Assemblyman Homer Zink Presents Program on Relief to Legislature

Eleven Points Constitute Plan for Financing Designed To Get Reaction of State's Legislators

Belleville's Assemblyman Homer Zink Tuesday presented a relief financing program, termed by him "A Program, Such As It Is," to members of the Assembly. Assemblyman Zink, who is chairman of the appropriation committee, however, is supporting another program agreed upon by the House and Senate majorities.

Mr. Zink's proposal is for passage of the Princeton local government control bills with reasonable amendments, rigid control over the general appropriations bill and limitation of supplemental appropriations except with approval of the Governor and appropriations chairmen of both House and Senate.

Another major proposal is discontinuance of last year's salary increases to state employees, excepting those in the lowest brackets and a few "career men."

Other proposals are:

Sale of Town-Owned Lots May Open Greylock Heights Section to Development

Eighteen Homes is Plan of Home Construction Company, Fred B. Handlon Tells Town Commission

If plans develop as outlined Monday afternoon at the Town Commission conference, the Greylock Heights section of Belleville may witness a building boom, with houses the type of which have been erected lately in Allwood, Nutley, Bloomfield and Glen Ridge, by the Home Construction Company of which Sol Gerwitz is the head.

The town owns eighteen lots in the section, with an average frontage of forty feet, for which the company offers the town $20 per foot. If the deal goes through, and it has received the sanction of the board, the town should net $14,620, and eighteen homes, in a restricted section, will be erected. The company plans bungalows, it is said, the minimum cost of which would be $6,500, a price, according to Director of Streets and Public Improvements Patrick A. Waters, "that compares with $8,000 and $9,000 homes a few years ago."

The director declared, "We ought to help any one who wants to come in here and build the fine type houses this company has put up. We should give them every encouragement. Perhaps the development will help improve the section near Riviera Park in Union avenue."

The company would build eight homes in Sunset avenue, four each side of Tremont place and three in Elwood avenue.

The offer was made known through Fred B. Handlon, in charge of the town's real estate activities. Mr. Handlon reported that Barnet Yudin, who had offered $1,900 for a town-owned lot, off Union avenue near Mill street, where the county park is being extended, has reduced his offer to $1,000. Handlon was authorized to inform Mr. Yudin the town wants $1,500 for the land which has a frontage of seventy-one feet in Union avenue extending back 100 feet. It is reported that Yudin would construct a three-story, twelve-family, brick, walk-up apartment at the site.

The board agreed to go along with Bloomfield and Nutley to seek development of the abandoned Morris and Essex Canal bed for a secondary highway, later to become an express primary road. Director of Revenue and Finance Raleigh S. Rife, Nutley, sought Belleville's aid in a letter addressed to Mrs. Florence M. Morey, town clerk. Belleville feels that such a highway would open for development large sections of the town in the vicinity of Mill and Willett streets. It is planned to obtain state aid for the road construction.

Bus Re-routing.

The re-routing of the No. 28, Summer avenue buses, to Penn Station instead of to Lincoln Park terminus, Newark, during the non-rush hours, caused some discussion when Director of Parks and Public Property William D. Clark said he had complaints from Belleville residents that the new layout interfered with their transportation plans.

A representative of the Public Service Company, who was present, said that a check during non-rush hours and petitions from several local residents demanded a change, as a part of the re-routing of all buses in Newark recently to relieve traffic congestion. During the rush hours the No. 28 buses, some of which run to King street and Union avenue, this town, and others to East Passaic avenue, Nutley, are routed over Washington street, Newark, as are all buses to Lincoln Park. Inasmuch as it is possible to transfer at the North Newark fare limit to other buses, it was pointed out the change would not seriously affect Belleville.

Fined $250 Here as Drunken Driver

Appeal Will Be Made By Bloomfield Man's Attorney

A half-gallon of beer and a pint of muscatel wine worth about seventy-five cents, it is reported, was too potent for Henry G. Aue, 19, 20 Watchung place, Bloomfield, so he was fined $225 and $25 costs of court and his driver's license was suspended for two years, on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor by Judge Everett B. Smith in police court Monday morning.

Anthony Luciano, 27 Franklin street, Bloomfield, and Nicholas Sylvestro, 94 Heckel street, Belleville, who were the complainants declared that Luciano was pulling Sylvestro in a car on March 9, when a car driven by Aue nearly ran them down, the pair jumping out of the way of the automobile just in time to escape injury.

According to Luciano's testimony, he, with a group of other young men, chased after Aue in another car. They found him at the home of Cad Newsum, colored 32 Edison street.

The Bloomfield police were called and arrested Aue, taking him to Bloomfield headquarters. As the near accident occurred in Belleville, he was taken to Belleville station.

Dr. Herbert B. Vail, who examined Aue, for being under the influence of alcohol, said that he swayed when his eyes were closed, spoke thick and indistinct, his breath smelled of alcohol, his pulse was 116 and Aue admitted to the physician that he had been driving his car.

Sylvestro, who gave testimony for Luciano, corroborated entirely the latter's explanation of the affair.

Newsom took the stand for Aue and when asked whether he had ever been arrested before answered, "Oh, plenty of times." It also was developed that Aue was on probation for petty larceny when arrested.

The trial reached a climax when Newsom testified that a second trip was made to a tavern about the time the near accident happened. This story clinched in Judge Smith's mind the fact that Aue had driven the car which almost hit Luciano and Sylvestro.

David Hilowitz, attorney for Aue, who entered a plea of not guilty, tried to prove that the defendant had not driven his car at the time of the occurrence.

Hilowitz filed an appeal through the court of Special Sessions returnable within a week in order to give Aue that much time to raise the $250.

Hartley Tells of Park Appropriation

Federal Government Gives County Aid in Total Of $341,820

Congressman Fred A. Hartley has announced that the Federal allotment for the county park improvement along Main street in Belleville has been obtained.

He says in his telegram to this paper "have WPA approval of $341,820 for countywide park improvement project sponsored by Essex County Park Commission. No additional taxes will be levied to cover Federal contribution."

As the county is improving the territory between Main street and the river, that improvement is included.

Local Police Display Terpsichorean Art

Belleville Police Department has gone terpsichorean. At the P. B. A. dance last Friday at the Elks' Home, Joseph Nygard and Harry Scott competed in a contest for the most proficient in doing the Susie Q and the Big Apple.

Patrolman Scott proved to be the best dancer in the Susie Q, but Patrolman Nygard showed his art to the best advantage in the Big Apple.

Former Chief Michael J. Flynn was an interested spectator at the ball, which about 600 attended.

Clark Announces His Candidacy

Director of Public Property Has Been in All Civic Movements

Director of Public Property William D. Clark has announced his intention of entering his name as a candidate for re-election to the Town Commission.

He is seeking his fourth consecutive term as a member of the commission. Mr. Clark who has lived in town for the past thirty-five years, has been connected during that time with the Fidelity & Casualty Insurance Company of New York.

The commissioner is a member of the Belleville Lodge of Masons, past president of the Belleville Rod and Gun Club, first president of the Belleville Board of Trade, president of the Greylock Improvement Association, president of the North Belleville Building and Loan Association and a member of the Craftsmen's Club.

Director Clark decided definitely to toss his hat in the ring Friday night, after insistence of many friends that he seek re-election. No campaign manager has as yet been selected.

"People everywhere asked me 'are you going to run?'" Mr. Clark states. "And here I am. My record is an open book. I feel that having handled two departments at the town hall, I have had quite some experience in public office. I believe in Belleville and if the people want me I am willing to serve."

Lynch Recommends Survey of Insurance

New School Commissioner Believes Board is Carrying "Too Much"

The Board of Education will consider a recommendation of School Commissioner James M. Lynch that a survey be made as regards insurance on the buildings.

"We are carrying too much insurance, I believe, from a study I have made," said Mr. Lynch Monday night at the Board of Education meeting.

Although Town Will Try, Little Hope Held That State Will Aid in Street Paving

Erie Railroad Objection Will Force Cost to Taxpayers From $1 to $7 Per Foot, Declares Director Waters

Little hope is held out that Belleville will obtain the $18,000 from the State Highway Commission for the paving of Cortland street, although Corporation Counsel Lawrence Keenan will confer with the commissioner of that department, E. Donald Stern, to determine the state's attitude.

Everything seemed in order for the paving, part of which has been done, except the northernmost part and the section south of Jorammon street to Mill, until the Paterson, Newark and New York Railroad Company, Erie to most of us, voiced objection.

The company owns 358 feet along the street and objected to Belleville's right to assess it, under Chapter 217 of the laws of 1916, through which legislation Belleville intended to improve the street, ninety per cent of the cost being paid by the state, which amounted to $18,000. The supreme court in Trenton Monday ruled Belleville could not assess the company and other property owners for the improvement.

Records show that the State Highway Department agreed to contribute $18,000 of a total estimated cost of $20,000 for improvement, but that the actual cost will be $30,000, which necessitates the raising of $12,000 for Belleville's share.

The town commission adopted ordinances to assess properties benefited by the improvement, but before the assessment was made, the Erie began court action to test the validity of the ordinances.

Law of 1916 Cited.

The supreme court ruled that under a 1916 law the cost of improvements must be included in the general tax levy of the municipality or by temporary financing, or from contributions from liberally disposed persons, and can not be assessed against Cortland street property owners.

Further, the court pointed out, the act under which the municipality sought to assess property owners applies only to unimproved roads. Cortland street ceased to be an unimproved road when the penetration macadam was laid there twenty-five years ago, the court said.

The contract for the work had been let, and water and gas connections already laid, when the Erie applied for a writ to stop the work, charging that the town ordinance proposing to assess its share against abutting property owners was illegal.

"The ruling isn't fair," declared Director Waters. Harrison street, Jorammon street and a portion of Cortland street itself were improved with state aid under exactly the same circumstances. When the present grant was made, we complied in every respect with specifications of the State Department. My department was never advised by any one that we were proceeding contrary to law.

