"REC" BOARD SEEKS LOWER CHARGE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Mayor Requests Schools
To Give Study
To Matter

Following a request from Mayor William H. Williams that the Board of Education consider revision of its charges to the Recreation Commission for use of the high school gymnasium, "more in keeping" with charges made in other municipalities, the board decided to refer the matter to the Building and Grounds Committee for further study.

Previously, the board had charged $5 per night for the gym, but the fee had recently been raised to $12.

Walter Gilby, chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee, reported that during Easter vacation thirty-six windows were replaced in School No. 7. Also during the vacation a wooden floor was replaced with concrete at No. 5 School.

Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels was instructed to advertise for coal and educational supply bids to be opened at the meeting which is scheduled for May 22.

Field Use Granted

Permission was granted the Recreation Commission to use the baseball field at School No. 7 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons and Saturday mornings from April 17 until July 31. From May 1 to September 1 the same field will be used by the "Rec" authorities on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Use of Clearman Field for softball games was granted the Recreation Commission on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings from June 12 to September 1.

In order to play the town championship tournament with Nutley the board granted The Belleville News use of the field Saturday afternoons during August and September and September 2, 4 and 9.

The tennis courts at the field will be used by Boy Scout Troops on May 12, 13 and 14 for the annual "camporee" of Belleville Council.

The board adopted a resolution of condolence in the death of School Physician Dr. Herbert Vail, who died last week. He was hailed as an "outstanding citizen" and for his help to school authorities.

During March the High School cafeteria showed a profit of $83.11, receipts totaling $1,532.71 and expenses, $1,449.60.

Health of pupils and teachers, is considerably improved reported Supervising Principal Wayne R. Farmer, who said that among 635 calls made by the nurse, 452 were recorded as "sick" cases. He explained communicable diseases are on the decline and the health of school children is "fine." During January and February many were out due to colds and other similar ailments, necessitating the greatest expenditure Belleville ever had for substitute teachers.

Daniels To Speak

One week from today Mr. Daniels will speak at Trenton on his teaching in the Vocational School as regards janitorial duties.

School Board President Schmutz said that Mr. Daniels has created favorable comment by his work at the school, but he does not "know whether it is justified."

"What will he talk on?" is a facetious query of one member of the board.

Another replied, equally as facetiously, "How to mop a floor."

Mr. Farmer reported on a break at the high school, where entrance recently was gained to the shops and offices, the contents "being scattered all over the place." As told in this paper last week, $70.50 was taken from the vault in the offices, largely representing petty cash belonging to the cafeteria and high school athletic funds. Tickets were stolen about and, it is the belief of authorities, that the intruder or intruders wore gloves to conceal finger prints.

The resignation of Adele B. Korn, as a teacher, was accepted and contracts placing all under contract were awarded Herbert Bitterman, Paul Jones, Lillian Eicher and Helen H. Hannan. Because the board has not as yet studied in detail the recommendations of Mr. Farmer, other contracts were held up.

The use of the high school was granted Boy Scouts for the first annual Court of Awards on Thursday evening, April 20, and the Class of 1939 for its reunion on Saturday evening, May 13.

Belleville Joins In Great North Jersey Scout Meet

Local Men Help Arrange Details
For Schiff Reservation
Camporee

The largest gathering of Boy Scouts ever held in North Jersey is planned June 2, 3 and 4 by Robert Treat Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Approximately 1,400 scouts and 250 adult scouts will encamp at the 450-acre Schiff Scout Reservation in Mendham. The site is the property of the National Council Boy Scouts of America. The June Camporee will be the first mass encampment held on the reservation, which was donated in 1933.

Preparations for the affair have been under way all winter. The aim of local scout officials is to make it economically feasible for the greatest possible number of scouts to attend.

Belleville Participates

Allan R. Cullimore, president of the Newark College of Engineering and vice-president of the Robert Treat Council, is in charge of the Camporee. A committee of well-known Newark, Belleville and Irvington civic figures have been appointed to cooperate with him. Grammar and high school authorities have made music workshops available to boys constructing their own equipment.

In way of practice for the main Camporee, each of the seven Scout districts within the Robert Treat council will conduct a "district camporee" some time this month or in May. These will be held in Olmstead Field, Irvington; Clearman Field, Belleville; and Branch Brook, Vailsburg, Weequahic and Riverbank Parks, in Newark.

During the district camporees each troop will participate in a program of activities as a result of which two patrols will be selected to represent the troop at the big Camporee.

A group of Sea Scouts will also participate in the June camporee. They will be under the direction of Robert L. Hatfield, controller of the Robert Treat Council and chief of staff for the Camporee.

TAXPAYERS MEET FOR BUDGET DISCUSSION

Meeting Will Be Held
Tonight At Rec
Headquarters

The Belleville Taxpayers and Civic Association will meet tonight at 8:30 in the Recreation House, Joramaleon street and Garden avenue.

