PUBLIC SERVICE

Exclusively YOURS by Bill Myers

THE passing of the Star Eagle brings back many pleasant memories of members of its alumni. In the news stories giving the details of the sale of the paper, names of many of the more colorful former Star Eagle workers were not mentioned. Tops among the re-write men was the late Don Mulhern, and one of the cleverest cartoonists in the East today is Jerry Costello, former Star-Eagle artist, now basking in the limelight of popularity in Art. Other names include Bert Dodge, one-time Star Eagle sports editor; Harry Mendel, bicycle racer; Jim, impressario; Charles Mc Guirk, whose stories appear with steady regularity in the Daily News; and Pete O'Toole, whose intimate personality paragraphs about local celebrities was a favorite feature in the paper for many years.

BEST dressed of the city's hotel clerks is E. B. McClure of the Robert Treat... Newest popular cocktail in town is the Barbados rum, juice of half a lime and a teaspoon of sugar... Most cosmopolitan of the men about town is Tommer's Tom Fitzpatrick... Graham crackers, half milk and cream, is the daily luncheon diet of a dozen or more of Newark's leading business men... Most fastidious visitor to town during the week was Jack Putnam, manager of Rochester's Seneca Hotel.

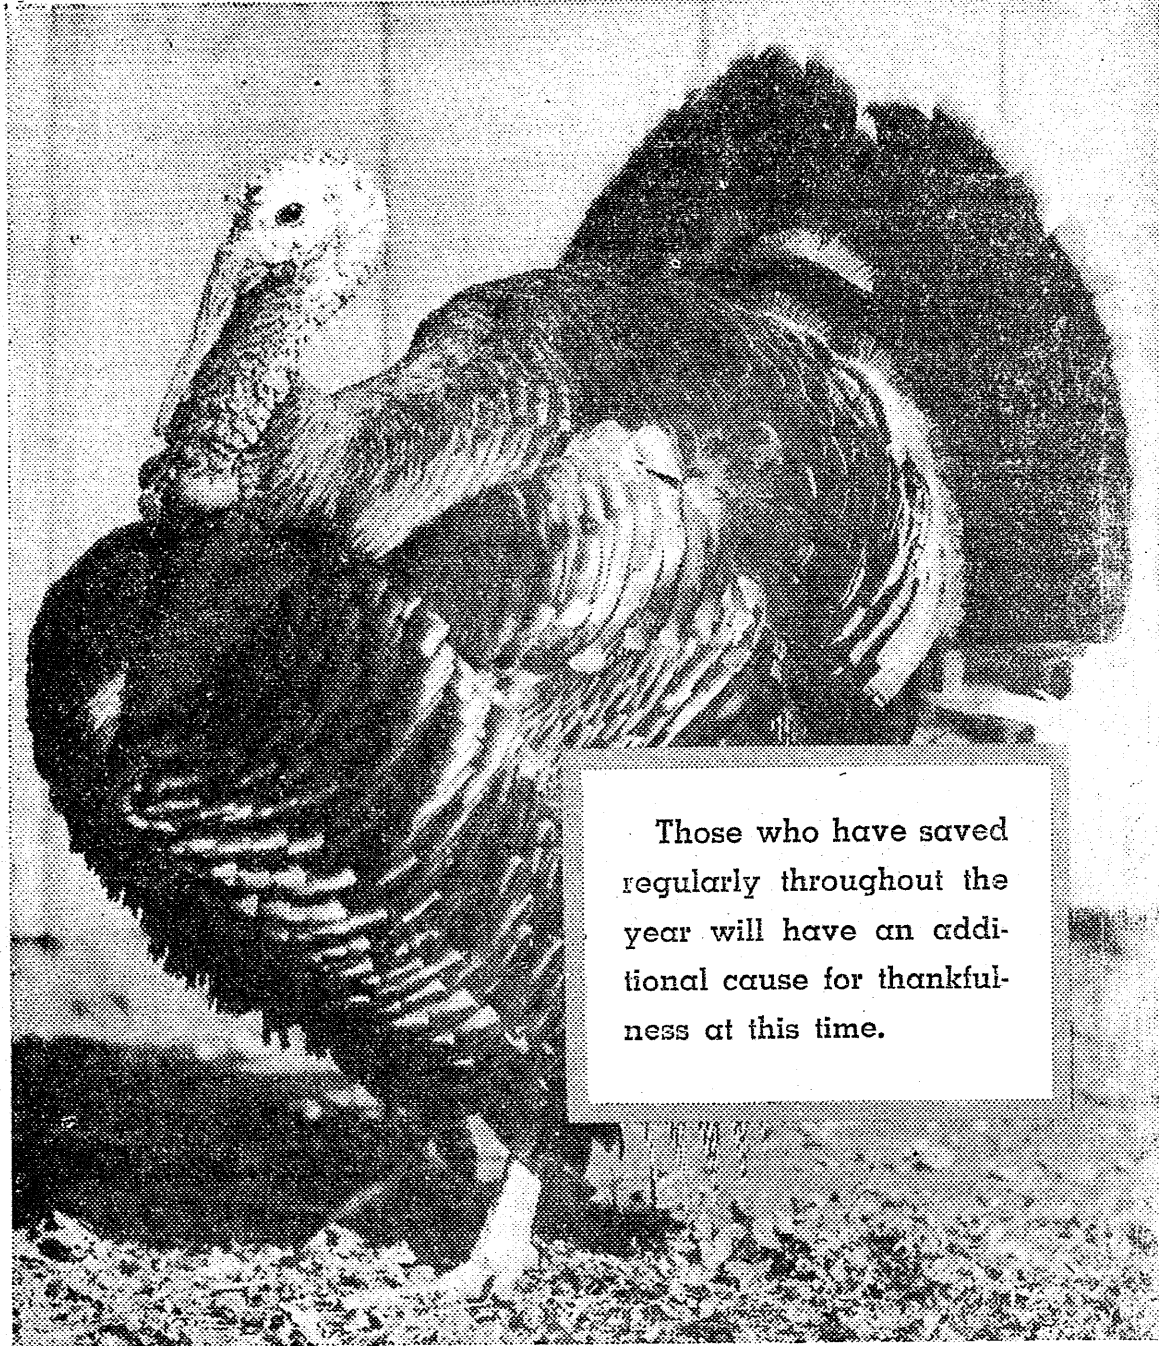

I LIKE: The Swedish punch cocktails at the Kungsholm and the Condor's Hop Toad Cocktails, which, should you care to know, are made with one-third apricot brandy, two-thirds gin, and juice of half a lime... Alderney's vanilla ice cream with hot melted Hershey bar poured over it, or Alderney's strawberry ice cream with fresh crushed frozen Birds-eye strawberries... The melted cheese sandwiches on toast with sliced bacon in the Treat's Coffee Shop.

