria when Mordecai, a well-known Jewish merchant, was held in high esteem by the king. "Haman, an officer in the king's court, because of a grudge against Mordecai, wished to vent his spleen upon all of Mordecai's people, and induced the king to order the pillaging of the Jews. A lot (pur) was drawn to determine the date, and the chance fell upon the 14th day of Adar.

"The Jews of Shushan, the capital city, fasted and prayed, but Mordecai conveyed the information to Queen Esther, his niece, whose Jewish antecedents had remained unknown at court. She invited the king and Haman to a feast, and then pleaded with her master for the lives of her people. "A new law was passed giving the Jews the right to defend themselves and Haman was removed from his high position and hanged. In commemoration of this event Purim was instituted."

The Feast of Esther will be marked by services Wednesday evening at 5:45. The Megillah, or Biblical book of Esther, will be read at this service. Services will be held Thursday morning at 7. The individual families will observe the Purim feast, or Seudah, at their homes.

Special observances have been arranged for the children of the religious school and the junior congregation. The Progressive Judeaans, with the assistance of the Maccabees and the Junior Judeaans, will hold a Purim bazaar and carnival at the synagogue Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The junior congregation will hold a Purim masquerade Wednesday at 7:30 P. M. There will be awards for unusual costumes. Admission will be a package, to be exchanged with that brought by someone else, in observance of the Purim custom of Mishloach Manos, or the exchanging of gifts.

Kresge Will Open Plainfield Branch Appliance Store To Be Part of Expansion Program

Kresge Department Store of Newark announced today the third of its series of expansion steps throughout Northern Jersey, in making known that it had leased for a term of years the premises at 119 Park avenue, Plainfield.

The new store will serve as an electrical household appliance branch and will carry the largest assortment of famous brands found anywhere in Union County.

According to Hugh E. Barnes, president of the Kresge Department Store, Plainfield was selected as the location for this expansion step because of its growth in recent years, its unusually high type of resident and its high purchasing power.

This is the third step in the projected expansion program of the Newark store. The first was the establishment of a branch in Elizabeth two years ago and the second, the affiliation with the Steinhack-Kresge Company of Asbury Park in 1934.

According to Herbert S. Waters, sales manager of Kresge's, folks are more home-minded the past few years both from a practical and decorative viewpoint. This, he feels, was greatly induced by the splendid work of the Federal Housing Administration. Because of this new rehabilitation consciousness, he points out, it is a propitious time for an organization like Kresge to branch out in order to give more personalized service to the people of the many communities surrounding Newark.

Community Hardware Co. of 327 1/2 Union avenue is the local headquarters for Sherwin-Williams Paints and also Cook & Bunn Paints at especially low prices. Call BELLEVILLE 2-4266.

Parents Learn Of Business Course Methods Of Instruction Demonstrated to High School P.-T. A.

"Junior Business Class Instruction" was the subject of an informal talk by Horace Shepard and demonstration by William Chapman, both of the high school faculty, before the Parent-Teacher Association of the school Wednesday evening.

For the purpose of the demonstration, the audience became the "freshman class," in order that it might compare its reactions with those of a class of students. Cartoons, the work of the pupils, displaying "saving and wastes" and "buying and selling," were projected on the screen.

A program of vocal and instrumental selections was presented by the pupils, under the direction of Miss Alice M. Walters, music supervisor.

Mrs. Frank Thalheimer, chairman of the card party committee, reported that a recent affair had been a success.

Robert Banta and Fred Holland represented the association at a budget conference at the town hall this week.

School Art Work Shown at Library

Creative Thought Stressed In Exhibition By Grade Pupils

A creative art exhibition, arranged by Miss Helen P. Simpson, art supervisor in the local public schools, and composed of the work of pupils, opened at the public library Monday and will continue until February 27.

Ninety-one pictures, as well as characters for a puppet play, a soap carving, block printing and colorful boxes, are on display.

Water colors include landscapes, still life, pictures of boats, children's parties and similar subjects. Charcoal compositions, prepared by eighth grade pupils, show a striving after tonal values and include horses, scenes and interiors. Lettering in design, also the work of the eighth grades, is displayed.

Crayon compositions include work by all grades. These consist mostly of children playing, imaginary ideas, and pictures of people in foreign countries studied. Several examples of Valentines and Christmas cards are shown.

Examples of soap carving show the work of the children of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades.

An example of the creative form of art encouraged by modern instructors is the display of finger painting, done by the younger children. This form of expression allows the use of the larger muscles, over which the youngest children have better control.

Original designs, prepared by pupils in the seventh and eighth grades, form a part of the display. Decorative boxes, prepared by a sixth grade group, were painted with tempera paint and shellacked.

Three friezes represent the work of groups of children. The work of representative third, fourth and sixth grades is shown in scenes of life among strange peoples.

Puppets made by the girls of a fifth grade group, with scenery prepared by the boys, demonstrates the pupils' interest in the theater.

