Clerk Reports Holdup In Liquor Store

Bandit is Said to Have Visited Harry Byrnes' Place Twice

Visibly shaken by the ordeal of being held up at the point of a gun, Donald Martin, 27, a clerk in the liquor package store of Harry Byrnes, 109 Washington avenue, called Belleville police headquarters about 9:45 P. M. Sunday night and reported the hold-up. About $65 was taken from the cash register.

Martin related the hold-up in this fashion: "The robber came into my store about 9 P. M. He was about twenty-four years old and was about five feet, six inches in height, and weighed about 160 pounds. He wore a brown suit and a brown hat.

"He asked the price of a quart of whiskey, but he said the price I gave was too high. He came back about 9:45 and asked for a bottle of whiskey and when I turned to get it, he said 'Get in the back room' and pointed a revolver at me.

"I complied and he made me take off my trousers and get into a wash room, which I did.

"I heard him tip the cash register and I came out as he left. Alfred Streit, 6 Hornblower avenue entered the store at this time. I found only the cash missing."

Patrolmen John J. Flynn and Ernest Slater were ordered by Desk Lieutenant Kenneth Smith to the scene, where they were joined by Sergeant Charles Pearl. A search of the neighborhood was fruitless and Detectives Eddie Fletcher and James Lee are now investigating.

Ill and Unemployed, Man Kills Himself

Roman Madler, forty-four, of 47 Baldwin place, an unemployed tool-maker, shot himself fatally through the roof of the mouth Thursday at his home, according to police. Madler had been despondent and in poor health, police said.

Madler was employed formerly by Thomas A. Edison Industries at West Orange. He had been unemployed since January.

Police said Madler's wife, Mrs. Estelle Madler, told them her husband said he was going to take a nap after lunch. Mrs. Madler said she went to the basement, then she heard a shot, police said. They said the wife told them she found her husband lying on a bed in a second floor room, a .32-caliber pistol beside him.

Madler was treated by Police Surgeon Vail and then taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, where he died at 4:30 P. M.

"Ghosts" Disappear at Haunted House When Local Police Arrive at Scene

Tap-Tap-Tap on the Hill Started Six Years Ago, Then Desisted, Finally Starting Last Week Louder Than Ever

Detective Edward Fletcher of the Police Department exploded the haunted house mystery of 88 Belmoir street this week with a statement that he knows the person who has been playing a hoax on the George H. Hoch family.

The Hoch family have moved out of the house and have gone to live with relatives subsequent to the disclosure in a Newark paper, Sunday, that the Belmoir street house was haunted.

The family heard the mysterious tap-tap-tap in the wall one night six years ago, as they were dosing off in their home. The knocks lasted about two months of nights, fraying the family's nerves and eluding every attempt at discovery. It suddenly disappeared.

Saturday night the noise was back, louder, bolder, and, according to the Hoch family, even more informative, thumping out the hour and answering such questions as "Are you a spirit?" Moreover, it was haunting, not only the Hoch domicile, but the immediate neighborhood, and detectives, under Police Chief George Spatz, were trying to trace the source of the loud thump-thump that was keeping the Hochs and their neighbors awake from one o'clock in the morning sometimes to four.

But all that is over now for there has been no tapping or thumping

Patients Decrease at Isolation Hospital

Expenditures and Commitments Also Less Here Than Year Ago

A substantial decrease in number of patients at the County Isolation Hospital, Soho, from a year ago was reported to the Board of Freeholders committee in charge Monday. There were 230 patients April 1 and 174 May 1. The 1937 figures were 387 April 1 and 304 May 1.

Expenditures and commitments the first four months this year were $94,224. The amount for the same period last year was $100,929. The board had apportioned $102,335 for January to April this year. Daily per capita food costs averaged thirty-eight cents in April.

Dr. William H. Areson, president of the medical advisory board, reported action to place staff physicians reaching the age of sixty-five on the emeritus list. One who has reached that age, however, was not included. The committee approved the arrangement.

Says Bill—

William MacKillop, fire headquarters company, Patrolmen John J. Flynn and George Nelson went fishing one day last week near Beach Haven.

While fishing about three miles off shore, Patrolman Flynn lost his fishing rod and line overboard just when he thought he had a big one.

Minus one fishing line and pole the three went out about ten miles on the ocean.

On their journey back to shore MacKillop was trolling in the hope of getting a fish when all of a sudden he felt something jerk on his line.

He wound up his line and, low and behold, what should he pull in but "Sugar's" pole and line?

This may be a fish story, but MacKillop sticks to his guns in vouchsafing its veracity.

Davidson Recovers From Fall Here

Received Broken Left Arm And Concussion of The Brain

James L. Davidson, former tax assessor, received a broken left arm and slight concussion of the brain Friday at the Davidson-Robertson Gas Station, 414 Washington avenue.

According to Jack Robertson, the latest theory concerning the injuries suffered by his partner, is that he fainted. Mr. Davidson, Robertson says, was hurt when he fell to the floor of his garage adjacent to the gas station.

It is not known, but it is believed that he was standing on a running board of a car, which was jacked up on an air pressure riser and that he either fell, or stepped off not realizing he was so high in the air.

He was taken to his home in the town ambulance, where he is rapidly recovering.

Tuesday, he wanted to vote for his long time partner in the building business, Commissioner King, but his condition precluded it.

Commission to Organize Tuesday Noon With Adjournment 'Till 7 That Night

Four Are Returned to Office With Louis Noll Replacing Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard

With one change in personnel—Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard replaced by Commissioner-elect Louis A. Noll, as a result of Tuesday's municipal election here—the Town Commission will hold its organization meeting of the 1938-1942 board at 12:05 P. M., Tuesday noon, following the final meeting of the old board, which will convene at 11:45 A. M., the same day.

Public Works Director Patrick A. Waters came in second with another. The organization meeting will be adjourned until 7 P. M., Tuesday evening so that all citizens may visit the Town Hall, if they so desire.

Commissioner Gerard was ill at his home election day with asthmatic bronchitis. Dr. James Irwin, his physician, said the director had a high fever and had been on the verge of pneumonia. He was confined to bed during the last four days of the campaign.

In the vote scramble Tuesday, which saw 10,872 of Belleville's 14,000 odd voters go to the polls, Mayor-Finance Director William H. Williams was returned to office with the amazing all-time record here of 7,179, a tribute to the methods he has employed in the financial and advertising programs of the town. Tremendous total—5,693, followed by Public Affairs Director Joseph King, 4,942; Noll, 4,327 and Parks and Public Property Director William D. Clark, 4,176.

Former Police Chief Michael Flynn was sixth with 4,019 votes and Elmer S. Hyde, seventh, with 3,815.

The Probable Line-up. It is expected that as a result of the election, Mayor Williams will be continued in that post, as well as continuing as Finance Director. Clark may be given charge of the police and firemen, which department he headed for eight years, and which was assigned four years ago to Director Gerard.

If Waters desires it there will be little question but that he will once

Within forty-five minutes after the polls had closed Tuesday, the Belleville News had tabulated and broadcast a complete vote of the town—ninety-eight per cent correct.

Out of 46,794 clicks of the keys, this newspaper missed only 136 votes—six on Waters' tally, 120, Flynn and 10, Gerard.

This was done in great confusion, beside busy telephones and loud speaker equipment. Robert Jackson, assistant treasurer Belleville News, did the lightning calculation without any machine assistance, seated amid a throng of people who crowded into the News' building.

George Haggeter was the official announcer.

Woman Condemns Two "Brave?" Men

Rough Pair Held Up and Knocked Her Down In Street

"To the two 'brave' young men? who held me up and robbed me Sunday evening, April 24, at 9:10 P. M. on Cortlandt street, of $25, I want to congratulate you."

Thus in a short sentence did Mrs. William Tucker, 39 Schuyler street, condemn two young men who knocked her down, and stole her pocketbook.

Mrs. Tucker was particularly impressed with heroic attitude of the two young men as she dwelt on the fact that she is fifty-two years old and weighs only 105 pounds.

"It required real courage," she continued, "to grab a woman from behind. You did not take the money from one who had plenty, either. I work harder for my money than you worthless crooks ever did or ever will. I also support my mother and father. That money was to pay my gas and electric bill, and milk account."

P.-T. A. Will Hear Talk on Forests

A. T. Cottrell Will Illustrate Lecture at Local High School

A. T. Cottrell, assistant forester, Department of Conservation and Development, will address the High School Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening in the school auditorium on "A Tour Through New Jersey's 2,000,000 Acres of Forests."

Mr. Cottrell will illustrate his talk with fifty slides. Mr. Cottrell will tell that "excepting Rhode Island, New Jersey has the greatest density of population of any state in the Union; yet we find in South Jersey countless square miles devoid of human inhabitants or abodes."

He will trace the extent of the area, economic history, forest fires, land ownership and the possibilities of state ownership of the land, pertaining to New Jersey's coastal plain problem.

Officers will be elected following a report of the nominating committee after which refreshments will be served by a committee in charge of Mrs. Horace Knox.

Misses Elizabeth Sharp and Hazel Ellsworth, high school students, who recently won first place in two piano competition at Atlantic City, will entertain.

Nereid Boat Club, Old and Historic, Starts Sixty-third Consecutive Year on the Passaic

Group Expects Active Year, a Feature of Which Will Be Dinner Cooked by "Eliza" of Culinary Fame at Club

The Nereid Boat Club, one of New Jersey's oldest and most historic clubs, is about to start its sixty-third consecutive rowing season.

During the winter season the Nereid clubhouse has been reconditioned inside and out, along with the rowing equipment. A special float, of novel construction, has been constructed under the direction of Herbert V. Hardman. This will facilitate the safer handling of the delicate craft of the sport. Also during the winter three new rowing shells were added to the Nereid fleet. The boats are a quadruple shell, a double

Complete Plans for Jewish Book Week

Starts at Local Library as First Such Endeavor In County

Final arrangements have been completed for the Jewish Book Week Exhibition which will be held in the exhibit room of the Belleville Public Library, 221 Washington avenue, during Jewish Book Week, May 15 to May 22. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Shattuck, librarian, has announced that the exhibit will be open on weekdays from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.; on Saturday from 9 A. M. to 12 noon. The library is closed on Sunday.

In conjunction with the exhibit, Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, of Congregation Anavas Achim Anshe, has arranged a display of Jewish ceremonial art and other items of Jewish interest. These will be shown in the same room as the book exhibit.

The sisterhood of the congregation will hold a special open meeting on Tuesday night, May 17, to mark the observance of Jewish Book Week. The meeting will take place in the social hall of the synagogue, 317 Washington avenue. Nathan Kussy, Newark, a well-known attorney will address the assembly on "The Jew in Literature." Mr. Kussy is an internationally-known author and literary critic. His books have been published both here and abroad. After the lecture an informal reception will be held. Mr. Kussy will begin his lecture at 9 P. M.

The Jewish Book Week exhibit is the first of its kind ever to be held in a public library anywhere in Essex County. A great effort has been made to make this exhibit as interesting and as educational as possible. Admission to the exhibition is free to all. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Bowman Sees Importance of Proper Appointments to Local Government Boards

President of New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce Declares "A Great Step Toward Efficiency" Has Been Taken

Success of the Princeton Survey program to tighten the reins on municipal government finances will "depend to a large degree upon the type of men placed in the four local government board posts created by the bills recently passed in the legislature," Robert T. Bowman, of Trenton, president of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, said today.

Walter R. Darby, now state auditor, is named as Local Government Commissioner in the bills. Governor Moore, who on Monday signed the final key bills of the Princeton proposals, is to appoint four Advisory Board members created by the measures to assist Darby, at $4,500 a year.

