COURT RULES ON PICKETS AT LOCAL PLANT

Vice Chancellor Berry Says They Must Be Ten Paces Apart

Seeking to restrain picketing at the Eastwood-Neally Corp., wire manufacturers plant, officials there Wednesday were advised by Vice Chancellor Berry that until Tuesday when an order to show cause is to be heard by the vice chancellor, pickets must remain at least ten paces apart. Violence and intimidation is also forbidden.

The ruling was made when the vice chancellor said also that he would grant an order requiring the International Association of Machinists, District 47, which is striking, to show cause Tuesday why all picketing should not be restrained.

The concern, which asks an injunction against continuance of the strike as well, contended through counsel, Ralph E. Lum, that it is willing to bargain collectively under the Wagner Act, but that it has no means of determining whether the union or non-union machinist employees have the majority required by the Wagner Act. Lum said the company has no right to go to the National Labor Relations Board to get a vote on the subject.

Lum said the company formerly had a contract with the union, that it expired July 14 and that a majority of the members last month announced they had quit the union and wanted to bargain collectively with the company for a contract. He asserted that heavy picketing, causing other employees to remain away, together with threats and violence, have caused the plant to close.

Morris Isersman, union counsel, contended the union has a right to strike regardless of whether it has a majority or not. He accused the concern of having helped sponsor a company union and said the only instance of violence occurred when a picket was beaten into unconsciousness.

The court observed that if the Wagner act applied to this case application should be made to the NLRB but did not enlarge on this statement.

BANDITS HOLDUP UNION AVENUE LIQUOR STORE

Pair With Revolvers Also Rob Customers At Krauss's

Two young bandits, brandishing revolvers, entered the Max Krauss delicatessen and liquor store about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night and held up the proprietor and two customers, obtaining $27. The pair then leisurely walked from the store at 562 Union avenue a few paces to Greylock parkway where they disappeared. No car was noted in the stick-up.

Krauss was ordered to "stick 'em up" as he emerged from a rear room. One of the pair slapped the proprietor across the cheek with the back of his hand as he ordered Krauss to empty his cash register. Krauss obliged and handed over $18.

William Haley, 59 Campbell avenue, a customer, passed over $2 when thus instructed and another customer, William Herb, 377 DeWitt avenue, was relieved of $7.

The apparent ease of operation and the escape of the pair, who apparently vanished into thin air, is being investigated by the police.

ROTARIANS TOLD OF COUNTERFEITING

Secret Service Man Speaks At Forest Hill Club Meeting

Fred W. Gurber, supervising agent of the Treasury Department, Secret Service Division, Newark, Wednesday addressed Belleville Rotarians at luncheon in the Forest Hill Field Club on "Counterfeit Detection."

Mr. Gurber, whose duties have carried him to various parts of the country, explained how agents are able to trace counterfeit bills, declaring that the average storekeeper has a better chance than anyone else to detect the "phonies" but, invariably, the discovery is made by alert bank tellers, who "spot ninety-five out of every hundred" such bills even though they, of necessity, must check deposits rapidly.

The agent explained how bills are impregnated with blue and red material to prevent duplication and how carefully each sheet of such note or bill paper is checked at the Government Printing Office.

"Counterfeiters are unable to get the paper used by the Government," he explained, adding that attempts have been made to bleach $1 bills, but each bleaching process calls for an expenditure of $1. This proves too costly to counterfeiters.

"Most counterfeiters try to pass the bills in small stores rather than in large department stores," he stated. "They also only carry one bill at a time; the bundle being kept, usually, outside in the car with a confederate."

Because of the unprofitable aspect of handling coins, the agent declared there is little such counterfeiting, although, every once in a while, there is a break-out of spurious coin passing. To illustrate how some persons engage in counterfeiting, he cited a case of a father, son and daughter-in-law near Pittsburgh, who, though they came from a respected family, drifted into counterfeiting through adversity and a hobby of the husband, who discovered how to mould half dollars while in the process of moulding buttons for his "Junior Golf Club."

Gerard Quiz Test

When George R. Gerard, member of the club, was superintendent of schools he framed some difficult questions for the 5,000 odd pupils under his wing, but none proved tougher than the twenty-five nicknames of states he submitted to Rotarians recently.

For the edification of our readers we will print the nicknames and ask them to turn to "page 8, if interested for the answers. The nicknames are as follows: 1-Garden State, 2-Expire, 3-Keystone, 4-Nuthing, 5-Golden, 6-Hoosier, 7-Sunflower, 8-Blue Grass, 9-Cornhusker, 10-Granite, 11-Old Dominion 12-Palmetto, 13-Lone Star, 14-Badger, 15-Wolverine, 16-Blue Hen, 17-Centennial, 18-Hawkeye, 19-Buckeye, 20-Panhandle, 21-Creole, 22-Sooner, 23-Gopher, 24-Beehive, and 25-Green Mountain.

Supervising Principal of Schools Wayne R. Parmer and Dr. George Kaden were tops with eighteen correct answers and William Sweeney of lecture fame, third with seventeen right.

Mr. Sweeney presided at the dedication of a "real" lecture to supplant a "weasel" model, which had taken its place at the speakers' table some weeks ago. He provoked considerable mirth with his dedication speech, as did Recorder Everett B. Smith with the unveiling of the lecture to suitable musical accompaniment.

To complete the ceremonies William J. Orchard provided an ode to the lecture, composed between the soup and chicken courses and completed as he finished his ice cream and coffee.

"Bill," as Mr. Sweeney is affectionately called by his fellow Rotarians had one of his occasional birthdays and was appropriately greeted, as were Thomas B. McHale, Frank Hill who also celebrated their birthdays.

Group singing was led by Edward G. Yerg with Alex Berg, Newark Club, at the piano. Next week Nutley will join with Belleville Club on Thursday at Yountak Country Club, Nutley, to act as hosts to other clubs in a district conference. The regular Belleville Wednesday meeting will be called off.

On Wednesday, September 21, through the efforts of Wilbur W. Brooks, executive vice-president of the First National Bank, who has charge of September programs, Arnel Corter, director of special service department, Dow Jones Co., will speak. Further details in this connection will be made public next week as will plans for Wednesday, September 28, when W. A. Irwin, head of the Economics Department, Washburn College, Topeka, Kansas, will be guest speaker.

LEHIGH HONORS PAUL E. SHORT

Former High School Star Named Assistant Director Of Athletics At Bethlehem

Special to Belleville News

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 7 — Paul E. Short, former Bell-boy athlete and outstanding backfield star at Lehigh in 1931-33, has been named assistant director of athletics and ticket sales manager at Lehigh University it was announced today by Nelson A. Kellogg, director of athletics. Short succeeds Robert B. Adams, who resigned, effective September 15, to enter business.

One of Lehigh's outstanding halfbacks under Austy Tate, Short also will assist in coaching the junior varsity gridlers and wrestling. He will succeed Paul Calvert as freshman baseball coach while Calvert takes over the varsity baseball coaching duties left vacant by Adams after eleven years' service.

Short was graduated in 1934 with a degree in business administration. He has been associated with Bethlehem Steel since graduation, and during the past four years has assisted in the freshman football coaching program at Lehigh.

During his college career, he captained the Brown and White varsity football team in his senior year and was a member of the lacrosse and wrestling teams. He was awarded the Archibald Johnston football award for outstanding performance on the gridiron in 1933. He was elected to Cyanide, junior honorary activities society, and Omicron Delta Kappa, senior honorary activities society. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi social fraternity. He is a native of Belleville.

Nearly forty candidates for Lehigh's varsity football team reported to Coach Glen Harneson to begin three weeks of intensive preparation for the opening game on September 24 with Pennsylvania Military College at Bethlehem.