"Everything in this exhibition is original, created from the imagination of the children," Miss Simpson declared. "The subjects have been suggested by their play, by their studies in school and by the land of make-believe."

"We aim to develop children who are working with ideas and form in a way distinctly and individually their own; in other words, children who are creating rather than imitating."

Reserves Decision In Shade Tree Case

E. Evers Denies Charges
Made by Former Employee

Commissioner Joseph King, director of public affairs, is reserving decision in the matter of charges brought against Edward Evers, president of the shade tree commission, by Lawrence Burde, a former employee.

The charges, aired at a departmental hearing last week, were that Mr. Evers had Burde do private work for him on town time. Mr. Evers denied the accusations, which included allegations that Burde shoveled snow at his home and carried wood into his cellar.

Mr. Evers told Director King that he had discharged Burde because of the latter's drinking. Burde denied that he had ever been intoxicated while on the job. He denied that he filed the charges after his dismissal to "get even," and stated he failed to present them sooner through fear of losing his job.

Burde is a brother of Nicholas Burde, former secretary of the commission. Nicholas was not reappointed by Mr. King when his term expired last December 31.

Big City Pooch Won't Stay Here

Returns to Master in New York Under Own
Power

Ferdinand Gillman of DeWitt avenue tells the story of a dog which found its way to New York City after being taken from there.

It seems that the dog was getting to be a nuisance in a store on the East Side of New York because of its propensities for growling and snapping at persons who entered the store. Ferd offered to take it home to Belleville and the storekeeper agreed.

Ferd kept the dog tied up for two days and then freed it. He went into the house and ten minutes later discovered the dog missing.

That was on Sunday. Wednesday he went to get his mail at the local post-office and received a card from the storekeeper, telling him that the dog had arrived in New York City and had found his former home Monday at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Complete Plans For Daly Dinner

200 To Attend Testimonial
To Manhattan College
Captain

The committee in charge of arrangements for the testimonial dinner to be given to John J. Daly, Jr., recently elected to the captaincy of the Manhattan College football team, has made reservations for 200 guests.

The affair is to be held Monday night at Parillo's Restaurant, under the auspices of the Capitol Club and citizens of the town.

Jack is a native Bellevillite, a former athlete at the local high school and, in recent years, one of the main cogs of the Manhattan team.

Guest speakers will include Chick Meehan, his present coach at Manhattan; Father Anselm, director of athletics; his former tutor at Belleville High School, Red Buchanan; present coaches of the local team and the coaches of high schools of nearby towns, Mayor Ellenstein of Newark and John J. McCluskey, Newark attorney.

Honored at Tea

Miss Florence Gibson of this town was a guest of honor at a tea given by the Beta Phi Alpha alumnae of New York Sunday at the Hotel Beckman Tower, that city. The tea marked the resumption of the regular Sunday meetings of the New York City Panhellenic, Inc., at which one of the fraternity groups presides. Miss Gibson is a trustee of Panhellenic.

Hartley Opposed To Court Change

Dictatorship Would Result
From "Packing" Court,
He Believes

Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Jr., who represents this section in the House of Representatives, has issued the following statement of his attitude on the changes in the Supreme Court asked by the President:

"The recent proposal of the President to 'reform' the Supreme Court has aroused such interest that I desire to have my position on this matter clearly understood.

"I will vigorously oppose this and any other attempt to interfere with the independence of the judiciary branch of our government. My attitude is that which I believe should be taken by anyone with faith in our form of government, and is not based on partisanship. In fact, I sincerely hope that the real issues involved will not be lost sight of through partisan debate.

The founding fathers wisely divided our government into three independent branches: The executive, the judicial and the legislative. Only as long as these branches remain independent of each other will true democratic representative government survive.

"Even under normal conditions the President's proposal might be viewed with suspicion, but when one takes into consideration the fact that he already dominates the legislative branch of the government, 'packing' the Supreme Court would result in virtual dictatorship. This certainly should be abhorred by every true American.

"Arguments in opposition to the proposal are almost endless. Suffice it to say that I shall do everything in my power to defeat this proposal."

The other guests speaker was Howard Biddulph, vice president of the Howard Savings Institution, whose topic was "A Banker Looks at Newark."

The program was a part of the board's objective for 1937, which is "the reabsorption of deficient areas and the attraction of new industries to Newark."

South End Improvers

Hear Park Plans
County Commission Head
Promises New Work
In Spring

Edward W. Jackson, president of the Essex County Park Commission, has informed the South End Improvement Association that plans are under way for the improvement of the lands along Second River east of Union avenue and along the Passaic River in Main street.

Mr. Jackson's letter was presented to the organization at a meeting at 248 Mill street Tuesday night. According to the park head, work will be started on both projects in the Spring. A topographical map of the Mill street area is now being completed, he stated.

Plans of the recreation commission were outlined by Edward J. Lister, director of recreation. According to Mr. Lister, a reduction of $1,000 in the commission's budget nearly forced discontinuance of its Summer camp for underprivileged children, but he hopes to secure aid from civic minded persons and continue activities.