Mr. Waters continued, "I want it understood this mix-up on Cortland street is through no fault of my own. I can't seem to grasp it. For years streets all over the state have been improved like this. The little strip owned by the Erie is a disgrace—no curbs and no sidewalks. The company kicks about paying seventy-five cents or a dollar a foot for the pavement and now it will have to pay $6 or $7, because we have put in water mains to the curb and the gas company has laid its connections. The street was passable before, but after this work, it is impassable. It has to be paved now and at great expense to the taxpayers, because the railroad kicked. The road isn't any different than it was

Study of Some Pupils Below Normal in Room Tests Shows High Intelligence

Supervising Principal Wayne R. Parmer, Urges Psychologist To Aid Those Who May Have Little "Quirk"

Belleville opportunity classes, which have just been tested have afforded surprises. Out of seventy-four, who have been rated below normal in regular classroom tests, eleven have been found to rate above normal average intelligence in I. Q. tests.

School Supervising Principal Wayne R. Parmer said that study by a psychologist might reveal that many, classed as below normal, could be aided through special coaching. He cited the case of one child who could not spell a simple word like "cat" in the third grade, received the highest rating in the I. Q. tests, which were given by Mrs. Ethelyn Murphy, who was appointed recently to carry on special class work.

"The boy is intelligent," he said. "But some little quirk just prevents him from being able to spell. Meantime he had been held back in grades until his size compelled us to advance him."

"There is need of a psychologist," he continued. "Monday, from a study by Mrs. Murphy, we will start a special class of eighteen in Public School No. 8. This class will be composed of pupils picked from various schools."

Mr. Parmer criticized the State Board of Children's Guardians, which he said sent children to Belleville when some were actually institutional cases.

He stated he had called the state board's attention, but no action has been taken. He said he had taken the responsibility of removing one boy from school in an attempt to force action.

The board will study the need for an assistant teacher for crippled children, the establishment of sight conservation classes and a school dental clinic.

Several members of P. T. A. groups protested the board's recent ruling that they be required to pay for the use of school buildings for entertainments to which admission is charged.

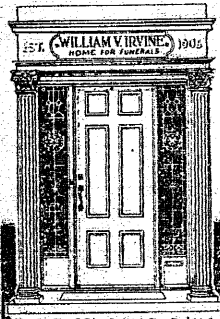

Based on the estimated amount of heat and light consumed, and the cost of janitor service, they are required to pay from $1.27 an hour for the use of School 2, to $2.93 for School 4. They previously were asked to pay only for janitor service at sixty cents an hour.

FROM THE PULPIT

Prepared for the Belleville News by Rev. Walter J. Lake, pastor, Grace Baptist Church.

"Thy Kingdom Come" Matt. 6:10

In this lenten season we are seeking to come closer to God and to discover his way for our lives and for society. There are a number of avenues for making this approach, but none is more rewarding than the practice of God's privilege to man—prayer; and to learn how to pray and what to pray about, we turn almost reflexively to the Lord's Prayer.

Some Problems of Family Life Today

By Mrs. Julia Reiner, Executive Secretary, Community Service Bureau

(Reprinted by permission of Stanley P. Davies, president, Family Welfare Association of America.)

People come to the Family Society (which in Belleville is known as the Community Service Bureau), for advice, guidance, and help in meeting the difficulties which have overtaken them. Some come to make their own requests for help, and others, who may not be familiar with the character of the agency's service, are referred by friends, neighbors, employers, schools, nurses, hospitals, etc. Each person, requesting a service, is seen privately, sometimes for only one or two interviews. If the situation is a complicated one the person, or various members of the family, may be seen at regular intervals over a period of months, and sometimes even for a year or two.

The kinds of problems receiving care. The requests made of the Family Society are in a sense too diverse and involved to be classified or easily described. It is true that the immediate problems, with which people wish help, may be listed under such headings as illness, marital difficulty, nervous breakdowns, unemployment or concern about the development or behavior of children, etc. But the real character of the trouble is only dimly suggested by such descriptive titles. The issues behind the particular form of the predicament are often important and vital ones, affecting in various ways every member of the family. Whether to leave a husband or wife is not a simple concrete problem that can be settled by a calm analysis of the rights and wrongs in the situation. The issues are always personal ones, involving feelings of love and attachment, as well as those of disappointment and resentment. The problem, which might be classified coldly as one of marital difficulty, is in essence a problem of seeking security in relationships, of finding a way of life that is bearable, of discovering substitute satisfactions if former affectional bonds are completely broken.

In the same way many behavior difficulties of children or adolescents are not isolated episodes that can be remedied wholly by concrete measures such as providing recreation, new living quarters or a job. The problems again may be ones of disturbed family relationships, and the particular difficulty only the child's way of expressing his deep personal unhappiness. Unless in such instances the inner disturbances are recognized, the attempts to change the behavior are likely to end in disappointment and failure.

An application for help in meeting a particular problem often carries with it an implicit request for support in rising above the defeats and misfortunes, in avoiding further strains on members of the family, and in safeguarding important family relationships. The objective toward which the social worker applies her knowledge and skill, is that of knowing and understanding the personal issues at stake and of helping the family protect itself from further suffering, unhappiness and failure. (To be continued.)

Michael A. Flynn

Twenty-nine years and six months without a complaint from a resident of this town against him is the record Michael J. Flynn made as chief of police of Belleville. He was born in Bridge street, Belleville, when there were no numbers on the houses. He attended St. Peter's Parochial School, leaving there when thirteen years old. His first job was winding bobbins in the DeWitt Wire Cloth Company. For seventeen years he was employed in the Heller Brothers Steel Mill, Newark, as a roller, when a man had to be a man to hold down a job of that type. The chief was a famous baseball player with the old Woodstocks.

In 1906, after a strike at the Heller Brothers plant, he went to the Belleville Copper Rolling Mill for only a few months.

In November of that year he was appointed a constable here with Sergeant Charles Pearl. Three months later, January, 1907, the Belleville police force was organized with Chief Flynn, Sergeant Pearl, William Flynn and Joseph Hannon. The last two now are dead.

Chief Flynn's biggest case was the breaking up of the arson ring, in Silver Lake section, when eleven convictions were obtained, but only five served sentences.

He retired as police chief July 26, 1936.

BIOGRAPHIES OF CANDIDATES

ANENT BIOGRAPHIES

This is in keeping with the policy of this newspaper to maintain its independent attitude and to show a fairness to candidates and taxpayers, alike, who are interested in municipal election on May 10. This newspaper takes no part in preparation of the biographies and leaves it to the candidates to set forth as fully as they desire, within reasonable limits, what they have accomplished. We believe that such biographies, if properly prepared, will afford Belleville voters a better opportunity to study the qualifications of each one who seeks public office. It is our aim to see, that as far as this newspaper is concerned, Belleville's municipal campaign is conducted on a high level. We are pleased to offer this service for the good of the town.

Elmer S. Hyde, 275 Little street, is a highly successful broker with offices at 87 Maiden lane, New York City. He specializes in surety bonds. He is president of Elmer S. Hyde, Inc., which firm he organized and developed to the largest of its kind in the United States. He is also president of the Beverly Corporation, and is a member of the finance board of the New Jersey Baptist Convention.

Born in New York City February 6, 1897, Mr. Hyde attended public schools there and reached the top of the ladder the hard way, starting in business at thirteen for the Illinois Surety Company at $2 per week. When he was fifteen he was soliciting business for the same company and continued in that line until the time of the World War, when he enlisted in the 417th Telegraph Battalion, which immediately found its way to France, where Mr. Hyde was engaged in much of the severe fighting. After the Armistice he went into Germany with the Army of Occupation, returning to America in May, 1919.

At that time he continued in business where he left off and in 1921 married Miss Jessie Barber of New York. The couple moved immediately to Belleville and took up residence in Little street, where they purchased the home which they now occupy. Subsequently Mr. Hyde purchased other property in Belleville.

The same year he started his own business, which was successful from the beginning. From that year until the present not only has Mr. Hyde been active civically, but his wife also has played a part in Belleville's civic growth.

Mrs. Hyde is vice-president of the Woman's Club and has been interested with her husband in many charitable projects in Belleville and elsewhere in the state, as well as church activities. Mrs. Hyde is president of the Newark Home for the Aged. Mr. Hyde is president of the board of trustees of Grace Baptist Church and has played a very important part in its financial affairs.

Mr. Hyde is a member of Belleville Post, American Legion; Newark Athletic Club and fraternal organizations. He is a member and one of the organizers of the Community Service Bureau and president of the Men's Club of Grace Baptist Church.

The Hydies have seven lovely children, Helen, Judith, Margo, Audrey, James Irwin, Arthur and Beth.

Joseph King

Commissioner Joseph King, director of Public Affairs, is a former Essex County freeholder and has long been active in civic affairs. During the past four years Commissioner King has served the town as head of the health, welfare and building departments. He also has had direction over the Shade Tree Commission and the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

For nearly four years Commissioner King has served as building inspector without extra compensation, effecting a saving for the town of over $10,000 in this department, alone. He has inaugurated other economies and has increased efficiency in all town departments under his administration.

Perhaps Commissioner King's most difficult task has been that of handling public welfare. Early in 1936 when the full load of the relief burden was placed on the town, Commissioner King assumed responsibility of caring for those in need. Administration of relief in Belleville has been effective and efficient under his direction.

Soon after his election to the Town Commission in 1934, Commissioner King tackled the problem of eliminating dumping grounds in the Silver Lake and Valley sections, which has long been a source of annoyance to Belleville residents. Within six months the dumping grounds were completely filled in and covered over with earth at his direction. He has since insisted that dumping of garbage be prohibited within the limits of the town.

Although Commissioner King devotes much of his time to his duties as town commissioner he also has other civic and business interests. As a member of the firm of Davidson and King, builders, real estate and insurance company, and as president of the Clover Building and Loan Association and the Belleville Realty Investment Corporation, he has had much to do with the development of Belleville.

Commissioner King is a director of the First National Bank of Belleville and a charter member of the Belleville Welfare Federation. He has been a director of the Community Service Bureau and has served in every Community Chest drive. He also is a past president of the Belleville Rotary Club.

A resident of Belleville nearly thirty years, Commissioner King makes his home at 28 Malone avenue with his wife and son, a high school student.