Among the candidates are James Campbell and Mark Wertz of Belleville.

6,000 Children Trek Back To Places In Classrooms

Supervising Principal Addresses Teachers At Tuesday Meeting

Following a meeting of 225 teachers, including twenty-one clerks Tuesday in Public School No. 8, and a luncheon in the High School cafeteria, 6,000 odd Belleville children trekked back to classrooms Wednesday and sharpened their pencils for another school year brushing away thoughts of two months summer vacation.

Girls from the high school acted as waitresses at the luncheon, which was attended by the teaching force, clerks and members of the Board of Education. President Herbert C. Schmutz extended greetings to the assemblage.

School Commissioners Mary Sheldon and James J. Lynch attended the meeting at No. 8 School, where Supervising Principal Wayne R. Parmer spoke on the general subject for emphasis during the year, "Building Emotional Security and Moral Courage in Our Children," a subject which was based on his observation last June, when several pupils went to the supervisor's office to tell him "how sorry" they were "school was over."

"The basic attitudes children develop toward their surroundings" was summarized by Mr. Parmer as follows: "To shrink from it; fight it or co-operate with it."

He said that underlying the basic attitudes are three "primary emotions, fear, anger and love."

The head of the schools declared: "If we build in much of fear, through threats and other fear-producing punishment, the child shrinks from its surroundings. It fears to face realities. If the child experiences much of anger and antagonism, he tends to reject and fight his surroundings. If, however, the child, meets with kindness and gentleness and experience brings joy and happiness he begins to enjoy and appreciate the world in which he is living."

"Children build in all three emotional attitudes."

Shuns Realities

"Threats and other fear producing punishments tend to set up in the child an attitude which causes it to shun realities. His experiences are so tangled up with fear that success in later life is practically impossible for him," he continued.

"Physicians and psychologists declare fear has a very definite effect upon the physical functioning of the body—but students of mental hygiene and progressive educators declare that fear is even more harmful to the personality of a child."

"It is a tragedy and a travesty, too, that parents and teachers in their conscientious attempt to develop good character in boys and girls, through threats and other fear-producing techniques of discipline, should only succeed in producing emotional insecurity and moral cowardice, instead of emotional security and moral courage."

"Anger, too, can be built into a child's life, through its experiences—take the case of a child fighting against being forced to swim in a pool or ocean screaming against the will of its parents."

Mr. Parmer cited the instance of Giteau, who assassinated President Garfield, as an example of a youth, who had been severely punished by his father until the lad rebelled against authority, slaying the president because he thought he was doing society a good turn by slaying the highest authority.

"This is, of course, an extreme case," he said. "But repeated experiences which build in anger, must eventually result in developing this emotion to the point where it unfits one to live in society."

"Parents and teachers, of course, by virtue of their authority, can force a child to immediate obedience. If, however, in doing so the child learns to hate the thing that was commanded then the loss is definitely on the part of both the disciplinarian and the one disciplined."

"The laws of emotional reaction are definitely against such performance," Mr. Parmer explained. "The child rejects the very thing we are trying to set up—even though it outwardly accepts, it may be rebelling inwardly, and eventually when it escapes domination, it will express itself in its own way, which is likely to be anti-social. This is true whether the emotion is one of fear or anger.

The Home of Love

"Love, too, is built in through the first physical care of the child. If the child comes into a home where it is peaceful, where there are no loud voices, where it suffers little pain, where it is fed well and regularly and has regular sleeping hours, where there is comfort and warmth experienced, it is the subject of kindness and helpfulness and, it soon develops the attitude that it is living in a good world—and, naturally, is ready to co-operate with it."

"Naturally, to whatever extent these emotions are developed in the preschool child, they are carried over into the school room. The experiences of teachers will depend in a great measure upon what has been happening in the home. If the teacher, instead of accepting a child on its face value, can go beneath the surface to find what building has gone in the child's life before she had met the child, then and then only, can a teacher deal fairly with the problem. Unless a teacher understands this psychology of a child's emotions it will be impossible for her to deal with the child effectively and efficiently, not to say anything about dealing with it fairly."

ZINK ADDRESSES KING ASSOCIATION

Senatorial Candidate Will Be Speaker At Fall Opener

Assemblyman Homer C. Zink, who is candidate on the Clean Government ticket for Senator, running against James H. Clark, Maplewood Township Committeeman on the Suburban Group slate, will address members of the Joseph King Association tomorrow night at the first Fall meeting in the association's headquarters, 414 Washington avenue. Clark is a brother of Town Commissioner William D. Clark, who is actively engaged here in a battle with the Zink forces.

A halt on state bond issues and equalization of property taxes on a county basis advocated by James Clark, an opening rally Tuesday night on the Suburban Republican organization.

The meeting was at Hotel Suburban, East Orange. Candidates for Congressional, Assembly, freeholder and sheriff nominations were presented by Mayor Kruttschnitt of Irvington, campaign manager.

"Betrayed," Says Giuliano

Undersheriff Giuliano, candidate for sheriff praised the administration of Sheriff McRell. Giuliano, who said he is "seeking recognition for meritorious work." Assured he was "betrayed by broken promises and loose pledges," but is not resentful.

Zink and eleven of the Clean Government group's twelve candidates for Assembly conferred Tuesday afternoon at county committee headquarters on campaign strategy.

Room Service Coming To Shubert, Newark

Broadway from the inside, Broadway at its craziest, at its phiniest, supplies the atmosphere and the color and the very essence of "Room Service," which will be presented at the Shubert Theatre, Newark, for one week only beginning Monday evening, September 12, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

All the flashy and dishonest practices believed of Broadway are shown in "Room Service," written by John Murray and Allen Boretz. But far from being a social problem play exposing a shabby, back-alley racket, "Room Service," which ran 500 times on Broadway, laughs at the economic acrobatics of the people and the business it depicts.

OBITUARY

FUNERAL FOR HARRY GRIMSHAW

Local Man Had Been In Silk Business Forty Years

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Harry Grimshaw, seventy-seven, at the home of his daughter, 363 Union avenue. Burial was in Laurel Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Grimshaw, who was in the silk business for forty years, died of a heart attack Saturday at the Union avenue address, where he had lived since his retirement five years ago.

Born in England, Mr. Grimshaw came to this country at the age of eighteen. He settled in Paterson entering his father's silk firm. Later he became employed by Kattermann & Mitchell Silk Company of Paterson.

Mr. Grimshaw was organizer for thirty-eight years at the First Baptist Church, Paterson, of which he was a member. Besides his daughter, Mr. Grimshaw leaves his wife, Mrs. Jeanette Cooper Grimshaw.

SERVICES FOR T. J. MCMAHON

Senators' Catcher Killed In Truck and Train Collision

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in Sayre Funeral Service Home, 221 Broadway, Newark, for Thomas J. McMahon, nineteen, 334 Franklin avenue, who died early Friday in West Hudson Hospital, Kearny, from injuries sustained Thursday in Newark Turnpike, Kearny. A truck owned by the Specialty Paper Box Co., East Newark, and driven by Mc Mahon crashed into a freight train, which was backing over the turnpike crossing.

The Belleville Senators Baseball Club, town champions, who Saturday played Nutley in the first inter-town championship game, postponed the second game scheduled Monday at Park Oval, Nutley, and members of the club, of which Mc Mahon had been catcher, acted as pallbearers.

Burial was in East Ridgewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Frances Mc Mahon, his stepmother, and two sisters, Miss Alma McMahon, Belleville, and Miss Violet Mc Mahon, Barbados, British West Indies, survive.

According to Hudson County police, the accident occurred as the truck was going east and the train was crossing the turnpike coming from the Swift & Co. plant. The truck was overturned.

