BOARD TO HOLD NEXT MEETING ON NOVEMBER 27

Change To Permit Officials To Attend Church Affair

The Town Commission Tuesday night changed the date of the next meeting of the board from Tuesday, November 28, to Monday night, November 27, in order that it could attend the celebration in honor of the fifteenth anniversary of the Fewsmith Presbyterian Church. The affair is to pay special honor to Rev. O. Bell Close, pastor, who is marking fifteen years as head of the local church.

Mayor William H. Williams suggested the change of date so as to afford every member of the board an opportunity to attend. He further stated that the police and fire chiefs and all other department heads were invited to attend.

Keenan Re-appointed
Corporation Counsel Lawrence E. Keenan was re-appointed for another year. Miss Ada Donnelly, switchboard operator at the town hall, was re-appointed for a two-year period.

A resolution appointing Charles B. Tedesco chief clerk in the department of Parks and Public Property was introduced by Commissioner Louis A. Noll, and passed unanimously. James J. Dunn was appointed acting tax-surveyor to replace Edward King, now on special training duty with the National Guard.

A total of $137,000 in bond anticipation notes covering various general improvements throughout the town was renewed for a three-month period. An additional $15,000 emergency appropriation for poor relief was authorized. This last brings the total amount to $75,000.

WOMEN PRESIDE SUNDAY NIGHT AT FEWSMITH

Will Be Third In Anniversary Series Of Programs

Women will take the lead in Sunday night's service at Fewsmith Church as the third in a series of fifteenth anniversary programs will be entirely conducted by women.

Twenty soprano and alto voices will make up the all-female choir. Tschaikowsky's "God of All Nature" will be the first anthem. The choir will also sing "Even-song" Handel.

Mrs. Fred Holland and Mrs. Harold Snook head the reception committee. The ushers will include two members of the Women's Guild and two from the Women's Fellowship.

Mrs. O. Bell Close, wife of the minister, has been asked to deliver the message. Mrs. Gladys Craven will assist in the service.

Arthur Ackerman, organist, the sole male on the program, has chosen as his preludes, "The Pilgrims' Song of Hope," "Baptiste," and "None But the Lonely Heart," Tschaikowsky.

CORPS IS READY FOR COMPETITION AND DANCE

Universal Group Plans Affair At The Vets' Hall

Final arrangements have been made for the Universal Drum and Bugle Corps annual competition and dance to be held in Veterans' Hall, 17 Belleville avenue, Saturday night.

David Reynolds, Sr., 27½ New street, is general chairman. Assisting on various committees, besides Mr. Reynolds are his son, Junior, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Edward Noonan, Mrs. John Lillenthal, Miss Maude V. Donnelly, Philip Rosenblum, William Schell, Stanley Drodzowski, Andrew Fanelli, Joseph Sullivan, Jack Lillenthal, Harry Knott and Raymond Barna. Master of ceremonies will be Frank J. Donnelly.

The Charles T. Kirk Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps, Brooklyn, will be guest. Many corps throughout New Jersey will take part in the annual competition. Ushers are Jack Lillenthal, David Reynolds, Jr., Harry Knott and Raymond Barna.

Woman's Club To Entertain Belleville's School Teachers

Donald Moore, Baritone, Will Be On The Program

A reception to Belleville teachers, associate members and guests will be given by the Woman's Club Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Appearing on the program will be Donald Moore, one of the younger American baritones. Through his positions in Central Baptist Church and Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, he has extended his repertoire in the field of oratorio and sacred composition. He first gained recognition in the concert field when he won first prize in the New Jersey Artists' Contest in Fuld Hall, Newark.

He acquired his stage and operatic experience through singing leads in Robin Hood and Princess Ida. He also has appeared in productions at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Short Hills, and Griffith Music Foundation, Newark.

Miss Mary Barnard, National Broadcasting Speakers' Bureau, will present a talk on "Television."

Over 200 invitations have been extended and it is the earnest wish of the club members that as many of the teachers as possible attend.

On November 20, the American Home Department, Mrs. F. Kenneth Mase, chairman, will present Mrs. Margaret Shepard, Essex County Home Economic Extension Service, who will talk on "Color Harmony and Its Application to Home Decoration."

Mrs. D. N. Streeter and her committee will have a tea table appropriate for the month. Club members and guests are invited to attend.

Zone Change Rejection Stirs Action Against Commission

Supreme Court Will Be Asked To Review Board's Denial

Supreme Court Justice Charles W. Parker will be asked this week to review a recent decision of the Town Commission in a Belwood Park zone change matter. Edward Abramson, attorney for John Bianchi, Glen Ridge, served notice on members of the board, Tuesday night, that he was making application for writs of certiorari against the town and the Board of Adjustment in an effort to have the State Supreme Court review the entire question.

Abramson stated that if the certiorari hearings are favorable to his client, he will apply for writs of mandamus against the town and Commissioner Joseph King, acting building inspector, to compel them to reverse a decision against his client and change the zone in question. This action is a result of a defeated proposed zone change ordinance, which took place three weeks ago. The local board, at the insistence of more than 150 residents of the Belwood Park section, voted against passing an ordinance providing for a change of a class "A" residential zone to a business zone. Bianchi wants to lease property in that zone to Jean Seville, Bloomfield, for restaurant purposes.

Calls It Political Move

During the discussion Tuesday night, preliminary to serving the local board with notices of his intention to appeal the matter, Abramson claimed "political pressure" was the motivating force behind the defeat of the ordinance. Mayor William H. Williams and members of the board took exception to this attitude and stated the board defended the ordinance solely in the interests of the section in question. The group appeared before the board three weeks ago and objected to the proposed change in a two hour discussion.

Abramson further claimed that the defeating of the ordinance was technically incorrect and might result in the entire case being dismissed by the superior court, thus making a second hearing necessary. This, he claimed, would be an added expense to his client and the town. He asked that the board pass a resolution in the matter which would approve or disapprove the finding of the Board of Adjustment, thus leaving the way clear for an appeal which could not be dismissed on a minor point. The board passed a resolution at the regular meeting, later in the evening, disapproving of the action of the Board of Adjustment in recommending the change. This was in effect, saying "no" twice to the same question. But, as was pointed out by Lawrence F. Keenan, town attorney, it would not endanger the town's chances in the certiorari hearings and would merely be a clarifying act on the part of the board.