"It is very important to every taxpayer to be present and suggest ways and means of carrying on the work of our organization. Unless we have concerted action on the part of our members, we shall drift further into the mire and eventually wake up some day to find the situation beyond our control," says A. E. Chiappari, secretary, in a letter to members.

"Do you know that our 1939 tax rate is tentatively set for 4.78 and that the prospects of a much higher rate are in store for us?"

"Do you know that through refinancing of the town's debt we are only postponing the day of reckoning when we shall all have to meet the obligations now incurred?"

"Do you know that the indifference of our taxpayers in the civic affairs of our town are costing them thousands of tax dollars every year?"

"Are you the one to let George do it? Are you going to help?"

"We strongly urge you to be present at this meeting and to bring your neighbor. Some very interesting facts will be discussed."

William Konrad, treasurer, 32 Garden avenue, is now accepting dues in the association.

SERVICES HELD YESTERDAY FOR JAMES T. BOYLAN

Bank Official Died
Tuesday After Long Illness

A requiem mass was offered at 9 A.M. yesterday in St. Peter's Church for James T. Boylan, eighty, who died Tuesday in his home, 32 Van Houten place, after a three-year illness. Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Mr. Boylan, who was the first president of the People's National Bank & Trust Co., which he helped organize, was during his illness honorary chairman of the board, previously having been active as chairman. He was born in Waterbury, Conn., and came here with his parents more than seventy-five years ago. He entered the contracting business after graduating from St. Benedict's Preparatory School, much of his work being with municipalities throughout New Jersey and for the county.

Mr. Boylan at one time was on the old Township Committee. He also was township clerk and treasurer for eleven years. He served on the Board of Freeholders for several terms.

It was about seventeen years ago that he resigned as a member of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank to start the People's bank. Mr. Boylan also had been one of the organizers of the First National.

The flag at the bank has been placed at half mast in honor of Mr. Boylan.

Mr. Boylan leaves his wife, Mrs. Annie H. Boylan; a daughter, Miss Anna; a brother, Andrew L. Belleville, and three sisters, Miss Mary T. Boylan, Mrs. John T. Burke and Mrs. Cecilia Connolly. He was a charter member and first grand knight of Belleville Council, K. of C.

Early in May, 1921, almost eighteen years ago, Mr. Boylan held an informal discussion at his home when plans to form a second financial institution in Belleville were talked of. The idea was suggested by Marvin D. Rossman. It was decided to begin a canvass of the business men of Belleville for subscriptions to the stock for the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the townpeople. Mr. Boylan bore the brunt of this canvassing during the following three months while many scoffed at the idea of a second bank here being successful.

The first meeting of the proposed subscribers was held at the headquarters of the Belleville Building & Loan Association, William street.

After Mr. Boylan had outlined the proposition and given a resume of his efforts to date, it was decided by the gathering which packed the Building & Loan room, to form a National bank instead of the trust company.

"Keep America American"

Efforts to "Keep America American" will form an important part of the work of the women of the American Legion Auxiliary during the coming year, Mrs. Hoffman, chairman of the Americanism committee, announced today at a meeting of her committee to organize 1939 activities. She appealed for the support of all women who believe that American ideals and institutions should be safeguarded from opposing social and governmental principals now sweeping much of the world.

"This year will be a crucial one in the conflict between democracy and its enemies," Mrs. Hoffman said. "We know that these enemies already have invaded the United States with subversive activities designed to win Americans away from American ideals and bring about the end of our democratic form of government. The Legion and Auxiliary are pledged to undying opposition to Communism, Fascism, Nazism and any or all like forces which seek to undermine the free institutions of America."

"Women have a very important part to play in the defense of our country against these foreignisms." Education, which is the strongest weapon of defense, is largely in women's hands. In the home, the school, the church the young people's organizations, women's groups, and all centers of contact women can work to develop understanding and appreciation of American institutions, and to give training in American citizenship.

"The Auxiliary is carrying forward work of this kind. It is exerting its influence for legal restraint of foreign agitators and propagandists. It is standing with the Legion in a determined effort to keep America American. The help of all women is needed, especially those of Legion families. Their place to help is with us as members of our American Legion Auxiliary Unit."

MORE FREEDOM FROM HOUSEWORK

...when you have Automatic Hot Water Service

Automatic Hot Water Service by Gas saves time and work in the home. It keeps hot water on tap, day and night, without requiring the slightest attention. You have hot water at the faucet always—for baths, dishes, laundry, cleaning and in time of sickness. There is no waiting for hot water, no running up and down stairs to light the gas or fix a fire. Automatic Hot Water Service by Gas is completely automatic.

Thousands of families in New Jersey have this service at low cost. For example, here is a fair estimate of cost—A family in Bayonne, Hudson County, pays about $2.66 per month for gas, based on a comparison of actual gas bills before and after an automatic gas water heater was installed. Ask Public Service or your local plumber for an estimate of cost based on your hot water needs.

Aunt Flo's Column

Position is not everything in life—if character is missing.

