Rotarians Addressed By District Governor

Carl Lydecker Urges a Better Understanding For Peace

While discussing the responsibility of individual Rotarians Wednesday in Forest Hill Field Club, Carl Lydecker, district governor of the 182nd district, told the Belleville Rotary Club that "International Service" can best be accomplished by extending the "helping hand" to other countries.

"We often wonder why people in other nations think as they do," the Governor said. "It is our job as individuals to find out why they think thus and to understand them. Peace will not come to the world unless we have an understanding of each other's problems."

"There is a question of what the Rotary foundation is doing with the funds it collects. Much of the money is spent for meetings of border line nations for a better understanding. And, while we are discussing nations, Germany has banned Rotary clubs, but let us remember there are still a lot of people in Germany who are our friends."

He explained that when he took office many had asked him what his "theme" for his term would be.

Governor's "Theme."

"I had nothing definite in mind in that respect," he stated, adding, "although I do believe that extension of clubs and membership, which is the apparent theme of Rotary International this year, should be followed out very slowly and carefully."

"The individual responsibility of members to community life, fellowship, which is something more than enjoying good times around a table chatting and singing, and boys' work, are vital matters."

"How much actual thinking do we do about boys?" he queried. "We should not only think of our own sons, who may have more privileges than some other boys. It is those lads who might gather on street corners and get into gangs that we should encourage, not only in play but in good citizenship. There are so many things to be accomplished in boys' work, to bring boys along the path of right thinking to become men who will see that the destiny of our towns, states and nation is placed in proper political hands, without thought of party affiliation."

As regards vocational service he admonished Rotarians that they pay "a lot of lip service to ideals of service," asking "what do we actually do about it? Do we try to conduct our business and professional life along idealistic and higher ethical lines?"

"Unless we take away from each meeting the idea of living these ideals" Rotarians have fallen down, he stated.

Urges Understanding.

"There should be more emphasis placed on the understanding between employer and employee," he explained. "Labor is demanding much these days. A better understanding would accomplish what labor seeks without demands."

"Rotarians owe a tremendous responsibility to their various communities," Mr. Lydecker stated. "There is a golden opportunity of service. Most members of Rotary clubs are chosen because they are leaders in their respective lines. Therefore it is to be assumed they are actively engaged in every phase of activity in the community. No one can shirk the responsibility. Rotarians have within their grasp the opportunity to make communities better places in which to live," he concluded.

Rev. W. J. Lake To Assume Duties As New Pastor at Grace Baptist

Maple Meade Man, Who Was Ordained Last Year, Contributed Considerably to George's Road Church

Rev. Walter J. Lake, pastor of the George's Road Baptist Church, Maple Meade, near New Brunswick, for the past four and one-half years, has resigned his pulpit there to accept the pastorate of Grace Baptist Church, this town. He expects to complete his work in Maple Meade by December 1 and come immediately here, to preach his first sermon December 5.

Rev. Lake was ordained to the Baptist ministry at ceremonies held April 23, 1936, in the Maple Meade church. Prior to being ordained he had held the pastorate. He studied at the Y. M. C. A. Colleges in Chicago and Springfield, Mass., where he received the degree of Bachelor of Science. He was engaged as boys' work secretary at the Westfield Y. M. C. A. for four years and completed three years at Drew Theological Seminary, where he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity in June, last year.

Helped Construct Addition.

The pastor contributed considerably to the church during his stay and helped dedicate the addition to the church March, last year. Members of the congregation expressed regret upon learning of the resignation, but hastened to wish Rev. Lake well in Belleville.

Rev. Lake was born in Flint, Mich., "a few more than thirty years ago," he says. He attended the public schools of that city and graduated from the Central High School. The next two years were spent as assistant boys' work secretary of the Flint Y. M. C. A.

After two student years at Y. M. C. A. College, Chicago, he returned to Flint as the associate boys' secretary at the Y. M. C. A. He transferred to Springfield College and was graduated in June, 1929, with a B. S. degree, cum laude.

Toured Europe.

"In the same month," he says, "I accepted the position of boys' work secretary of the Fall River Y. M. C. A. The next summer was spent as an assistant leader of a Y. M. C. A. boys' tour of Europe."

It was September, 1931, that he went to Westfield, where he remained until September, 1933, at which time he entered Drew Seminary at Madison receiving, three years later, his B. D. degree.

During his pastorate in the George's Road Church the membership increased nearly sixty per cent. Probably the outstanding project undertaken by the church was the adding of a new section to the building and the installation of an oil burning heating system.

Married in 1932.

In February, 1932, while at Westfield, the pastor married Miss Margaret McNally of Fall River, Mass. They have one daughter, Karen, who was born July 26, this year.

Since completing his studies at Drew, Rev. Lake has taken courses at Union Seminary and Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Rev. Lake is an unassuming person and through his courtesy and that of the Daily Home News, New Brunswick, much of his background was pieced together by the Belleville News. This paper joins with the community in extending the hand of welcome to Rev. Lake.

Freak Accident

A freak accident in which the left door of a delivery car, owned by Louis D'Angelo, 448 Washington avenue, was taken off, occurred Monday afternoon in front of his store.

A truck owned by the Canaday Cooler Company of New York City, attempted to park in front of Mr. D'Angelo's butcher shop. In order to do so the delivery car was pushed from the spot by a helper on the truck.

The helper signaled for the truck to park and then, without thinking, he opened the left side door of the car.

The truck which was moving by this time, neatly took the door off the hinges of the car just as the helper was on the verge of stepping out. His hesitation probably saved his leg from amputation.

To Date $5,100 Has Been Collected Toward Goal of $16,000—Amount Should Be Nearer $10,000 Mark

Lagging considerably the appeal for funds for Belleville's Community Chest reached a total of $5,100 last night at the time of going to press. This is about thirty per cent of the requirements and the collections now should be at the sixty per cent mark.

Director G. R. Gerard Compares Fire and Police Costs with "Sister" Towns

"Best Way To Judge Value Received" Is To Consider "Service Rendered for Money Spent"

"The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce has recently made an exhaustive survey of police and fire department costs in the municipalities of the state having a population of over 20,000," says Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard, who today makes a comparison between Belleville and other towns.

"We are sure that the citizens of Belleville will be interested to know how our costs and our results, as far as can be shown, compare with our sister towns and cities, and we therefore present some of the statistics of the survey and the Chamber of Commerce conclusions. There are thirty-two municipalities in the state with more than 20,000 people, but we omit five of these from our tables as their police and fire departments are wholly or partly volunteer, and further we particularly consider those towns and cities between 20,000 and 40,000, as Belleville is in that group," the director says.

"Except debt service, police and fire costs are the largest item in municipal budgets and constitute almost the most important activity in local government. A glance at the first table will show the great economy with which Belleville administers these two branches of its town affairs, yet we believe with an efficiency second to none."

"A main reason for the great difference in the per capita costs as shown in the table is that some communities demand a very elaborate service, and seem able to pay for it. Those who made this survey believe that large as the police and fire appropriations are, but little politics is to be found in the spending of them. Police and fire protection is a serious and exacting business, and the men in those departments would not view with complacency the loading of pay-

In 1916, she was the author of the brochure, "The Man, the Place and the Book," and has been a contributor to many professional magazines. ## Town Wants Opinion On Change of Zone

Passes Ordinance To Allow Belwood Parkers to Voice Opinion

Paving the way for residents of Belwood Park section to object to a change of zone from "A" residence to "C" at Ogden road and Belleville avenue, the Town Commission Tuesday night passed on first reading an ordinance following recommendation of the Board of Zoning Appeal that the change be made.

Miss Helen Wilkes, Jersey City, owner, plans to erect two four-family houses at the corners.

The law permits the zone group to hear objections from property owners within a radius of 200 feet. The Town Commission has more latitude in this respect and intends to give those who live outside the 200 feet radius a chance to voice their opinion. A statement addressed to property owners by Mayor William H. Williams is printed on this page.

Another statement from the Mayor is also printed in another article explaining the sanitary ordinance which prohibits dumping of garbage in town.

Many residents in the vicinity of Continental avenue and Celia terrace objected to granting Cuzzo Bros. of Silver Lake consent to dump on town-owned property. Mayor Williams said the consent was granted only to allow Cuzzo to bid for garbage contracts in other municipalities demanding such a consent.

A better insurance rating will be sought for certain sections of town, Mayor Williams stated in conference Monday night, explaining lower rates could be obtained in areas where recent improvements have been made to the water system. The National Board of Fire Underwriters will be asked to make an inspection.

The Mayor said:

"Pursuant to study of Water Department audit covering new capital investments which in the Water Department affords improved fire protection to certain areas in which have been installed new hydrants, new water lines and replacements of greater water capacity, I believe such areas are entitled to lower fire insurance rates."

"Accordingly, on behalf of the Board of Commissioners, I have requested the Schedule Rating Bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters to conduct a survey at the earliest possible date of our improved conditions, further advising them that data on new and improved installations is available at the office of Director of Public Works Waters. "On completion of proposed survey, report will be rendered to this board."

The Mayor was assured by the Schedule Rating Bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters that the survey would be started shortly.

The Belleville Political and Social Club requested the board to confer with the Board of Freeholders in the matter of widening Belleville avenue. This will be done by the Engineering Department.

Imposters

Beware of imposters. This is the word from police headquarters after several persons had been duped by a man posing as a photo studio agent.

The latest case was reported Tuesday at police headquarters by Mrs. R. J. Slendora, 22 Mt. Prospect avenue.

She told police officers that she had given a man $450 for a baby picture to be taken by the man. After a week's wait she called up the phone number given her but found to her sorrow that the company had moved to an unknown address.

Notice to Residents of Belwood Park Section

Application to construct two four-family apartments on corners of Ogden road and Belleville avenue was made to the Board of Zoning Appeals and change of zone from "A" residence to "C" residence was recommended to the Board of Commissioners.

Residents beyond a radius of 200 feet are restricted in objecting before Board of Zoning Appeals by certain regulations. To give residents beyond a radius of 200 feet an opportunity to voice their opinion on the change of zone, as requested, an ordinance was introduced for first reading Tuesday night by the Town Commission and will be further presented for second and third reading on Tuesday, November 23, at public meeting.

This notice is presented to enable the Board of Commissioners to learn the viewpoint of property owners in the general vicinity of Ogden road and Belleville avenue beyond the 200 feet radius.

WILLIAM H. WILLIAMS, Mayor.

SHE RECORDED her daily activities for ten days without, and ten days with the help of an upstairs extension telephone. In ten days the upstairs telephone saved her—

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Prosperity and Depression Pictured
In Manufacturing Industry by Writer

"Many millions of good old American dollars are today resting in peace on the shelves of both large and small manufacturing plants. Not, of course, in the actual dollar form, but in various forms of iron, steel, copper, etc., all listed under the one headache, inventory—The big bug-a-boo of the manufacturing industry. Inventory sometimes is figured as an asset, but in most cases a distinct liability, and a monument to a lack of good manufacturing practice and knowledge; inventory, the result of the use of business cycles, of forecasting the market, of the sales and conference method of planning and scheduling, the utter lack of good common sense in manufacturing.

"Statistics have proven and most manufacturing executives know that business activity pursues a distinct course of expansion and contraction, prosperity and depression. This ebb and flow of the business tide has a certain rhythm of regularity year in and year out, so much so that statistical experts are able to make up the business cycles that fool so many yet, a great many manufacturing plants are caught at either the high or low tide; almost never at the ebb tide.