"Every taxpayer in the state has a vital interest in the long range implications of the Princeton program," Bowman wrote in a letter to the New Jersey Citizens' Committee for the Survey, released here today by the state chamber. The letter was addressed to DeWitt D. Barlow, Mayor of Plainfield, and chairman of the citizens' group.

"We now have legislation which, if properly and wisely administered, has in it the possibility of potential savings of many millions of dollars for overburdened real estate taxpayers," read Bowman's letter.

"A step toward efficiency in local government financial control has been taken. But what is the next step in this important program?"

"There will be general taxpayer approval of the fact that these Princeton bills named Walter R. Darby, now state auditor, to the very important administrative post of our first Local Government Commissioner."

"But if the most is to be made of the great opportunity offered by these Princeton bills, it is very important that the four other local government board posts created by this legislation be filled by men with the highest degree of technical equipment and sound knowledge of local government problems."

"The early work in the new field opened up by these bills will be pioneering. If maximum benefits are to be obtained for taxpayers, these posts should be occupied by men who combine technical knowledge with judgment and vision.

"This is the next great step in the Princeton program. I believe that we may have every confidence that Governor Moore, whose interest in this program for taxpayer relief, is well known, will appoint to these four posts, men eminently qualified to do the kind of a job which you, as sponsors of this legislation, and we, as representatives of the state's business and industry, are eager to see performed in this new field."

Legion and Auxiliary Plans Child Welfare Conference

Essex County American Legion posts and auxiliaries will hold a public child welfare conference, May 25, at Wallace Hall, in the Newark Y. M. C. A. Elmer Buechele, Irvington, Essex Child Welfare director, is chairman. County Commander William J. Doyle and Mrs. R. Graham Huntington, Essex auxiliary president, are honorary chairmen.

The Essex legionnaires are co-operating with the New Jersey American Legion department and other agencies in a state-wide campaign to foster proper places and means for supervised recreation for children in their respective communities. It is planned by the establishment of this community council that it will serve as a drive toward crime prevention. Enlistment by public interest toward child welfare work will also serve as a preventive of juvenile delinquency.

Various phases of the work by child welfare, Americanism, and legion friend directors will be reviewed by the posts and auxiliaries in Essex County. Representative leaders in county, state, and local agencies will also participate in the program. Common Pleas Judge Richard Hartshorne, national law and order chairman, with Gregg L. Frost, of Springfield, department child welfare chairman, will cooperate with the Essex Legionnaires in their plans for the establishment of such a community council in this area.

Legion Prepares for Annual Poppy Sale

Millions are Going Out From Government Hospitals

Poppies by the millions are going out from government hospitals and poppy work rooms this month to units of the American Legion Auxiliary throughout the country. Mrs. Maude Christie, poppy chairman of Belleville unit, said today. The little red memorial flowers will be distributed by the auxiliary units on Poppy Day, May 28, to be worn in honor of the World War dead and to raise funds for the disabled veterans and families left dependent by the war.

More than 10,000,000 poppies have been made by disabled veterans at the sixty different manufacturing centers, located either in government hospitals or in special work rooms maintained by the auxiliary. Many hundreds of disabled men, without other income and without possibility of finding or performing other work, have been given employment during the winter and spring.

The flowers are made of red crepe paper with wire stems in replica of the wild poppies of France and Belgium which grew on the battle fields and cemeteries of the World War, and which are recognized throughout the English-speaking world as the memorial flower of the war dead. Each poppy carries, attached to its stem, the official Legion and auxiliary label, identifying it as an authentic veteran-made, poppy distributed for the sole benefit of the war's living victims.

While the poppies are being received, auxiliary units are perfecting organizations which will carry the flowers to the public on Poppy Day. More than 100,000 women are expected to serve in the poppy corps this year, all working as unpaid volunteers. Contributions made to them for the poppies will go into the relief and welfare funds of the Legion and auxiliary.

Membership Record.
Only 16,000 more enrollments for 1938 were needed to establish a new membership record, when the American Legion Auxiliary began its May activities. Mrs. Gladys Ruemer, membership chairman of Belleville unit, announced today.

The May membership report from national headquarters showed an enrollment of 428,226 members, an increase of 22,974 over the same date last year. The total enrollment for 1937, 444,200 members, the previous high record was expected to be exceeded this month.

Seventeen of the auxiliary's fifty-two departments had exceeded their 1938 membership quotas and many others needed only a few additional members to reach quota strength. Alaska, with 109.28 per cent of its quota enrolled, had the largest percentage of gain, followed by Florida, with 105.99 per cent, and Hawaii, with 102.50 per cent. Other departments over their quotas were Louisiana, South Carolina, Wisconsin, Arkansas, California, New Mexico, Iowa, Minnesota, Colorado, Ohio, Indiana, New York, Oklahoma and South Dakota.

A check for $25,000 was presented by the American Legion Auxiliary to the American Legion during the May meeting of the Legion's national executive committee at national headquarters in Indianapolis, Ind., as the auxiliary's annual contribution to the Legion's work for disabled veterans. Mrs. Elizabeth Kant, rehabilitation chairman of the local auxiliary unit, has announced.

The presentation was made possible by contributions of ten cents per member from auxiliary members throughout the country. The money will be used to help maintain the national rehabilitation service of the Legion through which aid of many kinds is given to disabled World War veterans and families of deceased veterans throughout the country.

81st Birthday Party

Four generations of the family of Mrs. Christiana Winter gathered at her home, 131 Overlook avenue last week to celebrate her 81st birthday. Mrs. Winter and her husband, the late Charles Winter, had ten children, of which three still are living. There are now twenty-three grandchildren.

Mrs. Winter, who came to this country from Germany with her parents when she was seven, reads and sews without glasses and does her full share of the housework.

When Mrs. Winter's parents came to this country she settled on a farm in Cedar Grove. She lived there until she was married, then moved to Newark. About fifteen years ago, after the death of her husband, Mrs. Winter moved to Nutley and two years ago she came to Belleville to live.

Wemec Plays

Harvey Brumbach, 100 Little street, was prominent in the Wemec Dramatic Club presentation of "Hero Worship," a comedy in one act, given Friday night in rooms of the Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church.

In another skit, "The Castle of Mr. Simpson," Miss Doris Stalter was outstanding. Her sister, Ruth, did very well in the first play.

Both plays were under the direction of Horace Baldwin and Mrs. Allan Crisp.

Coffee With Cream
If you aren't raising your boy to be a soldier, by all means give him the training that makes radio announcers. Del Sharbutt, announcer for the Columbia chain, conducts a gentleman's farm, on the grounds, on his pent-house terrace. Remember, it's only your loyalty to the products he plugs that permits his wearing custom made socks.

It's a room full of Sally Rands against a broken-down brewery horse that Kay Kyser's Musical Kollege won't be sponsored next season by those caddy people unless they intend to make a big play for kindergarden trade. The show's popularity sometime ago was based on the premise of a new idea. But the novelty is gone, and radio's listeners' intelligence isn't as low as the swivel chair boys would have you believe.

The Kaintuck Derby will be run Saturday afternoon and that night, from Louisville, Professor Quiz will question a horse-playin' audience. It's six-two-and-even that he won't embarrass bookmakers by propounding these questions: Why must all horse-players die broke? Why does a bookie pay only 6-5 on a legitimate 7-1 shot? Why doesn't one get a track price without paying a bonus? Who was the first to say that a stranger can find his way to the race track by following the first man he saw with well-patched trousers?

All Adde Pates?
Of course, truth is always crushed to earth so that it can rise. But must Phillips Lord and his gang bustin' troupe always portray the Law as Mack Sennett creations? How these small-fry criminals, early in their stories, walk out of jailhouses and terrorize cities and hamlets is almost beyond comprehension. Are law-enforcers really so negligent, or does Mr. Lord have to touch up the picture?

Phil Baker has something in his Klunk family series. He will be adding more authenticity to the gag when he gets around to the Joanny come-out - from - under - the - sofa; father's false masticators in the water glass; and sister's monopolizing of the bathroom stuff. Not to forget hanging over the back fence Monday mornings.

Ozzie Nelson is pretty fair pumpkins as a bandmaster, but as a part-time interrogator of famous personages he's as appetizing as spaghetti without the sauce. If his script writer doesn't get over mother-in-law troubles, or whatever else is plaguing him Ozzie's option will lay around like one of Cantor's gags at a May-fair party.

Accolades
The kudo season is breathing right on the back of our neck so we'll have to bestow the wreaths to:

Fred Allen for turning in the season's best burlesque. He led the Professor Quiz party over the jumps and it was a panic from the first question.

Al Jolson for holding his sponsors. All Jolson has on the ball is a few million cocoanuts and a calloused knee, but he rounded up a couple of good attractions and got away with it.

Columbia Broadcasting Company's Department of Special Events for the thrilling shuttling around Europe's capitals they gave their listeners on the day that Hitler was descending into annexed Austria. It was a remarkably comprehensive correlation of spot news.

Bing Crosby for becoming America's most charming master of ceremonies. His manner is as warm and inviting as a hot water bottle in Little America.

In our book most commentators are spinach, but if you like red meat tune over to Richard Brooks. His stuff has the verve and vigor that the average person exudes. After listening to the gushy boys going nawkish about grandma's cookies you'll get a real treat when he dishes up the roast beef—rare.

Need Spring Tonic
Jack Benny and his buckaroos have joined Lou Gehrig and business. If he goes any deeper into the slump, Fred Allen will be turning up on his six-delicious program as a guest star. His last two shows have been flatter than Edna May Oliver and he needs Rochester more than Kodak does.

Staccatos
Noting past behavior it isn't surprising that Japan's most powerful radio station's call letters are JOAK; and here's one for the Liberty Leaguers—KOIN is licensed in Oklahoma . . . NBC supports a ballad singer, Amanda Snow, who joins the Fairbanks at 285 . . . Columbia's Living History is one of the finer Adult Education Programs in the ether . . . Most radio programs aren't as bad as they sound. A repairman can do wonders with a set . . .

Mayor Barlow Praises Princeton Bills

"Greatest Single Step" Ever Taken By Legislature, He Says

NEWARK, May 13.—Final passage of the four Princeton Local Government Survey bills in the legislature on May 3, was the "greatest single step forward ever taken in the legislative history of New Jersey toward conservation of the resources of the state's taxpayers," Mayor DeWitt D. Barlow, Mayor of Plainfield, said today.

Barlow, who is chairman of the New Jersey Citizens' Committee, which sponsored and carried on an educational campaign in the interests of the Princeton legislative proposals, released a statement here today expressing his group's "deep appreciation of the help of all those in and out of the legislature whose interest and cooperation contributed to the success of this great common effort."

"Passage of these Princeton bills will stand out as, perhaps, the most constructive accomplishment of the 1938 legislature," read Barlow's statement. "When this program becomes fully effective and its great benefits to the taxpayers of the state become apparent to all, there will be a more general appreciation of the great service rendered the cause of good government during this session of the legislature."

"The first great step toward bringing new direction, guidance and control into the fiscal affairs of New Jersey municipalities has now been taken. All those in and out of the legislature who had a part in this significant accomplishment have made a great contribution toward the public interest."

"The New Jersey Citizens' Committee wishes publicly to express its gratitude to Governor Moore for his endorsement of this program, both in his inaugural message and later. Particularly helpful in facilitating legislative passage of the bills were Senate President Charles E. Loizeaux and Assembly Speaker Herbert J. Pascoe, of Union County; Senate Republican Majority Leader Robert C. Hendrickson, of Gloucester County; Assembly Majority Leader Oscar Wilemsky, of Passaic County; Assemblyman Vincent S. Hanoveran of Atlantic County and Assembly Democratic Minority Leader Fred DeVoe of Middlesex County."