He renewed criticism of the board of education for its failure to allow use of the school buildings for recreational purposes.

Resigns Position At Reformed Church

Sexton Served Twenty-One
Years In Belleville
Churches

Andrew Demgard, who has been sexton of Belleville Reformed Church for the past eight years, resigned his position at a meeting of the board of consistory of the church last week.

Mr. Demgard has served the churches of Belleville for more than twenty-one years, having been sexton of Christ Episcopal Church for thirteen years before accepting the post at the Reformed Church.

Born in Denmark, Mr. Demgard will be 78 next March 21. He announced that advancing age was the reason for his retirement and that he intends to spend his remaining years at a Danish home for the aged at Metuchen.

Commenting on Mr. Demgard's retirement, the Rev. Dr. John A. Struyk, pastor, said: "He is a remarkably strong man for his age and during the past eight years has served the church well."

Mr. Demgard, a widower, is the father of two members of the Belleville police force, Patrolmen Nelson and Raymond Demgard.

Williams Scores Education Board

Declares $5,000 Reduction
In Its Budget Was Possible

Mayor William H. Williams, town finance director, this week charged that the board of education might have reduced its budget $5,000 without hardship this year. His accusation was made at a conference of the town commission and representatives of civic bodies on the 1937 municipal budget at the town hall Wednesday night.

"All five members of the board of education admitted to me that they could have cut $5,000 from their budget, after they had made it up," he declared. "They refused to change it because it had already been advertised, while the town commissioners sat here trying to prune $25 and $50 items."

"A statement by the secretary of the board of education to the press said that there is only a $4,100 increase in the school budget. Nevertheless, the taxpayers have to pay $17,000 more this year, so that statement is about as silly as if we said that, because of a decrease in anticipated revenues, we were not raising the tax rate when the taxpayers had to pay more. The school board's budget raises taxation $17,000. There is no

Valley Association Praises Commission

Favors Establishment Of
New Bus Route
In Section

The Valley Improvement Association, at a regular meeting last week, adopted a resolution commending the town commission for its action in granting municipal consent to the Belleville-Newark Transit Company to operate a bus line to serve the Valley section.

The proposed line would operate in Main street and Route 21, Newark. The fare would be five cents to the Pennsylvania station, Newark.

The resolution will be presented to the board of commissioners by Ora A. Current, secretary of the association.

Mr. Current was authorized to communicate with the Eastwood-Nealy Corp. in the matter of alleged vibration and noise from heavy power looms in the plant at Joralemon and Stephens streets.

The next meeting of the association will be February 25.

Teachers' Group Cites Education Statistics

Warns of Belleville's Becoming A Training Ground
For Instructors

A Second Open Letter to Belleville
Residents

The Belleville Teachers' Association, has endeavored to bring to the attention of the citizens of the town pertinent information concerning its schools and the financial condition of the teachers. We believe you are interested in these conditions because they effect the welfare of your children, as well as the teachers and the schools. However, so long as you do not express your views many people may interpret your silence as indifference.

This is a civic issue which concerns the welfare and reputation of your town. We believe the press will be glad to have you present your views. Why not write a letter to your paper? Do you feel that your child deserves only the cheapest (per pupil cost) education in Essex County? Do you believe that he should be taught by the poorest paid teachers in the county? Do you feel that he should have the cheapest allotment in supplies in the county?

True economy is laudable and those who effect it deserve credit, but can you afford the present type of economy? Do you believe that schools should bear the blunt of an economy program? Admittedly that is the easiest way to cut expenses; the children whom it affects most have nothing to say about the matter and all too often no one else will take a stand in their behalf. In discussing economy it might be well to know just how such economies were effected. Where did the $149,294.50 carried as a free balance in the board of education's report for 1934-35 come from? How much of this amount came as a result of teacher salary cuts?

Do you believe that Belleville teachers are satisfied and that they will continue to go on doing their best work whether they receive a living salary or not, as was recently intimated when they asked for salary adjustments? It might be interesting to note that ninety-three teachers have left Belleville in the last five years, or a turnover of nearly half the teaching force. Do you want Belleville to be a training ground for teachers?

Belleville Teachers' Association.

The topic of the debates will be "Resolved: That electric utilities should be owned and controlled by the federal government."

Speakers at the morning debate, with Hillside, will be Mildred Biebelburg and Rose Del Tufo, who will take the affirmative. The afternoon session, with Passaic, will have as its speakers Francis Berkowitz and Beatrice Berkowitz, who will argue for the negative.

Judges will be from the John Marshall College of Law.

Dailey Re-elected School Board Head

Walter Gilby Named Vice President at Reorganization Meeting

John P. Dailey was unanimously re-elected president of the board of education to serve his fourth term at a reorganization meeting of the board Monday night. Walter Gilby was elected vice president on motion of Mrs. Porter F. Sheldon, whom he succeeds.