Andrew Boyajian

Andrew Boyajian, 246 Washington avenue, who conducts a tailor shop at that address, was born in Lowell, Mass., thirty-one years ago. He has been in Belleville since he was seven years old, attending Public School No. 1, Belleville High School, Class of 1925; New Jersey Law School for two years and Columbia University, College of Fine Arts.

Mr. Boyajian worked for Westinghouse, Belleville Base Plant, three years and then entered the tailoring business which was conducted by his mother, Mrs. Pomia Boyajian. He has written for the Hairenik, a newspaper devoted to interest of Armenians in this country. He also wrote poetry and short stories for several magazines.

During the twentieth anniversary of the Sinclair Oil Refining Company he wrote the technical copy for their minstrel show of the air.

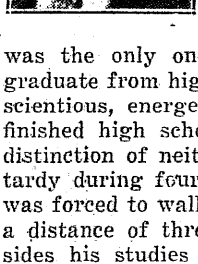

His only effort at writing a scenario was sent to Universal Studios. He heard no more of the incident.

Mr. Boyajian says: "I want fair representation for the younger element in town. This group represents the majority in voting lists and should be ably represented by a young man."

He has besides his mother, two brothers, Joseph, Maplewood, and Sarkis, Arlington, Mass.

Edward G. Smith

Edward G. Smith, a citizen and taxpayer in Belleville during the last twelve years, was born of humble parents on a farm at St. Mary's, Pa., on May 10, 1894. His father died in 1899, leaving his mother with seven children who had to struggle along at tremendous odds to make a livelihood.

Edward, who was a precocious child, was the only one in the family to graduate from high school. Being conscientious, energetic and insistent he finished high school with the unique distinction of neither being absent or tardy during four years, although he was forced to walk to and from school a distance of three miles, daily. Besides his studies he helped with his share of the daily chores, morning and evening.

Upon graduation he completed a special course at Penn State College. He taught school four years at the meager salary of $40 per month. During vacation and off days, he was employed as clerk and carrier in the post office.

Then came the World War. Mr. Smith offered his services and enlisted in the U. S. Regular Army. His promotion was rapid. Within eleven months he was promoted from private to sergeant, first class. He successfully passed a rigid test for entrance to the Officers' Training Camp at Jacksonville, Fla. Had hostilities not ceased on that memorable day, November 11, 1918, Sergeant Smith, undoubtedly, would have been commissioned. His handling of men and conscientious efforts in saving government supplies gained for him the respect and confidence of every officer and enlisted man in the camp.

Mr. Smith has been conducting a successful restaurant business in Forest Hill section of Newark the last seventeen years and attributes his success to his diligent and tireless efforts and irresistible command of confidence and respect.

Mr. Smith lives with his family at 232 Ralph street. He is the proud father of three children, Edward, Jr., 14; Marilyn, two and one-half; and Richard, one. Mr. Smith will be forty-four on election day.

Patrick A. Waters

Seeking his fourth term on May 10, Patrick A. Waters stands out as a commissioner who has, at all times, held the welfare of Belleville and its citizens as the paramount issue in every controversy that has arisen during his incumbency.

Born sixty-two years ago on the same spot at which he now resides and from which he has never moved, his name and the name of his brother, John Waters, who served as Mayor for twelve years has, during that period, spelled progress to the Town of Belleville.

His mother and father settled here seventy years ago in 1868 and the family has since then kept an uninterrupted residence.

Commissioner Waters has served as Director of the Department of Public Works for the twelve years he has been in office and is justly proud of his accomplishments during that period. He points with pride to the pamphlet recently published by the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce showing the per capita cost for the operation of his department as the second lowest in the State of New Jersey. This cost of $1.61 per person is a decided contrast to a neighboring municipality with a cost for similar functions of $3.05.

The commissioner has the enviable record of being employed by the Eastwood-Neally Corporation of Belleville for the past forty-five years and is now superintendent of the weaving division of this plant.

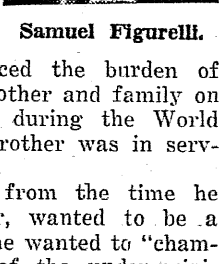

His charitable works are known from one end of the town to the other and many a desperate family have been sent back on the road to happiness by the aid which he has always so freely given.

Living in Belleville all his life, working in Belleville all his working life, and serving Belleville conscientiously all his political life, he can be justly termed as a real Bellevillite in every sense of the word.

Samuel Figurelli

Samuel Figurelli, who served for a full term as recorder, was appointed to that post when he was 24. He has been a life-long resident of Belleville, having attended public schools here and graduated from Belleville High School in 1918, after completing a four-year course in three years. Death of his father, while the former recorder was in his junior year of high school, placed the burden of supporting his mother and family on Sam's shoulders, during the World War, when his brother was in service of Uncle Sam.

Samuel Figurelli

Mr. Figurelli, from the time he was a youngster, wanted to be a lawyer. He says he wanted to "champion the cause of the underprivileged and neglected," because his own life had been such a difficult one. During his high school career he worked from 6 o'clock in the morning until 8, when he would dash off to school. Without any study periods in his last two years of high school, he always knew his lessons by sitting up studying, sometimes as late as 4 o'clock in the morning. After school and until 9 o'clock at night, Mr. Figurelli also worked. After graduation he attended New Jersey Law School, from which he was graduated as an attorney, later becoming a master in chancery and counselor-at-law, thereby qualifying to practice before all the courts of the state.

During his law school days he also worked long hours, before and after school, and walked many miles, through lack of transportation facilities to and from his place of study. Perseverance won for him and he passed his bar exams the first time, as he was later to do as a master in chancery.

Back in high school days Mr. Figurelli was called "dependable Sam" by his teachers, because, despite his handicaps, he always had his lessons completed on time.

He has been a practicing lawyer the last fifteen years with offices in Newark.

He was a member of the high school debating team and won in prize declamation contests. After graduation he became president of the Belleville High School Alumni Association. He was interested in the original Parent-Teacher movement in Belleville, almost twelve years ago, has been connected with all civic movements, interested in welfare matters and active in the Community Chest drives. He is a member of several civic and fraternal organizations, including the Belwood Park Improvement Association, in which section he lives.

Mr. Figurelli is thirty-eight. His wife's name is Marie and the couple have two children, Anthony, six, and Paul, four. His mother, Jane, seventy-seven years old, resides with him.

Parrillo's

A testimonial dinner to honor Public Affairs Director Joseph King, who is seeking re-election to the Town Commission on May 10, was given last night at Parrillo's, Harrison street.

Sponsored by the Joseph King Association, the affair was limited to 200 diners.

John Drentlau, president of the association, introduced Everett B. Smith, who acted as toastmaster. Guest speakers included Congressman Fred A. Hartley, Jr., Assemblyman Homer Zink, Mayor William H. Williams, Commissioners Clark, Waters and Gerard.

Commissioner King told of his long experience as a public official. He asked for support for re-election on his record as a town commissioner. His campaign slogan will be "An Experienced Man for the Job."

The Joseph King Association was formed by a group of friends of Joseph King, who worked toward his election in 1934. Since then the association has grown to 350 members, holding regular monthly meetings at the club headquarters, 414 Washington avenue, which will be Commissioner King's campaign headquarters. The association devotes its activities to educational, social and charity events.

After the turkey dinner was concluded, the gathering was entertained with community singing, professional entertainers and dancing.

The affair concluded with President Drentlau presenting Commissioner King with a check from the association.

Lynch Recommends

Mr. Lynch also recommended that, inasmuch as the board carries insurance in the amount of $2,500 on the west field house at Clearman Field, a like amount should be carried on the east house on which there is no insurance. He also recommended $10,000 be placed on the workhouse adjoining School No. 8, which was constructed at a cost of "about $14,000."

"The insurance on the four automobiles is entirely too small," said Mr. Lynch. "Instead of carrying $5,000 and $10,000 liability, we should carry $25,000 and $50,000. We have one car which is no good on which we carry fire and theft insurance. I recommend cancelling that insurance."

GOOD OLD ERIE—WINS—LOSES!

A snag has developed in the paving of Cortlandt street. It seems that the State had promised Belleville, under a 1916 law, $18,000 toward a $20,000 job, almost ninety per cent of the funds necessary. Later the cost of the job ran, it is said, to $30,000. The Erie Railroad, which owns some 300 odd feet along the section to be paved, objected to Belleville's right to assess abutting property and Monday won its case in the Supreme Court in Trenton, the result of which is that the state may not contribute its share, as promised, and which was only promised Belleville after this town had met every stipulation set down by the State through its legal and engineering staffs. Through its test of the law, it is said, the Erie will upset all such similar jobs throughout the State, which is something or other for the Erie to swallow.

It seems that the law specified that only unimproved roads would benefit by State aid. Twenty-five years ago Cortlandt street was paved with penetration method, and, although it is in deplorable condition, the Erie contended it is an improved road and therefore could not get benefit of the law. The court concurred in this belief, although Lawrence E. Keenan, corporation counsel, argued that under the Home Rule Act Belleville could assess the abutting property.

At any rate, Belleville, which has paved other roads under similar conditions, as have practically all other towns, is once more the object of an adverse situation, this time because the Erie objects to paying a few hundred dollars for an improvement that would be a direct benefit to the property owners on the street.

Assuming everything was in order, water and gas connections have been cut into the curb, the paving contract let, and the street now is impassable. It will have to be paved at a total cost to the town. The Erie, which objected to a small assessment in comparison with what it will now have to pay, has thrown back by its action into the laps of Cortlandt street property owners—a fine mess. Instead of an assessment that would have been about seventy-five cents or $1 a foot, the Erie and each other property owner on the street will have to pay more like $7 a foot for the paving, which now is essential.

Good, old Erie. This should make the Cortlandt street property owners feel kindly toward the road, which should be compelled to do something about its grade crossings here. Director Waters of the Department of Streets and Public Improvements can not be blamed. He had legal support of Mr. Keenan and the state attorneys that all was in accordance with law. Mr. Keenan can not be blamed. He prepared his data for the improvement and the state attorneys O. K'd that.

