OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER—TOWN OF BELLEVILLE

BELLEVILLE, N. J., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1937

Vol. XIII, No. 4.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

See About Town

Sidney Summerfield, one of the leading players of the Belleville Tennis Club, is hanging up his racquet this year for good, so says Summerfield, who was runner-up in this year's singles tournament and a finalist in the doubles tournament, is almost forty-eight years old. He has been playing tennis for the past thirty years, which includes eleven years with the Belleville Tennis Club. In the five years of tournament tennis as a member of the local club he has won the singles twice, has been runner up twice, has won the doubles twice, and if he loses the championship doubles match tomorrow, will have been runner-up three times. He lives at 365 Little street.

On a Saturday afternoon the lobby of the Capitol Theatre looks like a bicycle store because of the multitude of "bikes" there, the owners of the wheels being in the theatre attending the performance.

The winner of the football guessing contest conducted by the Sports Shop of Belleville will be awarded a regulation football by that store. The contest, which is open to anyone, consists in guessing the score of Belleville High School football games by quarters. Contestants may secure guessing slips at the Sports Shop. The first game is a week from tomorrow with Good Counsel High School furnishing the opposition.

With the return of Charles "Peggy" O'Neill, Joseph "Stretch" Rogan, James "Shorty" McLaughlin and Francis "Rosy" Ryan to the local postoffice from their vacations the letter carriers will be in full force ready to carry your mail in fair and stormy weather.

Charles Biederman, musician and band leader, who died last Friday, was well known in this town as leader of the Elks' band about six years ago.

Morell C. Albey, 44 Malone avenue, makes a hobby of collecting the clippings of events in the past. His scrapbook is voluminous.

Mrs. May Mead, cashier at the Capitol Theater, has recovered from a week's illness and is back on the job.

Miss Dorothy Pearl, daughter of Sergeant and Mrs. Charles Pearl, is collecting small ivory miniatures of various animals and objects. Some of them gathered already are: Popeye, a whipper, and a scotty dog, a chicken, two horses, a skull, a mule and a reindeer.

There were eleven calls for the town ambulance last week. The ambulance celebrated its second anniversary, September 1.

Fireman and Mrs. James Dunleavy and family are moving into their new home, 164 Union avenue, today.

Fireman William Gilchrist was substituting for Jimmie Murphy, a fireman, at the William street firehouse, last week.

The Grenadier Fife and Drum Corps held a card party, Wednesday, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall, Belleville avenue. Mr. and Mrs. John Callahan, 102 William street, composed the committee in charge.

Edward L. Cyphers, fireman, connected with five headquarters, represented the Belleville group of the Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association, at the convention of that organization, at Atlantic City, Monday and Tuesday. Fire Chief R. A. Reid, William Comiskey, Paul Zaccane, and William Gilchrist, will represent Belleville firemen at the Relief Association convention, at Atlantic City, today and tomorrow. Edward Evers represented the exempt firemen association.

The following will make a trip to Lexington, Ky., to see Johnnie Daly play in the Manhattan-Kentucky football game, October 23: Bill Daly, Mario Santamassimo, Louis Belicki, Thomas Dunn, John Baney and Peter Blumetti.

Government Designates Projects As Eligible

The Works Progress Administration advised Senator Smathers of New Jersey Saturday, two projects here totaling $97,002 had been designated by President Roosevelt as eligible. They are subject to review by the controller general.

The projects call for allotment of $76,048 for improvement of streets and sidewalks throughout the town and $20,954 for improvement of Joramemon street.

Have you tried luncheon at Armstrong's? Delicious sandwiches, salads and home-made pies are featured. Union avenue and Joramemon street.—adv.

Clee at King Association Charges Hague with Bi-Partizan Deals

Declares Jersey City Leader Is "Most Ruthless Politician" To Appear in State—Sees Fiscal Program "In Palm of Hague's Hand"

"Bi-partizan deals have got to stop—or the Republican party will be sunk forever."

Thus stated Senator Lester H. Clee, gubernatorial candidate, Saturday night at a meeting of the Joseph King Association at headquarters, 414 Washington avenue.

"I have hung my head in shame, many times," Clee continued, adding "when I have seen judges appointed in payment of political debts. At least the judiciary should be kept out of the slime of cheap, rotten politics."

"Unless we receive a 50,000 majority in Essex at the Primary on September 21, we are going to be licked by the political machinations of Frank Hague, Democratic mayor of Jersey City, the most ruthless political boss to ever dominate New Jersey politics. He is the man, who supports men on both major tickets—makes bi-partizan deals. If the Democrats win in November do you realize what it means? It will result in a Democratic house, a Democratic Assembly, Democratic Motor Vehicle Commissioner, State Comptroller, auditor, finance commissioner—Don Stern, highway commissioner, out. Hague will have the fiscal program in the palm of his hand."

"The Democrats take orders, they don't think for themselves like the Republicans. Let's stamp this out forever. Our party has also cheapened itself. Make the Republican party the spokesmen for the greatest good for the greatest number. Let's restore confidence in our own party."

There are 686 major appointments to be made in the next three years by the next governor, the largest number in the last thirty-five years.

The senator pointed out why automobile drivers' license fees may, not be reduced. He declared that if the budget is cut, fees reduced, and no new taxes contemplated, with widening of the "White Horse" pike planned to cost millions, and $15,000,000 needed for relief, "What are we going to do?"

The book, which is of great practical value, has 800 pages and is divided into ten chapters. It is graphic, in that it contains a great number of pictures and diagrams and, in addition, presents the subject matter in an interesting and comprehensive manner.

The first chapter deals with water and a dissertation on soaps. The starting fact was revealed, that "expensive soaps do not necessarily become an aid to beauty." It also narrates that dry ice is water congealed at 78 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

The tenth chapter contains information on public safety, and recites events dealing with traffic regulation, drunken and reckless driving, and resuscitation.

The subject is taught by Walter Hack, Albert Taggart, and Murray Wilcox. Two other subjects inserted in the high school studies, are, printing, taught by John S. Chariton; and domestic science, taught by Miss Eleanor Allison.

"Devil Is Driving" Points Warning to Reckless Drivers Police Authorities Cooperate at Showing of Film At Capitol

Anyone addicted to fast driving or inclined to be reckless behind the wheel of an automobile will find a lot of pertinent information in the research results obtained by Harry Lachman, Columbia director of "The Devil Is Driving" starring Richard Dix and featuring Joan Perry.

"Figures gathered from the National Safety Council," says Lachman, "show that in the nine years from 1928 to 1936 inclusive, 297,230 persons were killed by automobiles in the United States. In California alone over the same period, 22,105 persons met death as the result of automobile accidents."

"The total of automobile deaths for 1936 alone in this country is estimated at 37,500, which is the approximate figure of all Americans killed in the World War. The number of deaths by automobile in this country during the last fifteen years exceeds the number killed in all the wars in history."

Absent Mindedness

Harry Byrnes, proprietor of the White Way Diner, Washington avenue, near Belleville avenue, is a trusting soul.

A customer absent-mindedly went in there to eat lunch yesterday. The bill was forty cents. The customer had thirty-five cents in his pocket at the time. Across the street is the First National Bank. From Harry's wagon to the bank went the hungry one. He cashed a fifty dollar check and returned to Harry's to pay his nickel.

Cotton Blossoms in Local Man's Yard

Cotton fields—men and women singing in the open in the soft glow of evening.

If you have ever been through the South you would hardly expect to find it in Belleville.

The picture, however, does present itself, with slight variations at the home of David Wells, 53 Valley street. "Dave," as he is affectionately called by his friends, furnishes the singing, and his ability in this respect is recognized.

But, the cotton? A short while back "Dave's" brother, George M., sent from Philadelphia, where he lives, a half dozen cotton seeds. Dave planted them. Four died and two lived to display "the finest blossoms in the whole country." And, thus, here in Belleville cotton grows, nestled three feet high with friendly asters strewn around.

There will be appointed sixteen prosecutors in twenty-one counties.

The senator pointed out why automobile drivers' license fees may, not be reduced. He declared that if the budget is cut, fees reduced, and no new taxes contemplated, with widening of the "White Horse" pike planned to cost millions, and $15,000,000 needed for relief, "What are we going to do?"

Valley Group Plans Eighth Anniversary Official Family To Attend Gala Affair at Vets' Home

The Valley Improvement Association will celebrate its eight anniversary on Thursday, September 23, at Veterans' Home.

The five commissioners, Mayor William H. Williams, Patrick A. Waters, George R. Gerard, William D. Clark, and Joseph King, will attend, as will Recorder Everett B. Smith and Town Counsel Lawrence E. Keenan.

William Wanhousen is chairman of the committee aided by Howard Brown, Theresa Hunkle, Mabel Harford, Violet Sutphin, Angelina Botto, Eva Hathaway, and Josephine Tiger.

The town ambulance took the driver, Anthony Mandeville, colored, 27, of 160 Boyd street, Newark, to St. Mary's Hospital in Passaic, after emergency treatment for burns on arms and chest at Isolation Hospital. The helper, Oscar Register, 16, also Newark, was uninjured.

According to Mandeville, an explosion occurred while he attempted to fill the vacuum tank of the auto which had run dry.

Rotarians Disport At "Bill" Orchard's "Swell" Time Enjoyed by Group at Bayhead Summer Home

When William J. Orchard, Rotarian and industrialist with Wallace & Tiernan Company, entertains his fellow Rotarians it is always one "swell" affair.

Wednesday this week at "Bill's" Summer home in Bayhead was no exception. Fifteen members of the local club attended one of the "best parties ever." Sailing, golf, soft ball and other sports furnished amusement during the day.

"Tommy" McHale, manager of the New Jersey Bell Telephone office, who is president of the club, "outdid" himself, the club members aver, one of whom insisted that socks of such hue as "Tommy" wore had no place at a Rotary meeting. They were removed by force, 'tis said.

Before the boys left Belleville the president came in for good-natured joshing regarding his, ultra, ultra attire for the day.

Bill Brooks, vice president of the First National Bank, declared the shore dinner which followed the day's outing "the best he has ever eaten."

More False Alarms

Two false alarms were sent in last week-end, which brings the total of false alarms in the last two months, to twelve.

Friday night, one was pulled at Linden and Tappan avenues, and Saturday night, the other was sent in from Jerald and Heckel streets, in Silver Lake.

The fire department asks that citizens of the town keep a sharp watch for the miscreants, who are pulling the boxes, and to report any suspicious persons hanging around the boxes.

Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin Announces Start of Institute of Jewish Affairs

Will Be Devoted to Forums on Questions of Jewish Import As Well As Problems of General Interest

Formation of the Belleville Institute of Jewish Affairs was announced recently by Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin of Congregation Ahavah Achim Anshe. It will be devoted to forums on questions of Jewish import as well as on problems of general interest.

This is the first time that such a project is being attempted anywhere in the State, and many other communities are waiting to see the results before starting their own institute.

The local Institute will be organized in a very unique manner. On a given topic, three speakers will be invited to present their opinions. The speakers will be acknowledged experts in their field. An endeavor will be made to secure speakers with varying viewpoints. Each speaker will be allotted twenty minutes. After all have spoken there will be an open forum from the floor, in which the audience will be invited to put questions to the speakers. The audience will be given an opportunity to suggest topics and speakers by means of a "suggestion box" which will be placed outside of the auditorium.

The purpose of the Institute will be to impart information, unbiased and non-partisan. It will attempt to answer the many questions which arise in the minds of the intelligent person on many phases of our modern living. The Institute will seek to establish a greater interest in advancing the American way of Democracy.

Firemen Warned of Blazing Truck by High School Boy

Wallace Shirey, On Way to Movies, Turns in Alarm

Wallace Shirey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Shirey, 320 Franklin avenue, is a smart lad in and out of Belleville High School, where he is a sophomore. His alertness should be an object lesson to some mischievous lads in Belleville who send in false fire alarms.

Last night Wallace, who is fifteen, was on the way to the movies at the Royal, Bloomfield, when he saw a huge butter and egg truck catch fire opposite Hendricks Field golf course near Belleville avenue. He reached the nearest fire alarm box in Belleville avenue and sent in a call for the apparatus. He then returned to the blazing truck to give assistance to the driver and helper.

The town ambulance took the driver, Anthony Mandeville, colored, 27, of 160 Boyd street, Newark, to St. Mary's Hospital in Passaic, after emergency treatment for burns on arms and chest at Isolation Hospital. The helper, Oscar Register, 16, also Newark, was uninjured.

According to Mandeville, an explosion occurred while he attempted to fill the vacuum tank of the auto which had run dry.

Motorists Cautioned On Traffic Rules

Prominent Persons Report On Violations They Note

Traffic rule violators' had better watch out.

Checking up on speeders, passers of red lights, cutters in and out, illegal parkers and those who drive to the left of center lines. Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard has designated a "safety" group of prominent citizens whose names for obvious reasons are withheld.

The checker-uppers have no authority to arrest, but they report license numbers of violators, which numbers are filed for ready reference by Recorder Everett B. Smith. If nabbed by the police for infractions it goes hard with the offenders.

Automobile Strikes Paul Deckenbach Minister's Son Suffers a Collar Bone Fracture

Struck by a car backing from the curb in De Witt avenue, Friday night, Paul Deckenbach, 10, son of Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, suffered a collar bone fracture.