"If conditions are prosperous many manufacturing executives build far beyond their immediate requirements, irrespective of the old order of supply and demand. This is where the business cycle charts come out, political predictions noted, an enthused sales department gets together with the manufacturing executive and puts into effect a building program or schedule far beyond the need and one that may never be disposed of, this is known as the old conference method of planning and scheduling.

"But then comes the crisis, which has to come. Your business cycle and your own experience tell you that. Here is what the world's leading brains have concluded after a study of the causes: 'The crisis is the most striking phenomenon of the business cycle. It is consequently the point on which attention has been focused. Many explanations have been brought forward to account for it, but it has to be noted that the crisis is really bred during the preceding period of prosperity.' Of course this is true. It is the only answer to a crisis. You can't produce two or three times more material than you can sell in 1937 and keep your plant busy in 1938. That's plain common sense. All this unholy doctrine of Build For Democracy means to this writer is do so and stand idle for Democracy next year.

"This writer knew manufacturing executives who went through this wicked cycle year after year, victims of the forecast fever, wondering just what was the answer. When it was brought home to them that the old order of supply and demand was still a good barometer to work from, that an intelligent analysis of their own and present requirements was good manufacturing practice, that a simple common sense method of perpetual inventory and operating control would solve their problems, they were simply amazed. Even then it was hard to sell them the idea because of its simplicity and their past training in political predictions, market conditions, etc. We will agree that conditions pertaining to business must be watched, but we decidedly disagree that it is the function of the actual factory management.

"A well known commentator on the radio the other evening made these remarks, 'manufacturers speed up when they see a clear road ahead and slow down when political predictions cloud their view.' This is true although he might have added that it is the real reason why thousands of small manufacturing plants are standing idle and abandoned today. He went on further to say 'production must be controlled to the absolute necessity of the individual case, any deviation is to the detriment of both capital and labor.' Executives of both large and small manufacturing plants will do well if they take those words to heart, it will help them in these days of distress.

"The old conference method of planning and scheduling your production, based on political predictions and national business surveys, can be responsible for over expansion, an unbalanced production schedule, overtime work, delayed shipments, dissatisfied employees, high costs, and financial distress caused by too much inventory.

"We would like to assure these manufacturers suffering from some of the above evils that the remedy for curing them is quite simple. We do not mean for you to hire one of these so-called high price efficiency experts and then forgetting about it, either. We mean to get a good practical experienced production man who can make an intelligent study of your past and present production problems and apply them to your particular requirements. A man who can install and supervise a system of operating control in accord with your present set up, one who can get your orders out to your customers on time and above all one who can install a system of perpetual inventory and willing to accept the responsibility at all times of his storeroom and inventory. This might sound like a big order, but a good production man can do it.

"Remember the Federal government may burden you with taxes, or try by code to direct your business, but let me assure you that they will never underwrite the millions tied up in obsolete and slow-moving inventories, at least not until they take over all industry and then, of course, it will die a natural death of its own accord.

"Our message to you would be, 'build for your own immediate and present requirements if you want to survive.'

JOSEPH D. RUSSELL.

Dog Lover

Clarence D. Van Sickle, 31 Preston street, is a man who loves dogs.

Last Sunday while driving through Elizabeth he felt a mighty bump against his car. According to a farmer standing near, a dog had run into his car, but a search failed to disclose the dog's whereabouts.

Worried over the condition of the dog upon his arrival at home, Mr. Van Sickle drove to the spot again the next day to report the incident to the police. Even a police search failed to bring forth the canine which left its mark on Mr. Van Sickle's rear bumper.

New Miracles Of The Photoelectric Cell

By James D. Purdy
Director, Schools of Electrical Engineering, International Correspondence Schools

A METHOD of transmitting news bulletins by television has been developed by a New York inventor. At the transmitting station an electric typewriter types the bulletins on transparent tape. A light beam passes through the tape to a photoelectric cell which transforms the variations in light intensity into electric impulses that are sent out by short-wave radio. The receiving apparatus re-transforms the impulses into light of varying intensity and projects the original letters or numbers onto a screen.

The photoelectric cell and a light beam from a standard automobile headlight, from which all visible rays of the light spectrum have been filtered, are employed in the latest protective device against burglars or other intruders. By a system of mirrors the invisible light beam is reflected back and forth throughout the area to be protected. Energy released by any interference between the beam and a photoelectric cell or cells can be used to sound a bell or siren, or even to transmit an alarm by telephone.

Automobile headlights can now be tested by a photoelectric cell meter. When the device is placed against the lens of the headlight a dial reading gives the volume and intensity of light. Another device based on the use of the photoelectric cell has been developed to grade milk. The device measures the degree to which various samples of milk transmit light, and grades them accordingly.

Barge Overturns Near Rutgers Street Bridge

Attendant, Asleep at Time, Hurlled into Chilly Waters

The overturning of a barge in the Passaic river just north of Academy street, attracted thousands of motorists to the scene yesterday morning.

At about 2:20 A. M., a load of scrap iron shifted its weight for some unknown reason and caused the barge to upset.

Frank Kelly, of Baltimore, the only occupant of the flat-bottomed boat, who was asleep when it started to overturn, was thrown into the chilly waters of the Passaic river.

Kelly was picked up by the crew of the tug boat Perth Amboy, owned by the Tice Towing Line, which was towing the barge.

The barge is owned by Rice Light-erage Company of New York City and was moving south when the accident occurred.

There were 750 tons of scrap iron on the barge. It was dumped on the river bottom. The tug boat was cut loose from the barge, which was being towed from Passaic to New York.

The barge was pushed by the tug to one side of the channel permitting river traffic to pass. It is expected a derrick will be sent to right the barge and a magnetic hoist will be used to pick up the scrap iron.

The tug returned to the barge after daybreak. Soundings taken indicated the iron piled up under the barge and there is no hazard to passing boats.

Nutley Council Extends Invitation to Others To Take Part

St. Mary's Council, Knights of Columbus, will hold a First Degree at its next regular meeting, Monday evening, November 22. Members of neighboring councils are invited to attend. As the business meeting will be held before the degree, the meeting will start at 8 P. M.

The clubhouse committee reported at the regular meeting Monday evening, that the attendance at the club-rooms is increasing and requested that the members continue their support.

F. Harold Sachs of the Boys' Work Committee reported that Troop 11, Nutley Boy Scouts, will attend a major football game in the near future.

J. R. Kilpatrick requested that the members make their returns for the charity ball as soon as possible.

All for Fifty Cents

Four boys who frequent the corner of Division avenue and Washington avenue, broke open the cellar door and a window in order to recover a fifty cent piece which fell down a grating at the side of Robert McGough's apartment house, last week.

The boys confessed to the deed upon being questioned by Mrs. McGough and paid for the damage.

Leaders of the industrial, house-to-house canvass and school employees' divisions are scheduled to make additional returns at campaign headquarters in the Central Building and Loan Building tonight. Thomas R. McHale, campaign manager, and his staff will be at headquarters nightly until the drive ends.

Short Changes Himself

Lieutenant Richard Nourse is sunk to the nethermost depths of dank dark despond.

It seems that "Dick," who is court clerk for the police department, handed out $10 too much in making change to motor vehicle violators who were fined Wednesday night, before Recorder Everett B. Smith.

Ten drivers had their license revoked for five days and were fined $3 cost of court.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. rolls with political appointments that did not fit in.

"The best way to judge whether a community is getting value received from its public safety department is to consider the service rendered for the money spent. One can judge the efficiency of a police force by the evidence or lack of evidence of crime in the town. Organized crime cannot exist except with the sufferance of the police, if its men are wide awake," Mr. Gerard continues.

"Table II shows the breakdown of police department budgets, and again you will note, while there is a large economy in the total amount, that the salary schedule of Belleville's department gives a relatively satisfactory showing in comparison with her sister New Jersey cities when we consider comparative wealth among them.

"When we think of the great increase in the duties of police departments over what was needed years ago, we realize how much more is required of policemen since the automobile age began. Where once almost their whole work was the keeping of peace and the apprehension of criminals, today, to these services which are more varied and arduous than ever, must be added traffic duty, school post work, finger print records, increased election day service, court attendance, appearance at all public functions, and many others. In Belleville nine schools must be covered four times each school day. We further operate four cars, four motorcycles, a patrol wagon and attend all ambulance and fire calls. These facts show how much service the Belleville police department renders.

"Turning now to the survey of fire departments, Belleville makes a very impressive showing in this department also. As you may see by the following tables, our town administrators its fire department with the same great economy as shown in the police tables, but with the same comparatively fair showing in its salary schedule. No municipality can afford to offer meagre pay to its public servants unless it is willing to accept inferior service," the director explains.

"We have already shown in Table I that our fire department costs far less in aggregate and per capita than that of any other town or city in our class, being not more than half of that of the other cities named. Our equipment is kept in excellent order, and includes three pumps, two hose wagons, a hook and ladder truck, and two department cars, housed in three fire buildings. It also includes chemical apparatus, a new fire net and nearly 8000 feet of hose, of which 3,000 feet has been purchased during the present administration.

"Two factors must be taken into consideration in reading the above table, the character of the buildings in the cities and the fire loss in any one year. As to the first, Belleville has many large factories, of which several use raw materials of an inflammable nature, so that factor works to our disadvantage when compared with some of our neighbors.

To be as fair as possible we have taken the last three years into our calculations rather than a single year that might be at either extreme as to our losses. Discounting all these things, our fire department showing is such that we may fairly claim efficiency at a low cost.

"The figures used in this article were prepared by officials of the State Chamber of Commerce or are based on that survey and therefore are authentic and in no way partisan. Whether they deal with police costs, personnel, or salaries; or whether they show fire expense, administrative set-up, or losses, the citizens of Belleville can have nothing but feelings of pride in this showing," concludes Mr. Gerard.

Police Officer Slater a Huntin' Went

He Found His Dog, Fuzz, Badly Bent

Officer Ernest Slater, said one day to his wife, "I think I'll go hunting, for that is the only life." He shouldered his trusty gun as soon as his work was done, got in his car and rode away, for hunting was his pleasure that day.

In Stockholm, he parked his car near a farm and with his shooting iron under his arm. His beagle hound astride with him, while the sun was still very dim, to look for rabbits he did go. He knew enough not to shoot a doe. The hound chased a rabbit into the thicket and Officer Slater said, "that's the ticket."

He up with his trusted gun and let go a blast. The shell made the shot go thick and fast. A yelp of pain—a flurry of fuzz—and Officer Slater had shot his dog, Fuzz. The rabbit lay stretched out cold on the ground, but the yelp of pain came from the hound, whose rear quarters had felt the missiles and he failed to respond to his master's whistles.

The dog picked up the rabbit and limped to the car, while Ernie stood by with his mouth ajar. Homeward then they did trend no longer was "the dog his friend."

Parishioners Prepare Home for Pastor

Members of Grace Baptist Church Renovate Parsonage

Reminiscent of another day when the coming of a new clergyman meant the building of a log cabin by the parishioners, was brought to mind when activity began last week on the cleaning, papering and painting by the parishioners for the new pastor of the Grace Baptist Church, at his future home, 171 Overlook avenue.

The house is being put in order for the arrival, on December 5, of Rev. Walter Lake, of Georges Road Baptist Church, near New Brunswick.

BELLOWING ABOUT BELLEVILLE

By JACOB LEVINE
 Class 1938, Belleville High School

"Pardon me, but I hope I'm not interfering with your domino game."

Two stately matrons, with the indelible signature of Father Time written on their faces, turned from their dominoes, and cast two quizzical glances in the direction from which the voice came.