Mr. Dailey said that he would announce committee appointments for 1937 in the near future.

Miss Lillian D. Eiche was appointed fourth grade teacher at School No. 7 from February 1 to the end of the school year. The resignations of Mrs. Louise M. Reynolds and Mrs. Louis A. Galluba were accepted.

The board received a letter from the Belwood Park Improvement Association, requesting that buses conveying pupils from Silver Lake and Soho to the high school stop in the Belwood Park section for pupils residing there. A. E. Chiappari, secretary of the association, pointed out that pupils living in Belwood Park were forced to use public conveyances and pay their own fares if they wished to ride to school.

The board instructed Ruel E. Daniels, business manager, to inform the association that, under state law, transportation may not be furnished pupils that live less than two miles from a school. Herbert C. Schmutz, a board member, pointed out that the school buses are already filled to capacity.

Notice was received that Joseph Covino had applied to the board of zoning adjustment for permission to establish an auto service station in Joralemon street, directly across Passaic avenue from School No. 7. The board decided to oppose the petition, fearing that the safety of the children attending the school might be endangered by cars using the station, despite Covino's promise to furnish free parking for teachers.

Mr. Daniels was authorized to purchase equipment, with the exception of type, for the printing course to be established in September. The purchase of imported type made in Germany was suggested, but was opposed by Mr. Schmutz, who held that American type foundry should be patronized by the board. He cited alleged breaches of international agreements by the present government of Germany as grounds for not purchasing the type abroad.

It was agreed that the printing instructor, to be appointed in the near future, should be consulted before type was purchased.

Supervising Principal Wayne R. Farmer reported that $869.50 was raised in the school system for the Red Cross flood relief fund.

Red Cross Reports On Relief Campaign

$2,794 Raised Here For Flood Victims, Boylan
Announces

Andrew L. Boylan, chairman of Belleville Chapter of the American Red Cross, yesterday announced that $2,794.45 had been raised here for the fund to aid victims of floods in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

Mr. Boylan announced his gratitude to John J. Hewitt, overseer of the poor, who was in charge of packing clothing for the flood victims, and to the shade tree department, of which William Fabian is foreman, which called at 103 homes to receive contributions of clothing and bedding.

A letter from Walter Davidson, assistant manager of the Eastern area of the Red Cross, was received this week by Mr. Boylan. It read in part: "May I extend to you the gratitude of this office for the splendid response made by your community. It is because of the fine interest and sympathy of the American people that the Red Cross will be enabled to meet the minimum needs of the flood sufferers."

"Although we cannot estimate the final cost of the relief operations, it is apparent that upwards of $20,000,000 will be needed."

"You may be interested to know that February 11 554,000 people were being cared for by the Red Cross, 946 concentration camps and almost 300 field hospitals were in operation, and over 1,500 Red Cross nurses were on duty."

Contributions to the fund not previously acknowledged follow:

Rotary Club, $25; A. S. Towers, $5; Wesley M. E. Church (additional), $3; Fruit Products Corp., $25; Barnett Yudin, $2; Mrs. Joseph Brady, $1; The Newark Evening News (additional), $2, and Frank Jenkins, $2.

Town Officials Visit

Sewage Pumping Station

The Carlstadt sewage pumping station was visited by Commissioner Patrick A. Waters and Town Engineer Matthew J. Sheehan Monday in an effort to determine if such a plant might be installed in the northwestern section of Belleville.

The local officials hope to install such a plant, whose cost is estimated at about $6,000, in an effort to avoid buying capacities in Nutley trunk sewers, for which that town asks $35,000.

The proposed station, according to Mr. Sheehan, would be entirely automatic in operation and would not require an increase in the number of town employees.

Police Recorder and Newspaperman Debate Advantages of Municipal Consolidation

King Association Hears Discussion of Essex County Problem by Everett B. Smith And Frederick L. Case

Advantages and disadvantages of municipal consolidation were aired last Saturday night when Everett B. Smith, attorney and town police recorder, and Frederick L. Case of Nutley, a member of the editorial staff of a Newark newspaper, debated before the Joseph King Association on "Resolved: That all municipalities in Essex County be combined under one central government."

The audience was left confused on only one phase of the situation, that of economy. Both Mr. Case, who took the affirmative, and Mr. Smith, who upheld the negative, held that their view of the matter led to the greatest saving in public funds.

Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan acted as chairman.

Mr. Case pointed out that there is a duplication of effort in the services rendered by the several municipalities of the county and those rendered by the county government. He further cited the present confusion in responsibility for public services and the difficulty in properly allocating costs.

"After a snowstorm the county does not clear its roads," he cited as an example. "The municipality waits in vain and then does the job. Its bill for services is ignored by the county, as is its bill for the lighting of county highways."