Dr. Harold W. Dadds, President of Princeton University, and chairman of the survey committee, has estimated that the bills which tighten control of municipal finances will ultimately result in savings of $25,000,000 a year for New Jersey taxpayers.

Mayor William H. Williams, executive secretary of the citizens' committee on the Princeton Survey, was among the seven Jerseymen invited by Governor Moore to attend, Monday noon, the Governor's signing of the four bills emanating from the survey and passed by the Legislature. The others are President H. W. Doode of Princeton University, Dr. John Sly, chairman of the Princeton local government committee of the survey staff; Mayor D. D. Barbour of Plainfield, Senate President Charles E. Loizeaux, Minority Assembly Leader Oscar Wilemsky and Dr. Carl Erdman, Mayor of Princeton.

Mayor Williams spoke at the Communion breakfast of St. Peter's Church at 9 A. M. Sunday in the parochial school auditorium. His topic was the "Four Princeton Survey Bills." The Mayor also spoke over station WINS Monday night at 7:15 on "Belleville of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

Park Officer Hurt

Thomas Brodessor, of the Essex County Park Police, suffered a possible fracture of the left arm while riding his motorcycle Saturday in Second River Parkway, when the cycle collided with an automobile driven by Alfonso C. Musto, 94 Mt. Prospect avenue, Newark.

Brodessor was going west in Mill street and was turning south on the parkway, while Musto was coming out of the parkway and turning north in Mill street.

Bicycle Stolen

James Svenson, 46 Division avenue, is heart broken and Jack Throckmorton, 50 Fairway avenue, is out $100 all because Jimmie left a bicycle in front of the home of Morton Donahue, 2 Hornblower avenue and some one stole the bike.

The three boys are bicycle riders and firm pals. They declare that they will wreak dire vengeance on the thief if they can catch him. The bicycle belongs to Jackie, and is a big loss to him.

Nereid

Newark. The crews are expected to log seven or eight thousand miles in practice and pleasure rowing.

The Nereids will celebrate their sixty-third anniversary on June 5, at a dinner at the clubhouse, cooled by "Eliza" who has been practicing the culinary art for the Nereids for thirty years. "Eliza's" cooking is well known to other clubs in Belleville. In fact, she is one of the most prominent figures in Belleville club life.

The Nereids are the oldest active rowing club on the Passaic, having enjoyed an uninterrupted active existence since its incorporation.

Among the members of the Nereid, past and present, are J. Roger Kingsland, W. B. Van Houtan, W. H. Webster, Charles Brown, Fred Hill, Schuyler Webster, Roger Brett, C. L. Brett, H. V. Hardman, H. Martin, Dr. Tillou, H. C. Zink and many other prominent names about town. The "Commodore" is Ralph Smith and the Captain of the Navy Department is Leslie Burnley. C. L. Brett is advisory coach. Edward Walker is log keeper and Mr. Zink, lieutenant.

Some of Nereid's living active members who joined years ago and dates they joined are as follows: Webster, Mt. Tabor, joined in 1890; Roger Brett, Passaic, 1894; Hardman, Belleville, 1899 and Lev Brett, Newark, 1899.

The club also enjoys a social life through its ladies' auxiliary and its monthly dinners uninterrupted for more than thirty years and throughout that time cooked by the same chef.

The club's membership is at present sixty-six. Its membership is limited.

Goes to Speak.

The speaker for the sixty-third dinner at the clubhouse will be Clifford P. Goes, advisory chairman of the Syracuse Rowing Committee at Syracuse University, and a famous coxswain of Syracuse crews during his college days. His varsity won at Poughkeepsie in 1913, under the coaching of the late Jim Ten Eyck, dean of rowing coaches in America.

The dinner committee is composed of Schuyler Webster, Gerard Rhoades and Lev Brett, chairman.

The Nereids are going to try to revive the interest of the townspeople this year with regattas on the Passaic. With work progressing on the new riverside park, rowing on the Passaic is expected in the near future to pass the colorful peak attained in the Mauve Decade when the banks were lined with the ladies and gentlemen of Newark and Belleville to watch their favorite sport. The ghosts of the old Nereids, Tritons, Ariels, Passaics and Institutes again dip their oars in the Passaic with unagitated mien now that rowing has once more come into its own.

The Nereid Boat Club invites the townspeople to visit the clubhouse and inspect the rowing equipment.

Still Country Here

Belleville is more country than most people think.

For instance, a resident living at 23 Montgomery place called police headquarters Saturday night and requested a policeman to come to her place to have some cows chased out of her backyard.

By much persuasion and only using discreet words, Patrolman Jerry Liore managed to return the cows to their rightful owner.

Birthday Party

Miss Jean Carragher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Carragher, 110 Dow street, was thirteen years old Wednesday, but she celebrated her birthday Tuesday.

This fact calls for some explanation and here it is: It seems that Jean, who is an eighth grader, entered the essay contest conducted by the Mt. Carmel Guild of Bloomfield, Nutley and Belleville.

After the essays were all read, the judges decided to award Jean's essay "honorable mention," which is no small honor, when you consider that there were upwards of 300 children in the competition.

Jean's classmates, forty-eight of them, decided to give a party at her house to celebrate the award and also her birthday.

They picked, Tuesday night because that would be the night the men folk of her house would be out electioneering. Mrs. Carragher stayed home, of course, to chaperon the affair.

Every one of the youngsters declared that they had a "grand" time and all reported on time for school Wednesday morning, despite the amount of sweet confections they consumed.

Birthday Party.

A birthday party was held for Mrs. Elizabeth Myers at her home, 280 Greylock parkway, Saturday evening. Those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Ora A. Current, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martel, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Montot, Mrs. Ethel Prager, Miss Edna Prager and Abe Myers, all Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schmit, Bloomfield; Mrs. Dora Lay, Nutley; Mrs. Elizabeth Christie, Union; Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels, Lyndhurst and Mrs. Myers' sister, Mrs. Egan, Boston.

Paul D. Robinson, Famous Cartoonist, Lives Unassumingly Here at 15 Prospect Street

"Etta Kett," Syndicated By Him Appears Daily and Sunday in About 400 Papers Throughout Country

As a member of the Banshee Club of New York City, Paul D. Robinson, cartoonist, 15 Prospect street, this town, has become acquainted with hundreds of the celebrities in that city.

Names such as Jack Dempsey, Robert L. Ripley, James Montgomery Flagg and Carl Anderson, trip from his tongue as lightly as proverbs from the lips of Ben Franklin. He knows them all, and can tell anecdotes about many of them.

Mr. Robinson, who, by the way, is only thirty-nine years old, has carved himself a niche in the Hall of Fame by his cartooning strip, "Etta Kett," which appears in the Central Press Association and King Syndicate features daily and Sunday, which means about 400 newspapers.

He never studied cartooning or art of any form, but by hard work and perseverance, has accomplished the almost impossible and is now one of the top notch cartoonists in the business.

Of his early life, Mr. Robinson told us scribe little, except that he was born in Kenton, Ohio, was graduated from Kenton High School and later went to Sandusky.

In 1919, he came to New York City, and after a brief struggle trying to make ends meet, he secured a position with Paramount Studios, drawing animated cartoons, some of them were "Mutt and Jeff" and "Felix the Cat," and for International News Reel drew cartoons of Tad's "Indoor Sports."

Mr. Robinson has also contributed to life magazine, Saturday Evening Post, New York Mirror and the New York Journal. His "Etta Kett" appeared in the Newark Star Eagle for eight years.

He has lived in Belleville for the past twelve years and married Miss Catherine Dilzer, daughter of Mrs. Annie Dilzer, 14 Prospect street in 1923.

Leaving this branch of the cartoonist art, he began his newspaper work with a strip known as "Samson and Deliah," a take-off on the opera "Samson and Delilah." This comic ran for two years in the New York American. The gags, which in newspaper parlance means copy, were written by H. C. Witwer, who died in 1925, putting an end to this cartoon.

the dramatic club, vice president and secretary of the social sorority, editor of dormitory paper, chairman of "Open House" and a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

Miss Beresford says that her greatest hobbies are dramatics, dancing and reading, and that her vocation is to teach commercial subjects. The selection of Miss Beresford to be honored in "Who's Who" was made by an unprejudiced committee from many colleges.

The biography appeared in an annual publication in which over 475 universities and colleges were represented. This is the only means of recognition which is devoid of all politics, initiation fees and dues. It does not cost any student anything for their biography to be listed in "Who's Who."

were stationed in each of the nineteen polling places. As soon as the election boards checked the vote total in the rear of voting machines, the Belleville News reporters phoned in reports, which were broadcast over the loud speaker nook-up before the official results were on their way to the Town Hall. Immediately, the results were placed on the illuminated bulletin board at the Little street side of the Belleville News building. No other paper provided such quick, efficient service. The Belleville News had a staff on hand to tally results quicker than any one else in town. At least thirty-five workers were on the job to give you complete, accurate results from YOUR newspaper.

The first district was broadcast from the Belleville News at exactly 9:03, three minutes after the polls had closed. Three other districts had been broadcast by 9:10 and a ward total had been given to voters by 9:15. Before 9:45 the Belleville News had broadcast full returns and, even before that, Mayor William H. Williams was at the microphone to thank voters for the splendid support given him. He was followed by Directors Joseph King, Patrick A. Waters and candidates Edward G. Smith and Forrest P. Kaiser. Director Clark and Commissioner-elect Noll could not be located to broadcast.

Mrs. Morey Loses Pen.

Town Clerk Mrs. Florence R. Morey is disappointed in the rectitude of human nature.

She had a fountain pen, given her by her son, John, and her daughter, Jean, which she treasured. Her name was inscribed on it, too.

During the course of Tuesday evening, election night, some one, and she believes it was inadvertent, lifted the pen from her desk and failed to return it.

Mrs. Morey says, "Please, whoever has it, return it to me."

Mayor's Statement.

Editor, News: Every struggle and effort of several difficult years were forgotten when I found out from over 7,000 citizens the great confidence they had in me.

The people of Belleville do want good government—their civic consciousness is awake. My one dominating desire has been and will continue to be to have Belleville so favorably known that every citizen will be proud of Belleville. Through your columns, please let me thank all the folks of Belleville for their magnificent endorsement of my past work. Of course, the great vote was most heartening to me. Also, let me publicly thank my department employees, and the ladies and gentlemen who worked so ardently for me in my brief campaign and you, Mr. Editor, for your fair attitude to all the candidates. The Belleville News rendered a fine service to our citizens Tuesday evening.

Let us all join hands and energy with our ideal as our objective—to make our home town known as a great place for fine people.

While deeply appreciative of our citizens respect for me, I am not unmindful of the great responsibility I am facing to continue our program.

Respectfully,

WILLIAM H. WILLIAMS.

Rainie Wires Congratulations.

John M. Rainie, who was a candidate for commissioner in the recent election, wired his congratulations to the winners, and in a statement said:

"The citizens of Belleville have elected their Board of Commissioners for the next four years. I particularly want to congratulate all of the candidates on the manner in which they conducted their campaigns. Not in years has a campaign been so free from bitterness and invectives, and I am sure that outside of the natural disappointment suffered by the losers, the election has left no personal or political wounds to heal. I was on friendly terms with all of the candidates and I want that friendship to continue. As a citizen and taxpayer I will cooperate in every way with the Town Board in the interests of Belleville."

"I am grateful to Harry F. Brumbach, my campaign manager, for his loyal support, and to all the members of my campaign committee, who contributed so much of their time and energy in my behalf."

Joseph King's Letter.

Editor, News: I wish to thank all those who supported me in the election, just past. To my loyal workers, who gave of their time and effort so unsparringly to make it possible to serve my fellow citizens for the next four years. I thank you all.

