

Seen About Town

Donald Rochlin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Morris Rochlin of 41 Essex street, placed fifth in the 50-foot swimming event in the seventy-pound class at the Bradley Beach pool in a meet sponsored by a Newark newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kupp of 477 Washington avenue celebrated both their birthdays by taking a trip to Mombasha Lake, Munroe, N. Y., last weekend. Mrs. Kupp's birthday was last Monday and Mr. Kupp's was Tuesday.

Miss Joan Rummel of 19 Malone avenue celebrated her eighteenth birthday Wednesday.

The Grasshopper Club, which meets in Bergen's Grove in Belleville avenue, recently elected the following officers: James Smith, president; William Dunn, vice president; William Higgins, secretary; Peter Deighan, treasurer, and Howard Bergen, sergeant-at-arms. The following trustees were re-elected: Harry Leasch, John Ellis and Jack Goyette.

Mrs. William Kant of 383 Cortlandt street is spending the summer at Belmar. Mr. Kant conducts a tavern in Joralemon street.

Miss Effie Wallder of 77 Tiona avenue, dental assistant to Dr. Morris Rochlin, returned Monday from her vacation.

Do You Remember?

The Belleville Catholic Club, which met about thirty years ago in St. Peter's Hall, included in its track and field athletes, Pearce R. Franklin, Newark commissioner; Paul Kennedy, president of Murphy Varnish Company; William Kraft; William Kelly; Ed Garvey; Michael Devaney, Olympic star; Harry Fitzpatrick; Edward Hollweg; Michael O'Hara; William, John and Joe Riley, Bob Anderson and Percy Flanagan were managers, and Joe Williams was the trainer. Rev. Joseph Kelly, present pastor, came to St. Peter's parish when he was first ordained and was interested in the club.

Rollin Stewart of Belleville was the strong man at the Hillside Park show, some thirty years ago. He had a mechanical duck which he called "Tribby, the dancing duck."

William "Gus" Scaine directed the play "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" in the Belleville Hall about thirty years ago.

Charles Hustiss was the "horse thief" who was hung every Sunday afternoon in the wild west show at Hillside Park (now Riviera Park) about twenty-five years ago.

Professor Goodale piloted his airship from Hillside Park to the roof of Hahn & Company, in Newark. To make the airship rise, he would run to the back of his carriage, and to make it descend, he would run to the front.

William Flynn pitched and Jim Dunleavy caught for the St. Peter's baseball team, while James Flynn, Sr. pitched and Joe Schurr caught for the policemen, in a baseball game between the two teams about 20 years ago. The policemen won the game 8-4 although their battery was twice as old as the St. Peter's lads.

How many of our readers remember the old Mutual grounds at Lloyd place and Hornblower avenue?

In 1910, George Brooks managed the Belleville Mutuals, the members of which team were: Stony Macchette and Frank Sieglar, pitchers; Joe S. Hurr, catcher; Martin Cavanaugh, first base; James Flynn, Sr. and Al Grazie, second base; George Wilderman and Ed Mutch, third base; Joe "Muscle" McCarthy, shortstop; James "Pop" Westlake, catcher; Jack Wertz, first base; Dr. Joseph Randolph, pitcher; Frank McGovern, left field; William Crisp, center field; Francis "Tar" McCarthy, left field; Hugh "Mickey" Welsh, right field, and Frank Corliss, catcher. John "Sugar" Flynn, a copper, was a substitute. Robert Crisp was secretary, and George Brooks, Jr., was mascot.

Dr. James Irwin started his professional career in the late Theodore Joralemon's house at Washington avenue and Terry street.

About 35 years ago, the Woodstocks of Belleville were rated the best team in North Jersey. Their home grounds were at Colonial terrace, which was between Belleville avenue and William street in Union avenue. Some of the members of the Woodstocks were former Police Chief Michael J. Flynn, James "Bunny" Comisky, James Noonan, Dennis O'Neill, Barney Fox, (now captain of the Du Pont fire department), Ed Powers, Nick Comisky, Michael Leonard, William Fischler, James Jordan and Larry Wistlake.

Negotiations Resumed by Town Seeking Title to Water Company Property

Town Recently Acquired Suburban Investment Land by Foreclosure After $90,000 in Taxes Had Accumulated

Negotiations between Belleville and the Suburban Investment Company for a deed to part of the company's land in northern Main street, have been resumed, Mayor William H. Williams states.

The town recently acquired the property by foreclosure after $90,000 in taxes had accumulated. Purchase of the deed was recommended by Recorder Everett B. Smith, who declared he had no doubt the foreclosure proceedings were regular, but that there is a prejudice and general antipathy toward tax titles.

The Suburban Investment Company was formerly the Suburban Water Company which operated a plant on northern Main street, near the Passaic river. Officials of the company early this week offered to sell a deed to the town for $500. Mayor Williams said he would urge purchase of the deed at that figure.

The Suburban Investment Company, a Jersey City organization, was founded some fifteen or twenty years ago for the purpose of piping water to Staten Island from artesian wells drilled upon their property at Bellevista avenue and Ralph street.

Failing to receive permission from some of the towns through which the pipe line would have to pass, the company closed down its plant without once pumping a drop of water and later allowed Belleville to take over the property in lieu of taxes accrued on the property. The Pettit Paint Company will locate on the south west corner of Main street and Bellevista avenue, which is a part of the property of the Suburban Investment Company.

Plot Leased by Arlington Concern

Shaving Brush Company To Locate Near Rare Metals

The town commission Tuesday night learned that the Hardright Company of 510 Elm street, Arlington, makers of shaving brushes, will come to this town shortly. It will locate on a plot adjoining the Rare Metals Products Company in a building to be erected by the latter company and leased to the Hardright Company.

In a resolution introduced by Commissioner William D. Clark, the plot of ground now owned by the Suburban Investment Company, was ordered sold to the Pettit Paint Company of Jersey City for the sum of $3500.

Commissioner Clark failed to introduce a resolution covering the sale of the property once occupied by the so-called Belle Chemical Company, a front for the Delaware Company. The town commissioners in their conference Monday afternoon approved the sale of the property to D. E. Replodge, representing the Electronic Mechanics Company of 201 East Twelfth avenue, New York City, for $7500. The Belle Chemical is located at Little and Cortlandt streets and is 219.35 by 194 feet in dimension.

Descendants of Constitution Signers To Attend Celebration Planned in New Jersey

In Connection with Celebration There Has Been Some Doubt Concerning Birthplace of William Paterson

TRENTON, July 30.—Arrangements are being made by the New Jersey United States Constitution Commission, of which George deR. Keim, of Edgewater Park, is chairman, to have as many descendants of the signers of the Constitution attend the celebrations in New Jersey to mark the promulgation of this historic document. The planned celebration will be from September 17 to December 18. Many communities will join the state in staging ceremonies in keeping with the occasion.

In connection with celebration there has been some doubt, concerning the birthplace of William Paterson, one of the signers from New Jersey. Chairman Keim has received from J. Lawrence Boggs, of Newark, a descendant of this signer, a letter stating that Mr. Paterson was born in Antrim, Ireland. The letter follows: "My great grandfather, William Paterson, was the eldest son of Richard and Mary Paterson. He was born in Antrim, Ireland, December 24, 1745. Richard Paterson was a north of Ireland Protestant of Scotch descent and came to New Castle, Delaware with his wife, three sons, William, Thomas, and Edward, and two daughters, Frances and Susanna, later coming to Princeton where he purchased one hundred acres. When fifteen years of age, William Paterson entered Princeton College at which time Rev. Samuel Davies was president. The college had been moved three years before from Newark. Finley was the president during his undergraduate days. William Paterson, Tapping Reeve, Robert Ogden, Luther Martin, and Oliver Ellsworth founded the "Well Meaning Club" which five years later became the Clio-Sophic Society. In 1764 William Paterson entered the law office of Richard Stockton. The place and date of birth of William Paterson as set forth in this letter are accurate as I have in my possession in William Paterson's handwriting a record of the place and date of his birth. A brief life of William Paterson by Francis R. North, principal of the East Side High School of Paterson was published in the year 1930."

Vince Dundee Home

Vince Dundee, who recently underwent an operation on his right eye to relieve a hemorrhage, has returned to his home here. He had been in a New York hospital several weeks.