Word Given Zone Board

Commissioner Louis A. Noll supported Keenan's contention, as did other members of the board. Noll was in favor of the change three weeks ago and only defeated the ordinance in order to make the vote unanimous in view of the opposition shown by the residents of the section concerned. At that time Noll claimed he had given his word to the Board of Adjustment to uphold its recommendation for the "change and intended to keep it. However, in face of the tremendous feeling against the ordinance, he changed his original intention and helped kill the ordinance.

Abramson quoted several precedents and claimed the ordinance, as now existing, covering the neighborhood of Belleville and Smallwood avenues, was "unreasonable to my client." He further claimed the type building Seville intends to erect would be an asset and not a detriment to the section.

Another Zone Matter

Board of Adjustment tonight will conduct a hearing on application of the Bloomfield Lumber Co. to erect a wood working shop at 731-733 Belleville avenue.

The property in question adjoins the lot on which Saville's restaurant would be constructed. The lumber company applied to the building department for a permit to erect the mill but the permit was refused because the property is in a residential zone. After the refusal, a hearing before the zoning board was arranged. The board can only make a recommendation. Final action must be taken by the Town Commission.

The move by the lumber company represents the second effort to obtain permission to erect the wood working shop. A permit was issued to the company July 8, but an address of 4 Belleville avenue, the company's Bloomfield address, was given. Belleville commissioners considered the permit void because the Bloomfield building permit. Thus the matter has rested until the second move to obtain the permit.

MANY EXPECTED AT PARTY AT ST. PETER'S

Over 1,000 Attended Similar Affair Last Year

A capacity crowd is expected to attend the annual Thanksgiving game party in St. Peter's Hall at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night, under auspices of St. Peter's Social Society, which has conducted the party for the past three years. A feature will be the award of turkeys as principal prizes.

More than 1,000 persons were present at a similar party last year, and the advance ticket sale indicates that this year's attendance will be even greater.

Miss Teresa K. Salmon is general chairman of the committee on arrangements, assisted by the entire membership.

Sub-committees and chairmen are as follows: tickets, Mrs. Thomas McNair; refreshments, Mrs. Frank O'Neill; coffee, Mrs. Mary Roberts; refreshment tickets, Mrs. Patrick Gelschen; soda, Mrs. Joseph Donnelly; candy, Miss Helen T. Kelly, and checking, Mrs. Maurice Conway.

The games will be in charge of John Callahan, assisted by John Barnett, Eugene Barnett, William Brady, John E. Burke, Joseph Duval, William Friel, William Hood, James Leonard, Naeman Manning, Edward Manning, John Mazza, John J. Sullivan, George Urcioli and John Westlake.

Better Jottings

A broken arm was sustained Monday by Mrs. Esther Rothwell, sixty-five, 14 Stephen street, when she was knocked down by a back-firing truck in Washington avenue near Rutgers street. She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic. The truck was driven by William Collinson, forty-four, 32 Lindley avenue, West Orange.

SERVICES MONDAY FOR H. W. BAILEY OF NEWARK NEWS

Credit Manager Of Paper Formerly Lived Here

Funeral services for Harold Weston Bailey, forty-nine, credit manager for ten years of the

HAROLD W. BAILEY

Newark Evening News, were held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the William V. Irvine Funeral Home, 2776 Washington avenue, with Rev. Elmer E. Pearce, pastor of Vincent Methodist Church, Nutley, officiating. Burial was in East Ridgeland Cemetery Tuesday.

Mr. Bailey, who died Friday at his home, 249 Walnut street, Nutley, had been associated with the Newark Evening News thirty-two years. He began as a clerk.

Born in Passaic, he started school there before going to Newark where he attended Summer Avenue School. He lived in Newark until 1911 when he moved to Belleville. For the last ten years he had lived in Nutley. He was stricken with a heart attack five weeks ago and had been confined to his bed since. His condition had improved so he had anticipated getting up for the first time Sunday. Friday he suffered a second attack and failed to recover.

Mr. Bailey served two years ago as president of the New Jersey Retail Credit Association and he was secretary and treasurer of the New York Newspapermen's Credit Association. He was first employed as a bookkeeper for the Mansfield Gum Co., Newark.

He was a member of Colonel S. L. Buck Council 187, Jr. O. U. A. M., Newark, and of the Vincent Church.

Mr. Bailey leaves his wife, Mrs. Jennie Cherry Bailey; a son, Harold C. Bailey, Nutley; his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey, and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Costello, both of this town.

Students' Educational Program At Capitol Theatre

The Capitol Theatre management announces a special after-school performance of educational features for Tuesday matinee, November 21, at 3:30 o'clock with a ten cent admission price for school children and students.

The selected program of entertaining and educational subjects will include: "The Bill of Rights" in technicolor, revealing the struggle of our forefathers to retain life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, the basis of American democracy; "The Story of Alfred Nobel," dramatically telling the story behind the Nobel Peace Award; "Super Athletes," showing the progress of track athletics within the last fifty years and introducing the champions of the University of Southern California.

"Mechanics Illustrated," showing the crime laboratory of the New York Police Department and how it functions, plus other interesting subjects.

The feature picture on the same program will be "They Shall Have Music," starring Jascha Heifetz, Joel McCrea, Andrea Lee, Gene Reynolds and Walter Brennan. This is a human story based on the influence of a great musician's genius and splendor upon a group of underprivileged children whose life of being salvaged for useful lives is their love of music. "They Shall Have Music" is the recipient of the Parents' Magazine award for the outstanding picture of the month.

ASSESSMENT CUTS ARE SOUGHT IN FAIRVIEW PLACE

Property Owners Took Part In Two-Night Sessions

Tax Assessor Coogan has referred to the Town Commission requests of property owners in Fairview place that they be assessed for only a part of local paving and curbing improvements there. Hearings on assessments for paving and curbing improvements in ten streets were held in Town Hall Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Property owners in Fairview place questioned whether they should be assessed the total costs of the improvements there since the westerly side of the street borders the Branch Brook Golf course of Essex County. One-family houses are on the easterly side of the street.

The ordinance authorizing the curbing and paving stipulated the cost should not be paid by the town but should be assessed to benefiting property owners. The county park lands can not be assessed for the improvements, according to Coogan.