JOSEPH KING.

From Chief Flynn.

Editor, News: I wish to express, through your paper, my sincere thanks to all the citizens of Belleville who so honored me by their vote of confidence.

I express, as well, the same thanks to my campaign manager, Harry Sullivan and his group of loyal workers, who gave their time so freely in my behalf.

Sincerely yours,

MICHAEL J. FLYNN.

Commissioner Patrick A. Waters last Thursday night—or rather in the wee small hours of Friday morning—after completing his campaigning for the night, arrived with a retinue at the Belleville News office and treated the boys, who were working to get out last week's large issue of the paper, to an over abundant supply of sandwiches, coffee, cigars and hot dogs. The boys take this occasion to thank the commissioner for his thoughtfulness.

Chancemen on the Job.

Chancemen, who were stationed at various polling places in addition to regular patrolmen, were Nick Gintella, Hugh O'Toole, Jack Marion, Ambrose Culkin, Homer Estelle, James Hozack, Philip Jannarone, Peter Fitzpatrick, Jack Feeney, Gus Winans, James Smith, James Malack and Harry Winfield.

The first vote in the Second District, Second Ward, was cast at exactly 8 A. M., by Mrs. Catherine E. North, 48 Division avenue.

Elks Get News' Return.

Herbert C. Schmutz, president of the Board of Education, announced to over 700 at the Elks' Club results as relayed from the Belleville News. The Elks gave this newspaper credit for having the complete returns at least one-half hour before any one else.

The broadcast was made possible through the Belleville News and the Nestler Radio Service, 526 Union avenue.

Following announcement of results impromptu automobile parades were staged to all parts of town by the victorious candidates and their supporters. It was midnight before there was a slackening of telephone calls to the Belleville News for results.

Boards Changed.

Changes made Monday night in election boards in the First and Fourth districts of the Fourth Ward, caused some confusion election morning. In the First District the rest of the board, according to Town Clerk Florence R. Morey, threatened to quit because they said the man substituted was not acquainted with election machinery. Voting in that district was held up half an hour.

Registration Commissioner Herrmann had to fix voting machines with which the voters or election boards had difficulty.

Heavy voting occurred at most places during the forenoon and early afternoon.

Pack 'Em In.

About five o'clock commuters began their trek to the polls. In Silver Lake, at the firehouse, and also at Heckel street polling place, candidates and workers congregated in the afternoon. Street corners were dotted with workers. In Heckel street, particularly, traffic was congested, due to the great number of workers' cars.

Perhaps one of the quietest polling places in the afternoon was No. 10 School, where workers were sitting on benches.

Soho school presented an active scene, as did Passaic Avenue School. All polling places in the First, Second and Third Wards took care of a constant stream of voters during the day.

At No. 9 School, 200 of 600 odd registered voters had clicked the machine by noon.

Superintendent of elections Lamb sat back in his chair in the Hall of Records Tuesday morning and at noon, said he was amazed at Belleville's light vote. He was gratified at the splendid conduct of the election here. He asked a representative of this newspaper who would win. Without answer from the reporter, the same question was put to him. He also dodged the issue.

He was asked how things looked generally for his party—Republican. "We are waiting, until after the municipal elections," he said, intimating that there is a strong possibility that the clean government will be faced with opposition in the fall primary.

Tough Boulder

A peculiar situation has arisen over the blasting of a boulder by Leonard Nourse, 139 Overlook avenue, on a farm near his brother Richard's country home in Stanton, Hunterdon County.

"Lenny" placed two sticks of dynamite under the boulder, lighted a fuse, hustling away from the scene of the blasting.

Upon his return he discovered that the boulder had disappeared and on investigation he found that the dynamite had dug a hole in the ground and the boulder had buried itself in the earth.

Incidentally, four families of woodchucks were blown to smithereens by the force of the dynamite.

Richard Nourse is clerk of the recorder's court at police headquarters.

To Hear Talk on

"Third Dimension Movies"

"Third Dimension Movies" will be discussed by Karl Swartzel, New Jersey Bell Telephone Company Laboratory, at a meeting of the Cineman Club of North Essex Wednesday evening in the home of Walter Krumbeck, 35 Terrace avenue, Nutley. J. E. Nestell, of this town, is secretary of the club.

"Third Dimension Movies" is something scientists have been trying to inject into movies almost as long as movies themselves. Many have tried and failed—fortunes have been dreamed of and lost—so it will surely be interesting to see and hear this demonstration and lecture.

Mr. Swartzel will be assisted by Alvin Marks, Beechhurst, L. I., who will furnish the necessary equipment.

YOUR LAND and MY LAND

By CHARLES E. POTTER, L.S.

Land Bounded by a Stream or River.

Who is the owner of new ground deposited by a stream or river when in flood?

It is the established rule that a deed for land bounded by a stream or river, the banks of which are changed by the gradual and imperceptible processes of accretion or erosion, continues to hold to the stream or river as the boundary, regardless of whether the land involved is increased or diminished in area.

This is but simple justice, since the riparian owner is subject to the possibility of loss by erosion, and consequently is compensated by the possibility of gain through accretion due to natural causes beyond his control.

Lands owned by the Federal government or by states, counties or municipalities are subject to the same rules as those belonging to private individuals and corporations. The riparian owner may be deprived of his rights to newly deposited ground only in accordance with the established law. If necessary that such lands be taken for the public good, full compensation must be awarded to the owner, through condemnation proceedings in accordance with the statute.

FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1938

All material prosperity rests on confidence.

—Roger W. Babson.

ROLL UP YOUR SLEEVES, BOYS.

Now that the municipal election has passed, the Town Commission Tuesday, will hold its organization meeting with four of the present board back at their places and Louis A. Noll, succeeding Director of Public Safety George R. Gerard.

It is almost a certainty that Mayor-Finance Director William H. Williams and Director of Public Affairs Joseph King and Director of Public Works Patrick A. Waters will hold their present departments. Director of Public Property William D. Clark is slated to head the Public Safety Department with Noll taking over Public Property.

For four years now Belleville has progressed sanely and wisely. The retiring board deserves a vote of thanks for the decorum with which it has operated. It seems that the next four years will be as business-like. Louis Noll can work with any one and his off-expressed readiness to do so in Belleville's behalf is worth its weight in gold.

The Belleville News extends its hand to Mr. Noll and wishes him well. Its thanks also go to the retiring member, Director Gerard, for a job well done.

The congratulations of this newspaper are extended to the board-elect. Continue the fine work. Belleville's going places.

Almost 11,000 of our 14,000 registered voters went to the polls. Congratulations to you, too, for your interest in a better Belleville.

To the defeated candidates—who brought credit to themselves and Belleville for a sportsman-like campaign—our regrets—better luck next time.

A FINE SELECTION

Forty-year-old Robert T. Bowman, of Trenton, first South Jersey citizen to be elected president of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, took over his new post on May 1, succeeding Walter Kidde, of Montclair.

Choice of Bowman by the New Jersey industrial and business interests making up the Chamber's membership is recognition by that group of the increasing industrial and commercial importance of the southern and central sections of the state, where Bowman has been active in civic and industrial development work for many years.

Bowman's election means a continuation of the chamber's efforts to bring new industry to this state. New industry means new payrolls and more jobs for New Jersey workers. He announces the Chamber will continue its efforts to promote "better understanding and mutual helpfulness between industry and its employees."

"If we keep our state attractive to new enterprise, encourage agriculture and develop those industries we now have, continue to exercise good judgment and temperateness in matters of legislative and public policy, we face a bright future," Mr. Bowman states, sounding a note of confidence and optimism.

The people of New Jersey will wish Mr. Bowman and the organization he heads well in every undertaking which will bring us new industries and help us keep those we now have.

TAX OPPRESSED PEOPLE DEMAND RELIEF

A wave of public demand is rolling up for tax revision. Especially strong is the demand for repeal or at least complete modification of those two "job-killing" taxes—the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax.

This tax correction is overwhelmingly approved by the nation's business leaders, economists, publicists and newspapers. The opponents of this relief are those who are apparently oblivious of the influence of unsound, punitive taxation on industrial development and employment. They stubbornly seek the retention of these taxes which have been so largely responsible for the present slump in business.

Every person in this country has a stake in this fight. Every person will be affected by its outcome. Our public servants who are courageous enough to fight for tax reform, are doing so in the interest of jobs, spending and stimulated business. They deserve the whole-hearted thanks of a tax-oppressed people.

SCHOOL DAYS

By DWIG

THIS WEEK

By "GUARDIAN"

The views expressed in the column, "This Week," are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

The election is over!

To the successful candidates, we offer our congratulations and assurance of whole-hearted cooperation in everything that is for the good of Belleville and its citizens. To the losers we offer commendation for the clean, high-grade effort that they made throughout the campaign to avoid doing anything that would injure the reputation of this town.

That four of the five former Commissioners were re-elected is a clear indication that on the whole the citizens of Belleville were satisfied with the local government they had during the past four years. Mayor Williams should be exceedingly gratified by the very high vote that he received. It is a fine endorsement of his leadership and of the efforts that he and his associates made to rehabilitate Belleville's finances and put the town in a proud position among its neighboring municipalities.

Commissioners Waters and King also made a remarkable run, to receive gratifying totals and though Commissioner Clark made fifth place by a scant margin, he too, must be happy in the thought that after twelve years of service as a commissioner, the voters of Belleville want him to continue in office.

Commissioner-elect Noll receives our hearty congratulations. We are confident that he will line himself solidly up with his associates on the Commission and make a hard-working, harmonious team for the benefit of all of us.

We were surprised and sorry that former Commissioner Gerard did not make a better showing in the election returns, for no one has had Belleville's true interests more earnestly at heart than he and no one throughout a life time of service has contributed more in effort and thought to Belleville's welfare—and we know that he will continue to give of his thought and effort to keep Belleville to the fore.

We congratulate the citizens of Belleville upon the fine numbers in which they voted and upon their calm sanity during the period of the campaign. Now let all of us, Commissioners-elect and citizens, get together with the united purpose of showing to the world that Belleville is a community in which every one is dedicated to the service of Belleville and determined to make it the finest industrial residential community in the State of New Jersey.

How fortunate it is that the "war" that is going on round about us today is a theoretical practice maneuver and not actual war. It is not comfortable to think of what might be happening hereabouts if it were not all in fun. There is no question in the minds of most thinking people of the necessity of a strong defensive army, navy and aviation force, but let us all continue our determination never to use these forces save defensively, and never to have a chip on our shoulder hoping that some one will knock it off and give us an opportunity to show how good our defense forces are.

Justice Hughes warns the American Law Institute that the Bar must do their part to see that only qualified persons are appointed as judges. That is so obvious that comment is superfluous. The only qualification for the appointment of a man to the judiciary should be his excellent knowledge of the law and his balance and poise in carrying out his functions and not his religion or his politics. On the whole in this area we have been most fortunate.

Again we are reminded of the comment of a much traveled friend who has visited most of the countries in the world at various seasons. He says, "There is no prettier sight in the world than Northern New Jersey when the dogwood is in blossom." We agree.

Yours 'til next week,
"GUARDIAN."

CONSTRUCTIVE ACCOMPLISHMENT

Passage recently of the four bills proposed by the Princeton Local Government Survey to tighten state control of municipal finances represents without doubt an important and constructive accomplishment in the public interest. Those in and out of the legislature who contributed to the final legislative approval of these bills are to be congratulated. So are the taxpayers of New Jersey, for whose benefit these measures were designed.

Mayor DeWitt D. Barlow, of Plainfield, who sponsored the bills, says of the Princeton program, that it will emerge as the "greatest single step forward ever taken toward the conservation of the resources of the state's taxpayers." He points out that this is the program that Mr. Dodds, president of Princeton University, has predicted will ultimately save taxpayers some $25,000 annually.

