

Burde Protests

King Decision

Ousted Employee Had Fair And Impartial Hearing, Mayor Declares

A letter from Lawrence Burde, former employee of the shade tree commission, protesting against Commissioner King's recent decision clearing Edward Evers, president of the commission, of charges brought by Burde, was received by the town commission this week.

Burde did not produce new evidence in his communication, but reiterated his former statements, which did not accurately state the time of alleged incidents, which, he declared, showed that Mr. Evers had had town employees do personal services on town time.

In his decision, announced last week, Director King stated that ample evidence was brought forth to show "that the motive for these charges was based purely on the dismissal of the complaining witness" and left no doubt in his mind "that the charges are completely lacking in truth."

Burde, in his letter, expressed his resentment at the wording of the decision, saying: "There is enough evidence to support my claim, let alone being insulted by the director in his decision."

Mayor Williams, after the reading of the communication, stated:

"Burde had a fair and impartial hearing before Commissioner King. The board has the utmost confidence in Commissioner King's decision."

The letter was ordered filed without further comment.

Vote Amendments

To Zoning Ordinance

Changes Would Permit Erection of New Gas Station

Two amendments to the zoning ordinance, which would allow erection of a new gasoline station on the north-west corner of Passaic avenue and Jerningham street, were adopted by the town commission Tuesday night.

One amendment provides that gasoline stations may not be erected within 200 feet of a school building. The former law read that such a station should be 200 feet from a school property line. The other changes the zone of the tract from residential to business.

The changes were sought by Joseph Covino, who must now apply to the zoning board for permission to erect the station.

The board's action was taken despite a protest made by Ruel E. Daniels, business manager of the board of education, who reported that the school board was opposed to the station on the ground that it would endanger children attending School No. 7 at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Renato Giordano of 145 Washington avenue asked permission to build a gas station at Garden avenue and Dawson street in a business zone. The request was referred to the zoning board.

The board adopted an ordinance forbidding the sale of raw milk in town after January 1, 1938. The date was originally set at June 1, 1937, but the law was amended after Andrew Maglio, Jr., one of the two local dairymen still selling raw milk, declared he would be unable to install a pasteurizing plant by that date.

Ordinances appropriating the following sums were passed on first reading: $5,000 to pay the cost of placing town signal wires in Washington avenue underground; $1,500 as the town's share of a WPA project to grade the Turf Bog; $1,500 as the town's share of a storm sewer project, and $1,800 for connecting new water mains to Newark trunk lines.

Congregation Ahavas Achim Anshe Plans

Celebration of Thirteenth Anniversary

"Bar Mitzvah" Will Mark "Coming of Age" of Belleville Synagogue—Speakers at Dinner Dance Will Include Wilentz and Ellenstein

Special religious observances and social events have been arranged by Congregation Ahavas Achim Anshe to celebrate the 13th anniversary of the erection of a synagogue in Belleville. The celebration, from this evening until Monday, will be known as "Bar Mitzvah" week-end, as a Jewish boy observes his Bar Mitzvah, or coming of age, at 13.

Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, spiritual leader of the congregation, will speak on "The Jew in Belleville" when the observance is opened at a special service tonight at 8:50 at the synagogue, 317 Washington avenue. The guest speaker will be Dr. Leon Mones of Newark, nationally known author and psychologist.

A special "oneg shabbat," or congregational social gathering, will be held in the vestry rooms after the services. Hostesses will be the wives of past presidents of the congregation. Saturday morning services will be held at 9 for adults and at 10 for children.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey, Mayor Meyer C. Ellenstein of Newark and Rabbi Zvi Shreiner of Kearny will be the principal speakers at the main event of the celebration, a dinner dance at the Clinton Manor, Newark, Sunday evening. A "Jubilee Volume," containing the history of Belleville Jewry, will be issued at the dinner.

Burnett Reproves

Town Commission

Mayor Would Confer On Rights of Municipal Officials

A humorous reproof to the town commission by State Beverage Commissioner Burnett, who last week ordered the local board to renew the tavern license of Samuel Vuono, after the board refused, by a split vote, to comply with his order, led to a discussion of the situation by the commissioners Tuesday.

Mayor Williams announced his intention of requesting Commissioner Burnett to confer with the local officials, in order that they might learn exactly what are their privileges under the state law.

Commissioner Waters, who has been adamant in his refusal to consider a license for Vuono, was opposed to the conference, but wished to seek a Supreme Court writ to review Burnett's action in granting the license.

Burnett's letter read: "The appeal was fully tried, fairly decided and the reasons stated in black and white. It therefore became the duty of the board to honor and execute forthwith the order, irrespective of personal beliefs of the individual members."

"It is an ancient, if not honorable, prerogative of the losers to curse the court, but open defiance of authority is surprising when it comes from those sworn to uphold the law. It is a sorry example of disobedience to set to their licenses."

"The sidown will be to no avail, however, for the Legislature has happily provided for just such a situation."

"The control act states, where any order entered by the commissioner pursuant to any appeal is not honored and executed within ten days, it shall be deemed self executed and have the same force and effect as though actually complied with."

"So never mind."

After the letter had been read, Director Waters stated:

"I think every man in this country is entitled to his own opinion and I have expressed mine. We appear to have the authority to regulate taverns, but we have no control over the licensees."

"No member of this board 'cursed the court.' Mr. Burnett's words show that he is a dictator, as I called him before and still consider him."

Mayor Williams declared that responsibility for the future conduct of Vuono's tavern, at 190 Passaic avenue now rests with Burnett.

Three Persons Hurt

In Accident Here

Cars Collide At William Street And Union Avenue

Three persons were injured when two cars collided at Union avenue and William street Saturday afternoon. The machines were driven by Reynold Steinert of 136 Madison avenue, Elizabeth, and Lee Mason of 76 Broad street, Newark.

Mason and Miss Helen King of 286 Broadway, Newark, a passenger in his car, received lacerations of the head. T. E. Heather of the Elizabeth address, a passenger in Steinert's auto, suffered a gash on the chin. Steinert and Charles B. Anderson, also of the Elizabeth address, were unhurt.

The injured persons were treated by Dr. Herbert B. Vail, town physician. Both machines were badly damaged.

Breaks Leg in Fall

George A. Barnett, 46, of 11 Baldwin place suffered a fractured right leg when he fell from the roof of a house at 112 Garden avenue last Friday morning. Mr. Barnett was repairing the roof at the time of the accident.