It seems that the Erie legal staff, by finding a loop-hole in the law, has caused a terrible lot of annoyance to Belleville, which in the long run will cost the company more in dollars and cents for the improvement than it anticipated.

Legally, under the law by which State aid is granted for such improvement, Cortlandt street may be an improved road, but it is a hairline decision when one takes a look at the street. Common sense would dictate it's about the worst stretch of road anywhere—even as far back as Squeedunk or some of the cowpaths skirted by the Erie.

THE CANAL BED

A suggestion that merits favorable consideration comes from the Nutley Town Commission and has been made to the Town Commissioners of Belleville and Bloomfield. This is to obtain from the State Highway Department, funds for the purpose of building a road in the old canal bed, starting at the end of the present trolley line near the Girls' Friendly House in the Silver Lake section of this town.

The road would thus pass through Belleville, Bloomfield and Nutley and would open up in Belleville the large Hendricks tract of land in West Belleville.

While the suggestion is not entirely new, it comes at a most propitious time when money is available for road building in the State Highway Department and projects are badly needed to aid Belleville's unemployed.

WILL PLEASE EVERYONE

Believe it or not, there is an embryo law before the State Legislature which will please every one. Providing for extension of the expiration date of automobile registrations and drivers' licenses from December 31 to March 31, the proposed legislation already has been approved by the Assembly and now awaits Senate action.

Final approval of the bill, which is a combination of four similar measures introduced early in the session, is expected to release $13,000,000 for Christmas spending that otherwise would be paid to the state for licenses and lie idle in banks for months before being used. Also, it will enable more than 100,000 motorists to use their cars during the first three months of the year instead of being forced to take them off the roads due to inability to pay license fees at the same time other heavy year-end expenses fall due.

Besides not upsetting the state's fiscal affairs, since motor vehicle revenues are not needed during the early part of the year, the change actually will benefit the state due to increased gasoline tax receipts which may be expected to result from keeping more cars on the road. By freeing millions of dollars at the end of the year and through the increased automobile use, New Jersey business will be appreciably stimulated. As to the individual motorist, we all know that nothing would be sweeter than being relieved of a costly burden at the end of the year when we try to keep the wolf from eating the candy canes off the Christmas tree.

The idea of finding a bill at Trenton which actually pleases everybody is almost too good to be true. To assure us we aren't dreaming, the Senate should waste no time in placing its stamp of approval on this measure. Even though there still may be more than 250 shopping days to Christmas, a present of this sort from the Legislature will be most welcome now.

AN INTERRUPTED PARADE!

THIS WEEK

By "GUARDIAN"

This week spring certainly came on in full force and brilliant loveliness. A week ago one had to search for the buds and look far for the robins and now everything is budding with that beautiful fresh green of spring, the robins are bobbing about the gardens—and the chorus of the birds at dawn is well worth waking up to hear. Of course this glorious weather will not last—that would be too much to expect, but we have had these glorious days this week and nothing can take them from us. Let's try to remember them when the cold, dreary spring rains next make us want to scold the weather which, as we have previously observed, Mark Twain said, "Everybody talks about but no one has ever done anything."

How many of us have done anything about the Reorganization Bill that is pending before the Congress in Washington? Now, heavens knows our Governmental agencies need reorganizing. There is far too much overlapping—far too much duplication and far too little coherence in the activities of Governmental agencies. If the Government could be run as a business, freed from the yoke of politics and all the rules applying to business could be applied to Governmental operations, unquestionably many, many millions of dollars could be saved. That would be approaching the millennium and is too much to expect of a Government which operates through the activities of political parties. But nevertheless, politics or no politics, there are many, many things to be done which should be done—and so in theory we are all for reorganization of our Governmental departments.

But we are more for the fundamental principles of Democratic Government that have been the cornerstones of this country of ours. Our forefathers conceived of three entirely separate branches of our Government—Judiciary, Legislative and Executive. Last year—and we do not question the sincerity of the purpose—the Executive branch of our Government vigorously supported Judiciary reform legislation which could very easily have put into the hands of the Executive, control of the Judiciary. Because the people of this country in overwhelming numbers registered their objections to such an abandonment of our fundamental principles, the Supreme Court bill (or Judiciary reorganization plan—for that is what it was) was defeated.

Now in our judgment, for the same fundamental reasons, the Reorganization Bill now pending before the Congress, should be defeated because in a great many instances it takes away from the Legislative body—the Congress—the power that is theirs and puts the power into the hands of the Executive. We are not suggesting for a moment that the present Executive, if such power was placed in his hands, would use it other than for the good of this country as he sees the good. But it is easy to conceive an Executive who might well use the power for personal gain.

The President, in our forefathers' conception of government, was supposed to be a check upon Congress and through the veto power, prevent the passage of laws which he felt were not for the country's good unless his veto was overruled by a two-thirds vote in the House of Representatives and in the Senate. The Legislative branch of our Government was also supposed to serve as a curb on the Executive and our Constitution provided that certain very, very fundamental things could not be done without concurrence of the Senate or approval of the whole Congress. And the Judiciary was to serve as a check on both the Executive and the Legislative departments to see that whatever either did, came within the limitations imposed by the Constitution.

Now, if we understand the present Reorganization Bill correctly, it permits the President a pretty free hand in abolishing departments, in combining departments, in making departments directly responsible to the President instead of to the Congress. If the President did something of which the Congress did not approve, the only thing that Congress could do would be to pass a bill changing the procedure. The President could veto such a bill. Then two-thirds of Congress would have to pass it OVER his veto. That means that if a President wants to do a certain thing and one-third of the Congress is behind him and approves, that he could do it.

That would violate all of our fundamental principles of proportional representation, would violate the spirit of our Constitution and could easily bring about a situation where the President usurps the power of the Legislative branch of our Government.

And that is why we are against it. If the supporters of this bill would clearly change it so that anything that the President did had to be approved by a majority of the Congress so as to return to the fundamental principles of our American Government, we would be for it and do everything we could to advocate its passage, but unless it is so rewritten as to clearly indicate that the Congress is a check on the President, we will continue opposing it. If you feel the same way about it, you'd better get busy right away and write or wire our New Jersey Senators, John Milton and William H. Smathers and also our representative in Congress, Fred A. Hartley.

Yours 'til next week,
"GUARDIAN"

BREAKING WINDOWS

Belleville has been faced with an outbreak of window smashing by irresponsible persons, presumably boys, because much of the damage has been done at schools. Recently while a committee of school officials was in conference a stone crashed through a window in the meeting room. This is going a little too far. It is all right for boys and young men to have fun, but to endanger lives and ruin vacant property, as often has been done is overstepping the bounds. President Herbert C. Schmutz of the school board is right—a little detective work is necessary. A good old wood shed lesson seems to be the proper thing in this case.

PIQUANT POLITICS

By MEADOR WRIGHT

THE grapevine announcement of a complete Clean Government primary slate in Essex has not tended to allay political restlessness. All signs point to the formation of a second Republican ticket. Whether such an opposition movement will materialize, however, remains to be seen. In political circles, at least, Clean Government probably has more enemies than ever before in its existence. But the movement has long thrived on political opposition. Its leaders fear only the disaffection of independent voters. The tentative slate includes: Dr. Lester H. Clee for re-election as Senator; Joseph Giuliano for sheriff; William H. Rawson, Edgar S. Bamberger and Frank Platts for Freeholders; and W. Stanley Naughton for County Chairman. The present Assembly slate is to be returned with few changes. Endorsements may or may not be voted candidates for the three Congressional posts within the county.

Opposition to the above slate may come from a number of directions. State Republicans, hostile to Clean Government—Harold G. Hoffman, to be more specific—may inspire a second Essex ticket. An opposition freeholder slate may develop around the veteran Philip Lindeman, who is said to be angry both at being left off the tentative slate and at not having been consulted about running. Former Judge Fred G. Stickel, or some one else may decide that Clee is not invincible. Aspirants for the sheriff's office, of which there are expected to be many, or for the Congressional jobs, of which there are likely to be more, may form the nucleus of a second slate. A county committee battle to oust Naughton may develop.

In spite of these threatening clouds, however, William H. Seely and his associates feel reasonably confident. They remember the futile battle that William C. Cope of Glen Ridge led against Clean Government in 1935, and feel that their strategic position is fully as good this year. Their bravery, like the kid in Aesop's fable who laughed at the wolf, is inspired largely by a single factor. The roof of confidence that supports them is the broad shoulders of Senator Clee. If he were not running, their hearts would be beating now as tremulously as that of the kid had he seen the wolf in the field rather than from the housetop.

Since 1935, Hoffman has consistently counseled against entering a second ticket in Essex. It has been his theory that eventually Clean Government would break up from within, and that opposition would merely tend to solidify its ranks. It is possible, however, that he is now ready to try some other strategy. The bitterness of many of the members of the Republican State Committee over the leadership of Clayton E. Freeman may encourage intervention in Essex. The murmuring against Clean Government is both loud and deep.

I have stated before in this column my emphatic belief that Clee cannot be defeated this year. The remainder of the ticket, however, may or may not fare so well. But heretofore Clean Government tickets have come through intact. In Bamberger, the Vanderbilt freeholder slate, should have an excellent vote-getter. No name in Essex, save possibly that of Edison, carries more prestige than that of Bamberger. Louis Bamberger of South Orange, founder of the famed department store, could very justly be styled the county's number one citizen. Edgar is his only nephew, and will get thousands of votes on the basis of the distinguished business and philanthropic career of his uncle. Unless Lindeman upsets calculations by running independently, I predict that Bamberger will lead the entire ticket.