Bernice writes: "Aunt Flo, will you please try to help me decide something? I am twenty-seven years old and have been going to business for nine years and have always made good. I'm almost ashamed to tell you that my worry now is over two boy friends. I can't decide which one I want to marry. The trouble is the men are in entirely different stations in life and of course that is what is confusing me. One holds a fine position in a banking house and the other is only a manager in a laundry business. The first man appears to be devoted to me and of course is able to entertain me in high style but sometimes he is very moody and acts as hateful as he possibly can and makes me feel that I have done everything to displease him. I have also observed that he is extremely selfish and everything he does is because it pleases him. The other man is entirely different. He seems happy just to be with me and we always have good times. He never appears to think about himself and is always proud of me and thinks that everything I do is just about right. He makes me feel I am the most wonderful person in the world and I have never seen him in a mean mood. Now, Aunt Flo, what I would like you to tell me is this: Do you think a girl can be happy with the man she loves even though his job is a minor one, or do you think the man's position should be the deciding factor?"

Dear Bernice: I may be wrong, but somehow I feel that a girl could marry the president of the largest business house in the U.S. and yet if that same man with all his executive ability, lacked the fine qualities of human character, she would not find happiness with him. It is true as you say that the banker is probably more polished than the other man and is in a position to entertain you more lavishly, but real happiness in a home is not brought about simply because a man is a polished gentleman, nor because he is able to provide lavish entertainment. True happiness comes from something more enduring than that. A selfish man is a dreadful person to live with, no matter how many luxuries he can provide and personally I would rather go without the luxuries and enjoy the simple pleasures of life with the honest-to-goodness human and kindly man. It seems to me the happiness would be so much more lasting and I would not feel that my own personality had been lost. After all a husband who thinks that his wife is just about right is a wonderful asset in a home and should be in the nature of a life insurance toward peace and contentment.

I am inclined to be on the side of the second man; he seems to possess qualities that position could not attain to, nor money could buy. I hope you make the right choice and may you have lots of luck.

AUNT FLO
And now, may I say just a word to our readers who call up the News Office, and when I am not there, say "I bet Aunt Flo is just one of the men on the newspaper staff anyway." Please do not be fooled for I am going to tell you right here, over my own name, that I am every bit a woman, but not yet a "nice little old lady" as I heard someone conjecture the other day when I attended a party and Aunt Flo and her column came up for discussion. It is quite true I want people to like me and my column—but do I necessarily have to be a little old lady for them to do so? Please give me some more years—at least thirty. Meanwhile let me say that I specially like little old ladies and incidentally little old men, too.

"Main Street" is a connecting link between the switchboard equipment and the lines to telephones in homes and offices.

When you move, take a different class of service, or get a new telephone number, the necessary changing of lines is done here. Last year, nearly 155,000 new telephone connections and 139,000 disconnections were made in New Jersey, nearly all requiring changes on central office main frames.

The telephone instrument is only a small part of the plant and equipment that enables you to talk quickly, clearly, cheaply, with almost anyone anywhere, any time

You can talk 18 miles for 15c; 30 miles for 25c, any time in New Jersey (station-to-station rates). Calls of over 50 miles carry reduced rates after 7 week nights and all of Sunday.

"WHITE WAY" BOBS UP

What would be the additional cost to operate the lights, which had been removed from Washington avenue some years ago as an economy measure? This is a query that has been made by several store owners, who feel that, if the burden is not too great, the lights should be replaced, once again making the avenue Belleville's "white way." Some of those who favor the lights point out that there is considerable talk about "dolling up" store fronts, but assume the attitude of "what's the use" if you "can't see them" after the dolling up process. Well, there may be something in that, but the light proposition should not be the drawback to better store fronts. After all, the fronts will be seen in daytime as well as at night. But those who want the lights have a certain amount of justification in asking for them. Certainly the lights would stimulate evening trade. Better stores would result and, in the long run, more taxes would accrue to the town coffers. We have no idea at the moment what the extra lighting would cost, but we intend to find out and present our tabulation next week in this column. We recall that the light item entered the picture when "baby bonds" were in vogue here. Like the title of the famous cartoon, "them days are gone forever," we hope. If this is true, Belleville might consider lighting up, unless, the taxpayers, in general, feel that they do not want their main highway to look prosperous. The business people favor the lighting and, it must be remembered, they, too, pay taxes. When we obtain the figures this "something to think about" matter will receive a full airing.

JAMES T. BOYLAN

Recently Belleville has lost some of its tried and true sons—the stalwart men of the community who always had a helping hand to better conditions here. Today it is our sad duty to record the passing of James T. Boylan, honorary chairman of the board of the Peoples' National Bank & Trust Co., its former president and organizer, who also was an organizer of the First National Bank and one of its directors until he resigned to join the Peoples.

Mr. Boylan's passing leaves a void—similar to those left when the late Charles Granville Jones, former Commissioner Frank J. Carragher and Dr. H. B. Vail passed. These men were a vital part of Belleville of yesteryear and it is almost impossible to believe they have gone. With a generous smile and a heart that was equally as big and generous, James T. Boylan greeted one and all, alike. His passing is a distinct loss to the community, of which he was so much a part and which he so earnestly loved.

