Congratulations Pour In

During Sunday Mayor Williams received over 300 messages of congratulations, in-cluding letters and telegrams from the mayors of six of the twelve other Belleville's in the United States, all of whom had bcen invited to attend the local centennial.

Congratulations on Belleville's 100th anniversary as an independent municipality were sent to Mayor Williams by Mayor Ellenstein.

Recalling that Newark was once a part of Belleville, Ellenstein declared it was with "more than neighborhood gratification that we look upon the tremendous strides the Town of Belleville has made," He also praised Mayor Williams' leadership.

drew almost the entire population of the town to vantage places along the line of march in Washington, Believille and Union avenues. Promptly at 3 o'clock the first of the seven divisions left Grey-lock parkway and Washington avenue to head 10,000 marchers in a galaxy of American flags and color to the reviewing stand at the Town Hall.

No Traffic Snarls

"Detour" traffic signs in Nut-ley, Newark and Bloomfield kept out-of-town motorists from "c.u.tering up the works," according to the police, who handled the situation admirably. Belleville may have failed to display its flags on Flag Day— June 14—but at did itself proud on Sunday, June 18. There were flags and flags and flags. Those who failed to have Old Glory used bunting and Belleville was in true holiday attire.

Cool breezes swept over Clearman Field late in the afternoon as the sun sank in the west after threatening to remain under cover earlier in the day when menacing storm clouds hovered in the sky. As the last of the marching conringents — George A. Younginger Post, V.F.W., and auxiliary — swept into the field with colors flying, shadows were beginning to lengthen. 12,000 had gathered to hear the state of the sta hear the program, which was opened by Rev. Exclusively Yours

ALTHOUGH Newark has gourmet club which drew seventy-five connoisseurs of fine food at its very first dinner-mesting, the old days of super-abundant dinners and superlative dining cut have pretty much vanished from the local scene. There are a few scattered cases of dandies of a double-decade ago who still relish delicate morsels of specially prepared food and served with some of the rare old wine of former years, but such gatherings are rarer than the wines by far.

The Robert Treat's banquet vetcran, Henry Canto, gazes with rapt appreciation when he glimpses one of the spectacles of splendor today for it brings back memories that are never-to-beforgotten-days when men spent hours about a festive board dis-cussing the individual merits of a dozen and one special sauces for their broiled steak, or whether frogs' legs from the midwest were more flavorful than a local or Maryland specie.

Another who remembers well those elaborate champagne-in-the-bucket days is John Tos, of the Condor restaurant and cocktail lounge up in the mountains on Northfield road, Livingfor Galantine of Capon, Filet Mignon Bouquetiere, or Lobster Thermidor as it was prepared in and son are doing fine. the Old Delmonico's. Ah, how few there are today who appreciate to the utmost the supreme culinary achievement in Cold Aspara-gus Vinalgrette at its very best. Messrs. Canto and Tos look upon those who do as superior beings in an age of hamburgers by the sack!

NEW YORK'S World's Fair is probably doing more than probably doing more than Mr. and Mrs. Reginal Hughes, 209 Lake avenue, will become the Americans food-conscious. When Lloyd Robinson, Larry Emmons and one or two other local celebs visited the beautiful French Pavilion the other eve they found people fairly giuttonous over the famous French cuising of the Pavilion, and with Henri Soule there to add a combination of glamour and poise it is hard to believe you are not dining and wining in the very heart of the French Montmarte. Perhaps you will understand how delightful and how popular the French Pavilion can be when advised that reservations for tables are being taken eighteen days in advance!

WEST ORANGE'S Kungsholm on Mt. Pleasant avenue still deals in dinners that would have been fit indeed for the Diamond Jin: Brady clan, and the elite of Oranges and surrounding countryside are making it a steady headquarters when they feel the first hunger pangs for really good food. Besides, the Kungsholm has added two important innovations — the famed Axel Anderson as Maitre d', and a television machine which has been operating successfully for several days and nights. ---oOo-

BELLEVILLE'S CENTENNIAL

Belleville last week was honored when officials in Nutley and Bloomfield through this newspaper extended congratulations and best wishes to our town. What impresses most is the fact that Nutley extended a hand of greeting. North of us has been looked upon as rival territory. Belleville and Nutley stood ready to fight at the drop of a hat. How silly. Nutley has made a gracious gesture. Belleville should feel clated. Perhaps this fight at the drop of a hat idea is a good one—in athletics, civic spirit and all sorts of competition. But, let the fight be clean and sportsmanlike. Nutley officials have shown a splendid spirit. Belleville officialdom would act likewise if Nutley had a centennial celebration. By all means, let's continue this natural rivalry, but let's continue it in the shake-hand method after the battle is over. Nutley extended its hand in greeting. Ours is right out there to grasp it and say: "Thanks, neighbors." To Bloomfield, also, goes our hearty thanks for this fine spirit of fellowship. May both of these communities continue to prosper.