The fate of the bill for a Spring primary—it has been hanging between life and death for weeks—will very likely have its bearing on the Essex situation. Good strategy would dictate support for the bill. The longer the interval, the more likely is opposition to develop. Another danger point for Clean Government lies in the dummy Congressional petitions. These petitions have appropriated the Clean Government slogan. The leadership, however, is divided on whether or not to make use of the petitions. Naughton is said to be working to have Robert W. Kean of Livingston, endorsed as a candidate for Representative from the Twelfth District. Others within the Clean Government group favor Col. Dallas S. Townsend of Montclair. Townsend is said to have about made up his mind to run whether he gets the endorsement or not. Republican primary voters in Montclair will ballot almost solidly for Townsend regardless of county committee endorsement. With an opposition ticket in the field, these voters might continue to press Anti-Clean Government buttons on the voting machines, once they were compelled to go outside for a definite personal choice. Townsend has hundreds of friends outside of Montclair who, likewise, would go to great lengths to support him. A congressional district is not too large an area for a candidate to make an effective personal campaign, and it is my belief that Townsend will make such an impression on voters of the Twelfth

District, once he gets on the hustings as to practically guarantee his nomination. Readers of this column who are interested in the appearance of new figures on the political horizon should watch Townsend. I once expressed the opinion here that Arthur T. Vanderbilt, both as to personality and ability, would merit consideration as a 1940 candidate for President of the United States. Townsend deserves a rating fully as high.

I cannot follow the Clean Government thesis that Governor Moore has destroyed the party system of government in New Jersey by declining to follow the recommendation of State Chairman Freeman, in appointing members of the County Boards of Election. The intent of the law may be as Mr. Freeman contends, but the law itself is none the less malicious thereby. Any legislative act that relegates administrative functions of government to men selected by an officer purely political—and such is the state chairman—is a bad law. Freeman is an honorable man, but the opportunities for dishonorable men to get his job are too great to permit such power. By boldly breaking precedent, Moore has made a notable contribution to good government. Party leaders as such should never be directly or indirectly entrusted, with more than inquisitorial powers of government. Election board members have definite administrative duties, especially in the second class counties.

The parade of Republican Congressional candidates in the Eleventh District, which embraces the four Oranges and part of Newark, continues to grow. Actual or incipient candidates now include: Albert L. Vreeland, David I. Inglis and Edward H. Terrell of East Orange; Spencer Miller, Jr., Agnes Jones Gifford and Howard Cruse of South Orange; Peter A. Cavichia of Newark. Cruse and Inglis are both bankers, an occupation that furnishes few political candidates. But active opposition to the New Deal appears to be springing up from every source.

The unanimity of endorsement of John E. Manning of Newark, for Collector of Internal Revenue, is said to spring partly from the fear that Secretary Morgenthau might name a treasury career man to take charge of the post for the remainder of the year. It is still a little difficult to reconcile, however, the fact that Senators Smathers and Milton should simultaneously recommend the same man. South Jersey lions and Jersey City lambs do not ordinarily graze so peacefully in the same pasture. Nor should the ability of William H. Kelly as a herdsman, be too much depreciated.

New Jersey Today

Relation of Tax Delinquency to Land Use.

Prepared for the Belleville News by Dr. Maurice F. Neufeld, acting secretary, New Jersey State Planning Board.

As is pointed out by the New Jersey State Planning Board in its report to the Governor and Legislature on Rural Tax Delinquency, sufficient attention has not been given in the past to the relation of this delinquency to land uses.

Tax delinquency has most often been approached solely as a problem in the efficient collection of taxes and the prompt disposal of tax delinquency property through the sale of tax title liens. Since the first evidence of delinquency is failure to collect revenues, the simplest device has been to shift responsibility to the tax collector and to insist upon tax sales. Even during the past few years, when the depression was at its depth and wholesale delinquency was a common fact, many investigating bodies and governmental agencies offered as a remedy for tax delinquency the imposition of severer penalties and higher interest rates, accompanied by a stricter administration of tax laws through mandatory provisions.

The Model Real Property Tax Collection Law, drafted by a special committee of the National Municipal League, reflects these various recommendations. This approach assumes, in the last analysis, that tax delinquency is voluntary, and experience has shown this assumption to have a strong basis in fact. It should be remembered, however, that in many cases, particularly among low-income groups, it is absolutely impossible to determine the point at which the failure to pay tax bills is no longer voluntary, but becomes an economic necessity.

Only recently has the failure to collect taxes upon real property come to be more generally regarded as a manifestation of serious economic and social maladjustment in which the entire question of the proper utilization of land is involved. The study of rural tax delinquency in New Jersey from 1929 to 1934, prepared by the State Planning Board, is an attempt to center more attention upon aspects of tax delinquency which go beyond the difficulties of tax administration and converge upon problems in the most effective use of land as related to the balanced welfare of all the citizens of the state.

Sale of Town Owned

Deputy Director of Public Safety John M. Rainie pointed out it is customary to notify municipalities, which grant franchises for the buses, before altering a route or shortening it. It was the opinion of the board that Newark could route the buses over whatever streets it sees fit, as can Belleville, if traffic conditions warrant a change.

Ordinances providing for the paving of Lawrence and Alvah streets and vacation of Mansion place passed on second and third readings and were adopted.

The request of a storekeeper at 577 Belleville avenue, for a limited retail liquor license for his delicatessen store, was denied. The board last July, after a trial of eight months, banned all such licenses in town after the ABC authorities had reported several violations, one of which occurred in the delicatessen store which then was operated by another person.

The present owner said that many Belleville people, who want bottled beer, go to Bloomfield for it, at the same time, making other purchases out of Belleville. He said he "likes Belleville and wants to do business here and would like to see some action to keep trade at home."

Will Not Change Ordinance.
The board was unanimous against changing the ordinance to re-open a controversy over the beer situation. It was felt that if one license was granted others would apply. Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard declared it is not fair to charge one group which sells beer $350 for a license and the limited dealers, as heretofore in competition with taverns, $50.

Transfer of tavern licenses were made as follows. Emanuel De Noia, permit at 213 Belleville avenue to Mortimer Jonas and William E. Williams, license at 77 William street to Saverio Stetallata. The taverns will be operated at the same addresses as before.

Gerard

During that time he was prominent in state school affairs, serving as president of the State Teachers' Association and as a founder of the State Schoolmasters' Club. He has always been active in civic affairs, particularly during the war times of 1917-18, when he headed many of Belleville's patriotic efforts in aid of his country.

Mr. Gerard has always supported the social and cultural projects of the community strongly, participating in all the efforts for the betterment of his home town, and the help of many of its citizens.

For the past four years he has served as one of your Town Commissioners, having charge of Public Safety, which includes the departments of Fire and Police, the Town Clerk's office, the Police Judge's Court and the Recreation Commission.

He did not seek this department, but has administered this difficult branch of a town or city's government so well that it has been entirely free from the troubles that so frequently beset this enforcing arm of a community's public service.

Recent state reports show the economy with which Mr. Gerard has conducted the affairs of his department, and yet maintained their services at a high state of efficiency. Among twenty-seven of the largest towns and cities in New Jersey, the police and fire costs per capita in Belleville are the lowest in the state. Examples of this are shown by comparison with Hackensack and West Orange, two cities nearest Belleville in size. The latest published report shows the yearly police costs in these three municipalities as Hackensack, $124,880; West Orange, $136,475; and Belleville, $87,050. The fire costs for the same towns and time, are—Hackensack, $114,875; West Orange, $111,132, and Belleville, $65,225.

These things have been accomplished without reduction in salaries or impairment of services, for the police department has solved every major crime in Belleville during the past four years, and the fire loss here has been almost negligible.

The town's signal system has been so well maintained that the National Board of Fire Underwriters recently gave it high praise. The Town Clerk's office is noted for its efficiency and economy, as all who come in contact there know. The work of our Police Judge is cited widely for fairness and justice. The Recreation Department offers a constantly expanding service at a very low cost.

This foregoing record is not a promise of what Mr. Gerard will do, but rather a statement of what he has done. It is easy to promise, but far harder to perform.

On this record, Mr. Gerard offers his candidacy, and asks your continued support.

Sigh of Relief

No more will parents of children who attend Public School No. 9 in the valley have to worry about soiled clothes as a result of slides by the children down an excavation at Belleville avenue and Ralph street.

Many were the times children arrived in classes with clothes smeared with mud. It all happened because the "slide hole," which, in fair weather was sandy in nature, assumed "mud hole" proportions when it rained. Workers from John J. Hewitt's municipal welfare department, this week as a part of the levelling off process of land near the school filled in the hole. The board passed a resolution thanking Mr. Hewitt's department for the efficient work it has done at all schools.

The high school cafeteria receipts for February were $1,299.35 with expenditures at $1,147.54.

The Recreation Commission was granted use of Public School No. 1 from 3 until 9 o'clock afternoons and evenings during June and September and from 2 until 9 during July and August.

The board was thanked by Mrs. Margaret B. Peterson on behalf of the Parent-Teacher Association, School No. 3, for use of the school auditorium for a meeting which was held in February.

Rotarians Debate on "War Referendum"

Lawrence E. Keenan Was in Charge; G. R. Gerard, Judge

Belleville Rotarians Wednesday at luncheon in the Forest Hill Field Club enjoyed a debate among members on "Resolved, That the United States Should Hold a Referendum Before Engaging in Any War."

The affirmative was upheld by Supervising Principal of Schools, Wayne R. Parmer and Dr. Barney Schaffer. Philip Detelbach and Wallwin H. Masten argued for the negative. Corporation Counsel Lawrence E. Keenan was in charge, Willard Sawyer, timekeeper, and Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard, judge. Each speaker was allotted four minutes, with five minutes each allowed for rebuttal by Messrs. Parmer and Detelbach. Director Gerard, with an appropriate story, decided that "both sides were right."

marred the name of Belleville during my administration. With pride we note the constantly increasing respect accorded to Belleville. To be credited with aiding substantially in the financial rehabilitation and contributing to the growth of prestige of our town are distinct honors which I sincerely appreciate.

"Many years of experience in the field of industrial management, eight years of intensive application to the management of the financial affairs of your municipal corporation, and constant association with many folks throughout New Jersey active in the study of municipal problems, have earned for me an unusually sound training.

"In being honored by appointment as Executive Secretary to the New Jersey Citizens' Committee for the Princeton Local Government Survey, a distinctive opportunity is afforded to me to associate with recognized authorities in the field of Public Business Management, thereby permitting me to broaden my experience and make my abilities of increasingly greater value to the taxpayers of Belleville.