Total cost of the improvements was $6,434.56, but WPA paid $4,854.80 of this amount. The remainder, $1,579.76 is being charged against nine property owners in Fairview place. The assessment is being made on the basis of $3.54 per lineal foot of paving and fifty cents per lineal foot of curbing.

Detailed work in preparation of sidewalk assessments is under way. Within the next few weeks, owners of property affected will be notified of hearings, Coogan said. He estimated 5,000 to 6,000 properties would be affected.

The hearings Wednesday concerned improvements tax in Fairview place, Grove and Hill streets and Liberty avenue. Thursdays included Van Reyper place, Division avenue, Emmet, Mitchell, Cross and Maier streets, Hewitt avenue and Ogden road.

POLICE RECOVER BODY OF WOMAN IN RESERVOIR

Former Belleville Resident Found Dead In Cincinnati

When she failed to return from a shopping trip Thursday night in Cincinnati, police there began a search for Mrs. Lydia Lennon Herren, thirty-five, wife of Walter O. Herren, Nutley, formerly this town. Her body was recovered in Eden Park Reservoir.

Herren, employed in the Harrison office of the Hyatt Bearings Division of General Motors Corp., left for Cincinnati Friday immediately after receiving word of her husband's death.

Mrs. Herren had been ill and went to Ohio in August to visit her father and two cousins. Mrs. Herren and her husband had lived in New Jersey three years, at North Newark, Nutley and Belleville. They were residing at 70 Division avenue, this town, when Mrs. Herren became ill. On his wife's departure for Cincinnati, Herren moved to 14 Center street, Nutley.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Herren leaves a son, Walter, Jr., born March 12 in St. Barnabas Hospital, Newark. She had taken the baby to Cincinnati.

PROGRESS MADE FOR MEMBERS BY LEGION POST

Next Meeting Scheduled For Monday At "Rec" House

Belleville Post No. 105, American Legion, announces through its membership chairman, William D. Maser, that ten new members were accepted into the organization at the first post meeting of the present administration. At least a fifty per cent increase is being sought.

It is the purpose of legionnaires to welcome the veterans of Belleville to attend the post meetings. However, in so doing, it does not mean that any obligation is placed upon them to join.

The next meeting, the second of this regime, will be held in the Recreation House, Jefferson street and Garden avenue at 8 p. m. on Monday. There will be an award of a Thanksgiving Turkey to a person in attendance. Except for a brief business session, the evening will be turned over to social matters. A large attendance is requested.

Quake Felt Here?

The earthquake which rocked South Jersey shortly before 10 o'clock Tuesday night was felt in at least one home here.

"Don't put my name in the paper," said a Rossmore place woman, "but I heard a cracking near our stairway just before 10 o'clock Tuesday night and called out: 'Who's there?' No one answered, but shortly after, when other members of the family came home, and we tuned in on the radio, we got reports of the quake. I determined it was the shock of that which I heard."

So far no other reports of a jolt in Belleville have been heard.

Loses Junk License

Pleading not guilty to a charge of stealing papers from the basement of the home of W. C. Baker, 52 Amherst street, East Orange, Sam Gruppso, 275 North Belmont avenue, Silver Lake section of town, was fined $25 and had his junk dealer's permit revoked Thursday by Recorder Hillenbach in East Orange Police Court. He had been arrested five times before on similar charges, authorities say.

Community Chest Appeal Is At The Two-Thirds Mark

Subscriptions to the Belleville Community Chest drive reached a total of $10,666 on Monday night as division leaders reported at a meeting in headquarters, 338 Washington avenue. The amount realized is two-thirds of the goal of 16,000. The various divisions reported as follows: Initial gifts, $4,721; schools, $1,122.58; industrial, $2,051.75; parent-teacher associations $25.50; commercial $314; churches, $37; lodges, $140; clubs and veteran organizations, $130; professional $161; and house-to-house, $1,963.17. The report of the municipal employees had not been received.

F. Bragg, federation president, and Walter G. Price, campaign manager, are well pleased with the results achieved to date. Mr. Price has called a meeting of all division chairmen for Thursday night, November 16, at 7:30 o'clock in his home, 177 Malone avenue, for an up-to-the-minute report of the results of each division.

Leading in the house-to-house group is the team of workers under W. Douglas Clark, Jr., of District No. 8 with a total of $351. In second place is the team in District No. 7 under Mrs. Mary Price with a total of $229.58. In third place is District No. 11 under Fred Woodward and Mrs. John Massarano with a total of $210.25, and fourth is Mrs. Frank Ackerman's team with $173.26. The reports from this division are expected to show a greater increase as nine captains did not report at the Monday night meeting. Mrs. Lester E. McCorkle, chairman, is confident that when these reports are accounted for the total will exceed last year's figure of $2,300 for house-to-house.

The list of contributors will appear in Tuesday's issue of The Belleville News.

Hoffman Would Keep Out Of War, But Teach Patriotism

Addresses Men's Club

Former Gov. Hoffman

Former Governor Tells Men Human Freedom Is Price- less Heritage

Declaring that sacrifice for human freedom goes all back through history — "back to the battlefields of the old world," former Governor Harold G. Hoffman Tuesday night addressed over 200 members of Grace Baptist Church Men's Club and friends in the church parlors from a patriotic standpoint.

"Perhaps we accept sometimes, too casually, the wonderful privileges that are ours," he said. "We seldom come to realize the blessings we enjoy. We don't want to get too far overboard, to the extent of believing that there is nothing worth while in the United States. I like to think that this is the land of opportunity, where a man who starts from humble beginnings may prosper by the sweat of his brow and hard work so that he may enjoy all the so-called luxuries, radio, electric refrigerators, a home and all the things we have come to enjoy. There is a growing cynicism, perhaps because of propaganda from foreign shores that something is wrong here. This is a source of danger among our young folks."

The former Governor declared that he would like to see youngsters "given the glorious pictures" of the struggles of our ancestors to establish the "America I love — the America, just as it was pictured to me when I was a lad."

Keep Minds, Hearts Open

He said that we "should keep our minds and hearts open. We are not compelled to live in a groove like some of the dictator countries," adding that there could be no better investment of time and effort today than in our boys and girls along patriotic educational lines.