DEVIL'S DISHPAN CLOSES

When the Nutley Town Commission last week decided to close the Velodrome to midget automobile racing after Justice Parker had termed it "a public nuisance" and the Grand Jury, to which the matter had been submitted, thought likewise, the action was what might have been expected. In the face of the findings there was no alternative left the Nutley officials. Aside from the judge and jury aspect had Nutley permitted further racing and another fatality occurred the commissioners responsible for such further racing would have been in a delicate position. Imagine a politician's predicament—if another fatality happened—it would be political suicide. Nutley was this way and that about the races. It was a case of nobody caring, in particular, except the promoters and three of the Town Commission, for some reason or other. Of course, the complimentary ducat users will shed crocodile tears. Two of the commissioners, Rife and Rogers, did not hesitate about closing the devil's dishpan. Mayor Young and Commissioners Blum and Bostock had wanted to keep it open until the jury findings caused them to change their minds. Nutley did right in waiting for the decision of the Grand Jury and then abiding by it. Every right thinking person—unless desiring to pick a peck of trouble—will agree that the jury made no mistake.

USE OF SCHOOLS

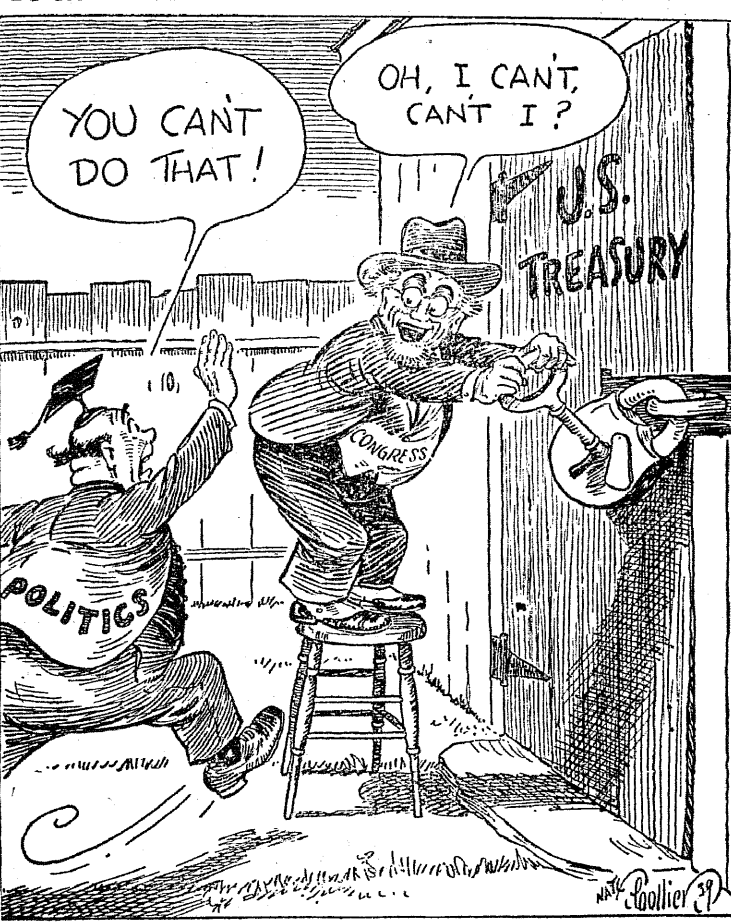

While School Board President Herbert C. Schmutz does not agree that an organization such as the Belleville Glee Club should be given any more consideration than, as he says, a basketball team in the matter of lower rental charges for use of school buildings, we are inclined to disagree. This week—for no good reason—other than the fact that we believe a glee club is one of the finer assets that develop in a community, it was pointed out to Mr. Schmutz that some plan should be worked out to provide school use for the club at cost price. He told us that if it were done for the glee club all other organizations would ask similar concessions, using the basketball angle as an example. We enjoy basketball and have played considerable of it. We likewise enjoy music and have dabbled somewhat unsuccessfully along that line. But, for the life of us, we can not see where a sport event is analogous to a concert, especially concerts such as are arranged by glee clubs. Mr. Schmutz says both are hobbies and should be classed alike. The glee club endeavor here by a group of men who like to sing may be termed a hobby. But in our humble opinion it is just a little more than that. The men who belong to the glee club are in there more as a civic endeavor than hobby angle. They hope to see Belleville placed on the musical map as some of our neighbors. It seems to us that the schools might set up in their account for lectures some provision for such community projects as the glee club. True, the club charges admission, but what is obtained very often falls short of bringing high class artists here. Belleville needs more encouragement along these lines and less quibbling on minor points.