Angus McMillan of 180 Devon street, Kearny, driver of the car, said he did not know he had struck the boy until he heard a scream. The boy was taken to Women's and Children's Hospital.

Don't forget that Victor Hart, JEWELER, sells Diamonds, Watches and Jewelry on the Easy Payment Plan. 457 Washington avenue, corner Tappan avenue, Belleville, N. J.

Olive Sanford Speaks To Republican Women

Urges Heavy Vote Be Gotten Out For Next Tuesday

At the opening meeting of the season of the Belleville Woman's Republican Club, last Thursday, at the Woman's Club House, Mrs. Olive Sanford, candidate for Assembly, was guest speaker. Mrs. Sanford had attended the meeting in honor of Senator Lester H. Clee, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, and gave a resume of his speech.

Mrs. Sanford said there were about 1,400 present to hear Senator Clee. Mrs. Sanford said in part: "The Republican party must get together, after the various rifts which have occurred within its ranks, and not render lip service, but work to get out the heavy Republican vote, to show that our party is not dead. Try to get the people who usually forget to go out and vote. Telephone and talk, have a telephone squad, who are vitally interested, and who in turn, will interest others. One should cover a certain allotted district, and so avoid the duplication of having one woman spoken to by three or four people."

Mrs. Sanford spoke of "The Owls," about thirty in number, made up of women, both Republican and Democratic, who have faithfully served in the Assembly. What is needed is faithful, qualified members for the Assembly, who will serve "Not for what they get out of it, but for what they put into it."

Mrs. John F. O'Brien, Jr., president, presided at the club's business session, and Mrs. J. K. Alexander, vice-chairman of the County committee, gave her impressions of the Clee meeting. Mrs. William Terry, house chairman and her committee served tea.

Ambulance Serves Its Purpose Well Despite Humorous Angle of Report Taxpayers Are Aided

When Robert A. Reid, fire chief, makes a report to the Town Commission he does not leave out the slightest detail.

"Firsthand 'Alec,' as he is best known to his friends, informed Public Safety Director George R. Gerard recently that among the thirty-seven calls made during August by the ambulance was one to 'Overman Tire Co., to have two tires put on front wheels.' This happened on August 2. On August 4, just to prove that even firemen and ambulances are called out on wild goose chases, Reid said the ambulance was summoned 'by police to accident at Franklin avenue between Berkeley avenue. No one hurt.' The same thing occurred August 9 at Washington avenue and Joramemon street. August 11 the slick vehicle was summoned to 246-8 Washington avenue, but not needed.

And, now, not to be humorous, but because we find further down the list in front of us need for another tire, the ambulance visited the Overman plant again on August 25 for "a new tire on the right rear wheel."

In all seriousness, however, the report goes into detail of cases handled that show its importance to the community. Many local persons have found the ambulance of untold value as regards quick, efficient transportation to hospitals. Those, who found use for the vehicle, range in age from 8 to 77.

The contest in the county committee elections Tuesday are as follows: Republican party, First Ward, Third District, William Wanhousen, Clee for Governor, Clean Government Republican against Nicholas Duca, Republican; Third Ward, Sixth District, Wallace R. Shaw, Republican, against Arthur W. Clark, Clee for Governor, Clean Government Republican; Fourth Ward, Fourth District, Henry Riepe, Jr., Clee for Governor, Clean Government Republican, against Donald McPherson, Republican; same district, Edna Riepe, Clee for Governor, Republican, against Marion Kraemer, Clee for Governor, Clean Government Republican.

There were more contests in the county committee of the Democratic party. They are as follows: First Ward, First District, Daniel Spillane, Regular Democrat, against George Scofield, Progressive Democrat; First Ward, Second District, Thomas Gorman, Regular Democrat, against Joseph Dimick, Progressive Democrat; same district, Florence Bleicki, Regular Democrat, against Kathryn Heyeck, Progressive Democrat; First Ward, Third District, Frank DeBonis, Organization Democrat, against Daniel Gerard Hamrahan, Regular Democrat, against Rocco J. DiGregorio, Progressive Democrat; same district, Anna Evangelista, Progressive Democrat, against Cecilia Bove, Regular Democrat; Third Ward, Sixth District, Anna Restaino, no designation, against Eleanor Scaine, Regular Democrat; Fourth Ward, First District, Angelo Domenick, Regular Democrat, against Joseph Crecca, New Deal Democrat; Fourth Ward, Second District, Louis Pennabere, Democrat, against John Lanza, Regular Democrat; same district, Margaret Finan, Regular Democrat, against Margaret More, Democrat.

Both Parties Battle For Committee Posts Democrats Have More Contests Than the G. O. P.'s

The contest in the county committee elections Tuesday are as follows: Republican party, First Ward, Third District, William Wanhousen, Clee for Governor, Clean Government Republican against Nicholas Duca, Republican; Third Ward, Sixth District, Wallace R. The Nasty Crabs

A box of live crabs in front of Atlantic Sea Food Market, 482 Washington avenue, provided more fun than shooting a lion with a bean shooter, for a crowd of on-lookers, Wednesday afternoon.

A customer bent on obtaining the best crabs for her money picked five of them from the box, thrust them into a bag and placed the bag on the sidewalk, intending to get more. In a twinkling of an eye the crabs were out of the bag and onto the sidewalk. A merry chase ensued for the crustaceans, who became very active in eluding the pursuers. A small inquisitive dog put its nose too close to a crab and a second later went howling away having been properly bitten on the proboscis, much to the amusement of the audience assembled. The crabs were finally returned to their box and future customers allowed Lenny Friscia to pick out the crabs.

Four Councils Join In K. of C. Outing Belleville, Bloomfield, Nut- ley and Montclair Cooperate

Detailed plans for the joint outing of members and families of Belleville, Bloomfield, Montclair and St. Mary's (Nutley) councils of the Knights of Columbus were discussed at the regular meeting of St. Mary's Council, Monday evening, Grand Knight Leverett G. Teague presiding.

The outing is to be held Sunday, at Mazdabrook Golf Club. The day's program will start at 12 o'clock with a soft-ball game, Belleville against Montclair. Another game will follow immediately with St. Mary's meeting Bloomfield. Games and races for children, men and women will be the attractions until the final event, in which the two victorious softball teams will meet for the inter council championship. Awards will be given for all events.

The pavilion will be reserved for the use of those attending the outing. Tables will be available and music will be provided for dancing. Tickets and any additional information may be obtained from Joseph Kile, 39 Conover avenue, Nutley.

Henry Conover reported that the membership committee has set a goal of twenty new members to be reached before the end of October. All members are requested to contact a prospective member and to notify the committee of the name of this prospect.

The club house committee reported that the club rooms would be opened on October 1. The club rooms will be open only to the members of the Knights of Columbus, registered members of the bowling teams and their friends.

Plans were announced for the annual dinner dance to be held at the Club Evergreen, October 12. Formal attire will be optional.

The Variety Five entertained the Council with a musical program, consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers and tap dance routines. Refreshments of chicken chow mein and coffee were served.

He will shortly resume his duties as scoutmaster of Troop 4, Boy Scouts, meeting at Wesley M. E. Church, Tuesday, evenings.

 ing to use for money." He stated that his plea is to use present revenues for present needs.

"If elected I promise only one thing, to serve the greatest number of people the best I know how. I will, however, urge a non-political board of experts to study our entire state tax program."

Clee told of one saving on road appropriations, last year.

"A fellow came to me," he said, "and asked for $400,000 for roads, most of it improvement around state institutions. When I asked him to break down his figures, he came back and the total of the items was $200,000."

"What are you going to do with the other quarter million?" I asked. "Well, senator," he said, "you never can tell—it's just an ace in the hole."

Clee arrived late having attended a meeting in Nutley High School and a picnic in Clifton in the afternoon at which he met Senator Cliff Powell, his opponent. They shook hands there and posed as the best of friends with Lloyd Marsh, Passaic leader, who is for Clee, looking on.

"Anyone who gets me to go on a picnic will be a world beater," opined Clee, with the addendum, "after election."

Town Commissioner Joseph King, standard bearer of the association introduced Clee as the "best man to serve all the people." He urged a big vote in November to defeat "A. Harry Moore."

In acknowledging the introduction, Clee declared: "We must jump the first hurdle, first. That is the primary. Double the vote then, but triple it in November."

The association will hold an outing at Sun Dance Lodge, Route 6, Caldwell, on Saturday, September 25.

Plan Larger Quarters For Political Club Increase in Membership Expected Through Drive

The Belleville Political and Social Club, Inc., contemplates moving into larger quarters due to its large membership. The organization now has 160 members, and at the close of a membership drive now in progress, the roll is expected to reach 200.

The new clubroom is situated at 282 Belleville avenue, and will be ready for occupancy October 1, after extensive alterations and new furnishings, under the guidance of a committee of twelve members, headed by Angelo De Stefano. The larger quarters will facilitate the running of social affairs on the club's own premises. A picnic is being planned for September 26, at Sement Grove, Clifton. This is the second affair of its kind held this season.

Impossible?

Yes; but little by little and without realizing it, you may waste the energy needed to carry a 500-pound piano up 2 flights of stairs—every day—simply by not using your telephone.

A group of New Jersey women in 16 communities found this out by measuring their home and social activities, with and without the telephone. * Using it, they:

- saved up to 4,000 steps every day; the average was 950 steps, a daily saving of enough energy to carry a 500-pound piano up two flights of stairs;
- gained an average of one hour every day, for leisure or added accomplishment—some gained 3 hours or more;
- strengthened and renewed friendships both in and out of town.

The more you use your telephone to go places, visit, and get things done quickly, the more you help yourself to enjoy a happier, easier, more satisfying life.

* Each woman wore a pedometer, set to her step, to measure the distance walked during ten days without the telephone's help and ten days with it. Each kept a record of all she did. Savings in energy (when using the telephone) were found by converting the steps saved into foot-pounds.

Aloysius Welsh Awarded Scholarship to American College of Rome

Aloysius Welsh, twenty-one-year-old son of Mrs. Mary C. Welsh, 146 Washington avenue, will leave tomorrow for a four-year stay in Rome, Italy, where he will attend the American College of Rome.

Mr. Welsh has received a full course scholarship at the college, intending to become a priest.

He was graduated from St. Benedict's Prep School. He attended three years at Seton Hall College, spending his fourth year at Immaculate Conception Seminary, Darlington.

A studious youth, "Al" was very popular around the town hall, especially in the police department, and was a good friend of Battalion Chief William Cullen when the fire department was in the town hall.

CHRIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH
Rev. Peter R. Deckenbach

Seventeenth Sunday after Trinity. Holy communion at 7:45. Morning prayer and sermon at 11 o'clock; topic: "The Hard Climax."

Sunday school every Sunday morning at 9:45.

The Vestry will hold the opening meeting of the season this evening, at the parish house. The Church Council, comprising the heads of the various organizations, will meet with the Vestry upon this occasion, to discuss plans.

On Sunday morning, September 26, a part of the church service will be devoted to the semi-annual collection of the Women's United Thank Offering, and the rector will have something to say about the "Little Blue Box." This collection has been advanced two months, due to the great Triennial Presentation in Cincinnati, at the church convention, on October 7. A letter from Mrs. Foster Debevoise, United Thank Offering Custodian of the Diocese, makes a special plea; she says in part, "We need generous gifts if we are to pass or even reach the amount we had in 1934, and I hope the 'summer fragments' will prove to be very large ones. Please try to give every woman in your parish a last opportunity to be represented in this personal and fragrant offering to the Master from thankful hearts." Mrs. Debevoise will leave for the Convention on October 4, and our United Thank Offering must be in her hands, previous to that date. She says, in closing, "I hope to bring home to you a heartening description of the glory of that great Communion Service and presentation."

The opening Fall meeting of the Altar Guild will be held in the club room of the parish house on Monday evening. Mrs. J. Harry Edwards, directress, will preside.

Boy Scout Troop 88 resumed activities on Tuesday evening, when the first fall meeting was held at the parish house, under the leadership of scout master Raymond Patrick.

CONGREGATION A. A. A.
317 Washington Avenue
Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin

Regular Kabbalas Shabbos services will be held tonight. The services will start at 6:50 P. M. Sabbath morning services begin at 8 A. M. The Junior Congregation meets for its Children's Service at 10. Rabbi Dobin explains the portion of the week to the children every Saturday morning.

Succos, the Feast of Tabernacles, begins at sundown this Sunday. This holiday is of great significance for it commemorates the time of the wandering of the Jews in the wilderness, when they lived in temporary booths. It also commemorates the period of the final harvest in Palestine, and is therefore a time of thanksgiving and rejoicing. The age-old tradition of building a "Succah," a temporary dwelling, is being followed by the Congregation. A large and beautiful "Succah" is being built on the side of the Synagogue. This festival will be celebrated till sundown next Tuesday, September 28.

Evening services will be held on Sunday at 6:30 P. M. Succos services on Monday and Tuesday mornings will begin promptly at 9 A. M.

The opening meeting of the Sisterhood will be held Tuesday evening at the Synagogue. The meeting will start promptly at 8:30. All sisters are asked to be prompt. Many important matters are to be taken up. Activities for the coming year will be formulated. The Sisterhood Study Group, which has met regularly throughout the summer, will sponsor a card party on Wednesday evening, October 13, at the Synagogue. The proceeds of this event will be used to buy books for a library, which will be housed in the Rabbi's study in the Synagogue. This library will be of great help to the members of the group in helping them prepare their reports.