"I pray tonight," he said, "that this nation may forever be kept out of war, particularly the war that is enveloping European nations. We have a way here of settling our disputes, amicably, through the medium of the ballot."

The former Governor explained that a son of one of his buddies in France, where he "saw war in all its baseness," had occasion to visit him recently. The youth asked him if he thought it advisable to sign a pledge to keep out of war, explaining that some of his young pals thought that if enough youths in the United States signed such a pledge no war would ever be possible.

"I pointed out to him," said Mr. Hoffman, "that to sign such a pledge would not entitle him to protection under this government — that the privilege of working and succeeding under our form of government should not be his, that the protection of courts provided by this government should not be his — in brief, we should protect the human freedom that is ours, the freedom for which we fought not alone in the last war, the Spanish War, the Civil War, the Revolution, but all back through human history — on the battlefields of the old world."

Food For Thought

"There is nothing so dull as the educated man when he gets off the thing he is educated in," said the ex-Governor, explaining in a jocular mood that there is just as much room in this country for the fellow who says "ain't" as the person who is most exacting in the use of grammar. Elmer S. Hyde, president of the club, presided and introduced the ex-Governor. Vice-president Paul Jones and the pastor of the church, Rev. Walter Lake, and Supervising Principal of Schools Wayne R. Farmer also spoke. Other officers of the club, which observed its tenth annual get-together, are: Secretary, David Fulcomer; treasurer, Percy Karner; financial secretary, Harvey Struble.

George Milano, piano accordionist, entertained and led community singing. Richard Vine sang, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Vine, and Grace Men's Club quartet sang two numbers.

Ladies of the church served a delicious turkey dinner.

OBTAIN NBC TENOR FOR GLEE CLUB'S WINTER CONCERT

East Orange Boys' Choir Also Will Be On Program

Friends and patrons of the Belleville Glee Club will be pleased to know that Fred Hufsmith, well-known N. B. C. tenor will be the soloist at the winter concert of the club on December 13, at No. 19 School. Mr. Hufsmith is heard frequently during the day on N. B. C. sustaining programs. His selections have not yet been announced.

The club's selections will be concluded by a group of familiar Christmas numbers which have been popular with audiences in the past. This group will include "Adesle Fidelis," "While By My Sheep" and "O Holy Night?" The choir boys of Christ Episcopal Church, East Orange, will again assist the Glee Club in singing "O Holy Night."

Neil P. Horne Plans To Unreel Thrillers Of Yesteryear

Neil P. Horne will show movies of yesteryear at a meeting of the Joseph King Association Saturday night in headquarters, 414 Washington avenue.

The association will elect officers at this meeting. A large attendance is expected.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR DANCE BY SISTERHOOD

This Year's Affair Will Be In Form Of Masquerade

The Sisterhood of Congregation A. A. will hold its annual Thanksgiving Eve dance Wednesday night in the social hall of the synagogue, 317 Washington avenue.

The affair this year will be a masquerade dance and prizes will be awarded to those having the funniest and most original costumes.

Mrs. Benjamin A. Jacobson and Mrs. A. Glynn, co-chairmen of the affair, have worked tirelessly to make the evening a success. A prominent orchestra will play and novel entertainment will be provided. The proceeds of the affair will be used to further the charitable and educational endeavors of the organization.

Any mention of Christmas would call for "Jingle Bells"... We could go further, but why bore you?... That would call for our special snoring sound device, guaranteed to put you to sleep if this hasn't already.

TELEVISION is really coming along. The Sunday night show at the Kungsholm in West Orange has added new glamour to that popular spot. Proprietor Nils Bruhn has chairs arranged a la movie theatre and patrons hurry from demi tasse and cordials to catch the first curtain rise. The one-hour variety programs improve each week, and so does the audience.

ALDERNEY Dairy's milk barn on Route 10, Morris Plains, in five short months has become one of the show places of North Jersey, local residents proudly taking their out-of-town house guests to this new glamour spot as one of our most interesting showplaces. Continued fine weather has kept the Alderney milk barn at close to mid-summer popularity.

THE CONDOI, Northfield road, Livingston, is another show place that is a magnet for motorists from other states. Cars from Maine, Oklahoma, Ohio and Pennsylvania were parked there Wednesday evening, and last Sunday there were cars bearing the license plates of Florida, New York, South Carolina and Connecticut. THE COMMUNITY CHEST

Belleville Community Chest has reached the two-thirds subscribed mark. For the first time in some years it appears to be going over the top. This year the town seems as a unit in the desire to put across this appeal which provides the funds to care for worthwhile charitable endeavors. The splendid spirit of cooperation of leaders, captains and workers has done much to put over this particular drive, the object of which is to raise $16,000. But, without the equally splendid cooperation of those who contribute to the appeal, things would not seem so rosy at this moment.

Belleville certainly is doing a fine job and if the same spirit prevails for the remainder of the drive, and we "dig down" just a little bit more, there will be no question but that the quota will be reached. Good work, Belleville. Let's carry on to a successful climax.

OUR HUMAN FREEDOM

Former Governor Harold G. Hoffman, speaking Tuesday night at a dinner of Grace Baptist Church Men's Club, struck a note against war that is timely for all of us and, particularly so, for veterans who saw war in 1917 and 1918 stripped of its glamor, flag waving and band playing—the war to end wars. But in the next breath the former Governor, a veteran of the thickest fighting in France, waved the flag as every veteran and every patriot would and should wave it for this glorious United States. He said that he would like to see our youth learn the patriotic stories he learned in school, be shown the patriotic pictures he was shown and be taught that the "isms" of European countries take away all the human rights and freedoms that have been won on all the battle fields of the world—back to the beginning of time. And, there Mr. Hoffman has something that should cause us to sit up and take notice.

He would have us keep out of war particularly, he says, the present war which is enveloping European nations. He would fight if someone tried to take away our heritage of human freedom. He is no pacifist, but he does some clear thinking. Let's dig out the old pictures of which he speaks, the ones of Dewey at Manila, let's be fair and get out all the pictures of the Civil War, pictures of the glory that came to South and North, alike. Let's get out some of those stirring scenes of the West where, as he told it, were pictured Sioux Indians making matters difficult for our forefathers. Let's get out the pictures of the Revolution—George Washington and all our national heroes. "Isms" would die a natural death if we could learn anew the glory of our own land and keep fresh in the minds of each succeeding generation this priceless human freedom that is ours.