Hoffmans Have Completed 3500-Mile Vacation Trip

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoffman and son, Robert, of 131 Forest street, are now at home having concluded a vacation trip of 3,500 miles. Among the places of interest visited were Great Lakes' exposition, Edison Museum, Greenfield Village, Ford's plant, Shrine of the Little Flower, Pontiac plant, Thunder Mountain, House of David, sand dunes of Indiana, Notre Dame University, Capitol building, Madison, Wisconsin; Hamilton Rock Gardens, Ontario, Canada; Niagara Falls, Canada and United States; Cornell University, Lake George and Saratoga Springs. A trip was also made to Atlantic City where a few days were spent visiting Lieutenant G. B. Jarrett of the Steel Pier, and P. Jones and William Junda, of Belleville High School, who conduct the mouse game on the boardwalk.

Mr. Hoffman is a local carrier in the Belleville post office.

Grant Permit to Garden State Line

Five-Cent Fare to Newark Is the Outlook

A resolution was adopted at Monday afternoon's meeting of the town commissioners granting the Garden State bus line permission to operate in Belleville ten buses. The bus line has already received permission from Bloomfield and Nutley and will enter Belleville from Nutley at Passaic avenue. Before the line can be put in operation, Greylock place will have to be paved from Belmoir street to Passaic avenue.

Mayor Williams, who introduced the resolution, said that the paving would require three-eighths of a mile of surface. The bus line leaves Passaic avenue at Greylock place, thence to Union avenue, to Division, to Hornblower, to Belleville avenue, to Washington avenue and to North Newark. A five-cent Newark fare is the ultimate view.

Mrs. Florence R. Morey reported that she had been talking with John L. O'Toole of Public Service, who expressed his dissatisfaction at this new bus line, and said he did not believe the Public Utilities Commission would approve it.

Commissioner Waters reported a soda truck had upset at William and Cortlandt streets recently, and asked if the town could be held responsible for the accident, inasmuch as the gutter sunk under the weight of the truck, causing the accident. Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan said he did not believe the town could be held responsible.

Utilities Resolution

A resolution from the Public Utilities Commission granting the Public Service the right to operate twenty-five buses from Irvington Center through Newark, Belleville and Nutley to Kingsland Road, making the fare from Belleville to Newark ten cents, was read by Mrs. Florence R. Morey, town clerk, at the conference Monday afternoon.

Essex County Board of Elections was granted the use of the fire house as polling places for the Fall elections.

A leak in the main at William and Washington avenue resulted in a bill from Dr. J. B. Barker for $75 because he declared that the water had seeped into his cellar, destroying a valuable rug among other things. The board referred the matter to Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan.

Director Patrick A. Waters reported that he would install four new hydrants throughout the town, and was ordered to pay for the hydrants, which cost about one hundred dollars each, out of current expenses.

A house at 14 Wilson place was ordered sold for $1500 to Julio C. Malatesta, who plans to improve the property by $1500, it was reported by Commissioner William D. Clark. Commissioner Clark was also ordered to sell a junk yard at 254 Belmont avenue to O. Giogrande, who offered $1000 for the property. The sale is contingent on whether Mr. Giogrande takes out a junk dealer's license.

Buses Without Consent

It was reported that Public Service is operating a Paterson to Newark bus line, without first having received consent from Belleville to operate in this town. It was said that this was a part of the trial removal program throughout the county and that the town commissioners will give their consent notwithstanding.

A police traffic squad will begin duty here next week in an effort to cut down automobile accidents. So far this year there have been eight fatalities, one more than in any full year previously.

The new squad, as announced by Public Safety Director Gerard, will consist of six patrolmen under a superior officer. Two men will be on

W. H. K. Davey Suggests Establishment Of "Auto Pounds" in the County

Local Lawyer Writes Letter to Supervisor Reed Urging "Storage Charge" Against Cars of Traffic Law Violators

Establishment of municipal "automobile pounds" in which cars of motorists convicted of traffic violations would be kept for varied periods at the owners' expense, has been suggested in the county-wide drive in Essex to curtail auto fatalities and accidents. The "pound" idea has been offered by W. H. K. Davey of 155 Academy street, this town, in a letter to County Supervisor Ernest A. Reed. Reed has informed Davey that the proposal will be placed before a conference of police magistrates and judges soon to be called by the Freeholders' road committee.

"Every municipality has vacant lots (through tax sales), which, at slight cost, could be made practical for car pounds or detention pens. If the traffic act be properly amended, a recorder after convicting an individual of a traffic violation, could and should, impose a fine, impound the car for a certain number of days and take up the driver's license for the same period, with costs, such as $5 for impounding, and $1 a day for storage."

Davey suggests that the fines go to the state as at present, but that the costs imposed for impounding and storage be received by the municipality.

Engel turned in another impressive performance at the Nutley bowl Wednesday night as he annexed honors in the fifth event of the series at one mile, leading to the tape Honeman, Anker Meyer Andersen and Frank L. Keating, in order.

As a result the foreigner now leads the title parade with a total of 19 points. Honeman is in second position with 16, and Andersen, champion of Denmark, and the blonde New Yorker, Keating, are tied in third position, each with seven markers.

Both of the latter two are exceedingly dangerous to the leaders at this time. Each is riding at the height of their form as they demonstrated in qualifying for Wednesday's championship final. Only inches separated the quartet at the tape in the final.

Bobby Echeverria, the San Jose, California, rider is in fifth place with four points, followed by Guy Ricci and George Shipman, each with one. None of these riders were able to improve their position in the point standing during the riding of the one mile event, all being shut out, after winning a qualifying heat.

A lengthy professional and amateur card of events completes the bill with the starting gun scheduled to be fired at 8:30 P. M.

Bandits Get $30

Two bandits, one armed, held up a gasoline station at Belleville avenue and Bridge street, at 1 A. M. Wednesday and robbed the attendant, Benjamin Williams of 121 Baldwin place, Bloomfield, of $30. They escaped in an automobile.

Thelma Kraus Weds Francis S. Meeker, Jr.

Miss Thelma Kraus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kraus of 180 New street, this town, and Frances Samuel Meeker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Meeker of Pine Brook, were married Saturday at the bride's home, Dr. O. Bell Close of Fawcett Memorial Presbyterian Church, officiating. Palms and garden flowers decorated the home.

The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Meeker, sister of the bridegroom. The bridegroom was unattended because of the illness of the best man.

The bride was attired in a traveling suit of white satin and a small white sport hat. She had a corsage of gardenias. Miss Meeker wore a white silk dress, blue jacket and matching hat.

After a luncheon at the bride's home, the couple left for two weeks in Cape May. They will live at the New street address. Mrs. Meeker is a graduate of Belleville High School and Newark Public School of Fine and Industrial Art.

ARE YOU INDIFFERENT TO SLAUGHTER?

Automobile accidents can be reduced. Death on the highways can be stopped.

Last year, traffic fatalities reached an all-time high of 38,500. Yet 18 states and the District of Columbia showed an average reduction of 7 per cent in deaths—even though gasoline consumption, best barometer of traffic conditions, increased 10 per cent.

These states weren't "just lucky." Chance didn't save the lives of their citizens. According to the National Safety Council, all but two of the states carry on aggressive programs of safety engineering, law enforcement, education, legislation, etc. The same authority reports that in half of the remaining 30 states next to nothing is done to prevent the Grim Reaper's grisly harvest.

There are two prime causes of automobile accidents. One is the reckless, incompetent and dangerous driver. He can be curbed to some extent by up-to-date traffic laws that are honestly and rigidly enforced.

The other cause is dangerous, "accident prone" locations—bad intersections, narrow highways without dividing areas, etc. Here the highway engineer must be called in to eliminate such needless hazards and thus make it virtually impossible to have an accident.

"Make our town safe" should be a community motto. It's high time, as the New York Times says, that we "shook off our comparative national indifference to this man-made evil... and began safety campaigns in earnest."

Driver Uninjured As Car Strikes Another

Lyndhurst Man Loses Control of Machine When Taken Ill

Stricken ill at the wheel of his auto early Monday, Albert Nelson of 248 Kingsland avenue, Lyndhurst, escaped injury when it struck a car parked at Mill street and Washington avenue, Belleville. Nelson was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, and held for observation.

Town May Underwrite Next Fourth Show

Citizens League To Ask For Municipal Financing

The Civic League will appeal to the Town Commission to place $1,000 in next year's budget to care for municipal observance of the Fourth of July.