That the bills named State Auditor Walter R. Darby as New Jersey's first Local Government Commissioner will meet with general approval. The bills, however, created four other important Local Government Board posts. The success of this program will depend to a large degree upon the equipment, vision and the understanding of those named to fill these newly created places.

Governor Moore, whose sympathy for the objectives of the Princeton program has been publicly expressed, will no doubt consider carefully the qualifications of those he shortly will place on this board.

The first step in a great job for the benefit of all the people of the state has been taken. Equally important if maximum benefits of this legislation are to be gained for the state's taxpayers is the filling of these new posts with men with the capacity to do a real job.

The views expressed in the column, "Washington Snapshots," are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

Third-party talk has overshadowed all other interests in the National Capital this week, dwarfing such important questions as pump-priming, anti-monopoly legislation, wage-hour legislation and the government-business "peace" moves.

The reason is that Washingtonians find more of lasting personal importance in third party developments than in the economic illness of John Public. That is to be expected, for the Capital's life blood is the brew of the political pots.

Underneath, however, interest is still very much alive on the current national issues, with the 1938 edition of the spending spree the biggest issue.

In the camp of those championing the spending program, a new idea has been hit upon to convince doubters that our National debt picture isn't so bad as it's painted (almost thirty-eight billion dollars now). The spending advocates have come up with a set of figures purporting to show that Uncle Sam really isn't in any danger of bankruptcy because he has unmet billions in assets. They list the assets as public buildings, etc.

Can't you just see the crowd bidding for the Interior Department's new $12,000,000 edifice in Washington, or that new postoffice in Pottsville, or John Public steaming off for a vacation in the South Seas aboard a 35,000-ton battleship he's just bought at the public auction in Washington? Those are the "assets" the Washington bookkeepers have dug up to offset the liability side of the national ledger.

Another defender of the spending scheme has argued thus: "If a child had a case of mumps three years ago and now developed the mumps again, wouldn't it be all right for the doctor to use the same medicine for treatment again?"

Could it be, though, that the doctor doesn't recognize those swollen glands as irritated by previous over-treatment?

The WPA has come up with another new "relief" idea. It has offered immortality on canvas to all public officials whom it deems "worthy" of preservation for posterity.

Any public official can have his portrait painted in oil by the WPA if he can prove his worthiness to the satisfaction of the WPA. More than 200 government officials already have had gratified their wish to see themselves perpetuated. Several hundred others have sent in applications. Eight artists are at work on the project and WPA says it has enough applications to keep 100 painters busy for a year.

The paintings remain the property of the government, but may be loaned to cities, counties and states for display to "impress the natives" of the "worthiness" of their public officials.

Members in the House noticed a newcomer sitting on the House floor one day recently. He was absorbed in the debate. Members assumed, after whispering among themselves, that he was a former member. One legislator, however, asked the doorkeeper to identify the man. He didn't know him, so they diplomatically asked the stranger if he had the privilege of the floor.

"Oh, no," he said, "my name's

PIQUANT POLITICS

By MEADOR WRIGHT

The views expressed in the column, "Piquant Politics," are entirely those of Mr. Wright and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

THE intensity of the latest wave of resentment against Mayor Frank Hague, in the latter's war with the radicals, poses the question of Hague's future in politics. This is not a new question. When I began to write about New Jersey politics—some ten years ago—the same question was being asked. The Case Committee was going strong at that time, but the ultimate result of that investigation was no different from that which is expected to come from the Young Committee, now stymied in mud as deep as that which engulfs the Japanese army. As the Newark News has often pointed out, Hague is old stuff to New Jersey. But the present outburst is too sweeping to be ignored—even though the facts behind the outburst differ little from those that preceded other anti-Hague movements.

The reaction of the voters this November will be noted carefully by Hague's foes—both within the state and without. There is nothing particularly decisive to be decided this fall. True, a United States Senator is to be elected, but this post has been conceded to the Republicans ever since the returns were in last November. That election showed that the New Jersey Democracy was not hitting on as many cylinders as formerly, although it could hardly be called a Hague rebuke.

Had it not been for the personal popularity of Governor Moore, and the divided allegiance of Republicans my guess is that the election would have gone down in history as a definite Hague set-back. The business recession played its part, as it undoubtedly will again this fall. But the anti-Roosevelt vote in New Jersey can be gauged by the vote in New York and other states where psychological reactions are likely to differ very little from those of New Jersey. If the shift to the Republican party is more pronounced in New Jersey than elsewhere, then Hague will be credited with part of it. Personally, I doubt that the Republican trend will be stronger in New Jersey than elsewhere. This will not mean that Hague is either more or less popular than was anticipated. It will merely mean that New Jersey voters will not be disturbed from their usual voting habits by a journalistic hue and cry against Hague.

How then, readers may ask, is Hague to be dethroned, if not by the will of the voters? My answer to that is that Hague will be ousted in time, but that that ouster will take the right combination of national and state political trends. As a matter of fact, Hague has never been very strong as a state leader. His machine in Hudson County is one of the most powerful and efficient political organizations ever seen in America. But the Jersey City Mayor has never been very popular in any other sector of the state. Except where his ticket has been pulled along, either by Franklin D. Roosevelt or A. Harry Moore, Hague has never won a state victory since the election of Edward J. Edwards. He has elected a majority of only two general assemblies in his entire career. One of these, that of 1931, can be credited entirely to Moore, and the other, that of last year, belongs to the Roosevelt landslide. New Jersey voters have been repudiating Hague for a whole generation.

Why then is Hague such a power in New Jersey? The answer is precisely that he is a power because a majority of New Jersey voters have preferred Moore over his Republican opponents in the four times since 1925 that he has sought office. Two of these victories have been quarter-million vote landslides and two have been rather close. Neither of these close elections, in my judgment, has been decided by fraud, although it is possible that enough questionable votes were cast last November to have doubled the actual majority. And it is significant that Moore's present administration—if judged by almost any unbiased standard—is more popular than either of his previous ones.

Historians of the future will probably write about Frank Hague much as contemporary writers picture him. But with the wiser perspective of distance, they will give more space to this strange friendship between Moore and Hague. The latter may have the limelight today, but Moore's career is as significant as that of his political associate. During most of Hague's career, Moore has been the doctor who repeatedly saved his political life, and should Hague now lose his life in spite of Moore, it very likely will be the latter who will carry on without him. Even if the Democratic party in New Jersey goes bankrupt, it will still be better off, relatively, than most political organizations in similar circumstances.

Plunkett and I'm just looking around." So to a visiting stranger who will go into the records simply as "Mr. Plunkett," goes the distinction of being the only sight-seer ever to have sat in Congress, even for a few minutes.

stances. It will have a receiver both wise and benevolent. While the press of the world is centered on Hague, it seems not unmet for this column to give this much space to the man who made a national Hague possible; and also to point out that the Delaware River at Trenton—aside from the antics of the legislature—flows as serenely as the Hudson at Jersey City runs turbulent.

New Jersey Today

Disposition and Character of Tax Delinquent Lands.

Prepared for the Belleville News by Dr. Maurice F. Neufeld, acting secretary, New Jersey State Planning Board.

Urban counties have been more prompt in disposing of tax delinquent land than the rural counties. This is due probably to the non-farm character of rural lands in these counties and the ease with which tax title liens would be taken. The percentage of tax delinquent rural land sold for taxes in urban counties ranged from 52.04 per cent in Passaic to 94.69 per cent in Essex and 99.23 per cent in Hudson. The percentage of delinquent land sold for taxes in rural counties ranged from 2.99 in Salem County, 10.29 in Cape May, and 10.77 in Hanterdon to 36.53 in Atlantic, 42.74 in Cumberland, and 44.70 in Monmouth.

In Atlantic, Cape May and Ocean Counties, where rural tax delinquency was most severe, the percentage of land sold for taxes upon which tax title liens had been taken by private individuals was minute compared with the percentage of sold land upon which tax title liens were taken by municipalities. In Atlantic County 36.77 per cent of tax delinquent land had been sold. Of this percentage, 36.74 per cent was sold to municipalities. In Cape May County, of 10.29 per cent of tax delinquent land sold, 9.79 per cent had been sold to municipalities. In Ocean County, of 19.79 per cent of tax delinquent land sold, 19.33 per cent had been sold to municipalities. The situation in Monmouth County showed a marked contrast. In that county where 44.6 per cent of the tax delinquent land had been sold, 15.71 per cent of the tax liens was held by private individuals and 28.89 per cent was held by municipalities. Monmouth County, in considerable part a prosperous agricultural area, was the only county which showed this tendency. In Mercer County all of the land which had been sold for taxes was sold to municipalities.

In Atlantic County more than half the area of tax delinquent land is forested, while 85.2 per cent of this area is not farmed. In Ocean County, where the tax delinquent problem is very pressing, 85.4 per cent of the area is forested and 96 per cent is not farmed. In Cape May a similar condition exists with 76.73 per cent of the tax delinquent area not farmed. In Mercer County on the other hand, only 35 per cent of the tax delinquent area is not farmed and in Monmouth only 44.3 per cent is not farmed. This means that close to 50 per cent of the tax delinquent land in Monmouth County and 65 per cent of the tax delinquent land in Mercer County was farmed and presents an agricultural problem. A similar condition exists in Middlesex County. Camden County presents a picture more similar to that of Atlantic and Cape May Counties. There, 61.6 per cent of tax delinquent rural land is not farmed and the problem undoubtedly hinges, in part, upon high-pressure sales of small farms.

In South Jersey, particularly in the pine area where 40 per cent of all rural delinquency occurred, large proportions of the delinquent areas were not farmed. For the most part, these areas should never be open to agricultural use because of unfavorable soils. Still, as long as they remain unproductive and in private ownership, they will always be centers of tax delinquency because they represent a drain upon the resources of the owners. Moreover, private owners will always attempt, naturally, to turn their holdings to some type of productive use regardless of the potentiality of the soil or the relation of that use to the general welfare of the state.

THE CLOTHES ARE HANGING ON THE LINE

By Lillian Sylvia Price

The clothes are hanging on the line. The sun shines down, the day is fine; The wind is blowing hard today. It is the early part of May.

The clothes are flapping on the line. Sheets, pillow cases, linens fine; They're having a glorious lot of fun. They'll hang there 'till the day is done.

With pegs of wood they're fastened tight. They flap and flutter in the warm sunlight; The wind dies down, the day is fair. The clothes are playing in the air.

They're sweet and fragrant, clean and white. But see how the wind does fight and fight; He says—I'll get them, they are mine— But the clothes are still hanging on the line.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday in Emanuel Presbyterian Church, Newark, by the pastor, Rev. Max Kost, for Mrs. Hannah K. Hansen, seventy-six, one of the oldest members of the church, and long a member of its Ladies' Aid Society, who died Saturday in her home, 77 Overlook avenue, after an illness of two weeks.

A resident of Belleville for thirty-seven years, Mrs. Hansen was born in Denmark. She came to this country with her husband, Josias G. Hansen, in 1890, living in Rutherford and Carlstadt before moving to Belleville. Mrs. Hansen had been a member of Arme Chapter No. 73, Order of Eastern Star of Belleville, for eighteen years.

Besides her husband, she leaves five sons, Neils and Frederick C. of Nutley; Morton M. of South Orange; Christian T. of Belleville and Peter M. of Philadelphia; four daughters, Mrs. Josine Rohrbud of Kearny, Mrs. Lucille M. Barrett, Mrs. Madeline Battye and Mrs. Lydia E. Baker, all of Belleville; twenty grandchildren, one great grandchild, and two sisters and one brother of Denmark. Burial was in Ridgeway Cemetery.