A RECENT poll of gentlemen diners in a fashionable local dining spot showed that 60 per cent take a half pint of milk with their meals... Incidentally, Alderney Dairy has, at its Bridge Street Plant, replicas of the first type of milk bottle used in America... Caldwell's Grover Cleveland Park has the most complete variety of trees to be found hereabouts... Newest alibi of the boys who return home late with lipstick on their clothes is that they have been reading The Evening Transcript of the Oranges, which has a new bright red mast head.

TWO of my favorite late stops these nights are the Kungsholm, where your dinner is always so satisfying, and The Condor, which has the charm and grace of the better country clubs and the friendliness of the old-fashioned inn. The Kungsholm, last Friday night, staged another of its Swedish entertainment nights with vast success and will, it is announced, present the Swedish folk dancers once more in a few weeks. The Condor continues to present Jack Betzner and his orchestra for dinner and supper dancing.

HERE and There: "Exclusively Yours" now appears in nine Essex County newspapers which take in Newark, Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Caldwell, the Oranges, Maplewood, Belleville and Nutley... Noted among the cars from other states at Alderney's Milk Barn on Route 10 Sunday, was one bearing an Hawaiian license plate. Since its opening cars from virtually every state in the Union have visited the popular Alderney refreshment rendezvous... "Exclusively Yours" guessed the final score of the Princeton-Yale game within one point.