The league, which was formed by a group of citizens to promote the welfare of Belleville, for the last two years has undertaken the observance.

The success of the two celebrations, each of which drew more than 10,000 participants, has led the league to believe that it should be paid for out of town funds. The league's records show that only a small group contribute and the same few maintain the celebration each year. For the two years the local manufacturing concerns bore a quarter of the expense.

Local Woman Gets Divorce Restraint

Arkansas Suit Charged "a Fraud" in Newark Court

Advisory Master Matthews Tuesday temporarily restrained Charles J. Hrasna, who first sued for divorce in this state and then instituted a similar suit in Arkansas, from proceeding with the Arkansas action. The restraint was issued on application of Moses A. Bauer, counsel for Mrs. Anna H. Hrasna of 84 Washington avenue. Mrs. Hrasna charges the Arkansas suit was a fraud.

Mrs. Hrasna testified that her husband sought a divorce here last August and in October she counter-claimed. She obtained a court order that Hrasna pay alimony, court costs and counsel fees pending trial. He failed to pay and couldn't be located, she said.

Matthews set August 10 for Hrasna to show cause why the restraint should not be continued and why he should not be held in contempt for failing to carry out the court's orders.

Thomas McHale Tells Rotary Objectives

Declares One 'International' Designation Should Be Aim

Thomas McHale, president of Belleville Rotary Club, Wednesday noon at luncheon in the Forest Hill Field Club further reported on aims and objects of Rotary International as gleaned by him when he visited the recent convention in Nice.

He declared that a discussion of Rotary International of the British Isles, Rotary International of South America and Rotary International of other countries is not feasible if the organization is to carry on one of its aims—international peace. There should be only one Rotary International, embracing all countries, he explained, detailing his reasons for the statement.

Elks and Craftsmen Arrange Outing

The exact date and further plans will be announced next week.

The Rambling Mind rambles:

Does anyone remember:

"Round and Round," "Jig Saw Puzzles," "Chain Letters," "Hi-Li." Yes they're gone. Now we have "Gone With the Wind" and "Sit down strikes." They'll soon be gone too, yes, gone with the wind. In another month and a half that good old football season returns and with it... racoon coats... rah-rah's... colorful banners... and above all "snow"... all we can say is "whoopie!"

We're not helping any press agents out in giving our idea of the following: Best movie this week, "Wee Winnie Winkie"; best song, "Caravan," by one of the best orchestra leaders, Duke Ellington; best column (rest assured dear reader it isn't ours).

Now is the season that the boot-black abhors. With all these lovely white shoes leading the fashion parade those shoe mechanics must suffer a real depression until the autumn season when prosperity will regain its triumphal sway.

Standing at Forty-eighth street and Broadway in world famous New York is an old lady who sells gardenias. Her appearance is a world weary one. With drooping head and lifeless eyes, stooping shoulders and turned down mouth she is a perfect example of despairing sorrow.

We do not wonder at her bedraggled appearance for when she speaks we can easily tell that she was once a banker. Whatever has been her life great actress or the wife of a rich "somebody." Perhaps she was a can easily be told when she speaks these few words with perfect diction and beautiful pitch: "Gardenias only ten cents. Who'll buy a gardenia?"

Belleville's Past

As Recorded by This Newspaper

25 Years Ago
John L. Hudson has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination of councilman from the First Ward.

John N. Klein has received a letter from former State Senator Everett Colby, of West Orange, promising to appear as a speaker at the Belleville Day celebration August 24.

Mrs. B. M. Colehamer and family of Beech street have returned from a four weeks stay in Connecticut.

10 Years Ago
Clara Mitschke, 18, of 17 Wilson place, missing since June 22, has been located in Maywood, Ill., near Chicago, working in a restaurant.

Funeral services for Motorcycle Officer Martin J. Hanly, 40, of 56 Dow street, who was fatally injured while on duty when his machine was in collision with an automobile, were held in St. Peter's Church.

Blown twelve feet through a door following a gasoline-kerosene explosion in the varnish building at the L. Sonneborn & Sons paint manufacturing plant at the Nutley-Belleville line, two men who were working in the building escaped without serious injury.

Tony Galento Defeats Ettore at Velodrome

Triangles Cop Two Slugfest Games Locals Take Over Emeralds And Newark Red Wings

Led by Ralph Boechino and Fred Ryden, the Belleville Triangles scored 16 runs in a nine inning affair Sunday afternoon at Branch Brook Park extension to hand the Newark Emeralds a 16-7 swamping for the second time this season.

Boechino walked two homers, one which came in the fourth frame with three teammates aboard. Ryden connected for a circuit clot in the same round.

The boys, who wear the three-cornered insignia, won their sixteenth game of the season. Tony Paul, who defeated the Emeralds twice this season, added eleven more strikeouts to his long list of victims.

Sunday morning the local boys added another victory at Riverbank Field when they trounced the Newark Red Wings by the overwhelming score of 10-2. Ralph Palumbo, who toed the rubber for the locals won his fourth game, allowing only five hits and two tallies. Angelo Cappi played well. Manager J. Distasio, who was unable to attend the game, left in charge Joe Zoppa who did a swell job.

Sunday afternoon the Triangles will return to their home diamond at Capitol Field for the first time in weeks to oppose the Central Shamrocks at 3 P. M.

Newark Bears Are at Local Stadium for Fourteen Day Stay—Gallop Pennantward

Toronto Maple Leafs Will Be First to Invade Ruppert Field for Four Game Series

Those Bears of Manager Oscar Vitt who are galloping pennantward are home for a fourteen day stay. During that time, all the northern teams will visit Ruppert Stadium to clash

CHARLES KELLER

Naturally they are counting on Bob Seeds, who is beginning to hit in the true Seeds style to continue his great slugging. During the home stay Suit Case Bob hopes to climb into the .300

Vitt and his charges have a two fold mission to perform while at home. First to trim the Leafs for they lost the last two series to the charges of Howling Dan. No other team has succeeded in taking two straight series from the Bears this year. The second thing the Bruins hope to accomplish, is to clinch the flag, if possible. They realize it is a big order, but would rather win it at home rather than away. With the hurriers going well and the sluggers pounding the ball, the Vittmen are confident their self imposed program being successful.

Two-Ton Challenges All and Sundry Orange Ice Man Reaches Within Rung of Top Of Ladder

Gesticulating two-ton Tony Galento, Orange ice-man, bludgeoned into slumberland with his massive fists Tuesday night in Nutley Velodrome Al Ettore, Philadelphia's best in the heavyweight ranks. The barrel-shaped Orangeman, thereby reached the peak of his career and hurls a defy to Joe Louis and all and sundry heavyweights who think they can subdue him.

Tony was never better and he didn't train hard either, if accounts from the front are true. Tony sprawled most of his training time away on a cot, resting his two hundred odd pounds and bemoaning the fact his wicked "left" was injured.

Be that as it may Two-Ton used his right effectively and well Tuesday in the feature bout on Cholly Rich's Milk Fund card sponsored by Bert Lamb's Morning Club and the Carl Plinkers, all good Republicans. There were Democrats in the crowd, too.

The bumper crowd which well neigh filled the Miele's 'drome spurned offers to meet celebrities with a series of well-rounded boos, the brain child of the evening being the battle of the pachyderms.

And, that is saying a whole lot, for in the assemblage were among others Governor Harold G. Hoffman, Commissioner Pearce Franklin and Mayor Meyer C. Ellenstein, Newark, not to mention other lesser Mayor's, kickers and hoofers, or what have you.

There were no Annie Oakleys for the fight and the "big shots" who look for free duets had to pay, for a worthy cause. Even the newspapers were turned down for press seats by the promoters, the chiselers. A few newspapers did break the barrier to cover the fight.

But that is another story. Tony went right to work on Ettore and polished him off in eight slashing rounds. From the very start Al had difficulty keeping Tony from pecking at a bad left eye. Tony hit Al with everything but the posts on the corners of the ring and still, Al kept on his pins which was a marvel to the fans. Two-Ton plopped Al against the hempen strands time after time but the Philadelphia always came back for more and handed out some larruping blows that rocked Tony on his heels.

Finally the Orange lad uncorked a half blow and push that toppled Al clean out of the ring, just after Al had taken one trip to the canvas. Someone at the ringside pushed Al back into the ring, but Referee Gene Roman, Paterson, pushed Galento aside, which in itself was an Herculean task, grabbed Ettore about the mid-section and carried him to his corner. Two minutes and 55 seconds had elapsed in the eighth when this occurred.