Inefficiency in the apprehension of criminals brought about by the maintenance of separate police organizations in twenty-two municipalities was pointed out by Mr. Case, who said:

"The crime situation is bad. Newark police, for instance, chase doubtful characters across the line to Silver Lake, which is part of Belleville. Partly because it is remotely situated 75 per cent of Belleville's court cases arise there. Co-ordination of police under one head and with one system of radio communication would drive criminals not from one municipality to another but out of the county."

In addition to citing local pride as a reason for maintaining individual municipalities, Mr. Smith declared that eighteen of the twenty-two municipalities enjoy lower tax rates than that of Newark. He declared that previous municipal consolidations within New Jersey have been detrimental.

According to Mr. Smith, the union of Brooklyn and New York led to an exodus of residents from the former city, and thousands of residents would leave the suburban towns of this county were Newark to absorb them.

"Today," he said, "if one of the county's municipalities has a bad government only its residents suffer. A bad central government would lead to suffering on the part of every resident of the county."

The recorder advocated cooperation between municipalities as a good thing, but warned against allowing it to reach a point where it threatened local pride and local self-rule. Stressing the economy of smaller governing units, he declared that it is only human nature for officials to create larger salaries for themselves when cities expand.

In rebuttal, Mr. Case declared that

Redeemer Church Marks Anniversary

Former Pastors of Lutheran Parish Will Appear At Service

The twentieth anniversary of the founding of Redeemer Lutheran Church, Broadway at Carteret street, Newark, will be observed at a special service to be held Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Dr. Arthur Brunn, president of the Atlantic district of the Lutheran Missouri Synod, will preach the sermon.

The Rev. Theodore S. Keyl of St. Matthew's Church, Newark, who conducted the first service in 1917; the Rev. August Brunn of Amityville, L. I., who served the congregation from 1918 to 1926, and the Rev. J. H. Rippe of Bronxville, who had charge of the congregation during two vacancies in 1918 and 1926, will take part in the service.

Representatives from all Lutheran congregations in northern New Jersey are expected.

Following the service a social period will be held in the parish house, 100 Grafton avenue.

Redeemer Lutheran Church held its first service in a vacant store at Woodside avenue and Coeyman street. After a few months the congregation moved to the chapel, which is now used as a parish house.

In 1924 the present brick church was built.

At present the congregation numbers 486 baptized members and 264 communicant members.

The Sunday School has an enrollment of 117 and an average attendance of over 90. It is taught by ten carefully selected and trained teachers.

The congregation meets an annual budget of $7,000.

BOOTLEG MERCHANDISE

Now it's the merchandise bootlegger. He sells inferior goods masquerading under faked labels—and is "gypping" the public of millions. But purchasers who buy trademarked articles at reputable stores avoid the "racket," says Frank W. Brock, investigator and writer on fraudulent selling schemes, in the Rotarian Magazine.

"The price-cutting evil," he declares, "is responsible for much of the bootlegging. Many manufacturers refuse to sell to the price cutters, who are therefore forced to obtain much of their merchandise through irregular channels, nor do they inquire too closely into the source of the merchandise thus obtained. A report of the New York State Board of Pharmacy for part of 1935 states that 430 adulterated and sub-standard drugs were purchased in this type of store—none from registered pharmacists. Of course, some of their merchandise is genuine—but stolen."

However, he makes clear, bootlegging is not confined to pharmaceutical preparations; almost any product which enjoys a wide sale is a fair target. So-called "ash-can hats," gathered by junkmen from various sources, have been renovated, re-blocked, retrimmed—but not disinfected—and then sold as new. Second-hand watches are refurbished, recased, and sold as new. Further examples of the evil are found in the radio, automobile fitting, gasoline, and many other industries.

"The fight against bootlegging," Mr. Brock continues, "is along a wide front, but, because manufacturers are afraid that knowledge of the practice would undermine the public's confidence in their trademarks, the public hears little about it."

"A number of industries have organized protective forces to combat and run down bootleggers; these are augmented by detectives and investigators employed by private corporations. All these assist and cooperate with city, state, and national authorities, for the bootlegger is also a tax evader and a generally undesirable citizen with no respect for any law. The shopping staffs of better business bureaus, which are constantly checking merchandise against the advertised representations made for it, are also an important factor. Complaints from the public contribute greatly to bureau efficiency. Many manufacturers and their products, as well as the public, are protected by the vigilance of this organization which business has set up to prevent trickery in trade."

NEW YORK AUTO RATES

Answering the demand for a readjustment of automobile accident insurance in New York city to conform more closely to the rates upstate, the insurance commissioner of New York points out that the accident rate and the death rate really have nothing to do with the cost of insurance.

Mayor LaGuardia had asserted that the death rate per 100,000 of population from automobile accidents was but 9.3 for the city as against 24.4 for the rest of the State.

In response the commissioner showed that the cost of settling claims in the city was $52.65 per car, while upstate the cost was but $13.74 per car. While this may be due in great part to ambulance chasers, crooked lawyers and fake claimants, it does seem an unanswerable argument.