The injured man was removed to Mountside Hospital, Montclair, after receiving treatment by a physician.

Safety Inspection

Buildings Leased

Commissioner Magee Tells Plans For Testing Of Autos

With negotiations closed and buildings being completed in twenty-two municipalities, leaving leases in but six cities still to be signed, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee announces that arrangements are being rapidly whipped into shape for the safety inspection of automobiles under state direction and in state-owned stations.

The six cities where sites have not yet been leased but in which deals are near consummation are Newark, Camden, Salem, Newton, Woodbury and Flemington.

Buildings have either been completed or are in the forward stages of construction in North Clinton avenue, East Orange, and at Label and Erie streets, Montclair.

These sites were selected, Commissioner Magee says, with every thought given to accessibility and convenience to the greatest number of car owners in the various counties, together with local traffic conditions and available sites, streets or vacant property for lining up cars.

While real estate negotiations have been a major problem in setting up this new field of safety activity, an equally important factor has been that of personnel. So heavy was the flood of applications for jobs that the Civil Service Commission found it necessary to hold tests in a half dozen cities. Physical examinations were held last fall and the written test a few weeks ago. The oral tests have not yet been held.

This new safety regulation calls for the inspection of every New Jersey registered motor vehicle exclusive of vehicles used for the transportation of passengers for hire (which are under the jurisdiction of the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners) every six months at a cost of 50 cents for each inspection.

Car owners will be notified either by public notice or mail when and where to present their cars for inspection. In an effort to avoid congestion and delays at the stations, it is proposed to use a stagger system whereby dates will be set for different groups of registrations.

Cars will be inspected for defects in brakes, wheel alignment, steering mechanism and general equipment such as windshield wiper, opaque windshield glass, mirror, mutilated or obscured license plates, head and tail lights and other equipment.

Cars that fail to pass inspection will not receive an approval sticker until adjustments or repairs are made. A limited number of days will be allowed in such cases for the adjustment after which the car must be presented for re-inspection.

Heavy penalties are provided in the act for owners who avoid or disregard the inspection regulations. First offenses are punishable by a fine not exceeding $100 and second and succeeding offenses by a fine not exceeding $200 or a jail term or both. In addition, the Commissioner can suspend the registration plates of cars that have not been brought within the law.

Patrolmen's Benevolent Association To

Hold Annual Dance St. Patrick's Day

More than 1,000 Persons Expected to Attend 26th Affair Sponsored by Police—Local Elks' Club To Be Scene of Festivities

In Ireland St. Patrick's Day is a time of merrymaking and rejoicing and in some cities of the United States it is marked by huge parades, when the sons of the Old Sod display themselves in the grandeur of top hats and tail coats, but in Belleville we have the annual dance and entertainment of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

This year Belleville Local 28 of the New Jersey State Patrolmen's Benevolent Association will hold its 26th annual reception and dance at the Elks' auditorium, which will be decorated in brilliant green for the occasion, next Wednesday evening.

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend the affair, which is the only police social function of the year open to the public. Proceeds will be given to the P. B. A. treasury and to the police and fire pension fund. Music for dancing will be furnished by Dick Perry and his Cavaliers.

Frank Burke is chairman of arrangements and will be assisted by Frank Lukowiak, Leroy Hilton, Frank Christiano, Raymond Demgard, Donald Smith and Nelson Demgard.

Officers of the local are: President, Anthony Gross; vice president, Thomas Gallagher; treasurer, Harry Scott; financial secretary, Emerson Bush; recording secretary, John Monaghan; sergeant at arms, Walter Drake; state delegate, Officer Scott, and trustees, Officers Burke, N. Demgard and Christiano.

All types of merchandise are included in the sale. Included are Super Six Goldspot refrigerators with unusual features found in no other refrigerators. Prosperity gas ranges, Kenmore electric washers and many other items known for their quality and dependability.

Commission Removes

License Restriction

But Delays Action On Allowing Additional Liquor Stores

The town commission Tuesday night adopted an ordinance removing the restriction on liquor licensees, which formerly provided that holders of permits to sell alcoholic beverages should be residents of this town for three years before a license might be granted.

The change was made at the request of Henry J. Byrne, who wishes to operate a package store at 129 Washington avenue, and his attorney, Theodore Bellet. Mr. Byrne is a resident of Bloomfield, although he has operated a business here many years.

However, at the request of Edward J. Abramson, counsel for the Belleville Beverage Association, which is opposed to the granting of another license, the board tabled another amendment to the liquor control law which would allow the opening of two more package stores in town until the return of Commissioner Gerard, who is convalescing in the South from a recent illness.

Snowstorm Brings

Winter Thunder

"Frozen Thundstorm" Is Surprise to Weather Experts

Residents of town were astonished Tuesday afternoon when the sun was suddenly obscured by a dense, black cloud and snow, in blizzard-like quantities, began to fall. They were still more astonished when a resounding peal of thunder was heard during the height of the storm.

The unusual storm ended as quickly as it began. The unseasonal thunder marked the end of the snowstorm, and within ten minutes the sun was again shining brightly.

Amateur weather observers were momentarily stunned, but finally expressed the opinion that the occurrence was a "frozen thunderstorm."

Expect Elimination

Of Yeast Odors

Equipment at Mill Street Plant Ready In Two Weeks

Frank L. Chambers, vice president in charge of production of the National Grain Yeast Corp. of 800 Mill street, told the board of commissioners Monday night that he expects complete elimination of fermentation odors arising from the plant within two weeks.

Mr. Chambers introduced Henry Hamilton, representative of an air purifying concern, who said that apparatus for the creation of ozone being installed by his firm would be ready to be placed in operation within that time.

Exhaustive experiments have shown that ozone will remove the odors, declared Mr. Hamilton. The equipment now being installed will prove ample for the needs of the plant for years, even if production is increased, he added.

The board was invited to visit the plant and inspect the new equipment as soon as it is placed in operation, by Mr. Chambers.

Mr. Chambers has been making monthly reports to the board on the matter of elimination of allegedly unpleasant noises and odors arising from the yeast plant since neighbors of the factory voiced objections to its operation.

Mufflers have already been installed to reduce the noises of machinery, and are reported to have met with the approval of residents of the section.

Board Denies Permit

To Hymnal Solicitor

Pastor Fails to Approve Plan to Provide Books For Church

The town commission, at the recommendation of Mayor Williams, Monday night denied Leonard S. Markel of New York City permission to solicit funds in town for the Second Baptist Church of Belleville, a colored congregation.

