

SCHOOL TRUSTEES SHAPE BUDGET SLIGHTLY

Board Will Ask Taxpayers For $3,000 Less Than They Did In '39

The Board of Education is asking the taxpayers to contribute $2,998.51 less for the operation of the schools during 1940-41 than they did during the current year, according to the budget approved by the board Monday night which will be voted on at the school election on Tuesday, February 13. This represents a reduction of about one point in the school tax rate. The budget calls for total expenditures of $662,862.76 in the fiscal year which starts on July 1. This is a reduction in the total budget requirements of $374.01.

The ballot which the taxpayers will get at the polls on February 13, will list three items, totalling $368,297.85, which will include $338,747.85 for current expenses, $23,000 for maintenance and $6,550 for manual training. The remainder of the $481,000.61 to be raised through taxation will pay debt service charges which the voters have approved in prior years.

Explains One Increase

The current expense item in the budget shows an increase of about $10,000. James L. Lynch, chairman of the finance committee which presented the budget, explained that the board had decided to include $3,000 for the extension of the opportunity class at School No. 8, which he explained had worked successfully during the past year and also provided for the hiring of a teacher to take care of the growing number of children unable because of physical disability to go to school and also to relieve Principal Gryczka of some teaching to enable him to devote more time to the supervision of School No. 9. Various other smaller increases are included but it has not been (Continued on Page 5)

A change in the faculty was announced this week by Hugh D. Kittle, director of the adult school. Felix Seyota, president of the New Jersey Bridge League, will replace David Skolnik as an instructor. Skolnik, an instructor in mathematics at New-Central High School, conducted the class last year.

Two Die In Automobile Accidents On 'Avenue'

Ruth Roeger, Junior College Student, Struck by Car And Newark Girl Is Killed When Car Collides With Bus at Holmes Street

Death stalked Washington avenue twice within twenty-four hours over the weekend when the lives of two young women were snuffed out in automobile accidents, both of which occurred between Holmes street and Van Houten avenue within 300 feet of each other. Miss Ruth Roeger, nineteen-year old Essex Junior College student, of 60 Prospect street was fatally injured Saturday night when she was struck by a car driven by Norman De Grote, thirty-two, of 44 Preston street, while Miss Francine Auerbach, twenty-two, of 408 Hunterdon street, Newark, was killed instantly when a car in which she was riding driven by Paul Quagliata of 18 West Kinney street, Newark, collided with a Garden State bus Sunday night. Quagliata was reported in fair condition at St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, last night.

First This Year

The fatalities were the first automobile deaths recorded in town for the new year. Both De Grote and George B. Pifer, twenty-eight, of 144 Union avenue, driver of the bus involved in the other accident, were held for the action of the Grand Jury by Recorder Everett B. Smith Monday morning.

Miss Roeger, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Roeger, was struck about 300 feet south of Holmes street. According to the story of the accident as reconstructed by the police, DeGrote was travelling south on Washington avenue when he was stopped at Holmes street by a red light. Another car, on his left, started ahead as the signal turned green. By the time they reached the high school, DeGrote said the other car was about ten feet ahead of him. A girl jumped from in front of the car nearest to the curb into the path of his auto, the Preston street man claimed. He jammed on his brakes and swerved to the right but could not avoid striking the girl. She was rushed to the hospital in the police ambulance but died about an hour later. Miss Roeger suffered a broken neck, the police said.

Was B. H. S. Graduate

She was graduated from Belleville High School in 1937. Last year she attended the Newark extension of Rutgers University and was a sophomore at the Junior College at the time of her death. While in high school she was a member of the staff of The Monad, the Junior Prom committee, member of the class senate for three years, played in the band and was active in the French and Latin clubs. Miss Roeger stood high in the class scholastically, having maintained an average of over 82. She was described in the class yearbook as "hippocratic, loquacious and lively."

Funeral services were held for her from the Brierly Funeral Home in Newark Tuesday evening. Besides her parents, she is survived by a sister, Miriam. Her father is a photographer with studios in New York.

Sunday night's fatal crash occurred at the intersection of Holmes street and Washington avenue. Quagliata was travelling south on Washington avenue when he collided with the bus. Pifer said the Newarker was driving at a fast rate of speed and that he slowed into the side of the big bus, which was turning from Washington avenue into Holmes street. The accident occurred during the height of the heavy rain. Pifer, according to police, said that Quagliata was driving without lights. There were ten passengers in the bus but none were injured.

FIGHT TO HAVE COUNTY REMOVE BAN ON BINGO

A. E. Mayer Represents Nutley And This Town On Essex Committee

Local organizations which have conducted bingo games in the past have joined the county-wide movement to attempt to have County Prosecutor Wachenfeld rescind the order prohibiting the game which was put into effect two months ago. Numerous charitable, church and benevolent groups in Essex have been handicapped in their programs because of the bingo ban.

Arthur E. Mayer of 240 Greylock parkway, realtor and an officer of the Belleville Elks, has been named to represent organizations here and in Nutley on the county-wide committee which is campaigning for bingo's return. In addition to George W. Younginger Post V. F. W., St. Peter's Church and the Elks, Mayer will speak for the Holy Family Church and St. Mary's Church and the Stuart E. Edgar Post V. F. W. of Nutley.

Richard Spitz, Newark lawyer, is general chairman of the county committee. Representatives from a score of organizations will meet with Spitz tonight at the Irvington Elks to discuss further plans in their efforts to have the ban lifted. Mayer was optimistic on the possibility of the return of the game when questioned yesterday.