Mr. Schmutz also points out that the per capita school cost is less here because the board has watched just such things as spending money to open schools without any return. He further says that the school board would be in business—running competition to other organizations that have halls to rent. What is to prevent the school board drawing up a list of worthwhile organizations that deserve a helping hand? A little study might disclose that there are ten or a dozen groups in town to whom the schools should be made available. When $150,000 is spent for an auditorium, gymnasium and pistol range what's a little thing like use of a school for a glee club, Woman's Club, Rotary or Lions Club or some of the other worthy organizations that build Belleville from within in a dignified manner? There are ten school buildings in Belleville that should be put to use for more purposes than teaching the children and could be put to such use, it seems, without any too much worry on the part of the school authorities.

"TIME ENOUGH"

We heard a man say that he did not have time enough to do one-half the things he wanted to do. Many of us feel just that way sometimes in the rush of the days that leave so little time for recreation. But this man really did have time to do so many useful and helpful things. He said he would like to be of assistance in the community but he did not have the time. To be sure he may be bound by a ceaseless treadmill of daily tasks which he deems of vast importance but in which he is passing days and years of a life that might be rich in deeds that are worth while. He certainly has time to keep "tabs" on his neighbors, time to criticize, time to interfere in other people's affairs, time to censure and gossip and make the world a miniature hell for all with whom he comes in contact. Mourning about lack of time in which to accomplish things might well be turned to advantage by really rolling up the sleeves and getting down to work. The man who never has time to do for others will soon discover that others have no use for him. No truer saying ever was written than this: "Service is the price we pay for the space we occupy."

LOCK THE STABLE BEFORE THE HORSE IS STOLEN

THIS WEEK

by "Guardian"

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

Europe and activities relating thereto continue to hold the stage of public attention.

The big news of the week was President Roosevelt's very direct, almost blunt appeal to Hitler in Germany and Mussolini in Italy asking for a pledge from them of a ten year international peace in return for which President Roosevelt would attempt to bring about an international conference on reduction of armaments. A bold and courageous step, contrary in many ways to our normal conception of foreign policy but a step that has received high praise for its courage and timeliness from practically all the world. Only from Italy and Germany have come outspokenly unfavorable comments.

To understand those comments we must appreciate that public opinion is almost wholly influenced by the way in which opinions, beliefs and items of news are presented. In this country the rank and file of folks are clearly of the opinion that increased expansion and strength of the totalitarian nations will in the end bring about the elimination of democracy and cancellation of much of the freedom that is characteristic of democracy. On the other hand, the vast majority of people in Italy and Germany, if we are to believe reports that should be accurate, feel very strongly that the democracies are combining together to upset the governments which are theirs and under which they are living and that instead of the totalitarian countries being the enemies of the democracies, the democracies are the aggressors and the enemies of the dictatorships. In trying to appraise a complicated situation such as exists in the world today, we must keep both sides of the question in mind.

Almost simultaneously with President Roosevelt's dispatch asking a peace pledge from Mussolini and Hitler, our main fleet is ordered from the Atlantic to return to the Pacific and is now on its way. Whatever it was dispatched as a move of preparedness against any activities that Japan might take or whether it was dispatched as a peace gesture toward Germany and Italy so that there would not be too large a concentration of naval strength in the Atlantic is something that the country as a whole does not know because official Washington is wisely keeping quiet about it. Nevertheless, it is intriguing.

Premier Mussolini, in effect, says that Italy is not willing to guarantee ten years of peace; that they have no war-like intentions (how can he explain Albania and Ethiopia?) and that there is no sense talking about a long term peace until the geographical errors that were made in past years have been corrected.

And meanwhile, Berlin and all of the Reich resounds with enthusiasm for the fiftieth birthday of Dr. Fuchser Adolph Hitler and the world waits with anxious ears for the formal reply he is scheduled to make to President Roosevelt on April 28.

Everyone fervently hopes that out of the President's message will come a long term settlement. If one comes, what will it mean?—for who (as Representative Sol Bloom asks) is going to guarantee the guarantors?

We feel that if Hitler is smart—and Publisher Howard says that no one in Europe questions his smartness—he will, in his speech on April 28th, lay down certain conditions under which Germany and Italy will guarantee the peace for ten years, which conditions will enumerate and include all of Germany's just claims. If he did that, and if the claims were only those which rectified the errors of the Versailles Treaty, maybe that would be the solution.

The coming days are filled with anxiety.

Yours 'til next week.

Hookworms

Until within recent years hookworm infestation in dogs had been confined to the southern states where these worms thrive in abundance, but with the importation of southern hunting dogs to northern states the disease has become widespread. Hookworms are among the most dangerous of the various worms inhabiting dogs, and although a dog of any breed may suffer with them, they seem more prevalent in the field and hunting dogs.

The hookworm is less than an inch long, and threadlike in appearance. It attaches itself along the wall of the intestinal tract and sucks blood from the animal. The dog may lick up hookworm eggs from the ground or from places where other dogs suffering from these worms have been, or the worms may gain entrance to his body by passing through the pads of the feet, often causing them to be extremely red and sore.