After the contest had ended, Galento was presented with a handsome trophy donated by Governor Hoffman, who did not stay around to present it. Ettore was in bad shape even when he was assisted to his dressing room. He declared that "Galento was too rough and punched too hard for me tonight. I'll get him in Philadelphia and lick him."

Galento Happy
Galento, tickled over his major triumph said that "it was the easiest fight of my career. Now bring on Joe Louis, or anybody. I think I proved that I deserve a match with Louis for his title."

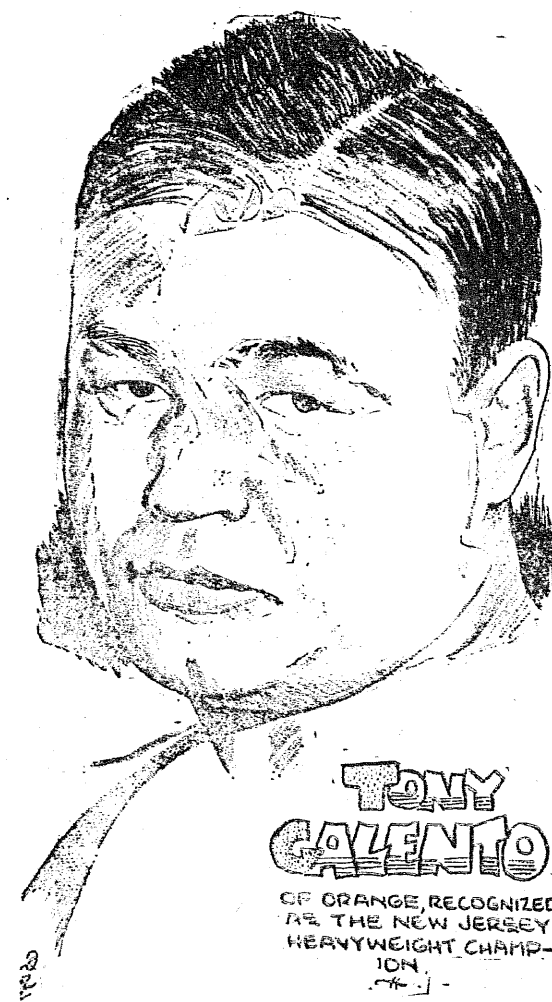

Joe Jacobs, his manager, said that he would permit "Galento to fight anyone. Galento showed you tonight that he is at his best at 234 pounds."

games will again halt the Bears and that the big bat of Frank Shanty Hogan will cause plenty of aches for the pitchers of Vitt.

The scrappy Buffalo Bisons, who are striving for a first division berth come to Ruppert Stadium, Monday for a four game series. All the games will be played in the daytime, except the one scheduled for Tuesday. That game will be played at night and will be known as "Radio Appreciation Night." Before the game there will be a number of radio acts. The program will start at 8:15 and thirty minutes later the game will commence.

The Bears have done well against Buffalo this season, but each game has been a real battle. Manager Ray Schalk, like Howley thinks the Bears are over-rated and should not be classified as a "wonder team." Schalk, like other leaders, thinks he has a program which will halt the Bears in their dash for the flag. With the Bisons is Catcher George Savino, the Nutley boy, who always performs well at the local park.

Improvement Made In Cycle Starting Hinchliffe Riders To Try Shift in Racing Competition

The most radical improvement in motorcycle racing since it made its appearance on cinder tracks will be introduced to fans at the Hinchliffe City Stadium in Paterson next Tuesday night with the change expected to speed up the sport.

The changes provide for clutches on all motorcycles and for an electric barrier which will start off the riders in all scratch races at the Paterson track. With this shift in the structure of the racing competition, flying races with their faulty starts and time delays as the riders try again will be eliminated.

The new clutches and electric barrier will make their first appearance next Tuesday night at the Paterson track when Promoter John Kochman presents another program of motorcycle races in which leading stars of the American Motorcycle Association will battle for top honors and the prize purses which await the victors in the races throughout the night.

All machines will be equipped with these clutches which will enable the machines to line up at the starting line and wait for the electric barrier to fly up and officially start the race. The barrier will be controlled by a switch in the stands with none of the riders able to beat the gun as has been possible in the flying starts. With the switch concealed, the motorcycle aces will have to wait until the race has been started.

Tuesday night's program of racing will start at 8:45 P. M. with "Opportunity Night" awards to be distributed during the show for four lucky fans in the stands.

Galento originally had weighed in at 243 pounds, of 42 more than Ettore, who tipped 191.

Tendler Unpopular
Lew Tendler, 24, 150, of Philadelphia won an unpopular referee's decision over Vincent Pimpinella, 148, of Brooklyn, former New York Golden Gloves champion, in the eight round semi-final.

The bout was fought in close and Tendler butted his way through. Tendler was so rough at one stage he actually icked the Brooklynite. Referee Al Goldie's award was roundly booed.

Jack Torrance, 243, of Baton Rouge, arose from two nine-count knock-downs to finish Al Penkunis, 198, of Elizabeth in the first round of a scheduled six-round. It was the former Olympic shot put star's second knock-out victory over Penkunis.

Joe Wagner, 180½, of Newark, scored his ninth straight victory in a New Jersey ring when he finished Jimmie De Sola, 180, of Spain, in the second round of a scheduled six.

In the opening six-round, Johnny Freeman, 148, Philadelphia Negro, won an easy decision over Barney Villa, 150, of Jersey City.

Bisons Defeated By Arlington Club Costello Clouts Out Long Homer in 13-9 Fracas

The Bisons lost to the Arlington B.E.C. Sunday, 13-9. The feature of the game was a home run clout by Rondi of the team from the wrong side of the river which was followed by a mighty slam, another homer by Costello, local lad, whose hefty wallop in deep center field, cleared the street, a distance of 390 feet.

Bucciano fanned the Arlington club's batsmen on three occasions with the bases loaded, each time retiring the side without a tally. The Bisons, who play the Garrisonians Sunday at Harrison, would like to hear from the Senators, Emeralds and Shamrocks, as well as other semi-pro teams. ### Eagles Clout Ball In Trinity Game Locals Collect Sixteen Hits And Nineteen Runs To Win

The Belleville Eagles went on a batting spree Sunday morning at Belwood Park, collecting nineteen runs on sixteen hits off four Trinity Y. M. C. A. twirlers, trouncing them 19-4.

In the first inning the visitors scored two runs but the Eagles came back in their half to tie the count when Gonnello singled and stole second. Bracaglia singled scoring Gonnello and he later scored on Caruso's double down the right field foul line.

The clincher of the game came in the Eagle's half of the third. Bracaglia was safe on an error. After Tobia and Caruso went out, Damadio walked. MacGregor also received a pass, filling the bases. Biase singled scoring Bracaglia and Damadio. Goglia singled scoring MacGregor. Goglia and Biase pulled a double steal and both came home on Gonnello's third hit of the game, a single to center.

In the seventh the Eagles garnered ten runs on only four hits. Wildness of visitors' pitchers who walked no less than eight Eagle batters was the cause. Six of the Eagles who walked later scored.

Goglia who did a fine job on the mound for the Eagles allowing just seven hits and striking out thirteen, was in good form throughout. He had the visitors eating out of his hands.

Batting stars were Gonnello and Bracaglia with four and three, respectively, while Goglia, Costello and Caruso had two.

Sunday morning at Belwood Park the Eagles will clash with the Harrison P. C. who hold a decision over the Eagles. Game at 10:15 A. M.

Doris Kopsky Wins National Championship

Local High School Girl Brings Honors
To Belleville in Bicycle Track Meet

Lois Albey, Also of This Town, Places Fourth Before
Crowd of 10,000 at Weequahic
Park

Riding like a champion Doris Kopsky, daughter of Joe Kopsky, popular former six-day star, who operates a bicycle store at 306 Washington avenue, added more prestige to Belleville's fair name Sunday when she won the girls' national championship before a crowd of 10,000 at Weequahic Park's half-mile track. It was the first time a girls' national championship ever was held.