Depended on Revenue

"All of the organizations which are agitating for the return of bingo," Mayer said, "depended in a great measure on the funds derived from that source to carry on their charitable work. They have no other means of raising the money."

The local spokesman issued an invitation to other organizations to join in the movement.

"There seems almost definite assurance that we will be successful in our efforts," Mayer said. "The banning of bingo was caused by professional promoters who sought to take from the public all that they could. It is unfortunate that the deserving organizations had to suffer."

It is understood that the committee will propose to Wachenfeld that those conducting bingo games be licensed and that provisions be made that permits be given only to responsible church and charitable groups. This would eliminate the possibility of the game again falling back into the hands of racketeers or those solely interested in personal profit.

Since it was first started in this area, bingo has been a popular game in Belleville. The Elks ran a weekly series which drew people not only from Belleville but from other municipalities. The proceeds aided in their various charitable efforts.

Pilot Seeking Right Direction Thrills St. Peter's Folks

Mass-goers at St. Peter's Church were given some thrills about 11 Sunday morning by a sleek-looking monoplane which swooped as low as fifty feet over the roof of the church, according to witnesses. Phone calls immediately began pouring into police headquarters demanding explanations.

The situation was cleared up an hour later when John Timmerman of 705 High street, Newark, called to ask the police if anyone had been put out by his low flying. He was lost in the heavy mist and was trying to find Washington avenue and Broadway, Newark, knowing that the street would lead him back to the airport.

Boy Scout Officials Will Hold Election Monday

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Belleville district of the Boy Scouts of America will be held Monday evening in the Town Hall. Retiring officers are John P. They were caused by the resignations of Philip Dettelbach and Charles Charrier.

Mule Basketball

Lions Club Court "Stars" And High School Faculty Men Will Show Their Stuff in Game at High School Wednesday Night

They will look foolish but it is all for charity. The stewards of the Belleville Lions Club and the faculty of the high school will ride out to play basketball — on mules, no less.

The crazy game will be played at the high school Wednesday night at 8:30 for the benefit of the charities carried on by the Lions Club, which include work among the blind and needy families which are outside the jurisdiction of the Community Service Bureau.

The players will ride trick mules and no play will count unless the legs of the player are astride the mule's back. The Lions' team will include such court flashes as Charles A. Gebhardt, member of the Board of Education; George Mead of

Griggs & Mead, Ford agency; Commissioner Louis A. Noll of Parks and Public Property; John R. Carrough, secretary-treasurer of the Belleville Laundry; Clarence R. ## KING UNCERTAIN ABOUT RELIEF

Commissioner Unwilling To Guess On Possible Cost This Year

Despite the considerable drop in relief costs in Belleville in 1939 as compared to the expenditures for 1938, Commissioner Joseph King, in whose department the relief work lies, would not make any definite forecast regarding further reductions in the coming year.

The report of Relief Director John J. Hewitt, released last week, showed a decrease in expenditures of $23,379.08 during 1939. Expenses were $139,536.36 compared to 1938's $162,915.44.

"We can't even guess, let alone budget anticipated expenses," said Commissioner King yesterday. "I am not as optimistic as the President. He has been making prophecies for the past seven years and we're still waiting. We're hoping for the best and we think there is a tendency toward a little improvement. But any man's guess is as good as mine."

Belleville carried a total of 16,607 persons or 4,161 cases on the relief rolls last year compared to 4,797 cases, 19,876 persons the year before. This was a decrease of 636 cases or 3,269 persons. It does not mean, Hewitt explained, that 16,607 or fifty per cent of the town, was on relief, but rather that it was the grand total of each month's total. The number of persons on relief at the end of 1939 was 1,375 or 283 families and fifty-nine individuals.

TAXPAYERS WILL BE ON HAND

DeHagara Says Association Will Meet Soon To Make Plans

The Belleville Taxpayers and Civic Association will be ready to ask questions when the town budget is introduced, according to Paul DeHagara, the president, of 270 Ralph street. DeHagara said yesterday that he would call a meeting of the association within the next week or so to discuss local affairs and to make plans for the coming year.

He denied reports that the association was a "dead issue" and insisted that they would be "very much alive" when budget discussion time rolls around. DeHagara, who is a lawyer with offices at 31 Clinton street, Newark, received word this week from the State Bar Examining Board that he had passed his counselor's examination.

Edward McGonigle New Leader Of South End Association

Edward McGonigle has been elected president of the South End Improvement Association for the coming term. Other officers chosen were James Jordan, vice-president; Fred Vogel, second vice-president; Edward McFadden, secretary; Hugh L. Nixon, treasurer, and James Jordan, auditor. Newly elected members to the board of trustees are Miss Anna Donahue, Mrs. Hugh Nixon and Mrs. John Salter. Weekly meetings of the association will be held Thursday nights instead of Wednesdays at 196 Mill street.

The Numbers Have Him

Town Engineer Matthew J. Sheehan is haunted at every turn by the number thirteen or its reverse, thirty-one. Not that he minds at all, for he considers anything which has thirteen or thirty-one in it good luck. His son was born Friday, the thirteenth. His telephone number is 3163, which has the thirty-one as the first two digits and the sum of which is thirteen. His two most recent addresses have been 31 Mertz avenue and 31 Behmohr street. Thirteen letters, as does his wife's name, Marie E. Sheehan.

POSTAL RECEIPTS GAINED IN '39

Belleville postal receipts for 1939 increased all along the line from two percent in domestic money orders to ninety-nine percent in sale of United States Savings Bonds, according to the figures released yesterday by Postmaster John P. Sinnott through Assistant Postmaster Joseph A. Barrett of Newark.