Some Problems of Family Life Today

By Mrs. Julia Reiner, Executive Secretary, Community Service Bureau

When a Feller Needs—Red Tape! "I done my best, but I guess Mike's hopeless—only in the third grade and goin' on fourteen," said his stepmother to the Community Service Bureau visitor, as she sunk back with a long sigh into the office chair. "He does the craziest things—carries kittens on his shoulders and whistles when people talk to him! Wish his father'd never sent for him—my life's been a torment ever since."

For half an hour Mrs. Sullivan (not her real name) poured out her troubles about young Mike, concluding hopefully with the question: "Say, Miss, there's places where you can send kids like that, ain't there?" where they're treated well but can't be a bother?"

"Mike's teacher said you might know about 'em and that's why I come here," said Mrs. Sullivan. "You see," she added in a troubled tone, "I got four kids of my own to do right by," and she paused to separate two of these who were apparently trying to pull off each other's ears. "Of course," she added, "Mike's father prob'ly won't like it but maybe you could talk him into it."

The following day, as requested, Mr. Sullivan brought Mike over. The boy's clothes were three sizes too small; his hands were big and red; his sandy hair grew forward instead of backward. Every movement was defiant and awkward. But his eyes were beautiful—deep set, clear and very blue—only they shifted about and looked troubled. Throughout the visit he whistled softly and unceasingly.

"Maybe he's dumb," said the boy's father apologetically, "but, really, Miss, the lad ain't had much of a chance. You see, after his mother died, when he was a wee thing, I had to leave him with the old folks in Ireland. I wanted to have him come here sooner and give him some schooling, but I couldn't do it 'till this fall. There isn't much chance over there," he explained earnestly.

"I guess he's mostly hood potatoes and run around in the woods all his life. He can't seem to get onto things here and I don't know how to help him, poor lad. Maybe it's true, as both my wife and his teacher says—that he just hasn't got any brains. But I don't like the thought of sending me own boy away to a 'tome'—I don't," said Mike's father in a broken voice, as he looked away.

At first, five months ago, it seemed that what they all said about Mike might be true, but now Mrs. Sullivan herself would be the first to deny it. "It's wonderful—the change in him," she marveled. "He's skipping grades like a rabbit—and you should hear him tell the kids tales of the 'old country'—keeps them quiet when nothing else will. Yes, he's a great help to me and a fine lad now that he's got onto things here."

The same day Mike came over to the bureau office to give his friend the visitor a paper weight he'd made for her. Wasn't she the first person he could talk to about his troubles?—how afraid he'd been of his school teacher and the kids that teased him—and at home his stepmother didn't seem to want him—and gosh! how homesick he'd been for Ireland. Here it seemed as though when he wanted terribly to have folks be nice to him and like him, all they did was either laugh at him or scold him. The only friends he had all that time were his two kittens. But now "things is different"—and Mike's big blue eyes are steady and laughing.

Red Tape as a Life Line

Mike, like many another individual in distress, was at the crossroads of his life at the time the bureau heard of him. His friend, the visitor, had two ways of dealing with him open to her—the choice depending on her social work training and philosophy. Nearly every one she consulted about Mike, at first, advocated his being sent to an institution. She might easily and quickly have arranged this and gone on with her other work. Certainly it would have caused less bother.

Trained, however, not to make decisions deeply affecting people's lives until she had the true facts, the visitor made a painstaking study of the situation. Mike was taken to an "Educational Clinic" to tackle this

FROM THE PULPIT

A sermon prepared for the Belleville News by Rev. B. Pascale of the Italian Baptist Church.

The Young Man.

"Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young man shall utterly fall; but they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not faint. Keep silence before me, and let the people renew their strength: let them come near, let them speak; let us come near together to judgment." Isaiah 40:30-31, 41:1.

This message is addressed to a people who have suffered so long that they have lost strength and courage, ideas and ideals, faith and hope in God, care, culture and character. "Even the youth had grown weary and had fallen prostrate, thinking that God had forgotten them. In this tragical state of mind, they became careless and despondent. Has this historical condition any relation to our young people today? If there is, as I believe there is, we find the divine message from the word of God which renewed not only that generation, but can renew the youth of today.

Divine Message.

The first comforting message came from God was spoken by the prophet to the people; especially to the young people who had fallen, faint and were weary, to wait upon the Lord for the renewal of their strength. They are invited, not only to serve, but to keep silent before Him in meditation and prayer; to come near to the God of righteousness to receive power. In our day, we would use the phrases, "Let's get together, 'Let's cooperate.' 'Let's work together for the good of all.' Beautiful phrases are these, but when God and Christ are left out, we disconnect ourselves from the resources of our strength. The word of God makes a better appeal. It tells us to come before Him in silence, reverence, worship, meditation. Come near to Him, then speak to God in prayer. Come as before His court of justice and righteousness, to have our

BELLOWING ABOUT BELLEVILLE

By JACOB LEVINE

This and That.

Old Time Belleville—A Chinese funeral. It was just about sixty years ago that a good number of the Chinese race lived in Belleville, in the vicinity of Holmes and Main streets. A resident who lived in town at that time best remembers this group of Chinese by the quaint manner in which they buried their dead.

A Chinese funeral, as you probably know, is the direct antithesis of a white man's burial ceremony. There is none of the slow, hush-hush, dilaatory stuff when our squint-eyed, yellow-faced friend departs for the Great Beyond. On the contrary, everything imaginable is done to get him to the cemetery as quickly as possible. But, back to the Belleville of sixty years ago, and let's get a glimpse of the funeral as it actually took place.

Our informant recalls the corpse was unconformably placed in the horse and wagon, which served as a funeral coach, pallbearers and others surrounding it, and before you could ejaculate, "Jack Robinson" the driver up in front yodeled, "Gid-y-up!" (or something which meant the same) and off the nag galloped, lickety-split, down Main street, as fast as the whip and the driver's admonishing gibberish could make it go.

Reason for such unwonted haste at a funeral, was that the Chinese believed the devil (or some other Oriental character which corresponded to the devil), was coming fast on their heels, and in order that they might get to the cemetery and bury the corpse before "the devil got it," they gave it the gun.

Too, they took another precaution lest the devil might get close. Men in the rear of the wagon, standing around the body, tossed out small scraps of paper on which were written Chinese characters. The devil, approaching fast, became curious, stooped, and picked up a paper. He then became absorbed in it and sat down to read, while the horse and wagon continued its rickety chase to the cemetery!

Incidentally, the only ones who picked up the papers were small children and other interested town folk. One of the bystanders quickly saw the similarity between these papers and Chinese laundry tickets and got the notion into his head to make use of them. He walked into a laundry one day and boldly slapped one of the papers on the counter, along with the vituperative request, "Okay, Chink, will you please hurry up with those collars?"

The laundryman immediately espied the diabolic writing and thunderbolted at the customer, jabbering and raving in realistic Chinese fashion. The would-be customer stumbled out of the shop, smirkingly satisfied that his joke went over.

Returning to the funeral again. At that time, the Chinese had a cemetery somewhere in North Arlington. They no longer used it for burial purposes, for, I am told, their souls could not go to heaven (or the Chinese celestial paradise corresponding to heaven) if they were buried there, and so, the bodies were transported to China (where they are now probably being blown to bits by Japanese bombs).

After the funeral coach arrived at the North Arlington cemetery, and the body was buried, a big slab of roast pork was placed on the grave, along with a tea cup, tea kettle, chop sticks and rice bowl. Still fearful that the devil might renew his chase and "get the corpse," this festive spread was prepared as a final gesture of reconciliation. Upon his arrival, the devil was supposed to sit down by the grave and partake of the meal.

What actually happened, though, was that some rosy-faced urchins would romp into the cemetery a day or so later and merrily kick the roast pork around as if it were a football! Too, curious visitors usually came and took home the tea kettle, chop sticks, etc., and treasured them as souvenirs.

Hard Boiled. Just wondering if any of you remember the old Acme Club, in existence about twenty-five years ago. The club boasted that it was the roughest, toughest bunch in town. Its headquarters, a wobbly, old shack, was stationed in the lots on William street between Washington avenue and the railroad. And, I am told, if you walked by the shack, and weren't a member of the Acmes, it was just too bad.

Recognition for the Track Team. A scholastic sport in Belleville which, to me, has not been given its deserving portion of recognition is track. Comparatively young in Belleville High athletics, now only in its third year of actual competition, the track team is fast developing into a formidable aggregation, and is forcing other sports at Belleville to shove over and share some of the lime-light.

Why the lads who kick up the cinders are not accorded the laurels rightly deserved, can not be because of the team's calibre. Coached by Wilho Winika and John Taggart, this year's squad is a stronger, more well-balanced group than last year's. The winter indoor track season was highly successful. Some strong teams were knocked over and not in a single meet were our boys shut out. In the national championships at Madison Square Garden, Bob Cook and Danny Wascoe scored two fourth places, which isn't bad going at all.

The record Coach Winika's lads have rung up thus far in the outdoor season fairly cries out for recognition. Against East Side, its initial opponent, Belleville won by the lop-sided score of 60-26. Hillside, next on the list, proved to be a little too tough, Belleville going down to defeat, but only after Hillside knew she was in a battle. Then came Bloomfield, whom the records said Belleville hadn't beaten in any scholastic sport for two and a half years (it seems like ages to me!) and the Bengals took a shellacking not likely too be forgotten, 64-31!

And there are some who don't even know Belleville has a track team.

There are a number of lettermen who have returned to battle Belleville's track wars. Bob Cook, quarter miler, and Danny Wascoe, high jumper, both co-captains, are a much improved pair, judging by recent performances. Charles "Buddy" Hollweg, half miler, broad jumper, and discus flinger, can always be counted on to bring home the bacon. While strapping Joe Caskey is ace at the shotput and discus.

Ed Slavin, another letterman, and main stay of the track squad last year, was in a dilemma at the beginning of the spring season. Performing equally as well in baseball and track, he finally swung his support to baseball for the first few games, and then donned his track uniform, last Friday, contributing largely in the victory over Bloomfield. He placed first in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump.

Of the non-veterans, Norman Cortese, half-miler, Ed Hollweg, sprinter, Robert Bangert, miler; Lawrence Willette, sprinter; Bill Engleman, high jumper; Richard Wood, quarter miler, and George "Sooky" McKay, broad jumper, have shown a great deal of promise.

A probable answer to the question why the tracksters are not given any acclamation, is that their playing field is out of town, in Brookdale Park, Bloomfield. If there were a suitable field in Belleville, people might become interested in the sport. Then again, the general indifference might be attributed to the fact that track is comparatively young sport at Belleville High.

Whatever the reason, we owe our support to the track squad. What more must a team do to get us interested in it?

Speaks at Dedication of

New St. Barnabas' Wing

Dr. Claude Worrell Munger, director of St. Luke's Hospital, New York, in an address delivered at the dedication exercises of the new south wing of the Hospital of St. Barnabas and for Women and Children of Newark, recently stressed the desirability of adding sympathetic to scientific values in the treatment of the sick in hospitals.

"In this hurly-burly world, the tendency is to systematize and standardize," he said. "Systems and standards are helpful to hospital work, but may be carried so far as to make the patient feel like a mere number and to consider an ice cap a complete substitute for a sympathetic smile. Your very name, St. Barnabas, implies an interest in your patients which transcends the practical application of the science of healing and gives all due emphasis to the friendly, the kindly, the spiritual value which are so very essential in our relations with civilized men."

Dr. Edward J. Ill, honorary president of the medical staff of St. Barnabas, traced the history of the institution from its inception in 1865, down to the present day.