Two youths with Mc Mahon were uninjured. They are Edmund Mc Bride, nineteen, 331 William street, Harrison, and Francis Mc Gill, seventeen, 93 Johnston avenue, Kearny.

Patrolmen Crookall and Callahan of Kearny administered first aid to Mc Mahon. They took him to the hospital. Mc Mahon was unconscious when he arrived.

W. B. Hissan of 179 Manhattan avenue, Jersey City, was engineer on the train and George Fritz of 234 Ralph street, Belleville, was conductor. They were arraigned Friday on a charge of manslaughter before Acting Judge Flaherty in Hudson County Traffic Court.

Andrew Wehnert of 106 Height avenue, Fairlawn, flagman on the train, said he flagged the truck

when it was a few hundred feet from the crossing.

Police reported that the truck bore to the left side of the road and caught on a coupling of one of the cars. The truck was overturned.

George Ward of 90 Belmoor street, this town, held by police as a material witness, said he stopped about 200 feet away from the crossing when the flagman waved. He told police he saw the collision.

Patrolmen Edward Cole and William Diercks of Hudson County police investigated.

Mrs. Emma Feick Liebscher

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Feick Liebscher, who died at her home, 63 Beech street, Sunday, following a long illness, were held at the Home for Services, 160 Clinton avenue, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Peter Rittie Deckenbach, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, officiated. Burial was in Woodland Cemetery.

Mrs. Liebscher was the widow of Otto Liebscher. She was born in Newark, seventy-one years ago, a daughter of Nicholas and Regina Ohl Feick. She was educated in the Newark schools and was graduated from the old Newark high school in the class with William Wiener, former Central high school principal. She left Newark for Belleville five years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Cyril R. Weber and Mrs. Ralph Gates, and two granddaughters, Miss Lois Weber and Miss Ann Liebscher.

Henry S. Terrill

Henry S. Terrill, seventy-eight; formerly of Belleville, died suddenly on Sunday in Rahway. His residence in Belleville was with his niece Mrs. George Breen, 71 Preston street. Mr. Terrill was a retired Pennsylvania Railroad man. He leaves one brother, four nieces and two nephews.

Leading Students At Newark Jr. College

Judged two of the leading students of the past semester, Miss Florence J. Caproff, of Bloomfield, and Miss Edith Schless of Newark, have been awarded the special student scholarships to Newark Junior College, 121 Clinton avenue.

Miss Caproff, an honor student, and librarian of "Scoop," the college newspaper, was president of the Student Council during the winter session.

At the old W. P. A. junior college, student administration was Miss Caproff's prime interest in extra-curricular activities. There she served as treasurer of the Student Council and as president of several clubs. Miss Caproff majored in extra-curricular athletics, in Bloomfield High School, where she was a member of the girls' baseball, basketball and senior gym teams. Also an honor student, Miss Schless served as editor-in-chief of "Scoop" and starred in the college dramatic productions. Working now as a reporter on a local newspaper, a position secured through the college employment bureau, Miss Schless majored in journalism in Newark Junior College.

Previous to her editorship on the Newark Junior College

weekly, Miss Schless was editor of the closed W. P. A. junior college newspaper and editor-in-chief of the Weequahic High School "Calumet" and "Legend," the senior year book.

The scholarships granted to Miss Caproff and Miss Schless were created by the college upon the recommendation of the Student Council.

At the first session, this Sunday morning, the prizes awarded for the best pupils last year will be distributed. All are welcome to attend the presentation.

Belleville Boys Play Cowboy
Howard Garland and Matthew Smith became cowboys for a day at Olympic Park rodeo last weekend.

Sunday School Starts Term At Synagogue

The Sunday School of Congregation A. A. A., 317 Washington avenue, will start its new term Sunday morning at 10 a.m. Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, in charge of the school, has announced that children between the ages of three and sixteen will be accepted as students.

There will be six classes in the school each headed by a competent instructor. The subjects to be taken up will include Jewish history, customs and ceremonies, and Jewish lore.

At the first session, this Sunday morning, the prizes awarded for the best pupils last year will be distributed. All are welcome to attend the presentation.

LOCAL INTEREST IN ALLENTOWN FAIR

Considerable local interest will be attached to this year's great Allentown fair, which will be held in Allentown, Pennsylvania, September 20, 21, 22, 23, and 24, by reason of the fact that among the prominent exhibitors again will be A. J. Roberts, 113 Mill street, Bloomfield.

For many years local residents have watched with pride the strides made by Mr. Roberts in the pigeon department at the Allentown fair. This year he will exhibit black, blue, silver, white, red and yellow Pouter. Last year Mr. Roberts won premiums for his fine pigeons and in all likelihood he will again be among the leaders at this year's fair.

This year the great Allentown fair again maintains its prestige as "America's Greatest County Fair." It will be held five days and five nights, and among the many outstanding features to be stressed is a well-planned educational program. The harness races, to be staged Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, will have among their entries some of America's finest horseflesh. The automobile races, to be held on Saturday, the final day, will feature some of America's most famous and daring dirt track drivers.

BACK TO THEIR CLASSROOMS

As gaily as they left their books last June, Belleville school children went romping back to classes Wednesday — 6,000 odd of them returned to work that will fit them to become the leaders in a topsyturvy world tomorrow.

A word of caution is necessary. Motorists, who have not had to exert the same care at school crossings since June, as during the school year, should once again be alert and use good judgment in that respect. A little tot's life cannot be replaced. Let's see that Belleville gives the school children a break in this respect. Let's have as our slogan: "No Belleville school child injured by an automobile this year."

Turning abruptly for a moment, as long as we are dealing with a school subject, let's welcome back to our midst our friends — the supervisors and teachers — and extend our hand in greeting to the new members of the teaching force. Belleville wishes you all a happy, successful year as you step in as the school hour mothers and fathers of Belleville's youth.

THIS WOULD CUT MILLIONS FROM THE TAX BURDEN

For years here in New Jersey we have been hearing about the need to cut the mounting cost of government. So there is bound to be much discussion of a recent bulletin issued by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, dealing with the cost of servicing the aggregate, gross bonded public debt of state, county and municipal governments. The Chamber's study showed graphically how declining annual interest and principal payments on our public debt could be used to effect staggering reductions in the New Jersey tax burden.

To most New Jersey citizens it was probably news that a single item in the cost of government, that of servicing the gross public debt, was costing the taxpayers $94,600,000 this year, or twenty-seven cents of every hard 1938 tax dollar. That's a lot of money for a small state like New Jersey to pay out annually in the form of interest and principal payments. But this state, unfortunately, has accumulated a huge bonded debt. It had been merrily mounting for years, jumping from $270,000,000 in 1920 to an all time high of $1,370,000,000 in 1933, the fastest rising debt in any state in the Union. Since 1934 it has diminished a little, but there's still the bill to pay for the loose spending of the boom period.

Today, the Chamber points out, the picture brightens, because beginning in 1939 there will take place sharp, successive annual declines in the cost of servicing that debt. By 1948, the service on what is left then of our present bonded debt will drop to $46,600,000, which is $48,000,000 less for that single year's requirements than the 1938 outlay for the same purpose.

What do these staggering figures mean to the New Jersey taxpayers? Just this: If you added them together for the next ten years, annual debt service reductions, based on the present debt, would total $304,800,000. If New Jersey governmental units adopted a policy of creating little or no new public debt, these declining charges could be reflected in a vastly lowered cost of government.

Thus, in a confused fiscal picture, it is very clear that a concerted attack on public debt is an effective way to bring about reductions in the tax burden. Taxpayers can help lighten this burden by the simple device of insisting that their officials, state, county and local, hold the lid down and create only such new public indebtedness as is absolutely needed for the maintenance of necessitous and essential governmental services.