Gross receipts for the year amounted to $96,678.40, an increase of $7,111.71 or eight percent over 1938. Greatest increase was in the sale of U. S. bonds, $91,818.75 worth of which were sold to Belleville, compared to slightly over $46,000 the year before.

Postal savings receipts also showed considerable upgrade, with $15,063 issued, thirty-nine percent increase, $17,422 paid, sixty-three percent; and $374.82 interest paid, seventy-three per cent.

There were 21,278 money orders issued for $210,818.76, as compared to 1938's $205,767.38. International money orders amounted to $5,286.95, four percent more than last year.

Many Have Mumps

Health Officer Berry, Superintendent Parmer and High School Principal Brand Scarlet Fever Stories as Ridiculous Rumors

There are five cases of scarlet fever throughout the school system, Superintendent of Schools Wayne Parmer said in his report to the Board of Education Monday night. Besides two at the high school, cases are reported at Schools No. 3, 4 and 7. Parmer also attaches the "scarlet fever rumors" as "absolutely ridiculous." Stories have been circulated there were seventeen cases in the schools.

Sixty-one cases of mumps at School No. 4 were reported during the month of December, Parmer said adding that, an epidemic there, there was no cause for alarm. "There are over a thousand students in a school," Parmer said, "and sixty-one cases is only slightly over normal."

Health Officer Eugene Berry said yesterday that thirty-five additional cases had been reported between January 1 and 15. Mumps is a contagious but not a dangerous disease, he pointed out. "Of course, the children have to be isolated, but there is no cause for immediate alarm."

Leaders Discussing Plan Informally: Would Reduce Amount Spent In Annual Campaign For Funds

The welfare organizations in Nutley and Belleville may combine their money-raising programs in a joint Community Chest administration in the near future. Officials of the Community Welfare Bureau here and the Social Service Bureau in Nutley would not comment yesterday beyond the fact that the plan is being discussed. A number of conferences have been held by the executives of both groups. The action has been prompted by the realization in both towns that under the present system considerable money is spent annually in the raising of the money necessary to carry on their work.

FINNISH RELIEF AID SOUGHT

Red Cross Makes Appeal; Sent National Office $1,500 This Week

The local chapter of the Red Cross renewed its appeal this week for contributions to the Finnish War Relief Fund through its president, Frank L. Chambers. National headquarters in Washington, D. C., is seeking the co-operation of every local unit in its drive to raise money to help the Finns. Thousands of dollars and supplies have already been sent to Europe but more money is needed. The local chapter has been informed of the conditions that are facing thousands of Finnish families because of the war and the many soldiers that require medical treatment and care. A few contributions have already been received in addition to the $100 sent by the chapter when the drive opened.

The chapter sent $1,500 to Washington this week, the full amount of its quota in the annual drive. It was raised through private subscription and participation in the annual Community Chest campaign.

Money or checks for the Finnish Relief Fund should be sent to the First National Bank of Belleville, the Peoples' National Bank or Russell K. Rose, chapter treasurer, of 30 Rossmore place.

Only 10% of H. S. Students Had Perfect Teeth

Of the 199 children whose teeth were examined in the schools during December, twenty were found to be in perfect condition, Mrs. Homer C. Zink, chairman of the health committee, reported to the Board of Education at Monday's meeting. Corrective work for the remainder varies greatly, she said, many of them needing only minor attention.

During the present school year, 1,227 high school students have undergone medical tests for proneness to tuberculosis. "Of these," Mrs. Zink said, "677 reacted negatively, that is, there is not the slightest possibility of tuberculosis. Of the remainder, those in whom the first test was not absolutely conclusive, further X-ray tests will be taken. There are 310 students still to take the preliminary test."

YOUTH PRESENTS BIG PROBLEM

Simon L. Fisch Tells Rotarians Of Task Communities Must Face

Most communities accept the fact that physical care of children is necessary but lack an understanding of their emotional disturbances and juvenile delinquencies, Simon L. Fisch, former prosecutor in Newark, told the Rotary Club yesterday at its luncheon. Fisch was discussing child guidance.

The toll from failure to understand problems, Lake said, is as great as from lack of proper physical care. He claimed that in modern times, only about twenty persons passed through corrective institutions and that hospitals for the insane or mentally unbalanced cannot care for all of the patients. These conditions exist, Fisch said, because of lack of understanding of many of childhood's problems.

There has been a hundred percent increase in the past twenty-five years in the number of mentally maladjusted and a similar leap in the suicide rate. These tremendous jumps could have been avoided by more study of juvenile problems, he believes. Psychiatry stands ready to render real service to mankind, he added, and while it is not an exact science, it can be of great aid.

Next Wednesday the Rotarians will hear a representative of the Eastern Railroad Presidents' Conference.

Hazel Ellsworth Successful In Debut As Recitalist

Young Pianist Is Well Received in Concert Before Music Department of Bloomfield Woman's Club; Displays Talent and Maturity

Hazel Ellsworth, seventeen-year-old Belleville pianist, made her debut as a recitalist Friday evening at the monthly musicale presented by the music department of the Bloomfield Woman's Club at their clubhouse.

Opening her program with the Beethoven "Sonata, opus 2, No. 1," Miss Ellsworth gave a fresh, vigorous performance of the taxing work. In the "Allemande and Gavotte" by d'Albert, she allowed her dynamics to come into full play, and showed a pleasing maturity in her treatment of the dances. The next offering, the "C Sharp Minor Polonaise" of Chopin, proved that this young artist has a sure grasp of the diverse styles and touches necessary to the performer who desires to accurately represent any composer.