The Big Kick's in Not Being Rich

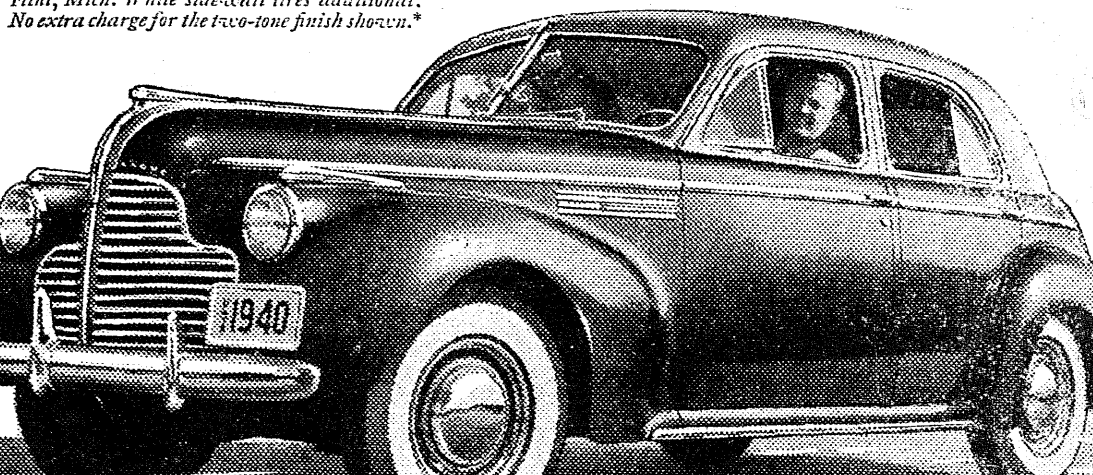

YES, it's nice to have a lot of money to spend. But don't forget there's also plenty of fun to be had "on the way up" to affluence.

There's the satisfaction of achieving something better than you're used to—stepping up, for instance, to this smart, swift, solid Buick after you've been driving run-of-the-mill cars.

Just you feel the silk-smooth surge of its great 107 horsepower micropoise-balanced straight-eight engine — and you know that all that went before was only preliminary to this big thrill.

You flip the firm, easy gearshift—and the click of its action under your hands says

Electric Rate Reductions

Will Save Consumers More Than $1,100,000 Annually

As a result of negotiations started several months ago between the Public Utilities Commission and Public Service Electric and Gas Company, electric rate reductions have been agreed upon that will amount to

A Saving of $1,100,700 Yearly

(based on estimated sales for the year 1939)

The reductions will apply to Residential Customers, to Commercial and General Customers and for Street Lighting Service.

The new rates will become effective with bills rendered in the regular course of business on and after January 1, 1940, covering consumption from December 1939 meter readings. In the case of Street Lighting Service the rate revision will become effective with bills rendered for that service for the month of January.

In arriving at the new rates, the company agreed to eliminate the 6 cents per kilowatt hour first step in the present schedule and lower the rate to a 5 cent step after the initial minimum charge of $1.00 which includes the use of eleven kilowatt hours of service.

After the 5 cent step, as the quantity of electricity used monthly by each customer increases, the rate per kilowatt hour is decreased by successive steps.

In keeping with the company's policy of lowering rates when possible, this is the tenth reduction made since January 1929.

WE ARE THANKFUL

Here we have a broad and mighty land.
Innumerable are its riches and countless are its blessings.

No invader threatens our borders. No hostile fleet lurks off our shores.

The enemies within our gates are few, mainly created by our own folly or our toleration of freedom of speech and movement.

No man need fear the exercise of his native faith. No man is denied the solace of his ancestral religion.

We preach no hate, and jealously guard our liberties.

From North to South and from sea to sea we have kept faith with those who gave us this land and this heritage.

For all this, we are thankful.

THE CIRCULAR NUISANCE

Can towns and cities legally enact ordinances which prevent distribution of hand bills, shopping guides and other throwaway advertising sheets?

This is a question that has been studied in the last few weeks by the Town Commission following a storm of protest from residents that such material litters porches, lawns and steps, besides acting as an open invitation to housebreakers to enter homes where families are away for a day or weekend, or longer periods.