There, in the doorway, stood a tall young fellow whom folks 'round town had good-naturedly given the epithet of "Bellow."

"Come right in, young man, and be seated," spoke one of the elderly ladies with a vivaciousness that belied her apparent age.

There was a moment of reciprocal recognition in which I at once saw that the speaker was none other than Mrs. Morgan, an old-time Bellevillian if there ever was one. The other one, with one eye focused on the dominoes and the other sizing me up, was another old-timer, Mrs. Price. After another moment of the usual "How is mama?" and "Is Jimmie still working there yet?" we finally arrived at the purpose of my visit.

I fired the question: Could they tell me anything of the Belleville-that-used-to-be?

Soft light from the lamp in the corner poured into the room. A huge grandfather's clock ticked over our heads (it seemed to be ticking out a rhapsody of bygone days).

Mrs. Price's rocking chair melodically accompanied the clock in its song of yesterday. And the meaningful expressions on their faces seemed to signify, "well, we can and we can't."

But there was a back issue of the Belleville News on the table. Staring you in the face was a photograph of an antiquated horse car. It brought to their mind a string of reminiscences. And before I had the chance to pop another question, we were drifting about in the Belleville of forty years ago, of fifty and even sixty years ago—when horse-cars traversed Main street, when Washington avenue was nothing but a void and empty field, when Belleville was a puny infant in a cradle, screaming for its bottle.

Sixty years ago...Belleville's educational status: Two schools...No. 1 School and St. Peter's...The former a little red brick building on the corner of Rutgers and Cortland...A tremendous skyscraper of two floors and four rooms...Around the school was a big apple orchard which rosy-faced urchins habitually raided at noon hour...Polly Jackson, a rotund colored girl, who consented to turn rope for Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Price...Recollections of Mrs. Wallings, sweet janitress of the school, whose kids liked very much...Of Mrs. Kay, strict school teacher, who wielded a huge rosewood ruler, to the discomfort of the pupils' tender knuckles, and who tossed troublesome lefties around with the nonchalance of a Londoner...Recollections of Mr. Horst and Miss Lyons, whom pupils ludicrously referred to as the "horse and the lion"...Of Mr. and Mrs. Pearce, both teachers at No. 1...Of Mrs. Morgan and her brother walking from Quarry street (Union avenue), to No. 1, through the deepest snow and ice...School days, school days, good old golden rule days. Reading and writing and...But say, the song probably wasn't written yet...

The little old postoffice on Main street which was filled to capacity when ten people had passed through its tiny door...Mr. Stevens, the kind old postmaster, who told little youngsters with his inimitable chuckle, "no, Santa Claus hasn't sent any mail yet, but when he does I'll be sure to save it for you!"

The horse-cars that took over two hours to go from Newark to Belleville...You got on at the Holmes street car barns and for eight cents you would go through Main street, up Mill and then on to Newark...The floors of the cars were covered with straw to ward off the cold...

Recollections of—
 The penny jigger that rode from Woodside to "The Big Tree," a huge oak tree near the Nutley car barns (that is, when Washington avenue was cut through)...The quarry off Union avenue which made an excellent swimming hole whenever it rained... (The property around the quarry belonged to Grandma Wilson, Mrs. Morgan's grandmother and Wilson place has been named after her)... The old culled gempum, "Old Man Bake," who was seen going from house to house delivering orders for Sandford, the butcher..."Old Bake" was endeared to everyone, especially to the young ones whom he always favored with pennies...To the old he could always tell intriguing stories about his many escapades...A favorite one of his was his trip to heaven...Seems as if "Old Bake" went into a trance and while in it tried to gain admittance through "dem golden gates." But "Old Bake" (so he said), wasn't as yet fit for heaven and so he was temporarily rejected and told to go back to earth again, where he would have to become a fair better Christian, if he ever wanted to enter the celestial domains...Just one of "Old Bake's" stories...

Recollections of sleigh-riding from Washington avenue to Main street with so-called "guards" at the railroad who signaled to the sleighs whenever the Erie was seen chugging along in the distance...No theatres in Belleville at that time, but occasional jaunts to Newark to witness stage productions there...Mrs. Morgan's father and Mr. Zeigler who would put a net in the Passaic on Friday night and on Saturday morning they would pull their net out of the water, overbrimming with delicious shad fish...They then would place them in a big sheet and set it on Main street. Anyone whose appetite called for shad fish had but to thrust their hands into the sheet and take as much as their hearts desired...Memories...Fond recollections of Belleville when it was a puny infant in a cradle...Belleville sixty years ago...

"Well," I said, after two hours had swept by on the wings of Mercury, "from what you have told me I think I have enough material for five columns, not one."

"Is that all?" piped Mrs. Morgan. "Why, if Mrs. Price and I cared to we could fill the whole newspaper with nothing but tales of bygone days."

And I closed the door, leaving two elderly matrons in a realm, replete with horse-cars, penny jiggers, little red school houses, "Old Bakes," swimming holes and attractions of a bygone day.

Girl Scout Week was full of interesting activities throughout. Thursday, the girls entertained their mothers at tea at the Woman's clubhouse, Rossmore place. The rooms were crowded and everybody enjoyed meeting friends.

Roses in bowls, roses in vases, roses on the window sills, on the piano, and on the tea table, added to this gala occasion. These roses were from Mrs. L. W. Long's garden. Town Commissioner George R. Gerard outlined the girl scout program with humorous stories. He mentioned their Dream Cabin and expressed his hopes for its coming. Emory Brooks, who serves on the National Girl Scout Camp Committee, told of the international encampment at Camp Andree, last summer. Mr. Brooks has served girl scouting for twenty-five years and boy scouting twenty-six years.

Mayor William H. Williams congratulated the girl scout council on its good work and told the girls that he and all Belleville "stood back of them." He refused to accept the credit for giving them an office or headquarters in the Elks' building, as that was done by the Lodge of Elks.

Seated at the speaker's table were Mrs. Ackerman, Commissioner of Belleville Girl Scouts; Mayor and Mrs. Williams, Commissioner and Mrs. Gerard, Mr. Brooks of Essex County Mosquito Extermination Commission of Glen Ridge; Mrs. A. G. Leiss and Mrs. B. M. McCraven, of the Bloomfield Council; Mrs. A. G. Taylor, commissioner of Bloomfield and Mrs. Holden, local director.

SEEN ABOUT TOWN

We notice with satisfaction that the former Salvation Army building in Washington avenue, between Overlook avenue and Greylock Parkway, has been torn down. This place was a constant eye-sore to the passersby.

Our roving correspondent reports that the double electric wires for the all-service buses are nearly installed and electric service for buses will be in use in a few days.

A trip to Kearny elicits the information that the Belleville Pike will be open between Schuyler and Kearny avenues shortly.

Robert "Box Lunch" McGowan and Mrs. McGowan have moved from Myer lane to 14 Essex street.

New York Ready For Dizzy Whirl

Sixty-Third International Six-Day Race in The Offing

New York's sixty-third International six-day bicycle race, with the world's leading cyclists competing, will open in Madison Square Garden, November 28, just two weeks from Sunday night.

Fifteen teams will face the starter's gun. While there hasn't been a single team announced, judging from Manager John M. Chapman's list of stars signed to date, the field will be the best ever assembled for a week-long grind in New York in many moons.

Riders from several nations, including Italy, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Canada and America will be seen in action. Everyone of the above-mentioned countries will have its six-day champ competing.

Germany will have those crack riders, Gustav Kilian and Heinz Vopel, Holland will be represented by Cor Walls, whose exhibition in the last New York and Chicago races warranted his return; Canada will have Jules Audy and the Pedens, Torchy and Doug; Belgium's colors will be defended by Gerard Debaets; France will have Emile Ignat and Emile Dhot, while from Sunny Italy will come Caesar Moretti, Jr., Aldo Bino, world's road kingpin and Alvaro Georgetti. America will have Jimmy Walthour and Al Crossley.

Jean Aerts and Omer Debruycker won the last New York whirl. The latter will make a return appearance but the former will be missing, but through no fault of Manager Chapman's Aerts was signed immediately after winning the last race, but during the summer sustained a bad fall, having fractured his skull, which will keep him in the sidelines for another two months.

Tornadoes Schedule N. Y. Brown Bombers

Newarkers Are in for a Tough Battle at City Stadium

Three successive triumphs having strengthened their lead in the Southern Division of the American Pro Football Association, the Newark Tornadoes test their mettle against non-league competition this Sunday afternoon, when they meet the strong Brown Bombers of New York, world's colored champions, at Newark schools stadium. The kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

Indications are that the Tornadoes defeated once in ten games this season, will suffer their second defeat. The Bombers have demonstrated their superiority over association eleven: by defeating the White Plains and New Rochelle teams and holding Brooklyn, the champions, to a tie.

The Bombers, unbeaten this season include among their victims this season the Jersey City Giants of the American League, who were trampled by the one-sided score of 29-0. The Bombers will be making their first Essex County appearance this Sunday.

Tom Conrad, former all-State star at Roselle Park High School, is the sparkplug of a speedy, wide-open attack. His mates include such ball toters as Joe Lillard, formerly of the Chicago Cardinals, Otis Trupe and Dave Moyers of New York University, Al Harris, husky 210-pound center, is the bulwark of the Bombers' defense.

According to Coach Mike Stramiello, the Tornadoes' line-up will remain intact, although the four newcomers will see considerable action. Added by the Newark Club last week were George Burwin of Western Reserve, a back, and Irv Maher, Ray Howit and Bill Keegan, linemen.

Basketball Schedule Drawn Up

In Recreation Commission Loop

Six basketball teams representing the Hawks, Eagles, Louis A. Noll Boosters, "Fraternity," Royals and Animal Hospital will play in the senior recreation commission circuit on Tuesday evenings at the high school court. In the Industrial loop, Sweeney, Sonneborn, Heyer Products Wallace & Tiernan, Isolantite and National Grain and Yeast will play Monday evenings. Wednesday evening will be used for girls. The intermediate and junior league will cavort at the recreation center in Vet's Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings. Preliminary games are now being played on all courts prior to the opening of scheduled games on November 22.

Joseph Parsells and Herbert Sopher will alternate at officiating each game.

'Harps' Basketball Meet at Diner

A need for a recreation center is strongly expressed in the fact that the "Harps," a basketball team, ranging in age from seventeen to twenty years, meets in front of Frank's Diner, 264 Washington avenue.

The Harps have organized to play in the Thursday night league at the Veterans' of Foreign Wars hall in Belleville avenue.

Hollweg Recovers

Brom Injury

Charles Hollweg, 18, varsity back on the high school team, was released from West Hudson Hospital, Kearny, Sunday. He was injured Saturday in the Kearny-Belleville football game, suffering a concussion of the brain when he attempted a tackle.

Hollweg, a senior, who lives at 18 Hornblower avenue, was knocked unconscious. Dr. Walter R. Reick of Kearny accompanied Hollweg to the hospital in the local ambulance. The youth did not regain consciousness for several hours.

B. H. Moore
Head Football Coach

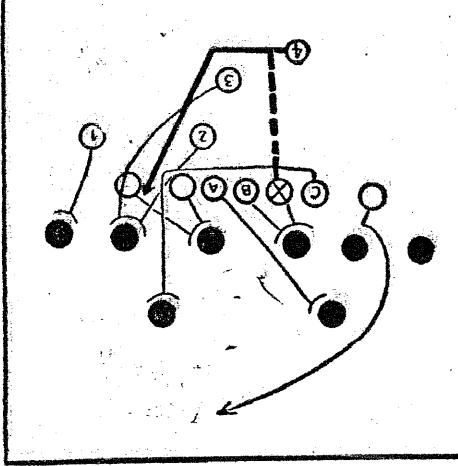

This is the fourth in a series of nine outstanding diagram plays by nine leading college coaches from Grantland Rice's Cities Service Football Guide.