THE INVISIBLE COLLECTOR

The old adage gloomily opines that "nothing is certain except death and taxes.' Many persons have questioned the second "certainty," pretending that they pay no taxes because they own no property and pay no income tax.

Actually, though, about the only individuals who have escaped that second "certainty" are those who have run afoul of the first — death.

And it seems strange indeed that, in the face of all facts to the contrary, any American is able to deceive himself into thinking he avoids taxes, for everywhere the individual citizen goes, an invisible tax collector is as close on his heels as his own shadow. In fact, out of every dollar gathered in by government, almost sixty cents is in the form of nidden taxes, mainly paid by people with small incomes.

Mr. Average Citizen pays the money out a few cents at a time, as an added charge on virtually everything he buys, seldom realizing how rapidly the total mounts up into dollars and keeps him from buying more of the good things of life that he would like to.

Since taxes are mostly invisible today, it is hard to make them a burning issue in public affairs. But with their burden constantly mounting, the average American is beginning to reach the stage where he wishes devoutly that not only would the collector become a little more "invisible," but some of the taxes themselves would also "do the vanishing act."

DECREASING RELIEF COSTS

From the State Department of Financial Assistance comes the report that relief costs in April decreased 12,1 per cent as compared with March, 1939, and 17.3 per cent as compared with April, 1938. This is the third consecutive month that relief costs have been lower than the preceding month.

From the present outlook, it is extremely likely that relief costs will continue to decline. For one thing, employment gains have cut down demands for relief. According to late reports, employment in April was stepped up twenty per cent over March. If this upcurve continues, it will eliminate much of the fundamental cause of unemployment distress. Private employment was the dominant factor in the decline in relief costs in April. Investigation of local relief administration is expected to become increasingly important as a means of bringing lower relief costs. Revelation of local administrative irregularities in a number of New Jersey's communities has already made deep inroads on relief costs in those places, and has had noticeable effect upon total state costs. Impetus will be given this phase of the relief problem by the legislative probe of relief which will soon be undertaken. With able leadership, and unrelenting action, this probe should delve deeply into the affairs of local relief offices, and clean up every possible case of administrative laxity and

Prospects that relief costs will continue to decline should dominate any plans by the state to supply relief funds. In opposing attempts to issue new bonds or to create new taxes for relief purposes, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association has asserted repeatedly that such on approach is essentially

When every possible angle of the relief situation has been thoroughly checked, when the relief chiselers, and inefficient local administrators have been eliminated, and all costs have been reduced to the minimum, the state will be in a better position to know the true status or relief needs.

Any attempts to pass a law to hold a referendum for a bond issue, or to create new taxes, under the pretense that they are nccessary for relief, must be firmly opposed by the taxpayers. Since funds are available without resorting to either of these courses, it is plain that new revenue is sought only to appease the demands of free spendersthose who want to involve the state in extensive spending projects.

The state cannot afford to embark on a lavish spending spree. New bonds would increase the cost of carrying the bonded debt which is already far too high. New taxes would place an unendurable additional burden upon the taxpayers, already staggering under the weight of taxation.

For the present, the state must avoid any course that is contrary to the taxpayer's welfare. Through economies and diversions, sufficient funds can be provided to care for present relief needs. Future needs are now unknown and unpredictable. When they are known will be the time to make provisions

RELAXATION

When we see so many people working at high tension, passing sleepless nights in planning for the next days work, worrying, fretting, wearing themselves to nervous wrecks, we envy the person who, once in | no political leaders to dictate on a blue moon knows how to relax and take advantage of life. He or she, as the case may be, performs tasks with strict application and then completely drops all worry pertaining to them. So much efficiency saved for the morrow. Doing things over and over in the mind, wasting energy in thinking about duties awaiting us, dreading munity, with each citizen by exthe doing of future tasks, cannot but take toll in tired bodies, taut nerves and worried citizenship, and his American minds. Animals even should teach us a lesson in relaxation. Look at the dog and America" by Mrs. Alethea, Strucat, tired after a run or frolic, throw them- | ble Smith, who was presented a | selves down before the fire in perfect relaxation of graceful bodies. Weary humans would do well to copy them.