The mayor said that he had conferred on the matter with the Rev. Aquila B. Edwards, pastor, who announced his opposition to Markel's plan. It is reported that Markel intended to solicit advertisements to be placed in a hymnal, copies of which would be given to the church.

It is understood that Mr. Edwards rejected the agent's proposal after he learned that it was similar to a plan started in Nutley about a month ago.

There Samuel Pelz of Paterson, who claimed to be a representative of the "Church Publications of America," was arrested for canvassing without a license after merchants reported he had solicited advertisements for a hymnal for a "First Baptist Church."

Pelz produced a contract signed by the Rev. George B. Reilly, newly appointed pastor of the Rising Mt. Zion Baptist Church. It provided that the church was to receive fifteen hymnals for allowing Pelz to solicit funds in its name.

Pelz was fined and forbidden to canvass in Nutley after authorities learned that the plan did not meet with the approval of the leaders of the colored congregation, who had not given the pastor authority to change the name of the church or to approve the hymn book proposal.

A CONGREGATION COMES OF AGE

The history of the Jews in Belleville dates back to the days before the Revolutionary War, when Harman Hendricks, a Dutch Jew, established the first copper mill in the United States here. The size of the Jewish community has constantly grown, until there are now more than 200 Jewish families in town.

For many years the Jews of Belleville had no place of worship. They were forced to journey to New York, and later to Newark, to attend public worship, although the time-hallowed rituals were constantly maintained in the homes, which are the most respected centers of Jewish religion.

Some years ago a small group decided that the time had come to establish a religious center in Belleville. A Hebrew school was established which met regularly and a drive was launched to provide funds for a synagogue. Thirteen years ago the dream was realized and Congregation Ahavas Achim Aashe was established in its spiritual and social center.

Today Belleville Jewry marks its Bar Mitzvah, or coming of age. When a Jewish boy reaches the age of 13, he is confirmed in his faith and joins the congregation of his elders. Great progress has been made in the past thirteen years. The congregation has grown to the stature of having a full-time spiritual leader, Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, and a flourishing religious school in which 135 children are enrolled. Linked to the synagogue are many religious and social groups, including the Progress Club, the Sisterhood and the Young Judeans. The spiritual life of the Jewish community has become unified.

LITTLE HERO

What a thrilling tale of youthful courage is that from Elkins, W. Va. of a 14-year-old boy, who, although ill with influenza, left his snowbound cabin home and made his way six miles through a mountain blizzard to bring a doctor to his mother. She, the boy's father and eight children were helpless and sick. But this boy, with the determination of a man, made the trip, even crawling from his sickbed to do it. And CCC boys paved a trail back to the cabin for the doctor. Now it is believed the family may pull through.

NOT WANTED

The adventures who like to get into a war for the sake of thrills, regardless of what the fighting is about, have finally been stopped from engaging in the civil war in Spain. European powers have agreed to prevent the flow of foreign volunteers and the agreement has gone into effect. If it is adhered to, much of the danger of a general war will be averted. The rush of volunteers from other countries threatened for a time to create a situation full of danger in Europe. Now, however, the internal warfare in Spain will probably be confined to Spain. And the chances are such isolation will make for a quicker ending of the civil war.

NO TIP STATE

A novel bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives in Tennessee. Should it become law, tipping would be prohibited in that State. Waiters, barbers, waitresses, shoe shine boys and everyone else serving the public and accustomed to receiving tips could no longer accept them. They would be fined $25 for the "offense." Likewise, the tipper would be subject to a similar fine. The author of the bill declares he would outlaw tipping because many employers pay but meagre salaries and the employees are forced to rely on tips for their wages. Of course, this is true in many instances, but tipping has become an international habit. It would be hard to stop it.

EXAMINATIONS

John M. Stalnaker, research associate at Harvard University, in an address before the 20th annual conference of the Secondary Education Board in New York, said that examinations of children in school should be made to fit the individual. He declared that examinations that are "contemptibly petty" should be eliminated. Here he hits upon something with which many of us will agree, because catch questions and "shots in the dark" have long been the bugbear of students. However, we do not believe that there is any substitute for an honest examination.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Prepared for The Belleville News by Russell VanNest
Black, Director-Consultant New Jersey
State Planning Board

Motor Vehicle Density

There are more than four times as many motor vehicles to the square mile in Hudson County as there are in the New York Metropolitan area (roughly within a radius of fifty miles of the city hall in Manhattan) as a whole. The comparable figures are 1587.7 and 350. There are four times as many in Essex, double the number in Union, and 15 per cent more in Bergen to the square mile than there are in the whole New York area described.

Taking the state as a whole, we find that New Jersey with its total of 8,224.44 square miles has an average motor vehicle density more than twice as great as that of the Middle Atlantic States embracing New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. The comparable averages per square mile are 109.9 and 48.6.

These figures, compiled by the statistical staff of the State Planning Board on the basis of automobile registration of 1935, are significant as indicating the primary problem with which highway authorities must deal. It is not the increasing number of motor vehicles manufactured or the multiplying registrations that gives them worry. It is the spaces within which groups of automobiles and trucks ordinarily are required to operate.

New Jersey not only has a rapidly growing metropolitan district of her own with traffic as well as other problems that must be solved within the borders of the State but is also unavoidably concerned with interstate services. A great part of the mileage of the state highway system is used very largely by those who merely pass through, enroute for destinations outside and who materially speaking, bring nothing into the state and leave nothing behind them. Because of her geographical location, it is the obligation of New Jersey to maintain these cross-state avenues at a high degree of efficiency, but her first responsibility naturally is to facilitate intrastate traffic upon the free movement of which the prosperity and social satisfaction of her people so greatly depends.