THIS diagram shows a power play that we used very successfully through our 1936 season.

No. 4 receives the ball and takes two steps to his right before cutting inside of the right tackle. No. 1 blocks out the defensive left end and No. 2 and No. 3 backs take out the defensive left tackle. Our right end cross blocks on the defensive left guard while our left guard cuts back of the line and checks the defensive full back while leading the play through the line of scrimmage. The other blocking assignments are clearly shown in the diagram. We used this play with very good results against some of our most difficult opponents, Vanderbilt, Auburn and Tulane. This play was always good for a few yards when we sandwiched it in between a series of forward passes and end run.

Armistice Day? Not At Laurel Garden

Jesse James and Cohen Scheduled To Wrestle On Mat Card

Armistice Day won't mean a thing in the Laurel Garden on Friday night for, after observing the anniversary of peace on Thursday, Jesse James and Sammie Cohen are due to meet in a return match which headlines the weekly mat show at the Springfield avenue arena.

This pair put on a two-man war last week with the popular James using Cohen's own weapons to send him out of the arena on the back of one of the attendants. When he regained consciousness Cohen immediately demanded a return bout and James, who thought little of Sammie's ability prior to the bout and less after it, consented to face the Bronx Bad Boy again.

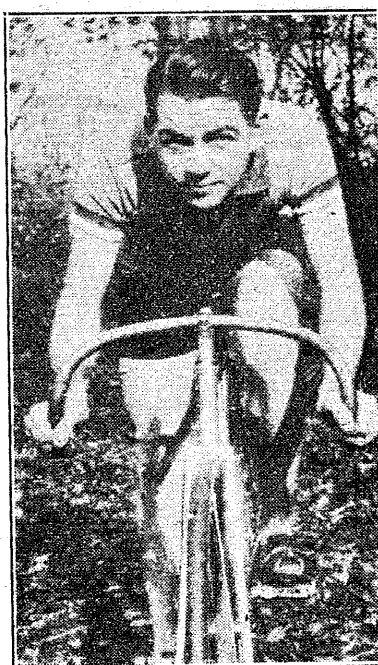

This week, however, the match is listed for two out of three falls and should be a young war in itself. Cohen's best ammunition is his unethical tactics, while James relies chiefly on the light artillery of a variety of holds applied with startling suddenness.

Hans Schwarz, popular young German, is featured in the semi-final in which he runs up against Edie Virag, Hungarian champion. Schwarz was discovered by Newark fans and he has climbed rapidly up the popularity scale.

Newcomers dot the preliminary bouts which support the outstanding headline bout. Jimmy Kilonis, a new Greek importation, makes his first start against Jack Singer, who gave indications of being a real villain in his first showing here two weeks ago. The most colorful newcomer is Dr. Dropkick Murphy, who will take on Steve Passas. Murphy is reputed to be the cleverest exponent of the always thrilling drop kick in the ring today.

In other bouts Len Macaluso, the popular ex-all-American fullback from Colgate, has another tough assignment when he is called on to battle Hans von Blumberg, new German discovery. The final bout brings together two local favorites, Irish Paddy Mack and Tony Coleman.

Star Cyclist

Jack Throckmorton

Jack Throckmorton has achieved an enviable record as a bicycle rider for the Bay View Wheelmen.

Throckmorton, who is only a youngster in his "teens," has placed in eleven events during fourteen weeks of riding at Weequahic Park.

In a recent two-hour team race, he was commended by a Newark daily for his excellent riding in the sprints. His team, in which he was paired with Dodelin of Montclair, won a preme in the two-hour race.

An account of Throckmorton's accomplishments while riding for the N. C. A. follows: Won two consolation races, won a ten-mile pursuit race, finished second in five-mile point race, finished second in ten-mile race, finished fifth in half-hour team race, finished second in two-mile handicap race, finished second in one-mile handicap race, finished second in one-mile unknown distance invitation, finished fourth in two consolation events, finished seventh in National Cycling Association series of races, finished second in miss and out race.

Nutley Dukes Lose To Brookdale Tigers

Only One Touchdown in Bitterly Fought Booth Park Game

The Brookdale Tigers defeated the Nutley Dukes, 7-0, Sunday afternoon at Booth Memorial Field, in a knock-em-down and drag-em-out football contest.

Advancing the ball to the three-yard line in the early part of the game, the Tigers fumbled and the Dukes recovered. Three line bucks failed to gain any yardage. A pass from Elmer "Red" Vandemark to Andy Walker was grounded for a fourth down.

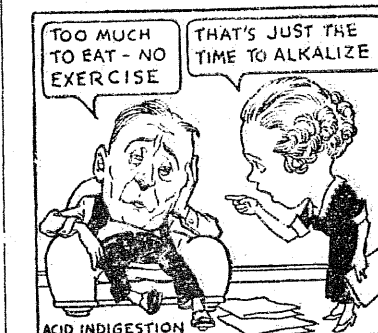

In the second quarter the ball was held in midfield in a punting duel by the Dukes and the Tigers.

A fumble by Corie of the Dukes gave the ball to the Tigers on the Nutley team's ten-yard line. The Dukes gained possession of the ball by holding the Brookdale team on the one-foot line after four tries at the line.

Walker's kick, behind his own goal line, was blocked by the Tiger's fleet backfield, "Ace" McCormick, and grounded back of the goal line by that gentleman.

A desperate last quarter forward passing attack netted the Dukes much yardage but no score was forthcoming.

Jack Hozack and Nelson Wilson played consistently good football at the guard post for the Dukes. A game with an undecided opponent will be played next Sunday afternoon.

He felt a different man next day. Relieved the Alka-Seltzer way.

Camptown Pros Keep Slate Clean to Date

Midvale Eleven Sunday To Offer Locals Stiff Competition

The Camptown Pros remained unscored upon by disposing of the Midvale Steamrollers of New York for their sixth straight win Sunday. This makes the third straight New York victim for the local club. The Pros have tallied nineteen points. The Camptowns passed the last line in each quarter, with Steve Choborda paving the way for the initial tally by intercepting a pass and racing deep into enemy territory, where Joe Choborda tallied several plays later.

Lewinski scored in the second period when he took the ball on the steamrollers' goal line on a fumble, which went into the air and fell over the goal for a tally. The third quarter saw Zoppa intercept a pass about mid-field. He raced to the seven-yard line where Steve Choborda scored on two line bucks. The final tally of the afternoon came mid-way in the last quarter, when Steve Choborda scored on a sustained drive of some fifty yards.

Bill Scott scored extra points in the second half on passes from Choborda. The Visitors threatened three times in the ball game within the fifteen-yard line, but were turned down again and again by the stubborn wall of the Pros.

The Camptowns have a squad of twenty players which will try to keep the clean record intact Sunday at Tri-City against the strong Midvale eleven of Passaic County.

West Orange "Cowboys" Appear at Local Gridiron Tomorrow Afternoon

Visitors Have Rolled Up Impressive Scores Against All Opposition During the Season

Belleville High School's football team meets West Orange High School in a "Battle of the Century" at Clearman Field, tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30 P. M.

West Orange has lost only one game this season, to Millburn in the first game it played.

Belleville, on the other hand, has won four out of seven games. None of these victories have been by an impressive score, while West Orange "Cowboys" have rolled up overwhelming scores against the last six opponents.

Lou Falcone is the "Cowboy's" big moment in their Juggernaut and will attempt to continue on his winning ways tomorrow. To West Orange the only guess in their ranks is how much of a score they will make against Belleville.

However, West Orange may be in for a bit of a surprise when they meet with the "Bellboys." Coach Frank Smith has been drilling his charges in tricky football for the past week and expects to open a bag of reverses and hidden ball plays.

Charles "Bud" Hollweg, who suffered a slight concussion of the brain last Saturday at the Kearny game came home from the West Hudson Hospital Sunday and is on the mend. He, of course, will be out of the line-up tomorrow and his expert punting will be sadly missed.

The line-up:

BELLEVILLE CAN'T FAIL

Going into the home-stretch, Belleville's Community Chest is rather empty, in fact, with three days left for canvassing, approximately $5,100 has been collected of the quota of $16,000, which is needed to carry on the endeavors of worthy enterprises in Belleville.

It seems so easy to give a few cents, or a few dollars if one can afford it, to keep our town on an even keel in matters of a civic nature. Yet, some how or other a great many of us have failed to contribute to the chest. Maybe we intend to. Perhaps it is just procrastination on the part of prospective contributors that the appeal is bogging down one-third short of the total it should have reached by this time.

Belleville isn't going to have its pride injured through failure in a Community Chest drive, not by any stretch of imagination. The appeal winds up on November 15. Now is the time to give. Let us have a little consideration for our civic-minded friends and neighbors who work without remuneration to put across the drive because they live in Belleville and love this fine, old town of ours.

Let's put across this drive TODAY.

BELLEVILLE AVENUE WIDENING

A pet idea of ours, widening Belleville avenue, which this newspaper has urged for years, was revived again this week by other proponents of the idea, the Belleville Political and Social Club, which organization in a letter to the Town Commission urged some action.

Some time ago the same club wrote a similar letter. Nothing developed because the county wants Belleville to shoulder the cost of condemning the land. Now the town will communicate with the County Engineer's office to see what, if anything, is in view in this connection.

The widening of Belleville avenue, "Death's Highway," we have labeled it, is a costly proposition and a tremendous undertaking. However, it must come as certain as Armistice Day arrived yesterday. Like death and taxes, it is inevitable. The county needs a little prodding from the official family. Let's see what happens.

PIKE TO OPEN

So it has come to pass!

The Belleville Pike, officials over the river say, will be opened in its entirety December 1, after a year of lethargic progress in the matter of reconstruction.

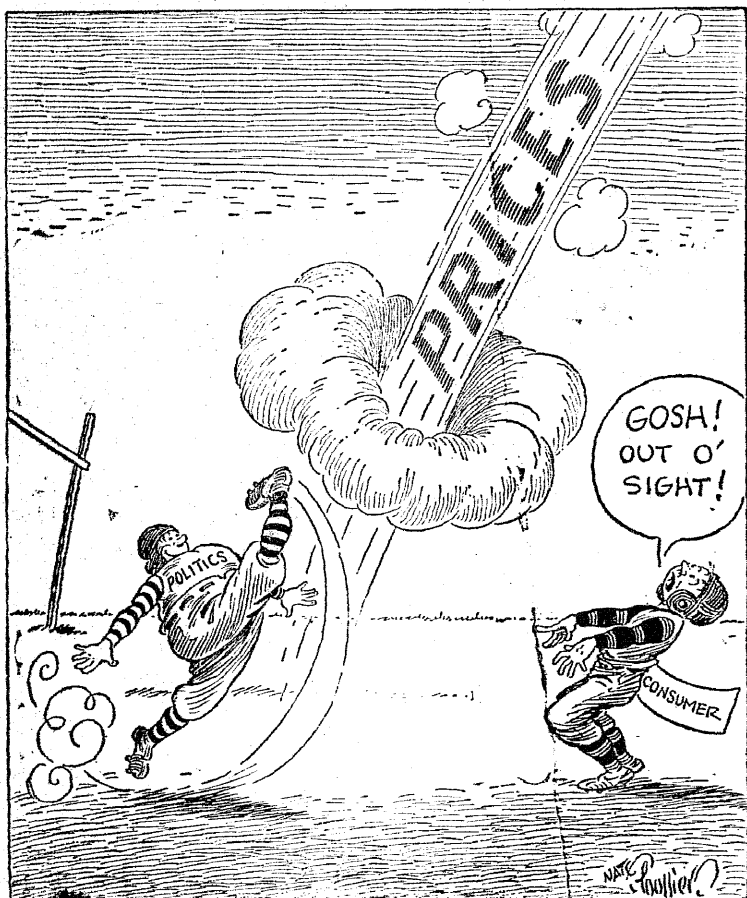

We are glad to note this because a month or so ago editorially this newspaper said: "Get the Pike Open!" The loss of time and thousands of dollars a day were cited. "Put more men to work, but get the pike open." Remember?