"The start of the hospital was surely a charitable and a highly commendable affair," he said. "Some of our good ladies of those days nursed a mentally sick old lady, Eliza Ann Titus. When death relieved her, she left her rooms and furniture to the Samaritans who nursed her, so that they might succor others in similar plight. Thus started this noble institution."

The dedication was formally pronounced by the Rt. Rev. Dr. Benjamin M. Washburn, bishop of Newark. Percy S. Young, vice chairman of the board of trustees, opened the exercises and the invocation was offered by the Rev. William Hiram Foulkes, pastor of the Old First Church, Newark. Many prominent residents of Newark and vicinity were in attendance.

In Orange Concert

The guest artist at the thirty-eighth annual choir concert of Grace Church, Orange, which will be given at the East Orange High School auditorium on May 18, will be Miss Palma DeNoia, of Belleville.

Miss DeNoia, young American pianist, received her entire musical education in this country. At eight she started to study the piano with Rina Guindani with whom she continued until she entered the Julliard School of Music to which she won a full scholarship.

Miss DeNoia, upon completion of her studies in 1936 at Julliard, has since been awarded two full scholarships to the Institute of Musical Art of Julliard School of Music. While there she has studied piano with Helena Augustin.

She comes from a family who are deeply interested in music and her father plays the violin. Miss DeNoia has appeared before several of the woman's clubs hereabouts, and has given several recitals at Julliard. This, however, will be her debut on the concert platform. The concert is under the management of George W. Pierson of East Orange.

the event, was presented to him by P. T. Kraus, metropolitan division plant superintendent for the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company.

McDonough, field dispatcher of installers in the Newark area, has held supervisory positions in the telephone plant organization in Newark and Jersey City districts for the last twenty years. His career began in Newark as a wireman's helper for the old New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, a predecessor of the present state-wide company. He is a member of Telephone Pioneers of America, national organization of veterans of the industry, in the New Jersey unit, H. G. McCully chapter.

Enthusiastic Audience Enjoyed Ninth Festival Presented by High School Music Clubs

The ninth annual festival of the music clubs of Belleville High School was held Thursday before a packed house in the high school auditorium.

Miss Marion Johnston was the outstanding singer in a musical skit, "Life at College," which was directed by Miss Alice Marie Walters, music supervisor.

Miss Johnston's numbers were, "I'm in a Happy Frame of Mind" and "Outside of Paradise," which were vociferously applauded by the audience.

Victor Tesone also gave the audience an evening not to be forgotten soon.

Genevieve Holland played the role of a German teacher, Miss Ginsberg, and proved true to the quotation, "You may forget the singer, but you won't forget the song."

Much Expected of Leslie Scarsella

Bears' First Baseman is Clever Fielder and a Great Slugger

Product of the California sand lots, Leslie George Scarsella, is another new member of the Newark Bears from whom great things are expected. First baseman of the Bruins, a clever fielder and a slugger, Scar is on option from the Cincinnati Reds. He comes in part payment for Catcher Willard Hershberger, whom the Bears sold during the winter to the National League club.

Scarsella has taken over the duties of George H. McQuinn, sold to the St. Louis Browns last year. While not a fancy fielder, like McQuinn, Scar does a nifty job around the initial hassock. He is a better hitter and many of his clouts are for extra bases.

Les was with the Reds last year, but did not do so well. He was in 110 games and turned in a batting mark of .246, the lowest of his career. Illness was the cause. He lost plenty of weight and the old zip was missing in his swings. During the winter he had his tonsils removed and since then has put on weight. The extra poundage has given him more power in his swings as the pitchers are willing to testify.

The new Bruin began playing in 1934 with Wilmington, and hit .268. The next season he raised the mark to .356 and the Reds recalled him. He saw little service in 1935. Toronto had him for a short time in 1936, and while with the Leafs, batted .359 in forty-two games. The Reds yanked him back and in 110 games he batted .311 for 110 games.

Scarsella figures a good year with the Bears will give him a shot in the big tent next season. He is tabbed as one of the big guns in the Bears' offense by Manager Johnny Neim and the powerful Italian boy is literally murdering the sphere. Scarsella is expected to produce many victories for the Bears with his big war stick.

The Bear won't be twenty-five years of age until November 23. He formerly worked in a dynamite factory, but now devotes his spare time to his large fruit farm in Pinole, Calif. Another thing, Les is an expert when it comes to preparing food. Often he slips into the kitchen to do some fancy Italian cooking. When performing with the pots and pans, Mrs. Scarsella gives him a wide berth for he considers some of his formulas as state secrets.

The Bears are now in Montreal and will wind up their stay in the Canadian city Sunday, by playing a doubleheader with the Royals. Then they move on to Rochester for a three-game series with the Rochester Red Wings, the farm hands of the St. Louis Cardinals and play the last three days of the week in Syracuse.

Langhorne Attracts Sunday Race Fans

Qualifying Time Trials Set For Tomorrow at Penn- sylvania Track

LANGHORNE, Pa., May 13.—Auto racing tops the sports calendar in Bucks County this week-end with the official opening of the mammoth Langhorne Speedway scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Qualifying time trials and speed tests will begin on Saturday, but only a few of the entrants are expected to qualify then. Others will take their speed tests Sunday noon, preceding the first competitive event which begins at three o'clock.

Never before has historic old Langhorne boasted of as great a field of hard-driving star drivers as Ralph A. Hankinson, owner and operator of the big speed plant, assembled for his initial program on the oiled mile bowl. Never have there been so many fast automobiles to go to the tape, records of the contest board of the American Automobile Association show.

Potent challengers from the far west include Ted Horn of Los Angeles, greatest money winner of the year and for two years runner-up for the national championship and Chet Gardner of Long Beach, veteran star and consistent money winner on the big time circuits.

Belleville Ends Jinx In Bengal Matches

Local Track Team Takes High Team Score at Brookdale Park

By Jacob Levine

A jinx which Bloomfield held over Belleville for over two and a half years came to a sudden end last Friday as the Zebras drubbed the Bengals' track team, 64-31, at Brookdale Park, Bloomfield. The victory was significant, because it was the first time Belleville ever downed its traditional rival in any sport within that period.

Ed Slavin's return seemed to supply the spark that set the local's machinery going. Slavin placed first in three events, capturing the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and out-jumping the field in the broad jump. Belleville took ten out of the eleven first places, Bloomfield capturing the last event, the 220-yard low hurdles. Danny Wascoe took the honors in the high jump and the 100-yard high hurdles.

The results:
100-yard dash—Won by Slavin, Belleville; second, E. Hollweg, Belleville; third, Lehning, Bloomfield. Time—10.1.

220-yard dash—Won by Slavin, Belleville; second, Lehning, Bloomfield; third, Gamess, Bloomfield. Time—22.7.

440-yard dash—Won by Cook, Belleville; second, Young, Bloomfield; third, Wood, Belleville. Time—53.7.

880-yard run—Won by Cortese, Belleville; second, C. Hollweg, Belleville; third, Lobell, Bloomfield. Time—2:10.4.

One mile—Won by Bangert, Belleville; second, Macqueston, Bloomfield; third, Brown, Bloomfield. Time—4:57.

Broad jump—Won by Slavin, Belleville; second, McKay, Belleville; third, Byram, Bloomfield. Distance—19 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

High jump—Won by Wascoe, Belleville; second, Byram, Bloomfield; third, tie between Engelman and McKay, Belleville. Height—5 feet, 10 inches.

100-yard high hurdles—Won by Wascoe, Belleville; second, Whitcher, Bloomfield; third, Collins, Bloomfield. Time—18.0.

Relay—Won by Belleville: Wood, C. Hollweg, Cortese, Cook. Time—3:36.

Shot put—Won by Caskey, Belleville; second, White, Belleville; third, Majehrowicz, Bloomfield. Distance—45 feet, 1 inch.

220 low hurdles—Won by Bloomfield: Rhodes, Straight, Collins. Time—28.3.

Resume Midget Races At Tri-City Track

Will Be Held Thursdays Starting Next Week In- stead of Wednesdays

Midget car automobile racing will resume at the Tri-City stadium in Union, Thursday night, May 19, and will continue thereafter every Thursday night, instead of Wednesday night. To conform with the racing schedule of the Eastern Racing Alliance, the Tri-City management changed the racing date from Wednesday to Thursday. This will enable Tri-City stadium to get the greatest racing stars in the country to ride the track.

Charlie Miller of Linden, who drove such a sensational race to win the final of the first meet at the Tri-City stadium will be back with the same car. Johnnie Peterson of Long Island, with his No. 1 J. A. P. machine, which holds the American record also has filed entry. But of most interest is the news that Walt Fusco will be back with the M. G. English racing special.

Fusco drove the car in only one heat at the first meet, but thrilled the crowd with the speed of the car. He developed motor trouble and was forced out for the night. Fusco's car is considered the fastest car on the midget tracks today. It holds the world's record of 129 miles per hour.

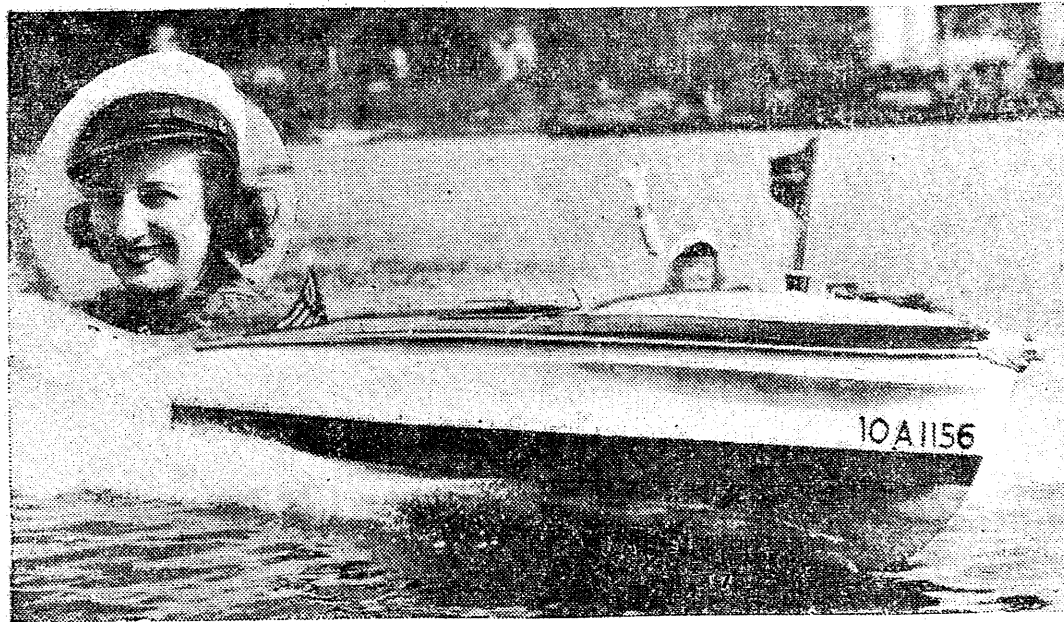

Bill Shindler, the daddy of midget racing drivers will be back with the new Dreyer car. Shindler ran into hard luck on the opening meet, but claims several adjustments made to the car will keep him in the money Thursday night.

The management will experiment with a new track surface during the period of idleness. Engineers are working with an asphalt-oil combination that will give the tracks a surface practically of a concrete formation.

MRS. ETHEL CROWHURST TO RACE AT REGATTA

A speed boat race between Mrs. Ethel "Teddy" Crowhurst, wife of Harry L. Crowhurst, 120 Rutgers street, a novice in the competition and her brother-in-law, Charles Crowhurst, Nutley, will be a high light in the spring regatta of the Newark Motor and Yacht Club on the Passaic River, June 19.