The Daily Religious School, Talmud Torah, is holding its sessions regularly. There are at present five classes in the school. Parents can still enroll their children for the new term. Sunday School will start its new term on Sunday, October 3.

ROBITUARY

Mrs. Margaret E. Cozzens

Burial of Mrs. Margaret Ella Cozzens, 114 Lenox avenue, Ridgewood, was made Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, in East Ridgeland Cemetery, Delawanna.

For many years Mrs. Cozzens, who was the wife of the late John Cozzens, lived in Overlook avenue, and for the last three years she made her home with her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Zimmerman of the Ridgewood address.

She leaves her brother, Thomas L. Zimmerman, Brooklyn.

She was an active member of the W. C. T. U. and was also a practitioner of the Christian Science Church, and was given a service by that organization.

James J. Ford

Funeral services were held Thursday at his home, 7437 Elmwood avenue, Philadelphia, for James J. Ford, a former resident. Mr. Ford died Monday at his home. He had been under treatment for a heart ailment. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery, West Philadelphia.

Mr. Ford lived in Belleville more than forty years before moving to Philadelphia five years ago. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ethel Ford, his mother, four daughters and four sons, Miss Helen Ford, Mrs. Mary Collishaw, Mrs. Margaret Harrington of Newark and Mrs. Anna Gornley of North Arlington.

Andrew B. Brown

Andrew B. Brown, 79, died Friday at the home of his son, Frank H. Brown, of 351 Little street, after a two weeks' illness. Mr. Brown, a carpenter, was born in Nacomb, Ill., and lived in Newark fifty years, moving to Belleville four years ago. He was a member of Henry Clay Council, K. of P., of Newark.

Besides his son, Mr. Brown leaves a daughter, Miss Elizabeth Brown of Belleville. Funeral services were held Monday at 3:30 P. M. at the home.

Elmer E. Leonard

Elmer Ellsworth Leonard, 75, of 363 Greylock parkway, died Tuesday after a long illness. Born in Pleasant Plains, Mr. Leonard had lived most of his life in Newark, the Oranges and Belleville. He retired eight years ago after 28 years' employment in the cable department of New Jersey Bell Telephone Co.

Surviving are his wife Laura, and two sons, Harold E. of Livingston and Alvin R. Services will be held today at 2 p. m. at the Burr Funeral Home, 28 High street, Orange. Burial will be in Basking Ridge.

Mrs. Hector Santomassimo

Mrs. Frances Santomassimo, 25, of 129 Garden avenue, died Monday at St. James' Hospital after a short illness. She leaves her husband, Hector Santomassimo, her father, Joseph Harzeski, and three brothers.

Funeral services were held yesterday at her father's home, 733 Marion avenue, Lyndhurst.

Powell Plans Drive To Reduce Tolls Would Aid Motorists Using Tunnel and Bridge

Senator Clifford R. Powell, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in the primary to be held next Tuesday, plans a drive to reduce tolls for motorists using the Holland Tunnel and the George Washington Bridge. This announcement was made today by Fred W. Fort, Jr., chairman of the Powell campaign committee in Essex County.

Fort pointed to Senator Powell's sixteen-year fight in the Legislature to lower taxes of all sorts and cited particularly the Senator's success in obtaining substantially lower rates for motorists who use the Camden-Philadelphia bridge.

Senator Powell also opposes the attempt the Hudson and Manhattan Railway is making to increase its fare from Jersey City points to the Courtlandt street station in New York from six cents to ten cents, Fort announced. The Senator plans a fight to prevent this increase, the chairman added.

"Since the opening of the Holland Tunnel in 1927," Fort said, "the project has handled business even beyond the expectations of its builders, business so great that another vehicular tunnel to New York now is under construction to take some of the strain from the original tube.

"This rush of business has enabled the tunnel project, I am informed, to amortize its bonds regularly and to build up a great surplus fund which is administered by the Port of New York Authority. Since the range of the Port Authority includes a large New York waterfront, New Jersey taxpayers thus would be paying New Jersey money for improvements which the Port Authority might erect in another state.

"Cliff Powell never will sit idly by and see New Jersey money taken out of the state in such a manner. While he recognizes that the Port of New York Authority necessarily must be bi-state in scope, he feels that too much money is being taken from Northern New Jersey citizens in tolls through the Holland Tunnel and over the George Washington Bridge.

"If you go to the polls next Tuesday and nominate Cliff Powell for Governor, you will be taking the first step toward reducing the present fee of fifty cents for a trip over the bridge or through the tunnel."

Chairman Fort also called attention to Senator Powell's fight against all forms of taxes in the Legislature, particularly the income tax sponsored by the Rev. Lester H. Clee. This Clee income tax, Fort added, would have imposed a penalty on every income in the state ranging from "the poor man who remained out of work most of the time and earned as little as $10 in a year" to the rich in the upper brackets.

"The higher incomes," Fort continued, "of which there are many in Northern New Jersey, would have been so taxed under this income levy backed by the Rev. Dr. Clee that a man earning a large salary in New York and living in New Jersey would have found himself unable to meet the demands of two states and the Federal Government. The tax would have amounted to more than his income.

"Cliff Powell defeated this tax by a vigorous personal attack on it. He will defeat all new taxes as long as New Jersey Republicans keep him in office. A vote for Powell Tuesday is a vote for sound, economic government by a man experienced in administering it."

W. H. Holmes Recalls Belleville's Yesteryear

Lives in Same House Today In Which He Was Born

William H. Holmes, 178 Washington avenue, has a wealth of recollections of Belleville's yesteryear. And well he may. For hasn't he lived all his days—since he was born—in the same house.

He is a cousin of Howard Holmes, and Hugh Holmes, who wrote an interesting history of Belleville, was his great-uncle.

His wife, who was Adelaide L. Stimis, of Newark, recalled her grandfather, Christopher Stimis, working in a silk mill at Avondale, then North Belleville.

Mr. Holmes wears a forty-year service locket, on his watch chain, given him by the Prudential Insurance Company. The forty-year charm was granted to him February 4, of this year. He is in the treasury loan department.

He remembers when the No. 1 school in Academy street, consisted of two rooms. He maintains that the

Mr. Holmes can tell of shad fishing in the Passaic, the "old swimming hole" across the river at the Jersey City Water Works, hitching rides on the "penny jigger" and such. He likes to recall "chases" by the skipper of the "jigger" for "rocking the boat."

Mr. Holmes is a great rose fancier, and has seventy-eight bushes, that may be seen from Rutgers street, just below Washington avenue.

Talent Scouting Is Secret Service of Movie Industry

Sleuths on the Look for Talent in Highways And Byways

Talent scouts in the flesh are cold calculating dealers in potential personality and dramatic ability. That is a blunt evaluation of the "secret service" of the movie industry—a body of well-trained men who literally cover the country in a never-ceasing search for new faces.

These young countenances, unknown today, may well become, and often do, the shining lights of tomorrow's screens. A girl, scarcely out of her teens, in a few short months becomes a world renowned figure, a personage stormed by adoring crowds wherever she goes making the headlines as often as dictators, presidents and international bankers. Incredible—but true!

All this because when she was taking part in a small college play for example, the shrewd eye of a talent scout was attracted by some quality in the way she spoke, or walked—or smiled. He knew that this quality, if projected on a thousand screens would result in immediate fame, easily cashed in at the box office by her backers.

In an interview with a scout from the Warner Bros. talent department who prefers to remain anonymous, a correspondent got the following statement: "Finding new talent today is no longer a hit-or-miss proposition. We have men, all of them well trained judges of talent who have been on the dramatic and movie front, so to speak, just about all their lives.

"They cover all the Broadway productions, of every nature, most of the larger college shows—and a good many of the smaller ones—night clubs in all the principal cities. And even with this vast coverage, their job is not ended. The scout is on the alert for his quarry when he walks down the street, when he steps on a train, or a boat, or a plane—even when he drops in at the corner drug store for a soda."

In addition to the company's own staff, there are people around the country like house managers, dramatic group instructors, for whose judgment the talent staff has great respect, and as a result more than one star in Hollywood today was "discovered" through just such a channel. Often after picking up a prospect the scout will have to coach and advise his "raw material" for months, or else just watch from the sidelines to chart the progress made until such time that the scout steps in with a contract.

Beverly Roberts, for example, was "spotted" singing in a New York night club. It was weeks before Warner signed her, during which time she was watched and guided until she was ready. Different companies have conflicting ideas as to prospects. Frequently one company will sign a prospect on viewing him after another company has watched and perhaps even screen tested him with little interest. (Oftentimes studios have regretted such action.)

Dick Powell was a master of ceremonies in a Pittsburgh theatre, the manager liked him, had him scouted, and he was on his way. Olivia De Havilland was playing in a school production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" when one of Max Reinhardt's scouts was attracted. Jane Bryan, pretty young player of "Marked Woman" and "Kid Galahad," Wayne Morris, sensational star of the latter picture, Gloria Dickson, who will shortly be seen in Mervyn Le Roy's "They Won't Forget" are all new faces and talent seen in various group theatre productions. And all are on their way, to take the word of the most calloused critics in the country.

In fact it is safe to say that about three-quarters of the stars in Hollywood today have come from the ranks recruited by the scouts. For all of it, the same scouts are unimpressed. When they send a prospect to the coast, the studio takes over the raw material and the talent scout continues on his way, ever searching for fresh and aspiring hopefuls, unknown "talent" today but who knows, maybe stars tomorrow.

"Talent Scout," a First National picture, is coming to the Lincoln Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Amateur Movie Club

A meeting was held Wednesday night at the home of Everett V. Nestell, Nutley, to form an amateur movie club. The name of Cine-men Club was adopted. Mr. Nestell was elected chairman and E. B. Earl, secretary.

Plans were laid to attract new members. Committees were formed to organize club activities. Technical experts will be invited to speak at future meetings.

The club is acquiring equipment to develop its own films. Films of various members will be projected and discussed to assist in improving amateur picture taking ability.

The next monthly meeting will be held October 20 at the home of Homer F. Lyman, 170 Nutley avenue, Nutley. All persons interested in amateur movies are invited to join.

Dietrich-Donat Co-Star in New Korda Picture

"Knight Without Armor" Opens Today at Capitol Theater

Marlene Dietrich and Robert Donat, one of the most glamorous romantic teams in screen history, appear today and tomorrow in Alexander Korda's "Knight Without Armor" at the Capitol, providing the dramatic half of an outstanding double feature program, with Joe E. Brown furnishing the laughing half in his hilarious comedy, "Riding on Air."

"Knight Without Armor" is one of the greatest love stories of all time, from the pen of the famous James Hilton, who wrote "Goodbye Mr. Chips" and "Lost Horizon."

Mysterious Modern Knight
Her first English picture casts the exotic Marlene as an alluring Russian countess, and Donat is seen as a mysterious modern knight errant whose hatred flares into a flame of protective love as they live through a series of stirring adventures, knowing moments of incomparable horror and bliss as they flee from the countless terrors that threaten to tear them apart.

Jacques Feyder, distinguished European director, whose "La Kermesse Heroique" ("Carnival in Flanders") won several awards last year, directed "Knight Without Armor" from a script by Frances Marion, ace Hollywood scenarist who traveled all the way to England to adapt the Hilton novel to the screen.

Impressive Settings
The settings, among the biggest and most impressive ever seen on the screen, were designed by the brilliant Lazar Meerson, who also created the backgrounds for Korda's "Fire Over England." These include a forest so real that it fooled hundreds of birds and huffpugs who moved in and settled down for the winter, and a section of railway complete with two genuine locomotives.

Much Fun in Current Joe E. Brown Comedy

An airplane that virtually flies itself, a newspaper editor who unwittingly scoops himself, and a swindler who unconsciously cheats himself, are some of the amazing ingredients that contribute to the fun in Joe E. Brown's latest laugh-vehicle, "Riding on Air," at the Capitol Theatre.

As Elmer Lane, a small town newspaper editor, Joe E. Brown proves himself a sensational news sleuth—for his rival papers—but when it comes to capturing a band of air smugglers with the use of an airplane controlled by a projected radio beam, he stumbles the world and baffles a would-be embezzler.

Produced by David L. Loew, and based on Richard Macaulay's popular Saturday Evening Post stories, "Riding on Air" features Guy Kibbee, Florence Rice, Vinton Haworth, Harlan Briggs and Anthony, Nace in the supporting cast. Edward Sedgwick directed the RKO Radio release.

"Black and Blue Actor"
Ben Blue is thinking seriously of having two words legally added to his name. Those two words would be "Black and."

It all dates back to the beginning of Blue's comedy role in "Artists and Models," which opens Sunday at the Capitol Theatre, for four days.

In one scene, Blue is supposed to be pushed off a park bench by Judy Canova, and before the scene was shot to the satisfaction of Director Raoul Walsh, it had to be shot seventeen (count 'em) times!

When the day's work was over, Blue could hardly move. There had been no pillow on the spot where he made his landings.

The companion feature will be Richard Dix in "The Devil Is Driving," a pointed, yet exciting story of a fearless prosecutor's one-man campaign against playboys turned killers when driving drunkenly.

Starting Thursday, and playing Friday and Saturday, the powerfully dynamic picture, "The Road Back," taken from the story of Erich Remarque, famous for his "All Quiet on the Western Front," and directed by that ace of Hollywood directors, James Whale, holds sway at the Capitol. To balance this feature, a group of comedy stars appear in "Marry the Girl," with Hugh (Woo-hoo) Herbert as the biggest laugh-getter.