After all the person who knows how to relax has the advantage in life. If one can only perform tasks and then completely drop all worry regarding them he is conqueror not only of the tasks but of himself. It is this repeated thinking about things to be done, wasting unnecessary energy and dreading the doing that wastes vital force. If we can conserve our energy by concentration in action, then a few moments of relaxation, a sort of mental composure, realizing that only one thing can be done at a time, we shall have fresh energy for the next task. Also try to refrain from taking mental worries to our rest at night. We just simply weaken mental and physical powers to cope with problems by intruding them on "that sleep that knits up the raveled sleeve of Care." We should all place the old English motto over our desk, "Do ye nexte thynges." If followed it would answer many a harassed question in these days of unrest.

AUTOMOBILE-MINDED

Americans travelled 250,000,000,000 miles by motor vehicles last year, according to the figures estimated by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads. This, indeed, is an amazing total. No other nation in the world has the roads necessary to carry this traffic. No country has the automobile industry needed to produce this number of cars. The American race is indeed automobile-minded.

WELL DONE, BOYS

Belleville police, augmented by officers from other towns, did a splendid job last Sunday at the Flag Day and Centennial celebration in handling the largest crowd ever to invade the town. There was nary a mishap and traffic moved without interruption. Hats are off to Police Chief George Spatz, Captains Smith and Anderson and the boys for handling the situation so well. Mayor's Greetings

"On behalf of our citizens and Board of Commissioners, I desire to express thanks to all officials and members of Essex County Council of Veterans of Foreign Wars, to citizens serving on our Centennial Committee, to donors whose contributions have enabled us to properly effect the work or recognizing Flag Day and the anniversary of Belleville's 100th birthday," said the Mayor.

To those citizens who during the past 100 years have contributed to the social, cultural and physical development of our town, we, who are privileged to enjoy life as residents of this community today, express grati-

"the Calling America coun'ry on the face of the globe," he declared: "Freedom, liberty liberty, corperation, progress, peace, prosperity are free under our gove.nment, but they are free only to those who desire them and deserve them by carrying those ideals into their daily thought and their daily acts and their daily contacts with their fellows. "Democracy and liberty cannot be shoved down the threat of people by force. Democracy is not something you plan; it is something you live. Liberty is not something you swallow; it is something you do. No man and no people can be free unless they desire freedom and deserve free

Our chief duty, he said, is not to "make the world safe for democracy" but to "make America safe for democracy.

"We must stamp out from every section of this land of ours every un-American influence that would overturn our cherished thaditions, undermine the pillars of our constructional republic and finally enslave our children and our children's children.'

State Senator Homer Zink of this town, commended the town, "because, at a time when intolerance rages throughout the world its people are showing the finest spirit of tclerance they ever shown" and warned that "America is the last bulwark of liberty in the world today. Its flag means more than it has ever meant before.

"Intolerance Too Close"

"While we sit here," said Zink "a great clipper ship is flying over the Atlantic. It will prove that Europe is only twenty-four hours from America. That is a great scientific accomplishment, but it is fraught with danger too. We must keep Europe's intolerance more than twenty-four hours away from America. Th way to do that is to erect intellectual defenses of freedom that cannot be overthrown."

Henry A. Geigold, state com-mander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, spoke of America as "a place for one flag, one language and good govenment.

Police Chief George Spatz had the traffic situation well in hand. Cap ams Kenneth Smith and Robert Anderson were in charge of the actual centrol and had no accidents or untoward occurrancis to report. With 30,000 odd percons involved in one way or another in the parade there were no traffic jams.

Beneville's regulars were augmented by for y police from Nutky, B.oomfield, Newark, Harri-North Arlington, Lyndhurst and Hudson County Boulevard. There were fifteen chancemen, as wen, and several firemen and can men on duty.

Tot Lost

A tiny three-year-old blonde tot became lost in the tangle of humanity at Joralemon street and was picked up by Smith, who placed the child in the sidecar of his motorcycle. She was content to ride there, but pressing other business precluded and she was deposited at headquarters where Court Clerk Fred B. Handlon took her in tow. He purchased a handful of lollypops, an ice cream cone and soda and took the child to Washington avenue to view the parade.

The child's mother, who lives known her loss to Smith as he scooted about town. "Your child is at headquarters," smilingly Smith reassured the mother. "You can reclaim her there.'

Although there was little need for them first-aid stations were set up at the field manned by Boy and Girl Scouts and the town nurses. Patrolman John Monaghan was in charge of this fea-et of the Lesson-Sermon in al Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 25.

The Golden Text is: "Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing, O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted." Hall.