The areas of the nine counties with their automobile registrations in 1935 and vehicle densities are:

	Area	Total Regis.	Cars Per Sq. Mi.
Bergen	244.71	98,404	402.1
Essex	130.01	181,898	1399.1
Hudson	62.00	95,340	1537.7
Middlesex	321.30	44,428	138.3
Monmouth	534.38	49,081	91.8
Morris	483.03	32,713	67.7
Passaic	198.91	61,654	310.9
Somerset	305.49	17,740	58.1
Union	105.65	72,946	690.4
The State	8224.44	903,859	109.9

Contemporary Literature

By JUSTIN MICHAEL MAGUIRE

"Dun, dun, dun, dun, in 'contemporary literature' (To escape one vice, fools rush into extremes.)"
Horatius, Satire 1, 224.
At the zenith of Rome's glory—or, rather, close upon its downfall—we are told that the extravagance of the nobles reached such an absurd state that a husband every day gave his gift.

feeling jewels; and indeed, one poor fellow was so far gone as to have rings for summer and winter wear. Our present-day critics enter somewhat into an analogy of this; for they, too, have all their fingers loaded with extravagant adjectives, and some few have them for particular seasons. We do not believe that, in the allotment of man's affections, the gods took any special pains to endow critics with singular animation; yet it would appear that from somewhere, they have received the felicity of becoming even over the most ordinary and commonplace enraptured to a degree bordering upon ecstasy. But whatever the origin, the gift carried with it no sense of appropriateness. They have reversed the appliance of encomiums, which is as absurd and preposterous as dancing at funerals or wailing at weddings. They applaud nothing; ignore value, and are as inappropriate as the man at the opera at the Vienna

Voice of the People

Urges Study of Neutrality

Editor of The News:

Last week, in the Belleville Public Library, I borrowed a new book on the subject of neutrality in the United States. It seemed to cover the issue fairly, and quite simply, so that it could be understood by the lay reader. It explained many of the pitfalls in any neutrality bill, and also the reasons why we need a well-defined policy when Europe is so full of unrest.

I wondered how many others had read the book, and, turning to the front page, I was disappointed to find that only one other person had borrowed it, and that date was November 17th. It seemed almost impossible that a new book, on this subject, could stand un-noticed, on the shelf for more than three months while the subject it covers should be uppermost in the minds of citizens.

Neutrality laws will be passed in Washington but public opinion is responsible for the kind of bill eventually enacted. Do your Senators and your Congressman know what you think about these bills? Do you know, yourself?

Newspapers, magazines, and in this case, effective use of the public library will help you to understand a problem which should be the deep concern of all sincere American citizens.

Ring Theatre, who, when fire broke out, upon the stage, believing it part of the opera, enthusiastically cried out, "Bravo!" "Bravo!"
We will not take upon ourselves the invidious practice of ridiculing others. Neither do we attempt to paint critics as knaves or fools; but we do believe it would be well to leave off calling almost every volume that comes from the press, "A masterpiece!" "Work of all-time!" and other such hyperbolic adjectives, which would lead one to believe that the output of classical works in this country ran into staggering figures. Truly, animation is a wonderful thing—in moderation; but we see no reason, in a retrospect of contemporary literature, for critics to stand as the Ringmaster does at circuses, and when the trumpets have sounded, announce in a stentorian voice: "L-a-a-a-d-e-e-e-s-a-n-d-h-g-e-a-t-t-i-e-m-e-n-t-y-o-u-a-re-about-to-witness-the-most-colossal-the-most-stupendous-the-most-extraordinary-thing-of-all-time!"

We are a dull nation in some respects. If, for example, Gabriel Pickensmith, Literary Critic of the Gooseberry Creek Examiner, happens upon a book that pleases his imagination, tickles his fancy or lulls him pleasantly to sleep; he picks up his pen and writes that, here, is the book the world has long been waiting for. It is, says he, "a work of colossal magnitude and value, we have never had its equal in our time!" And almost overnight, is added another to the long list of best-sellers.

However we are of a very sentimental nature, and very pathetically state, that our voice is, "as the voice of one crying in the wilderness"; for, as long as there shall be good adjectives, just so long will there be critics who will not lay their pens down, till they have told their readers of the greatest novel ever between two covers, since the time Dewey captured Manila.

Jessie Matthews to Sing In Feature at Proctor's

Said to be replete with catchy songs, interesting stories and top-notch story value, "Head Over Heels in Love," starring Jessie Matthews, is part of the double feature bill coming to Proctor's Theater today, with "Nancy Steele is Missing," serving as associate feature.

The story of "Head Over Heels in Love," is concerned with the romantic adventures of a girl who performs at an outdoor garden cabaret in Paris. By accident, she meets a youth who works on inventions as a pastime, in the control room of a radio station.

He introduces the singer to his friend and room-mate an actor and the two fall in love. The actor breaks in the romantic interlude, however, by telling her "Hollywood" with a blond singer.

Jessie, in the meantime, gains radiance as the mysterious "Blue Lady" of the air, after her inventor friend gets her the job. When the first suitor returns in an effort to win her love back, she discovers she is no longer in love with him at all, and turns to the inventor instead.

The picture is described as having been superbly directed by Sonnie Hale, who is the star's husband, and containing excellent music, the work of Gordon and Revel.

Louis Borell and Robert Fleming are the rivals in the love triangle. In "Nancy Steele," the main characters are essayed by June Lang, Victor McLaglen, Walter Connolly, and Peter Lorre. The picture deals with the mysterious disappearance of a wealthy girl, and the ensuing excitement.

Clear thinking is the basis of clear writing. When the first exercise the reader often has to determine what the writer is trying to say. The following sentence is taken from the advertisement of a furniture store.

"Forty dollars is the remarkably low price of this table which when extended will seat 12 people, with four legs, or 14 with six legs."

The writer was referring to the legs of the table, but it sounds as though he were trying to sell a table to a family of centipedes.

The word "each" is properly used with the singular pronoun and verb. Right: "Each of the passengers has his (or her) own stateroom." Wrong: "Each of the passengers have their own stateroom."

Motorists In The U. S. Enjoy World's Biggest "Gas" Bargain
Retail Prices of Gasoline Per U. S. Gallon Including Tax

Chart by The Atlantic Refining Company

COMPARISON of gasoline prices here and abroad, including tax, shows how great is the advantage enjoyed by the American motorist. Low gasoline prices, says W. M. Irish, president, The Atlantic Refining Company, while not so generally given the credit, explain almost why there is an automobile for every 4.5 persons in this country, while in Europe there is only one car for every 76.4 persons.

Taking the average of fifty representative cities in the United States, state and federal sales taxes on gasoline have risen from 2.41 cents per gallon in 1926 to 5.34 cents at the present time, but the service station price, including tax, is 19.51 cents—about four cents less than it was in 1926. Based on the latest figures released by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, the retail price per gallon, including tax, is 30.6 cents in London; 40.6 cents in Paris; 48 cents in Rome; 53.4 cents in Berlin.