Symptoms apparent to the naked eye are similar to the general outward symptoms for all types of worms—vomiting, listlessness, irregular appetite, itching and eruptions of the skin, dullness of the coat, pot-bellied appearance. Dogs heavily infested with hookworms show an extreme pallor of the gums and mucous membranes of the eyes. These worms cause many acute anemias and often become severe enough to bring about the death of the dog.

As always, a microscopic examination of the stool should be made to determine the presence of the worms and the extent of infection before treatment is begun. If the dog has been infected through the skin, the larvae of the hookworm may develop in the bloodstream; and since only the bloodworms in the intestinal tract are affected by worm medicine, several wormings are usually necessary before the parasites can be eliminated.

ANENT FUNERAL

Editor, The Belleville News:

In regard to the funeral of our devoted mother, Mrs. Sarah Becker, which took place last Sunday, we would like to thank all who so graciously offered their automobiles for transportation. We would particularly like to thank Police Chief George Spatz for delegating a police escort, composed of motorcycle officers Don Smith and Leroy Hilton, to conduct the funeral. The manner in which they conducted traffic to the King Solomon Cemetery was praiseworthy, and many comments from outsiders were heard lauding the work of the Belleville police. We are deeply appreciative.

Of Masons

Through the efforts of Frank Bangert and George Walker, Belleville Craftsmen Club will play host to the entire Newark Bears baseball team Thursday evening at a party in the Elks' Club.

Mr. Bangert is recuperating from an injury to his arm. A piece of steel flew from the head of a hammer which he was using at No. 5 School and injured the arm so severely that seven stitches were required to close the wound.

Mr. Bangert and Harold Hayward will represent Belleville at the convention of the National League of Masonic Clubs tomorrow at Atlantic City.

Meador Wright's PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

Barring a sudden shift of strategy on the part of Democrats, passage of the fifty million dollar bond issue for relief next week seems assured. Both Governor Moore and the general staff in Jersey City have favored the bond issue method of financing relief for a long time. They have held off so far from pushing their plan in order for the Republicans to demonstrate their inability to agree on anything. Apparently, they are convinced now that the public is tired of the deadlock that has lasted all session. Hence the agreement with the anti-Pascoe R. Republicans.

There is no question about the situation having no votes to pass the bond issue. But now that the power is theirs, some timidity has developed about carrying it. Having lost one election because of being a party to a similar coalition that passed the sales tax, the Democrats are somewhat disturbed lest they get themselves into the same fix over the proposed bond issue.

Let G. O. P. Do It

Thus, they are careful to let Republican assemblymen maneuver the enabling act through the lower houses. If they sense any disposition on the part of the R. Republicans to evade this responsibility they may call the whole deal off and let the economy group wrangle a while longer. But such a course is a possibility rather than a probability. At this writing it looks as though the bond issue would pass. If it does, then Governor Moore and his allies must decide on what stand they will take before the voters this November. My guess is that they will oppose the bond issue, but very mildly. By November the municipalities that have the greatest relief problem will be so deep in debt that there will be no alternative to supporting the bond issue. Voters in the remaining communities may feel different.

Let G. O. P. Do It

There is no earthly need of a bond issue to finance relief. Plenty of money is available. If Tremont's budgetary wastefulness only taken up a notch or two, but it takes more than pious stubbornness to pull up that gargantuan belt. The political leaders must be braced at their own game. Meanwhile industrial Essex is stifled for lack of connecting links in what could be a very satisfactory highway system.

V.F.W. Notes

"Jobs versus pensions" is the theme of an article by Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, in the current issue of Foreign Service, official monthly magazine of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The article, "wanted-Jobs," is of great interest and importance to local veterans according to Commander George A. Younger, Post No. 275, V.F.W., who said today that General Hines is one of the country's outstanding authorities on veteran problems.

"I am convinced," General Hines writes, "that the unemployed veteran prefers a job to a pension. He realizes that income in the form of a pension is a poor substitute for income from work. For 1939 let our goal be 'Five hundred thousand jobs for war veterans.'"

Less than one-tenth of the approximately four million living World War veterans are entitled to compensation benefits, General Hines states. The average benefit payable to these approximately 400,000 veterans is approximately $40 a month, he declares. However, while $40 a month is the average for the entitled group as a whole, almost three-fifths of those in receipt of compensation receive a monthly payment of $30 or less. It is evident, therefore, that the great majority of those to whom compensation has been granted are not in receipt of an amount adequate to support themselves and their dependents, he writes.

General Hines estimates that there will be approximately 500,000 veterans applying for employment in 1939.

"The placing of one-half million veterans in jobs during a twelve-month period will require the execution of a well planned cooperative program on the part of those agencies concerned in the welfare of veterans," the Administrator writes. "Such a program must of necessity be a decentralized program. The actual work of bringing the unemployed in contact with a vacant job which he is qualified to perform, must be accomplished in the local community in which the man and the job are located."

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is engaged in a country-wide campaign designed to place in gainful employment, approximately 500,000 unemployed veterans, Commander Weston said. In the event such employment cannot be found, his organization stands ready to consider a demand for government pensions for these unemployed veterans, he stated.