(Isaiah 49:13). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life.'

(Revelation 21: 2, 27). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text-"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "This spiritual, Baker Eddy: Holy habitation has no boundary nor limit, but its four cardinal points are: first, the Word of Life, Truth, and Love; second, the Christ, the spiritual idea of God; third, Christianity, which is the outcome of the divine Principle of the Christ-idea in Christian history; fourth, Christian Science, which today and forever interprets this great example and the great Exemplar" (p.577).

MORTGAGE MONEY Wm. ABRAMSON, Treas.

500 Washington Ave., Belleville, N. J.

By Joe Duval

WELL, yesterday Summer blew into town in the arms of a sticky heat wave. As we determined for the umpteenth time to throw out all our neckties and tear the collars off all our shirts we started wondering about the sagacity of the men who forced the closing of the pool at Camp Carragher. It's all very well to sit down calmly in the dead of winter and, between chattering teeth, say we can't afford a pool and that we don't need one anyway. But it's a different matter when the winds stop blowing and the mercury rises.

We couldn't help thinking how foolish to have all the necessary equipment for caring for the young citizens of Belleville during the trying summer months and still not be able to use it. Those responsible to the contract of the sible heretofore for running the camp and pool have washed their hands of the whole business, leaving no one interested in whether or hands of the whole business, leaving no one interested in whether or not anything ever happens there again.

No, we shouldn't say "no one," for there are a few besides the children themselves. This column knows of four or five young fellows in town who are more than willing to move out to the camp grounds and live there for the summer simply to obviate the cost of watchmen and lifeguards. They are willing to donate their time and convenience to the cause of healthful recreation for the children of Belleville during the summer.

Unfortunately there are few who are at the present time in a like frame of mind. Many there are who like to wring their hands and exclaim in accents, of anguish: "Something should be done." But it is next to impossible to get them to stir themselves long enough it is next to impossible to get them to stir themselves long enough to actually start any machinery in motion.

Instead they are perfectly willing to let their children or their neighbors' children go somewhere out of town to get the swim that every child will get some way or other, or let them

Specifically and practicably, what could be done since the Board of Recreation has no money to open either camp or pool? We acknowledge the lack of means for running the camp this summer. We do not believe that it is impossible to open the pool.

With expenses cut to a minimum and the public spirit of the town aroused, it would be a comparatively simple matter to get the need in shape and keep it open all summer. Cost of watchmen and swim in the Passaic.

pool in shape and keep it open all summer. Cost of watchmen and lifeguards would be eliminated by the offer of the generous young men who will donate their summer. Cost of sterilization of the water as well as the cost of the water itself would be small. Minimum sanitary facilities could be maintained at very little expense.

Funds could be raised in several ways. Donations of small amounts would be cheerfully given in many quarters; a small fee from each bather would cover the rest.

It is time we stopped snipping at one another and started working for the common good. Forget differences and strive for the welfare of the community. We are not a mass of heterogeneous units, we are a group of human beings mutually interdependen. That is not socialism, it is age-old Christian charity.

Epistle From The West

TN THE mailbag the other day was a novel-length epistle from Bernie Barnett, Bellsville's most promising gift to organized baseball since the days of the old Woodstocks. Bernie reports his condidition as excellent, 187 pounds of brawn covering that six-foot-plus

Of the 18 pitchers in Akron's training camp, some of whom had two and three years of experience, Barnett was one of the six retained when the season started.

six retained when the season started.

He had to work hard to stay with the squad: "I pitched batting practice whenever I could and did some side work to keep in trim. I pitched six innings in practice games against Canton... Finally our staff was cut to six. I was included."

His first two victories were won in the role of relief pitcher. Since then he has started four times, against Charleston, Erie and Youngstown, and has won all four. That makes his record to date: won 6, lost 0. He is batting 250, with four hits in 16 times up.

Says he to conclude his letter: "I never regretted the day I signed that piece of paper at the Bears' stadium. I love this racket, it was my life ambition. You gave me my start; now it's up to me."

IT WILL take 400 miles of racing before the winner of the Langhorne classic will be decided come next Fourth of July. The feature race itself is only 250 miles, but the extra 150 will be needed to qualify the final few who will battle it out for the honors.

On qualifying days (the next two Sundays) ten heats of ten miles each will be run off. Then there are the two consolation races before the feature on the Fourth. The Hankinson premoters are crying to build the race up as the "Indianapolis of the East." If they get half of Indianapolis" 150,000 spectators they'll consider themselves Pennsylvania Grover Whalens, but they'll probably come pretty close.
