TOWN TO PRESERVE BEAUTY SPOT ON RIVER

"Hot Dog" Stands And Signs Preclude
A "Coney Island"

Hot dog stands along the town's newest beauty spot, continuation of the Essex County Park along Mill and Main streets, will be scarcer than the proverbial hen's teeth if the Board of Commissioners has its way.

Declaring they had no intention of seeing the area turned into a "second Coney Island" with the erection of large unsightly stands and signs advertising that gustatory delight, members of the commission granted a restaurant license to Mrs. Anna Rajca for 200 Mill street with the provision that sale of food be confined to within the building and the understanding that no large signs will be erected.

"We have nothing against the hot dog," Mayor Williams declared. "If it is good enough for King George it is certainly good enough for us. But, the county and town have spent a lot of money to improve and beautify the area and it would be a shame if the section was permitted to develop as have the streets in some neighboring municipalities."

Other members of the board echo his sentiments. Before granting the license Mayor Williams, leader of the move against desecration of the section, instructed Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan to make a study of existing ordinances to determine whether the town has any control over the size of signs. While on the subject of signs the board instructed Keenan to consult with A.B.C. Commissioner Burnett to see if there is any law controlling unsightly signs and with Motor Vehicle Commissioner Magee to point out the danger of red neon signs. Members of the board said the neon signs conflict with traffic lights and confuse motorists.

Following complaints that the recent carnival in the Silver Lake section left the grounds in an unsightly condition, the board instructed Keenan to prepare an ordinance designed to keep carnivals out of town. Keenan said he doubted that could be done except by setting a prohibitive daily license fee.

He suggested $250-a-day as license fee but the board felt this was not enough and instructed him to set the price at $1,000 a day. Carnival operators, in addition, will have to post a $30,000 indemnity bond. Fairs sponsored by church groups and held in a permanent structure will be exempted from the ordinance.

A request of four Indians to set up a miniature teepee town in Main street was rejected by the commission. William Sesh of 96 William street, who represented the Indians, said their activities would include exhibitions and teaching of archery and educational show.

The Indians, members of the Winnabago Tribe, hail from a Wisconsin reservation. They appeared in the centennial parade in full regalia. In turning down the request the commission pointed out that the site of the proposed camp is in a strictly residential zone and is not in line with the board's viewpoint on the development of the area.

Saturday Bank Closing

Starting this Saturday and continuing until the last Saturday in August local banks will be closed. To accommodate patrons the banks will be open from 6 until 8 o'clock Monday evenings.

BOARD PREPARES TO PURCHASE FIRE ENGINE

Ordinance Adopted By Town Appropriating
$11,100 For Truck

The Town Commission Tuesday night adopted on final reading an ordinance appropriating $11,000 for purchase of a new fire engine. The board will meet with representatives of the various engine manufacturing companies, July 6, to discuss the merits of the engines.

The board also adopted four ordinances calling for street improvements in Fairway avenue and water laterals in Spinger street and Riverdale avenue at a total cost of $15,500. The work will be done by the WPA with the town contributing $5,100 as its share of the cost.

The ordinances include construction of an eight-inch sanitary sewer, seven-inch pavement, curbs and sidewalks and a six-inch water main in Fairway avenue. In connection with the Fairway avenue development Emanuel De Noia, local builder, requested the board for permission to build houses with only a fourteen-foot set-back along that street. His request was turned over to the Zoning board for action.

Members of the board intimated that the street work will not be started if the Zoning Board turns down DeNoia's request. They intimated also that they were against the proposed set-back. The board authorized sale of two lots in Fairway place for which they received an offer of $1,200. Several years ago the land was assessed at $2,700 but because of the extremely slow real estate market the town has not been able to sell the land. To get the land back into the ratables the board voted to hold an auction sale with $1,200 as the minimum price on the property.