Miss Kopsky, a Belleville High School pupil, romped across the tape in the three-mile girls' championship race ahead of the diminutive brunette, Gladys R. Owens of the Century Road Club of New York. The latter turned in a fast two-yard spurt to beat the surprised Miss Teresa Ertl of Allentown, Pa., who had started to throttle down, thinking she had the silver medal in the bag. Lois Albey, also of Belleville, was fourth and Yvonne Loth, first time in competition, was fifth. The Lippsett family of New York was well represented with Ruth, Bella and Mrs. Ann Lippsett Kelly. Ann would have finished better than fifth if she hadn't waved to friends in the grand stand. Ruth tumbled in the backstretch. Eighteen girls from all parts of the United States started.

Buster Logan of North Arlington and the 1936 United States Olympic team won the national dirt track championship. Furman Kugler of Somerville captured the junior title, winning all events in his class. Both cyclists represent the Alpine Wheelmen of Newark, which sponsored the races, sanctioned by the Amateur Bicycle League of America.

Cyclists' Offspring Shine
Kugler, son of Fred Kugler, professional cyclist, stood head and shoulders over the rest of the junior field. He recently joined the Alpine Wheelmen.

Three Amateur Champions

Senior champion Logan, girls' champion Doris Kopsky, 15-year-old daughter of Joe Kopsky, former professional star, and junior titleholder Furman Kugler.

BELLOWING ABOUT BELLEVILLE

By JACOB LEVINE

The mood was reminiscent.

The sun peeped in through the doorway and cast its flickering shadow on grandpa's rocking chair. A soft breeze pushed past us and murmured reminiscently. Everything in the atmosphere bespoke bygone days. But then, when grandpa crossed his legs, casually puffed three smoke rings at a passing butterfly, and settled back into his chair, I knew definitely that he was lost in reverie of yesteryear.

Presently, he spoke. A swiftly moving, startlingly realistic panorama—names, figures, details, people all jumbled together—Belleville in its infancy danced before us.

Between thirty-five and forty years ago... Almost the entire valley flooded over... No, not the turbulent Ohio, nor the mighty Mississippi. The Passaic River when it was a river... Main street, the residential avenue of the town, helpless in the Passaic's clutches. Some residents of Main street: Mr. Eastwood, Mr. Jackson, Dr. Skinner, Mr. Osborne... Rowboats ply here and there, displacing the usual horse and wagons... Townspeople warn Mr. Eastwood, apparently snug and secure in his palatial mansion:

"Mr. Eastwood, better get out while the getting's good. The water is rising swiftly. It'll be above your door in a few hours."

"No," Mr. Eastwood says, "I think the water will recede."

A day later the water rises to the second story of his home. More townspeople with more admonitions row to him. This time he succumbs to their pleadings and leaves, scrambling into a rowboat, as the water climbs steadily higher... My grandfather rows to relatives on Holmes street, who with peculiar obstinacy at first refuse to leave their home, and then, finally, go... People moving from house to house, people with scraps of furniture and cherished possessions, people with Juniors and Bobbies yelling for breakfast, mothers nursing young ones, people terrified, panic-stricken before the onrushing river... (Look at the Passaic now, calm and contented. Would you think it ever guilty of such nefarious doings?)... Leaving the flood-stricken area and moving up to Washington avenue. It is not Washington avenue as we know it... There is no town hall, no First National Bank, no Capitol Theater, no modern ly paved street, no stop-and-go lights that say "go" at William street and "stop" when you come to Belleville avenue... There is a street, yes. A bumpy, irksome, cobblestone street whose only traversers are horse and buggies that bump, rattle, and rattle some more on their way to that distant metropolis, Newark... For the exception of a few, desolate-looking shacks Washington avenue is a mere wilderness; apparently just left by the Indians and still awaiting the White Man's hammer and shovel... Property on Washington avenue is mere dirt. The real section of the town is the Valley... Belleville has no real water supply... Cisterns are the usual means of obtaining water. Here and there is a well of this contraption: one bucket goes down the other up. These are Belleville's water supply... Ma doesn't call up the Town Hall when the hot water doesn't come out fast enough, threatening not to pay next month's water bill. Ma prays to God that it may rain. Dried-up wells do not wash Jimmie's shirts, nor do they quench Pa's thirst, home from a blistering day's work. Ma doesn't yell at the water department... She prays... When Mr. what's-his-name's house is on fire, he doesn't pull down the alarm and wait for a powerful, up-to-date, well-manned, well equipped engine to come tearing down the street and extinguish the fire... He runs to this neighbor, to that neighbor. One says to call out the volunteers. Another says to let it burn down, that "the shack is ready to fall down, anyhow."

Finally a battered horse-and-wagon pulls up to the blazing house. The frenzied volunteers rig up their apparatus: a barrel full of water and a hose. Someone screams that the hose is leaking. "Have to do the best we can," pipes the apparent chief... The hose is finally turned on. But it is of no use. The house is already on the verge of collapse, a veritable pile of ashes. Mr. what's-his-name is heard ejaculating that all troubles have to be his... Memories... Belleville in its infancy...

Grandpa chuckled as he rose from his rocking chair.

"Yes, young man, that was Belleville a long, long time ago. Just look at what time has done in those thirty-five years. Yes... Wait a second, son, that faucet is running in the kitchen. I'll just shut it off before the kitchen is flooded over."

New Miracles Of The Photoelectric Cell

By James D. Purdy
Director, Schools of Electrical Engineering, International Correspondence Schools

PHOTOELECTRIC cells help to assure the safe operation of elevators in Rockefeller Center, New York City. Two beams of light falling on photoelectric cells cross each elevator doorway—one beam at about the level of a man's waist, the other at about the level of his ankles. The car cannot start until the door is closed. The door can be closed only when the light beams are unintercepted and the doorway is clear.

A method for measuring the speed of artillery shells by firing them through invisible curtains of light has been developed at the National Research Laboratories, in Canada. The path of the shell is intersected every fifty feet by a beam of light falling upon a photoelectric cell connected with sensitive recording apparatus.

Expert egg candlers now have a rival in an ingenious device that grades eggs by the use of a photoelectric cell. Light from a 30-watt bulb passes through the egg to the photocell. A dial indicates the amount of light transmitted and the egg is graded accordingly.

Plant research scientists are employing the photoelectric cell to perform the difficult task of measuring the area of irregularly shaped leaves. A brilliant light is focused on a box with a ground glass top in which the light sensitive cell is enclosed. Placing the leaf on the ground glass, flaps off light in proportion to its area. Measurement of the area is obtained by comparing the reading on a meter attached to the photoelectric cell, before and after placing the leaf in position.

Starting Gate Part Of Union Plans

Will Revolutionize Cycling
Sport in the United States

UNION—A new trend in American night speedway motorcycle racing will mark Wednesday night's regular weekly program at Tri-City Stadium here. The installation of an electrically controlled starting gate has been completed and will be used for the first time in local racing in the regular scratch events.

With it comes this country's introduction to clutch-gate starts, a style of scratch racing which revolutionized the sport in England, lifting it from the doldrums of stand-still to a national sport in development. The success of racing in America, signalized last week by the fifth anniversary celebration last week at Tri-City, now is expected to rise to new heights.

Two outstanding stars have been named to race in the first feature employing the gate. They are Jimmy Gibb, Hollywood's ex-champion, and Crocky Rawding, outstanding member of the Eastern contingent. Manager Andy Watts has billed them in a three-heat medley match.

In the first event the pair will race against time in one-lap record trials from clutch-gate starts. The next two heats will be two-lap match races, one from the old style flying start, and the second from a clutch-gate start.

The new starts are made from a stand still with motors running. Clutches have been installed in the racing mounts, where formerly the motors could not run unless the back wheel was jacked off the ground. In addition to elimination starts, the gate adds to the racing spectacle as machines rear off the ground when the clutch sets the steel steeds into motion with full throttles.

The scratch elimination heats, six in all followed by the big-money final, will have clutch-gate starts. The dead motor starts will be used for handicap racing. The entire Class A field will compete in both divisions with points awarded toward the track point standings.

At this writing Rawding is leading in the scratch division with 18 points to 15 each for Gibb and Bo Lisman. The leaders will be hard pressed by such Class A broadsiders as Joe Udi-sky, Don Smith, Palmer Tamburro, Walt Nazar, Dick Peters, Ed Mueller, Jack Parr, Bud Leuycraft and others.

Bosses Won't Hire People with Halitosis (BAD BREATH)

People who get and hold jobs keep their breath agreeable

With the best to choose from these days, employers favor the person who is most attractive. In business life as in the social world, halitosis (unpleasant breath) is considered the worst of faults.