"Realizing fully that a strong administration of Belleville's business policies must be continued for the best interests of all of us as taxpayers, and with confidence based on practical experience in the management of private and public business, I will apply that experience with the same energy and enthusiasm that has characterized my eight years in public office.

"On this basis, I ask for your support of my candidacy."

Airplane Club Seeks National Membership

The Garden State Gas Model Airplane Club is planning to apply for membership in the National Aeronautic Association. This was announced by James Reilly, president, at a meeting held Wednesday night at the home of Armand Love, secretary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Love, 12 Beech street.

The club's silver loving cup, which was won last year by Alan Bedford, will be at stake when the members hold their semi-annual flying carnival at Hadley Airport, Saturday, April 2.

The members will also compete in a flying meet sponsored by a Newark department store, May 30.

Those who have model aircraft ready for competition, are: Mr. Love, a Quaker Flash; Walter Powell, Super-buccaneer; Robert King, Red Zephyr; Mr. Bedford, a Miss America and a Miss Philadelphia; Walter Johnson, Streamliner; William Eisefeld, Bay Ridge Ike and Arthur Crommelin, Super-byer. Other members of the club are William Fehon and Eugene Neary. Ernest Love is consulting engineer.

Librarians Meet

For the past seven months there has been a steady increase in the use of books and periodicals in public libraries in New Jersey. Why?

That's what the librarians want to know. Many of them think they do know, but there is no agreement in the reasons given. It is important to librarians, that the cause be found, if possible.

All of which will bring on one of the most interesting discussions of recent years, when the New Jersey Library Association meets at Atlantic City, April 1 and 2, at the Hotel Dennis.

Clarence E. Sherman of Providence, R. I., will be the principal speaker at the Friday evening session.

Cortlandt Street

eighty years ago. Either the State Highway Commission, which passed on all our actions in this, did not know the law, or it wasn't a fair decision.

"The Erie hasn't won a decision. I am telling the facts because somebody will try to use it against me in the election. Everything was done exactly according to law and specifications of the State Highway Commission. Saying this street isn't an unimproved road isn't common sense. The law says to get state aid it must be a dirt road, June or one that isn't improved, leading into a main highway. I'd like to know where you could find a road like that unless it was out in the middle of the woods somewhere."

Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard said he agreed with Director Waters that it "was not common sense to practically reverse previous action."

Director Waters Monday told the board applications for WPA jobs were coming in at the rate of thirty-five a day. About 600 already are at work, but the town can find no projects for 250 more who have applied.

Two projects suggested were the extension of Crescent terrace to Maier street, and the paving of Van Reyper place.

"Some of these people are getting desperate," he said. "They don't want relief—they want work. Nearly all our projects are exhausted. If South Mountain job comes through, but we don't know when it will, we could give 200 jobs."

Director Gerard expressed the view that "this seems to be the worst period yet in the depression."

Polyphonic Club

Owing to the growth of membership in the Polyphonic Club, the organization has decided to form a juvenile branch, which will meet Saturday, April 2 at 1 P. M. The younger group is composed of children eleven years and under that age.

The senior members will hold their meeting Monday night at the Stratton Studios. Amy G. Stratton, counsellor, will have as her topic, "Ear Training and Sight Reading." The topic of the juvenile group will be "Music Appreciation."

BEATING OR DRAWING

Rugs we one time cleaned by beating. And the dust we used to raise; Now by vacuum we are meeting. With success in these late days. Suction methods seem much saner. Free are all from dust and strain, And the housewife is the gainer, In her peaceful, calm domain.

This same method used on Andy, Bob and Mary, Tom and Sue, For their training seems more handy. And more advantageous, too. Drawing out both good and evil, Will be more effective far, And will never cause upheaval, Bitterness, regret or scar.

"Beating out," with threats attended, May not make for discipline; Old faults are not this way mended, Nor are virtues "beaten" in, From that trying aggravation, Tantrums, sullenness appear; And thru nervous agitation, Nightmare comes, with trembling fear.

It would seem the milder measures In the long run prove the best, Bringing satisfaction, pleasures, In their practice, under test. What is best in youth, residing, We may "draw out" fan to flame; What is worst, we stress thru child-ing, Or we may discourage, shame.

High School Team Has No Baseball Field

Extra Heavy Schedule Faces

Bellboy Squad in The Bargain

The Belleville High School baseball squad, with an extra heavy schedule, is wondering where it can indulge in outdoor practice and whether it will be able to slide around the bases at Clearman Field this year.

This came to light Monday night at the Board of Education meeting when President Herbert C. Schmutz said that to use Clearman Field now would ruin the work of seeding for the next football season, which has cost over $200.

"It would be money thrown away," said Mr. Schmutz, "if spikes dug into the turf at this stage."

School Commissioner Walter Gilby suggested that practice and games might be held at the field adjoining Public School No. 7 in Passaic avenue, but Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels declared that it "is too dangerous."

The business manager declared "You could clear the field of stones one day and there would be a truck load the next. If a ball hit one of the stones it might rebound, injuring a player."

He also pointed out danger to small children who congregate at the field, lining the baselines.

A resident of the valley section, Mrs. Allan Lundy, who attended the meeting with the Valley Improvement Association members, seeking a flag pole for Public School No. 9, which was authorized by the board, suggested use of the playground along Main street.

The matter will be ironed out by the building and grounds committee, which reported use of county parks is precluded because they will not be open for baseball games until late in May.

The same committee will make provisions to keep youngsters and others from playing baseball on Clearman Field on Sundays, an annoyance to the residents of the section, as well as detrimental to the field.

Mrs. Mary Sheldon, school commissioner, reported that through co-operation of Parent-Teacher and Home and School associations undernourished children in schools where the associations operate had been provided milk and crackers in cases where the children and their parents could not afford them. Eighty-two children have thus been taken care of, many of whom have shown marked gains in health and weight. Some provision will be made for children in schools where there are no such organizations.

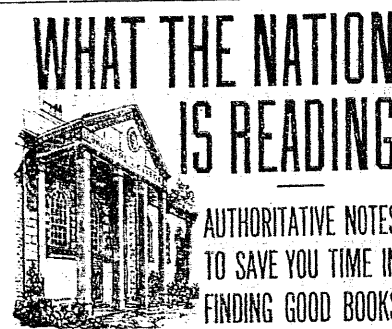

Plans are being studied to modernize and make fireproof the auditorium of School No. 3, Mr. Gilby reported.

As a result of the recent tuberculosis test mass meeting in the high school, which meeting was well attended, plans are under way to inaugurate the tests in the seventh and eighth grades and high school within the next two weeks, after consent cards have been distributed to parents and returned to the school officials. By action of the board all employees in the school system will be asked to take the test. Dr. Byron Harmon of Essex Mountain Sanatorium and his staff will come to Belleville to conduct the test.

Clarks Return Here

Mr. and Mrs. W. Douglas Clark and son, Donald, who have been living for the past eight years in Arlington, have returned to Belleville and are now living at 178 Floyd street.

Mr. Clark is the son of Commissioner and Mrs. W. D. Clark, 121 Floyd street and Mrs. Clark is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Weirich, 206 Linden avenue.

William Seabrook, author of living. Solid contributions have come from the industrious Germans, in literature, business, science, and politics, including "Fuehrer Fritz Kuhn," whom Mr. Seabrook assesses as "more like a pimple than a cancer." Then there are the Pennsylvania Dutch, and the Poles, on their farms, in factory and in trade and in the coal mines—all of them having both Fascism and Communism. He finds the more recent comers, the Russians, skillful in their adaptation to American ways.

Seabrook's book is one you will enjoy. He brings out the oddities of each group and their fine points as well, as he saw them going about their day's work, and as you and I can see them and come to respect them as the conglomerate of the Melting Pot. "You and I and the Swedes, Wops, Poles, Heines, grand duchesses, and Jewish tailors are Americans all . . . now all in the same boat . . . now moving toward a common destiny, in which, please God, our freedom 'shall not perish from the earth'."

Stamp Column

By Roderick MacDonald

Rhode Island Tercentenary.

Roger Williams, pastor of the church in Salem, said that the land on which they had settled belonged to the Indians, in spite of the king's charter, that the state had no control over a man's conscience, and that to make a man take the oath of citizenship, was to encourage lying and hypocrisy. The civil authorities drove Williams from the colony in 1636. Going southward in mid-winter, through the thick forests, he made friends with one Indian tribe after another. Upon arriving at the head of Narragansett Bay he purchased from the Indians, a tract of land which he called "Providence," in recognition of God's guidance. Other dissenters from Massachusetts followed, and soon four towns were established on the mainland about Narragansett Bay and on Rhode Island proper. The little colony of "Rhode Island and Providence Plantations" so established was remarkable for two things—democracy and religious freedom.

The postage stamp in the three-cent denomination was issued to commemorate the tercentenary anniversary of the founding of Rhode Island. It is the same size as the special delivery stamp, and is arranged vertically. The central design is a likeness of Roger Williams, modeled from a photograph of the statue in Roger Williams Park at Providence, R. I. Between the base of the statue and the right side of the stamp is a circular panel with white ground inclosing the denomination designation "3c" in dark lettering. In a corresponding position at the left is a reproduction of the central design of the state seal of Rhode Island. The stamp was printed by the rotary process without straight edges and was issued in sheets containing fifty stamps. The new stamp was first offered for sale at the post office in Providence, R. I. on May 4, 1936.

SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC VALUES OF THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS

(General Arts: (Secondary Course of Study, Manual Arts, Trenton, N. J.) To summarize: The basic aims of industrial arts and manual arts are to furnish means for the expressions, to provide opportunity for investigation and exploration, to develop habits of work and appreciation of values, to develop ingenuity of the individual, to assist in the choice of vocation to the end that we may become intelligent consumers and efficient producers, appreciative of our relation to others and conscious of our duties and responsibilities as citizens.