WAR INVENTIONS

A device which is a remarkable recorder of the approach of airplanes has been tried out in one of the European countries. The machine, which is operated electrically, records the speed of approaching airplanes, their height and the speed and direction of the wind, and the information thus recorded passes by electric cable to anti-aircraft guns. It is another illustration of how the defence in warfare manages to keep up with the offence. Despite the multitude of new war inventions for attack, the defence keeps pace. But the ingenuity of man in warfare will insure horrors in the next war that were unknown in other wars.

THE PURPLE HEART

Holders of the Order of the Purple Heart are nettled at the decision of the War Department to award the decoration to members of the Civilian Conservation Corps for meritorious service and heroism.

The war veterans naturally feel that this is a war decoration and should not be given in pursuits of peace.

Inasmuch as the CCC is supposed to be a civilian organization under the supervision of the army, it would seem that the War Department is tending to militarize it by awarding this decoration. There is no reason why the corps should not have an award of its own.

DROPPING ONE "R"

Attending school is bound to be much more pleasant for children in New York after next September. The state education department has now ruled out one of the famous "rs" of reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic. The educators believe there is no necessity for teaching children higher mathematics these days, for they contend that machines are more skillful and rapid in working out compound fractions and other problems in mathematics. Of course, if children have an aptitude for mathematics, they will be permitted to take up the subject. But it is a foregone conclusion that the number of such pupils will be small.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Prepared for The Belleville News by Russell VanNest
Black, Director-Consultant New Jersey
State Planning Board

Planning Receives Impetus

Pleasant recollections of the depression period may be few, but there is one that will take on added significance in the years to come. It is that of the impetus given to planning by the forced recognition of the need for a preview of the future development of our towns, cities, counties and states.

According to the National Resources Committee there are today 1,553 town, city and county planning commissions trying to develop comprehensive plans for the future of their communities and seeking to coordinate action by private and public groups to carry out the plan.

Until very recent years we had no state plans. Now there are forty-seven state planning boards and thirty-five of them are operating on a continuing basis under acts or resolutions of state legislatures.

These state planning agencies are engaged in the preparation of "master" plans for the development of state resources. They are assisting and co-operating with local planning agencies on the one hand, and with adjoining states and the Federal government on the other hand.

But resources and hence the projects to develop them are no respecters of political boundaries. In different parts of the country, in the Pacific Northwest, the metropolitan area of St. Louis, New England, the Delaware River Valley and the Tennessee Valley, experiments are under way for the preparations of plans covering interstate areas—harmonizing the proposals from the different states and showing the possibilities which lie ahead for regions as well as localities.

The need and method of planning for these areas are both applicable to the national field. Through the National Planning Board of the Public Works Administration, and its successors, the National Resources Board and the National Resources Committee, close relations have been developed with regional, state and local planning agencies and among the many planning arms of the federal departments and bureaus.

Within the federal government there are planning agencies of one kind or another for each of the departments and bureaus concerned with public works. The Corps of Engineers and the River and Harbor Board are planning navigation, flood control and power projects. The Bureau of Reclamation and the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering are concerned with irrigation and drainage works. The Procurement Division of the Treasury and the Bureau of Public Roads plan buildings and highways. A principal function of the national resources committee is co-ordination of the plans and objectives of the several federal-department planning agencies.

Would Restore Teachers' Salaries "Taypayer" Cites Hardships To Instructors Caused By Reductions

Editor of The News:

Statistics from the State Department of Education show that Belleville is spending $65.55 for the instructional cost for each pupil, including teachers' salaries. This is the lowest per capita cost of any of the surrounding municipalities. For instance: Bloomfield's is $89.21; Glen Ridge's $144.91; Irvington's $80.31; Nutley's $81.66, and West Orange's $94.80.

Belleville's low cost per pupil is due, I believe, in part to a cut in salaries that the teachers experienced during the depression.

A restoration to their former salaries would materially aid many of the teachers who are finding it "tough sledding" to make ends meet at their present salary rate.

I, for one, am interested in seeing that the teachers receive a just income and I believe that there are many others who feel the same as I do.

A TAXPAYER

Wants More Firemen And More Equipment

Editor of The News:

I desire to call the attention of our taxpayers to a very vital matter, one that should be foremost in our minds, the proper safeguarding of the lives and homes of our families, the employees of the several industrial plants, the children in our schools and the tenants in the large apartments, two-family houses and large and small single houses, the majority of the latter being of frame construction.

Every day, every night, Belleville stands in danger of loss of life or property by fire because of the lack of a sufficient number of men in quarters to respond to an alarm with the apparatus, some of which should be changed for a more up-to-date style and size to meet the demands from industrial, apartment, hospital and school buildings.

The area of Belleville calls for more companies so located that we have proper protection in all sections. At present, an alarm from the section below Washington avenue strips the district from there to the Bloomfield and Nutley lines of adequate protection.