Drive Seeks To Change Tax Assessment Law

A campaign for changes in the state tax assessment law will be opened by the Association of Municipal Tax Assessors at a dinner meeting in Newark, May 25. Arranging the dinner are Thomas E. Hunt of the Newark tax office, chairman; John Coogan, Belleville; Al Weiler, Maplewood; J. McNair, Elizabeth; J. P. Rigward, Clifton; E. J. Levendusky, Passaic; and Edward Young, Teaneck. Willis Wild of Cranford is president.

Snoop's Snoops

It has been reported on good authority that Frank Smith, Belleville High School baseball and football team coach, is one of the three candidates being seriously considered for the coaching job at the Asbury Park High School. Our informant says that Smith has the inside track, but is being pushed by Coach Arthur Augauer, Garfield High, and by Earl Hoagland, Bloomfield, who was very successful at North Plainfield.

It was reported in this column two weeks ago that School Principal Hugh D. Kittle had practically completed his course in swimming at the South Orange-Maplewood Adult School. We now learn that he has already enrolled in a course on jiu jitsu and wrestling. He feels this will be a valuable asset to him, particularly if it is necessary for him to chase out of the girls' gymnasium any more provokers, such as the one who was forcibly let out of the building just prior to the Easter vacation.

We've got a hunch that coal prices are being elevated. At least it looks so when in the spring the coal men gather to talk over their troubles at a luncheon meeting. Chief Smith, Smith Bros. Coal Co., and Dave Smith, Belleville Coal Co., were seen yesterday noon at the Forest Hill Field Club in serious conference with a number of other Essex County coal dealers. We hope it means a reduction in the price of coal.

A. A. Buckley, president of the Zoning Board, has been seen recently walking the streets in this neighborhood and is feeling fine after recuperating from a severe cold which kept him confined to his home for about four weeks.

From a reliable source it has been reported that Clarence R. Lommer, treasurer of the Viking Tool & Machine Co., was seen the latter part of last week walking around town. What's the matter with you, Larry? Is it in the shoe again? We recommend that you have a daily or according to need, and on that new Packard. It will probably be cheaper in the end. James Lynch, Board of Education member, and his family have just returned from a trip to Bermuda. From all reports it was a pretty rough voyage, but Jim managed to retain his equilibrium during the entire trip.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH
276 Main Street, Passaic
"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 23.
The Golden Text is: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." (Psalms 23:4).
Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory."
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus said substantially, 'He that believeth in me shall not see death.' That is, he who perceives the true idea of Life loses his belief in death. He who has the true idea of good loses all sense of evil, and by reason of this is being ushered into the undying realities of Spirit."

It's Been A Pleasure

During the past few weeks The Belleville News has presented on this page pictures and biographies of most of the leading merchants of Belleville. Through this medium these men and women have become better known to the citizens of the town. I now count it a distinct pleasure to be surrounded by these people in the finale of this enterprise.

These merchants are your neighbors, your friends; they are always on hand to assist you in practically anything you might need. They will give you the cheerful, friendly service you would expect from friends. When you trade with them you help not only them, you also help Belleville.

That is why we say for everything you need TRY BELLEVILLE FIRST.

Founding of the Township

This is the first of a series of seven stories compiled and written by the Federal Writers' Project of New Jersey. These are excerpts from the forthcoming "History of Belleville" prepared by the Town of Belleville to commemorate its centennial.

1839, has been defined as the date on which Belleville was properly a separate existence in its own right. The territory which the new township embraced had been part of the original Newark land owned by Governor Carter. Robert Treat in 1666, stepped toward municipal independence when he made in March 1670. By 1839 Abraham Spear was "as well known in business and political circles throughout the town of Belleville as any other man in it, and he possessed great influence."

The bill Spear proposed was duly referred to the Committee on Corporations, which reported it out on February 15. The bill passed through three readings in the House of Assembly in as many days, and on February 22 the Council as the upper house of the Legislature was then called, passed the act by which the inhabitants of the said township of Belleville shall be, and they hereby are, incorporated by the name of "the inhabitants of the township of Belleville, in the County of Essex," and vested with, and entitled to, all the powers, privileges, authorities and advantages, and such subject to the like regulations and government, as other townships in this state.

However, Belleville was not to enjoy these "powers, privileges, authorities and advantages" immediately. The charter provided "that this act shall take effect on the second Monday in April next, and not before." And the document further ordered the people of Belleville to hold their first annual town meeting at the public house now known as the Pavilion on that day.

History has failed to record the proceeding at the Pavilion on that famous day of April 8, 1839. But the old law of 1798 still prevailed, by which the regulations for the government of townships were codified for the first time. It definitely prescribed the procedure to be followed. These meetings were to make all local ordinances and by-laws "relating to common lands, ponds, destruction of noxious animals, and the making of roads." The members of the township committee were elected at these annual gatherings, beside the town clerk, the tax collector, an overseer of the poor and such other officers "as they judged necessary." Elections were direct and open. The ballot, as yet unknown, was in fact, not introduced until 1844, when a new state constitution was adopted. Consequently, like all earlier townships, Belleville chose its first set of officers by direct vote.