"Devil Drives"

which the United States has engaged. "Figures like these should drive home the importance of careful driving. And, remember, these are only the total of actual deaths. The number of persons injured in automobile accidents in the United States annually exceeds one million. In other words, one out of every one hundred persons in the country is doomed to be injured by an automobile next year unless the situation is corrected."

"The Devil Is Driving," a thrill-packed tale of the accident evil, is an important part of the program at the Capitol beginning Sunday and lasting through Wednesday.

The Public Safety Department, under Director George R. Gerard, is cooperating with the theater management because of the safety angle involved.

At the Capitol

A quartet of stars! Jack Benny, Ida Lupino, Gail Patrick and Richard Arlen, whose amatory adventures and misadventures furnish a large part of the hilarious comedy in Paramount's song-studded, girl-filled "Artists and Models," which opens next Sunday at the Capitol Theatre.

Lovely Alice Faye Lilts to New Hi-de-heights in Singsational Hit

Featured in the leading singing roles in a big fine musical after another, lovely Alice Faye never has had a singing lesson in her life and rebelled violently when a good-intentioned but misguided producer endeavored to arrange vocal instruction for her.

Once she was left alone and permitted to sing in the natural and unaffected manner that won her success on stage and radio, the blonde actress began to rise rapidly in the film capital and today, co-incident with her role opposite Don Ameche and the Ritz Brothers in "You Can't Have Everything," Twentieth Century-Fox singsational musical coming Sunday to the Elwood Theatre and continuing through Wednesday, Alice was selected as Hollywood's best song-plugger by Irving Berlin and Cole Porter.

Successful song-plugging depends not alone on a good voice, enthusiastic rendition or an attractive aspect, but rather on an indefinable perfect combination of the three.

Her role in "Sing, Baby, Sing" won her the romantic lead in Shirley Temple's "Stowaway," and then followed a series of musical smash hits.

"On the Avenue" and "Wake Up and Live," her two best films for Darryl F. Zanuck, established Alice as filmland's musical comedy queen. In "You Can't Have Everything," directed by Norman Taurog, she appears in a parade of personalities including Charles Winninger, Louise Hovick, Rubloff and his violin, and Tony Martin.

Harry Is Always

In Ritz Sandwich

There is only one stable thing about the cavorting Ritz Brothers, Hollywood's new Napoleons of insane comedy, and that is that Harry is always in the middle. Al and Jimmy alternate at either end, but despite earthquakes, meteor showers or similar Ritz Brothers pranks, Harry is always in the middle.

This consistency is about the only feature for which the brothers have any adequate explanation.

Possessing perfect muscular control over their bodies, a result of early athletic training, the Ritzes can count speedily with their eyes, first bringing the pupil of one eye down, then the other, then raising the first, etc. They maintain that Harry, the youngest, can count to a hundred and that Al and Jimmy can count only to seventy-five, so they put Harry in the middle so they can watch him.

These merry maniacs give their best performances to date at the Elwood commencing this Sunday.

Capitol Improved By New Projector Units

With the installation of the Ashcroft-Suplex Lamp House units in the projectors of the Capitol Theatre, Ben Weshner, personable manager of the theatre, says that he believes his moving picture house has been brought to a point where it is on a par with any suburban theatre in appearance, projection and sound.

The lamp units mentioned are the same type as are now being used in Radio City Music Hall.

Recently, Mr. Weshner brought about the installation of new R.C.A. sound equipment with a seven speaker unit making the voice and music easily distinguishable in all sections of the house.

The screen attractions last Saturday and Sunday brought out capacity crowds for both days, indicating that now that people are back from the mountains and shore resorts they will turn to an amusement center where the entertainment is wholesome and can be enjoyed by the young as well as the adult.

The outstanding hits of the season are promised for an early showing at the theatre through the efforts of Mr. Weshner.

Announce Althouse Concert Program

New Jersey Symphony Orchestra to Present Varied Program

Those fortunate enough to hear Paul Althouse, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, when he appears at the Flemington High School auditorium Sunday afternoon, September 26, will listen also to a well-rounded program by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, directed by Max Jacobs.

Mr. Jacobs this week made public his program which will include these numbers:

Overture—"Barber of Seville," Rossini.
Symphony—"Italian," Mendelssohn.
Aria, Siegmund's Love Song—from Wagner's "Walkure."
Invitation to the Dance—Weber.
Finlandia—Sibelius.

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra is made up almost entirely of professional artists who reside in New Jersey, but most of whom are regularly engaged in concert and symphony work in New York City and Philadelphia. In bringing this group together Mr. Jacobs has anticipated the time when the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will participate in concerts arranged by musical organizations in various cities throughout the state and presented, sometimes with celebrated vocal and instrumental soloists, and sometimes in straight symphonic programs. Several active groups are already cooperating with the New Jersey Symphony in the state, but the Hunterdon County Symphony Association is the first to be able to present an artist of outstanding attainment like Paul Althouse.

Mr. Althouse's appearance here is only possible by reason of the fact that he is the father of two talented young musicians, residing in Ringoes, the Misses Rita Mary and Pauline Althouse, daughters of Mrs. Alex B. Thimm. The Misses Althouse and Mrs. Thimm assisted the Hunterdon County Symphony Association, sponsors of the series of Flemington concerts, in bringing the world-famous tenor here.

Loretta Young, Don Ameche, Borrah Minevitch and his gang, Frances Drake and Walter Catlett appear in "Love Under Fire" Friday at Proctor's Theatre. Also on the program are Jane Withers in "Wild and Woolly," with Walter Brennan and Carl (Alfalfa) Switzer, and the most recent issue of the March of Time featuring the war in China.

Miss Young appears as a woman suspected of stealing gems by Ameche, a Scotland Yard sleuth, during a stay in Spain. While the detective is escorting the girl to the border they are joined by a Spanish officer who also believes Miss Young is the jewel thief and has been trailing her. The Spaniard insinuates himself into the heroine's confidence and together they drug Ameche and escape, the Spaniard masquerading as the Englishman.

"Wild and Woolly" finds Jane continuing the feud of her grandfather (Brennan) with his enemy's grandchild. With the aid of "Alfalfa" she fights against Jack Searl and Douglas Scott.

The March of Time relates the story of the war in China. Not merely a pictorial account of what is now happening in China, it traces the history and background of the conflict.

Request Features

Most of the request features, which add an hour or so to the Saturday night shows in several theatres within a short radius of our offices, are interesting. We peeked in at the Capitol last Saturday evening and saw a full house watching Paul Muni in "Border Town."

A picture noted for its story, its stars and its photography will be shown at the Lincoln, this Saturday night, "Showboat" is the name, and has for its stars, Irene Dunne, Allan Jones, Charles Winninger, and Paul Robeson, to mention only the foremost.

SAY IT WITH —

Say it with words, the grateful birds
Their heart-felt praises sound;
The notes they sing, their chirruping,
Reveal that joys abound.
Each human mate might imitate
This joyful, feathered clan,
And kind words speak, from week to week,
All thru life's earthly span.

Say it with deeds, to answer needs;
Actions speak loud, and so,
Where kindness grips, companionships
More sweet and helpful grow.
Say it with gifts, because some rifts,
Thru inattentions creep;
Lovers must strive, so that alive
Love's flame shall ever keep.

"Say it with flowers," your working powers,
Your manners, gestures, moods;
Do well your part, with all your heart,
And kindly attitudes.
In love, don't slack, hold nothing back,
Give of yourself, and things.
With it don't flirt, lest to your hurt,
It fly as if by wings.

Scenes at Westinghouse Plant as "Family Day Is Observed"

The first "Family Day" celebration at the Belleville Works of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company's Lamp Division, held last Saturday from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M., was pronounced a distinct success by employees and their guests alike.

More than 2,500 relatives and friends of the 300 "hosts" at the plant took advantage of the first "open house" to visit the Works and see the actual conditions under which employees turn out more than a million and a quarter metal and composition bases for Westinghouse Mazda lamps and electronic tubes daily.

Visitors were guided along the manufacturing aisles, where many machines had been kept in operation so that the public could view the intricate construction steps involved in modern lighting equipment.

They saw a strange, powdery substance mixed into "mud-pie" pellets the size of golf balls, and then watched these same "mud-pie" balls transformed, under tremendous pressure and heat, into shiny black hollow cups, destined perhaps to wind up in their own homes as bases for radio tubes.

Popular also with the guests were the exhibits in the recreation rooms. At one end a constantly growing throng pressed about various electrical phenomena which had been set up to amuse and instruct the layman.

At the other end a vast array of hobbies and handicraft turned out by employees "after hours" was shown, together with the red and blue ribbons distributed by a committee of judges.

The hobby winners were as follows: Flowers and gardens, Edward Mackintosh, Nutley; African collection, F. H. Parker, Belleville; butterfly collection, William O'Connor, Passaic; first prize, handicraft, John Riestra; second prize, J. K. Bayles, Butler; needlework, first prize, Henrietta Hamley, Newark; second prize, Carolyn Dunster, Belleville; personal art, Dorothy Patricia, Nutley, and antiques, Florence Piro, Garfield.

Desk and floor lamps were awarded to the victors in the above contests.

Among those who had articles on exhibition were Irene Wirtz, scrap book; E. L. Moore and Florence Cafone, hand painted articles; William and Dorothy Kliebe, an excellent display of model yachts; Dorothy Burke, bed spread; Margaret Jenkins, ice cream soda mixers; Walter Harris and Frank J. Oliniski, two-way radio-phones sets; Margaret Corino, boat in bottle; stamp collection, Margaret Corino and Edith Lucanelli; West Indies souvenirs, Celda Westfall; needlework, Ruth A. Vreeland, Dorothy Dugio, Carolyn Dunster, Eva Zalinsky, Sophie Cappolo, Victoria Schreck, Barbara J. Morath, Sophio Musho and Miss Irene Casale.

Magic eye, cathode ray analyzer, Mr. Oliniski; rare marriage certificates and wills, anonymous; pillow, Mary Borden; china painting, Anna Morath; lamp made from bombshell, John Riestra; embroidered towels, Minnie Vangieri; banjo, handmade, John Bayles; musical pot pourri, Anne Lodge; photo gardens and sample flowers, D. MacCormack; knitted and embroidered work and hand painted articles, Ruth Vreeland; amateur photography, Robert G. Kugler, Helen Dusky and Frances Stefanowicz; needlepoint tapestry, Henrietta R. Ryerson, and photos, R. Hubbard and R. Ryerson.

Judges for the show, which was unique and clever, included Mrs. Gerard, Mrs. Dettelbach, Mrs. George Kaden, Mrs. Wallwin H. Masten, Thomas R. McHale, president of the Rotary Club and Manager of the local office of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company and Russell K. Rose.

The guessing contest as to the number of bulbs in a large vessel was won by S. Kraska, Wallington. His guess of 1379 was absolutely correct. Two other guesses were 1376 and 1375. Commissioner George R. Gerard was close with an estimate of 1400.

Many prominent Belleville folks were guests "Family Day."

Arrivals noted in the gathering between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon when judging of hobbies took place at a special exhibit were Town Commissioners George R. Gerard and Joseph King and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. G. Roscoe B. Symonds, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dettelbach, Mr. and Mrs. George Kaden, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Thompson, Corporation Counsel Lawrence E. Keenan and son, Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. Wayne R. Parmer, former Police Captain and Mrs. George Wirtz and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Speaker.

The general committee in charge consisted of W. B. Wallace, general chairman; J. E. Woodall, in charge of reception and tickets; F. A. Newcombe, plant inspection; Miss Hamley, decorations and refreshments; William Harrison, installation; J. A. Charnak, hobbies, and Ernest Moore, police and safety.

"Family Day" was being observed simultaneously at the Works in Trenton, at the main plant of the Lamp Division in Bloomfield, and at the Meter Division Works in Newark.

Some of the Belleville visitors were able to continue their exploratory tour to Bloomfield, where they saw the bases manufactured at Belleville at-

Many Attend Outing Held in Caldwell By Wallace and Tiernan Company

One of the largest outings ever held by Wallace and Tiernan Company was staged Saturday at Rhineland Gardens, West Caldwell. 883 attended from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night.

The general committee was comprised of R. V. Henkel, William J. Orchard, Charles Eastwood, R. T. Browning and Thomas Grant.

There were all kinds of athletic events and dancing was enjoyed in the dance hall to the strains of an orchestra from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until the party disbanded.

There were three soft ball games decided as follows: Office, 6; factory, 0; girls, 3; boys, 3; married men, 17; bachelors, 6. Miss Mark, a guest, won the 100-yard girls' potato race in thirty-five seconds. She was trailed by Miss Dillan. John P. Dailey, president of the Board of Education tried hard, but was nosed out by Thomas Spillane in the fat man's race. The time for this race over the 50-yard route was seven seconds. R. Chlenpek won the 100-yard dash for men in twelve seconds, followed by A. Aloia. Miss Weischedel heaved the baseball ninety-six feet to win that event in which Mrs. Jackson placed second.

An invitation Hi-Li contest for executives proved the high light of the day. Martin F. (Mike) Tiernan topped John (Doc) Baker.

The enjoyment of the occasion was further enhanced by the serving of all kinds of drinks, sandwiches, pickles and other refreshments.