(San Francisco Public Schools, Curriculum Bulletin No. 101.) The purpose of giving varying forms of Industrial Arts, as taught in the Junior High Schools, is not primarily for vocational purposes, but rather with a broad cultural objective. The aim is to develop a sense of appreciation of a good product, rather than to make experts of the students in the various industries. The direct contact with some of this work gives the pupil an experience which forms part of the foundation of his education. The basic processes, and tool manipulations which are actually done, give the student an understanding which carries over into after life. With this contact in the different industries an idea of the close connection between these industries, is impressed upon the student. In this way the student realizes the dependence of one industry upon another. The actual doing of the work by the student impresses him with the necessity for labor, thus helping in forming right habits and in developing a wholesome attitude toward work and social obligations.

Books, magazines, etc. General objectives: To give the student an insight into the history, growth and development of printing. To develop the abilities of spelling, punctuation and capitalization. To socialize the entire student body through school publications and community interests.

(Public School Messenger, Curriculum Series, Vol. 28, St. Louis, Mo.) "The elective course in printing, as prepared, does not consider primarily the vocational aspect. It is offered as an opportunity in general education to those pupils who show an aptitude and fitness for the work and desire to pursue it further. It is intended to develop the pupil more in detail, and furnish a wide range of experience of wholesome and cultural value in the ancient and honorable craft.

The content may be enriched easily by offering new jobs as fast as the capacity of the individual permits. Each new job requiring the solution of an entirely new set of problems in its production. The natural correlations with the academic work are evident, and subjects once boring and unappealing now become vital and living, useful things through motivation influence of the type. It is here that the needed orientation in several types of craftwork is required."

(Manual Arts in the Junior High School, St. Cloud, Minn.) "Opportunities for the studying and analyzing social and economic conditions and facts in the print shop are numerous and are a real part of most of the studies made and outlined in other sections.

The value of cooperation among pupils while jobs are being routed

In N. J. C.'s First Opera

Miss Bernice Ehrlich of Belleville was a member of the orchestra which played for the recent presentation of Mozart's "The Magic Flute" at New Jersey College for Women. The production marked N. J. C.'s first venture into the field of opera and was sung in English, in a translation by Dr. Edward J. Dent of Cambridge University, England. This was the first time this translation had been heard in the United States.

Stage direction, settings and costumes were under the supervision of Professor Jane Inge, head of the department of dramatic art, and musical preparation, under the direction of Oscar Lassner, assistant professor of music. Professor John Earle Newton, chairman of the fine arts committee of the college and head of the department of music, conducted. More than eighty undergraduates of New Jersey College for Women and Rutgers took part as principals, members of the chorus or in the orchestra.

Miss Ehrlich, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Ehrlich, 232 Overlook avenue, is a member of the junior class at New Jersey College for Women. She is a graduate of Belleville High School.

Myra Zink Is Member Of Committee in Charge

Miss Myra Zink of 26 Rossmore place, is a member of a committee conducting a rummage sale sponsored by the Jane Addams Club, an organization of undergraduates at New Jersey College for Women interested in sociology. Rummage sales have always appealed to students of New Jersey College for Women as a good way to raise money for charitable purposes. Following a custom almost as old as the college, the undergraduates have just announced a spring rummage sale on April 9. Proceeds will be used for the operation of the Jane Addams House, a laboratory for sociology students on Douglass Campus, where the underprivileged children of New Brunswick find pleasure and play opportunities.

Miss Zink, a junior at college, is the daughter of Assemblyman and Mrs. Homer C. Zink, and is a graduate of Belleville High School.

THE OUTDOOR WORLD

By Bob Bangert

I can see some of you jump as you put your hand on a bush in your backyard and discover an awful looking, green insect in your hand. It will be about three inches long, and remind you of an overgrown grasshopper. Don't kill this fellow! He's a praying mantis. He's the little fellow that is trying to rid this country of Japanese beetles. Some of you that know them probably say, "Oh kill him, there's too many of them now." But don't forget, "The more the merrier."

Last week I asked you if you wouldn't go a little easy with the garter snakes. So don't take this story wrong as I still mean it. My object in telling you this story is to impress upon you the necessity a little knowledge of snakes might be. It seems that one day I went camping with some fellows up in Sussex. It was about two o'clock when one of the fellows who had been out for a little walk came strolling into our camp, whistling and singing. As he came nearer I could make out something around his neck. Finally he came nearer and yelled, "Hey, you guys, come here and look at the little garter snake I found. Well, I took one look and nearly collapsed. This fellow had a young copperhead around his neck and didn't know it. I don't know up to this day, why that snake didn't bite him. To make sure I was right, we killed the snake and took him to the game warden who lived about 3 miles away. It was a copperhead, as full of venom as any.

Well, it won't be long now before the fishing season starts. You know, folks, there are two kinds of fishermen. One uses worms for bait, the other uses flies. One is out to see how many fish he can catch, the latter is out for the sport and the art of fishing. Which one are you?

How are those bird houses coming along?

WHY DON'T YOU HAVE A HOBBY?

By Dorothy Hansen

A hobby is a favorite pastime and something everyone will enjoy. There are innumerable subjects to choose from and by no means are all of them developed. So why not look around? The most interesting people you meet have them, often a couple; the more the merrier.

A case of a hobby becoming a business is that of radio amateurs who develop such a thorough knowledge of their hobby that they are able to take positions in the field. In our high school we develop hobbies in various clubs.

Monday the Radio Club consisting of boys' meets. In the club boys bring crystal sets that they constructed themselves.

Tuesday the meeting of the Stamp Club is held; there are boys and girls in the club who bring stamps to trade. They are planning an exhibit of stamps.

The Riding Club also meets on this day, weather permitting. They ride at the Brookdale Academy, Nutley.

Wednesday, the chess players of our school congregate and study over the end games which are games at the difficult stage.

Thursday is the day for debate club. The debaters are debating pro and con for unicameral legislature just now.

Music Column

By Jeanne Schetlick and J. Marian Schlecker

"MUSIC IN A FORD"

A friend of mine once had a car without a speedometer. He used to speak of "turning the corner at 30 miles an hour, riding pleasantly along at 20 miles an hour, opening her up until she was doing 40 miles."

One day I asked him how he could tell the speed at which he was traveling when he had no speedometer. "Well," he said, "when she gets to 20 miles the right fender begins to rattle. When she gets to going 30 miles an hour a little bolt in the dash begins to jingle. When she hits 40 the glass in the windshield rattles terribly."

Rates of vibration. Not music of course, but the stuff of which it is composed; the only difference is that music is more orderly and better controlled.

"Tromboners"

1—What is a piccolo?

A piccolo is an ill wood-wind that nobody blows good!

2—Weight and relaxation methods.

The pupil waits while the teacher relaxes.

3—In Spain the catarrh is the most popular instrument.

4—Verdi wrote "Rigolotti" in forty winds.

5—Moriz Rosenthal has a very sharp tongue. "It is too bad, he was getting along well and had finished the second movement, when he suddenly lost his memory."

WHAT DO YOU LIKE TO DO?

We'll bet a plugged nickel that you have some story tucked away that your teacher thought was pretty good, but never was printed. Or, perhaps you take to writing verse. We like both serious and humorous poems. Bring whatever you have to one of the editors and when you pick up a News the next Friday you may see your masterpiece on the high school page!

What do most boys do in study period the day before a test? They draw airplanes! And the girls are drawing pretty faces! Well, why not share these pictures with others? We could use a few.

If you don't take to any of these arts, at least you have opinions. Every one does!! Put these in the form of a letter and we'll print them (provided, of course, they are interesting to the majority of the students).

Come on! Turn in something, and see what a kick you get out of seeing it in print!

BELLOWING ABOUT BELLEVILLE

By JACOB LEVINE

Class 1938, Belleville High School

Daylight Saving Time.

May 10 will be around before we realize it and Belleville citizens will be out casting their votes for those whom they believe are best suited for the commission jobs. Something which I will cast my vote for every day in the week and twice on Sunday, but which has nothing to do with commission elections, of prime importance, however, to every one, is the extension of daylight saving time from March to October.

Thomas A. Edison, that great benefactor of mankind, undoubtedly transformed the world into a much, much better place to live in through his utilization of electricity, but no two-legged creature will ever match the brilliancy of that little orb which day in and day out rises in the east and sets in the west.

Here's the point: With daylight saving time from April to September we are not getting as much of the sun's rays as we are able to. When workers come home from a fatiguing day at the factory or office they certainly can stand a little extra sunshine. Now, under the existing conditions, darkness falls and the day ends for little school children as soon as they finished supper. Automobile accidents, too, have a way of occurring much more often at night with its artificial up-to-date system of illumination than in the daytime, with its old-fashioned sunshine. And then, there is the electric bill to be considered—not only to be considered, but also to be paid.

I may be all wrong. At least, it is my contention that daylight saving time should start in March and end in October. Think it over.

Personalities.

There are certain personalities who are as much a part of this town of ours as the pavement on Washington avenue, or the curfew bell at the William street firehouse. They don't pretend to be the town's most prominent citizens and yet are just as big, even bigger, in their own little way. Certainly, they rate columnar mention in your Bellowing's modest pillar.

For instance, there is Joe the Peanut Man (an epithet fastened on by folks who wish to distinguish him from the hundred and one other Joees in town), whose stand occupies a pretentious corner at Main and Rutgers in front of the bridge. Joe is definitely a fixture at this corner. He stands there as immobile as Victory Statue in front of the Town Hall, offers you a guttural "hello" or "How's the goin'?" but never does he say, in the crisp, business-like manner of a boisterous "weener" salesman, "Say, feller, how about taking a nice, big bite into a sizzling, crackling hot dog, eh?" or does he offer the age-old bargain, "Pee-nuts, pee-nuts, fi cents a bag!"

His sales psychology is effective, even though unconscious. All one ever hears is the plaintive whine of his peanut whistle, humming its message over the din of the cars scurrying across the bridge. It is sufficient, however. Somehow or other, you feel yourself "digging in" and... "Bag o' peanuts, Joe!"