Well, the Pike is going to be opened—December 1, if the Hudson and Bergen freeholders, who met Friday in Jersey City, keep their word.

A GOOD SIGN

What a fine piece of news it is that less than one per cent of all toys being manufactured for Christmas are military. In view of the fact that children demand that their toys be the instruments of the grown-up world, the information is encouraging. Surely the agitation for peace which started the day after the World War ended and still continues, has achieved one purpose. Battle has been shorn of its glamor. The utensils of peace have more appeal to the young than the weapons of war. In spite of wars going on and rumors of wars to be, we should take hope from the attitude of those who one day shall take our places in the world, that our dreams of a world more sane and sensible have not been in vain.

By "GUARDIAN"

After all, you know, this IS a Democracy in which we live—and despite the dire predictions of Lord McCauley and many others that our form of government could not exist—and despite the reputed castigations of the European dictators upon our form of government, it has been a pretty good government and has brought to our country progress such as the world has never before known—and to our people, a standard of living beyond compare. It is well that we keep that in mind.

And what is a Democracy? Well, as we understand it, a Democracy is "a government of the people, by the people, for the people" in which a majority of the people who VOTE get what they want.

Now that's something that we should all remember. That's something that the opponents of the New Deal should remember.

That's something that the folks like ourselves who are distraught at Clee's defeat should remember—and something that the Big Business critics and little business critics—the Bankers and the Wall Street men should remember as they vent their daily spleen against the President and all of his doings.

This IS a Democracy!—And though many of us feel that many of the things that are being done today are not for OUR good—and though some of us (tinged we fear, now and then with selfishness) feel that what is being done is certainly not for the ultimate good of the country—it is best that we all realize that the only way our view point can prevail is to get a majority of the people who vote to see things as we see them. Until we do, small hope will prevail. When we do, then things will be as we want them, and not until then.

So why not seek CONSTRUCTIVE education of the people to get a majority on our side—and shun destructive criticism?

If we can put aside personal prejudice, why not sit down and try to list the things that our present national administration has done that we would have done had it been our job—and also the things that we would not have done—and reorient our perspective.

Let's try it!

Had the wheel of fate placed us in a position of key responsibility for the national welfare in the past five years (always remembering that the easiest kind of sight is HIND sight) we certainly would have:

- Straightened out the banking situation—and insured bank deposits;
  - Borrowed money to relieve distress through Work Relief;
  - Tried to "prime the pump" by borrowing against our future income in order to make jobs and relieve unemployment through the construction of necessary and useful public works;
  - Corrected the ruinous rapacious side of the stock market that "led the lambs to slaughter" and made of the stock market the world's greatest gamble;
  - Tried to improve slum conditions;
  - Tried to raise the average standard of living in this country—which is the same as saying—try to improve working conditions;
  - Tried to prevent future controllable calamities such as floods—by spending public funds and giving needed employment in reforestation and in the construction of flood control works.
- And (still remembering how easy is hind sight), we believe that we would NOT have:
- Attempted to regulate the basic law of supply and demand and plowed crops under and slaughtered millions of animals on the theory of "an economy of scarcity."
  - Attempted to regiment all industry through the NRA;
  - Fought ALL business and arraigned ALL business against us just because some business was rotten;
  - Built National Power projects just to slap the "power interests" when there is already an abundance of power available;
  - Sold out to labor (so as to hurt business) and array class against class.
  - Create an unnecessary large army of governmental employees so as to entrench my party in power;
  - Just because we couldn't have our own way by constitutional means, tried to pack the Supreme Court so that we could have our own way willy nilly!

When a majority of the VOTERS become convinced that the things that they would NOT have done outweigh in sum total of importance the things that they WOULD HAVE DONE—then we will have a change—and not until then!

It is best that we remember that! And, of course, if we are not sufficiently interested to VOTE, we have no right to say anything.

Yours for this land of ours,
"GUARDIAN."

RED TAPE

When a resident of Continental avenue appeared before the Town Commission Tuesday night requesting that a traffic light be placed at Joramemon street and Franklin avenue, a dangerous traffic intersection, Public Safety Director George R. Gerard explained, as he has on several occasions in the past, that the town can not place the light without first consulting county officials in whose jurisdiction Franklin avenue comes.

Mr. Gerard would like to assist local residents who make such requests as would the entire commission, but the board finds its hands tied. What a pity!

It is about time that somebody cut loose the red tape in such matters, which also applies to state highways. When a municipality can not proceed to place lights at dangerous intersections within town limits without all the pros and cons attendant thereto, it is the height of something or other. It is a matter of life and death. We would tell the county and state to go for a kite and place the lights where needed, regardless of red tape. To slightly alter a popular song: "We'd Turn on the Light and go to Bed."

PIQUANT POLITICS

By MEADOR WRIGHT

SO bewildering were the cross currents of the recent election that, even now, political analysts are unable to understand their true significance. But a study of the curious mass behavior of the New Jersey electorate makes two conclusions almost inevitable: First, had the Democrats had any candidate other than Moore they would have lost. Second, had Clee had anything like a united party back of him in the populous northern counties of Union, Bergen, Essex, and Middlesex, he would have won despite Moore.

These two conclusions are as significant as they are obvious. Taken together they seem to point to a definite reversal of the long Democratic trend in the state—a trend that began in 1931 when the ominous shadows of depression swallowed up the temporary prestige that Dwight W. Morrow had brought his party.

As one political leader put it to me both tersely and ironically: "...for New Jersey Republicans, at least, the depression is over." Whether these brighter Republican skies reflect a lessened confidence in the Democratic state organization, or whether they merely tell that the public is worried about the sudden business recession and its accompanying wave of unemployment is not entirely clear.

But the 700,000 votes given Dr. Clee last Tuesday made a greater impression in Jersey City than in any other nook of the state. Democratic strategists are worried. There is no doubt about that. But their apprehension is tempered by the realization that in many respects the situation that confronts them is less difficult than that of the Republicans. As he has been for the past decade, Governor-elect Moore is both the symbol and substance of Democratic hope. His leadership is challenged by no important party group within the state. His tenure of office gives his party three long years in which to perfect a strategy that will win back public confidence that seemed to be waning on November 2.

Even with this bulwark of protection, however, Mayor Hague and his staff are moving soberly and cautiously. In various places throughout the state, meetings are being held and souls are being searched. Even now plans are being made for the 1940 Gubernatorial election. So important does this election loom that it is not an exaggeration to say that practically everything else is being subordinated to it, not the least being the appointment that must be made to replace Moore in the United States Senate.

Thus, when I take the readers of this column into active speculation as to who will be the Democratic candidate to succeed Moore as Governor, I am not rushing the season. An understanding of this question is necessary to understand general strategy. This Democratic candidate for Governor must have one basic qualification: integrity that cannot be successfully challenged by Dr. Clee, most likely Republican candidate three years hence. The Newark minister's recent oratorical pilgrimage around the state made a deep impression in Democratic circles. Mayor Hague knows a dangerous opponent when he sees one. Likewise he knows the handicaps that faced Clee in the recent election. Clee, with three years more experience behind him, may be an entirely different candidate from the resolute but somewhat bewildered amateur that almost plucked victory from seemingly certain defeat in the hectic campaign that has just ended.

Scanning the political horizon I can see only one man who seems to have the qualities that Hague needs so desperately for 1940. This man is Charles Edison of West Orange. Here is a potential candidate that Dr. Clee with all his eloquence could not effectively brand as being a product of the Hague machine. Actually, he has turned down repeated pleas from Hague that he run for office under his tutelage. The last was in 1936, when Hague journeyed to Edison's home in Llewellyn Park and all but begged him to come to the aid of the party.

Likewise, Edison has always been a Roosevelt adherent, while Hague is known to be lukewarm to New Deal philosophy. Again, Edison could claim with plausibility should he seek the Governorship that Roosevelt rather than Hague was the inspiration of his candidacy. He would very likely seek the office from the vantage point of one of Roosevelt's cabinet members, for it is all but conceded that he will succeed Claude A. Swanson as Secretary of the Navy.

There are two flaws in this hypothesis of Edison's candidacy. First, the New Deal may not look like a winning issue in New Jersey three years hence, even though Roosevelt, himself, should be his party's candidate. Second, Edison's often expressed reluctance to seeking elective office may be more sincere than many believe. But Dr. Clee and other Republican leaders cannot with prudence rule him out. His assets are too many and his liabilities too few.

Washington Snapshots

by JAMES PRESTON

If all the chuckles which have filled the air around Washington the last few days could be converted into one big laugh, it would shatter all the window panes on the Atlantic seaboard.

Everybody but John L. Lewis and William Green and their followers is laughing. Those two gentlemen aren't, because they are the cause of all the merriment.

The story is as simple as it is funny. Both Lewis and Green have talked for years about the merits of collective bargaining. Their big sales point has been that when groups of workers joined together and selected committees to bargain for them they always got somewhere.

And only a few months ago, both these men expressed vociferous amazement that anybody would agree to sit and talk—bargain collectively—and not reach an agreement.

So when the A. F. of L. and the C.I.O. named small committees to get together to see if they could end the scrap between these two labor organizations, they were bargaining collectively. What happened? Each of the two committees made ridiculous propositions to the other. Naturally, neither would accept them. Yet neither committee wanted to be charged with breaking up this great "peace" move.

So the two committees, unable to reach an agreement through collective bargaining, fell back upon the great old stall of "recessing" and said a lot of nasty things about each other. This drew almost as many laughs as the serious attempt in the House Labor Committee not long ago to exempt labor union employees from the wage-hour bill.

If anybody has doubts about how living costs are on the up and up, some figures just published by the National Industrial Conference Board, an independent fact-finding agency, should straighten them out. The Board reported that "real wages of factory employees—their purchasing power—dropped 1.6 per cent during September solely because of an increase in the cost of living during the month."

Despite that, the purchasing power of the earnings of factory workers was still 7.6 per cent higher than at the peak of things in September, 1929. Yet if the cost of living keeps going up, that again will be wiped out in less than five months.

In this connection, folks who take it for granted that the wage-hour bill is going to zip through Congress like the man on the flying trapeze had better start thinking over again. The Conference Board's figures reflect a couple of good reasons: They show how fast living costs are rising anyhow, and they show that it isn't necessary to pass a law saying a worker's purchasing power must be increased—it is increased just naturally without some man far off in a swivel chair saying it must.