This newspaper has received many complaints from home owners and residents that seem to be generally worded as follows: "I am sick and tired of having my porch cluttered with those handbills and throw-aways. If the stores that put them out only realized it, the advertising is no good. I don't even read the things and get so mad at seeing them around I wouldn't trade in the stores that use them, anyway."

Aside from the complaint angle, the U. S.
Supreme Court recently held that ordinances requiring licenses for distribution of free printed matter are unconstitutional because they violate privileges of a free press, guaranteed by the Constitution.

Apparently this does not apply, however, to ordinances invoking the police power of the municipalities to prevent littering of streets and sidewalks.

The Supreme Court of Wisconsin recently declared constitutional a municipal ordinance intended to prevent the littering of streets with cast-off handbills and throwaway sheets.

Pomona, Calif., is rigidly enforcing an anti-handbill ordinance. Under it, the city clerk is required to get post office permit numbers from "legitimate" newspapers. Publications not furnishing the numbers are refused permission to circulate in the city on the grounds that free-distribution sheets are a public nuisance.

In August, the city council of Newport News, Va., enacted a drastic ordinance prohibiting circulation of advertising handbills, circulars, cards, or any other printed matter except newspapers capable of being entered in the mails as second-class matter.

While each case must be decided on its own merits, it seems that municipalities may have the right to prohibit or regulate distribution of free publications if it can be established that their distribution violates the rights of citizens and constitutes a public nuisance.

Here is an instance of what happened a week ago in Belleville when a shopper's guide made its initial appearance. The pro-motors of the guide had applied for a permit and placed a $25 deposit for it with the town. The permit was held up pending study by Corporation Counsel Lawrence E. Keenan of ordinances in vogue hereabouts. The circular outfit came in for its permit and was told to see Chief of Police George Spatz about it by the permit department. The chief said that the permit would have to come through in the regular way. The permit was not issued, according to officials in the Town Hall, but the shopper's guide went out to Belleville homes, just the same. It is said it was delivered by a Newark distributing agency which has a $25 permit to distribute such circulars here for a year.

Thus, legally, under Belleville's catch-as-catch-can ordinance, one permit would suffice to distribute ALL the circulars in Belleville for a year. For this privilege the town would get the great amount of $25, if all the circular-minded folks here decided to use this one agency.

But, from what can be gathered, Belleville does not intend to leave matters as they are. The circular boys are apt to wake up one morning and find that the officials have in mind the wishes of the citizenry of the town—and that is to stop the circular nuisance. So far almost 1,000 families—one-quarter of the town—have expressed themselves against this nuisance.

ECONOMY FIGHT PAYS A $280,000,000 DIVIDEND

In no state in the Nation are citizens generally more tax-conscious and economy-minded than right here in New Jersey. This is because of the movement against new taxes and for economy in government which has been vigorously prosecuted here ever since 1935 when the sales tax was repealed.

Although real estate taxes are still tolerably high and state and local government continues to consume more than a million dollars a day, progress is being made and the economy movement has paid at least one whacking big dividend.

This dividend is the $280,000,000 reduction in the total local government debt burden reported recently by the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce. In the six years ending December, 1938, municipal bonded debt dropped $69,369,102, county debt was cut $68,691,863 and municipal floating indebtedness dropped $141,836,794.

These reductions are an effective answer to skeptics who frequently ask what has been accomplished by the movement to produce economies in government and to improve the quality of public administration.

Out of every New Jersey property tax dollar, thirty-two cents is consumed by debt service. Thus, continuance of this downward trend will be reflected in lower tax rates if public opinion insists that local governments cut operating budgets and translate reduced debt service demands into lower local tax bills.

Two hundred and eighty million dollars is a lot of money. It is dwarfed, however, when we compare it with the existing aggregate over-all debt burden of New Jersey which on December 31, 1938, stood at the staggering total of $978,435,711.

This latter figure indicates that there's still plenty of room for improvement. Obviously, we've a long way to go. It is to the interest of every taxpayer to insist that this encouraging downward trend in debt burden is maintained and that the fight against new taxes and for economy in government continues vigorously.

REGULAR GUYS

"There were tears in the eyes of the regular guys . . ."

When these lines were penned little did anyone believe that they might some day apply to members of the Newark Star-Eagle staff.