When in Washington, a correspondent discussed with Mr. Hoffman the effort a few years back to topple from his niche, as a National hero, George Washington. The matter was called to the attention of late President Calvin Coolidge, the correspondent told Mr. Hoffman.

"What did he do?" asked the former Governor.

"He pulled back the shades in his office and said, in that New England twang: 'Well, what of all this talk? As long as that monument stands over there the story of George Washington is safe.'"

The former Governor is right. We don't tear down monuments here. We like to look back on what they represent—the hard fought battles, the trials and the tribulations that gave us America.

When Mr. Hoffman told of homeless little waifs—refugees on their way to England from Germany with one mark, about forty cents in their tiny hands, he handed out some more food for thought. True, the tots were headed toward a nation they had been taught to hate. There would be no parental hands to tuck them in at night. But, as the years roll on, they will see a brighter side of life—that part of life which will open the gateway to human freedom and the chance to work, earn and forge ahead along life's pathway.

TAXPAYERS' ANNUAL MEETING

To "Know Your Government," you must study it. Taxpayers will have an excellent opportunity to attend a one-day school on the subject at the Ninth Annual Meeting of the New Jersey Taxpayers Association to be held in Newark on December 9, 1939.

The meeting will bring together representatives of taxpayer groups from all parts of New Jersey. They will hear addresses by experts in various fields of public affairs. They will have ample opportunity to meet these men and to take part in open discussions upon state, county and local taxation matters. They will be invited to express their views on taxpayer problems—to discuss questions bearing upon taxpayer work in their home communities, and to exchange views upon topics of mutual interest.

Three main sessions have been arranged. In the morning a group of eminent speakers will deal with important and timely subjects. Arthur Mudd, Director of the State Financial Assistance Commission, will speak upon "New Jersey's Relief Problem." Arthur Hall of the Citizen's Public Expenditure Survey, New York, will discuss "America's Number One Problem." Wayne D. Mc Murray, of the Asbury Park Press, President of the New Jersey Press Association, will speak upon "The Importance of Public Opinion." Alvin A. Burger, Director, Department of Governmental Research, New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, has chosen as his subject "Tax-Facts Ammunition to Fight the Tax-Control Battle." Mark M. Jones of Princeton, a consulting economist, will deliver an address upon "Taxation and the Scale of Living."

The second session will be a luncheon meeting, addressed by Samuel Crowther, a nationally known authority on civic affairs, familiar to the public through his special articles in the Saturday Evening Post. Because of his nation-wide prominence as a writer, his collaboration with national leaders such as Henry Ford, Harvey S. Firestone and A. B. Farquhar, his extensive knowledge of public and economic affairs, and the importance of his topic, wide public attention has been centered upon the address to be given by Mr. Crowther. He will present a report upon the findings of the Commission for Promotion of the Wealth and Income of the People of New Hampshire, of which he is chairman, and which is financed privately. The report, which has not yet been made public, promises to reveal information of unusual importance and interest.

Following Mr. Crowther's address, the business meeting will be conducted. Representatives of the many local Taxpayers Associations in New Jersey will take active part in this session, which includes election of officers and adoption of the 1940 platform. This session of the annual meeting will be particularly important because the 1940 platform will form the basis of organized taxpayer activities during the coming year.

MOTOR HAZARDS AT THIS TIME

Falling leaves are not the only Autumn motoring hazard, but they account for many accidents that easily could have been avoided, the National Conservation Bureau points out.

While the actual number of accidents attributable to this single cause is not known, it is estimated that last year 1,620 persons met death and 46,000 received injuries from skidding motor vehicles. Wet surfaces, wet leaves on the road, snow and ice all contributed to the high number of skidding mishaps.

While the motorist driving on snow or ice is likely to be well prepared with chains and to exercise more than normal care, he often fails to use caution when going over leaves because they do not seem to present as hazardous a condition, the safety men assert. Again, while the average motorist will proceed slowly if the road is coated with snow or ice, he will tend to drive over leaves at the pace he usually follows when the surface is clear.

For that reason accidents caused by skidding on wet leaves may be more serious than other skidding accidents.

It is also held significant that accidents due to skidding are more prevalent in rural than in urban areas—and it is in the country that the danger from fallen leaves is greater.

The most practical thing for the Fall motorist to do, the Bureau suggests, is to acquire the habit of slowing down when leaves are ahead on the road, particularly on curves. Another hint is to avoid sudden acceleration or sudden brake applications on leaf-covered stretches.

Reviews

Rachmaninoff came to Newark came, played and conquered. Solemn of manner, walking to the piano at a slow, dignified pace, he was immediately transformed into a dynamic figure the magic of his fingers. The audience was evenly pleased with his performance, although one felt that Rachmaninoff was not entirely pleased with his audience in more than one instance; for they insisted upon applauding after each one of a group of four Chopin "Etudes," and subsequently, between the Liszt compositions, when it was evident from an artist's manner that he preferred to play each group with only a short break, preserving a continuity of style. Again, it must have been disturbing to Rachmaninoff when, upon playing the brilliant opening chords of his own famous C sharp minor "Prelude," the overenthusiastic listeners signaled their joy by a burst of applause. Such a spontaneous outburst was high tribute, but must have been shattering to an artistic nature, keyed to concert pitch, and wrapped in a cloak of interpretation. Maybe, someday, Newark audiences will grow up.

We are wont to hear our neighbors label Belleville as a manufacturing town with little of artistic culture. But, we know on good authority, that a large number of Belleville residents subscribed to the Master Piano Series held at the Mosque, of which Rachmaninoff was the opening performer, than in some of the more pretentious towns nearby. (Hurrah for Belleville!) Among Belleville people who attended were: Eleanor Bacon-Peck, Adell Sullivan, Amy G. Stratton, the Misses Helen McNair, Hazel Ellsworth, Frances and Ruth Williamson, Sarah Cullen, Dorothy Irwin, Palma DeNoia, Bertha Hermann, Laurel Milne, Grace Duffy, May Millward, and Mr. Donald Gauss, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moore and Miss B. M. Lindsay, of Wallace and Tiernan, Inc.