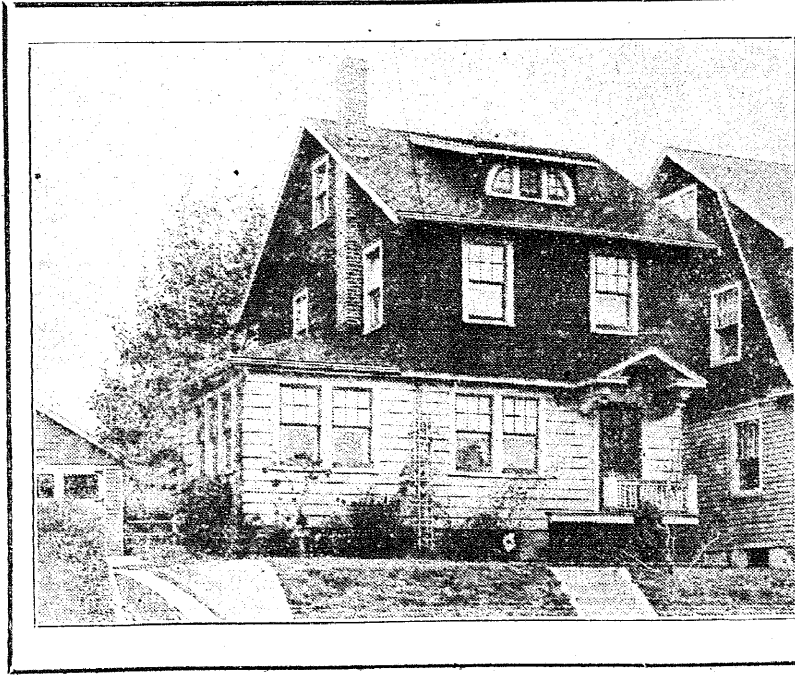

As more and more members of Congress come back for the special session, it becomes increasingly apparent that no tangible or potent group supports the bill. Labor unions don't, employers don't, and the millions of farmers and just ordinary consumers are insisting in greater numbers every day, according to reports from their Congressmen, that the cost of living is going up fast enough without a new law to boot it along.

In the SPOTLIGHT

Leon Feldstein.

Senior, Belleville High School.

Another Friday dawns and all other things save "In the Spotlight" are forgotten.

Within a few days the Belleville Institute of Public Affairs will present another program devoted to affairs of public interest.

Three men, well known in public affairs, are slated to appear and we are sure that something of material value can be gained by all persons who plan to attend.

Last month's program had a "full house" for its audience, at the first session, and there is great promise of an even larger aggregation this time.

The subject to be discussed is one of vital interest to every conscientious American citizen.

As they say it in the old town, "see you November 17 at the Belleville Institute of Public Affairs."

See Coming Events in the Belleville News as to the location for the event.

At 3 P. M. today the Holland Tunnel becomes exactly ten years old.

When it was first built there was some talk of charging passage through only until the expense of building had been fully taken care of. The charge was set at fifty cents.

But now, a decade later, the price is still fifty cents. If it is impossible to discontinue the toll, why not lower the price?

Japan, as the American vernacular has it, "is sure going to town" in Chinese territory.

She has not become satisfied with the acquisition in the past of Chosen and Manchuria, so she has started going after more of her neighbor's territory. It now appears that practically the whole of China will be thrown under the sway of Japanese dominance.

What will Japan do with all of this newly acquired land? There are quite a few answers to that question. Here is our opinion in the matter.

"Japan is adding more territory to her rule in an effort to gain a greater supply of raw materials and to increase her number of subjects. Both of these factors are important where war is concerned."

Our guess is that Japan is seeking the power to set herself up as the ruler of the whole world, thus placing all other nations on earth under her sway.

Kansas City comes to the fore this week as one of the safest cities in our nation.

Statistics of the community show that not one child fatality has been caused directly by an automobile for thirteen months.

Many factions refused to believe the report, but its authenticity was definitely proven.

If Kansas City can do it, why can't the rest of the towns and cities accomplish such safety.

This record can easily be beaten by a number of cities if lectures and exhibitions on vehicular safety were given and what is most important, if the drivers would do away with that demon of the road called recklessness.

May Doll Up Old

Hospital Buildings

Freeholders Hear of Plan to Revamp Three Old Structures

Plans for improvements to three original buildings in the Essex County Hospital for contagious disease group were approved Tuesday by the hospital committee of the Board of Freeholders, meeting at the institution. Dr. Ellis L. Smith, superintendent of the hospital, who submitted the program, estimated the cost at $150,000.

The plans were referred to the finance committee, which will decide what part of the improvements to make next year and what will be done later. This will be in keeping with ideas of Finance Chairman Burnett, who asked heads of county institutions to submit plans for capital improvements and needed equipment so they could be made part of a long-range program.

The three buildings at the hospital were built thirty years ago. Two of them, housing patients, need new flooring, plumbing, wiring and equipment, and the other, for male employees, needs new plumbing.

Henry H. Berg, superintendent of plants and structures, told the committee the buildings were badly in need of repair and could not be kept clean. Complete modernization was necessary, he said, adding that temporary repair work did not help.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Magee Issues

Reminders in Compulsory Inspection Law

Outlines to Motorists What Is To Be Required in Movement Aimed, It Is Said, To Decrease Road Mishaps

As a guide to the million car owners who will be required by law to present their motor vehicles at state operated stations twice yearly for safety inspection, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Arthur W. Magee today issued a list of things expected of every vehicle before it can receive an approval sticker.

The list includes both mechanical conditions and equipment called for by law as to head lamps, tail lamps, auxiliary lamps, brakes, license plates, horns, windshields, mirrors, reflectors, steering operation, mufflers and wiring. All these conditions and equipment will be inspected at the stations and the requirements are announced for the information of owners desirous of putting their cars in shape before inspection.

"We feel that publication of this list will acquaint the public with what is expected in cars to pass inspection," said the Commissioner. "The wise owner will get his car in shape before presenting it at the station and thereby avoid the possibility of having it rejected and the necessity of a re-inspection."

Notices will be mailed shortly to the owners of all registered automobiles advising where and when to present cars for inspection. Cars must be presented at the station only during the time period set out in the notice, it being Commissioner Magee's desire to avoid congestion and delay that will occur unless this policy is carried out.

Speaking of the value of safety inspection, Commissioner Magee says that it will be welcomed by the owner who wants his car to be safe and according to law (which group constitutes the great majority) and will serve as a persuasive influence on the indifferent owner who permits the safety features of his car to get out of order despite the constant danger an unsafe vehicle presents to himself and other users of the highways.

Following is a tentative list of mechanical and equipment requirements necessary in connection with safety inspection:

Head Lamps.

Head lamps must be of an approved type. Lenses improperly installed, unmatched, broken or badly cracked will be cause for rejection.

Another cause of rejection will be unduly low output. This may be due to old bulbs, low voltage or poor reflectors. The maximum permissible candle power of any bulb will be 32 candlepower.

Lamps of the focusing type will be expected to be in focus. In the case of multiple beam headlamps, the following provisions of Subdivision 9, Section 7, of the Motor Vehicle Act will apply:

"Approved multiple-beam headlamps shall be so arranged that the driver may select at will between different distributions of light subject to the following requirements and limitations:

"There shall be an uppermost distribution of light, or composite beam, so aimed and of such intensity as to reveal persons and vehicles at a distance of at least 350 feet ahead for all conditions of loading. The maximum intensity of this uppermost distribution of light or composite beam one degree of arc or more above the horizontal level of the lamps when the vehicle is not loaded shall not exceed 8,000 apparent candlepower, and at no other point of the distribution of light or composite beam shall there be an intensity of more than 75,000 apparent candlepower.

"There shall be a lowermost distribution of light, or composite beam, so aimed that when the vehicle is not loaded, none of the high-intensity portion of the light which is directed to the left of the prolongation of the extreme left side of the vehicle shall, at a distance of twenty-five feet ahead, project higher than a level of ten inches below the level of the center of the lamp from which it comes. When the vehicle is not loaded, none of the high intensity portion of the light which is directed to the right of the prolongation of the extreme left side of the vehicle shall, at a distance of twenty-five feet ahead, project higher than a level of five inches below the level of the center of the lamp from which it comes. In no event shall any of the high-intensity of such lowermost distribution of light or composite beam project higher than a level of forty-two inches above the level on which the vehicle stands at a distance of seventy-five feet ahead.

"Where an intermediate beam is provided and used, when the vehicle is not loaded none of the high-intensity portion of the light which is directed to the left of the prolongation of the extreme left side of the vehicle, shall at a distance of twenty-five feet ahead, project higher than a level of ten inches below the level of the center of the lamp from which it comes.

"All road lighting beams shall be so aimed and of sufficient intensity to reveal a person or vehicle at a distance of at least 100 feet ahead."

In the case of single beam head lamps, the following provisions of Subdivision 8 will apply:

"Approved single beam head lamps shall be so aimed that when the vehicle is not loaded none of the high-intensity portion of the light shall at a distance of twenty-five feet ahead project higher than a level of five inches below the level of the center of the lamp from which it comes. The rear lamp or a separate lamp must be so constructed and placed as to illuminate with a white light the rear registration marker and render it clearly visible from a distance of fifty feet to the rear."

ent or semi-transparent material. Glass is tabooed because of the danger in the event of an accident and because it impairs the legibility of the plate.

Horns.

The horn must operate properly when engine is running and headlamps are on. The horn must be audible for a distance of not less than 200 feet. Unreasonably loud or harsh sounds or a whistle are forbidden. Sirens, whistles or bells will not be permitted on any motor vehicles except those specifically permitted in the Act.

Steering Operation.

Excessive play in the steering wheel, looseness in front end and steering mechanism, loose king pins, worn drag link, broken or very weak springs or other dangerous defects in front end and steering mechanism will be cause for rejection.

Muffler and Exhaust System.

The exhaust system and muffler must be in safe condition, free from leaks and tightly secured. Muffler cut-outs, by-pass, or other similar devices are forbidden.

Wiring.

Sloppy wiring that might be a fire hazard or result in failure of some lighted unit will not be approved. Failure of headlamps due to defective wiring is extremely hazardous and may result in serious injury or fatality.

COMPULSORY INSPECTION LAW

THE OPPOSITE SIDE OF THE PICTURE

By J. ALDEN De RONDE

For those who are inclined to question the motives prompting the author of these articles dealing with the compulsory inspection law, let it be known that the law was enacted over his warnings and those of many authorities, that car inspection would not decrease road mishaps by more than five per cent and if it did become law the fourteen million dollars then constituting the state highway fund and pledged to highway purposes, should be used to defray the expense of operating the law.

It was argued by the opponents of this proposed law, that the minimum cost of its operation to the motorists would be about one million dollars per year, which was an excessive amount to assess an already over-taxed class of citizens for a "possible" five per cent decrease in road mishaps.

The truthfulness of these contentions will be made evident to you through your local newspaper which, in its determination to guard the interests of our citizens and reveal all available facts for your consideration, will bring to you several articles regarding this imposition known as the compulsory inspection law.

Many qualified authorities have supported our claim that less than five per cent of the accidents and deaths occurring on our highways result from mechanical defects and, for that reason, it may logically be contended that the 200 additional patrolmen, now advocated by the instigators of compulsory inspection should have been authorized, not to pull the inspection scheme out of the mire it now wallows in, but "in place of" that inept measure.

J. Alden De Ronde

The authorities had been shown, however, certain possibilities in compulsory inspection which interested them and they decided to "give it a whirl" at your expense and mine.

Their action was not retarded any by certain distributors of automotive parts and equipment who got behind the movement in hopes of securing the contract for providing the equipment for the twenty-eight proposed inspection stations.

Nor was the proposal endangered by the timely election of a Governor who, it is rumored, owed the success of his campaign, in large measure, to these same equipment dealers.