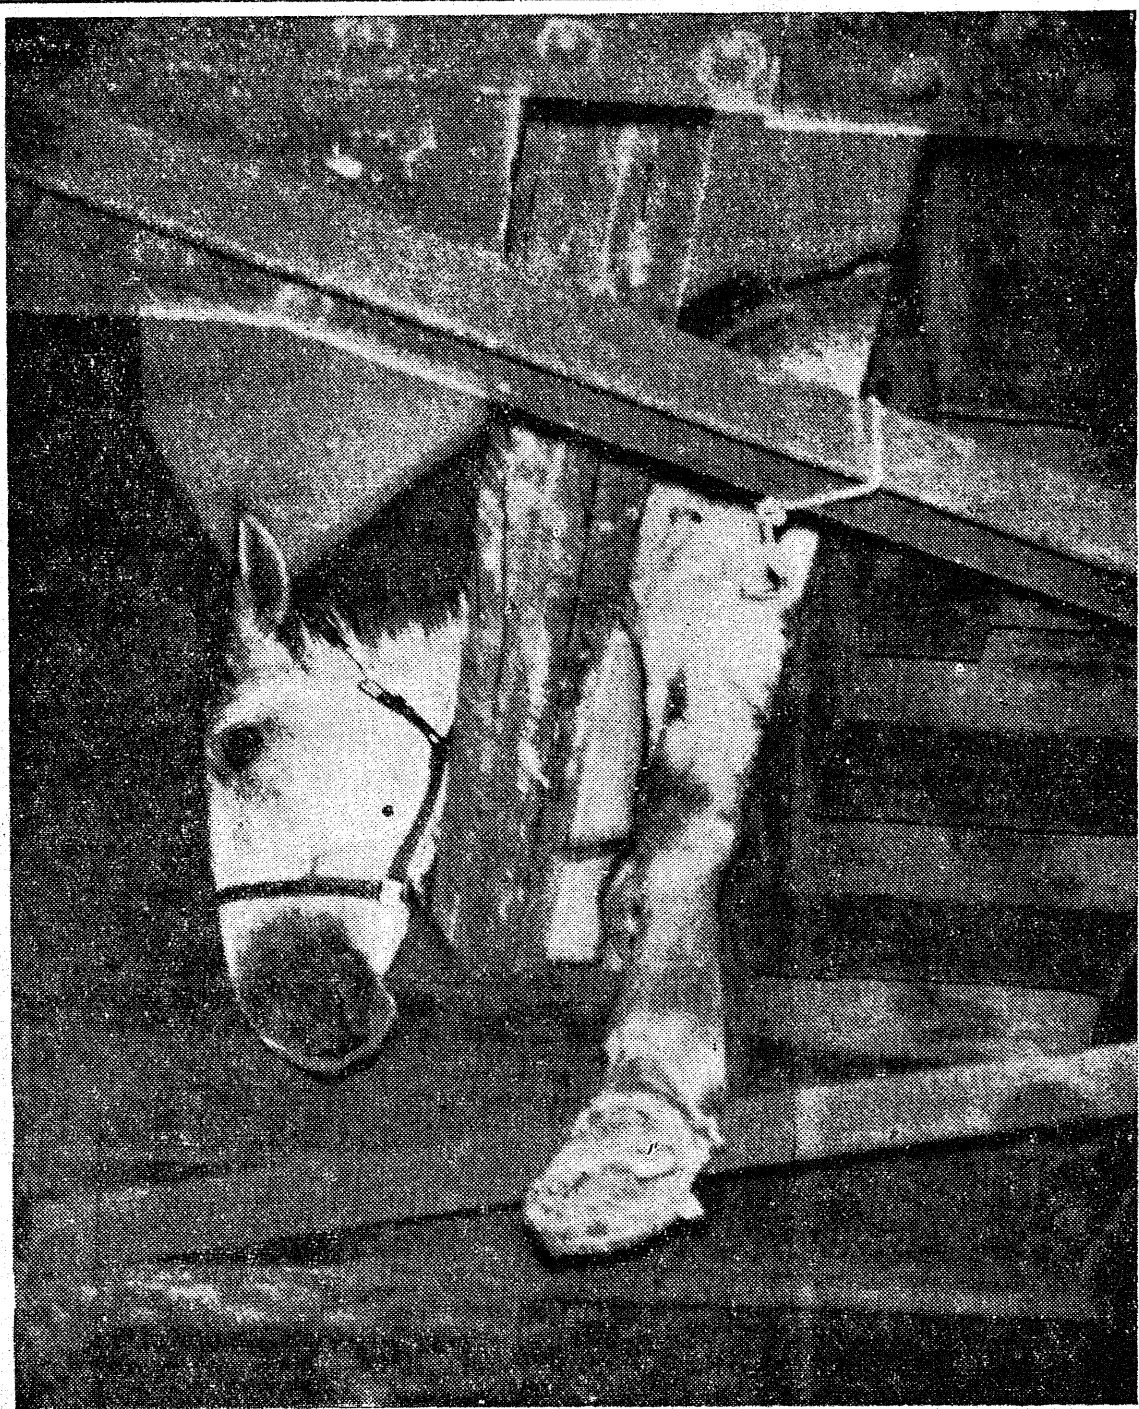

Bus Salesmen Protest

A petition was received from fifty-three Public Service bus salesmen protesting the application of the Garden State Bus Company for permission to operate a line from Belleville to Bloomfield center past the site of the proposed Jergens plant. The salesmen said the proposed route would result in excessive service and possible curtailing of their employment. The petition was filed.

The board adopted a resolution objecting to Senate Bill 355, which provides that no new offices or positions could be created or salary increases given without the prior approval of Commissioner of Local Government Darrow. The board concurred in the opinion of the Millburn Township Committee that the bill would seriously violate the principle of Home Rule.

Following the regular commission meeting the board met as the Excise Board and renewed thirty-nine tavern and five retail distribution liquor licenses. Only two objections, both of which were directed against the Chateau Bar and Grill at 170 Washington avenue, which did not apply for a renewal, were received by the board.

"Sugar" Was Reason For No Milk

Fleeing from the farm of Andrew Benenatto, 302 North Belmont avenue, Silver Lake, "Sugar," a 1,200-pound gray horse started for the city. "Sugar" evidently became tired of hauling a milk wagon while grazing in the pasture near the Erie Railroad at North Sixth street and Heller parkway and headed for the railway span over the old Morris Canal. Boys tried unsuccessfully to stone her back. "Sugar" did well for about ten feet when her hind ones slipped between the ties while her fore legs were over the edge, one wedged between a girder. Boys, fearful that a train might arrive, summoned police, while "Sugar" kicked and struggled. It took two hours for radio patrolmen from the Newark police emergency squad to rescue "Sugar." Red flares were touched off at both ends of the trestle, which is on the Orange branch of the railroad. Lieutenant Sachse called Sergeant Roselle of the railroad police at Hoboken and the train dispatcher was notified.

In the meantime, Sergeant Tucker and the emergency squad worked diligently. A freight train for Jersey City appeared, but the crowds yelled and the engineer backed the train. Tucker needed planks to provide footing for Patrolmen Kossup, Grelich, Teets and Cullen, and an emergency call was issued for the planks and six flood lights. Police installed a derrick and lifted "Sugar," but were unable to extricate her. They lowered her because her iron shoes were impeding the rescue.

Shoes Removed

Police took the truck underneath the trestle. The horse was fifteen feet above. She was exhausted and once near suffocation. The horse was released and dragged ten feet to the end of the span. Then "Sugar" was returned to her owner.

Former Belleville Man Starts Consulting Chemical Lab

The construction in progress today on a consulting chemical laboratory at 153 S. Doheny drive, Beverly Hills, is the fulfillment of a twenty-year-old wish on the part of Dr. J. Ehrlich, Beverly Hills, formerly Belleville, to carry on his chemical research in California.

"This laboratory will be devoted to research work on modern synthetic organic problems, including those relating to synthetic pharmaceuticals, aromatics, and organic insecticides," said Ehrlich. The building was designed from plans by W. F. Ruck, architect, and Zara Witkin, civil engineer, of Los Angeles, who are supervising the construction. The contractor is George Holstein of Beverly Hills. The structure will be divided into two parts. The front half will contain an office and library, and the rear half will be taken up entirely by the laboratory.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Weldon Melroy, 51 Smallwood avenue, spent the weekend with friends at Saylor's Lake, Pa.