But, Saturday no truer words of mouth or pen could have been applied. All "regular guys," the Star-Eagle crew, sent their last sheet to press.

There was Belleville's own editor, James "Jim" Kennedy, a swell fellow and tops in the realm of newspapermen—an employee of the paper for thirty-nine years—wondering if it could be true, that this life work had ceased because the road had become too precarious for the 108-year-old paper to travel.

"Joe" Reilly—whose nimble mind, fingers and sharp pencil had whittled many a story into shape for the Star.

Hale Williamson, former Washington correspondent.

Nugent Freeman, Nutley, who used to let us tug his baseball bat when we were a youngster.

Joseph Donnelly, Belleville avenue, who handled for twenty-two years one of the two huge Hoe presses that whirled man, a Star-Eagle to waiting readers, and night chapel head, Pinson, of Belleville.

We could go on—Tony Marengi, who always could inveigle Mike Jacobs out of a row C, seat 1 ducat for our personal use at all world championship fights, either in the Garden or Yankee Stadium.

"Bill" Bersey, local correspondent.

"Regular guys," Tony once remarked:
"You said it, keed."

In retrospect there was a sort of a sad feeling in the writer's heart. He had run some of the gamut of human emotions with these swell Star-Eagle boys. It is sad to see the boys lose jobs on a paper—a paper that meant as much to them as their right arms. It is more than a newspaper folding up—it is the life work of a lot of the "regular guys."

THANK GOD, WE'RE AMERICANS!

By United States Senator W. Warren Barbour

The views expressed in this column are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

Washington, November 15—Washington is quieting down.
There is none of the excitement here which usually marks a national crisis. Nor should there be. Our own crisis is past. We've decided on our own course. If we stick to it, and I see no reason why we shouldn't, there is no reason for excitement or apprehension in the United States over what is going on elsewhere in the world.

Thank heaven we don't have to keep gas masks in the living room and keep our ears open for the sound of air raid sirens. I'm going to touch on that and some other things we have to be thankful for next week. This week I want to talk again about Washington, our neutrality program, and the national defense on which we depend to keep the yards of other nations away from our own shores.

As for Washington, the crowd-of visitors have thinned out, you can get hotel reservations without difficulty, you don't see an army of war contractors and profiteers hovering around the government departments as you do when we are at war or about to go to war.
The country is at peace and Washington is peaceful. We can say truthfully, I think, that all is quiet on the Potomac. The reports we get from Europe are grave, but there is nothing in them which need disturb our own serenity.

I think we shall make a mistake, however, if we permit ourselves to think this is a phony war. I don't think it is.
It is starting slowly for several reasons. One of them is that it is likely to be a long war, like the first world war, and the nations at war do not want to run any risk of exhausting themselves in the first year or two. It's like a marathon race or a 20-round fight. You have to take it easy at the outset if you expect to finish strong, or even finish at all.

Another reason is that the rulers of Europe know the people themselves are sick of war. They know that any war of exhaustion would result almost certainly in the overthrow of the existing governments and the spread of radicalism throughout Europe. So they're going to war cautiously, keeping their losses in men and materials to a minimum.

Let's remember that it was Hitler who started the war. It wasn't the German people. And Hitler knew the German people don't want war any more than the British or French people want it.
Stalin knows equally well that the Russian people do not want war.
The British and French have gone to war only because they were tired of Hitler's constant threats. They decided war was preferable to having Hitler first threaten and then invade one country after another. It was a question of going now or later.
They decided to go now.

Let's hope Hitler and Stalin ultimately will go the way of most dictators. And the sooner the better.

Trade Without Risk

Here in the United States, where the people themselves decide questions of war and peace, and every few years have a chance to elect a complete new government which will reflect the views of the majority, we have decided definitely, I think, to stay out of the European war entolment. I see no reason why we should ever get into it or, now that the neutrality law has been revised, how we can be forced into it.

Gradually, with the neutrality program as a start, we are perfecting our own formula for peace, building it on the solid foundations of national defense and refusal to become involved in the age-old quarrels of Europe.

The new neutrality program will keep Americans and American vessels out of the North Sea, the English Channel and other trouble zones adjacent to the European war areas.