A musicale of interest to Belleville people took place Friday evening at the Bloomfield Woman's Club when the Music Department of that organization, presented John Cataldo, violinist, formerly of Belleville; David Williams, pianist, and Agnes Latimer, contralto, both of Bloomfield, in the second of a series of six evenings of music. The program consisted of two groups of songs by Mrs. Latimer, two sonatas for violin and piano, and a piano solo by Mr. Cataldo and Mr. Williams respectively. The fine program, and evident interest of a large audience set us to wondering why the Music Department of our Woman's Club doesn't have something of the sort.

Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church is celebrating its fifteenth anniversary. Last Sunday evening, in observing "The School Comes To Church," a musical service was given with school teachers providing the program. Ruth Miller sang two sacred solos with great sincerity and musicianship. She was accompanied by Helen McNair, Miss McNair and Arthur Ackerman, organist of the Church, joined forces in two compositions for organ and piano, a combination not heard often in Belleville. Their work was most enjoyable. A quartet of men: William Chapman, Walter Clark, Douglas Roberts, and Richard Vine, sang favorite hymns with nice feeling and good tone. Fewsmith is to be congratulated for the interest and sociability which such a program encourages.

Piano Still Most Popular Instrument

It is when we approach the realm of instruments that we begin to understand the piano as being the basis of intelligent music study.

In this country, 5,865,296 families have pianos. 9,000,000 persons play. 4,000,000 school pupils study the piano.

Etude, a famous musical monthly, largely devoted to piano, sells 200,000 copies a month. The Toronto Conservatory of Music examines about 10,000 piano students each year, while there are more than 150,000 teachers of music.

More than 6,000 high school orchestras and bands flourish in this country, and with the professional orchestras and bands, singing societies, choirs, choruses and chamber music groups, make a musical public of impressive proportions.

Nutley Symphony Concert Tonight

The Nutley Symphony Society will present the first concert of its regular season tonight at 8:30 in Nutley High School. The program will open with the "Phedre" Overture of Massenet, followed by the Tchaikovsky Symphony No. 5 in E minor. Harold Bemko, soloist, will be heard in the Concerto in A minor for cello and orchestra, by Saint-Saens.

At twenty-three, Mr. Bemko is a student whose playing demands notice. With a mother, who was an actress and singer before her marriage, and two sisters who are professional musicians, Mr. Bemko could not escape his destiny as a musician, although he was seventeen before he began the study of the cello with William Berce, Orange. Mr. Berce immediately recognized unusual talent, and soon advised him to go into music professionally. After four years with Mr. Berce, Mr. Bemko competed for a Juilliard scholarship, and was one of two "cellists" to win. After a year at Juilliard, Mr. Bemko eyed the scholarships granted by the New York Philharmonic Society, consisting of training under one of the members of the orchestra. Mr. Bemko, with characteristic aplomb, wrote the first "cellist" of the Philharmonic, Joseph Schuster, who replied with an invitation for Mr. Bemko to play for him. This he did. A few days later a card advised Mr. Bemko that he had been accepted. He is still working with Mr. Schuster.

A good deal of playing experience has been crammed into the six short years of this person's musical life. He plays from time to time with the New Jersey, Essex County, Orange, Montclair, and Juilliard Graduate School Orchestras. In March, 1939, he was the winner of the $100 first prize for cello in the New Jersey Artist's Contest sponsored by the Griffith Music Foundation.

His first love chamber music. Mr. Bemko considers Schubert's Quintette the most beautiful single composition he knows. For reading he likes biographies of musicians and composers. Tall and well-built, this artist enjoys swimming and other athletics. When asked his ambitions, Mr. Bemko put it briefly: "To be as good as possible." Then he added, "To be a good quartet 'cellist,' a fine soloist—perhaps to try some conducting."

Local Folks Have Part
In Mutual Benefit
Production

Advanced ticket sales assure a capacity audience of more than 1,000 tonight at the production of "Clarence." Booth Tarkington's post-war comedy success, given by the Comus Players Amateur Theatrical Organization of the Beneficial Management Corporation, Newark, at the Auditorium, Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, 300 Broadway, Newark.

In line with the Comus Players' policy of contributing to local charities, proceeds from the production will be turned over to the Bonnie Brae Farm for Boys, Millington. The Bonnie Brae Farm is a non-sectarian organization caring for New Jersey boys of unfortunate circumstances, and has been in operation for the last twenty-three years.

Under a new group of officers which include Alfred E. Mockett, Belleville, president; Miss Adeline Maus, Wyckoff, vice-president; Russell Frost, Springfield, treasurer; and Miss Hazel Blewitt, Newark, secretary, the Comus Players have this year greatly expanded their activities in the social service and dramatic fields.

After organizing early last fall the group produced "Three Corners Moon" in March, the proceeds from which were donated to the Children's Aid Society, Newark. This production was later repeated at the New Jersey State Reformatory in Rahway.

A new feature of this season's activities is a Bookings Committee which functions to place the group's productions at the disposal of other charitable organizations wishing to sponsor plays in order to raise funds for their own purposes.

In the cast of the play appear Fluide B. Oelschlager, Roselle Park, as "Clarence"; Mr. Mockett, "Mr. Wheeler"; Mrs. Kathleen Boyce McCulloch, Newark, "Mrs. Wheeler"; Miss Maus of Wyckoff, "Mrs. Martin"; Arthur C. Roe, Upper Montclair, "Bobby Wheeler"; Miss Sally Peters, South Orange, "Corra Wheeler"; Miss Bettie Hall, Newark, "Violet Pinyney"; Miss Grace Olsen, Newark, "Rosie"; Miss Florence Holland, Irvington, "Della"; John Baryliek, Jr., North Plainfield, "Hubert Stem"; and Louis Bornmann, Plainfield, "Dinwiddie."

Those serving on special committees for the present production are the Misses Marion McGlennon, Hazel Blewitt, Marion Hagel, Anne Conway and Mrs. Dorothy Sands Abbott of Newark; Misses Madeline Oakes and Frances McGuire, Summit; Twila Zaebsht, Hasbrouck Heights; Winifred Tarnier, Madison; Rosina Dunn, New Brunswick; Helen Danner, Orange; Ann Nork, South Orange; Sigrid Sandness, Teaneck; Mildred Bud, Cedar Grove; Eileen Kenny, Irvington; Ethel Hanna, Westfield; Ann Sweeney, West Orange; Betty Miller, Elizabeth; Margaret McKay, Orange; Alice Compton, Belleville; Lucille Kreutler, Maplewood; and Mrs. Victoria Hess Stewart, North Arlington; David Dorn, Orange; John Gibbons, Short Hills; James Rankin, East Orange; and William Moore, Roselle Park.