Figures released by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics show that, using 100 for commodity prices in general in 1926, general commodity prices now stand at 85.7. Based on these figures, petroleum products are about 26 points lower, standing at approximately 59.4. The price of gasoline and other petroleum products lags far behind in the general rise in prices that has occurred, particularly during the past year.

Goat Beauty Contest

Slated by Brewers

Celebration to Mark Opening of Bock Beer Season in New Jersey

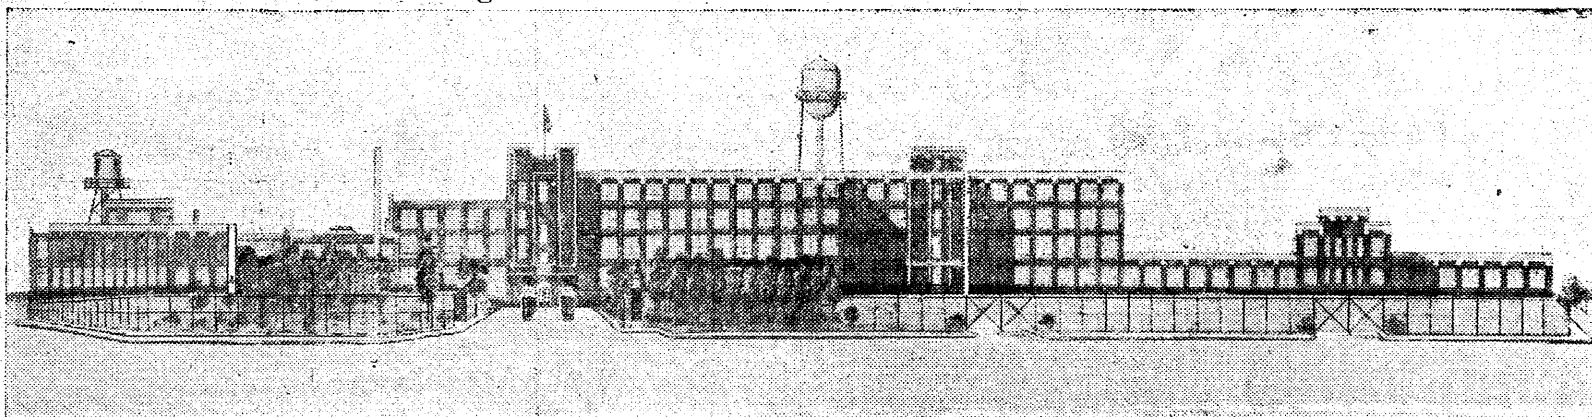

American people have enjoyed beauty contests, corn husking bees, hog calling contests and sundry competitions of one sort and another. Now they will be given a new treat—a goat "beauty" contest.

Military Park in the heart of Newark will be the scene of this unusual event when "Mr. Bock Beer Goat of 1937" is chosen from among a big collection of goats from all parts of the state.

The custom of celebrating the opening of the bock beer season has been a festive occasion for centuries even before the name "Bock" had been given to it. In bygone ages the release of this invigorating brew was attended by tribal rituals. Today it is celebrated in more modern fashion with the goat playing an important part.

Thus the reason for the big contest. Goats of all sorts will be assembled. Some will be fat, some skinny, others roll. Well, it has no particular reader interest except insofar as the children see their own names in print or their parents might be interested. Yet this honor roll publication has a far reaching significance. Little Johnnie Jones might wear a tattered suit, he might be depressed because of home conditions, but let him see his name on the honor roll and he may be inspired to strive a little harder.

"Living With Our Children" "Perhaps some of you will recall in the columns of the Belleville News two years ago 'Living With our Children in the Schools,' original articles by the children. Unfortunately circumstances forced us to curtail this feature which, incidentally has been used now throughout the Nation by other papers. We hope some day to be able to place that feature again in our columns because of its inspiration to youth. Who knows but even with our meagre start some child in the schools has been able to decide upon a life work of writing. Perhaps a star reporter is in the making—perhaps a famous writer or author will emerge from that humble beginning. We sincerely hope so. And, if this should happen, we have helped in one of the things we owe the community.

"A newspaper places so much stress on youth because it realizes that as they traverse the pathway of the years these children of today become the citizens of tomorrow. If they have been properly assisted by the newspaper as they grow into charge of communities and as they become the heads of families of the future the newspaper becomes a part of their lives and of necessity becomes an even greater influence in the community.

"But there are many other things that attract the attention of a newspaper in the fulfillment of its duty to the community.

"Second consideration is given the churches, which represent to every right thinking man and woman the backbone of civilization. Down through the ages the church has stood the beacon of cheer and comfort to troubled people all over the face of the earth. A newspaper which shirks its obligation to the church does not deserve the name of newspaper. Too much space could not be devoted to church activities. For many years and in particular since the advent of the automobile the church has felt a decline in membership. Other influences, too, have been at work. Folks forgot the church. Meantime newspapers with a sense of obligation to church and its great influence on our lives have been hammering away to keep individuals church-minded. Came the depression and another generation after the one of the war period. Thoughts of young people and older ones, too, changed toward church.

This change must ever be in the mind of newspapers because editors are interested in increased church attendance. Here in Belleville Dr. O. Bell Close started a back to the church movement which has had a far reaching effect throughout the nation. Believe it or not the country as a whole has grasped his idea in this connection.

There are numerous highways and by ways into which a newspaper reaches in its debt to the community. It lends a helping hand to the Community Chest, The Welfare Federation, Boy and Girl Scouts, social and fraternal groups, athletics and politics.

"Unfortunately those of us in the newspaper business who realize the great trust that is ours are limited because of organization and funds to carry out all these ideals. Nevertheless we know what our duty is and we try to do it to the best of our ability.

Sometimes an editor is the greatest fellow in the world. That is when he boasts some politician with a puff or carries publicity to the fullest for some worthy endeavor.

"It is regrettable that his front page isn't large enough to put all the news on it. When someone's story is placed inside the paper he is not so 'hot.' But he tries to please all. There is one thought I would like to leave as regards a small community paper, such as ours, which has established a plant in Belleville and that is that the community paper does not seek news values as does a daily. It does seek out crime and scandal. Just as important to the readers of the home town paper is the cake sale of the Ladies' Aid as a fire in Washington avenue."

De Witt Paxton, radio commentator, gave some of his original poems. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

A Meat Cooking Secret From Hawaii

Professional chefs have a rival in Glenda Farrell, prominent screen actress, who has made a real study of the culinary art.