If taxpayer sentiment were strong and vocal enough to force a drastic reduction in the public debt and then see that savings in debt service were used to lower taxes and not to expand public payrolls, some of New Jersey's biggest fiscal problems would go sailing out the window.

NO FATALITIES HERE

Belleville kept up its no fatality record over the three-day Labor Day holiday, a record that has been maintained for a long while. This is remarkable, too, when constant streams of criss-cross traffic flow through Belleville. We had occasion to observe conditions Monday night, as on other holidays, with the officers who direct traffic at Belleville and Washington avenues. Scooting by from mountain, lake and shore were thousands of cars. North and south in Washington avenue and east and west in Belleville avenue, they travelled. Other cross streets here were likewise congested. No fatalities. This is a splendid no-accident record and, once more, we say, that the method employed by Recorder Everett B. Smith in Police Court to suspend drivers' licenses had much to do with it. In fact he has practically eliminated speeding and reduced accidents in Belleville.

THE G.O.P. FIGHT

Despite the fact that the Republican party in Essex County is forming a couple of battle lines for the Primary and Belleville has Assemblyman Homer Zink, Commissioners Louis A. Noll, William D. Clark and Clark's brother, James, Maplewood Committeeman, in the thick of it, the campaign promises to be lethargic. Belleville is not "steamed up" in the least about the muddle. In fact most of the Republican leaders here became "fed up" with the mess some years ago and this is easy to explain.

Belleville always is out in the cold when political plums hang on the tree and therefore the lack of interest. A few have held minor jobs, but nothing really worthwhile ever has come to Belleville. Came Homer Zink, who made an enviable record in Trenton, and was well on his way to the Senate without opposition, until recently when two tickets beclouded the G.O.P. picture. Despite the fact that Commissioner Clark will be out against Zink in Belleville, because he lives here, will get more support than James Clark, who lives in Maplewood.

With the split it will be interesting to watch the result as Belleville voters go to the polls later this month.

BACK TO WORK

The summer season has had its official period to it.

Traditionally, Labor Day marks the return to work and school for thousands of vacationists. While September is an ideal month for vacations, and many resorts are still available, the vast majority of us are headed down the stretch of another year of normal pursuits.

Let us hope that the stored up energy of the summer is reflected in success and prosperity for all, now that Belleville, in its entirety, is back to work.

PARKWAY MOVES AHEAD

Now that the Federal Government has ratified the necessary funds to complete the park extension along Passaic River from Mill street to Nutley line, let's go. For several months now there has been a lot of dallying around and a few spots have taken on the semblance of a parkway, but only in the rough. There are several good outdoor work weeks ahead. Let's get out the wheelbarrows and shovels, county workers, and make believe you are tidying up your own back yard. Let's get that parkway finished, so that next summer the grass will come up green, the birds will sing along the banks and Belleville and all Essex and the whole world, for that matter, may enjoy one of the most delightful spots hereabouts. Truly this dream of the County Park Commission, which was considered well nigh impossible a few years ago, is taking shape. With Branch Brook Extension completed and the park along the river, the arc from South Mountain Reservation, with the exception of little strips here and there, will extend to Nutley—and, then, maybe, through Passaic County and, so to New York. But, ah, there we go dreaming of something that is years away, yet possible. A park system second to none in the world is in the making right under our very noses, believe it or not.

SAME OLD JACK-IN-THE-BOX

THIS WEEK

by "Guardian"

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

School days. School days.

In Belleville and in other communities hereabouts public schools have opened and young folks are beginning to pack up to go away to prep school and college to start on another lap of their journey of education in preparation for participating in the game of life.

Cynicism is a very easy trait to acquire — and one in which many of us like on occasion to indulge. We have tried to shun it as though it were a plague for cynicism is seldom constructive and can make one very unwellcome and unpopular and unhappy.

But after a summer spent in no small part in interviewing young men who finished their schooling in June and are now looking for jobs, we must confess to an increasing amount of cynicism as to the effectiveness of our present educational system in fitting our young folks adequately to enter in competition with millions of others in the game of life.

If we were to write a formula for young men or young women we would certainly counsel them to point their efforts towards one specific objective — towards a course of study that would fit them, for one particular type of work. And we would counsel them to shun these so-called general courses and general curricula which, however well rounded a picture they might give them of certain phases of life, do not teach them specifically enough about any one line of endeavor to fit them for anything of value.

But there's the rub. Most of our educational processes and educational systems in the primary and secondary schools are pointed toward entrance into college and college entrance requirements are very definite. Whether a youngster is a linguist or not there are certain positive language requirements which must be met and most of the colleges are almost inflexible in their entrance requirements. So secondary schools pattern their curricula after the requirements for getting into college. Clear thinking students or their parents who want to follow a definite specific course of education are frequently unable to do so because sufficient "credits" would not be obtained to permit entering college.

This is a subject that is receiving a great deal of attention from intelligent educators. We appreciate the problems involved — but we feel that until methods are developed that give more individualized education and less mass education, that on the whole a great deal of the money that is collectively spent in the world on so-called "education" could be much more profitably spent.

May we record our testimony of appreciation for the good done by that great soul, Cardinal Hayes, who, after a lifetime of service to his fellowmen, has passed into that life which is to be. Only a great character could be so universally loved and respected as was he.

Europe, apparently sitting on a keg of dynamite with a continental war more than a possibility, is continuing to put out feelers to the United States as to what we are going to do about it. The answer should be that though we will help in any way we can in friendly advice and counsel, no nation anywhere need look to us for material assistance in any war that does not involve invasion of our own soil or the soil of an immediate neighbor. Thinking people in this country should make affirmation of that policy a daily rule in these critical times.

And the weather this week has been wonderful!

Yours 'til next week,
"GUARDIAN"

LOOKING BACKWARD

Five Years

Death from mushroom poisoning was the edict when Joseph Jinks, fifty, 89 Cortland street, passed away at St. Vincent's Hospital, Montclair.

John Portenstein represented Belleville at a parley on NRA systems at Irvington NRA headquarters.

When Belleville schools got under way for the year there would be 6,000 pupils and 200 teachers on hand, it was reported.

Mrs. Rose Harden passed away here at the age of 108.

The third annual outing of the Belleville Republican County Committee was being planned at Bertrand Island, Lake Hopatcong. The committee was William H. Gagg, chairman; Thomas Berry, Harry Boutelle, Mrs. Mary Jane Ebert, Mrs. Mary Galanot and Mrs. Anna Fleming.

Ten Years

The Recreation Commission announced that in spite of the rain, which made the closing of the playgrounds practically imperative, a total of 1,385 children had attended for the week. It rained three days during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Tarbox and daughter, Armine, 37 Tiona avenue, had concluded a visit to Manchester, N. H. On their return they spent several days at Holmdel.

Town Treasurer and Mrs. T. Russell Sargent were home from a trip to Norwalk Conn., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ward.

Declaring that the rate of interest on short term loans was high at present, James Gibson voted against appropriating money for new construction work at a meeting of the Town Commission.

Fifteen Years

St. Mary's Church, Nutley, was the scene of an impressive wedding ceremony when Eugene B. Sullivan of that town and Miss Charlotte Collins-Thorp of this town were married with a high nuptial mass. For about one-half hour before the bridal party arrived the church was vibrant with wedding bells.

A delegation from Belleville Camp, P.O.S. of A. expected to attend the Diamond Jubilee Parade of the Order in Philadelphia.

A resolution by the Town Commission authorized the Summer avenue line to run "jitney busses" in Union avenue to connect with the line at its terminus in Verona avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bangerman of 55 Tiona avenue were home after an auto trip to Philadelphia.