Mrs. Joseph L. Jordan, 25 Norton street, was hostess Friday evening for The Bethany Choir. After the rehearsal refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Miss Mildred Doran, 11 Continental avenue, left last week for a three weeks stay with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Garry, Sea Girt.

School Board Acts Tonight On Janitors' Re-Appointment

Hood And Two Others Are Retired By Local Officials

The Board of Education will continue this evening a meeting adjourned from Monday to re-appoint janitors for one year, starting July 1. There was considerable debate Monday evening at the board meeting as to whether it was necessary to make the re-appointments at this time. In the light of a recent ruling of the State Department of Education in the William "Doc" Hood case that employment beyond the end of the last appointment was admittedly a contract for another year caused the board to call tonight's confab.

John Hood and John Fullerton were dropped as janitors in School No. 4 because of age, and named as watchmen in School No. 8 and the high school at salaries of $15 a week each. The janitorial vacancies were not filled.

Hood Retired

Hood was retired about a week ago at a special meeting of the board, a member said today, thus ending talk that the schools might appeal an adverse decision by the state department.

According to State Commissioner of Education Elliott recently it was decided that the board should reappoint Hood back salary from August 1, 1938, to date, because the board had acted improperly in dismissing Hood on July 26, 1938.

Hood, a Spanish-American War veteran, was appointed a school employee in March, 1920. His dismissal in 1938 followed a report from Dr. Bryon Haiman, superintendent of Essex Mountain Sanatorium, that Hood had tuberculosis and should not work near children. As Hood was entitled to six weeks' sick leave and two weeks' vacation at the time of his ouster, termination of his salary was set for the end of July, 1938.

Hood's Stand

Hood in his appeal contended that as he was technically a school board employee in July, the first month of the 1938-39 school year, he was entitled to salary for the full school year. He further contended the Board of Education had not applied for a pension for him and gave him improper notice of dismissal.

Elliott said Hood is entitled to his pay, $1,200 a year, until the end of the current school year unless his services are terminated "legally" before that time. He said it was the duty of the Belleville board to apply for a pension for Hood.

The following were appointed to the medical department for the 1939-40 school year: Dr. Daniel E. Kavanaugh, senior physician, salary $1,000; Dr. Barney Schaefer, junior physician, $750; Miss Essie Alexander, medical clerk, $700; Mrs. Alice Mayer, dental clerk, $600; Miss Muriel Loose, high school nurse, $1,000.

Plans of the board to locate a pistol range in the basement of the proposed addition to School No. 3 were opposed by Private George A. Younginger, Post, V.F.W., in a letter from H. J. Scott, adjutant. As told in the Belleville News last week the Post at a recent meeting had gone on record as being unalterably opposed to location of the range in the school building.

Declaration of Independence

The Declaration of Independence was adopted by the Continental Congress, at Philadelphia, on July 4, 1776, and was signed by John Hancock as President and by Charles Thompson as Secretary. It was published first on July 6 in the Pennsylvania Evening Post. A copy of the Declaration, engrossed on parchment, was signed by members of Congress on and after August 2, 1776.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident—that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operations till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for the naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judicial powers.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitutions, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us;

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states;

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world;

For imposing taxes on us without our consent;

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury;

For transporting us beyond seas, to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies;

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments;

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries, to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executors of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections among us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Now we are warranted in attention to our British brethren. We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarlike jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of concinnity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them as we hold the rest of mankind—enemies in war—in peace, friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world, for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly published and declare that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

Exclusively Yours

THE glamour girl of whom we have heard so much has been augmented in local circles by her male compatriot, namely, the glitter boy, of whom we've heard so little. Nevertheless, the glitter boy really exists, at least to the same questionable extent that the glamour girl does. But remember, all is not gold that glitters.

Almost every social set has its No. 1 Glitter Boy, with half a dozen runners-up. They are the young, and (sometimes) handsome eligibles. An aura of sophistication surrounds them, and in the night spots they are the main attraction for the glamour damsels who are similarly encompassed with blase nonchalance. It is all very amusing to the casual observer. So let us accept the glitter boy along with the glamour girl as a part of local young society, 'cause he's really here!

DIARY AFTER DARK:—Saturday evening at Livingston's fascinating Condor which has been winning unprecedented but well-deserved popularity these last few weeks. Delightful dinner in the open-air pavilion with the cool mountain air whipping up appetite and appreciation for the exquisite surrounding countryside. While from the adjoining main dining salon comes the sort dance music of Eddie Clifford and his boys.

SUNDAY to West Orange's popular Kungsholm where Axel Anderson and Einar welcome you to this really exclusive mountain rendezvous. Here is food, plus service, par excellence, dignity, grace and sophistication—with television broadcasts offered for good measure. Easily reached by motor or bus, the Kungsholm is, without question, one of New Jersey's finer dining places.

MONDAY to Donato Brothers' Colonial Inn, where, at an early hour, on the stillest night, life nights, a score or more are dancing as dinner watch from ringside tables. Later, the usual high-standard floor show which has made Colonial famous, many parties motoring over from Manhattan, not once, but regularly, for the dinners, too, are really elaborate.

TUESDAY (before dark) to Alderney Dairy's Brooklawn model farm on Route 10, Morris Plains, where we were shown a champion of her brood, Haddon's Bess, a two-year-old Guernsey cow, who, in a 365-day period produced 9,785.8 pounds of milk and 492.8 pounds of butter fat, and we must say she did look proud, and well she should. After dark to Robert Treacy's cocktail lounge where Arthur, Alphonse, Paul, Jack and Walter make things so pleasant for you.

WEDNESDAY, off to the World's Fair again via De Camp bus because of the luxurious comfort of the line's new coaches, and back to the mountains by dusk and to the Condor once more to meet Jack Hammill, former local department store executive, now spreading the merits of Dermetics beauty products by word and deed, not merely talking for the products, but eulogizing them.

THURSDAY. Another we meet in the better dining spots is the successful Morris Wallman, state manager for United Casualty Co.'s Hospitalization policy, which, he says is meeting with great success throughout the State, having passed, by far, its quota for the first half of the year. In the evening to Manhattan's Roosevelt Grill, and later, to the Diamond Horseshoe and Manny's.