Unfortunately everybody suffers from this offensive condition at some time or other—many more regularly than they think. Fermentation of food particles skipped by the tooth brush is the cause of most cases. Decaying teeth and poor digestion also cause odors.

The quick, pleasant way to improve your breath is to use Listerine, the quick deodorant, every morning and every night.

Listerine halts fermentation, a major cause of odors, and overcomes the odors themselves. Your breath becomes sweet and agreeable. It will not offend others.

If you value your job and your friends, use Listerine, the safe antiseptic, regularly. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, Mo.

The WEEKLY CONSTITUTIONAL

by MAX BERNIS

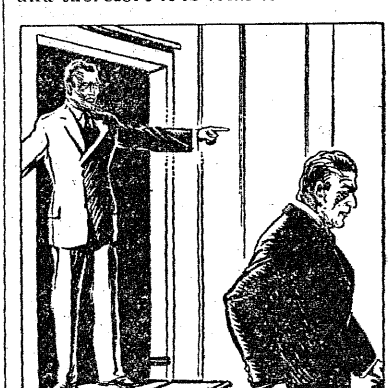

Check Against Errors

Does our Constitution and the Supreme Court protect us against errors?

"We, the people," says Booth Tarkington, "are not infallible. Political orators often tell us we are; but we know better. We often reverse our most passionate opinions. We threw out the Democratic party after Mr. Wilson. We threw out the Republican party after Mr. Hoover. We threw in Prohibition with great enthusiasm; we threw it out uproariously! Even our Presidents are not infallible; and we prove how thoroughly we believe this by the way we reverse ourselves and turn on them, bringing to mind an old aphorism, 'Republics are ungrateful.'"

"The framers of the Constitution understood our fallibility. They knew that they themselves, being human, needed to be protected from their own impulses. They knew that we, and our Presidents also, would need this same protection. That is why we have a Constitution and its careful provision for amendments. The founders of the country knew that neither one man nor men in the mass are to be trusted to think rightly, or for the general best interest, in a hurry. Moreover, as the Constitution is the charter of our liberty, and therefore it is vital to us all that the words of the document should never be misunderstood or misapplied, its framers provided us with a dictionary. In regard to the Constitution of the United States," concludes Booth Tarkington, "that's what the Supreme Court is. In essence and reality it is a dictionary."

There is nothing in the way of organizing life that the will of man, guided by the mind of man, cannot do.—Salvador de Hadariaga.

WORDS TO THE WISE

W. L. White of the United States Department of Commerce, has joined the long list of economists, tax experts, editors and columnists who have warned the public of the dangers inherent in discriminatory legislation affecting merchandising.

Mr. White says: "Legislation (to restrict and control business) of the type we are now seeing passed tends to crystallize present business practices and make them law... If we could agree that our present distribution policies and methods were perfect... such legislation might be in order. With the lack of factual data about marketing, with few if any principles on pricing, with a number of channels distributing the same product, and with a multiplicity of institutions performing overlapping services, this seems to me to be no time to pass laws which tend to freeze such a chaotic system..."

"Chain stores are no longer a menace. Their early advantages are disappearing as the ratio of their costs to sales continues to rise and as their independent competitors become more alert... The concern of the independent business man today should not be limited to the chain—to legislation that, it is hoped, will hold the chain in check. He should be giving more thought to the effect of this legislation, both passed and proposed, upon his own business, not only for today but for tomorrow."

Laws that hamper free competition are laws that prevent progress. The intention of their sponsors may be different, but this will be their inevitable result. They will not only penalize the consumer, but all merchants as well. Mr. White's words should be heeded before irreparable damage to the public and to business is done by ill-considered and hastily conceived legislation.

AUTOMOBILE PARKING HAZARDS

A bulletin recently issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters points out that automobile parking on streets is becoming one of the greatest menaces to effective fire service. This is particularly true in business and manufacturing districts, and around apartment houses and theatres.

The hazards of parking are evident. Ladder and rescue work may be retarded because of the inability of equipment to get near a burning building. Hydrants may be obstructed, and alarm boxes hidden from view. Increased traffic congestion may prevent fire apparatus from getting through without long delay. The chance of traffic accidents is increased.

The smaller towns and cities of the nation should pay attention to this problem, as well as the metropolises. Indeed, in smaller towns double-parking and disregard of hydrant zones is usually more flagrant than in well-policed large cities. Many a fire that could have been quickly controlled, had parked cars not hampered fire fighters, has developed into a major blaze.

The national board suggests that city authorities and Chambers of Commerce consider the parking problem, study local conditions and formulate legislation. Some communities have found it necessary to completely ban parking in certain congested areas. Angle parking should never be permitted except on extremely wide streets, and double parking is a menace under any circumstance.

To prevent and control fire, a long succession of corrective steps must be taken. Proper parking control is one of the most important of these steps. An adequate, strictly enforced law may save a community great loss.

YOUNG MEN EXAGGERATE

(From an editorial in the Rotarian Magazine)

Kathleen Norris, famed authoress of more than half a hundred books, recalls her brother's enthusiasm when, as a lad of 14 years, he came home one day to tell his mother about the telephone, then in the early stages of its development—in the 1890's.

The boy predicted spiritedly that when large hotels would be built, there would be a telephone on the first floor and also on the top floor, "so that folks won't have to go all the way down to the first floor to answer the phone." "And that, son," cautioned Mrs. Norris' mother, "is the kind of exaggeration which makes the world laugh at you."

But men young in mind will always dream dreams and see visions. Some of them will be quixotic without a doubt. But some will not. And wise men will ponder long before they scorn "exaggerations."... Is the prediction that some day war will be outmoded and nations will settle differences around a conference table to be scorned? Is the guess that in the years ahead employers and employees will solve their problems without recourse to strikes, blacklists, and lockouts more chimerical than the "exaggeration" of the young chemist who saw aluminum in clay?

NO ONE KNOWS IT ALL

No one ever learns so much that he can't learn more. Progressive individuals and progressive businesses and institutions never forget this.

The agricultural marketing cooperative movement is a case in point. The producer co-ops have developed rapidly in the last two decades—but their members and managers realize that they don't know it all. Every year, leaders of cooperatives gather together to discuss common problems. The recent meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Ames, Iowa, attracted 3,000 representatives of farmers' associations.

Discussions at cooperative meetings are not restricted to distribution methods, but likewise deal with such important topics as land culture, stock raising, feeding, etc. A widespread exchange of views is gained, and farmers throughout the country benefit.

BE AN EXCEPTION TO THE RULE

Only 5 out of each 100 men, on reaching the age of 65 or more, have incomes sufficient for them to retire in decent comfort. The rest must continue to work, or subsist on charity or the bounty of relatives.

Here is the strongest possible argument for savings and investment plans, such as those provided by life insurance, whose purpose is to assure old age security. Nothing is more pitiable than dependent old people. The tragic lessons of millions whose plight cannot be remedied speaks louder than anything else for systematic saving.

PROFITS AND LOSSES

With nearly the same frequency as ever, we hear agitators suggesting that we ought to replace our system of government and economics with some other system—socialism, communism, anarchism, or what have you. These detractors have a habit, too, of referring to our present system as a "profit" system.

To use a homely simile, it would be as bad to mention ham without eggs, or bread without butter, as it would be to describe our system as simply a "profit" system. It is, instead, a "profit and loss" system.

Many persons look upon corporations as profit makers. They fail to remember that corporations have bad years just like individuals do. And, like individuals, in good years they need to build up their reserves and credit to tide them over bad years. The authors of the corporation surplus tax forgot that, for although they would tax profits which go into reserves they make no allowance for the application of profits to debts. Nor do they let corporations build up reserves for inevitable rainy days without paying penalty taxes.

Statistics sometimes are boring. But in view of the fact that corporations usually are built up as profit-makers, and never loss-takers, here are some from the Treasury Department's Statistics of Income and the National Industrial Conference Board which are extremely interesting:

In 1929, which seems to be the level we now aim for, 39.8 per cent of the nation's manufacturing corporations lost money. The best year since the war was 1919, when only 23.5 per cent reported losses. In 1932, exactly 73 per cent of the nation's manufacturing corporations made no net income, and in 1934, the last year for which figures have been tabulated, the loss-takers constituted 72.7 per cent of the total.

That seems to be a real "profit and loss" system.