Opening date for Belleville

Public Schools was September 5. It was expected that building operations at Public School No. 5 would be so far advanced that sessions for all the pupils in Silver Lake could be resumed. Fire had levelled the building.

Robert O'Brien and Eugene Mougell had enlisted in the Marines.

The Belleville Home Guards opened a drive for funds to purchase rifles, uniforms and other necessary articles.

"If you have a telephone you had better hang on to it," read a story twenty years ago. "No new ones are to be installed for the duration of the war. This applies not only to residences, but to all non-essential business — and most businesses are classified as technically non-essential."

E. B. Collard had returned from a two months' business trip in Utica. He was tendered a reception at his home, 189 Hornblower avenue by his friends and neighbors.

S. E. Gerow had been busy painting his house at 153 Academy street.

The M. D. Says

HEALTH QUESTION: Is there any approved serum for the treatment of cancer?

THE M. D. SAYS
Medical research is seeking for a serum which will arrest or cure cancer but none of the serums so far produced have been endorsed by organized medicine. The medical profession in New Jersey is conservative in its acceptance of new procedures, refusing to be rushed into the general application of measures which are still in the experimental stage.

Scrums to counteract cancer may be perfected in the future but until they are proven conclusively effective and safe to use, the physicians of New Jersey prefer to use the present approved means for treating cancer. These are surgery, radium, and X-ray, alone or in combination.

This feature is prepared by The Medical Society of New Jersey, an organization of physicians of the state.

Editor Belleville News:

Sir:
Pertaining to the question of governmental spending it might be well for the people to take cognizance of some very pertinent facts. It has been soft peddled, but it is a fact, the Republican administration poured billions of American dollars into the European caldron of bankruptcy to save Europe from disintegration and to provide European workers with work. The "loans" mis-called "war debts" but should be called Republican gifts — not only provided these European workers with work, but enhanced the living conditions of the people, for the work was building schools, power plants, improving harbors, making new highways and improving old ones, renovating old and building new public buildings, and mark this — building industrial plants to compete with our own industrial plants.

Now, if it was right and proper for a Republican administration to spend billions of the American people's money to rehabilitate and provide employment for European workers, why in the name of common sense is it not right and proper for a Democratic administration to spend billions of our money to rehabilitate and provide employment for American workers, especially when it was the Republicans spending of American billions for the benefit of Europe and its people that brought about the crisis in this country. President Roosevelt inherited the depression and faced a condition that bordered on revolution when he took office — what would you have done?

Remember this: The billions the Republicans loaned Europe are lost; the billions President Roosevelt has spent are right here in the United States.
Now the voters of New Jersey are about to elect a United States Senator, and without a doubt the man the citizens will send down to Washington will be William H. Ely, democratic candidate. Mr. Ely is an intelligent, progressive and an honest man, and deserves the support of all right thinking people.

Meador Wright's PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

There has been no Republican primary contest in Essex within the past decade where so many unknown factors were involved as in the present bitter fight. Even veteran Clean Government strategists are not entirely sure of where their own strength will come from. Their opponents, the Suburban Republicans, are even more in the dark. It is as though two armies were marching to battle with each commander not informed as to his own strength, much less that of his opponent.

One reason for this confusion lies in the character of the Suburban group. It represents a new coalition, with new leaders and a new policy. There is no political precedent for its existence. Nor is it any reflection on its merits to say that it was born premature. The particular date of its birth was a matter of necessity, fixed by the time limit on filing petitions for the primary. Its present orientation, likewise, was forced upon it — forced by the inability of the two largest anti-Clean Government nuclei, the Hoffman and the Franklin groups, to command a vote of confidence.

The best evidence of this new orientation lies in the disappointment of the followers of both Hoffman and Franklin. The Hoffman camp is incensed at the Suburban group's slogan, "Economy Before Taxation," and Franklin realized how completely he had been repudiated when Assemblyman Schroeder was not given a place on the new ticket. Measured in terms of political independence, Town Commissioner James H. Clark of Maplewood, the Suburban group's candidate for state senator, is further to the left than any candidate on the Clean Government slate, including his opponent, Assemblyman Homer C. Zink. Aside from Senator Cleo, there is no leader in the entire Clean Government camp who, on the basis of his record, would be expected to place principle as far ahead of political expediency as Clark.

Not only is Clark's record unique in this respect, but his whole demeanor backs it up. Any lingering hopes that may exist from the spenders at Trenton or the job seekers from Newark that they will have a friend in Clark are certain to be dispelled between now and September 20.

Seely is said to be very much incensed over stories about Senator Kean's money. He may be able by legal threats to keep public statements about the hoped-for contribution to a minimum. But he will not thereby lessen the firm conviction of Essex voters that it was not his father's millions rather than the son's ability that influenced the endorsement. Maybe Mr. Seely will wind up by naming the entire million inhabitants of Essex as defendants in his proposed suit.

IT'S IN THE AIR

by BILL CLAY

Like the rest of us, radio artists are beset by troubles. But we aren't concerned about frogs in our throats. One little frog and a program is croaked, so naturally stars take every precaution they know. If, however, they get careless and don't smoke the right cigarettes, here are a few ways they have of cutting phlegm: The ultra-modern entertainers shoot infra-red rays at their throats but the oldsters resort to chewing gum, scalding-hot coffee, honey and milk mixtures, and bicarbonate of soda in hot water.

Martin Block, who stands before the mike three hours daily announcing the Make Believe Ballroom, made it the hard way. . . Got his first microphone experience on a sound truck which barnstormed the country. . . He worked for nineteen different stations before coming to WNEW. . . Was left-handed as a child but changed when some one told him that all lefties were crazy. . . Is allergic to spinach because he got a mouth full of Coney Island sand as a youngster. . . Dislikes shellfish because his father was nipped by a crab. . . Hasn't got a mole on his body. . . And it's nobody's business whether he sleeps with or without the tops of his pajamas. . . He's thirty-five and a handsome rake, too. . . Most of his friends are orchestra leaders. . . His current record favorite is Bing Crosby's "Small Fry." . . This isn't his first selling job—he used to peddle phonographs, wearing apparel and radios. . . His personality is as dynamic. . . Has 13,000 records to choose from. . . Is just as informal away from the mike as he is at it. . .

Bazooka Burns has little thought for anyone or thing other than his new daughter, Babs. Even his bread and butter, the "Music Hall" takes second billing. Naturally enough, Babs is somewhat of a celebrity so the photo boys are forever over at Burns' shooting pictures of the child—but only on one condition—Burns—that they send him prints of all the shots.

Mal Hallett's band is favored more by those who attend public dances than those who listen for entertainment. . . Helen Carroll of the Merry Macs is just about the prettiest swag in the business. . . Whatever became of Rippling Rhythm's popularity? . . . Dorsey's Clambake Seven can really grind out the swing and stamp chunes. . . The "Three Fells" of Fred Waring's crew are on their own now, but will be back in the organization when Fred makes his first appearance of the season in October. . . Kay Kysner, who was head cheerleader at the University of North Carolina, was just awarded a letter, not because they realized that he was a good cheerer, but because the college publicity department thought it would be a good idea. . . Al Siegel, who launched Ethel Merman, has a new protégée in Patricia Ellis. . . Anne Jamison, Irish-born radio songbird, just took out citizenship papers. . . Jean Sablon is being called the "Bing Crosby of France." . . Jack Fulton, along with his singing, has other musical accomplishments in that he plays the trombone. . . Pauline Alpert, the ivory thumper, has signed another contract with There's little doubt that a performer is "in" when the public picks up a catchword or phrase like "Wanna Buy a Duck" or "Heigh Yo, Silver," and spreads it around like gossip at a sevin club. And when a manufacturer invests his rubles in the purchase of a "name" for advertising you can bet all the "Jah" voters Berlin against a tin soldier that the doubt is removed. As evidence that Swing and Sway is here to stay with Sammy Kaye, a manufacturer is issuing dancing gowns and housecoats that have from Sammy's theme song imprinted on them.