Miss Ellsworth gained the approbation of her audience whose prolonged applause persuaded her to encore with a "Minuet" by Boccherini, arranged by Harold Bauer. The delicate execution of the many embroideries of the piece brought audible exclamations from the enthusiastic listeners.

At all times Miss Ellsworth's playing was clean cut and interesting. Assisting her were Peter Arella, violinist, and Mildred Eilers, soprano. Accompanists were Hilda Cleophas Jones and David Williams. A reception for the artists followed.

Miss Ellsworth is the daughter of the John Ellsworths of Little street. She was graduated from Belleville High School last June where she was associated with all the musical activities, having played alto horn in the orchestra and accompanied for the Glee Club and Spring Musicales. She was awarded membership in the International High School Artists Society.

At present she is studying with Eleanor Bacon-Peck and devotes most of her time to practicing, teaching and accompanying.

BOOSTING PLAY

Public Speaking Helping To Promote Senior Show, "What a Life"

The senior class, which will present the comedy "What a Life" at the high school on February 2 and 3, is using the public speaking students to help advertise the show. Twenty-five of them are competing for the chance to tell local organizations about the three-act play, which ended a long run on Broadway last fall. They have made sixteen speaking engagements. Jacqueline Snedeker, student director of "What a Life," opened the campaign to advertise it when she addressed a meeting of the Women's Club last week. Carl Adams, publicity chairman, has asked all organizations who desire speakers to call the high school office. Other members of the committee are Eldon Kunze, Robert Hagerman, Frederick Ochsner and Richard Stinson. The February 3 performance of "What a Life" will be open to the public. Only students will see the Friday night show.

BACKYARD R's!

Across the fence neighbors discuss their health. The medicine that helped one is offered to the other.

Naturally, we want to help our friends, but health advising and amateur dosing are dangerous practices. None but a physician should diagnose illness, nor medicine other than that which he prescribes be taken. He makes no haphazard guesses.

sauce, two and one-half cups tomato puree, one-eighth tsp. soda and one tsp. grated onion. Serve hot and top with whipped cream.

5. Cream of Corn—Add to white sauce, two cups cooked corn, seasoned with thinly sliced onion. Serve with popped corn, dash of paprika and strips of pimiento on top.

6. Cream of Celery—Add to white sauce two cups cooked diced celery and seasonings.

Try a One-Dish Meal

Put Everything in One Pot

LET'S thank our lucky stars for one-dish meals. On "extra busy" days, when one is going to a party or doing the family laundry, it's a great convenience to put the dinner ingredients into one pot. Set the pot on the simmer burner of the automatic gas range and forget it for several hours. One-dish meals do not require watching.

Stews, corn beef and cabbage, goulash, chicken pot-pie, and braised short ribs of beef are excellent one-dish meals. Filled with nutritious vegetables and meat they contain plenty of calories.

Chicken Pot-Pie

4 to 5 lbs. chicken 1½ tsp. paprika
½ cup flour ¼ tsp. pepper
1½ tsp. salt 2 cups hot milk or water

Cut chicken at the joints as for fricassee. Roll the pieces of chicken in flour to which salt, pepper and paprika have been added. Melt shortening and brown chicken in it. Add hot milk or water, cover tightly and cook slowly for two and one-half hours.

Brisket with Vegetables

1½ lbs. rolled brisket 1 cup sliced carrots

2 tbsp. shortening 2 cups hot water
2 tsp. salt 3 tbsp. flour
½ cup sliced onion 3 tbsp. minced parsley

Melt shortening and sear the meat. Add salt, vegetables and hot water. Cover tightly and let simmer for two and one-half hours. Mix flour with a little cold water, add to gravy with parsley, heat until thickened.

Pot Roast with Vegetables

Pot roast of beef 2 tablespoons 3 to 4 pounds
Flour 1 tablespoon
Pepper 1 tablespoon
Fat, 2 tablespoons

Pickling spices, 1 tablespoon
Water, hot, 1 cup
Potatoes, 6 or 8
Carrots, 6 or 8
Onions, 6

1. Wipe meat with a damp cloth. Rub with flour, salt and pepper.
2. Brown well on all sides in hot fat.
3. Place on low trivet in a large kettle. Add water, vinegar, and pickling spices tied in a piece of cheesecloth. Cover.
4. Turn to high heat; when steam escapes turn to low and allow to simmer for two hours.
5. Place prepared vegetables around meat; cook for one hour longer.

The Golden Text is: "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son."

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Yet the Lord will command his loving-kindness in the daytime, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life."

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Become conscious for a single moment that Life and intelligence are purely spiritual, — neither in nor of matter, — and the body will then utter no complaints."

Be Your Own Decorator

with the aid of HELEN KOUES

"What shall I put on my mantel?" This is one of the questions I'm most frequently asked. First, of course, it depends on what type of mantel you have and in what type of room the mantel is placed. You put the type of ornaments on your mantel which suit the type of the room, but the articles themselves are often the same: a clock for instance or candlesticks are often used articles. The difference is that in a Colonial room, use a Colonial clock and brass or crystal candlesticks on a Colonial wooden mantel painted white or a light color. On a stone mantel in an early English room, or one of deep brown walnut, heavier types are right. Iron sticks, or those of heavy brass or pewter and a clock with a heavy case, are in keeping. There are not many clocks of the 17th Century type to be found. The old "wag on the wall" was used in those days, the forerunner of the Grandfather clock. It has a brass face and the long pendulums hang exposed. It is not a mantel clock, of course, but following it came a brass faced clock in a wooden case which looks well with a heavy mantel. But on such a mantel why struggle with a clock at all? Instead put a row of small books between heavy book ends in the center of the shelf with the candlesticks on each side—Or, again perhaps you are a collector of something, and if you are not, why not start now and be one? Collect pewter jugs or Toby jugs or china animals and put a row on the mantel, using your choice of three or five.