PILING UP THE OVERHEAD

Millions of citizens have a direct connection with our leading security exchanges, through periodic buying and selling of stocks and bonds. Every citizen has an indirect connection, in that industry relies on these exchanges to provide capital for new enterprises, industrial expansion, and other job-creating activities.

It is for this reason that the recent announcement that brokers' commissions may have to be increased is of general national interest. Increased restrictions on security market dealings have been partially responsible for a decline in trading with the result that brokers' income is insufficient to pay costs at old rates. A special committee of the New York Stock Exchange says: "There can be no doubt now that a broker's costs have increased heavily and much of the increase is quite beyond his control—as, for instance, expenses incurred to meet direct requirements of federal and state governments... with prospects of an increase in succeeding years under statutory requirements."

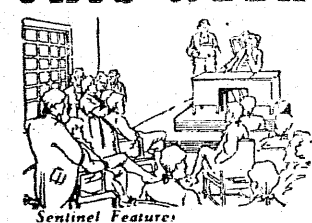

The public has to pay all increased costs of doing business including commissions to sell bonds or stocks. Decreased stock market activity has an adverse effect on all business.

The utmost care must be taken in preparing, passing or revising regulations governing security operations. Every protection must be given to the investing citizen, and the shady operator must be outlawed and punished. But it is possible, with the best of intentions, to over-extend the scope of regulation.

PAYING THEIR WAY

Poultry raising in Alabama is to be launched on a high scale as a result of the project started by the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. It has been estimated that a boy who had 300 good hens could earn sufficient money from them to pay his way through the institute. The idea has been catching on, so that 1200 high school students in that State are now starting chicken flocks which, they hope, will produce sufficient capital for them to obtain a higher education. In Alabama there has been a shortage of poultry and experts say that 1,500,000 additional hens are needed to supply homes with sufficient eggs. In this case, many of the boys will find that poultry raising will bring them fancy returns and a college education may not be necessary for their future.

THIS WEEK—150 YEARS AGO

The Story of the Constitutional Convention of 1787

By RAYMOND PITCAIRN

THE NATIONAL EXECUTIVE

"In tree governments the rulers are the servants and the people their superiors and sovereigns."

With these words Benjamin Franklin struck a keynote of the new American government just a century and a half ago this week during a brief address to members of the Federal Convention that drafted our Constitution at Independence Hall, Philadelphia.

The wise and venerable Poor Richard made his statement during a discussion on the proposed National Executive. Into the debate had entered various suggestions on the Executive term of office, including one that it continue for life, and another that the President be ineligible for re-election. Franklin disapproved such proposals.

In characterizing the ever-original dean of the Convention observed that some delegates seemed to imagine "that the returning to the mass of the people was degrading the Magistrate." But, he pointed out, since the people were the masters, and the Chief Magistrate their servants, such return to their ranks "was not to degrade, but to promote them."

"And," continued Franklin, "it would be imposing an unreasonable burden on them (the Chief Magistrates) to keep them always in a state of servitude, and not allow them to become again one of the masters."

After further discussion the Convention adopted a resolution providing "that a National Executive be instituted, to consist of a single person to be chosen by the National Legislature for the term of seven years."

It provided further that he should be ineligible for a second term, should have power to execute the national laws, and should receive a fixed compensation out of the national treasury.

As with various other resolutions approved during the early weeks of the Convention, certain of these provisions were later changed.

to prepare and report a draft of the Constitution.

Then with the first part of their labors ended, members of the Convention, on July 26, submitted the twenty-three resolutions it had adopted to that committee, and adjourned until August 6 to await its report.

They had put their work into capable hands. As Chairman of the Committee George Washington appointed John Rutledge, of South Carolina, a noted lawyer and later a Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

Other members were Edmund Randolph, of Virginia, who became our first Attorney General; Nathaniel Gorham, of Massachusetts, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole; Oliver Ellsworth, of Connecticut, later Chief Justice of the United States, and James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, who also was to become a famous member of that high tribunal.

While the Committee labored, other delegates enjoyed the first long recess of the Convention. How the majority spent it, history does not record. But of the activities of the Presiding Officer, George Washington, we know.

During that week he took the opportunity to visit again a scene where, with thousands of other patriots, he had made history—the now famous encampment at Valley Forge.

In his own journal recording a trip there with Gouverneur Morris appears a notation, under the date of July 31, 1787, telling how the former Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army had ridden over the entire encampment and visited the old works and encampments, by that time in neglected ruins.

From the historic field he returned to Philadelphia and the Convention there laboring to make permanent the freedom which the sacrifices of that army and that encampment had done so much to win.

Next Week "We, the People."

Children in Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

The tragedy of a boy with too much idle time on his hands was revealed in court today when a college freshman was convicted of a reckless driving charge in which several persons were injured.

Some ten or twelve years ago the son of the late Calvin Coolidge was approached at his work in a tobacco shed by a young man who casually remarked, "Believe me, if I had a car and my father was President of the United States you wouldn't catch me doing this kind of work."

Young Coolidge is reported to have looked up and replied, "You would if Calvin Coolidge was your father."

If there were more parents like the late President we would have fewer boys with high powered automobiles and large expense accounts seeking excitement and thrills on heavily congested highways.

The BUSINESS LETTER

By MARTIN COOK

From the point of view of business the removal of the threat of a change in the Supreme Court is considered favorable.

News of the past few days has been, with only a few exceptions, constructive and statistically encouraging. Industrial production, for seven months, despite labor troubles and political unrest, is expected to be above any year since 1929, with the gain over last year larger recent yearly advances.

Retail volume in New York and vicinity, for July, was up by 3½ per cent and northern New Jersey was able to better its figure by 4½ per cent.

Increased trade has definitely reduced the number of those unemployed. The motor industry is now employing 522,000 against a 1929 total of 489,000.

Lumber production shows a sharp gain to the best level in several years. With the cereal crops continuing at current prices farm income should be large with a concurrent gain in volume in those trades that deal in farm equipment and general supplies.

Power output, with a gain of 6 per cent, advanced to a new high figure. Freight traffic continues to improve. The increases in loadings last week amounted to 87,870 cars and is 12.9 per cent over a year ago.

The Babson and Young management services are of the opinion that the United States has crossed the normal line and is about to enter a new era of prosperity.

Recent financial reports apparently confirm this thought, and, with few exceptions, continue to show larger earnings.

In the six months to June 30, the General Electric Co. sales were up 13 per cent and earnings were 58 per cent over a year ago.

In twelve months Public Service of New Jersey added $2,357,375 to its net earnings. Other sizeable gains could be mentioned.

Dividend declarations, now being published, contain a number of increases and extras as well as some initial payments.

In the financial world a better feeling is apparent. New stock offerings are increasing and new issues of bonds, municipal and corporate, are being made.

Foreigners are investing in our securities and orders for small lots of stock outnumber the selling orders.

Stock prices have had definite upward trend.

The tone of the bond market has been uncertain but there, too, the movement has generally been towards a higher level.

Editor's note: Questions pertaining to securities and investments addressed to Martin Cook, in care of this paper, will be answered promptly.

Editor, News:

I noticed in your last issue regarding history of the Belleville Public Library that my daughter, Miss Daisy E. Ackerman, is the oldest person holding a library card, same having been issued in 1902.

I think this statement is erroneous as I believe I am the oldest person now holding such a card. Ancient Blue Jay Story

Editor, News:

The recent account of Miss Beatrice Riggott's success in raising of young blue jay, attributes to the New Jersey Audubon Society office a statement that this would be an impossibility. Somebody has evidently got things mixed up since no such statement has ever issued from the Audubon Society's office. As a matter of fact the blue jay is one of the very few of our native wild birds that can be reared from babyhood by hand successfully, as a rule. The writer has had a number of such experiences where people have brought him orphan or allegedly abandoned baby jays. What is most to Miss Riggott's credit is the fact that she successfully brought her baby jay through a period of practically total paralysis of the legs as she tells us, to a condition of full normal vigor.

A statement that has been repeatedly given by the representatives of the Audubon Society is that the parent birds are far more competent in the care of young birds than are the best intentioned human beings and that with a very few exceptions such as jays and robins, the chances of human success along these lines are about one to fifty!

BLACK-EYED SUSANS

Oh, black-eyed Susans, smiling there,
Attraction strong for me you hold,
So simple, lovely, bright and fair,
And with your outer rim of gold.
You seem to me as out of place,
Here on New York's Sixth avenue,
Yet, how familiar still your face,
So I pay my respects to you.