BY THIS weekend, chances are, Alderney's new Milk Bar will be open and we assure you it will surpass anything of the kind you have ever seen. Drop off for a drink of the rich golden-tinted Alderney Guernsey milk from the adjoining model farm. Look for the blue and white Alderney signs along Route 10 and then for the silo which is the beacon for the milk bar. Alderney's Milk Bar is a "must" stop for all motorists.

Scout Activities

Seven Boy Scouts of Troop No. 392 left Recreation House last Friday evening and pitched tents under the trees at Scout Acres as night fell. On Saturday morning all were up at daybreak to the sizzling fragrance of bacon and eggs.

Making an early start, five scouts, under the leadership of John Petro, completed the fourteen-mile hike. In the afternoon swim at Sokol Lake, David Roth completed his first class tests by passing the 50-yard swim. If Andy DeNaria had not absent-mindedly forgotten that it was a test and so stood up ten yards from the finish, he would have passed, too.

Sunday morning John Metzler passed first class semaphore; George Hart, nature; Al Byrnes and Vince Bucca, cooking. The group then hiked over to Cook's Lake for a swim, rather chilly under high wind—and back again to Scout Acres. After lunch, camp was struck, packs made up, the camp-site policed and inspected, and at 4 o'clock two carloads of tired scouts left camp after one of the best hikes of the season. Present were Vincent Bucca, Alfred Byrnes, Andy DeNaria, George Hart, John Metzler, David Roth, John Petro, with F. W. James, assistant scoutmaster, and Bill Park, scoutmaster, in charge.

HOLIDAY CASUALTIES

Past experience has taught police and hospital personnel to recognize the great increase of traffic volume on holidays goes hand in hand with an increase in motor accidents. To them goes the job of caring for the dead and injured on the highways. Their fearful anticipation may appear unnecessarily grim to the casual holiday observer.

Yet it's based upon the sound grounds of facts presented by past holidays. The lesson they have learned might well be learned by all motorists. If it could be appreciated by motorists generally, merely from the experience of others, the holiday casualty list would be cut to fractions.

SCHOOL'S OUT

School is out and happy days of summer are ahead. But there are tragic days ahead, too. With many thousands of children playing in the streets and romping at the beaches the habits of carelessness and recklessness will bring about a severe death toll. Let parents impress upon the children the dangers to be encountered on the streets and require motorists to show greater caution, and the summer days will not be marred by the number of tragedies that have occurred in the past.

DEDICATED REVENUES

To attain the greatest possible economy in government—to operate at low cost without sacrificing essential governmental services—it is necessary that all funds be appropriated carefully and wisely to assure that every dollar expended will be utilized where it is most needed.

This is especially true during times of fiscal difficulty—when deficits are threatened, when revenues decrease, or when extraordinary expenditures (such as unemployment relief) are demanded. Sorely pressed for funds to meet current costs, officials must avoid new taxes or new bonds by eliminating, curtailing or postponing those activities which are not urgently necessary and by directing available funds to the points where they will do the greatest amount of good.

Applied to the State government, this policy would be greatly facilitated if all state revenue went into the Treasury as free treasury funds to be expended only under regular appropriations. When the Legislature goes to the State Treasury for funds, it discovers that it is made up of many individual accounts. These represent revenues from several sources such as motor fuel taxes, railroad taxes, special license fees, etc., and dedicated to specific uses such as highway construction, teachers' pensions, retirement of bonds, etc. These funds can be expended for no other purposes except through diversion by legislative enactment.

So extensive has become the procedure of dedicating funds that about three-fourths of the expenditures of the state are made from revenues which have been dedicated for specific purposes. The remaining free treasury funds constitute the only source of revenues to meet the authorizations of the annual appropriations act.

Thus an absurd situation is created. This year, for example, the legislative appropriations committee spent six weeks, working several days each week, to examine and approve the many items in the State budget. Yet the same committee took less than three hours to review and approve the highway budget which is financed from dedicated revenues of the motor fuel tax, and which alone is approximately as large as the State budget.

Faults in the practice of dedicating funds are readily apparent. A dedicated revenue becomes a continuing appropriation of varying amount. When the revenue increases, the agency benefited by the fund receives more money to spend, and likewise when the revenue decreases the agency has less to expend. This is, of course, a haphazard way to determine appropriations, since only by mere coincidence would the funds exactly meet the requirements of the particular agency.

As a result some departments are fattened with excessive funds, which they are sure to spend, even if they exceed reasonable requirements. Another result is that only a minor proportion of the State's income is available to meet the authorizations in the annual appropriations act.

The State government is intended to operate for the benefit of the public in general. This purpose can best be served if all funds are handled in a uniform manner, and are subjected to unvarying scrutiny and deliberation. To attain this, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association urges that all dedicated funds (except debt service upon existing bond issues) be eliminated and public revenues from all sources be paid into the Treasury of the State and distributed under regular appropriations.

SUMMER'S HERE

A lot of us have been asking when summer would come and we had our wish answered last Thursday. At that time the season we have longed for dawned. We are all hoping for the best, but all have different ideas about just what the best should be. Many want heat, but few want heat above 90. Many want cool nights but not cool enough to force us to sleep under blankets.

Let us make up our minds right now that whatever summer brings in the way of weather, few will be exactly satisfied. Having made up our minds to accept any climate doled out to us, let us stop fuming about it. If we take what comes, we shall be only acting sensibly. After all, despite the tremendous strides of science, weather is one thing in the world we have never been able to guide. Control of it has baffled men for centuries and probably will for ages to come.

We in Belleville, come what may, should be grateful for the climate we have. For certainly our weather has played a large part in making us the healthy, active, pleasant pioneering people we are.

GASOLINE TAXES

Last year motorists of the country paid taxes on gasoline consumption that reached a net total of $766,000,000. To this figure might well be added registration fees and various other charges levied against the motorist, such as fees for permits, certificates of title and other charges made possible under the laws of the different states.