HELEN KOUES
Director of
Good Housekeeping
Studio

It's a great thing to have a hobby. But "life is real, life is earnest" and you haven't time, or money, I hear you say. I wonder if you really haven't the time and if you wouldn't be happier yourself and make those around you happier for a harmless hobby which does not take much of either time or money. It's a relaxation, cultivates that good old thing, a sense of humor, and the less serious side of life. It's something to laugh over. It's rather like knitting. The busiest people knit, if they once get started—so try "collecting" if you are interested in decorating your house, and you'll be surprised at the attractive small articles you will pick up, not to mention the knowledge you will acquire of history and how our forefathers lived.

But there are lots of other things to be put on mantels—vases or urns at each end, trophy cup figures, or even small pictures placed against the wall. There seem to be three important things to consider. First, as I have said, type of mantel and room; second, what you have over the mantel; third, what you like to look at. This is a case of pleasing yourself. Have things you like to look at and place them with consideration for some simple rules of decorative value. If you have a picture you like, hang it over the mantel. If it's a fine mirror, then hang that. Perhaps you have neither and can't afford to buy them. Then get a piece of decorative chintz and hang it from the picture molding to within four inches of mantel, leaving about six inches on each side. Or perhaps you have two or three small pictures. In such a case use a plain colored fabric as a background and group your small pictures on it, in the center. It's amazing the attractive small pictures the ten cent store has, if you don't happen to have any.

The question of side lights is important. If you have side lights you don't want candlesticks, or instead of something comparatively low in the center and high on each side of the mantel shelf, you may want something high in the center and low on the ends. And then what to choose? Dozens of things. A pair of jars or figures which are ornaments in themselves—or small open jars filled with ivy or Chinese lilies which decorate the space between the side lights and the mantel shelf. If decorative china vases are used at the ends, then a shallow bowl for flowers may be put in the center. In a 17th Century room, old pewter tankards may be end pieces with a group of small metal articles such as Scottie dogs (if you like them) in the center.

Indifferent Taxpayers

The indifference of the average taxpayer is an old story with us, for each year about this time we get the urge to tell those who pay the bills just what we think of them. The time has arrived for municipal and school governing bodies to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars in public money. Regardless of whether the tax rate is going to slide down the scale or go skyrocketing to a new high, the taxpayers should have some interest in it.

It is doubtful if any one of them would pay out cash for a new automobile without first having driven it. Yet, in effect, that is just what most taxpayers do. They read the published budget or the stories about it and then with a shrug of the shoulders dismiss it.

Therein the seed is often planted for the organization of a formidable political machine. They thrive and prosper on public inactivity. Taxpayers who fail even to make a pretense of studying the budget figures are being negligent in their duty to themselves and the community. They are inviting trouble and we find it hard to shed tears for them when they put up a squawk on some local expenditure months after the budget has been passed.

Most officials parcelling out public money want an expression of public sentiment. They are just as human as you and I. They are not invincible and often make errors which those on the sidelines seem foolish and unforgivable. But, in all of us, there are a certain number of mistakes. Many of these are corrected through advice and criticism.

Every man likes to express his own opinion. Some of us were left out when common sense was passed around, but that seems to be little excuse for being unconcerned when hundreds of thousands of dollars, which is part of the money which you have contributed to keep the community a going concern, is about to be spent.

Most municipal officials will be found glad to receive suggestions or answer questions. That is an obligation they owe to the public which has elected them and to the property owners for the revenue which they have contributed.

Leave The Quints At Home

One of the best things that could have been said about the New York World's Fair last year was that it was not just another glorified sideshow. Even the barkers in the amusement area were the cream of their crop and the general run of entertainments were cleaner than most found in similar places, even though they did shock the dignity of some folks. We were all for the big show last summer and our feet barked as loud as the next fellow's after having tramped all around the Flushing flatlands to drink in the glories of Mayor LaGuardia's World of Tomorrow.

But, the Fair turned into something car-navalish the other day for us when it was reported that the officials were dicker-ing to have the Dionne quintuplets come to New York next spring to be put on exhibition. At this writing the question threatens to become a most important international problem. New York thinks it is going to get the youngsters to come to Manhattan and Canada is just as determined that the little girls won't set foot on American soil — at least not to become part of the World's Fair sideshow.

Our loyalty is with Canada in this dispute. We would hate to see these children exploited so that a few million gaping New Yorkers could get a good look at them. True, they are international celebrities, but they have a right to live as simple a life as possible. Those who would have the children come to New York are throwing a smoke screen by offering to give a certain amount of the proceeds to the Red Cross.

A splendid thought, but many other money-raising schemes can be originated for the benefit of this organization.

It is true that the quintuplets are one of the glorious oddities of nature, but they should not be turned into a sideshow attraction to make the turnstiles at the World's Fair click faster. It is unfortunate enough that in their own community they are the cause for gaping. As they grow older, they will continue to be the centre of attraction and they will probably learn to hate the public's unintentional but embarrassing over-attention as other have.

The World's Fair boasted last summer that it did not need attractions such as fan dancers or nude ranches to draw the customers. We think they would be doing these little girls a favor if they left them home in Callendar with their dolls and their toys. Let them lead the life of other small children as much as possible.