By Mabel Love
GLEND A FARRELL, widely known moving picture star who scored such a hit in the current picture "Gold Diggers of 1937," has two hobbies—her eight-year-old son Tommy and cooking. Her hours of keenest pleasure are those she is able to spend with her boy, but she also gets a lot of real pleasure out of the time she spends in her kitchen.

Cooking may seem a rather commonplace pursuit to most people, but cooking isn't commonplace to this charming star, for she makes a real study of the culinary art and strives always to give her dishes that added zest and flavor that lifts them entirely out of the ordinary run. The manner in which she has adopted a secret of Hawaiian cookery in the preparation of roasts and other meats is an illustration.

In basting her roasts she uses one-half cup pineapple juice and one-half water. Deviled steak is one of Miss Farrell's specialties, and those who have eaten deviled steak as she prepares it are unanimous in declaring it to be a culinary achievement of which the most skillful professional chef might well be proud. Here is Miss Farrell's recipe, so that you can see for yourself how fully such praise is deserved.

Deviled Steak

- 1 flank steak (about 2 lbs.)
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 large onion
- 1 teaspoon herb bouquet
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 1/2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- 2 cups Hawaiian pineapple juice

Cut the steak in pieces 2 by 3 inches and roll in flour. Melt the butter in Dutch oven and brown the sliced onion and powdered herbs, remove onion and brown the steak. Add remaining flour and dry seasonings, brown slightly. Pour hot vinegar and pineapple juice over steak, cover closely and simmer for several hours, or until steak is tender. 6 servings.

Injured By Fall At Home of Friend

Walter Redmond of 12 Taylor street, Newark, suffered a fractured skull when he fell from the porch of the home of Harold Crane, 172 Cedar Hill avenue, last Friday night.

Mr. Redmond attended a card party at the Crane home and was leaving the house to enter the car of Sam McInden of East Orange, another guest, when the accident occurred. He suffered from high blood pressure and is believed to have suffered a fainting spell.

After he was driven to his home by Mr. McInden and another guest, Thomas Clark of Newark, Mr. Redmond's condition became worse and he was taken to Newark City Hospital.

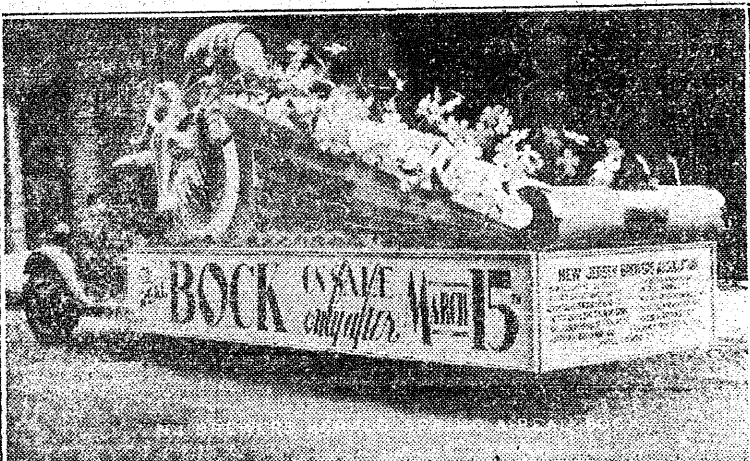

Birthday Party

Mrs. Eleanor Bunting was honored by a birthday party Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John Van Volkum of 21 Jefferson street. Decorations were in green. Present were Mr. and Mrs. John Van Volkum, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Volkum, Mr. and Mrs. James Bunting, Mr. and Mrs. Francis F. Plumeau, Miss Wilma Sitok and Peter Walsh.

shaggy or well groomed but they must have two things in common in order to win. They must have grizzly beards and well developed horns.

Celebrities of the sport, stage, and radio world and high public officials will pick the outstanding goat.

This contest together with a statewide tour of a unique and gaily decorated float will mark the arrival of bock beer season. New Jersey will offer this Spring brew to the public on and after March 15.

NEVER run an engine in which alcohol is used as the anti-freeze agent, after steam starts to issue from the overflow pipe. The steam will cause the radiator solution to run out of the overflow pipe until the radiator is empty. Scalded cylinders, burnt pistons, etc., are likely to be the result.

When an automatic shutter, or winter front, fails to open at any temperature, the thermostat unit is probably defective and should be replaced. When the shutters open, but will not close, the trouble is probably due to a broken closing spring.

Check the generator charging rate. Because of the heavy demand on the storage battery during cold weather, it is often advisable to increase the generator output during the winter months.

Bethel Concert

The Lucille Bethel Chorus of Newark has completed plans for a farewell concert to its leader, Lucille Bethel, at the Mutual Benefit auditorium, Newark, March 30. A reception at the Essex House will follow the concert.

The chorus was organized by Miss Bethel in 1928 and won first prize at the National Music Convention in Boston that year. The group has been honored at subsequent conventions and last year, under the leadership of its president, Miss Dorothy Alexander, won the highest award at the state convention at Atlantic City.

Past presidents are Edna Sherman, Irma Feusel, Manetta Zimmerman, Anna Schaeck and Ruth Swezey. Edward Austen Kan will be the guest artist at the farewell concert.

The BUSINESS LETTER

By MARTIN COOK

The principal subject of conversation in the mercantile and financial world during the past few days has been the President's speech on the Supreme Court, and its effect on business. The outlook for a speedy solution of this question is far from hopeful. A long and acrimonious debate in Congress can create a great deal of uncertainty.

Another prominent question that has many disturbing possibilities is, what will be the effect of the contest between the American Federation of Labor and the C. I. O. to enroll the most workers in the steel industry. In addition the very evident antagonism of a large proportion of the steel employees to the Lewis union may keep labor in a state of unrest.

That all is not as serious as it appears on the surface is shown by the new strikes in the Chevrolet plant and those called in the various Chrysler companies. The outcome of these later disturbances will be watched with interest.

Continued growth in the volume of production of many industries was shown in the latest reports. In the steel trade, alone, about 11,000 new workers have been added to the lists. The number of employees is now the largest in its history. At the beginning of the week the operating ratio was reported as being 87.3 per cent, the best average in seven years.

The better condition of the trade is proved by the report of Bethlehem Steel Co. that the 1936 net earnings were double the 1935 figures with a per share earning of $2.01 as against $1.

Republic Steel Corp. also showed a large increase, the net for 1936 being $9,586,922, compared with a 1935 net of $4,453,735.