The industrial district is increasing in size through the addition of new, valuable, taxable buildings. Residential properties in the course of construction, others already completed and more anticipated in other sections increase our ratables, at the same time adding to the fire hazard. The demand for better fire protection "hourly is with us."

For its size, our department is doing well. But—our town has grown far beyond the ability of its departments, as it stands now, to cope successfully with the many fire emergencies that can arise at any time. Outside help is fine, but can be too busy in its own territory, and may not show up. The first few minutes' work, with proper equipment and ample help, is what is necessary to handle such conditions successfully.

This condition can and should be remedied. TAX PAYER.

Irving Berlin Hit At Proctor's Theater

Irving Berlin's "On the Avenue," starring Dick Powell and Madeline Carroll, opens today at R. K. O. Proctor's Theater, Newark. The associate feature will be "Woman-Wise," featuring Rochelle Hudson and Michael Whalen.

Alice Faye, the Ritz Brothers, and George Barbier add melody and mirth to "On the Avenue." The beginning of the picture finds Miss Carroll, a wealthy debutante, entering a theater with her father, George Barbier, and an explorer, Alan Mowbray, to find herself the principal character of a hilarious satire by Dick Powell. Alice Faye, and the Ritz Brothers on the home life of "the richest girl in the world."

Infuriated, she threatens the manager with a law suit, forces her way back stage to snatch Miss Faye's wig, and breaks Powell's dressing room window before she is forcibly removed.

Regretting her actions, she apologizes and invites Powell to dinner. Falling in love with her, he promises to revise the sketch and invites her to the next performance. But Miss Faye, his partner, horrifies him by making the sketch even more caustic.

Worthy of special note are the Irving Berlin melodies, including "This Year's Kisses," "You're Laughing at Me," "Slumming on Park Avenue," "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm," "The Girl on the Police Gazette" and "He Ain't Got Rhythm." "Woman-Wise" presents the story of the boss who thought he knew all about women and of a little spitfire who outwitted him. Set in the realistic clamor of the news and sports world, the film tells of a sports writer's crusade to clean up a fixed-fight gang, and how a pretty girl aids him.

Pedal Pushers Ready For Six-Day Grind

Manager Chapman Signs Foreign Stars For Garden Grind

New York's sixty-second international six-day bicycle race, with 15 strong teams competing, will get under way a week from Sunday night in Madison Square Garden, New York. The field looks like one of the strongest in years with many international stars.

There are riders in the race this year from the United States, Italy, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Canada. John M. Chapman, the manager of the race, made a special trip to Europe this winter to sign up the best European riders.

The outstanding foreign riders signed for the race are: Jan Pijnenburg, Franz Slaats and Cor Wals of Holland; Gerard Loncke, Jean Aerts, Omer Debruycker and Roger De Neef of Belgium; Marcel Guimbretiere, Emile Ignat and Emile Diet of France, and Alvaro Georgetti, Learco Guerra, Ralf Di Paccio and Ferdinando Grillo of Italy.

Torchy Peden and Bobby Thomas, who finished second in the last race, will probably be split up in this one. Torchy expects to ride with his brother, "Doug," while Thomas will probably be teamed up with George Dempsey, the former all-around champion of the United States. Jules Audy and Marcel Guimbretiere are going to be paired, while Dave Lands and Bill Grimm will ride together.

The race will be marked by five series of sprints each day, one in the afternoon and four series of sprints at night. The points will be scored six for first, four for second, two for third and one for fourth.

Tickets for the race are now on sale at the box office in Madison Square Garden and at the Newark office, 128 Market street.

CENTER PLAYS

"I can't understand it; we copied those center plays from a team which has been rolling up large scores with them all season. We have the better men, yet the plays fail miserably when we attempt them."

The cause may well lie in the fact that the speaker has overlooked an important point—namely, center plays must be adapted to the height of the players and to the length of the court. Every play will not work for every team. Size up your men and the floor upon which they will operate, then arrange your plays accordingly. For instance, if you are limited to a small court you must avoid center plays requiring several passes to reach the basket.

This is not to say, however, that the problem of organizing a dependable system of center plays can be solved by the mere use of a yardstick. You cannot, for example, simply order a center play, size 5 1/2 x 7 1/2 feet. Basketball is far too complex for that. You must have a combination of a knowledge of the fundamentals plus an ability to apply it to specific conditions. With this point in mind the following plays will serve as the basis for a strong center offensive.

"A"—0-1 at center taps the ball to forward 0-2 who is coming in to meet the tap. 0-3 then starts toward the center, suddenly cuts for the basket, and takes a pass in stride from 0-2. 0-1, in the meantime, has left the center circle and has cut along the right side of the court where he is now in a position to receive a pass from 0-3. 0-1 then dribbles in for a shot, or, if covered, returns the ball to 0-3 who chalks up the two points.