Not Too Harmonious

Clean Government has chosen the suave and dapper Senate President Robert C. Hendricks from Gloucester County to oppose ex-Governor Harold G. Hoffman in the gubernatorial race. His selection meets with the approval of some of the Old Guard who in recent years have transferred their affections to the Clean Government brethren. They wanted Frank Abell of Morris County, who is a former State Senator of the fire-eating type. Abell would have rolled up his sleeves and waded into Hoffman in grand style, they claim. But, those who dictate Clean Government policies thought differently, believing that the younger and smoother Senator from South Jersey would have greater appeal to the independent voters.

Some of the dyed-in-wool Clean Government folks find Hendricks's selection a bitter pill to swallow for they can well remember that not so long ago the Senate President was hurling brickbats at the same folks who have now made him their candidate.

As sure as there will be an election, Hendricks will attempt to keep Hoffman busy defending his record as Governor in the Hauptmann and Mulock cases and explaining his way out of the sales tax which he has always advocated. The Perth Amboy aspirant is not likely to be caught napping for he is just as likely to needle Hendricks for accepting the policies of the group in which he did not always pretend to have the greatest of faith.

Handling Serious Accidents

When people are critically injured each moment that is saved in reaching a hospital where they can receive treatment is precious. It may mean the difference between life and death. There were two tragic accidents in Washington avenue over the weekend and the injured had to be taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Passaic, a distance of about five miles from the centre of this town. The trip is a long one for emergency cases.

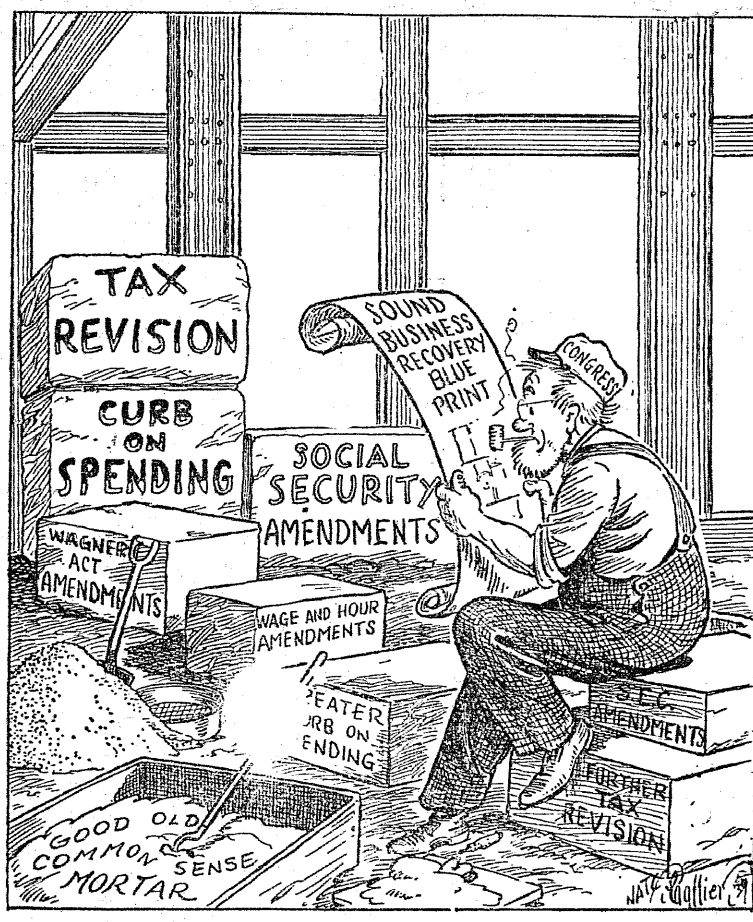

Would it be possible to find some point closer at hand where emergency cases could be handled? The suggestion has come from one of the medical profession that quarters could be set aside at the Essex County Isolation Hospital for such purposes. We are passing it along to those in whose hands such a matter belongs and are asking that they investigate it. If arrangements could be made with the county authorities to have emergency cases handled there, it would be well worth the investment.

With all due credit to the members of the fire department for their driving skill, they are risking their own lives and those of the patient when they are forced to drive at break-neck speed to eat up the miles between here and Passaic in emergency cases. It is not their driving but that of other people which endangers their job.

An accident ward in the Isolation Hospital would be a great help because it could be reached from any point in Belleville within three minutes.

Little can be said about the fatal accidents Saturday and Sunday nights. They are further reminders to every motorist of his responsibility and warnings to the pedestrians that they must be on guard when crossing busy thoroughfares. All of the safety campaigns in the world will do no good unless each automobile driver accepts the tips which are given. The motorist has a multiple job to perform in driving an automobile. There already are two fatal accidents in the records of the town for the year. All drivers should cooperate in an endeavor to prevent more similar tragedies.

PLENTY MORE TO DO

ESSEX COUNTY POLITICS

by Meador Wright

The views expressed in this column, are entirely those of the writer and not necessarily those of the Publishers or Editors of the Belleville News.

The Essex Board of Freeholders is worried over the sensational drop in county ratables. Since very few towns are actually economizing, reductions in ratables are reflected in immediate increases in tax rates. This applies, also, to the county rate, even though its budget may actually be smaller. Newark already has announced reductions of more than ninety million dollars. Montclair has reduced ratables another nine millions after taking off sixteen millions last year.

In cuts such as have been made in these two municipalities, taxpayers are prepared for higher tax rates. But if the county rate goes up several points because of general ratable reductions, the increase is felt most by communities whose valuations have remained constant. Officials of these communities are sure to call attention to the county rate, but are likely to be more or less silent regarding the reasons that brought it about.