Under the new law we can sell planes and other war materials, as well as cotton, wheat, coal, potatoes, meat and other supplies to France and England, but they'll have to come over here to get them, pay for them in cash, and assume the responsibility for delivery on the other side of the Atlantic. We're less likely to get into trouble that way than if we ourselves tried to run the gamut of German submarines and cruisers, or let the warring nations run up bills in the United States which probably never would be paid.

Under the neutrality proclamation, we can continue to ship goods in our own vessels to any country in Central or South America; or anywhere in the Pacific, or to Africa, or to Italy, Spain and other countries in the Mediterranean and Black Sea regions. This includes Russia also.
We can ship goods to Bergen, Norway, and infact reach all the countries of the Scandinavian peninsula except Denmark by using the northern shipping routes.

This seems to me to be a sensible solution of the problem of trading with a minimum of risk to American interests. It is the best of all the plans proposed to keep us out of war.

Our next job is to crack down on the spies in the United States and build up the national defense, particularly in the air and on the sea.

U. S. Leads in Air

We shall be stronger in the air than any other nation as a result of the expansion now under way in the aircraft industry. This expansion is made possible by our own orders for aircraft, and those being received from practically every other country which has or feels the need of an air force.

American planes are coming to be recognized as among the best in the world. France has found them the best in use on the western battle front. And she does not even have our latest secret types.

Naval authorities tell me that in hitting power, morale, fleet effectiveness, gunnery, tactics, and types of war ships the American Navy comes pretty close now to being the most powerful in the world. It does, however, need more submarines, destroyers and aircraft carriers, and additional bases in the Atlantic and Pacific from which to operate.

Bill Provides Bases

My own bill to provide the Navy with the bases which its highest officers say it must have to make the country safe was drafted in consultation with naval authorities. It would give us ample protection for the Atlantic coast, including New York and Northern New Jersey, and for the Panama Canal and our Pacific coast and Pacific possessions.

Legislation is ready to be introduced at the beginning of the regular session to give the Navy the submarines, destroyers and carriers it needs to round out the fleet.

I hope Congress will enact both measures promptly, and feel sure that there will be no unnecessary delay in their consideration.

Have you ever thought how important a little island in the middle of the Pacific Ocean might be in case of trouble in that part of the world? Some of those coral atolls, broken with lagoons and fringed with palms, make ideal air fields. Under modern conditions they really become stepping stones across the ocean for our air fleets. They didn't mean much when we got them, but they do now, since air force has taken rank with sea force as a factor in the national defense.

My bill provides for air and submarine bases at Midway, Wake and Unalaska Islands, and air bases on Johnston, Palmyra, Canton and Rose Islands, in addition to providing new facilities for the Navy in Alaska and elsewhere in the Aleutian chain of islands curving off to the southwest.

Will Work For Cape May

I spoke last week of the inclusion of a $5,000,000 authorization for a new air base at Cape May. I don't know whether we can get this or not, but I'm going to try. Naval officers tell me the Navy probably has authority and land enough at Cape May now to develop an emergency air base there if trouble threatens us on the East coast. In my opinion, however, we shouldn't wait for an emergency to develop it. We ought to have it now, so it would be instantly available if we ever do need it.

But we're getting along pretty well, as it is. No one threatens us at the present time, nor is anyone likely to so long as we attend to our own business and try to keep the peace. And we'll do that, for we want no part in this war.

tino, Harry Machette, William cember 1, at 8:15 in the Parish

SNOOP'S SCOOPS

Rumors still persist that Coach Frank Smith of Belleville High School has resigned. Added to the former rumors is one that he has already been engaged to coach Harrison High School, Harrison. We have been unable to get any confirmation of either of the rumors, but according to the old saying, "Where there's smoke there must be fire."

It was a pleasure to see that the Belleville Girl Scouts were finally recognized in the Armistice Day parade by being awarded a prize for the best junior marching outfit.
They certainly looked and marched well.

The Boy Scouts could take a lesson from the marching of their sister Scouts; but we are also happy to find that the Boy Scout unit was awarded a prize for having the most in line. This is rather a departure from years past, when the Girl Scouts always far outnumbered the boys, although there are more Boy Scouts registered in town than Girl Scouts. Anyway, next year should make for better competition between these two.