The figures, compiled by the Bureau of Public Roads in Washington, serve to show the tremendous taxation burden that is shouldered annually by the motorist. Without this source of revenue, our economic plight would be sad, indeed. Gasoline in our car of war might well be considered the life blood of a modern nation.

CURRENT EVENTS

Being a press agent to a post office would seem a rather empty task. Nevertheless, the Post Office Department in Washington has its corps of publicity experts. So it is that the public is informed of these postal developments which should not pass without editorial comment:

The department has perfected a new automatic mailing machine which will soon be installed in various post offices. A letter can be dropped in the machine, along with the proper amount of postage money, and the letter is automatically stamped. No technological unemployment among postmasters is anticipated, for there'll still have to be somebody to read the postal cards and run political errands.

Also the department announces that the volume of mail has been on the increase. The figures show an increase every year for the last three years. There is no way of telling why, but could it be that more people are writing to Washington about taxes and the National debt?

TIMES CHANGE

How times have changed. Some 70,000 Boy Scouts will gather today at the World's Fair. If such a meeting happened ten years ago it would probably be addressed by some war hero, old Indian scout or woodlore expert. The meeting today will be talked to by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-men. The selection of such a speaker is a good one. To the youth of America, with all the glamour that a G-man connotes, Hoover symbolizes the conquering hero of America's battle with crime. His presence and words should be an inspiration to the army of fine, clean, active boys who are leaders in the youth movements of their districts throughout the nation.

WHAT DOES IT GET ME?

THIS WEEK

by "Guardian"

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

Lots of things to think about this week.

And manifestly the guiding spirits of the New Deal have been doing a lot of thinking too for the country now has been presented with a new Federal Loan Agency to loan some eight hundred and seventy million dollars in the next twelve months and guarantee running into billions of dollars in the next several years.

The theory behind this move is said to be that many businesses cannot expand because they cannot borrow working capital and that since some businesses cannot borrow from normal lending agencies sufficient working capital to permit them to operate and expand and thus increase employment, that it is essential that the Government make provision for loaning money to these businesses.

That sounds all very interesting but it comes very close to the socialistic doctrine of State capitalism and in my judgment it is a wholly fallacious argument. The banks are bulging with money for which they cannot find profitable use. Here in New Jersey we have seen in the past month a demonstration of that with the banks reducing the interest paid on savings accounts of any amount to one per cent per annum—a step, according to a reported statement from the State Commissioner of Banking—which was necessary in the interest of sound banking and of the banks. Every bank is looking for good commercial loans. Every bank is seeking to loan money and earn interest on their operating changes. But the banks are hemmed around with restrictions and regulations. They may only make loans that will stand the test of sound business judgment and beyond that, stand the spotlight of intensive scrutiny by the Bank Examiners and various representatives of other governmental agencies. In the kind of loans they can make and the terms thereof they are hemmed around by regulations.

These regulations are governmental regulations and if the sponsors of the New Deal are complaining about the lack of capital funds in effect they are complaining about the operation of regulations which they have promulgated and are complaining about the exercise of business judgment.

I don't want my money on deposit in the bank and you don't want your money that is on deposit in a bank loaned out by the bank unless the bank is reasonably certain that the loan will be paid with interest. Now why should your money or my money that is represented in the funds of the United States Government be loaned under any other circumstances? Should our Government money be loaned under circumstances that a bank is not permitted to loan? It doesn't make sense. It is just another nicey

"GUARDIAN"

—Meador Wright's— PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

Contrary to the opinion of most, I do not expect any prolonged deadlock in the selection of a commissioner to replace Michael Duffy on the Newark city commission.

There will be none because such an impasse is the last thing Mayor Ellenstein and Commissioner Franklin want. Both Ellenstein and Franklin are on trial today before the bar of public opinion. Having narrowly escaped conviction in the last Meadowland scandal trial, they know that their chances of escaping again rest to a certain extent on public opinion. They cannot afford to be non-conciliatory.

Whispering Campaigns

Announcement by Ellenstein that he and Franklin would back a candidate of Italian-American extraction for the vacant post was both shrewd and logical. In a desperate effort to save his personal freedom and his official life, friends of the mayor have raised the ancient cry of race prejudice. Mayor Ellenstein is a Jew. In reality he is not persecuted because of his misconduct in office, they say, but because he is a Jew. This whispering has been especially strong among Newark's immense Italian population. To them, it is being told that Anthony F. Minisi, no less than the mayor, is being "railroaded" because he is of Italian descent, not because he may be guilty. This campaign being what it is, nothing was more natural than that the mayor should come out for an Italian-American candidate. If he had not done so, his ambitious campaign to win sympathy and support among Newark's Italian-Americans would have fallen as flat as a pancake. For voters of that racial group are pretty hard boiled realists. Actions speak a great deal louder than words with them.

The move was shrewdly calculated from another standpoint. It immobilizes the opposition. Neither Byrne nor Murphy can publicly take exception to the mayor's move. The racial game in Newark politics has been played so long—and so shamelessly if you will—that there seems no likelihood that it will be abandoned very soon.

Mazzei Best Bet

My own guess is that the man eventually to be selected will be Louis R. Mazzei, or else one not yet mentioned. Neither Minisi nor Villani will be chosen because they were associated too closely to the regime now under indictment. Themistocles Mancusi-Ungaro, on the other hand, has been too closely identified with Clean Government.

In view of words that have taken place between Vincent Murphy and Joseph M. Byrne, the latter has come out very decidedly second best. Murphy clearly has the balance of power on the commission, and it is axiomatic that he will use that power to the fullest extent.

Present plans of Clean Government are to run a candidate against County Chairman Percy Miller when the chairmanship election comes up after the September primary. With the help of the Giuliano boys, Clean Government leaders feel certain that they can command a majority of the county committee members.

Miller is considered a Harold Hoffman lieutenant, and leaders of the "Stop-Hoffman" movement dare not leave him in such a position of potential power. The Hoffman and Franklin forces as well as miscellaneous opponents of Clean Government throughout the country will rally, no doubt, to Miller's candidacy. As things look now, however, a new chairman is very likely.