What actually is taking place is something akin to a bank run — the run being on the source of both county and municipal revenue. By reducing its ratables by approximately one fourth, Montclair has reduced its contribution to County government by the same sum. Now when Newark joins in this devaluation game it means that the remainder of the County must contribute a dollar for every dollar that Newark saves, since ratables in the two areas are approximately even.

When some municipalities avoid this increase by following Newark's example — or even bettering it as in the case of Montclair — other communities like East Orange must absorb all the increase.

Although it has been the most consistent economizer in the area, the County government is likely to find itself bearing the focal point of blame for the lack of economy of the municipalities. The whole tax reduction movement reveals how desperate is the financial picture throughout New Jersey. Although they may not have any too much confidence in his sincerity, New Jersey home owners are likely to pay serious attention to Harold G. Hoffman's talk of broadening the tax base — that is, reducing the burden on real estate. Generally speaking, the policy advocated by Clean Government and Dr. Lester H. Cleo of economy and no new taxes has failed. While it may have been a valuable stop-gap, events are proving that it is no permanent solution. If Hoffman really means to change drastically New Jersey's taxing system, it would seem that psychological conditions are ripe for bringing it about.

The announcement of support for Senator Hendricks as an opponent of Hoffman does not clear up entirely the muddled Republican picture. Congressman Fred Hartley is still threatening to enter the race. While he probably will decide against so doing, others may make the attempt. No explanation has been forthcoming so far regarding the reasons for Cleo's sudden withdrawal. Should Hoffman's nomination appear inevitable, either through Hendricks's campaign not clicking or through the announcement of other candidates, Cleo might elect to run as an independent. Stranger things have happened before.

The question being asked most throughout Essex today is whether Hoffman will sponsor an opposition ticket to Clean Government. If he doesn't, the primary fight here is likely to be listless notwithstanding the election of delegates. If there is an opposition ticket to Clean Government, however, Republican voters will be on their toes. For if Hoffman makes any fight at all, he must make a hard one.

DOGS

by Laurence Torley

The Mongrel

The mixed ancestry of mongrel dogs long has been a source of humor, but it often is not such a funny matter when innocent children and even adults come to harm because of hidden characteristics carried by many non-descript canines. Continually, cases are brought to the attention of The American Kennel Club in which people have purchased of unscrupulous dealers, dogs purported to be of certain, known and gentle breeds. In appearance these mongrels were similar to certain breeds recognized as purebred. But no one knew, absolutely, since they were not registered. Later they developed vicious characteristics which revealed their mixed parentage.

Essentially, there is nothing wrong with cross-breeding. But it becomes dangerous when the purchaser of a mongrel is not informed of all the details. If he knows he is buying a guard dog that comes from a breed of breeds noted for quick use of defensive measures, then he can treat that dog accordingly. But if a dog with such a nature has the outward appearance of a patient house pet, there is trouble ahead for someone.

Much nonsense has been written in which the stamina and intelligence of the mongrel have been compared to the pure-bred's. It is impossible to make any blanket comparison, especially as there are few records to prove any claims for the mongrels. Neither their mortality rate nor their intelligence can be ascertained accurately.

Thanks From Lions

From Clarence Lommerin,
President Lions Club
To The Editor of The News:

On behalf of the Belleville Lions Club, I would like to deliver a message of thanks for the cooperation of the town, storekeepers, tavern owners and banks for their help in permitting us to leave our milk bottles in their places. Also to the people themselves, who so kindly contributed to our milk fund which has brought in $155.00.

BUREAU ELECTS NEW TRUSTEES

Bureau worked with 1,176 families, representing 5,174 individuals, which is one-sixth of the present population. She pointed out that during the past year more than sixty percent of the applications for service have been personal and voluntary.

Greater Demand

This is considered a definite indication that there are more and more people who want the services for which the Bureau is equipped. Applications have risen steadily in the past four years from 250 in 1936 to 352 in 1939. In the year just past, 234 families received help with their personal and family problems, an increase of twenty-three cases over the preceding year. Mrs. Reiner pointed out that services during the past year had necessarily been curtailed through the loss of a case worker due to lack of funds.

Need Better Support

"In spite of the fact that more and more people are asking our help with their problems, so far support from the community has not been keeping pace with the demands made upon us," she claimed. According to Mrs. Reiner, the first ten years in the history of the Community Service Bureau have been challenging and offered a pioneering opportunity. She pointed out that the Bureau is performing a service which is nowhere else available, which people need and want, which trouble comes. Many more requests for services are coming to the Bureau than can possibly be handled with the present staff but Mrs. Reiner believes that as there is wider understanding of what family social work means in a community, further support can be anticipated which will enable the Bureau to do a more widespread and adequate piece of work.

Dr. Abraham Wolfson, board member of the Newark Jewish Social Service, spoke of the future of the family agency. He visualized the work of the agency as a joint enterprise between board and staff.

Schools Now Have Full-Time Guidance Director

The Board of Education is using the services of a full-time guidance director and psychologist, Earl W. Seibert. It is his responsibility to set up activities that lead to a better understanding of the possibilities and limitations of each individual pupil so that the school program may be better adapted to meet the needs of the child at the various stages in his development. A guidance office has been opened in the high school building.

The program has been developing along the following lines; assembling information on occupations, conducting occupational conferences with pupils, assembling information on the aptitudes, interests and personalities of individual pupils, interviewing teachers, principals, parents and pupils, studying individual cases of difficulty, visiting pupils in the eighth grade and discussing courses and life in the high school, and assembling catalogs of schools and colleges.