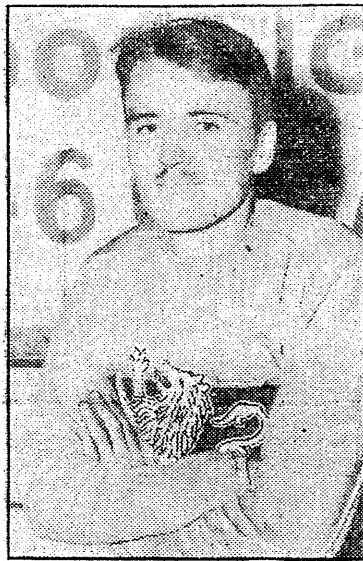

Mrs. Crowhurst and her brother-in-law will drive sixteen-foot speed boats of identical construction. Each craft has been equipped with racing propellers, the fifty-eight horsepower motors have been equipped with superchargers, and the contestants anticipate doing better than forty

Stars Sign Up for Hinchliffe Stadium

Rawding and Tamburro Stay Here in Preference To England

Two motorcycle riders who have spurned offers to compete in England, Crocky Rawding and Palmer Tamburro, have filed entries to compete in the opening meet of the short-track motorcycle racing season at the Hinchliffe City stadium in Paterson on Tuesday night.

The wires have been burning the past few weeks with offers for the popular New Jersey speedsters, but both of them, after some indecision, decided to stay on these shores and seek the top honors in American competition. As a result the checker-board helmet atop Rawding's shock of unruly hair again will be a familiar landmark on the Paterson track.

Promoter John Kochman has announced that he expects a huge field to line up for the opening meet of the season next Tuesday night under the arc lights at the Paterson stadium with all the riders bidding for the coveted top honors in this lifting show. Entries have been reaching him from the eastern states and additional drivers from the west are expected.

Tamburro's decision to remain here is regarded by close followers of the sport as a good move, for they point to the fact that this is likely to be his top year to date and expect the Jersey City ace to move into the highest brackets in motorcycle racing competition this season. Announcement has been made by Promoter Kochman that racing meets will be held at Paterson every Tuesday night with the start set for 8:45 o'clock.

Title Holder Is Pro At Driving Range

Dunn Held Championship Five Times in Open at Adirondack

Bob Dunn, five times winner of the Adirondack open Gold championship, is in charge of the Golf Practice Fairway at Riviera Park, north of Greyluck parkway.

Bob won the title from 1930 to 1935 inclusive. With his dad, Seymour Dunn, they have just taken over and renovated the range. Bob will act as pro and manager. His ability and genial manner bids fair to make the range a popular spot for golf driving addicts.

Triangles Win With Fantacone on Hill

Grum and Marshall in Line-up at Mountain Lakes

The Belleville Triangles emerged with the second win of the season in as many starts at Mountain Lakes, Sunday, defeating the Riverside A. C., formerly the Mountain Lakes B. C., 9-4. Louis Fantacone pitched the entire route for the locals and showed excellent control by not issuing a single stroll. Although he allowed ten safeties and obtained only four strikeouts, he was never in any difficulty.

Ralph Palumbo was scheduled to pitch against the mountain boys, but was unable to do so because of an injured shoulder. He is, however, improving and may be ready to take his turn on the hill this Sunday, when the Triangles take on the Westwood A. C. at the latter's field at 3:30 P. M.

The Triangles lost no time in getting started Sunday to gather a two-run lead in the opening frame, when Hickey, lead-off man, singled over second. Ryder, in an attempted sacrifice, beat out a hit. Bocchino flied out. Zoppa singled scoring Hickey. Ryden was safe on an error. Phillip singled scoring Zoppa. The local boys obtained four runs in the fourth inning to break a 2-2 deadlock at the time. Three more runs were scored by the Triangles in the sixth canto on tremendous drives by Ryder, Grum and Bocchino.

The Triangles had a field day on the defense, making some very difficult catches with Bocchino making two shoe-string catches and Phillip one. Hickey made a sensational catch with his back to the ball. He raced from second to right-center to rob an opponent of what seemed to be a clean hit. Grum, who played third for his first game with the Triangles, played a swell game on the defense as well as on the offense, driving out a mighty triple and a single. Marshall, another former high school player, also saw action.

Carmen Cappanzo will not play ball for the Triangles due to some misunderstanding which arose between him and the club.

There will be a Triangles' meeting this evening at 8 P. M.

Eagles Drop Two More Ball Games

Nutley Reccos and the Cathedral C. C. are Winners

The Belleville Eagles dropped two more games Sunday. They were soundly trounced by the Newark Reccos, 13-6, and lost a close one to the Cathedral C. C., 13-12.

The morning game against the Reccos saw the visitors get eighteen runs on eighteen hits, off the assorted pitching of Goglia, mixed with a few costly errors. Franz, the visitors' twirler, pitched a fine game and deserved to come out on the long end of the score. For the Reccos, Franz had four hits, Borres and Mergner had three and Masucci and Cadmus, two each.

In the afternoon tilt the Eagles and Cathedral C. C. locked in a slugfest and when the final score was marked up, the Eagles were on the tail end again.

The only bright spot of the game for the boys was Johnson's home run with the bases loaded in the third inning. This is the second time he has done this feat, Johnson, on the mound for the Eagles, was pummeled heavily by the visitors.

Going into the last of the ninth, trailing 13-10, the Eagles started a rally which fell short. Brancaglia tripled to center and scored on Danski's single to left. He went to second on a wild throw. Gonnello promptly singled to left, scoring Danski. At this point the Reccos sent in McGuire to do the pitching, and he stilled the Eagle bats, as Johnson fanned and Goglia fouled out.

The batting stars of the game were Danski, with four hits, including two doubles; Tobia, with four, including a triple; Gonnello with three and Costello with three, two doubles and a triple.

Hillside Wins Over Bellboys by 12-3 Count

Greater Newark Champs Held at Bay Until Sixth Frame

Belleville High baseball nine lost the fourth straight game of the season to Hillside, greater Newark tournament champs, 12-3, at Clearman Field, Friday.

Harlow Curtis, who beat Belleville at Hillside last year turned in a brilliant performance by allowing Belleville four scattered hits. He also proved to be quite a hitter, getting two hits out of four times at the plate.

"Bill" Farmer, basketball and baseball ace, started for Belleville, but was taken out in the eighth, an inning in which Hillside put five runners across the "platter." Adolph Paul followed him and allowed two hits in the final two innings.

Jerry Lepre, hard-hitting second baseman, turned in another brilliant batting exhibition by getting three out of Belleville's four hits, one of these being a double, his fourth of the present campaign. These clouts also put him in the lead in team batting with a mark of .421. "Al" Zuzzio received the other hit.

"Bobby" Eilan, Hillside's shortstop, was the leading hitter for the afternoon with three hits out of four times at bat.

Farmer went along nicely, fanning eight and issuing only one hit until the fatal sixth.

"Red" Redmond Wins Nutley Fans' Plaudits

Fiery Georgian Burns Up Boards at Miele's Saucer

Red-headed, quick-smiling daredevil from Atlanta, Ga., the speed star who has captured the fancy of the thousands who see the midget auto races at the Nutley velodrome every Sunday and Wednesday night is Red Redmond. A successful driver so far this season, he is well on his way to the No. 1 niche in the fans' favor.

Redmond began to blaze around that banked board track at Nutley a couple of weeks back and so impressively did he maneuver his mite machine around those perilous curves that he immediately became a great favorite with the spectators who could not help but respond to the southerner's amazing courage and daring craftsmanship behind the wheel of his car.

He blazed through to two main event victories in a row and continued his skillful driving to take runner-up honors to Paul Russo of Chicago in his next time out. And all the time he was rallying to come up front in these races, speeding into the front ranks after starting far in the rear. His ability to overtake the field made him the big thrill-manufacturer of the Nutley races.

Now, although his win streak has been halted, Redmond is intent on sweeping along to further triumphs and the big slice of the A. A. A. purse at the velodrome. And so he is aiming for two more triumphs on the boards in his next appearance there Sunday night and Wednesday. He likes riding under the lights and the boards are right up his groove, as past performances have indicated.

The racing programs at Nutley, presented by Promoter John Kochman throughout this season, will start at 8:30 o'clock with the feature event consisting of thirty-five laps with eight cars competing in the finale after qualifying in elimination heats. The last race has produced the top racing at the velodrome, every meet with some of the strongest line-ups in speed history competing.

Night Owls Lose to St. Stanislaus Club

Slugfest Decided by One Run at Edison Field

The Belleville Night Owls suffered the first setback of the season at the hands of St. Stanislaus Club at Edison Field, Sunday afternoon, 11-10.

After trailing the Night Owls for five innings, the Saints came from behind to hammer the combined offerings of Lefty Revello and Mike Bucco for six runs, in the seventh frame, to lead the Owls. The Owls forged ahead in the eighth by scoring four runs, but the Saints came back again in the ninth inning to score four runs to win the ball game. Featured in the game was the home run smash by Al Bednarick and Phil Yannuzzi, who secured three hits for the Owls.

Next Sunday the Night Owls will play a double-header. The first game in the morning will be with the Newark Opals and the second game, in the afternoon, with the Emanons. Both games will be played at Edison Field.

This Sunday the Owls will also have their new uniforms and Mayor Williams may throw in the first ball.

At this time all over our state and many other states the tent caterpillar is starting to go to work on your trees, mainly the wild cherry tree. There is always a tree or two in every back yard that is infected with these pests. There is only one sure way to get rid of these pests and that is to burn them. You are all familiar with their nests. Cut off the whole limb that is infected and make a fire out of it. Or if there are too many of them and you haven't got the time, don't just put it off. Just call up the Shade Tree Commission of this town and tell them that you have some infected trees. I am sure they can help you out. Let's clean them out to the last one this year.

Bisons Win

The Belleville Bisons won its opening contest of this season at Capital Field, Sunday, in a baseball game with the Ramblers, 9-8. The setto went thirteen innings.

The star of the game was Charles Hick, who pitched the entire route striking out seventeen batters, while garnering three hits and scoring three runs for himself.

Harry Bennett wielded the big stick getting four hits out of five trips to the plate.

The team work of the Bisons showed to good advantage in the pinches when the entire infield tightened up to prevent possible scores by the Ramblers. The good work of the local's new catcher, Charles Coneham, who hit safely once, stopped on many occasions a Rambler run from crossing the plate.

The Bisons would like to hear from such teams as Senators and the Shamrocks for booking. Address William Caracciolo, 53 Roosevelt avenue, in this town.

In Victory for His

Jim Mallack of this town was the big gun in the attack of the Martin-Dennis baseball team, which defeated the Westinghouse team of Newark, Saturday afternoon, at Clearman Field, by the score of 9-7.

Jim garnered four hits off four different pitchers, who were inserted into the game by the Westinghouse manager, and scored two runs to boot.

While Westinghouse used four pitchers to stem the tide of the Martin-Dennis power hitting, the latter team's pitcher, Burnett, went the whole distance.

Most of the Martin-Dennis team players are Belleville young men and a goodly crowd turned out to see the fray.

Jersey Lepe went the entire route for the Hilltops and was touched for eighteen hits, four of them being by Paculis.

On Sunday the Hilltops dropped a game to the Bloomfield White Eagles, 10-4. Tomorrow the Hilltops play the Comets at Bayonne. To date the local club has won four and lost two games.

In last Sunday's game the score was knotted until the sixth frame, when a few costly errors in the infield, turned the tide in favor of the Eagles.

Adolph Paul came through in the seventh with a terrific triple. Rinci and Lotiglio had two hits each, leading the Hilltop batsmen.