We had an opportunity to ride around town over the week-end. It was a pleasure to see the new factory buildings under construction. The Commissioners and, especially Mayor Williams, should be congratulated on having brought into town new industries.

Heyer Products plant is progressing rapidly and is rather a departure in design.
We are sure it will be a real addition to our Belleville manufacturing plants.

Bar Reflector plant is rapidly taking shape and this also will be a great improvement on Main street.

The Jergens plant is yet to start, but from the preliminary work being done by the Railroad, the Town and the County, we are certain this will be a large scale project and benefit the town greatly.

The foundation for the Eastern Tool plant is just about in. It is too early to judge the type of building, but this, too, should help the particular section in which it is being built.

The Edison office building is well under way and the improvement in the Silver Lake section will certainly be helpful.

sociation at Paterson last tional Bank of Belleville, and

Musical Reviews

Last Thursday evening the first of a series of five concerts by the Nutley Symphony Orchestra took place in the High School of that town. A large audience greeted William Oscar, conductor, when he stepped to the podium to begin the program with the symphony "Overture to Cello," by Massenet.

Harold Benko, cello soloist in the Saint-Saens A minor concerto, was somewhat of a disappointment to those who had heard him in the past; for although he coaxed some beautiful tones from his instrument in the melodious part of the composition, the cadenzas and other technical passages seemed labored, and lacked real fluency. He seemed to be a serious performer, intent upon the work at hand, but his extreme nervousness and somewhat awkward stage deportment showed a lack of ease which many of the young artists today possess.

The Tchaikovsky Symphony No. 3 was enjoyed the most. Its lovely themes, coupled with the dramatic use of the various choirs of the orchestra, kept the interest of those not familiar with the composition. A beginning which was too slow, and fluctuating tempo proved the symphony to be one which is big for an orchestra made up mostly of non-professionals.

The audience was generously sprinkled with young people whose rapt attention was a joy to watch.

HEALTH QUESTION: Is excessive speed in ambulances necessary?

There are circumstances in which saving a life is sometimes a matter of time. A person who has been injured in an accident and is bleeding profusely may be saved as an illustration. Such a person should receive medical attention as soon as possible.

Generally speaking, however, there is no necessity for reckless driving on the part of ambulance drivers. Unduly fast driving of ambulances has caused too many accidents. When this occurs the function of the ambulance—as a vehicle of mercy—has been de-fected.

An additional five or ten minutes will not cost a life in most cases. The ambulance driver's desire to get his patient to a hospital as soon as possible should therefore be tempered with good judgment.

THANKSGIVING THOUGHT

Is this Thanksgiving season it at well to ask ourselves as a nation: What have we done to arouse a sense of Thanksgiving in other nations?

With the many blessings and advantages a kind Providence has showered upon us we have also assumed the grave responsibility to use everything in a beneficial manner. Only so can we express a worthy Thanksgiving.

To be in a prosperous and leading position means that one must live up to it and prosper everywhere one comes with; and to lead all those who look for help and assistance, in the right direction.

If our ideals connect us with a higher goal then we must lead other nations to it and watch well that we are not descending to their methods which have brought woeful results. It is the destiny of America to usher in a Great Thanksgiving for all mankind, by strict adherence to her high principle, which include impartiality and fairness toward all.

American Legion Auxiliary

"Mobilization for peace and democracy." This is the term applied to the American Legion Auxiliary's present membership campaign by Belleville Unit. Every member enrolled gives the Auxiliary added strength for its efforts to keep America at peace and keep secure the nation's free form of government.

The Auxiliary expects to have fully one-half million women enrolled in its work for 1940. This year enrollment reached a new high record of 480,000 and early enrollments for the coming year are running far ahead of all previous marks. Belleville reports its membership campaign is meeting ready response from the eligible local women.

Just as it is necessary for the government to strengthen the armed defenses of the country at this time, we believe it is necessary to strengthen the Auxiliary as part of the nation's patriotic defense. Strong patriotic spirit is necessary to keep us out of war, as well as a strong national defense. As the nation's largest women's patriotic organization, the Auxiliary has an important function during these critical days.