Miss Compton, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Edgar Compton, 134 Academy street, will also act as an usher.

PLAN ROUND TABLE FOR DISCUSSION OF RECREATION

Meeting Tuesday In High School Open
To Public

The Parent-Teacher Council held a committee meeting at Belleville High School, recently. The committee plans to have a round-table discussion on "Supervised Recreation." The meeting will be open to the public and will be held in the High School, Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Taking part in the round-table discussion will be Louis Goldner, member Newark Recreation Board; Mayor William H. Williams; Commissioner Louis A. Noll, recreation director; Rev. Walter Lake, pastor Grace Baptist Church; Joseph Conlon, first assistant prosecutor of Essex County, and representative of the Belleville Board of Education who will be decided upon later.

The committee arranging the "Open Forum" will consist of Harry Brumback, chairman; Wayne R. Parmer, superintendent of schools, as honorary chairman; George J. Kimmerly, Lindley A. Graves, William E. Rame and Mrs. Raymond Connolly.

Every Man's B.ble Class

In a recent executive meeting of Every Man's Bible Class Sunday was designated Neighbor day. Every man is requested to bring a neighbor. A good turnout is expected.

ancient feud in competition with their rivals, the Reynalls, with action and adventure on every page.

Meador Wright's PIQUANT POLITICS

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the author and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

The brief flare-up of political activity that accompanied the election has now subsided. In Essex the election proved nothing except that the trend away from the Democratic party, which started two years ago is still in progress. At the same time it proved that the favorable Democratic trend in Hudson County has not abated.

That two political movements in adjoining counties should be traveling in exactly opposite directions is a paradox without parallel in New Jersey's political history. The State of New Jersey as a whole began to turn against Hague in 1937. By the fall of that year this anti-Democratic trend had gone so far that Governor Moore escaped defeat by Dr. Lester H. Clee by the narrowest of margins. So close was the Moore victory that Clee's supporters immediately seized upon the huge Democratic majority in Hudson as the cause of the minister's defeat. The majority was branded as fraudulent and a sweeping investigation was demanded. Methods used by the Hague machine in blocking the investigation lent color to the Clee charges. Many Republicans got themselves to the point of believing that the election had been stolen from Clee.

At this point Hague started his anti-CIO campaign of denying the right of free-speech and assembly to labor leaders. The national press took up this challenge with such a vengeance that it looked for a time that Hague would be driven completely from power. The results of the 1938 election emphasized this sentiment against Hague. W. Warren Barbour was elected to the Senate by a majority that was heralded in many sections as a landslide. Republicans were jubilant until they had time to reflect upon the returns in Hudson. While Barbour's majority in Essex was 52,000 in round figures, in Hudson he was snowed under by a larger Democratic majority than had been given in other campaigns when the state as a whole went a quarter of a million votes against the Republicans. Hague might be losing elsewhere, but in Hudson he was getting stronger.

This year's returns were a repetition of those of last year. Considering the light vote, Essex went more strongly Republican than last year. But even in the face of this lighter vote, Hudson gave a larger Democratic majority than the year before. What is the meaning of these strange figures? Where will they halt? Why should the county of Hudson be immune to a trend that effects every other section of the state?

These questions can be answered in part at any rate. But the answers will require an analysis of the peculiar conditions in Hudson that cannot be given in the space of this column. Suffice it to say that Hague's hold on the population of Hudson is one of the most unusual phenomena in America today. Despite all the hue and cry against Hague few writers have thrown much light on Hague's peculiar political technique. Most of them have been too busy denouncing him to learn the reasons for his unique strength.

In a subsequent article I shall give my interpretation of Hague's strength in his home county. Now I can only point out that this strength is so tremendous that no Republican majority elsewhere can be depended upon to stand up against it year after year. Either Hague must be weak in Hudson or else the remainder of the state must be organized into a solid machine against him. The alternative is the continued domination by him of the State government.

Progress Club To Hold Memorial Services

The Progress Club will hold its annual memorial service for deceased members tomorrow night at the Sabbath Eve Service of Congregation Ahavas Achim Anshe Belleville, 317 Washington avenue, according to an announcement by Jack Steinhauer, president.

The memorial service will start at 9. Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin, of the congregation, and chaplain of the Progress Club will officiate and speak on "Let Us Remember."

All are cordially invited to attend the service. A social hour will follow the service in the vestry rooms of the synagogue.

Snoop's Snoops

It is too bad that more parents of Belleville High School children were not able to see the antics of the fath-ers of the children of No. 5 School at the P.T.A. meeting Monday night. They cut quite some figures in their costumes. Elwood P. Russell, who was in charge of the program, deserves a lot of credit for having been able to convince the men that they should carry on and wear the outfits that were assigned to them.

The audience was mystified by William Henderson, who performed some feats of magic and mind reading. It's a good thing he restricted himself to a certain limited number of tricks, because some of the audience were beginning to worry that he would expose some of their secrets.

Our Atlantic City reporter has finally come to life and sends word that a great number of Belleville teachers were seen over the weekend "doing" the boardwalk. They had been in attendance at the State Teachers' Convention from Thursday until Sunday.

Among those noticed were Superintendent of Schools Wayne R. Parmer, High School Principal Hugh D. Kittle, and some former Belleville school men, Charles Steele, former high school principal and now principal of Teaneck High School; Kenneth Colter, former high school teacher and now principal of the Jamesburg High School; William R. Halbert, former principal of Belleville High School and now principal of North Arlington High School.

The Armistice Day parade Saturday evening was rather a disappointment as far as numbers were concerned, but there were quite a few of Belleville's prominent citizens in the line of march. We noticed Commissioners Joseph King and Louis Noll, who represented the town's official family very well, but it was a surprise that only two of the five Commissioners were able to participate.

The Boy Scout group seemed to be well taken care of with District Commissioner Douglas Clark and his assistant, John Charlton, both in uniform. The ranks were swelled by the official representatives of the local group, John P. Dailey, president; Frank Chambers, vice-president; and the following members of the Executive Committee: Rev. Walter Lake, Grace Baptist Church, Raymond Patrick and Harold Ross.