Other committees were: Reception, Miss Louise L. Tiernan, Miss Ann McDonald, Miss Mary Higgins, Harold S. Hutton, Fred G. Merckel, Joe Mancuso, Salvatore Sarli, Morris Resnick, Adolph Kurth and John R. Mackay. Attendance, Carl Mueller, John Kirwan, Robert Jackson, George Bird, Joe Ressler, Len Hardy, Thomas Grant and Thomas Heinzman.

Sports, Soft Ball, Vincent Pisani, Edward Reilly, John Priola, Thomas Grant, Edward Ecker and Nicholas Candura. Race, Miss Margaret Weischedel, Miss Helen Bridges, Larry E. Martin, Edward Neighbauer, Frank Travers and Louis Fronser.

Miscellaneous, Miss Julia A. Tiernan, Miss Irene Gordon, Dr. Baker, Dr. Franz Schmelkes, Cornelius Schenck, David Crampton and Fred Jacobs.

Program, Mr. Eastwood, Mr. Browning and Mr. Russell Anderson. Transportation, George Haimark and William Weyland, and Photographic, Gerald D. Poet, James Raymond and John C. Brigham.

Constitution of the United States

We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

*This copy of the Constitution follows the text of that in the Department of State at Washington, except in the spelling of a few words. Parts that are no longer in force, or not applicable under present conditions, are printed in type enclosed in brackets. The center heads in heavy-faced type ("LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT," "Congress," "The House of Representatives," "The Senate," etc.) are not part of the Constitution; they are inserted here for the readers' convenience.

ARTICLE I.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

Congress

Section 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

The House of Representatives

Section 2. 1 The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the State legislature.

2 No person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

3 Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective numbers, [which shall be determined by, adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and] excluding Indians not taxed, [three fifths of all other persons].* The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, and each State shall have at least one Representative; [and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three].

4 When vacancies happen in the representation from any State, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

5 The House of Representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

* Changed by Amendment XIV, Sec. 2, and by Amendment XVI.

The Senate

Section 3. 1 The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen [by the legislature thereof,]* for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote.

2 Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the Senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one third may be chosen every second year; [and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any State, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies].*

3 No person shall be a Senator who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

4 The Vice President of the United States shall be president of the Senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

5 The Senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the office of President of the United States.

6 The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present.

7 Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

* Changed by Amendment XVII.

Elections and Sessions of Congress

Section 4. 1 The times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators.

2 The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Rules of Procedure

Section 5. 1 Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

2 Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two thirds, expel a member.

3 Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

4 Neither house, during the session of Congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Compensation, Privileges and Incapacities

Section 6. 1 The Senators and Representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony, and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

2 No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time, and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Method of Lawmaking

Section 7. 1 All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

2 Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

3 Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Powers of Congress*

Section 8. 1 The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

2 To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

3 To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian tribes;

4 To establish a uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;

5 To coin money, regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coin, and fix the standard of weights and measures.

6 To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

7 To establish post offices and post roads;

8 To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.

9 To constitute tribunals inferior to the Supreme Court;

10 To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations;

11 To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

12 To raise and support armies, but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

13 To provide and maintain a navy;

14 To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

15 To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

8 No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States: and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them, shall, without the consent of the Congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state.

* Amendments I-X are further limitations upon the powers of Congress. † Refers to slavery. ‡ Changed by Amendment XVI, so far as taxes on incomes are concerned.

Powers Denied the States*

Section 10. 1 No State shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make anything but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law, or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

2 No State shall, without the consent of the Congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts laid by any State on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the Congress.

3 No State shall, without the consent of Congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

* Amendments XIII, XIV, XV and XIX are further limitations upon the powers of the states.

ARTICLE II.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

The President: Election and Qualifications

Section 1. 1 The executive power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

2 Each State shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress; but no Senator or Representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

[The electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the Senate. The president of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such number, then the House of Representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for President; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall in like manner choose the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each State having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two thirds of the States, and a majority of all the States shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the President, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the Senate shall choose from them by ballot the Vice President.]*

3 The Congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

4 No person except a natural born citizen, [or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this Constitution,] shall be eligible to the office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

5 In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.†

6 The President shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

7 Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:—"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

* This paragraph is replaced by Amendment XII. † Under the law passed in 1836, the officer to act as President in the case mentioned is the Secretary of State, if he is eligible to the office of President; if not, then the Secretary of the Treasury, and so on for other cabinet officers.

Powers and the Duties of the President*

Section 2. 1 The President shall be commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several States, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

2 He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provide two thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, shall appoint, ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law: but the Congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

3 The President shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

* The President's veto power is given in Article I, Sec. 7.

Duties and Powers of the President

Section 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Removal of Executive and Civil Officers

Section 4. The President, Vice President and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT

Federal Courts and Judges

Section 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Powers and Jurisdiction of Federal Courts

Section 2. 1 The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority;—to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls;—to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction;—to controversies to which the United States shall be a party;—to controversies between two or more States;—between a State and citizens of another State;—between citizens of different States;—between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State, or the citizens thereof, and foreign States, citizens or subjects.

2 In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a State shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

3 The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the State where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the trial shall be at such place or places as the Congress may by law have directed.

* Limited by Amendment XI.

Treason

Section 3. 1 Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

2 The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

THE STATES

State Records

Section 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each State to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

Rights and Restrictions of Persons

Section 2. 1 The citizens of each State shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several States.

2 A person charged in any State with treason, felony or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another State, shall on demand of the executive authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered to be removed to the State having jurisdiction of the crime.

3 No person held to service or labor in one State, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.†

New States and National Possessions

Section 3. 1 New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the junction of two or more States, or parts of States, without the consent of the legislatures of the States concerned as well as of the Congress.

2 The Congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; [and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular State.]

Protection of States

Section 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

* Refers to fugitive slaves.

ARTICLE V.

AMENDMENTS

The Congress, whenever two thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on application of the legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress; Provided [that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and] that no State, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

SUPREMACY OF THE CONSTITUTION

The Supreme Law; Oath of Office; Religious Test Prohibited

[1 All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.]

2 This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

3 The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several State legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

RATIFICATION

The ratification of the conventions of nine States shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the same.

Done in Convention by the unanimous consent of the States present, the seventeenth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America, the twelfth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names,

Courage, discipline and efficiency are as necessary to democracy as they are to any dictatorship.

PRESERVE BELLEVILLE'S PAST

Belleville is rich in history.
The British fired from across the River. They were answered with a volley from the old Reformed Church tower.
The first Chinaman in America was imported here.
The first steam engine, it is related, was built here by Josuah Hornblower. A marker has been placed by a National group at his grave in the Reformed Church Cemetery.
Wire weaving, the copper mines, brown-stone quarries, from which stones for many famous New York homes were cleft, the Battle of Second River, a company of soliders, housed here in barracks during the Civil War, all had a part in making history.

"The Old Spring" in Mill street has become world famous, through a poem, "The Waterfalls" near the "copper mills" has been the subject of poets and writers.

Artists have sketched the beauties of Belleville—its quaint, old homes, its mansions along the river.

And this reverie comes to us because early this week we sauntered down along the Passaic River just because we wanted to see the vast improvement there—an improvement which, if carried to its ultimate conclusion, will truly reflect that "a thing of beauty is a joy forever."

Down there at Main and Academy streets, brush in hand and easel resting under a shady tree, a woman artist sits, painting once again Belleville's history on canvas—as it has been painted so many times in the past—but without title to let all and sundry know that Belleville was the background.

It seems a pity that in Belleville there is no organization interested enough in preserving this historical background of unestimated value. Just think—Belleville, settled before Newark, with historical data as valuable as any in Lexington or Concord or any other famous place, fails to preserve it. Is it possible that in this rush-about-world our prominent civic organizations are overlooking the biggest and best asset in Belleville—its historical background? Tourists, of which there are thousands who pass through Belleville each year, should, through maps and other means, be made conversant with this background of history.

The old YMCA building, Christ Episcopal and the Reformed Church Cemeteries. These and many more landmarks could and should be financially improved by some civic movement. It wouldn't cost much for a marker to perpetuate the story of the flood of the Passaic, at the turn of the century, or where the old Post Office stood—or Main street—the original Main street of fiction. What is wrong with a marker somewhere along Washington avenue that the route was traversed by George Washington and his troops? Belleville has preserved Washington avenue as a name for a thoroughfare, but its historical significance is not generally recognized. And thus we could go on. Let's do something about it!

WELCOME BACK BUDDIES

An occasion of pleasure is in store for those who plan to attend the Prenatal competition of drum and bugle corps in Newark City Schools' Stadium, Sunday afternoon. The competition is sponsored by Newark Post, 10, and East Orange Post, 73, drum and bugle corps, American Legion, Belleville Post, 105, and members of the auxiliary, who are assisting, will be on hand, as will Nutley Post, 70, and auxiliary.

Hard workers on the committee are James A. Burns, Charles DeWitt, Lawrence C. Knapp, John H. Laux, Robert Taggart, Thomas J. Dungan, Frank V. Lanzara, William J. Doyle, Harold Weber, Ross E. Amos, Robert W. Graul, James Lyons, W. Stanley Rees, Lieut. Richard Aldworth, John E. Cash, Gustave W. Gehin and Major Charles E. Russell.

Preceding by a week the National Convention in New York, when Fifth Avenue once again will resound to marching feet of the boys who went "over there," the competition has attracted thirteen of the most important corps in the country. Drilled to the 'nth degree these graying lads of a war staged a score of years ago march just as snappily as they did when on review before General Pershing. The khaki has been replaced with colorful uniforms—and gone is the serious demeanor of the lads of '17 and '18.

Welcome, Buddies—back to good old New Jersey—back to the soil from which so many of you set sail for France. Belleville joins with Essex County in extending its hand in greeting. May your stay here be a pleasant one and your hopes of New York's later convention all that you look forward to.

VOTE TUESDAY

Tuesday is Primary Day. This year it has a particular significance in that candidates will be selected to battle it out in November for the highest office in the state—the governorship. A. Harry Moore has that prerogative in the Donkey party but, as usual, the Republicans are undecided. They are trying to decide between Senators Lester H. Clee, Essex, and Clifford Powell, Burlington. Whatever your choice may be, Tuesday is the time to record it. Aside from fifty odd West Essex districts our county, as a unit, will use the new voting machines as were used in the Newark City election. Some voters are wary of mechanical devices. Right now they are wondering how to operate the machines. There need be no fear on that score. Voting is simple, accurate and sure the machine way. Competent election officers will be on hand to help. As you enter a polling place you will get a colored slip of paper, depending upon which party you designate. The officers will help you along the line. Whatever you do—vote. Your own conscience should dictate how.

THE SUPER-EDITOR!

THIS WEEK

By "GUARDIAN"

September 17, 1937!

Today!
The 150th Anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of these United States of ours—A day that will be—and should be properly observed throughout the land.

Too bad that we have so many inconsequential holidays through the year. Otherwise September 17th—Constitution Day—surely should be a National Holiday! But we have too many holidays now. Five day weeks—and National Holidays leave little enough time to do the work that needs to be done in this world of ours.

"We the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

So reads the preamble of that Constitution which was adopted on September 17, 1787—one hundred and fifty years ago! It was in the twelfth year of our Independence. It took twelve years of living together for our forefathers to get together in agreement as to what our Constitution should be.

Have you read Burton J. Hendrick's Biography of the Constitution? It is published by Little, Brown and Company and its title "Bulwark of the Republic." You should read it.

What a marvelous document is that Constitution. What better evidence of its worth than the miraculous progress of this nation of ours in these 150 years. Progress that has been unequalled in any land in any time.

Not a sacred document—admittedly. Not a perfect document. But its framers provided for its change by the will of the people—and if three-fourths of the States want to amend our Constitution it is amended. And it has thus been amended twenty-one times!

If our Constitution needs change—if new interpretations need to be made of it, then let that change be made by the people of these United States through the orderly process of amendment—and not by changing by packing—or whatever you call it, the Supreme Court of the United States—the interpretative agency of the Constitution.

School days are here again! Some folks in Belleville are apt to boast that we run the cheapest educational system in Essex County. Belleville's cost without debt service is $83.94 per pupil per year. Glen Ridge, the highest in the County, pays out $178.17 per pupil per year. Now John Dailey and his Board of Education are doing their best—and so is Wayne Parmer and his staff—but is the fact that Belleville is spending the lowest annual sum per pupil of all the municipalities in our County anything to be proud about?

Rather might we not hang our heads a bit because we are starving our educational arm—and preventing them from doing a really superior job?

Do you know PAT WATERS? Commissioner Patrick A. Waters of Belleville? There is a man for you! For seventy-five years the Waters family has lived down in the valley on Bayard street. A stalwart Belleville family that has done much for Belleville. John A. Waters was Mayor of Belleville for twelve years—and after his untimely death his brother, Pat, became a member of the Town Commission and Pat is just completing his 12th year. Pat lives in Belleville—and lives for Belleville. And Pat works in Belleville. 47 years ago he went to work for the Eastwood Wire Works. And he's been there ever since! What better evidence of the solid, steady dependability that is Pat! Starting at the bottom Pat became—and is now—the Superintendent of the Wire Department of Eastwood's.