Chain store sales are running at much higher figures, Montgomery Ward reporting an increase in February of 24.1 per cent and others showing good gains.

The greater volume of production in the heavy industries and general business has made for a large movement of freight. As a result the number cars loaded is well above recent years.

Reports of many roads for 1936 reveal good increases in net earnings. Great Northern, for example, earned at the rate of $3.98 a share, an increase of $1 a share.

Unfilled orders on the books of the American Locomotive Co. and the Baldwin Locomotive Works amounting to $21,000,000 each, prove that the railroads are now able to replace old equipment.

Last week I mentioned the gain in telephone installations as an indication of better business. The 1936 report of the Western Union Telegraph Co. with earnings of $7,199,120, compared with a 1935 net of $5,258,078, is further evidence of the growth.

Security and commodity markets have reacted well to the published news. The increased activity on the up side was halted by the announcement of the Chrysler strike. Bonds have had a tendency to lower prices, emphasizing the feeling, held by many, that the peak of bond market has been reached.

Editor's note: Questions pertaining to investments and securities addressed to Martin Cook in care of this paper will be answered promptly.

THE ELKS NATIONAL HOME

In recognition of the growing need and in response to a general demand throughout the Order of Elks, the Grand Lodge, in 1902, established the first Elks National Home, for aged and indigent Elks, at Bedford, Virginia; having acquired a site upon which an acceptable building was already erected.

In the course of time this building became inadequate to meet the increasing demands upon it; but the geographical location had proved ideal. And the Grand Lodge, in 1911, authorized the construction upon the same site of a more spacious, a more modern and a more suitable Home, designed to admit of extension and enlargement as future needs might require.

On July 8, 1916, the new Elks National Home was formally dedicated. From time to time substantial additions have been made, increasing its capacity to care for more than five hundred residents. The initial cost of the Home was provided by assessments upon every member of the Order.

The general maintenance cost is a Grand Lodge expense covered by the annual dues paid by every Elk. The subsistence expense of each resident of the Home is paid in part by the Grand Lodge and in part by his own lodge, only upon whose application he may be admitted.

The Elks National Home is a beautiful structure, most effectively combining classic and mission features of architecture. In its appropriate setting, the first view of it compels an admiration which grows as the details of its arrangement and its furnishings, and the completeness of its equipment to fulfill its purposes, are more carefully noted.

The Order has maintained a distinctive policy in the administration of this haven for its aged and indigent members. It has never been regarded as an ordinary charitable institution, to be peopled by inmates who might there receive merely shelter and food and whose conduct and movements would be rigidly prescribed and hampered by irksome institutional rules and regulations. On the contrary, it has been consistently conducted as a real Home, in which each resident brother has the fullest possible freedom of action, with every consideration for his right of personal privacy, and wherein every effort is made to insure his comfort, well being and happiness, as a worthy and esteemed Brother Elk.

The Elks National Home is regarded with pride by every member of the Order who has visited it, or who knows of the splendid fraternal service which is there being performed, and in which service he shares.

Since the buildings were built, several beautiful modern additions have been erected, the money for which was provided in large part from the net earnings of The Elks Magazine, a publication in which the Order of Elks takes great pride.

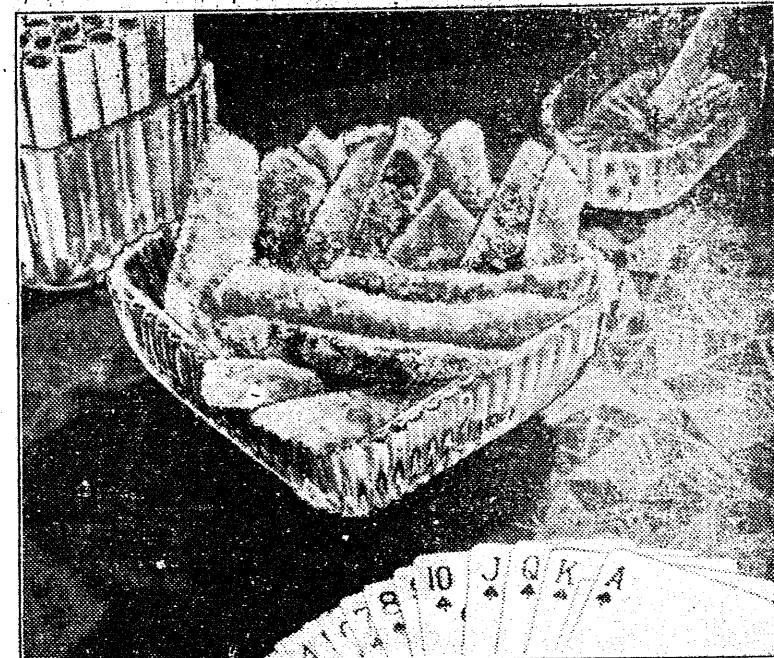

From its inception The Elks Magazine has been maintained as a magazine of the highest standards, both in physical make up and in literary content. It has achieved its purpose to become a welcome visitor in any home, a valuable addition to any reading table. It has conclusively proved its effectiveness as a medium for conveying to the entire membership the fraternal information the Order desires them to have, the official communications which it is designed they should receive, the news of subordinate lodge activities in which they are naturally interested, and other matters of distinctly fraternal import.

The foremost writers of the country contribute of their best work to its pages. Its illustrations are from the hands of the most noted artists. Its cover designs are of uniform excellence and distinction, comparing favorably with those of the best periodicals of the country.

It has established itself as a desirable publicity medium for national advertisers, which is perhaps the best evidence of its popularity. And from this source it derives a revenue which, with its income from subscriptions, including One Dollar per year from each member as a part of his annual dues, has enabled it to show consistent annual net earnings of substantial

A Grand Slam At Any Bridge Table

By Jane Rogers

Nibble and stay thin is the motto of the bridge playing hostess who fortifies her guests with grapefruit peel candied in pineapple juice instead of chocolates and bon bons.

A CANDY to delight the woman who is watching her waistline is prepared by cooking thin strips of grapefruit peel in a sirup made of Hawaiian pineapple juice and sugar. The result is a delicious candy with a gumdrop consistency and the true pineapple flavor. To add color to the peel the sirup may be tinted with vegetable coloring, and for variety the peel may be cut in fancy shapes before cooking.

The tested recipe follows:

Candied Grapefruit Peel
Wash grapefruit skins, remove all membrane, leaving the thick white and yellow rind, and cut into strips about three inches long and three-eighths of an inch wide. Place rind in a kettle and cover with cold water.