Local Man Had Been In Silk Business Forty Years

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Harry Grimshaw, seventy-seven, at the home of his daughter, 363 Union avenue. Burial was in Laurel Grove Cemetery.
Mr. Grimshaw, who was in the silk business for forty years, died of a heart attack Saturday at the Union avenue address, where he had lived since his retirement five years ago.
Born in England, Mr. Grimshaw came to this country at the age of eighteen. He settled in Paterson entering his father's silk firm. Later he became employed by Kattermann & Mitchell Silk Company of Paterson.
Mr. Grimshaw was organist for thirty-eight years at the First Baptist Church, Paterson, of which he was a member. Besides his daughter, Mr. Grimshaw leaves his wife, Mrs. Jeanette Cooper Grimshaw.

SERVICES FOR T. J. MCMAHON

Senators' Catcher Killed In Truck and Train Collision

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon in Sayre Funeral Service Home, 221 Broadway, Newark, for Thomas J. McMahon, nineteen, 334 Franklin avenue, who died early Friday in West Hudson Hospital, Kearny, from injuries sustained Thursday in Newark Turnpike, Kearny. A truck owned by the Specialty Paper Box Co., East Newark, and driven by Mc Mahon crashed into a freight train, which was backing over the turnpike crossing.

The Belleville Senators Baseball Club, town champions, who Saturday played Nutley in the first inter-town championship game, postponed the second game scheduled Monday at Park Oval, Nutley, and members of the club, of which Mc Mahon had been catcher, acted as pallbearers.

Burial was in East Ridgewood Cemetery.
Mrs. Frances Mc Mahon, his stepmother, and two sisters, Miss Alma McMahon, Belleville, and Miss Violet Mc Mahon, Barbados, British West Indies, survive.

According to Hudson County police, the accident occurred as the truck was going east and the train was crossing the turnpike coming from the Swift & Co. plant. The truck was overturned.
Two youths with Mc Mahon were uninjured. They are Edmund Mc Bride, nineteen, 331 William street, Harrison, and Francis Mc Gill, seventeen, 93 Johnston avenue, Kearny.
Patrolmen Crookall and Callahan of Kearny administered first aid to Mc Mahon. They took him to the hospital. Mc Mahon was unconscious when he arrived.

W. B. Hissan of 179 Manhattan avenue, Jersey City, was engineer on the train and George Fritz of 234 Ralph street, Belleville, was conductor. They were arraigned Friday on a charge of manslaughter before Acting Judge Flaherty in Hudson County Traffic Court.
Andrew Wehnert of 106 Height avenue, Fairlawn, flagman on the train, said he flagged the truck

when it was a few hundred feet from the crossing.

Police reported that the truck bore to the left side of the road and caught on a coupling of one of the cars. The truck was overturned.

George Ward of 90 Belmoor street, this town, held by police as a material witness, said he stopped about 200 feet away from the crossing when the flagman waved. He told police he saw the collision.

Patrolmen Edward Cole and William Diercks of Hudson County police investigated.

Mrs. Emma Feick Liebscher

Funeral services for Mrs. Emma Feick Liebscher, who died at her home, 63 Beech street, Sunday, following a long illness, were held at the Home for Services, 160 Clinton avenue, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Peter Rittke Deckenbach, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, officiated. Burial was in Woodland Cemetery.

Mrs. Liebscher was the widow of Otto Liebscher. She was born in Newark, seventy-one years ago, a daughter of Nicholas and Regina Ohl Feick. She was educated in the Newark schools and was graduated from the old Newark high school in the class with William Wiener, former Central high school principal. She left Newark for Belleville five years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Cyril R. Weber and Mrs. Ralph Gates, and two granddaughters, Miss Lois Weber and Miss Ann Liebscher.

Henry S. Terrill

Henry S. Terrill, seventy-eight; formerly of Belleville, died suddenly on Sunday in Rahway. His residence in Belleville was with his niece Mrs. George Breen, 71 Preston street. Mr. Terrill was a retired Pennsylvania Railroad man. He leaves one brother, four nieces and two nephews.

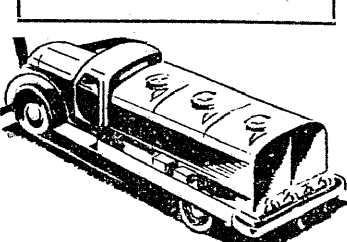

Leading Students At Newark Jr. College

Judged two of the leading students of the past semester, Miss Florence J. Caproff, of Bloomfield, and Miss Edith Schless of Newark, have been awarded the special student scholarships to Newark Junior College, 121 Clinton avenue.

Miss Caproff, an honor student, and librarian of "Scoop," the college newspaper, was president of the Student Council during the winter session.
At the old W. P. A. junior college, student administration was Miss Caproff's prime interest in extra-curricular activities. There she served as treasurer of the Student Council and as president of several clubs. Miss Caproff majored in extra-curricular athletics, in Bloomfield High School, where she was a member of the girls' baseball, basketball and senior gym teams. Also an honor student, Miss Schless served as editor-in-chief of "Scoop" and starred in the college dramatic productions. Working now as a reporter on a local newspaper, a position secured through the college employment bureau, Miss Schless majored in journalism in Newark Junior College.

weekly, Miss Schless was editor of the closed W. P. A. junior college newspaper and editor-in-chief of the Weequahic High School "Calumet" and "Legend," the senior year book.

The scholarships granted to Miss Caproff and Miss Schless were created by the college upon the recommendation of the Student Council.

Sunday School Starts Term At Synagogue

The Sunday School of Congregation A. A. A., 317 Washington avenue, will start its new term Sunday morning at 10 a.m. Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, in charge of the school, has announced that children between the ages of three and sixteen will be accepted as students.

There will be six classes in the school each headed by a competent instructor. The subjects to be taken up will include, Jewish history, customs and ceremonies, and Jewish lore.

At the first session, this Sunday morning, the prizes awarded for the best pupils last year will be distributed. All are welcome to attend the presentation.

LOCAL INTEREST IN ALLENTOWN FAIR

Considerable local interest will be attached to this year's great Allentown fair, which will be held in Allentown, Pennsylvania, September 20, 21, 22, 23, and 24, by reason of the fact that among the prominent exhibitors again will be A. J. Roberts, 113 Mill street, Bloomfield.

For many years local residents have watched with pride the strides made by Mr. Roberts in the pigeon department at the Allentown fair. This year he will exhibit black, blue, silver, white, red and yellow Pouter. Last year Mr. Roberts won premiums for his fine pigeons and in all likelihood he will again be among the leaders at this year's fair.

This year the great Allentown fair again maintains its prestige as "America's Greatest County Fair." It will be held five days and five nights, and among the many outstanding features to be stressed is a well-planned educational program. The harness races, to be staged Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, will have among their entries some of America's finest horseflesh. The automobile races, to be held on Saturday, the final day, will feature some of America's most famous and daring dirt track drivers.

Aunt Flo's Column

Hello dear Readers! Well here I am, ready to take my place in this little corner of the paper to try to help you with your problems.