"B"—Play "B" starts out the same as "A," thereby adding to the deception. 0-1 taps the ball to 0-2, as before, but this time 0-2 dribbles towards the right sideline, but quickly snaps

Bellboy Quintet Swamps Irvington In One-Sided Contest, 24 to 6

Camptowners Fail To Score Until End Of Third Period as Aiello and Parmer Crash Through Homesters Defense

The Belleville High School basketball squad inflicted a crushing defeat, 24 to 6, upon the Irvington High at Irvington courtiers Tuesday night. So weak was the Camptowners' attack that they failed to score until the last three minutes of the third quarter, when a foul shot by Halperin prevented their being awarded a third goosie egg.

Aiello and Parmer led the attack on the home team ringing up tallies of ten and six points, respectively. Belleville led, 14 to 0, at the end of the first half.

Locals Bow to Weequahic
Weequahic High of Newark defeated the locals, 25 to 19, at the Belleville court last Friday night. The Bellboys led in the first period, 13 to 9, but the visitors managed to tie the score, 14 to 14, by half time. Fast playing by Wosnitzer of Weequahic, coupled with accurate shooting, resulted in a victory for the Newarkers. Gausepohl, by his breaking up of many of Wosnitzer's plays, aided mightily in Belleville's defense.

A short pass to 0-1 who is cutting down the right side as before; 0-1 then relays the pass to 0-3 who, having started toward center at the tap, has turned and cut for the basket and is now in position to tally. Note that 0-1 and 0-2, having set up the play by their passes, have followed in toward the basket to be of any help to 0-3.

Play "C"—In this formation 0-2 upon receiving the tap shoots a pass immediately to 0-3 who is coming across court from his right-forward berth. 0-3 can then either dribble in for the shot, or, after dribbling toward the basket, snap a pass to 0-2 who has cut along the left sidelines and into the basket. Note again that center, 0-1, follows up along the right side of the court.

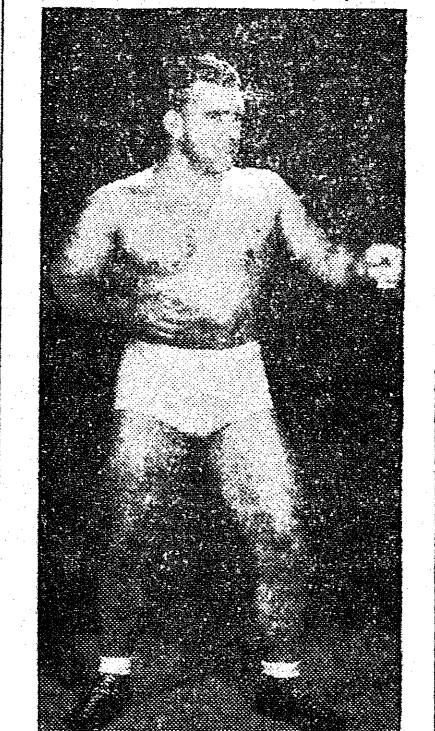

There are the fundamentals—their application is yours.

Issues Statement

On Hand Telephones

Chester I. Bernard, president of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, has issued the following statement in connection with the announcement by the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners of a reduction in the charge for hand telephones and plans for elimination of the charge:

"The company has agreed to a present reduction and the eventual elimination of the charge for hand-telephones. This is in accordance with the original intention and announced policy of the company. It is agreed to at this time to attain an amicable settlement of the matter with the Public Utility Commission, in view of the considerable misunderstanding by the public of the purpose and propriety of the charge. The change will involve a loss of about $400,000 per annum. This concession is clearly not at present justified by the company's earnings. It is also believed that there will be involved considerable delays in meeting the requirements of subscribers after the charge is eliminated. For these reasons only the company has been reluctant to make the changes agreed to at this time.

"In view of repeated statements about this charge, the company wishes to reaffirm that the charge has been a proper and necessary one in order to permit an orderly introduction of this type of telephone. Contrary to the assumption sometimes made, it has not been a source of profit to the company, nor has the handset been a source of economy in its operations."

getting away from that."

"Organizations represented at the conference included the library board, the South End Improvement Association, the Valley Improvement Association, the Taxpayers' Association, the Manufacturers' Association and the High School Parent-Teacher Association.

Declaring that only 18 per cent of the budget may be controlled by the town commission, the mayor said that unfair criticism was directed against municipal officials, while state and county governments continue a "spending spree."

"Our local budget has been cut until it hurts," said Commissioner George R. Gerard. "As Commissioner Waters has pointed out, we might have raised taxes this year and lowered them before next year's election, but we didn't play politics."

Mayor Williams outlined a three-point problem affecting the town. It included the sale of foreclosed properties to return them to the ratepayers, the collection of current taxes and the collection of delinquent taxes.

He scored those whose statements might affect Belleville's credit, saying: "Evidence is coming to the surface that a campaign is approaching. I will publicly call to account anyone who in any way makes statements injuring the good name of the town."

In reply to a question by Fred Holland, representing the High School P.-T. A., the mayor said that he favored legislation to halt diversion of railroad taxes from school purposes.