Bring water to a boil and boil for fifteen minutes. Drain and repeat process twice. Rinse peel with cold water and drain thoroughly. Make a sirup, using one cup of Hawaiian pineapple juice to one cup of sugar. Bring sirup to a boil and boil for ten minutes before adding peel. Sirup should just cover the peel. Bring sirup to a good boil and then turn heat low so sirup will simmer gently. Cook until skins become glazed and have absorbed all the sirup. Lay candied peel on a tray covered with waxed paper to dry (overnight). Then roll each strip in granulated sugar. One cup of sugar and one cup of juice will make enough sirup to cover the peel from two grapefruit of medium size (about 2 cups of fruit peel).

WAKE UP YOUR

LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Refreshed
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else, 25c.

Newark Bears Leave

For Spring Training

Manager Vitt Assembles

Ball Players At

Sebring, Fla.

Once again the Newark Bears are Florida bound. From all parts of the country ambitious ball players are heading for Sebring, Fla., to strut their stuff before Manager Oscar Vitt.

The going for the first training session is due to sound this morning. The pitchers and catchers will report to Vitt for their initial workout. Then on Monday, the outfielders and infielders are due to get into uniform for the first time.

The advance squad of players left Newark Wednesday, headed by Vitt and Secretary Ray Kennedy. George M. Weiss, vice-president and general manager of the Newark Club, has been in St. Petersburg for over a week watching the Yankees. He will now shift his headquarters to Sebring.

In the squad which left Newark were Joseph Beggs, Aliquippa, Pa.; Hiram Bithorn, Puerto Rico; John Fallon, Quincy, Mass.; Peter Naktens, Hartford, Conn.; Marius Russo, Ozone Park, L. I.; and Cecil Spittler, Cranford, N. J.

Buffalo joined the party at Washington. Other members of the battery department went direct from their homes.

The Newark Club will again conduct trial workouts for young ball players. The trials will be held at Ruppert Stadium and will begin about May 5.

Youths between the ages of 17 and 22 will be eligible. Trials were held last year and proved a success. Five young players who showed ability were signed to contracts and are making their debut in organized baseball this year. Competent instructors will again supervise the trials. Applications for workouts can be obtained by writing the Newark International Baseball Club, Ruppert Stadium, Newark.

THE combination "equally as" frequently crops up in present-day writing and conversation. It is never good English. Do not say, "Their suggestion seems equally as good as yours." Say, "Their suggestion seems as good as yours," or "Their suggestion and yours seem equally good."

Our word "supercilious," meaning haughtily contemptuous or disdainful, comes down to us from "superciliosus," a Latin word meaning, literally, "eyebrowish." The Romans recognized that raising the eyebrows was a characteristic habit of the haughty, arrogant man; so they combined their words "super" (over) and "cilium" (eyebrow) to form "superciliosus," meaning "pride," and "supercilious," meaning "haughty" or "arrogant."

"Set 'Em Up" Commands Falcato

A CENTURY and a half of bowling! That's the record of the five men on the George Washington Hotel team, who are competing in the American Bowling Congress Tournament to be held in New York City March 10th to April 30th. And when a man's been rolling 'em for over thirty years—boy! he's gotta be good! Joe Falcato, listed among the ten best bowlers in the country is one of the quintet. The popular Italian keger has bowled more than thirty, three hundred games. He held the National match game title four years. He defeated Joe Schriener in Detroit in total pins for 80 games in 1929. Joseph V. Bartos who captains the team, was a member of the combine that won the Chicago championship in 1921, and on the team that finished third in the A. B. C. championship in Peoria in 1920. John Stofka is known to be the most consistent spare bowler in the East, in forty years of competition. Tony Naccarto is Falcato's partner in the doubles, and Tony Pinto, the youngest member of the combine, winds up the quintet. These boys have a good chance in the big ten-pin event!

Five Feature Scraps

At Laurel Garden

Koverly - Pinto and Joe

Dusek - Garibaldi

Bouts Slated

Five wrestling matches will be presented Tuesday night at Laurel Garden, Newark. Each contest is to be decided by one fall.

In the feature scrap, George Koverly, the kayo specialist from California, will again match his wit with Stanley Pinto of Nebraska. Two weeks ago they put on a hot battle.

Joe Dusek, infant member of four riotous brothers from Nebraska, will make his debut of the season when he takes on an arch rival in Gino Garibaldi of St. Louis in the semi-final of one fall with a half hour time limit.

Mike Strelich, Polish grappler from the West Coast who made good in his bow last week will face another newcomer in George Harbin of Atlanta, Ga., in the third bout. Other tilts on the bill of fare will show Matros Kirilenko, the wild Russian, tussling with Henry Graber of Germany and Ted Key of the University of Southern California will be seen squaring off with John Swanski of Boston in the curtain raiser.

Essex County Bankers

Plan Annual Banquet

The 13th annual banquet of the Essex County Chapter, American Institute of Banking, will be held April 3 at the Essex House, Newark. It was announced recently at a meeting of the banquet committee of the group.

James Lee Ellenwood of New York will be the principal speaker. His topic will be "Between Us." Stanley J. Mark, secretary and treasurer of the Franklin-Washington Trust Co., is chairman of the banquet committee. The dinner will be followed by dancing to the music of Fred Harnett's Club Orchestra.

Cox and Garibaldi To

Come To Grips

Pachyderms Rematched At

Columbia Park, North

Bergen

After much maneuvering on the part of Ralph Mondt, wrestling promoter of Columbia Park, North Bergen, Joe Cox, Kansas City Krasher, and Gino Garibaldi, fiery Latin, have finally been rematched to come to grips in the feature one fall, ninety minute time limit duel at his club tonight. From the looks of things this match is really the hottest bout in the vicinity of North Jersey, as there is no love lost between this pair of rough and ready matadors.

A prime favorite, George K. O. Koverly, Hollywood Howitzer, will return to see action in the half hour semi. Pitted against him will be the popular Pete Peterson, who has been going great guns since his successful tour of South America.

The other half hour tilts will bring together Bob Managoff and Bobby Roberts; Laverne Baxter and Hans Kamper; and Andy Meixner and Tommy Draak.

Nereid Boat Club

The Nereid Boat Club will hold its monthly card party at the club house Tuesday evening. The committee in charge is composed of Mr. and Mrs. C. Leverich Brett, Mr. and Mrs. Leggett C. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Barry Ziegler.