Independent Aspirants

While there is no concerted opposition to the Clean Government endorsed slate of candidates at the coming primary in sight, there are apt to be some strong independent aspirants. Mayor Ovid C. Bianchi of Orange is considering a bid for surrogate, and is a strong potential candidate. Supervisor Ernest A. Reed of East Orange is likewise almost sure to have opposition for some quarter. But with the Clean Government organization functioning as it is, such efforts are almost certain to be doomed to failure.

VALLEY ARRANGES PROGRAM FOR BLOCK DANCES

"One-Fourth at Home on Fourth"

This is what is popularly known as a "holiday weekend," the holiday in the case being Independence Day. And so we have large armies of citizens showing their independence by doing what everybody else is doing—leaving home for a few days.

The long weekend was arranged by the Continental Congress back in 1776. It is one of the minor mysteries of history how John Hancock, Elbridge Gerry, Casar Rodney and the other delegates at Philadelphia knew that Hypo Stitch, Amos Fetlock, and Hank Tanbark and all the other boys and girls would want to go to a ball game, fishing, or to Scapple Beach in 1939.

The weekend has no definite beginning nor end. It depends on entirely how much money you have available—or the amount you can get your hands on.

Most people have a hazy idea that the weekend is tied up in some way with the Declaration of Independence and the Continental Congress, but they don't know a continental about the details.

Ask the man-on-the-street (better wait until he gets on the sidewalk) to name the thirteen original states and he'll say:

"Thirteen? Huh, there are only two, Maine and Vermont."

The favorite excuse for leaving home this weekend is that the trippers don't want to be bothered by all the noise about their homes. So they go into other districts and bother the residents

JANNARONE BID SAVES MONEY ON FREEHOLD JOB

Stern Reports Figure
$6,498 Below The Estimates

Trenton, June 29—State Highway Commissioner E. Donald Stern announced that a saving of $6,498, under estimated costs, was realized through the low bid of $53,682.18, submitted today by the Jannarone Contracting Co. of Belleville, for the construction of a bridge at Gordon's Corner on the Route 4 realignment northwest of Freehold. Ten contractors submitted bids.

The project, which will be financed on a 50-50 basis by the federal Government and the Highway Department, was authorized by Commissioner Stern as part of his safety program to prevent the danger of accidents at grade intersections along the new Route 4 alignment.

The new highway will pass under the bridge, which will be erected on the Matawan-Tennent road. Connecting ramps will permit entrance and exit to the roadways at the Gordon's Corner intersection.

The bridge will be 120 feet long and 64 feet wide. It will have two roadways of 25 feet each, separated by a four-foot center safety island, and two six-foot sidewalks. It will be located about 50 feet south of the road now used between Gordon's Corner and Freehold.

The new alignment of Route 4 eventually will be carried to Cheesequake, Middlesex County, where it will link with old Route 4 near South Amboy, permitting traffic to avoid the present winding road from Matawan through Renault, Morganville, Marlboro and Freehold.

The real reason people go away for the weekend is because they can wear funny clothes.

A fellow who won't walk down to the corner store for a cigar unless his pants are pressed and he's had a recent shave will promenade before several hundred people wearing white ducks that have been hooked jack from the laundry for a month and a pair of sneakers at which a beach-comber would turn up his nose—or toes.

Besides the weekend trippers the roads will be packed with the folk heading north on their vacations. It is easy to tell the difference between a week-end and a two-weeker. Those going away for two weeks have been packed into the car with their belongings by a hydraulic press.

To enjoy an automobile tour on the holiday the trip should be carefully planned in advance. For wide-open spaces, quietness and little traffic we recommend a leisurely tour of the city streets—the same streets which you drive around for hours on other days looking for a parking space.

Just a word about weekend weather. If it's anything like the last weekend be prepared for quick changes. For equipment pick an electric fan that has an electric heater on the back. The main costume should be a reversible suit. By pulling some zippers you can shift from summer whites to a rubber jacket and overalls; waders and a so'western. Those feminine umbrellas with white spots that look like hunks of snow will be just the thing to carry. And the smart outdoor gal will have a ski suit handy to slip on over her bathing suit.

Hazy Hilda never was very quick at history but we think she had something when she remarked:

"I know why Independence Day is always on the Fourth. Only one-fourth of the people stay at home."

WATERMAN GIVES ART AWARD TO P. W. DIEHL

High School Supervisor's
Designing Talent
Recognized

P. Webster Diehl, thirty-five, high school art teacher and supervisor, 254 Jorammon street, was notified today by Ellisha Waterman, executive vice-president of the L. E. Waterman Co., that he had been awarded a prize in the nation-wide contest conducted by the fountain pen company for new designing talent.

Although not among the four top winners, Mr. Diehl's work was characterized by Mr. Waterman as showing "exceptional talent along original lines in developing a new fountain pen design." The local artist received a special fountain pen and pencil for use in design work.

Mr. Diehl said he manifested interest in pen design "because I am convinced that good design in objects which people see or use daily has a profound influence in the development of good taste."

"My design," he explained, "was aimed not toward improving any of the basic features of the pen, but was aimed solely toward improving the appearance and, at the same time, the balance of the pen by removing the weight from the cap and accenting the clean streamlining of the entire pen."

Diehl studied at the Academy of Fine Arts and boasts bachelor and master degrees from Pennsylvania State College.

Snoop's Snoops

In wandering around town over the weekend, we drifted into the old bog and want to say that the progress being made in the stadium is remarkable. It begins to look as if Belleville is finally going to have a real athletic field. If the workers continue at the rate they are going, it should be ready for football in the Fall.

Speaking about football, we have learned that John Daly, former Belleville High School star and assistant coach to Frank Smith last year, has secured a coaching job at the Atlantic Highlands High School. Belleville's loss should be their gain.

Looking over the list of graduates at the High School commencement exercises, we noted quite a number of high school athletes. Frank Smith will have another tough job getting together a team this year. It seems that just when they are reaching maturity and being of some use to the coach, they either graduate or leave town; but you can rest assured that they'll be in there fighting.

Whoever was in charge of the arrangements for the graduating exercises, whether it was President of the Board of Education Herbert Schmutz, High School Principal Hugh D. Kittle, or Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Farmer, certainly deserves a great deal of credit. The exercises were short, snappy, and everything worked with clocklike precision. It is some job to handle 300 students as efficiently as was demonstrated on Wednesday night.