A Governor who stated on one oc-casian, "the motorists are taxed twice for those services of government which are the responsibility of 'all' the people."

With the full knowledge that accidents increased on Chicago's parkways while compulsory inspection was operative in that city—

Knowing that the motor vehicle authorities in New York State had made a detailed study of the possibilities in such legislation and declared the idea "virtually worthless" as a safety measure, and with the results of an intelligently directed survey of highway conditions by the Bergen County Safety Council indicating that compulsory mechanical inspection was entirely uncalculated for the Governor and our motor vehicle authorities persisted in their determination to place this law in operation at the earliest possible moment.

It is discriminatory legislation. It has been proven worthless as a safety measure.

It will prove more costly to the motorist and the taxpayers than even the authorities can foresee.

But who cares for the cost? If "you" do, encourage your local newspaper in its efforts to arouse public opinion against this racket by dropping a card to the editor.

Meaning—the Most Modern Automobile in the World is the new 1938 Buick—with DYNAFASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING

IF YOU'VE put a sparkling 1938 Buick through its thrilling paces—And tried to say in words what this standout car's got—

And found to your surprise you couldn't begin to do it justice—

Listen, don't think you're the only one!

"It's gotta lotta ummph!" say trier-outers vainly trying to express all the marvelous things they've felt.

"Ummph!" meaning zip—flash—power. "Ummph!" meaning all you ever expected to find in a car—and a great deal else in addition!

Fact is—demonstration, not conversation, is the thing to describe this new Buick.

To say it's quick—nimble—agile is to do only fractional justice to its DYNAFASH engine and what it does every time you touch off its thrifty power.

To call its TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride velvety is only to participate its ride. Use the words jar-less, level, floating, serene—and you come a little closer.

But still you neglect the directability this car gets from its new rear springing, the reduced risk of skidding, the simpler maintenance, and longer rear tire wear that go with it.

No, you can't cram a new Buick into words—only its action can tell its story.

And wherever there's a Buick dealer there's a chance to try this great car out—now, today!

DIAL WELL WITH BILL TREADWELL

OF WOR

CELEBRATIONS: Radio has been known as an infant in the trade of entertainment...Vaudeville being the oldest as it started many thousands years ago in the far off hills of Europe...But today this same art has been handed down to the present radio and screen artists...Many of whom have gained international fame through it...Last month the nation was honoring Eddie Cantor, one of the most loved figures in the public eye...This month, the month of November, and the brightest of all fall months, this same nation is honoring Uncle Don Carney of WOR, the pioneer children's entertainer of the world...Children have loved his psychology for the past ten years...Children have grown up with his home-like teaching...and now from coast to coast, this pioneer children's entertainer was feted on Wednesday, November 10 with a major show at the WOR Mutual Playhouse in the New Amsterdam Theatre in New York City...Two hundred children participated in this show: Some of radio's best loved personages were there to shake Uncle Don's hand, among them we spotted Bob Emory, director of the children's Rainbow House; Bill McCune, Mutual Maestro; John Gambling, the Waker Upper; Eddie Davis, night club singer; Vaughn DeLeath, pioneer songbird; Alfred McCann, noted food expert; Tony Wons, the pleasing poet; Jerry Baker, cyclonic singer; George Price, the Wall Street entertainer; Benny Davis, conductor of the Stardust Revue...Pick and Pat, radio minstrel men; Ray Perkins, radio comic; Vincent Laydell, Bill McCune's singer.

You probably wonder why I devote a whole column to this personage. I have known him personally for the past six years. I have traveled in his giant Lincoln cars. I have had dinner with him in New York's swankiest clubs...I have admired his humor. His wit. His personality. And if you were as close to him as I have been, you could fully understand why and how some five million children here in the East clamor for his advice and good wishes.

Don Carney...you have won the esteem of millions in this country and abroad and the testimonial given you in the form of a Parchment Scroll at your celebration was way of the artists and entertainers of the entire world show a bit of their love for you.

Bill McCune should be complimented on the way he arranged for the entertainers to be present and the children's show with about the largest cast ever assembled, was also tops.

Uncle Don's personal secretary should receive a mention. She has been with him for the past eight years...the eight hardest of Uncle Don's ten. We salute Etta Trost, too. I hope I will see the day when Uncle Don celebrates his twenty-fifth year.

Cantor Comedy Comes To Proctor's, Newark

"Ali Baba Goes To Town"
Is Now Playing There

Eddie Cantor's newest starring musical production, "Ali Baba Goes To Town," with Tony Martin, Roland Young, June Lang and Louise Hovick, is now playing at Proctor's Theatre, Newark. The program also has "Dangerously Yours," with Caesar Romero and Phyllis Brooks.

Cantor, in "Ali Baba," is walking across a desert when a band of Arabs charges down upon him. He is trampled into the sand and, upon awakening, finds himself in Bagdad, where the Sultan (Young) proclaims him Ali Baba's son.

Among the troubles of the Sultan is his daughter's (Miss Lang) love for Martin, who is not of royal blood. Eddie attempts to settle this problem, and also advises Young to set up a republic. But the Sultan (Miss Hovick) is angry because he will not become her confidant, so she convinces the Sultan that Eddie is a traitor.

In the picture are new Gordon and Revel tunes: "Swing is Here to Stay," "I've Got My Heart Set on You," "Vote for Honest Abe" and "Laugh Your Way Through Life." These are presented by Cantor, Tony Martin, the Raymond Scott quintet and the Peters Sisters.

"Dangerously Yours" is a story of transporting the Omar diamond to the United States. A band of thieves have conspired to steal it, but they are afraid a rival (Romero) will get it before they do. They declare themselves in on his work. But Romero finds that Miss Brooks, with whom he is in love, is also trying to steal the gem. In the cast are Jane Darwell, Alan Dinehart and Natalie Garson.

No Flat Feet But He's Always a Cop

Two years ago James Burke laid aside his badge and night stick and swore he'd be a cop no more.

Then along came Samuel Goldwyn and offered him the cop part in "Dead End" and it was such a good one the actor couldn't turn it down.

Burke hasn't always been a policeman. For years he was a vaudevillian, a singer of dialect songs.

Four years ago, he went to Hollywood and took his wife, his baby, his mother and his father-in-law along. Burke hasn't flat feet, but he looks like a policeman. He tried to convince the casting directors he was a dialect comedian, tried for six whole months, while his nest egg melted. Then one night he came home and told his wife he'd taken a part. Yes, he was playing a cop.

He played one cop after another for eighteen months. Then called a halt and played Swedes, westerners, Irishmen, and Italians—but no cops—until the Goldwyn offer came along. In "Dead End" he supports Sylvia Sydney and Joel McCrea. The film is released through United Artists.

Uncle Pete and Louise have thousands of friends who listen to them and their fan mail is as great as that of any other performer in the metropolitan area. They present a program of old time songs and homely philosophy, unaffected, simple and genuine. In addition to their radio program, they have made personal appearances in over a thousand New Jersey communities, churches, schools and before local organizations.

UNCLE PETE AND LOUISE

Stars at Lincoln

Jane Withers, as a little harum-scarum, who tries so hard to be good but just doesn't know how, plays her most appealing role in "Wild and Woolly" at the Lincoln Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. "Vogues of 1938" is also on the bill.

Films at Capitol

The stirring history of the discovery of oil and the development of the oil industry in America serves as a background for the strange romance of Irene Dunne and Randolph Scott in "High, Wide and Handsome," which is filmed today and tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre. The love between Scott, hard-bitten farmer of indomitable will, and Miss Dunne, a gay, light-hearted carnival singer, which is accented and abetted by the haunting music of Jerome Kern, makes one of the most absorbing stories the screen has seen.

It's "candid-camera night" in Manhattan's gayest cabaret when death writes the last entry in a night-club singer's diary and Charlie Chan finds his grimmest mystery stalking the killer through the brightest spots of the Great White Way in his latest Twenty Century-Fox film adventure, "Charlie Chan On Broadway," which plays at the same time at the Capitol Theatre with Warner Oland again playing the keen Oriental sleuth.

Although the picture was made in Hollywood, you'll hear real East River noises when Samuel Goldwyn's production of "Dead End" begins a three-day engagement, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with Sylvia Sydney and Joel McCrea sharing stellar honors.

Among the numerous attractions offered by the new musical, "This Way, Please," which plays Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, as the co-feature, are four new songs, destined to be nation-wide hits. The music for "This Way, Please" goes a long way to add to the splendid entertainment afforded by the film, which is the lightest and gayest of the season's new musicals.

The songs are essential parts of the story, and are spotted all through the picture, being sung in and around the theatre in which most of the action takes place.

Deanna Durbin, who rose to screen fame in "Three Smart Girls," will be starred in her second picture, Universal's "100 Men and a Girl," a comedy drama with music which opens Wednesday and runs Thursday Friday and Saturday. Featured with Deanna Durbin is Leopold Stokowski, famous conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony.

A second feature is "Back In Circulation."

Uncle Pete and Louise arrived in Newark over six years ago. They had driven in an old car from their home in Missouri, thinking that their hill billy songs might be popular in the effete east. Within half an hour after they arrived they had been signed for the program on which they still appear. Newark has been their home ever since.

WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD FOR YOU?

How many students have thought about the future? What will they do after graduation from high school? Will they go to college? A few people do have that chance, but some of those few do not avail themselves of the golden opportunity. They would rather get out of school and stay out.

Little do they think of former students who said that same thing years before and are now sorry.

If you cannot go to college, try to decide upon a future occupation and then do your best to prepare yourself for it!

In choosing your schedule of subjects, select those that will give you the most knowledge in connection with your chosen occupation. Always remember that a high credit rating never hurt any one and has helped many on their way to future happiness and success.

MORE NEWS WANTED

We would greatly appreciate it if the student body would cooperate with us in our quest of news.

If anyone thinks that he has something of news value for us, let him merely tell a staff member about it and the item will be capably attended to.

If this scheme is carried out properly our page will cause widespread interest and it will be a great factor in promoting the fame of both our school and community.

BELLEVILLE HIGH AT THE TOP

If a rating of the best schools in New Jersey were taken, we think that Belleville High would rank a position at or extremely near the top.

There are many qualifications needed to rank high but our new building and excellent faculty provide more than enough credits.

Consider primarily our football coaching squad. Then ponder over our classical faculty department. Finally think about Belleville High School's advanced teaching methods and there you have it, "Belleville High, the best in New Jersey."

A LITTLE ASSISTANCE, PLEASE!

With this issue we enter into our third week of publication. Our success has been wholeheartedly assured by many intelligent sources and the response of the students has indeed been gratifying.

There is one item, however, that is not so pleasing. We would like to run a correspondence column, but how can we if no one sends us any letters? Get out your pen, ink and paper, fellow students, and send us some long, long notes. Your parents can send us letters, too!

We'll welcome anyone's correspondence. One rule—write legibly on one side of the paper.

Know Your Teachers

Mr. Samuel Blair.
 Mr. Blair teaches advanced book-keeping and commercial law in room 209. He is a graduate of Woodbury High School and Trenton State Teachers' College. He also took advanced courses at Rutgers University and the University of Newark. While in high school he gained a letter in track and participated in intra-mural athletics.

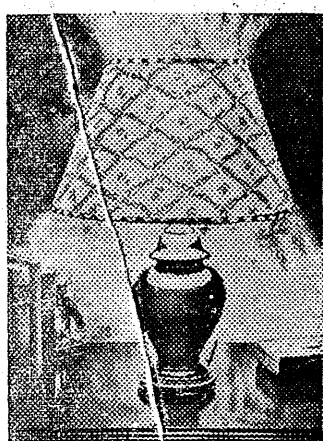

Mr. Blair enjoys golf, and when the time is ripe, turns to fishing. His favorite hobby, however, is bowling.

and his life ambition is to bowl 200, a score which he modestly states is a long way off.