Working with the American Legion, the Auxiliary has been able to accomplish much along these lines in past years. With the increased strength that is coming to us, we hope to be able to make even greater achievements toward our goal of an America securely at peace and secure in its democracy.

Women of the American Legion Auxiliary will intensify their efforts in defense of American ideals of liberty during the coming year, according to Mrs. Anna Allen, Americanism chairman.

CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

276 Main Avenue, Passaic, N. J.

605 Broad Street, Newark.
"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism Denounced," is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "When they shall say unto you, Seek unto them that have familiar spirits, and unto wizards that peep, and that mutter: should not a people seek unto their God?"

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear ye the word which the Lord speaketh unto you, O house of Israel: Thus saith the Lord, Learn not the way of the heathen, and be not dismayed at the signs of heaven; for the heathen are dismayed at them. But the Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king."

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "The varied doctrines and theories which pre-suppose life and intelligence to exist in matter are so many ancient and modern mythologies. Mystery, miracle, sin, and death will disappear when it becomes fairly understood that the divine Mind controls man and man has no mind but God."

Bloomfield Woman Gets Salmon

Five-year-old Thomas P. Conroy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Conroy, 131 Washington avenue, wistfully looks on the forty-seven pounds of grand Chinook Salmon in the Great A&P Super Market, 169-171 Washington avenue, opposite the Town Hall, between Rutgers street and Belleville avenue, Friday night. "Tommie" had just decided that Mrs. Edna Reck, 98 Johnson avenue, Bloomfield, should be given the big fellow. For his efforts he was given a "hot dog" (see his left hand) by the manager of the Fish and Meat Department, Steve Tomayko, who is shown at the left of the picture. Next to Mr. Tomayko is the store manager, Henry Coellin.

The fish was on display in a cake of ice and the decision of the judges was made by coupons. Attending the affair were other officials of the company, Henry Koch, assistant manager of the store; Timothy Quille, assistant superintendent, and Fred Schaffer, assistant manager of the Meat and Fish Department. The crowd in the picture represents a small number of those who flocked about the camera when this snap was made. Mrs. Reck is not in the picture.

He'll Lead The Parade

Babar, The King

Of course, it wouldn't be a parade without elephants, but it is not every parade which can boast of members of the Royal Family of Elephantland.

Babar, sitting proudly on his royal mount, is to lead Bamberger's Thanksgiving Day parade on Thursday. Immediately behind him comes his Queen Celeste and then five little elephants who are full of amusing pranks and tricks.

Streaming out for over a mile there are more than twenty floats and six bands in this year's parade. Over half of the floats are entirely new characters. All of them have been dressed up in new clothes. It promises to be the biggest, brightest, funniest parade we've ever seen with hundreds of marchers, balloons and clowns who are full of tricks.

Carteret Academy, East Orange is the starting point. The line of march is as follows: Start, Carteret Academy, East Orange, 9:30 a.m.; Harrison street, 9:45; Main avenue, 10:05; Grove street, 10:15; 14th street, Newark, 10:23; West Market street, 10:31; Bergen street, 10:37; Norfolk street, 10:47; High street, 10:55; Washington street, 11:00.

The order of march is as follows: Babar, the King; Celeste, his Queen; Old Woman in Shoe, King Arthur, Hickory, Dickory.

At the first meeting of the group the following officers were elected: President, Jack Levine; vice-president, Paul Schnitzer; secretary, William Smith; and treasurer, Hilda Ratseizer.

Rabbi Rubin R. Dobin is senior advisor to the group.

Mrs. Raymond Patrick and son, Raymond, and Mrs. Florence R. Smith, 10 Oak street, will go to Jessup, Md., Friday, to visit with Mrs. Patrick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Mumford. They will return home over the week-end and will bring Mrs. Mumford back with them to spend the winter.

Mrs. A. A. Daltell, 56 Tions avenue, will spend Thanksgiving Day with her son, Arnold, who is a student at Lafayette.

Then he will go into the store to inspect the Toy Department and to open it officially.

Everybody is invited to meet down at Bamberger's on the Washington street side at 11 o'clock to hear Santa Claus tell all about the plans and surprises he has in store for this Christmas. Uncle Don will be there to help with the singing.