Our Atlantic City correspondent is again on the job and reports having seen Harry (Dutch) Ziegler, Clarence (Larry) Lommerin, John (Johnny) Carrough, Charles (Gebbie) Gebhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hart, and Commissioner and Mrs. Louis Noll, who were attending the Lions Convention over the past weekend, a good turn out for Belleville. As a result, Gebhardt, school commissioner, was elected Deputy District Governor of the Lions Club. From reports, Gebbie, Johnny, Larry and Dutch did not spend too much time attending the conferences but were seen early Saturday on their way to the Northfield Golf Links.

We do not know who had charge of the traffic arrangements on Sunday, whether it was Director of Public Safety W. D. Clark or Charles Tedesco. They certainly did a swell job. As far as we could see there was very little inconvenience to out-of-town people and all those who were watching the parade, for the first time in the history of Belleville, had an unobstructed view of the line of march. "Ken" Smith certainly handled his police charges well, with nary a mishap.

Elwood P. Russell, chairman of the committee on decorations, is to be congratulated, too. We think his job was well done.

Frank Donlon, former Railway Express agent at the Cleveland Street Station of the Erie Railroad, has been seen doing a considerable amount of walking in the last few weeks. When spoken to, Frank said he had to keep himself in condition and he found this was the best means of doing so.

Centennial Contributor Omitted

In the rush to prepare a list of contributors to the Belleville Centennial Celebration Fund for publication in last Thursday's News, the Belleville grade school teachers and employees were inadvertently omitted because of failure to check a typewritten list. The committee regrets this oversight, and offers its apology to the grade school employees who cooperated so splendidly.

Library News

With the approach of vacation time and summer weather, thoughts turn to the out-of-doors, and various sports and games. The library has a very complete sports department, with books on all types of sports and outdoor games.

Many of the books are written by well-known authorities in the world of sports. There are books on tennis written by Moody, Lacoste and Austin. Among the books on golf are one by Collett and one by Francis on golf rules. "Swimming the American Crawl" by Weissmuller is very instructive.

In the sports department are books on polo, soccer, squash, badminton, baseball, basketball, football, held hockey, boating, fencing, and others.

Summer Hours

The following summer hours are being observed at the library this year: Monday, 9 A.M. to 9 P.M.; Tuesday to Friday, inclusive, 9 A.M. to 5:30 P.M.; Saturday, closed.

Jr. Catholic Daughters

The entire Junior body held its final affair of the 1938-1939 season, in St. Peter's School Auditorium recently when honor pins were presented to practically every Junior. Three girls of Troop No. 1, Elsie Grum, Claire Drexler and Veronica McNulty received their second-year pins, and approximately thirty girls in Troops 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 were awarded first-year pins. The pins were presented by Rev. Nelligan, assisted by Miss Mary Grimley, junior chairman.

Following the presentation, each troop entertained. Various skits depicting Junior activities, dances and songs by individuals and groups were warmly received. The talent displayed by the girls was really amazing, especially considering the fact that it was all worked up by themselves with no outside assistance.

Among the guests, in addition to Rev. Nelligan, were Miss Florence Kelly, Grand Regent of the Senior Court; the Counselors of the various troops, Mrs. Alice Flynn, Mary Higgins and Ruth Hess, Mary Higgins and Ruth Hess, junior treasurer; Miss T. V. Halpin, members of the Senior Court and mothers of the girls. Rev. Kelly's absence was very much regretted but previous engagements prevented him from being with the Juniors who had also expected the state junior chairman, Miss Helen Shea, to be present but, unfortunately, her plans would not permit this.

Rev. Nelligan congratulated the girls on the progress they have made in the short time since the formation of the court, and urged them to continue the very excellent work. Miss Kelly told the girls about the recent State Convention in Atlantic City and impressed them tremendously with the marvelous activities of the Atlantic City Juniors.

Congratulations were also extended to the Juniors by Miss Elizabeth Cousins, a charter member of the Senior Court.

Leonard D. Achine and his friend, Sax Alvino, are looking forward to their annual jaunt to Dover, Del., and Maryland, Md., where they have gone for the last ten years. Gilbys Celebrate Anniversaries

When School Commissioner and Mrs. Walter Gilby, 238 Greylock parkway, celebrate tomorrow evening at open house on their thirty-fifth wedding anniversary their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Jameson, Asbury Park, will join in celebrating their first anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilby were married by the late Rev. Cornelius Abbott in Christ Episcopal Church, Main street. Mrs. Gilby was Emily Bagnal, the daughter of the late Fire Chief Andrew Q. Bagnal, one of Belleville's old residents. She was born in Liverpool, England, and came here at an early age. Mr. Gilby was born and raised in Belleville, attending school here and being in the wire business for thirty-eight years. He has been a member of the Board of Education eight years. Mrs. Jameson, who was Blanche Gilby, attended Belleville schools and Prospect Hill School, Newark.

Delicious refreshments were served by the Juniors and when the last piece of cream and the last cake had disappeared, the Juniors left for home, prepared to rest up during the summer and come back in the fall ready to start another Junior year.

SIX DON'TS FOR HOT WEATHER

Berry Gives Advice For Health In This Season

Warning that the summer months cannot be enjoyed unless good health prevails, Health Officer Eugene T. Berry today issued six hot weather don'ts for Belleville residents who wish to experience a healthy warm season.

Mr. Berry warned: 1. Don't expose the body to the hot rays of the sun for too long a time. Severe sunburns are dangerous. 2. Don't go without a hat while under the sun's rays unless accustomed to going hatless or sunstroke may result.

3. Don't eat too heavily. Salads and liquids should be consumed during the hot weather.

"East Side of Heaven" in Capitol

Down to earth humanness combined with music so catchy that you just naturally hum it as you leave the theatre is the movie formula for Universal's new Bing Crosby and Joan Blondell picture "East Side of Heaven" starting Sunday at the Capitol Theatre. Bing is a singing taxi driver, Joan his sweetheart, is a hotel telephone operator, Mische Auer is Bing's unemployed roommate who has learned from the stars that he should not even look for work until 1942. All three players do a successful job of making you like them, and they are aided very materially by "Sandy," the cutest infant ever to face a movie camera. Among the songs featured are "East Side of Heaven," "That Sly Old Gentleman from Featherbed Lane" and "Hang your Heart on a Hickory Limb."