At 7 o'clock each evening he can be found at the radio listening to his favorite sports commentator, Stan Lomax. When that is completed he hopes for some of Maestro Goodman's classical arrangements. Without a doubt he favors Bob Burns as an actor, but when it comes to his favorite actress there is a toss-up between Shirley Temple and Martha Raye.

Mr. Blair has a very high opinion of our school and our student body. He likes the way the students back the football team, whether they are up or down. His work here is a pleasure to him because the pupils are interested in their work and show that they are here for the purpose of learning. He admires the cooperative attitude on the part of the students and their display of good school spirit.

Election Stirs Interest In Teachers' Conclave

Belleville Schools on Holiday to Allow Participation At Atlantic City

Interest in the annual convention of the New Jersey State Teachers' Association that opens in Atlantic City today is intensified by the announcement of the Progressive Teachers' League that it will place in nomination a full state of classroom teachers for all-state offices. Belleville schools are closed until Monday to allow participation. The election will be held Monday morning.

Helen G. Stevenson of Newark is chairman of the league. Its candidates are:

For president, Walter O. Ettinger, president Camden Teachers' Association; for first vice president, Gertrude Hamilton, chairman Newark Teachers' Association; for second vice president, Edward E. Carroll, past president West New York Teachers' Association; for secretary, William L. Eldredge, president Freehold (Monmouth County) Teachers' Association; for treasurer, Mabel N. Updegrave, teacher in Lawrence Township (Mercer County); for railroad secretary, Nance O'Brien, teacher in Garfield (Bergen County); for members of executive committee, Kenneth M. Frisbi, president Pleasantville (Atlantic County) Teachers' Association; Eleanor Shuster, teacher in Clifton (Passaic County); and Katherine Varlese, teacher in Kearny (Hudson County).

Affiliation of local teachers' associations with the state association is one of the demands made by the Progressive League in its platform, which is as follows:

Amendment of Teacher Tenure Law to make it enforceable throughout the state by instructing State Commissioner of Education to withhold state school money from school districts in which teachers are not allowed to obtain tenure.

A graduated income tax to replace present state school tax on real estate.

A law relieving teachers and school employees of personal liability for injury to pupils to same extent that persons in private employment are relieved of such liability.

Pledging members of Congress from New Jersey to vote for bills for Federal aid for state school systems and for adult education and public forums.

A state salary schedule for teachers with a minimum number of minimum annual increments.

Repeal of teachers' loyalty oath law.

A state law giving sabbatical years to all teachers, as in Pennsylvania, and other leaves of absence that are given to state civil service employees.

Immediate democratization of State Teachers' Association through:

a. A constitutional convention next spring to consider all proposed reorganization plans and submit plan adopted to referendum of membership for approval; b. Nomination of state officers by petition, and election by Hare system of proportional representation; c. Affiliation of local and district associations with state association.

Establishment of a research and information bureau in State Department of Education.

Cooperation with National Education Association to educate for an amendment to Federal constitution to provide that war shall be declared only by vote of the people, except in case of invasion.

Book Week

Book week will be observed next week, November 15-19. Miss Wishart, the librarian, plans something very novel.

The English classes will go to the library to learn about the books and where to find them. It is hoped that this will make Belleville high students book conscious. Perhaps by seeing the books and becoming acquainted with the librarian and the library, the students will take more interest in this part of their school life. Book week appears to be a great success.

Football Team Picture To Appear on Program for South Side Game Here

The program of the South Side Thanksgiving game will have a photograph of the football team on the cover, John Charlton, printing teacher, has announced. Programs have been printed for all the home games in the print shop.

The program for the Good Counsel game had pictures of Herman Wische and Leonard Katchell, the team assistants coaches, on the cover.

On the Bloomfield program was a drawing of a back, carrying the ball.

A poem, "Everlasting Teamwork" was framed between the goal posts and a football player superimposed on the West Side program.

The ball carrier is being tackled for the program of this week's West Orange game.

All Football Players Will Be Admitted Without Charge

Tomorrow night will be the occasion of another senior class sponsored dance. The affair will be held in connection with the West Orange football game, tomorrow afternoon. All members of the football team will be admitted free of charge.

A well known orchestra will be on hand to furnish numbers in the manner for which they have earned a high reputation.

Feud Develops Over Basketball Supremacy

Members of Royals and Cobras Are Not on Speaking Terms

A feud is in progress in the high school between two basketball teams, which have issued challenges to each other, but nothing has been done about it.

The teams are the Royals and the Cobras. The members of each team refuse to speak to each other.

Quiet reigns whenever a member of one team meets a member of the other.

A mighty battle is expected to take place when they accept each other's challenge, preferably at the Cobra's court.

The Interrogator

Belleville vs. Nutley.

Our question this week is a somewhat debatable subject:

What is your opinion on the resumption of athletic relations between Nutley and Belleville High School?

Jacob Levine—(Creator of "Bellowing About Belleville.")

Yes, there is no reason in my mind why Nutley and Belleville shouldn't play football and other sports as they used to do.

Just because some fellows had a little mix up a few years ago is no reason why we must suffer for their conduct. I say, bury the hatchet and start all over again.

Both towns will benefit immensely.

Katherine Connell—Yes. Because it promotes good sportsmanship with nearby towns.

It would attract a great many people at games because of the short distance between the two towns and financial success is assured.

Alice Lynas—I think it would be a very good idea to renew sports relationship between Nutley and Belleville High Schools.

The pupils would be interested because of their friendships with the pupils of Nutley High School. Furthermore, it would bring back memories of bygone days to the football fans of Belleville and Nutley.

Thomas Lockwood—I am in favor of a clash between the teams of Nutley and Belleville. I believe that the game would draw a large crowd and that the teams would be able to show their stuff after the fine showing both made this year.

Domestic Science Activities

Preparation for Thanksgiving Outstanding.

The students are learning how to cook typical Thanksgiving foods. The instructors make use of the abundant foods. As apples are abundant, they are learning how to make apple desserts.

One girl is taking care of Norman Cotter's rats, according to strict diet. Before this one of the rats was quite ill. Now he is better. Miss Eleanor Allison is teacher.

Back to School Night.

Aprons and towels were made for the parents. Both mothers and fathers donned them.

Previous to this the girls prepared ice box cookies. The parents baked and cut them. They also had colored ribbon sandwiches which the parents arranged.

The parents were called to attention a couple times during the evening just as students are called to attention. Every one had a good time.

Ironing Demonstration.

This demonstration was given to teach the girls the proper way to iron men's shirts and women's dresses.

Camel Song.

A song was made up to cure girls from sitting at a table with a hump. It is entitled, "The Camel Song."

Are you a camel,

A flip-floppy camel

And say, "Have you got a hump?"

Do you sit at a table

As straight as you're able?

Or do you sit down

In a lump, lump, lump, lump?

Are you a camel, a flip-floppy camel

Without any starch in your spine?

For if you're a camel, a flip-floppy camel,

Please go somewhere else to recline.

Music Department Plans Holiday Program

A Thanksgiving program is being planned by the music department. It will consist of several songs by the Glee Club, selections by an Acappella choir, and some vocal solos.

The Christmas program will have a background and costumes in harmony with the season. The scene will be one of winter sports. The Glee Club will wear colorful ski outfits.

Assembly Program Proved Interesting

An assembly was held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Hugh D. Kittle, principal of Belleville High School, presided. He announced a meeting of all college preparatory course girls after school. Another announcement concerning the band's meeting outside of the high school for participation in yesterday's Armistice Day parade was offered.

A banking report was given and was followed by a report of school tardiness.

Edwin Mallinson announced a senior football dance for November 20. The football players are invited free.

Mr. Kittle introduced Corwin Stickney who, in turn, presented the football team. The latter were heartily applauded for their fine work this past season.

Home room 307 took up the major part of the program with their "Foo Band," the members of which are James Thetford, Heinz Oelschner, Wilma Plansen, Ann Roviello, Helen Remaika, Geoffrey Powell, William Farmer, William Rame, Milton Swenson and the leader, Corwin Stickney.

This band gave the student body a great laugh with its numerous renditions of both classical and popular music.

Mr. Kittle closed the assembly with a talk on the significance of Armistice Day.

Forensic Debaters

Amy Hardman and Janet Waldie ably represented B. H. S. at the Forensic League debate at Rutgers University Saturday.

There were fourteen schools represented by twenty-nine speakers. Each school was allowed two speakers so that it could be represented on both sides of the question.

The topic under discussion was "Is Democracy Doomed?"

Morris Schaefer, of Linden, winner of the 1936 original oratory contest, was present. He represented the negative side.

The whole morning session was given over to the forum.

In the afternoon all the students and teachers present were guests at the Rutgers-New York University freshman football game.

Bellboys Defeated

In Kearny Clash

Heavy Opposition Again Proves To Be The Stumbling Block

Belleville High School suffered its second setback of the season Saturday when Kearny defeated the locals, 20-0.

Belleville lost more than the game Saturday. It lost the services of "Bud" Hollweg, ace halfback and punter. Hollweg suffered a slight concussion of the brain and probably will not play for the remainder of the season.

The first half of the game was hard fought and Kearny could not score until a few minutes before the half ended. Their score came as a result of a trick play, over which there was much argument. Burns, Kearny halfback, passed to Hamilton, the center, from the four-yard line. This was made possible when the left side of the center, leaving him on the end, therewith making him eligible to receive a pass.

An argument started because Coach Smith claimed that the ball hit the ground before it was caught, but the officials allowed the score despite his protests.

Kearny's second score, which came in the fourth quarter, was the result of a fumble by Pete Torre, Belleville halfback, which was recovered by Kearny on the Belleville fifteen-yard line. Al Norris, Kearny fullback, carried the ball over from this point on a series of line smashes, in the course of which Hollweg was hurt.

Kearny's final score came as the result of as nice a piece of broken field running as we have seen this season, when Burns ran twenty-three yards to score.

Belleville's team has been battered around so much by heavier opponents that the players can not stand the strain of a full game. They deserve much credit for the record they have compiled so far this season.

Freshmen Elect

Representatives

Officers Have Just Been Elected; Henry Hannon, President

The freshman class, under the guidance of Mr. Cotter and Miss Eleanor Allison, have elected representatives from each of their respective home rooms to meet regularly.

Officers for the class have been elected as follows: President, Henry Hannon; vice president, Jack Malion; secretary, Jean Peterson, and treasurer, Betty Jane Fischer.

The first social function of the freshmen class will be a Christmas dance, which will be held on December 17.

Print Shop Is Active in Promoting

Support of Our Football Team

The print shop has distributed cards with football slogans for many of the games this year.

The first attempt was a card with the slogan, "Fight 'Em Zebras, We're With You," for the Good Counsel game.

Then, much enthusiasm was aroused by students being "Arrested for Taking the Bloom Out of Bloomfield," so the cards read.

Streamers bearing the inscription,

"Beat West Side" were very much in evidence at that game.

Cardboard pennants were printed with "Zebras or Bellboys, We've Got Something There" on one side and "Beat Irvington," on the other.

The Kearny cards consisted of the picture of a zebra, which the rooters cut out with scissors.

Plans are being made for pennants with the name "Belleville" and a picture of a zebra for the South Side Thanksgiving game.

Streamers bearing the inscription,