Give us more men like Pat Waters. Steady—honest—straightforward—willing to drive through Hell and High Water for what he thinks is right. There stands Pat Waters—one of the rocks on which Belleville is forging ahead to be the finest community in North Jersey. Pat Waters gets our vote for outstanding citizenship.

Again yours for Belleville—'til next week
"Guardian."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Anent Parkway

September 14, 1937.

Editor News:

We greatly appreciate your editorial on the Passaic River Parkway. It has been eight years since our organization asked the Park Commission to do something to improve the unsightliness of the riverbank.

It has been our pleasure to hear Mr. Jackson, the late David I. Kelly and Mr. Wallace explain to us the layout, but it has been to no avail.

We hope with your aid in putting before the public some action will be taken. If you have any program in mind to advance this project, in which our assistance will further it, please call on us as we will be glad to help.

Sincerely,
Joseph McKenna Tiger,
Secretary Pro Tem,
Valley Improvement Association.

Wants 5c Fare

September 16, 1937.
Belleville, N. J.

Editor, The News:

You are to be congratulated upon your new set-up and the new paper you now present to the townspeople of Belleville. You are now just taking on some of the aspects of a city newspaper, BUT, and it is a large but, you are failing the subscribers to your paper and the rest of the Belleville residents by not fighting for something that is really important to the town.

A newspaper in order to gain more readers must fight for something that will benefit the majority of the townspeople. After all this writing you wonder what I have in mind. I now make myself clear.

For years the residents of Belleville have complained about the transportation service, yet no one has done anything about it. Besides the service many have started fighting for a "five cent fare," and still without results, but in both cases they did not have your valuable cooperation.

I am sure that should you start a fight for better service and a "five cent fare" and continue that fight and never back away from it, you will win, and that winning will bring you many friends and new readers, which of course, will be to your advantage, and will, of course, benefit the town itself.

Very truly yours,
Edward Kraus.

Editor's note—We never recall Mr. Kraus asking us to fight for a five-cent fare, but various editorials the last few years in this connection show where we stand.

Children in Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

A young mother who shielded her son in everything recently proved the means of laying a foundation for a delinquent career.

Her first step started years ago when she wrote an excuse to the teacher after Junior had played truant. It didn't take long for the budding youth to reason that mother could always be counted on to protect him. Consequently, his activities expanded until he reached an age where the law was forced to step in and take over the training and discipline which the parents had been unable to administer.

Mr. and Mrs. Persons B. Goodwin and daughters, Norma and Natalie, of Westfield, have moved to 71 Overlook avenue. Norma and Natalie have entered Belleville High School. The Goodwins will have as week-end guest Miss Lucille Stamm, Westfield.

PIQUANT POLITICS

By MEADOR WRIGHT

If there is any substantial support of whatever hope George A. Henderson and his followers had of defeating the regular Democratic county slate, Henderson is opposing Donal C. Fox of East Orange for Democratic state committeeman, and has a full supporting ticket with him. As the voting machine is now set up, the regular Democratic slate of candidates have the bottom row of the voting machine along with A. Harry Moore. So the only slogan needed is "Vote the bottom line."

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

And old, familiar friend of days gone by has returned to Washington. He is making a lot of folks run to cover and whimper: "I didn't do it; I didn't do it." He is our old friend "H. C. L.," less familiarly known as the High Cost of Living.

It wasn't so many years ago that he was a real political issue. But, so Washington's experts said, he went too far away. They tried to bring him back, and boy, have they succeeded!

It all started, of course, because the experts thought everybody's income was too low. So they raised the incomes of as many as they could, even though it meant paying them for staying idle and even though it meant that the Federal government has gone into debt for five years.

Now the experts are getting worried. They are beginning to see that the fellow who had a dime a few years back could buy two nickel loaves of bread, but if he has 15 cents now he can buy only one and a half loaves of ten-cent bread. They are learning that it isn't how much money a man has but what that money will buy that determines whether he is well off or hungry. And they are afraid that the people in general are beginning to learn too much about simple economics like that.

Therefore, these experts are hunting means to stop the rapid, skyrocketing of old "H. C. L." Some unusual steps may be taken soon. There is room for them, because the cost of living for even the lowest-paid has risen 13.5 per cent since June, 1933. In some cities, Detroit for example, the increase has been as much as 25.6 per cent.

At the same time, the cost of government is increasing too. So far this fiscal year, since June 30, tax collections have been more than they ever were in history. On the other hand, expenditures have been so much greater that Treasury figures show that in July and August the government spent $350,000,000 more than it collected; that is, it spent $350,000,000 into debt. That is as much as it cost, to run the government a whole year before the World War.

Washington's experts realize that there must be an end to deficits some time. Uncle Sam's credit may be threatened. Secretary Mongenthaud had to fly back to Washington from vacationing recently to look things over before authorizing a new bond issue.

So while Congressmen get in a few weeks of rest, the experts are mapping out a new tax bill for them to pass next year. No matter how it is dressed up, it will still make the little man pay. Because the experts know that even if Uncle Sam took all of the money, allowing no deductions whatsoever, away from those who make $25,000 a year, he still wouldn't have enough to pay his bills.

Here's a laugh. There are 2,000 cats on Federal relief or payrolls, whichever you choose to call them. They are being kept in Uncle Sam's postoffices to catch mice. And Uncle Sam has even issued official instructions for postmasters to feed the cats out of their miscellaneous funds.

After Senator Guffey made his close-of-season speech threatening to read out of the Democratic party those Senators who voted against the Supreme Court enlargement bill, Senator Connally of Texas was asked whether he thought Guffey should resign as chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee. He replied: "No. I'm in favor of kicking him out."

Thirteen Posts in Prenational Contest Newark and East Orange Prepared Sunday's Program

Newark Post, 10, and the drum and bugle corps of East Orange Post, 73, American Legion, have completed their plans for the prenational competitions to be held Sunday at 1:30 o'clock at the Newark Schools Stadium. James A. Burns is general chairman.

Belleville Post, 105, American Legion, and auxiliary, have taken a box at the pre-national drum and bugle corps competition and review to be held in City Schools' Stadium, Sunday. Mayor William H. Williams is expected to be in the box, which seats about twenty.

Thirteen nationally known corps, who have been finalists or champions, will compete for the $1,600 awards. The judges for the competition have been selected from officials at West Point Military Academy, National Guard, and other prominent national drum and bugle corps associations. Funds derived from the competition will be used for the welfare and hospitalization work of both posts.

Corps participating in the contest are: Herbert F. Akroyd Post, 132, Marlboro, Mass., twice national champions; Harvey W. Seeds Post, 29, Miami, four time national champions; Morristown Post, 59, New Jersey; San Gabriel Post, 442, California, past national champions; Malden Post, 69, Inc., Mass; Post 42, Stratford, Conn; Post, 85, Tarentum, Pa; Curtis G. Reddan Post, 210, Danville, Ill; Los Angeles Post, No. 8, Cal; Massillon Post, 221, Ohio, and the Chicago Police Post, 207.

The Penn Treaty, Cadets of Kensington, Pa., comprised of 110 boys and girls between the ages of eight to sixteen years will give exhibition drills during the competition. George "Dinky" Fielden Jr., eight, is drum major. Mary Crossman, sixteen, is sergeant.

Commonwealth Edison Post, 118, Chicago, national champions, will give an exhibition drill at 1:30 P. M. Headquarters in Essex Members of the Danville and the Tarentum Corps of Pennsylvania will make their residence in Essex County during the national convention in New York. It is expected that more than 100,000 legionnaires will pass through this area. A large number of the veterans will be guests of Essex legionnaires during their stay in the East.

More than 30,000 folders outlining the highlights and historic points in New Jersey have been forwarded by both Newark and East Orange posts to more than 11,000 legion posts in the United States. Information booths on important highways are being placed by the legionnaires and auxiliaries. State, county, and local officials are cooperating with the committee.

Newark Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Broad Street Association, Ironbound Manufacturers' Association and other groups in Essex municipalities have pledged their cooperation in the competition. Chief of Police John F. Harris, Newark, with other municipal departments in New Jersey have assigned protection to the visiting delegations.

Essex County posts and units in conjunction with New Jersey departmental and county groups are cooperating with the local legionnaires. County Commander William F. Albers and Mrs. Florence Braun, county president, with post commanders and unit presidents in Essex are serving with Colonel Franklin D'Olier and Charles DeWitt on the reception committee. Colonel D'Olier, first national commander, is active in Newark Post and is a member of Morristown Post.

Radio Star to Appear

Lucille Manners, radio soprano, of Irvington, who sings each Friday night, over station WEAH for the Cities Service Oil Company, has accepted an invitation to attend and sing the "national anthem" as the opening number. Miss Manners will appear at 1:30 P. M.

Twenty-one courtesy flights over New York Sunday from Newark Airport has been arranged by Lieutenant Richard Aldworth, of Newark Post, and superintendent of the airport.

Gustave W. Gehin, Newark, and John E. Cash, East Orange, chairmen of the underwriters' committee, announced that a large number of business men have pledged their support.

Outstanding boys of the Sons of Legion Squadrons of Newark Post and East Orange posts have been selected to serve as a guard of honor and ushers. Leo Schweitzer of Newark and William Hall, East Orange, being directors.

The Newark Municipal Firing Squad, in command of Leo Neimeyer, with Bertrand Kinnaman and Corporal Robert M. Earle Posts, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will serve as honor guard for the Chicago Police Post, American Legion corps, which are entrants.

Reservations for tickets can be arranged with Frank V. Lanzara, 141 1/2 Clifton avenue, Newark; Harold C. Weber, 18 Berkshire road, Maplewood; Sheldon Cooper, 146 Market street, Newark, or with posts in New Jersey municipalities.

General Committee

The general committee of administration is as follows: Advertising and publicity, John H. Laux and Robert Taggart; competitions, Ernest M. Clemence and Charles W. Linfante; field arrangements, Arthur Lewis and Edgard Janata; field announcing, R.

Youthful Cyclists Travel 800 Miles On Bicycles to Buffalo and Back

Clark Albey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morrell C. Albey, 44 Malone avenue, this town and Dick Corke, Yonkers, N. Y., ace bicycle riders and ice skaters, have completed an 800-mile jaunt on bicycles from Belleville to Buffalo.

Not once during the trip did they have to dismount because of hills which they encountered on the way, leaving their bikes only too eat and sleep. Near Towanda, Pa., they surmounted five mountains with altitudes averaging 2,000 feet each.

Their first stop on the way to Buffalo was at Scranton, Pa. From there they stopped next at Hornell, N. Y., and their last trip was at East Aurora, N. Y., just outside of Buffalo, which was their destination, as they were bent on seeing the national road championship matches.

They had no flats either, coming or going, using Hutchinson tires. A spoke in Corke's wheel broke and this was the only misfortune that befell them on the trip. The bicycle Albey used was built by Frank Dowd, a partner of his in bicycle construction.

As Albey tells it, the ride down to High Point was so fast that they passed cars going fifty miles an hour. Halfway down the hill two cars were passing each other, leaving a space of about five feet between them, and Albey negotiated his bike into this space and passed the cars successfully.

On the return trip the duo stopped at Dansville and Binghamton, traveling in all about 430 miles. They had to detour at Monticello, N. Y., because of a torn up road which took them about thirty miles out of the way.

It required seven days to make the trip, including a one day stay-over at Buffalo.

New Jersey Today

Fewer And Better Schools

Prepared for the Belleville News by Russell Van Nest Black, consultant-director, New Jersey State Planning Board.

While New Jersey is ill-equipped to handle even the present public school registration, particularly in high school, the need is not for many more high schools, but for better plants, with facilities adequate to provide the newer types of public education. This does not mean, necessarily, more expensive buildings.

The means for satisfying this modern requirement were afforded in 1931, when the Legislature passed the Regional School Act which permits the organization of larger territorial units for school administration. Three such districts have been established. They insure sufficient students in each group to permit the efficient and economical provision of a complete up-to-date high school curriculum. At the same time, the reduction in the total of schools minimizes waste and inefficiency. Such a district, moreover, includes sufficient ratables to cover the cost of maintenance and amortization of school debt.

In its report on a study of school distribution, the State Planning Board indicated the location of rural schools, and though agreeing with those educators who insist that the one-room rural school cannot attain modern standards of education, caution was advised in any effort toward a wholesale consolidation, for in remote and sparsely settled areas, the difficulties of long-distance transportation might in some cases offset the disadvantages of the country school.

Consolidation of high schools, however, is quite another matter. Some authorities have prescribed a one-and-a-half mile radius as the proper zone to be serviced by a regional high school. The State Planning Board adopted a two and one half mile service radius, not as a standard, but as a crude measure to show the tendency toward an excessive number of high schools in the densely populated districts, resulting from the ambition of every municipality to have its own high school. Such community pride penalizes both the student and the taxpayer through sub-standard facilities supplied at excessive cost. For modern high school education requires a wide range of equipment and teaching talent, which can be offered only by sizeable and financially well supported plants.

Obviously there can be no arbitrary delimitation of regional school areas. Their locations and limits must depend on, among other things, school population, the practicability of transportation, and the financial resources available.

Many To Attend American Legion Convention in N. Y. Twenty-Five Posts and Eighteen Auxiliaries From Essex

Twenty-five American Legion posts and eighteen auxiliaries in Essex County, in conjunction with other New Jersey units, will participate in the nineteenth annual convention next week in New York. Essex County Voiture, 127, La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, and Essex Salon 8 and 40, will also participate. New Jersey headquarters will be at the Hotel St. Moritz.