Somehow I wish my name were Pollyanna instead of just plain Flo, because like Pollyanna, I, too, like to wear rosey glasses and to look at life as something not to be afraid of, but something beautiful and adventurous; something that is not doomed to end in discouragement, but something that will go on and on to a truly happy ending. Perhaps it is because I have looked at life in this way that I have been able to help folks so much. It is so easy to put one's self in the other fellow's place, if we will but try. Therefore I find when some sweet young Miss comes to me and tells me that she and Jack have quarreled, I can immediately revert to the time when I too was just seventeen and remember the great magnitude attached to such a misunderstanding. Likewise when mother Smith tells me that she is quite sure that her children, Evelyn, sixteen, and Bob, nineteen, have forgotten all about her many sacrifices because they go out every night and leave her alone; I, too, can appreciate that feeling—I have children of my own but; meanwhile I do not let myself lose sight of Evelyn's and Bob's end of it. After all Youth is so short lived. Then there is little old Miss Brill who complains that she is now past the marrying age and alone, just because she stayed at home to take care of the younger brothers and sisters who have since married and gone their own way—and for a moment I am "stumped." I cannot put myself so quickly in Miss Brill's place—you remember I told you I had a family—but I think hard and pretty soon I find something to say to that dear old lady that makes life seem less drab. Then there is dear old mother and daddy Bross who tell me that their home is lonely, the children have married and gone and there is nothing else to live for. But right there is where Aunt Flo must adjust the rosey glasses and spread a little sunshine. After all, life is what we make it and how can a home be lonely unless we allow it to be so?

Tell me about the little things that are troubling you. Perhaps I can help you and while I am helping you I will be helping some other reader who is too timid to ask for advice. Just address Aunt Flo, Belleville News, 11 Mill street, town. I will answer as many letters as I have space for in the column provided me.

Take Trip In Air On Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. William Specht of Tappan avenue celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last week with an airplane ride at Newark Airport. Later they attended a dinner given by their daughter, Mrs. Howard M. Buell of Bloomfield avenue, Nutley.

Mr. and Mrs. Specht have eight children, twenty-four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

TOWN TO RAZE REEVES' SHACK

Had Failed To Comply With Edict Issued Month Ago

Thirty days ago Cashierie Reeves, 115 Ralph street, was told to demolish an antiquated building at that address, but to date has failed to do so.

Thus Tuesday night the Town Commission by a resolution offered by Director of Public Affairs Joseph King will proceed to tear down the building as "deleterious to public safety." Director King said Reeves had promised to demolish the structure, but it leans today as it has for some time past in its alleged tumble down condition.

Because Postmaster Frank Sinnott suggested changing street names in their entirety rather than having an avenue, street or place of the same name, an ordinance in this connection, which was scheduled to pass on second and third reading, was held in abeyance. The board had planned to change streets of a like name to avenue and street in some instances. The postmaster said this would prove as confusing to the letter carriers as the present names. Some streets, therefore, will be decked out in brand new monickers.

Referred to the Department of Streets and Public Improvements were petitions from residents of Brighton avenue for curbs and sidewalks and Mitchell street for concrete curbs.

The board granted residents of the valley section near Little street permission to hold a block dance the first clear Saturday night after Labor Day, consent of residents in Stephens street, where the dance will be held, having been obtained.

NEW GAS STATION

Six permits were issued, five of which were for canvassers' licenses and one for a gasoline station which will be operated by Crandall H. Abbey, 59 Maolis avenue, Bloomfield, at 141 Belleville avenue.

Permission was granted Joseph Laterza to transfer his tavern license from 745 Washington avenue to 575 Belleville avenue opposite the Isolation Hospital.

R. E. Dixon, owner of the Cascade Pump and Machinery Company, 86 Academy street, appeared before the board at its afternoon conference to set forth the merits of a pump he manufactures, having heard the town is in the market for pumps to relieve home owners whose cellars have become flooded, as during recent storms.

And therein lies a story of another manufacturer in town, whose identity in that capacity had been unknown to the town fathers. He arrived here three years ago from Irvington and says he "likes Belleville."

His pumps, which he says "sell for $150, including motor and all ready to run" will receive consideration from Director of Public Safety William D. Clark when the next purchase of such equipment is made.

Incidentally, for the information of townspeople, the Cascade concern claims its "Spiro Unit" increases fuel oil delivery profits and will pump thirty-five gallons per minute of fuel oil, through meter, hose reel and 100 feet of one and one-half-inch hose, and 100 gallons per minute on sidewalk drops, through two-inch hose.

"It will run five hours on one gallon of gasoline," said Mr. Dixon, "and save from one to three gallons of gas on every 1,000 gallons of fuel oil pumped, as well as pumping dirt and scale without injury to the pump."

Other features, said Mr. Dixon, are that it will allow quick shut-off at nozzle end and allow fuel oil to gravitate while pump is not operating.

"It will save from 200 to 300 motor hours a year... why use a 30 horse power motor to do a one horse power job?" he asked, adding, "it solves the economical delivery of fuel oil from trailers and may be installed any place in a very short time."

The pump is also used for pleasure boat bilge and fire protection.

Former Local Girl In "Stage Door"

Miss A. Joan O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F.

MISS A. JOAN O'BRIEN

O'Brien, Jr., 205 Grafton avenue, Newark, formerly of Belleville, a graduate of New York University where she studied dramatic art under Randolph Somerville and Roy Mitchell, will play a prominent role in "Stage Door" which will be presented September 9 at the Newark Opera House by the Newark Repertoire Company.

Miss O'Brien is well known for her dramatic monologues and by her fine work with the Square Players.

"Stage Door" is being presented by Frank Francis who is head of the company. It is directed by Raymond Volpe and starring Alice Craven, well-known Broadway star.

tection, bulk plant transfer duty, trench work, manhole cleaning and hundreds of other pumping jobs.

The motor can be disconnected for use on other work and the pump is excellent for irrigation, 100 gallons per minute, against fifteen foot head. It is portable, light weight and rigidly built.

AUTO CLUB CALLS ATTENTION TO "SCHOOL" SIGNS

Cooperation Asked In The Protection of School Children

"School Zone" signs, disregarded during the vacation period, will soon take on their full significance as a life-saving agency, the Keystone Automobile Club of New Jersey declares in a bulletin calling motorists' attention to the responsibilities attendant upon motor vehicle operation at the beginning of the Fall school term.

Co-operation of drivers in the movement fostered by the club for the protection of school children is urged by Herbert C. Silcox, manager of the Trenton division of the club, who emphasized the many dangers confronting children returning to school after being freed for several months from the restraints imposed by school safety education.

The club manager also stressed the fact that thousands of children will be attending school for the first time.

"These youngsters," he said, "have not had the benefit of safety instruction in the classrooms, and in their behalf we appeal particularly to motorists. To a very great extent, the safety of first-year pupils will depend upon the care with which motor vehicles are operated, not only in the vicinity of schools, but on all streets where children are walking on their way to, and from their classrooms."

"All drivers are strongly urged to use the utmost caution where children are crossing streets. No one can foretell when a child is going to rush forward from a group into the path of moving vehicles. Because of this uncertainty the duty devolves upon the motorist to have his car under such control that he can stop at a moment's notice. Safe drivers never take chances where children are concerned."

"The club also wishes to impress upon motor vehicle operators the importance of co-operating with the school safety patrols. The boys and girls who constitute these patrols are doing a splendid work in accident prevention. They are always on the alert to safeguard fellow pupils, but their efforts will be hampered without complete co-operation of motorists."

REGISTRATION SHOWS GAIN HERE

With Gain of Sixty-Four Total Here Now Reaches 14,059

With an increase of sixty-four registered voters in August, Belleville total registration for 1938 reaches 14,059, as against 12,684 in 1937, Elmer J. Herrmann, commissioner of registration, has disclosed. The county total is within 6,000 odd votes of the 1937 total when a gubernatorial campaign stimulated an increase.