Rent Collecting Problem Is Not New One

William Goodrich of Nutley, manager of the vast Lloyd estate in and around Belleville, has had plenty of trouble collecting rent from one of the estate's tenants. He found there're others who have had that trouble. Rummaging through the old files of the estate, Goodrich found a letter dated 1850 in which his great-grandfather, John C. Lloyd, had to dun the lessee, the same property for rent eighty years ago. Among the documents unearthed in the same search was one appointing Lloyd postmaster of Belleville. It was dated 1842.

MUSICAL REVIEWS

The Realm of Music

The first public performance of a quintet for strings and contralto voice by Delmar Molarsky, Nutley resident, will be the high point of the musicale to be presented by the Nutley Symphony Society January 25 at Nutley High School. Conceived in a form which is infrequently heard today, the composition is subtitled "Why Have I Come Into This Forest?" and is intended to portray "the state of mind of a tortured soul who at last finds peace and contentment in the depths of the forest," to quote Molarsky.

Born of Russian parents who are artists and art teachers, Molarsky and his brother, Osmond, worked for several years writing and producing their own puppet shows. A graduate of Nutley High, this composer has done little studying of music theory, fearing that it might affect his originality. He plays both piano and violin, and possesses a bass baritone voice which will be heard when the composer appears as vocalist in this initial performance of his work.

Also programmed for the same evening is Haydn's "Lark" quartet, the Schumann piano quintet, and an excerpt, "Serenade," from "Pictures At An Exhibition" by Moussorgsky-Pochon. Nicos Cambourakis and Wendell Smith will be the violinists of the stringed section, Otto K. Schill, violist, and Harold Benko, cellist. Cambourakis is well known as recitalist, teacher and assistant director of the Nutley Symphony. He was soloist in the Mendelssohn violin concerto as well as in the Bach double violin concerto with the Symphony last year. Smith has been a student of the violin for ten years, is a graduate of Idaho College and holds a Ph.D. in chemistry from the University of California.

Schill, equally competent as a violinist, has the respect and admiration of all who appreciate a thoroughly fine musician. Benko was introduced to the Nutley Symphony audience at the November concert when he was soloist in the Saint-Saens A minor concerto for cello and orchestra.

Simon Sadow of Weehawken, a senior at Montclair State Teachers College, will be the pianist in the Schumann work. Sadow is a past president of Pro Musica, honorary musical society at the college, and a member of the capella choir and the college orchestra, playing bass fiddle. He has been making concert appearances since 1935 and has composed for both the piano and orchestra.

EVELYN Swanson doesn't think so herself, but everyone tells her she is a double for Katherine Hepburn. We thought so ourselves, so much so, in fact, that when we first saw her in the coffee shop of the Hotel Robert Treat we were curious enough to ask her if she had ever been taken for La Hepburn. "Yes, indeed," she said. "In fact, once when I was wearing dark glasses in a railroad station some girls came over to me and said, 'Miss Hepburn will you please give me your autograph?' So I took off the glasses and said, 'Now do you think I'm Katherine Hepburn?' and they said, 'You really do; you must be.' Often people in the hotel tell me how much I resemble the actress."

Evelyn Swanson is twenty-six, comes from Cincinnati, O., and has been married since July. She is five feet, four, likes horseback riding and swimming, and once, when she was employed in a Newark department store, was selected for hair coiffure photographs for advertising photographs. And she does look like Hepburn!

ALFRED Anthony Wikarski is probably Newark's best-dressed newsboy. Better known as "Curley," he has a stand on Park place close to where the old tube station was, and he is as debonair as an Esquire fashion photo. Of Polish descent, he fought the Battle of Warsaw with the Poles to the bitter end, watching the headlines on the late editions with an avidity that was nothing less than fierce. Ask him some day what he thinks of Hitler!

MISS Peggy Porter, besides being chief telephone operator of Alderney Dairy Company's general office in Bridge street, Newark, is a lightning calculator, who can take special phone orders from Alderney customers with speed that is not only unbelievable but uncanny to witness. In the brief space of thirty-two seconds flat, Miss Porter can jot down with supreme ease and accuracy orders for dozens of quarts of vari-flavored Alderney ice cream, separate orders for Grade A, B, irradiated, Guernsey milk, pints and half-pints of cream, forty-quart cans of loose milk, butter, cottage cheese, and half a dozen other items of Alderney's list of products. To Miss Porter it is as simple as two-and-two-equals-four, but to the on-looker it is Houdini-like! And the amazing part of it is the Alderney orders go out right.

ROTARY Club members got quite a kick out of their luncheon meeting at the Robert Treat Tuesday. The Memorial Craftsman were having a two-day convention at the hotel in the room where Rotary meets, and the Craftsman graciously vacated temporarily so the Rotary luncheon might take place as usual. But the exhibits had to be left standing, and the exhibits, as they must have guessed, were pretty tombstones set up around make-believe graves. A unique setting for an up-and-coming crowd like Newark's Rotary boys, but the food was good and the speeches were good, and anyway, as they say, life begins in 1940.

SHORT, Shorts: West Orange's Kungsholm is putting in Musik, which means continuous music from 11 A.M. to closing. . . . Livingston's popular Condor club restaurant is luring many city celebs. . . . The little blond passenger on the 116 Bus (out of Penn Station at 4:25 P.M.) we praised last week is Miss Barbara Adams of Boonton. . . . Popular Tom Fitzpatrick was a Treat cocktail lounge visitor on Tuesday. . . . Other recent luminaries there were Bill Naue and Lou Stern. . . . And Werner, of the Cockatoo. . . . Incidentally, the six local girls to be selected as receptionists to greet celebrities attending the Newark premiere of "Gone With the Wind" will be dinner guests of the Robert Treat. —Adv.