You're of the common daisy class,
As meadow flower, we sound your praise,
You shoot up with, and thru the grass,
With yellow glory all ablaze.
So quietly you spread around,
A country plant, we plainly see;
In this respect, there's common ground
Between you, little flower, and me.

Now your environment is much changed;
In hands of the commercial powers,
You're placed in bunches, and arranged
With all the so-called fancier flowers.
Carnations, orchids, choice and sweet,
With you are sandwiched in between;
Flowers for the wealthy and elite,
In self-same store with you are seen.

So, little friendly flower you'll not
Be cited in least degree,
Because, in common there's a lot
Of ways in which alike are we.
That "black-eyed Susan" you should stay,
It must be the Great Gardener's Plan,
And I remain from day to day,
A simple country boy, grown man.

THE LOW DOWN from HICKORY GROVE

About every time I pick up a paper,
I see where the Gov't. is going to do something different about something or other—like raisin' less cotton, or more corn or vice versa, this month versus next month.

And doin' all these things, it takes lots of folks,
and that is why there is a shortage of buildings to put 'em in down here on the Potomac.

And from what I read, there is enough people on the pay-roll down there, and scattered around the country, to count every chinch-bug in the nation, personally. And when they get 'em counted and tabulated, they won't have much idea why they did it or what they are gonna do about it, like the feller who tapped the wheels on the trains as they came into the depot, and we have all seen him.

And this wheel tapper, when he was gettin' a medal for 30 years service,
the railroad President said to him,
John, you tell the people here about your job and why you tap the wheels
—and John said, By cracky, you know
I've often wondered about that my ownself.

Yours with the low down,
Jo Serra.

Seen About Town

In the good old days, St. Peter's had a basketball team that was one of the best in the state. The members were Sergeant John J. Flynn, John Cullen, John L. Sullivan (custodian of the town hall), William Byrnes, Frank Neary (former commissioner), "Shifty" Schaffenberg, Martin Hanley, Philip Ward, William Gooley and Captain William Sullivan.

Peter Berry, who owned a tavern at 246 Mill street where his daughter, Anna M., still lives, sponsored a track and field meet every year in the Calico Field for the championship of Belleville. Calico Field, later known as the Pond Bank, was between Bridge street and Union avenue on the south side of Mill street.

About thirty-five years ago, the John J. Conlon Association, whose head was Mr. Conlon, sponsored an outing each year in which fifteen stage coaches left William and Cortlandt streets. The coaches were drawn by two horses each, and Charles Meyer, of 9 Cleveland street, was in charge of the supply wagon. On the return home, the party would be greeted by bon fires made by the citizens who could not go on the outing.

In our youth, there were five swimming holes in which to cool off. They were the Second river, at the trestle, and at Main street, and the Morris Canal at the bottom ball, the Harrison street bridge, and at Tiffany Falls.

The Colonial A. C. football team played on the Pond Bank about thirty years ago. Among its members were Harry Brickel, Joe "Muscle" McCarthy, Francis "Tar" McCarthy, Michael Dacey, John Gullen, "Brummy" Joralemon, James "Pop" Westlake, William Byrnes, Sergeant Charles Pearl, Fred "Dunk" Noonan, Hugh "Mickey" Welsh, Frank and William Neary, Jim Smith, Joseph Gorman, John Hannigan and Harry Smith.

The horse trough that used to stand at Rutgers and Main streets was a haven for thirsty youngsters about twenty years ago. The lions' heads attached to the trough from which water spouted slaked many a young'un's thirst.

Remember when the Belleville post office was in Main street near Rutgers street, in the old Passaic building?

A carousel used to locate for a week during the summer next to Joe Weston's blacksmith shop.

The circus was always a summer visitor at the old Pond Bank.

Michael Hanley, lieutenant of the present fire department, attached to headquarters company, was manager and tackle of the Peps football team which played at Columbia oval (where the El Cazar now stands) about twenty years ago. Other members were William Flynn (of fire headquarters), half back; Tom Monaghan, center; Leo Lister (who played a whole game with a broken collar bone), fullback; John Oldham, halfback and captain; Frank Frost, guard; William McKillip, tackle; Frank Brown, end; Patrick Byrnes, end; Russell Rhinehardt, end; Owen Travers, quarterback; Russell Transue, guard, and John "Bake" Ford, end.

Do you remember the Acme Club which met in the rooms over the stores at the southeast corner of Washington avenue and William street?

The first annual fishing trip of Otto's Tavern Association took place last Sunday and twenty members responded at 6 A. M. to travel to the Newark Yacht Club, foot of Grafton avenue, Newark. They boarded the Gale, speeding down the river, down the bay, down the lower bay, pass the narrows to the tune of "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here!" The Owens, father and son, the McCluskeys, father and son, Bones Hannan, Cocky Miller, Pop Merker, master of ceremonies, "Murphy" Toosie, John Belecki, Al Prohibitionist Ray Belecki, Al Lundy, a real fisherman, not a fisherman, Herbie Otto always trying, Larkin always willing to try, Levine a good tailor, but nix on fishing.

Becker not much better, Smoltz chairman and a good one were on hand as was Jim DeWitt who complained of being sun burned.

The day was hot but the fish were not so hot always refusing to be sociable, and after six long hours of trying the Gale faced home all hands being entirely satisfied.

'Wee Willie Winkle'

At Proctor's, Newark

Rudyard Kipling's "Wee Willie Winkle" comes to life on screen at Proctor's Theatre, Newark, now featuring Shirley Temple and Victor McLaglen in starring roles of Wee Willie and Sergeant MacDuff, the picture has a cast including C. Aubrey Smith, June Lang, Michael Whalen, Cesar Romero, Constance Collier and Douglas Scott. Associate feature is "She Had to Eat," with Jack Healy, Rochelle Hudson, Arthur Treacher and Eugene Pallette.

Shirley, as Wee Willie with her widowed mother (Miss Lang), arrives at a frontier army post in India commanded by her grandfather (Smith). She is met by McLaglen and witnesses the arrest of Romero as a native chieftain caught smuggling guns. Shirley decides to become a soldier, so her friend, Whalen, who has fallen in love with her mother, turns her over to McLaglen for training. Tribesmen attack the fort and Wee Willie cannot understand why there should be fighting and decides to stop it.

"She Had to Eat" finds Healy seen recently in "Wake Up and Live," as a country boy who has a pet rabbit. Pallette plays an eccentric millionaire who thinks he is a big game hunter. His valet (Treacher) attempts to kill the rabbit.

In an attempt to apologize, Pallette takes Haley aboard his train. They get drunk together, but when Pallette sobers up, he kicks Jack off the train.

Then he meets Miss Hudson as a panhandler with a talent for getting luxurious handouts. Haley is picked up by police because he resembles a gunman. In the east are Douglas Fowley, John Qualen and Maurice Cass.

Grant Permit

duty on each of three eight-hour shifts.

Members of the squad will ride motor cycles during the day and drive automobiles at night, Gerard said. He said the members of the squad will be announced after candidates have passed tests satisfactory to him and Police Chief Spatz. Gerard said the men will come from the present force and no additions to the department are planned.

Gerard has asked the county to install traffic lights at four intersections, Main and Rutgers streets, at the Belleville bridge over the Passaic River; Franklin street and North Belmont avenue in the Silver Lake section, Mill street and Union avenue and Franklin avenue and Joralemon street. Three fatal accidents have occurred at the first named intersection this year and one at the second.

County Engineer Stieckel conferred with Gerard Sunday on the S-curve in Mill street between Branch Brook Park extension and Harrison street. Opening of the extension has resulted in heavy traffic in Mill street. It was announced the town received an offer of $7,500 for part of the Belle Chemical Co. property in Cortlandt street, which was acquired through foreclosure of tax title liens. The prospective purchaser, according to Fred R. Handlon, the town's real estate representative, is the Electronic Mechanics Co. of New York, manufacturer of mica bases for radio tubes. The company employs about 40 persons.

The property is assessed at $12,000 and unpaid taxes, interest and costs amount to $12,445.29. The building as it stands has no value in the opinion of municipal officials. At a conference Monday night the Town Commission agreed to accept the offer and a public sale will be arranged by Town Attorney Keenan.

Director King of the town's public affairs department announced relief clients were being employed in clearing weeds from vacant lots.