About forty men will represent the local post in the parade which will be held Tuesday, as part of the national convention in New York City. Only the state delegates are allowed on the floor of the convention hall. The local contingent will be in the balcony.

Goodfellowship Post, 189, American Legion has selected headquarters in the Commodore Hotel, Forty-second street and Lexington avenue, New York, for the national convention beginning Monday. On Sunday, A. E. F. memorial services will be held at 3 P. M. at Lackawanna Plaza, Hoboken.

On Tuesday, there will be the national convention parade. All members, who are Elks, are asked to participate. They will meet at 2 P. M. at the headquarters.

A regular meeting of the post will be held Thursday at 8:30 P. M. at the Newark Elks' Club. Many Belleville Elks are members of the post.

William J. Doyle, of Newark Post, 10, and Mrs. Alice Huntington, of East Orange Auxiliary, 73, who were recently installed as county commander and president, will head the Essex delegation. Dr. Iredell J. Wyckoff, of Merchantville, and Mrs. Russell B. Howell, of Highland Park, newly installed department commander and president, will head more than 10,000 legionnaires in New Jersey in the convention parade, September 21, along Fifth avenue. Colonel Franklin D'Olier, of Morristown, and vice president of the Prudential Insurance Company of Newark, with William G. McKinley, Jersey City; John E. Cash, East Orange; Roland F. Cowan, of Trenton, and Common Pleas Judge Richard Hartshorne, Newark, are serving on important committees. Colonel D'Olier is the first national commander of the American Legion. Thirty-one delegates will represent New Jersey in the convention proceedings at the Madison Square Garden and the Metropolitan Opera House. Judge Hartshorne, past department and county commander, is chairman of the national law and order committee.

East Orange and Morristown posts drum and bugle corps will compete against eighty corps September 20 at the Polo Grounds. Both corps for the past five years have been finalists in national competitions. The Commonwealth Edison Post, 118, of Chicago, national champions, will appear Sunday afternoon, at 1:30 o'clock at the Newark Schools' Stadium. Morristown post corps, with ten other units throughout the United States, are entrants. The competition is being sponsored by Newark Post, and the drum and bugle corps of East Orange post.

Rev. Father Frederick Halloran, of Trenton, recently re-elected department chaplain will be sponsored by New Jersey for national office.

Seeks Re-election

William Wanhause, 213 Ralph street, announces that he is running for re-election as Republican county committeeman for the third district of the first ward on the Clean Government-Republican ticket.

Mr. Wanhause has been a committeeman for the past two years. He is a former president of the Valley Improvement Association, a member of the Oddfellows' Lodge, Junior Order, and a member of the St. Alban's Lodge, F. & A. M., and the King Association.

Mr. Wanhause was one of the organizers of the Valley Improvement Association and for the past eight years has been one of the guiding forces in that association. He is as conversant with conditions in the Valley as any other citizen in the town. He was a member of the special zoning commission for the Valley, appointed several years ago by the Board of Commissioners, which re-adjusted zoning conditions in the Valley and greatly improved living conditions therein.

Airplane Club Plans To Enter Models in Hadley Field Show

The Garden State Gas Model Airplane Club, will meet Thursday night at 7 o'clock at the Recreation House.

The members will discuss plans for their entrance in a model airplane meet, to be held October 6, at Hadley Field. A silver cup will be presented to the winner of the meet, based on the model which makes the longest flight.

The cup will be purchased through the Belleville Sport Shop, which organization has co-operated with the club from its beginning.

The meeting, Thursday, is an open affair and all, who are interested in model airplanes, are advised to attend.

There will be a completed model on display. In about two years the club expects to extend its activities to manufacturing man-carrying gliders.

James Reilly, 250 Linden avenue, is the sponsor of the club, and the charter members are Armand Love, Arthur Crommelin, and Robert King.

Motor and Yacht Club Arranges Regatta.

Bo Lisman Returns To Tri-City Track "Bronco" Has Been Riding In New England Meets

UNION, Sept. 17.—Bronco Bo Lisman, colorful new Eastern motorcycle racing champion, will return to Tri-City Stadium here next Wednesday night. The youthful California giant has returned from a tour of the New England-New York circuit where he was billed in an exhibition series against stars of that circuit.

Lisman, who replaces Benny Kaufman of New York City as king of the Eastern riders, will begin a campaign for the national title, to be decided at Tri-City on the nights of October 2 and 3. Manager Andy Watts yesterday announced that the next program will be known as "Lisman's Home-Coming Night" and the spectacular broadside would be seen in the feature race of the night.

During his New England stay, Bronco Bo rode against several of the men who will compete for the national crown. Mutt Kelly and Ken Brower, former metropolitan circuit riders, staged several nip-and-tuck races with the champion. They are among the sixteen riders already named for the national qualifying field.

Woodie Castonguay, Hartford, Conn. star, was so impressive against Lisman that it is likely he will be included in the next group of riders named by the selection committee. Castonguay qualified for the Eastern championships but did not race for it. His record this season includes the only defeat scored against Kaufman in twenty-eight starts when the former Eastern champ toured that circuit over a month ago.

The entire Class A field will race in the open events, which have been dominated by Kaufman since he recovered from a broken leg. Crocky, Rawding, Jimmy Gibb, Palmer Tambarro, Don Smith, Jack Parr, Lou Wilson, Ed Mueller, Dick Peters, Fred Knop, Ray Tausler, Ray Grant, Walt Harding, Field Helgason and Bill Normyle will be seen in action.

Class B and C beginners events complete the card, which will start at 8:45 P. M.

Bac'rachs Knock 'Em Rock 'Em—Sock 'Em Colored Ball Players Buy Fast One at Local Showroom

A group of colored men recently entered the showroom of the Nutley-Belleville Buick Company to admire an automobile. Salesmen stood around—wondering about commission on a sale. Spry and athletic, the admirers eyed the graceful lines of the car. None said a word—not even the salesmen.

Enter G. Roscoe B. Symonds, alert local Rotarian, from his office upstairs. Roscoe is busy reading a paper as he approaches the men.

"Say, Mister, how soon can we get this car?" asked one of the group.

"Right now if it's cash on the line," replied the owner of the showroom.

Cash passed hands and no more words, while salesmen were amazed as "the boss" turned over the keys to the car.

As the purchasers pulled out of the showroom, Mr. Symonds queried "Where are you from, boys?"

"We play with the Bacharach Giants," vouched a snappy looking athlete, as dust swirled up behind the new machine, sweeping out into Washington avenue, in the general direction of Passaic. Incidentally, the Bacharach are the best colored baseball team around.

Thirteenth Annual Affair Will Be Featured By Running Off of Twenty-Six Events Eighty-six Cruisers, Ranging in Length from Twenty-six To Fifty-seven Feet Are Moored at Newark Club

The Newark Motor and Yacht Club, Main street, Newark, at the foot of Grafton avenue, will hold its thirteenth annual regatta on Sunday, September 26, on the Passaic river.

The club boasts of eighty-six cruisers, ranging in length, from twenty-six to fifty-seven feet.

The events to be run off include: Outboard motor race, cabin cruiser, lobster boat races, and canoe tilting. The lobster boats are the real thing, coming from Long Island.

There will be twenty-six events, and there will be twenty-six silver cups to be awarded to the winners.

The committee in charge includes: Charles Crowhurst, Ernest Studerus, Emmett Petrin, and Walter Hammell, all of Belleville; Charles Smith, and Joseph Brown, of Newark.

Yvon Robert Graces Laurel Burp Card O'Mahoney's Nemesis in Holyoke To Show In Newark

Yvon Robert, popular French Canadian, meets Henry Kulkowich in the headline of a six-bout wrestling show Friday night at Laurel Garden, Newark.

Robert is the lad who hit the headlines two years ago when he accepted a ringside challenge of Danno O'Mahoney, who was then champion, and jumped into a Holyoke, Mass., ring and pinned the champion in an informal and impromptu bout.

Yvon had heckled the champion all through a match with Frank Judson. Finally, after Danno had won, he rushed to the ropes and yelled at Robert: "I'll wrestle you anytime, the sooner the better."

With that Robert jumped into the ring, peeled off his outer garments, revealing wrestling togs underneath, and pinned the champion. As he was walking away, O'Mahoney yelled with a right behind the ear, but Yvon leaped up and clipped Danno with a right to the jaw that knocked him out of the ring into the arms of his manager, a bundle of inert grappler.

Kulkowich earned his shot at the newest title contender by his victory over John Bogner in the opening show last week.

Supporting the main event are five half-hour time limit matches with local favorites in all five. Jesse James, one of the fastest men in the business meets Walter Percy; Billy Radburn takes on Jim Austeri; Count Karl Von Zuppe grapples Mike Yankai; Dick Stahl faces Billy Bartush, while the Black Mask opens the show against Angelo Savoldi, a newcomer.

Nereid Club To Hold Regatta on Passaic Competition Is Expected To Be Keen Among Members

The Nereid Boat Club will hold a club regatta on the Passaic river, between the Rutgers street bridge and the clubhouse, at 2 P. M., Sunday.

The feature events will be the finals of the club's singles championship, a doubles match, between a Nereid crew and one from the Verona Boat Club, of Edgewater, N. J., a novice four-oared gig, between the Nereids and the Institute Club of Newark; and singles and doubles races among the Belleville club's crew.

Representing the locals in the doubles match will be Alfred Walker, and Bill Fehon. The club four-oared gig will be rowed by Homer Zink, Bill Jones, Les Burnley, and Joe Whitehouse, with C. L. Brett, as coxswain.

The novice four-oared gig, which meets the Institute, will be composed of Darrell Zink, Al Mueller, Bill Fehon, and Alfred Walker, with Bud Martin, as coxswain.

The competition is expected to be keen, and all residents of Belleville are invited to view the races.

Dusek Faces Olsen At Newark Armory Ernie, of Riot Squad Fame, Listed on Hanly Card

Heavyweight wrestlers will make their 1937-38 season debut in Newark when on Wednesday evening, the Hanly brothers, Frank and Ray—will present their first card of bouts in the Newark Armory. The program is made up with some of the outstanding stars of the game and five bouts will comprise the initial program.

Ernie Dusek, colorful and top man of the five desperados from Nebraska known to the sport world as the "riot squad" will meet Cliff Olsen, former all around athlete from University of Minnesota and also former world's champion and they are to travel over the two out of three fall route, with a 90 minute time limit attached. In pairing these giants of the game, the Hanlys had in mind the splendid score which they recorded in this city in the last few years.

Dusek participated in 20 matches and only dropped one verdict to Sandor Szabo. On the other hand, Olsen showed in fifteen skirmishes and Ernie was the only grappler able to flatten his shoulders to the mat. And for the reason of evening up this score, is what prompted Olsen in accepting the match without being asked the second time. Both are equally as rough and tough and lots of outlaw wrestling should occupy every minute of the event.

Rudy Dusek, oldest member of the "riot squad" is down to face Nick Campofreda, of Baltimore, in the semi-final of one fall with a 30 minute limit. Dusek has his work all cut out, as the Italian youth went a long way in this line of sport since the early part of last season. Abe Coleman of New York will head the preliminary bouts with Joe Maynard of Texas. Ed Meske of Ohio tackles Dr. Freddy Meyers of California and Wee Willie Davis of Virginia will open the show with Casey Berger of Oklahoma, in the first 30 minute match.

Eagles Lose Game To All-Stars, 11-5 Former Brighton - Belwood Stars Were Formidable Outfit

The Belleville Eagles Sunday lost an exhibition game to the All Stars, a team composed of former Brighton and Belwood stars, 11-5. Loose fielding and ineffective pitching led to the defeat of the Eagles. The largest crowd of the season saw the game.

The All Stars were a heavy aggregation and outclassed the Eagles considerably, behind the spectacular pitching of "Dolph" Caruso, who fanned nine and allowed seven scattered bingles, all singles. He only had one bad inning. Two errors were the cause of scoring in the fifth. He finished strong, holding the Eagles scoreless the rest of the way. He also contributed three hits.

Batting stars of the game were "Ernie" Caruso and Victor Whyhell of the All Stars, with two hits, while Dolph Caruso had three.

The rally that tied the score for the All Stars in the eighth started when "Lou" Caruso walked, stole second and came in on "Vicky" Whyhell's single. In the ninth the game was sewed up when they pounced on Johnson for six runs and six hits. "Lou" Kolk's single with the bases filled won the game.

Harry Estelle Wins Tennis Singles' Crown Doubles Match on Card Championship

Harry W. Estelle, Jr., 76 Tappan avenue, was crowned singles champion of the Belleville Tennis Club Saturday by virtue of his victory over Sidney Summerfield, 356 Little street.

Mr. Estelle won the first two sets, 6-4, 6-3, lost the next set 4-6, and won the final set, 6-2. Summerfield ascribed his defeat to the fact that he was "too tense" and failed to play Estelle's backhand until the third set.

A doubles match is on the card for tomorrow, to decide the club championship, between Estelle and Gene Fortney on one side of the net, and Summerfield and Jack Colehamer on the other side. Summerfield and Colehamer gained this right by reason of a victory over Herbert Mayes and Elwood Ferguson with these scores: 5-7, 6-3, and 6-2.