Entitled to take part in the proceedings, either as voters or as aspiring candidates, were "all white males, twenty-one years of age," provided they were either freeholders in the new township, had resided there at least six months and paid their taxes, or had rented "a tenement by the year of the value of five dollars."

The first to be elected at each meeting was a temporary chairman, called the "moderator." It fell to his lot to determine the eligibility and right to vote of all those present, and to conduct the meeting with the proper decorum. In the true meaning of his title, he was to assert a moderating influence whenever vocal counter currents of opinion became a little too vociferous.

There seems to have been some need for such an office. The act of 1798 foresaw the possibility that someone might, "by unnecessary noise or conversation," disrupt the proceedings. The law threatened that if such offense be committed, "then such person shall forfeit one dollar for such offense" or be evicted from the meeting "by some of the constables and detained in confinement until the meeting be ended."

No evidence has come down to our days to prove that the moderator had to use his prerogatives at the Belleville Pavilion. Mounted on a buckboard he would count the lifted hands as each vote was taken. In cases of doubt he would separate the "Ayes" and the "Noes" on opposite sides of the road.

The township committee chosen on this memorable occasion was comprised of John C. Lloyd, Richard G. Humphreys, John Vreeland, Daniel Van Winkle and Abraham Van Riper. Jeremiah T. Brower was elected tax assessor and James G. Alexander as tax collector. Silas Munton became the township's first clerk, and Lloyd and John Williams represented the new township on the Essex County Board of Freeholders.

Thus Belleville became a township in its own right. Dimensions and outlines of the new municipality were well defined by the charter. The boundary line began "at Green island, in the Passaic river near the point of the road leading from Newark to Belleville, called the Gulley." It then ran west to "the northeast corner of the township of Orange, at the great Boiling Spring," and proceeded from there in a generally northern direction toward "the line of Aquackanock township, in the county of Passaic." It then followed the county line eastward to the Passaic and "thence, southerly along the said Passaic river to the beginning."

The territory thus circumscribed included a goodly part of the northern section of Newark and all of the present-day Nutley. Roughly, the Belleville of 1839 had three times the area of the Belleville of today. Its southern portion, sliced off in 1869 when the township of Woodside was created, Woodside took Gulley Road as its southern border and crowded Belleville back to the Second River. When two years later Woodside ceased to be an independent community, most of its territory was absorbed by Newark.

The village of Franklin had been part of Belleville township since 1839. But in 1874 Franklin demanded its own independence and Belleville was forced to cede the northern third of its territory.

Huckleberry Finn Film At Capitol Theatre

Dreamy days on the Mississippi, thrilling adventure, comedy and pathos, written as only Mark Twain could write of them, mark Mickey Rooney's first solo starring vehicle in "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," opening Sunday at the Capitol Theatre for a four-day engagement. The picture has caught the full flavor of Twain's whimsical humor and deep understanding of his "hick" kind. Family Life Problems Today

By Mrs. Julia O. Reiner
Executive Secretary
Community Service Bureau

During the last ten years, with its attendant hard times, social workers have been faced with a tremendous task. Distress was so widespread that our existing agencies could not possibly have met the need.

Public Programs—municipal, state, and federal—came to the rescue. Public welfare agencies were expanded, new ones were created to care for the need that existed. Experienced and trained social workers played some part, though small, in the shaping of these public programs. In the carrying out of the practical details of the job itself, they played a great part. They relieved distress. They gave help when it was most needed. And yet, so far as the public is concerned, they have gone without credit and without praise. Why?

Perhaps, because by nature they are "relatives," which depicts new adventures of the Higgins Menage. The antics of this screen family are side-splitting, but when taken seriously, are rather true-to-life. James Gleason, the head of the family, bears the brunt of his brood's troubles. His wife, Lil, played by his real-life partner, Lucile Gleason, tries earnestly to help her husband, but has the knack of making situations worse than they were originally.

Mrs. Sarah Becker

Funeral services were held Sunday for Mrs. Sarah Becker in her home, 61 Cortlandt street, with Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin presiding. Burial was in King Solomon Cemetery, Clifton.

Mrs. Becker died Friday after a long illness. Born in Poland, she came to this country with her late husband, Peretz Becker, more than forty-five years ago. After a short residence in Newark the family moved to Belleville.

Top Hatters Meet

Miss Marie Mernet, 45 Hornblower avenue, entertained Tuesday night for the members of the "Top Hatters Club." Those present included the Misses Helen Weiss and Mildred Monaghan, Belleville, and the Misses Lorraine Fitzpatrick, Claire Gannon, Lillian Unsworth and Helen Roach, Bloomfield. Plans for their fourth semi-annual card party to be held April 28 at Perri's Restaurant, 25 Bradford place, Newark, were completed. Miss Weiss and Miss Unsworth are in charge of the ticket and advertising committees, respectively. Miss Mernet is general chairman.