Among those marching with the veterans were Dick Dougherty, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; George Weston, former commander; James J. Reilly, William Rivollo and Bill McNair. Believe me, they looked good with their canes.

There was a decided absence of service uniforms. In fact, there appeared to be only one sailor uniform and not a single marine or army outfit.

We dropped in at the Elks Club last week and the bowling alleys were crowded. Among those present were Fire Chief Alex Reid and his son (who, by the way, if he keeps going at the pace he is now setting, will cut quite some figure in the bowling ranks), Shade Tree Inspector William Fabian and Police Officer Ray Hilton.

Among those looking on or partaking of dinner in the new Elks Grill were Elmer Hyde, Bob Gordon, former Exalted Ruler Harold (Cap) Garr and golf professional Maurie O'Connor.

High School Coach A. K. McBride is well on the way to recovery and should be back on the job any day now. Mac certainly had some siege of it.

"Chat," the cat of Mrs. C. Deleagro, Overlook avenue, certainly is getting some publicity. This cat spent some time in the New York World's Fair and has recently been played up with a "Strange as it may seem" by Ripley. The cat is a combination cat and rat and has four toes on each paw. The fore-paw and head are similar to any other cat, while the hind quarters have a gray hide instead of fur, and a tail that resembles that of a rat. The Belleville News prides itself on unearthing this yarn back last August.

Guess His Weight And Win Him For Your Table!

R. H. Birchard (left), sales manager of the Newark unit of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Co., surveys the grand Chinook Salmon displayed by John Allen, who brought it to New Jersey from Alaska. This fish will be on exhibition frozen in a cake of ice in the local A&P Super Market this week. Anyone correctly guessing his weight will win him. Guessing blanks given free to all at the A&P Super Market. Award will be made Friday at 7 P.M., November 18th, by the local manager of the Self Service Store.

Many people throughout Northern New Jersey will be thinking a great deal about fish this week. The weight of the huge Alaska Chinook Salmon, pictured above, will be a highly controversial subject in the neighborhood of A&P Super Markets.

One of the big fish will be on view, frozen in a solid cake of ice, in each market. And a weight guessing contest will be held, for which the public will be given blanks available at the Super Meat and Fish departments, on which they may enter a guess "without obligation."

Careful record will be kept of the estimates and at 7 p.m. Friday, November 18, the local manager of the big self service store will announce the winner, to whom the big fish will be given as a prize.

This plan of fish-mindedness will be presented by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company in conjunction with their introduction of a new and unusual product known as Baby Arctic Trout. It has never been offered for sale anywhere before. It is not a canned but a "ready for the pan" fish whose dainty and delicate flavor from the icy Alaskan water will broil and fry its way past the most skeptical appetite. To make its friends and customers acquainted with this new delicacy the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is making this unusual offer of the Chinook, big brother of the Baby Arctic Trout, also from Alaska, as a prize to these persons proving themselves most fish-weight conscious.

with two ace attractions. "Thunder Afloat," starring Wallace Beery with Chester Morris and Virginia Grey, combines sea action even more exciting than that of "Captains Courageous" with a stirring story based on actual naval history and characterizations as authentic as the film's backgrounds.
As the companion feature Jackie Cooper and Betty Field are starred in "What a Life" (the adventures of Henry Aldrich, radio's hard luck kid). It's the grandest comedy romance of high school life ever filmed.

whistles—one that rarity of present-day football, the slow whistle, and the other marking the end of the game.

Both came on the last play of the game. Belleville had set up what seemed to be a sure touchdown when Bill Naylor dropped on a Kearny fumble on the latter's 25. George Tietze took it thru to the ten and passed to Sullivan on the two.

Finny Belleville had a first down on the one-yard line, lost three yards and gained it back on an offside penalty. There was no gain on the next play but Miller took the ball across the goal on the one following.

The referee was slow with his whistle. The Cardinals ganged up on the Bellboy fullback and pushed him into the four-inch line at which point the game ended.

All the way. A duel developed unexpectedly between Tietze and Bob Forfar, Kearny's all-star back, for personal value to their respective teams and the Hudson boy came out second best.

General opinion along the avenue following the game was to the effect that Tietze should have been in the backfield all season instead of at the end of the line.

The Zebra back was the spearhead of the Belleville attack which doubled Kearny's first downs.

All told Belleville seriously threatened to score four times during the game but was halted each time. In the first quarter the Bellboys penetrated to the 23 only to have a pass intercepted on the ten.

The third period saw a 45-yard drive. A duel between Heileman and Coach-Quarterback Tony Sarauzky of the Rams may develop since Sarauzky is one of the Association's top notch booters.

The Newark Nomads, Inc., will sponsor the second annual dinner and dance of the organization at the Meadowbrook, Pompton Turnpike, Cedar Grove, on Friday evening, December 1. Glen Miller and his orchestra will be featured. Dress will be optional.

HONOR J. F. COOGAN ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

Former Baseball Star Of Newark's First Pro Game Is Octogenarian Saturday

Pop Coogan becomes an octogenarian Saturday.

Pop Coogan is John F. Coogan

"Pop" Coogan

The First, 114 Adelaide street, father of the town tax collector and one of the pioneers in Jersey baseball.

More than a half-century ago Coogan was one of the leading figures in the baseball world; today he is one of those beloved oldsters who form a strong connecting link between Belleville, past and present.

It was in 1884 that he first took up baseball seriously. At that time he played for the Domestic Sewing Machine Company, 609 Broad street, Newark. Dave Pearson, a member of the old Cincinnati Red Sox, was his manager and captain then.

The following year, after a mediocre season, the team disbanded and Charley Hackett, its manager, kept only Coogan as the nucleus of a new team which he formed and called the Newark Little Giants, the first professional baseball club in North Jersey.

In 1885 Coogan was the shining light in the first pro game ever played in this area. He was kept on with the club, he says, because he was a "pretty good hitter, but a rotten fielder."

Giants Disband

The Little Giants lasted only a year. They disbanded because they were too strong, but their demise did not end Coogan's playing days. He continued in uniform until 1890. The only other survivor of the Giants is John "Phenomenal" Smith, now on the