On the same program is a story rich in drama, comedy, humor and pathos; starring Adolphe Menjou in "King of the Turf" with Roger Daniel, Walter Abel, Alan Dinehart and Dolores Costello.

For the program starting Wednesday is Columbia's great production "Only Angels Have Wings" starring Cary Grant and Jean Arthur coupled with "Some Like it Hot" with Bob Hope, Shirley Ross and Gene Krupa and orchestra.

Starting Tuesday, July 4, there will be special attractions for the kiddies every Tuesday, featuring a new Serial "Daredevils of the Red Circle."

each time. Your dog's manners reflect your training: teach him good habits at the start, never permitting him to soil the public walk.

While training you will need to be especially patient. Striking your dog will not help in house-breaking him, and may even cause an extreme nervousness. Dogs suffering from an inability to control their urine, due to nervousness when overly excited will only be made immeasurably worse by punishment. Most dogs outgrow this incontinence, but there are a small number who carry the habit through life. If a pup seems unusually difficult to train, try watering him only at feeding times. Watch your dog closely during the first few days of training and try to anticipate his wants.

PHONE BOOK FULL OF ROMANCE, FUN AND PLEASURE

Replete With "Stuff That Dreams Are Made Of"

A revised edition of the Essex County telephone directory, fuller than ever of just plain numbers to call or, for those with imagination, of "the stuff that dreams are made of," is beginning this week to put in its appearance hereabout.

For the factually minded, the new telephone book is a compilation of approximately 154,000 names, addresses and telephone numbers amended, the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company reports, some 60,000 times since the last issue nine months ago to include listing changes, disconnections and new connections of telephones, all compressed into a volume of 528 or 620 pages (depending on which of two classified yellow-page business sections is incorporated into your copy).

For those who, with the late Christopher Morley, feel that "No Malory of old romance, no Crusoe tale, it seems to me, can equal in rich circumstance this telephone directory," the book is a vehicle on which to ride in arm-chair ease into almost any realm of fancy or romance. A casual glance shows Belles and Swains listed there; Love and Kisses, (and Smacks), the Moon, the Ring and everything including the appropriate vocabulary: Darling, Dear (and Dearie), Honey, Love, Lambie—Bliss enough for those who Court. There is Music there, among the Balsams and Birches, in Minor or Major Key to suit the mood, of the Harp, Viola, Viol, and a Band and Singers, while Doves and Nightingales, Finches, Martins and Thrushes add their Harmony.

The pageantry of Court and medieval Crown are there for those who seek romance in history; Kings and Queens, Earls, Dukes, Noble Lords and Ladies decked with Pearls, Diamonds and Rubies, Knights with Plume and Lance, Archers, Hunters with Falcons, a Garrison for the Towers and an Abbott and Chapel.

The literary great are represented by, among others, Homer, Solomon and Caesar, Shakespeare, Poe, Burns, Byron, Browning, and Conrad; writers of great music by Bach, Dvorak, Franck, Herbert, Strauss, Verdi and Wagner.

And for the gourmet, who is interested less in these than fine food, the telephone book menu offers Fruit (Oranges, Plums, Cherries, Apples or Berries); Turtle soup; Fish (Shad—or Roe, Trout, Salmon, Sturgeon, Pike or Bass); Pheasant, Partridge, Quail, Duck, Chicken, Currie with Rice, Lamb or Ham, With all the fixings and a choice of Beer (including Beck), Martinis, Sherry, Rye or Scotch.

There is even, for the initiate and elect who still play a game called poker, a royal flush, complete from Ace through Ten.

COMPLETION OF LINCOLN TUNNEL APPROACH CLOSELY JOINS MIDTOWN MANHATTAN AND JERSEY MEADOWS

FAIRCHILD AERIAL SURVEYS, INC.

A NEW low in time required for motoring between the State Highways on the Jersey meadows west of the Palisades and Midtown Manhattan is reached with the opening by The Port of New York Authority of the new Lincoln Tunnel express highway through North Hudson.

This project, opened to traffic at 4 p.m. Friday, June 30, signals the completion of the last stage in the construction of the Lincoln Tunnel. The plan for handling traffic between the Tunnel and the highways just beyond the Palisades probably is the most extensive approach arrangement yet devised as part of the building of a great bridge or tunnel. At the same time, its outstanding characteristic is its simplicity.

From the junction of N. J. State Highways 1 and 3 with the westerly terminus of the Lincoln Tunnel express highway to the streets of Manhattan is approximately three and three-quarter miles. This can now be negotiated in as little time as eight minutes and with only ten minutes required for the trip to Times Square.

Not only is motoring between North Jersey and Midtown Manhattan greatly facilitated by these improvements, but driving between North Jersey and other places to the east, such as Long Island, Westchester, and Connecticut, receives additional benefits.

No intersections and no traffic lights impede the motorist from the moment he leaves the N. J. State highways until he enters Manhattan. The intersecting streets of North Bergen, Union City, and Weehawken, are carried over or under the express highway. Traffic between the express highway and the Hudson County Boulevard is handled by a new and unique construction known as an "Interchange," which, in effect, combines the best features of both a circle and a clover leaf on three levels.

The express highway ascends the westerly slope of the Palisades by means of a viaduct. It then becomes a depressed highway through Union City and until it reaches the Weehawken line. From the latter point, the traffic proceeds over an elevated loop structure to the tunnel plaza. The loop itself has been in use several months.

Housebreaking

If you are housebreaking a very small puppy the use of newspapers is advisable. Always keep the newspapers in the same place, setting the puppy on the paper first thing in the morning, last thing at night, and a few minutes after each feeding, encouraging him to stay there until he has performed his duty. Leave the newspaper slightly soiled a few minutes for even a puppy has a well developed sense of smell and will soon learn that this is the place.