A total of 5,805 persons registered in August, bringing the number to 359,426, as compared with 365,063 last year. The books are closed now until after the primary.

Interest in local county committee fights and in the Republican split is believed to have kept registration up.

Commissioner Herrmann also announced more than 16,000 old registrations had been eliminated in compliance with the law, which terms a registration dead if the voter has not cast a ballot in four consecutive general elections. He also said there had been 31,007 transfers between November 3, 1937, and yesterday.

Sectional Conference

(Special to Belleville News)

Arlington, Sept. 9 — The annual Cooperative Sectional Conference of the Parent Education Division of the State Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Home Economic Extension Service, Rutgers University will be held here Tuesday, September 13. Representatives of Parent-Teacher Associations in Bergen, Hudson, Essex and Passaic counties are expected to attend the conference in preparation for planning programs for the coming school year.

The principal speaker of the day will be Dr. Howard W. Beers, extension sociologist at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, who will discuss "Problems of Democracy and Authority in Family Life." The meeting will begin at 10:30 A. M. and last throughout the day. Dr. Beers' talk is scheduled for the afternoon session at 2 P. M.

Progress made in parent education by Parent-Teacher Associations will be reviewed by Mrs. John H. VanderVeer, state parent education chairman of the State Congress of Parents and Teachers, as well as by county parent education chairmen and home demonstration agents. Questions relative to P-T. A. program planning will be answered and suggestions offered from the

"These youngsters," he said, "have not had the benefit of safety instruction in the classrooms, and in their behalf we appeal particularly to motorists. To a very great extent, the safety of first-year pupils will depend upon the care with which motor vehicles are operated, not only in the vicinity of schools, but on all streets where children are walking on their way to, and from their classrooms."

"All drivers are strongly urged to use the utmost caution where children are crossing streets. No one can foretell when a child is going to rush forward from a group into the path of moving vehicles. Because of this uncertainty the duty devolves upon the motorist to have his car under such control that he can stop at a moment's notice. Safe drivers never take chances where children are concerned."

"The club also wishes to impress upon motor vehicle operators the importance of co-operating with the school safety patrols. The boys and girls who constitute these patrols are doing a splendid work in accident prevention. They are always on the alert to safeguard fellow pupils, but their efforts will be hampered without complete co-operation of motorists."

Members Sought By Newark Post-Auxiliary

Newark Post, American Legion and auxiliary, have opened a membership drive to obtain a large enrollment for 1939. World War veterans who were honorably discharged and served during the period of April 6, 1917, to November 11, 1918, are eligible for enrollment. Mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of World War veterans may enroll in the auxiliary. The post will meet at its own new home 137 Broadway, Newark, the first Tuesday each month. Application forms for membership may be made by written request to Post Commander John H. Laux, 961 Grove street, Irvington, or to him at the post rooms, 137 Broadway, Newark.

Frank V. Lanzara and Mrs. Carrie Bonenna will serve as commanders for 1939.

Injured In Crash

Joseph B. Muller, 281 Greylock Parkway, was taken to West Hudson Hospital, Kearny, Thursday after his auto was in collision with a bus in Belleville Turnpike, between Argyle place and Beech street, North Arlington. He was injured about the face and head.

Walter Petrie, 381 Danforth avenue, Jersey City, driver of the bus, told police Muller ran into the side of his bus, owned by the Jersey City-Lyndhurst Bus Co.

Auto Clips Pole

An automobile driven Thursday by Eugene McVeigh 686 Chestnut street, Arlington, clipped off a telephone pole in Cleveland street at the Erie Railroad crossing. The pole, owned by the railroad company, has been replaced.

Registration Planned For New Term

Registration for pupils for the new term of the Religious School of Congregation A. A. A., 317 Washington avenue, began yesterday, according to an announcement by Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, head of the school. The office will be open for registration on Sunday, September 11, from 9 a.m. to 12. Students will be accepted for the daily Talmud Torah classes and weekly Sunday School sessions.

The daily Talmud Torah will include seven classes. Among these will be the beginners' class, which will meet twice weekly, and the High School group which will meet at 3:30 directly after the close of the public High School. All the children will receive instruction in Hebrew reading and writing, Jewish history, customs and ceremonies, Bible and commentaries, as well as in every other phase of Jewish learning. Rabbi Dobin will be assisted by a competent group of instructors.

For the first time, a special course in arts and crafts will be introduced in the regular curriculum of the School. This course will be led by Louis Lempert, who had much experience in the field. The Religious School is under the supervision of the School Board of the Congregation of which is Philip Smith, secretary; Abram Morris Berkowitz, Dr. M. Rochlin, Louis Haft, Saul Abelson, Mrs. Morris Berkowitz, Bessie Denner, and Mrs. Cl. Weinglass.

TWO WEEKS ARE NOT ENOUGH

Were the scales wrong or had somebody made a mistake? We were reading the camp reports. Tom, age 15, had gained ten pounds and Jackie, his younger brother, had gained six while they were away at camp. But there was no mistake. When we saw these boys we had to believe the report, they were tanned and sturdy, very different from the pale, hungry boys whom we had sent off only two weeks earlier.

We first became acquainted with Tom's family last winter when he tried to leave school in order to work. The sixty dollars his father earned did not go very far to feed a family of eight. Tom was always hungry and he wanted to do something about it. Tom found out that he could not get working papers, went back to school, and is doggedly counting the days to his sixteenth birthday.

If Tom and his younger brother and sisters are to have any chance at all they have to have those things which are essential for all of us—a home and enough to eat so that they can grow up to take a useful part in the world.

Two weeks at camp meant a whole new world opening up for these boys, but we all know what a small part of the year that is. The Community Service Bureau knows many families who fall "between the cracks" of the present public assistance programs. We know that Tom's parents had reached a point where they felt that it was a hopeless struggle where there just wasn't enough to manage on. Through a special gift we can assure this family of help for the next three months. The utter hopelessness is gone and Tom's father is able to plan and think ahead with new energy and interest.

This is just one example of why the Community Service Bureau needs money as an aid in helping families to rebuild their morale. The Community Service Bureau is supported entirely by the Community Chest of the Welfare Federation and by direct voluntary gifts.

IN NEW JERSEY

by Dr. Maurice F. Neufeld

Prepared for the Belleville News by Major George W. Farny, President New Jersey Park and Recreation Association and Member New Jersey State Planning Board.

A bright mind in a dull body is seriously handicapped. As a concession to this truism, school authorities have made a gesture toward developing young bodies as well as young minds, but usually only a gesture. While there are many fine and ample school grounds in the state, the average size of public grade school grounds is 2.009 acres, and of public high school grounds, 5.71 acres. Many authorities place the standard minimum size of elementary school grounds at five acres, with increased acreage in proportion to size of enrollment. For high school grounds the minimum standard moves up to 10 acres. The average size of school grounds, generally, is less than the most densely populated counties and is especially low in many of the cities such as Newark, Jersey City, and Elizabeth.

Large high schools without a yard of play space have been found. Too frequently, where sizeable space has been provided, proportionately too much space has been given to stadiums and other "spectator" uses, where many may view but few may play. Playground provisions for parochial schools generally are even more meager than for public schools.

In relatively few instances are school playgrounds sufficient for the minimum play needs of the children themselves. Not often are they large enough for, or open to, adult use in "out-of-school" hours. Often they are closed to children themselves during the "out-of-school" season. In few instances have school authorities shown the foresight to acquire school grounds in advance of need when grounds of proper size may be acquired in the right place at comparatively little cost. Quite generally too much money has been spent upon school buildings in proportion to the amount spent upon grounds.