Patrick Tortorello has been a mailman longer than even he cares to remember. He has been dubbed, because of his melodious tendencies, "Patsy the Singing Mailman." With a song on his lips, a twinkle in his eye, and a jovial "Hi ya!" for every one, you see him swinging down Washington avenue every morning, regardless of the weather, covering his route. Arthur Tracy, the street singer, has nothing on Patsy. And when the awful quietness of a morning is suddenly rent by the shrill notes of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," or some other lyric, it is a sure sign to Mama, washing the dishes in the kitchen, that Patsy is here with the morning mail.

And, incidentally, Patsy is a proud father of Pat Tortorello, Jr., in his third year at Belleville High, and potential varsity material for next year's basketball team.

And then, there is the laundry man who claims that today the prerequisite of a good laundry man is not merely in giving the housewives speedy and efficient service. Their demands are far more exacting.

He goes on to say that he must also be a voice of experience and an Elsie Robinson all in one. Seemingly, they have no one else to confide in or to ask advice from, so the poor laundry man is elected. He stands there, wash bag in hand, listening to what a brazen brat his customer has or "What do you know, junior cut his first tooth today!" or what an extravagant housekeeper the lady upstairs is.

Frankly, he says, it usually goes in one ear and out the other. But, sometimes he retains something heard in one house, and with that information, offers his solution to problems that confront him in other houses.

How about charging extra for your bits of advice, Mr. Laundry Man?

Library News

Among the most popular non-fiction requested are books on photography and on the general study of art. Although both these departments are limited in their number of works, every opportunity is made to include new books of these types when books are ordered.

The newest books on photography include: "How to Use Your Candid Camera," by Dmitri, which contains many beautiful photographs as well as very useful information; "Miniature Photography," by Simon; "Photography Today," by Spencer; and also a book on photo-engraving by Groesbeck.

Two of the newest works on general art, which describe new trends in painting and sculpture, and which contain many beautiful reproductions in illustration, are "Modern Art," by Craven, and "New Works of Art," by Ruckstull. The department includes two books on American art by Jackman and Cahill, as well as descriptive books on the art of other countries.

No Bananas

Dog Tickles Keys

A piano playing dog with the name, "Spike," seems to us to be something of a paradox, but "Spike" actually does play the piano.

Of course the animal, which is owned by Andrew A. Soellner, Jr., 46 Floyd street, doesn't know anything about rhythm or harmony, and he makes only cacophonous music, but when told to "play the piano" he walks stately over to it like a popular maestro, hoists himself on his hind legs and daintily taps the keys with the nonchalance of an accomplished musician.

THE SECRET OF DODGE DEPENDABILITY

Have you ever wondered why Dodge cars have such a great reputation for dependability, ruggedness and long life? The answer lies in the fact that for years Dodge has deliberately engineered and built its cars not only for the first owner, but for the second, third and even fourth owners! In fact, records show that Dodge owners who buy new Dodge cars every year or two years use only a fraction of the total mileage built into them! That's just one reason why 142,922 new car buyers have switched from other cars to Dodge in the past year. And that's also why those who really know used car values are saying the Dodge used cars offered by Dodge dealers are the finest buys on the market.

Frank Beeder, Missourian, Adds Entry To Lineup for Opening Card at Nutley

Tall and Husky Speedster From Mound City Has A Record Replete With Thrilling Performances

Frank Beeder

Frank Beeder, bemustached St. Louis, Mo. auto race star, has added his entry to the line-up which will compete in the first meet of the mid-gate auto season on the Nutley Velodrome boards Sunday afternoon, April 3.

Thirty years old, the tall and husky speedster from the Mound City has sent his entry to Promoter John Kochman with the statement that he is anxious to leap into action. Back of him is a record replete with thrilling performances.

Beeder began racing in the mid-west three years ago and came east in search of competition two seasons back. In his first showing he set a new track record at Reading and led the late Doc Mackenzie for most of the main event at Hohokus. Then he signed to drive mid-gate cars for Mike Caruso, owner of the east's fastest equipment.

Soon after he went back to St. Louis to race there but a lucrative offer brought him to the Boston Garden and he almost won the national indoor championship. Here an accident almost cost him his life when he was forced to ride the vertical wall on one occasion and it rolled, the driver just escaping a tragic crack-up.

Officially he was second to Bob Sall for the southeastern big-car honors that year, ironically enough finishing the season in the Bagley McDowell, which his arch rival, Mackenzie, had piloted up to his death. Last year he won the Freeport 100-lap championship and was leading the Philadelphia championships until a blown tire forced him into the pits. Then he scored victories in Texas, where he mopped up and pushed on to California.

Memorial Day he will drive his first 500-mile at Indianapolis, but at present he is concentrating on his mid-gate racing plans, aiming to sweep the field at Nutley.

But to overcome that starting line-up, he will have to outspeed such stars as Frank Bailey, Bob Sall, Tommy Hinnerschitz, Ronny Householder, Ernie Gessell, Bill Schindler, Lou Wilson, Bill Morrissey and Paul Russo, among those listed for that opening Nutley meet.

Basketball in Recreation Leagues

In a game packed with thrills from start to finish the Rosery five trounced the Lou Noll Boosters, 42 to 40, in the Recreation basketball finals. The game ended in a 36 to 36 deadlock. A five minute overtime period was played with the score ending 40 to 40. The game was renewed with the team scoring the first two points to be the winner. Red Groesch with a beautiful lay up shot scored the two points winning the game. In the Industrial League finals Isolantite defeated Sonneborn, 28 to 13. The Intermediate finals saw the Pals score a win over the Valley Spiders, 26 to 15.

Entries Pour in
For Table Tennis
Recreation Commission in Charge of Town Tournament

Entries are pouring in thick and fast in the men's division of the Belleville Table Tennis Championships, to be held in the recreation room of Wallace and Tiernan Company, April 4, 5 and 6.

With the closing date for entries, March 31, next Thursday, a formidable field will serve up the first balls in the men's section. Many exciting and thrilling contests will undoubtedly be witnessed, even in the first rounds.

Entries from the female contingent, however, are lagging far behind the men. Only a few applications have been received, but the committee on arrangements this week expressed the belief that the women's field will be greatly enlarged by the closing date.

Any entries must be mailed to Edward Lister, director of recreation, 407 Joralemon street, before next Thursday, March 31. There is no entrance fee.

Hoist Storm Signals At Laurel Garden

Storm signals will be hoisted at Newark's Laurel Garden tonight when the wildest pachyderm's will be thrown against each other tonight.

Toppling the list is another bout between Man Mountain Harry Jacobs and Sammie Fitzpatrick Cohen, in a two out of three falls embroglio. The promoters have added fuel to the flaming feud by promising the winner a bout with Jim London's following week, April 1. That will make the two behemoths commit even more mayhem on each other, striving to obtain the lucrative match.

Three sterling one fall to a finish bouts are also on the list. In the first Jesse James tangles with Gino Martini. The fans will remember the bout this pair put on about six weeks ago when Martini was foisted to quit because of a severe contusion of the ribs. Before the accident, Gino had been giving James more than he had bargained for in the battle.

Dutch Schultz and Juan Olave, a couple of experts in rough stuff, will tangle in the second finish. Dutch is out to usurp the honor of being Public Villain No. 1. He has turned in three riotous performances and this week faces his toughest opponent.

Third in line is King Kong, who's rioting caused him to be disqualified last week, against anka Zelesniak, a rough and ready Russian gladiator. These two lads will give the others plenty of competition in the matter of wild and woolly tactics.

As if that weren't enough, Big Chief Sanook, 385-pound Indian, is also down for his first local appearance against Orville Brown. The remaining bout pairs Kimon Kudo with George Becker, for a real exhibition of the grappling art.

FISH AND GAME

By De Allaire

In a few weeks trout fishing will be in full swing and several ardent school boy anglers are eagerly awaiting the opening of the season.

Bob Schenk, Don Smith, Charlie Haley, Fred Faas, Bob Bangert and Ray Hagaman, are all dreaming their school hours away contemplating their favorite sport. Ray, who claims he sells the best worms to be found anywhere, has taken his limit of trout on opening days for the past three years, and he declares with no little pride, "it's my worms that get 'em."

A few good rains should put the trout streams in good shape for the worm and bait fishermen.

Bucail are about as good an artificial wet bait as can be used, and many good sized fish are taken from New Jersey's streams every year with these deer tail lures. I think it advisable to have a good stock of buccails handy on April 15.

If this early spring we've been having lately keeps up, the fish will be rising and the fly casters should have a full creel and a lot of fun.

Most of Jersey's streams are in fine condition, excepting for the Pequod, which is now rather high and discolored.

There will be a great many beginners out this year as every year, and for the sake of other fishermen, I would like to drop a few hints. If you frequent crowded fishing grounds, above all try to be courteous or you will be branded a "stream pest," before you know it. Many a fine fish is lost and many a man is cursed through lack of "stream etiquette" and courtesy. Trying to net your fish or snagging your line are favorite tricks with beginners. If a fisherman is playing a fish and having a hard time netting it, above all don't interfere and try and net the fish for him, for the netting is the biggest thrill in trout fishing and no angler wants to be deprived of it because some greenhorn fisherman thought he was helping. One often has experiences of this kind, no sooner does one hook a fish than splashing down the stream like a frightened kangaroo comes some pest thinking he's helping, when in reality he's scaring the fish and ruining the fishing for every one else. If you don't know how to cast, try to avoid other anglers, because a hook is very hard to get out of the skin and often results in serious injury.

If you succeed in getting a fish, move on downstream awhile and then come back, thus bettering your chances, because other fish which have been warned by the tussle, will be mighty scary and likely to swim away, but return later, this of course, pertains only to quiet, smooth pools, and calm water.

Salt water anglers are preparing for the annual run of spring. Flounders, which will soon be coming into the coastal bays and rivers. If you would like to experience a real thrill, take along fresh water tackle when you go for flounders and I guarantee that these usually sluggish fish will seem just as gamey as trout. Don't forget, however, to use salt water line, as the salt water isn't good for fresh water line. The new basin dredged out at Manassquan brought in countless numbers of the "flat fellows." The channel which is about 130 feet wide affords good catches. Frank Spotts has a bait and boathouse a short distance from this spot. Frank, a biology teacher at the high school, is a fisherman par excellence and one of Belleville's prominent sportsman.