After drawing a bye Colehamer and Summerfield trounced Joe Maguire and Lynn Tripp, 6-0, 6-0 in an early round match. El Ferguson and Herb Mayes also entered the semi-final round by virtue of a default from Al Adler and C. G. Patterson. Colehamer and Summerfield defeated the strong team of Ferguson and Mayes in a three set semi-final, which was featured by the steady playing, accurate placing and fine team work of the winners. After dropping a close first set, Colehamer and Summerfield staidied their game and taking advantage of their opponents' errors, proceeded to run out the second and third sets to take the match. The final score was 4-6, 6-3, 6-4. The first seeded team of Harry Estelle and Gene Fortney, will probably be the final round opponents of Colehamer and Summerfield and a tough match is expected before the doubles championship is determined.

In the singles' championship in which Estelle beat Summerfield, the latter gave the former a twenty-two year advantage.

Bears Look Ahead To Junior Series Must First Win Right Through Semi-Final Playoff

Having won the International League flag for 1937, the Bears are now playing for the highest prize in minor league baseball. They seek the right to meet the American Association representatives in the Junior World series. Before doing that however, they must win the semi-final play-off against the Syracuse Chiefs and then knock off the winner of the Montreal-Baltimore series.

The Bears are now in the midst of their first play-off. They are opposing the Chiefs who finished third in the league standing for the season. The first two games of the Newark-Syracuse series were played Tuesday and Wednesday at Ruppert Stadium.

The two teams are now playing in Syracuse. Should neither team win four games by tomorrow night they will move back to Ruppert Stadium for the necessary games. The battle on Sunday will be in the afternoon and should the seventh game be necessary it will be played Monday under the electric lights.

The Bears are confident they will win against the Chiefs and have no fear for either Montreal or Baltimore. They have their eyes on the big plum of the year and won't let overconfidence bother them. The champions are hitting and Manager Oscar Vitt who piloted the Bears to a flock of new records is satisfied his team will come through. Many think the Bears have an edge on the pitching staff of the Chiefs. John Vander Meer, Passaic County boy, Whitey Moore, the Chief's ace, Fred Fassell, Cook and George Hockett will carry the brunt of the work for the Salt City representatives. All are dangerous but the Bears have treated them roughly many times this season.

Kelly is counting heavily on the big bats of Dick Porter, Moser, Jimmy Outlaw and Frank McCormick to sink the champs. Fortunately the Bears are free of injuries. The big bats of Babe Dahlgren, Charles Keller, leading hitter of the league, George McQuinn, Bob Seeds, Jimmy Gleeson, Joe Gordon, Catchers Bill Hershberger and Buddy Rosar are expected to explode often during the battle. Another dangerous player is apt to be Nolen Richardson, a dangerous player in a crucial series and considered by many scouts and experts as the best shortstop in the minors.

But Vitt still holds an ace in his pitching staff. Atley Donald, the sensational rookie, Joe Beggs, Vito Tamulis, Spurgeon Chandler, John Fallon, Phil Page, John Niggeling and Marius Russo are ready for the series and feels their assortments will bring the Bears out on top.

Surprises Develop In Lions' Golf Play Sexton, Carlough, Mead Fail To Perform in Usual Way

The annual Lions' Club golf play produced several surprises last weekend. Alan Sexton, Elbert Carlough and George Mead, top golfers of the club, failed to perform in their usual manner. The steadiest golf was turned in by Harry Ziegler, Victor Hart, John R. Carlough and William Prevett, with Ziegler taking most of the prize money.

Among the guest players, Franklin Chase, of Hillside took the honors. Clarence Lommerin and John Dailey played in usual erratic manner. "Doc" Goldberg failed to get up in time to play.

The scores:

Emeralds Split Two Over the Week-End

Defeat Riordan A. A., But Lose to Newark Cardinals

The Emerald A. C., split two games over the week-end, defeating the Riordan A. A. of Harrison, 5-4 in ten innings, and dropping a 5-3 decision to the Newark Cardinals. The Emeralds captured the series with the Riordans, two games to one.

Sunday's close loss to the Newark Cardinals marked the eighth game in which the Emeralds have been beaten by three runs or less. The Emeralds have sustained three losses by one run margins, each scored in the ninth inning, three losses by two run margins, two in the ninth and one in the seventh and two losses by three runs.

Saturday's game with the Riordans was featured by Bill Hamilton's single with the bases loaded and two out in the tenth inning, which scored McGlynn with the winning run. Arnold Clarke won his fifth victory of the campaign in this game striking out eight and bringing up his strike out victims to sixty-one in only seven games, or fifty-four innings. Romie McGlynn, Emerald catcher, filling in for Tommie Carter, regular second baseman, had ten difficult fielding chances with only one error and contributed two hits and two runs to the Emerald cause.

Bill Lister, Emerald hard luck hurler, found his luck unchanged in Sunday's game and dropped his third contest of the season. He allowed only two earned runs, but three errors, two coming in the ninth inning, gave the Cards three runs and the ball game. Johnnie Jones featured for the Emeralds in this game with two spectacular catches in left field, one being turned into a double play.

On Sunday the Emeralds will play a double header with the Mohawk A. A. at Weequahic Park. Arnold Clarke and Bill Lister probably will divide the pitching, with Romie McGlynn and Firp Urna dividing the catching.

Plan Annual Dinner Of Advertising Club

U. S. Senator A. W. Barkley Of Kentucky Will Be Speaker

Herbert S. Waters, president of the Advertising Club of Newark and Sales Manager of the Kresge Department Store, announced today that the annual dinner of the Advertising Club will be held at the Newark Athletic Club on Thursday, October 21, at which Honorable Alben W. Barkley, majority leader of the United States Senate and Senator from Kentucky, will be the speaker. Extensive preparations are being made for Senator Barkley's visit to New Jersey and it is expected that about a thousand of the most important government, political and industrial executives in the state will attend.

Mr. Waters also announced that there will be a limited number of tickets available to the general public and information concerning those can be secured by communicating with J. Douglas Gessford, secretary of the Advertising Club.

Partideo Race On Hinchliffe Program

Only Five-Man-on-a-Side Race Scheduled This Season

The only five-man-on-a-side partideo race of the season will headline the weekly motorcycle racing at the Hinchliffe City Stadium in Paterson next Tuesday night.

A resumption of the East-West feud on the Paterson speed site, this event will be entirely different from any other form of competition staged this season by virtue of the appearance of ten riders in this partideo warfare with the first side scoring nine victories being the winner.

With nine triumphs needed for the victory and the winning purse the partideo fight may extend to seventeen races before the final decision if the sides battle it out on such close terms down to a tie. The minimum will be nine races with the victor being required to take every single contest to get under the wire that fast.

On the opposing sides will be evenly-matched opponents from top to bottom of the list with the very top niche being filled by two great riders—Eastern champion Bo Lismann, who will lead the West, and Benny Kaufman, who will carry the East's colors. With Lismann will be Jimmy Gibb, Dutch Mueller, Don Smith and "Peewee" Cullum while alongside of Kaufman will be Crocky Rawding, George Matheson, Palmer Tamburro and Walt Nazar.

On top of that Lismann-Kaufman fight, the pairings will pit Gibb against Rawding, Mueller against Matheson, Smith against Tamburro and Cullum facing Nazar.

The first race of the night will start at 8:30 P. M. on Tuesday with promoter John Kochman again distributing a hundred dollars in the "Opportunity Night" portion of the program for four fortunate fans in the stands.

Lister Reports on Recreation Attendance

Local Play Centers Were Closed for Season Last Wednesday

Director of Recreation Edward J. Lister has submitted the following report, as compiled by various directors, of attendance at the four playgrounds during the past summer:

Miss Catherine Close of Mary

Edward J. Lister

Devaney playground in Soho, reports 1,787 participants and 367 spectators; recreation house playground, operated by Joseph Parsells and Mrs. Helen McNeill, 6,903 participants, 1,921 spectators; Recreation Field in Terry street, by David Lamb, 4,439 participants, 5,435 spectators; and No. 1 School playground, Louis Rinaldi, 12,006 participants, 1,405 spectators.

Tournaments in jacks, horse shoes, and checkers, were held at each playground. Elwood Thalheimer defeated Eddie Burnley in straight sets, to annex the senior men's tennis title of the Recreation House by the scores 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

The semi-final match between Tommy Linas and Elwood Thalheimer was the closest of the tournament. Linas took the first set from the new champion by a score of 6 to 4. He then dropped the second set by the score of 4 to 6, to Thalheimer. Thalheimer put on a great exhibition of tennis to win 6 to 7 in the last set, although Linas held him to match point for some time.

Tornadoes To Meet Brooklyn Eagles

Great Importance Attached To Early Season Meeting

Belleville Boys on Squad

NEWARK.—The Newark Tornadoes will play the second home game in the American Professional Football Association against the defending champions, the Brooklyn Eagles, at Newark City Schools' Stadium next Thursday night. Great importance is attached to this early-season meeting as both elevens are rated among the outstanding contenders for the association's second pennant.

The visiting Eagles will be presented with the 1936 pennant by the host Tornadoes, with manager Edwin Simandl leading the ceremonies before the game gets underway at 8:45 P. M. Meanwhile Coach Mike Stramiello has ordered the Newark squad to work out nightly for final polishing off after turning in two good performances in its first first games.

The visitors are led by Cocky Sexton of Kansas, high-scoring association back last season. Under the 150-pound mark, Sexton is the property of the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League and is liable to recall before the season is half over.

Tony Lombardi, giant tackle for Fordham U. last season; Lou Stark of Syracuse U. and Berrel Rose of Greeley State Teachers are among the first year men in professional ball who will be with Brooklyn. Sparky Zadra will play center. Last season Sparky performed for the Passaic Red Devils.

One of the Association's greatest punters, young John Hartman, is spending his second season with the champions. Only 20 years old, Hartman plays end but drops into the backfield to boot.

The homesters again will have their attack directed by Bill (Butch) Bruno of Asbury Park. Frank (Turk) Schummeel of Bloomfield will fill the triple-threat fullback spot so important to Coach Stramiello's wing-back formation. Rudy and George Choborda of Hillside, Tony Biase of Belleville, Jack Carlson of West Orange, Jack Begelman of New York and Arnie Treux of Atlantic Highlands will assist in the backfield duties.

Jitty Wishnevski, Belleville High assistant football coach; Pat Tortorella, former Upsala College star, and Peeches Heenan of Perth Amboy, will share the end assignments. Irwin (King Kong) Klein of N. Y. U. fame will make his second home start at tackle.

FOOTBALL'S GREATEST PLAYER CARRIES DETROIT'S "LUCKY SEVEN"—Earl "Dutch" Clark, Detroit Lions' veteran quarterback, is now Lions' coach as well. In 1935, he drove Lions to world's professional championship. Records of five seasons prove Clark most sensational all-around star football ever knew. Passing, punting, running, blocking, tackling, drop-kicking and calling signals, he is supreme in every department, supplanting Jim Thorpe as football's all-time greatest.

QUINTUPLETS LIVE IN SAFETY, SCREENED FROM MODERN HAZARDS—While hundreds of thousands of tourists visit world's most famous little girls, the Dionne quintuplets play and prosper amid perfect surroundings of Dufour Nursery. Mineral-surfaced, fire-resistant asphalt shingle roof which provides protection against roof fires and chimney sparks is one precaution against danger. Also, the shingles of a cherry red hue brighten the Callander landscape.

FOR THE FALL—Left: Smartly tailored, this fall street suit of uneven-surfaced celanese crepe, in brown, features a novel neckline design and a row of fabric-covered buttons to the waistline. Right: Interesting treatment of the sleeves and waistline features this attractive street frock for fall, fashioned of rust colored celanese crepe. The skirt is wide and full, and of the new short length.

Science's Child—Supplementing the Dresden Man and the Glass Woman, Dr. Charles W. Brabbee, (right) has designed the Thermal Boy for the world's largest building industry showroom in New York, maintained by 14 companies of the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp., to show the body's scientific mechanism to cool itself and explain how air conditioning regulates this operation in winter as well as summer, including even a control of the loss of heat through the mysterious ether waves, known as heat radiations.

HIGHLIGHTS IN THE CHINESE SITUATION

(Upper) U. S. Marines at San Diego prepare for duty in Orient in bayonet drill as they engage in intensive training prior to sailing for foreign duty, probably at Shanghai. (Center) The battlefield in North China—In three sectors of this 150-mile front from Nankow to the sea Japanese and Chinese armies came to grips. In the struggle for Nankow Pass (1), a Japanese force is pressing on to the southeast. Near Peiping three Chinese divisions operating from Chochow (2) threatened the Japanese by a pincers movement. South of Tientsin a battle raged somewhere between Yangliutsin and Tuliuchen (3). The Japanese reported that a Mongolian army had turned the Chinese at Changchew (4). (Lower) Chinese women in arms—Shanghai, China—Whereas her grandmother 50 years ago fondled her own "ivory skinned" hand with care, Miss China of 1937 handles a rifle with skill and likes it.

"AQUA-BICYCLE" MAKES ROW—Plymouth, Mass.—Benjamin G. Baker of West Bridgewater, at 54 has acquired the bicycle craze, but instead of traveling on the crowded highways he prefers the wide waterways. For this popular sport he uses his latest invention, a "water bicycle," which he built himself. A common rowboat serves as the base of the craft, while attached on top is the frame of a bicycle. Two large paddle wheels, covered with canvas to keep the water from splashing into the boat, make it a "de luxe model."
